U.S., Canadian Neighbors In Dispute Over Water

water war has brought a request for a halt in U.S. water deliveries to Canadian areas near the International Peace Arch, a symbol of friendship between the United States and its northern neighbor. At the root of the dispute is a local drought and Canadian regulations that prevent Canadian water from being shipped to this tiny American community The water commissioners of Point Roberts, a six-square-mile peninsula accessible by road only through Canada, are seeking the water cutoff. They say adjoining Canadian municipalities could grant help easily. But Canadian officials say the British Columbia and Canadian federal governments both ban the export of water. Like other areas in the Pacific Northwest, Point Roberts' water supply is dwindling as the result of a prolonged drought. One official said "not a drop" of measurable rain has fallen in the area since April and wells are running dry. The water dispute became public Thursday night when the Point Roberts water commissioners asked the city of Blaine, Wash., to stop water deliveries to nearby Surrey, B.C.

Cutoff By Turkey Won't Faze Opium

The much-heralded end to poppy farming in Turkey "will have virtually no impact on the amount of illicit opium or heroin flowing into this country," warns an internationally recognized expert on drug addiction and the world narcotics trade.

Southeast Asia and the "Golden Triangle" areas (Burma, Laos and Thailand) don't represent much now in terms of opium getting to the United States, says Dr. Maurice H. Seevers, who was chairman of the department of pharmacology at the University of Michigan Medical School for nearly 30 years. But when the Turkish trade is cut off, "there is tremendous potential for them to supply the demand," he says. This will be the last year for Turkey's (legal) poppy crop. With a $50-million subsidy from the United States to encourage its farmers to make the changeover, it is getting out of the poppy-growing business. However, Turkey has always played a relatively small role in both the legal and illegal opium trade. Out of 1,400 metric tons of opium produced legally in the world in 1970, Turkey contributed only 150 tons. By comparison, the Golden Triangle produces an estimated 700 metric tons of illicit opiates each year.

Seever's warning is backed up by a recently released report to the House Foreign Affairs Committee by a special narcotics subcommittee. A major share of heroin coming to the United States flows almost freely from Thailand, unhampered by corrupt Thai officials and meager U.S. antidrug efforts, the report charges.

But according to Seevers, a large part of the problem lies in the fact that most of the world's illicit poppy farming areas are not under the conrol of any national government. The 200,000 hill tribesmen of northern l'hailand, for instance, rely on poppies as almost their sole cash crop.

As he indicates, supply is only one part of the frightening drug equation. The other is demand. And in this egard, the attorney general of Mexico, whose government is actively ombatting the drug trade, especially in marijuana, has probably put his inger on the central issue.

The real problem, says Pedro Ojeda Paullada, is U.S. consumption of illicit drugs and the tremendous prices Americans are willing to pay for them. As long as this demand continues, and profits are high enough to make drug-trafficking worth risks, the worldwide narcotics crisis will continue to be with us.

I-91 Expansion A Must

The decision by the Meskill administration to abandon plans for the construction of I-291 around Hartford may be a victory for environmentalists, but it still leaves the problem of traffic congestion in the Hartford

Much of the problem stems from the inadequacy of I-91 north of the capital. Two lanes of traffic are insufficient to handle the heavy volume of cars entering and exiting the city, as well as those already on I-91 or changing from I-84.

Construction in the Hartford area in recent years proved that much of the congestion can be eased by the addition of extra lanes of traffic as an alternative to construction of a brand new highway. Additional lanes on I-84 to the east of Hartford, in the Manchester area, have contributed greatly towards moving the traffic in and out of the city. A short stretch of improvements in the West Hartford area, again a single lane, has helped ease traffic congestion on I-84 westbound. The continued growth of towns north of Hartford, along with the increased importance of Bradley International Airport, mandate that immediate steps are taken to improve the flow of traffic on I-91 north. This will have the side effect of decreasing the concentration of automobile emissions from cars now backed up on the highway, as well as allowing for the better flow of commuting and

The long-fought battle over I-291 is temporarily suspended, but Hartford still has its problems. Additional lanes on each side of I-91 north of Hartford would do much towards solving them. - Waterbury Republican much of himself creates a need of constantly being together with people - in order to feel a whole person. A full life and a great love - that is the quest of a free creative Christian. However, as Christ said, there is no greater love than to lay down your life for a friend. Real love requires us to share our lives. Some part of our lives is given away. It simply doesn't belong to us anymore. The person who loves must also be poor in spirit and possess unselfish simplicity; otherwise he'll constantly begrudge the gift of his life and pester for reciprocal ROCKS ARE FOR LIZARDS

Miss Stephens, who lives on Birch Rd. in Vernon, has been organist at the Vernon United Methodist Church for many years. She was a substitute organist at the church when she was a little girl in elementary school and gradually worked into the post of regular organist. She taught

Kindergarten in Farmington, Windsor and Vernon public schools before her retirement a year ago. She has served as soloist and accompanist for many musical groups and organizations. She is also a composer and with two friends, Marie and Ethel LeVan, wrote the operetta, "The Scarecrow," which was presented three times in Hartford.

She is a member of the Musical Club of Hartford. (Herald

Mrs. Robert Hall Mrs. Inez D. Hall, 78, of 366 Woodbridge St., died Friday at Manchester Memorial Hospital. She was the wife of Robert Hall.

Mrs. Hall was born June 26, 1885 in Jackson, Mich., and had lived in East Hartford most of her life before coming to Manchester 19 years ago. She was a member of the First Congregational Church of East Hartford and had been a member of Bigelow Chapter, OES, East Hartford, for more than 50 years.

She is also survived by a son, Robert G. Hall of East Hartford; a daughter, Mrs. Margaret Carpenter of Livingston, N.J.; eight grandchildren and four greatgrandsons.

Funeral services will be Monday at 1 p.m. at the First Congregational Church of East Hartford. Burial will be in Woodtick Cemetery, Wolcott. Friends may call at Holmes Funeral Home, 400 Main St., Sunday from 7 to 9 p.m.

The family suggests that any memorial contributions may be made to Manchester Memorial Hospital or to the First Congregational Church of East ficials showed records on file only go back as far as 1966, the year Agnew ran successfully for governor.

Radoff said because of the bulk of the records, the U.S. attorney's office was sending a man to the Hall of Records on Monday to examine the documents and to determine which ones will be taken by the attorney's office.

Radoff also said he is to appear Thursday before the grand jury to which U.S. Atty. George Beall is presenting evidence from his investigation of political corruption in Baltimore County and the state of Maryland.

Beall told Agnew 11 days ago that he was included in the probe of possible violation of criminal laws covering extortion, bribery and conspiracy.

Meanwhile, messages of confidence in Agnew were flooding his office, a spokesman said.

J. Marsh Thomson, Agnew's press secretary, said Friday that of the 500 telegrams near the e work day, only 13 were unfavorable. Agnew's Democratic successor as Maryland governor also expressed strong support for the vice president.

Gov. Marvin Mandel said at a news conference Friday that Agnew was being "tried in the court of public opinion before the grand jury has an opportunity to review the evidence.

"I would be greatly shocked and amazed if the allegations against him (Agnew) were true," Mandel said.

its study of U.S. aid-toeducation programs in Brazil. The report was distributed here this week

"The basic goal of U.S. development assistance is to assist recipient countries to develop to a degree that external assistance is no longer required," the report said.

The report said Brazil's booming economy provides a good argument for setting a cutoff point for American aid. Brazil's gross national product has grown at an average rate of 9.9 per cent since 1968, one of the fastest paces in the world. The country has built up foreign currency reserves totaling $4.2 billion and it has started its own program of foreign aid, making loans and building roads for other South American nations, the report

But living standards for most of Brazil's 100 million people are still not comparable with those in the major industrialized nations. The per capita income in urbanized southern Brazil was $550 last year, and only $180 in the country's vast northern jungles and plains, according to figures in the GAO report.

A Chamber Banquet in 1916

This picture, loaned to The Herald by Probate Judge William FitzGerald, is of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce's annual banquet, held on Feb. 24, 1916, at Cheney Hall. The arrow indicates President William H. Taft, who was the main speaker at the formal dinner. Seated second to the right from Taft is Elwood S. Ela, former editor of The Manchester

Evening Herald. Also seated at the main table was Frank Anderson, second from the right. Anderson was the first vice president of the Chamber in 1915 and was probably the Chamber's president in 1916, at the time of the banquet. #### Columbia Town Asked To Vote Police Report Two Face Charges In $4,500 For Lighting Sex Deaths

HOUSTON (AP) - Two teenage boys face a total of six murder charges after leading police to 23 mutilated bodies and telling a horror story of homosexual torture killings.

Police say they believe as many as seven more bodies may be found. Murder with malice charges were filed early today against Elmer Wayne Henley Jr., 17, and David Brooks, 18. They told police they had procured other teen-age boys for homosexual assaults by Dean Corli, 33. Henley told police he shot Corll to death Wednesday. Henley was charged with two counts of murder for the deaths of Marty Ray Jones, 18, and Charles C. Cobble, 17. Harris County Asst. Dist. Atty. Michael J. Hinton said Jones was strangled with a cord and Cobble was shot to death, both on July 27.

Brooks was charged for the murder of William Ray Lawrence, 15, on July 10. Lawrence was strangled with a cord

Jones, Cobble and Lawrence are the only victims who have been identified.

On Friday, Henley and Brooks were charged on three counts of murder in San Augustine County, in East Texas. Four bodies, including that of Lawrence, were found there near Lake Sam Rayburn.

The bodies of Jones and Cobble were discovered in a mass grave site at a Houston boat dock that contained 17 bodies. The two youths also pointed NBC-TV. Based upon the international best-seller "Chariots of the Gods?," by Erich von Daniken, the program offers many mysteries to support the theory. For example, a clay vase, which is on display in the Baghdad Museum, is also 2,000-year-old electrical battery. Also, Istanbul's Topkapi Palace house maps, which date back to the 1st Century A.D., are uncannily accurate. According to von Daniken, these maps show the earth as it would have appeared to astronauts high above Cairo. In Mexico, in Central America, in Italy and on a rocky ledge in the Sahara Desert, there are ancient drawings and sculptures depicting strange beings wearing what appear to be space suits. including helmets and antennae. Von Daniken suggests that if space travelers from another planet were to visit Earth, they would have found the environment hostile. They, too, would have had to travel in selfcontained units and, in appearance, might have embled modern astronauts.

Von Daniken also proposes that these ancient astronauts would have brought with them superior skills and may have been responsible for the accurate Mayan calendar, the huge carvings on Easter Island Egypt's pyramids and henge in England. He also considers it significant that legends of various ancient peoples mention powerfu strangers descending to Earth flaming chariots.

The program presents some comments from several scientists including Dr. Wernher von Braun and Dr. Harold P. Kline of NASA's Ames Research

Mini-bike Sales and Accidents Zoom...Zoom...Zoom

This boy is doing a "wheelie." When you do this, the front wheel comes off the ground. It can be dangerous if you don't know what you are doing.

Safety Equipment Every Rider Should Have:

long sleeve

eye protection

Desert and forest riders should wear leather or vinyl jackets

and higher boots.

According to the National Safety Council, more than two million mini-bikes will be in use by the end of 1973, and most of them will be ridden by children from the ages of 10 to 14. The thrill of riding, its light weight and low cost are three reasons why the mini-bike is so popular.

Along with the increase in sales goes the increase in mini-bike accidents. It is estimated that over 75,000 children will be hurt this year alone.

Where to Ride?

Mini-bikes cannot be ridden on streets, highways, sidewalks or on any public road. An owner may ride on his own property or on private property, with permission. Many accidents happen when mini-bikers illegally take to the highways.

The Cycle Park

Some cities are solving the "where-to-ride" problem by setting aside areas of land as supervised cycle park. Hazards are removed and trails cleared. Special areas are reserved for beginners. Owners carry their bikes to the park in cars or trucks.

Park Rules

Each rider must be wearing protective clothing. His bike must pass a safety inspection. Riders must register and receive a number that must be displayed on their helmets. Parents must sign permission slips. Minibikers must agree to abide by strict rules. Racing and horseplay are not allowed.

Mini-bike Safety

Places to ride, such as cycle parks, might help the mini-bike space problem. But, most important of all, the rider must realize that a mini-bike is not a toy. He has to be old enough and responsible enough to handle it.

Mini-biking is not child's play. It should be taken seriously. A rider must know what he is doing if he is to get where he is going.

Super Sport: Bobby Riggs

At age 55, Bobby Riggs has become the "King of Women's Tennis." The "old man" earned that label recently by defeating 30-year-old Margaret Court in a "Battle of the Sexes" match. Riggs was a tremendous player in the late 1930's. In 1939, he won the Wimbledon and U. S. championships. Riggs, who challenged Mrs. Court to a match, is also known for his trickery on the court. He has played matches while buttoning an overcoat, running around chairs, lifting a bucket of water, holding a suitcase, wearing an eye patch with his arm in a sling and leading a poodle on a leash. Bobby Riggs, the nation's newest super sport, will play Chris Evert in a $50,000 Winner-Take-All match in September.

What's wrong with this safety picture? Is this boy dressed correctly? Where does it look like he's thinking about riding? Talk this over with your parents.

Why minibikes are unsafe on streets and highways.

The mini-bike is noted for its poor handling traits. Most accidents occur when a mini-biker takes to the street or highway. Mini-bikes offer no protection. There are many other reasons for not riding in traffic.

- Low profile. A mini-bike is built very low to the ground. A rider could lose control if he hit a rock or small branch.
- 2. Small size. A young rider would be hard to spot in traffic.
  - 3. Poor brakes.
- Poor acceleration. A mini-bike could not speed up in a hurry.

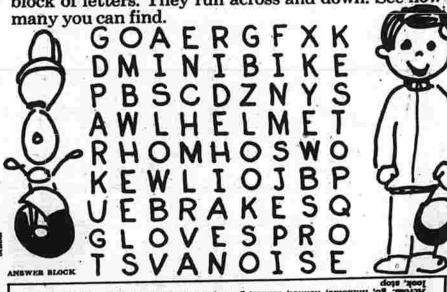

NEVER, NEVER RIDE A MINI-BIKE ON A STREET OR HIGHWAY!

Try 'N Find: Mini-bike and Safety Words

Mini-bike and safety words are hidden in this block of letters. They run across and down. See how many you can find.

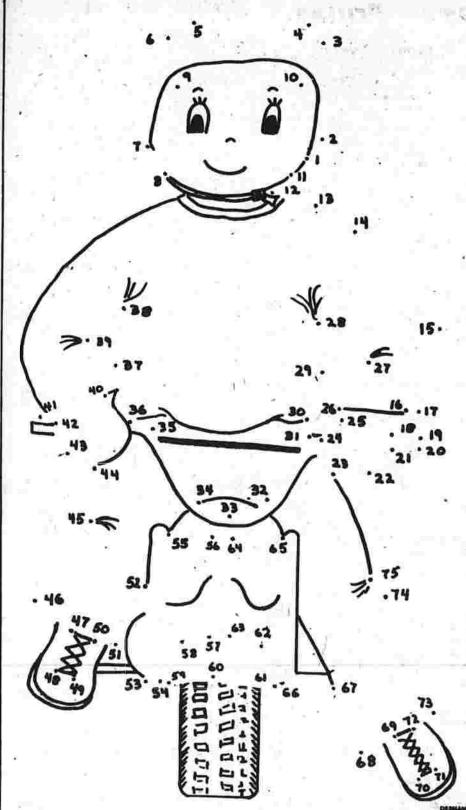

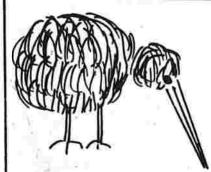

"Soap Bubbles" was painted by Jean-Baptiste-Simeon Chardin, a French artist who lived from 1699 to 1777. This picture is from the collection at the National Gallery of Art in Washington. It was a gift from Mrs. John W. Simpson.

Famous Painting: "Soap Bubbles"

Do you like to blow soap bubbles? People 200 years ago did, too. The French painter Chardin painted at least seven pictures of boys blowing bubbles. Note the triangle formed by the top of the boy's head and his folded arms.

Jean-Baptiste-Simeon Chardin had little formal training. He won his fame as a still life painter. He painted "genre" scenes (scenes of everyday life). He is thought to be one of the finest painters of the eighteenth century.

Animal of the Week: The Kiwi

The Kiwi lives in the forest of New Zealand. It is a rare bird. It is so shy that few people have ever seen one. It eats berries and insects at night and hides during the daytime. It is very shaggy looking and has tiny wings that are so small that it cannot fly. It has nostrils at the tip of its bill and uses these to smell food. The mother lays the egg and the father sits on it until it hatches.
