Skylab 'Holiday' Cruise Begins

Ferry Ship Lifts Without Hitch

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Three rookie American astronauts sped into orbit today on the start of man's longest planned space journey, an 84-day "holiday cruise" aboard the Skylab space station.

"This is really great," flight commander Gerald P. Carr told Mission Control as the astronauts and their Apollo ferry ship rocketed into a successful orbit more than 100 miles above the earth. "It's smooth as glass."

"During the marathon flight, which will span Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's, the astronauts are to conduct extensive studies of the sun, earth and man. They'll also take an unprecedented look at the great comet Kohoutek, a visitor from outer space now streaking toward the sun.

Marine Lt. Col. Carr, 41; Air Force Lt. Col. William R. Pogue, 43, and solar physicist Dr. Edward G. Gibson, 37, began the final Skylab trip on the power of a Saturn IB rocket that thundered into a clear blue sky right on schedule at 9:01 a.m. EST.

Ten minutes later they were in orbit and immediately began the 17,000-mile-an-hour chase to track down the 68-ton Skylab, which is the size of a five-room house.

The station passed over the Cape Canaveral area several minutes before launch. By the time the astronauts reached orbit, it was over Yugoslavia.

With mission commander Carr at the controls, the Apollo was to be guided through a series of five rocket firings to gradually close the gap. Docking was scheduled for 9:25 a.m.

The flight, which Carr has dubbed a "holiday cruise," will be the most rigorous test yet of man's ability to withstand the physical and psychological stresses of long space travel.

The physical results will have a bearing on whether astronauts one day will embark for other planets.

By studying the sun and earth, the astronauts hope to learn if space can be exploited for the benefit of mankind.

Included were the wives of the spacemen, six Carr children, four Gibson children and three Pogue children.

None can predict the benefits. But the thousands of photos and miles of tape gathered by the first two Skylab crews and the data to be collected on this last mission could provide a valuable payoff in the years ahead.

The information will be studied to determine if a space science can be developed for locating hidden oil and mineral reserves; assessing agricultural potential, arable land and diseased and healthy crops; estimating timber volume; mapping snow cover and assessing water runoff; charting air and water pollution and their sources; forecasting weather, and locating fishing grounds.

The solar data will help scientists better understand the sun and how it affects the entire solar system. Solar flares spew large doses of radiation into space, influencing weather and disrupting communications on earth by creating magnetic storms.

An understanding of how the sun produces thermonuclear energy also could lead to a limitless, pollution-free power source on earth.

Tens of thousands of persons in the area watched the fiery departure of the last American manned space mission until a joint U.S.-Russian flight scheduled in July 1975. Still, it was one of the smallest crowds to witness an astronaut launch.

Included were the wives of the spacemen, six Carr children, four Gibson children and three Pogue children.

Two Men Charged With Bolton Murder

DOUG BEVINS (Herald Reporter)

Two East Hartford men charged with murder in the April 7 slaying of Harry T. "Pete" Miner of Bolton are being held on $100,000 bonds each and are scheduled to appear in Tolland County Superior Court Dec. 4.

A third East Hartford man also accused of the murder is being held in California, and a fourth man — who police say actually shot Miner — is dead.

The two men being held at the Connecticut Correctional Center in Storrs are Stephen M. Tine and Romeo St. Pierre — were arrested by State Police Thursday afternoon. They were presented in Superior Court this morning, where Judge Paul Driscoll continued their cases under the same bonds which were set when they were apprehended.

Police said St. Pierre, who lives at 26 Deborah Dr., East Hartford, was arrested at his home Thursday afternoon. Tine was taken into custody at his place of employment, police said.

The two were arrested on bench warrants issued by Superior Court Judge William Barber Thursday. Tolland County State's Atty. Donald Caldwell applied for the warrants.

The third man charged with murder on a bench warrant is Paul A. Guest, 18, of East Hartford, who is being held by California authorities on burglary charges lodged against him there. That state's authorities have been notified that Connecticut has a police warrant against Guest.

The fourth man who police say shot Miner was Richard W. Oney, who was shot and killed in an attempted supermarket burglary in California last month — the same incident in which Guest is charged.

Tine and St. Pierre both appeared in Tolland County Superior Court this morning before Judge Driscoll.

Public Defender Lawrence Klaczak, representing Tine, asked that his case be continued to Dec. 4, and Manufacturers Life Insurance Co. Frank Reagan of Radio Station WINF, and Werner Block of Davidson Levitt and Co., representing St. Pierre, also asked for a Dec. 4 continuance date and unsuccessfully argued for a reduction of his client's bond. Atty. Wright said St. Pierre's alleged involvement in the case stems only from his alleged supplying of the murder weapon to another man.

State's Atty. Caldwell said he didn't appear likely that either Tine or St. Pierre would be able to post the bond.

Tine and St. Pierre were taken into custody by State Police shortly before 5 p.m. Thursday. They were held overnight, in lieu of $100,000 bonds each at the Connecticut Correctional Center in Hartford.

Miner, 47, of Bolton Center Rd., was shot to death at 8:15 p.m. April 7 as he was returning home from his Six and Forty-Four Package Store on Rts. 6 and 4A, Bolton, police said.

It was estimated that Miner was carrying his day's receipts of about $300 when he was shot as he was getting out of his car in the driveway of his home. The money wasn't found on Miner or at his store, police said.

Miner died of internal bleeding from a bullet that was fired from a small caliber weapon, police said. It wasn't known today whether the weapon used in the slaying had been recovered.

Oney, the man who State Police say actually shot Miner, was shot and killed in an attempted supermarket burglary at Adelanto, Calif., Oct. 7. Oney's companion in that incident, Guest, escaped from the supermarket and returned to Connecticut where he was arrested in East Hartford Oct. 11.

Charges against Guest were disposed of in Manchester's Circuit Court Oct. 25, and he was returned to California to face burglary charges lodged against him by the San Bernardino County Sheriff's Department.

Manchester Energy Action Chamber Names Energy Crisis Task Force

DOUG BEVINS (Herald Reporter)

The Retail Trade Commission of the Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce has created a five-member "energy crisis task force" and has unofficially decided to forego use of electricity in Christmas lighting displays.

Richard G. Clark, the Chamber's executive vice president, said Thursday that members of the Retail Trade Commission informally decided that the usual Christmas displays on Main St. and at other shopping areas in town shouldn't be lighted this year, to conserve power.

Clark said a formal policy statement on Christmas lighting will be coming from the Chamber soon.

It is expected, Clark said, that the holiday displays will be placed in downtown Manchester as usual but they won't be lit.

The Manchester Shopping Parkade office displays will also be put up as usual but will not be lit, according to Michael Dworkin, president of the Parkade Merchants Association.

The "energy crisis task force" named by the chamber's Retail Trade Commission, Thursday consists of Edward Firestone of Pinewood Furniture, Hubert Foster of Scherle Gates, John Heino of Manufacturers Life Insurance Co., Frank Reagan of Radio Station WINF, and Werner Block of Davidson Levitt and Co.

The five-member group was one of five committees appointed by the Retail Trade Commission, which conducted its organizational meeting to identify its goals.

The other committees appointed were a promotion committee, consumer advisory committee, legislation position committee, and shopping and anti-crime committee.

Robert Charms, president of Radio Station WINF, named temporary chairman of the 21-member Retail Trade Commission. Permanent officers will be named soon.

Steele Seeks Emergency Fuel Action

WASHINGTON — U.S. Rep. Robert H. Steele, R-Conn., called on President Nixon today to take emergency measures to avert the possibility of electrical blackouts in nine northeastern states this winter because of the extreme shortage of residual oil currently developing on the East Coast.

Steele said that the Northeast is far more dependent on oil to generate electricity than are other regions of the country and therefore faces the dual threat of not only inadequate home heating oil, but also possible disruptions in electrical service.

Steele reported that electrical generating plants in New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey depend on oil-fired generators for 77 per cent of output, while 70 per cent of New England's electric power is generated at power stations using residual fuel oil. By comparison, 23 states in the central and southwestern parts of the country depend on oil for less than 5 per cent of the electricity they generate.

The Connecticut Republican charged that Administration officials are not properly gauging the reliability of oil supplies in the Northeast and the consequences that shortages of fuels may have in combination.

"My biggest concern," Steele said, "is what may happen when people who have run out of home heating oil begin plugging in electric heaters and turning on their electric stoves and ranges to keep warm. The strain created by such an added burden could well cause widespread power reductions and blackouts."

Steele called for an emergency plan to relieve the strain on utility companies such as New York's Consolidated Edison, which serves some 9 million people. According to Steele, Con Edison generates 84 per cent of its electricity with oil, most of which comes from the Midwest and North Africa and is therefore vulnerable to the Arab oil boycott and production cutbacks. If the oil dealers who supply Con Ed can't find other sources quickly, Steele said, the utility will be forced to start burning its reserve supply of oil, which would last for 25 days at most.

Steele said that Con Ed can make up for some of the lost Arab oil by obtaining oil through the mandatory oil allocation program, but that the program will only partially make up for the shortages. He noted that Con Ed could also cover some of its operations to coal, but that conversion to coal will be an involved process which will not bring any relief in the short term. The Congressman said that current estimates show that at best, Con Ed could convert only 16 per cent of its oil-using generators to coal over the next 90 days. But, Steele said, Con Ed has no firm contracts for coal and even if it had such contracts, coal cars and other equipment are in very short supply.

Steele said the picture in New York is not as bleak as it appears. (See Page Seven)

'Misunderstanding'
WASHINGTON (AP) — Several Republican senators say President Nixon told them former Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson lied about his role in the firing of special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox. The White House denied that Nixon called Richardson a liar and said the senators "obviously misunderstood" his comments.

Denies Allegation
WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President-designate Gerald R. Ford has denied he offered to help convicted stock swindler Louis Wolfson on his $1.5 million bond, police said.

Stanley Pottinger said a lawsuit is possible but that the government hopes for a negotiated settlement of the issue. Pottinger, who heads the department's civil rights division, said the department is taking a similar position with a number of other industries and unions.

'Surrogates' Created
WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has set up a special "surrogates program" to counter what it views as an unbalanced media coverage and an organized impediment effort. As in the 1972 presidential campaign, Nixon's personal appearances are being supplemented by members of his family and aides.

Yacavone Asks Special Session On Energy Issue
State Rep. Marjell T. Yacavone, Dem., of East Hartford, whose 9th Assembly District includes a portion of Manchester (Voting District 9) is urging Gov. Thomas Meskillo to call a special session of the legislature — to deal with the fuel and energy crisis.

In a letter to Meskillo, she asks him to exert his leadership by calling for a bipartisan legislative assistance, "to deal with this emergency situation affecting the well being of all our citizens."

Insisting that "voluntary efforts are not enough, if we are to deal with the situation that appears at hand," she is recommending mandatory conservation of fuel and energy.

She says the supports reducing the speed limit to 50 m.p.h.

In the past several weeks, Manchester officials have signed bond-anticipation notes totaling $1,300,000, with $500,000 of the sum for Laurel Lake purchase and improvements and $500,000 for Cooper Hill Treatment Plant renovation. In March of this year they approved a $500,000 bond issue for the Cooper Hill project and in November 1972 the voters approved a $500,000 bond issue for Laurel Lake ($449,400 for its purchase and $49,600 for improvements).

Last December town officials sold bond-anticipation notes in the amount of $600,000 (for Cooper Hill) to the Hartford National Bank and Trust Co. at 2.8 per cent annual interest. The notes expired Nov. 15 (Thursday) and were renewed.

This time, Hartford National bought $300,000 in notes at 4.75 per cent interest; and United Bank & Trust bought $200,000 at 4.77 per cent and $50,000 at 4.79 per cent.

Thursday's note-signing took place in two locations — the Municipal Building by Town Manager Robert Weiss, and in his 203 Oak St. home by Town Treasurer Roger Negro. Because Negro was home recuperating from a cold Thursday, the papers were brought to his home by Town Clerk Edward Tomkiel and Mrs. Holly Ripley, a para-legal aide representing Burke Spillacy, the town's bond counsel.

The notes signed Thursday will expire Oct. 23, 1974, to coincide with the expiration date of the $800,000 in notes for Laurel Lake.

The Laurel Lake notes were signed several weeks ago by Negro and Mayor John Thompson, in the Hartford office of the Connecticut Bank & Trust Co.

Of the $800,000 total, $500,000 was purchased by the United Bank and Trust Co. at 4.8 per cent, and $300,000 by the Connecticut Bank and Trust Co., at 4.86 percent.

After utilizing $449,400 of the sum for purchasing the Laurel Lake acreage from Robert C. Dennison and Wells C. Dennison, the town will have $50,600 for developing the landfill area over the next two or three years. A second issue of bond-anticipation notes, in the amount of $581,000, will be made in several years, to provide funds for complete development of the area through 1985.

The first stage of landfill development will include relocating the brook now near the existing landfill, constructing an access road, conducting a leachate study, and landscaping the existing landfill.

Economy Boom Continues

WASHINGTON (AP) — New figures on the country's industrial production indicate the nation's economy is continuing to expand at a rapid pace, a development that could pose problems for government economic planners.

The government's industrial production index for October showed that industrial output increased by six-tenths of one per cent during the month.

The Federal Reserve Board, which released the index Thursday, said the largest gains were in production of consumer goods and business equipment.

One Treasury Department economist said the growth could be regarded as uncomfortably large, especially since the administration has been predicting slower economic growth after months of rapid advance.

But the October increase actually was larger than the 0.5 per cent growth in September. The over-all index stood at 127.8 of the 1967 average and 7.2 per cent above a year ago.

The Treasury economist noted that increased output was generated throughout the economy, in durable goods as well as nondurable goods.

Combined with other recent statistics showing a large drop in unemployment and a renewal of the upward pressure on interest rates, the production index may indicate that present measures designed to slow the economy are not working sufficiently, he said.

But the administration did have good economic news Thursday when it reported a $2.1-billion surplus in its balance of payments transactions with foreign countries in the third quarter of the year.

It was the second straight quarterly surplus and the biggest single quarterly surplus since the Commerce Department began keeping the so-called official balance transactions balance in 1960.

Energy Crisis Chills Market

By JOSH FITZLUCHI
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Wall Street is feeling a chill from the uncertainties surrounding the nation's energy supplies.

The surfacing of the nation's immediate energy worries within the past three weeks has been accompanied by one of the sharpest drops in stock market prices in recent memory. Since Oct. 28, the paper value of all stocks held has dropped an estimated $100 billion, based on declines in the popular market indexes of between 9 and 12 per cent.

"I've seen times that quite compare with this," said Lucien Hooper, a market analyst with W.E. Hutton & Co. who has spent 54 years on Wall Street.

Investment counselors almost unanimously attribute the selloff to energy uncertainties. They say investors are frightened by the suggestion that a lack of energy supplies might lead to a severe blow to economic activity and growth this year and possibly beyond.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks, probably the

Vernon Women Told Of Chances to Serve

BARBARA RICHMOND (Herald Reporter)

With no mention of the now overworked phrase "liberated woman," a panel of three women and two men, representing five local organizations, Wednesday outlined the role women can play in the community.

The panel discussion was the program for the meeting of the Women's Fellowship of the First Congregational Church of Vernon.

The panel members were Miss Elaine Shattuck, supervisor of the Rockville Public Health Nursing Association; Mrs. Madry Turk of the Vernon League of Women Voters; John Nichols, director of the Hookman Valley Community Services Center; and Glenn Roberts, representing the Senior Citizens Organization.

The staff of the nursing association is all-female and the women have to wear many hats in their job. Their role is not just one of applying band-aids to someone's post-operative incision.

Miss Shattuck said a great deal of time is spent, by the nurses, helping families to help themselves. She has to go into a home, assess the entire situation, and plan the patient's care around the total family picture.

The association is the only local agency that makes home visits on a weekly basis.

A "crisis intervention" program of the association, while not a defined one, is very active. Miss Shattuck said hardy a day goes by that she doesn't receive three or four "crisis" calls. She said she takes the "band-aid" approach and tries to offer immediate help for the person calling and then tries to refer the person to the proper organization for further help.

What do women in the community do to help the nursing association? There are many volunteers from groups such as the Junior Women's Club, who help out at the immunization clinics sponsored by the VNA.

Volunteers also help out at speech and hearing clinics and sometimes offer transportation for those who need it.

In the line of transportation, Mrs. Forbes explained that many women offer their time and their cars to transport persons who call FISH for assistance.

FISH offers emergency-type help and the women who volunteer for this group may give as much or as little of their time as they wish. Help does not only come from women as many men also volunteer as drivers.

The women, however, also act as emergency babysitters, Mrs. Forbes cautioned the fellowship members to "First be a good wife and mother and then seek out just the right amount of just the right thing" to help in the community.

She suggested that there are many short-range jobs in FISH where women can volunteer just so much of their time. Many answer the telephone one day a month or offer to transport persons calling, one day a month, if that is all the time they feel they can afford to give from their families.

She said the biggest need is for volunteer drivers. Most of the calls are for transportation to a doctor's office or to visit a family member who is in the hospital.

"As you assume a role, be careful what you pick and choose to do... keep yourself in the picture by being in the home first and then add whatever extra you can do for the community," Mrs. Forbes said.

Nichols explained the workings of the Community Services Council which has on its professional staff, men and women. One of the prime objectives of the council is to look out for the unmet needs of the Tri-Town area of Vernon, Tolland and Ellington.

Turning to the work of the volunteers, he said there is great need, at times, for women who will volunteer as babysitters when a mother has to come to the council for assistance and also for drivers.

Nichols said the agency handles a tremendous number of family-related problems from needs for housing to psychiatric care. Most of the professional staff members are volunteers and many of them are women.

Roberts said Vernon has some 1,700 persons who are over 65 years of age and about 300 of them are living below the poverty level.

"We do need volunteers and many organizations are helping already in a variety of ways," Roberts said. He added, "If you have something you want to do to help, go to an organization and tell them."

Roberts credited women for the role they are assuming in the community, noting, "Women are getting to the place where they are seeing this as a society where they want their children to grow up responsibly in seeing that this society becomes just that. Women have definitely come a long way since the suffragette movement."

For years, our menu has been famous for great American dishes. Like steak, spareribs and stuffed shrimp.

So next time you're in the mood for something with a different accent, come to the Steak Club. And get a little Italian under your belt.

Energy Crisis Primer

If all the proposals to solve the energy crisis ever come about it may be necessary for most Americans, especially the younger generation, to re-learn some terminology.
As a primer for that time, we submit the following:
Coal — a black sooty fuel which can be burned and leaves ashes which have to be hauled.
Ashes — the residue of burned coal and wood which keep small boys out of mischief because they had to be hauled when they weren't busy chopping kindling wood.
Kindling wood — small pieces of dry wood used to start fires which required a good, sharp ax, and chopping block.
Chopping block — a large portion of tree trunk scarred with ax bites from chopping kindling and little boys practicing ax throwing during unsupervised kindling chopping chores.
Chores — tasks assigned to little boys to help around the house to keep warm and busy.
Warm and busy — a means of keeping little boys from sitting around and complaining about the cold through lack of physical activity.
Depot — a place the train stopped and you could get on and off after buying a ticket.
Hotter than a depot stove — a term to describe political issues derived from the fact that those sitting too near a depot stove could get scorched while those not at ringside would freeze.

Saturday bath night — a fuel saving practice in which all the family rotated through the same tub of water with an occasional recharge of hot water. Combined with strong soap it lasted a week without deodorants. (Or wasn't it the fact that lack of body odor wasn't a high priority social necessity?)
Sunday drive — a pleasure trip by the whole family in one car, or if you didn't have a car, with friends. Really, it was the original car pool.
Electricity — a modern miracle that provided light from a glass ball but had to be turned off immediately when not used and not used after 9 p.m.
Cook stove — a device not using electricity or natural gas which provided heat for the kitchen as well as for cooking from coal and/or wood. The oven was multi-purpose in that it baked things, warmed woolen socks, dried out wet shoes, and on occasion was an incubator for prematurely hatched chicks.
And finally, common sense — an earlier term for conservation summed up in an embroidered motto on the kitchen wall: "Waste not, want not."

No Defeat

We think the reason for defeat of California Governor Ronald Reagan's tax initiative can be found in the fable of the hound and the hare.
Like the hare, the opponents were running for their livelihood. Those in favor were running only for their taxes.
Proposition 1 which provided for an income tax rebate this year and a gradual reduction of taxes in the state, by correlating taxes to personal income, would have been a great blow for the opposition, had it passed.
By and large they were people and groups who look to the state treasury for their salaries and the money to run their institutions.
Included were such tax supported groups as California Teachers Association, California Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO, Associated California Employees, and so on in a long list.

They knew where their bread was buttered and they got out and voted to protect the ability of the legislators to dip into the state treasury for funds which now are without the limits which Proposition 1 would have set.
With only 45 per cent of the state's voters turning out, the scales were weighted heavily in favor of the negative voters who had a great personal interest in the outcome. Those who were voting out of principle were comparatively few and badly outnumbered as a result of their apathy.
There were indications that voting was along party lines with Democrats opposing and Republicans favoring.
We don't think it a great defeat for Governor Reagan.

National Energy
The editor:
One of the many crises confronting us these days is the energy crisis. All of us will soon feel the pinch in the supply of gasoline and oil for home heating. The shortage in energy has been coming for some time but has been aggravated by the recent war in the Middle East and by the attempt of the Arab sheiks to use oil as a weapon in political blackmail. Aside from the need to face the long range energy shortage and aside from the moral aspect it would be absurd to yield to political blackmail. Today we are asked by the Arabs to support their political aims in their attempt to dismember Israel, tomorrow it will be something else. We have to be independent of the whims of foreign princes and colonels. Indeed, if we can be stimulated by the current crisis to initiate a major effort aimed at developing new sources of energy, the Arabs will have done us a favor.
Our national energy is currently based on fossil oil. A change will have to be aimed at. This country possesses a lot of coal on this globe. No basic scientific breakthroughs are necessary to liquid and gassy coal. We are told that coal generated energy alone could carry us for at least 200 years. The construction and manning of plants for the conversion of coal would create many thousands of new jobs and we would be investing in our own country instead of filling the pockets of foreign oil potentates. In addition to coal generated energy we shall have to move toward wider utilization of nuclear, solar and geothermal energy.
Taking cognizance of the long term-implications of the energy shortage there should be no less incentive for the undertaking of a national energy project than there was for the Apollo project and the earlier Manhattan project. The launching of such a project should have the widest nonpartisan support as it is clearly to the benefit of the nation on the economic as well as the political front and the benefits would accrue not only to the present generation but to many generations to come.

Dear sir:
Now that all the political flurry and comments are neatly tucked away, I want to express my appreciation for what has done us a favor.

Apathy
Dear editor:
It has come to our attention that response from the Manchester residents concerning the Voluntary Action Program at Manchester Community College has been very poor. The program has sponsored three ads in The Manchester Evening Herald and only a limited number of citizens have cared to become involved in community services.
It is apparent that apathy in the town of Manchester is overwhelming. There are well over 100 students at the college volunteering their time at such organizations as The Red Cross, Boy Scouts, and the Jewish Community Center. But right now it is paying the price for having to accept a compromise which satisfies few in Israel but was probably the best that Israel could get.
Israel has two big plus factors in the cease-fire. It gets face-to-face negotiations which it has always wanted and which the Arab leaders had sworn never to accept. And the armies remain in place, as leverage for assuring peace terms Israel can live with. Beyond the immediate peace terms, it gets two other pluses: the American assurance of arms and diplomatic support in the event that Arab attacks are renewed, now or in the future;

Our Foreign Policy
To the editor:
This nation will become like a hungry animal, it will fight for survival until its energy is exhausted, then it will succumb.
I do not believe that our foreign policy should be dictated by Israel.

Thank You
Dear sir:
I wish to thank all those who worked so hard for me individually and for the Republican candidates as a whole during the recent election campaign. We knew from the outset that we were in for a difficult fight because of certain events which were both beyond our borders and beyond our control. It takes a special dedication to hang in there when the going gets tough. Not

Peace and Heartbreak

LOS ANGELES — Who would have guessed that George Patton and Douglas MacArthur would be reborn — in combination — in an Israeli general called Ariel Sharon? Gen. Sharon combines Patton's tactical brilliance of mobility and surprise (Patton's World War II drive was stopped only when Eisenhower decided to him gasoline) along with Douglas MacArthur's plainspoken defiance of President Truman and his insistence on being a political general.
Until Defense Minister Moshe Dayan shut him off, Gen. Sharon, a war hero who had led the encirclement of an Egyptian army, said bluntly that overcautious Israeli strategy had kept around a rearing Israeli victory on both the canal banks before a cease-fire. In constitutional terms, Gen. Sharon, of course, overstepped the bounds of civilian control of the military. But in a nation where there can be no real division between the military and politics — where survival and victory are the stuff of the inner nature of politics — Gen. Sharon expresses the disillusioned mood of many Israelis and their heartbreak at having to turn a promising military victory into a compromise peace.
There has not been a war in the Middle East which didn't make or break political regimes. The present war — and peace — is no exception. President Sadat has been notably wary about revealing all the cease-fire terms to his people too suddenly. If the strategy Gen. Sharon advocates had been used successfully, and Israel had emerged an all-out victor, Sadat would have been toppled, and with him, the chances of a Kissinger-type peace would have gone glimmering. Now Sadat is likely to be strengthened as the man who turned a poor military showing into a diplomatic compromise which will mean Israel's withdrawal from large portions of its 1967 and 1973 gains.
Ironically, the Golda Meir regime in Israel has already been weakened by the people by a war which started badly and ended brilliantly and by a cease-fire which rescued a compromise peace from the jaws of potential victory.
Today we look at the plant, examine the physical world about us, use microscope, test tube and telescope. To understand the how of creation is good.
Yet if you hold something too close to your eyes, and force yourself to focus on it too long, you will get so nearsighted that you cannot see across the street.
We have started so long at the physical world under our noses, that we have forgotten how to see across to the spiritual world beyond God's power is not limited by our understanding of it. All the strength of our minds will not encompass the richness of God.

Today in History

By The Associated Press
Today is Friday, Nov. 16, the 230th day of 1973. There are 45 days left in the year.
Today's highlight in history:
On this date in 1933, the United States and the Soviet Union established diplomatic relations.
On this date —
In 1776, in the Revolutionary War, the British captured Ft. Washington on the Hudson River and 2,000 prisoners.
In 1907, Oklahoma became the 46th state of the union.
In 1908, Arturo Toscanini made his U.S. debut, conducting "Aida" at the Metropolitan Opera House in New York.
In 1944, in World War II, six Allied armies began a big offensive drive in France, Germany and the Netherlands.
In 1945, Dwight D. Eisenhower proposed a merger of the U.S. Armed forces.
In 1953, former President Harry S. Truman made a nationwide broadcast to rebut charges that he had appointed an alleged Communist spy, Harry Dexter White, to high government office.
Ten years ago: The Soviets released Yale professor Frederick C. Barghoorn from custody after sharp protests by the United States that Barghoorn was no spy.
Five years ago: Cat-burglars broke into a London mansion where Jacqueline Onassis was a guest and stole $12,000 worth of jewels.
One year ago: The United States and several of its European allies invited the Soviet Union to take part in exploratory talks on reducing military forces in central Europe.
Today's birthdays: Actor Burgess Meredith is 64. Former commissioner of Indian affairs Robert L. Bennett is 61.
Thought for today: Spring is a virgin, summer a mother, autumn a widow and winter a stepmother — Polish proverb.

Today's Thought

"Philip said, 'Lord show us the Father.' John 14:18
Before our scientific age, if one wished to find how a plant grows, he didn't study the plant, he read about it in Aristotle.

Yet if you hold something too close to your eyes, and force yourself to focus on it too long, you will get so nearsighted that you cannot see across the street.

10 Years Ago
Manchester Memorial Hospital begins 30-month study, with government aid, on effects of data processing in improving hospital efficiency.

It must be hard for many of the people in Manchester to picture in their minds how things were less than a lifetime ago. There was no hospital in town. There was no ambulance. There were few telephones. The doctors were driving horses instead of cars.
Four or five young fellows used to meet in the office of the livery stable at the north end of Purnell's Row. When that happened it meant an evening of sebak for "a nicket up and down." The boss didn't object because it kept some drivers handy if a call came in for a "fig."
One evening a doctor drove in with his horse in a lather. He had just come from Bolton where he had been called for a patient with acute appendicitis. His order: "Get him over to the Hartford Hospital as fast as possible."
All hands jumped to it. A "hack" has two seats, one facing forward and one backward. A wide board kept for the purpose was laid across the two seats and a bed chiefly of horse blankets made up on it. At the same time a couple other fellows had harnessed and hooked in the span of the fastest and most spirited blacks in the stables.
In not more than ten minutes O.C. was speeding through the night toward Bolton.
Heading for Hartford with the patient and his wife, O.C. could hear the groans below because the wheels had solid rubber tires and were very quiet. In fact there wasn't much noise until he hit the hard roads in East Hartford where the team's shoes made a loud clatter.
Those horses were not accustomed to being real close to trolly cars, so when they found themselves between one and the curb the sidewalk looked like the less of two evils and, in-

Party Vote Was Heavy

VIRGINIA CARLSON
Correspondent
Heavy partisanship shows in the voter turnout in the Nov. 6 election.
Only 54 per cent of the unaffiliated voters turned out, the same number that voted in 1971. Mrs. Grace Pringle, GOP registrar, said there were 1969 voters eligible and 1,400 voted making it a 73 per cent turnout. She said this was one of the highest in the state, if not the highest.
There were 884 eligible Republicans and 85 per cent voted. There were 579 eligible Democrats and 82 per cent voted. There were 642 eligible unaffiliated voters and 47 cast ballots.
The high vote-getter was incumbent town clerk, Rita Cloutier (R) with 836 votes. This was 237 over the number of registered Republicans who voted, indicating she picked up many Democratic and independent votes.
Democratic First Selectman Joseph Szegda polled 755 votes, which is 281 over the number of Democrats who voted.
There was ticket splitting all down the line of the longest ballot in the town's history. Mrs. Pringle said, "Eleven of the GOP candidates who had lost on the machines were

Bumper Signs Push 50 M.P.H.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass. (AP) — Reynolds-DeWalt Printing Inc. of New Bedford is turning out bumper stickers which read "50 is Thrifty" to promote lower highway speeds to conserve fuel.
Earl E. DeWalt, president of the company, said he is working on a program to give 50,000 of the red, white and blue stickers to Gov. Francis W. Sargent.
The idea, he said, would be to have Sargent present 1,000 stickers to each of the other

Representatives of Oil Firms To Meet With Kissinger

SEUL (AP) - Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger will act in representatives of the major American oil companies when he gets home to discuss the impact of the Arab oil cutback on foreign policy, officials accompanying the secretary said today.

Kissinger, who left for Washington today after a five-hour visit to the South Korean capital, found strong concerns Thursday in Tokyo that Japan will not receive a fair allocation of the dwindling oil supplies.

The Japanese have about 90 days' oil stockpiled and hope to make it sufficient for a third month by conservation measures.

Japanese officials meeting with Kissinger did not take "any cheap shots" at the United States for backing Israel during the October war, one U.S. official said. But Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka, Trade Minister Yasuhiro Nakasone and other leaders appealed to him to use his influence to achieve an early solution to the Middle East crisis.

Kissinger, though, is understood not to expect any major move toward a settlement until after the Israeli elections at the end of the year. Current U.S. efforts are concentrated mainly on convening a Middle East peace conference and one official observed, "The pieces are beginning to fall into place."

The secretary of state left Tokyo with the impression that Japanese leaders understand there are limits to how fast the Middle East negotiations can proceed. But "even if we go at maximum speed, it might not be enough for Japan," one senior U. S. official said.

Kissinger does not believe a break in relations between Japan and Israel is imminent. But Japan depends on the Arabs for 40 per cent of its oil, and he does believe the situation will be tough and go for awhile. In a move to ease the pressure, the United States is likely to take over responsibility for supplying petroleum to its forces in Japan and on Okinawa.

The step in South Korea completed a 10-nation swing around the world during which he negotiated an improved ceasefire agreement between Israel and Egypt and an agreement in Peking to expand relations and exchanges between China and the United States.

He stopped in Seoul to assure President Chung Hee Park that he did not work out a deal in China to reduce the 40,000 U.S. troops stationed in South Korea. Chinese and North Vietnamese, however, are members of Kissinger's party said Washington has no intention of bringing the men home yet.

Hunter Bid Low on Jail

Jack R. Hunter Inc., Manchester building contractor, is the apparent low bidder for constructing a new Hartford Correctional Center at Fairbury and Weston Sts., in Hartford North Meadows.

Hunter's bid price is $10,465,000. It is $544,000 under the $11 million estimate for the project and includes subcontractor bids previously announced.

Bids were submitted and opened Wednesday in the office of the state Public Works Department. The nine bids opened ranged from Hunter's low to a high of $11,655,000.

The new facility will replace the correctional center on Seyma St., known for many years as the Seyma St. Jail.

Construction is expected to start soon and to take about two years to complete.

Beginning Sunday, the Mary Cheney Library will begin a series of Sunday openings.

The present schedule will call for the library to be open 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. The program will continue through March.

Last year, when the program was first introduced, over 12,000 items were circulated and 5,726 people visited the library.

The two adult-oriented programs featured Rhea Stewart, local author who gave an informal talk about her book, "Fires in Afghanistan."

The other guest was a former resident of Manchester, Mrs. Jean Martin Mazzolo, who spoke about her book, "Learning Through Play."

Special programs are being planned for the new Sunday series and will be announced at a later date, according to John Jackson, head librarian.

Steele Seeks

England was somewhat brighter, but still serious.

To noted that the Boston-based New England Electric System, for example, consumes 3,750 barrels of oil per day, but that three of its largest suppliers end of this week and has at least 80 per cent of their supplies. The Utility's contracts with all three of these suppliers expire by the end of the year, and the largest of the three was not even certain if it could meet its contract before the Arab boycott. The Utility states it can convert three of its power plants to coal, but the first would not be ready for two months and the last could take six to eight months to convert.

Blackouts Forecast

TORINGTON (AP) - A Northeast Utilities official warned Thursday that daily electrical blackouts of three to four hours during in January and February in residential sections of Connecticut are "almost guaranteed."

George Bragg, vice president of public affairs for Northeast, said homes will be hit with power interruptions because the average housewife would rather be without power and have "the breadwinner be able to stand behind his machine and earn a living."

He commented in an address to the Northwest Connecticut Industrial Management Club in Torrington.

Bragg's comments drew a response from Henry Bell, counsel for the state Department of Environmental Protection (DEP).

He criticized the Northeast official for making such statements at a time when DEP was holding a formal probe into Northeast's fuel supply for the winter season.

Connecticut's Northeast Utilities Company, which depends on oil for 66 per cent of the electricity it generates, has a greater capability for switching to coal, but also faces a very uncertain future, according to Steele.

Northeast Utilities only has enough low sulphur fuel (1/4 per cent sulphur) to take it through the end of this week and has enough medium sulphur fuel (1/4 per cent sulphur) to last until approximately mid-December, assuming it can get permission to burn it. In the past week, Northeast's suppliers have notified the company that the only oil they will have available beyond mid-December is high sulphur fuel (2.3 per cent sulphur) and that there is not even any assurance they can provide that after Dec. 31.

As a result, it appears that Northeast Utilities could well be faced with cuts of between 10 and 20 per cent of its oil supply by January.

To equalize the national shortage of all energy sources and bring relief to Northeast, Rep. Steele has recommended the following:

A mandatory program which would require refiners to reduce the production of gasoline and increase the production of fuel oils by removing the oils from the refining process before they are put through the catalytic cracking procedure which produces gasoline.

An emergency plan to funnel electricity from southern generating plants to the colder northeast.

An emergency plan to transfer temporarily some of the electricity used in uranium enrichment to the northern states.

An emergency hopper-car plan to move coal to priority areas.

A nationally coordinated plan of fuel oils by removing the oils from the refining process before they are put through the catalytic cracking procedure which produces gasoline.

An emergency study to determine how best to utilize the nation's rail facilities for movement of all fuels.

He said the Secret Service by without rationing if the shortage is 10 per cent of demand.

The first thing the government will have to watch for in a rationing program is the black market, he said, noting that it almost wrecked the World War II program.

Bowles, also former ambassador to India and Democratic governor of his state, said in a telephone interview that at one point during the World War II program about 15 per cent of the ration coupons were bogus.

He said the Secret Service will have to develop an Apollo-like understanding among the people that this is a damned serious crisis," said Gov. Thomas Salmon of Vermont.

Suggestions in the governors' resolution included:

- Adoption of daylight savings time.
- Nationwide adoption of 50-mile-per-hour speed limits.
- Reduction of voltage by electric utilities by five per cent during the peak hours between 4 and 8 p.m.
- Shutting down elevators and turning off equipment during the peak hours.
- Eliminating all excessive outdoor decorative and advertising lighting.
- Reducing the use of home appliances, such as washers and dryers, during the peak period.
- Converting from oil to coal usage.
- If gasoline rationing is necessary, implement it as soon as possible to avoid hoarding.
- Encouraging car pools and use of public transportation.

Region's Governors List Energy Savers

BOSTON (AP) - The six New England governors have outlined a series of proposals for saving fuel, ranging from adoption of daylight savings time to immediate imposition of gas rationing.

The governors agreed Thursday that even if there is cooperation with voluntary cutbacks, fuel shortages in the region could be as high as 20 per cent this winter.

The governors attended a joint meeting of the New England Council, the New England Regional Commission and the New England Governors Conference. They passed a resolution listing some of their proposals that could help cut the area's energy consumption by 15 per cent.

Some industries may close. Schools were closed for long periods of time," said Gov. Kenneth Curtis of Maine. "I would be surprised if any conservation program can work unless people are convinced of the importance of using less fuel."

"We've got to develop an Apollo-like understanding among the people that this is a damned serious crisis," said Gov. Thomas Salmon of Vermont.

Suggestions in the governors' resolution included:

- Adoption of daylight savings time.
- Nationwide adoption of 50-mile-per-hour speed limits.
- Reduction of voltage by electric utilities by five per cent during the peak hours between 4 and 8 p.m.

Cushions Seats With Animals

By ALBION LERRICK PARIS (AP) — Some people use in two drops of French perfume. Mijanou Bachau, in contrast to Captain Hook, can't hardly wait to more away inside her very own crocodile. It's actually a sleeping bag. Five years ago, the bubbly Mrs. Bachau and her husband Patrick plunged into cushions through force of circumstance. The apartment in which they lived was so low-ceilinged "that you practically have to sit on the floor, anyway."

So they made cushions. Actually, Bachau said, they have ideas together and Mijanou sews the cushions. They began with squashy poufs — the kind big enough to house a family. Then, said Mrs. Bachau, "I thought I might as well do real animals."

First there was the tortoise, which comes in all dimensions from turtle-soup size to the specimens no one hopes to meet on the beach. Then there are snakes in liberty print flowers, black and white chevrons, printed camels and birds. Next to be converted into a cushion is the camel, kneeling with its hump as a headrest.

Mrs. Bachau, whose maiden name was Bardot, made a plain queen-size pouf for her sister, Brigitte. For Salvador Dali, she created a fire-spiriting winged dragon. The big snake is almost 60

Gardening

with FRANK ATWOOD

Ornamental cabbage is a strange and strikingly beautiful plant that is grown in many parts of the world but has perhaps never been seen by most gardeners.

We were invited to see a splendid display of this vegetable that looks like a flower in a garden at Colebrook.

After several frosts in that cold corner of Connecticut, the cabbage still looked fine. In fact, said Miss Adaline Wheeler, our hostess, it only begins to show its best color after a frost.

It is unmistakably a cabbage. The stalk and the outside leaves look like any other cabbage in the garden. Cabbage looper will eat holes in the leaves if they are not sprayed.

Miss Wheeler's garden was protected from rabbits by a chicken-wire fence and from deer by a single strand of electric fence. She made sure the current was off before she let us crawl under the wire.

At the time in the fall when the inner leaves of ordinary cabbage form a tight head, the inner leaves of this plant open out into a crimped and curled display of real beauty and great variety.

I have one beside me as I write, with the several stalk standing in a pot of water that keeps the plant crisp and fresh. The "flower" is 15 inches across, but the two outside rows of large leaves are simply green, with white veins. The next leaves toward the center have less green tissue and wider veins of creamy white. The small leaves at the center are nearly all white, with only flecks of green along the crimped outer edge.

Rose and Purple

White is not the only color. Miss Wheeler gave us also some cabbage with centers that were rose-red, or with purple hue, each with a border of green outside leaves.

Flower arrangers have paid more attention to ornamental cabbage than vegetable gardeners, and Miss Wheeler showed us the October illustration in the Federated Garden Club calendar for 1974.

She also quoted from a book on flower arranging by an English writer, Constance Spry, discussing the use of ornamental cabbage. In England, Miss Spry wrote, it stays in good condition until the temperature drops to 15 degrees.

The plant is generally considered to have originated in the Orient, but Japanese seedmen say it came to Japan from England.

My first saw ornamental cabbage in a private garden near the Bay of Fundy in Nova Scotia. When we took to Miss Wheeler's plants to our hostess at a dinner party in Storrs, she said she had seen the cabbage just once, in Wales. Another of the guests told us he had seen it, once, in Australia.

Miss Wheeler bought seed from two sources, an English firm, Unwin's, and an American company, Park Seed, in Greenwood, S.C. Although she didn't plan it this way, she is producing her own seed now. Some of last year's cabbage lived through the Colebrook winter and this year shot up tall flower stalks that produced seed. She has gathered some of it, but some has been scattered on the ground and now, as winter approached, there are numerous small cabbage plants growing underfoot.

Said to be Edible

The neighbor who helps Miss Wheeler with the heavy part of her gardening work put half a dozen small plants in a flat of soil for me and I have them under lights in the basement.

The seed Miss Wheeler purchased was planted in the open ground in May at Colebrook and then the seedlings transplanted in rows like any garden cabbage.

With the cabbage she grew some flowering kale, with leaves of variegated green and pale yellow, also used in flower arranging. Both the cabbage and the kale are edible, she understands, but has not tried them on the table.

Miss Wheeler is a cousin of Clenewell Young (Mrs. Robert C. Young), former Bolton correspondent for The Herald, now on the faculty of Manchester Community College, where she teaches English. We went to Colebrook with Mrs. Young and her daughter, Johanna, and had lunch at Miss Wheeler's guests in her old New England house, with its large rooms and large fireplaces that has been in the family since 1793. She will close the house soon for the winter and move to her Bolton home on Beacon Hill.

The only plants she will take to Bolton are a few bonas that she grows as another hobby. She went to Japan a few years ago with a group of bonas growers.

Honey Locust Pods

Mrs. John M. Rathbone of West Hartford demonstrated flower arranging to member of the East Central Council of Garden Clubs Monday evening in Woodruff Hall at the Center Congregational Church well filled for the occasion.

Among other things, Mrs. Rathbone used some long, flat, dark brown pods in one or two of her arrangements and, by coincidence, I had a question the next day from Mrs. Elsie Minicucci of 443 E. Middle Tpk., about trees in her yard which litter the ground with long flat, brown pods.

I called Mrs. Rathbone, who said the pods had been identified for her by Mrs. Carl H. Bissell of Manchester Garden Club as honey locust. In the meantime, I had taken a piece out into a crimped and curled display of real beauty and great variety.

Looking in his horticultural books at home, Leon confirmed the identification. These trees are Gleditsia triacanthos, or honey locust. They are native trees and probably many years old. Flowers are described as "fuzzy," green and inconspicuous, which explains why Mrs. Minicucci has never, she said, been able to see any flowers. The pods are useless, except in making flower arrangements.

South Windsor 4-H members will be awarded certificates of achievement at the annual Awards Night this evening at 7:30 at the Timothy Edwards School.

Mrs. Raymond Billig, 4-H representative for South Windsor, said the Achievement Awards gathering gives members the opportunity to display projects undertaken during the year. Members and leaders of various local clubs are able to meet and share ideas.

Patti Riordan and Vicki Nowicki, 4-H members, will act as mistresses of ceremonies, introducing the clubs and various speakers.

A "potluck dessert" will be provided. Each member has been encouraged to bring some sort of homemade treat.

Young Wives

The South Windsor Young Wives recently held a benefit concert by John Morgan, singer and guitarist. All profits were donated to the Jimmy Fund.

In addition to his usual "sing-along" program, Morgan did his popular "Rico Flashback" character of the fifties. In typical dress of the era, he held a story in song of his courtship with the imaginary "Sheila."

The Young Wives, a YWCA affiliated club, is open to any women in the South Windsor area. New members are welcome. Call 699-9568 for further information.

The drawing was held during the Women's Republican Club Auction at St. Peter's Church Hall.

Ellington Synagogue To Mark 60th Year

Kneseth Israel Synagogue on Pinney St., Ellington, will celebrate its 60th year Saturday with festivities in the evening and special commemorative services at 9:30 a.m. to be followed by a Kiddush. At the turn of the century, services were held at the homes of some of the members until the synagogue was built in 1913 on Abbott Rd. in Ellington. In 1953 the synagogue was moved from Abbott Rd. to its present site on Pinney St. Dr. Philip Rosenberg, a past president of the synagogue, will be master of ceremonies at Saturday's services. Julius Fleischmann is presently serving as president. David Cohen, a member of the congregation, will comment on the historic background of the synagogue. Another member of the congregation, Baruch Elin, was instrumental in translating material from old Hebrew records and this will be on display. Rabbi David Edelman, principal of the Zaborvitcher Yeshiva Academy in Springfield, Mass., will speak on "The Great Role of the Synagogue in Preserving the Jewish Community." The Congregation Kneseth Israel evolved from what was originally called the Congregation Jewish Farmers Association of Ellington as did the Ellington Cemetery Association which was founded in 1913. It was on Dec. 19, 1956 that the Kneseth Israel Sisterhood was reactivated and later a Brotherhood was formed. A Hebrew and Sunday School was established as well as a library. Adult Education and Bible study groups have since been organized and recently a new parking area, adjacent to the synagogue, was completed and improvements were made to the grounds as well as the synagogue. Rabbi Israel Cor came to Ellington in 1912 and served as spiritual leader of Kneseth Israel until his death in 1940.

Funeral services are Saturday at 11 a.m. at the Newkirk and Whitney Funeral Home, 318 Burnside Ave., East Hartford. Burial will be in Hillside Cemetery, East Hartford. Friends may call at the funeral home tonight from 7 to 9.

Fire Kills 24 In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Fire flashed through an apartment building early today, trapping some sleeping residents and forcing others to toss their belongings to rescuers and then leap for their lives. Fire Chief Raymond Hill said 24 persons died, more than 50 persons were rescued from the flaming building by firemen who guided residents down ladders and fire escapes. Others had already leaped from the structure, officials said. An undetermined number of persons were missing and officials said at least 52 persons were injured in what they said was the worst fire in the city's history. An undetermined number of the injured were reported in critical condition in hospitals. Hours after the fire was extinguished, some of the building's estimated 200 residents remained unaccounted for, officials said. Sleeping residents of the 68-unit, brick building in the city's Wilshire section were overwhelmed by the spiraling fire that broke out shortly before midnight PST, officials said. They said the fire licked up open stairwells to the upper floors of the U-shaped Stratford Apartments, which has wings of three and four stories. "I woke up and the place was all aflame," said Clarence Glover, 66, a resident of the building which is situated in a poorer section of the city. "I went down the fire escape... I could hear everyone screaming."

Rawlins Leads Tuition Protest

University of Connecticut sophomore Wayne Rawlins, son of Dr. and Mrs. Sedrick Rawlins of 66 Waranoke Rd., is a leader in a campus movement protesting a proposed raise in tuition to $600. Rawlins is one of the drafters of a letter which accompanied petitions submitted to the State Commission on Higher Education. The letter says increased tuition discriminates against the middle class students, unable to afford the raise, and unable to qualify for financial aid. About 5,000 UConn students signed the petition.

Commuter Bus Riders Formerly Drove Cars

Nine out of ten passengers riding express commuter buses sponsored by the Connecticut Department of Transportation (DOT) previously used an automobile to get to work, according to passenger surveys of the bus projects. State Transportation Commissioner Joseph Burns, releasing the survey results today, said the DOT-sponsored bus services are "definitely attracting people who would otherwise be traveling to work by car." Most of the commuter bus passengers used to drive to work alone, while the minority were passengers in other cars or were in car pools, the survey shows. Burns said the increasing cost of gasoline, the need to conserve energy, and a new $17 monthly commuter bus pass are making the buses more attractive. The DOT survey shows that the main reason the buses are used is because people don't like driving in congested traffic. Burns said other major reasons cited by passengers, he said, were dislike of parking at destination, high cost of parking, and lower overall trip cost via the buses.

The Regional District 8 Board of Education has set Nov. 27 as the date for a district referendum to decide on its request for a $40,000 appropriation for architects and site planning for the proposed middle school.

A meeting called for earlier this week to seek permission to borrow the necessary funds was adjourned upon receipt by the board's secretary of a petition with 275 signatures calling for the referendum.

The referendum will be held in the three district towns of Hebron, Andover and Marlborough and the polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. This referendum is not for approval of the proposed school, but only for architects fees to draw up preliminary plans to

Oil Shortages Hurting Production Of Plastics

WASHINGTON (AP) — A plastics industry spokesman said Thursday that oil cutbacks could cause a loss of 1.6 million jobs by New Year's Day and shortages of everything from cars to football helmets.

White House that plastics deserve a cut of the oil supply. "We're not asking for special treatment. We just want our share of what there is. I sincerely hope the government will look at this as an emergency situation and get moving on it," he said.

While oil is fuel to power industry, it is the raw product for plastics production. Plastics use 1.2 per cent of the oil supply.

Layoffs and shortages can be avoided only by insuring the plastics industry gets a fair share of the petroleum supply, said Ralph Harding, president of the Society of the Plastics Industry.

Layoff patterns already are developing in the South, New England and California, Harding said at a news conference.

He said industry has been getting along on 45 per cent less oil for several months, relying on inventories to keep up production. But the inventories are nearly used up, he said.

Harding said the industry effort today is to preserve the 80 per cent production schedule.

Harding said he called the news conference to convince

Ninth Soccer Finals For Tribe Saturday

By Len Auster

Making their ninth appearance in the CIAC Class A State Soccer Tournament finals, the Manchester High Indians run into a huge obstacle in facing Staples High of Westport at Choate School in Wallingford. The sixth-ranked Wreckers are defending champs and have either won or shared the Class A crown the past three years.

WERNER CACACE

usually assigned the opponent's top performer. Leading scorer for Staples have been Brodsky and Charlie Perwitz, each with two tallies. Manchester's top goal-getter during tournament play has been senior Co-Captain Werner Cacace with three markers. The other half of the cacace duo, Reiner Cacace, has two goals and one assist while junior Billy MacLean has one goal and two assists for the Tribe.

Playing their last games in Manchester uniforms will be Werner Cacace, Al Wood, Bruce Bensen, Connie McCurry, Mike Shensie, George Kahl, Rick McMahon, Rick Taylor and Rick Wasserman.

With two highly-skilled out-fits like Manchester and Staples, the latter a defensive-minded team, the game could be an all-day affair. The Indians have been looking for this the entire season and one thing is sure. They are going to be ready for there is no tomorrow.

Three Goals, Four Assists Comprise Orr's Big Night

BOSTON (AP) — Bobby Orr pumped in three goals and gathered four assists as he helped himself to another National Hockey League record and the Bruins to a 10-2 grudgegame victory over the New York Rangers Thursday night.

The Bruins scored three goals in the first period, including Gregg Sheppard's first of the season, and the Rangers were never able to recover. "They rubbed the back of our necks as we came back," Orr said with typical modesty. "We wanted to get at them but the big thing is two points." The victory gives Boston a tidy 5-point lead in the NHL's tough Eastern Division. "We couldn't play any worse than we did in New York last week. I guess that shows that the guys can come back," Orr said with typical modesty. The star defenseman, who now holds the record for most points by a defenseman in a single game, also holds the league records for most goals, most assists and most points in a season. He rarely talks with newsmen following games and is less likely to talk about himself than his three goals the fourth time he has turned the hat trick in his career. Orr said "It was a nice feeling."

All-Time Track Great Kelley in Race Field

By Earl Yost

Although no longer a threat to break the tape first in the annual Five Mile Road Race in Manchester Thanksgiving morning, Little Johnny Kelley reigns supreme as the all-time champion.

JOHNNY KELLEY

The 57th edition is coming up Thursday morning starting at 10:30 and Kelley will be among the expected 500 starters. The entry list neared the 500 mark yesterday.

Sponsors of the holiday sports fixture will be Notting Forest, Tall Cedars of Lebanon. All proceeds will enter the Muscular Dystrophy Fund. The starting and finishing point will be on Main Street, opposite School Street.

Receipt of Kelley's entry adds close to an already imposing field of schoolboy, collegiate and club runners. He's helped build up a tremendous following over the years and it will be interesting to double check his time for the grid. Two years ago he covered the five miles in exactly the same time he did in his 22 years showing here in 1948 - 52 later.

Knicks Moving in Win

NEW YORK (AP) — "We moved the ball better tonight than we have done for a while," said Bill Bradley. Which is why the New York Knicks beat the Buffalo Braves 97-86 in the National Basketball Association Thursday night.

The better the Knicks move, the better their game. "All our guys were moving better," Bradley, who scored 22 points. "That's been our problem the last three or four games. All the guys hadn't been moving the ball well. Tonight was one of our better games."

Hank Finds New Ways To Make $

ATLANTA (AP)—For 19 of his 20 major league baseball seasons, Henry Aaron did his thing in virtual obscurity. Suddenly, that has changed.

Now that Aaron's long, hot summer in pursuit of Babe Ruth's all-time major league record of 714 home runs has ended its 1973 run one short, the Atlanta Braves superstar has been besieged by personal appearances offers.

A spokesman for the agency said Aaron should earn about $2 million for his personal appearances in the next two years. Aaron, who took a time out from his hectic winter schedule last Monday to marry Billy Williams, co-host of an Atlanta talk show, was seen Thursday night on The Flip Wilson Show.

Despite Dismal Season East Grid Outlook Good

By Len Auster

With an undefeated but once tied freshman team and a junior varsity squad which shows promise, prospects should be looking up for yearling head football coach John LaFontana of East Catholic High.

LaFontana is suffering through a disastrous first year as the Eagle mentor, as his club is presently 2-2, one win being a forfeit victory a week ago when Monument Mt. Regional, Mass., was forced to cancel due to internal difficulties.

When forming his roster, LaFontana said he looks for a kid who is enthusiastic and hustles. "You can make a good player out of someone who hustles. Someone can be a good athlete but a bad football player if they don't hustle," LaFontana analyzed.

With a solid nucleus of sophomores to build from, the East Catholic should find success in the next few years. One member of the faculty voiced a warning. "If he can make them into a good team, then that will be the measure of him as a coach." And wide receiver Dave Bemer said, "He's a real coach. He's got the school just as he gives him time to develop his methods."

Little Man Dwyer Filling Big Shoes

By Len Auster

Being small in stature sometimes has its advantages. For instance, you can sneak up on people and get them before they know what's happening.

That, with Steve Dwyer, 5-9, 160-pound linebacker for Manchester High probably has been the case. But don't be deceived by size. "Right now, in my estimation, Steve is probably one of the best linebackers in the OCIL," Coach Larry Olson declared.

Dwyer is a very intense young man who calls himself the Indian defensive platoon. He is so intense at times, he knocks down his own teammates. "In one game, (Rick) Milka was coming on the field and I ran him over. I never saw him," Dwyer recalled. "He was bumpy and bruised every week. That is not true in Dwyer's case."

What I've gained from football is learning how to work together as a team. Learning how to get along with people. Learning discipline. "He says, "That is one lesson everyone should learn, and that this conscientious young man has picked up very well."

Crenshaw On Move

By Len Auster

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Suddenly, dramatically, rookie Ben Crenshaw has put himself in position to win an unprecedented second consecutive professional golf title — and this one for the biggest prize the game has ever offered.

The husky, hard-hitting 21-year-old from the University of Texas stamped past 25 players and into a share of second place with a brilliant, seven-under-par 64 in gutsy, swirling winds and now is by six strokes ahead of struggling leader Tom Watson in the $500,000 World Open Golf Tournament.

"I'm still pretty far back, but at least I'm in contention," Crenshaw said after Thursday's sixth round in this two-week, 144-hole event that offers a record $100,000 to the winner. The tournament ends Saturday.

"I don't believe I'll shoot two more 64s, but I'd like to have two more rounds in the 60s, 68 or 69. I'd like to have two more good rounds like that and see what happens," said Crenshaw, the most highly-touted and exciting rookie since Jack Nicklaus turned pro more than a decade ago.

Torkelson Ailing On Eve of Battle

NEW HAVEN (AP) - Eric Torkelson came off the sidelines Thursday and practiced with his Connecticut football teammates for the first time this week.

He probably will be able to play in Saturday's game for the Yankee Conference tie against Rhode Island, but won't start, says Joe Soltys, sports information director at UConn.

The running back, whose 1,012 yards rushing this year leave him 43 of the school record set by Vin Clements, now of the New York Giants, came up with a sprained knee in last week's 19-10 victory over Boston University that raised the Huskies' league record to 50. They are 7-2 overall.

All Connecticut college football teams, except Yale, UConn and New Haven, play their regular season games Saturday.

Fate travels to Princeton in an Ivy League game Sunday at 2:30 p.m. at Princeton, N.J. UConn is 4-1 in night games. Bridgeport hosts Springfield.

New Haven finished its first varsity season Nov. 10 with an 18-6 victory over UConn. Both Rhode Island, which is 4-1 in the league and 2-1 overall, the Huskies will have the Yankee crown all to themselves in the final game. They'll claim a share of UConn's title.

Torkelson's replacement in the starting lineup probably will be Mick Pucko, a sophomore who has carried the ball only twice this season for 16 yards.

Berry Barker, who would have stepped in for Torkelson, suffered a hamstring pull in practice this week and probably won't play.

He went down running a pass pattern. There was no contact at all, first-year in a unique position to sour the Sugar Bowl and put the Orange Bowl back on top by knocking off both the Tide and the Irish.

Miami plays Alabama Saturday at Tuscaloosa and meets Notre Dame Dec. 1 in the Orange Bowl, which is the site of all Hurricane home games.

Miami will be heavily underdog both times, but the Hurricanes seem to perform better than expected in the show.

Post-season bids will be officially extended and accepted late Saturday and the Sugar Bowl is expected to walk off with the Orange Bowl.

The Orange Bowl will likely get sixth-ranked Penn State and seventh-rated Louisiana State, a dandy matchup under most circumstances but downright dull when compared to the dream pairing of Bear Bryant's awesome Crimson Tide and Air Force's powerful Fighting Irish.

That's where Miami, Fla. comes in. In the Hurricanes are

Steelers' Charges Fail to Stand Up

Steelers, who won the game 17-9, complained that the Raiders were "dirty" during the game. Oakland players "dirty tricks" during last Sunday's game in Oakland.
