Cease-Fire Line Talks Continue In Desert Tent

By The Associated Press
Israeli and Egyptian envoys met for two hours today at a desert highway checkpoint to discuss troop withdrawals from the Suez war front. They agreed to meet again Saturday.

U.N. sources in Cairo said the Saturday meeting would deal once again with the crucial issue of a cease-fire boundary acceptable to both sides. Negotiators dealt with the same problem at a session Thanksgiving Day.

Radio Israel said Maj. Gen. Aharon Yari and Egypt's Lt. Gen. Mohamed Ghamay met in a U.N. conference tent on the Cairo-Suez road, the tip of the Israeli front 60 miles from the Egyptian capital.

Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan warned that the Middle East war had not ended but was just beginning. In a speech before the Israeli Bar Association he urged fellow Israelis to have steady nerves in the event of new hostilities.

He said the Soviet Union had resupplied Syria and Egypt with weapons since the October fighting. "We are facing not the end of the war, but the beginning with the Syrians and the Egyptians, and I don't know about the other fronts," he declared.

Foreign Minister Abba Eban returned from a visit to the United States and told newsmen the Israeli government had not yet decided whether it could attend a Mideast peace conference in December.

Eban said he had pointed out to U.S. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and other officials that the government could not make significant commitments for the future until after the Israeli elections set for Dec. 31.

Israeli newspapers, summing up Thursday's meeting on the Cairo road, said the decision to continue daily talks signaled progress in the discussion of a principle issue: how to separate the opposing forces.

The chief executive members of his family and close friend Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo from Florida enjoyed a traditional turkey dinner Thursday after watching holiday football games on television.

Nixon arrived here early Thursday afternoon after spending the morning at work at his Oval Office in the White House.

With him for the four-day weekend along with Rebozo was Mrs. Nixon, daughter Tricia, and her husband Edward. The Nixon's other daughter, Julie, and her husband, David Eisenhower, went to Phoenixville, Pa., to be with David's parents, former Ambassador and Mrs. John Eisenhower, for the holiday.

But Israel said the positioning of the two armies on Oct. 22 cannot now be determined and has suggested the opposing forces return to their respective sides of the Suez Canal with Egypt claimed the Israelis made significant advancements after the first U.N. imposed cease-fire on Oct. 22 and has demanded that the Israeli return to where they were on that date.

But Israel said the positioning of the two armies on Oct. 22 cannot now be determined and has suggested the opposing forces return to their respective sides of the Suez Canal with

There were only three reported survivors of the multinational crew aboard the 4,000-ton Annette out of Funguata.

An Israeli navy search and rescue officer said the Annette had sent up flares shortly after midnight when it ran into trouble.

"We saw people on the ship but could not get to them because of the storm," he said.

Winds up to 50 knots were rolling giant waves across the broad water and into the harbor, he reported.

"We waited for the crew to jump so we could rescue them, but they did not. We saw the waves washing over the boat and people disappearing," he said.

Freighter Sinks; 21 Missing

ASHDOD, Israel (AP) — A small Cypriot freighter broke up and sank in Ashdod harbor today after it slammed into a breakwater in a raging Mediterranean storm. Twenty-one persons were missing and feared drowned, harbor police said.

Wall Street Mood Gloomy

NEW YORK (AP) — To many Americans it may seem only a dark cloud on the horizon. But to those who make their living on Wall Street, the energy crisis already has brought a deluge of trouble.

Since Oct. 26, the stock market has suffered one of its sharpest declines ever, indicating paper losses estimated at more than $100 billion.

Market experts agree the slide is a result of investors' fears that scarcities of energy will derail economic growth across the country in the months and years ahead.

The gloom along the narrow, crowded streets of the nation's financial capital lifted a little Wednesday as stock prices staged a moderate rally.

"This is an indication this country can survive," said Peter W. Haas, a specialist who works on the New York Stock Exchange trading floor. "A little energy crisis isn't going to slow this country down."

But his optimism was far from universal.

"This rally can't last," a

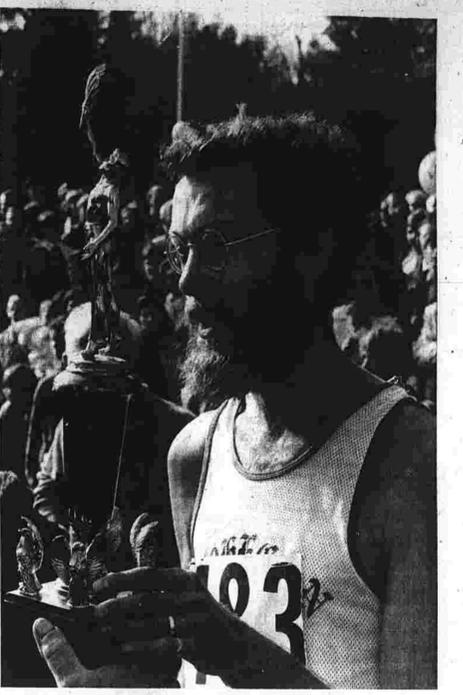

Holiday Toll Climbs Past 170 Mark

By The Associated Press
The nation's Thanksgiving holiday weekend traffic death toll passed 170 today.

Rain, snow or fog slowed highway travel in wide areas of the West and in parts of the midcontinent in South and East.

The count of traffic deaths began at 6 p.m. local time Wednesday and will end at midnight Sunday.

Seattle (AP) — Former Rep. Thomas M. Pelly, 70, a member of the U.S. House of Representatives for 20 years, is dead at 71. The Washington Republican died Wednesday of complications of

Train, Bus Holiday Business Booms

By The Associated Press
The four of running out of gas prompted many holiday travelers to ride trains or buses rather than drive cars for Thanksgiving Day trips. And they probably didn't regret it.

Some cars coughed and sputtered to a standstill on freeways around the country as the fuel shortage became a reality for many drivers.

"We were getting two or three calls a minute this afternoon from motorists stranded without gas," spokesman Alex Parley of the Connecticut Automobile Association said Thursday night.

Many gas stations were reported closed, but whether the lack of fuel or because of the holiday, could not be determined.

A spokesman for the American Automobile Association in Columbus, Ohio, said 50 per cent of Thursday's calls were emergency appeals for gas. He said at 8 p.m. only one gas station in the area was open.

Some of those able to find gas had to pay dearly for it. Station owner Harry Simmermon of Monroe Township, N.J., found no lack of business despite prices described as "thanksgiving blackmail" by a local official.

Simmermon charged 88 cents a gallon for regular and 88 cents a gallon for premium gasoline at for the holiday period.

An additional complication in bus travel was the voluntarily imposed 50 mile per hour speed limit on highways, making for late arrivals. "We've gotten so screwed up on schedules because of the lowered speed limits, that people don't know what the hell is going on," said one dispatcher at Port Authority in New York City.

Motorists in many areas seemed to be complying with the lowered speeds, now mandatory in at least 10 states.

Amtrak employees at various stations around the country indicated it wasn't just the Thanksgiving holiday that accounted for the increase in traffic.

"We're booked solid on all long-distance runs through Dec. 31. The gas shortage has had an awful lot to do with it," said Diane Ruddy, an Amtrak controller in Seattle.

Senator Says Bork Holding Job Illegally

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., says acting Atty. Gen. Robert H. Bork is holding his job illegally and wants President Nixon to take "appropriate action" to comply with the law.

The Wisconsin Democrat said in a letter to Nixon released today that Bork's "lawful tenure as acting attorney general is limited to 30 days and the 30 days was up this past Monday, Nov. 11."

Bork, who as solicitor general is the No. 3 man in the Justice Department, became acting attorney general Oct. 26 when Elliot L. Richardson and William D. Ruckelshaus resigned as attorney general and deputy attorney general.

A federal judge ruled in June that the acting head of the Office of Economic Opportunity, Howard J. Phillips, could not continue in office past the 30-day limit because Nixon did not submit his name for Senate confirmation.

In the Phillips case, U.S. District Judge William Jones ruled that the president's power concerning interim appointments, "if it exists at all, exists only in emergency situations."

The administration has taken the position that, since Bork became acting attorney general by being the highest remaining Justice Department official rather than through appointment, the 30-day limit does not apply to Bork.

President Nixon has announced the choice of Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, as the new attorney general but has delayed sending the nomination to the Senate pending action on a measure to lower the attorney general's pay to its pre-1969 level of $25,000.

"This action is necessary because the Constitution forbids the appointment of a member of Congress to a federal office whose salary was raised during his term in Congress. Some senators say the Saxbe nomination will be unconstitutional anyway, and that issue is scheduled for Senate debate next week."

Students Help To Set Up Antiques Show

This afternoon boys from Howell Cheney Technical School and girls from the Manchester and Bolton High Schools will be assisting members of the Manchester Rotary Club in moving 85 exhibitors into the Manchester High School for the eighth annual Rotary Club Antiques Market which opens Saturday and runs through Sunday.

Russell Miller and his committee will cover the entire Clarke arena floor with heavy building paper before the booths are installed in order to protect the recently renovated floor.

The Antiques Market will open at 10 a.m. Saturday and close at 10 p.m. Sunday hours are from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. This will be the largest antiques show in number of exhibitors to have been seen in the eastern part of the state, according to Carl Gunderson, Rotary chairman of the show.

A snack bar will be open during the hours of the antiques exhibition and sale with Allen Behne and Arrigo Almetti in charge.

On Saturday night, a roast beef dinner will be available to those attending the show for only $2.75 with children's portions priced at $1.75. On Sunday noon, a spaghetti dinner will be available for $1.75 with children's dinners $1.25.

Wives of Rotarians have baked cakes and pies which will be on sale either by the piece or whole, and will assist Rotarians in the food department.

Alumna of RHS Returns in Ballet

When the Connecticut Valley Regional Ballet Co. appears at the Vernon Center Middle School tonight at 8, it will be homecoming for one of the performers, Dorothy Silverherz, a graduate of Rockville High School.

The show is being sponsored by the Girls' Athletic Activities Club of Rockville High. The program will include a premiere of a new work by the company's director, Marguerite de Anguera.

Miss Silverherz will be featured in three of the selections. While a student at Rockville High she performed in dramatic productions under the direction of Eileen Murphy and took part in the school's folk dance group under the direction of Clare Albom.

While in her junior year at high school Miss Silverherz received special tutoring when she went to Broadway to appear in Rogers and Hammerstein's "Me and Julie."

Her professional credits also include soloist parts with both the William Burdick and Martha Myers Concert Companies, a stint of touring with "Oklahoma" and performances with the City Center Opera Ballet.

In addition to performing with the ballet company, Miss Silverherz is also co-director. She was one of the founding members and is currently serving on the board of directors.

Antifreeze Supply Reported Shrinking

NEW YORK (AP) — The petroleum shortage that is limiting supplies of gasoline and oil also is reducing the availability of antifreeze as winter approaches.

Antifreeze manufacturers say the situation isn't likely to reach the point where their product can't be found. But they say some motorists may have to shop around with the selection narrowed to a few big-name brands.

Antifreeze is derived from ethylene glycol, a petroleum product also used in making synthetic fibers such as polyester. With demand for synthetic fibers growing and petroleum supplies shrinking, antifreeze manufacturers say they are finding it difficult to obtain enough ethylene glycol.

"The major manufacturers with their own branded merchandise have their own position to protect, so they are reducing supplies to private label manufacturers," said J.F. Chase, a sales promotion manager for Dow Chemical Co.

"So the consumer may have to buy brand merchandise this winter or maybe walk a little further to get his supply."

Smith found his prize in an old mine where the public is allowed to pay a fee and hunt for diamonds. "I found it about 10 or 15 miles after I got in," he said. "It wasn't the first diamond I've found worth keeping."

Park supervisor Jim Cannon said the stone is worth at least $5,000 and could be worth as much as $14,000 after it is cut.

Gov. Rockefeller Ponders Future

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller repeated Wednesday that he was considering several political options in the coming months, including resignation.

"Well, I've got a whole series of options which I've discussed," he said during a tour of the South Mall state office building project. Asked whether resignation was an option, he said: "Well, I've got to be frank, I've considered everything."

Would he have a problem being a lame-duck governor? "That's one of the problems," he said.

Rockefeller has been asked specifically about resignation on other occasions. Only a few weeks ago after a speech in Lake Placid, he said that resignation "obviously" was an option.

On Monday in Memphis, Rockefeller said he would announce before the Jan. 9 opening of the state legislature whether he would seek re-election.

As children, we had never heard the word appendix. That organ was known as the "death trap," and when it became infected or inflamed it was believed to have something in it such as a grape seed.

One woman acquaintance carefully removed the seeds from every grape before eating it. Now the exquisite flavor of a Concord grape comes from the inside of the skin, but as soon as the pulp is broken that delicate taste is lost, overwhelmed by the stronger sour from within.

Furthermore, we are told that the entrance to the appendix is much too tiny to admit anything as large as a grape seed.

What good is our appendix? It is supposed to be what is left of an organ which over the millions is being evolved away. It was probably much larger and necessary as an aid to digestion when our ancestors ran around on four feet eating worms, grubs, insects, raw meat and even vegetation that would poison us today.

Or they may have taken their nourishment from some thing that would be deadly today, while hanging by their tails in the trees.

These appendages haven't been entirely eliminated yet. We all have the remains of them at the base of the spine. It is not too uncommon for kickbacks to develop enough to be a nuisance and require surgical removal.

O.C. had a friend who had a two-inch caudal member removed after he had reached adulthood.

The citizens of South Manchester were much concerned when the news spread that Mr. Verplanck had something in his death trap and had gone to the Hartford Hospital to have it cut out. Those are the words that traveled over the streets and back yard grapevine.

One time O.C. inveigled a couple of other kids to go on an overnight hike. It was Saturday. On a side hill in Buckingham area we built a brush-lean-to and gathered enough dry wood so by taking turns one could tend the fire while the two could sleep.

There was no sleep.

After O.C. had made supper, one of the other kids developed a raging toothache and bawled most of the night. After breakfast we started home on Sunday morning.

South of Line St. and parallel to it was a property line. As was common practice then, a row of trees had been left when the fields was cleared for farming. The fields on both sides had "worn out," and been allowed to revert to forest. The woods had already past through the transition stage and were well stocked with hardwoods with trunks up to six inches.

Along the fence line was the row of old veteran chestnuts four to five feet in diameter with low spreading branches as big as a person's body.

COOL LITE BETTER

TORONTO (AP) — People can live and love better with the thermostats in their houses turned down, University of Toronto scientists say.

The scientists, who have been studying the reaction of the body to temperature changes, said in interviews that people feel more active, sleep better and love better at lower temperatures.

Dr. Robert Goode, a respiratory physiologist, said male reproductive organs seem to operate at a slightly cooler temperature than the rest of the body. He said Arctic survival studies show people can survive in the nude at 32 degrees provided "they don't move too much and use up body heat."

Benefit Increase Advances

WASHINGTON (AP) — An 11 per cent cost-of-living increase for 30 million Social Security recipients has moved a step closer to congressional passage with Senate Finance Committee approval of the measure.

The Senate is expected to pass the bill within two weeks, Committee Chairman Russell B. Long, D-La., said there is no doubt the legislation will be sent to President Nixon before the 1973 session ends.

The bill also would boost Social Security taxes to finance the increase. The wage base, the maximum amount of annual earnings subject to the payroll levy, would go up to $13,200 in 1974 compared to the $10,800 ceiling for 1973.

Tax rate of 8.5 per cent, paid each by the worker and employer, would not be changed in 1974.

The committee bill would put the increased benefits into effect in two steps — 7 per cent on enactment and 4 per cent additional next June.

The House version, passed last week, would have the same two steps but the 7 per cent hike would not take effect until next March.

The legislation is being pushed through Congress to try to shore up the purchasing power of retired persons and other Social Security beneficiaries in the light of rapidly rising prices in the last year.

If the full 11 per cent boost is enacted, the average payment for a retired individual will go up from $167 a month to $186 next year. For a couple the increase will be from $277 to $310.

Now, Jakarta Governor Ali Sadikin, in search of the riches of the West, is pushing ahead plans to restore the ancient capital and draw tourists from all over the world.

The focus is the old Dutch city hall or stadhuis built in 1710 on the ruins of an early building erected in 1619. Work is progressing on reconstruction of the stately old building, which was formerly used as a military barracks.

The imposing forecourt with its gravely-fountain was until recently a bus station. It is now almost completely restored.

The million-dollar-plus reconstruction of old Batavia, which these days is a suburb of Jakarta, is scheduled to be finished by June next year, when about 2,500 travel agents arrive for the Pacific Area Travel Association convention.

The plan calls for the restoration of a dozen or so colonial buildings, including a huge 18th-century warehouse.

They will be turned into museums depicting Indonesian and Dutch settlement in what is now Jakarta, antique shops with 18th-century decor, art galleries, and restaurants.

Plans include a bath factory, a replica of an 18th-century sailing vessel in the colonial Dutch style, and a 19th-century restaurant called the "Olivia Restaurant."

The putrid canal running from the old city hall to the port area known as the pasar ikan — fish market — is being cleaned and rebuilt.

Street signs will be copied from those of two hundred years ago.

The former port basin, which is now used as an anchorage by hundreds of colorful Makassar schooners — probably the last great sailing fleet in the world — will be a maritime museum.

It will include sections covering the history of the spice trade which at one time brought Portuguese, British, Dutch and American sailing vessels to what was then the East Indies.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — Seven-year-old Mubin Issac Syed has discovered a simple test to determine left-handedness.

The boy's discovery intrigued a medical scientist, a doctor who ran a series of tests and found it accurate enough to prepare a paper that will be published in an upcoming issue of the New England Journal of Medicine.

Young Syed's theory is based on the simple act of spreading apart the fingers of each hand. Keeping the fingers parallel, stretch them to form one large V with two fingers on each branch of the V.

A right-handed person can stretch the fingers of his left hand further than those of his right. A left-handed person will have the larger gap on his right hand.

The boy's father, Dr. I.B. Syed, chief of medical physics at Wesson Memorial Hospital here, tested 25 people and found the theory correct in 24 cases.

If there is no difference between the distance of the paired fingers, the person tends to be right-handed, can use both hands at work and has good coordination, Dr. Syed found.

Young Mubin himself is left-handed, a factor in his father's decision to move the family to the United States from their native India, where Dr. Syed said left-handedness carries a social stigma.

Simpler Tax Form Announced

WASHINGTON (AP) — Improved income tax forms to make filing easier and faster have been announced by Internal Revenue Commissioner Donald C. Alexander.

And, Alexander has urged employers to distribute W2 withholding statements as early as possible to enable employees to file early.

Taxpayers who file for refunds in January usually receive them within four to five weeks, while persons filing later may have to wait up to eight weeks because of the greater volume of returns being processed, Alexander said.

He noted that at any rate W2 forms generally must be distributed by Jan. 31.

United Nations University Will Link World's Scholars

By WILLIAM N. OATES, Associated Press Writer
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A U.N. university, only four years ago a mere glimmer in U Thant's eye, is about to become a reality linking leaders of many nationalities in centers of learning around the world.

Though former Secretary-General Thant seemed to be thinking of one big institution on a single campus, the U.N. university that has developed will be a string of institutions — in the words of its proposed charter, "a worldwide system of research and training centers and programs."

But its basic purpose is something close to what Thant had in mind for the charter says it "shall be an international community of scholars engaged in research, post-graduate training and dissemination of knowledge in furtherance of the purposes and principles" of the United Nations.

Its staff will be picked for competence and "appropriate representation in terms of geography, age and sex." The university is to do research in "the pressing global problems of human survival, development and welfare... with due attention to the social and natural sciences," and disseminate the results to the United Nations, U.N. agencies, scholars and the public.

The 1973 assembly is considering Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim's recommendation that Japan be chosen host country for the university headquarters.

The university council to be appointed under the charter could hold its first meeting here in March and set up a committee to nominate the director.

The medium-term target for the university's endowment is $400 million. By 1978 the university might include about 20 institutes and cost $28 million a year to run.

Italy has offered to build the university a faculty for Basic Sciences in Trieste, Turkey an Institute of Environmental Engineering in Ankara. Kenya is ready to provide land and pay 10 per cent of the building cost if part of the university is located on its soil.

Israel proposes to affiliate its Institute for Desert Research and Malta its International Ocean Institute with the university. West Germany would bear full costs of an International Institute for Communications Media in Constance. The University of Pittsburgh wants to tie in some of its programs and institutes.

Old Batavia Restoration Planned as Tourist Lure

By PETER O'LOUGHLIN
JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Batavia, old Dutch capital of the Indies, once drew traders from all over the world in search of the riches of the East.

Pays Debt To Society

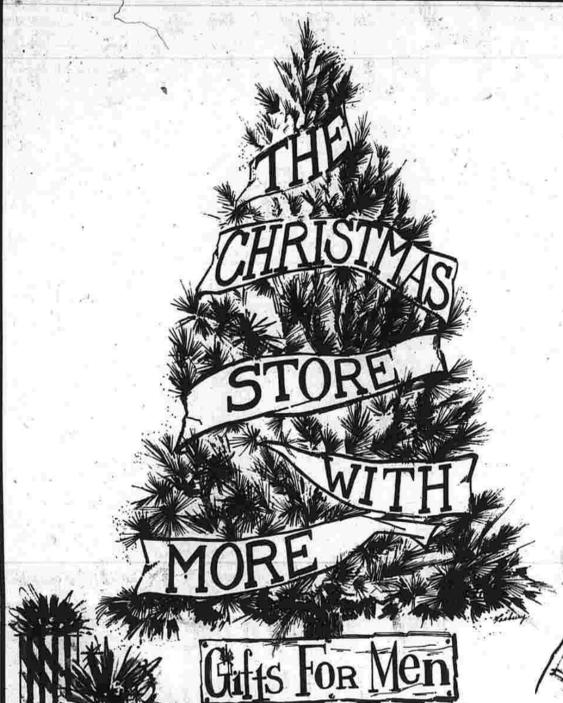

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — A Ludington, Mich., youth sent the Tampa Chamber of Commerce $5 to settle a stolen grapefruit debt.

"I was there visiting with five other boys," the youth said in a letter enclosed with a check from his parents. "We were low on funds to get back home and we took some grapefruit from an orchard there in Florida."

The boy guessed that perhaps two or three dozen grapefruits had been pilfered. Without mentioning exactly where or when the raid took place, he asked, "Please forgive me of this wrong as I am sending some money to pay for the grapefruit."

The chamber is giving the money to a Christmas toy charity drive.

Let's Avoid Piecemeal Solutions

"He flung himself from the room, flung himself on his horse and rode madly off in all directions." Stephen Leacock, in Gertrude the Governess.

We seem to be doing exactly this in our final realization that energy, which we have been using with unparalleled profligacy, is not boundless at present but is limited mainly to fossil fuels.

The news is full of remedies and attempts to overcome or delay the shortages which seem imminent. Restrictions on drilling in California are to be lifted, quickly, to provide needed oil. New technology and safety procedures are said to have been devised to prevent ruinous spills, such as occurred a few years ago.

The coal industry, with plenty of coal underground cannot meet the energy needs in the next few years because of shortages of skilled personnel, equipment and a history of low financial return on mining properties, which is attributed to overly-severe regulations, or unions, or mine operators, depending on who you are listening to.

Curtailed use of gasoline is proposed through a variety of alternatives which include car pools, more public transportation, reductions of speed limits, etc.

A cut in the use of gasoline may be achieved either through rationing, or through the addition of a surtax on the fluid which would make it prohibitively expensive.

Rationing would seem the more just system, since additional taxes would be very injurious to the people who depend on their automobile for transportation to work, and usually are in the medium income group.

Farewell, My Love

The American, it has been long alleged, has a continuing love affair with his automobile. Now it appears this relationship is going to be somewhat strained as authorities seek ways and means to curb non-essential use of gasoline.

Under study is a trial separation, that is to say, a limit or outright ban on Sunday driving.

And driving too will become less ardent as Connecticut and other states have imposed a 50 mile per hour limit.

For the guy who has a harem - several cars - there is the prospect that he may have to pick a favorite and admire the others from a distance.

For the fellow who has become dependent on his car as a working partner, the relationship will be cooled somewhat so as the affair will be "strictly business."

And while all our attention in the past has been on the beauty of our machines, the horsepower and those teasing options, pocketbook pressures will be asking the equivalent of "can she cook," since efficiency rather than elegance will be the yardstick.

Yes, the love affair is almost over. The automobile, our noble mistress, will survive and profligate but not as a status symbol of affluence but because it is needed.

Whether her lover will survive the withdrawal or not remains to be seen. He will fuss, fret and fume and what eventually come to realize the honeymoon is over. Over that is, until the lights brighten and thermostats can be raised.

Today's Thought

Let us give thanks for the precious gift of life - in ourselves, in other people, and in nature all around us. For good health and strength we are grateful.
And when we are ill or hurt we are thankful for the wonderful miracle of healing that makes us better again.
We are grateful for our homes and for those we love and who love us. For parents, brothers and sisters, for all relatives and friends, for all the gentle, faithful, loving people of the world we give thanks. For all people, neighbors, schoolmates, teachers, shopkeepers, doctors, nurses, and for all the many men and women who work and serve in such a variety of ways to make life enjoyable and worthwhile, we are thankful.
For our places of worship that try to make a better world and a better people, we are grateful.

Every turn there are snags in proposed plans. The trucking industry complains that lowered speed limits will slow deliveries, make goods more costly, and will require new and unavailable equipment.

Bus lines are recoiling in horror at the thoughts of having to revise nationwide schedules which would be the result of slower bus speeds.

Many of the solutions are piecemeal and with flaws.

We are now concluding a period of governmental control designed to slow down inflation, under the various phases. None of them seemed to work well and they dislocated the market so as to cause artificial imbalance.

The governmentally induced beef and retail gasoline shortages were examples of how governmental controls can jam up the free flow of goods and services.

We think the ideas of Milton Friedman, noted economist, as proposed in Newsweek, and seconded by the Wall Street Journal, have a lot of sense and merit.

He proposes that all restrictions be taken off the sale of petroleum products, natural gas, propane, coal, etc., and that the profit motive, which capitalism is all about, be allowed free reign.

He admits that energy companies would make large profits but notes that this would supply them with capital for exploration and mine and refinery construction, as well as paying substantial taxes to the government, which could be used for mass transit development.

The idea, deceptively simple, might just work, and we would avoid all of the piecemeal patching which promises to be about as injurious as the situations it seeks to correct.

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Friday, Nov. 23, the 27th day of 1973. There are 38 days left in the year.
Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1890, the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg was separated from the Netherlands.

On this date—
In 1785, the British Stamp Act was first repudiated in the American colonies—the court of Frederick County, Maryland.

In 1774, the Minutemen were organized by an act of the Colonial Provincial Congress.
In 1894, the 14th American President, Franklin Pierce, was born in Hillsborough, N.H.

In 1863, the Civil War battle of Lookout Mountain began in Tennessee.

In 1943, in the Pacific War, U.S. Marines seized the island of Tarawa from the Japanese.

In 1945, the United States ended wartime food rationing.

Ten years ago: The body of John F. Kennedy was lying in repose in a closed, flag-draped coffin in the East Room of the White House.

Five years ago: French President Charles De Gaulle refused to devalue the franc in the midst of a severe international monetary crisis.

One year ago: Bolivia declared a state of siege, and the right-wing government said there was a conspiracy to overthrow it.
Today's birthday: Former Assistant Secretary of State Roger Hillsman Jr. is 54.

Growing Up

WASHINGTON — A little noticed speech last week by Undersecretary of State for Economic Affairs William J. Casey reflected the adult attitude the United States has adopted toward the embargo of oil shipments by the Arab states. Under Richard Nixon and Henry Kissinger we may indeed be growing up internationally.

Casey spoke to the National Foreign Trade Association in New York about the White House decision to speed up efforts to seek other sources and forms of energy. He predicted that "children living in the Arab world" will live to see the day when their countries' oil no longer will be enough to support them.

But Casey's words constituted a statement, not a long-range threat to the Arab economy. His prediction was a preface to the meat and potatoes of his speech, which was that the industrialized nations must hold out a helping hand to Arab leaders against that future day when—his oil will be deplored as king. He spoke not of technological vengeance visited upon the Arabs, but urged instead the formation of a partnership with them.

Casey invited the Arab states to prepare for the world transition to other energy sources by using their huge financial reserves in long-term investment projects.
"We must develop ways for the Arab world to invest in the rest of the world," Casey said. "Liquid hydrocarbons will inevitably share the world market with increasing proportions of hard hydrocarbons in the form of coal, shale and tar sands and with new technologies based on the atom, hydrogen and the sun."

That's what used to be called diplomacy. Casey's speech undid the Nixon-Kissinger foreign policy stance of continuing to support Israel's struggle for survival while avoiding any confrontation with the oil-producing states of the Middle East. His words were responsible and reasonable.

Arab leaders are sometimes difficult in their belligerence toward an Israeli state they see as a threat to their national boundaries. There has been too much emotionalism on both sides, in fact. But however Arab politicians may appear in the future, they are not to be taken for granted.

That exchange did not leak out. But in meeting the second group of Republican Senators Wednesday night, Mr. Nixon made it clear his accusation that Richard Nixon was not a threat to their national boundaries. He did not tell the truth. "He didn't tell you the truth," Mr. Nixon shot back. Senators present were stunned. "This is incredible."

Expect Fuel Shortage To Slow Production

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Interviews with leading economists suggest that the immediate impact of the Mideast oil embargo will be to slow the economy more sharply than had been anticipated and perhaps pitch it into recession.

But as many of the economists point out, the early effects might not be felt equally throughout the country. Shortages of gasoline and heating oil, and factory closings and layoffs, are expected to appear in pockets.

In some areas these shortages already are evident. They will become more common in the next few weeks, especially as heating oil becomes scarce along the Eastern seaboard, which depends heavily on imports.

Factories and workers are expected to be affected soon, especially in industries that rely heavily on petrochemicals. For such industries the problem is expected to be not so much a shortage of fuel but of raw materials.

"Already a very severe shortage of petrochemicals is developing," said Alan Greenspan of Townsend-Greenspan, Inc., a consulting firm.

To Greenspan this suggests "a large number of plastics, synthetic fibers and other products—an almost unbelievable number of such items will be moving into short supply, with resulting job losses."

Estimating the job loss in advance is difficult. One consulting economist said almost all his clients have had energy tank forces for the past year but that most are still talking rather than answering questions.

The confusion is evident in the airline industry. While some executives feel that canceling some flights might result in permanent economies, others are calling the disruption of schedules devastating.

Otto Eckstein, former Johnson administration adviser and now head of Data Resources, Inc., a company that operates an incredibly complex econometric model, or mathematical matrix of the economy, foresees a sharp rise in joblessness.

After feeding the latest energy data into the model late last week, Eckstein now estimates unemployment will rise from 4.6 per cent to about 5.5 per cent in the second quarter next year, when the impact of the shortage will be greatest.

While these figures bear the imprint of computer efficiency, some observers are cautiously watching the psychological mood, maintaining that the emotional impact on people can have destructive consequences also.

What happens, for instance, when the main topic of conversation day after day becomes the cold home, inefficient gasoline for the car, the threat of a layoff? Will negative attitudes reinforce each other?

Another questionable area involves the ability of industries to adjust. Greenspan forecasts that utilities which switched to oil will seek to bring back coal within weeks, but will fail in the effort.

"They have severed ties with the coal producers," he explained. Moreover, "there aren't enough railroad hoppers and powering equipment. All the peripheral machinery is displaced. Consumers who might not be affected by either the lack of heat or jobs almost certainly will feel the consequences of rising prices. It is generally agreed that heating oil and gasoline prices will rise, the latter to as much as $1 a gallon in the view of several economists, and probably never again will be as relatively inexpensive. But prices of a vast array of other products, including food, will also be pushed up because of their dependence upon energy in processing and transportation. Eckstein, who had forecast 6.2 per cent inflation, has now raised his estimate to more than 7 per cent. The jump might be as much as 8 or 9 per cent early in the year, he said, falling off in the second half.

Church Fair Dec. 1

DONNA HOLLAND
Correspondent
Tel. 646-0375

The Women of St. George's will hold their annual Christmas In The Country Fair Dec. 1 from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. at the church.

Chairman of the event is Mrs. Elma Amundsen. Under the direction of Leonard Bjorkman, sandwiches, doughnuts, desserts and coffee will be sold. A Sunday School class will be selling gifts.

Featured booths at the fair and their chairmen are white elephant, Elaine Sherman; baked goods, Barbara Sharrock; remnants, Ruth LaBrooy; dried flowers, Ruth McDonough; handmade goods, Mrs. Lillian Mott; crafts and decorations, Mrs. Pat Ballsiper; children's room, Mrs. Barbara Nicholson, Demetria Morianos; bread (baked on the premises), Mrs. Sue Gordon, Mrs. Carol Little. Mrs. Jane Shawcross is treasurer. Posters were made by Miss Grace Taddeo.

Outside craftsmen will be displaying wooden toys, jewelry, copperware, dolls, candles, pressed flower pictures and silk screening.

Town Report
Board member William Riley informed other board members that the Town Report will be available for distribution the first week in December.

Additional Funds
The state will be receiving an additional $3 million for town highway funds to be distributed to Connecticut towns.

Finance chairman Aloysius Ahern said that Bolton's share of the addition will probably be $10,000. Bolton presently receives approximately $40,000.

Personal Property
Concerning the recent recommendation by auditor George Kanehl that the assessor (Calvin Hutchinson) compile and value town-owned personal property the board felt, after much research into the matter, that Bolton was following the intent of the law and allowed the matter to drop.

The Insurance Advisory Board informed the finance board that if the town has a good inventory, which it does, then insurance is at replacement value.

Also town-owned personal property is not taxable if it is not the function of the assessor to inventory it.

Hutchinson did, however, check with several Connecticut towns and learned that Bolton's inventory is either as good as or better than theirs.

Refunders Battle Rising Food Costs

By JIM CLARK
Associated Press Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — When Harry Heller went shopping recently, he bought $10.23 worth of food, but ended up paying only $2.92. His secret? He belongs to a growing army of shoppers who call themselves refunders.

The difference between a refunder and an ordinary coupon-clipper is dedication. Refunders must mail hundreds of letters a year for refunds and spend hours filling out forms.

The idea behind refunding is that hundreds of companies are ready to pay hard cash to have someone try their products. On everything from hot dogs to detergents there is a chance to make money.

According to estimates from companies and consumers, there are some 10,000 ardent refunders throughout the country. They comb newspapers and magazines seeking refund coupons and become avid readers of boxes and bags hoping to find firms offering money back in exchange for box tops or labels.

Here is how it works: A refunder gets a coupon allowing him 10 cents off on an 85-cent package of rolls. Then he waits until the company also offers a money refund offer, say 50 cents. The refunder uses his 10-cent coupon and pays 70 cents for the rolls, then mails in his refund form and ends up paying just 20 cents.

Stores are reimbursed by the firms for product price reductions granted coupon-carrying customers.

Of course, for refunders there are also some drawbacks. Some of the most ardent of this new breed of consumers end up eating hot dogs and pancakes, maybe at the same meal, in exchange for the savings.

Air Fares To Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board has agreed to let the nation's airlines increase their fares by five per cent, effective Dec. 1.

The board's action seems sure to arouse the ire of congressmen who have contended in recent weeks that fares should be decreased since recent flight cutbacks because of fuel shortages will increase airline profits.

The CAB, although agreeing the cutbacks will create "at least a short-run impetus toward improved profitability," said the five per cent increase is justified by recent increases in airline costs.

The CAB said the fare increase will not result in airlines making more than the 12 per cent rate of return on their investment which the board found fair in its recent domestic fare investigation.

The hike will affect all fares on all U.S. trunk airlines and six local service airlines. Those include Allegheny, American, Braniff, Continental, Delta, Eastern, Frontier, Hughes, National, North Central, Northwest, Ozark, Piedmont, Southern, Texas International, Trans World, United and Western.

Christmas decorations at Wallace Hall at the Mansfield Training Center have gotten a facelift, thanks to the efforts of a group of 4-H youngsters.
The Gilead Bareback Riders, under the supervision of their advisor, Laurie Atwood of Porter St., Hebron, have gaily painted and polished up Santa Claus, his eight reindeers, two snowmen and one snowglobe.
The youngsters spent four days working on the five-foot figures and returned them to Mansfield for display on the lawn of Wallace Hall.
Although primarily a horse club, the group is also interested in photography, dog nature observation and collections, sewing and woodworking.
Any youngster interested in joining the 4-H group may contact Miss Atwood, Box 74, Hebron.

Two Killed In Crash
BROOKFIELD (AP) — Sixty-four-year-old Meyer Tenor of Brooklyn, N.Y., and his wife Gay were killed Thanksgiving night in a two-car, head-on wreck on Route 7, state police said.
Three other persons, including the dead couple's 35-year-old daughter Rachelle Tenor, also of Brooklyn, were injured in the accident, troopers said. Also injured were Leonard Schneider, 42, of Richmond Hill, N.Y., a passenger in the Tenor car, and the driver of the second vehicle, Dennis Forest, 26, of Rutland, Mass.

Less Visible
Douglas M. Costle, seen at a recent news conference, is described by some as less visible environmental protection and says he is "perhaps more interested in internal management" than Lufkin but that will have to change eventually. (AP photo)

New DEP Commissioner Has Low Public Profile
By GARY LUHR
Associated Press Writer
HARTFORD (AP) — There haven't been any murmurings yet that Doug Costle wants to run for governor, and that is just one of the differences between this soft-spoken attorney and his predecessor in the state Environmental Protection Department.
Douglas M. Costle, 34, a native of Long Beach, Calif., succeeded Dan W. Lufkin as environmental commissioner last summer. His appointment marked the beginning of a new period in the department's relatively short life.
Lufkin, the boisterous hard-some self-made millionaire from Wall Street, guided the department from its creation in 1971 and became its number one spokesman in the eyes of the public and the state legislature.
Hardly a day passed that he didn't appear before some group to discuss some phase of the environment.
Lufkin was — in the words of former associates — "an idea man," "a promoter" who sold the 1971 General Assembly on a solid package of environmental legislation covering such areas as solid waste, pesticides, and inland wetlands and giving the department broad new enforcement power.
As commissioner, Costle has been less visible than Lufkin, partly by his own design, he said in an interview.
Some environmentalists fear the movement might suffer without a visible leader.
Costle said he currently spends around 40 per cent of his time meeting with people outside the department and speaking engagements. As time goes on, he said, he probably will have to spend more time with outsiders and leave much of the department's administration to others.
"I'm perhaps more interested in internal management than Dan but I can't hold up here and just run the department. The public is entitled to ask questions of the commissioner and so I will have to be out more," he said.
The comment has been made that because Costle is an attorney, he moves too slowly. Others feel his legal background will be an advantage in implementing the new laws the department now has.
Lufkin picked Costle in 1972 to head the department's compliance section. Previously, as a staff associate on the President's advisory council on executive organization, Costle had a hand in creating the federal Environmental Protection Agency.
Some people in the department say Lufkin's resignation last June came as no surprise. Lufkin dealt mainly with ideas, was impatient with details and left most administrative functions to his deputies, they say.
He wouldn't have been as happy enforcing the new laws as he was developing them, they add.
Finally, Lufkin's interest in the environment occasionally was overshadowed by speculation that he was marking time until he could run for public office — possibly governor.

Hi Neighbor!
In the words of the immortal bard, (or was it Seymour Bard, my bartender) "The burier we get, the behinder we get." Whenever we think we're going to get caught up, another deal happens or a bankruptcy occurs and we're swamped under again. When we first moved to this place some 18 months ago the space looked tremendous and we were wondering how we'd fill it. Now the walls are bulging and my wife keeps pressuring me to work harder to get the stuff out. And because the controls the purse strings, I only get $1.19 for lunch including tip) I'm working an extra 45 minutes this week to fill every spot with goodies. Come see our weird assortment of railroad damage, closets, insurance claims, late delivery refusals, and manufacturers' surplus.
Here's a list (guaranteed 100% incomplete) of what we expect to peddle at way below what the fancy stores get, and guaranteed to please you or your money back with no hard time.

Life In Japan Showing Quality

By JOHN RODERICK
Associated Press Writer
TOKYO (AP) — A few years ago, the Japanese tore up their sidewalks and substituted asphalt for paving blocks and bricks. Today they are lowering their corner curbs to street level.
These changes represent a subtle change in the quality of Japanese life, a move from the violence and economic aggressiveness of the 1950s to the more introspective welfare consciousness of the 1970s.
The bricks and paving blocks of Tokyo's Ginza, and those of Rapperswil, Switzerland, are the same. They were hurled first at riot police, then at youngsters in riotous factions during the recurring turmoil over the Vietnam War, the campaign for the re-union of the island prefecture of Okinawa and the U.S.-Japan Security Treaty.
With the Vietnam War over, Okinawa returned and the security treaty issue flickering in the light of Adam deLente, the huge student demonstrations of the past are rare. Young radicals — a handful compared to yesterday — concentrate on new targets: Tokyo's new International Airport, the struggles of fishermen seeking to halt pollution of Japan's waters by big industries, campaigns to win compensation for pollution victims.
The growing damage to the ecology is a by-product of the

DR LAWRENCE E. LAMB Low-fat milk is best bet

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D. DEAR DR. LAMB - I'm very worried about which milk to drink, since I read an article on milk two months ago.

I have two small children and I don't want to give them something not good for them. My husband and I also drink milk.

I have been getting the low fat milk. Is this all right? I have also heard a little milk is all right but you shouldn't drink a lot.

I'm 28 and my husband is 30 and we would be very thankful if you could put our minds at ease.

DEAR READER - Milk is a very good food. I usually recommend that all adults get around a quart a day. And, to avoid the problem of getting too much fat, particularly saturated fat, in the diet, I recommend that people use the fortified skim milk.

The dairy industry has really made some very good fortified skim milk products. Not only are they nearly fat-free, but they contain more calcium and more protein than whole milk. That is because they have added nonfat milk solids to the skim milk.

25th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Ramon Campbell of East St., Hebron, recently celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary and were guests of honor at a dinner party at the Andover Town Hall.

Married Nov. 6, 1948 at the Center Congregational Church in Manchester, the Campbells moved to Hebron 23 years ago. They have four daughters: Mrs. Brian (Sandra) Beupre, Mrs. Rose (Wanda) Vibberts, Barbara and Carla.

Among the 60 guests who attended the celebration, which was given by their daughters and close friends, were Mr. and Mrs. Art Pinney of London Rd., Hebron, who were members of the bridal party.

Mr. Campbell's mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Chesley Campbell of Wilson, also attended as did Mrs. Campbell's father, Art Pinney Sr. of Andover.

Organization Formed To Aid Fat Americans

Fat Liberation? No, it's not a new diet—it's a movement for acceptance, justice, and human dignity by and for people labelled "overweight" by conventional standards.

A reception was held at the Clover Manor in Plainville, after which the couple left for Virginia Beach then to Daytona Beach, Fla.

NAAFA has a few slogans of its own to contradict advertising campaigns that equate fat with a host of ills, besides "Fat Pride," and a bumper sticker proclaiming "Fat Can Be Beautiful!"

Gardening

with FRANK ATWOOD

Every gardener has been told that he should rake the leaves on his lawn and use them for making compost, and many of us follow the advice. But few, if any, gardeners in the area, use as many leaves as Arthur Holgeron of 280 Kelly Rd., South Windsor.

Mr. Holgeron not only rakes the leaves on his own plot of nearly two acres but on the grounds of his neighbors on both sides. He doesn't care whether they are oak leaves, maple leaves, or pine needles. They all make good compost, he says.

Some crop such as blueberries, thrive in an acid soil, produced by oak leaves and pine needles. If a sweeter soil is needed, all that is required is the addition of some ground limestone. The only fertilizer Mr. Holgeron buys is bonemeal.

Some of the leaves are chopped by a gasoline-powered rig that cuts them into small pieces to decompose more rapidly, but some are put on the garden just as they fall from the trees and are tilled into the soil.

The Holgerons' lot, when they bought it 14 years ago, was covered with brush and trees. He still has brush to cut and limbs that he prunes from his fruit trees. These go through a wood chipper and the chips go on the garden somewhere.

The stalks and leaves of his several hundred peony plants and several hundred day lilies, plus such vegetable garden refuse as bean plants and cucumber vines, all go through the chopper.

It is not accurate, really, to say that Arthur Holgeron "rakes" leaves. He sits on a four-wheel riding tractor and drives across the lawn, picking up leaves, twigs, small sticks and an occasional unwanted rock, with a vacuum sweeper.

Mr. Holgeron says that every home has a garden. "They have a little patch of grass, they set out a parrot tree, and the rest is garden," he says.

Thriving Blueberries. Showing one way that he uses a large amount of leaves, Mr. Holgeron has set out a blueberry bush in a wire cage that protects his blueberry and raspberry bushes from the birds, scratching out a hole at least eight inches deep before finding what you would call a good reason to stop.

Mr. Holgeron says that every home has a garden. "They have a little patch of grass, they set out a parrot tree, and the rest is garden," he says.

Drainage a Problem. The plot on the north side of Kelly Rd. was an unfavorable location for a garden. It had a shallow layer of topsoil over hardpan which water did not penetrate the hardpan and much of the ground was wet.

With his lawn labor, he has installed drainage tiles to change the lower parts of the yard from swamp to usable land, and only this past summer put in what he hopes will be the last stretch of tile. He dug six to eight inches into the hardpan with a pick to make a trench for the tile.

This past summer, also, Mr. and Mrs. Holgeron took time off for a month in Denmark, visiting their younger son, Arthur, who is married to a Danish girl and teaches in a Danish school. Mr. Holgeron sold his renovated 200-year-old house with a thatched roof that the young people have bought, and after three weeks of cucumber vines, all go through the chopper.

Arthur Holgeron unloads leaves for his compost pile from a trailer-screen box he made for fast pickup with a commercial-size vacuum. Compost is for his organic garden on Kelly Rd., South Windsor. (Herald photo by Olfara)

Compost Bin. The compost "pile" at our house is actually a bin, eight feet long and four feet wide, with four corner posts set in the ground and boards nailed to them. There is a second bin alongside the first one. As the material in one bin is breaking down into compost, the bin that was started a year earlier is ready for use.

I also add a few handfuls of ground limestone and commercial fertilizer, plus a few shovelfuls of the old compost, after every foot or so of fresh leaves. The old compost contains the bacteria which are needed to start decomposition.

That is the theory, but Mr. Holgeron gets the same results without adding anything to his leaves and grass clippings.

Police Report

John D. MacNaughton, 19, of East Hartford, was charged Thursday with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor, after the car he was driving was involved in two automobile accidents.

MacNaughton was taken into custody at about 1:45 a.m. at the scene of the second accident. He was later released on a $500 non-surety bond for appearance in Circuit Court 12 at Manchester Dec. 10.

Police said the two accidents occurred within ten minutes - the first, at 1:38 a.m., was at the Broad and Woodland Sts. intersection, and the second (at 1:42 a.m.) occurred on Hilliard St.

A car operated by Allen J. Hill of 84 Alton St. was struck by the MacNaughton vehicle at Broad and Woodland Sts., police said, and MacNaughton left the scene after the collision. No injuries were reported in the accident.

In the second accident, MacNaughton's car struck a parked, unoccupied car owned by Thomas Hampton of 184 Hilliard St., police said. Both cars had to be towed.

Robert E. Baker, 18, of 98 Bolton St., was charged Thursday night with discharging firearms within town limits, police said, after a Hartland Rd. resident complained that his car window had been shot out.

Baker was apparently shooting a target pistol at a telephone pole, police said, when the parked vehicle was hit.

Baker was released on a $100 non-surety bond for court appearance Dec. 10.

Donald H. Roberts, 19, of 117 Frances Dr., was charged Thursday afternoon with third-degree criminal mischief and trespassing on town land.

Police said the arrest occurred after they received complaints of motorcycles driving on the Keeney St. School lawn.

Roberts was released on a $100 non-surety bond for court appearance Dec. 10.

Harold F. Shine Jr., 18, of 470 Woodbridge St. was charged Thursday with carrying a dangerous weapon, second-degree larceny, and operating a motor vehicle without a license, police said.

Shine was taken into custody, police said, after a pickup truck was observed operating erratically on E. Middle Tpk.

Christmas Seal Suffering From an Identity Crisis

After sixty-six years of decorating holiday mail to promote the fight against tuberculosis and other respiratory diseases, the Christmas Seal is suffering an identity crisis.

Philip W. Woodrow of Hartford County Lung Association, says returns from the Christmas Seal campaign indicate that people are not identifying the new name of the Tuberculosis Society - Lung Association on their Christmas Seal letters.

This year's campaign is the first that the former Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association has completed under its new name, the Hartford County Lung Association.

"Our phone calls and refusals written on returned Seals with envelopes indicate that people have not recognized their Christmas Seal packet under our new name," Woodrow said. "Some people think we are a new organization, but we are still the same Christmas Seal as always."

Energy Saving Crusader Voluntarily Hospitalized

An unidentified 45-year-old Manchester man was voluntarily committed to Norwich State Hospital on Thanksgiving Day after he was found knocking on Walnut St. residents' doors, asking them to turn out lights to conserve energy.

The incident was reported to local police Thursday night, when a Laurel St. resident said a Bible-carrying man entered his house and began turning off the lights.

The athletic supplies range from whistles (4 dozen) to baseball catchers' masks (3) to girls' softball body protector (1) to umpire's body protector (1) to electric timers (3).

The arts and crafts supplies range from mini doll packs to pipe cleaners to forget-me-not clusters.

Skydiving Santa Delayed by Fog

With their parents, braved the fog to get to the Manchester Parade this morning to see Santa and family jump from a plane and land loaded with Christmas greetings, it seems that Santa's spectacular arrival was hindered by the dense fog.

It was difficult enough to even try to sight Manchester without trying to identify the Manchester Parade.

Through contact with radio towers, the message has come that although Santa is sorry to have disappointed all the boys and girls that had hoped to see him, he thought it wise to avoid risking his or anyone else's life by landing blind.

So, he has promised to make the jump one day next week, at a time to be announced.

South Windsor Firm Moving to Town

The Town of South Windsor has added a new member to its industrial family.

Michael G. Economos, president of Becon Inc., announced recently that his design control system firm is moving immediately from East Hartford to Mascolo Rd. in South Windsor. The 10,000-square-foot facility is undergoing modifications for the needs of the company.

Economos said that the rapid growth of his company necessitated doubling the size of its facility and that he began his search the first of the year throughout the Capitol Region.

The search resulted in selection of South Windsor, largely due to the availability of the existing building and a major effort by community town officials to meet the needs of Becon Inc., he said.

He stated that the positive and direct attitude of South Windsor town officials was a substantial factor in his decision.

E. Russell Trotman, chairman of the South Windsor Economic Development Commission, expressed gratification with the decision by Becon to locate in South Windsor. "It is our commissioner's hope," he said, "that this will prove to be only the first of several such announcements having significant economic benefits for the town of South Windsor."

Economos founded Becon Inc. in 1966 with only two employees. The payroll now totals 20 and is expected to continue to grow at a steady pace.

Becon designs and manufactures automation and industrial process controls, testing machines and electrical control equipment for the chemical, aircraft, pulp and paper, metals and foods industries.

Major products and capabilities include aircraft component test stands, commercial testing apparatus, fluid logic systems, relay switching, electronic chassis design, heat transfer systems, hydraulic systems, data acquisition systems, ratio blending systems, automatic program controls, pneumatic and electronic systems.

Economos graduated from Fairleigh-Dickinson University in New Jersey and was employed for six years at Pratt & Whitney Aircraft division of

Firm Moving to Town

United Aircraft as a design engineer before founding the Becon organization.

A recent major development is a license agreement between Becon Inc. and Pratt & Whitney Aircraft to manufacture and market a Material Test Control (MTC-1) which was developed by Pratt & Whitney. This piece of equipment is used to test jet engine turbine material of high velocity combustor exhaust gases.

Becon has also assembled the first control room for gasification of coal for Lummus Corp. of Foxboro, Mass.

MCC Band To Back Up Jazz Trumpeter Terry

Clerk Terry, the internationally known jazz trumpeter, will appear in concert at Ferry High School in East Hartford on Wednesday, Nov. 28 at 8 p.m.

He will share billing, and will be working with the Jazz-Rock Band of Manchester Community College which is sponsoring the performance through its cultural programs committee.

Terry has been called one of the great individuals of contemporary jazz. He achieved international fame in the orchestras of Count Basie, Duke Ellington and Quincy Jones, and then became a staff musician at NBC where, as a member first of Skitch Henderson's orchestra and later of Doc Severinon's, he has been featured on the Johnny Carson "Tonight" show. He has recorded with dozens of other jazz greats.

The MCC Jazz-Rock Band was organized three years ago by Music Director Robert Viter. Its members have been drawn from the staff and student body at the college, and from the community.

"This is not a schoolboy band," said Viter, "but a mature and competent band well qualified to accompany Terry and other performers of his stature. I am proud that the band is going to have this opportunity."

Tickets for the concert are on sale at the college and at Bellers Music Shop. Information and reservation can be obtained by calling 646-4900, extension 259.

26 SHOPPING DAYS TO CHRISTMAS

Yule Tree Ruling Protested

HARTFORD (AP) - The Connecticut Christmas Tree Growers Association says it will fight an order by the state fire marshal banning natural Christmas trees from multiple dwellings.

Cleveland Pessenich, Connecticut's fire marshal and state police commissioner, said only artificial trees which don't present fire hazards would be allowed in apartments and houses occupied by more than two families.

Enforcement of the ban is the responsibility of local officials, he said.

But the president of the growers' association, Ota Adams of North Canton, said he has complained about the ban to the state Agriculture Department.

"It's unthinkable that such an order would be issued on a holiday weekend such as this, and without any prior consultation between Fire Marshal Pessenich and the growers," Adams said.

The club's education committee will sponsor a story hour at the Tolland Public Library, Dec. 1, from 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. for children aged 3-4.

The club will hold its annual arts and crafts auction Nov. 29. The trip will include a lecture by Mrs. Richard Stoelker and Mrs. Donald Luster.

A fire of undetermined origin destroyed the garage of the Robert Dickerman home, Eva Circle, Vernon, last night and caused smoke and water damage to the ranch house.

The Vernon, Rockville and Ellington fire departments responded to the call. The extent of the damage is not yet known.

Several police detectives were working on the case today, with Reardon and Detective Capt. Joseph Sartor coordinating the investigatory work from police headquarters.

Detectives were interviewing persons throughout the Manchester area, Sartor said. Material evidence found at the scene of the killing is still being analyzed in Connecticut State police laboratories, he said.

Mrs. Clayton, the mother of four children, was found stabbed to death in the second-floor bedroom of her home Monday afternoon.

The land currently is zoned four-acre residential. Xerox and two other petitioners, the Convent of the Sacred Heart and James T. Morley, had asked the commission to create an airport impact zone for low-density executive offices.

They argued that because of the airport, officers were the best use for the land. The Avco Corp. is headquartered across the street on the former Henry Luce property. And American can own an ultra-modern office in a distant corner of town, cut off by Interstate 84.

Persons who willfully violated any section of the act would be subject to a maximum fine of $5,000 and up to five years in jail.

If adopted by the general assembly and signed by Gov. Thomas J. Meskill the act would take effect Feb. 1, 1975.

The commissioner also would have the power to: -Require machines and equipment to have labels stating the level of noise they produce.

-Require prospective home buyers or renters to be notified of the existence or plans for airports, highways, mass transit facilities or other noise sources in the vicinity.

-Adopt regulations to protect workers from excessive noise on the job.

-Investigate complaints and make noise samplings.

The commissioner could require the owner or operator of any noise-producing device to take periodic sound samples and keep them on file.

Salutations Due Soccer Standouts

A dominating Staples defense proved to be too much for Manchester last Saturday and Staples found the goal halfway through the second sudden death period to lead the Indians their first loss of the season, 1-0. The loss deprived the Tribe of the Class A State Soccer title as well as refusing head coach Dick Danielson his first undefeated season over the Indians had nothing to be ashamed of, however, as they found out that the team from Westport truly deserved the title of state champs.

For many of the players, it was a thrill just to be there and to say that they had competed in the championship game. They had every right to be proud of their 17-1 record, the CCIL championship, the record they set for the number of goals during the regular season, and the contribution they made to the soccer and entire sports program at MHS.

This was the year that soccer was truly recognized as a major sport at the school, and was something that the school and the town could cherish now and in years to come. It was a pleasant sight to see hundreds of people in the stands rooting for their team, which had been changed from the few fans that usually come to a high school soccer game.

Staples turned back the big guns of Manchester, who had pored in 64 goals during the previous 17 games, and limited the Big Red Machine to a meager nine shots at the goal.

At the same time, they kept the pressure on until Jan Gibelb headed on past a surprised George Kanehl for the win. Kanehl was more than adequate substitute for the injured Ray Sullivan, and played brilliantly at the goal, turning away 21 shots.

Playing well in front of him was center fullback Mike Lombardo, considered by many of his teammates as one of the finest in the league. Throughout the season, Mike was a strong hold of the Indian defense, but did not receive the credit that he rightly deserved. Most of the print went to co-captain Connie McCarthy, who last season was unanimously picked for All-CCIL honors.

(Nothing can be taken away from Connie, however, for he showed that when he was at his best he was the most dominating force in the league.)

Lombardo was recognized by his teammates, and the avid soccer fans that followed the team all year. His defensive attributes were one of the reasons why the team also set the record for the number of shutouts in a regular season. In the initial tournament game against Northampton, Mike hit the ground in pain with a bad knee that seemingly could have put him out of action. Coach Danielson must have breathed a sigh of relief when Mike did get up and continue, and without him the final might have been a State Soccer title before the second sudden death.

Nine seniors played their hearts out what they knew would be the final game of their scholastic career.

Kanehl, whose "finger-tip control" against the Indians was the winning streak alive, and McCarthy, who is again headed for all-league laurels, are two of those seniors, and what more can be said of them — or of the other co-captain Werner Werner, who could be repeatedly excited the crowd as he dribbled through defenses on his way to one of his many goals.

Bruce Benson saved his best games for the tournament, and played superbly under the pressure of a tight halftime. On the left side of the middle line was Mike Shensie, who together with Kanehl and Benson probably made the best half-back line ever seen at MHS. In every game and every practice, Mike could be seen leading the team in justice and spirit. Even though he was not one of the captains, he was truly one of the team leaders that led the team on to the field game after game.

When fullback Al Wood played a good game, he was referred to as that great "track star." I think it would be safe to refer to him as a fine soccer player also, for he scored a great shot from being fired with his great speed.

Left-winger Rich Wasserman played an important part in the tournament, as he substituted well for the ever-hustling Reiner. Wasserman was starting at the spot during the beginning of the season, "Wass" was then forced into a reserve role, but that did not stop him from hustling, as he could always find his way over the field.

Dead Play Resurrected

By Wayne Kuehl

Congratulations are due to Sock and Buskin for taking a dead play and resurrecting it from the grave. The play itself had a very dry plot. If it had been produced by less enthusiastic actors it would have put the audience to sleep. But thanks to the efforts of Mr. Hay and Sock and Buskin it did not.

The plot of the play was something like this: A physics teacher at Galileo High School wants the town to buy a telescope for his physics class. The town officials refuse to do so, instead they forward all their money to the athletic department of the school for purchasing artificial turf for the school football field. The town officials also "request" the physics teacher, Claude P. Jones, to teach astrology in the physics class because of its relevance. Claude attempts to solve his problem by masquerading as Ptolomy, a famous astrologer. He plans to forecast events that in all probability would not happen. As he would expect, his predictions do come true and he becomes a local hero.

The scenery was fabulous — a simple set that suited the purpose of the play and was pleasing to the eye. This setting consisted mainly of 12 signs of the zodiac mounted on panels which in turn were attached to a back frame by hinges much like small doors attached to a wall. These doors created a new way of exiting and entering the stage during the act scenes. I did find a minor fault in the construction of these doors; it appeared impossible for the actors to climb through them. Sound effects were synchronized with the play as well as with the visual effects. As Ptolomy entered the stage, the loudspeakers were basically well-used, but at times proved faulty and rather annoying. When used to simulate a radio announcement, they sounded like a radio full of static and quite irritating. Unfortunately, when used as part of "Moon Stars" act during intermission, they still were static and garbled. Much was lost by usage of this mechanism.

Having characters seated at different spots in the audience and speak from their seats served to bring the action closer to the people and let them become more involved. Audience-entrances also added to spectator-participation and kept the lengthy play interesting.

The performance was free-flowing, with the only curtain coming at intermission with the "Moon Stars." Because of this the play was able to overcome the handicaps of scenes that dragged.

The purpose of the play had been to satirize the modern educational system and astrology; one scene especially helped to fulfill that purpose. This was the scene near the play's opening, involving the performance of the Hayfield Girls. These girls were dressed in glittering silver costumes added to the sarcasm in the play by singing "punny" about each sign of the zodiac.

The act that had the most impact on the audience was one itself, the performance of the "Moon Stars." This chorus of teachers broke up the audience with pantomimes of such songs as "Shine On Harvest Moon," "Moon River," "Sunrise Sunset" and others. As I said, the scene could have been improved by better sound effects, but it was still hilarious.

In general, the acting of "You Were Born On A Rotten Day" was fine. Staging and choreography were well planned and enacted. The play would have been improved if some of the actors had spoken to the audience and if the speaker system had produced a higher quality of sound. Also, I feel that the spectators should have been more responsive, but then, maybe it's time some answers were found.

Busing Challenges On The Increase

By ART BLEAU

WATERBURY (AP) — Connecticut's public school boards are being questioned increasingly about their busing policies as parents demand more for their tax dollar and a ride for their children.

State Board of Education records show rising numbers of local busing requests. Six more are pending and requests for hearings are still coming in. Each year the state's 168 school systems decide who will be bused to school and who will walk.

A state appeal can be requested after a local hearing rejects the parent's plea. Anthony Yedeski, hearing agent for the state board, attributed the increase in hearings to parent militancy and to a better knowledge of the law. In some cases, the appealing parents read or similar actions in neighboring towns and decided to try it, he said.

Meriden has been hit hardest by appeals, five since November 1972. In three cases the parents were upheld and the board ordered to bus children past hazardous conditions. A parent was denied one of the fifth case is pending.

Bridgeport has lost two major actions to parental appeals. The first was a hazard case; the second a distance appeal decided within the last month.

A Waterbury case is pending before the state board and a request has been made for another. One seeks expense reimbursement for a boy's transportation to Kaynor Technical High School.

In those cases where parents are upheld, the law requires compliance within 30 days or fines of $2.50 per student per week.

State officials also say penalties could include a stay inquiry, or even cutoff of state funds for school, welfare and housing.

States Asked To Review Snowmobile Laws

HARTFORD (AP) — Gov. Thomas J. Meskill has written the governors of four other New England States asking them to reconsider laws which he said "excessively" restrict snowmobile operators.

At present, only New York and Rhode Island among neighboring states have snowmobile registrations. The four other states charge out-of-state registration fees of $10 in Maine and $15 in Massachusetts, Vermont and New Hampshire.

Legislation that led to this action was taken as a means of raising revenue so much as merely providing a means of harassing the snowmobilers of this state in an attempt to prevent them from utilizing the resources of your beautiful state," Meskill said.

"Connecticut's snowmobilers feel that such discriminatory legislation is unfair since their use of snowmobiles in your state contributes significantly to your economy," he added.

Meskill said he was writing on behalf of 11,000 Connecticut snowmobilers.

The town officials refuse to do so, instead they forward all their money to the athletic department of the school for purchasing artificial turf for the school football field. The town officials also "request" the physics teacher, Claude P. Jones, to teach astrology in the physics class because of its relevance. Claude attempts to solve his problem by masquerading as Ptolomy, a famous astrologer. He plans to forecast events that in all probability would not happen. As he would expect, his predictions do come true and he becomes a local hero.

Greg Haroin filled the role of Claude P. Jones superbly. His ability to change from the mild mannered physics teacher to the bold and outspoken Ptolomy paralleled the role of Claude P. Jones superbly. His ability to change from the mild mannered physics teacher to the bold and outspoken Ptolomy paralleled the role of Claude P. Jones superbly.

Congratulations are due to Sock and Buskin for taking a dead play and resurrecting it from the grave. The play itself had a very dry plot. If it had been produced by less enthusiastic actors it would have put the audience to sleep. But thanks to the efforts of Mr. Hay and Sock and Buskin it did not.

Master Plan Developed For Town of Hebron

ANNE ENT

Correspondent
Tel. 228-3971

The purchase of Rham High School, the construction of a new junior high school and an additional elementary school, a small branch library and an indoor community center are a few of the recommendations made in the 1985 Comprehensive Plan of Development for Hebron, copies of which still are not available to the public.

Compiled by the Planning and Zoning Commission and its citizens advisory committee and guided by the professional planning firm of Northeast Development Group, Inc., the plan lists the objectives, concept and recent trends which were taken into consideration in reaching the recommendations.

Residential Development

Residential development goals listed are to offer a range of housing types in order that all ages and income groups have an opportunity to live in Hebron and to encourage the development of new homes in a manner which enable conservation of natural and cultural resources valued by the town.

Based on population projections for 1985, it is estimated, according to the plan, that 1,000 to 1,300 new single family homes and townhouses-garden apartments will be needed for families with incomes of $15,000 or more.

In addition 700 to 900 garden apartments-townhouses and single-family homes will be required for young married couples, families with children and senior citizens earning less than $15,000.

To meet these future housing demands, the plan recommends high, medium and low intensity development in various areas of the town.

In high density areas, it proposes one dwelling unit per ¼ acre with the possibility of garden apartments and/or townhouses utilizing planned development zoning up to a maximum gross intensity of five units per acre under certain conditions.

In medium intensity areas, it recommends one single-family residence per acre. The plan states the possibility of a single-family dwelling on a ¼ acre lot in this area under several conditions, keeping in mind that the development of clustered single-family homes in these areas is essential to preserve natural resources and to maintain the town's rural character.

In low intensity areas, development is recommended on an average of one single-family residence for two acres, keeping in mind the proposal includes areas where sewers are not feasible because of rocky soils and shallow bedrock.

Low intensity development is also recommended for areas where sewage disposal systems would be very difficult because of hardpan and seasonal high water tables. Development of public sewer systems, the plan states, is highly desirable for these areas and cites the area between the center of town and Amton.

Commercial and Industrial

The goals taken into consideration for commercial and industrial development were to eliminate strip commercial development to encourage a new business that are responsive to the needs of Hebron, to attract limited new industry in order to broaden the economic base, to offer local employment opportunities and to provide balanced growth.

Areas proposed for commercial development are the expansion of the present business district west of the center along Main St. (Rt. 66), along North St. (Rt. 85) near Gay City St. Park or near the interchange between the center along North St. (Rt. 85) and Colchester Rd.

As for industrial development, the plan recommends the expansion of the business district near the intersection between Rt. 85 and Colchester Rd.

For recreation, the plan recommends the development of a new elementary school (pre-school), playground and children's playfields at the proposed new elementary school site. The construction of an indoor community swimming pool and/or recreation center and the adoption of zoning provisions requiring that land be set aside and developed for recreational purpose in cluster single-family homes, apartment and planned residential development.

Public Response

Once the plan is available to the public, there will be ample opportunity for townpeople to express their opinions as the PZC plans to hold public hearings next month.

Historic

The plan recommends the establishment of historic districts and regulations in its zoning ordinances and the establishment of an historic commission. It further recommends the Goals for the Hebron Historical Society were preservation of sites identified with the history of the town, state and/or nation, preservation of buildings of a unique or characteristic architecture, and preservation of groups of buildings (Village Center) and street facades.

The plan recommends the establishment of historic districts and regulations in its zoning ordinances and the establishment of an historic commission. It further recommends the

Roads

To achieve the goals of providing a system of roads which permit safe and convenient access to jobs, shopping and homes and upgrade all town roads to standards established in the subdivision regulations, the plan recommends adoption of the major improvement and maintenance projects listed in the Comprehensive Planning Report, 1971, published by the Department of Transportation.

Many Towns Dropped Tax Rate

HARTFORD (AP) — The property tax in dozens of Connecticut towns and cities "dropped off" significantly in 1973 because of federal revenue sharing, the University of Connecticut Institute of Public Service reports.

According to figures filed by town clerks from the 169 towns and cities this year, seven of those towns had complete revaluations of taxable property.

South Windsor School Menus

The following lunches will be served in the South Windsor schools Nov. 26 through Nov. 30. Monday: Hamburger on a bun, French fries, peas, pudding, milk. Tuesday: Lasagna, Italian salad, Italian bread w/butter, sliced peaches, milk. Pleasant Valley: shells w/meat sauce. Wednesday: Tomato soup, bologna, salami and cheese sub w/lettuce and tomato, potato chips, spice cake w/icing, milk. Avery and Wapping will serve peanut butter and jelly also. Thursday: Pizza, salad.

The Institute said 38 municipalities held their tax rate at the 1972 level, and only 39 increased taxes. The year before, 104, or double the number, increased property taxes.

In addition, 106 towns, or 62 per cent, were able to hold increases below 10 per cent, compared with 99, or 59 per cent of the town, the year before.

In one-fifth of Connecticut's towns the total taxes (grand levy) decreased. The year before, only seven towns were able to lower their levy.

Story Times Set For Preschoolers

The Mary Cheney Library will conduct a series of three preschool story times on Tuesdays at 10 a.m. beginning Nov. 27 and ending Dec. 11. They will be held in the Anna Carolina French Junior Room. The program will be repeated on Friday mornings Nov. 30, Dec. 7, and Dec. 14 at 10 a.m. for those unable to come on Tuesdays.

The program will last about one-half hour. Children who have had their third birthday by the beginning of the series and who are not yet in kindergarten are invited to attend.

Four Get Awards From State 4-H

JUDITH KUEHNEL
Correspondent
644-1364

Four young people from South Windsor were among 24 4-H members selected by the State 4-H Recognition Committee to receive awards.

The awards are given on the basis of all around individual growth and development, 4-H program accomplishments, participation in other organizations and service to others.

Edward Merritt, Hartford County 4-H agent, presented the awards at the recent Achievement Night held at the Timothy Edwards School.

Kim Weelan, Main St., is a member of the Pre-Teens 4-H Club. She was chosen to receive the State Award for Consumer Education, sponsored by Montgomery Ward.

Debbie Dillon, Main St., of the 4-H Sparklers, received the Achievement Award. The Ford Motor Co. Fund is sponsor.

The Firestone Tire and Rubber Co., as a sponsor, presented the Automotive Award to Sean Lawton, Chapel Rd. Sean is the junior leader of the Starters Club.

These state winners will leave Bradley Field Saturday to attend the 1973 National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago.

The winning table display, judged to best represent the 4-H activities during the past year, went to the "Blue Ribbons" Mr. Edward Merritt and Mrs. Conrad judged the displays.

Clubs represented at the Achievement Night were the 4 Corners, Blue Ribbons, Eager Beavers, Handy Helpers, Blooming Blossoms, the Y. Busy Bees and the Alive Five.

Also contributing were the 4-H Sparklers, Linens to Lettuce, Sky Flyers, Charlie Brown Peanuts, Scenic Valley Riders, the Meadow Bees, Pro-Teens, Seventeens, the Homemakers, the Starters, Four Clover, 4-H Explorers, Squaws, and the Carina Clovers.

The film, "A Challenge for Tomorrow" was shown followed by refreshments served by the two hostess clubs. Door prizes were drawn.

Yule Tree To Have Lone Light

JUDITH KUEHNEL
Correspondent
644-1364

The Christmas season will officially begin in South Windsor Dec. 13, when the lights on both the tree and creche will be turned on simultaneously.

The tree, it seems, will stand as a reminder to all that precious energy must be conserved. Instead of the usual bright lights, a lone 100 watt bulb will be at the top.

The creche will be lit in the tradition manner. The hours, however, will be shortened to include only from dusk to 9:30 p.m.

The lighting ceremony will begin at 7:30 p.m. There will be caroling. Music books will be provided by the town. High School orchestral and choral musicians are expected.

Newly elected Mayor Robert Smith will read a Christmas message at the ceremony which is a joint effort by the Chamber of Commerce and the Recreation Department.

Information Meeting The South Windsor Town Council will hold a Public Information Meeting Monday at 8 p.m. in the Ellsworth School Cafeteria.

All interested persons concerned over the loss of the Community Hall on Main St. are asked to be present.

Court Rules Against Reporter

BOSTON (AP) — The Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court has upheld a lower court order that compels a Wall Street Journal reporter to reveal her news sources in connection with a libel suit.

In a 12-page unanimous decision written by Chief Justice G. Joseph Tauro the high court said the First Amendment gives reporters no protection against being compelled to disclose their news sources in connection with court proceedings.

Reporter Liz Roman Gallese of Cambridge has refused to reveal the name of a Stoneham official she quoted last year concerning the effect of the state's anti-smoking zoning laws on towns.

An Andover contractor, William D'Amato brought a $100,000 libel suit against the Journal and Mrs. Gallese, claiming he was defamed by the Stoneham official's statement.

Last July Mrs. Gallese was ordered to reveal her sources before Suffolk Superior Court Judge Joseph Ford. On the advice of her lawyer, Raymond J. Kennedy Jr., she declined on constitutional grounds.

Kennedy, who also represents Dow Jones & Co. which publishes the Journal, said the ruling is being studied to determine if an appeal will be taken to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Kennedy argued that while the First Amendment does not give newsmen an absolute privilege it "at least creates a shield behind which journalists may conceal their confidential sources" in court cases until it is demonstrated that the information "is crucial to a particular hearing."

"That argument, the high court said, amounts to asking the court to postpone disclosure until all other means of acquiring information have been exhausted.

"We are asked to rule that journalists have a qualified privilege to refuse to reveal confidential information which is admittedly relevant to a court proceeding. We adhere to our prior holding that the First Amendment imports no such privilege, qualified or absolute," Tauro wrote.

The court's "prior holding" involved a criminal case in which a New Bedford television newsmen refused to reveal information he obtained in a visit to a Black Panthers' headquarters.

Justice Tauro noted that the U.S. Supreme Court, in upholding that decision, cited it as "typical of the prevailing view that a newsmen has the same obligation as other citizens to appear before a grand jury or a trial pursuant to a subpoena and give what information he possesses."

The Massachusetts Legislature has not enacted a shield law protecting reporters' sources," Tauro wrote. "This does not mean, however, that the courts are without power to exercise their discretion to protect newsmen from unnecessary harassment or frivolous inquiries."

The high court ruled that there was "no abuse of discretion" by Judge Ford in ordering Mrs. Gallese to make her disclosure at a pretrial hearing.

Pollution Bonds Approved

HARTFORD (AP) — The Connecticut Development Authority has approved more than $20 million in industrial revenue bonds to build radiation pollution controls at the state's two nuclear power plants.

Northeast Utilities' Millstone Point plant in Waterford will receive $11,650,000 in a 25-year interest at 5.9 per cent interest.

Bonds totaling $ 9 million for Connecticut Yankee at Haddam Neck will mature over 24 years with an average interest rate of just under 6 per cent, the state said.

FISHES A BIRD ENSLEY, Ala. (AP) — W. T. George was night fishing with his brother recently on Lake Parula.

"I threw a black litterbug and suddenly something flew down, and grabbed it," said George. "I began pulling it in. It was a boat owl. My brother held a light and held the owl down so I wouldn't injure it while I got the lure loose."

The owl is now living with the brothers here.

Bonding Commission Considers Case Mt. Funds on Nov. 30

SOL R. COHEN
Herald Reporter

A $165,523.50 state grant for Manchester will be considered Nov. 30 by the State Bonding Commission and, according to all indications, will be approved. The sum is the state's matching grant for purchase of case Mt.

State Comptroller Nathan Agostinelli, a member of the Bonding Commission, said he is confident the sum will be approved. He said he has talked to the other members of the commission and hasn't heard of any opposition.

The other members are: Gov. Thomas Meskill, State Treasurer Alden Ives, Atty. Gen. Robert Killian, Finance Commissioner Adolf Carlson, and Public Works Commissioner Paul Mansfield.

The proposal has the backing of the state Department of Environmental Protection, which has the responsibility for recommending state grants for open-space land which has determined the sum requested for Manchester is available.

Should the $165,523.50 grant be approved, as appears likely, the Town of Manchester would be required to provide an equal $165,523.50 to share.

Final cost figures for Manchester acquisition of the 229.56-acre Case Mt. parcel come to $630,000 — or about $2,744 per acre.

HUD (the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development) has allocated $29,853 toward the total, on the condition the state and the town split the $31,047 balance.

The breakdown of the $630,000 total cost is as follows: $640,000 for 207.79 acres; Mrs. Dorothy Case Beach, Robert Case Dennison and Wells Case Dennison; $63,-

000 for 19.80 acres to the Tonica Springs Co. (Mrs. Beach, Robert Dennison and Wells Dennison); and $3,000 for 0.97 acre to Mrs. Mary A. Murphy.

Mayor John Thompson said today a report will be made to the Board of Directors Dec. 4 on whatever action the State Bonding Commission takes Nov. 30.

If, as anticipated, the commission approves the state grant, the board's Jan. 8 agenda will include a public hearing on a town appropriation, Thompson said. He said the proposed appropriation will include the town's $165,523.50 purchase-price share, plus estimated costs for improvements — to include an access road.

Thompson said the method of financing the town's share is still to be decided, should the directors approve the appropriation. He explained that federal revenue-sharing funds can't be used, because a federal grant already is provided toward the purchase.

He said one way of financing the town's cost might be with a loan from the Nature Conservancy, which lends money for open-space purchase with funds it receives from the Ford Foundation.

The parcel to be acquired doesn't include the fresh-water spring at Spring St., nor the existing access road up the mountain.

Proposals for Case Mt. acquisition date back to 1965, with the Conservation Commission providing the impetus. The original proposal was for purchasing 273 acres, then 212, and finally the present 229.56. Originally, the town asked the state to purchase the property and to declare it a state park. When that failed (after two bills introduced into the General Assembly), the plan was changed to town ownership.

Hackmatack St. Walks Delayed Until Spring

Because of the amount of repair work required on existing sidewalks and because of the advent of cold weather, installation of sidewalks on Hackmatack St. has been postponed to next spring, Jay Giles, Manchester director of public works, has announced.

Giles said 20 requests have been received for concrete repair work totaling 2,000 square feet, plus 16 requests for bituminous repair work totaling 1,800 square feet. Those repairs, he explained, will take about three weeks and will close-out the town's sidewalk program for this season.

The Day After Thanksgiving

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks you always hear the day after Thanksgiving:

"Well, the house looks a mess — but it was worth it."

"It certainly was. That was the nicest Thanksgiving dinner we ever had."

"You're being saying that for over 20 years now, John."

"Well, it has been true for over 20 years, Elizabeth. Men in my family are known for their ability to pick girls who get prettier and cook better every year."

"How many of us were there, did you say?"

"Eighteen altogether. That sounds like a lot. But in the old days, my grandfather once told me, we used to have 40 to 50 at a family reunion."

"In those days, John, your family didn't just breed like rabbits. They spawned like fish. Do you ever regret that we only had two children?"

"No, indeed. Considering the cost of a college education today, I'm eternally grateful for your forbearance in that respect. Anyway, two is a nice number — better than one and far better than none. You know, I've always thought that married people who don't have any children tend to get a little selfish as they get older."

"Many of them do, John. But, in any case, they all get lonely."

"You know, Elizabeth, you don't have to go on cooking a big Thanksgiving dinner every year. I'd be glad to take you out and spare you all that work."

"I don't mind the work, John. A mother can fix a thousand meals for her family during the year, and nobody notices them. But if her turkey turns out well on Thanksgiving, everybody praises her as if she had passed a miracle. Besides, I'd rather spend Thanksgiving at home. It's my favorite holiday of all."

Energy Crunch Could Hurt Skiing Industry

PITTSFIELD, Mass. (AP) — The president of the Massachusetts Areas Association has warned of dangers to the region's ski industry posed by the energy crisis.

Paul R. Bouquet states that fuel and electricity shortages could mean cutbacks in operating hours while proposed curtailments of weekend and driving would represent a serious threat to the industry. Shortages of electricity, propane gas and fuel oil could force operators to reduce lift and snowmaking operations and could also affect the heating of base facilities and lighting for night skiing, he said.

Bouquet also said ski areas would be financially hard hit if the government moves to close gas stations on weekends and ban Sunday driving. However, he predicted such actions would not be tolerated by a public that would demand continued recreation opportunities.

Kennedy Faces Pressures To Stay Out Of Race

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ten years after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, his brother and political heir, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, is under increasing political and family pressure to forego a 1976 presidential bid.

Many Democratic leaders across the country, interviewed in recent weeks, would prefer that the Massachusetts senator stay out of a 1976 race they hope will return their party to White House control.

They fear that the lingering impact of the Chappaquiddick incident, in which a secretary in Kennedy's car drowned, could counteract the gains he expects to receive from voter reaction to the Watergate scandal of the Nixon administration.

A Kennedy candidacy, they say, could create an unnecessary note of division in what most party leaders hope can be a relatively united Democratic party.

In addition, even before his 12-year-old son's right leg was amputated last week in an effort to arrest bone cancer, Kennedy was under strong family pressure to forego a 1976 race.

The senator revealed this in an interview, filmed before his son was stricken but shown Wednesday on NBC's "Today" show. He said, "My wife Joan

IRA Attacks Bridge BELFAST (AP) — Irish Republican Army guerrillas struck in Northern Ireland after vowing to smash the new coalition cabinet that gives Roman Catholics their first significant share of government in Ulster history. Army headquarters said raiders blew up tracks and bombed a bridge on the Belfast-Londonderry line; set off a land mine near Oragh wounding two soldiers and a civilian, and ambushed and wounded a militiaman in Strabane. The Irish Republican Army declared Thursday it would "destroy the new executive," which it termed a British "concession."

American Killed CORDOBA, Argentina (AP) — Police suspect the assassination of American businessman John Albert Swint and three bodyguards was the work of the People's Revolutionary Army. But they have no proof. The Marxist urban guerrillas have been blamed for much of the terrorism that has swept the country this year. Swint, general manager of a Ford Motor Co. subsidiary, was killed on his way to work when about 15 youths trapped his auto and opened up with automatic weapons and shotguns.

Crank Telephone Users Get Old-Time Service

HELLO, CENTRAL—Mrs. Gladys Richards, head operator of the North Fork Mutual Telephone Co., at aged crank telephone...

By ROGER PETERSON Associated Press Writer MOUTH OF SENECA, W. Va. (AP) — "Macksville," the operator answers, "What number do you want?"

North Fork Mutual is a sort of do-it-yourself, cooperative telephone company. You buy your own crank telephone (they're up to about $27), become a member of the company, and pay $15 — not a month, but a year.

Her biggest problem is tourists who, never having seen a telephone with a crank instead of a dial, "call the switchboard in the middle of the night just to see if it works."

New Translation Made Of New Testament

by GEORGE W. CORNELL AP Religion Writer NEW YORK (AP) — In a prolific period of Bible production, translators have turned out another new one.

The latest addition is the "New International Version" of the New Testament, issued this fall after seven years' work by a global team of evangelical scholars.

Freshly rendered from the ancient Greek in which it was written, the new version puts the contents into common, contemporary English and a simple style.

"You cannot serve both God and Money," says Matthew 6:24, turning the old-style "Mammam" into the modern word for it — money.

The new version is one of many that have come out in the last few years, making these times the most productive period for new Bible translations in the long history of the book.

Dr. Herbert Grether, of the America Bible Society's translating committee, says desire for the Bible "in common words" has not been so high since the 16th century Protestant Reformation, a demand that includes Roman Catholics.

The output may seem somewhat "overwhelming, with so many new Bibles now available," he writes in the United Presbyterian and the United Church of Christ magazine, "A. D.," in analyzing the trend.

The "New International Version" involved work of 106 scholars of 20 denominations in Britain, Ireland, Canada, New Zealand, Australia and the United States.

Like most recent versions, it changes the archaic pronouns, such as "thee" and "thine" into references to the Deity, into you and yours to keep with the plain speaking style in which the books are written.

Coventry New Group Seeks Funds To Oppose DevCo Plan

MONICA SHEA
Correspondent
742-9495

Alvin R. Goodin, real estate consultant and former administrative aide to Sen. Thomas Dodd, announced today the establishment of a new fund, Coventry Opposing With Specialists' (COWS) for purpose of obtaining the services of experts, including attorneys, who will represent the opposition to the establishment of a new city of 20,000 for Coventry as proposed by the Hartford Development Corporation (DevCo).

"It appears that Process-DevCo has unlimited resources in support of their attempt to foist their new community upon Coventry," Goodin said. "They have already engaged the services of two lawyers and multitude of other experts in the field of city development."

Goodin, a former member of Coventry's Board of Finance and financial chairman for the town's 1962 Quarter Millennium Celebration said, "Any adequate opposition is also going to require substantial funds. Our object is to raise them."

"It seems only fair that specialists be employed just to represent the opposite point of view," Goodin said. "There are so many technical aspects to real estate law these days that the need for expertise is imperative if Coventry's best interests are going to be wholly protected. It is our in-charge, but each boy must be accompanied by a parent or guardian at the time of registration.

Senior Citizens
The Coventry Senior Citizens will hold their monthly meeting Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. at the Second Congregational Community House.

They hope to have a representative who will speak on the new food stamp program at the meeting. There will be a question and answer period.

Mrs. Ray Campbell, formerly with American Airlines and a member of the Kiwi Club, will show a color film with sound of the major islands of Hawaii, followed by suggestions on how air travel can be fun at any age. All interested seniors are welcome.

Dance Sunday
The Whirlways Square Dancing Club will hold a dance Sunday night at 8 p.m. at the Captain Nathan Hale School on Rt. 31.

Earl Johnson and John Hirston will be the callers. Rounds will be called, and soft-soled shoes are required. Tickets will be sold at the door.

State 'Loses' On Exchange
HARTFORD (AP) - State Treasurer Alden Ives says Connecticut has lost $6 million since it began investing in the Philadelphia-Baltimore-Washington Stock Exchange two years ago.

Ives says that amounts to about 10 per cent of the state's total investment, but there's no cause for pessimism.

"We are very optimistic because the time is right to buy a low market. We have the cash available and we are doing so," Ives said.

The Captain Nathan Hale School held its annual soccer banquet last week honoring this year's team.

The team won nine games this year and lost only one. It was tied for three other games.

Coach Pete Sturrock's team has never lost a home game in the history of the school. This year's team also had the best record of wins and losses in the school's history.

Receiving awards at the banquet were Pete Edmondson, Curt Leedy, Darren Bell, Paul Sousa, Patrick Cochran, Al

Five Miler to Amby Burfoot Again Edges Vitale to Notch Third Straight Win Record Crowd of 12,000 Watch 538 Finish Holiday Run

By Earl Yost
Herald Sports Editor

Almost a carbon copy of a year ago was the 27th Five Mile Road Race yesterday morning over Manchester's paved streets when tall, long-legged, methodical runner Amby Burfoot nipped John Vitale in what developed into a two-man race.

Thanks to a break from the weatherman, with the sun shining and the temperatures in the low 50s, a record crowd of 12,000 turned out to see 58 contestants finish the grueling run, a new all-time record. There were 62 official pre-race entries and 148 no-shows, including little Johnny Kelley. However, there were nearly 100 unregistered runners, about 50 per cent females. The race was for men only.

Burfoot, winning for the fifth time, tied the all-time consecutive record of three when he broke the tape in 22:37.1, nearly five seconds and about 40 yards ahead of Vitale. Burfoot set a course record a year ago when he breezed around in 22:21, thus he was 16 seconds slower than in 1972.

Vitale, 25, a former UConn University of Connecticut standout, now an elementary school teacher in Madison, has been second best in each of the past three years following a victory in 1970.

The 6-1, 145-pound, 27-year-old Burfoot, home on an emergency leave from the Peace Corps in San Salvador, matched the previous record of three in a row set by McCuskey in 1930-31 and equaled by Johnny Kelley in 1951-52-53.

The early leader was Charlie Duggan, the sensational Springfield College runner and current ICAA cross country champion, but by the time the first half-mile marker was reached, Burfoot and Vitale started to wage their elbow to elbow duel that lasted until the final quarter mile. During this stretch, first Burfoot would shoot out by several yards and then the 5-7, 135-pound Vitale would catch up and take over in the cat-and-mouse game.

It wasn't until the pair reached the Center, coming out of Cedar Street, that Burfoot unleashed his little extra and forged into a 20-yard lead. This advantage he never

'Greatest Race in Country,' Burfoot in Select Company

By Earl Yost

"This is the greatest race in the country," an elated Amby Burfoot said after he caught his breath, showered and awaited to be called front and center by Mayor John Thompson to collect his first place prize at the East Side Rec shortly after noon yesterday.

Earlier the one-time Wesleyan University standout, who gained world-wide fame when he won the Boston Marathon several years ago, romped home first in a record field of more than 600 runners to notch his third straight Five Mile triumph and fifth in the last six years.

"I feel just great," he added. "I was thinking about winning three years in a row. Not many fellows have been able to do that. Winning today puts me in pretty good company. I had a chance once before to win it in three straight but didn't," he recalled.

Burfoot, a member of the Peace Corps for only four months and stationed in San Salvador, was able to get home on an emergency leave following the tragic death of his father two weeks ago in an auto accident in Glastonbury.

He's sure in good company in the Three Straight Five Mile Win Club. Only two other men have turned the trick in 37 races; Joe McCuskey back in 1930-31 and little Johnny Kelley in 1951-52-53. McCuskey also won in 1947.

Kelley is the all-time champ with six triumphs to his credit. The all-time All-American also won in 1957, 1961 and 1962.

"That's the next goal of Burfoot, to match Kelley's six successes. Burfoot also came home first in 1968 and 1969 before trailing Vitale and Pat McMahon in 1970.

Thus, Burfoot, who first came out of Fitch High, and is a protégé of Kelley, has posted a fantastic record here. He's been no worse than third in his last eight appearances after being 14th, seventh and sixth in 1963-64-65.

"I knew with about 100 yards to go that I had him," Burfoot said of his neck-to-neck duel with Vitale. "I was afraid with about 300 yards left that he would overtake me. I'm really not a fast finisher. I've lost a lot of races with 100 yards to go. Today, with 100 left, I knew that I would win."

"Some year I may just walk the course and shake the hands of the fans just before I came back to the States. I need it when I return to San Salvador after the holidays."

Burfoot selected a radio as his prize. "I broke mine just before I came back to the States. I need it when I return to San Salvador after the holidays."

Burfoot has a high regard for the Silk Town race buffs. The same can be said for the latter by Manchester followers of the Turkey Day sports spectacle.

'I Don't Like Being No. 2' 'I'll Be Back Next Year' Second Best Vitale Vows

By Earl Yost

"I'll be back next year. I don't like being No. 2," a dejected John Vitale said after he had seen the heels of Amby Burfoot for a third straight time in the Five Mile Road Race yesterday.

"This was just a perfect day for a race," he added. "I'll just have to come back next year and try and do better. I really enjoy coming here to run. It's the highlight of the season."

"I felt real good. I have no excuses. This was just like our race of a year ago. I thought that this was the year of my best chance ever to win but I knew that Amby wouldn't have come and entered if he wasn't in the shape," Vitale chased Burfoot to a course record-breaking time last year. The little, long-haired, mustached schoolteacher from East Haven is the only man to beat Burfoot in Manchester in the last six years, copping the 1970 race.

"I don't know what it is, but Burfoot seems to have a degree of confidence here. He seems to know the route better and he runs tougher here."

Like Burfoot, Vitale is one of the world's top marathoners, as well as one of the top distance runners in the United States. "I haven't reached my goals yet as a runner. I won't con-

COMING: Steady Stream of Finishers Coming Down Main Street

Just Part of the 1,076 Feet of the 538 Runners Who Finished the Race

By Earl Yost Sports Editor

Jotting from the Road Race

Biggest man among the starters and finishers was John Cononolis, the former University of Connecticut football player who went on to play with the New York Giants in the National League. The one-time defensive tackle has slimmed down from 280 to 250 pounds. He's teaching physical education at Fitch High in Mystic and coaching girls' cross country.

Thanks to Bob Kennedy, varsity track and cross country coach at UConn, and his capable assistants, including his son and daughter, the complete results of the race - all 538 official finishers were tabulated and posted for those interested.

"This was just a perfect day to run," veteran Charlie Robbins said. The 53-year-old practicing physician, in semi-retirement, noted that the conditions were just ideal. He has taken part in more than 700 sanctioned runs, running about 12 a year now, one a month average. He started out in 1938 while a student at Manchester High under Pete Wigren's coaching. He has captured a dozen national long distance titles in his day and twice won the Five Miler.

"I was more than satisfied with my time and placement today," hands-on runner Ray Crothers said. The former Central Connecticut State College runner paced the field in the 1965 run, winning in 23:50. Yesterday he was timed in 23:07 and had to be content with fourth place, a most respectable finish when one considers the caliber of the field.

Steve Flanagan, ex-UConn carrier, moved up from a fifth placement a year ago to third yesterday. He was 51 seconds faster yesterday, in 23:05.

than his 23:56 time of '72. He's now in his third year as a teacher-coach at Rham High in Hebron.

Remember Dippy Evans, the muscular guard with the Manchester Merchants' football team 15 years ago? He showed up yesterday and ran the race and finished. The fellow with muscles on muscles was a rugged guard with the local gridder.

"Billy Rodgers should have been the pre-race favorite," Amy Burfoot said. "He overslept and was not ready mentally to run," he added. Rodgers, like Burfoot a Wesleyan product, was fifth. Rodgers won the National 20-kilometer championship last September.

First Manchester finisher was Mike Audette, who placed 23rd. Audette, 21, is a member of the track and cross country teams at Holy Cross college.

Prominent local entrants and their finishes included Jay Rubinow, 49th; Doc Warren 49th, Doc Benevides 41st and Dr. Merrill Rubinow, a post-entry had no number, time or placement.

Connie McCurry, co-captain of UConn's highly successful CCIL championship soccer team this fall, competed and finished.

The last runner to cross the finish line was 24-year-old Hachadourian with a clocking of 46:20. A responsive crowd cheered the local entrant.

Will Hadden, general chairman for the sponsoring Natick Forest, Trail, Cedars of Lebanon, rates a bow for a job well done.

There is a story behind every participant. Many, many, but time and space is limited.

X-Country Team Loses One Runner

The Manchester High cross country team compiled a disappointing 3-10 mark this season but the prospects for 1974 are bright as the Tribe loses only senior Julian Martin through graduation.

Returning next year are the top two runners, Dave Lemieux and Kevin Scholasy, along with this year's captain, Scott Moff, who was plagued by leg miseries. Also lending aid for 1974 are Matt Wallace, who sat most of this season out with a hip injury, and "rapidly improving" Jon Adams, according to Coach Rayorton.

Others who are expected to return are Jay Martin, Paul Philbrick, Joe Desimone and Brian Rathmunde. New cross country programs have sprung up at the town's Bennett and Illing Junior High Schools so Horton should expect some help from some top-notch runners at these schools.

Bruins' Latest Success Helped By Sanderson

NEW YORK (AP) — "Nobody told me I was going to play tonight," said Derek Sanderson who returned to action Thursday after a stint in the minors to help the Boston Bruins to a 4-2 National Hockey League game against Philadelphia.

"It was unexpected," said Sanderson who got a standing ovation when he skated out on the Boston ice. Sanderson, who was hampered by a training camp injury, scored the tying goal after the Flyers, leading the Western Division, lost their top goalie, Bernie Parent, with a game misconduct penalty for pushing a linesman at 9 minutes of the first period. Parent had played every minute of every game so far this year.

In other NHL scores, Pittsburgh beat Toronto 4-2, the New York Rangers edged Buffalo 7-6, the New York Islanders defeated Detroit 3-2 and St. Louis nipped Minnesota 2-1.

Rangers 7, Sabres 6 Rod Gilbert's eighth goal of the season, coming at 18:17 of the final period, gave the New York Rangers a 7-6 victory over Buffalo. Earlier, the Sabres had shattered Ranger goalie Ed Giacomin's shutout streak of 138 minutes, 12 seconds.

Penguins 4, Maple Leafs 2 Greg Polis scored midway through the final period to help Pittsburgh beat Toronto 4-2. The Penguins broke a 2-2 tie when Polis hit a crossbar shot that hit the cross bar and dropped in.

Islanders 5, Red Wings 3 Ernie Hicke scored two goals, the second breaking a 3-3 tie, as the New York Islanders defeated Detroit 5-3.

Blues 2, North Stars 1 The St. Louis Blues vaulted into third place in the NHL West with their fourth victory in five games, a 2-1 victory over Minnesota.

Move over Major Hoople and all you other fearless procrastinators. Amy Burfoot predicted before yesterday's Five Mile Road Race that he was running 25 seconds slower than a year ago when he established a new course record in winning. His 1972 time was 22:21. Yesterday, his winning effort was clocked in 22:57. That's 26 seconds slower than a year ago, or one second over his pre-race prediction. That's O.K., Amy, no one's perfect.

Pair of Touchdown Passes Beat Indians in Grid Finale

By Len Auster

Two touchdown passes by senior quarterback Paul Lehoux and a strong defensive game by the Windham High Whippets to a 13-6 victory over Manchester High in the traditional Thanksgiving Day game played yesterday before 1,700 fans at Memorial Field. The win squared the "series" between the two clubs at 6-1. The win also gave Windham a first leg up on the Army & Navy Club Trippy, with it being required by a three-time victor.

The story on Turkey Day was once again Indian mistakes, four fumbles, and the inability to move the ball consistently. Another factor was a strong defensive game by Windham, led by end Ben Lanning and back Art Potvin, who also was on the receiving end of the TD which put the game out of Manchester's reach.

Coach Larry Olsen's team looked like it was going to blow the Whippets right out of the Silk City as on its first possession, the Indians went 65 yards in just six plays to register a score, its first and last. Junior fullback, Peter McCluskey, subbing for injured Scott Odell, went 10 yards on the first play and on the ensuing play, junior setback Jack Maloney galloped 45 yards before being hauled down at the Windham 10. Four plays later, John Konz was on the latter part of a double reverse and he bolted up the middle for nine yards and the touchdown. Maloney's conversion

Johnny Egan Blows Fuse

52 Free Throws Given Cavaliers

NEW YORK (AP) — The Houston Rockets had just been "fouled" to death and Coach Johnny Egan was mad — really mad.

"You saw it — it was ridiculous," said Egan after the Cleveland Cavaliers were given 52 foul shots enroute to a 104-96 National Basketball Association victory Thursday.

To make matters worse for Egan, his team only got 17 free throws.

"They had so many foul shots, it was really something," said Egan. "The first half, we outshot them 21-16 in foul shots, but they went to the foul line 19 times to our eight."

In the other NBA games Thursday, the Milwaukee Bucks beat the New York Knicks 107-91, the Golden State Warriors trimmed the Atlanta Hawks 101-99 and the Portland Trail Blazers defeated the Seattle SuperSonics 131-125.

In the American Basketball Association, the San Antonio Spurs beat the Utah Stars 92-84 and the Virginia Squires crushed the Memphis Tams 135-111.

The Cavaliers connected on 38 out of their foul shots, some of them by Austin Carr, who scored 27 points overall. Dwight Davis had 21 points and helped a fourth-quarter surge that powered the Cavalier victory.

Bucks 107, Knicks 91 Leticia Allen led a third-quarter rally that broke open a close game and led Milwaukee past New York 107-91. Allen scored 11 of his 27 points in the third period as the Bucks rallied from a 50-48 deficit.

Warriors 101, Hawks 99 Jeff Mullins scored a layup with seven seconds remaining to give Golden State a 101-99 decision over Seattle. Petrie, who entered the game with 29 points in the second half and defeated the Stars 92-84.

Benefit Ice Tilt Saturday Saturday night at the Bolton Ice Palace an exhibition benefit hockey game is slated between the New England Americans of Springfield and the Manchester Hawks.

The game will find proceeds entering the Manchester Youth Hockey Assn. Fund. Action starts at 7:30. Following the game spectators holding tickets will be allowed one hour of free skating. Ticket scal will be $2 for adults and $1 for children, six to 12.

Eagles End on High Note Blasting South Catholic

By Marc Rick

It was bedlam in Eagleville yesterday as Coach John LaFontana led his East Catholic High Eagles to a 37-14 trouncing of arch-rival South Catholic in the annual Thanksgiving Day finale at Fathers' Field in West Hartford.

The unseasonably warm temperature was unique as the game's final outcome with the Eagles on top for the first time since 1968 over their HCC opponent.

The locals offensive array was unstoppable throughout as it racked up an astonishing 335 yards in total offense. A stellar performance was turned in by Cephus Nolen who scored on jaunts of seven and 67 yards. The sophomore running back also gained rushing honors with 143 yards in only eight carries.

Helping out admirably with the running chores were fullback Joel Desimone with 103 yards along with Bob Love who had 65 yards to spearhead an impressive ground attack.

Signal-caller Love also riddled the Rebels' defense by completing nine of 15 passes for 190 yards and two TD strikes. His favorite receiver, as usual, was the elusive Dave Berner who snared six passes for 121 yards and two six-pointers.

The Silk Towners dominated the entire play jumping into a quick 17-0 margin at halftime. Berner started the festivities as he burned the South secondary on a 64-yard touchdown reception late in the first period.

Then in the second stanza, kicking specialist Mark Belloyo connected on a 13-yard field goal try and with 22 seconds left, Nolen tallied from seven yards out.

The Eagles put on the finishing touches early in the third quarter as Nolen electrified the crowd with a 67-yard scamper and the duo of Love and Berner connected for a 10-yard score and a 30-0 lead.

A fine defensive display was also shown by a stingy East 11 as it pilfered four errant passes and recovered one enemy fumble. Defensive back Tom Hornat grabbed two passes while Jimmy Lodge took one in the end zone to stymie a sure South score.

The Rebels generated little offense in the first three periods although they did score twice in the final canto. Felix Patulski tossed five yards to John Simionelli for one score and Jasper Watson raced eight yards for the other home tally.

"You have to believe in yourself," LaFontana told his boys. The first year mentor closed out a 2-6 slate on a happy note by beating South for the first time in five years. Revenge is always sweet.

U.S. World Golf Team Tied for Fifth Place

MARBELLA, Spain (AP) — The favored U.S. team of Jack Nicklaus and Johnny Miller, tied for fifth place going into today's second round of the World Cup Golf tournament has a suggestion for the audience.

"China, go home," Miller jokingly told Taiwan's Lu Liang Huan after the smiling Lu grabbed the individual leadership with a 5-under-par opening round.

Miller could do no better than a one-over-par 73 on the Nueva and Alucya courses. Lu's partner, Hsieh Min-Nan, the individual winner in play at Melbourne, Australia last year, finished with a 71. But with Lu helping, they totaled 138. Nicklaus shot 69, tied with South Africa's Gary Player. Spain's Valentin Barrios and Fidel De Luca of Argentina for fourth.

Right behind Lu with 68 were Argentina's Roberto De Vicenzo and Thailand's Sukree Onchum. The 5-foot-2 inch Thai's score combined with teammate Pradana Ngaromrom's par-72, vaulted Thailand into a tie for third with South Africa.

ADULT AND RETIREMENT HOMES
Homes are not shell homes, but are completely finished and furnished with no extras to buy. All of Janesen's pre-built homes and mobilehomes are built to American Standard Association Code A119-1 or above.

PRESTIGE COUNTRY CLUB LIVING
The sophisticated home owners who live in our country club development are kind, gentle, sociable, real down to earth people, a large per cent of whom are professionals. Many of them are quite well-to-do. They are the kind of people you may have always wanted as friends.

CLUBHOUSE - SAUNA - POOL
The recreation clubs are independently organized. Card parties, anniversaries, bingo, suppers, dances, pool parties, birthday parties, etc., are the order of the day. Privacy is supreme. If you wish to be alone no one will bother you. If you want to visit, you need never be alone. This is living at its very best.

Army Still Dominant In Greece

By VICTOR L. SIMPSON Associated Press Writer ATHENS (AP) — President George Papadopoulos' use of tanks and troops to quell student-sparked rioting demonstrated the dominant role the army still plays in the affairs of Greece.

One previous precedent was set in 1967 when the army toppled the parliamentary democracy, bringing the then-Col. Papadopoulos to power. Observers say only a counter-coup by the army could dislodge him. And there are no signs of that happening.

"They were scared this time so they called in the troops," said a politician who was prominent before the coup. "It was a sign of panic."

One theory circulating here says Papadopoulos brought in the army during the riots last week partly for fear of losing control of it if he let it stand during the disturbances. But other views hold that if the strongman president hadn't demonstrated the army's loyalty, the rioters would have had time to marshal more support for bringing down the government.

Students were prominent among the rioters. But George Mavros, an ex-Cabinet minister who was put under house arrest Tuesday night, said it was the additional support the students gained that led to the stiff reaction by the government.

Mavros was arrested along with another former cabinet minister John Zappas and Panayotis Canellopoulos, 71, the premier of the government that Papadopoulos toppled. The government consisted of 46 more dissidents in the capital, bringing the number in custody to 250, and said all schools of higher learning would be closed until Dec. 10.

Students had staged numerous protests earlier this year, beginning with purely academic grievances, but stood alone and were silenced by arrests and a government decree drafting them into the army.

New outbreaks arose after Nov. 4, when clashes took place between police and mourners attending a memorial service for popular Congressman Andreou, the former liberal premier. The sentencing of five persons in connection with the disturbances led to a four-day sit-in at the Athens Polytechnic Institute.

The sit-in leaders first called for an end to political trials and for academic freedom. But the demands became more radical, calling for the ouster of Papadopoulos, immediate elections and a withdrawal of NATO forces from Greece. Soldiers and police finally stormed the institute early Saturday and ousted the students. Eleven persons were killed in the clashes.

During the sit-in, Polytechnic students used a radio transmitter to appeal to workers to join the protest. About 5,000 of them, mostly construction workers in the Athens area, answered the call and strengthened the anti-government front.
