News for Senior Citizens

by Wally Fortin

Hello there everybody. It's time to go again, and I sure have some wonderful news for you.
As you know we've been talking about our Winter Craft Fair, and so we had it Monday night. Let me say the turnout was beyond all expectations. I mean that by 7 o'clock the building was packed shoulder to shoulder both upstairs and down, and many took one look at the crowd and decided not to come in. The place was packed and bulging at the seams.
Things started out a few months ago when Gloria got her classes all keyed up about having a Winter Fair, and the cooperation and hard work by so many of our members really was just outstanding. It all reflected on the many wonderful articles we had on display, and the amazing success was certainly a tribute to their hard work.
As you know, this was our first filing at something like this, and we just wanted to show you folks just what your money and your time can really do, and now you know; however, it was too much for the time limit, and therefore I am leaving this, and we know a little more on how to handle the next attempt.
As one member of the Board in the oil painting contest the judges were John Tani, Hillery Gallagher, and Robert Price, with Kay Higgins as the first place, Eva Magdon, second place, and Haldah Butler third place.
At this time, I, on behalf of the senior members, want to sincerely thank all the members of the Board of Directors for taking the time to help and spending part of the evening with us.
Speaking of winners, here's a few more for you. Ann Lehmann won the ceramic Christmas tree, William Crowley the wood carving plaque, and Elnora Tessier the 28-pound turkey.
The highest bidder of the silent auction was Arthur Buckler for the electric flier; Vivian Ferguson, the ice cream freezer; Elsie H. Zinner, the large aiglon; Irene Fay the oil painting; Vivian Ferguson, the tablecloth; Mrs. Arnold, the small aiglon; and Irene Bourz, the salad set.
Entertainment
Now I've told you that we had well over 600 people visit our center, in those two hours, and they were treated to some excellent entertainment by our very talented members of the Sunshine Group. What I left out was how well we did financially because all the proceeds are going into our Bus Fund. We were lucky as Santa Claus paid us a visit, and he sort of stayed by our wishing well to which people made donations. Bob Daggard did the job, and an excellent one at that.
With the large crowd and all the confusion, our hardworking members came out with the grand total of $12,141, which made the hard work and long hours of preparation well worth it. And so I wholeheartedly and sincerely thank all you folks who braved the crowd to help us, and at the same time apologize to the many who came in but couldn't get near the articles on sale, or those who found it too crowded to come in.
Last Friday night we had 15 tables for setback, and the lucky winners were: Elmer Swenson, 140; Josephine Kearns, 128; Mercedes Prior, 128; Bob Aher, 128; Thomas Murphy, 124; Emma Russell, 123;

Directors said, "You will have to hold the next one in the Army," and I'm inclined to agree with you.
Serve As Judges
Speaking of the directors, we put them all to work on a very difficult task, that of being judges for our special contest. Believe me, it really wasn't fair in a way, because the exhibits on display all were so nice it was real hard to make a choice. Here's how the contest went:
The pie making contest was judged by Mayor Jack Thompson, Vivian Ferguson, and Phyllis Jackson, and the winners were: Sue Schiebenflug, first place; Catherine Gleeson, second place, and Helen Ostrowski, third place.
We had better than 20 pies and immediately after the judging they were sold.
Our crewel embroidery judges were Anthony Pietrangolo, Carl Zinner and Pascal Prignano and winners were: Mary Thrall, first; Irma Osterwald, second and Helen Osterwald, third.
In the oil painting contest the judges were John Tani, Hillery Gallagher, and Robert Price, with Kay Higgins as the first place, Eva Magdon, second place, and Haldah Butler third place.

Bankrupt Greek Policy
WASHINGTON — The chilling bankruptcy of Nixon administration policy toward Greece, dramatized in the overthrow of the Papadopoulos dictatorship so pampered by the U.S., has now created an even more horrendous prospect: the threat of a Qaddafi-style, super-nationalist regime controlling NATO's strategic eastern anchor.

Yule Concert

Bolton Center School musical groups will present their annual Christmas concert Wednesday at 7 p.m. in the Bolton Elementary School all-purpose room.

Featured on the program will be the Center School Band, seventh and eighth grade choruses, and the fifth and sixth grade choruses.

Bruce Bates, student conductor, will direct the band in "Christmas Rondelay," Terry Smith will lead the group in "Christmas Chimes," Aldea Savva will narrate the story of Christmas.

Selections from "Fiddler on the Roof," "A Joyous Month For All" and "Hanukkah in December" will be presented by the group, as will traditional popular songs.

The fifth and sixth grade choruses will sing traditional holiday music. Soloists Joann Scicchiaroli, Tammy Dogiewicz, Laurie Manning, Louise Vogel and Theresa Landray will sing "O Come Emanuel," John Robbins will sing "Silent Night." The fifth and sixth grade girls' choruses selections will include "Ding Don Merrily On High" and "Winter Wonderland."

The program is under the direction of Mrs. Sandra Schenker and Mr. Edward DiFranzo.

Schools. Donated items should not be wrapped. At home basketball games, the club will be selling whimsical Christmas cards, Christmas cards, knick-knacks and wrapping paper.

Christmas Party. St. Maurice Council of Catholic Women will hold its Christmas party Tuesday at 7 p.m. at Vito's.

Members are reminded to bring a grab bag gift and a gift for Mansfield.

Holiday Thought. In the last issue of the Bolton Elementary and Center School Chalkboard, John Eagles, principal, tells students and parents that more and more as the years roll rapidly by, life seems to teach us that real happiness lies in giving one's ability and educated skill to serving the needs of others.

Eagles said this basic truth is recognized especially during the holiday season.

The giving of material things or the leadership of great undertakings counts little in relationship to the giving of oneself. "The more we are needed," he said.

Eagles joined with the staff in wishing parents and students a pleasant holiday season and a happy New Year.

Lunch Tickets. Tickets for hot lunch and milk are on sale each day before the opening of school. The procedure was instituted in September as a convenience to students and parents.

The staff notes, however, that there are a number of students buying one ticket each day instead of several tickets to cover a minimum of five days.

Parents are encouraged to send their children to school with enough money to purchase tickets for at least one week at one time.

Buying blocks of several tickets can be done on any day of the week before school.

Milk prices have been reduced from nine cents to six cents for each ticket. Hot lunch tickets remain at 55 cents per ticket. Milk and snack for kindergarten students has been reduced from 70 cents to 55 cents per week.

Selling Chocolates. Bolton High School's Latin Club, under the supervision of Mrs. Susan Murray, advisor, will be selling chocolates at $1 per box.

The drive, now under way, will continue until Christmas vacation. Proceeds from the sale will help finance the club's annual Roman Banquet and New York trip.

Visit Courts. Bolton High School's Latin III and IV classes visited Hartford's Superior Circuit Courts in relation to a study, through translation, of the Roman court system.

The purpose of the trip was to evaluate what was seen and heard in court compared to student's pre-conceived ideas about what would be seen and heard. All information will be contrasted to the ancient court system.

The Latin teacher is Mrs. Susan Murray.

Prison Complaint. ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (UPI) — Women's Lib has reached into the New Mexico State Prison.

The New Mexico Civil Liberties Union, in a complaint against the penitentiary, said women inmates do not receive the same rehabilitation opportunities as the male convicts.

Advent points us to the day when there will be peace on earth among men of goodwill.

O God of Peace, help us to be peacemakers, that the people of this world may come to know the Prince of Peace. Amen.

Rev. John F. Flora III, St. George's Episcopal Church of Bolton.
