

Gas Retailers To Get Price Hike

Gas Pinch Cuts Holiday Traffic

HARTFORD (UPI) — The gasoline pinch has kept traveling light so far in the long holiday weekend but those driving on Connecticut roadways today face weather predictions of snow and freezing rain.

The National Weather Service at Windsor Locks issued a winter storm watch for today. Nothing like the Dec. 16 ice storm, the service said, but snow up to two inches was predicted in the northern and central regions, to be followed by freezing rain.

If the weather prediction was not enough to keep New Year's Eve revelers at home, the tight supply of gasoline was doing just that. Only about a third of the state's 2,000 stations were expected to be open today, Richard F. Hebert, a spokesman for the Connecticut Motor Club said, because most December gasoline allocations have been exhausted.

The club also is investigating complaints that motorists in the Plymouth, Terryville and Bristol areas may not be able to get to work this week because local stations have no fuel.

"They just can't get gasoline," he said. Only three stations remained open in the area but they were expected to run out in the early evening, the club said.

The motor club has been operating a weekend toll-free telephone service to provide motorists with information on where they can buy gasoline.

Three weeks ago, there were 36 stations on its list of those staying open on Sunday. A week ago, the number dropped to 12 and this weekend it dwindled to half a dozen, half of which ran out by mid-afternoon Sunday.

Parkway and Connecticut Turnpike stations re-opened at midnight at the end of the "gasless Sunday."

On New Year's Day, when thousands of motorists will be trying to return home, 98 per cent are expected to be closed, the club said.

Stations on the Connecticut Turnpike and the Merritt and Wilbur Cross Parkways will be open after midnight through New Year's, Herbert said. But sales will be limited to $1 worth of gasoline or 10 gallons depending on the station, he said, and some may run out of gasoline.

The club said not only is gasoline in short supply in Connecticut but it is higher priced than in other areas, costing at least two or three cents a gallon more.

"It is possible we're not getting a fair and even distribution of gasoline throughout the state and it is possible that the state is getting shortchanged on its total allocation," Herbert said.

Temper-Snarling Scrambles Noted At Gas Stations

United Press International
Most of the nation's gas stations are closed until after New Year's Day, and there were some temper-snarling scrambles Sunday for the last drops of gasoline.

A 17-year-old gas station attendant in Detroit was held by police Sunday after he admitted fatally shooting a motorist who refused to pay for gasoline. Police said the youth told them he thought the customer was reaching for a gun when he put his hand in his pocket after refusing to pay.

Spot checks across the nation by United Press International Sunday found that service stations open for business ranged from about a dozen of the 1,200 in St. Louis, Mo., to as high as 30 per cent in parts of Ohio, the South and West.

Most dealers said the pumps would stay locked up until after New Year's when they get the first supplies for 1974.

Tempers Explode
Gasoline was scarce around New York City. There were waiting lines outside the few service stations that were open, and short-fused tempers occasionally exploded into harsh words.

Dwindling gas supplies prompted the New York City Police Department, left with just over a day's supply on hand, to cut down on the use of patrol cars and send more officers out on foot patrol.

A police spokesman said there were 35,000 gallons in police tanks, about 10,000 gallons more than a normal day's usage, and the department was "nervous" about getting fresh supplies.

"In the past, we could just call up and be sure of getting deliveries the next day," said the spokesman. "Now we can't. So we're not taking any chances."

Traffic Extremely Light
Police across the nation said that traffic was extremely light on the fourth gasless Sunday of the energy shortage.

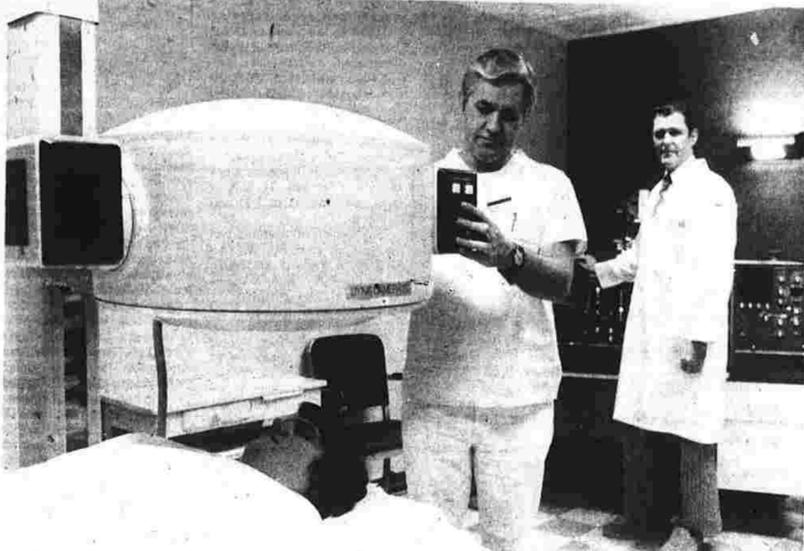

Among those caught in the squeeze was vacationing Gov. Tom McCall of Oregon who was refused gasoline at one station in Lincoln City, Ore., because he wasn't a regular customer then had to wait at the end of a long line of cars at another station to fill up.

And in Tempe, Ariz., a motorist who unexpectedly ran out of gas found a $5 bill tucked under his car's gas cap, apparently left by the driver who siphoned out his fuel.

Cloudy
The forecast for Connecticut — Travelers advisory in effect this afternoon and tonight.

A mixture of snow, sleet and freezing rain possibly mixing with rain at times this afternoon or evening. Highs this afternoon in low 30s. Low tonight around 30. Tuesday cloudy with periods of freezing rain likely. High in low 30s.

Grant Given MMH For Gamma Camera

JUNE TOMPKINS
(Herald Reporter)

The Hartford Foundation for Public Giving has made a grant of $30,000 to Manchester Memorial Hospital toward the purchase of a gamma camera for the isotope department.

The gamma camera is a diagnostic X-ray machine which will greatly increase the number of examinations as well as the types which can be handled by the hospital's isotope department.

The hospital presently has a five-inch scanner which requires about an hour for a brain examination. With a gamma camera, a similar examination will take about ten minutes.

In addition to present scanning investigations, the dome-like detector, or camera which contains the heart of the system, will permit additional studies including the liver, lungs, brain and bones, which are not now available with present equipment.

The gamma camera can view large areas of a total organ where earlier scanners moved line by line making scanning of the total organ a lengthy process.

The control panel on an electronic console sorts out the information acquired by the camera, analyzes it and records read-outs on film.

The foundation's grant will cover about half the cost of the gamma camera.

This is the second $30,000 grant voted to the hospital by the community foundation since Manchester was included in the foundation's territory.

The first grant was toward construction of a new emergency room area in 1970.

In addition, the hospital currently receives some $5,000 a year from the foundation's Newton C. and Elsie B. Brainard Fund which was designated to pay hospital bills of medically indigent patients.

Schools Reopen On Wednesday

When schools reopen Wednesday, classes at Manchester High School will follow the Monday class schedule.

All parochial schools also reopen Wednesday.

President Signs New Flood Act

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) — President Nixon today signed a bill allowing millions of homeowners and small businessmen to buy substantially more flood insurance protection at federally subsidized rates.

Under the measure, called the 1973 Flood Disaster Protection Act, homeowners are free to purchase up to $35,000 worth of flood insurance at a rate of 25 cents per $100 of coverage and merchants can buy a maximum $200,000 of coverage at reduced costs. The new ceilings are about double the ones available previously.

A short time earlier today, Nixon signed legislation authorizing the government to sell nearly $900 million in stockpiled materials, particularly copper and aluminum, on grounds that the federal supply far exceeded national defense needs.

The White House announced Nixon's actions as he continued to whittle down the pile of about 50 bills sent to his desk by Congress before it adjourned 10 days ago for a month-long recess.

About 25 measures still were awaiting Nixon's okay, including a $73 billion defense appropriations bill and another measure to increase Social Security benefits by 11 per cent.

Nixon also was expected to turn his attention to international issues today during conferences with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, who joined Nixon at his bluff-top villa after flying from Washington to Los Angeles aboard a commercial airliner Sunday night.

In signing the flood protection bill, Nixon said more than 90 per cent of all property damage caused by natural disasters result from floods and that the new law "will permit us to prepare more adequately against this threat."

Youth Volunteers Continue Cleanup Of Storm Debris

BETTY RYDER
(Women's Editor)

"Wonderful," was the way Rick Gowen, town youth director, termed the response of Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Youth Commission members, and other interested young people who responded to his call for volunteers to aid in clearing debris resulting from the recent ice storm.

"About 100 young people showed up Saturday morning, and we dispatched them in crews to help the elderly clear debris from their yards," Gowen said.

"We serviced 35 senior citizens in all sections of town, and believe we have taken care of all who called in up to Saturday morning."

"If anyone called in prior to that time, and has not been contacted, we ask them to call back. This does not include calls received Saturday afternoon and so far this morning (Monday) as we will schedule those for Tuesday," Gowen added.

Hoarding Charges To Be Probed By Government

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal energy chief William E. Simon said today that gasoline prices will go up another one cent a gallon to reimburse dealers for reduced sales due to the fuel shortage.

Announcement of the rise may come later today, Simon said, and follows a meeting he held with officials of the Cost of Living Council. It would be the first increase outside the wholesale price increases currently allowable under President Nixon's Phase IV program. Simon, in an appearance on a television program (NBC's Today Show), also said that the long lines of motorists reported at most service stations during the weekend were generally limited to metropolitan areas.

He blamed the situation on holiday traffic and said it should ease after Wednesday. Simon said Sunday that the government had launched an investigation into possible hoarding of petroleum supplies and had stepped up enforcement of fuel allocation regulations across the country.

Simon announced a general crackdown on violators of any part of the fuel allocation program. "Willful violators of the mandatory fuel allocation regulations are subject to criminal penalties," he said. "False or fraudulent activities regarding the allocation program will be prosecuted and could lead to substantial fines."

Surveillance Has Begun
He said surveillance of the mandatory allocation programs for propane and middle distillates — mainly heating fuel — has already begun, and 1,000 Internal Revenue Service agents are being mobilized to enforce existing allocation rules and those which will go into effect Jan. 15.

The Justice Department announced, meanwhile, that it obtained its first temporary restraining order Sunday against a gasoline station accused of price gouging. It said U.S. District Court Judge William J. Bauer in Chicago signed the order against McBride's Shell Service, located on Chicago's South Side.

"The IRS agent who accompanied the assistat U.S. attorney to the judge's house testified that he was sold five gallons of gas, one rabbit's foot and one blank will form — as in last will and testament for $10.05," said Justice Department spokesman Jack Hushen.

Hushen said the government was acting under the Economic Stabilization Act, which sets ceiling prices for gasoline. Judge Bauer scheduled a hearing for Jan. 9.

Simon also announced that his office, working with state and local officials, had settled more than 15,000 hardship cases involving individuals, businessmen, farmers and industries who said they needed more fuel than they had been allocated.

Simon also announced plans to establish a "grass roots" group representing gasoline and diesel retail dealers to advise the government on fuel policy.

Dealers Live with Problems
"Local dealers are living with the problems created by the fuel shortage and we think it is essential that representatives of these dealers help us formulate the programs that will affect their operations," Simon said. A public briefing will be held in Washington Jan. 9 to explain how the group will be chosen.

New Year Will Be Dimmer

United Press International

Dimmer lights and half-empty gas tanks may keep many New Year's revelers closer to home tonight.

Still, the annual happening in Times Square is expected to draw up to 300,000 persons to scuffle with the pickpockets. They'll watch the lighted ball descend at the stroke of midnight from the Expo America Building — previously known as the Allied Chemical Tower — in memory of 1973 and in tribute to 1974. Another 15,000 or so are expected to dare the muggers for a free jam session in Central Park.

Revelers can spend $125 to join Sammy Davis Jr., at the Century Plaza Hotel in Los Angeles or pay $2 to watch female impersonator Charles Pearce at San Francisco's Gold Street bar.

And in most cases, organizers said that tickets for New Year's Eve affairs have been sold out despite high prices, gasoline shortages and other ills that many partygoers apparently hope will disappear along with 1973.

But it's not all for money. Comedian Red Foxx of television's Sanford and Son series, jazz pianist Ramsey Lewis and singer Jerry Granger have scheduled a concert for inmates of Cook County (Chicago) jail Monday.

Chicago's famous Pump Room in the Ambassador Hotel will lay on a seven-course dinner for $35, not including liquor. The hotel has done away with two 25-foot outdoor lighted Christmas trees as well as a seasonal lighting display, but not the Dave LaWinter dance orchestra that will provide the music as usual.

Once-busting Union Station in Indianapolis again will be filled with noise and an estimated 3,000 people who will pay $18.75 each to party to the strains of an 18-piece dance combo. A special television chamber has been set up for football fans who want to watch Notre Dame battle Alabama. It's all for a fund to save the train terminal.

Where to Begin?

Happy New Year

In the past we have always sort of looked forward to the New Year. We guess it is because in each of us there is a persistent optimism. When we assess the year past and its many shortcomings, we resolve sincerely that "next year will be better."

Looking at the headlines these days does not bode a year that "will be better" for most Americans.

Stand-by gasoline rationing is being set up to be instituted should present, essentially voluntary, measures to reduce gasoline consumption in this country fail.

As we prepare for our New Year's Eve party, assessments of the Israeli elections and possible ramifications on Mideast peace talks are being made.

The goal of low unemployment by the end of 1973 was almost achieved only to have the energy crisis throw it out the window and the full impact of it won't be known until sometime in 1974.

The optimistic economists forecast a recession and the pessimistic one a depression.

Prices went up in 1973 and there are no signs they won't go up more in 1974. No, there doesn't seem to be much in which our inherent optimism can latch on to these days.

But it isn't all negative. We in Manchester know that in times of adversity there is a great concern for each other which we recently witnessed during the ice storm.

We know that some of the things we were taking for granted as part of our so-called life-styles are not as important as we thought.

And while we know that 1974 is filled with many uncertainties, it also presents us with many challenges, challenges which if successfully met, could mean a better year for all of us.

It is on this premise that we, as citizens of Manchester and as citizens of the world, can and will rise to these challenges and still control our own destinies, that we, at The Herald, wish each and everyone of you, a happy New Year.

A Likable Femlibber

WASHINGTON—A reporter has to guard carefully his credentials as a male chauvinist pig when he talks to Mrs. Jill Wolner, the assistant Watergate special prosecutor who made headlines with her interrogation of Robert F. Kennedy, Jr., on Jan. 1, 1974.

Jill Wolner is just too feminine to fit the stereotype of the femlibber seeking to take over the Republic and herd all men into the kitchen. She is a youngish 30, slender and with short light brown hair, and at Tom and Susie Kennedy's party she was wearing a grayish, and blackish dress that sparkled and which was neither too snug nor too loose.

It was irony for the collector, Tom Kennedy used to be counsel for Gordon Liddy, the convicted Watergate conspirator, and one of the guests was a Republican judge appointed by Lyndon Johnson.

Anyway, Mrs. Wolner is attractive, charming and intelligent—and very much low-key. She was discovered in a Washington restaurant, administrative assistant to Sen. Ed Muskie—and it was she who was doing the listening. Score a point for the career woman. Had New York's Rep. Bella Abzug been present, everybody would have known it. Naturally, the reporter asked Mrs. Wolner about her courtroom confrontation with Miss Woods, who either did or didn't erase 18 minutes from an important Watergate tape.

"I suppose it's a little unusual," she said in her low voice. "A woman interrogating a woman. But to me it wasn't that at all. I'm a prosecutor. The other woman, Miss Woods, is a prosecutor. To me, Miss Woods was not another woman, she was a woman. And Miss Woods was not the only person I questioned."

But, of course, Mrs. Wolner does admit that as a lawyer she has problems. She's woman, she's pretty and she's young. Judge John Sirica took cognizance of the situation when he told the antagonists: "We have enough problems without you two ladies getting into an argument."

Yet Jill Wolner takes it all goodnatureedly. She can't do anything about my being a woman," she said. "I'm certainly not going to try to be like a man, although I hope my courtroom presence is equal to that of any male lawyer."

About her courtroom ministrations: "Yes, I'm sensitive about comments about what I wear. But I'm a woman, and I'm always going to dress as a woman. Would I be more acceptable in a blue serge suit and something like that?"

Not to this observer, Jill Wolner's biggest asset as a person is that she's not afraid to let her femininity show. Married to a communications lawyer, she prefers to be addressed as Mrs. Ian Wolner. No Ms for her, even as she fights women's battles for equality and acceptance.

Wasn't the Watergate inquirer with Maynard Duggan, and thus lending the impression the Democrats were reaping political advantage? "Not at all," she said, just a hint of steel in her tone. "This is an enormously complicated case, or series of cases. There are practically no constitutional or judicial precedents. The research on even the most trivial point is tremendous. We're working as fast as we can, but there are no shortcuts."

The Soviet Menace

By Rowland Evans and Robert Novak

WASHINGTON—The muscular Soviet military posture during the Middle East war and disturbing trends in comparative U.S.-Soviet defense spending leads senior uniformed officers in the Pentagon to this alarming forecast: a Kremlin with clear military superiority will begin maximum world pressure as early as 1977.

U.S. intelligence analysis shows Moscow spending twice as much as Washington on military research and development and Washington spending twice as much as Moscow on military pay. If continued, these trends will enable the Soviet Union to pursue a highly bellicose foreign policy within three years. By this analysis, Soviet saber rattling during the Yom Kippur war is but a forerunner of what lies ahead.

Going beyond the usual Pentagon rationale for higher defense spending, this assessment represents deepened concern for the future of troubled senior officers. In particular, they believe the architect of détente, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, overlooks the danger of declining U.S. strength in comparison with the Russians.

"That decline is pointed up in the U.S. intelligence consensus regarding U.S.-Soviet defense spending. Research and development now accounts for 25 per cent of the Soviet defense budget, compared with 12 per cent for the U.S."

Converting rubles into dollars, R&D figures for the last available year (1970) show $16 billion Soviet against $7.4 billion U.S., with the gap even wider today. Moscow's crash program in naval expansion is most dramatic. Ship construction now comprises 15 per cent of Soviet defense spending compared with 4 per cent for the U.S.

In contrast, inarguable salary demands of the all-volunteer U.S. armed services mean that manpower alone costs the U.S. an outlandish 37 per cent of the defense budget, compared with 25 per cent by the Soviets. That ratio will worsen before it improves.

These deadly statistics convince high U.S. officers the all-volunteer concept must be replaced by a revived draft. The chairman of the Armed Services Committee in Congress, Sen. John F. Stennis United Press International Today is Monday, Dec. 31, the 365th and last day of 1973. This is New Year's Eve. The moon is approaching its first quarter.

The morning star is Mercury, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Capricorn. French explorer Jacques Cartier was born Dec. 31, 1491.

On this day in history: In 1878, Thomas Edison gave the first public demonstration of the incandescent lamp at Menlo Park, N.J.

In 1890, Ellis Island in New York harbor became the receiving station for immigrants arriving in Europe.

In 1946, President Truman proclaimed the official end of World War II, well over a year after the surrender of Germany and Japan.

In 1973, Pittsburgh Pirates' baseball star Roberto Clemente and four others were killed in a crash of a chartered cargo plane on a mercy mission to earthquake-devastated Nicaragua.

A thought for the day: British author Charles Lamb said, "Of all the sound of bells... the most solemn and touching is the peal which rings out the old year."

Resentful
I very much resent the letter printed in your column Dec. 27 from Mrs. Ferguson. I think she has a colossal nerve expressing her "gratitude and pride in the people of Manchester," and implying that she stuck it out along with the rest of us.

I believe Mrs. Ferguson beat it out of town quite early in the week and got through the power outage in the $125.00 a day suite in a Hartford hotel.

In view of this, I suggest Mrs. Ferguson find another handwoven to climb on.

New Agency Prepares For 1974

Editor's Note: UPI asked various government officials most directly concerned with the consumer to discuss the major issues they see ahead in 1974. The following dispatch was written by Richard O. Simpson, chairman of the Consumer Product Safety Commission.

WASHINGTON—UPI—It is difficult enough trying to predict where an "established" federal regulatory agency is headed over the next year. But that task is even more difficult for an agency—such as the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission—which is only seven months old.

To some degree, therefore, it might be helpful to look back over these seven months to better forecast where the commission is headed.

Since its activation May 14, 1973, the commission has devoted considerable time to development of a comprehensive set of policies which will guide our actions over the next several months and years.

In September, we issued our Consumer Product Hazard Index which ranks all approximately 400 product categories in order of their risk of injury to consumers. That listing was based primarily on the frequency and severity of injuries as reported to the commission through our National Electronic Injury Surveillance System—which monitors 119 hospital emergency rooms nationwide.

It will guide our actions in setting mandatory product safety standards but does not rule out the commission's dealing with imminent hazards and other problems which arise from time to time and which may be lower on the Consumer Product Hazard Index.

The Consumer Product Hazard Index stipulates a variety of products, many of which are integral components of the home, as posing the greatest threat of injury to consumers. Recognizing that fact the commission is beginning a careful analysis of "the home as a consumer product" and we expect a wide variety of activities in this area over the next several months.

In 1974, the commission will trigger standards development on many products, including football equipment and apparel; architectural glass; swimming pool slides, pools and related equipment; lawnmowers; and matches, all of which rank high on the Product Hazard Index.

Additionally, the commission will issue final mandatory safety standards on bicycles, children's sleepwear sizes 7 to 14; upholstered furniture and toys earlier in 1974.

Standards development, however, represents only a portion of the commission's activities. A unique provision of the Consumer Product Safety Act requires notification to the commission by manufacturers, distributors and retailers of all product defects which could pose substantial product hazards to consumers.

So far, the commission has received defect notices covering well over 5 million individual products—including nearly 100,000 television sets, over 60,000 dishwashers, and thousands of bicycles, lawn mowers, and kitchen ranges. Nearly all of those products have either been repaired, replaced or repurchased at no cost to consumers.

Defect notifications undoubtedly will continue to come into the commission—and we believe—at an even greater rate than in our first few months of operation.

We also expect consumers and other interested parties to continue using the commission's toll-free product safety hotline—800-528-2868 (except in Maryland, 800-492-3527) to receive product safety information and to report consumer product safety problems to us.

In addition, the commission welcomes full participation of all interested groups. We have opened all commission meetings to public participation with the sole exception of executive sessions of the five commissioners. Anyone may receive copies of our public calendar. Simply write the secretary, Consumer Product Safety Commission, Washington, D.C. 20207 to be added to the mailing list.

Finally, we hope that the public will watch us carefully and will comment on our activities. Where consumers or others believe we've gone astray, say so.

For our part, we pledge continued efforts to substantially reduce the unreasonable risk of injury to consumers from consumer products.

Be A Pampered Darling — A Queen For A Day

BETTY RYDER
Women's Editor

Now that the holidays are almost over, the Christmas ornaments have been put away for another year, and the kids will soon be heading back to school, many of us feel that post-holiday slump.

If that's the case at your house, give yourself a treat. Take some of your Christmas money, or ask the man of the house for a loan and spend a "Day of Beauty" in New York City.

Charles of the Ritz with a plush salon on Park Ave. has the sure cure for the winter doldrums.

The minute you step through the doors, you are greeted by friendly, smiling personnel. You are ushered to a dressing room, where you find a sunny yellow terrytosh wrap-around and matching slippers to don. From there, it's on to the sauna, where you recline on the attendant splashes water onto the hot coals to create more steam to ease your weary bones. You're in world of your own...for about 15 minutes, then the attendant directly laps on the wrap-around of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., the bride's brother; and Dennis Girard of East Hartford, brother-in-law of the bride.

Back into your robe and sluffs, you paddle down the hall to the shower. The perfume from a bar of luscious soap over permeates the air as you let the warm water spray over your body. No telephones can reach you, no little voices saying "hey, mom, can I get into your sluffs and an attendant directs you to your next hour of beauty.

This time it's a massage. You, instinctively proceed with caution, not exactly sure what being in the hands of a masseuse is your cup of tea, but when you see her, your apprehension disappears. A little, elderly lady, she leads you to a room where you again remove your robe and don a white sheet crow's feet around your eyes and mouth and remove at least part of that bubble chin. After several similar treatments, a cooling spray bursts forth like a spring rain and tightens all the pores in your face...it's sheer heaven.

Now comes the pedicure and your toes may be as colorful or as conservative as you wish. The manicure is next on the agenda and each is given by a different operator who performs her own specialty.

You're heading into the countdown now and you find yourself facing a dynamic young man named Paris. As he scans you with a "let's see what I can do" look, you automatically give him a "for heaven's sake, I can't be that hopeless" glance. But he is the master and he flips your hair this way and that, pulls loose a strand to the side of your ear, then finally instructs his assistants just what he has in mind for you.

Since this the man who styles the hair of Debbie Reynolds as she appears in the Broadway hit "Grease" and for Archie Bunker's little girl Sally Struthers of "All In The Family" fame, you just know he can't be all bad, and resign yourself to your fate.

Time for the final comb out and as Paris stands back and surveys the finished product (hey, he sprays a sweet essence of hairspray to hold your new hairdo in place and proclaims it a "mission accomplished."

But, if dad is smart, he'll realize how much more it would have cost him if you had spent the day shopping at Sak's Fifth Ave.

Besides, this queen belong to him.

ala Julius Caesar and lie on a comfortable padded table. With a friendly smile, and light conversation concerning the benefits of massage, she proceeds to expose just one inch of your body at a time. Her magic fingers to ease every tension, covers that limb and uncovers the other, until all parts of your body have been massaged and you feel weak as a kitten. Next comes the oil rub, and as you begin to completely relax, your thoughts wander to the days of pampered Cleopatra (this was probably a daily thing with her) you feel as though you may never get off the table. Finally a brisk astringent rubdown snaps you back to reality and it's once more into your robe and time to head for your lunch.

As you sit at your own private table, and scan a menu filled with calorie-conscious goodies or gourmet cuisine (your choice) you decide that since you are going to emerge a "new you" you may as well watch the waistline. So, being a martyr you select the fresh fruit salad plate with whole wheat roll and sea with lemon.

After a leisurely repast, you move onto your placed over your precious hairdo (but you don't care cause you'll have a new one before your day is over) and as you recline on a cushioned lounge, a lovely young woman whose look certainly attest to the fact that facials work, inspects your features with a critical eye.

Warm towels are applied to your face (cotton balls soaked in astringent cover your eyes) and she begins to rub oil into your facial muscles and attempts to minimize the little

What is "the Church?" What is the Conference of Churches? These are some of the questions that we ask as we look at the close of the year which saw the formal establishment of a new grouping of the Christian churches into a posture of cooperation and service to the community.

The Manchester Area Conference of Churches, not yet one full year in existence, looks back through 1973 to a very hope-filled Jan. 9 when so many church and civic leaders gathered to celebrate this cooperative venture. Tribute to the faith and diligence of the relatively small group of laymen and women and clergy, MACC has made itself felt in Manchester and surrounding areas.

On the eve of the new year, and approaching its first annual meeting during the next few days with a view to drawing up a schedule by the middle of the month.

Of assistance and interest to pastors and laymen working in Manchester churches is a workshop at the Hartford Seminary Foundation Jan. 26 from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. The theme is "Referral: Helping or Passing the Buck."

It is sponsored by the social service department of the Greater Hartford Council of Churches. It will be an opportunity to explore sources of assistance and guidelines for crisis counseling. Call 646-4488 for reservations.

MACC offers to all Herald readers wishes for a blessed new year.

Donations previously acknowledged: $42. Others: Leonard Johnson, Alice and Walter Shea, Frederick and Irene Hughes, Emmanuel Lutheran Church staff, Gladys and Lou Melbert, Philip Harrison, Dr. Winfield T. Moyer.

The fund's total of $468 made it possible for a few more families to have some of the necessities for the holiday. It aided families whose situation was aggravated by the ice storm.

Maj. Lawrence Beadle of the Salvation Army, busy about the needs of storm victims, was happy to have the funds to disburse to those who sought help.

MACC thanks all who used this vehicle of coordinated effort at Christmas.

Because the board officers' meeting was canceled in Manchester, Maj. and Mrs. Lawrence J. Beadle are being transferred to Akron, Ohio, where they will serve as county coordinators and corps commanders of the Akron Citadel.

Maj. Beadle will preach his farewell sermon at the Manchester Citadel on Jan. 27. He and his wife will assume their new posts on Jan. 30.

Maj. and Mrs. Beadle have been commanding officers of the Manchester Corps since June 1970. Maj. Beadle was a member of the Key 73 Committee, which in cooperation with the Manchester Area Conference of Churches conducted the ecumenical Easter sunrise service last Easter and

Dolphins Turned Csonka Loose, Wind Up in Super Bowl Again

MIAMI (UPI) — Conquered or Csonka-d, it amounted to the same thing. The Miami Dolphins didn't believe in getting fancy when something simple would do the job.

They turned loose a battering ram named Larry Csonka Sunday and the 237-pound fullback, backed a championship game record by powering to three touchdowns, led them to a 27-10 victory over the Oakland Raiders and their third straight AFC championship.

The Dolphins, going to the air only six times all afternoon (completing three for 34 yards), just kept pounding away at the left side of the Raiders defense, rushing for 266 yards with Csonka setting 117 of that.

Csonka, No. 2 rusher in the AFC during the regular season with 1,003 yards, ripped across from 11 yards out in the first period, then added a couple of two-yard touchdown runs to become the first man ever to score more than two touchdowns in an AFC playoff history.

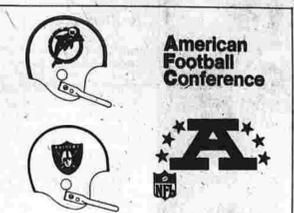

"I wasn't even aware a record was involved," Csonka said afterwards. "Anyway, that's what matters. Winning does."

By setting a score with Oakland, which beat Miami 12-17 in the second game of the season to snap an 18-game winning streak, the Dolphins, defending NFL champions, won their third straight Super Bowl berth.

Miami has a Jan. 13 date in Houston against the Minnesota Vikings who won the NFC title Sunday by beating the Dallas Cowboys by the same 27-10 margin.

Coach Don Shula figured his Dolphins had two points to prove Sunday. Not only did they want to even the score with Oakland, and thereby win the AFC title, but they also wanted to prove they could run on the Raiders.

"We like to think we have a good running game, but we didn't show it in the first game against Oakland," said Shula, only coach to have four Super Bowl teams — Baltimore in 1950 and 1951, and the 72.

"Everything they said about the Dolphins is true," said Madden. "They have an awful lot of poise and class. When we beat Miami earlier, we did it because we did it to us this time. "It was a tough game and we have no excuse," he added. "They really executed and we didn't."

The Dolphins began socking it to the Raiders right from the start.

The first time they got the ball, the Dolphins moved 94 yards in eight plays, going ahead 7-0 after Csonka scored his first touchdown with only 5:13 gone in the game.

Although they controlled play by simply outpunching the Raiders, the Dolphins didn't score again until 17 seconds before halftime when Csonka capped a 63-yard march to put Miami ahead 14-0 at intermission.

Oakland closed the gap to 17-10 in the third period by scoring on a 25-yard pass from Kenny Stabler to Mike Siani and a George Blanda field goal while holding the Dolphins to a Gary Yepremian field goal.

But the Dolphins widened their lead to 20-10 with 8:42 left to play on Yepremian's second field goal and ended any lingering hopes some die-hard Raider fans might have had when Csonka scored his record third touchdown with 1:58 left to play.

Miami probably could have added yet another touchdown if Shula had been of a mind to run for the score, but after getting a first down on the Oakland 3 (following a pass interception), the Dolphins let the clock run out.

The Dolphins' consistency Sunday was such that they made first downs on 11 of 13 third down plays.

"We can't start celebrating yet," said Shula. "We still have another game to go. We'd like to be talked about in terms of the Green Bay Packers of the '60s."

"I'm 1 and 2 in the Super Bowl now and I want to get even."

"I wasn't surprised by the success of our running game," he added. "We felt we had one and felt our job was to go out and establish it. Csonka was fantastic and Mercury (Morris, who gained 86 yards) got off a couple of key runs."

If there was one surprising aspect of the Dolphins' offense Sunday, it was two long runs (27 and 17 yards) by quarterback Bob Griese, the first on a surprise play by the second on a draw.

It was the first time since the Dolphins' second game that they could run on the Raiders.

"It was the first time we used that quarterback draw this year," said Shula. "Griese suggested it. The blocking on it is the same as if the fullback is carrying the ball."

Oakland coach John Madden didn't try to ail the Raiders' loss.

Miami Another Green Bay?

.500 Bowl Record Personal Shula Goal

MIAMI (UPI) — What Don Shula wants to do now is even his personal Super Bowl record and prove that his Miami Dolphins are in the same class as Vince Lombardi's Green Bay Packers.

"We'd like to be talked about in terms of the Green Bay Packers," Shula said Sunday night after the Dolphins pounded Oakland 27-10 in the American Football Conference championship game in the Orange Bowl and he looked ahead to the Super Bowl VIII match with Minnesota Jan. 13 in Houston.

"I'm 1 and 2 in the Super Bowl right now and all I want to do is get even," Shula said. He lost Super Bowl games with Baltimore in 1950 and Miami in 1973 and won with the Dolphins last year.

Lombardi's Packers were the only team to win two Super Bowls, in 1956-57.

In Sunday's game, Shula was proud that the Dolphins succeeded in proving they have a running game against Oakland. With Larry Csonka leading the way, Miami rushed for 266 yards rushing and set a championship game record with his three touchdowns.

"We like to think we have a good rushing game," Shula said. "We didn't show it in the first game with Oakland, but we did the second time around." The Dolphins lost to Oakland 12-17 in the second regular season game.

"I was proud of our team in every respect," Shula said. "We gave the game ball to Csonka. He had a truly great game. He was fantastic."

Like Shula, Csonka was looking ahead to the next game. "We still have another game to go," he said. "We've done it once before, and we're looking forward to going back again."

He said much of his success Sunday was due to the success of Mercury Morris and Jim Kick running wide in Miami's two previous games.

"They (the Raiders) seemed to be keyed to stay with the wide receivers and the tight ends and, of course, Mercury Morris has been having great days running outside. So we came with the fullback," Zank said.

Bob Griese passed for only 34 yards but had 44 on two long runs, one a scramble when his receivers were covered that set up Miami's first touchdown and the other an intentional quarterback draw that led to a Gary Yepremian field goal.

"Both those runs were on third down situations and the defensive backs and linebackers were man-for-man," Griese said. "Everybody was covered but the quarterback."

Raider linebacker Phil Villapiano called the two Griese runs "nobody treats us like that and gets away with it — but they did today," he said. "This was a great team. I think they have to go this way if they play another game like this."

"This was the best offense we faced all year," said the battered linebacker. "No one did it to us what Miami did all year. I tell you, they just pounded us."

"There are no excuses," said Raider Coach John Madden. "Everything they say about this Miami team is true. This is a helluva great team. They've got a lot of poise, a lot of class. They're going to the Super Bowl and we wish them well."

But this Oakland Raider club is a young club. We worked like hell to get here, and we'll be back."

Methodical First Half Spiced Vikings' Win

IRVING, Tex. (UPI) — The Minnesota Vikings, after a methodical, efficient first half, survived an error-prone second half with a pair of spectacular plays by Fran Tarkenton and Bobby Bryant Sunday to advance to the Super Bowl with a 27-10 triumph over the luckless Dallas Cowboys.

The Vikings gave a textbook exhibition of dull but near perfect football in the first half to take a 10-0 lead in this NFC title game but the second half became a comedy of errors with 10 turnovers — six by the Cowboys as Roger Staubach fumbled once and had four passes intercepted.

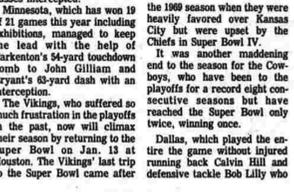

Minnesota, which has won 19 of 21 games this year including exhibition, managed to keep the lead with the help of Tarkenton's 54-yard touchdown bomb to John Gilliam and Bryant's 62-yard dash with an interception.

The Vikings, who suffered so much frustration in the playoffs in the past, now will climax their season by returning to the Super Bowl Jan. 13 at Houston. The Vikings' last trip to the Super Bowl came after the 1969 season when they were heavily favored over Kansas City but were upset by the Chiefs in Super Bowl IV.

It was another maddening error in the season for the Cowboys, who have been to the playoffs for a record eight consecutive seasons but have reached the Super Bowl only twice, winning once.

The Vikings lost a touchdown in the first drive because of a holding penalty and settled for a 44-yard Cox field goal. But the second drive was alive when Tarkenton threw a 14-play and was clinaxed by Chuck Foreman's five-yard touchdown sweep around right end.

Miami by Six

Play Resembled Volleyball at Times

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Oddsmaker Jimmy "The Greek" Snyder has established the Miami Dolphins as the six-point favorite to beat Minnesota in the Super Bowl.

The teams meet at Houston Jan. 13.

IRVING, Tex. (UPI) — Even Bud Grant was not sure that what he had been witnessing was football. But whatever the game, he felt he had the team to win it.

"We can play volleyball with anyone," said Grant, in about as close to a zippy one-liner as you will get from the stoic Minnesota coach.

Indeed the Minnesota Vikings and the Dallas Cowboys appeared to have come up with a new game in the second half of their NFC championship struggle Sunday.

But no matter the name of the game, the NFC crown was there for whomever could take it. And it was the Vikings who did the taking — by a final count of 27-10.

In no doing the Vikings filled a spot in Super Bowl VIII two weeks hence in Houston against the defending World Champion Miami Dolphins — with Fran Tarkenton, after 13 years as one of football's more exciting players, making his first trip over to the ultimate even in his chosen profession.

Opportunities Presented

Time and again in what began as an example of pure football and ended as something out of a cartoon festival, the Dallas Cowboys were presented with an opportunity to leave the field a winner.

IRVING, Tex. (UPI) — Dallas' loss to Minnesota marked the first time in 106 consecutive Cowboy games that veteran defensive tackle Bob Lilly did not play.

Ever since he was drafted No. 1 in 1961 from Texas Christian, the perennial All-Pro has anchored the Dallas defense. But a leg muscle pulled five weeks ago kept Lilly out Sunday.

Best to Come In Bowl Games

NEW YORK (UPI) — The college football bowl glut has begun but the best is still to come.

The highlight of the five-day, nine-game madness takes place tonight in New Orleans where national champion Alabama hopes to close out a perfect year with a victory over unbeaten Notre Dame in the Sugar Bowl in the first meeting ever between the two football "factories."

Alabama, with an 11-0 record, has already been designated the 1973 national champion by the UPI Board of Coaches and nothing can deprive the Tide of its crown — not even a loss to the 8-9-point underdog Fighting Irish who finished fourth in the final rankings with a 10-3 record.

However, the winner of the game will receive the MacArthur Bowl, awarded annually by college football's Hall of Fame.

The threat of a boycott by blacks against the Sugar Bowl Committee hangs over the game. The Southern Christian Leadership Conference and the NAACP are protesting a lack of representation on the Sugar Bowl Committee and they maintain that 2,000 or more pickets will show up at the game and block entrance to the stadium.

The bowl extravaganza comes to an end Tuesday when Nebraska plays Texas in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas, Ohio State meets Southern California in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif., and Penn State faces Louisiana State in the Orange Bowl in Miami.

Four games were decided Saturday when Missouri beat Auburn, 34-17, in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex.; Houston clobbered Tulane, 47-7, in the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl at Houston, Texas; Texas Tech defeated Tennessee, 29-19, in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., and the East whipped the West, 37-7, in the Shrine Game at San Francisco. Georgia won the Peach Bowl in Atlanta Friday night by edging Maryland, 17-16.

Texas Tech quarterback Joe Barnes accounted for three of his team's touchdowns with a six-yard run and a pair of touchdown passes, one coming 79 yards, in the Red Raiders' triumph over Tennessee in the Gator Bowl.

Quarterback D.C. Nobles of Houston scored once and set up two more TD's with his passing as the Cougars romped over Tulane in the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl.

John Mosely returned a kickoff 84 yards for a touchdown and an opportunistic Missouri defense converted three Auburn fumbles into scores as the Tigers chalked up their Sun Bowl win over Auburn.

Barry Smith of Richmond scored a pair of touchdowns and won the game's Most Valuable Player award as he led the East past the West in the Shrine Game.

100th Win for Ogrodnik As Eagles Bomb Weaver

By Len Auster

"We finally put it together tonight as a team," analyzed All-State guard Joe Whelton after East Catholic clobbered Hartford-based Weaver High, 66-50, Saturday night for its fifth win in as many starts at the University of Hartford. Whelton inflicted most of the damage as he tabulated a game and season-high 30 points along with five assists and playing the floor general role to near perfection.

The victory was also a personal milestone for East's Coach Stan Ogrodnik, who registered his 100th varsity high school coaching win. "It felt like the 90th and like the 100th next night because we were playing one game a week due to the energy crisis and the ice storm) and practicing the rest. That hurts," the 39-year-old mentor said.

"We haven't had it in our earlier contests, but tonight we were. We did what we had to do. We played intelligently. We haven't been sharp because we have been playing one game a week due to the energy crisis and the ice storm) and practicing the rest. That hurts," the 39-year-old mentor said.

Eagles held a 37-25 margin at intermission.

Weaver closed to within nine at one junction of the third stanza, 49-30, behind senior Nick Davis' six points but East withstood the minor surge with Whelton netting five and Soucier two as the Eagles pushed the edge to 16, 61-46, with 2:24 remaining, an advantage they maintained to the end.

College Basketball Bruins, N.C. State Capture Tournaments

NEW YORK (UPI) — UCLA played host in its own Bruin Classic Saturday night and, as is its custom, was less than gracious.

Another visitor, this time Michigan, left Paul Pavlic with one more loss than it had when the game started.

The Bruins shakkled the Wolverines, 90-70, for their 33rd straight victory.

Ranked teams had their problems in Christmas tournaments over the weekend, but all those making it to the final round collected the titles.

North Carolina State's 88-63 victory over Memphis State in the title game of the Sugar Bowl Classic was the most impressive of Saturday's play but Marquette, Southern California, Long Beach State, Nevada-Las Vegas, and New Mexico also won holiday tournaments.

An Easy Win

The fifth-ranked Wolfpack was led by David Thompson, who scored 34 points, in a surprisingly easy win.

On the other hand, Marquette scored a stonum blowdown pass with eight seconds left to sew up a 49-48 victory over previously unbeaten Wisconsin in the finals of the Milwaukee Classic.

Southern Cal rolled over Oral Roberts, 96-75, in winning the All-College tournament in Oklahoma City, while undefeated New Mexico wrapped up its own Lobo Invitational with a 102-48 victory over Minnesota.

Jerry Tarkanian's former and current teams, Long Beach State and Nevada-Las Vegas, had a bit more trouble collecting tourney titles.

Long Beach and to survive a second-half rally by its host to win the Evansville Invitational, 75-67, and Tarkanian's Las Vegas squared edged Virginia, 77-72, to win the Las Vegas Holiday Classic.

Other Major Tournaments

Titles in other major tournaments went to Manhattan, Hawaii, Clemson, Washington, Davidson, Temple and Missouri.

Missouri nipped Iowa State, 80-78, for the Big Eight tourney title and Washington topped Oregon State, 65-56, for the Pac West Classic championship. Clemson defeated Furman, 75-57, in the Polmettia Classic and Davidson won the Charlotte Invitational with a 97-87 victory over Miami of Ohio.

Manhattan surprised St. John's, 74-65, in the ECAC Holiday Festival, while hometown Temple won the Quaker City tourney with a 51-42 victory over California. Hawaii won its own Rainbow Classic, dumping Purdue by a 79-67 score.

In non-tournament competition Saturday, second-ranked Notre Dame romped to a 94-79 win over Kentucky, while No. 3 North Carolina breezed past Biscayne, 112-72. Vanderbilt also won easily, recording a 94-56 win over Vermont.

Fourth-ranked Maryland trounced Holy Cross, 102-75, in the opening round of the Terrapins' own invitational tournament and defeated Boston College, 88-37, for the title Sunday night.

Price Was Right In NBA Activity

NEW YORK (UPI) The price was right for the Los Angeles Lakers Sunday night.

Jim Price, the heir apparent to Jerry West, scored a career-high 27 points, including two key baskets in the final 1:11, to lead the Lakers to a 106-105 victory over the Buffalo Braves.

The second-year pro from Louisville tallied six of the Lakers' last 10 points to salvage the victory after the Braves had battled back from a 89-80 deficit.

Buffalo's Bob McAdoo, the 21-year-old rookie, scored 25 points, including three in the fourth quarter, to down Golden State.

Elsewhere in the NBA, Detroit beat Milwaukee, 98-91, New York topped Kansas City-Omaha, 102-85, Atlanta downed Cleveland, 99-94, and Portland beat Chicago, 99-92.

Seattle, trailing by 13 points at halftime, used 39 points by Jim Fox, 11 of them in the fourth quarter, to down Golden State.

Annual Manchester High-Armorial rifle match will be held Wednesday night at 7 at the Nike Range. Grads interested should contact Tony Albriro at 649-2296.

'Gate-Crashing' Official Uses Phony Plates

By Edward P. Butler

HARTFORD (UPI) — The Hotel Sonesta tried to charge Corrections Commissioner John R. Mansson for a broken parking lot gate but failed because his true identity was hidden by the phony license plates on his unmarked state car.

Mansson provided only his last name after the July 31st incident, which involved an accident or commission of a felony it would come to our attention that someone had inquired about the plate and it would be passed on to the agency involved," heard said.

The hotel later sought to collect $25 in damages but ran into a dead end because the car was registered to a fictitious person — "Anthony DeMartino, 156 Maple Ave., Hartford."

Water and Sewer Administrator Frank Jodanis — An end to water quantity and quality deficiencies.

Town Counsel William Brinnell — An eye out for the legality of everyone else's actions.

And to all others involved in town government — continued dedicated, unselfish and excellent service.
