

Tax Relief Urged By Gov. Meskill

Trucker Dispute Is Unresolved

United Press International
A nationwide truckers' strike forced one airline to launch a "foodlift" across the United States today and prompted state police to escort a convoy of 60 beef-hauling trucks across Iowa and into Illinois.

Strike-related violence claimed a second victim Tuesday when a South Carolina trucker was shot and killed as he was driving near Harrington, Del. In another incident, four men were booked on charges of attempted murder in Lafayette, La., after a bullet fired from a passing automobile punctured a tractor-trailer's fuel tank on Interstate 40. The driver escaped injury.

In Pennsylvania, where a truck driver was killed last week, the National Guard said it would issue ammunition to its patrols if the situation worsened. Joining Pennsylvania and Ohio, the governors of Kentucky and West Virginia called up the National Guard Tuesday, citing critical shortages of vital supplies.

Governor Applauded

Budget Asks Funds For Mass Transit, Energy Crisis

HARTFORD (UPI) — Gov. Thomas J. Meskill today painted Republican re-election hopes on a $121 million mass transit program and a cut in the state's sales tax, one of the nation's highest.

The governor, opening the 1974 legislative session, called for a modest increase in state spending to $2.32 billion and recommended using a projected $19 million surplus to meet the energy crisis.

"The Senate and House each convened separately prior to the governor's appearance before a joint session at 11:13 a.m.

The governor called for reducing the 6 1/2 per cent sales tax to 6 per cent and eliminating the sales tax on gas and electric bills.

The 46-year-old governor, who has yet to announce whether he will seek a second four-year term, emphasized that his austerity program has made an income tax unnecessary.

Minority Democrats say Meskill's current $70 million surplus was the result of over-taxation and cuts in education and human services programs.

They say the governor spent three years building a surplus so he could offer tax relief in this election year.

"I would like to look back for a moment to remind you that in three short years we have come from a fiscal situation which made an income tax seem inevitable to a fiscal situation which makes an income tax as unthinkable as it is unnecessary," he said.

If the Republican-controlled legislature approves the election year tax proposals, the sales tax reduction would take effect April 1 and the utilities tax would vanish March 1.

The proposed tax reductions, which ignore tax relief for business and industry, would save taxpayers an estimated $73.4 million in the next 15 months.

The tax package proposes eliminating the capital gains levy on the sale of homes owned by persons over 65.

"I hope you will adopt these new tax cut recommendations," the governor said.

"Last year a tax reform program was adopted which cut $71 million from the tax burden of Connecticut citizens.

"Adoption of this year's recommendations will put the tax cut total over the $144 million mark for the two-year period," he said.

Meskill, who inherited a $34 million budget deficit as Connecticut's first Republican governor in 18 years, expects to close out the new fiscal year with a $19 million surplus.

He proposed using the anticipated $19 million surplus to create a special "Energy Fund" that could, for instance, help cope with unemployment brought on by the energy shortage.

"Using the surplus to establish an Energy Fund would allow us to help state and local governments meet rising fuel costs," he said.

"It could provide us with a hedge against state revenue shortfalls related to the energy shortage," Meskill said.

The legislature is meeting in a budget session supposedly limited to dealing with financial

Heat Failures Irk Tenants

By DOUG BEVINS
Residents of Manchester's Beechwood Apartments are fed up with energy conservation measures — at least the cut-backs which the apartment project's heating system has undertaken on its own.

Many of the apartment dwellers were without heat for three days this week, the most recent of several similar incidents since the 191-unit complex opened about three years ago.

The management says the trouble stems from a "marginal heating system" and bad quality of oil, and they say they've been working "around the clock" to remedy the situation.

But several residents of the Rachel Rd. apartments say nothing is being done; they can't get answers from the management, and they've been complaining to the town health department and police.

Mrs. Linda Blumenhagen, one of the occupants, says her apartment, along with units in four of the 20 apartment buildings, was without heat last Thursday and Friday. The heat came back on Saturday, she said, but went off again Sunday and hasn't come back yet.

"Last night it was 48 degrees in our living room," Mrs. Blumenhagen said, noting that loss of heat has occurred several times while she's been living there.

Another apartment resident, Mrs. Richard Coyle, said her heat also went off Sunday but returned today.

"But we're not counting on tonight," she added.

Lee Greenough, who manages the Beechwood Apartments for the non-profit MISAC Corp., said he's been getting a lot of complaints about the heat, and he's been having an "unbelievable time" with the boilers.

Greenough, who said he's "literally been working around the clock," said the heating failures stem from bad quality No. 4 heating oil, and an inadequate heating system.

The thick No. 4 oil, supplied by the Mason Oil Co. of Glastonbury, is creating a strain on the heating system, Greenough said. The problem is that the electric ignition system in the furnaces, which is basically a large-scale home-type unit, can't "fire" the oil, he said.

"The oil we're getting is nowhere near the quality we used to get," Greenough said, describing his supply as "axle grease."

"And it's impossible to get a

Laurel Lake Acquisition Weiss Criticized On Procedure

By SOL R. COHEN
Town Manager Robert Weiss was publicly censured Tuesday night for the financial procedure the town followed in acquiring the 118-acre Laurel Lake parcel.

The censure was informal and was expressed by individual Manchester directors at an open meeting. Mayor John Thompson, on a recommendation by Vivian Ferguson, representing the Republican minority, said he will schedule an evaluation of the manager's administrative performance — at a date to be announced.

According to the sequence of events leading to payment for the property — about a week before the actual transfer of title took place in early January — Robert C. Dennison, owner of the property with his brother, Weiss C. Dennison, requested payment.

Dennison was referred by Weiss to the controller and treasurer and he (Dennison) personally visited both offices to arrange for processing the payment.

The controller issued vouchers to the treasurer for paying the $48,400 full cost and, on Jan. 3, two checks were drawn — one for $24,700 to Robert C. Dennison and one for $24,700 to Weiss C. Dennison.

The Weiss C. Dennison check cleared the bank Jan. 8 and the Robert C. Dennison check cleared Jan. 10.

The warranty deed, transferring title to the town was dated Jan. 15 and was filed with the town clerk Jan. 16.

Weiss, in a Jan. 25 report to Mayor Thompson, conceded the procedure followed was not according to approved procedures, since the check(s) should have been transmitted coincident with receipt of the deed.

He insisted, however, "The town retained the protection afforded by the Bond for Deed."

Manchester attorneys contacted by The Herald agreed the transaction didn't follow approved procedures. All said that, although there was nothing illegal or improper about the procedure followed, it certainly was unusual and foolish. Controls over extraordinary occurrences — such as fire and death — were lost, they explained.

Weiss' Jan. 25 report to Thompson was released to the press in reply to reporters' questions regarding the transaction.

Weiss replied, "I accept the responsibility for the transaction. I don't want it even implied I'm passing the buck to anyone. I want to make it perfectly clear — I accept all responsibility."

He said that in the future all procedures relating to town acquisition of real estate will be cleared through the town council's office.

He justified release of his report on the grounds it was his reply and explanation to questions asked by the press.

Phyllis Jackson remarked, "It's incredible to me that the

Decal Designed To Save Lives Of Children

CRIS (Children's Room Identification Sticker), the little elephant wearing a fireman's hat, was designed to help firemen save children's lives.

By placing CRIS on the outside of your child's bedroom window in the lower left-hand corner, firemen will know the location of your child's room.

Information about CRIS is being distributed in Manchester schools this week. If you would like CRIS for your child, fill out the application form the child receives and return it to school by Friday. The CRIS decals will be distributed Feb. 13. Additional stickers will be available at all town fire departments.

CRIS is sponsored by the Manchester Junior Women's Club in cooperation with the Manchester fire department.

Mrs. Barry Casey, a member of the club, designed CRIS.

The Manchester Safety Advisory Committee encourages townwide participation in making this a successful fire safety program.

CRIS Helps Makes Homes Safer

The lives of Linda Casey, left, and Sharon Sloan will be much safer in case of a home fire because of the new CRIS (Children's Room Identification Sticker) being applied to Sharon's bedroom window at 35 Oakwood Rd. by Mrs. Barry Casey, Manchester's Fire Chief John Rivosa watches the application. Hearst Appeals To Kidnapers

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — The FBI reported today there had been no contact with the kidnapers of Patricia Hearst and no demands for ransom had been made.

Her publisher-father Randolph A. Hearst appealed Tuesday to the three young kidnapers to show compassion for his 19-year-old daughter and to free her.

The young University of California student was dragged screaming and only partially clothed from her apartment Monday and forced into the trunk of a getaway car by two black gunmen and a white woman.

FBI agents said today there had been no word, no hint of why the sophomore student was abducted, no demand for money.

The armed trio gained entrance to the apartment by guile and force. The woman

Train, Tanker In Collision

NORWICH (UPI) — Authorities were investigating a fiery collision which demolished a Lehigh Petroleum Inc. tanker truck loaded with 10,000 gallons of gasoline, and caused extensive damage to a Canadian National Railway train Tuesday.

John J. Riely, a senior vice president of Lehigh, who rushed to the scene, suffered a heart attack and was dead on arrival at W.W. Backus Hospital in Norwich. Hospital officials said the oil firm official had a history of heart seizures. He was 59.

The truck driver, Robert Brook, 49, of Norwich, and the train's unidentified two-member crew escaped injury, fire officials said.

Arthur Maskell, 48, of Plainfield, employed by Canadian National, was in fair condition at Backus Hospital. He suffered first, second, and third degree burns over 20 per cent of his body, hospital officials said.

A Lehigh Co. employe, Helen Simkowski, 3, of Norwich, suffered a sprained ankle and treated at the same hospital. Brook said his truck had just loaded up 10,000 gallons of gasoline and was crossing the tracks when he was forced to stop because of the way the truck was obstructing the blaze and the fire was under control an hour later.

Gasoline Rationing Hearing Planned

United Press International Connecticut may have some form of gasoline rationing by the end of the month, if plans by the legislative General Law Committee succeed.

Sen. Stanley H. Page, R-Guilford, committee chairman, said Tuesday public hearings will be held Feb. 14 on a limited rationing system for the state to cut long lines at gas stations. He said the committee is considering two proposals: The Oregon plan, which assigns days motorists can purchase gas depending on their license tag numbers, and prohibiting sales to drivers whose tanks are more than half full.

Page said he hopes a rationing system can be devised, approved by the legislature and signed by the governor by the end of the month.

Gov. Thomas J. Meskill has already made known his opposition to any rationing plan involving use of coupons or stamps.

Bridgport plan

Meanwhile, mandatory rationing was ordered in

Connecticut's largest city and protesting truckers agreed to "cool it" Tuesday as the state finds ways to ease their plight during the gasoline shortage.

Bridgport Mayor Nicholas Panuzio said he declared the city "in a state of emergency" because of rising tensions and frustrations in the city severely hit by gas shortages.

Panuzio said he ordered the rationing, similar to the Oregon plan to begin Thursday. The system allows cars with plate numbers ending with an even digit to purchase gasoline on even-numbered days and odd numbers on odd-numbered days. For vehicles with markers ending with letters, A through L are considered odd numbered, and M through Z even numbered.

Under the Bridgport plan, all vehicles could gas up on Saturdays.

Two other communities, New Milford and Middletown, also ordered mandatory rationing.

Middletown dealers said they would try the plan for a month which includes $3 minimum purchases to stop panic buying.

Richard Daddona of Waterbury, a spokesman for the truckers, said he assured Meskill of continued non-violence in the state.

In other developments, Rep. Stewart McKinney, R-Gon., said he received word from Sun Oil Co. Tuesday it will cooperate in providing qualified service station operators additional gasoline allotments.

Bolton School May Ask To Use Refund For Storm Damage

DONNA HOLLAND Correspondent Tel. 646-0375 The selection was agreed to by the school board if it asks for funds from ice storm insurance claims to help balance the current budget.

The decision was made after a consultation between School Superintendent Raymond Allen and Dallas Dodge, insurance adjuster, about claims for damage incurred by the school board.

Allen asked the selection to support his request to the Board of Finance if it becomes necessary to use the money.

Allen noted there would be difficulty balancing the budget because of unforeseen costs in special education and increased costs due to inflation. Claims totaling $1,358.05 were submitted to the insurance company. They include the following: Jim Vietch, custodian, 60 hours overtime at $9 per hour; $440; custodial staff, 69 1/2 hours; $333.80; M&M Oil Co., labor and parts, $438.16; Andrew Ansaldi, rental of two oil heaters and kerosene, $27. The superintendent tried to include repairs to trees damaged during the storm but was told there was no insurance coverage for that.

Dodge is presently checking the school's policy concerning deductibles and will be reporting back to Allen.

Emergency Fuel Bolton's three selectmen and David Minicucci from M&M Oil Co., recently named the energy committee for the town, will assist any resident who runs out of oil and is unable to get any from his supplier because the supplier doesn't have any.

Any resident who finds himself without oil should contact the selectmen's office. The committee received a detailed summary of the new petroleum regulations issued by the federal energy office in a more easily understood form than the original copy received in January.

The energy emergency agency has established a fuel allocations unit to deal with general energy problems and the allocation of the various fuels which will be set aside each month as detailed in the regulations. The cooperation of each municipality in the state in the investigation and verification of reported cases of energy needs and hardships is vital to the proper functioning of the fuel allocations system reported the EEA.

The energy committee was invited to attend a conference for the purpose of discussing procedures that will be followed. The conference, scheduled for Feb. 13, at the State Army in Hartford, will be attended by at least one committee member.

The complaining parent said when she became suspicious because of the questions being asked by the woman claiming to have been commissioned by the Board of Education to do a survey, she asked the woman if she was selling anything and several times the woman denied that she was.

The parent told Allen that she wanted to purchase a set of encyclopedias to help in her child's education. Reportedly this same sales technique has been used in other nearby towns recently.

Principal guest speaker will be Joseph Gordon who is in charge of the state Department of Education bureau of pupil personnel and special education services. He will describe current and proposed legislation relating to increasing the involvement of exceptional children in regular classroom programming.

If you want to know the best ways to conserve gasoline when you drive, here are a few helpful hints:
Reduce your speed. On the highway, stay within the posted speed limit. Use the speed that gives you the greatest gas economy. This varies among models but usually occurs between 50 and 55 miles per hour. Gas consumption generally increases significantly above 50 m.p.h.
Drive smoothly with gentle starts and stops. Sudden bursts of speed in fast getaways and jerky lane changes require the engine to use extra gas. Plan ahead for red lights, stop signs and bogged down traffic.
Press the accelerator down only as far as is necessary to reach a normal speed. Quickly pressing it to the floor puts an excessive amount of gasoline into the engine. Build up to a higher speed before climbing hills and long grades.
Don't pump the accelerator or race the engine when your car is in motion. It wastes gasoline. Use the brake gently rather than the accelerator to hold your car in place on a hill.
When you stop the car, don't idle the engine for more than a minute. If you're waiting for someone, turn off the engine. It takes less gasoline to restart the car than it does to idle it.
You can also conserve gasoline by maintaining your car: Use the proper grade of engine oil recommended by your car manufacturer. Lubricants that are too thin may cause damage; those that are too thick require more power and that means more gasoline.
Keep your car engine tuned according to the specifications listed in your owner's manual to assure maximum gasoline mileage.

You will also conserve gasoline if you:
Form carpools and consolidate trips.
Eliminate unnecessary weight in your car. Empty the trunk and storage compartments of such things as excess tires, tools and equipment. A lighter car uses less gasoline.
Remove attachments such as bicycle racks when not in use. (This will reduce wind resistance.)
If you have more than one car in your family, use the one that consumes the least amount of gasoline whenever practical.
Travel during off-peak traffic periods whenever possible and use routes with minimum number of traffic lights and stop signs.

Ambulance Companies Face Fraud Charges In Welfare Cases

HARTFORD (UPI) — The operators of three Hartford area ambulance services have been charged with defrauding the state Welfare Department. Investigators from the department Tuesday arrested the three men for allegedly charging welfare clients excessive rates. The alleged overcharges were not immediately available.
Arrested were Harvey Kagan of the Professional Ambulance Service, based in Wethersfield, Joseph Topa of Trinity Ambulance and Richard Mesany of L and M Ambulance Service of West Hartford.
Special investigators from the state Finance and Control Division said the firms defrauded the Welfare Department of amounts ranging from $38.50 to $77 per ambulance call over a three-month period last year. A total of 25 charges of larceny was lodged against the three.
Each ambulance operator is charged with billing the state Welfare Department for calls they claim originated from the Hartford Police Department. Hartford police have denied they made the calls.
Circuit Court 14 Prosecutor Cornelius J. Shea also said officials at the welfare agency failed to verify the source of the calls before paying the bills.
A private investigator recently accused the ambulance services of causing deaths by failing to respond immediately to calls after telling customers that service would be prompt.
Rep. Edgar King, R-Farmington said he would press for an investigation into the ambulance services himself.
King said the charges were "relatively minor" compared to "other crimes being committed by some ambulance services in the area." He would not elaborate.

20 Killed, Robbed

TAPACHULA, Mexico (UPI) — A bus overturned on a highway near this extreme southern Mexico city, killing 20 passengers and injuring 14 others.
Survivors said the bus driver fell on foot then a group of bandits arrived, robbed the injured passengers and stripped the bodies of the dead of valuables and cash.
The incident occurred Sunday near Mexico's southernmost tip and near the Guatemala border.

Tuition Cut Requested For UConn

STORRS (UPI) — University of Connecticut President Glenn W. Ferguson says he is trying to get the legislature to wave tuition for 10 per cent of the UConn student population.
"This will be for those students who come from families who earn between $10,000 to $25,000 per year," he said Tuesday. These students are not poor enough to qualify for financial aid, but not wealthy enough for the tuition not to burden the family's lifestyle.

First Hartford Sales Reach $35.9 Million

First Hartford Corp. of Manchester has reported sales of $35.9 million and net income of $777,905 (31 cents per share) for the year ended Nov. 30, 1973. Sales the previous year totaled $30.0 million and net income was $337,746 (14 cents per share).
Operating income for the period ended Nov. 30 was $2,955,011, or $1.26 per share, compared with a loss of $460,659 (19 cents per share) the year earlier. The operating income figures exclude gains from sale of real estate ($338,261 in 1973 and $1,637,873 in 1972) and are totaled before depreciation on rental property ($1,646,318 in 1973 and $1,616,797 in 1972).
Net income excludes losses, net of tax, from discontinued operations of $462,139 for 1973 and $384,350 for 1972.

Neil Ellis of Manchester, president of First Hartford Corp., said the year-end figures show a "marked improvement" in sales and operating income.
Ellis said the company's fiscal year has been changed from Nov. 30 to the end of January because the firm recently acquired the Forbes & Wallace department store chain. Sales and earnings of Forbes & Wallace are included in the year-end fiscal report. For the fourth quarter ended Nov. 30, First Hartford reported sales of $9.5 million, net income of $60,659 and operating income of $1,274,974.

Fashion Tips

Embroidery does a great deal to help impart a graceful, soft mood. Look for well-placed embroidered touches on that perennial fashion favorite, the shirtdress, for spring.

Many of the spring, 1974, fashions call on borders to give them dimension. More often than not these borders are embroidered, using mini prints in florals, figuratives and geometrics.

The lingerie look, with its embroidered lace is making fashion news in camisole tops.

For glazed carrots, make a syrup of brown sugar and a little butter. Add cooked sliced carrots and glaze them in this syrup in a frying pan on top of the stove.

Place a pan of water in the bottom of the oven and when the steam begins to rise from the water, place the rolls in the oven. Let them steam from 10 to 15 minutes. Reheated this way they taste as fresh as when first baked.

When you are cutting out either thin or slippery material you can keep it from slipping and sliding on the table top by placing a table pad, felt side up on the table before you begin. This keeps the fabric where you want it and makes cutting much easier.

Woman's View

By GAY PAULEY
LPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — You're a woman who has moved into the executive suite. But you still find there are strikes against you as a boss.

There's the problem of feeling sure of yourself, of getting along with women who used to be your peers. And there's the masculine attitude, still prevalent, that refuses to accept a woman in a top job. Your secret of staying where you have arrived and whether you go on upward lies in three little words — "Lady be good."

The advice comes from Rosemary Le Boeuf, who has scaled the executive ladder and now spends about a third of her time traveling, organizing and directing seminars keyed to management education for both men and women.

Responsible
Ms. Le Boeuf is a graduate of Marygrove College in her native Detroit and did graduate work in political science at the University of Washington, Seattle.

She taught high school for a brief time, edited a union newspaper, and then joined the American Management Association — "I could look at matters from both sides," she said.

Why should I spend $20,000 to $25,000 to educate a daughter when she's going to work as a secretary?"

Women employed as managers, officials and proprietors.

But all is not sweetness and light in the executive race. Ms. Le Boeuf said there remains a masculine putdown summed up in such phrases as "She does a good job (pause) for a woman."

Or, "She thinks like a man."

Or, "She's good (said with surprise!)"

But the management expert said the situation is improving as younger men move into executive jobs. "They're not concerned about the sex," she said, "but about ability. They may have been influenced by feminist wives or daughters."

Cultural Patterns
"Or, they ask themselves, 'Why should I spend $20,000 to $25,000 to educate a daughter when she's going to work as a secretary?'"

A Masculine Putdown
The number of women in management continues to climb, helped along by federal equal employment opportunities legislation and industry and business awareness — at least in some areas — that it's the haggan talent to be judged, not the sex of its owner.

(The latest estimate from the Women's Bureau, the U.S. Department of Labor, puts at 1.2 million the number of

UConn Streak Ends In Triple Overtime

United Press International
The UConn Huskies tortuously saw their nine-game winning streak snap and four star players foul out in three overtimes, as Rhode Island landed an 80-70 victory in some nail-biting basketball Tuesday.

Lipon To Carolina

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Johnny Lipon, former Detroit Tigers' shortstop and former manager of the Cleveland Indians, was named manager of Pittsburgh's Class A Carolina League team at Salem, Va., the Pirates announced Tuesday.

Galati Signs

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — The National Football League San Diego Chargers announced Tuesday that Gary Galati, a place kicker for four years at Northern Arizona University, signed his 1974 contract Monday.

Bills Sign Butler

CEDAR FALLS, Iowa (UPI) — The Buffalo Bills of the National Football League announced that Mike Butler, who stands only 5-8 and weighs only 160 pounds, has signed his 1974 contract.

Autopsy Ordered

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — An autopsy has been ordered in the death of a suburban Lancaster teenager who collapsed while playing basketball Tuesday.

Two Agree

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — Veteran outfielder Angelo Mangual and rookie outfielder John Summers were signed Tuesday by the world champion Oakland A's of the American League.

Crow Named

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Former Heisman Trophy winner and 11-year pro running back John David Crow was named offensive coordinator of the National Football League San Diego Chargers Tuesday.

Sharks Sold

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — Dennis Murphy, president of the World Hockey Association, Tuesday said the Los Angeles Sharks had been sold to Metro-Sports Associates of Detroit.

After switching from team to team throughout the game the lead finally gave into a tie of 34 at the buzzer. In the first overtime, Joe Charles from Rhode Island made two free-throws in a one-and-one situation with five seconds left, evening off the score to 69-69.

Plunged into a second overtime, UConn's Gary Cusick had a tip with two seconds left to tie at 68 for a third overtime.

By then, Huskie top scorers Tony Hanson, Jimmy Foster and Al Chapman had fouled out. West was ousted in the third overtime.

Pro Basketball Roundup

Golden State Leads Lakers By Five Percentage Points

NEW YORK (UPI) — Golden State Tuesday night moved back into first place in the National Basketball Association Pacific Division — five percentage points over the Los Angeles Lakers — with a 129-113 romp over the Seattle SuperSonics.

Adding to the Lakers' misery and the Warriors' hopes for a title, Los Angeles star guard Jerry West pulled a groin muscle in the first quarter against Houston and sat out the rest of the game, which the Rockets won in overtime, 116-112.

Reserve guards Charles Johnson and Jim Barnett sparked the third-period rally that lifted Golden State past Seattle. Johnson brought Golden State from a 67-67 tie to a 73-71 lead in the third quarter with six straight points. The Warriors never trailed thereafter. Barnett then added six points that made it 93-81. Johnson scored 12 points in the period and Barnett 10.

The Warriors were led in scoring by Jeff Mullins '23 points and Cazzie Russell added 20. Spencer Hayward and Jim Fox had 24 each for Seattle.

First Place Important
First place in the Pacific Division is especially important since it is likely only the top club in that division will go to the playoffs.

In other NBA games, Chicago edged Boston, 100-98, Atlanta, without suspended star Pet Maravich, whipped Capital, 121-103, Milwaukee downed the Bulls, 102-87, and Detroit beat Portland, 104-102.

Crow strengthened its claim on a playoff spot with a narrow victory over Boston on Bob Weiss' jumper at the buzzer, the Bulls' ninth straight win. The Bulls called time out with two seconds left and the score tied at 98-98. Bob Love passed to Weiss, whose shot was in the air as time ran out and dropped through for the win.

Griffith Gains Decision In Defense of Crown

BOSTON (UPI) — Emile Griffith isn't ready to quit yet, not by a long shot.
But Griffith didn't get any encouragement from young Tony Licata, who took a unanimous 12-round decision and the U.S. middleweight title from him Tuesday night.

Griffith, looking fresh and alert after a grueling loss to the machine gun-fisted fighter 12 years his junior, was talking remain before reporters even entering his dressing room. "I didn't think I lost, to tell the truth, no. I like to walk with my own man," said Griffith, who admits to 36 years but looks closer to 50.

Minutes before, the two fighters had brought the sparse crowd at dingy Boston Garden to its feet in a prolonged standing ovation after slugging out the bout's final three rounds.
Licata, 22, of New Orleans, spent most of the early rounds dancing and flicking out a taton of light jabs that kept Griffith off balance and at a distance, minimizing the five-time world champ's crashing body blows.

Licata did most of his scoring with sharp left hooks which usually followed two or three jabs. The quickness of the left hand bailing out the crowd a number of times, and Griffith never seemed to notice.
He kept wading in, brushing aside the jabs and landing hard body and head punches. He failed though to put together any killing combinations.
"I beat a good man. He's a punishing puncher," said Licata while holding an ice pack to his puffed eyes following the fight. "I thought whoever made the best showing in the 12th round would win. I thought I had the best showing."

The win placed University of Rhode Island as the leader in 123-game rivalry with the Huskies. Before the game, each team had won 61 games.

In another college thriller, Colgate ended Bridgeport's four-game winning streak in double overtime with a 74-72 win.

Roger Bank's field goal and a free throw by Jamie Russell in the final minute of the second overtime period upped the Red Raiders to 11-6 for the season.

Banks, who led Colgate with 23 points, broke a 71-71 deadlock with his basket. Then Russell iced the victory with a free throw after Bridgeport's Phil Vaughan had cut the Colgate lead to 73-72 with a foul conversion.

The regulation game ended in a 58-58 tie when Bridgeport's Lee Hollerbach made a jump shot with four seconds remaining. Hollerbach paced Bridgeport, now 8-10, with 22 points and 20 rebounds.

Colgate, now 11-6, forced the contest into the second overtime when Banks made a field goal to match a pair of free throws by Bill Hayward, which had given Bridgeport a 66-64 lead.

Monroe, playing in only his 16th game because of an ankle injury, hit 9-of-12 shots in the first half, had three assists and stole the ball four times to help New York grab a 61-35 lead and put the game straight out of reach of Phoenix. Van Arsdale led all scorers with 27 points while New York was paced by Monroe's 23 and 22 each by Wall Frazier and Bill Bradley.

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar missed seven of his first eight shots but hit nine of his next 10, as Milwaukee kayeed Cleveland. Jabbar, who led all scorers with 33 points, finished with 16-of-33 and picked off 15 rebounds.

Newly acquired Dave Wohl hit six straight free throws in the closing minutes of overtime to rally Houston past Los Angeles. Wohl's performance did not outshine Gail Goodrich's 44-point effort as the Lakers played without West most of the game. Lakers Jim Price and Happy Hairston both were ejected on technicals.

George Trapp's 20-foot jumper a the buzzer gave Detroit its ninth victory in 10 games at the expense of Portland. Trapp's desperation turnaround shot came after a Blazer foul that forced the Pistons to inbound the ball with four seconds remaining. Willie Norwood led Detroit with 27 points and Dave Bing had 23. Petrie was high for Portland with 27 and Sidney Wicks had 26.

Groza 'Class' Speaker For Pro Shrine Group

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Lou Groza spoke for the entire "Class of 1974" when he said Tuesday night he was elated at being named to the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

"I would say this the top honor," said Groza, 50, of suburban Berea, who in 21 years with the Cleveland Browns became one of the dominant kickers and offensive linemen of his era.

Groza, Dick "Night Train" Lane, Tony Canadeo and Bill George will be inducted July 27 into the Hall of Fame in Canton, Ohio, preceding the annual AFC-NFC game, this year pitting St. Louis against Buffalo.

Groza said Lane, Paul George and Canadeo were "not only great athletes but great people, too" and added, "I'm very pleased to be considered in the same light as those people."

Lane, as a free agent rookie, set the league record of 14 pass interceptions and for his career ranks second only to Enos Willis with 58 interceptions for 1,207 yards. He played with the Rams, Lions and the Chicago Cardinals, was voted All-NFL four times and made six pro bowls.

Groza won All-NFL honors six times and played in nine Pro Bowl games and 13 league championship games—3 record unmatchable by any other player. His former coach, Paul Brown, said "Lou Groza represents about the ultimate in the things I've valued in a pro football player and in a man."

Lane called it "the biggest honor of my life," then added, "I think my record speaks for itself. I don't think I'm patting myself on the back when I say I know I eventually would be chosen. It was just a matter of time."

The four men took four different routes to the top: Groza as an offensive lineman and kicker, Lane as a defensive back, Canadeo as a multiple-threat offensive back and George as a middle guard and linebacker.

Car Pool Has Been Going Since 1953

Horton Crawford, center, has been operating a car pool in Tulsa, Okla., since 1953. The rules, he says, are simple...

Veteran Car Pooler Gives Formula For Success

By JERRY R. WILSON
TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — The rules in Horton Crawford's car pool are the same today as the day he started back in 1953 — be on time, pay regularly, be nice and don't ask Horton to change the radio station.

Horton Crawford, 57, an accountant for McDonnell Douglas, started his car pool 21 years ago to pay for his gas. He and from work. Since then he has had 30 members, has used six cars and has driven his passengers the equivalent of twice around the earth. "Most of my riders just don't like to drive," Crawford says. "Traffic problems more than anything else. Back in the old days traffic used to be pretty nasty around here. It never bothered me, but a lot of people didn't like to mess with it."

A Charter Member
Virginia Pleake is a charter member of Horton Crawford's car pool. She was his first passenger. She paid $2 a week then and she pays $2 a week now. And just like 21 years ago, the motto of Horton Crawford's car pool is punctuality.

According to McDonnell's timeclocks, the passengers in Horton Crawford's car pool have had only about a minute's variance in the time they punch in each morning during the time they've ridden with him. "We've only been late a couple times in 21 years," he said. "I can tell when they were. One time, I think it was March 11, 1965, we had 12 inches of snow and I couldn't get my car out of the driveway. We were about an hour late then. We're not late very often."

No Bickering Allowed
There's a waiting list for Horton Crawford's car pool. Those who drop out there is no need to seek a replacement. There's a waiting list for Horton Crawford's car pool. Those who drop out there is no need to seek a replacement. There's a waiting list for Horton Crawford's car pool. Those who drop out there is no need to seek a replacement.

That's about the only reason they ever leave," he says. "I think my $2 a week they pay me is the cheapest in town. But the others are trying to make money and I'm not. It's not a money-making proposition, and I don't expect it to be. It pays for a tank of gas a week and that's all I'm interested in."

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB
When to take vitamins

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.
DEAR DR. LAMB — It is desirable, but is it really necessary for food to accompany vitamins into the body?

I am 68 and live alone on no schedule whatever. Whenever I wake up I want coffee at once, and it would be easy to take my supplemental pills right then. But, I almost never want to eat for an hour or two. By that time I've forgotten all about vitamins.

Directions say, "During or after breakfast." I've read that food allows vitamins to be absorbed and used properly by the body. It makes sense. DEAR READER — The water-soluble vitamins will be absorbed whether or not you eat food. A major portion of the fat-soluble vitamins will be absorbed whether or not you eat food.

Family Life Budget Spurs Heated Debate, Prompts Hearing

JUDY KUEHNEL

A heated debate on whether to offer Family Life and sex education to South Windsor students has resulted in a Board of Education vote to hold a public hearing on the matter sometime this month.

However, the board first voted to accept the program and offer the public hearing as a means of "advertising what the course contains."

The program, to be offered to students in grades K-12, was one of many reviewed in what was to be a routine 1974-75 budget hearing.

The controversy snowballed when Republican William Neal motioned to table acceptance of the course, pending a public hearing on its merits.

Neal, opposing what he called "the indoctrination of my children," said he was not necessarily opposed to having anybody teach his children this program.

However, Neal said, "I regard not holding a hearing on this program as an infringement on my rights and prerogative as a parent. The people have no idea how deeply this board intends to go into this program."

What's left? Neal asked, "If you're going to instruct a child on what to expect or how to behave, what's left for a parent to teach a child?"

Democrat Marjorie Hutensky, strongly favoring the objectives of the course, said "We're living in a time of alienation... children feel very much alone."

"Kids must find they share the same problems with others, and in some cases are unique... but the kid today is very much of an island," Mrs. Hutensky said. "I find nothing positive about this curriculum. It talks of honesty, sexuality, morality, and I don't want kids living in a vacuum."

School Superintendent Robert Goldman, in supporting the merits of the course, said, "We have been teaching this particular subject all along by not teaching it, and we have let those who should not be teaching it teach others, the kids themselves. Many things we are taught are misconceptions."

Assistant Superintendent William Perry followed Goldman's remarks by charging, "I think we're back to inventing the wheel. We are one of the last communities to implement this program."

Asking why the issue "has become a pro and con topic," Democrat Donald Berghuis said, "This is not the time to discuss this... we decided years ago we would have it. Before it was a question of money, now we have a good budget and this thing has become a question at large. If the curriculum talks of premarital intercourse or homosexuality, it's in a mature way."

Mrs. Decker said the student would be made aware of the universal difference in people's lives, through this course.

Neal charged that the course could "confuse my children coming at a time when 'im teaching them my way.'"

Mrs. Hutensky said the "misunderstanding is with this board, not in the program."

It stands for the course is accepted but the public will still voice its opinion on the curriculum, as it did years earlier.

Court Cases

CIRCUIT COURT 12

East Hartford Session

The case of Albert Small, 46, of 31 Charter Oak St., Manchester, charged with first-degree rape and risk of injury to minor females, was continued to Thursday's session in Manchester.

The $5,000 bond on which Small had been held since his arrest Monday was increased to $15,000 and he is being held at the Hartford Correctional Center in lieu of the surety bond.

Rockville Session

—Daniel Ziemia, 17, of 47 Village St., Rockville, fined $35 for breach of peace (substituted for third-degree assault).

—Richard Finney, 17, of 39 Vernon St., Rockville, fined $100 for fourth-degree larceny.

—Adelina Rock, 29, of 126 Washington St., Manchester, fined $25 for following too closely (substituted for evading responsibility).

—Daniel Ziemia, 17, of 47 Village St., Rockville, fined $35 for breach of peace (substituted for third-degree assault).

The case was continued to Feb. 19 for payment.

—The case of Richard Neal, 16, of 50 Ridgewood dr., Rockville, charged with intoxication, youth offender referral.

Correction

"Tuesday's Herald contained an incorrect report of the Circuit Court 12 case of Robert C. Savlonis, 21, of 39 E. Eldridge St., wasn't prosecuted on a charge of failure to grant one-half the highway."

The Herald's report contained errors in Savlonis' age, address, charge, and disposition.

Educator Educated

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — State Sen. Rodger Randle, D-Tulsa, Tuesday sent off a nasty letter in response to a communication he received from Quapah, Okla., school teacher who had addressed him as Roger Handle.

"Dear Roger Handle," began the teacher's letter.

"It has been brought to my attention that you voted NO on the Senate Education Bill 434, 435 and 436. It amazes me how a person holding an office such as yours could do such a stupid thing."

"I sincerely hope you will change your mind, if you have one, and vote YES for these bills and vote YES for Oklahoma!"

"Dear Mr. —," Randle responded.

"Your letter addressed to Roger Handle has been forwarded to this office. There is no one here by either of these names, but we often receive letters like yours from people of low reading ability."

"Thank you for your letter of Jan. 31, 1974, in which you posed the question of how a person holding an office such as mine could do such a stupid thing if he or she votes NO on Senate Bills 434, 435 and 436. But, in fact, it is apparently you who is the stupid one, as these bills have not come up for a vote either in the Senate or any committees on which I serve."

"I entirely share your concern for higher teacher salaries, and I hope as we increase the salary level for teachers in Oklahoma that the Quapah School System will be able to raise their standards higher than they were when you were hired."

"Thank you for your interest. Sincerely,
"Senator Rodger A. Randle."

The yearly fund raising drive will begin this week. Scouts will go door-to-door to sell candy. This is the only fund-raising campaign to be held. Prizes will be given in accordance to the number of items sold.

Next month's meeting will be the Blue and Gold Banquet.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Peril At The Bank

Henrietta was waiting to cash a check at the neighborhood bank when a man in the next line began firing a pistol. One of the bullets struck her in the leg. Later, after getting more facts, she decided she was entitled to collect damages from the bank.

"It was a holdup," Henrietta explained in a court hearing, "and the man ordered the teller not to move. Instead of obeying, the teller dived down behind the counter. That is when the holdup man started to shoot. If the teller had not panicked, I would not have been injured. And a bank is legally liable for the negligent acts of its employees."

But the court turned down her claim, refusing to condemn the teller for his instinctive reaction.

"His life was in jeopardy," said the court. "He cannot be held to perfect judgment under the circumstances."

Although a bank does owe extraordinary care for the safety of your money, it owes only ordinary care for the safety of your person. If you get hurt on the bank's premises, you cannot collect damages unless you can prove negligence.

"This, in a more everyday situation, a bank was held not liable to a man who slipped on its front step. The step, although somewhat worn, was no more hazardous than one might encounter almost anywhere."

Of course, reasonable precautions must be taken. In another holdup case, a man with a bomb told bank officials he would blow the place up if they did not hand over $10,000.

They managed to stall him for almost 20 minutes. Yet, they neglected to warn an unsuspecting customer to get out of harm's way. Finally the bomb did go off, injuring the customer. In due course, a court held the bank liable. The court said even though the bank was not to blame for the bombing, it was liable to warn of giving the customer fair warning of his peril.

Social Security

Q. I am 19 years old and receiving monthly Social Security survivors benefits as a student. I am going to transfer to another college soon. Will I need to do anything to have my checks continued?

A. Yes. You should notify the Social Security office as soon as you enroll in a different school. Otherwise, your payments may stop when the first school tells you are no longer attending. Q. I get Social Security benefits because my father is retired. I'll be 22 years old about three months before I graduate from college. Will I continue to receive student benefits until I graduate?

A. Yes. If you are in the middle of a semester your benefits will continue until the end of the semester.

Q. I have a 20-year-old daughter who is studying to become a beautician. If I retire can she get monthly benefits from Social Security on my earnings record?

A. If you receive monthly Social Security benefits your daughter can also receive benefits until she reaches age 22 if she is a full-time student at a state-approved school and remains single.

Q. I'm 19 years old and get monthly Social Security payments as a student. I have been forced to drop the number of courses I'm taking to 11 credit hours. Will this cause my monthly checks to be reduced?

A. Your payments will stop. Students can get Social Security benefits only if they are in full-time attendance.

Q. Since my husband died last year, I have been receiving monthly Social Security benefits for my 18-year-old son, who will be attending junior college next year. Do his benefits stop at the end of the school year, while he is on summer vacation?

A. No. Monthly benefit checks continue for up to four months of vacation if your son was a full-time student before the vacation period started and intends to return to full time attendance when the vacation ends.

Have a question about Social Security and its retirement, survivors, disability or Medicare benefits? Write to Questions & Answers, Social Security Office, 657 Main Street, East Hartford. 06108.

Vernon Hearing Asked On Water Rate Hike

A petition, which asks the Public Utilities Commission to change the site of a hearing on a rate increase requested by the Rockville Water & Aqueduct, was circulated at the Town Council meeting Monday night.

The water company has set the hearing for March 7 at 10:30 a.m. in the State Office Building, Hartford, but has in the past, been agreeable to moving the hearings to the town concerned. Twenty-five signatures are needed to ask for the change.

According to the water company's application, the proposed rate increase would apply uniformly to all classes of customers, including public and private fire protection charges. This would mean that the town, too, would have to pay additional costs for its fire hydrants.

For the typical residential customer the increase would mean an additional $3 a quarter or from $20 to $23. A similar charge on the high surface pumped system would have the minimum charge increased from $2 to $2.45 per quarter.

The amended rate schedule would increase the water company's revenues on an annual basis of about 15 per cent or $130,431.

The company was granted a rate increase of 156 per cent in June 1970. It had asked for a 186 per cent increase to help meet the cost of opera-

Alioto's Wife 'Disappeared' Because She Was 'Ignored'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The wife of Mayor Joseph Alioto finally showed up Tuesday after "disappearing" for 15 days and confessed she did it because she felt she was being ignored and her busy politician husband of 33 years needed "a little punishment."

Mrs. Angelina Alioto, 55, appeared with Alioto — a candidate for governor — in a news conference at their home only hours after a lengthy search ended when she called home.

"I love my husband very, very much," she said, with Alioto standing quietly at her side. "But he didn't ask me when he ran for mayor and he didn't consult me about running for governor."

"It would be nice to be asked," Mrs. Alioto said she slipped away after a political rally Jan. 20 in Palm Springs and made a leisurely two-week tour of the famous California mission under an assumed name. She said she didn't tell her husband and others because they "needed a little punishment."

Alioto kept the disappearance secret but as his anxiety grew he began canceling official appointments and hired off-duty police detectives to search Palm Springs. Then he requested a five-state missing person bulletin be issued as far as Texas. Finally, on Monday, he announced the disappearance to the public.

When Mrs. Alioto heard the announcement on the radio, she called home from nearby Santa Cruz to report she was safe and explained her disappearance. Then she came home.

"Our marriage always has been very happy and successful in personal arrangements," she said, "but as far as politics is concerned I sometimes feel that we are cornerstones, a place to hang one's hat. No one likes to be used."

"That was part of my anguish. I wanted to be wanted for myself."

The final blow came, she said, at the Palm Springs rally for her husband's Democratic candidacy for the statehouse. Mrs. Alioto, their son and a daughter-in-law were present.

Resolution Lauds Judi Genovesi

A resolution introduced by Councilman Thomas Wolff and passed by the Vernon Town Council Monday night cites Judi Genovesi of Vernon for her champion performances in dance ice skating.

Miss Genovesi will compete in the National Figure Skating championship in Providence, R.I. Thursday through Sunday of this week.

The resolution recognizes her championship performance in winning the New England Gold Dance championship with her partner, Kent Weigle, and going on to win the Eastern Gold Dance championship.

In passing the resolution, the council and Mayor Frank McCoy, "Speak for all the people of the Town of Vernon," in congratulating Miss Genovesi.

The resolution also states that the council and the mayor, "Take great pride in acknowledging the excellence of Judi, and the honors in the figure skating world that she brings to herself and to her community along with best wishes for the National Championship.

Judi is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Genovesi of Dockereel Rd., and her partner is from West Hartford.

Exams for Police Made Mandatory

An ordinance, requiring that a psychiatric examination be a requirement of employment by the Vernon Police Department was approved Monday by the Town Council and will go to public hearing on March 4.

While this has been the practice of the Vernon Police Department, for the past year, Mayor Frank McCoy explained there have been some problems in departments in other states with some applicants objecting to this regulation.

The mayor explained that the examination will take the examination out of the realm of union contract negotiations and make it mandatory.

Police Chief Edmund Dwyer, who retired last month, made the recommendation concerning the ordinance some time ago.

The public hearing will be held at 7:30 p.m. at the Administration Building. At the same time there will be a public hearing asking for an appropriation for preliminary work concerned with a new housing project for the elderly.

Glenn Gets Sewer Contract

Mayor Frank J. McCoy has authorized by the Vernon Town Council to sign a contract with Glenn Construction Co. of Manchester for another of the town's sewer installation projects.

The Manchester firm was apparent low bidder with $165,211 on the alternate bidding. The apparent low bidder on the bid was Marek Construction Co. of Southington.

The installation is for sewer lines on Talcottville Rd. (Rt. 83) from Allen Dr. south to Dobson Rd.

The prime need at that time was a line from the then Middle School on Rt. 30 and that was completed before the school opened.

Other installations completed were a trunk sewer along the railroad right-of-way, along with the Merline Rd. area, Talcottville, and the Skinner Rd. installation now under way, plus several scattered areas included in the priority list was expansion of the sewage treatment plant. This program is still in the preliminary stages.

Sales Tax Major Source Of Revenue

HARTFORD (UPI) — More than a third of the revenue needed to finance Gov. Thomas J. Meskill's $1.32 billion budget comes from the sales tax.

The governor, who plans to cut the present 6.5 per cent tax to 6 per cent, estimated the levy will yield $458.9 million dollars, or 34.7 per cent of the total.

Killian Will Address Kiwanis Club Feb. 19

Robert K. Killian, Connecticut attorney general and a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, will speak in Manchester Feb. 19. He will address the Kiwanis Club of Manchester at its noon luncheon meeting at the Manchester Country Club.

Mancheater. Killian's appearance was Jan. 3 before the Democratic Town Committee.

Attorney general since 1967, Killian is chairman of the Gasoline Anti-Trust Investigative Subcommittee of the National Association of Attorneys General.

Killian and his wife, the former Evelyn Farnam, both are Hartford natives and still reside there. They have two children — Robert K. Killian Jr., an attorney, and Cynthia E. Killian, a student at Northwest Catholic High School.

Killian was Hartford's corporation counsel from 1961 to 1964, campaign treasurer for Abraham Ribicoff in 1964-1966, and chairman of Hartford's Democratic Town Committee from 1963 to 1967.

About Town

Trinity Lutheran Church will have a prayer meeting tonight at 7. The Rev. Norman Swensen, pastor, will conduct a Bible study at 7:30 at the church.

Robert K. Killian

Killian is one of four candidates for the Democratic nomination. The others are former UConn president Homer Babidge, U.S. Rep. Ella Grasso and former Norwalk Mayor Frank Zullo. All four already have spoken in

The Women's Club of Manchester is sponsoring a show bus to New York March 2 for the matinee performance of "Lorelei," starring Carol Chagny. More information may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Alden Grant, 599 N. Main St., 642-9563.

Dental Health Puppets

Getting the center of attention are Susie Tooth and Willie Tooth, two puppets being held by Dr. Howard Koff who is the local chairman for National Children's Dental Health Week. In charge of the puppets is Mrs. Diana Mott representing the Junior Women's League who will sponsor puppet performances of "The Tooth" to be shown to students in kindergarten through third grade in all Manchester schools and libraries beginning March 1. Bay State To Initiate Voluntary Gas Rationing

BOSTON (UPI)—Gov. Francis W. Sargent announced Tuesday that a voluntary system of gasoline distribution will go into effect in Massachusetts on Monday.

Adoption of the system, modeled after a similar distribution scheme used in Oregon, makes Massachusetts the third state in the nation to apply restraints to the purchase of gasoline.

The plan calls for: —Cars with odd-numbered license plates to be able to buy gasoline on odd-number days. Cars with even-numbered plates will be able to purchase gasoline on even-number days.

—Emergency and commercial vehicles will be allowed to purchase gasoline every day.

—No driver will be able to purchase gasoline unless the vehicle's tank can receive a minimum purchase of $5.

—Stations will be requested to display color-coded flags to indicate whether gasoline is available for consumers.

In announcing the plan, Sargent said, "I act today because Massachusetts can wait no longer. A shortage in gasoline now threatens to disrupt the mobility of our citizens."

Inconvenience has disintegrated into chaos with long and intolerable lines extending hundreds of yards, with waits as long as an hour and a half.

Sargent said that twice as many service stations in Massachusetts have had to reduce their hours of operation as in the rest of the country. He said in Massachusetts four times as many stations have closed due to a lack of gasoline.

According to Sargent, overall inventories of gasoline in the state are more than twice as short as inventories in the nation as a whole.

"Even the federal government admits that shortages here are worse than in the rest of the nation," Sargent said.

"Yet instead of helping with more gasoline, the federal government tells us to go it alone."

He added, "Automobiles carrying people to and from work, trucks, taxis, ambulances and emergency vehicles face a daily uncertainty in their ability to function."

The governor vowed that "Massachusetts will not become a dumping ground for the nation's shortages. We will not accept reduced supplies so that other states can continue as if nothing is wrong."

"Massachusetts will do its part, but Washington, too, must accept its responsibilities," the governor added. "I will leave for Washington tonight to make this clear to federal officials."

In addition to Oregon and Massachusetts, a controlled gasoline distribution system also is in effect in Hawaii. The Hawaii plan, unlike those in Oregon and Massachusetts, is mandatory.

One condition of the Massachusetts plan is to have automobiles with license plates ending in letters — so-called "vanity" plates — buy gasoline on odd-numbered days.

Walsh Asks Area Effort For Bigger School Grant

MONICA SHEA
Correspondent

Chairmen of Boards of Educations from surrounding towns have been invited to an informal meeting in Coventry tonight to discuss the possibility of an appeal to the General Assembly for a substantial increase in the state's grants for operation of schools.

The invitation was issued by Robert Walsh, chairman of the Coventry Board of Education. Walsh invited the board chairman of Andover, Ashford, Bolton, Columbia, Tolland, and Willington to the meeting at the high school.

Noting that in smaller towns "tightly controlled, minimal budgets cannot accommodate unpredictable price increases," Walsh said that "skyrocketing costs make it virtually impos-ible to either cope with expenses or project fiscal needs for next year's budget."

As an example, Walsh cited the fact that despite the Coventry school board's "efforts at energy conservation the upward spiraling of fuel costs will leave us with a $10,000 deficit in our budget even if we cut consumption by one fifth."

Walsh argued that, "this kind of economic pressure cannot continue as a burden to local taxpayers. The state government can and must come to the assistance of local Board of Education," he said.

He said that his informed that the state planned an increase of about $20 per year, per pupil in the DM grant.

"I am not appalled that we should be offered such a pittance in the face of our financial woes," Walsh said.

"I am convinced that any legislative body with a genuine concern for the welfare and education of our children will allocate a more realistic AMX appropriation."

DevCo Meeting
The Coventry Citizens Advisory Committee will meet tonight at the DevCo Planning Center on Rt. 44A at 7:30 p.m.

There will be a planning progress report by the DevCo staff.

Teachers Hired
The board of education has hired two teachers to fill vacancies at the high school.

Patricia Pesce has been hired as the Home Economics teacher. She graduated from UConn in January 1973 with a B.S. in Home Economics Education.

Carolyn Drescher has been hired as an English teacher. She graduated from Hofstra University, Hempstead, N.Y. in 1965 with a B.A. in English. She received six credits from the University of North Carolina and ten credits from the University of Utah.

Agree With Steele
At their monthly meeting the Young Republicans passed a resolution commending Cong. Robert Steele on his position regarding the pressures to take a stand on the impeachment question without a full hearing of all the facts.

The club agreed with Steele that the fundamental justice of the United States requires that there be a full hearing of all the facts before a decision is made. It is the feeling of club members that the process of law will be carried out and that it would be improper for Steele to take any position before all the facts are before the American public.

Rec Budget Meetings
Tonight's meeting of the Recreation Commission and the meeting on Feb. 19 will be budget meetings.

Any organization or person requesting funds for new or existing programs should plan to attend one of these meetings. Meetings will be held at the Town Hall on Rt. 31 at 7:30 p.m.

Lincoln Day Dinner
The Lincoln Day Dinner Committee headed by John Drage, has announced that it has received acceptances from Sen. Lowell Welcker Jr., State Comptroller Nathan Agostinelli, State Sen. David Odgers and State Rep. Jesse Brainard to attend the Lincoln Day Dinner.

The dinner is sponsored by the Republican Town Committee and will be held Saturday from 6 p.m. at St. Mary's Church Hall on Rt. 31. Tickets may be purchased from John Drage, 429-4978.

Dr. Herbert Sheathelm, director of Educational Resources and Development Center at the University of Connecticut in Storrs, has been retained as a consultant for the new community in Coventry by the Greater Hartford Community Development Corp. according to project manager Richard North.

He will develop proposals for elementary and secondary education, including the staging and utilization of school building for the new community.

Other educational consultants preparing proposals for the new community are Frank Self, a specialist in early childhood education, and Dr. Patrick Proctor, a specialist in post-secondary education.

The three consultants are working closely with the Coventry Citizens Advisory Committee.

A specialist in educational administration, facilities, finance, and reorganization, Dr. Sheathelm has published studies and planned educational programs for many Connecticut cities and towns.

In the last two years he has published recommendations for Wethersfield, educational studies and complete educational plans for Waterbury and Wallingford.

He is a member of the School of the Month selection committee of National Schools, and has served as a special advisory to the Governor's Task Force on Education.
