Today's Thought

George Bernard Shaw once said, "I don't want to have to live with George Bernard Shaw forever."

I don't blame some people for not wanting to live with themselves forever. They are poor companions to themselves now; a lot of people hate themselves, and to have to hate yourself forever is no joke.

But suppose you have a self with whom you can get along, and even enjoy, for it is a self that is integrated, coordinated, harmonized — a self you can respect and love in God — then that's different. With such a self death seems unbelievably impossible — it knows it is deathless, inherently so.

Best Actor
Veteran actor Jack Lemmon holds his Oscar after being named best actor at the 46th annual Academy Awards last night for his role in "Save the Tiger." (UPI photo)

'The Sting' Wins Seven Oscars

By VERNON SCOTT HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — "The Sting," which opened last year to mixed reviews, won seven Academy Awards, including Best Picture of 1973, Tuesday night. Glenda Jackson and Jack Lemmon won the top acting prizes.

The annual Oscars presentation show in the Music Center was interrupted briefly by a male stalker, who ran mad across the stage in view of millions watching television, just before Elizabeth Taylor announced the best picture award.

Lemmon, who portrayed a guile-ridden businessman in "Save the Tiger," became the first actor to win Oscars for both best actor and best supporting actor. He won best supporting actor in 1956 for "Mr. Roberts." Helen Hayes holds both awards for actresses.

Miss Jackson picked up her second Oscar for a comedy performance in "A Touch of Class," in which she portrayed a worldly London divorcee who had an affair with a married American.

"The Exorcist," a box office smash about demonic possession, had been a favorite, but it took only two awards — for sound and screenplay from another medium.

Ten-year-old Tatum O'Neal, who played a guileful con girl in "Paper Moon," was named best supporting actress and John Houseman, the intellectually demanding law school professor of "The Paper Chase," was named best supporting actor.

"The Sting," starring Paul Newman and Robert Redford, marked the first time Universal Pictures had won the Academy Award for best picture since "All Quiet on the Western Front" in 1930.

"The Sting," with Paul Newman and Robert Redford as a pair of con men in the Depression, avenging a friend's murder by fleecing a rich gangster out of a fortune, took the Oscars for best picture, director (George Roy Hill, original score and adaptation (Marvin Hamlisch), original screenplay (David S. Ward), costuming (Edith Head), film editing (William Reynolds) and art direction (Henry Bumstead) and set decorator, James Payne).

Hamlisch was hailed as the second biggest winner, taking three Oscars in one night, believed to be an unprecedented feat. He won for all three musical categories, sharing "best song" honors with lyricists Alan and Marilyn Bergman for "The Way We Were," and taking the best original score award for the same song, in addition to his Oscar for "The Sting" theme.

"Day for Night," a French movie about making a movie, won the best foreign film Oscar. Lemmon, who won the best supporting actor award in 1956 for "Mr. Roberts," had been nominated four times for the best actor award before winning it Tuesday night.

Election Holiday Best Solution

The U.S. Senate, in the course of its current debate on campaign reform, has adopted an amendment which would delay the release of election results in the earlier time zones until the polls close in the West.

The argument is that with computers able to project the outcome of elections on the basis of a selective sampling of early returns, this trend could influence voting in those time zones where polls are still open.

Until the advent of instant electronic communication and computers, time zone differences were no problem.

The real reason, however, is not that a trend would influence the vote. The fact of the matter is, that once the votes are in East of the Mississippi, presidential contests are virtually wrapped up in most elections. With the exception of California's big block of electoral votes, the combined vote in the other states could rarely change the outcome and this discourages voter turnout.

If presidents were elected on the basis of popular votes, which is a reform being proposed by many, the need for a delay in releasing eastern results would have more validity.

A much simpler answer, and one which would be readily adaptable to any future changes in the electoral college system, would be to make the national election a legal holiday, eliminating the need for the extra-long polling time now required because most voters are working. By doing this the polling time could be limited to eight hours with a uniform closing time, based on the time differential, Pacific time zone closing could be eight p.m., Mountain 7 p.m., Central 6 p.m., and Eastern 5 p.m. EST.

We fear the concept of holding up earlier returns until polls close on the West Coast could be an invitation to leaks and difficult to police since the methods of voting and state laws governing tabulation procedures are so varied.

A bonus feature of an Election Day holiday would be elimination of the biggest excuse many of us now have for not voting — work.

Anti-Busing Bill

An educational bill with a strong anti-busing amendment is moving through the House of Representatives, with a good chance of passing. The amendment has the endorsement of President Nixon and closely resembles his Equal Education Opportunities Act of 1972 which after passing the House died in a Senate filibuster.

In direct contrast the city of Denver is moving toward a strong busing program, almost mandated last June by a decision of the U.S. Supreme Court in the case of Keyes vs. the City of Denver.

The Nixon supported bill would make busing an impossibility, unless children were bused to the school nearest their homes. In most cases this would not achieve the racial integration desired by minority group leaders.

The Denver case is somewhat peculiar in that the Colorado city has a population of only 10 per cent blacks, 53 per cent whites and 27 per cent Mexican-Americans.

In Denver the U.S. District Court judge has been avidly pursuing the goal of busing and the concept of de jure segregation has been broadened.

His ruling implies that if one school in a city is segregated, de jure, then the whole city's education plant must be considered as segregated.

Compared to some other cities, Denver has almost a theoretical problem of segregation. It has been our observation, however, that minority leaders, with only a token problem, press for radical remedies, which have been invoked in other areas with problems of much greater magnitude.

The original Supreme Court decision in 1954 outlawed the maintenance of "separate, but equal" educational facilities which existed by law, or de jure.

In a series of decisions which seem more sociological than legal the courts moved to end segregation by pact as well as a segregation by law. Neighborhood schools attended by a great number of minority pupils were evaluated as segregated, even though there was no legal suasion. Residency created a situation which was frowned upon by minority leaders.

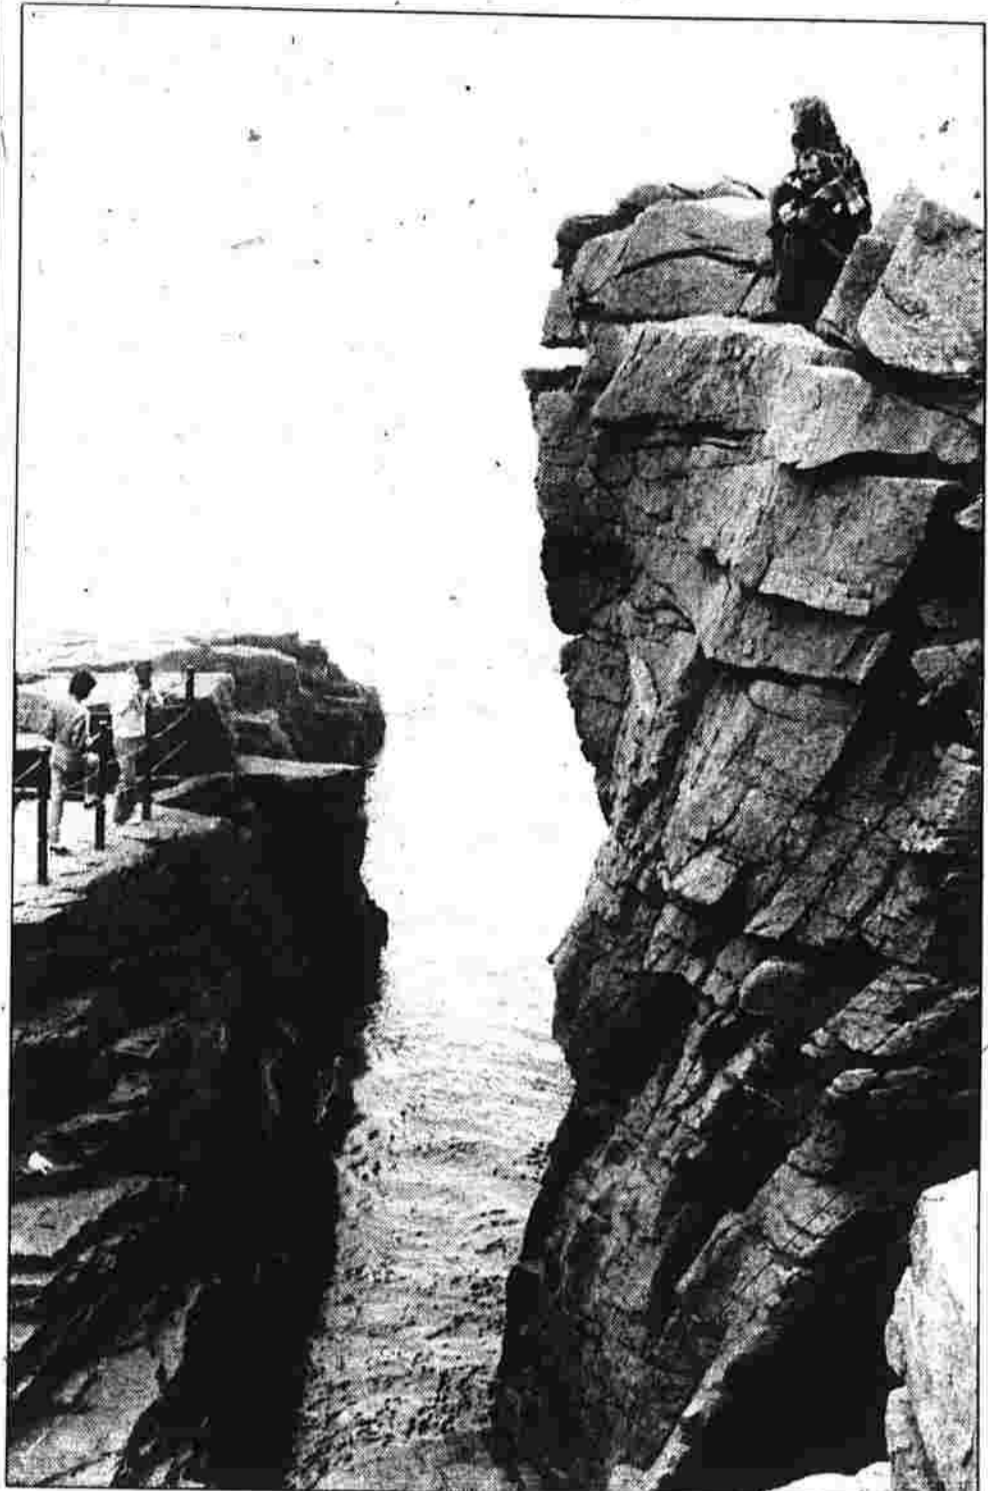

Denver is known as one of the most "open" cities in the United States in that housing can be secured in any area by any one who can pay for it. It is not a matter of racial discrimination, but of economic means.

With the drive for forced integration through busing, the courts have gone so far as to cross municipal lines into countries to try to mix the races. This was true in Richmond, Va., where the schools were ordered to enter into busing with neighboring Henrico County.

One of America's favorite educational ideals, the neighborhood school, has suffered greatly through the busing program. Children of a neighborhood were often picked up en masse by a bus and transported across town to achieve racial mixture. We doubt if it achieved anything educationally.

We think the bill now in the House desirable. Busing is anathema to most whites and to many minorities, we suspect, even though it seems in great favor with professional minority leaders.

Busing may achieve minority racial goals but we are sure it does little for education or school systems.

The Two Johns

NEW YORK — Let's forget the charges for the moment and focus on the people. We are usually so intent on the constitutional and moral aspects of the Watergate corruptions that we forget the human aspects. Here with a walk on the human side, to reflect on the two Johns — Mitchell and Dean — who are the stars of the current John Mitchell-Maurice Stans trial. Obviously nothing said here is meant as commentary on the theme of guilt or innocence, which is off bounds so I limit myself to some thoughts on the many of human wishes.

During the devastating course of his testimony, John Dean didn't look at where John Mitchell sat at the defense table. How should he, when there was a glacial ocean of hurt separating them? Once they had been close, the older man the molder, the younger the clay. Dean had been Mitchell's creation. Mitchell named him, and placed him as his man to watch over the bleak mountain passes of the White House dominated by H. R. (Bob) Haldeman and John Ehrlichman.

Supports Glasman

To the editor: South Windsor is indeed fortunate to have two energetic and dedicated persons seeking the Democratic nomination for U.S. representative this year with the fine records of public servitude of Mrs. Cecile Decker, currently chairman of the Board of Education, and former Mayor Abraham Glasman, a six-year member of the South Windsor Town Council, the candidate choice is a difficult one.

However, I will support the nomination of Abe Glasman for this reason: It was during Mayor Glasman's reign that all Town Council workshop sessions (those little, behind Foster Street). I urge all Democrats to take advantage of being in on the very beginning of the political election process this year by attending the caucus and voting for candidates of their choice.

Sincerely, Barbara Varrick 206 Farmstead Drive South Windsor

Hi Neighbor

Burl Lyons, Publisher

Our Town Board of Directors is facing some critical and perhaps difficult decisions in regard to improvements in downtown Manchester.

Such projects as the Purnell Pl. walkway, the parklet next to the S&H Green Stamps Store, and the proposed creation of parking on the St. James Church property, are going to cost money.

Some of the citizenry, and perhaps even some of the directors, have second thoughts about making improvements to property which is private and not owned by the town.

On the other hand, the improvements are pretty vital if the town is to halt downtown's diminishing tax base. Also, a lot of folks aren't aware that there is a downtown taxing district with a levy of eight mills and the new budget calls for 12 mills. If the 12 mills are adopted, they would raise in the neighborhood of $63,000, not nearly enough to cover the major improvements unless they compressed a long-range program.

If the charter permits it, the long-range program would be the best approach.

Interested in going into business? Sitting around the table the other night, a fellow commented Manchester doesn't have a single establishment in which you can get your shoes shined.

We got this call awhile back: If the town is going to have trash barrels downtown they ought to make some attempt to see that they are emptied often. Nothing is worse than a barrel of debris overflowing onto the sidewalk.

That sounds like a reasonable request. It isn't the first time we've had that complaint either.

Just out is the new map of Connecticut and it is well done with some sparkling four-color photographs. We have noticed that maps of just Connecticut are tough to come by in gasoline stations.

You can get one free by writing the Department of Transportation, P.O. Drawer A, Wethersfield 06092.

For the first time, the map was printed on 100 per cent recycled paper.

One tip from the Department of Motor Vehicles puzzles us though: Remember, one in every 50 drivers on the road is drunk.

That's a pretty grim statistic and would make a lot of folks want to stay home instead of hit the highway.

Dealers of American cars might not find it totally heartening, but a Newspaper Advertising Bureau, Inc., survey reveals that young people still have a preference for U.S. built automobiles.

Those absurdity of it rolled into one: He had been rough, tough John. Nixon's ship into port — the strong man of the first Cabinet, the scourge of liberals and other perverted and delish types, the man who controlled the whole vast machinery of criminal justice. And he ends up at the bar of justice, with the same machinery marshaled against him.

Which is what is meant by the impersonal rule of law and not of men — a principle that will outlast both Johns, and all the other petty men who now crowd our horizons.

I leave further reflections on both men — the older wasted bulk of a man, the younger one holding his world together by a tight, sharp control — until the trial is over. But what a commentary on our time that we avoid seeing them in human terms. Oh, we adopt a kind of high non-Fortranian about the whole Watergate business, massaging our own sense of virtue. But we remain moralists rather than moralists.

Think of what Camus would do with these men, or the old 17th-century French moralists in our own Fitzgerald, at Gatsby's desolately unattended funeral, with Owl-Eyes standing in the rain, uttering the single withering epitaph — "the poor son-of-a-b—" — embracing all one the condemnation we cannot help feeling and the compassion we cannot begrudge.

Illing Project Aids Workshop

The students at Illing Junior High School are again conducting a campaign to supply the Manchester Sheltered Workshop with used wire coat hangers. The workshop sorts, counts and packages the material for distribution.

The project this year has been planned by the ninth grade vocational work experience program as a planned civic action work experience.

All of the students at the school participate by donating extra coat hangers found around their homes. The student Council also plays an active role in supporting the project by motivating all the students to participate.

Mrs. Ruth Kahn, Illing Junior High School social worker, arranged for Richard Jackson, a former director of school social workers in Bloomfield and president of the University of Connecticut social work alumni, to speak at the school's staff meeting recently.

Jackson has a vast background in the communication area, working with children and adults in a fast-changing world.

Among his credits, he served as special consultant to the U.S. Department of Justice on Student Unrest, consultant on corporate social responsibility to the president of the Hartford Insurance Co., consultant to Regional Learning Center.

It does seem that the regular academic program at Illing, a special interest program is also available to all students. The special interests of Illing's students are considered and a variety of non-academic mini-courses are offered to all students.

These include chess club, football shooting, copper enameling, photography, rocket club, and various other activities, cooking, industrial arts, modern dance, and music courses, to name only a few of the more than 50 possibilities.

Parents were invited to attend this special event.

Illing Junior High School has always tried to present assembly programs of interest and educational value to the tire student body. This year, however, Illing teacher are trying to organize and implement mini-assemblies for each of a specific group of students covering a specific topic when they have need of an outside resource person can provide.

Last week, just such an assembly was scheduled. The students of interdisciplinary teams 7C are currently studying the manufacturing of glass products. Many students expressed interest in the tremendous range of scientific, economic, industrial and consumer elements related to the making of glass.

One of the students indicated to the team's science teacher that his father, Richard Fairbanks, was affiliated with the Embark Corp. and was available to speak to the group on precisely this topic.

Arrangements were made and Fairbanks presented an interesting program dealing with all aspects of glass manufacturing including such topics as mining of raw materials, manufacturing procedures, recycling, types of products, career possibilities and several other related areas.

Fairbanks showed a film and extra coat hangers found around their homes. The student Council also plays an active role in supporting the project by motivating all the students to participate.

Assisting Fairbanks in the presentation were Harry Keefe and George Illig, also from Emhart.

In addition to the regular academic program at Illing, a special interest program is also available to all students. The special interests of Illing's students are considered and a variety of non-academic mini-courses are offered to all students.

clubing passing of a state-written final exam, results in receiving a boating safety certificate issued by the State of Connecticut Boating Commission.

The course is a rigorous and extensive one. Garopolo has long been affiliated with the Manchester Power Squadron and has taught its advanced piloting course. The Manchester Power Squadron is a local unit of the national organization which has been dedicated to boating safety for many years. The Power Squadron is a non-profit organization which is equivalent to the Civil Air Patrol and regularly performs vital functions related to sea and fresh water operation of all types of vessels.

Illing's students in the meantime are being instructed in the vital areas of boating and water safety. Some of the specific topics included in this course are registration and equipment requirements, piloting and navigational aids, preventive maintenance and passenger safety, weather and waves, emergency action first aid, water skiing and scuba diving regulations, boating laws, hull design and several more.

It is Garopolo's hope that proper instruction in these areas and knowledge of fundamental safety and emergency procedures will insure the Illing students presently taking the course of a lifetime of enjoyable water recreation.

Many deaths and needless destruction of property has occurred because of lack of properly trained and educated in the use of their vessels on lakes and oceans.

The State of Connecticut provides the books and tapes and tests, but Garopolo supplies the interest and expertise necessary to make this an unusually significant and worthwhile course.

As spring and summer approach parents traditionally become uneasy because of the lure of water activities. All parents urge their children to be cautious and very careful when they are near water.

Garopolo has recognized this concern and also a need in educating our youngsters, especially when boats and their potential danger are concerned.

Following the guidelines of the State of Connecticut Department of Environmental Protection, Illing offers a course in boating safety which, when successfully completed, interested in continuing their education after high school and who need money to help pay their way, may have the opportunity to receive a Basic Grant up to approximately $800 during the 1974-75 academic year.

Manchester High School has recently received the 1974-75 application forms for the Basic Educational Opportunity Grants which are available to students upon request.

Upon completion of the application form, and eligibility for a grant is determined, the notification is sent to the school of the student's choice. The school will calculate the amount of the Basic Grant and will attempt to put together a package of additional grant, loan, and work assistance funds to meet the individual's financial needs.

The Basic Educational Opportunity Grant Program makes funds available to eligible students attending approved colleges, community/junior colleges, vocational schools, technical institutes, hospital schools of nursing, and other post-high school institutions.

In academic year 1974-75, a student may apply for a Basic Grant if entering an approved post-secondary educational institution for the first time after April 1, 1973, and is enrolling on a full-time basis.

For further information about Basic Grants and other student financial aid programs, contact Miss Anne Beechler, director of guidance at the high school, or the financial aid officer at the college or school selected for enrollment.

AYH Announces Bike Schedule

The American Youth Hostels, Inc. has announced its Sunday bicycle ride schedule for April. All rides will start at the Mary Cheney Library at 10 a.m. rain or shine. The first ride is scheduled for Sunday, and no ride is slated for Easter Sunday. Free bike inspections will be provided prior to the rides by Jack McVeigh of the Bike Shop, Sprague St.

We fit these Stride Rites as if our own kids were going to wear them. Stride Rites are built to fit. And our professional fitters are trained to make doubly sure they do. Stride Rite. The most trusted name in children's shoes.

Round-The-Clock Police Patrols Authorized

MONICA SHEA Correspondent 742-9495

The Town Council Monday authorized Chief of Police Robert Kjelquist to run his department on a 24-hour basis for the remainder of the fiscal year at a cost not to exceed $32,358. The council had requested that the chief submit two plans of operation for the remainder of the fiscal year. One was at the cost of $6,000 per month and the other at $9,100 per month for salaries and operational expenses. The first proposal at $6,000 would not have provided 24-hour coverage and no police patrol from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. It also would have eliminated response to business alarms in these hours. There would not have been adequate policing of any marine patrol. The chief was authorized to operate at the higher monthly cost which would provide for all of those services plus the loan of one officer on special assignment to the Capitol Region Crime Squad since Oct. 25.

Hebron

Resigns From Commission

NANCY DRINKUTH Correspondent Tel. 229-3970

Members of the Conservation Commission accepted, with regret, the resignation of Sue Dickerson at their recent meeting. Mrs. Dickerson said in a letter to the commission that she is no longer a resident of Hebron. Town Picnic: A tentative date of June 12 was chosen for the annual Town Picnic at Grayville Falls, the town-owned recreation area on Grayville Rd. The date must also be approved by the Recreation Commission since it is co-sponsoring the event. Burritt Donation: The Martha Crow Phelps Branch of the Burritt Mutual Savings Bank will donate seven flowering crab apple trees to the town. The trees will be planted on April 26 at 1 p.m. in the island in the center of Hebron. The planting of these trees will complete the town beautification program for Hebron center which was begun some years ago by a committee and was taken over by the Conservation Commission. Rid Litter Day: It was announced that the Hebron Lions Club has agreed to take over the Rid Litter Day program begun by the ecology group. The club has not yet set a date for this event. Arbor Day: The 1974 Arbor Day programs will be held May 11 at both elementary schools. Conservation Commission member J. Stewart Stockwell will contact local nurseries to request a tree to plant at each school. Other Business: Members of the commission approved a budget request of $3,200. They would like to have $200 for general operating expenses and $3,000 for land acquisition and development. Copies of a paper titled "Tree Repair Tips For Homeowners" were presented to the commission. The paper, which gives advice about pruning, cabling, tree removal, lime tree care and fertilization, is available at the Town Office Building.

A motion was made that this officer be brought back to town and to require that the chief receive council approval before loaning any other men to the squad. This motion was defeated. The council will meet with the Town Manager Allen Sandberg and the chief in executive session to discuss this matter further. The chief is to report to the council at its next meeting and explain the Collect System being used by the department, its cost per year to date, information received from the system, alternatives to the system and the time factors involved. The council appropriated $4,000 to the police budget to cover expenditures to the end of April. The chief reported that there had been a decrease in burglary, assault, larceny and auto theft this year, but that vandalism was on the increase. Decrees Vandalism: A resident of North Coventry reported that his letter box and paper tubes had been vandalized on March 25 and that the posts had been broken off and the box and tubes smashed with a rock, which he brought to the council meeting. He said that this was the sixth time he had been vandalized and wondered where the destruction would stop. He said that when he contacted the town hall to discuss the vandalism the town manager advised him to hire a post office box. He said that when he asked for increased police patrols the town manager asked if he wanted a police state. The resident has contacted the postmaster who has agreed to forward his complaint to postal authorities. The resident has contacted the federal law destruction of mail boxes is punishable by a $1,000 fine or imprisonment of not more than three years. He said that the vandals follows a pattern of striking on Saturdays nights between 10 p.m. and 1 a.m. and is believed that more than one person was involved. Members of the Historical Society reported that the Red

Brick School House had been cleaned out and painted, and that as soon as the weather permits, work on the restoration of the foundations would begin. To protect the building from vandals, 2-inch planking shutters and door have been installed. The society wishes to restore the inside of the building to a school room and to use most of the building as a museum geared to school children. The society asked the town for release of $500 dollars of the matching funds that the council had previously authorized. This matter was referred to the finance committee which will report back to the council at its next meeting on practical payment of these funds. The council formally referred the track-soccer complex, cost alternate 2, to cost $12,117 to the Planning and Zoning Commission. Action on the setting a town meeting was tabled to the next council meeting to give the PZC a chance to respond and to wait the ruling of the town attorney as to whether the PZC could decide on the track on a financial basis. The council has set April 29 as the date for a special budget

Trident to Take Part In Study

NORTH KINGSTOWN, R.I. (UPI) — The University of Rhode Island research vessel, Trident, is to participate in an international ocean study this summer in an attempt to discover how hurricanes form on the Atlantic equator. Dr. John A. Kasas, URI Marine Affairs Provost, said the Trident will be supported by a $168,100 grant from the National Science Foundation in joining 30 ships, 12 aircraft, and up to 100 land stations in monitoring ocean currents and atmospheric activity simultaneously. The June 15 through Sept. 30 study is part of the long range global atmospheric research program testing the theory that sea-heated air currents combine with changing undersea currents to form hurricanes.

Comment Session

Carl Zinsler, whose turn it was Tuesday to man a Board of Directors comment session, reports four persons appeared, three men and a woman. He said he received two complaints and two suggestions. The woman complained of potholes on Keesey St. One of the men complained of storm water flowing onto the sidewalk in front of his home - near Friendly's on Main St. He blamed the condition on the state, on the basis the curbing was lost when the roadway was built up with new pavement. A second man suggested the state substitute a steel beam for the fence on S. Main St., where it crosses Globe Hollow Reservoir. The third man requested restoration of the funds cut from the school budget by Town Manager Robert Weiss.

Trip Planned to Mystic

DONNA HOLLAND

The Parent Teacher Organization (PTO) is planning a trip to the Mystic Marine-life Aquarium May 4.

Students in kindergarten through Grade 8 may take part in this trip. Signed permission slips must be returned to the school with the appropriate amount of trip money on or before April 22.

The afternoon will include an interesting tour of Connecticut's new marine aquarium as well as a dolphin and sea lion demonstration.

Tickets are $1.50 per student on a first come first served basis. There are a limited number of tickets available and reservations must be made early.

The $1.50 includes admission to the aquarium and part of the bus fare. The additional cost of transportation will be paid by PTO.

Buses will leave Bolton Elementary School promptly at noon and return to the school approximately 5 p.m. Five chaperones will be provided per bus.

The Bolton Junior Woman's Club awarded five prizes in two categories: the effect of pollution on the environment, and conserving natural resources.

Judges were Donald Summers, soil conservationist for Tolland County, and Timothy Dodge, biologist for the State of Connecticut.

The awards were given by Mrs. Carol Lorenzini, BWC conservation committee chair. Each award was a $6 gift certificate from either Whitman's Nursery or Woodland Gardens towards the purchase of a bush or small tree.

Certificates were awarded to Sarah Nicholson, kindergarten, Paul Richardson, Grades 1 and 2, Jennifer Roberts, Grades 3 and 4, Anthony Troisi, Grades 5 and 4, Erin Bakanas, Grades 7 and 8.

Test Results

DONNA HOLLAND

The Iowa tests of Basic Skills (ITBS) was administered to students in Grades 3 through 7 in October under a revised testing program adopted by the Board of Education.

The test form administered this year is a revised form which takes into account social and educational changes and cannot be validly compared to last year's test results.

John Flek, director of guidance-psychologist, in a report he prepared, states, "My personal observations are that all grade levels performed satisfactorily and achieved composite percentile scores above average."

Parents have been sent copies of the test results for their children as well as an explanatory pamphlet. Any parents having questions regarding their child's test performance is encouraged to contact the child's homeroom teacher.

Teachers received the test results and an item analysis for their homeroom group. The item analysis will indicate to teachers the strengths and weakness of their group performance in test areas.

Raymond Allen, superintendent, hopes that by next year an item analysis for each child will be provided which should be helpful to teachers to individualize children's programs and parents who wish to give some assistance to their children at home.

Allen said that in the areas of vocabulary and reading, composite scores showed in both percentile ranks and in grade equivalent scores that apparently Bolton is doing a good job in these two areas.

In Flek's report he notes the following: vocabulary, Grades 3-7, significantly above average; reading, Grades 3-7, significantly above average; spelling, all grade levels above average except for Grade 4 which was average and Grade 6 which was below average; capitalization, Grade 3 slightly below average, Grade 4 average, Grades 5-7 above average.

Also punctuation, Grade 4, significantly below average, all other grade levels were above average; usage, all grade levels above average; total language skills, Grade 4, overall average level, Grades 3, 5, 6, 7 above average; maps, Grade 6 below average, Grade 4 average; Grades 3, 5, 7 above average; graphs, Grade 5 average, all other grades above average.

Also references, Grade 4 is in contrast to the above-average performance for all other grade level.

Math concepts showed all grades above average except Grade 4 which was average. Math problems showed Grade 4 below average in solving, Grade 7 average and Grades 3, 5, 6 average. Total math performance showed Grade 4 slightly below average, Grade 7 slightly above average and Grades 3, 5, 6 above average.

Consumers Courted By Dealers

WEST WARWICK, R.I. (UPI) - Rising consumer skepticism and dwindling big car sales have spurred a new coalition of Rhode Island dealers, enforcement agencies and consumer groups to speed action on motorist complaints.

Under a new program, a Rhode Island car buyer unable to resolve a repair or warranty dispute with his dealer will be given the "instant ear" of the Better Business Bureau (BBB) and the Governor's Consumer Council and finally the Auto Dealers Licensing Commission.

"Even if one consumer has a problem involving an auto purchase and cannot get it resolved, it can be bad for all business," Thomas A. Lamb, president of the State Auto Dealers Association said.

"In recent months," Lamb added "there has been an increasing amount of criticism directed against automobile dealers."

Lamb, whose own Lamb Motor Co. here has experienced an "almost 80 per cent drop in big car sales," said the dealers association is participating in the program to "set the record straight" in efforts to "rebuild public confidence in the automotive industry."

About 1,000 complaints received from among 100,000 new car buyers during the past year have been quietly tested through the program in which the BBB and consumer council take an intermediary role to resolve consumer-dealer disputes.

Although neither agency has legal enforcement powers, consumers who fail to get a satisfactory settlement can appeal their cause to the State Auto Dealers Licensing Commission responsible for issuing and regulating dealer mechanic's licenses under the program.

And according to Norma Goldberg, director of the Consumer Affairs Division of the State Attorney General's Office, any questions of fraud or violations of the state's anti-deception laws are referred to her office for final appeal.

"We believe the system will work... and has worked," Lamb said, noting that both foreign and domestic car dealers were subscribing to the new cooperative program.

"America's love affair with the automobile may have ended," he said, "but we want to insure the consumer still stays friendly with his local car dealer."

Now We know What Took The Waiter So Long
PEORIA, Ill. (UPI) - Labor and management at the Palace Buffet have finally reached an agreement to end their strike - after 14 years and four months.

Settlement was announced Monday by Michael Learned on behalf of Local 327 of the Hotel, Motel, Cafeteria and Restaurant employees Union.

Details of the settlement were not disclosed. The strike involved wages and nonunion help who worked during the walkout.

Food Stamp Allotment To Increase July 1

WASHINGTON (UPI) - To offset inflated grocery prices, the government has ordered a 5.6 per cent increase in food stamp allotments for four-person families effective July 1, bringing them to $150 a month.

The increase will push stamp allotments nearly 30 per cent above the rate in effect at the end of 1973 and will raise the estimated cost of the stamp program for the year starting July 1 by about $30 million.

Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz said the coupon allotment for a four-member family - set at $116 a month last July 1 and raised to $142 monthly effective last Jan. 1 - will increase another $8 July 1 because Congress ordered stamp benefits re-set twice a year instead of the annual adjustment system used until last summer.

Gymnastics Exhibition Planned

Rehearsing hand stands are, left to right, Sheila Foley, Patti Curtis, Holly Brennan and Jo Ann Enderlin while Meg McGrath, center, goes into a back handspring. The girls are among 42 members of the junior varsity and varsity gymnastic teams at St. James School who, with three alumnae, will participate in the annual Gymnastics Exhibition Thursday and Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the school gymnasium. Under the direction of Robert Pandolfi, the school's athletic director, the girls will demonstrate the concept of a "gymnastic family." They will portray the growth obtained through the mutual sharing and involvement of students in a common effort. (Herald photo by Pinto)

News for Senior Citizens

by Wally Fortin

Hi there! We've got some news for you.
Tomorrow, Thursday, we have a double-header for our Fun-Day for you. First of all we will have our very talented and much traveled Sunshiners. This group has been entertaining in convalescent homes, and many other places, and doing a super job in bringing a ray of sunshine and enjoyment wherever they entertain. After all that we will take a trip to California via colored slides with yours truly as the co-pilot.
By the way, we started serving our meals here at the Center at a lower price this week, and so why not plan on having your hot meal with us for 75 cents, and then be on hand for our big afternoon.
Setback Results
Let's see, the action here started on Friday when we had a nice turnout for our kitchen social in the morning, and then in the afternoon we had 18 tables for setback with the following lucky winners:
Betty Jesanis, 131; Tom Murphy, 121; Mary Naskowski, 127; Esther Anderson and Joe Kehoe, 126; Alice Fraser, 125; Hans Fredrickson, Marjorie Reed, Ann Fisher, and John Gally, 122; Joseph Windsor, and Marjorie McLain, 119; Ann Lehmann, and Cis Wilson, 118; Elmer Swanson, 117; Michael DeSimone, Helen Erickson, 116; and Grace Windsor, 115.
Pinochle Winners
On Monday we had 82 players for our morning kitchen social, and after lunch we had another fine turnout of 64 players for our pinochle games, and these are the winners with the highest scores:
Emma Russell, 714; Wilford Messier, 713; Andy Noske, 696; Claire Rann, 679; Grace Windsor, 677; Betty Jesanis, 673; Marjorie McLain, 658; John Gottschalk, 657; Cis Wilson, 655; George Schroll, 654; Michael DeSimone, 651; Marie Hebenstreit, and William McSweeney, 643; Robina Carroll, 638; Sam Schors, 636; Mabel Wilson, 635, and Robert Schubert, 627.
Golf Meeting
I hope you are reading this column sort of early, especially you golfers, because tonight at 7 o'clock we are holding a meeting to organize our golf league, and also to show a movie on the 1973 Masters.
Golf weather is just around the corner, and last year we had 21 members in our league, and we hope to get many more this year. Last season we played our games on Monday mornings and traveled to two golf courses. So why not plan on being with us tonight?
Trip Flyer
Another reminder that within the next ten days we hope to have flyers sent out to all 5,686 members telling them about an exciting trip. I'm sure it will sound pretty good to you as a good place to relax and let the rest of the world go by.
By the way, as soon as we get the flyers, I'll be needing help in addressing them. So when we're ready we'll be counting on you to take some home like you did for us one other time.
Over this past weekend we were saddened to hear that two of our members passed away, Mrs. Theresa Greeley and Mr. Louigi Pota. We send our most heartfelt condolences to their families.
Our sick list finds that Cecile Carroll, Robert Ahern and Ernestine Donnelly are still patients at Manchester Memorial Hospital and are coming along just fine, and are in fine spirits. Our good friend Martha Mansfield is headed back to the Meadows Convalescent Home, and Lyla Steele is now recuperating at her home at 26 Lenox St.
Equipment Needed
In talking with Frank and Nancy Latucca, our diner club chefs, they tell me we could use some stainless steel bowls, plastic storage containers, metal canister sets, baking pans, dishes, pots and pans. Now we mention this because sometimes set aside, or given away particularly when people are moving. So if you have something like this, and are wondering where to dispose of it, drop it off at our Center. Thanks a bunch ahead of time.

Unregistered Purses Can Land You In the Hoosegow

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UPI)—You could go to jail for a year in Illinois for carrying an unregistered purse—it happens to be made of alligator skin. Illinois conservation officers are now enforcing a new Illinois "Endangered Species Act," which requires persons who own or sell animals or animal byproducts from a long list of endangered breeds to register with the state or face fines up to $1,000 and a year in prison. The list of creatures threatened by extinction includes alligators, leopards, cheetahs, panthers, cougars, gray wolves, red wolves, polar bears, kit foxes and green turtles. "Animal products" refers to such things as teeth, fur, claws, hides, feathers, "the body or any portion thereof." The Illinois General Assembly passed the law and former Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie signed it in 1972. But enforcement was delayed until Monday while conservation officials geared up for the strange task of monitoring the buying and selling of animal products. "We are concerned mostly with the large scale commercial importers," William O. Brey, chief of law enforcement for the Department of Conservation, said. "But individuals who own such things as alligator purses or rare hunting trophies must also register with the state." Brey said although conservation officers are now under orders to make arrests for violations of the law, "We will proceed very carefully until people get a chance to catch on to what is happening." Since April of last year, the department's division on wildlife resources has issued some 1,100 permits to people who reported they own furs, purses, shoes, souvenirs and other objects derived from rare animals. A few fur retailers have also applied for permission to sell what furs they have in stock.

There's A Shortage of Good Heads

CHICAGO (UPI) — In case you hadn't noticed, there's a shortage of good heads. The king you hang over the fireplace.
That's why Jim Kosi was so eager to acquire the collection of R.J. Chamberlain of Kankakee, Ill. Chamberlain had 77 animal heads, the prizes of 48 years of big game hunting all over the world, including the North Pole.
"It was a beautiful collection," Kosi said in his taxpayer's office. "You just can't get heads like these any more, except from private parties. I bought them for business purposes, and it looks like I made a good move — I've sold about half of the lot."
"Some of them were sold before I got them out of Kankakee," Kosi said. "I'm in contact with people who want heads, so I simply telephoned them and told them what I had and the sale was closed right then."
"There were some especially beautiful deer heads. My customers appreciated their beauty, but some people wouldn't know one deer head from another. What do they do with the heads?"
"Oh, they hang them up. A lot of people like to have a nice set of antlers on the wall. Maybe collection there was this year. He must have been 14 feet tall.

Pageant Draws 10 Contestants

Susan D. Anderson Barbara J. Arnott Donnamarie Blanchard

It will be a night of beauty Saturday, when 10 area young women vie for the coveted title "Miss America 1974." The event will begin at 8 p.m. in the Bailey Auditorium at Manchester High School.

Competition in the pageant, which is a preliminary to the Miss America Pageant with the winner advancing to the Miss Connecticut Pageant, will include swimsuit, evening gown and talent categories.

Taking their place in the spotlight with the seven other contestants will be Susan Dale Anderson of Windsor, Barbara Jean Arnott of South Windsor, and Donnamarie Blanchard of Manchester.

Miss Anderson, 17, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Anderson of Windsor. She will graduate from Windsor High School in June and plans on attending Bryant College in Providence, R.I. A member of the Sage Allen Teen Board, she will play the piano for her talent.

High School, Miss Arnott, who is 19, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Arnott of South Windsor. She is presently working full time at K-Mart in Manchester. She would like to further her education at either a modeling or a hairdressing school. Her talent will be a modern dance.

Miss Blanchard is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Blanchard of Manchester. She is 19 and a student at Manchester Community College having graduated from East Catholic High School in 1972. She will perform an interpretive dance for her talent presentation.

Representatives from approximately 20 other preliminary pageants from across the state have been invited and will be introduced during the pageant. These other local queens will form a portion of the competition for the Miss Connecticut crown along with the new Miss Manchester.

Tickets for the Jaycee sponsored pageant are available at Watkins, Butterfield's, Manchester State Bank, Senior Citizens Center, or at the door.

Recreation Department

The psychology class offered by the Manchester Recreation Department at 110 Cedar St. will run for three weeks in April on Mondays and Fridays from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m. The classes will be taught by the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. George Webb. There will be no classes in May. Classes will resume in June for three weeks.

Those interested in taking this class which offers 24 hours of lectures in psychology in preparation for the College Level Equivalency Program (CLEP) test or for personal enrichment, may call the Rec department at 643-8795 to register. Cost will be $12 for the series.

Those planning on taking the test for college credit are reminded that this course is only a preparation. Additional study and outside reading is essential. For more information on the CLEP tests contact Manchester Community College.

College Note

Marian Humphrey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Humphrey of 22 Knighton St., has been elected to the Student Government Association of Saint Joseph College, West Hartford. A member of the sophomore class, she will serve as president of the Association for 1974-75. She plans to take her major program in sociology at the West Hartford College.

Educator Has Work Published

Norman Fendell, supervisor of special education classes for the Manchester Public Schools, has had some of his writings published in "Mental Retardation and Physical Disability," a book published by Charles C. Thomas of Springfield, Ill. Fendell's contribution is entitled "Team Work Experience for the Mentally Retarded."

The book is edited by Richard E. Hardy, Ed.D., chairman of the Rehabilitation Counseling at Virginia Commonwealth University (VCU) at Richmond; and John G. Call, Ph.D., director of the Regional Counselor Training Program, Department of Rehabilitation Counseling at VCU at Fishersville.

"Mental Retardation and Physical Disability" offers general information of use in counseling in both specific and general settings. It presents the various principles concerning specific problems of mentally retarded and physically handicapped children and adults.

Fendell is also director of the Manchester Sheltered Workshop.

10th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Packard celebrated their 10th wedding anniversary Feb. 29. The couple was married Feb. 29, 1964 at St. James Church in Manchester. Since they were married on leap year day they had no anniversary date this year but celebrated it just the same. The couple observed the occasion by renewing their marriage vows at a small California Indian mission. The ceremony was followed by a small party.

Mr. and Mrs. Packard moved to California six years ago. They lived for five years in the Santa Barbara-Gojeta area, then moved to Desert Hot Springs last year. They both attended Manchester grade schools and are graduates of Manchester High School. Mrs. Packard is the former Anne Marie Infante, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R.D. Infante of Autumn St. Mr. Packard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J.L. Packard of Durant St.

Mrs. Packard recently won nine awards at the Indo Date Festival in Indo, Calif. She took two first prizes in knitting and five second prizes in various other crafts. Her husband also won a crafts award.

Among the physicians accepted as provisional members is Luis V. Nosed Jr.

Ambulance Misuse Charged

HARTFORD (UPI) - A legislator asserted Tuesday ambulance companies have taken welfare recipients to hospitals for treatment of mosquito bites at $40 a trip. The firms made money also on hospital runs for chapped lips, constipation and headaches, according to Rep. Edgar King, R-Farmington.

He has been the moving force behind a lawmakers' burgeoning inquiry which has been marked by the arrests on welfare fraud charges of three ambulance company presidents.

They were charged with sending phony bills to the Welfare Department. His commissioner, Nicholas Nixon, appeared before a legislative subcommittee making the inquiries, and conceded controls need tightening.

He said he knew nothing of King's allegations involving the ambulance trips to the hospital for the seemingly minor discomforts, but was aware some frivolous claims were paid.

Factors that led to the alleged abuses by the ambulance companies, King said, were a lack of community medical services and physicians willing to make house calls in the inner city.

Harvey Kagan, the owner of an ambulance company in Hartford, has testified that Christmas gifts of steaks and whisky were mere "thank yous" and not meant to influence business.

The Welfare Department's director of medical services, James F. Morrison, admitted Tuesday under questioning he had received two Christmas-gift packages of Nebraska steaks from Kagan, confirming a UPI report of a month ago.

Columbia Schools Adopt Employment Policy

VIRGINIA CARLSON Correspondent

The school board has adopted an equal opportunity employment policy and an equal educational opportunity policy. The recently adopted policies also provided a staff health insurance program, health examinations for professional employees and covered regulations between the town and the fire department.

The equal opportunity employment policy states that no person will be denied employment, re-employment or advancement on the basis of sex, marital status, race, color, creed or national origin. It states that minimum and retirement age standards will be defined either by the state or by policies of the local school board.

The policy on equal educational opportunities is to serve as a guide for the board in making decisions relating to and execution of fire drills, housekeeping, building safety and the rescheduling of events involving large numbers of students and adults on school premises.

A policy on staff health insurance states the board will provide hospital, medical and major-medical-group life insurance for full time employees and eligible dependents.

A policy on health examinations for professional employees states that a pre-employment physical examination, including a blood pressure test, chest x-ray and urinalysis is required of all school personnel.

The chest x-ray is required annually and the physical examination every three years. Implementation of the staff health policies will be supervised by the school nurse under the direction of the school physician.

The policy also states the consent of and cooperation with fire authorities will be encouraged in matters of planning

Most Favored Nation Trade Status Sought For Chinese Republic

WASHINGTON (UPI) -

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said Tuesday he will introduce legislation granting China "most favored nation" trade status. He said it would build on President Nixon's "outstanding achievement" of restoring relations with China.

Granting China such status would put it on equal footing with all of America's trading partners in the West.

"It is time, I believe, to grant most-favored-nation treatment to the People's Republic of China (PRC) and to do so on a single-country basis," Mansfield said in a Senate speech.

"It would be good policy and good sense for this country to follow up on President Nixon's initiative in opening up and normalizing our relations with China by going one step further, by bringing into existence a most-favored-nation treaty between our two countries," he said.

"I advocate such a move. I will support such a move and, in doing so, I think it will establish a policy which will redound to the benefit of both nations."

Mansfield, who has made several visits to China, advocated such a move in a March 15 speech at Johns Hopkins University, Tuesday, however, he said he would introduce a bill "in the next several days" to accomplish the goal.

He said he was prompted by the spurt in trade that has followed Nixon's overtures to China.

Mansfield said Chinese-American trade has jumped from zero to $750 million in the last two years and may well reach $1 billion this year. Further, he said, American exports to China have exceeded imports by about 10 to 1 and played a "very important part" in contributing more than one-third to the United States' favorable trade balance last year.

Currently, the United States extends most favored nation status to all Western nations with which it trades. The coveted position now is denied all Communist nations except Poland and Yugoslavia.

Legislation is pending in the Senate to authorize a most favored nation treaty with the Soviet Union, but is embroiled in bitter controversy over Soviet policy toward Jews wishing to emigrate.

Maine Solons To Get Pay Increase

AUGUSTA, Maine (UPI) -

Gov. Kenneth M. Curtis has signed into a law a bill giving Maine legislators an increase in their two-year salary from $3,500 to $6,000 over the next two terms.

The measure was approved by the lawmakers before they adjourned their special session last week.

Also signed into law by the governor was a measure to place a moratorium on the issuance of lobster licenses in Maine from May 15 until next December. The purpose of the moratorium is to give a federal court time to rule on the constitutionality of the state's three-year residency requirement for licenses.

Also becoming law was a measure that will give unwed fathers an opportunity to adopt their children. The legislature had approved the measure in an effort to comply with recent federal rulings in the field.

Glaucoma Treatment Device

An ocular delivery system, used in the treatment of glaucoma, is being inserted into the eye of a clinical patient in Los Angeles. The device developed by a Los Angeles firm uses a reservoir of pilocarpine, the drug normally used to control intra-ocular pressure in the treatment of glaucoma. The drug is encapsulated by a semi-permeable membrane through which it permeates at a precisely predetermined rate and delivers the drug at a specified rate for an entire week as opposed to the eye-drop therapy. Escargot
Champion
Has Style

HOUSTON (UPI) — Showing more style and speed than 30 rivals, Rex Miller demonstrated the eloquence, grace and goodness of dining on escargot recently by eating 112 Moroccan snails in 15 minutes.

"You are tops in style," said chief judge Eric Worschch of Houston's Petroleum Club. Miller won a case of Chateau LaRite Rothschild 1969 valued at $50, but the real victory was civic rather than gastronomic.

"Our main goal was to keep Tulsa (Okla.) and Dallas from winning the match," the 36-year-old businessman said. "I do like escargot, but I just eat them once a year, here."

Contest coordinator Maudeen Marks explained the affair this way: "The committee wishes to stress that it is the elegance and grace, the good manner and efficiency, the technique and authority displayed in consuming the escargot that elicit the most favor with the judges."

And with that the group, variously outfitted in Superman costumes, ties and tails, a Red Baron uniform, and overalls, bow ties and white gloves, poised over checked red and white tablecloths and waited for the command.

"Blessed are the stomach footed, for they shall inherit the sauce," intoned Mrs. Marks, who recited the credo penned by a Dallas columnist.

"The snails are in a dormant stage and have to be awakened and checked for liveliness before being prepared for the table," Mrs. Marks said. "They are placed in a warm, moist atmosphere. They soon awaken and begin to crawl about."

"Only the most energetic and alert are selected for the pot," Gary Howell of Tulsa, the 1974 Oklahoma champion, finished second with 69 snails eaten, but earned highest accolades from the judges for his grace in the sticky affair.

Dr. Sheldon Weinstein of Dallas, who claimed to hold the Dallas record for eating tortillas, and a team named "Los Caracoles Calientes" finished third eating a total of 199 snails together.

The gluttony award went to a woman, Niky Bove, who devoured 124.

Vida Blue Cheers Up Manager Dark With Above Par Mound Showing

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Oakland A's open defense of their baseball world championship Thursday against the Texas Rangers, and maybe Vida Blue finally has given new Manager Al Dark something to be cheerful about. It hasn't been much of a spring for the champions, who have won only eight and lost 15 exhibition games. And that was a sort of tumultuous winter during which the A's didn't know who their manager was going to be.

Insurance Move

CHICAGO (UPI) - The Chicago Bears have purchased insurance should middle linebacker Dick Butkus be unable to play in 1974.

The Bears signed their No. 1 draft pick, Raymond Bryant of Tennessee State, the player they put so high in the draft in the expectation that he would replace the great Butkus and his damaged knee.

Terms of Bryant's contract were not disclosed, but there was no doubt the multi-year agreement called for a six figure sum.

"Hey, Wop, wanna coach?" said Martin.

Blanchard Succeeds Kleis As Cheney Basketball Coach

By Earl Yost

After serving a dozen seasons as varsity basketball coach at Cheney Tech, John Kleis has turned over the reins to Gerry Blanchard. John Kleis is the second local schoolboy coach to turn in his resignation in recent weeks. Jim Moriarty earlier announced he would give up coaching the varsity cagers at Manchester High.

Blanchard is in the Guidance Department at Prince and will take over a similar post here in September, Garafalo said.

Blanchard is married and the couple has two sons. They reside at 39 Ashworth St.

"It was a good experience," Kleis said. "I'm sorry that I couldn't fulfill what was expected of the program." He will remain as head of the Drafting Department.

"It was really a rewarding experience, although I had more ups than downs," Kleis recalled. Only once, in 1968-69, did Tech compile a better than .500 record.

For several years, Kleis has wanted to spend more time with his family. This was one of the reasons he decided to turn the reins over to a new man.

"Most important to me during my coaching career was to teach good sportsmanship and character," Kleis said. "Gerry is an excellent choice and a big plus for the future of basketball at Cheney Tech."

Lack of personnel and gifted talent have been the biggest factors in the past two decades, or since the sports program was revived at the school after World War II. Last season the cagers showed much promise and the future is considerably brighter with several fine looking young players scheduled to return.

Offers Pouring In For 714th Homer

BUCYRUS, Ohio (UPI) - A ticket stub from the Dempsey-Carpenter fight, 48 Civil War era books and a baseball autographed by former major league catcher Mickey Cochrane are just a few of the items offered a Bucyrus sports fan in trade for the 714th home run ball.

Aaron is expected to launch his bid to tie and surpass Babe Ruth's career home run record of 714 when he bats in the seventh inning of the Cincinnati Thursday.

The Bucyrus sports fan, who wishes to remain anonymous, offered $10,000 for the first ball Aaron flouts over the fence this season, said his attorney, James W. Fry II.

Two Georgia businessmen have offered $11,111 for the ball, and a group from Puerto Rico has bid $15,000.

Aaron Will Play Thursday Because He's Good Soldier

By MILTON RICHMAN

CINCINNATI (UPI) - Hank Aaron will play here tomorrow. He will play here tomorrow and again Saturday, before everything else, he is a good soldier and does what he is told.

Hank Aaron hasn't changed much in the 20 years he has been in the majors. He never was one to rock the boat when he didn't have home run No. 1, and apart from aiming a little needle now and then at Bowie Kuhn, he never rocks the boat now with 713.

Hank Aaron simply is a good guy. Need proof?

Great idea. Five months ago, the Atlanta Braves got this great idea that it would be a wonderful thing if Hank Aaron broke Babe Ruth's all-time home run record at home, in Atlanta, because it would help them at the gate so much, it could easily be the difference between a winning and losing year money-wise.

So the Braves decided Aaron wouldn't start these three opening games here. All he'd do is pinch hit or maybe play a few innings, and in that way he could save himself, or rather the Braves could save him, for their long 11-game home stand immediately following the Atlanta series with Cincinnati.

There was an added bonus in all this. By playing it this way, the suspense would still be there, and think of the ratings when the Braves played the Dodgers on April 8, that's this coming Monday, and NBC televised its first Monday Night Game of the season from Atlanta.

All this was explained to Hank Aaron, although he knew it better than the Braves' brass already.

The Braves told him everything would work out better this way, better for the Braves, that is, that this had to make the fans in Atlanta especially happy, and Hank Aaron, being the good soldier he is, said okay.

Champs Crowned In Elks Shootout

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) - Buffalo Bills running back O.J. Simpson, the National Football League's all-time rushing champion, Thursday was voted the Athlete of the Year in the Gillette Cavalcade of Champions.

The annual hallooing also named Billy Jean King as the best professional tennis player of the year. Simpson, also named the best professional football player, and Miss King during a television special hosted by Bob Hope.

Other winners picked by readers of TV Guide Magazine, which prints the cavalcade ballots each January, were:

Reggie Jackson, Oakland A's, Best professional baseball player.

Jack Nicklaus, Best professional golfer.

Bill Walton, UCLA, Best college basketball player.

Money was the big factor for Stabler. His contract is said to be worth about $500,000 for three years. But Stabler, a native of Foley, Ala., was also interested in returning to his home state, where he starred for the University of Alabama.

Businessmen's Basketball League Champions. Winner by virtue of a playoff triumph over Honda was the Army & Navy Club entry in the Rec Businessmen Basketball League. Squad members, rear, Bob Carlson, John Driscoll, Charles Wynn, Tom Conran, Norm Hohensthal, Jay Kurlowicz, Front, Joe Masolini, Norm Burke, Al Brown, Jim Menditto, Mike Shealy. The Vets and Honda each finished regular play with 12-2 won-lost records.

World Football League Gets Name Quarterback

NEW YORK (UPI) - The World Football League has its first "name" quarterback in Kenny Stabler and is going for another, Craig Morton.

Stabler, who led the Oakland Raiders to the AFC Western Division title last season, signed Tuesday to play for his home-state Birmingham Americans in 1974. He is committed to the Raiders for the next two seasons.

Dallas Cowboy wide receiver Otto Sture said that he and quarterback, Morlon, are currently negotiating a package deal with the Americans.

Stable said, "It all stems from which way we can make the most money."

Money was the big factor for Stabler. His contract is said to be worth about $500,000 for three years. But Stabler, a native of Foley, Ala., was also interested in returning to his home state, where he starred for the University of Alabama.

Knicks in Playoff Trouble

NEW YORK (UPI) - All of a sudden the defending champion New York Knicks are in trouble in the National Basketball Association playoffs.

The Capital Bullets provided the stunner in Tuesday night playoff action by beating the Knicks, 87-79, in New York to take a 2-1 lead in games with the home court in Landover, Md., for the fourth game on Friday.

It's the first time the Bullets have led the Knicks in a playoff round since 1971-72 when they also had a 2-1 lead after the three games. The Knicks won the next three games then, but on that occasion the Bullets' first two wins were on their home court.

In other playoff games Tuesday night, the Los Angeles Lakers, who dropped two games to the Milwaukee Bucks in Milwaukee, returned home and squeaked out a 98-96 win to keep their hopes alive and the Buffalo Braves beat the Boston Celtics, 118-105, in Buffalo, N. Y., to even that series at 1-1.

The strange thing about the Bullets' victory was that the Knicks pulled away from the first team.

"I thought they (the subs) had gone about as far as they could go," Holzman explained later.

Kevin Porter led the Bullets with 22 points and Walt Frazier led the Knicks, whose 79 points was the lowest they've had in a game since 1971-72.

Policeman Nabs Robbery Suspect

PLAINVILLE (UPI) — A bank robbery suspect scaled a backyard fence like a gazelle, but a huffing and puffing 200-pound cop just slammed right through them and snared his quarry. Police Officer David Cartier Tuesday found the suspect, 18, of Plainville, on the floor of a car parked in the driveway of a home about two blocks from the East Street branch of the Plainville Trust Co. The police said a young man armed with a knife at 10:15 a.m. made the tellers give him $4,000 in two bags, which he put into a bigger one. He then told two customers to hand over their valuables. The alarm was sounded at police headquarters, a couple of blocks away, and Cartier spotted a suspect running from the rear of the bank. The chase went through backyards. The suspect sailed over two fences with Cartier trailing. The cop crashed through the fences bodily, finally cornering the suspect hiding in a car. Eight other policemen brought up the rear. Brown was charged with first degree robbery and held in lieu of $20,000 surety for an arraignment April 8.

Rape Evidence Change Sought

HARTFORD (UPI) — The corroborative evidence rule in rape cases is "patently unfair and morally wrong" and should be eliminated, according to Rep. Winthrop S. Smith, R-Milford. Connecticut law now requires proof beyond the accused's word alone on every element of the crime of rape, including the suspect and actual penetration. "It seems strange that in almost any other crime corroboration is not required, but if a woman is raped, she is in essence a witness," Smith said Tuesday. Superior Court Judge Robert I. Berdon, in a decision last month in a rape case, criticized the corroboration requirement on grounds it tends to discount a woman's testimony. "What this law says in effect is that a woman's word is not good, that she is a liar," he said. Legal historians trace the corroboration rule to the years of early lawmakers that men in public life they are easy

'Lady Godiva' To Protest Zoning Board

ASHFORD (UPI) — The horses were saddled, but the lady Godiva and her sponsor, Tom Supina Jr., 68, were bareback. Supina and the long-tressed beauty whose name he would not disclose previewed Tuesday the protest of the Ashford Planning and Zoning Commission. A former Democratic member of the Connecticut legislature from Ashford in the 1940s, Supina claims the commission acted illegally. And when illegally hovers, Tom takes action. In 1946, he slept in the State Capitol for 13 nights to dramatize the need for constitutional safeguards in the World War II veterans' bonus. The horses used to practice for the coming event came from a stable in nearby Coventry, which was the name of the English town the original Lady Godiva made her historic streak, protesting high taxes.

Richardson Views Elis Striking

NEW HAVEN (UPI) While he may be considered a proper enough Bostonian, former Attorney General Elliot T. Richardson hasn't reacted to the University-style striking as if it should be banned in Boston. "I hardly raised anyone's present interest," Richardson said early Tuesday after witnessing lively Elis bouncing in the buff around midnight. "There was nothing sexual about it. The students seemed to be having a lot of fun," he said. A graduate of Harvard Law School, Richardson was at Yale for a lunch and speeches, interviews and discussions as a Chubb Fellow. Richardson and former University of Connecticut President Homer D. Babbidge, now a master at Yale, were urged by students to attend the rumored late night streak. The attended thinly disguised, Richardson wearing a wide-brimmed hat and holding a brandy snifter, "but it didn't work," Richardson said. "Students ran by waving 'Hi Elliot,'" he said.

Speed Limit Violation Arrests Up

HARTFORD (UPI) — Nearly 1,200 more motorists were arrested for speeding in March than in February, as state police put to use 12 new radar speed detection devices. There were 1,232 radar speeding arrests from March 1 through March 25 compared to 75 arrests in February, State Police Commissioner Cleveland B. Fuesenich said Tuesday. The average rate of speed for many motorists may have increased due to the recent increased availability of gasoline, Fuesenich said. Troopers will continue to strictly enforce the posted speed laws throughout Connecticut, he said.

Unhappy With Ref Valencia, Spain

Soccer referee Pedro Escobar had to leave a semi-professional game under police protection after local fans protested that he had helped the visitors to a 2-1 victory. When his car stopped for a red light several miles from the field, some of those fans caught up with him, broke a window and beat him up.

Hebron Most at Hearing Oppose Leary Purchase

NANCY DRINKUTH

Only about 30 people attended the public hearing to discuss the report of the Town Office Building Addition Study Committee Tuesday night. First Selectman Aaron Reid, a member of the committee, read the report which contains the recommendation that the town build an addition to the present Town Office Building.

Following the presentation of the report Reid told of the opportunity to purchase the Leary Transport property in Amston. He said that he had considered this building for a town garage because the town will soon outgrow the present facilities. However, the suggestion had been made that a part of the Leary building could be used for office space.

The Leary property is a four-story building of approximately 7,000 square feet. Reid termed it a "basically good shell" and told the group that it was being offered for sale at $69,000.

As a garage facility, the building could be used in its present condition. However, to be used as office space it would require extensive and expensive renovation work. The Leary building is about three miles from the Town Office Building.

Committee member Emory Taylor stated his opinion that the town needs both the Leary building and the proposed addition to the Town Office Building. He also said that he would recommend the housing of an armory should be built at the site of the present town garage at the land fill area.

Hebron Teachers To Discuss Learning Problems

NANCY DRINKUTH

The Cross County Chapter for Children with Perceptual Learning Disabilities will meet tonight at 7:30 in the Rham Library.

Area elementary resource teachers will be the guest speakers. Their topic will be "What We Are Doing for the Child With Learning Problems in Your School."

There will be a 10-minute presentation by each teacher. During the presentation there will be an opportunity to submit written questions which will be answered by the meeting speakers. The meeting will be held at the Rham Library, 228-9471.

All persons concerned with children who have learning problems are urged to attend.

On May 1 a program is planned by the Rham administration concerning the transition of the child with learning problems to the junior-high school.

He is a graduate of East Catholic High School and received his BA degree from Boston College.

Hebron Couple Seeking Change From Agriculture Zone

whether or not there were any means of limiting the type or number of farm animals allowed in an agricultural-residential zone and also mentioned the lack of buffer zones between the property of animal owners and those who wanted a strictly residential setting.

In a second letter, the Ragos stated their specific complaint. They told Mastandrea that they were concerned about two horses being kept by their neighbor and felt that the health and safety hazard required immediate attention. Members of the Planning and Zoning Commission decided to ask the Zoning Agent to look into the matter. They also told the Ragos that zone changes such as one requested would be considered in the new regulations. However, if they wanted to take some action before the hearings on the regulations they had the legal right to ask for a public hearing now.

Drive In Banking

DEWITT, Mich. (UPI) - Hitting the accelerator instead of the brake, Mrs. Lucille Leitner's car lurched through the front of the Dewitt branch of the American Branch and Trust. A window, part of a wall and some of the foundation were damaged.

Police Chief Wendell Mayers surveyed the damage and said: "You call that drive in banking."

Plane Wreckage Located

CHATHAM, Mass. (UPI) - The wreckage of a light plane which disappeared Tuesday night with four persons aboard was discovered early today about two miles south of Monomoy Point, the U.S. Coast Guard said.

Searchers aboard the cutter Pint Jackson spotted one body that it disappeared beneath the water before they could reach it. They recovered the logbook and care of the animals kept on small plots of land.

The Ragos further stated that the value of residential property is reduced because of the animals. They questioned

Jesse Lee Jr., of West Barnstable. The passengers were John Getchel, also of West Barnstable; Roger Garand of Mashpee; and Mark Gigliotti, residence unknown.

The Coast Guard said five utility boats, three cutters, one C-130 search plane and two helicopters equipped with night search lights criss-crossed the area around the wreckage.

Officials said they believed the plane, a turbo-prop Atec N-22, had a faulty altimeter because earlier in a conversation with a control tower, Lee said he was at 1,200 feet and still had not reached the ceiling which meant he had not reached the cloud cover. However, the ceiling Tuesday night was at 800 feet, authorities said.

The plane dropped off the radar screen at the Otis Air Force Base tower, just outside of Falmouth, at 100 feet. This led searchers to speculate that Lee probably thought his plane was much higher at that time.

William Walsh, operator of the Otis air base, said he understood the plane was going to land at Hyannis and Lee was going to telephone the Falmouth airport to have them put on the runway lights so he could land and was in the air 12 minutes before it disappeared from the radar screen.

'Keep Out' Sign Posted on New England's Waters

BOSTON (UPI) - A "Keep Out" sign was hoisted today on New England's offshore waters to prevent companies from drilling for oil.

Massachusetts Attorney General Robert H. Quinn warned the federal government and private companies that under the ocean floor up to 200 miles offshore.

"Every Atlantic state... has joined the suit to protect their natural resources and assert their rights to develop their coastline," Quinn said.

The states also are seeking royalties to royalties for offshore mineral rights.

Dr. Stephen Gage, director of a White House study on offshore drilling, said if any such drilling was authorized for New England it would take place 100 or 150 miles offshore. He conceded the Supreme Court case could delay the project.

Harmon Kallman of the Interior Department, responsible for issuing drilling leases, said oil companies first may start exploring the Atlantic Ocean's Baltimore Canyon, which runs from New Jersey to North Carolina.

Greater oil reserves were believed in the canyon that off of New England, he said. Also, any oil spill threats to fisheries would be less severe, he added.

"Besides, little or nothing can be done about leasing until we have completed our own environmental surveys and until the U.S. Supreme Court settles a legal hassle involving jurisdictional claims of Massachusetts, Maine and most other Atlantic states."

"It would be utterly impossible to start anything this year and probably nothing could be done about leasing until late in 1975, maybe 1976, or maybe even later," Kallman said.

"There will be no immediate rush for drilling licenses. That's a long way off," a spokesman for the American Petroleum Institute said.

State Sen. William Bolger, D-South Boston, chairman of the special legislative commission on marine boundaries and resources, said, "Georges Bank must become a symbol of protest against the continuing mismanagement of this nation's energy resources and our oil must not be given up without a fight and a steep price from the federal government."

Q. I started getting Social Security checks as a student last summer when my mother died. Since I've had some part-time jobs this year, can you tell me when a person getting benefits has to report his earnings to Social Security?

A. If you receive at least one Social Security check and your earnings were over $2,100 in 1973, you must make an annual report of your earnings to Social Security by April 15, 1974.

Q. When I graduated from high school last May, my Social Security checks stopped. I didn't work while I was in school, but I got a job right after graduation and earned nearly $4,000 from June through December of last year. Do I have to file an annual report of these 1973 earnings with Social Security?

A. Yes, even though you didn't start work until June, you should report your earnings to Social Security because you received checks during the first five months of 1973. Since you didn't earn over $175 a month from January through May, you are entitled to your checks for those months even though you earned $4,000 for the year. Start with 1974 people can earn as much as $200 a month without having any Social Security benefits withheld for that month.

Q. My wife is 63 and a high school teacher. Last summer when she wasn't teaching she got monthly Social Security checks. We'll report her total wages on our income tax returns. My wife thinks that's all she has to do. Is she right?

A. No. She must also file an annual report of her earnings with the Social Security Administration by April 15, 1974. This report is entirely different from an income tax return.

Q. I am going to retire in June, 1974 and my earnings at that time will be about $5,500. Does the $2,400 earnings that I am allowed start after I retire or does it include all my earnings for 1974?

A. It includes all of your earnings in 1974, before and after your retirement. After June 30th you are entitled to a Social Security check for any month you do not earn over $200.

Q. I'm going to college and getting Social Security student checks. Next semester I am going to increase the amount of my earnings to at least $3,000 in order to meet my increased expenses at college. Will I lose all of my student benefits for these earnings? I receive $125 a month in student benefits at present.

A. No you will not lose all your benefits. As your earnings rise over the $2,400 you are permitted to earn you will lose one-half of that amount over $2,400 or $300 in Social Security benefits. Be sure you notify the Social Security office of the wages you expect to earn this year and it is important that you file an annual report of your earnings before April 15, 1975 with the Social Security office.

Existing Surface Travel Future of Region: Burns

By DOUG BEVINS
Subways and other "exotic" forms of mass transportation aren't likely to be developed in the Capitol Region, State Transportation Commissioner Joseph Burns said Tuesday, predicting that future transportation facilities will rely on existing surface transit modes.

But Burns also called attention to one transit project he said would pay for itself. The proposed "people mover" at Bradley International Airport, which is now being challenged in court by a variety of citizens groups.

Defending the $4.5 million project, Burns said the "people mover" — which has been faster than eight miles an hour because the lines would split and estimated a rehabilitation cost of $9 million.

The public will have to support part of the expense for transportation facilities, Burns said. "Fares alone won't cover it," he said.

League to Make Transit Survey

The Greater Hartford League of Women Voters Tuesday unveiled plans for a survey of the transit problems and future expressways to be developed with integral plans for future mass transit facilities.

The survey, part of the League's Carnegie Foundation-funded METRO project, will involve distribution of more than 200,000 questionnaires throughout the region.

The project is funded by a grant from the Carnegie Foundation which includes $500,000 for the survey and the TV special are part of the League's METRO project, which is part of a nationwide effort to promote citizen awareness of regional problems.

Transportation planners aren't seriously considering underground tube systems, or subways, because the Greater Hartford area isn't big enough to support such a system, Burns said.

Rehabilitation of the railroads around Hartford is one of the most important projects, Burns said, explaining that it also is one of the most expensive needs.

Results of the questionnaire survey will be tabulated for use in a conference of citizens and public officials later this spring, according to the League.

Bus Shortage Delays South End's Service

Implementation of South Manchester-to-Hartford commuter bus service has been delayed by a shortage of buses, State Sen. David DeGard of Manchester reported Tuesday.

Other permanent terminal sites are still being considered. The commuter express bus line which now runs from Manchester's Burr Corners to downtown Hartford is the most successful such line in the state, carrying about 400 one-way passengers a day.

Other commuter express lines are being operated from Avon, Glastonbury, West Hartford, and Enfield to Hartford, in the Middletown, New Haven, and Bridgeport areas.

Rec Officials Oppose Twilight League Funds

Manchester's rec director and assistant rec director are convinced there is no sufficient interest at present for a new Adult Twilight Baseball League in town and have advised the Board of Directors to reject a requested $1,500 for its operation.

Manchester's rec director and assistant rec director are convinced there is no sufficient interest at present for a new Adult Twilight Baseball League in town and have advised the Board of Directors to reject a requested $1,500 for its operation.

Assistant Rec Director Carl Silver said Tuesday night that four teams had expressed interest but that rosters have not been received to date from only three. He said Feb. 1 was the deadline date for the rosters, that two were received by that date, the third on Feb. 7 and none since. He said the American Legion and Manchester Community College have indicated interest in joining the league but have presented no rosters.

Rec Director Mel Siebold warned of problems for the Hartford Twilight League and American Legion programs in the event the proposed new

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Visit to Washington

Millions of American tourists will be visiting the nation's capital this year for a close-up look at their government. Although most of them won't realize it, they should be grateful for an unusual law called the Federal Tort Claims Act.

True, payment under the Act is not automatic. The victim must be able to establish some measure of fault on the part of the government.

Thus, a woman tourist who stepped into a hole because the Washington Monument was her claim because she proved demonstrable negligence. It seems that some faulty plumbing, installed by a government crew, had caused the paving and caused it to sink.

Meany Blasts Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Speaking at a conference of the AFL-CIO Building and Construction Trades Department, AFL-CIO President George Meany has charged the administration has lost the confidence of the American people because of its failure to deal with rising prices.

Bureaucratic Bungling of Scholarships Charged

WASHINGTON (UPI) — "Inexcusable bureaucratic bungling" has almost eliminated a scholarship program to help needy students become doctors and nurses, Rep. Marvin L. Esh charged Tuesday.

Each said he has asked the General Accounting Office and the House Commerce subcommittee on health to investigate why the Department of Health, Education and Welfare failed to implement the program.

This Act, overturning the ancient doctrine that "the king can do no wrong," allows a citizen to hold the government liable in case he gets hurt on federal premises. For example, claims have been filed by:

A man who stumbled on uneven flooring in a Senate corridor; a woman who skidded down the steps of the National Gallery of Art; a woman who fell on ice behind the White House during a Christmas pageant; and, a woman who slipped in the lobby of the Smithsonian Institute.

A public service feature of the American Bar Association and the Connecticut Bar Association. Written by Will Bernard. © 1974 American Bar Association

This inexcusable bureaucratic bungling has deprived at least 1,000 students — including eight at the University of Michigan — of consideration of their applications for scholarship assistance," said the Michigan Republican.

The Public Health Service had advertised applicants for the current semester would be notified by Feb. 15 if they were qualified for a scholarship. Each said. However, it was March 25 before HEW approved rules for the program.

"I find this delay totally unacceptable," Esh said in a letter to HEW Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger. He charged HEW also violated Congress' intent when it made a rule that required one year of service after graduation even if the student got only one month's stipend each year and required a two-year service minimum.

Each said Congress intended for applicants to serve in the National Health Service Corps or the Public Health Service for one year for each year of aid and put no minimum on the aid or the service.

He said the inability of the Office of Health Manpower Development to implement the program on time and the proposed two-year requirement was depriving needy students of the aid and the nation of much needed health personnel.

Key Campaign Bill Vote Thursday

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate supporters of public financing for federal election campaigns have moved to end debate and bring the matter to a vote.

Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., and 21 other senators Tuesday filed a motion for cloture and it will be voted on Thursday.

Opponents of the controversial bill have threatened to talk it to death. They can be expected to oppose cloture.

Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., said 25 or 30 Republicans will vote against it, and predicted cloture will be defeated on the first attempt.

Campaign Spending Limits Proposal Postponed to 1975

HARTFORD (UPI) — The Republican-controlled legislative Elections Committee has voted to postpone putting limits on the campaign spending and contributions until after the November election.

Deputy Senate Minority Leader J. Edward Caldwell, D-Bridgewater, Tuesday called the vote a clue to the Republican "political re-election strategy."

He said Republican Gov. Thomas J. Meskill last week signed a proposal shortening campaign by one month.

His so-called "reforms" are really a political re-election strategy.

Mitchell-Stans Prosecution To Rest Case

NEW YORK (UPI) — The government will rest its case against former U.S. Attorney General John N. Mitchell and former Secretary of Commerce Maurice H. Stans today, on the 31st day of a trial that put a brother of President Nixon on the witness stand.

F. Donald Nixon Sr., a grim but cooperative prosecution witness, testified Tuesday in federal court that he refused to carry a warning message to the President for fugitive financier Robert L. Vesco in 1972, suggesting Mitchell instead.

But, Nixon said, he refused to give Mitchell an address or phone number to Vesco. "I didn't want to get involved in any way with the Vesco case," he explained.

Gave Brief Testimony
Nixon, 59, was flown from California to testify but his testimony was brief and less than sensational.

NEW HAVEN (UPI) — There are no plans for a Southern New England Telephone Co. rate increase, according to Alfred Van Sinderen, president of the company.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy and Rep. Wilbur D. Mills have proposed a $40 billion-a-year national health insurance plan to cover every American against medical costs regardless of their income or their need.

Under the proposal, every first person would be protected against health costs from the day he was born until old age when he would be eligible for Medicare.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Frank Hogan wanted to become a journalist, a journalist, a big name attorney and a nationally known politician.

He put off retirement to fight, and win, a last campaign in 1972. He was elected as the chief prosecutor for the nation's largest city the way he had made it.

Hogan applied for and got a job with Dewey, and helped the man who was later to make a bid for the presidency convict Lucky Luciano and the Democratic leader of the times, James J. Hines.

When Dewey ran for governor in New York in 1941, Hogan won the Democratic nomination and was given the support of the other political parties to become Manhattan district attorney at 29.

Consumer Protection Bill Debate Begins

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House begins today for the third time in four years to pass a consumer protection law. The odds are better than ever it will succeed this time.

The bill for public financing of federal election campaigns would give general election candidates of the major parties a sum equivalent to its costs per eligible voter to run their campaigns.

A big fight is expected early on a substitute bill, supported by the Nixon Administration, which consumer and other groups say is much weaker than the original bill, which they strongly endorse.

Several other amendments are also expected which would have the effect of weakening the new agency.

The Senate approved a similar bill in 1970 but it died in the House Rules Committee.

Communal Living Decision Draws Bay State Reaction

BOSTON (UPI) — A U.S. Supreme Court ruling that allows communities to ban communal living has been received with mixed reaction by Massachusetts public officials and commune representatives.

Thomas Lesser of Conway, a lawyer representing about 50 persons living in communes in Franklin County in western Massachusetts, said the court decision "fits in the face of the New England community tradition."

Lesser said the decision was a "disappointment," especially since at least two communities — Conway and Montague — already have passed ordinances limiting the number of non-related persons living in a dwelling.

Selectmen in Montague limited the number to five and in Conway to eight, he said. Cambridge Mayor Walter J. Sullivan said the city solicitor will try to determine how the decision affects Cambridge.

Sullivan said: "I understand there are quite a few fellows and girls occupying apartments and dwellings in Cambridge who are unrelated, but there has never been, to my knowledge, any troubles or difficulties."

Cambridge police said there are perhaps 20 communes in the city, some housing up to 25 persons.

In Provincetown, where the population soars in the summer with the arrival of young people, Carl R. Cummings, chairman of the selectmen, said the ruling was "ridiculous."

He said it was unfair to link communal living with stricter ordinances. "I suspect it's done by those who are morally offended by what they see," he said.

Campaign Spending Limits Proposal Postponed to 1975

HARTFORD (UPI) — The Republican-controlled legislative Elections Committee has voted to postpone putting limits on the campaign spending and contributions until after the November election.

Deputy Senate Minority Leader J. Edward Caldwell, D-Bridgewater, Tuesday called the vote a clue to the Republican "political re-election strategy."

He said Republican Gov. Thomas J. Meskill last week signed a proposal shortening campaign by one month.

His so-called "reforms" are really a political re-election strategy.

Vernon

Ice Rink Study Authorized

Vernon Mayor Frank McCoy was authorized by the Town Council Monday night to sign a contract with Carlisle-Edwards, Inc. to do a feasibility study for the town, concerning construction of an ice facility.

The cost of the contract is not to exceed $3,000. The recommendation to do the feasibility study was made by a committee appointed several months ago by the mayor. Mrs. Ruth Ventura is chairman of the committee.

The study in question is a first-phase study. In a letter to Mrs. Ventura, T. G. Walshe of the Carlisle-Edwards firm, said he did not feel a feasibility study alone would be adequate. He said his firm will do the study for the agreed price of $3,000 "and professional pride dictates that we produce more than a report, therefore we will undertake to furnish a feasibility study that will provide you with sufficient detail to enable all concerned to make meaningful decisions."

The usual charge for this type of service is $6,000, Mrs. Ventura told the council.

The study will determine if there is enough interest in the area, for the ice facility, to go ahead and do a marketability study. The study will determine the need for such a facility and also determine whether it would bring in sufficient revenues to be self-sustaining. At a February meeting of the council, Walshe advised that more than a facility for hockey should be considered because unless it has general use, it could not survive.

The second marketability study, if the feasibility study indicates interest in the ice facility, would cost some $19,000 and some members of the council questioned if the first study could be objective knowing that a second would mean all that money.

Committee-member John Pozzato said the assurance is in that the marketability study must satisfy the bonding underwriters and therefore must be accurate. No date was set for completion of the first study.

St. Pierre Sentenced, Files Notice of Appeal

VERNON (UPI) — For Romeo St. Pierre, 20, of East Hartford and his 19-year-old bride Janice the joys of wedded bliss lasted about one day.

St. Pierre, convicted of first-degree murder in a liquor store holdup, was sentenced to five to ten years in jail Tuesday in Tolland County Superior Court.

The couple was married Monday in a civil ceremony performed by Thomas Tedford, an East Hartford justice of the peace, at the home of St. Pierre's parents.

The defendant was convicted for his role in the robbery which led to the shooting death of Bolton liquor store owner Harry Miner last year.

St. Pierre's attorney asked the court to set aside the jury's guilty verdict on grounds the state failed to prove that St. Pierre knew that a gun he stole in an East Hartford house break would be used in the Bolton robbery and murder.

The judge denied the motion but gave St. Pierre the minimum sentence as recommended by the state. The attorney said the case will be appealed.

"Tragedy stalked your steps from the night of the burglary," Judge Joseph Dannehy told St. Pierre during sentencing.

Bids Due April 18

On March 12, the Manchester Board of Directors authorized the town manager to seek bids for the installation of storm sewers and house laterals in Garden Grove Rd., Erie St. and a portion of Keeney St. (from Nutmeg Dr. to No. 46).

The authorization was without any commitment that the board would approve the project. It was to determine the estimated cost — prior to a public hearing on the proposed installation.

Bids for the project (a modified version of a previous proposal) will be opened April 18 in the Municipal Building. The specs estimate the need for 3,430 linear feet of eight-inch pipe for the storm sewer; 880 linear feet of six-inch pipe for the laterals; 4,310 linear feet of temporary pavement repair; 10,000 square feet of permanent pavement repair; and 15 sanitary sewer manholes.

Bids will be opened April 18 also for patching town streets, with bidders to submit unit prices on a square-yard basis; and for operating the refreshment stand concession at Globe Hollow Swimming Pool. Alternate bids for the swimming pool concession would list the cost to the town if the concessionaire maintains and cleans the grounds and the rest rooms.

Tax Actions Expected

HARTFORD (UPI) — The Connecticut legislature planned to act today on a proposal to lower the 6.5 per cent sales tax to 5 per cent and on another to end capital gains taxes for elderly homeowners, a legislator says.

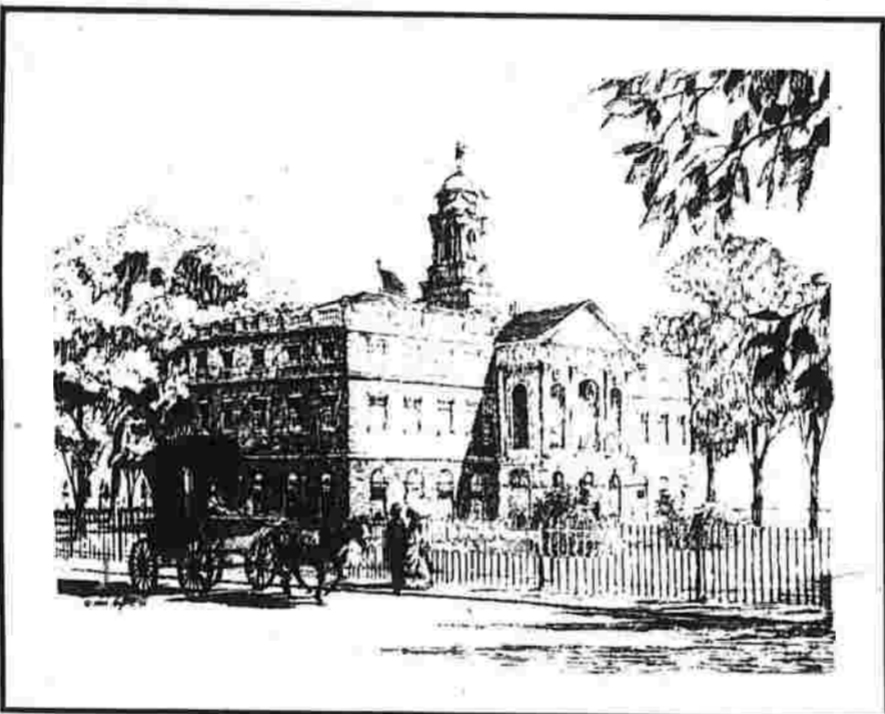

The House Appropriations Committee Tuesday approved the sales tax cut.

"We'll take up tax relief in the Senate and appropriations in the House, and hopefully switch bills before the day is through," Sen. Lawrence J. DeNardis, R-Hamden, said Tuesday.

DeNardis' committee Tuesday approved Gov. Thomas J. Meskill's proposed one-half per cent sales tax reduction, he said.

Meskill asked the legislature to lower the tax on April 1, but the governor's proposal got bogged down in committee and can be enacted no earlier than May 1.

"I think you will be rehabilitated soon enough," he said. "I don't think you should abandon all hope."
