

Agostinelli Pledges 'Open Government'

By SOL R. COHEN
State Comptroller Nathan G. Agostinelli today pledged a "full and open government" as he formally announced his candidacy for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

He is the fourth candidate to seek the GOP nomination. The others are Congressman Robert Steele of Vernon, Bridgeport Mayor Nicholas Panuzio and House Speaker Francis Collins of Brookfield. Others may enter the race in the next few weeks.

Agostinelli's announcement and press conference was in his State Capitol office, with about 20 newsmen and an equal amount of supporters present. The whole thing took exactly nine minutes and, including all invitations and postage, cost the candidate about $100. Steele's announcement cost him an estimated $3,000 and Panuzio's about $3,500, reports state.

"Since I am the only candidate from both parties who has proven statewide experience with purely financial matters," said the former Manchester mayor, "I believe that this experience shall prove necessary in the maintenance and expansion of a stable economic budget."

He said he was the first candidate in the 1970 statewide elections to oppose an income tax and that he still does — and will continue to oppose it.

He said his administration would be geared to the "concerns, interests and desires" of the people.

"Most of all," he emphasized, "government is people — that's what it's all about."

Prior to his 10 a.m. announcement, papers signed by Agostinelli were filed with the secretary of state's office, designating Joseph P. Callahan of West Haven treasurer of his campaign committee. The secretary is William J. Diana of Manchester, deputy state comptroller.

Agostinelli said his campaign chairman will be M. Adier Dobkin of Manchester. The two have been friends since boyhood.

It was Dobkin who convinced Agostinelli to run for the Manchester Board of Directors in 1966 — the start of his political career.

Asked what he considers his chances for the nomination, Agostinelli replied, "Six weeks ago, before Gov. Meskill announced he wasn't running for re-election, I'd say it was 1,000 to 1. Then, when Dan Lufkin pulled out of the race also, I'd say it became about 50 to 1. Now, I'd guess it's about 20 to 1." He said it's still too early to talk about primaries, in the event he isn't nominated, but if pressed would have to say he would enter one, if he received the required 20 per cent vote of delegates.

He said he believes in election reform and isn't sold on the convention method of choosing party candidates.

"Neither on the state level nor the federal level can we continue to exclude the people in the selection of their candidates," he insisted. He said the referendum or caucus method would be a fairer way.

Agostinelli, at 43, is the senior citizen among the four GOP candidates. Steele is 35, Panuzio 38, and Collins 40. He said he feels younger in spirit than any of them and that he isn't closing his options to any other nomination, if the one for governor doesn't materialize.

"I'm keeping the door open, and the options, too," he said.

Nixon Order On Bombing Cambodia Legal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court let stand today a lower court ruling that President Nixon's decision to order bombing of Cambodia in the spring and summer of 1973 was legal.

The court, in a brief order, refused to review the ruling by the 2nd Circuit Court of Appeals in New York. The 2nd Circuit had overturned a decision last July by U.S. District Judge Orrin G. Judd that bombing was an unconstitutional exercise of presidential power.

The original suit was brought by Rep. Elizabeth Holtzman, D-N.Y., and four Air Force officers.

The case had come to the high court once before when Rep. Holtzman sought to delay the appeals court order, in effect forcing Nixon to stop the bombing. Justice Thurgood Marshall refused to issue a stay, but Justice William O. Douglas did so three days later.

Marshall then polled the vacationing justices by telephone and Douglas was overruled. Chief Justice Warren E. Burger refused to call the court into special session to hear the appeal.

The suit charged that Nixon had no authority from Congress to order the bombings. They were finally halted Aug. 15, 1973, under a formal deadline imposed by Congress in a defense appropriations law.

Mississippi Floods Leave Seven Dead

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (UPI) — Several thousand persons were evacuated from their homes in central and south Mississippi today as flood waters rampaged through the state after three days of heavy rain. At least seven persons were killed.

Gov. Bill Waller activated the National Guard to help in the evacuation of residents. Many persons, their escape route blocked by the rising water, were removed by helicopter.

Authorities said more than 3,000 persons were evacuated in the Petal area and portions of north Hattiesburg Sunday night and early today as the rampaging Leaf River pushed to more than 11 feet above flood stage.

The Leaf and Bowie rivers were expected to crest today with the Leaf already having surpassed the record high crest recorded during flooding in 1961.

Three youths drowned before dawn Sunday when their car plunged off a road into a flooded creek north of McComb. They were identified as Johnnie E. Rollins, 21, Eddie Wells, 18, and Dennis Lee Bonds, 15.

Authorities blamed four drownings Saturday on the flooding, which began after heavy rain drenched the central and southern portions of the state Friday and Saturday.

The National Weather Service said rain was continuing in portions of south and southeast Mississippi during the morning.

Meskill Restates Veto Threat

HARTFORD (UPI) — Gov. Thomas J. Meskill said he plans to veto several fiscal bills which would chip away at the governor's power over the budget.

The bills, approved by the legislative Appropriations Committee last week, are expected to be taken up by the legislature this week.

"I've met with the Appropriations Committee and I explained my objections to the measures," Meskill told newsmen. "I'll probably veto them."

On the race for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, the outgoing governor said he has still plenty of time to pick the candidate he will endorse.

He refused to indicate his preference, saying all four announced candidates intend to campaign on the record of the Meskill Administration.

Meskill said he doesn't think a visit by President Nixon would be an asset in the GOP campaign.

"I don't believe it would change any voter's mind a bit," he said. He also said that the GOP candidates, campaigning in the shadow of Watergate, would not be hurt by the scandal.

Nor would a crowded race split the party, he said. "I have great respect for all the candidates and it would be a mistake to have a bitter fight," he said.

In the race for the GOP gubernatorial nomination are Rep. Robert H. Steele, R-Conn., Mayor Nicholas A. Panuzio of Bridgeport, House Speaker Francis J. Collins of Brookfield, and State Comptroller Nathan Agostinelli of Manchester.

Meskill said although the candidates are relying on the performance of the Republican administration, they should be able to campaign on their own platforms.

"They must sell to the voters what they are going to do," he said.

The governor, who has been keeping a low profile lately, parried several questions with negative answers.

"I have not seen the budget," he said when asked on whether he will sign it. He said he has not heard any more than what is generally known about his nomination for federal judgeship, nor has he heard any feedback on the matter.

The Connecticut state weather forecast.

Partly sunny, windy and mild this afternoon. High temperatures in the mid to upper 60s. Clear and cool tonight with lows 40 to 45. Mostly sunny and mild Tuesday with highs around 60.

Spending Control Showdown Anticipated In Assembly

HARTFORD (UPI) — Connecticut lawmakers and Gov. Thomas J. Meskill head for a showdown this week over measures giving the legislature greater control over government spending.

The state legislature, back from an Easter recess, is also expected to give final approval to three bonding authorization bills and tackle a host of measures limiting campaign funds, repealing the Sunday Blue Laws and correcting sex bias.

Legislation that would cut into the executive branch's power over the budget was approved by the legislative Appropriations Committee last week despite Meskill's threat to veto the bills.

A committee investigating three Hartford area ambulance firms accused in a scandal to defraud the state Welfare Department was scheduled to hold a final session today. Private detective Anthony Lombardi, who was instrumental in revealing the allegations of fraud, has been subpoenaed to appear at the final session. Meanwhile, with the budget out of the way, both chambers still face full calendars this week and in the final weeks of the 1974 legislative session.

The House is expected to approve three bills Tuesday authorizing bonded borrowing for over $200 million. Only the major bill — a $182 million bond authorization for capitol improvements — is expected to run into a hurdle.

Rep. Edgar A. King, R-Farmington, plans to criticize authorization of $26.5 million for the Western Connecticut State College's new campus in Danbury.

King said the measure, pushed by two House leaders, was a "case of backscratching" to serve political ends.

The backers are House Speaker Francis J. Collins, R-Brookfield, a GOP gubernatorial candidate, and Rep. William Ratchford, D-Danbury, Democratic congressional candidate.

The three bond bills have been approved by the Senate. Up for Senate action are three measures limiting campaign spending and contributions, and regulating their public disclosure.

A bill repealing Connecticut's century-old Sunday Blue Laws, which drew a number of state merchants to public hearings, could spark debate in the Senate floor.

A measure banning issuance of fictitious motor vehicle licenses to unauthorized persons is also up for Senate action this week. The bill was an offshoot of a recent disclosure by the state auditors and United Press International that state officials and members of their families had been issued fake licenses normally used for law enforcement work.

Also on the Senate agenda is a string of bills offered by the legislative Human Rights and Opportunities Committee, recifying sex discrimination.

The bills would: —Allow women to witness an execution.

—Allow women to participate in forestry work.

—Make it punishable for anyone to deprive persons of their rights on account of sex.

—Permit men to practice midwifery in the state.

The House, meanwhile, will act on a measure amending the state's rape code to eliminate the requirement of corroboration in sex offense cases.

Other measures on the House calendar this week would: —Allow advertising of prescription drugs.

—Give the state greater power in cracking down on obscene material, applying "contemporary community standards." Under the bill, the state of Connecticut would be considered the "community."

—Prohibit smoking during public hearings in public buildings.

Meanwhile, the legislative Banks and Regulated Activities Committee races with time in coming up with a bill regulating fuel cost adjustment.

Sen. Joseph Gormley, R-Norwalk, committee chairman, said the panel should be able to prepare a measure this week.

A draft of the proposed bill would not provide consumers with any relief from soaring electricity rates, but public hearings would be required if the utility company's surcharge for fuel cost amounts to 20 per cent or more of a customer's monthly bill.

The measure also would add two members to the state Public Utilities Commission for a total of five commissioners.

Easter Sunday Observed Amid Strife

United Press International Christians celebrated Easter across the world Sunday with hope for man's salvation, but soldiers still fought each other for inches of territory and unforgiving enemies settled old political scores.

As pilgrims marched in Jerusalem to the traditional site of Jesus' tomb, Israeli and Syrian soldiers battled hand-to-hand on Mt. Hermon in the heaviest outbreak of fighting on the Golan Heights since last October's Middle East war.

Pope Paul VI, addressing 250,000 faithful in St. Peter's Square in Vatican City, urged mankind to mark the resurrection of Christ by embracing a spiritual life and rejecting materialist values as "false gospel."

Condemning those who seek "egotistical pleasure," the Pope urged Christians to follow "the gospel of the cross, that is, the law of duty, of service, of sorrow, of love, of sacrifice."

In Belfast, Northern Irish Catholics marched to commemorate the 1916 Easter Rebellion, which began warfare against British rule and led to independence for the southern Republic of Ireland.

British soldiers carried photographs and searched the march for members of the outlawed Irish Republican Army, which has stepped up a bomb and bullet campaign for unification of the two Irelands.

President Nixon observed Easter in Key Biscayne, Fla., by attending services at Community Church. A friendly youngster gave him a purple egg inscribed with the words "Happy Easter."

In Moscow, Patriarch Pimen led a candlelight procession around Epiphany Cathedral before celebrating the resurrection service. Russian police carted off young rowdies and drunkards, who in past have disrupted Easter services. In a coincidence, the Western and Eastern branches of Christianity celebrated Easter on the same day.

Usually the ceremonies fall on different days because the Eastern rites — Greek, Armenian and Syrian Orthodox as well as Egyptian and Ethiopian Coptic — use the Julian, instead of Gregorian, calendar.

In Greece, the country's military rulers toured army camps and cracked eggs with soldiers and visitors, eating roasted lamb and toasting with wine.

Flares and firecrackers in Athens, although prohibited by martial law, lit the skies to welcome the day of the resurrection as church bells rang.

Among the world's millions attending Easter sunrise services were between 1,500 and 2,000 Americans worshipping in an 11-foot "Cross of Peace" on top of Bald Knob mountain in the southern Illinois Ozarks. Some had camped the night in a cold rain that was followed by a golden sunrise.

The traditional Easter fashion parade on Fifth Avenue in New York was dimmed somewhat by cloudy skies and a light drizzle. On the other side of the country, fashion models in San Francisco's Mark Hopkins Hotel launched a 24-hour show billed as the longest Easter fashion parade.

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — It's nice to be part of something that is successful. So it stood there, beaming cheerfully, for three hours or so while some of Hollywood's biggest stars came into the Beverly Hills Hotel for a party in honor of a book I had written. Then reason took over. I realized the biggest weren't there because of me but because the subject of my book was there, too. The book is "Mervyn LeRoy: Take One," the story of one of Hollywood's greatest directors. And LeRoy, loved and respected by Hollywood for more than 40 years, was the magnet that brought them all out.

Bus Behavior Guidelines

DONNA HOLLAND
Correspondent
At meeting held recently by school administrators, bus drivers and officials and a Board of Education member to discuss school bus transportation, it was learned that a set of guidelines on bus behavior which all students will be expected to follow:

1. Students boarding a bus are to go directly to a seat and remain there until reaching their destination. They are not permitted to stand or change seats unless directed by the bus driver.
2. Under no circumstances should any portion of a student's body be extended out of an open bus window.
3. State law specifically prohibits the throwing of anything out of a window.
4. Pushing, tripping, hitting or annoying another passenger on the bus will not be tolerated.
5. There will be no eating, smoking, throwing of objects or playing with matches.
6. The emergency exit is for drills and emergency use only.
7. Students are not to distract the driver while the bus is in motion.
8. Students are to refrain from shouting, making disruptive noises or using profanity.
9. Students are to cross only in front of the bus when getting off.
10. Students must remain seated and remain in their seats until the bus driver has given the signal to get off.
11. Damage done to any portion of the school bus by a particular student is to be paid for by the student or the parent.
12. Vandalism represents grounds for immediate suspension without the usual warning.

Here's How To Reform Campaigns

Must Compete

To remain competitive, stated U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz, American consumers must expect to match foreign offers for American produce and materials. Butz explained that just because such items are grown or manufactured in the United States does not automatically entitle Americans to prices below what Europe or Asian markets pay.

U.N. Defines 'Aggression'

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — United Nations diplomats, after decades of legal wrangling, have come up with a definition of "aggression" that exempts wars for "self-determination, freedom and independence." The draft definition, approved by a special U.N. committee, is expected to gain wide acceptance.

The 600-word document was the result of debate that began in the 1920s under the old League of Nations and continued after World War II in the United Nations.

Only now have U.N. diplomats agreed on terminology that would satisfy most members of the world body.

"Aggression is the use of armed force by a state against the sovereignty, territorial integrity or political independence of another state, or in any other manner inconsistent with the Charter of the United Nations as set out in this definition," says the first and main article of the new document.

A key article in the definition, however, says nothing would be construed to prevent cases in which "the use of force is lawful."

Placed in this category were struggles for "self-determination, freedom and independence" and the use of force by those "under colonial and racist regimes or other forms of alien domination."

The word "aggression" was said to include, among other things, armed blockades and "sending by or on behalf of a state of armed bands, groups, irregulars or mercenaries which carry out acts of armed force against another state."

The document will be submitted for approval to the next regular session of the General Assembly in the fall. In the new definition, "aggression" will be recognized as such even if the countries involved are not recognized by other nations or are not U.N. members.

The Lighter Side
By Dick West
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The election reform bill that came up in the Senate this week is somewhat misdirected. It seeks to end the "fat cat" system of campaign financing by making public funds available to candidates. This is a roundabout approach to a problem that could be excised with surgical neatness. From the recent series of dis-losures of illegal or suspicious contributions to President Nixon and certain Democratic office-seekers, a clear pattern has emerged. In virtually every instance the beneficiary has professed that he was personally unaware he was the recipient of such largesse. Implied, where not actually stated, in these disclaimers is the assurance that had the candidate only known he was being subsidized in this fashion, he would have scooped it forthwith. Thus the remedy for campaign funding abuses is simple. All Congress needs do is pass legislation to make it unlawful to donate money to a political candidate without telling him about it. To make sure I am on the right track in proposing this solution, I checked it out with Sam Undertable, a noted authority on political economics.

"You've got the handle on it," Undertable told me. "Secret contributions must be stopped." I said, "Are you saying the public has a right to know where the candidates get their money?" "Who's talking about the public? I'm saying the candidates have a right to know where their money is coming from. Donors who go slipping money to candidates without their knowledge are the biggest headache politicians have. "Every office-seeker lives in fear that some well-heeled contributor will enrich his campaign while he is looking the other way." I said, "Why don't contributors want candidates to know about their donations?" "In most cases, the contributors are trying to avoid giving the candidate the impression they are seeking favors. The average big contributor is only trying to help a candidate get elected and wouldn't dream of asking anything in return. But if the candidate finds out about the contribution, he may feel obliged anyhow." Undertable's explanation strengthened my conviction regarding political reform. Force the donors to reveal themselves unto the donees and campaign funding abuses will be stamped out overnight. Or at least by early next week.

Superman Needs Help

METROPOLIS, Ill. (UPI) — Uncle Sam may not be Superman, but Superman could use a little help from him. This southern Illinois town, famous for its loyal followers of the hero from Krypton, declared itself the home town of Superman last year. It set up Metropolis Recreation Inc. (MRI), designed to be a Disneyland-style recreation project built around the exploits and memorabilia of Clark Kent's alter ego. But man and nature, in the form of transportation, flooding, building and financial woes, have sapped the muscles of Metropolis' Superman almost as alarmingly as would a hunk of Kryptonite. So James Crain, president of MRI, said the group has applied to the Economic Development Administration for a $50,000 grant. The funds would be used to pay for a detailed feasibility survey of whether the project should move on to a multimillion dollar recreation complex stage.

SLA Trying To Retaliate

The saga of the Patricia Hearst kidnapping, still unfinished, in our opinion has never been that of an ordinary crime perpetrated for the purpose of gaining ransom and personal enrichment.

It rather has had overtones of quasi-social purpose and terrorism such as has been practiced in South America and by the Palestinian guerrillas.

Its principal goal, however, seems to have been one of retaliation against those whom the SLA considers the ruling or corporate class in American society. A lot of corporation heads bedeviled, by government, will be surprised at their classification.

The known members of the Symbionese Liberation Army are typical non-achievers, "losers" if you wish. Many of them have prison records. In fact Soledad and the prison at Vacaville, Calif., seem to have been the germination points for the group.

Among the members are indicted murderers as well as people with a long history of criminal activity. Some of them are just weirdos of the type that populated Haight-Asbury at the height of its notoriety.

While the SLA has white members and takes credit for killing a black Oakland superintendent of schools it is primarily a black dominated organization. This was evident in the liberal organizations which it chose to supervise distribution of the food it had extorted from publisher Randolph Hearst.

It was also evident in the areas which were specified for the food giveaway and the needy who showed up to get it. Some of the leaders are reportedly very anti-white.

In choosing the daughter of Randolph Hearst for kidnapping the SLA was striking a blow at the "corporate class" to which they seem to ascribe their own troubles and the troubles of the world.

They seemed to be intent on discrediting, embarrassing and humiliating a member of that class. Now, of course they have announced that this is the last of such projects and that leaders of the corporate class are to be shot on sight as well as several whom they believe to have been informants.

If humiliation was their purpose, it was achieved. Mr. Hearst played the game and lost. He agreed to have a lawyer see that the two indicted for murder received a fair trial. He went to Vacaville to talk with someone called Death Row Joe who was supposed to be able to intercede with the SLA.

And, of course he went along with their demands with the two million dollar food giveaway which was characterized by its administration as shot through with violence and attempts to gain power by the advisory groups.

We are dubious of the validity of Miss Hearst's dramatic tape in which she announced that she was staying with the SLA, that her father was a liar and her name was now Tania. Like her family, we would hope that she can come forth alone and speak directly to her parents, hopefully free of narcotics addiction. Until she does there will be doubt that her tape was recorded without coercion.

It is now time for law enforcement agencies to try to round up all of the SLA so that they may be brought to punishment for their crime.

A Diplomatic Coup

President Nixon seems to have scored a diplomatic and political coup in his one-man, little summit meetings in Paris, where he went to pay his and the nation's respects to President George Pompidou.

His visit had been anticipated as simple and attendance at the memorial rites and a quick return home. Instead the President met leaders of several nations, also in Paris to attend the memorial services.

While some of the meetings might be viewed as courtesy calls from one head of state to another, others, principally the two hour breakfast talk with Soviet President Podgorny, and the subsequent meeting with Japanese Prime Minister Tanaka seem substantive.

The talk with Podgorny has made firm plans of the President to visit the Soviet Union in June. This visit had been uncertain after secretary of State Kissinger and Premier Brezhnev had been unable to decide on subjects of agreement for the proposed next step in SALT meetings. The breakfast with Premier Podgorny stated 30 minutes before it had been scheduled and ran more than two hours delaying the meeting with Premier Tanaka for 10 minutes.

It might be considered a strong indication that the policy of detente between the United States and Russia which had been characterized as in partial eclipse after the abortive Kissinger-Brezhnev meeting is still very much alive.

Presidential aides have made much of the meetings, seeing in them no diminution of the President's status abroad, in spite of the difficulties which have beset him domestically.

We would review them more as a recognition by the foreign leaders of the inherent power and esteem of the United States, rather than personal enhancement, even though some element of that may exist.

The Sense Of Injustice

SAN DIEGO, Calif. — There is a sense of injustice abroad in the land. You don't need very sensitive antennae to pick it up. It is thrust at you wherever you go, not only in the big liberal centers of the East but even in basically conservative centers like San Diego. The almost natural tropism of many people here is still defensive and protective of President Nixon in his hour of great need.

The sense of injustice operates in both directions — anti-Nixon and pro-Nixon. The central thrust of the case against Mr. Nixon has shifted in the past year. It started with the break-ins, wiretaps, "dirty tricks," enemies list, but has moved into the financial and tax shenanigans. This would come home to most people even if the congressional report on the President's tax obligation didn't just happen to fall at the time when the rest of us are paying our taxes, too. Many people have been enraged at the thought of having to sweat it out and find tax money somehow while the "higher-ups" get away with it. This is one of the authentic discontents of a civilization riddled with discontents.

Now there is an answering Today's Thought One of the most vital lessons for man to learn is that his feelings of the moment are no guarantee that all is well. Have you ever driven down a strange highway, perfectly assured that you were on the right road, only to discover to your chagrin that you had driven many miles in the wrong direction? Pilots have been victimized by vertigo, the feeling they are ascending when they really are descending.

If this principal is a true regarding physical laws, it is abundantly so regarding spiritual laws. Samson arose after having his locks shorn by Delilah, unaware he had lost his prodigious strength and fell expecting to overcome his foes as before. But alas, he became their prisoner.

The church in Laodicea was reprobated because they said: "I am rich, and have need of nothing," not knowing they were wretched, miserable, poor, blind, and naked, Rev. 3:17.

"There is a way that seems right to a man, but its end is the way to death" (Prov. 16:25). Hence, it is foolish to trust our happiness here and hereafter to our capricious feelings. Thankfully, there is no need for this. God has revealed to us in the Bible the infallible safe way. May we have the faith to trust him enough to follow it!

The Glory of Easter

WASHINGTON — Even for one not bound to an organized religion, there was a poignancy to Easter Sunday. It came and went virtually unnoticed yesterday, and yet it used to be a major holiday celebrated as the first milestone of a new season even by those who acknowledged no faith.

"For lo, the winter is past," sang a Psalmist. "The flowers appear on the earth; the time of the singing of birds is come, and the voice of the turtle (dove) is heard in our land." Surely, that sentiment transcends all creeds, even as it suggests that Christ's winter of suffering was done.

Perhaps it is the fault of the scholars, for history is vague about the trappings of Easter Sunday. It is entirely possible, for instance, that this great feast day was named for the Teutonic goddess, Eostre, whose festival was celebrated in the spring. Indeed, Easter was not always universally honored even by Christians. In its heyday, Parliament banned Easter ceremonies in England, and the penalty for coloring Easter eggs was to be drawn and quartered.

And yet, although we pay it scant attention, there is nothing fuzzy about the first Easter Story. It is told in all its wonder in the Gospels, and over the centuries no scholar has done more than tinker with its message — all the birth of man's hopes. In a world of darkness, says the Gospels, Jesus said He would rise again on the third day. But to an unattached observer, the Easter Story is also about two people named Joseph of Arimathea and Mary Magdalene, who made the human race look pretty good.

Joseph was a rich man, secure in his wealth and privilege. But he risked all that and went in holiday to Platte, and craved the body of Jesus. Joseph was a follower of the Savior, and although he must have realized the peril of becoming involved, he was determined that Jesus have a decent burial — worthy, if you will, of a Jew.

As Matthew tells us: "When Joseph appeared to the body, he wrapped it in a clean linen cloth, and laid it in his own new tomb." His own new tomb. Charly is most things. Mary Magdalene was neither rich nor respectable. She was what is politely known as a fallen woman, looked upon with scorn by the respectable. But she had been saved by Jesus' grace. And so on the first day after the Sabbath, she went with Mary, the mother of James and Salome, to pay a part of her debt to her Lord by anointing his body with oils and spices.

Everybody knows that story. But too little attention has been paid to what happened next. For, as Mark relates, after Jesus had risen He appeared first, not to his mother or to Peter, but to Mary Magdalene, the whore.

That, it seems to me, is the glory of Easter Sunday. Rich men wallowing in their amulet wealth, purse-lipped overseers of public morality, and professional dog-godders who sneer at the need to pay penance for wrongdoing should note and long remember a man named Joseph of Arimathea and a woman named Mary Magdalene. It might turn them into people who at least would salute Easter as a time when, as another Psalmist sang, the hills become "joyful together."

Don Oakley
Good Old Energy Days Gone Forever

Americans may well go on a "gasoline binge" now that the Arab oil embargo has been lifted and supplies are improving all over the country. After all, how sweet it is to be able once again to pull into an uncracked station and say "long 'er up" without worrying about where the next tankful is going to come from.

Detroit, too, is getting that old gleam in its eye as sales of big cars are reportedly picking up after a disastrous first three months of the year. Plans for a massive changeover to small car production are being given another look.

Miss Norcross To Retire from Easter Seal Post

Miss Gertrude Norcross

Gertrude Norcross of Andover will retire June 1 after serving 35 years as executive director of The Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Connecticut. Born in Kalamazoo, Mich., Miss Norcross graduated from the University of Michigan with a bachelor of science degree in social work. She came to Connecticut in 1939 as the first executive for the Easter Seal Society.

Miss Norcross was the first recipient of the "Edward P. Chester Award" in 1961 given by the Connecticut Rehabilitation Association for outstanding services to the handicapped. She also received the National Rehabilitation Association's "Citation of Merit" last year. In 1973 she was awarded the "Mary Switzer Award" from the Eastern Seal Industries Rehabilitation Center in New Haven for outstanding achievement on behalf of the disabled.

Miss Norcross is past president of the Connecticut Health League, Connecticut Camping Association, National Easter Seals Executives Association (two terms), Hartford Sorority Club and Connecticut Rehabilitation Association. She was appointed to the Connecticut Council on Developmental Disabilities by Governor

Thomas J. Meskill and is membership chairman of the Connecticut Gerontology Society.

Through the efforts of Miss Norcross, Connecticut leads the nation on a per capita basis in giving to Easter Seal campaigns, according to Fenmore R. Seton, president of the society. During her tenure, the society has grown from one room in Hartford to a total of seven independently incorporated Easter Seal Rehabilitation Centers throughout the state.

Liberal Group Leans To Grasso

HARTFORD (UPI) — The Caucus of Connecticut Democrats will probably pick Rep. Ella T. Grasso, D-Conn., as its favored candidate to run for governor in November.

The caucus, a New Haven-based liberal group, is holding a convention April 20 in Watbury to hear from the three remaining contenders for the Democratic nomination: Sen. Robert K. Killian, who is staking an uphill fight against Mrs. Grasso, can be expected to get some support, according to one Caucus spokesman.

For Frank N. Zullo, former Norwalk mayor, the support is likely to be considerably thinner, centered mainly in the Fairfield County area.

Miriam Butterworth, one leader in the Caucus, said she expects Mrs. Grasso to get most of the support in the balloting.

A cross section of Caucus sentiment should reflect the lead demonstrated by Mrs. Grasso in the statewide polls, she said, except that there would have been far stronger support for Babbidge.

"The vote would have gone more for Babbidge than in the polls," Mrs. Butterworth said. Meantime, Killian's forces are working hard to drum up

Hebron Budget Session Set for Tonight

NANCY DRINKUTH
Correspondent
225-3970

At the public hearing to discuss the budget for the 1974-75 fiscal year scheduled for tonight at 8 at the Hebron Elementary School, the Bicentennial Commission will be shown as a separate line item in the budget for the first time.

Last year the money for this group was included in the First Selectman's budget.

The request from the Bicentennial Commission for the 1974-75 year is $2,000. This amount is needed to match the $2,000 in federal funds already promised to the Hebron Bicentennial group.

If the town money is not appropriated the commission could lose the federal funds. The government money can only be used for a lasting project approved by the Federal Commission.

Realizing that the town can't buy everything, he added that he had not requested a heavy duty equipment trailer and a road sweeper also important to the maintenance of the roads, he said.

Enumeration
The annual school census of the towns of Hebron, Andover and Marlborough is now under way. Enumerators will conduct their door-to-door census taking during the month of April. Information will be checked regarding the child's name, address, date of birth, father's name, school and class.

The purpose of the school census is the state's required enumeration report of children to age 21. The school is required to provide information regarding the number of children who are in public or private schools, in school, between the ages of 16 and 20 are to be reported as full-time employment, or part-time employment, on active military service, unemployed or in school.

Bulletin Board
The following meetings and activities are scheduled for this week:

Monday: Budget hearing to discuss the budgets of the Board of Education, 8 p.m., Hebron Elementary School.

Town clerk's office hours, 7:9 p.m., Town Office Building.

Tuesday: Democratic caucus and Town Committee meeting, 8 p.m., Town Office Building.

Thursday: Board of Selectmen, 5 p.m., Town Office Building.

Monday: Budget hearing to discuss the budgets of the Board of Education, 8 p.m., Hebron Elementary School.

In 1968 he was appointed assistant and two years later was promoted to supervising actuarial analyst.

James E. Moore

He is a member of the American Academy of Actuaries, the Planning Executives Institute, and the Vernon Democratic Town Committee. He resides at 39 Oxbow Dr. Shilfer, formerly associated with an accounting firm, joined the Travelers in 1972 as an actuarial assistant. A Massachusetts native, Shilfer received a B.S. degree in Michigan and an M.B.A. in 1969 from the University of Chicago. He resides at 159 Downey Dr.

NET INCOME

Hartford National Corp. announced that consolidated income for the three-month period ending March 31, 1974 of $2.24 million or 80 cents per share before security transactions, up 4.5 per cent from $2.15 million or 77 cents per share for the same period in 1973. Net income after securities transactions for the first three months of 1974 were $2.23 million or 80 cents per share, compared to $1.96 million or 70 cents per share for the first quarter of 1973.

Total operating revenues for the first quarter of this year increased to $32,887,000 from $32,728,000 during the same period last year.

ENERGY SAVINGS

The University of Connecticut has reported significant energy savings as a result of conservation efforts in March. UConn said fuel oil consumption was down 14 1/2 per cent, electricity usage was down 19 per cent, and natural gas savings were 5 1/2 per cent, compared to energy used a year ago.

NEW PROGRAM

Tunxis Community College has gained state approval for a new Associate in Science degree program in Banking and Finance, to start in the fall 1974 semester at the Farmington school. Detailed information is available from Tunxis' director of admissions, tel. 877-7701.

CBT EARNINGS

CBT Corp. of Hartford, the parent firm of the Connecticut Bank & Trust Co., has reported first-quarter 1974 earnings of $1.64 per share. In the first quarter of 1973, CBT reported earnings of $1.29 per share. The increase resulted from substantially higher loan volume and a slightly higher spread between yields earned and rates paid on deposits and other funds, CBT said.

COVILL RECEIVED HIS B.A. DEGREE

Covill received his B.A. degree from Providence College in 1968 and graduated in 1971 from Suffolk Law School in Boston. He was admitted to the Connecticut Bar in 1971. ### Medicine Chests Need Spring Cleaning, Too!

The Federal Drug Administration has prepared a leaflet on the proper use of prescription and non-prescription medicines and "Prescription Drugs" and "Medicines Without Prescriptions."

According to the FDA, if you are the type of person who saves everything you should be aware that one type of product should never be saved for more than a year: Medicines.

Once the illness or disease for which the medicine was purchased is cured or alleviated, it should be thrown away.

The FDA says many people, even those who are not accustomed to saving everything, put a half-full bottle of a prescription medicine in the medicine chest just in case they contract the illness again. Or many people use one bottle of a non-prescription medicine such as aspirin year after year.

Many medicines change chemically after periods of time and lose their potency, the FDA reports, and in some cases, old medicine can cause unwanted side effects.

An example is eye drops. The water in them could evaporate, causing the active ingredient to be left in the bottle in concentrated form. A person putting the concentrate in his eyes could develop problems.

Another example is aspirin. Aspirin will eventually break down to free salicylic acid. If taken, it will irritate the stomach more than fresh aspirin. Aspirin that has broken down smells like vinegar, and you may see some crystals.

Generally, the problem of old medicines is more acute with prescription medicines than with non-prescription ones, because prescription medicines are usually more powerful.

Any medicine more than a year old should be discarded, the FDA says. The conditions that may affect medicines include light, heat, air, and moisture. A medicine left in a bathroom where people take showers could lose its potency more quickly than a medicine placed in a cool, dry, dark place. Some medicines require refrigeration or other special handling.

It's a good idea to follow carefully the instructions for storage on the labels of the medicine. Most medicines should be in tightly closed containers.

The FDA recommends that consumers throw away prescription medicines as soon as the illness is cured or alleviated, and that every consumer should go through the medicine chest at least once a year and throw away all medicines.

It further recommends that medicines be disposed of by throwing them down the toilet. If they are thrown in the garbage, make sure children or household pets can't get to them.

For a free copy of the leaflet prepared by the FDA, write to the Food and Drug Administration, in care of Marilyn Douglas, Consumer Affairs Officer, 50 Founders Plaza, Suite 308, East Hartford, 06108.

"Did you know that a gas range uses 43% less natural energy than an electric range?"*

Georgia DiPietro
Director of Consumer Information
Connecticut Natural Gas Corporation

Natural gas is natural energy. It's piped directly from the wellhead to your home. Very little energy is lost in the process.

Electricity, on the other hand, is not natural energy. It has to be generated, usually by burning fossil fuels such as coal, oil or natural gas. In the generation and distribution of electricity, most of the natural energy in those resources is lost.

That's why cooking with a gas range is more efficient than with an electric range. And not surprisingly, a gas range also costs less to operate. How much less depends on how you use it. Here are just a few ways to save energy and money with your gas range:

Preheat the oven to the desired cooking temperature only. A higher preheat setting does not heat the oven any faster, but it does waste energy.

The flame on the top burners should not extend beyond the edge of the pan. If it does, you're wasting energy and money.

When it's time for a new range, choose a modern gas range. Call CNG and talk to one of our Natural Energy Consultants. Better yet, come in to see our newest gas range models for yourself.

Save energy. Save money.
Make your new range a gas range.

Krzeminski Wins $500 Scholarship

An outstanding business student at the University of Connecticut has been awarded a $500 scholarship by the Connecticut Society of Certified Public Accountants.

James Krzeminski of 28 Florence St., received the award this week from Gordon Tasker of Glastonbury, a member of the society and chairman of the UoC Board of Trustees.

Dr. Thomas A. Morrison, professor and head of the accounting department at UConn, noted that the award is made annually by the society to a high-ranking junior majoring in accounting.

He said Krzeminski has a straight "A" average in his accounting courses and intends to enter the public accounting field when he graduates.

A dean's list student, Krzeminski is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Medard M. Krzeminski of 24 Oxford St., Chicopee Falls, Mass.

Woman's View

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — As revealed in a Girl Scout booklet, the concerns of a group of 7- to 17-year-old girls come over loud and clear. They're concerned about peace in the world, about ecology, about racial discrimination.

"Let's Spread Peace" was the slogan of Lilli-Ann Momen, 10, of Morton Grove, Ill. Her message was on a wall hanging of terry cloth base which included not only the letters in yarn, but an illustration of a slice of bread, made of styrofoam, being spread with the word "peace." Lilli-Ann's other materials included aluminum, for the knife, and fringe, for trim.

Lilli-Ann was one of two first-award winners in a "Letters to the World" contest sponsored by the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. The other first went to Debbie Blanchard, 14, of Cohoes, N.Y. Her entry was a poposie-like figure, three-dimensional, done in cloth, yards and lace. Its message: "Humanity Yearns for Harmony."

The national wall hangings contest was sponsored jointly by the American Crafts Council and American Girl magazine, the Girl Scout publication. The Metropolitan Museum of Art's Junior Museum Studio has the results on exhibit, the first of its kind in the history. Peace was the motif of several other hangings, including one done by Bernetta J. Abramson, 17, of New York, who spelled out "Peace, Let It Be."

He's in red felt, cut in the shape of a guitar, with a dove cutout to accent the message.

One of the most imaginative entries belonged to Sue Schreiber, of Mt. Vernon, N.Y., who won honorable mention with her "Love Comforteth Like Sunshine after Rain," complete with a white felt cloud and the sun peeking over it.

Other honorable mentions went to:

Debra Jager, 9, of Huntville, Ala., who used a burlap base with yarn forming the silhouette of a bird and carrying the message, "Help Protect Wildlife."

Patricia Gray, 13, of Fort Thomas, Ky., used cloth, tie dyed, to depict a silhouette of a burned-out forest and the message, "Is Anybody There, Does Anybody Care, Does Anybody See What I See?"

Barbara Pontius, 13, of North Canton, Ohio, used felt, yarn, foil, and stuffed cloth to spell out an anti-discrimination message: "Day and Night Aren't as Different as They Seem."

Pamela Petsick, 17, of Oakwood, Tex., used cloth, embroidery and Magic Marker for her slogan of "Children Have Overcome."

And Sara Starkey, 9, of Odessa, Fla., combined felt, cloth and yarn for a stick-figure of black and white children holding hands and saying "Love One Another."

Hoax Distress Call Launches Air Search

NOUMEA, New Caledonia (UPI) — Aviation officials said a hoax distress call led to an air and sea search today for 160 purported survivors of a jetliner that supposedly crashed into the sea off New Caledonia. "It seems to have been a bad joke," one control tower official said. The officials reported receiving what purported to be an airline radio distress call early today. News reports in Noumea said the message claimed a "Boeing" jetliner had crashed with 160 survivors, many injured.

Weekend Notes Off the Cuff

First name on the hole-in-one club membership for the 1974 golfing season at the Manchester Country Club is Burt Carlson. The latter performed the feat for the second time in his career last weekend, seeing his drive from the 18th tee settle in the cup, 186 yards away. Andy Baylock, freshman coach at UConn, will be the guest speaker at Manchester High's annual football banquet next Monday night at the Colony. Baylock is a former East Catholic High coach. Thom McAn awards will be presented the top offensive and defensive player from the Indians at the dinner. Two of the country's top individual college basketball performers will be on display tonight at East Catholic High, 5-9 Marvin Barves and 6-4 Kevin Stacom. Both helped keep Providence College on the basketball map during the recently completed college campaign. New look at the M.L. Nebo baseball field includes a backstop, which has long been needed. Ray Crothers, a one-time winner of the Five Mile Road Race in Manchester, blazed home first in the inaugural Rabbit Run in Vernon last Saturday. Dallas Dodge will enroll at UConn in the fall and Huskie coaches feel the big fellow can help the football team. A dozen applications have been received for the vacant varsity basketball coaching post at Manchester High. Jim Garrett, who once coached the high school football coaching job, signed on the weekend at head coach of the Houston Texans in the World Football League. He was with the New York Giants as a defensive coordinator. Quite a heavy sports weekend, NBA and ABA playoffs on the hardwood, WHA and NHL playoffs on ice, major league baseball, Masters Golf and World Cup Tennis.

Cleveland Park Home Run Haven, 12 Recorded as Yanks-Tribe Split

NEW YORK (UPI) — Who says Cleveland isn't a nice place to visit? So what if it doesn't have the glamor of New York, the sophistication of San Francisco or the charm of New Orleans. It has something better than all three if you happen to be a major league ballplayer. It's got a "Little League" fence at Municipal Stadium. At the beginning of last season the Indians' officials reduced the distance to the fence in the power alleys at the old ballpark by 20 feet, cutting the measurements from 385 feet to 365 feet, in an effort to increase home run production. The results were staggering. There were 192 home runs hit at Municipal Stadium last year, more than in any major league park except Atlanta. That marked an increase of 54 homers from the previous season when the fence was in its old position. Thus, what was once one of the toughest parks in the American League in which to hit home runs became the easiest. The real fact that the opposition hit more home runs there than the Indians last year did not seem to bother Tribe management, and the fence has been left in the same position for this season. So far baseballs have been disappearing faster than White House tapes at a rate of one per second.

The Indians have played only six games at home and already there have been 21 home runs popped over the short fence. More than half of that total—12 to be exact—were hit Sunday as the New York Yankees split a doubleheader with the Indians. The Yankees, who ranked sixth in the AL last year in homers, hit nine on the day, including six in a 9-5 opening game victory, while the Indians countered with three, including a pair by Dave Duncan in the nightcap that led to a 9-4 triumph. Red Sox 7, Tigers 5
Dwight Evans, John Kennedy and Carl Yastrzemski homered off Mickey Lolich within the first three innings and the Red Sox hung on to defeat the Tigers. Evans hit a two-run homer in the first, Kennedy added a solo shot in the second and Yastrzemski tagged a solo blast in the third to send Lolich to his third straight defeat. Ed Brinkman had a homer for Detroit. Angels 6, White Sox 3

Frank Robinson hit the 55th homer of his career and also singled home another run in leading the Angels over the White Sox. Rookie lefthander Frank Tanana notched his second win with six innings of work while Stan Bahnsen was tagged with his second loss. The White Sox, who got a solo homer from Ed Herrmann, now have lost six of their first seven games. Twins 8, Royals 0
Bobby Darwin hit a grand slam homer, triple and two singles to power the Twins past the Royals. Darwin, boosting his batting average to .500, stalked Bert Blyleven to a four-run lead in the second inning with his third career grand slam and Blyleven, with relief help from Bill Campbell, notched his second victory. Blyleven suffered a muscle strain above the right elbow in the eighth inning and was forced to leave, but the injury was not believed to be serious. Oakland 4-2, Texas 2-10
Reggie Jackson unloaded a pair of homers and drove in all four Oakland runs in the opener while helping Catfish Hunter to his second victory. All five of Jackson's homers this season have come against Texas. In the nightcap Dave Nelson drove in six runs for Texas with a three-run homer, single and sacrifice fly and Ferguson Jenkins notched his second triumph with a route-going seven-hitter.

Toy Cannon Hot With Big Volleys

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jimmy Wynn, nicknamed the "Toy Cannon," peppered the Houston Astros with long range volleys Sunday after unloading repeated verbal blasts at the club's management during the off-season. Wynn, traded from Houston to the Los Angeles Dodgers during for Claude Osteen, blasted a solo home run Sunday to highlight a 15-hit attack as the Dodgers downed Houston 7-2. "I'm going to try 200 per cent against Houston this season," Wynn said. "I'd rather hit one against this team (Houston) than against any other team. You always try to beat the team that trades you." Wynn went hitless the first two games of this series but hit a home run and a triple and scored three runs in Sunday's victory. Cesar Cedeno climbed the left-center field wall at the 390-foot mark to rob Wynn of another extra-base hit. "My whole family was here for this game," Wynn added. "I just decided to stop trying and impress people today and play relaxed. You have to be relaxed to do anything." The 5-foot-9 outfielder, who batted a disappointing .220 with Houston last season, has set rather high standards for his first season in a Los Angeles uniform. "I'm going to hit between 30 and 35 homers, drive in 100 runs and steal between 35 and 40 bases," Wynn predicted. Wynn, who has assumed the role of team leader on this young Dodger club, entered this season, with 223 career home runs. His home run Sunday was to be one of the most satisfying he has ever hit. In other National League games San Diego topped San Francisco, 6-5, Philadelphia swept a doubleheader from the Mets, 2-1 in 11 innings and 5-3 and Pittsburgh won 8-4 before bowing to St. Louis 5-3. Cincinnati at Atlanta and Montreal at Chicago were rained out. Phils 2-5, Mets 1-3
Mike Anderson's two-out double scored two runs and climaxed a three-run ninth inning Philadelphia rally which brought the Phils their victory over the Mets after Bill Robinson's 11th inning suicide squeeze bunt gave them a win in the opener.

Strike Zone Not Ready For Marichal in Debut

OSTON (UPI) — Juan Marichal was unable to locate the strike zone in his first appearance for the Red Sox but Manager Darrell Johnson took the shaky performance in stride. "His lack of control was a lack of being out there on the mound," Johnson said of the veteran right hander following Sunday's 7-5 victory over the Detroit Tigers. Marichal gave up five hits and four walks before being relieved by Dick Drago in the fourth inning after the Tigers had scored their five runs off the former National League star. "He is going to continue to go out there and after two or three times I'll make a judgment on him," said Johnson. "He hadn't pitched in two weeks so he couldn't be expected to have the shaky performance in stride. Marichal said his curve, slider and screwball were breaking too much or not at all. "I want to even close with most of them," said Marichal, who compiled a 238-100 record in 14 years with the San Francisco Giants. The Red Sox won because Marichal's three successors — Drago, Roger Moret and Diego Segui—all had excellent control.

Pressure on Knicks After Loss to Celts

BOSTON (UPI) — The pressure will be on the Knicks Tuesday when they meet the Boston Celtics in the second game of their National Basketball Association Eastern Conference playoff but, if it's worth anything, history is on New York's side. The Celtics slugged the Knicks with a high pressure defense Sunday to win the first of the best-of-seven series 113-88 in a virtual replay of the last year's playoff opener.

The Knicks, however, nearly ran the Celtics out of New York in the second game of the series, then went on to take their second NBA championship in four years.

JOE LOUIS
"The Brown Bomber"

JIM BEAM
You can't improve on the original.

Two one-of-a-kind originals, JOE LOUIS heavy weight champion of the world 1937-1949, JIM BEAM the world's best bourbon.

If they are to repeat, the New Yorkers will have to revive some very cold shooting arms. The Knicks shot a miserable 33 per cent Sunday while the Celtics hit at a 51.8 per cent clip.

Boston had the game all but wrapped up midway through the third period behind the shooting and passing of John Havlicek and Jo Jo White. Havlicek had 25 points and 12 assists, many of them to White, who wound up with 22. Walt Frazier led the sluggish Knicks with 22.

The Celtics remember last year's playoff failure but are confident that history won't repeat itself. "The same thing happened last year. We're well aware of what happened in the second game. I'm pretty sure we won't let it happen again," said Dave Cowens, who was the game's high rebounder with 13 despite leaving midway through the third period with five fouls.

"I think we're better than we were last year and the Knicks have been hurting without Willis (Reed). But they strengthened themselves this year by playing guys like (Henry) Bibby and (John) Gianelli," said Havlicek.

The Celtic captain, however, dismissed the possible influence of last year's playoffs on this year's teams.

"I don't listen to that stuff. I'm simple-minded. I just go out there and play as long as I can and as hard as I can. If I wanted to live in the past, I could say, 'well, I was on six championship teams,'" he said.

Celtics Coach Tom Heinsohn credited the victory to his team's tough defense. "When you're playing off your man, he's got a better chance of scoring than when a guy is in his jersey — that's what we were doing," Heinsohn said. "Now, we go out and do the same thing Tuesday."

Bruins and Flyers Sweep NHL Series

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Boston Bruins and Philadelphia Flyers don't believe in prolonging the agony. The Bruins and Flyers both wrapped up their National Hockey League quarterfinal Stanley Cup playoffs Sunday in four straight games and each used a dramatic sudden death overtime goal to complete their sweep.

Ken Hodges earned Boston a 4-3 victory over the Toronto Maple Leafs with his second goal of the game at 1:57 of the overtime session and Dave Schultz got Philadelphia a 4-3 triumph over the Atlanta Flames with a goal at 5:40 of the sudden death period.

Boston, the favorite to win the Stanley Cup, will meet the winner of the Chicago-Los Angeles series in the semifinal while Philadelphia will play the winner of the Montreal-New York playoff.

Chicago missed a chance to clinch its series with Los Angeles in four straight Sunday night when the Kings rebounded for a 5-1 triumph. New York evened its series with Montreal at two games apiece by beating the Canadiens 6-4.

The inexperienced Maple Leafs sent their game into overtime with only 1:17 left in regulation play when rookie Swedish import Inge Hammarstrom scored; but Hodges quickly retaliated in the overtime when he deflected defenseman Carol Vadnais' pass from the blue line past Doug Favell.

Relaxed Whalers Triumph

CHICAGO (UPI) — There was no tomorrow so goalie Al Smith said he "just relaxed and played my best game" for the New England Whalers.

All he did was shut out the hottest team in the World Hockey Association, the Chicago Cougars, 2-0 to tie the best of seven quarterfinal playoff series at three games apiece.

And the victory returned the home ice advantage to the defending WHA champion Whalers for Tuesday night's series finale in Springfield, Mass.

Smith, who played in every one of the Whalers' 15 playoff games last year while they coasted to the Avco Cup, kicked out 31 shots Sunday to gain his first playoff shutout ever.

"The fact that there was no tomorrow made me relax and play my best game," he said.

"When our backs were to the wall, our team played its best. We were loose for the game, even coming over on the bus when Jim Dorcy broke us up with his jokes."

Coach (Ron) Ryan told us that if we lost, we would lose fighting," Smith said. "We weren't going to let that penalty kill us — in fact I think it picked up the whole team. I'm looking for another great game Tuesday night."

Double Track Loss Suffered By Indians

Going down to a double defeat Saturday was the Manchester High track team 81-83 to East Hartford High and 78 1/2 to 86 1/2 to Hall High of West Hartford at Pete Wagon Track.

Outstanding performers for Manchester were juniors Kevin Scholasy and Jeff Lumpkin. Scholasy won the one-mile run and placed second in the two-mile while Lumpkin was second in the 100-yard dash and won the 220-yard dash.

Now 0-3 for the season, Manchester entertains Windham Tuesday.

Manchester vs Hall:
100-yd dash: 1. Lumpkin (M), 2. Goodreau (H), 3. Berman (M).
200-yd dash: 1. Scholasy (M), 2. Uberg (H), 3. Prosser (H).

Superior Play Showing For Player in Masters

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — Gary Player called the shot that wrapped up his second Masters championship. The little South African was standing in the 17th fairway with his caddy, Eddie McCoy.

"It was hitting the ball so well and putting so badly. I said, 'Eddie, we're not going to putt this one.'" Player, winner here in 1961, asked for a nine-iron and placed the ball just eight inches from the pin to lock up his two-stroke victory.

The Masters winner had an overall unimpressive 70 in Sunday's final round. But his 10-under total of 278 was his best ever at the Augusta National.

It was good enough to beat third-round leader Dave Stockton and Tom Weiskopf who finished at 280 and good enough to beat pre-tournament favorite Jack Nicklaus, first-round leader Jim Colbert and Hale Irwin, all at 281.

"I've won seven major championships, but I played far superior (from tee to green) in this tournament than in any of the others," said Player. "However, I putted like a dweeb and that was a little frustrating."

Player also has won PGA, two British Open and one U.S. Open titles. Sunday's victory tied him with Harry Vardon, the pre-World War I British star, for most major American titles.

The $35,000 he earned Sunday made him the first foreigner to win more than $1 million in U.S. golf play. "I passed $1 million in golf earnings three years ago," he said, referring to the additional money he has earned in tournaments elsewhere. "They're not counting that, but, friends, it spends just the same."

Player missed last year's Masters because he was recuperating from two operations — one on his bladder and the other to remove a cyst from his left leg.

He didn't return to the United States in 1973 until late May, when he played in the Atlanta Golf Classic 170 miles west of here, and he didn't regain his normal touch until he won the Southern Open, again in Georgia, in September. "I tried to play too soon after the operation," Player admitted. "I didn't feel very strong."

But after winning the Southern, Player, 37, also won the World Match Play in England and three other tournaments in his native South Africa and his victory here was his 96th worldwide in a 27-year career.

"I travel more than any other athlete in the world," insisted Player. "This is one of the reasons why I don't play more tournaments in this country. I have many commitments elsewhere."

Player, traveling with his wife and five of his six children, was in a hurry to get out of town after the Masters. His next tournament is in the Spanish Open which begins on Wednesday.

It will be a month before Player returns to the States. After Spain, he is playing in Japan and South Africa and his next tournament in this country will be the Colonial at Ft. Worth in Mid-May.

Player will be at Colonial because that has been "designated" as one of three tournaments this year that all of the top PGA pros must enter.

"I don't like the idea of a designated tournament," Player said. "It makes it difficult for a foreign golfer. I have to travel 10,000 miles and I have six kids. It's tough. I want to play in this country, but I also have to play at home."

Maurice Bernbridge of England, a sensation here Sunday when he tied the Masters record with a closing 8-under par 64, also is playing in Spain this week.

Bernbridge at first planned to leave without waiting to see how he stood with his 283 but stuck around for the awards ceremony. He wound up tied for ninth with Hubert Green, a stroke behind Bobby Nichols and Phil Rodgers.

Arnold Palmer had a 67 Sunday, his best Masters round in 12 years, and tied at 284 with Bruce Crampton, Jerry Heard and Dave Hill. And Sam Snead, the all-time 62-year-old wonder, was par or better all four days and had a 288.

Player started the final round one stroke behind Stockton but caught up on the par 3 sixth hole with a birdie and never trailed again. Weiskopf, three strokes back at the start of the round, caught Player at the 10th but he fell back again on the very next hole when he put the ball in the water.

"I felt like (Miami Dolphins fullback) Larry Csonka ran over me when I saw that splash," said Weiskopf. "It was the worst feeling I ever had."

Nicklaus was furious at himself. "I had a 69 without hitting many good shots," said Nicklaus who appeared to be making a run at Player when he eagled the 13th hole. "It could just as easily have been a 66."

"I'm not feeling very good inside. I'm mad at myself for making two bogeys. I'm not supposed to do that. I was making some bad golf swings and that's stupid."

Millionaire Player said he needed the victory here to come out ahead on his trip.

"I brought my wife and five of our children, leaving the one-year-old at home with my parents," he said. "Last week, at Greensboro, I won $3,400 and just broke even."

Bogied 14th, 16th Holes Bad Golf Swings Inexcusable — Jack

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — Golf is a humbling game. Arnold Palmer found out when he double-bogeyed the 14th hole here in 1961 and lost by one stroke. Nicklaus made the same discovery Sunday when he bogeyed the 14th and 16th holes.

Ironically, Gary Player was the benefactor both times. "I made two bogeys and I'm not supposed to do that," said the 34-year-old Nicklaus. "I was making bad golf swings and that's inexcusable."

Nicklaus, who started Sunday's final round five shots out of the lead, moved into a tie with Player at eight-under par when he sank a 33-foot snake for an eagle 3 on the par 5 15th hole. Seconds later, Player bogeyed the par 3 12th and two of the most legendary names in the game were locked on top.

"At that point, it was a whole new tournament," said Nicklaus. "I hadn't played all that well, but I hadn't taken a bogey up to that time."

Jack promptly rectified that, three-putting the 14th for his first.

"That was slightly disappointing, you might say," he added.

On the par 5 15th, Nicklaus' second shot lodged in mud near the creek in front of the green. He took off his right sock, replaced his shoe "for leverage" and went after it. "I still went in up to my knee," he said. "What I really did was swing at it and close my eyes."

That shot, which amounted to a last roar from Nicklaus, stopped six inches from the pin. Jack, without replacing his sock, stepped up and tapped it in for a birdie 4.

"Now I'm back in the tournament again," he said. "But not really. Because Player, meanwhile, had birdied the 13th and taken a one-shot lead on the field."

The 190-yard, par 3 16th was the final blow to Jack's bid for a fifth Masters' championship and a 15th major title. He bunkered his 6-iron in front of the green, which he said he caught a "bad heavy," barely pitched out and two-putted for a 2.

And that was the last of Jack Nicklaus and the 1974 Masters. He parred the last three holes, finished three shots behind Player with 69-71-69-281 and earned $110,833.

"Not bad for a week's work. But not what Nicklaus and his legions were expecting, either."

Weather Cuts School Baseball

You don't fool with Mother Nature. The fickle lady played havoc last week with the scholastic baseball schedule, forcing postponement of 12 of 15 contests. Only East Catholic, Manchester and South Windsor were able to avoid her wrath.

Weather permitting, 1-0 Manchester High journeys to West Hartford today to engage CCL rival Conard High. Also slated today is Rockville at South Windsor. South Windsor opened with an upset victory over Bloomfield while Rockville had a Saturday date washed out.

Tentatively slated Tuesday are Bulkeley at East Catholic, Rocky Hill at RHAM; and Cromwell at Bolton. This is RHAM's fourth try at an opener and Bolton's third.

Track meets scheduled Tuesday find Manchester going to Windham/Rockville and East at St. Bernard. The Eagles are also slated to begin their golf season against Wednesday's schedule in Groton.

Friday's schedule has Manchester hosting Maloney, Manchester Community College at Mohagan Community College in Norwich, South Windsor at Simsbury, Plainville at Rockville, Portland at RHAM, Bolton at Coventry, and Stafford at Ellington.

Six baseball games are scheduled Friday. Cheney Tech attempts to open its season at home against Windham Tech while Manchester is at Bristol Eastern and East Catholic at Ledyard. Also on tap are Rockville at Windsor Locks, East Hampton at Bolton and Coventry at Bacon Academy.

Track action finds Coach Dick Williams' Manchester combine against Bristol Eastern and Enfield at Wigen Track, East Coventry and South Windsor tractors are at the Eastern Connecticut Relays Friday and Saturday.

Saturday's baseball schedule has MCC against Northwestern Community College at Mt. Nebo in a doubleheader. East is at East Hartford and South Windsor at Newington. MCC has a Sunday date in New Haven against South Central Community College.

There are 24 baseball games along with track and golf events scheduled. And it all depends on Mother Nature whether or not any of them get played.

Year of Dark Horse In Boston Marathon

BOSTON (UPI) — This truly could be the year of the dark horse in the Boston Marathon.

Only two former winners of the 78-year-old race were entered and the longest-ever field of 1,956 was packed with runners capable of winning — depending on weather conditions.

A total of 256 contenders from outside the United States — another record — were among the starters. Among the group was 157 from Canada and 48 from West Germany.

The favorite among the women was Mrs. Michiko Gorman of Los Angeles, holder of the world's fastest ladies' marathon at 2:46:30. Her chief challengers were Mrs. Nina Kosciak of Melville, N.Y., who won the Boston Marathon two years ago and was second last year, and West Germany's Christa Koferschlager, a 24-year-old bookkeeper, ran a 2:59 marathon last October in her first and only try at the distance.

Newcombe jumped off to an early lead in the opening set of the singles championship Sunday with a forehand shot which broke Filler's service in the second game. He broke the Chilean's service again in the eighth game.

But in the second set, Newcombe appeared to tire in the humid, 85-degree heat and Filler kept him pined in the back court, unable to move into his favorite serve and volley.

However, Newcombe shook off his fatigue in the third set for an easy victory.

Fourth Tennis Victory Of Year for Newcombe

NEWCOMBE (UPI) — Newcombe jumped off to an early lead in the opening set of the singles championship Sunday with a forehand shot which broke Filler's service in the second game. He broke the Chilean's service again in the eighth game.

But in the second set, Newcombe appeared to tire in the humid, 85-degree heat and Filler kept him pined in the back court, unable to move into his favorite serve and volley.

However, Newcombe shook off his fatigue in the third set for an easy victory.

Sammy Davis

HARTFORD (UPI) — The 1974 version of the Sammy Davis Jr. — Greater Hartford Open will be officially kicked off Monday with a reception and dinner at the home office of the Connecticut General Insurance Company. The golf tournament will be held Aug. 15-18. Last year, the tourney cleared $43,000 in profits that went to a number of projects in Hartford.

Big Payoff

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — The Masters champion Gary Player paid off his caddy handsomely Sunday. Eddie McCoy, 32, who caddied for Player for the fourth time in the Masters, was paid $3,500 and given a set of golf clubs, shirts and slacks.

Player received $35,000 for winning the tournament.

Combination of Evert, Clay Too Much for Foe

SARASOTA, Fla. (UPI) — The combination of Chris Evert and a clay court apparently is just too much for Australia's Evonne Goolagong.

"I'm not going to play, but I cannot beat Chris on this kind of surface, or on any kind of that matter," Miss Goolagong said.

And it took the blonde, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., teen-ager less than an hour Sunday to defeat Miss Goolagong in the final of the $50,000 First Fedex Women's Tennis Classic and win the $10,000 first prize.

Miss Goolagong made a match of it in the first set, doing what no one else could do in the Sarasota Classic — win four games from the 19-year-old Miss Evert, who took the set 6-4.

But in the second and final set, Miss Evert kept Miss Goolagong beyond the base line and won it 6-0.

"When Evonne started making mistakes it helped give me confidence," Miss Evert explained.

Survey Shows Most Crimes Go Unreported in Cities

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A federal survey shows that the crime rate in five major U.S. cities is several times higher than police think, because most crimes are never reported.

In Chicago, Detroit, Los Angeles and New York the survey found the actual number of crimes was two or three times the number reported to police. In Philadelphia, it was five times the number reported.

The report was compiled for the Justice Department's Law Enforcement Assistance Administration (LEAA). Census Bureau experts interviewed about 22,000 residents and 2,000 business firms in each city to obtain the crime data. The study was limited to the year 1972 and covered crimes within the cities' official boundaries, excluding their suburbs.

LEAA Administrator Donald E. Santarelli told reporters the mass interviewing, with follow-up interviews by statistical experts, was "a new instrument that accurately measures the incidence of crime."

"The crime survey results demonstrate that in an astounding number of instances, Americans simply do not think it is worthwhile to report to public authorities that they have been victims of criminal acts," he said.

"In my judgment the data transmits a strong message of public apathy toward its criminal justice institutions bordering on contempt," Santarelli said.

The Census Bureau workers filled out a 20 page questionnaire in each interview and included the reasons given by crime victims for not notifying police.

The reason given in 34 per cent of the cases involving robbery or assault was that the victim felt nothing could be done about it because of apparent lack of proof.

This was followed by "not important enough," 28 per cent; "police would not want to be bothered," 8 per cent; "too inconvenient," 5 per cent; "private personal matter," 5 per cent; "afraid of reprisal," 2 per cent; "reported to someone else," 7 per cent; and other reasons, 12 per cent. The percentage ratings for reasons given in other types of crimes were similar.

The percentages of crimes that had been reported to police varied little from city to city for some types of crimes but varied widely for others. For example, the range for rape and attempted rape varied from 46 per cent in Los Angeles to 61 per cent in New York.

The study is part of a $10 million long range project that is aimed at seeking out the causes of public apathy, Santarelli said. The LEAA is already trying to improve public responsiveness through its "Citizen Initiative" project.

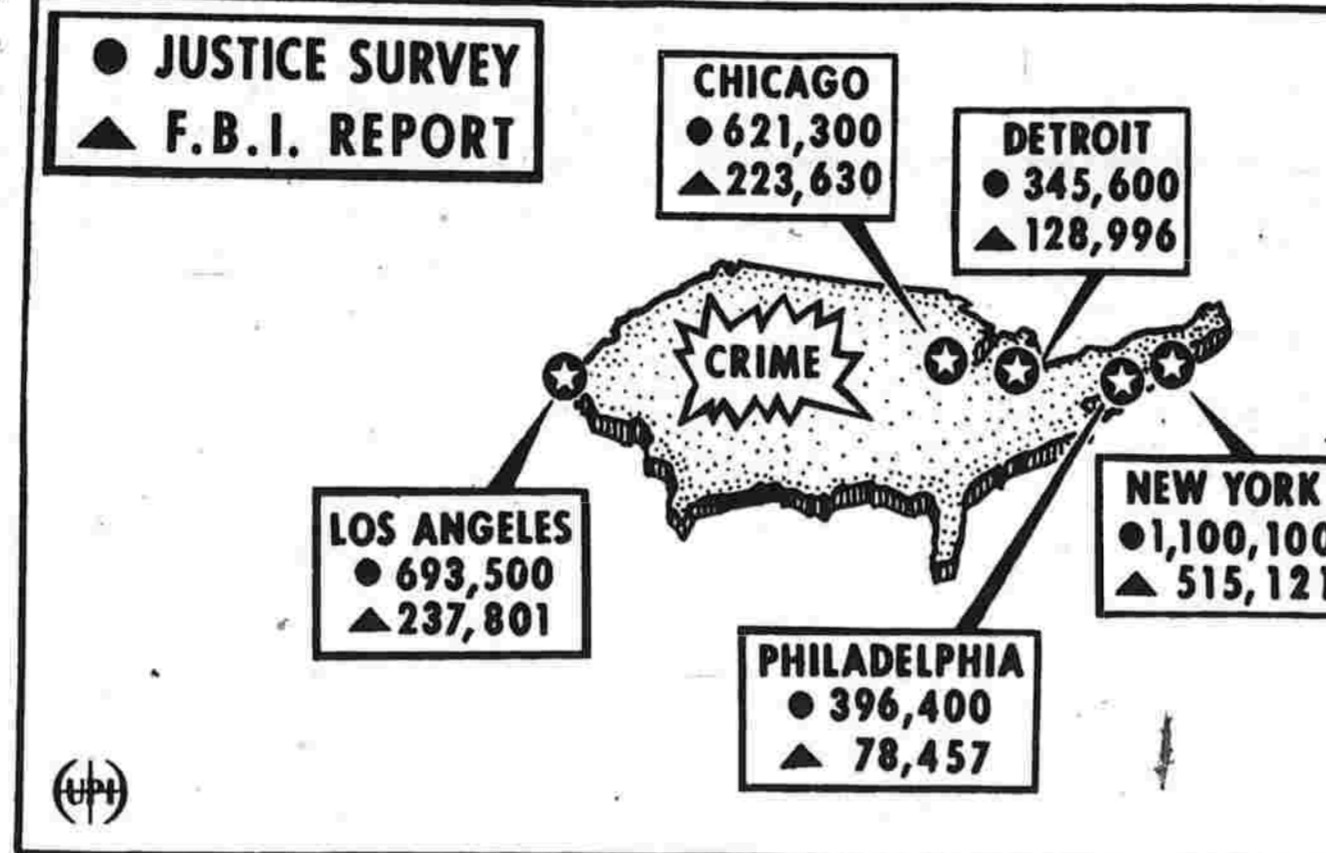

Heretofore the national crime barometer has been the FBI Uniform Crime Report (UCR), which is limited to crimes that are reported to police. Except for a recent forerunner survey, the new study is the first one to be based on a canvass of crime victims.

Following are the numbers of crimes the LEAA survey showed for the five cities in 1972 compared to the numbers that had been reported to police:

Chicago — LEAA 621,300, UCR 129,896.
Detroit — LEAA 345,600, UCR 128,996.
Los Angeles — LEAA 693,500, UCR 237,801.
New York — LEAA 1,100,100, UCR 515,121.
Philadelphia — LEAA 396,400, UCR 78,457.

Santarelli declined to speculate why the proportion of unreported crime was so much higher for Philadelphia than for the other cities.

Some comparisons shown by the LEAA yardstick:

Mitchell Accuses His Accusers

NEW YORK (UPI) — John N. Mitchell, the one-time power in the Nixon administration, continues today his calm but solemn affirmation to a federal court jury in his obstruction of justice case that not he, but his accusers, were the liars, and that he never tried to "fix" anything.

"It's one man's word against another's," his attorney, Peter Fleming Jr., told the jury in opening his case six weeks ago. "The government alleges perjury (lying to the grand jury) six times."

They say: "Aha, that's false — because Harry Sears says X, and John Mitchell says Y," because John Sears says X and John Mitchell says Y. Use your common sense, your judgment of character."

The defense now has Mitchell on the stand to show that character.

In his initial testimony last week, the former attorney general flatly contradicted the testimony of Sears, his former friend and one-time New Jersey Republican leader, and Dean, the former counsel to the President who admitted he was known as "Mitchell's man in the White House."

They were the main witnesses out of 40 government witnesses in its attempt to send Mitchell, 60, and former Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans, 66, to prison on charges of using "deceit, craft, trickery and dishonest means" in trying to impede a federal investigation of the international manipulations of financier Robert Vesco.

They are charged with selling their political influence in exchange for Vesco's secret $200,000 contribution to the 1972 Nixon campaign and of lying to the grand jury about the alleged conspiracy.

Lieberman Proposes Elected PUC

HARTFORD (UPI) — Members of the state Public Utilities Commission should be elected rather than appointed, Sen. Joseph I. Lieberman, D-New Haven, says.

"The activities of the utilities industry are so important to the daily lives of our citizens that those who regulate that industry should be directly responsible to the people whom they serve," Lieberman said Saturday.

At present, the members of the commission are appointed by the governor with the consent of either house of the legislature.

Under a bill proposed by the legislative Banks and Regulatory Activities Committee two more members will be added to the PUC for a total of five commissioners. The measure dealing with fuel cost adjustment would also require the PUC to hold public hearings before a utility company can pass an extra charge for high fuel cost to the consumer.

Lieberman said he will offer his proposal as an amendment to the committee bill.

New England Called Safest For Off-Shore Oil Drilling

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Offshore oil drilling could begin in a rich New England commercial fishing area with less environmental and human risk than other areas of the Atlantic coast, the Council on Environmental Quality (CEQ) has concluded.

In a summary of findings, not yet public but released to UPI by Rep. Gerry Studds, D-Mass., the CEQ says two proposed offshore drilling sites in the eastern Georges Bank area pose the least degree of risk to marine, coastal and human environments resulting from exploration of the outer continental shelf (OCS).

The highest risk areas, the CEQ said, involve the development of the northern Baltimore Canyon in the middle Atlantic coast area and the southeast Georgia embayment which stretches from northern Florida to South Carolina.

Fewer risks would face developers of the central and southern Baltimore Canyon and western Georges Bank.

In reaching its conclusions, the CEQ reported the following considerations in each of the areas studied:

Georges Bank — The CEQ said the thick section of sediments which have the greatest likelihood of oil and gas deposits lies farther from shore than any of the other OCS areas studied. The report said the probability of oil spills or discharges reaching the shore from drilling sites in the eastern part of the bank are generally low.

Because the oil would have been exposed to long periods at sea, the CEQ concluded, it would be less toxic than freshly spilled oil.

Although the oil spills or discharges could damage the fisheries, "irreversible and widespread damage does not appear likely. The Georges Bank fisheries, however, are a valuable resource and can only be adequately protected by stringent controls on discharges and operations," the CEQ said.

In the western section of the bank, discharged or spilled oil could reach the shore 35 to 50 per cent of the time in a much shorter time period. But the CEQ said the "physical persistence of oil on the rocky shores of New England would, in general, be less damaging than in the salt marshes and wetlands of the middle and south Atlantic."

Pollution Expected

OCS exploration in the New England area has the potential of providing 30 per cent of the region's crude oil requirements and 70 per cent of the natural gas demand by 1985. Some 19,000 new jobs could be created although local impacts of the development could be "severe."

"Significant increases in both air and water pollutants can be expected in local areas even assuming the best available acceptable socio-economic or environmental pressures," the report said.

Baltimore Canyon — In this area, the thickest sections of sediments, or most likely location of oil and gas deposits, run parallel to the coast some 50 to 75 miles offshore. The chance of oil spills or discharges reaching the shore from drilling sites in the northern part of the bank are generally low.

"Oil released 25 miles south of Long Island in the spring would come ashore 75 per cent of the time; oil released 10 miles south would come ashore 95 to 100 per cent of the time during that season," the report said.

The CEQ also noted that the Baltimore Canyon sites are near coastal wetlands and salt marshes which serve as prime nesting and feeding areas for waterfowl. Oil reaching the salt marshes could persist for up to 10 years. In addition, oil spills in northern Baltimore Canyon would tend to beach in northern New Jersey and Long Island, impacting some of the nation's most intensively used recreational areas," the report said.

Regional Needs

The CEQ estimated that potential oil and gas production from the Baltimore Canyon could provide about 10 per cent of regional oil and natural gas requirements by 1985. "This production would represent an important contribution to the region's energy needs but would not substantially offset the expanded needs for supplemental energy supplies in the region," the report said.

As in New England, the CEQ concluded, OCS development would "appear to cause unacceptable socio-economic or environmental pressures."

The chance of oil spills or discharges reaching the shore from drilling sites in the northern part of the bank are generally low.

"Oil released 25 miles south of Long Island in the spring would come ashore 75 per cent of the time; oil released 10 miles south would come ashore 95 to 100 per cent of the time during that season," the report said.

The severe storm conditions, high waves and hurricane potential of the southern Atlantic coast also present problems, the CEQ said. The report also

MACC News

By Sister Mary Patricia Executive Director

In Manchester, since 1968, we have had a group of Friends in Service Here, FISH. Approximately 80 people currently belong to this service group which has never officially organized — in the sense of meetings and bylaws. They serve. All those involved are volunteers who, according to their talents, give service that people in need, especially the elderly, may have transportation and neighborhood services. It is a simple concept simply applied.

FISH was conceived in 1961 at St. Andrew's, Old Headington, Oxford, England, using the early Christian symbol as identification. In the United States the first group was formed at the Church of Good Shepherd in West Springfield in 1964. Joanne Mikoliet of 385 Lyall St. will be happy to accept checks payable to FISH of Manchester.

"Let us take up one another's burdens and, so doing, live in hope and joy." So reads the booklet which briefly explains the history, structure and functioning of FISH of Manchester. No matter where you live in Manchester, a FISH volunteer stands ready to help. At the present time these helpers used assistance to continue their service.

donations, all of which have been relatively generous. Expenses are at a minimum since all work of all types is totally volunteer. The telephone answering service and the mailings comprise the monthly expense of about $60. This contrasts markedly with the quantity and quality of the services rendered.

Approximately one month's budget may now stand between the present type of existence and radical retrenchment of FISH. It is unthinkable that caring people in the area can knowingly allow this to occur. Yet how can they know unless someone tells them? It is for those who already give in the form of time, energy, talents and the cost of gas and upkeep of the car to share their concern so that others may serve through their donations. Mrs. Joanne Mikoliet of 385 Lyall St. will be happy to accept checks payable to FISH of Manchester.

By MICHAEL O. WESTER LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI) — Thermoelectric fusion, which could fuel industrial power systems and possibly transportation systems, may be usable within 20 years, if the engine ring problems can be mastered.

Dr. Magne Kristiansen and Dr. Marion Hagler, electrical engineering professors at Texas Tech University, are heading a $39,300 National Science Foundation grant for experimental studies in radio frequency plasma heating.

A phrase like "RF plasma heating" may not do much to small talk, but it could be vital to the world's long-range energy supplies, said Kristiansen.

Kristiansen and Hagler agree that there is new confidence in controlled fusion. Will Use Water "Most people believe the physics will work, but we still have uncertainty in regard to the engineering of the problem," Kristiansen said.

The prototype of a thermoelectric fusion power plant may be in operation by 1995, five years earlier than was predicted two years ago and 20 years after the first breeder reactor — which depends upon fusion for energy — is expected to be operable.

Hagler said fusion reactors use uranium for fuel, and there is a limit to the amount of raw fuel available because only about 7 per cent of the world's supply of uranium is of the right kind and can be used for this purpose.

"Fusion reactors will use water as a basic source of energy," Hagler said. "As conceived by the world's scientists and engineers who are working on the problem, a plasma of the hydrogen component of water would be heated to 100 million degrees Fahrenheit and held there for about a second."

FBI Seeking Patricia Hearst As Witness to Bank Robbery

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The FBI today sought Patricia Hearst as one of four rifle-toting women who held up a San Francisco bank Monday, shot two bystanders and escaped with more than $10,000.

Authorities said the 20-year-old kidnap victim may be joining forces with her captors. She said she was changed her name to "Tania."

A warrant was issued for Miss Hearst, granddaughter of famed newspaper founder William Randolph Hearst, as a material witness in the robbery.

Two men were seriously wounded, but both were reported in satisfactory condition at a hospital. They were Peter Markoff, 59, who operates a nearby liquor store, and Eugene Brennan, 70, who lives near the scene.

Is This Girl Patty?

Mother 'Can't Believe It'

LA PAZ, Mexico (UPI) — The mother of Patricia Hearst said today she cannot believe her daughter took part in the $10,000 holdup of a San Francisco bank.
