New Hope's New Director

Berman Director Of New Hope Manor

Robert D. Berman of Barry Rd., Coventry, has been named director of New Hope Manor, Inc., according to Mrs. Madeline Uccello, president of the organization.

New Hope Manor, 48 Hartford Rd., is a drug rehabilitation residence for girls ages 12 to 17.

Berman comes to this position from the Hartford Regional Out-Patient Clinic of the Alcohol and Drug Dependence Division of the Department of Mental Health where he was supervising counselor. He has also served as counselor for the Meriden Middle School System and the Blue Hills Hospital.

He is a member of the New England Conference on Crime and Delinquency.

Berman, 29, attended Brooklyn College, Brooklyn, N.Y., and New York University, New York City. He is married to the former Barbara Fogarty of Manchester.

New Hope Manor, founded in 1972 in Somers, is the first home in New England which concentrates on drug problems with teen-age girls. New Hope is housed in the 18-room Jesse Lee House on the former Cheney estate, now owned by South United Methodist Church.

The residence facility in Manchester was once owned by Miss Mary Cheney. Miss Cheney opened the first boarding house for young female teachers in the 19th century. She is well-known for her generous endowments to causes benefiting young people.

Mental Health Group Marks 66th Anniversary

HARTFORD (UPI) — Today marks the 66th anniversary of the birth of the National Association for Mental Health.

The national movement began in Connecticut in 1908 when a young New Havener, who had suffered three years in mental hospitals, invited 14 community leaders to meet in what is now the Yale Faculty Club.

The goal of the youth, Clifford W. Beers, was to get the community involved and the first meeting was attended by representatives of the church, school, university, bench, bar, hospital, general medicine, psychiatry and social work.

The second meeting, a month later, was attended by 108 citizens who drew up a constitution.

Its broad purposes were "to protect the mental health of the public at large, to improve conditions among those actually insane and confined, to encourage and aid the study of nervous and mental disorders in all their forms and relations and to disseminate knowledge concerning their causes, treatment and prevention."

Within the first year of its establishment, the association split up into two factions.

One, led by Dr. A. Ross Djefendorf, urged society to begin an "aftercare" committee.

Many former patients, he said, need the care of intelligent persons to help them after they have left the hospital and until they are reestablished in society.

"Unless patients are cared for very carefully," he said, they are apt to relapse and become chronic and then they are likely to remain the rest of their lives in institutions."

Other members tried to gain more financial aid for the state hospitals.

The combined group action resulted in a social worker being established at a state hospital to help patients return to the community. The mentally ill were kept out of jail pending commitment to state hospitals, and outpatient clinics were organized.

The predecessor of the Department of Mental Health, the Bureau of Mental Hygiene, began in 1920 as a result of the organization's social action program.

The body, which began its nationwide establishment a year after it was launched in Connecticut, is working for community based mental health services.

The symbol of the mental health movement is a bell, cast in 1953 from melted metal taken from chains and handcuffs once used to restrain mental patients.

The bell bears the inscription: "Cast from shackles which bound them, this bell shall ring out hope for the mentally ill and victory over mental illness."

Muskie: Only Whole Truth Can Avert Impeachment

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With top presidential aides indicating no more White House tapes or documents will be furnished House investigators, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie said today "only the truth and the whole truth" can help President Nixon in his effort to avert impeachment.

The House Judiciary Committee begins later this week examining privately evidence gathered by its 140-member legal staff before opening the impeachment hearings to the public — including live television — in about two weeks.

The committee has asked for scores of additional tapes and documents, beyond the 42 presidential conversations it subpoenaed. But White House aides Alexander M. Haig and James D. St. Clair said Sunday they felt the edited transcripts released last week was all the material the committee needed for its investigation.

"The people are in a position to judge for themselves the accuracy of the President's interpretation of the transcripts, and they are, I find, rejecting 'is interpretation,'" Muskie said.

Public Hearing Tonight On Zoning Proposals

By DOUG BEVINS

Manchester homeowners casually surveying a thick sheaf of proposed zoning regulations — subject of a public hearing tonight before the town's Planning and Zoning Commission (PZC) — may think they're losing a lot of rights.

The regulations appear to limit — and possibly severely restrict — such things as parking of cars, boats, and vacation trailers; ownership of dogs, horses, pigeons, and other animals; fences; tag sales; and home-conducted occupations.

But Town Planner J. Eric Potter, who drafted the proposed zoning amendments, said the new rules are only intended to update and clarify existing regulations. The limitations and restrictions in the proposed amendments have been contained in Manchester zoning regulations for some time, but they were just implied, he said.

The PZC's public hearings are scheduled to start at 7:30 at the Municipal Building Hearing Room.

The most significant change in the proposed amendments is the introduction of zoning regulations dealing with the keeping of horses, Potter said. Existing regulations don't even mention horses, Potter said, and there's been a lot of apprehension among townspeople — who are uncertain whether horses are legal — and among town officials, who enforce the regulations.

The proposed amendment concerning horses limits keeping of horses in residential zones to private use, but the amendment also provides for commercial uses (riding academies, livery stables, and breeding) in certain locations if requirements are met.

Potter said keeping of horses would be allowed in any residential zone, if the keeper meets a one-acre minimum rear yard size for up to two horses. For each additional horse, there must be another half-acre.

Also contained in the 24-page list of proposed amendments is a section enumerating the legal and illegal accessory uses in residential zones.

Among the limitations that might be placed on citizens if the amendments are adopted are:

- Parking of vehicles in residential zones would be limited to automobile used by residents of the dwelling, and no more than one commercial vehicle — which can't exceed one ton — can be parked on a lot.

- Residents could only park or store one boat on a lot, and the boat must be in a rear or side yard screened from adjacent lots.

- Parking or storage of vacation trailers would be subject to the same limit as boats, and the unoccupied trailer couldn't exceed 20 feet in length.

- An outdoor dog kennel would be limited to two dogs owned by the resident. There wouldn't be any restriction on the number of dogs that could be housed inside, of course.

- So-called roadside vegetable stands would be allowed but only during the agricultural sales season. When the season is over, the stand must be removed.

- Tag sales or garage sales, never before mentioned in zoning regulations, would be limited to five days each year. The goods offered for sale "shall consist of unwanted household items only."

- Accessory uses prohibited outright include keeping of livestock, horses, fowl or poultry, pigeons, and bees, unless requirements in specific residential zones are met.

- Home-conducted occupations would be subject to several restrictions. Enlargement of a house to accommodate the occupation would be prohibited, as would any wholesale or retail sales operation.

- Fences couldn't be higher than six feet, and barbed wire couldn't be used in any fence.

The proposed general section on residential zones also spells out several accessory uses which would be permitted, including greenhouses, garden sheds, playground equipment, hobby automobile rebuilding, swimming pools, and tennis courts for private use.

Also on tonight's PZC public hearing agenda are amendments to the Rural Residence Zone category, updating them and bringing them into line with the proposed general section; revision of other residence zone regulations to bring them into line; a second hearing on proposed general regulations regarding business zones, revised after comments made at a February hearing; and consideration of a subdivision consisting of three lots on Ashworth St., five lots on Grandview St., and 13 lots on E. Eldridge St.

UPCA Walkathon 'Memorable Day'

Some 1,400 young people participated in the United Cerebral Palsy Association "Walkathon" Sunday and Mrs. John D. Halotek, youth coordinator, estimates close to $27,000 was pledged.

Mrs. Halotek, who termed the entire day "heartwarming," said, "There was one young boy on crutches who has cerebral palsy, and he completed the entire 17 miles. He was about the last to arrive back at the high school (Manchester High School) and my husband chatted with him for some time." Mrs. Halotek's husband John is executive director of the United Cerebral Palsy Association of Greater Hartford. (The young man referred to was David Ryder of 190 Porter St. who is a student at Iling Junior High School.)

"Food was distributed along the way," Mrs. Halotek said, "and the youngsters consumed 3,000 hot dogs, 6,000 to 7,000 doughnut holes, and lots of soda."

She said she and her husband thought the participants were "among the greatest we have met anywhere."

"East Catholic High School students served the lunch, those who didn't walk; Dr. Kenneth L. Wichman, representing the Connecticut Podiatry Association, was on hand to ease tired feet; and the Red Cross administered to weary walkers when necessary," she said.

Mrs. Halotek said foods were purchased from Copaco in Bloomfield, the Coca-Cola Co. in East Hartford, Dunkin Doughnuts in Manchester, and Royal Ice Cream Co. of Manchester, all at discount prices.

She especially praised Royal Ice Cream Co. since she said they stepped in to help out when another ice cream company was unable to do the job.

"Walkers started to come back to the high school about 2:45 p.m.," she noted, "and Brian McDonald and his 'Electric Cowboy' played music for the group 'til 5."

Among the schools participating were: St. Rose's, East Hartford; Timothy Edwards and Ellsworth, South Windsor; Manchester High School, East Catholic High School, Assumption Junior High, St. James, Bennet Junior High, Iling Junior High, St. Bridget, and Howell Cheney Technical School, all of Manchester.

Mrs. Halotek cited several youngsters who gave considerable time and effort to the "walkathon," namely, David Jacobs of Manchester High School, Regis McKeough of East Catholic High, and Tom Toce and Ernest Fournier, both students at East Catholic High who reside in East Hartford.

"East Catholic had the greatest number of marchers," she said.

"Checkpoints were manned by students from MHS and East Catholic. The third checkpoint was ably handled by members of the Manchester Junior Women's Club and the fourth by Manchester National Guardsmen.

"The guardsmen including some military police, worked with Police Capt. (George) McCaughy and his men in patrolling the streets," she added.

"The enthusiasm of the youngsters was tremendous," Mrs. Halotek commented, "there was much merriment, youngsters encouraging others to walk on. It was a memorable day."

Petition Opposes Plan To Relocate Post Office

A plan to build a proposed new post office building at Vernon Center and eliminate the main building on Park St., Rockville, is being opposed by a number of Rockville residents who will present a petition to the town's meeting of the Town Council.

The relocation of the central post office is scheduled for discussion tonight by Paul Hanson, a representative of the U.S. Postal Service, Springfield, Mass. Hanson was scheduled to appear at the council meeting of April 15 but, through a misunderstanding, he did not appear and was heard, at that meeting and all strongly opposed the Vernon Center site for the new building.

The petition supports the location of a new, larger building in the Rockville section of Vernon. "We feel this is compatible with Rockville's urban character. We also feel this will generate needed economic activity while revitalizing an existing structure," the petition reads.

Several persons speaking at the April 15 meeting suggested that the present facility be expanded. The petitioners concur with this suggestion.

The land the Postal Service is considering for the new building is on the former Ecker property at Vernon Center, now owned by the town. The petitioners are urging the town not to sell the land for this purpose. Also at tonight's council meeting, Mayor Frank McCoy is scheduled to give a report on the status of the renovation of the Memorial Building.

Two years ago the town received a grant of $60,000 for remodeling of the building and the town allotted another $75,000. However, bids came in much higher. The plans were modified and rebid but the bids were still too high. A representative of the Planning Commission will report relative to the sale of land to the state, for the purpose of widening Rt. 6. It involves just a small parcel near the old railroad abutment which will be removed and the curve flattened in that area.

The Mayor's Trap

One has to wonder whether Mayor John Thompson didn't fall into a trap of his own doing when he designated a Mayor's Downtown Action Committee.

He has given his name and blessing to the committee, just as he has given his name and blessing to the office of mayor and chairman of the Board of Directors.

If he hasn't discovered it already, he's bound to sooner or later—the obvious fact he can't have it both ways; that he can't back the proposals of the committee which bears his name and still accept objections to those proposals by the taxpayers and electors who helped put him in office.

It isn't necessarily true that "What's good for Main St. is good for Manchester," just because Main St. merchants say it's true.

It wasn't necessarily true during the Eisenhower Administration that "What's good for General Motors is good for the United States," just because Charles E. Wilson, secretary of defense then and on leave from his job as president of General Motors, said it was true.

There's the Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce, and there's its legislative affairs committee. There's the Main St. Guild, and the Retail Trade Commission, and the Ad Hoc Committee to Reclaim Main St.

And, there's the Parkade Merchants Association, and the Manchester Property Owners Association, and the Committee opposing the Buckland Development by MAP Associates.

And, there are the civic clubs and organizations, and the churches, and the PTAs, and the one-time groups set up to fulfill only one project, and ... But, we'll have to stop. There's no limit to how many groups, clubs, organizations and whatever seek Board of Directors' help and money.

When it's all over, the Board of Directors finds out it can't win—its friends for the fulfillment of some projects become its enemies for others.

And it's seldom the board that gets credit for fulfilling its concern for community improvements. Invariably, it's the group, club or organization which gained the most by the improvement which takes the credit. Also invariably, it's the Board of Directors which has to take the blame when the improvement doesn't please other groups, clubs or organizations.

That's why we have to wonder whether Mayor John Thompson didn't fall into a trap of his own doing when he designated a Mayor's Downtown Action Committee.

A comparison will be made of many school budgets which are prepared merely for the convenience of accountants with little breakdown of costs of various programs, and PPBS which reveals identifying goals, and evaluates costs and effectiveness of the programs.

Dr. Hartley, an author of a book on the subject, will explain the advantages.

The dialogue has been planned by concerned people from the Conference of Churches and Temple Beth Shalom.

Those planning to attend are asked to bring any articles or books which might aid the discussion. The number and desirability of those attending this first dialogue will determine the direction future dialogues will take.

The goal of the dialogues is a greater understanding and cooperation among the people of these two great religions. With the crisis in the Middle East of such worldwide concern these days, the group felt it was more important than ever to try and understand each others' views and beliefs.

They Decide To Drop Girls EVANSTON, Ill. (UPI)—A chapter official of Phi Sigma Kappa at Northwestern University said last week that the fraternity's national headquarters took a dim view of a noble experiment in which six coeds have been sharing the quarters.

"The living of females in the fraternity house was not compatible with the aims of the national fraternity," the saddened spokesman said. "We had the choice of being dropped by the national headquarters or dropping the girls. We decided to drop the girls."

Comment Session

We don't mean to imply that Downtown Main St. doesn't need town help and that its decay will be stemmed, and even reversed, by the natural course of events.

That just isn't so. Main St. does need town help, and needs it quickly and positively. What we're trying to say is that the town's elected officials are exactly that—the town's elected officials, chosen by the electorate to fulfill their "concern for community improvements," as the Democrats pledged in their 1970 platform, and "to conduct a sound and viable form of government, based on established business practices," as the Republicans pledged in theirs.

It isn't only the Downtown merchants and the Mayor's Downtown Action Committee from whom the town's elected Board of Directors is getting proposals, recommendations and complaints.

Boat Safety Program Planned

The Manchester Recreation Department and the Manchester Power Squadron will co-sponsor a boating safety program, Friday at Clarke Arena from 8 to 9 p.m.

The purpose of the program is to help the public become more aware of the need for safe boating practices now that the boating season is upon us. Exhibits of various small craft and equipment furnished by local boat dealers will be shown and information given on how to comply with state boating regulations.

Participating in the program will be staff from the Manchester Recreation Department, members from the Manchester Power Squadron of the U.S.P.S., boating safety detachment of the United States Coast Guard; the boating section of the Department of Environmental Protection; instructors from local chapters of the American Red Cross and the Manchester High School Aquettes will give a presentation.

There will be "dry land" demonstrations and "in-water" demonstrations will be made. This family-oriented program is open to all in the greater Manchester area. Admission is free.

Tolland GOP Backs Lowered Budget

The Republican Town Committee, at its organizational meeting Thursday night, unanimously supported the Board of Selectmen budget with a tax increase of 5 mills, after a presentation by Steven Joslin, explaining the various appropriations and the financing.

According to RTG chairman Russell Stevenson, "It appears that a 5-mill increase will be sufficient to meet the proposed budget with some revenue and surplus adjustment."

"The Republicans believe this offers the taxpayers a cleaner choice between the Democrats' 11-mill, 25 per cent proposed increase and the Republicans' 5-mill, 10 per cent increase. They urge all taxpayers to attend Tuesday's town meeting and vote to accept the Board of Selectmen's approved budget with a 5-mill increase, which will be sufficient to cover Board of Education and selectmen expenditures for a grand total of $4,115,028."

"Stevenson believes that an 11-mill increase, as advocated by the Democrats would retard further industrial growth and hurt taxpayers living on a fixed income. He knows of few people who received an increase of 25 per cent in salaries last year and with the impact of inflation on our food and fuel bills, feels that a 5-mill increase should be palatable to our taxpayers."

Main Street Ownership

Manchester directors are faced with a difficult decision Tuesday evening as to whether the town should take back control of Main Street from the state.

We suppose Town Manager Robert Weiss is justified in informing the directors that in due time the cost of town ownership could be in excess of one million.

At the same time, though, no estimate is available from the state on what it might spend in the future if it keeps ownership.

Equally disturbing is that the state has made no financial estimate of what it has spent since it took ownership.

Nearly everyone agrees the town made a mistake when it turned over the streets to the state but that doesn't soothe the crisis that faces us today.

The big cost to the town would be rebuilding the street yet no one has told us when that would probably be necessary. We have heard reports of six years, eight years, and even 10 years and beyond.

The crux of the situation as we see it is as follows:

If the town regains control of Main Street, there is a strong possibility that downtown can still be revitalized. We might be able to keep some of the tax-paying businesses and maintain a fairly healthy tax base. In time, we might also be able to convince the state to consider another route for the movement of through traffic and particularly truck traffic.

If the state keeps control we can look forward to a street which will be utilized for moving traffic only and not one geared to downtown shopping.

If the town doesn't wish to take back ownership then we might as well fold all the committees, task forces, that have studied downtown Manchester nearly to death. It is just that simple.

The Impeachment Hearings

Within a few days the House Judiciary Committee will begin its formal hearings which could lead to its recommendation to the full House that President Richard M. Nixon be impeached.

Except for certain unspecified closed sessions, the hearings will be public and include televising.

As the hearing progresses each day, readers and viewers, should be cautioned against prejudgments.

What might appear to be drastically damaging or favorable testimony on one particular day, or from one particular witness, might not be so important in the perspective of the completed hearings. It will be the whole record, unfolded at the hearings, upon which the committee will have to make its judgment. This will not be easy in the political climate which surrounds any impeachment hearing.

We, as readers and viewers of this unfolding drama, would be wise to keep our own counsel until the hearings are completed.

While we have been opposed to televising the proceedings, it appears the committee favors it. The three major networks have announced plans to cover the hearings on a rotating basis. This is a decision in which we concur. Because of the historic importance of the hearings, it would have been irresponsible to start out with all three covering it and then lapsing to a rotational basis as has happened in the Senate Watergate hearings.

But the important thing is not how the hearings are presented to the American people but rather the ability of the American people to resist being swayed by dramatics rather than facts.

We believe the people can and will reserve their judgment until the hearings are completed and all the evidence can be weighed in a full perspective rather than on day-to-day revelations.

While we, the people, are not sitting as a jury, our attitude should be that of a jury seeking to establish beyond reasonable doubt the truth of the testimony we will be reading and hearing. For whatever the ultimate outcome of the impeachment proceeding, the impact will affect each of us in some way.

Let's keep our minds open. Let's remember the strength of this nation has been the ability of its people and its basic institutions to survive whatever challenge that may arise, depressions, wars or impeachments.

Open Forum Lonely Serviceman

To the editor:
I am writing this letter at 2 a.m. as I feel I must tell someone. I used to live in Manchester but I am now in the U.S. Air Force.

I have been in the service only eight months and being lonely is somewhat a part of my life, as it is for most everyone in the service away from home.

Sure, you get letters from home, but seldom from your "friends." People who live at home with their family will have a hard time knowing what I mean.

As faces and places change so quickly, your family and friends become a deep part of your life. You become attached to the mailbox for those letters that never seem to come.

Letters and a newspaper from home can do more for a person than I ever could have imagined.

I am hoping you can print this letter and would appreciate families and friends writing that serviceman somewhere in their life. He may be checking his mail box right now.

The Fat Freddie's Lose Another One

The Battle of Waterloo, they say, was won on the playing fields of Eton. About all that is being won on today's football or baseball field, besides transient glory, are lucrative contracts by the superstars to peddle shaving cream or pantyhose.

If the commercialization of sports in America were confined to the professionals, it would be one thing. They are, after all, in the business to make money by giving the public what it wants - a winning team.

But Americans not only demand that the gladiators whose salaries they pay must win, win. They demand it also of their college teams, their high school teams, even their Little Leagues, and woe to the coach who is unable to meet that demand.

More and more educators are beginning to question the assumption that competitive sports build character. They many, indeed, do just the opposite, especially if they are inspired by the kind of win-at-any-cost attitude many Americans seem to have identified with the word "sports."

One critic, a track athlete himself, has been impetuous enough to point out that the first definition of "sport" in the dictionary is "a pleasurable activity." Sport is fun, something worth doing. And, he suggests, anything worth doing is worth doing badly.

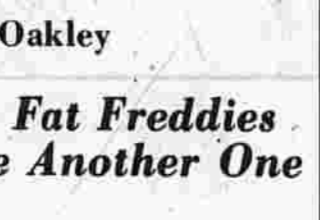

As it is, those of us not gifted with outstanding natural athletic ability are quite early on discouraged from participating in sports and are taught to be apologetic about our minimal skills.

Few critics, however, have gone as far as the former supervisor of elementary physical education in Ohio, who recently advocated that all public school team sports be abolished.
The purpose of physical education, as with other school programs, noted Ambrose Bierce, is to teach. But school team sports, he charged, neglect the very ones who need them most - the nonathletic "Fat Freddie's."
This will be heresy in the ears can't expect much from that guy.)

This is a situation that also makes it tough for champions of the free enterprise system, like me. It has, in fact, made me craven. I know capitalism is still right for the good old U.S., but I'm beginning to avoid well-intentioned but misguided people who want to redistribute the wealth. The news on the economic front is too ruddy bad. How can you rebut those statistics in one lousy night?

The inflation rate, for instance, in March, the Consumer Price Index rose another 1.1 per cent, equivalent to an annual rate of 13.2 per cent. Recession talk is in the air as the result of a drop in the Gross National Product of 3.8 per cent during the first quarter of 1974.

Impeachment Box Score: Hefty 70-30

Inevitably, the preliminary nose-counting of 100 U.S. senators on a possible impeachment vote has begun with respect to President Nixon. It does not bode well for him.

The reporter should emphasize at the outset that, with the exception of a few senators who by one means or another have openly telegraphed what they will probably do, any early counting does not constitute a poll in the normally understood sense. Most senators simply aren't talking for the record, or privately.

With exactly 67 Senate votes required for an impeachment verdict removing the President from office, I can, today, see a vote running at least 70-30 against him.

I arrived at this rough count by going carefully over the Senate roster in consultation with people who know many, if not all, of the diverse factors that will affect the final decisions these 100 men will have to make.

To categorize the senators with any clarity at all requires, of course, an assumption that the House this summer will vote with reasonable decisiveness for at least one or two major articles of impeachment, with the charges centering on obstruction of justice through attempted

Things Aren't Tough All Over

WASHINGTON - Let's see now. Inflation is the worst in 25 years, but things are not tough all over.

They are not tough for Richard C. Gerstenberg, chairman of the board of General Motors, who in 1973 was paid $923,000 in salary and bonuses, a neat $40,000 more than he got in 1972. Things are not tough for GM President Edward M. Cole. He dragged down $833,000 last year, after making do on $788,974 the year before.

Things are not tough for the big oil companies. Thanks to the energy crisis - real or imagined - their profits are the highest in history. And baby, that's real high. Things are not tough for Aluminum Co. of America, which reported its net profits more than doubled during the first quarter of 1974.

They are not tough for Eli Lilly & Co., which makes those drugs that cost so much at your local pharmacy. It reported record first-quarter sales and earnings. And so on, ad infinitum.

In short, things are tough only for the working stiff, and especially the middle-income working stiff who sends kids to college and is the main support of local charities. (Scanning Richard Nixon's income tax deductions, it's clear charities cover of Watergate, but stressed perhaps by gross misuse of campaign monies.

If the evidence as developed in House proceedings seems heavily riveted, the "count against the President in the Senate might go higher than indicated, leaving only a modest-sized cluster of rigid supporters standing against the verdict.

On the other hand, should the impeachment decision appear to allow for varying interpretations, Senate support for Mr. Nixon's removal could fall away to a level just a little below that needed.

Whereas a month or two ago, that level was being placed by some close Senate analysts at top of 60, it is figured today at 64 - only three short of removal. Another six senators are judged to be likely seigners of the political complexion, but the effect of a change on their own power. Some will think hard about how their vote will "sit" with people of importance they must "live with" back home. Some with an image, above all, for fairness and decency will have that personal reputation preeminently in mind.

All these factors are vital, yet they are being underplayed by some analysts who see the President still holding a "safe" margin of votes blocking his removal.

His reasoning is that, in a big sweep founded on compelling House evidence, the 12 would wind up voting against Mr. Nixon and that even some of the

Networks Plan Rotating Coverage of Hearings

NEW YORK (UPI) — The three major television networks have decided to rotate their live coverage of the House Judiciary Committee hearings on the impeachment of President Nixon, high network officials disclosed Saturday. The preliminary decision to rotate national coverage is similar to that of the 1973 Senate Watergate hearings — was made Friday in talks among executives of CBS, ABC and NBC, according to the officials. They said the official announcement would be made early next week after complete details of the rotation were worked out. The hearings are expected to begin in about two weeks. Under the rotational plan of the Senate Watergate inquiry, each network alternated coverage, but on any given day a network could opt for its own hearing schedule. The networks had simultaneous coverage earlier. The network decision came one day after the House committee decided to permit live coverage of the public proceedings, breaking a longstanding tradition. The Senate has invited television coverage of various committees. The Public Broadcasting System announced Friday it would cover the hearings on a delayed videotape basis during the evening, the same as it did during the Senate hearings. One network executive, William Sheehan, senior vice president for ABC News, said the decision to rotate was based on economic and programming reasons. Sheehan said complete coverage would wipe out commercial and programming schedules. He said rotation also would offer an alternative program schedule to viewers, many of whom objected to the bumping of daytime shows during the Senate Watergate hearings. One network executive estimated the cost of six weeks of House hearings for his network, including the hearings, news shows and specials, would be $1 million.

The Lighter Side: Bureaucratic Obesity Can Be Solved

By DICK WEST WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., proposed the other day that 16 government agencies be abolished on grounds they are useless or inefficient. I don't think there is any doubt the government could stand to lose a few agencies. Any one can tell just by looking at it that it has an agency surplus. And it is a well-established historical fact that governments last longer and function better if they avoid taking on excess bureaucracy. But bear in mind the U.S. government is close to 200 years old. For it to go on a crash reducing program, losing 16 agencies overnight, as Proxmire proposes, might be too great a shock to its system. A young government could drop that much bureaucracy with no harmful effects. But when a government is getting along in years, it should thin down gradually. I recommend that Proxmire and other members of Congress obtain a copy of "Dr. Fatkin's Revolutionary Reducing Plan," subtitled "The High Commission Way to Streamlined Governments." Dr. Fatkin has patterned his book after "Dr. Atkins' Diet Revolution," a long-time bestseller that introduces a new concept to losing weight. Rather than have you cut down on calories, as in conventional dieting, Dr. Atkins puts the blame on carbohydrates, which aren't very tasty anyhow. Similarly, Dr. Fatkin attacks the conventional view that the main cause of excess bureaucracy is an imbalance of regulatory commissions. The real culprit, he insists, is an overabundance of advisory councils. It has long been assumed that bureaucratic obesity begins when the government has more regulatory commissions than there are matters that need regulating. But under the reducing plan advocated by Fatkin, Congress could go on creating regulatory commissions any time it felt the urge. The spread of regulatory commissions alone contributes little or nothing to bureaucratic extension, according to his theory. Rather, the governmental structure expands in direct proportion to the increase in advisory councils.

Tonsils: On-the-Spot Virus Protection

Dr. Rodriguez

The latest government statistics show 800 tonsillitis deaths were performed in the United States in 1971. Hurtado said physicians are more careful in removing tonsils than they were in the past, but he said he thought many were still too liberal in performing the operation.

"We know positively now that tonsils have a specific role," Hurtado said in an interview. "I really think the doctors now will think twice before removing them."

Hurtado, who came to Washington two years ago from Santiago, Chile, told a meeting of the Society for Pediatric Research that work at Georgetown has shown that body germ fighters called lymphocytes taken from tonsil tissue are just as effective against a germ that causes virus as lymphocytes in the blood stream.

He said this was the first time the role of lymphocytes in tonsillitis has been demonstrated although it has been known for some time that tonsillectomy decreases local antibodies, the second agents involved in the body's defenses against disease.

Because of the importance of tonsils in fighting germs in children, Hurtado said doctors "should think long and hard before removing them."

Woman's View

By Gay Pauley UPI Women's Editor NEW YORK (UPI) — To Florence Tyson, music hath charms especially beneficial in the treatment of disturbed and handicapped children and adults.

Similar therapy, she holds, works through art and the dance. Ms. Tyson, a trained musical therapist, pioneered the Creative Arts Rehabilitation Center, of which she now is executive director. The center is a nonprofit, non-sectarian organization that acts as a community extension of the treatment a patient is receiving in hospitals, public or private, or under psychiatric care.

She believes the center is unique in the nation but sees no reason why similar centers could not be operated in other communities and has written a basic pamphlet on how to begin one.

"Music Therapy Program" "Ours grew out of my work with a philanthropy that had a hospital music therapy program," she said in an interview. "I could detect that between the patients' visits that the usual institutional therapy was not enough. 'Why are we out there?' That was around 1982 and today 'we out there' consists of the center's college-trained therapists in music, dance, art, and a consulting psychologist, who work with the patients on a weekly, twice-weekly, or daily basis as needed.

"Most of our patients fall in the 18-to-35-year-old category," she said. "But, oh, we need to afford to reach the children." Ms. Tyson doesn't bog down in technical terms when she talks of how the program works other than to say that "the arts seem the direct line to the subconscious."

"Most of our patients are in music. Music has such an intense personal meaning. Something they've always loved, but could not express. Music seems to reach the deepest inhibitions and frustrations, the fear of succeeding, the fear of failing, the feeling of utter demoralization."

"Started Music Lessons" "We had one male patient who kept remembering some of the chords he'd heard from the Moonlight Sonata." With the therapist, he began to pick it out by ear, by patterns of notes. Once he mastered it, a need satisfied, a new desire took over.

"He started music lessons. 'But a patient need not know anything about the arts. That's up to us. There is no curriculum, no book, no timetable, no pressure. 'In music we work with both vocal and instrumental. Dance isn't a formal thing. It's just expression through the body. Art provides a wonderful clue to us of some of the bangles.' Patients come on referral, mostly from the New York State area, but also from around the country. The list of referral sources, other than from private psychiatry, runs from 'A' for Alfred Adler's Mental Hygiene Clinic to 'V' for Youth Residence Center.

Determination of fee is on an individual basis, but it averages out at about $7.50 per session. Ms. Tyson said the case load runs about 70 per week with patients ranging from "mildly neurotic to deeply psychotic... suicidal."

Division Crown For MCC Squad

By Chris Blake. It's a long way from Statesville, S.C. to Middletown but Manchester Community College will have toured both places by the time its baseball season ends. The Cougars ensured that result with a weekend sweep of two CCCAA foes to win the Northern Division title and clinch a berth in the league playoffs at Palmer Field on May 18-19.

The Cougars rebounded with a 10-5 mark in the Northern segment of their schedule including a 7-2 conference ledger. MCC, which edged Northwestern Community College in the standings, defeated hapless Norwalk Community College Saturday, 8-0, and swept a doubleheader from Greater Hartford Community College yesterday, 14-0 and 3-1.

The playoff berth was actually clinched Saturday but it wasn't known whether the Cougars would qualify as a first place or a wild card team. The question was settled with the doubleheader sweep.

Dave DuBois, 3-2, hurled a three-hitter Saturday against Norwalk while walking seven. The only trouble he encountered came in the first two innings when he walked three. DuBois, however, stranded two runners each time and cruised the rest of the way.

Norwalk starter and loser Bruce McTieran could not pitch out of his trouble in the first two frames as MCC batted him for seven runs. In an infield out, Buddy Smallwood rapped a hit to left setting up Jim Lehan's three-run homer. Lehan's blast cleared the left centerfield fence by 15 feet.

The roundtrip was followed by a bloop double from Larry Warshavsky. Al Falco then walked and Tom Fahey laced a two-run double to left for a 5-0 bulge.

Ken Thomas 10-Pin Champ, Wins Three Straight Games

Sweeping the championship finals in three straight games with some consistent pinning, Ken Thomas reigns today as the 1974 10-pin bowling champion in Manchester.

Bidwell Tosses Four-Hitter As Tribe Improves Record

By Len Auster. Performing well in three straight relief assignments, senior right-hander Dave Bidwell got the starting nod Saturday afternoon. He responded with a four-hit, 13 strikeout performance as Manchester High blanked Penney, 5-0, in a CCIL baseball game in East Hartford.

The victory kept the Indians deadlocked atop the league standings with Windham High, each at 8-2. Today the locals are in West Hartford facing league member Concord High.

Bidwell walked just one and hit two batters in recording his third win against no setbacks. Only one black knight batter runner reached as far as third, that in the first inning. Penney dipped to 2-8 with the loss.

Manchester threatened in the first frame leading the bases with one-out but failed to score as Penney hurler Rich Linden fanned Bidwell and Bob Odell to escape unscathed.

Coach Harold Parks' club tallied what proved to be the winning run in the fourth. Odell lined a one-out double to the opposite field and after Bill Munroe popped home Odell, Thibodeau drilled a single to center chasing home Odell.

The Silk Towners added two markers in the fifth. Bruce Peck banged a single to center and went all the way around to third as the ball scooted through Lou Wellington's legs. Peck scored on Jack Maloney's RBI single up the middle. Maloney swiped second and scored as Bidwell's grounder to shortstop Tim Riley was thrown away.

Fire Guts Plant On Grandview St.

An over-heated boiler apparently caused the fire Sunday night which gutted the Aerex Manufacturing Inc. building at 30 Grandview St.

The building has housed the Aerex company for about six years. It had been the original home of ABA Machine Company.

Owners are William Johnson, Harold Dickinson, both of Manchester, Willard Arel of East Hartford, and Armand Ek of Agawam, Mass. Johnson and Dickinson managed the plant. They believed they this morning said the machinery alone may represent a loss of over $250,000. They had no idea what the building itself would cost to repair.

The fire was under control within an hour of the call, according to Deputy Chief McKay this morning. Water came from two hydrants, one at Pitkin and Porter Sts. and the other from the corner of Grandview St. and Drecher Rd.

Deputy Chief McKay added, "It is definitely not a suspicious nature. It looks like the heating system ran out of water and overheated. But we are not quite through investigating."

Less than an hour before the Aerex fire was called in, a call was placed with the Eighth District Fire Department at 10:49 p.m. Sunday reporting a grass fire had begun in a vacant field behind the Connecticut Motel on Tolland Tpk.

Victorious at a benefit soccer game Saturday afternoon at Manchester High was the Connecticut Wildcats, 4-2, over the Connecticut Senior All-Stars. Proceeds from the game went to the Manchester midwest soccer program and the high school athletic fund.

The All-Stars opened the scoring at the 25-minute mark as Hugh Haddad found the range with an assist from UConn All-American Tim Hunter. The Wildcats tied it at the 44-minute mark as Julian Bevan scored the equalizer on a rebound.

Two minutes into the second half, John Sabanas put the Stars ahead reaching running home the rebound of a Mike Swofford kick.

Jan Kloset knotted the count for the Wildcats with a 20-yard free kick and the American Soccer League entry went ahead on a Chris Agosti goal, assisted by player-coach Rene Korman. Agosti added a second goal later on sealing the verdict.

Bonanza Steak House at 287 W. Middle Tpk., will be celebrating its tenth anniversary Sunday, May 12.

Since the restaurant first opened, local families have consumed nearly one million steaks and over 300,000 portions of chopped steak and Bonanzaburgers, according to David Gough, manager of the local Bonanza.

The local Bonanza is part of the worldwide Dallas-based chain, with nearly 500 Bonanza family restaurants operating in 37 states, Canada, Australia and the Bahamas.

Jack Lube of South Windsor has been promoted to assistant supervisor of technical publications for the Gerber Scientific Instrument Co. of South Windsor.

In his new position, Lube will assist in guiding the technical writing staff in the preparation of manuals pertaining to operation and maintenance of Gerber equipment.

Auto Industry Gloom Is Lifting

DETROIT (UPI)—Some of the gloom appears to be lifting from the U.S. auto industry which sold more cars in April than in any month since last November.

Despite trailing last April's record sales by almost 22 per cent, the figures released by the "big four" automakers last week showed a 27.4 per cent improvement over January—the depth of the sales slump caused by uncertainty over gasoline supplies.

Much of the increase is due to the traditional upswing in sales each spring following the slow winter. But industry executives note part of this year's higher spring sales are due to renewed interest in larger cars.

"April sales continued the steady improvement we have experienced since January," said John B. Naughton, Ford Motor Co. vice president for sales. "Buyers of larger cars are coming back into the market, adding to the already substantial sales of small cars."

The four U.S. automakers sold 702,338 cars in April, down 21.7 per cent from last April's record 882,112 cars, but it was 7.5 per cent improvement over March, up 14.3 per cent from February and 27.4 per cent above January sales.

In the final ten days of the month, sales totaled 269,623 cars, the best 10-day period of the month. Only American Motors—up 1 per cent from last April 21—was able to show a gain in the period.

Firms Can't Meet Demand For Fertilizer

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Heavy fertilizer sales earlier in the current 1973-74 season have left the industry unable to fill all of the booming farm demand for expanded deliveries this spring, an industry spokesman said Saturday.

Edwin M. Wheeler, president of the Fertilizer Institute, noted in a statement that fertilizer deliveries from last July through the end of March totaled 11 per cent above the same period a year earlier. But figures for the month of March alone showed deliveries 7 per cent below a year earlier.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas—If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment for both men and women, that is not only stopping hair loss... but is really growing hair.

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. They invite you to try the treatment for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer opportunity unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

Talking' Computer

Jonathan Allen, associate professor of electrical engineering at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, shows how MIT's "talking" computer figures out the pronunciation of a word. A word is typed into the computer and after a 10-second pause, its display screen shows how the word is broken apart and complex rules of pronunciation are applied.

After the word appears on the screen, the computer announces the word in an eerie flat voice from a loudspeaker. The text-to-speech system began as part of an effort to build a machine to read to the blind. (UPI photo)

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The White House, in a 32-page analysis comparing John Dean's Senate Watergate committee testimony with the transcripts of Oval Office tape recordings, essentially calls the former presidential counsel a liar. The analysis was issued Saturday by the White House and was intended to rebut media commentary that Dean's Senate testimony, accusing Nixon of knowing of the Watergate cover-up as early as Sept. 15, 1972, supported what the transcripts showed he said.

Dean also testified that on Feb. 28, 1973, he told Nixon that his White House counsel had legal problems, and described his role as being a "confidant for a lot of decisions regarding support for and silence and things of this nature, and I felt that involved me in an obstruction of justice."

News Analysis Domestic Policy Shift Denied by Nixon Official

By Steve Gerstel
WASHINGTON (UPI)—An administration official rejects any suggestion that President Nixon's domestic policies are now geared toward lining up enough Senate votes to prevent his removal from office if the House votes to impeach him.

WHEN YOU RE-SELL YOUR NEW DATSUN OR TOYOTA, YOU'LL REALIZE WHY YOU SHOULD HAVE BOUGHT A VW.

In recent months, due to rising costs and the gasoline crisis, several compact economy cars actually appreciated in value. Here is a comparison of three leading imports purchased in 1973, and their re-sale value as of April, 1974.*

- A Datsun 1200 two-door coupe. New, $2395. Now, $2475. Gain, $80.
- A VW Beetle. New, $2299. Now, $2575. Gain, $276.
- A Toyota Corolla 1200 two-door sedan. New, $2199. Now, $2225. Gain, $26.

For the VW to appreciate over three or ten times more than the other cars is not surprising. For years VW owners have had an appreciation for depreciation.

West gives declarer a problem

Oswald: "South usually does so well in bridge contracts that it might be a good idea to run a 'Be Kind to Defenders' Week."

Jim: "Here's a nice simple one to start with. It's more an example of how the defense can give declarer a problem. South's four-spade contract is a good one. Good enough so that if West held the king of diamonds a slam could be made."

Oswald: "When West opened the jack of diamonds South had no choice except to finesse the queen. People do lead from kings. The finesse lost and a diamond came back."

Jim: "At this stage in the proceedings South might have tried to discard dummy's last diamond on a club. We won't go into the merit or lack of merit of that play because South decided to tackle trumps. He led the ten from dummy and put up his king after East played low. West let the king hold!"

South Windsor Several Items Face Council At Meeting Tonight

JUDY KUEHNEL

Correspondent

The South Windsor Town Council will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in the Council Chambers at the Town Hall. New business will include the appointment of a rate maker for the 1974-75 fiscal year; adoption of the general government budget for fiscal 1974-75; setting of a time and place for a public hearing on rights-of-way acquisition for Pierce Rd. and the discussion of the transfer of funds in the amount of $16,650 for land-taking on Buckland Rd.; and authorizing the town attorney to expend the amount for payment of damages for land needed for the major reconstruction plan.

Also up for discussion will be authorizing the town manager to expend $14,395.35 from the Revenue Sharing Trust Fund for construction of sidewalks on Fell Rd.

The council is also expected to authorize the town manager to enter into a contract with Diaclear for the installation of a filtration system for the Veterans Memorial Park. The cost of the filtration system is $15,970 and will come from the Revenue Sharing Trust Fund.

Hike Earned $5,375 Parker Hodgman, executive director of the Connecticut Association for Retarded Children, has accepted a check for $5,375, the grand total raised in South Windsor's Hike-Bike for the Retarded held last October. The Hike-Bike had been spearheaded by the South Windsor Woman's Club and managed to involve most churches, schools and teen clubs and organizations. An estimated 800 hikers and bikers participated. Co-chairmen Mrs. Deborah DeLorenzo and Mrs. Marilyn Pugliese presented the check. Collections of pledge money were only recently completed. Several towns across the state are currently preparing similar fund raising events to benefit Connecticut's retarded children and adults. South Windsor's community involvement and financial success in this first time attempt has served as a model for other towns. The Hike-Bikes have drawn attention to the mentally retarded and their needs.

French Vote Indecisive

PARIS (UPI) — Francois Mitterrand, the Communist backed candidate for president of France, said today he is so sure of victory in next Sunday's runoff he already has started working on his first decisions as head of state.

"I go into the fight with calm resolution," he said. "Already today I have begun formulating the responsibilities I will have to assume after May 19."

In an election this Sunday that spelled the end of Gaullism's 16-year rule, Mitterrand won 43.4 per cent of the vote and his leading rival, conservative Finance Minister Valery Giscard d'Estaing, 32.9 per cent.

The 10 other candidates, including Gaullist Jacques Chaban-Delmas with 14.5 per cent, were eliminated and Giscard and Mitterrand will fight a straight battle in a runoff vote May 19.

Tolland Savings Pleasant Surprise, Burokas Says of Claim

VIVIAN KENNESON

Correspondent

John Burokas, chairman of the Board of Selectmen, said "The announcement by Stuart Joslin of his discovery of three mills worth of unknown surplus came as a very pleasant surprise to me upon reading it in the newspapers."

"It does seem odd to me that the Board of Selectmen and the town manager were not informed of his find at their meeting just minutes prior to the Republican Town Committee meeting where the announcement was made." It looks to me like Mr. Joslin is more concerned with keeping his Republican politicians better informed than his selectmen colleagues and electors," Burokas said.

Burokas added, "Another odd thing is his statement. This information might have surfaced sooner if the full Board of Selectmen directed its attention to the budget." He received his copy from the town manager at our meeting on April 9. The budget was discussed April 18, 22, 23, 25 and 26 and May 2. Joslin voted on April 26 to recommend the present budget for adoption at the town meeting. How much more attention is necessary? I was the only member of the board unable to attend the first three meetings because of a death in the family.

"The four Democratic and three Republican selectmen voted unanimously to recommend for adoption the proposed 1974-75 budget which included all known revenues. We all support it and we will be very pleased if Mr. Joslin's 'find' is true. I expect the board will be given the details at its special meeting Monday.

"In preparing for the presentation of the recommended budget to the town meeting, I reviewed the Town Charter and in Chapter 9-4 came across the following: The budget shall become effective when approved by the annual budget meeting and an official copy shall be filed with the Town Clerk." Also in Chapter 9-5: "The Annual budget shall become effective only after it has been adopted at the annual budget meeting by a majority vote of the qualified voters present and voting, an amount of money less than that recommended by the selectmen may be appropriated."

Burokas said, "From the above two sections of the Charter one can see that the town meeting can only accept or reduce the selectmen's budget. The meeting cannot reject the budget. Each department or function shall be voted on separately as recommended, or reduced, but not raised."

The Town Meeting will be held Tuesday at 8 p.m. at Tolland High School.

PZC Meets Tonight
The Planning and Zoning Commission will meet at 8 tonight at the school administration building.

Cardner Chapman has asked to appear on the agenda to request an additional 10 acres adjacent to the Norwegian Woods Apartments be rezoned to multiple dwelling, to make way for an expansion of the apartment complex.

The PZC faces a court suit brought about by Lee & LaMont Realty for its April 1 decision to deny application for a zone change to multiple dwelling on Anderson Rd. for apartments.

Selectmen
The Board of Selectmen will hold a special meeting tonight at 7:30 at the school administration building.

John Harkins, town manager, will ask for approval to sell a parcel of land in the Industrial Park to a recycling plant now located in Rockville.

School Menus

Dr. Donald Hardy has planned an orientation, informational and evaluation meeting for Phases I, IIA, IIB and IIC of the Sequential Learning Program for tonight and tomorrow night at the grammar schools.

The meeting will be held tonight at 7:30 p.m. at the Coventry Grammar School and tomorrow night at 7:30 at the Robertson Grammar School.

During this meeting the superintendent will present an over-all view of the individualized, non-graded program and test data on Phase I (kindergarten) and Phase IA (first grade).

Teachers involved in Phases I and IIA will relate the goals and objectives of the program to present practices in the program.

Phase IIB (second grade) teachers will report on plans for the implementation in September of 1974.

A question and answer period will be included in the program.

Dr. Hardy said, "Because of the drastic cut in the education budget made by the Town Council, plans for the implementation of Phase IIC (third grade) in September 1974, and the planning for all of Phase IIB (Grades 4 through 6) may have to be canceled. Further cuts in the budget will necessitate elimination of the Phase IIB of the Sequential Learning Program, as well as the curtailment of Phases I and IIA."

Dr. Hardy said, "I urge you to attend this orientation and evaluation meeting and to make a decision as to whether you wish to support the continuation of the Sequential Learning Program, and to discuss what must be done to preserve the proposed budget at its present level."

All Coventry residents are welcome to attend these meetings.

Council To Meet
The Town Council will meet tonight at 7:30 in the Board Room of the Town Hall.

The council will consider an ordinance requiring townspeople to separate their refuse into four major categories — garbage, metals, glass and paper—because the landfill is being used at a much faster rate than anticipated and at the rate of present use space at the landfill will run out within two or three years.

There will be a request from the Bicentennial Commission for use of the old town office building on Main St. as an informational center for the duration of the bicentennial celebration.

The council will also consider a resolution concerning the joining of a transportation district by the town.

Lake Lots Discussed
Dick Soranno, third-year law student who has been preparing a research report on the legal implications of increasing lot sizes in the lake area reported to the Lake Rehabilitation Committee last week.

Soranno said that other towns have been allowed to disregard lots of prior record under precedents set by the Supreme Court of Errors.

This court has ruled that lot size could be increased by towns because of overcrowding, water supply, sewage disposal and traffic congestion.

In looking into the question of paper subdivisions, Soranno found that the court has ruled that a plan on record does not constitute a formal subdivision.

A Connecticut State Statute does give a municipality the right to prohibit or restrict building on lots abutting unaccepted highways or streets, but the statute is not always upheld if it is found to work an undue hardship on the landowner, Soranno said.
