

Syria Given Israeli 'Considerations'

Arab Press Pessimistic; New Oil Embargo Hinted

DAMASCUS (UPI) - Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger arrived from Israel today with a new batch of "considerations" on a troop disengagement formula. Arab press commentators took a pessimistic view and began talking of re-imposing the oil embargo if his mission fails. U.S. sources emphasized that Kissinger had brought "considerations" for discussion with President Hafez Assad and not hard and fast Israeli proposals for the crucial talks that could decide whether he can achieve a Syrian-Israeli agreement on his current trip. He returns to downtown Damascus. Syrian Foreign Minister Abdel Halim Khaddam met Kissinger at the airport. Security precautions appeared more relaxed than during his visit to the Syrian capital Friday and agents carrying submachine guns again lined the 12-mile highway from the airport to downtown Damascus. Arab press commentators took the view that there was little chance President Assad would accept the new Israeli views on disengagement Kissinger brought with him from talks with Israeli leaders Tuesday and today. They quoted reports from Israel indicating the Israelis were not prepared to accept the extent of complete withdrawal from the embattled Golan Heights which the Syrians were demanding. Israel opposes total withdrawal and has established 14 communities on former Syrian territory. Talks which Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko had with the Syrian leaders Sunday and Monday ended with a communique expressing support for Syria's tough stand. Gromyko's meeting in Cyprus with Kissinger Tuesday appeared to have done little to ease Kissinger's task with the Syrians. The Beirut newspaper Al Sharq, published by the Lebanese branch of Syria's ruling Baath Socialist party, said Gromyko and Kissinger "did not agree on anything" during their Cyprus talks. It said if Kissinger's attempt to negotiate a troop disengagement fails, Syria may ask the Arabs to reimpose their oil embargo and call for an Arab summit conference to discuss support for Syria in the Golan Heights fighting. On the Golan Heights front today artillery and tank fire exchanges continued for the 58th consecutive day. But there were no reports of air activity between the two sides.

Grand Lodge Honors McKay

By HAL TURKINGTON They played "Happy Birthday" at the Masonic Temple Tuesday night and, as has been customary for 21 years, Jim McKay provided accompaniment at the organ. The volume, though, was a little fuller (about 130 voices), the harmony stronger, and the sentiment richer, because it was Jim's birthday. It was even more significant because, earlier in the evening, planned to Jim's breast was the Pierpont Edwards Medal in Bronze, for distinguished Masonic service. The surprise presentation was made at Past Master's Night. Conducting the ceremony for the Grand Lodge of Connecticut was William Saars of Niantic, immediate past grand master. The stunned organist admitted his loss of words, "and that's something you generally can't say about me," he said. He could only manage a sincere "thank you" for the thrill of receiving the award before such a gathering of his fraternal brothers. McKay is the eighth Manchester Mason to receive the award, which is outranked in Masonic circles only by the same medal in silver for eminent Masonic service. He joins these Manchester Masons who have received the award: The late Fred Ayer Verplank, the father of Manchester's education system who served as grand master of Masons in 1910 and who received the bronze medal in 1939 and the silver medal in 1949; The late William "Dad" Walsh, 1947; The late R. Lamotte Russell, 1955; Chester M. Ferris, 1965; W. Sidney Harrison, 1967; Malcolm Robertson, 1970; Wayne M. Garland, 1973. Ferris, Harrison and Robertson witnessed Tuesday's presentation. The award is named after the first grand master of Masons in Connecticut. McKay was honored for his service to the several associated bodies of Masonry - his lodge and its choir, DeMolay, Rainbow Girls, Order of Amaranth, Tall Cedars of Lebanon, Delta Chapter of Royal Arch Masons, and the Scottish Rites Bodies of Hartford. He became a Mason in Manchester Lodge in 1926 and two years later was appointed organist for one year. He was appointed to that post again in 1953 and has served continuously since that time. He organized the Masonic Choir, considered one of the finest groups in the New England area, and he developed a musical program to fit around the several Masonic degrees, especially the Master Mason degree. Tuesday night, 18 of his choir members broke into a chorus of "Bravissimo" and then offered two selections, with McKay accompanying and directing. His musical talents have been (See Page Eighteen)

General Fund Up 2.64 Mills

Directors Adopt New Town Budgets

By SOL R. COHEN Manchester's General Fund tax rate will go up 2.64 mills, all of the actions followed the recommendations by Town Manager Robert Weiss. Weiss had proposed a $30,376,808 budget and $2.33-mill tax rate for the General Fund, up $2,152,722 and 5.67 mills; and a $1,438,888 budget and 6.17-mill tax rate for the Town Fire District, up $177,169 and 0.82 mills. All of the increases are by unanimous votes of the Board of Directors Tuesday night. The board adopted a $20,002,468 General Fund budget for 1974-75, up $1,538,950 or 8.3 per cent over the current year; a $1,400,000 Town Fire District budget, up $37,653; and a $235,700 budget for the Data Processing Services Fund, up $18,018. With the exception of the continuing bid waiver methods, and Mayor John Thompson called for the sand spreader purchase to be considered by directors next week as a normal agenda item. Weiss agreed to place the item on the agenda, but he defended his position that flexibility is needed to save money. Several directors criticized the out-of-pocket cost only about $1,400 now. Since the town rented the spreader, Weiss said, the list price of the equipment has gone up to $3,400, so the opportunity to acquire the device at $2,400 would result in substantial savings. Several directors criticized the alternative, Weiss said, is "for administration to use imagination and new techniques to save the town money." Weiss pointed out that Town of Manchester government is a $30 million-a-year business, and flexibility such as that provided in bid waiver procedures should be used to hold down expenses. Concerning the sand spreader, Weiss explained to directors that the unique piece of equipment had been rented by the town for a one-year experiment, and the rental fee

Directors Hear Public Views On Sewer Plan

By DOUG BEVINS A modified sanitary sewer plan for Garden Grove Dr., Erie St., and a small stretch of Keeney St. - with a favorable estimated cost - prompted little testimony at Tuesday night's public hearing before the Manchester Board of Directors. Although explanation of the plans and a question-and-answer session took more than an hour, the actual citizen comments - from seven townspeople - lasted only 15 minutes. Tuesday night's hearing was a striking contrast to a hearing conducted on a larger sewer proposal in December, in which most of the 20 speakers at a heated, emotional session opposed the project. The modified plans call for installation of sanitary sewers and houselaterals on Garden Grove Rd., Erie St., and a portion of Keeney St. from Nutmeg Dr. to No. 406. The original plans, subject of the December hearing, would have served Keeney St. from Hackmatack St., tying in with Leland and Linwood Drs., as well as Garden Grove Rd. and Erie St. Removal of service to Linwood Dr. from the plans prompted comments from four persons Tuesday night. Atty. Philip Bayer, representing the owner of an undevelopable Linwood Dr. lot, was among three persons calling for sewer installation on that street. He suggested deferred assessment of property owners for the work.

Seven Persons Die In New Haven Fire

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI) - Seven persons died and seven were injured in a suspicious fire that struck a four-story tenement building Tuesday night and early this morning. One woman leaped from a third story window, her nightclothes aflame, and broke both legs, a witness said. At least two children were thrown to safety. Three of the seven injured were firemen with minor injuries, authorities said. Hospital officials listed the dead as Emilio Garcia, 24, and his wife, Julia, 21, their two sons, Jorge, 10 months, and Enrique, 2, Jesus Santiago, 19, and his wife, Ana, and Ramos Otero, 31. Otero's wife, Nellie, was in poor condition at Yale-New Haven Hospital suffering from burns and multiple fractures. Six of the bodies were found at 1:30 a.m., about two hours after firemen responded to the first of three alarms. The seventh body was discovered at 6 a.m. Fire Battalion Chief Raymond Sullivan said the fire was "sweeping" when firemen arrived at the scene in response to an 11:26 p.m. alarm. Among the first concerns were to free "people trapped in the rear," he said. The fire spread through most of the eight-unit building before the first firemen arrived. Officials would not discount the possibility of arson in the fire.

Weiss Alleges 'Nitpickers' May Cost Taxpayers Money

By DOUG BEVINS "Nitpickers" at the Manchester Board of Directors may be costing taxpayers more money than needed for certain expenditures, Town Manager Robert Weiss said after directors balked Tuesday night at giving him authority to waive bids for a new type of sand spreading equipment. Weiss criticized the directors' apparent attitude of becoming "over-cautious so as to kill all initiative of the town administration." "This nitpicking procedure of the board would discourage the administration from doing anything differently," Weiss said after the board delayed a decision of waiving bids for a $2,400 highway sand spreader. Weiss said he was "fed up" with the general attitude of the directors in adherence to a traditional method of purchases. The alternative, Weiss said, is "for administration to use imagination and new techniques to save the town money." Weiss pointed out that Town of Manchester government is a $30 million-a-year business, and flexibility such as that provided in bid waiver procedures should be used to hold down expenses. Concerning the sand spreader, Weiss explained to directors that the unique piece of equipment had been rented by the town for a one-year experiment, and the rental fee

Despite all of its good intentions, the Republican leaders of the General Assembly were unable to fulfill their predictions in February and March — when they said they'd have all legislative business wrapped up by mid-April.

Today (the first Wednesday after the first Monday in May) is the mandatory day for adjournment in even-numbered years, and whether or not all legislative business is wrapped up, the General Assembly definitely adjourns today.

The Republican leaders can blame no one but themselves for coming right down to the wire — with its last-minute details and its passage of bills without debate. They have a clear majority in both Houses and whatever legislation was requested and backed by them got through.

When the voters, in a statewide November 1970 referendum, approved annual sessions for the General Assembly, they were told the intent, primarily, was for consideration of fiscal matters during even-numbered years.

and to the exclusion, as much as possible, of general legislation. The obvious reason why the Republican leaders couldn't hold to their resolve to wrap up their legislative business in mid-April is because of all the general legislation it permitted for consideration.

Who knows the answer? Maybe the next step will be to ask the voters to approve two-year sessions.

David M. Barry of Manchester, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for Third District state senator. The district includes all of East Hartford and about 55 per cent of Manchester.

Hannon is seeking to unseat Sen. Sen. Robert Burke, also an East Hartford Democrat.

The Steele for Governor Committee, in its first monthly report of campaign contributions, announced it received a total of $11,017 in April — from 129 contributors who gave from $1 to $100 apiece.

Steele, when he announced he was a candidate for the GOP nomination for governor, said he wouldn't accept contributions of more than $100 from any individual or organization.

Coventry Shot Clinic Set For May 17

MONICA SHEA, Correspondent, Tel. 742-9495

Dr. Robert Brown, director of health, will conduct a town immunization clinic May 17, from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. at the Town Office Building.

The clinic is open to all town residents.

The following immunizations will be offered: rubella (regular measles); rubella (German measles); oral polio, DTP (diphtheria, tetanus, pertussis) and adult DT (Diphtheria, tetanus).

Dr. Brown reminds parents of the regulation issued by the Board of Education in September of 1972: "All children entering school shall receive complete immunizations against polio, rubella, and rubella unless exempted for medical or religious reasons."

The board also recommends that all children entering school receive a first injection or booster of DTP and a tuberculin test.

Also adults who have not had need of a tetanus booster in the past ten years are advised to take advantage of the DT booster available at the clinic.

A donation of 50% may be made to the Public Health Nursing Association of Coventry for each immunization.

Scout Drive Launched

Mrs. Robert M. Keller, chairman of the Coventry Service Unit, Connecticut Trails Council of Girl Scouts, has announced the successful launching of the annual Sustaining Membership Enrollment.

Clarence Williams, chairman of the drive, is being assisted by a committee of area neighborhood canvassers. Canvassers have been placed in many shops in Coventry.

Mrs. Keller said, "We urge all those interested in the Girl Scout program and the youth of our community to support the drive."

As a kickoff to the drive, all of the troops in Coventry spent part of or last weekend at Camp Laurel, a Girl Scout Camp in Lebanon.

Brownie troops were guests of their sister troops and the older cadette and senior scouts aided the leaders in program planning and activities.

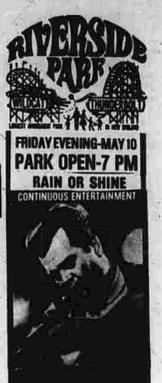

Mrs. Keller said, "Girl Scouting is an educational program for girls which is supported by each community for their own children and is staffed by volunteers who are supported, trained and assisted by the Connecticut Trails Council. It is for this council and for the many programs and camps available to the girls and the leaders that this drive is conducted."

Pay Television Starts in LA

By JACK V. FOX

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Pay television is being kicked around in various guises and shapes for the past quarter century. Everyone agrees it has a tremendous potential.

But, for one reason or another, it has remained fragmented and without any real momentum. There are 11 pay television companies in the United States but their market is little better than the smaller cities.

Recently pay TV moved into the Los Angeles area for the first time and the television, entertainment, exhibitor, sports and advertising industries will be watching closely.

Theta Cable Television is offering subscribers recently released motion pictures — eight a month at an extra cost monthly of $6.95 cents per home.

The first two films offered were "Save the Tiger" and "Play It Again Sam."

Serves About 63,000 Homes

Theta has about 63,000 homes hooked into its cables which hitherto have been offered a smorgasbord of educational programs, Spanish lessons, high school sports, a TV auction, a psychologist call-in show, news and weather and ancient movies, 10 or more years old.

A Theta spokesman said about 1,600 homes had been signed up for the commercial-free, uninterrupted movies.

That is not about to propel any executives from the towers of Rockefeller Center or Madison Avenue. It is the long-promised potential that could shake up a few board rooms.

For one thing, Theta is owned 50-50 by Hughes Aircraft Corp. and TelePrompTer Corp.

Howard R. Hughes reportedly has a 17 per cent interest in TelePrompTer which means that the eccentric billionaire controls the operation, and anything that Hughes gets involved in is taken seriously.

At Rebutals Arguments

Theta General Manager John W. Alford attempted to rebut arguments that pay TV could play havoc with the networks, the movie industry and particularly exhibitors, and advertising-sponsored spots.

South Windsor Democrats Block Budget Cut

JUDY KUEHNEL
Correspondent
644-1364

Five Democratic South Windsor Town Councilmen blocked a three-man Republican attempt to cut the town's 55-mill tax rate by one mill, and, in turn, subtract $70,000 from funds aimed at controlling Avery Brook's flooding.

The five Democrats — one councilman was absent — also defeated two proposed GOP amendments along party lines. Instead the council voted to adopt a $9 million 1974-75 fiscal budget which includes over $2.4 million in estimated revenues to the general government and the Board of Education.

While the Republicans made an attempt to cut the budget by over $172,000, the GOP was quick to point out it in no way wished to hamper measures needed to quiet the flooding Avery Brook and the land it continually takes.

The GOP's contention was that $70,000 of the funds they proposed be cut were in an account earmarked for Avery Brook, but there were no specific plans for the money.

Therefore the Republicans felt that the money should be cut from the account or at least placed in the contingency fund and cut from there.

The GOP's contention was that if, and when a plan to control Avery Brook was devised, the funds could come from the remainder of the contingency account.

Another area which the Republicans sought to cut was the $75,000 contingency account. By cutting that account by $5,000 the town would still have the necessary funds to support any Avery Brook plan, the GOP reasoned.

A small group of residents approached the council with numerous complaints of the brook and its flooding, and even cited a recent incident in which a child fell in the brook due to the caving-in of a bank.

South Windsor Filter Purchase Approved

JUDY KUEHNEL
Following the recommendation of its Public Health and Safety Committee, the Town Council has approved the expenditure of a new filter system for Veterans Memorial Park in South Windsor.

The action came Monday night when the council authorized Town Manager Terry V. Sprekel to spend $31,639 in revenue sharing funds to install the new system.

Sprekel is authorized to enter into a $15,370 contract with Disclear Inc., of Hamden for the filtering and chlorination system.

Also Sprekel has been authorized to enter into a $15,660 contract with the Asquith Johnson Electric Co., of Hartford for piping, electrical, concrete and amesite work to support the system.

The purpose of the new system is to improve the water quality for swimmers late in the season. Up to now, the water quality has been poor late in the year, officials said.

The last segment of project work will deal with the installation of bypass pipes, a storm drain and a concrete walkway.

Bids on that phase are scheduled to be received next Monday, with the overall cost of the project estimated at $40,000.

Sen. Lowell P. Weicker, R-Conn., who was the critical subject of 20 pages in the transcripts, and Rep. William R. Colter, D-Conn., said the controversial transcripts most definitely hurt the President.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Both Republican and Democratic members of the Connecticut congressional delegation say President Nixon's edited Watergate transcripts have hurt him.

The lawmakers' comments came as they read through more than 1,300 pages of the transcripts the President released to the House Judiciary Committee.

Rep. Ella T. Grasso, D-Conn., said "seemingly conflicting statements" in the transcripts make it more urgent that the committee get the actual tapes be happier if we funded Avery Brook as a contingency item." The Democrats felt that the new fiscal budget could be cut by 1/8 mill — which it is expected to be by next week — but not by one mill.

The new budget will be officially set once the Board of Tax Review goes over the council's figures and checks the Grand List for any errors.

Building Costs Rise for Month

The estimated value of Manchester construction last month was slightly higher than that of a year ago, a report of permits issued by the building inspector indicates.

The figures are $1,047,626 for April of this year and $1,002,123 for April 1973.

Only one significantly large permit was issued last month — $112,000 to Donwell Co. for an industrial building on Sheldon Rd.

Also significant, but producing a total of only $166 in fees (less than the fee for one $23,000 dwelling) were building permits for 54 tool sheds already erected but found lacking permits.

Permits were issued last month for 21 single-family dwellings (there were only 2 last month and 11 a year ago), 6 two-family dwellings (there were 2 last month and 1 a year ago), 1 garage, 14 signs, 21 swimming pools, 11 fences, 35 alterations and additions, 2 demolitions, 3 affidavits, a 6-by-8-foot playhouse, and a miniature golf course.

Investment Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — "The stock market is giving a creditable performance in holding its ground against existing stresses," says Standard & Poor's Corp., "but a viable upturn is unlikely until the monetary climate eases."

It urges investors to move cautiously until the groundwork is laid for a substantial advance.

"The market has been actively supporting our thesis that a major base is under construction despite some shorter-term fluctuations," says Indicator Digest, Inc. of Palisades Park, N.J. Even in this ever-changing market climate, numerous issues have racked up gains and merely pulled back to good support.

In the latest decline, the firm notes, "Much of the excess water has already been wrung out," it adds, "leaving many sound issue little — if any — downside potential."

The easing of inflation and high interest rates in the second half of 1974 may send stock prices higher because profits will go down, says Inverness Counsel, Inc. In the security markets, speculation is at a minimum and investors' expectations have been trimmed significantly, the firm continues. "While seemingly not a very exciting appraisal, it is the classic description of the psychological foundation of a bull market," it adds.

Deception Always Possible

Willy Brandt has resigned following the disclosure of a member of his staff being a spy for the East Germans. Under the West German political system, the resolution of the scandal as far as the nation's highest leader was concerned, was quickly resolved. No doubt there are many in this country who will see it as an alternative to the difficult impeachment process we have as a means to depose a president.

And we agree there is some merit in the parliamentary approach but it would mean a very radical change for us and would have to be examined quite in detail. It is one thing to weigh this system in the light of Watergate and quite another in the light of a serious crisis in which no political scandal is involved.

However, there is one aspect of the West German scandal we might ponder as we consider the Watergate affair.

The West German scandal proves it is possible for trusted aides to deceive those around them, including the boss.

Such deceptions can be rationalized just as easily on the basis of loyalty as well as for selfish or even treasonable reasons.

The West German scandal, we think, points out once again that national leaders are human and not all-knowing or infallible when it comes to picking men in whom they place their trust. While such errors in judgment may not absolve the leaders of responsibility, they do show that our leaders are not told everything they should know but only what underlings want them to know. Just as Brandt's trusted aide did not want Brandt to know he was a spy, we suspect it quite possible that those Nixon aides who condoned or abetted criminal acts, no matter how highly motivated, did not want the President to know.

To us this explains to a large degree the questions raised by the President in the transcript as he tried to nail down who did what and when.

When the investigations are concluded, the President's fate may well hinge on not what the aides told him, but what they chose to hold back. While covering up Watergate from the public, it may well be there was a coverup to keep it from the President also.

This may be the question facing the House Judiciary Committee as it has to make decisions, many decisions, on just who it is going to believe, the President and his defenders, or the President's accusers. It will not be a simple solution like West Germany's but one that will directly and indirectly involve all of us. We elect our presidents as national leaders and national leaders are not as expendable as party leaders.

The Next President

The next President will probably be a Democrat. That's because the Democratic Party is the majority party. True, it was a majority party in 1968 and in 1972, but other circumstances overcame its majority.

We're thinking and talking now about those Democrats who put their party ahead of the Office of the President of the United States. And we suggest they think beyond May 1974.

If the Office of the President is important — and of course it is — then too many careless words are now being voiced by some Democratic members of the House Judiciary Committee, by some other Democratic congressmen and by some Democratic senators. And, if the truth be told, by some Republican members of Congress of both houses.

We have in mind breast beating declarations denouncing the White House, denouncing the power of the President, denouncing the man who was overwhelmingly elected President of the United States 17 months ago.

Mr. Nixon is not the only President who has been less than perfect. But he is also not the only President who has done great things for the United States and for people in many countries.

So those Republicans who are enjoying the plaudits of the anti-Nixon people and who put such praise above protecting the Office of the President for future Presidents of either party, might pause. They might remember that it is important to maintain our system of government based on three equal branches — the legislative, the executive and the judicial — and that all three must remain strong and equal.

If today's Nixon-haters manage to distort our political system that has withstood the ravages of time for 200 years by weakening any single branch too much, then they, themselves, may be guilty of an even greater crime than Watergate.

Too Many Bums In Both Parties

WASHINGTON — Nobody asked me, but I say it anyway. "I'm glad I'm not a Democrat running for Congress next November. The way things look, it's almost as if the citizens had decided not to vote for anybody but McGovern and Free Silverites. Specifically, it looks this way: Watergate and President Nixon dogging them wherever they go, except probably in the South. Democrats, especially the incumbents, must try to convince the electorate that the Democratic controlled Congress isn't, either, a bunch of lazy and ineffectual slobs. Anyone who takes a few minutes a day to observe the national scene should be able to reach this conclusion in a heartbeat. It's a particularly tough out of Richard Nixon. To wit, only 30 per cent responded affirmatively to the question "Do you approve or disapprove of the way the U.S. Congress is handling its job?" Only 29 per cent said they approved the way the President is handling his job. Hark back, anyone? George Wallace for President? Gene McCarthy? What has happened to the Democrats on Capitol Hill is the high cost of living. They have done a lot of yapping since Nixon moved into the White House, but not a single Democrat of any significant stature has come up with a program for dealing with inflation. Voters are not dumb animals. While they realize that the President is charged with making overall domestic policy, they also know that a Congress controlled by the opposition can force any President — and especially a President besieged by scandal — to adopt meaningful and persistent policies to reduce the cost of a particularly tough out of a horror story to both parties is the response of the independent voters, who account for about one-third of the electorate and who have swung most national elections in the past 10 years or so. According to Gallup, only 27 per cent of the independents think the Democratic Congress is doing a good job, and only 24 per cent think Nixon is up to snuff. Given results like that, no wonder so many Congressional incumbents have decided to retire to private life. A poll is only a poll, of course, and thus not comparable to a good cigar or an especially dry martini at day's end. But the polls have been amazingly accurate over the past decade because they have been more politically scientific. Besides, the latest Gallup job is supported by the mail crossing that desk and personal telephone surveys of voters across the country. Watergate is big, yes. People are disgusted by the scandals of the Nixon administration, even if they manage a kind word for the President as a man they see as having been betrayed by his satraps. But there is only one big issue this year and that is the high cost of living. Main Street's majority is sore at both parties because it's paying through the nose for everything it buys, and it wishes economists on both sides would stop beating their gums and rule high prices illegal. At the Republican National Committee meeting here several days ago, the pros of the party admitted privately their worry over the state of the economy. "Hell," said an Ohio conservative, "I'm not making speeches about it, but 99 out of 100 of the folks I talk to blame and place the blame on the White House for inflation and then mention Watergate as an afterthought. Frankly, I think only a price rollback could save us in November." It was also significant that White House Counselor Dean Burch was greeted with total silence when he told his audience that Nixon and the Republican Party are "indistinguishable" and that the GOP must win or lose with the President. Several party leaders were bitter in conversations with reporters, criticizing Nixon as prepared to carry the party down with him. But Democrats can find only minimal comfort in this. With Watergate in the daily headlines, they thought they'd have a breeze this year. Now they face a national mood which seems to proclaim that there are too many bums in both parties.

Today's Thought

In college I was president of the T.G.I.F. club (Thank God It's Friday).
Now, however, Fridays have taken on a new meaning, because weekends as a clergyman do not allow the same freedom that I once knew and loved. Yet we all need to have the feeling of release from pressures of life and have the ability to shift gears. Fridays, a change of pace, a game of tennis, a good book, a walk in the rain, a small act of kindness, can all do the trick.
Celebrate that kind of flexibility and help make it happen.

Hi Neighbor

Over the lunch counter, we heard a waitress remark: "If men start patronizing my hair dresser, I am going to look for another hair dresser. I don't want to be in a shop with men."
How about it ladies? Do some of you feel the same way? We might be wrong but we think there are a lot of men who aren't interested in sharing a shop with women either. A lot of husbands find the little woman a bit out of sorts in the morning now before she gets around to applying makeup and combing her hair.
At the same time, though, we are still young enough to realize that some men will find the ladies beauty shop appealing.

Perhaps it is fitting that our senior citizens took delivery of their new bus in May, Senior Citizens Month. A hearty salute to all our seniors and particularly to the many who are struggling to make ends meet in this day of mounting inflation.

The old bus has been given to the town. Could the town conduct an experiment with the old bus? Could it be used perhaps for a couple of days a week for shoppers downtown and to the shopping centers?

This appears to be the week of salutes and our best to all mothers on their day this Sunday.

To all the children, we'd like to pass the word mom related to this writer as a boy.

If you can't afford a gift, just get me a card, it's the remembrance that counts.

There, kids, you still got plenty of time to go out and get that card or perhaps sit down and make up your own.

Retailers tell us that Mother's Day is a major selling event. Yes, sales surpass those of Father's Day.

Manchester, as well as the rest of the nation, observed a national day of humiliation, fasting and prayer last week. The observance came about as the result of a U.S. Senate resolution. The disturbing point, and one that has gotten little publicity, is that the resolution didn't pass the House, in fact it died in committee. You might wish to ask your representative in the House how that happened and why. The observance is a good one for America.

There is a growing trend toward the 20-cent daily newspaper due to the inflated cost of newsprint and other supplies.

Newsprint, now $212 per ton, is expected to climb to $232 per ton around July 1.

Two New England dailies recently went to 20 cents.

Connecticut and 34 other states will elect governors this fall. From a high of 32 state capitols controlled by Republicans in the early Nixon years, the party has shrunk to 18. It is no secret the Democrats expect to reach the highest score they have had in this century.

Our state is one of the more fortunate. In many states, Republicans are having difficulty enlisting their best candidates to run. The Watergate atmosphere and the general expectation that it will be a bad year for Republicans have contributed to this reluctance. Connecticut has good candidates in the running for the Republican nomination.

Out in Arizona, a jury handed down an unusual ruling. It ruled negligence on the part of an automobile accident victim for not wearing a seat belt. Naturally, the case will be appealed.

One can't help but wonder how a jury could reach such a conclusion when the wearing of a seat belt isn't mandatory.

It was our thinking that the American mother, when asked to describe family eating habits, would respond that she gives them three square meals a day along with after school snacks for the children.

Now comes a report from Progressive Grocer which states that some three out of four families do not eat breakfast together and many eat none at all. The evening meal occurred as seldom as three times a week and some were as brief as 20 minutes.

Physicians should be happy to read that they have the number one ranking as a result of a survey by Opinion Research Corp. on how people rate the "prestige or general standing" of jobs in business and eight professions.

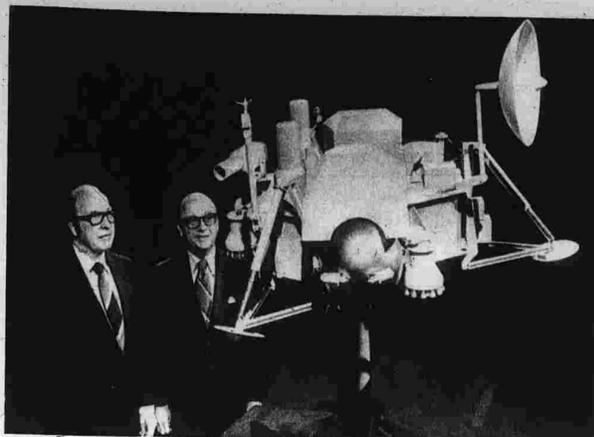

Physicians ranked ahead of scientists, in second place, and ministers, who were third. Then came engineers, lawyers, architects, bankers, accountants and in last place, the often misunderstood businessmen.

A citizen, deeply appreciative of Sunday's Walkathon, sent this item to us: "Some youths for a lark will go streaking and wonder if anyone is peeping. You walked fully clothed, the miles earning the dough, our handicapped folks were seeking."

Our congratulations to our young people for their splendid contribution.

Many of you have read the Ten Commandments for Parents which have appeared in a number of publications. However, with vandalism on the increase, perhaps the Commandments need repeating. We suggest you clip them and place them on the family bulletin board:

1. Thou shalt guard thy children in the home and on the street.
2. Thou shalt not bow down thyself unto thy children in the manner of a slave, lest in later years a husband or wife will find it hard to please a pampered nature.
3. Thou shalt honor the teachers of thy children and teach thy children to honor them.
4. Thou shalt not condone the faults of thy children through a misguided sense of family loyalty.
5. Thou shalt teach thy children respect for the law and keep them from the companionship of children who indicate disrespect for the law.
6. Thou shalt not lead thy children into temptation by providing them with the means thereof: Too much money, a car, or adult privileges.
7. Thou shalt enforce decency in the dress of thy daughters and dignity in the dress of thy sons.
8. Thou shalt protect the morals of thy children from the indiscretions of youthful ardor and inexperience.
9. Thou shalt win the confidence of thy children by good example, and not by unnatural pious platitudes about being good boys and girls.
10. Thou shalt not permit thy children to bear arms except in the service of their country.

Viking Lander Model

A scale model of NASA's Viking Lander, slated to soft-land on Mars on July 4, 1976, holds the attention of RCA chairman Robert W. Sarnoff, left, and RCA president A. L. Conrad. A main objective to the mission is to determine whether life exists or has ever existed on the red planet. The RCA-built communications system aboard the craft will send back data to earth, some 225 million miles away in approximately 20 minutes. (UPI photo)

Portuguese Colonies Uneasy About Future

By PHIL NEWSOM

UPI Foreign News Analyst
In Portugal, a coalition of Christian Democrats, Socialists and Communists has called upon the government for an immediate end to the fighting in Africa and the start of negotiations with African rebels for self-determination and independence.

In Africa, in Angola and Mozambique, the two largest and richest of Portugal's African territories, white Portuguese settlers and some blacks celebrated the fall of the Lisbon dictatorship but looked fearfully toward their own uncertain future.

In Portuguese Guinea, where African rebels are closest to wresting independence from Portugal, there also was uncertainty and what appeared to be a total rejection of Gen. Antonio de Spinoza's proposed solution for an end to the colonial fighting in Africa.

Federation of States Spinoza, leader of the military junta which overthrew the dictatorship of Premier Marcello Caetano, has proposed a federation of equal states in which the African territories would enjoy a substantial amount of autonomy but with Lisbon in charge of foreign affairs and defense.

In no case was Spinoza's suggestion completely acceptable.

At home, the political parties were reeling for self-determination. Spinoza said they were not and was supported by Portugal's bankers and industrialists interested in keeping a firm foothold on the rich African territories.

Of the three, Guinea could be given up with the least loss to Portugal.

Total Independence Spinoza had served as governor of Guinea, resigning in 1973, and had recommended that Guinea be ruled primarily by its own people within a Portuguese community. Guinea rebels feared that these proposals could take the peoples' eye off the main target, which for them is total independence.

Among Mozambique's 150,000 to 200,000 whites in the midst of more than eight million blacks there was a fear similar to that of French settlers during the revolt in Algeria that their government was about to desert them.

Many had been born in Mozambique and regarded themselves as Mozambicans. In mass rallies they pledged themselves, "We stay."

But in Mozambique, as well as in Angola, there also were whites who joined with blacks

IRS Reports $1.5 Million

HARTFORD (UPI) — Enforcement of federal price regulations by the Internal Revenue Service in Connecticut since last November has resulted in refunding of $1.4 million worth of overcharges by 1,117 petroleum products dealers.
Joseph J. Conley Jr., district IRS director, said Tuesday that for the week ending May 3 five gasoline dealers and 9 heating oil dealers were required to refund more than $21,000 in overcharges.
Conley said 16 remedial orders have also been issued and $5,166 in penalties collected.
Since enforcement began, 869 gasoline dealers, 243 heating oil dealers and six diesel fuel dealers have been cited for overcharging, he said.

Explosion Victims Identified

GROTON (UPI) — One of two men who died in a mysterious explosion at a hamburger stand has been identified as a former Green Beret demolition expert.
Police said Tuesday the other victim was a former student at Central Connecticut State College in New Britain.

The Special Forces veteran, Glenn Shaw, 23, of Rockland, Mass. was identified through fingerprints, Dennis Ledwell, 25, also from Rockland, was traced through fragments of a student identification card.
A detective assigned to the New London County state's attorney's office said there was evidence that gasoline or some other volatile liquid fueled the blast, which was followed by a fire.
The detective said it appeared Ledwell and Shaw were "up to no good."
All that was left of Ledwell's card was a piece containing four digits which the college traced to its owner. A spokesman said Ledwell was a day student enrolled for one semester in 1969.

The blast rocked the Howey Beefburger stand near the U.S. Navy's submarine base early Monday a few hours after closing.

Vernon Vacant Building To Be Renovated

Plans to remodel the building which formerly housed the Popular Market, F.W. Woolworth, and a branch office of the Vernon National Bank are being considered by the building owner, Leader Rubin of Hartford.

The building is part of the old Rockville Shopping Plaza and has been vacant for some time. Building Inspector Francis McNulty said he has been approached by an architect for the original plans of the building.

An area real estate agent said plans are expected to be ready for presentation to the Planning Commission within a few weeks.

Vernon Schwebel Aged To Check Finance On Walk Work

By a motion passed Monday night by the Vernon Town Council, Town Attorney Abbot Schwebel has been asked to give his opinion as to whether a sidewalk installation project was properly handled within the framework of the town charter.

In a letter from Councilman Thomas Benoit, Mayor Frank McCoy was asked to update information on a budget item of $23,000 in the public works budget for sidewalk construction.

In his letter Benoit said, "The original figure was apparently augmented by transfer of funds from other line accounts. If I correctly understood your remarks at our last meeting," he added, "Would you please advise me and other councilmen as to how much additional money was added to this account and how much has been expended to date?"

Benoit was referring to installation of a sidewalk along West Rd. He asked specifically for the amount of the bids, the amount of the agreed-upon bid, and if the contractor satisfactorily met the terms of the contract within the established bid and if not, what was the amount of the overrun.

Mayor McCoy said the low bid for the West Rd. project came in at $14,990 but it was later found out that the Traffic Authority wanted the walk extended for 900 more feet than the contract called for. He said this was about half again as long as the original proposal but the contractor agreed to do the work.

Mayor McCoy said the contractor did indicate he would need help in getting fill as this was not in the contract. He said the town was supposed to get this free from the sewer contractor but he reneged because of a problem with traffic so the town crews brought in the fill.

Other problems were created when two major rainstorms caused washouts and the state decided it wanted some changes in additional curbing.

was transferred from other accounts.

Benoit said, "When you saw you were overrunning the original bid, by what authority did you pay this without coming back to the council?"

Mayor McCoy answered that he did not run over the budget amount for this particular project. He said the money paid was the same unit price as the low bid price.

Benoit charged that the project is a disgrace and the mayor disagreed. Benoit also complained because his letter was not included in the agenda packet. The mayor explained the packets had already gone out to the council members and reminded Benoit that he has no authority to make up agenda items.

Councilman Thomas Wolff then called for the motion to see if the project was properly handled, by the mayor, within the framework of the charter.

Benoit said he wrote a letter to Atty. Schwebel and the questioning the way the money was spent and questioning if the action was in violation of the charter. He asked, "If a budget is overexpended doesn't it have to come back to the council?"

He then asked to amend Wolff's motion to incorporate such questions as the mayor's right to increase the amount to the contractor without asking the council. The amendment was defeated in a 3-4 vote but the motion passed in a 7-2 vote.

DAR Will Hear National Report

The annual report of the recent meeting of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution Continental Congress will be presented at the Oxford Parish Chapter meeting, DAR, Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Arthur Gustafson, 47 Princeton St.

Officers for the 1974-75 term will be elected.

Hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. James McKay, Mrs. John White, Mrs. Howard Ames, Mrs. Cyrus Tompkins, Mrs. John Holden and Mrs. Leslie Brooks.

Vernon Conservation Unit To Regulate Wetlands

BARBARA RICHMOND

An ordinance establishing the Conservation Commission as the local body to have full authority to implement regulations for the protection of wetlands and water resources in Vernon, was approved by the Town Council Monday night.

The regulations were prepared under the direction of Brian R. Will, chairman of the Conservation Commission and in compliance with guidelines set by the General Assembly and the state Department of Environmental Protection (DEP).

The Conservation Commission will have complete authority to see that the regulations are complied with. The decision of the commission will be subject only to the review of the Court of Common Pleas should a decision be questioned.

There is a provision in the regulations that would allow a developer, who wishes to build in a wetland area, to ask the Planning Commission to consider the application. The Planning Commission could recommend to the Conservation Commission but that commission will still be the ultimate judge.

Town Attorney Abbot Schwebel said in effect the town is creating another zoning commission.

If the town did not establish its own regulations and set up its own agency, then the state would be the ultimate judge using the regulations set forth by the DEP.

The town had to take action before July 1 or the state laws would go into effect and applications would have to go through state channels.

Quiet Solon Key To Nixon's Fate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A St. Joseph, Mich., the senior Republican on the committee, little known even in the House. He is a cautious and shy legislator, reserved and formal. He hardly welcomes his new responsibilities and he finds his new prominence almost distasteful.

Hutchinson says he has not made up his mind on impeaching Nixon. He says he will make it up on the evidence; he will not be an automatic partisan.

In an interview, Hutchinson expressed surprise when he was compared to the Senate Watergate committee's Howard H. Baker, who became a national figure in another inquiry into Watergate and the White House.

"I am just a humble congressman," says Hutchinson, drawing back.

But you are about to become a figure in history, he is told. He holds two fingers close together. "Just a footnote."

Does he welcome his position? "I don't want to run away from the job or anything like that. I'm perfectly willing to do it. But it does put more of a burden on me. I had no ambition for it."

Woman's View

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
NEW YORK (UPI) — Nothing can match an alumni reunion for starting one down memory lane—enjoying the trip and yet realizing with a stab how the years slip by.

Where did the time go, you ask? Don't try to answer. It only means you're getting older, although I prefer today's attitude. "You're not getting older, you're getting better."

Reunions are great for putting one at a loss also in trying to answer the question, "What ever became of —?" And "Remember when?" You confess you don't know what ever became of and don't remember when.

Another thing about reunions to throw you are all those people who have total recall of names and faces while you stare blankly at them, shaking hands and trying to read their name plates without getting out the glasses. With they print the names in larger type!

Returning to Campuses
This thing about reunions comes to mind because the other evening I participated in one, just as millions of you are also returning to campuses around the nation this time of the year for a dip into nostalgia.

For me, it was revisiting my alma mater, Marshall University, at Huntington, W.Va., and attending the alumni association's annual banquet.

There were awards and recognitions. And of course, speeches, interesting in their variety.

Fred W. Page Pitt, retired head of the department of journalism, honored for distinguished service, said he felt very, very young when he thought of a neighbor of his in Stewart, Fla., his wintertime residence.

"He's a senior, senior citizen he's just finished his 10th book, and he's only 94," said the man who started me into writing as a career.

Final Words
Then as association president James L. Farley was ending the evening, a hand in the audience went up. A voice wanted a few final words.

The voice, steady and clear without benefit of a microphone, belonged to Mrs. Bertha Filson, 91, a former teacher and county superintendent and now president of the Pt. Pleasant chapter of the association.

She'd graduated in 1901 from what was then Marshall Academy and she just wanted us all to hear about her first alumni dinner.

New York City more than doubled its population from 3.4 million in 1900 to 7.88 million in 1950.

Mrs. Grasso Accused Of Selling Out To 'Big City Bosses'

HARTFORD (UPI) — Attorney General Robert K. Killian has charged his chief political opponent with selling out to "big city bosses" in Hartford, New Haven and Waterbury.

At a special news conference Tuesday afternoon, Killian angrily attacked Rep. Ella T. Grasso, D-Conn., and accused her of making "deals" with Democratic leaders in return for support of her nomination for governor.

"Mrs. Grasso has found it to her advantage to commit herself to the power brokers," Killian said, "and she has not hesitated to do so."

Specifically, Killian charged Mrs. Grasso with agreeing to give House Minority Leader Carl Ajello, D-Ansonia, the nomination for attorney general in return for delegate support from Naugatuck and Waterbury at the summer nominating convention.

Mrs. Grasso, in Washington, denied Killian's charge that such a deal was made Monday night at a meeting of Naugatuck and Waterbury Democratic leaders in Seymour.

"I have made no commitments for anything on the state ticket with anyone," Mrs. Grasso said.

A major test comes May 23 when a state of 70 delegates from Hartford to the convention will be challenged in a primary by an alternate slate of delegates proposed by Killian.

The original 70 delegates are largely committed to Mrs. Grasso, but Killian secured enough signatures on petitions to force a city Democratic primary, the outcome of which could be decisive for his candidacy.

Killian said he expects to win the primary because "a lot of people don't want to be part of a fix."

Today's Thought

Pablo Casals said "The capacity to care is the thing which gives life its deepest significance." Caring not for self interest or thought of reward is indeed a mark of maturity. It expresses the kind of caring and love that Christ taught. We love because He first loved us.

MCC Computer Benefits CFS

With the aid of the staff, faculty and students at Manchester Community College, the Cystic Fibrosis Association's (CFA) recent Hartford area bike-a-thon was one of the first such events to be handled by computer.

The billing for the bike-athon, which proved to be a great success, was computerized through the efforts of Wellington Lee, chairman of the Data Processing Department at MCC, and a group of his students, including Tom Mayers, Bill Spivey, Bill Carver, Rick Duke and Ken Docton.

Sponsor sheets, which had been circulated by riders in the nine area towns involved, were keypunched onto IBM cards by Lee's students. With a program developed by him and his students, the cards were fed into a large IBM 360/Model 65 computer which transferred the information onto labels which were then mailed out to the sponsors.

Gregory Kay, executive director of the CFA, said that such a computerized billing system could save hundreds of hours of time usually required in the hand-billing process. Kay extended his thanks to Lee and the students and to Fred Ramey, director of the Business and Career Division at MCC, who authorized the project. Kay indicated that the same computer program, now that it has been developed, can be adopted to a number of projects planned by the Cystic Fibrosis Association.

Appropriation Draws Praise

HARTFORD (UPI) — Legislative approval of a $50,000 appropriation to train family physicians for Connecticut communities drew praise from state health commissioner Douglas M. Lloyd. "We need to insure a continuing supply of family physicians to help meet the health needs of Connecticut communities," Lloyd said.

Injuries Down

NEW HAVEN (UPI) — Only one passenger was killed on the New Haven line in 1973, compared to three the year before, Penn Central Railroad reports. The company said passenger injuries are also down because of higher platform and new cars which can't move until the doors are closed. Penn Central said nine were injured in 1973 because they jumped from moving trains, while 17 were injured in 1972.

Lottery Winners A Habit in Town

Manchester people appear to be reviving the old song, "You're Getting to be a Habit with Me" — at least, as far as the State Lottery is concerned. For the fifth consecutive week, Manchester has a $5000 winner — eligible to compete for the $100,000 top prize. The latest is Miss Marion Grimald of 33 Latic St. She won $5,000 in last Thursday's Super $100,000 drawing. She is eligible, with eight other $5,000 winners, to try for tomorrow's Super $100,000 drawing, which will be held at 10:30 a.m. at East Hartford, at the Silver Lane Plaza. Miss Grimald said she never before has won anything in the State Lottery, "not even $20," and she couldn't believe it when she found she had the winning number. She said she bought the winning ticket at the Dairy Mart store at Latic and Center Sts.

No More Tapes WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon personally has decided not to provide any more Watergate tapes or evidence to the House Judiciary Committee or the Watergate special prosecutor, it was announced Tuesday. The White House said, in the suspect contributions from ITT and milk producers no more tapes exist. The President's decision could trigger an attempt to carry through to the Supreme Court the prosecutor's subpoena for 84 tapes. Also, it is entirely possible Nixon could be held in contempt by the court.

Metric System Voted Down WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House of Representatives Tuesday voted down a bill converting U.S. weights and measure to the metric system. However, most congressmen feel it is bound to come up again since most of the world uses the system. One representative sent a letter to his constituents on the subject this week asking "Why must Americans be made to adopt these and other foreign measurements?"

Trudeau Faces Vote OTTAWA (UPI) — A leftwing group's non-confidence motion to be voted on in Parliament may overturn the Canadian government tonight. The reason for the motion is discontent with Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau's budget. He has been accused of failing to propose measures to assist pensioners, people on low and fixed incomes, to remove inequities in the tax system, or to deal with the housing equities. Trudeau said if the motion is passed, he will turn the government over to caretakers until new elections could be held.

Major Walkout in Britain LONDON (UPI) — In the first major walkout since a coal mine shutdown that forced a change of government, 1.2 million maintenance workers and repairmen went on strike today. The Amalgamated Union of Engineering Workers leaders claim the action will hit all key industries. The walkout was called to protest the seizure of union funds to pay court ordered compensation in an industrial dispute. The union does not recognize the court's authority.

LWV To Admit Men

Maybe it is a sign of the times. Now that the doors at Mory's (the all-male barroom in New Haven, which was off limits to women for years) have been opened to admit women membership in the League of Women Voters has just been opened to men. The 31st National Convention of the League of Women Voters (LWV), meeting in San Francisco, announced a vote in favor of admitting men to their organization. "We now have 115 members, but as for the men — we welcome them," she said.

Baseball Academy Dying

The Kansas City Royals' Baseball Academy in Sarasota, Fla., one of baseball's best promotions in years, is dying a fast death. Thanks to a clipping from Horace Murphey, retired long-time Park Department superintendent in Manchester and now a Sarasota resident, word of the Baseball Academy was learned. The unique Baseball Academy, on the outskirts of the city, was the realization of a dream for Ewing Kaufman, president of the American League Kansas City Royals. The Academy was born three years ago. Last week all but three employees were given pink slips, starting with the director down to office personnel. The three retained were Chuck Stobbs, Billy Goodman and Bill Scripture, all coaches.

Since the first of the year, Kaufman's chief enterprise, Marion Laboratories, dropped $40 million and the major league club has not showed a profit in six seasons. Last year the Royals dropped a reported $1.1 million in Kansas City.

The Academy, only school of its kind in the country, graduated four classes before the financial pinch was felt. One graduate, Frank White is now playing with the major league club. Plans now call for 80 minor league players to be housed at the complex next spring with the two Gulf Coast League teams whose this summer and the Florida Instructional League entry will move in next fall for three months. The Academy featured the most modern facilities available plus several first-rate diamonds.

During the winter months, a number of colleges included stops on spring pre-season trips to the Academy, including the University of Connecticut. Youngsters enrolled at the Academy took classroom work, such as offered at colleges, as part of their courses. One of the graduates who has shown promise of following in his father's footsteps is Orestes Mino, the son of Minnie Mino, who may be recalled as a fine hitter with the Chicago White Sox during his hey-day.

Notes Off the Cuff

Attractive Little League baseball schedules have been printed and distributed, compliments of Stewie Johnston at Dillon Ford Dillon, as entries in both the Major and Farm Leagues. The present fourth hole at the Manchester Country Club golf course was originally the first back in 1917. If Don Meredith is wearing a bigger smile these days than before he has every reason. His new contract with NBC calls for $200,000 annually. As a member of the three-man ABC Monday night football crew he received $40,000 a season. The ABC Monday night National Football League offerings had a higher rating than any show on the network. It will cost $100,000 a minute for advertising spots on the 1974 Monday night NFL package. Baseball Figure Fibberts could not go wrong by purchasing a copy of the Book of Baseball Records from the Elias Sports Bureau, 11 West 42nd St., New York, N.Y., 10036. The price is $5.95 and Editor Seymour Swiff has touched all the bases in the 74 edition now off the presses. Wildness continues to haunt Steve Bass, the World Series hero with Pittsburgh as an assistant baseball coach at Southern Connecticut State College. The southpaw pitched for the Cubs, Orioles and Athletics during a five-year big league career.

Double CCIL Triumph Shuffled Lineup Aid For Golfers

Raising its CCIL mark to 5-1 and overall record to 8-5 yesterday was the Manchester High golf team with a double CCIL victory at Manchester Country Club. The Indian linksmen topped Hall of West Hartford, 4-1, and Platt of Meriden, 5-0.

Coach Tom Kelley shuffled his lineup and it paid off as Duffy Leone, moved into the first slot topped John Nelson of Hall 3 and 1 and Chris Wigren of Platt 7 and 6. Manchester's Jim Wigren picked up points by defeating his Hall opponent 2-up and his opposite from Platt 8 and 7. Frank Leone won both his matches, 3 and 2 from Frank Montro of Hall and 5 and 4 from Platt. Captain Jim Thomas topped Platt's Roy Chranowski 8 and 7 over the par-7 course.

With a team total of 320, Manchester won the medal post from Hall by seven strokes, and from Platt by an overwhelming 60 stroke margin. Medalist honors went to Hall's Ray Gallinas with a 76 followed by Thomas' 77 and Wigren's 78. Manchester is home Thursday against league rivals Pennyc and Windham. Results: Manchester: Leone 37-44-81, Thomas 38-39-77, Wigren 36-42-78, Riggott 44-80-84; Hall: Nelson 41-42-83, Gallinas 37-39-76, Deitch 39-42-81, Montro 44-43-87; Platt: Spartz 44-48-92, Chranowski 49-47-86, Beland 49-47-96, Wigren 45-51-96.

Tennis Court Closed Hours

Tennis courts at three Manchester areas are closed weekdays during the following times, Mel Siebold, Recreation Department, director, said: Two at Charter Oak Park are closed to the public daily until 5:30 as well as all six at Memorial Field. Two courts at Robertson Park are reserved from 3 to 5:30 daily. All courts during the aforementioned times are available for school use only.

Illing Baseball Squad Victor

Breaking a 4-4 tie with two runs in the top of the ninth, the Illing Junior High baseball team topped East Hartford, 6-4, yesterday at the Hornets' field. Darrel Hoey's singled in the two deciding runs after Illing had knotted the count at 4-4 in the seventh. Bill Pinner and Jeff Backen each had three hits for Illing.

Martens Sets Record In East Track Success

Victorious for the ninth time in 10 tries yesterday was the East Catholic track team with a 101 1/2 to 43 1/2 decision over Pluaski High at New Britain's Stanley Park. Senior Joe Martens, who is asserting himself as one of the premier runners in the state, won the 220-yard dash in the record-breaking time of 21.3. Competing in the 440-yard run for one of the few occasions this campaign, Martens won the event with a time of 50.4. Double winners for East included Tom Wardwell (discus and shot put), Brian O'Neill (220-yard and 330-yard hurdles) and Mark Ertel (high jump and mile relay). Pat McCarthy won the pole vault while the 100-yard dash was taken by sophomore Cephus Nolen with a 10.4 clocking.

East's next meet is Thursday in Bristol against defending outdoor Class B champion St. Paul. Results: Long jump, 1. Zaitowski (EC), 2. Lobo (P), 3. Marten (P) 19.7; Pole vault, 1. Wardwell (EC), 2. Indians Continue Track Comeback

Leaping over the 500 mark for the first time this season was the Manchester High track team yesterday with a double victory in Uncasville, 91-54 over host St. Bernard and 119-26 over Hartford-based South Catholic. The Indians have won seven of their last eight decisions and now stand 7-6 overall.

Topping the local performance was the outing of shot putter Jim Bayak. The junior broke the school record with a toss of 49' 4", surpassing the old standard which had stood since 1958. Other fine performances were turned in by Jeff Lumpkin, winner of the 100 and 220; Mike Lombardo, winner of the high jump and triple jump; and sophomore Mario Orduz, who captured the 880-yard run.

Great Finish Illing High Trackmen Capture Third Decision

Rolling in the Pratt & Whitney Production Engineering League at the Holiday Lanes, Rocco Lupacchino wound up the season in a blaze of glory. The local small pinner turned in an all-mark game of 204 and compiled a 455 triple, both highs for the year. Lupacchino's boxscore read like this 19-38-57-77-97-117-144-164-184-204. He had strikes in the fifth, seventh, eighth and 10th boxes, spares in the others.

Captain-Elect

Jim Connors, former East Catholic High athlete, has been elected captain of next season's varsity basketball team at Northeastern University in Boston. The 6-7 local man averaged 11.8 points per game last season as the Huskies compiled a 14-11 win-loss record. Connors has been a starter the past two campaigns.

Celtics 'Executed' Better Than Foe

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — All the talk was about that famous word "adjustments" and all the technical moves that would bring either the Boston Celtics or Milwaukee Bucks the National Basketball Association title.

But when it got right down to it Tuesday night, "execution" became the operative word. The Celtics had more of it — both sides agreed — and handed the Bucks a 96-87 defeat to take a 3-2 lead back to Boston for the sixth game of the championship playoffs Friday night.

"We played the same way we always have in this series, only harder," Boston Coach Tommy Heinsohn said. "We made some adjustments early in the series, but now it comes down to execution."

The Bucks' big trouble finished with only a 43 per cent shooting average from the floor. Milwaukee hit only 25 per cent in the first quarter and that set the tone for the rest of the evening.

Bob Danridge, the slender guard who usually has to produce for Milwaukee to win, hit only four of 17 shots from the field and finished with 10 points. And Danridge had the

Oregon Taxpayer

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — The newest member of the Portland Trail Blazers is going to become an Oregon taxpayer.

It was learned Tuesday that before UCLA All-American Bill Walton left Portland Sunday after signing a contract with the NBA team he had placed a deposit on some property. A Trail Blazers' official did not say where it was located, but said: "It's a place bigger than a lot, but smaller than a ranch."

Thirty-Three Seconds of Luck All Bruins Needed to Triumph

BOSTON (UPI) — Thirty-three seconds of luck were all the Boston Bruins needed.

In that half-minute Tuesday night, the Bruins rocketed from loser to 3-2 winner in the opening game of their Stanley Cup finals against the Philadelphia Flyers.

"We were lucky to win it," said Phil Esposito just after the Bruins had whipped the Flyers with 22 seconds to play on a Bobby Orr screamer from 40 feet.

The luck of the Bruins began at 19:05 of the final period when Philadelphia's Bobby Clarke passed to an unattended Bill Flett at the right side of the Boston net. Flett drew the puck across the front of the goal leaving himself two-thirds of the net in which to deposit the puck.

But Flett couldn't handle the puck and when teammate Bill Barber and a Boston contingent of Orr, goalie Gilles Gilbert and Ken Hodge converged on the disc, it slid just past the far post.

Boston recovered quickly and brought the puck up ice where luck (or a dirty play, depending on whom you believe) struck again.

Boston's Wayne Cashman and Andre Dupont dug in the right corner and both went down. The puck slid along the backboard where Hodge picked it up and contoured a sharp pass to Orr, who rifled a shot past Bernie Parent's stick side.

"I'd like to tell you I aimed it," said Orr, "but I didn't. I just shot it."

Orr said he couldn't believe the sudden turn-around in the game's final minute of play.

"I thought the puck was going in" on Flett's shot. "He had the whole net but he lost control of the puck for a second. I saw it lying in the crease; all someone had to do was touch it."

But no one did, luckily for the Bruins, who were saved at the end of the ice by Cashman's sock.

"Dupont's skate got caught in the stirrup of my sock" on the winning goal. "I couldn't get up or do anything," said Cashman.

Dupont, however, thought Cashman already had done enough, claiming the Boston winger had grabbed him. The referee should have called a penalty," he said. "The puck was loose and he was holding me."

No penalty was called, though, and Boston had its victory despite playing good hockey for only the first 20 minutes. The Bruins, coming off a week's rest, skated to a 20 first period lead on goals by Cashman and Gregg Sheppard that came 53 seconds apart. Sheppard's goal was his 10th in 11 playoff games after scoring 16 in the regular season.

"We played one period of great hockey, then just quit skating for no reason at all," said Boston Coach Ben Guadolin of his club's second and third period swoon. "It couldn't have been that we were tired."

Whatever the cause, the Flyers charged back with goals by Orest Kizirichuk at 7:47 of the second period and Clarke at 5:32 of the third period.

But Philadelphia simply had no luck at the end when hustler wasn't enough to win.

First Fender-Bender In 500 Practice Run

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — The Speedway had its first fender-bender of the season Tuesday and "Ol' Tex" A. J. Foyt, Bobby Unser and Johnny Rutherford appeared to be the early favorites for the 500-mile race pole position.

This trio of veterans of United States Auto Club closed course competition stole the show in the first two days of practice for the May 26 $1 million chase, with three days left for tunings before they'll shoot for the pole Saturday.

Although speeds were expected to be down considerably from last year because of rule changes and a cutback in fuel allotments, practice averages

Walk Paid Off for Steve Blass

NEW YORK (UPI) — Steve Blass has been walking a lot of people. This time he took a walk himself and finally won one.

That's the way the Syracuse Chiefs have the whole thing figured out anyway, and after what happened to them, they're doing a little figuring.

For some reason known probably only to them, armed robbers and muggers have declared open season on baseball people lately and they aren't discriminating, they're hitting them all alike, superstars, secondliners, managers, front office personnel and minor leaguers as well.

Willie Mays had $9,000 taken from him in a Las Vegas hotel room not so long ago and other victims in this year include Darrell Johnson, the Red Sox manager who switched on the light in his Boston hotel room the other night to find himself confronted by an assailant with a knife; Mike Tyson and Joe Torre of the Cardinals; Lee Scott, the traveling secretary of the Dodgers, and Arthur Richman, promotion director of the Mets.

It was the Chiefs' turn in Charleston, W. Va., Sunday. Seven of them were in a motel room playing cards after dropping a 9-6 decision to the Charleston Charlies in an International League contest earlier that day when they got hungry.

Quarry Favored

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (UPI) — Jerry Quarry determined to keep his $200,000 date with Joe Frazier safe, was favored to defeat Joe Alexander over 10 rounds tonight in the first fight ever held in the two-year-old Nassau Coliseum.

Quarry, who will be 29 on May 15, signed to meet the 25-year-old Alexander before Frazier, the former champion, agreed to meet Quarry on June 17 in Madison Square Garden.

Five College Economists Claim WFL Uncertain

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Unless the new World Football League teams can obtain stadiums and get legislative help in merging with the established National Football League, they face an uncertain future, according to an economic panel sponsored by the NFL Players Association.

Five campus-based economists gave their view of the chances of the fledgling pro football operation Tuesday at a seminar sponsored by the NFL Players Association.

The five said that the WFL must hope for a possible merger with the NFL and obtain stadiums to be successful. "I think unless they can get a merger, they might be in trouble," Quirk said.

Hard-hitting catcher John Basch led the winners with two hits and three RBIs while teammate Keith Tautkus added a two-run homer. Paul Johnson was the winning batter while Kevin Tibbels absorbed the loss for 3-4 East Windsor.

Elsewhere in the area, Rockville High topped Windsor, 5-3, in a Central Valley Conference clash. Keith Munroe fanned 16 batters in leading the 5-4 Hams to the victory. Tom Crane paced Rockville's seven-hit attack with two safeties. Windsor drops to 5-6 with the setback.

In a Charter Oak conference engagement, Bacon Academy topped Coventry, 9-1, at the Patriots' field. Harness, Thoroughbred Race Venture Cleared WETHERSFIELD (UPI) — The way has been cleared for Connecticut's first horse race track to offer both thoroughbred and harness racing in 1976.

The nine-member state Commission on Special Revenue Tuesday approved an application by the Old Rock Road Corp. of Stratford to build a track in Wolcott.

The $30 million proposed facility in the rural community near Waterbury will accommodate up to 20,000 spectators. The commission authorized 120 days of harness racing and 120 days of thoroughbred racing in 1976.

The park was initially approved by Wolcott voters in a January referendum. Estimated time of completion is 18 to 24 months.

The commissioners approved the application under eight conditions which the corporation is required to meet.

These include compliance with all state and local statutes, including approval of the project by the departments of environmental protection and transportation and also lighting and heating facilities by Connecticut Light and Power Co.

"There's nothing bigger and I don't think there could ever be anything bigger," said Nov. Bernstein, president of the Old Rock Road Corp.

Tolland Budget Approved; 600 At Meeting

VIVIAN KENNESON
Correspondent

The town's $4,115,828 budget was adopted last night, a matter of minutes before the first Tuesday of May passed into the next day.

The Board of Selectmen will meet at 7:30 tonight in the office of Town Manager John Harkins to set a mill rate, presumably $3 mills, for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1.

About 600 persons packed the high school gym, passing through student pickets, and spent over three hours discussing the rights at an annual budget meeting under the new charter before positive action was taken on approved items.

Only 126 persons voted to adopt the budget at the onset of the meeting.

The approval came only after a short caucus by selectmen which agreed to have John Burokas, chairman of the board, move that any surplus revenue discovered after the mill rate is set will be given to the Board of Education and the Fire Department, not to exceed the amounts cut by the Board of Selectmen.

The majority of those attending the annual budget meeting, in favor of a $3.135 million education budget rather than the cut amount of $2.987 million, are banking on the information released by Selectmen Stuart Joslin that there are approximately 3 mills, or $150,000, worth of unaccounted for revenue.

Joslin said last night that he will "stake his reputation without hesitation on his information." He bases his confidence on his past six years of setting the budget under the phased out Board of Finance, and his CPA experience in auditing municipalities. Joslin is an accountant with Aetna Life.

Various calls to reduce budget line items to $1, or zero, were not widely supported and native-born Edith Knight called for the assembly to "stop acting foolishly so that people reading accounts of the meeting will not think the town incapable of governing itself."

Atty. Dave Marano, elected moderator, kept the meeting running smoothly as tempers were not exploding many times. Roberts Rules of order were called upon several times with points of order or information given.

A vote taken by Atty. Marano allowed non-resident Town Manager John Harkins to speak. Harkins said the revenue Joslin alluded to, in the amount of $15,000 is the result of legislature of $2 per capita which was not adopted at the time of the budget. His discounted education grants of $18,000 for transportation and $10,000 for special education as being revenue "to the best of my knowledge."

Harkins said the $84,000 revenue sharing surplus referred to by Joslin goes back a year ago and was gone over by the auditor, and he will go over it again.

Bolton Students Warned Of Bus Problems

Following an incident Monday, when drivers of buses loaded with students from Bolton High School refused to move for fifteen minutes until a student was removed from one of the buses, a meeting was held Tuesday with Raymond Allen, superintendent, George Negro, owner of Eastern Bus Lines, (EBL) and Gus Fortin, bus dispatcher for EBL.

The meeting resulted in a letter being sent to all parents of high school students advising them of the severe discipline problem on the buses. The letter was expected to be mailed today.

Allen said the students will have to behave on the buses or the safety of all students is in jeopardy.

Reported behavior problems include smoking, annoying the drivers, fighting and students leaving the bus by the emergency exit.

Social Security

Q. My son is 38 and totally blind. When he applied for monthly Social Security disability payments he was told that he hadn't worked recently enough to get benefits. I heard that changes in the Social Security law changed the work requirement for blind people. Is this true?

A. Yes. A person who became disabled by blindness needs a certain number of Social Security work credits, but he no longer has to have the credit for recent work required of other disabled workers. For example, your son, who became disabled in 1972, needs credit for four years under Social Security, but it doesn't matter when the credits were earned.

Q. An accident at work left my husband paralyzed. He is 50 years old, and our doctor says he probably will never be able to work again. Can he collect both Social Security disability payments and workmen's compensation?

A. Yes. But there is a limit. Social Security and workmen's compensation payments combined can be not more than 80 per cent of the disabled worker's average monthly earnings. Because of a change in the Social Security law, average current earnings can now be based on a worker's highest year of earnings in any one year of the five years before he became disabled. This change has resulted in higher monthly payments to many disabled workers.

Q. I get monthly Social Security checks as a disabled widow, and I just started working at a part-time job. I heard that disabled people are allowed work and test their ability to work for several months before their checks stop. Does this trial work period apply to me, too?

A. No. Since you receive disabled widow's benefits, the trial work period doesn't apply to you. The trial period only applies to disabled workers who get monthly disability benefits. You should report to Social Security that you are working. If your work isn't considered to be substantial gainful activity, your widow's checks may still continue.

Q. Since a heart attack a couple of months ago, I haven't been able to do any kind of work. My doctor suggested I check into the possibility of getting Social Security disability benefits. What information do I need when I apply for disability benefits?

A. You will need your Social Security number, the date (month, day and year) you last worked, the date you became disabled, information on the kind of disability you have, and the names and addresses of the doctor, hospitals and institutions that treated you along with the date of each treatment.

If you have received any treatment or examination by the Veterans' Administration, you should also have your service serial number your own VA claim number.

In addition, you should bring along information about the kinds of jobs you worked at most in the 10 years before your disability began and if you have received workman's compensation benefits, you should have your workman's compensation claim number available.

Finally, if you are also applying for monthly payments for your family, you will need the Social Security numbers and the dates of birth of your spouse and children.

Wheeling Oil Down The Great North Slope

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Opposition to the Alaskan pipeline has generated a number of alternative proposals for carrying oil from the North Slope.

Ten of these plans recently were analyzed by an oil company publication to show why they were impractical. And I must say I thought the company was a bit picky.

Among the ideas considered, and rejected, were:

Clearing a water passage through the ice pack with combination tanker-icebreakers; using submarine tankers to go under the ice pack; building an 800-mile steel tunnel for vehicular movement; bringing out the oil in blimps and elevated trains.

Also turned down was a plan for preventing possible environmental damage from hot oil moving through the pipeline.

Oil to be Emulsified
It would involve emulsifying the oil with seawater to form a mayonnaise-like mixture which could be pumped cold through the pipeline.

The fact that the oil industry regards all of these suggestions as unfeasible does not mean an event of a winter shutdown the pipeline "could freeze into an 800-mile-long cylinder of oily ice." Ah!

Why put the emulsion in a pipeline at all? Why not freeze it in big wheel-like molds and roll it down the North Slope?

Should Roll a Long Way
The area of the petroleum strike is described in the publication as "chilly tundra flatlands." Given a good push, a congealed wheel of oil-seawater mayonnaise should roll a long way.

And if the North Slope inclines southward, as seems logical, the wheels would pick up momentum from gravity.

Coventry Libassi Says Actions Were Not Lobbying

MONICA SHEA
Correspondent
Tel. 742-9493

Peter Libassi, president of Greater Hartford Process-DevoCo, said Tuesday night that his contract with two Republican state senators was so minimal that it could hardly be classified as lobbying.

Libassi was commenting on a request by Secretary of State Gloria Shaffer that he register as a lobbyist. John Fitzgerald, attorney for a coalition of people seeking to prevent DevoCo from building a new town of 20,000 in Coventry, had asked for an investigation of Libassi's reported lobbying activities against a bill introduced by Rep. Brannard that would have required a referendum vote on communities like the one DevoCo is planning.

The measure passed in the House and was defeated in the Senate.

Secretary of State Gloria Shaffer sent a letter to Libassi asking him to register as a lobbyist.

The letter said that his actions in opposing the legislation requires him to register.

Mrs. Schaffer said yesterday that this was only the second case brought to the attention of her office in the last year and she hopes that Libassi would come in to register.

She said the right of individuals to speak on legislation should not be infringed upon, but that an important distinction must be made between individuals who speak on their own behalf and those individuals who are compensated by a corporation and are speaking for that corporation.

Libassi said that the corporation was looking into the legal responsibility of corporation heads.

Libassi said, "I have been working under legal advice that a corporation president could lobby without registering as a lobbyist."

He said, "There are legal opinions that say a president of a corporation can speak for that particular corporation and not have to register as a lobbyist."

He said, "Our actions were not arbitrary and not predicated on illegal action."

Libassi said the fundamental flaw of the referendum bill was that it would not allow for a full hearing on the new community proposal.

He said, "As soon as we filed our petition for a hearing the issue would have been thrown into a referendum."

He said, "The other error I found in the bill was that a new community would have to win twice, once in a referendum and again before the Planning and Zoning Commission."

He said, "I can't say that what was at the heart of this bill was the voice of the people. This bill represented a stacked deck. The bill would have destroyed Planning and Zoning Commission functions in the state."

Libassi said, "The bill was

Sen. Weicker Purchases Dean's Home

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Lowell P. Weicker Jr., a member of the Senate Watergate committee, has bought the home of the committee's star witness, John W. Dean III, Weicker's office said Tuesday.

A spokesman said Weicker last week bought the red brick townhouse which Dean has had on the market for several months and moved in over the weekend.

It was learned Weicker paid $135,000 for the house and bought some of the remaining furnishings for an additional $15,000. Dean paid $72,500 for it two years ago.

The home is located in the colonial section of Alexandria, Va., near the Potomac River. Weicker has been renting a home in the area.

Jeffrey Makes a Practice Jump

Safety programs can be fun, too, especially when you get to jump from a school bus. Jeffrey Lang, a Grade 4 student at the Vernon Elementary School, Rt. 30, jumps from the emergency door of a school bus as Phyllis Cooper, gym instructor, looks on. The pilot bus safety program is being conducted at this one school and will be extended to the other schools in September. It is part of an entire unit on safety being presented under the direction of Mrs. Claire Albon as part of the health education program. (Herald photo by Richmond)

Salvage Firm To Build Plant in Tolland

VIVIAN KENNESON, Correspondent, Tel. 875-4704

The Board of Selectmen Monday gave authority to John Harkins, town manager, to convey three acres of land in the new section of the Industrial Park to the Rockville Scrap Metal Co., with an option to purchase another acre and a half.

The company, represented by brothers Joseph and Ronald Miller, is in the business of recycling paper, brass, copper, aluminum and steel. Plans are for a 30,000 square foot building with a stone facade, with the storage area to be enclosed by a stockade fence and trees.

All materials, except steel, will be stored inside the building. The steel will be stored externally, according to the preliminary agreement, on the premises and receiving and dispatching will be from the rear of the building.

The sales price, according to Harkins, is $8,200 per acre, including the year-long option on the additional acreage. The worth of the building, when completed, is estimated to be $200,000, plus $100,000 worth of equipment.

The site plan must go to the Planning and Zoning Commission, according to Harkins. Money is included in the 1974-

Canoe Trip Challenge For Rham Quartet

ANNE EMT, Correspondent, Tel. 228-3971

"Survival of the fittest," it may not have been, but for the three students and one teacher from Rham High School who recently took a canoe trip 60 miles down Connecticut waters, the trip proved to be successful in many aspects.

Starting in Mansfield in their aluminum white water canoe, the students, James Lant, William Bell and Glenn Bagdonis, and their teacher Ron Ouellette, traveled the 60 miles down the Nutchaug, Willimantic, Schectucket and Thames Rivers. In addition there were over 12 miles overland where the group had to make four portages.

Each participant had a food budget of $5 which consisted of dry cereal, hot dogs, beans and beef, stew. According to Ouellette, this was "by far not enough" and the group was counting on their "catches" to supplement their diet.

However, throughout the almost 75 miles traveled, not a fish was caught and this meal had to be purchased from one of the local fish markets.

All felt the trip was a "real life adventure" particularly when it came to washing up in below freezing weather, crawling into sleeping bags slightly "damp" from falling in and attempting to sleep in the wind whipping through.

Ouellette felt it was a wonderful "team effort" and the students were impressed with themselves as far as their ability to manipulate in the "wild."

However, the call of the "wild" faded somewhat at the end of the trip where the four "explorers" were picked up by car and driven home to Hebron.

NEWS FOR SENIOR CITIZENS

Hi, there! I guess you saw our big ad in the paper Monday, and once again I hope our senior members aren't mad that their names weren't included.

As I explained before, it was a senior project and therefore it was expected that our seniors would donate to their own project, therefore when we received outside help, I felt they should be recognized.

Again I hope I didn't leave anyone out, and if I did, I'd appreciate hearing about it because it is only fair that it should be publicly thanked.

The big news at the center was registering for our big November trip. By the end of the day we had about one hundred signed up, this wasn't bad at all; however, we need at least one hundred more in order to take the trip.

So you still have all week to register, either in person or by mail. If you mail it in, please include a self addressed and stamped envelope with your receipt. For further information call our office.

The action here at the center starts with last Friday, and we had a large turnout for our kitchen social bingo in the morning. After lunch we moved upstairs where we had 70 players for our setback games with the following winners:

Germaine Frechette, 134; Bernadette Schuetz, 132; Lou Webber, 129; Jennie Fogarty, 128; John Gally, John Kehoe, 121; Harvey Barrette, Paul Schuetz, and Violet Dion, 120; Eva Lutz, 119; Gus Gull, Ciss Wilson, Helena Surelio, and Felix Jeanis, 118; Samuel Demko, and Clara Hemingway, 117; Martha LaBate, Lucille O'Brien and Ellen Bronkko, 116.

Next came Monday, and our Golf League had 27 brave men out playing despite the cold early morning weather at Blackledge Golf Club and here's some of the scores: Al Bolis had a 46, Treffle Breton had a 48, Charles Tarpinian had a 50. See you all at Tallwood next week.

Back at the center where the building was nice and warm along with registering for the trip, we had an extra large turnout for the kitchen social game.

We want to thank Gloria Wandt for pinching-hitting for Georgiana Vince, who is still a patient at the hospital, for doing a wonderful job. Joseph Kron, I understand, will be discharged from the hospital at this reading, and will be recuperating at his home at 33 Jordt St. We want also to send

Sen. Ribicoff To Stay Neutral

HARTFORD (UPI) — In order to preserve neutrality in an upcoming Hartford Democratic primary, Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., is resigning as a state convention delegate from the city.

Ribicoff sent a letter to Town Clerk Robert J. Callahan asking to have his name removed from the list of 78 state convention delegates endorsed by the Democratic town committee.

That list, which generally supports Rep. Ella T. Grasso, D-Conn., as a candidate for governor, is being challenged by an alternate list of delegates favorable to Attorney General Robert K. Killian, also seeking the nomination.

Others expected to soon resign from the list include Democratic state Chairman John M. Bailey, Rep. William R. Cotter, D-Conn., and Probate Court Judge James H. Kinsella.

Killian Criticizes Franchise Statute

HARTFORD (UPI) — State Attorney General Robert K. Killian said today a franchise bill approved by the legislature was watered down and gives little protection to the independence of franchised gasoline dealers in the state.

"This legislative capitulation was forced by the major oil companies — in particular Mobil — which were in the process of terminating the franchises of their independent dealers," Killian said.

He said, however, a bill introduced in Congress Monday will bar major oil companies from swallowing up independent gasoline dealers.

Killian said the measure will forbid acquisition of any pipeline now owned by one of the 15 majors on July 1, and from operating any wholesale or retail outlet they did not operate as of that date.

"The major oil companies are determined to wipe out competition in the petroleum industry," Killian said. "They have now proved that no single state can effectively block their intentions."

Both are scheduled to appear in Circuit Court 12 on June 3.

In other Manchester Police action Tuesday:

• David L. Joseph, 19, of East Hartford was arrested yesterday afternoon at the Sears store in the Parkade and charged with third-degree larceny after he allegedly left the store with a portable television valued at $90 still in its carton without paying for it, police said.

Joseph posted $200 bond for appearance in court May 20.

• All four tires of a late model, large Buick were removed by thieves sometime Tuesday between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. while the car was parked in the commuter parking lot near Calder's on Tolland Tpk., police said. The car belongs to John Matthews of 48 Eldridge St.

Thieves put an old spare tire on the left rear, left the hub caps at the scene and put the car on blocks.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

"Command" Performance

Three days before concert time, a rock singer informed the promoter that he had changed his mind about doing the show. The promoter hastened into a local courtroom for help.

This is the law's usual attitude with regard to contracts that call for personal service of one kind or another. Although the courts may award dollar damages in breach of contract, they generally won't force a singer to sing, a painter to paint, or a baseball player to play baseball.

Why? Because, say the courts, it would be too hard to tell whether the performer—acting under compulsion—was really doing a good job or was only going through the motions.

Furthermore, a forced performance is considered too close to involuntary servitude. Courts are reluctant, said one judge, to "turn contracts of service into contracts of slavery." (In that case, he refused to force a dancer to dance.)

Sometimes, however, a court will put indirect pressure on the performer by at least forbidding him to "do his thing" for anybody else. Thus, a basketball star who broke his contract was ordered by a court not to play for another team.

But even this lesser form of pressure is used only if the performer's services are unique—that is, if his employer cannot find a reasonably satisfactory substitute. For example:

A piano company went to court to prevent a disgruntled salesman from going to work for another firm. But the court decided that the circumstances did not justify such a drastic order. The court said the company was not facing any "irreparable harm," since it could hire another salesman to do pretty much the same job.

Spray Product To Be Studied By Agency

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Consumer Product Safety Commission Tuesday began investigating aerosol products under its jurisdiction, including furniture polishes, window cleaners, to see if they contain vinyl chloride, a suspected cancer-causer.

The commission said it would propose a ban in the near future on the use of vinyl chloride as a propellant in aerosol products under its control.

In the meantime, it is asking various manufacturers to notify the commission at once if vinyl chloride is used in any of their products.

The commission became the third government agency to study vinyl chloride in consumer products. The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) previously launched a recall of more than a score of aerosol products, mainly cosmetics such as hair sprays. The Environmental Protection Agency also has banned the sale of pesticides for indoor use containing vinyl chloride.

The chemical has been linked to a dozen cases of a rare form of liver cancer diagnosed in workers employed at plants where the chemical is processed. All three government agencies have said there was no firm evidence yet on what vinyl chloride would do when used in the home.

Shortage Caused STAFFORD, England, (UPI) —

New long pants uniforms are causing a shortage in Boy Scout troop strength, says chief scout Oliver Finlow.

Finlow said the movement did not consider the extra cost for extra length when the scouts dropped their shorts. Older students do not need permission slips. Many parents could not buy a $14.50 pair of khaki trousers for once-a-week scout meetings. Finlow said.

Florida Tourism Hit Hard by Energy Crisis

By FRANK EDGE

MIAMI (UPI) — Florida found out in the Winter of '74 that it takes a lot of gasoline to fuel a successful tourist season.

Florida, along with other states, particularly in the Northeast and Midwest, didn't receive enough gasoline for its own residents in January, February and early March. The tourists stayed away by the hundreds of thousands.

The Florida winter weather — December through March — was about as warm and bright as the Sunshine State can produce, particularly over the southern half of the peninsula where most winter vacationers flock.

Those that did get here by plane, bus or train appeared to have enough money to enjoy the good life.

Statistics are brutal. Because the care and nurturing of tourists in Florida's No. 1 revenue and job producing industry, the stay-away statistics are brutal.

The winter tourist season, as we know it, was off 20 to 22 percent," said Morris Ford, state director of tourism. He said these figures were based mostly on hotel, motel and restaurant businesses.

"Exclusive of Disney World, the tourist attractions generally were off 10 to 40 percent," Ford said.

Disney World is cagey with its reports because of the effects on its stocks. It waited until the end of April to report that March attendance at the giant attraction near Orlando declined 23.5 percent from March 1973. However, April figures reported at the same time showed only a 1.8 percent decline.

The reason is clear, said Ford. "Car traffic since the first of February is down 35 to 50 percent and the increases in air, bus and train travel were not nearly enough to offset it," he said. "The week before Easter, car traffic was down 35 percent."

Miami area tourist officials estimate a 10 to 15 percent decline from 1973 marks.

"It was not a championship season," one Miami Beach hotelman noted.

Business Off 24 Per Cent

"In March, you could drive blocks without seeing an out-of-state auto tag," said Burton Clark, director of the Seagrarium, Miami's most popular tourist attraction where business was reported off 24 percent during the first three months of the year.

Butterfield's Closes Saturday

The Manchester Parkade will have 70,000 square feet of vacant store space after the official closing Saturday of one of its most high class tenants, Butterfield's Department Store. The store will be closed forever then, according to Manager Melvin Torman. On April 23 the store was forced into involuntary bankruptcy by three of its largest creditors, which claimed Butterfield's owed them over $5 million. The creditors are: E. K. Associates of Manchester, Nationwide Funding Corp. of 685 Parker St., and Journal-Inquirer Publishing Co. of Rockville. Neil H. Ellis of Manchester is a principal in each of these three firms but was out-of-state this morning when sought for questions as to his plans for the large store.

Democrats Seeking End to Petroleum Depletion Allowance

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. William J. Green, D-Pa.—supported by the AFL-CIO, Common Cause, Ralph Nader and 152 other House Democrats—began a move Tuesday to force a House vote on wiping out, rather than phasing out, the oil depletion allowance. The House Ways and Means Committee approved legislation last week to end the 22 per cent allowance in steps over a three-year period, and asked that amendments be barred when the measure is considered on the floor. Green wants to do away with the allowance immediately.

"Oil companies should look to the market place, not the tax code, for their profits," said Green, pointing out that oil company profits in 1974 are expected to double.

The oil depletion allowance—a tax break worth $2 billion a year to the oil industry—allows an oil company to deduct 22 per cent of income from all oil property up to a total of 50 per cent of profits.

The committee bill would impose a windfall profits tax on the industry, which would gradually phase out as the oil depletion allowance also phased out. Green's amendment would hit the oil companies much harder and much sooner.

Green's maneuver involved taking his case to the full Democratic membership of the House. He got signatures of 155 members—more than half of all House Democrats—asking a meeting of the full membership. The caucus will be asked to instruct the House Rules Committee to allow submission of the Green amendment on the House floor when the bill is cleared for floor action. Common Cause, the AFL-CIO and a coalition of groups called the National Committee for Tax Justice all supported Green and he said Nader also was actively supporting him, along with the United Auto Workers.

The U.S. Bankruptcy Court in Hartford appointed Nathan B. Sweedler of Hartford as the receiver in the bankruptcy. Sweedler has placed new locks on the store's doors and has conducted the bankruptcy sale of the store's inventory during recent weeks. He is handling all the finances of the store and has been compiling a list of creditors. Butterfield's has leased floor space to three firms within its store. The store employs about 50 full and part-time people in its numerous departments. Atty. Richard Lubin of East Hartford is counsel for the three creditors listed above.

FBI Probing Possible Embezzlement

HARTFORD (UPI)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation said Tuesday it is looking into the alleged embezzlement of funds at the Connecticut Bank and Trust Co.

Water Co. Price Tag Same

By DOUG BEVINS
Town purchase of the privately owned Manchester Water Co. would still cost $2.25 million, Town Manager Robert Weiss told the town's Board of Directors Tuesday night. Weiss said he had met earlier Tuesday with officials of the North End water company and the purchase price had been agreed upon, subject to May 34 approval of the company's stockholders. Weiss was authorized by the directors to pursue the matter and develop estimates of financial impact of the purchase on the town. Weiss said the $2.25 million purchase price compares to a $1.95 million figure quoted in 1971 by the water company. The increases, Weiss said, cover costs of improvements such as new wells and extension of water lines. Purchase of the water company for $2.25 million was approved by town voters in a November 1971 referendum, but the terms of the acquisition provided for consolidation of town and Eighth District sewage facilities. Eighth District voters rejected consolidation, and the action to purchase the water company became invalid. Weiss' report on the water company purchase price came Tuesday night as the directors considered a $15,000 study of long-range water supply needs. No decision was made on the proposed study, which Weiss says attempts to answer the question, "Should the water department spend in excess of $3 million to improve Buckingham Reservoir (which is on Manchester-owned land in Glastonbury) or should the department look elsewhere for water resources—such as the purchase of the Manchester Water Co.?" Weiss said recent appraisals of the private water company facilities list figures of more than $4 million for the system and about $1 million in real estate.
