Hospital Week

This is National Hospital Week and today's guest editor is Andre P. Marmen, director of development and public relations, Manchester Memorial Hospital.

Manchester Memorial Hospital is joining the nation's more than 7,000 hospitals in observing National Hospital Week, May 12-18.

This is an annual event sponsored by the American Hospital Association, on behalf of its member institutions, to create public interest in and support of the accomplishments and goals of our health care institutions.
 With the theme of this year's observance, "Get to know us before you need us," hospitals are asking the public to become better informed about the growing responsibilities health care institutions are assuming both inside and outside their walls, and the challenges they face in meeting increasing demands for their services in a time of rapid social and economic change.

In the days of Florence Nightingale, hospitals were little more than resting places for the sick poor. Since then they have evolved into complex health care institutions.

"We now go into a hospital expecting not just to be tended to, but to be healed and to have our lives saved — and with lots of 'tender, loving care.'"
 And beyond caring for our physical ills, hospitals are concerned more and more about the social, psychological and economic problems created by our illnesses.

We look to our hospitals to be centers of effective research into the cause and cure of disease as well as to their key role in educating the health care professionals of the future.

We have come to take for granted that hospitals serve not only those in bed, but also those whose health care needs can be met in outpatient clinics and with other ambulatory services.

We expect hospitals to help us stay well, or to help us detect problems before they become serious enough to warrant hospitalization, through community health education programs and screening clinics. We look to our hospitals to help care for us when we are well enough to go home, through home care services; to meet all our medical emergencies, day and night; and to serve as a center for preparedness in times of widespread disasters.

We ask our hospitals to assume leadership in the development of neighborhood health centers and to seek better methods of distribution of health care services to more people.

This is an era when people regard it as the right of every citizen to have quality health care — when we are more critical of rising costs of modern health care services and the way they are provided and paid for.

We encourage every citizen of this community to answer the call of National Hospital Week "to get to know" your hospital. With knowledge comes understanding and the support, interest, and involvement of the community upon which our hospital depends if it is to continue to fulfill our increasing expectations with maximum efficiency and economy.

Doubt Removed

If there was any doubt that the American people are indignant about scandals in government and are intolerant of even the appearance or suggestion of impropriety in their officials, it should be dispelled by the defeat of Ohio Senator Howard Metzenbaum for nomination by the Democratic party as its candidate for the office which he now holds.

Metzenbaum was appointed to the office by Ohio's governor when William Saxbe resigned to accept the appointment of attorney general.

It was revealed after his assumption of the Senate seat that a few days before his name was placed in nomination for the vacancy he had paid the government $400,000 in taxes which had been in dispute.

Metzenbaum, whose worth is reported to be in excess of $3 million, had claimed that business reverses in 1969 had left him no liability for federal taxes.

But, with the possibility of becoming a U.S. senator, he decided to pay the large tax bill, probably feeling that publicity resulting from his contest with the government might adversely affect his chances of confirmation.

John Glenn, America's first astronaut, opposing Metzenbaum for the nomination, seized upon the tax difficulty and it became the principal issue in the election fight. Metzenbaum had defeated Glenn in a contest for the Senate four years earlier but Metzenbaum then had been defeated in the general election.

The rising tide of discontent which has seen the defeat of four Republican candidates for the House this year in a reversion to the scandals besetting the Nixon administration, thus has also become a factor in all elections.

This was not a case of poor American hero beating a wealthy man out of traditional sympathy for the underdog. In response to prodding from Metzenbaum, Glenn admitted that he had a net worth of more than $700,000.

Instead it was the suspicion that Metzenbaum was using a tax loophole in order to evade taxes rightly owed. This was underscored when he quietly paid the taxes so that they would not interfere with his confirmation to the Senate.

There is a lesson in this for those who seek public office. The American voter is thoroughly disgusted with shady tactics in its public officials.

If a new morality is developed from the scandals of the last year, and strict probity in both public and private affairs is the result, perhaps we may see a welcome return to the principle that public office is a public trust.

Bruce Bioassat
A New Version Of 'the Sting'

No one seems to have paid attention to the curious and perhaps vital backdrop against which President Nixon in late February, 1972, began a series of concentrated contacts with his controversial young counsel, John Dean.

By Dean's public testimony, unchallenged on this point by the White House, that series of talks began at the President's own initiative, after a long period of months (embracing most of the immediate post-Watergate break-in days) in which Dean and Mr. Nixon rarely saw each other.

The President's edited transcripts of Watergate tapes include, obviously, one of those "rare" prior meetings — on Sept. 15, 1972, the day the original Watergate defendants were indicted.

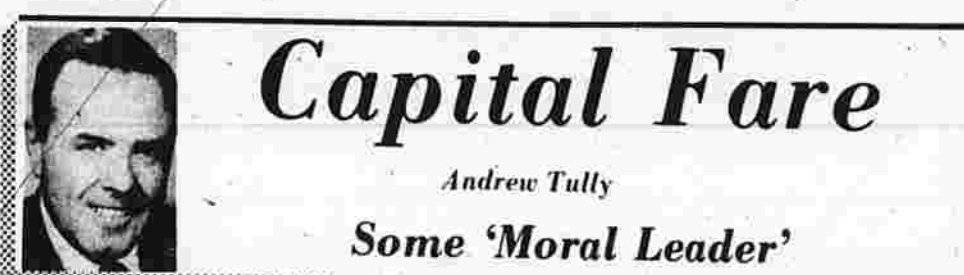

But suddenly, from late February to mid-April of that year, Dean was drawn into 21 head-on conversations with the President (sometimes alone, sometimes with others), and also had 14 telephone talks with him. The released transcripts cover just nine of these, roughly one quarter, starting Feb. 28 and ending April 16.

Two questions of high significance arise from the fact of this heavy flurry of Nixon-Dean contact in early 1972. First, what was Dean as the President's counsel doing in all those crucial post-Watergate days when the two were not meeting, and did Mr. Nixon know of Dean's activities? Second, why did it suddenly become important to the President to talk to Dean 35 times in about a month and a half?

What Dean was doing from the June 17 Watergate burglary weekend until his transcribed Sept. 15 meeting with the President is spread on the 1973 Senate Watergate hearing record, with some part corroborated by other witnesses and some challenged.

He says that starting with Monday, June 19, 1972, he took part in the Watergate cover-up sitting in that day on at least two key meetings. The second meeting was in former Attorney General John Mitchell's apartment involving such others as money-peddler Fred LaRue; gully-peddler, Jeb Magruder; a high official of Mr. Nixon's re-election committee, and now indicted Robert Marjarian, former top Justice Department official under Mitchell.

From then on, by Dean's own public words, he began moving to restrict official FBI Justice Department inquiries into the real scope of Watergate. He sat in on FBI interviews with eight White House staff people, got copies of 80 pertinent FBI reports from then acting-Director L. Patrick Gray, says he induced Assistant Attorney General Henry Peterson to limit the inquiry to the burglary episode and to have Justice prosecutors interrogate five White House aides — Charles Coson, Egil Krogh, David Young, Dwight Chapin and Gordon Strachan, in a separate

Andrew Tully
Some 'Moral Leader'

WASHINGTON — Perhaps the most remarkable thing about the 1,254 pages of the White House Watergate transcript is that Richard Nixon in effect has pleaded guilty — in a number of instances — to conduct unbecoming a President.

That is the only conclusion that can be drawn from utterances made by Nixon himself and recorded on the notorious White House tapes, of which the transcript delivered to the House Judiciary Committee is a censored compilation. One has only to quote from the transcript to support the conclusion.

On the subject of blackmail demands from one of the Watergate burglars, Nixon told White House Counsel John Dean 3rd on March 21, 1973, that "you have no choice but to come up with the $120,000." On at least seven occasions, Nixon discussed various ways by which as much as $1-million could be paid to the burglars without running the risk of having the payments traced to the White House.

"We could get that," Nixon told Dean when Dean said "these people are going to cost a million dollars over the next two years." Nixon added, "You could get it in cash. But the question is who the hell would handle it?" Later, Nixon agreed with Dean that the money should be handled by former Atty. Gen. John Mitchell. Nixon also wondered if the cash payments could be "put...through the Cuban Defense Committee...Would that give a little bit of cover?" Replied Dean, "well, they have priests in it."

 In Nixon's own words, the purpose of the payments to the burglars would be "to keep the cap on the bottle," to "buy time." Less than 12 hours after that discussion, Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt Jr. received $75,000 in cash, keeping the cap on that bottle. And, incidentally, resulting in obstruction of justice indictments against seven of the President's official people last March 1.

On granting clemency to Hunt — "You don't do it politically until after the '74 elections, that's for sure," Nixon told Dean, "The appearance, etc., is something I think in Hunt's case you could do." Later during the conference, Nixon said to Dean, "That's why for your immediate thing you have no choice but to come up with the $120,000, or whatever it is. Right?" Dean replied, "That's right." The President uttered what the censors called an "explosive," then told Dean, "get it."
 There was also a suggestion by Dean that a new grand jury controlled by the White House, Nixon noted that such a procedure would offer Fifth Amendment protection for White House witnesses. "You can say 'I don't remember,'" Nixon remarked. "You can say 'I can't recall,' I can't give any

Bible Answers
 Does the Bible foretell the end of the world? Yes, when Jesus says "the stars will come falling from heaven and the powers in the heavens will be shaken." He is saying that planet earth like all created things will have an end.
 Meanwhile, Jesus thoughtfully prepared his disciples for the end of their little world, and the scriptures prepare us for the end of our also.
 Some of us see signs of the end in Second Timothy: "People will be self-centered and grasping; boastful, arrogant and rude; disobedient to their parents; ungrateful, irreligious;..." (2:1) "Now an answer for the rich. Start crying, weep for the miseries that are coming to you." (James 5:1)

Is not our world dividing into a few countries that are rich and who are content that are poor? This is a sign of the end. And the Book of Revelation which foretold the end of their world could be referring to ours, for its devil-worship and witchcraft (9:20-21).
 Tomorrow, a Bible answer, which defies discovery!

Betty's Notebook

By BETTY RYDER
Women's Editor

A poster which we received recently had a message that brought home a truth which is sometimes hard to take. It noted that one of our excuses for not exercising has just become obsolete.

The fact is, many Americans have always claimed they would exercise if they had the time. But talking about good health and physical fitness, and doing nothing about it, is only good for the lips and tongue.

The poster, which depicts a busy housewife in various stages of household work, says the secret is to work exercise into your daily routine.

For example, the next time you bend down to change the channel on the television set, do five or ten deep knee bends. However, the poster cautions, for safety's sake this is not advisable during the final minute of a tie basketball game.

Having a long chat with Aunt Bessie? Sit down and raise your legs to a parallel position with the ground 10 times. Hold them for 10 seconds each time and tense your leg muscles.

If you have a pet dog, let him take you for a walk. Walk briskly. Avoid fire hydrants.

Better still, the poster shows a family who installed a chinning bar in the doorway of each of their two bathrooms. In order to enter, each member of the family must do five chin-ups. It further notes that there have been some cases where the chin-ups were done very fast.

While you're in the kitchen fixing dinner, perhaps peeling the potatoes, do leg kicks. Kick each leg backward five times to flex the knee joint and muscles. When you stretch to a top cabinet shelf, hold the stretch for five seconds.

Finally, so you don't miss a single opportunity to exercise, when you stoop to check the casserole in the oven or wipe up a spill from the floor, do it without bending your knees.

Since for many of us it's a long way down, we fear many casserole would burn — and floors would get unwiped unless it was accomplished with a long-handled mop.

The French Tradition

If you've checked your garden lately, perhaps you noticed the lilies of the valley just beginning to pop their little white bells into the daylight. We just can't wait till they get tall enough to pick a small handful and bring their wonderful fragrance into the house.

Perhaps you may not know the custom of the French when "muguet des bois," (lily of the valley), blossoms in their country.

According to legend, it is the flower a young Frenchman hands to his beloved on the first day of May. Why? To let her know that spring is here, a beautiful day is waiting for her and he has love on his mind.

On every street corner of Paris muguet des bois are sold on this day and men of all ages buy them. This delicate flower of the little white bells grows only in the shade usually under trees and ferns, but its sweet scent never lets you overlook it.

In Paris, it can lead you to a lot of things. A stroll in the Bois de Boulogne or a boat ride down a quiet stream, or perhaps dinner in an old country inn. French women go to great lengths to preserve the account of such a memorable day and press the little flowers in heavy old books or dry them in small silk bags.

So, when the lilies of the valley in your yard are right for picking, let their fragrance fill your house. Who knows, warm memories may come sweeping back, for you — and for him.

Women With Designs

At last — a house is going to be designed by women. Builders' wives and women builders from all over the United States will meet in Washington, D.C. on May 20 to design an energy-saving home that can be built with currently available materials and construction methods.

The home, to be designed by more than 100 women, will be built in Dallas later this year and will be on exhibit at the National Association of Home Builders 31st annual Convention and Exposition there in January, 1975.

This will be the second house designed by the women and will be featured in October in national home magazines. It is the result of such designs from women that features such as hobby-laundry room, "wrap-around" kitchen, and other housing elements by and for women came into being.

Women who spend most of their time homemaking, are great authorities on what makes for a conveniently designed home. The objective of the project is to design a home that will not only save energy in the form of fuel, but will conserve the energy of the housewife and the family.

If You Care — Call

After six months of full-time round-the-clock state coverage, The Connecticut Child Welfare Association Care Line, concerned with Child Abuse prevention, reported receiving a total of 875 calls involving 1,652 children from 111 different localities in Connecticut.

We'll have a story later this week giving the area breakdown of the calls, who made them, and the advantages of the Care Line. In the meanwhile, if you are aware of child abuse, care enough to call 1-800-842-2288.

Mozzer-Dupont

Denise Regina Dupont and Thomas Allan Mozzer, both of Manchester exchanged wedding vows May 11 at St. James Church, Manchester.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Dupont of 117 Ridge St. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Mozzer Sr. of 141 Brookfield St.

The Rev. Eugene Charman of St. James Church officiated at the double-ring ceremony. The church was decorated with gladioli and chrysanthemums. Mrs. Ralph Maccaroni was organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown trimmed with schiffli embroidery, and designed with an Empire waist, A-line skirt accented with chapel-length train, sheer yoke, Gibson Girl collar and bell sleeves. Pleated ruffles accented neckline, waist, sleeves and hemline. She carried a nosegay of blue roses and baby's breath.

Mrs. Joyce Kroll of Manchester, was her sister's matron of honor. She wore a baby blue doublet gown fashioned with Empire waist, ruffled collar and cuffs. Her headpiece was a band of matching blue flowers and she carried a nosegay of variegated blue roses with baby's breath.

Bridesmaids were Lisa Pelletier of Bristol, the bride's niece; Pat Mozzer of East Hartford, the bridegroom's sister; and Maureen Perruccio of Rockville.

They wore gowns and headpieces similar to those worn by the honor attendant and carried nosegays of assorted blue flowers.

Charles A. Mozzer Jr. of Rockville was his brother's best man. Ushers were John Wilson of Manchester, the bridegroom's cousin; John Fawcett of Manchester; and

Mrs. Thomas A. Mozzer

Vincent Perruccio of Rockville, with matching accessories and a mint green corsage.

Mrs. Mozzer is employed by Travelers Insurance Co. Mr. Mozzer is employed by the Manchester Board of Education. For traveling Mrs. Mozzer wore a white and green pantsuit.

This program is the first step in the direction to meet the needs of the Spanish-speaking students in the school system.

Joseph Alamo, chairman of the modern language department at the high school, said the idea of the tutorial program came to the students as they were discussing possible ways to truly get to know Spanish people.

"Having encountered the Spanish thought in studies of Hispanic literature, we wondered if this textbook knowledge could be put to use outside the classroom," Alamo said.

He said the idea was suggested to start a "Big Brother-Big Sister" type program with some of the students of Vernon who speak Spanish as their native tongue.

Students Help Each Other In Exchange of Languages

BARBARA RICHMOND A cultural exchange project involving fourth-year Spanish classes at Rockville High School and nine Spanish-speaking elementary school students, has been rewarding for both groups.

Albert Kerkin, assistant superintendent of schools, told the Vernon Board of Education Monday night.

This program is the first step in the direction to meet the needs of the Spanish-speaking students in the school system.

Joseph Alamo, chairman of the modern language department at the high school, said the idea of the tutorial program came to the students as they were discussing possible ways to truly get to know Spanish people.

"Having encountered the Spanish thought in studies of Hispanic literature, we wondered if this textbook knowledge could be put to use outside the classroom," Alamo said.

He said the idea was suggested to start a "Big Brother-Big Sister" type program with some of the students of Vernon who speak Spanish as their native tongue.

The program was instituted in March and Alamo said the elementary school students have entered into a strong relationship with their new friends from the high school.

The high school students work and play with the elementary school students in activities which vary from their regular scholastic programs.

Some of these activities include playing word games, preparing bulletin boards, planting flowers, singing, dancing and just plain talking, Alamo said.

He said, "While these activities are not scholastic in nature, many of them are well-suited to building vocabulary, knowledge of numbers, and reading and speaking in the language they are expected to understand, English."

The program is working both ways as it is helping the high school Spanish students to increase their appreciation for the culture they have been studying for four years.

Alamo said the high school students are enjoying a feeling of accomplishment, a sense of having done something different and very worthwhile.

Some board members suggested that the building cost be kept within the $120,000 and supplies could be put out to bid as separate alternates.

Repeating that the money is available from the state, Dr. Ramsdell urged the board.

"Let's build the school and build it right, the additional money will be reimbursed, we just have to make application for it," he said after it and build the school right."

Dr. Ramsdell reported on the cost of the recent fire in the existing Vo-Ag building.

He said the cost of repairs will be $18,000 and 50 per cent of this will be reimbursed by the state.

The Town Council, last week, authorized Dr. Ramsdell to apply for the state funding.

Gift to Hospital

Michael Dworkin, left, presents a $400 check to Edward M. Kenney, administrator of Manchester Memorial Hospital, for use in improving ambulance service in Manchester.

Dworkin is a pharmacist and president of the Liggett Parkade Pharmacy. He and Robert Coleman of Coleman Brothers Amusement Shows gave $200 each for this gift.

Kenney and Dr. Ruben Fialkoff, head of the MME emergency room operation, are now deciding how to best use the gift. (Herald photo by Richmond)

Vernon Schools Will Follow Traditional Calendar

RAMSDALL said that at a meeting of superintendents of schools east of the Connecticut River, only one superintendent went along with the state proposal. He said it was also rejected by superintendents in other areas of the state because of staff objections.

Most Vernon board members said they feel the students need the regular vacation breaks, otherwise they get tired and restless and there is a lot of absenteeism.

The Vernon schools will open Sept. 5 with teacher orientation meetings scheduled for Sept. 3 and 4.

The Christmas vacation will run from Dec. 23 through Jan. 1; winter vacation, from Jan. 17-21; and spring vacation, April 21-25.

Weekends are not figured in the vacation dates but will be included.

Other holidays on which schools will be closed are: Oct. 14, Columbus Day; Oct. 26, teacher's convention; Nov. 5, election day; Nov. 11, Veteran's Day; Nov. 28-29, Thanksgiving; Feb. 12, Lincoln's Birthday; March 28, Good Friday; May 26, Memorial Day.

Schools will close June 26 for the summer vacation.

Error Proves Costly to Indians As Platt Records Upset Victory

By Len Auster

Errors are part of the game of baseball and one proved costly yesterday as Manchester High dropped to Platt High in the Meriden. The second consecutive loss in CCLL play dropped the Indians to 10-4 while the Panthers are now 8-5 in the circuit.

Shortstop Ray Sullivan let opposing hurler Brian Crawford ground through his legs with two-out in the fourth inning. One run scored on the play and Steve Morris followed with a two-run homer to play for a 5-0 bulge. The three unearned runs proved to be the difference as John Koepsel led his first decision after four victories.

Koepsel had control difficulties having to leave the mound after 2 2/3 innings. He allowed eight hits and walked four while striking out six. Koepsel tossed two free passes in the second inning, the second with the bases loaded forcing in the first Platt run.

After jumping to a 1-0 lead in the second frame, the Panthers tallied four times in the fourth. Jim Colbert led off the frame with an infield hit, took second on a wild pitch, third on a passed ball and scored on Ken Ritchie's single to right which fell in just in front of Tim Thibodeau. Jim Haggert forced Ritchie at second followed by Haggert's swipe of second. Crawford's grounder brought in Haggert and Morris' roundtripper scored the final two runs.

Crawford, who struck out 13 and walked five in going the distance, set down the side in order the first three frames. Sullivan's lead off double to left in the fourth was the first Manchester base runner. Jack Maloney drew a one-out walk and cleanup stickman Dave Bidwell singled sharply to left. Attempting to score on Bidwell's rap, Sullivan was cut down by leftfielder Rick Lorenz's throw to the plate.

Crawford escaped the inning unscathed inducing Bill Munroe to ground out with the sacks filled.

Manchester scored its first run in the sixth as Sullivan got a lead off triple and scored on a balk with Maloney at bat.

Sullivan got his third hit of the afternoon leading off the eighth, swiped second, took third on Blair Anthony's infield out and scored on Bob Odell's single to the opposite field.

Making a successful varsity debut for Manchester was Junior southpaw John Tassillo. Taking over for Koepsel in the fourth, Tassillo hurled two-hit baseball the final 4 1/3 innings. He fanned two and walked one during his stint.

Looking to snap its two-game losing streak, Manchester enters league member Hall High Wednesday at Kelley Field at 3:30.

McAuliffe Filling the Bill

Doing the job expected with the Boston Red Sox is the veteran Dick McAuliffe.

Destined to be a utility infielder and possible pinch-hitter at the start of the American League season, the Connecticut resident has more than filled the shoes of the injured Doug Griffin at second base.

Since given everyday status, McAuliffe has been brilliant both at the bat and in the field. There has never been any question about his ability to trade from the Detroit organization to an Eastern club — Boston or New York. His wish was granted and the Red Sox didn't waste any time in picking up the one-time Farmington High infielder.

Just how long the durable McAuliffe can keep up his hot hitting with the Sox remains a question. As long as he finds himself in the groove, he can expect to see the letters "McAuliffe" written on Manager Darrell Johnson's everyday Red Sox starting lineup.

Jottings from the Black Book

Standings of all local softball leagues that are received will be used, effective this week. Several standings were turned in in the past two weeks but as only two games were played, they were omitted. From here on in, the standings will be published. Back in 1948, Bill Scully was a playing manager with a Hartford Twilight League baseball entry.

This summer, Bill Scully will serve in a similar capacity in the same loop. Both Scullys pitched at Trinity College. ABC announces that it will telecast nationally the Notre Dame at Georgia Tech college football game on Monday night, Sept. 9. UConn has scheduled 24 basketball games next season with two new home foes, Long Island University and Fairfield. Harvard, Syracuse, Columbia and Georgetown have been dropped. The cage opener will be Nov. 30 at Yale. Jim Olybry reports the Manchester Citizen Club is anxious to challenge all civic clubs to participate in its annual Challenge Cup Golf Tournament June 12-16 at Tallwood. Ladies Day is listed June 12 with a state handicap tourney June 13 as part of the promotion. Proceeds will enter the area Handicapped Fund. Nice North the Central Connecticut District Board of Approved Basketball Officials gave Jim Horvath of Manchester. The veteran was given an honorary lifetime membership at the annual banquet, after 25 years of service. Horvath is also a fine baseball umpire and football official. Bob Peterson of Manchester will serve as Zone Eight chairman in American League play this summer. Entries will hail from East Hartford, Rockville, Ellington, Glastonbury, Windsor Locks and Manchester. Action starts early in June following the close of the scholastic season.

Guidolin Has Cure for Bruins

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Calling attention to his Italian ancestry, Bill Guidolin prescribed just the cure his Boston team needs if it hopes to stay alive in tonight's fourth game of the Stanley Cup finals against the Flyers.

"I wish we had some God-fathers on our club right now," the Bruin coach said at lunch Monday. "We can use some enforcing."

Guidolin was joking, of course. He knows, and everyone else who has seen the series knows, that what the Bruins need most is a lot more desire and a new fuse to recharge their once proud power play.

Not since the opening game has Boston been able to take advantage of a Flyer penalty, and the count now shows the Bruins going one-for-17 on power plays, including eight dismissal failures in Sunday afternoon's 4-1 loss.

All this has enabled Philadelphia to jump off to a 2-1 advantage in the best-of-seven series, and the Flyers can win again tonight at home, where they are unbeaten in six playoff games this season, they will be on the brink of becoming the first expansion team to win the Stanley Cup.

"We're not skating and the Flyers are working harder than us," said Boston's Bobby Orr. "They're hungrier than we are and we just don't seem to be grabbing it for it."

As for our power play, it's been useless. When they get a penalty, we might as well take the 10 yards."

The Flyers, for their part, feel they should receive the credit for disrupting Boston's power play rather than putting the blame on the Bruins for failing to execute. They point to the fact that they also managed to thwart the New York Rangers, who had the most effective power play in the NHL during the regular season, in the semifinals.

"Everyone said that once the Rangers got set on their power play they'd get us," Terry Crisp said. "But they never did, did they? Maybe we had something to do with it, and maybe we do with Philadelphia."

Philadelphia goaltender Bernie Parent, who has the best view in the house of the Bruins' attack, was asked if he noticed any difference in their power play from earlier in the season.

"The difference is we're forcing them to make mistakes," Parent said with a grin. "I'll tell you how we do it after we win the Stanley Cup."

Flyer Coach Fred Shero, a staunch proponent of innovation and surprise, went home after Boston's opening game victory to study films of how the Russians handled Team Canada's power play two years ago. He made a few changes after looking at the films.

"Maybe we're reading it better," Shero said. "They've had the same power play for a long time." Guidolin, very distressed following Sunday's loss, was in a more cheerful mood today and said he would renege his No. 1 line of Phil Esposito, Wayne Cashman and Ken Hodges. Esposito and Hodges were replaced by rookies Rich Leduc and Dave Forbes for all but a few minutes of Sunday's final period.

"With just a little more effort from the bigger guys we'll come back strong," Guidolin said. "Nothing was happening the other day so I gave the kids some ice time. This is no time to pace the panic button if some guys have a bad night."

New Style Celtics Savor Championship

BOSTON (UPI) — Contrary to public opinion, the Boston Celtics are not back, they're arrived.

Any similarity between the old champion Celtics and the team which won the National Basketball Association championship this season at a dead run is completely coincidental, according to Coach Tom Heinsohn.

"There's no similarity," Heinsohn said Monday as he recovered from the tumultuous reception Boston fans bestowed upon the team Sunday night after the Celtics defeated the Milwaukee Bucks 102-89 in Milwaukee.

"Sure we fast break and pass, but completely different ways," said Heinsohn.

How so?

"It goes into theory, if I tried to explain that, I'd be here all day," he said.

The Celtic-Buck clash was dominated by theory, defense and execution, along with some fine individual performances.

Boston opened the series with a

(Continued from Page One) needs of the community and the goals of the corporation. This group of hospitals, working in alliance, will act as the coordinator of services that may be required and will review the forthcoming construction projects of its members in order to ensure the best practical use of the facilities planned, each member being bound by the decision of the consortium.

The reciprocity of medical staff privileges, as well as the consolidation of services, are seen to be of mutual benefit to all consortium members. The control of specialized services, as well as coordination of teaching and research programs will result in an interchange between hospitals not heretofore seen. The possibility exists that a system of student rotation will also be developed which will enable them to train in any or all of the member institutions.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Refusing to take President Nixon's "no" for an answer, the House Judiciary Committee voted 37 to 11 today to subpoena tapes of 11 more of President Nixon's Watergate conversations.

The committee, brushing aside Nixon's claim that he had furnished the "whole Watergate story," then considered a second subpoena — this one for daily entries covering nine months of Nixon's diaries of 1972 and 1973. Its approval also was expected.

The subpoena would give Nixon one week to comply. John W. Doar, special impeachment counsel, disclosed that the committee on Thursday would be asked to subpoena an additional 40 tapes on milk producers' contributions to Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign and 22 tapes on the International Telephone and Telegraph settlement.

Rep. Edward Hutchinson of Michigan, the ranking Republican on the committee, was the only vote against the subpoena for more tapes. The tapes sought are for conversations by Nixon both before and after the Watergate burglary — on April 4, 1972, and on June 20 and June 23, 1972. The break-in took place June 17, 1972.

The second request covered Nixon diaries for April-July 1972, February-April 1973; July 1973, 1974, and October 1973. In addition, the committee's chief counsel, John W. Doar said, the committee ultimately would be asked to subpoena an additional 40 tapes on milk producers' contributions to Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign.

The first was issued by the Senate Watergate committee last summer but the courts blocked the subpoena. The second was issued by the House Judiciary Committee on April 11. Hutchinson has taken the position that the committee should serve no subpoenas on Nixon since it cannot enforce them and since subpoenas only provide confrontations.

Hostage-Holding Terrorists Slain

MA'ALOT, Israel (UPI) — Israeli guerrilla forces slaying school children were being held captive and killed 75 Arab guerrillas who had demanded the release of 20 jailed Arab commandos in exchange. The armed forces raid announced. There are about 10 wounded, some of them soldiers but I don't know if there are any other losses in life besides the terrorists; a local newsmen told the radio in a telephoned interview.

Military sources said the smoke of grenades billowed through the western Galilee air around the school building in the battle that lasted four to six minutes. The shootout occurred minutes before 9 p.m. (noon EDT) deadline was due to expire for the release of the Arab guerrillas held in Israeli prisons. Some of the freed prisoners had already started arriving at the school building in this Galilee town four miles south of the Lebanese border. Israel had agreed to release the prisoners in return for the lives of the children.

The Israeli announcement by a government spokesman — the only second time Israel has agreed to guerrilla demands — brought an immediate warning from the guerrillas that they trickery could lead to disaster. They said the lives of the children would not be safe until they and the freed guerrillas actually arrive in Damascus.

The band of three Hebrew-speaking guerrillas shot their way into the village before dawn today, killing at least five persons and wounding 11 others before they seized the school building. They then announced it had been mined with explosives that could be detonated at any moment. The guerrillas demanded two planes to fly them and the 20 jailed guerrillas to Damascus and Beirut and demanded and received assurances that French Ambassador Jean-Francois Deniau accompany them as a hostage. They said the ambassador must give them a short code word to prevent trickery.

Israeli radio reports said the guerrilla prisoners already were being flown by helicopter from the Gaza Strip to an airport. The raid, second since April 12 when guerrillas killed 18 Israelis at Qiryat Shmona, followed Arab attacks on an oil refinery at Haifa and attempts to fire mortar shells into the heart of Jerusalem Tuesday night during the visit of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

Today's raid brought a warning from Kissinger that it could endanger his current peace mission. He denounced the terrorist attack as "mindless and irrational" and appealed to Arab governments to deal severely with the Arab guerrillas in the Golan Heights. He also postponed a meeting with Prime Minister Golda Meir and Kissinger's subsequent departure for Damascus. He cancelled plans to spend the night in the Syrian capital.

The raid on the Galilee town of Ma'alot also further threatened a mission already deadlocked and increased the possibility that Kissinger will have to leave the area without agreement on even a cease-fire on the Golan Heights. If so, he would have to return later. Kissinger's mission may be further complicated because the Arab guerrilla group claiming responsibility for the attack — The Popular Democratic Front — made the announcement from Damascus and demanded that guerrillas held by Israel be taken there.

The Board of Directors agreed to place the proposals on a future agenda for public comment and for consideration.

Another of his proposals is for extending the boundaries of the Special Taxing District — to E. Center St. on the north and Charter Oak St. on the south. The present boundaries are Maple and Forest Sts. on the south and Bissell and Locust Sts. on the north.

Directors Okay Sewer Project

The Manchester Board of Directors Tuesday night authorized the installation of sanitary sewers in Garden Grove Rd., Erie St. and that portion of Keeney St. from Nutmeg Dr. to No. 4th. The vote was 6 to 0, with Pascal Prigman and Robert Fergusson abstaining, because they reside in the area. Vivian Fergusson was out of town. Attached to the motion is authorization for Town Manager Robert Weiss to negotiate and determine whether any property owner in the affected area could be excluded from tying into the system.

The amendment stems from a request from one property owner (at the end of a dead-end street) that his property be excluded. Directors Carl Zinner and Hilary Gallagher proposed an amendment excluding the property. It lost 2 to 6 in favor of the authorized amount, which won 6 to 2 (Zinner and Gallagher opposed the amendment but voted for the amended motion).

Tuesday night's approval for the sewers still is subject to another public hearing and further board action. The motion on the actual assessment figures (estimated at this time at about $14 a front foot). In another action relating to sanitary sewers, the board authorized Weiss to accept bids for placing sewers in the Baldwin-Concord Rds. area. The board made no commitment on the possible installation. When the bids are in and the costs known, it will conduct a second public hearing with the area residents (one was held several months ago, with no action reached).

In pressing for an amendment Tuesday night to exclude those who didn't want to tie into the Keeney St. sewers, Zinner said. "This (the assessment) is another example of government forcing something on a private citizen he doesn't want." Phyllis Jackson reminded him that the state and town health departments had ordered corrections of serious health problems in the area and that raw sewage could be seen running into catch basins. "It's not a question of forcing people," said Mrs. Jackson. "It's something that benefits them as well as the rest of the town, and, in addition, it will raise the value of their property."

Ledyard Youth Awaits Heart Transplant

PALO ALTO, Calif. (UPI) — Nineteen-year-old Thomas C. Hewes of Ledyard, Conn., has begun an indefinite stay at Stanford University Medical Center in hopes of gaining a chance to live.

The son of Mrs. Frank Hewes arrived in California shortly after 2 p.m. Monday and was quickly taken to the medical center where he will eventually undergo a heart transplant operation.

A virus infection of muscles surrounding the heart killed him unless the organ is replaced. A team of specialists began evaluating Hewes on his arrival. The process generally takes several days.

Only one donor patient is awaiting a transplant, a center spokesman said. Since March 3, the center has performed five transplants, he said.

Courage and positive thinking prevailed over a few fears when Hewes, his mother, older brother John and Dr. David Cannon of Yale-New Haven Hospital left Bradley International Airport earlier in the day.

At 6:45 a.m. Monday members of the Ledyard volunteer Emergency Squad left Ledyard with an ambulance to pick up Hewes at the Yale center, where he has been under treatment.

Since Hewes' fight for life was made public many people have sent donations to help defray expenses. A fund started by Ledyard High School students contained more than $1,000 as of end of last week.

Dr. Eugene Bonz, whose success record with transplants is among the highest in the nation, says Hewes is one of the youngest persons to undergo the operation.

Martin-South PTA Installs Officers

The Martin-South School PTA Pupils Participation Night and installation of officers took place recently at Martin School.

The program was a concert given by the fifth and sixth grade glee club directed by Mrs. Gary Kleibsch, school music teacher.

Election and installation of officers followed the program. Mrs. Anita Murphy was re-elected president.

Mrs. Geraldine Lemelin, vice president; Mrs. Patricia Cook, secretary; Mrs. Elaine Parenti, treasurer.

Police Report

Three men were injured Monday at 11:20 a.m. when the pickup truck they were in struck a utility pole on Olcott St. snapping it in half.

The men are Keith Robertson, 20, of 202 Oak Grove St., Michael Calvert, 19, and Richard Fazzina, age unknown, both of East Hartford. Calvert and Fazzina were taken to the emergency room of Manchester Memorial Hospital where they were treated and released.

Robertson, the driver, was charged with failure to drive in the proper lane and is scheduled to appear in Circuit Court 12 on June 3.

Philip Dugay, 24, of 184 E. Main St., Rockville was charged with disorderly conduct Monday in connection with the investigation of a disturbance at his home. He was released on a $100 non-surety bond for appearance in Circuit Court 12, Rockville, June 4.

Other Manchester police reports included: Owen J. Ferguson, 27, East Hartford, arrested at 3:30 this morning and charged with intoxication and breach of peace in connection with a disturbance at 70 Oakwood Rd. Court is set for court June 3.

Joseph C. Naumec, 31, of 127 Homestead St., arrested Monday and charged with operating a motor vehicle while license suspended. He was released on a $150 non-surety bond for court June 3.

David R. Wing, 57, Doughtery St., reported this morning his camper sports van missing and police helped him find it on McKee St. at 7:45 a.m. Over $250 worth of tapes for his stereo and tools were missing and a side window forced open.

Matthew Stachowiak, 22, of 26 Grand Ave., Rockville was arrested Monday on a warrant issued by Circuit Court 12 charging him with third-degree burglary and second-degree larceny.

The arrest was made by the special services unit of the Vernon Police Department following an investigation of a break into the home of Mary Hutchings said there were a few problems on the picket lines Monday when new company employees showed up for work.

He said picketing workers attempted to obstruct the plant entrance. Police said they were called to the plant Monday morning and told the striking workers to move aside and clear the entrance. The workers complied, police said.

Ingalls claimed Monday that several of the new company employees — who aren't represented by the union — honored picket lines and didn't report for work.

Both company and union representatives have met with a state mediator three times since the strike started, and the agreement by both sides resulted in an agreement to meet today to review their positions.

Both sides, however, are apparently standing firm. Contract negotiations, which broke down March 16 and resulted in the strike, lines have not resumed and further mediation hasn't been scheduled.

The 48 union production workers are seeking elected representation on the company's pension review board, general wage increases, clarification of a job transfer policy, automatic wage progression, and state arbitration of labor grievances.

The company has maintained that the union's demands are unacceptable and would prevent the company from operating.

Board Orders

Personnel actions involved three resignations, four leaves of absence, and one appointment. Approvals of resignation with "regret" and special recognition were granted for Mrs. Olive S. Chambers, a Grade 1 teacher at Highland Park School, who has served 43 years in the school system; Mrs. Cleo Livingston, a kindergarten teacher at Robertson School, who has completed 31 years in the school system; and Miss Isabelle Regan, a home economics teacher at Bennett Junior High School, who has taught 26 years in Manchester.

Leaves of absence were granted to Mrs. Ellen Lawrence at Highland Park School; Mrs. Jill Mastkey, an overhauling circular pump at 357 Center St.; and Mrs. Sandra Wojcik at Robertson School, and Mrs. Mary Ann Steinacker at Wadwell School.

Mrs. Norma Kingsbury has been appointed to teach the preparatory class at Nathan Hale School. She has been working as a teacher aide at the school for the past three years. She received her BA degree from Barrington College, Barrington, N.J.
