Governors Preparing Resolution on Ethics

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — The country's governors, whose collective political influence seldom comes together on the same cause, moved today toward approval of a strong resolution on the volatile question of what to do after Watergate.

As about 45 chief state executives gather for the 1974 National Governors Conference here, a campaign was generating support for a powerful specific statement on rooting corruption out of government.

Gov. Dan Evans of Washington, host and national chairman of the group, keynoted the meeting with a direct challenge to the federal government. The states, he said, had taken "decisive action in contrast to that of the national government" in fields such as political ethics, campaign reform, consumer protection and no-fault auto insurance.

"It has been the states who have responded most fully to the problems of the day," he said. "This has been a response not in terms of empty rhetoric without action or visionary promises without dollars. It has been a response which has required executive and legislative courage, sound fiscal management plus a willingness to act."

The first obstacle to putting the conferees on record with a formal government ethics resolution was passed Sunday. The group's executive committee—seven of nine members attending—unanimously approved a statement proposed by Republican Gov. William Milliken of Michigan and Democrat Patrick Lucey of Wisconsin which called "the fight to restore citizen confidence in government" the "first obligation of every government official."

The resolution, which will be debated and acted upon Wednesday, urges "all levels of government" to ensure "loophole-free" campaign finance regulations, with limits on contributions and spending; "stringent ethical codes for government officials which clearly define conflict of interest; an end to secrecy in government with few exceptions, and registration and full disclosure of lobbying activities by all special interest groups."

Approval of the resolution was considered likely because more than 40 states have approved anticorruption legislation of varying strength in the past year. Thus the governors would not be criticizing themselves and their legislatures.

However, the resolution could be taken as a message aimed at Congress, where the Senate has passed two campaign finance reform bills since last fall but the House has failed to act.

The Milliken-Lucey proposal has one controversial element, calling for "experiments in public campaign financing"—an approach opposed by President Nixon and some House Democratic leaders.

But some states have moved into this area along with other campaign reforms, and the suggestion for "experiments" in public financing of campaigns might be acceptable to the governors, whose party line split now is 32 Democrats and 18 Republicans.

There was a lobbying campaign under way on behalf of the resolution, with officials of Common Cause, the national citizens action group, seeking votes for it.

Colson Pleads Guilty

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Charles W. Colson, former special counsel to President Nixon, pleaded guilty today to a single count of obstruction of justice in connection with the 1973 trial of Pentagon Papers defendant Daniel Ellsberg.

Watergate Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski, in accepting Colson's guilty plea, dropped all other charges now pending against him both in the Watergate cover-up case and in the break-in of the office of Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

The development occurred before U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell, just as he was about to begin a hearing on pre-trial motions in the Ellsberg break-in case, which had been scheduled for trial June 17.

Colson waived indictment before pleading guilty to the obstruction of justice charge which carries a maximum penalty of five years in prison, a fine of $5,000 or both.

Colson is one of the highest ranking former White House officials to plead guilty or to be convicted in connection with Watergate and related scandals. Nixon's former counsel, John W. Dean, pleaded guilty previously to a conspiracy count in connection with the Watergate cover-up and has not been sentenced.

Assistant special prosecutor William Merrill told Gesell the government could have proved that Colson was "responsible for devising and implementing a scheme to defame and destroy the public image and credibility of Daniel Ellsberg and those engaged in the legal defense of Daniel Ellsberg, with the intent to influence, obstruct, and impede the conduct and outcome" of Ellsberg's criminal trial.

He said the scheme began June 28, 1971, the day Ellsberg was indicted in connection with his release of the Pentagon Papers. All charges were dismissed against him a year ago on grounds of government misconduct in the case following disclosure of White House "plumbers" involvement in the break-in of the office of his psychiatrist.

"How do you wish to plead?" Gesell asked Colson standing, head bowed, before him.

"I plead guilty, your honor," he replied, his voice breaking.

Merrill said the plot to discredit Ellsberg involved in part "what can only be described as a scurrilous and libelous memorandum" written about his lawyers and leaked to the press.

The formal charge filed with the court said that Colson knew that the release of that memorandum would "influence, obstruct and impede" Ellsberg's case.

Gasoline Supply Short In Manchester Area

By DOUG BEVINS

Gasoline is still in short supply in Manchester despite public opinion that fuel availability is improving, according to most dealers contacted today.

Most retailers said they're still getting small allocations and are limiting purchase amounts or business hours, but a few said they're actually getting more gasoline and things are looking better.

The dealers admitted that long lines experienced at service stations during the winter have almost disappeared; that so-called improvement isn't the result of more gasoline, most dealers said, but is instead the result of a change in the public's buying habits.

"As far as I'm concerned, things never got any better," said Peter Listro, president of the Automotive Service Council of Manchester.

"There's still a shortage," Listro said, "and people have got to realize it didn't go away."

Listro, who operates a Citgo station at 555 W. Middle Tpk., said he hasn't stopped "rationing" his gasoline since the shortage became apparent last winter.

Richard Barracliffe, operator of Ed's Arco at 288 W. Middle Tpk. and a Gulf station nearby, said he still finds it a "long time between gasoline deliveries" and he didn't expect much improvement for the summer. Barracliffe mentioned he was told by a distributor not to expect more gasoline until the Alaskan pipeline is built.

Lew Pelletier, owner of Lew's Sunoco at 404 Hartford Rd., also didn't see more gasoline coming his way this summer. Pelletier, who has been able to pump gasoline six days a week, said he's considering closing his station Saturdays as well as Sundays.

Stephen Kirao at Steve's Amoco, 770 Main St. seemed to be one of the shortest in gasoline supply: He ran out of fuel last Tuesday and was forced to close until this morning, when he received a delivery.

"It's aggravating," Kirao said. "They say things are better, but they're not," he said.

Alan Dambrov of Manchester Shell Service, 275 Main St., said he's received a little more gasoline in the last few months and he thinks motorists will make it through the summer with few problems. But he envisions another severe shortage in the fall.

"It may be better for some dealers," said a spokesman for Charlie's Texaco, 624 E. Middle Tpk., summing up the disagreement among retailers. "But it isn't better here: We're getting the same gallonage we had a few months ago with no increase seen," he said.

A Mobil dealer, Dan Carey at Moriarty Bros., 315 Center St., said the gasoline supplies are "definitely improving." Carey said Moriarty Bros. had returned to a 24-hour operation—except Sundays—in recent weeks, but they ran out this morning.

This morning's forced closing of the station wasn't expected to last long, though, Carey said, explaining that a fresh shipment was due today.

Tim Moriarty at Moriarty's Citgo, 270 Hartford Rd., said he's still "pretty scarce"—at least among major brand retailers. He said it seems that unbranded dealers are getting more gasoline now, and his comment is borne out by the recent reopening of the Regal service station at 947 Center St.

The Regal station, now pumping BP products, opened about three weeks ago and has apparently had no problem meeting demand, according to an attendant.

The station had been closed for some time, as it was probably the first victim of the gasoline shortage last year.

Search For More Victims Of Chemical Plant Blast

SCUNTHORPE, England (UPI) — Firemen battled stubborn flames licking the wreckage of a northern England chemical plant today and searched through the blackened debris for workers trapped by a thunderous explosion.

Authorities said Sunday night they had recovered eight bodies from the rubble of the Nypro (UK), Ltd., plant in nearby Flixborough, 160 miles northeast of London. Another 21 persons were missing and presumed dead.

A total of 105 persons were reported injured Saturday when the massive explosion rocked the plant, damaging buildings in a 10-mile-wide area and sending up a 300-foot sheet of flame and a mile-high cloud of toxic gas.

At the time of the explosion, 70 men were in the Dutch-British owned plant, which made chemicals for the manufacture of nylon. The blast damaged every home in Flixborough, a town with 310 residents.

Police said the death toll would have been much higher had the factory been ringed by homes, as is the case with many other British chemical plants.

Gordon Oakes, undersecretary in the environment ministry, said a check was being made of chemical plants through the country.

"Dangerous processes and homes must be kept well apart," Oakes said.

Most of the 3,000 residents of seven neighboring villages returned Sunday after their homes were evacuated because of toxic gas.

"It was like a mini A-bomb," said Clifford Purves, who was in his auto two miles from the blast. "The fireball burned the paint off my car."

"Suddenly I started going round and round in the air, tossed here and there in pitch blackness," said Barry Carter, 27, a draftsman at his desk when the explosion occurred. "I thought this was what dying was all about."

"The next thing I knew I looked up and could see the sky and debris falling all over the place. The roof had caved in. It was like night because of the dust. The heat was tremendous, it scorched my face."

Westport School Damaged by Fire

WESTPORT (UPI) — Fire gutted a wing and destroyed 13 classrooms in the Long Lots Junior High School early today.

Fire Chief Harry Audley said the blaze was reported shortly before 3 a.m. No injuries were reported and the cause of the blaze had not been determined a few hours after the fire.

Audley said units were still on the scene soaking smoldering ashes at daybreak.

Red Rock Proposal Hearing Tonight

By DOUG BEVINS

Requested rezoning of Red Rock Golf Course property to Comprehensive Urban Development (CUD) Zone is among four applications scheduled for public hearing tonight before the Manchester Planning and Zoning Commission.

The commission hearings are to start at 7:30 in the Municipal Building Hearing Room.

The Red Rock developer, Achenbach Realty Cos. of Essex, is seeking rezoning of 105 acres to permit five-year development of a 1,300-unit residential complex with single-family, duplex, and multi-family (apartment) housing.

The Property is now zoned Rural Residence and Industrial. About 98 acres of the site are on the west side of Slater St., north of I-96, and abut the South Windsor town line on the north. About seven acres are on the east side of Slater St. abutting the town line.

The western boundary of the site abuts tobacco land on which New York City developer Arthur Fischer is planning a massive, mixed-use development.

The Red Rock property actually extends into South Windsor, and Achenbach is planning to develop the 27 acres there under existing single-family residential zoning.

Achenbach's land use plan for the Manchester portion of Red Rock envisions 7½ acres of single-family homes at the north end of the site, and moving south: 9½ acres of duplex homes, 40 acres of garden apartments, and 15 acres of high-rise apartments at the southern side of the property.

Non-residential uses planned for the site include a 15,000-square-foot convenience shopping center, about seven acres of offices or light industry, and about 20 acres for permanent open space.

Achenbach proposes to build a major street through the property, extending from Slater St. to Deming St., and a minor collector loop within the site. In addition to that basic traffic system, the development would include several minor streets to serve the residential areas.

A traffic impact study prepared in conjunction with the CUD application states that certain road improvements will be necessary before development:

By Sister Mary Patricia Executive Director

When the Manchester Area Conference of Churches Divisions received new impetus in the beginning of 1974, the Division of Social Action spent an evening setting goals and devising strategies for moving toward those goals.

The second step in the process was the updating of previous research into needs in Manchester. Reports from the members of the division were completed at the March meeting. Priorities were set, and sub-divisions established to allow broader scope to the group.

One area of study is the Connecticut Prison Association (CPA) and its work. This is a private organization founded in 1875 by churchmen to aid prisoners and ex-offenders. It is still supported to great extent by the Christian churches in Connecticut.

The objectives of CPA are: to benefit society by assisting in the reformation of criminal offenders, encouraging self-reform, and helping ex-offenders to live honorably and effectively; to support and promote effective correctional procedures, reformatory systems of prison management, and measures which seek the reduction and prevention of crime; to carry on research and disseminate public information in the field of crime, its causes, its treatment and prevention; to assist in the field of public safety, its social service department, the organization provides for job placement, counseling, transportation, help with legal and medical problems as well as assistance to family and its needs.

The sub-division of MACC's Social Action Division had recommendations for the April meeting and are continuing to meet with CPA and action on the local scene. This Wednesday evening, division members will present their program for action in the particular area of endeavor.

All delegates to the Manchester Area Conference of Churches will be gathered on next Monday evening for the first special meeting of the conference. Agenda has been sent to all members. These include changes in the constitution and bylaws and proposals for replacing the executive director of the conference.

They'll Make Someone Happy

Mrs. Irene Smith, emergency room nurse at Manchester Memorial Hospital, is surrounded by second graders from Martin School who seem happy to be giving away their toys. The pupils — left to right, Douglas Marshall, Judy O'Connor, Diana Patelli and Clayton Craddock — were presenting used toys to the hospital children's ward. The four were among all the second graders in Mrs. Kathleen Whittier's class at Martin, which undertook the toy giveaway project on their own. (Herald photo by Dunn)

MACC News

By Sister Mary Patricia Executive Director

When the Manchester Area Conference of Churches Divisions received new impetus in the beginning of 1974, the Division of Social Action spent an evening setting goals and devising strategies for moving toward those goals.

The second step in the process was the updating of previous research into needs in Manchester. Reports from the members of the division were completed at the March meeting. Priorities were set, and sub-divisions established to allow broader scope to the group.

One area of study is the Connecticut Prison Association (CPA) and its work. This is a private organization founded in 1875 by churchmen to aid prisoners and ex-offenders. It is still supported to great extent by the Christian churches in Connecticut.

The objectives of CPA are: to benefit society by assisting in the reformation of criminal offenders, encouraging self-reform, and helping ex-offenders to live honorably and effectively; to support and promote effective correctional procedures, reformatory systems of prison management, and measures which seek the reduction and prevention of crime; to carry on research and disseminate public information in the field of crime, its causes, its treatment and prevention; to assist in the field of public safety, its social service department, the organization provides for job placement, counseling, transportation, help with legal and medical problems as well as assistance to family and its needs.

The sub-division of MACC's Social Action Division had recommendations for the April meeting and are continuing to meet with CPA and action on the local scene. This Wednesday evening, division members will present their program for action in the particular area of endeavor.

All delegates to the Manchester Area Conference of Churches will be gathered on next Monday evening for the first special meeting of the conference. Agenda has been sent to all members. These include changes in the constitution and bylaws and proposals for replacing the executive director of the conference.

Council Lists Hearing On Insurance Ordinance

VERNON

Prior to the regular meeting of the Town Council tonight at 7:30, the council will conduct a public hearing on a proposed ordinance establishing an insurance exchange account within the General Fund of the town.

The ordinance calls for funds received from casualty losses in the town to be deposited in the proposed account and that the checks be drawn from that account to the extent of the monies received. These checks are to be drawn in the same manner as General Fund account checks.

The ordinance also states that any excess unappropriated funds in the account at the end of the fiscal year be reverted to the General Fund.

At the regular meeting of the council the League of Women Voters will explain a planning and zoning survey it conducted a few months ago following a one-and-one-half year study.

The league is recommending that the Planning Commission and the Zoning Commission be joined and that members be approved by the mayor, with approval of the council, as they are now.

The league also recommends that the term of office of any member on a commission be limited to nonconsecutive five-year terms and that a member should first serve as an alternate before becoming a regular.

Other recommendations include: Expansion of the building inspector's office to include a deputy officer; updating of the master plan of development for the town; and that the planning department with the town planner and an administrative staff be the key agency coordinating planning and zoning in the town.

The Park Study Committee, named last August by Mayor Frank McCoy to give direction for present and long-range planning in park land use, will also present a report at tonight's meeting.

Richard Dempsey is chairman of the committee which has been interviewing town residents to get their feelings concerning park planning.

Councilman Donald Eden will report on his audit subcommittee's findings concerning implementation of audit recommendations; the council will discuss a letter from the Board of Education concerning construction of the Vo-Ag building at the high school and also one concerning the town's use of the school system's computer.

Town Attorney Abbot Schwebel will discuss a report he submitted to the meeting of the council two weeks ago concerning construction of the West Rd. sidewalk; Mayor Schwebel will report progress of renovation of the Memorial Building and the establishing of the E. Warren Memorial-Valley Falls Fund.

'Friends of Library' Forms

ANDOVER

Ellen Lariviere Correspondent

742-9117

On Tuesday evening at 8, a group of Andover residents will be meeting to discuss the possibility of forming a "Friends of the Library" organization.

Mrs. J.T. Holman Jr., who is serving as temporary moderator explained, "We are exploring various ways of expanding the services of the town's library without additional cost to the townspeople. The obvious answer is volunteer services from interested people."

At the initial meeting held two weeks ago, several suggestions were given and a number of assignments accepted. John Cori III and Mrs. Edith Birmingham are exploring the possible use of the basement area of the present library for community activities. Mrs. Lillian Barrows is determining the need for services to be shut-ins.

Mrs. Lucas Moe agreed to review the historical information about the Andover Library and, if desired, will recruit a historian.

Other ways volunteers could serve are by conducting a summer reading program for children, expanding public information about the library and its services, coordinating a library beautification effort and using the library for cultural displays featuring the talents of interested people.

Individuals interested in becoming "Friends of the Library" are invited to attend the meeting in the basement of the library. Please bring a chair for the library's use and explore the possible use of the basement area of the present

Setting a Precedent

The seventeenth President of the United States, Andrew Johnson, was impeached by the House and was not convicted by the Senate but finished his term of office. Despite the legalities of all this there really was no precedent established by his trial. It was primarily a partisan affair, born of the fact that Abraham Lincoln had chosen a war Democrat for his running mate, and, when he was assassinated, his party rebelled and tried to undo his handiwork.

If the potential impeachment of President Nixon becomes a fact, it will furnish a modern, lively possibility of how to get rid of a President who does not satisfy Congress. It will require future Presidents to campaign continually to hold their following, in order to stay in office, much as the heads of state of foreign democracies do when parliaments force them out on a question of lack of confidence and they go to the voters to maintain their position.

In a very real sense, such a sequence of events would change our form of government completely. If a President has to fight for his office every time his decision is challenged, he would have to spend more time on the hostings, politicking, than in the Oval Room, governing.

Had such a precedent existed, Herbert Hoover's failure to stem the Great Depression no doubt would have been seized upon for an impeachment proceeding. Harry Truman's firing of General Douglas MacArthur was another. At the time this incident aroused calls for impeaching the President, but the idea did not get beyond the editorial page of some newspapers. Criticism of Lyndon Johnson's protracted Vietnam war led to his refusal to stand for another term but if he had stayed the question of impeachment, in the angry mood of the time, would surely have arisen.

The point we are making is that the very broad probe of the House Judiciary Committee has set up a precedent far beyond the constitutional "treason, bribery or other high crimes and misdemeanors" for which a President forfeits his office upon conviction. And already, the entire procedure of the inquiry has set a precedent that can destroy the equal power of the executive in our system.

Soviet Credit

The approval of a big $180 million credit to the Soviet Union for a fertilizer complex brings the total Export-Import Bank loans to the Soviet very close to $500 million. As Henry Kearns, former president of the government's bank put a limit of $500 million on loans to the Russians without further monetary information, the question is whether the information will be made available.

Kearns said the Eximbank could not go much above $500 million credit without clear ideas as to the Soviet's monetary reserves and outstanding debts. Efforts of reporters to pry this information out of the Soviet negotiator produced only the answer that "In the Soviet Union the United States of America has a very reliable trade partner."

There is nothing new pending requiring more credit. Eximbank is concerned about legislation that Congress may pass to extend its life, which would expire June 30, and to increase its overall lending authority to $30 billion. It also needs to know whether Soviet loans will depend on lifting emigration restrictions. These answers are vital to Eximbank.

Creating some furor in this country is that the Soviets got the $180 million credit at a rate considerably below the current prime, the rate which banks charge their best customers.

Support The Nurses

Dear sir:
For one would like to thank the Public Health Nursing Association of Manchester for its help. I am a diabetic and am on insulin. I also have other complications and have a very nice visiting nurse check me weekly.
I cannot afford to go to my own doctor. All I have to do when I am sick is to call my nurse and she is right here to check me.
Why don't the people of Manchester get behind this wonderful organization 100 per cent and show them that the people who really need them appreciate their help in being there when they are needed. Another thing, where would we be without the clinics for babies and little children?
Please open your eyes and heart and back up these wonderful nurses. I for one am a very pleased patient of theirs. I wish I could do more for them besides trying to open people's eyes to the good they are doing for others.

Setting Record Straight on Solar Heating

Dear sir:
The commentary or feedback resulting from your May 22 article about me on Solar Heating seems to fall into two categories, neither of which I concur with. My purpose in writing this letter is to correct misinterpretations of what was said in the article.
First, the title and part of the text of the article created the impression that I had found the solution to our heating problems. Inquiries have ranged from — how soon would commercial systems become available to — how could the do-it-yourself implement such a system. I am sorry to say that I am not in the heating business and I am not current on what is available and for how much. Secondly, I have received advice from the self-appointed "experts" who are extremely well informed about "old sol" and who consider this effort delving into Pandora's Box. If mankind has not been able to harness the sun's energy for this purpose after thousands of years, how ridiculous it is to expect miracles overnight. This may well be true but technological progress sometimes comes in small steps and first steps first at that.

Yours truly,

FTC Looking At TV Advertising For Kids

WASHINGTON — There is something badly exiguous about the "self-regulating" code proposed by the children's television advertising industry to avoid regulation by the federal government. It is crammed with words that mean very little.
Little wonder then, that after a look at the code, the Federal Trade Commission is going ahead with plans to develop its own law enforcement policy. The FTC, of course, is late on the scene — as usual — but by now parents must have learned to be thankful for small blessings amid the jungle of TV advertising aimed at kids.

The $400-million a year children's TV advertising industry seems to be saying that profits come first. Its proposal offered by the National Advertising Division (NAD) of the Council of Better Business Bureaus Inc., clearly is designed to protect television's right to make a fast buck at the expense of the nation's kids.
Well, we shall see. In the meantime, the least we should expect from this pressure is a revision of the so-called "standards" governing the number, repetition and clustering of commercials, the deceptive promises of premiums and outright ban on the huckstering of nutritionally imbalanced products. If the FTC comes up with anything less, it should go back and sit down and hand over the job to somebody with guts. Like a lawyer, clearly is Watergate Prosecutor Leon Jaworski.

Today's Thought

When Archbishop William Temple was about to give an Easter message on one of the first radio transmissions from Britain to America, an official of the British Broadcasting Corp. suggested to the prelate that he might well begin by saying how wonderful it was that he, standing in science and technology to speak to listeners on the other side of the Atlantic.

That doesn't really matter, or shouldn't. The NAD proposal is pure hogwash, a gimmick to keep the FTC off its back until it has time to think. Consider its inherent balderdash:
Adoption of what the Council of Better Business Bureaus Vice President R. P. Campbell has never met a parent. Children "perceive" TV commercials as the Holy Writ. No further studies are required to prove that point. Therefore, reform the ruddy business.

Submission by major advertisers, including Kellogg's General Foods, General Mills and assorted toy manufacturers, of prints of new ads "when first aired" over commercial TV, for review by NAD. That's jolly good for the commercial hustlers. By the time NAD completes its review millions of children can be turned into monsters demanding nuclear revolvers and the right to hang out at the neighborhood pot parlor until midnight.
NAD also would recruit "seven or more experts" in the behavioral sciences to determine what children "perceive" in TV commercials. What fascination that word "perceive" has for the hucksters! Are we really expected to believe that "seven or more experts" hired by the industry will come out with a ringing denunciation of TV advertising aimed at children? When was the last time a show biz consultant bit the hand that fed him?

Bah! Peggy Charren, president of Action for Children's Television (ACT), was understanding the case when she called NAD's proposals "a slap in the face." Robert Choate, chairman of the Council on Children, Media and Merchandising, was even more polite, describing the proposal as a "gross disappointment."

NEW YORK (UPI) — More apartment houses ... fewer single family homes ... more housing needed ... less land on which to build ... more energy savers in the home ... fewer household wastes dumped into public outlets.

These are some of the things that will be part of the housing scene in the next century. And it's closer than you think — only 26 years away.

A look at what the year 2000 and beyond will bring in many facets of our society foresees buildings 200 stories high ... 100 new cities the size of San Francisco ... 85 per cent of America's projected population of 250 million living in cities ... new probes of the seas and outer space with a possible 200-person colony on Earth's moon by the year 2000-plus.

Consider the section on housing. Apartment buildings will go to new heights and they will spring up in places formerly considered unusable or unattractive, such as air space above railroads, highways and rivers, says the business publication.

"In the suburbs the rambling ranch house centered on two or more acres will be reserved for the rich.

"High rise, low rise, fourplex, duplex, townhouse and single family — all will have a place ... but single family detached housing's share of the total market will fall from the 55 to 60 per cent level of today to something like 30 per cent.

They're the editors of Engineering-News Record, which is just out with a special centennial edition. Called "Probing the Future," the 538-page issue is billed as "the first definitive study of what lies ahead for the man-made world and those responsible for it."

The issue was more than two years in the planning and making.

Ninth Straight Win for Indians' Ace

Gaylord Perry Displays Form Against Kansas City

Perry Dries Act But Still Winner

NEW YORK (UPI) — Gaylord Perry has dried up his act but opposing American League batters may still ask him to take a saliva test. Perry, who has admitted to throwing spit in the past, was forced to change his routine this season after baseball's rules committee decided over the winter to make it easier for umpires to warn, and then even eject, pitchers for throwing the outlawed pitch.

Since going dry this year, the Cleveland Indians' veteran has won nine games in a row after losing the season-opener and has thrown nine complete games, including Sunday's 5-2 victory over Kansas City when he stopped the Royals on six hits.

"I was disgusted with my control today," said Perry, 35, who walked six batters but now has allowed only five runs in his last 45 innings of work and run his route-going performance streak to five. "I had a good forkball but I got behind on many hitters."

Perry, who was traded to Cleveland by San Francisco after the 1971 season, credits the Indians' improved defense with his brilliant start this season.

Part of that improved defense was shown in the eighth inning Sunday when rightfielder Charlie Spikes threw out the Royals' fleet Amos Otis who tried to score from second base on a single by Hal McRae.

Leron Lee smashed his third homer of the season in the first inning to tie the score, 1-1. Back-to-back homers by Oscar Gamble and Dave Duncan highlighted a three-run uprising by Cleveland in the fourth when the Indians chased losing pitcher Paul Spittler.

Elsewhere in the AL, Oakland beat Milwaukee, 6-4; Boston outlasted Chicago, 9-7; New York thrashed Minnesota, 11-1; Detroit blanked California, 2-0, and Baltimore edged Texas, 6-5, in 10 innings.

R Sox Win Out in Slugfest

BOSTON (UPI) — Seems like Reggie Cleveland has been trying to pitch his way out of trouble since the season began. But he still gets by with a little help from his friends.

So it was Sunday afternoon as Cleveland gave up nine hits and six runs to the Chicago White Sox, but the Boston lineup produced 11 hits and nine runs for a 9-7 win to carry Cleveland to his third win against five losses. It was the Red Sox' 11th win in their last 14 games.

"Reggie certainly wasn't very artistic out there today," said Red Sox manager Darrell Johnson, "but the boys scored a lot of runs for him."

Hard hitting by Red Sox batters powered Cleveland to his first win this year, a 6-3 decision against the Cleveland Indians, and again against the Baltimore Orioles, 11-2, despite Cleveland's giving up nine hits.

"Just like a hitter, when he goes into a slump," said Cleveland, "you start worrying about everything you might be doing wrong. A hitter will concentrate on his stance, the position of his feet, his grip on the bat instead of concentrating on the ball; and he just gets himself deeper into trouble."

"I'm thinking too much about what I'm doing and not concentrating on the hitters," he said. "I'm worrying too much about my form. When a pitcher is pitching well, everything flows together, everything happens naturally."

"His control is bad," said Johnson, "we both know that. He can't find his rhythm. He says he feels all out of gear when he throws the ball." Still, Cleveland remains unbeaten in spirit.

"You have to go out there feeling this is going to be your day," said Cleveland. "I've never pitched as consistently bad as I have been pitching for any length of time before this year. I just have to keep throwing the ball. It will work itself out after a while."

"Meantime," chuckled Cleveland, "I'm going to need all the help from the other guys I can get."

Chicago picked up two runs in the first on a Pat Kelley single, a Jorge Orta double, another single by Dick Allen, and a sacrifice fly by Bill Melton. The White Sox added a third run in the third inning when Kelley walked, stole second, and scored on Allen's second single.

The Red Sox got five runs in their half of the third on singles by Mario Guerrero and Carl Yastrzemski, a double by Juan Beniquez and Rico Petrocelli's fifth homer of the year. Tommy Harper hit his first homer of the season in the fourth, good for two runs.

Petrocelli hit his second homer of the game with Yastrzemski on to chase losing pitcher Jim Kaat. Bill Melton homered in the eighth and Allen hit one in the ninth. Boston now leads the American League East by one and a half games over the Milwaukee Brewers, who lost to Oakland. The Red Sox begin a week-long, six-game road trip tonight in Milwaukee, with Dick Drago, (41), facing Ray Corbin, (3-0).

Joe Rudi crashed a three-run homer and Reggie Jackson smacked his 14th and 15th homers in leading Oakland over Milwaukee. Jim Hunter gained credit for his eighth victory. Bob Coluccio homered for Milwaukee.

Tigers 2, Angels 0 Woodie Fryman and John Hiller combined for a four-hit shutout and Norm Cash broke a scoreless duel with a two-out homer in the eighth inning to pace Detroit over California. Fryman went 7-1-3 innings to improve his record to 2-3.

Orioles 6, Rangers 5 Rich Coggins drove in pinch-runner Al Bumbry from second base in the 10th inning to give Baltimore its win over Texas and allow relief pitcher Wayne Garland to gain his first major league triumph. Jeff Burroughs hit his 12th homer for the Rangers, while Mark Belanger and Bobby Grich homered for Baltimore.

Luzinski Delivers In Pinch Hit Role

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Philadelphia Phillies joked about whether Greg Luzinski was thinking or guessing Sunday but it was no laughing matter to Randy Moffitt and the San Francisco Giants.

The 6-1, 220-pound Luzinski jumped on Moffitt's first pitch after coming in from the bullpen Sunday to hit a two-run homer which climaxed a four-run eighth inning rally and gave the Phillies a 4-3 victory over the Giants. The win kept the Phillies in a virtual tie with the St. Louis Cardinals for first place in the National League East.

Luzinski explained after the game how he had out-thought (or out-guessed) the San Francisco reliever. "I faced him in the Pacific Coast League and the big leagues and he's been tough on me," said Luzinski. "He likes to get ahead of you with his fast ball and then go to his breaking stuff."

"I was looking for a fast ball on the first pitch. And I hit it good."

The homer, Luzinski's fifth of the season, was a tremendous drive to straightaway center field and brought ex-San Francisco reliever Frank Linzy his third win. The Giants are in fifth place in the NL West, 11 games out of first place.

Chicago defeated Los Angeles, 7-6; St. Louis topped San Diego, 9-6; Cincinnati beat Pittsburgh, 5-1, and Atlanta trounced Montreal, 9-0, in other NL games. Houston at New York was rained out.

Cubs 7, Dodgers 6 Jose Cardenal's three-run homer started a four-run upsurge in the seventh inning and enabled the Cubs to score their victory over the Dodgers. Ace reliever Mike Marshall was tagged for his third loss. Jerry Morales also homered for the Cubs and Jim Wynn hit No. 15 for the Dodgers.

Oswald: "South starts by cashing three diamonds. This he runs off four spades, while discarding a diamond from his hand. Next come three rounds of clubs. At this time West is known to be holding one diamond and two hearts. South throws West in with dummy's last diamond and West has to lead a heart to give South the last two tricks."

Jim: "Even seven notrump isn't too bad a contract. Not that it makes the way the East-West cards are set up, but I would wheel in a lot of the time."

Oswald: "Clubs don't break; diamonds don't break; the heart finesse is wrong and a careless declarer might actually get set at six notrump."

Jim: "He shouldn't be. There is a very simple end play to bring home twelve tricks."

Bike Routes Designated

Mayor John Thompson recently appointed a seven-member committee to study the matter of designating bicycle routes in Manchester, "to serve the town safely and reasonably."
The committee has developed three routes, linking various recreational areas and dependent primarily on existing town streets.
Tuesday, when the Board of Directors meets at Nathan Hale School at 8 p.m., it will conduct a public hearing on a $5,000 allocation from federal revenue-sharing funds — part of which would go for constructing appropriate signs and posting them along the bicycle routes.
The committee recommending the routes consists of Helmut Beutel, George Legier, Alan Hotchkiss, John Clark, Winthrop Porter, Woodrow Wilson and Dr. Fred Spaulding.

The routes are:
• WICKHAM PARK to GLOBE HOLLOW — Middle Tpke., Love Lane, Olcott St., Trebbe, Thompson, Hyde, W. Center, Moore, Summer, Campfield, High, Cooper, Cooper Hill, Goslee, Hartford Rd., Prospect, Hackmatack, S. Main, Spring.
• UNION POND to GLOBE HOLLOW — N. School, Main, Hudson, Summit, Henry, Princeton, Walker, Parker, Autumn, W. Gardner and Spring Sts.
• MANCHESTER RECREATION CENTER (NIKE SITE) to LOOKOUT MT. — Hercules, Nike, Bruce, S. Lakewood Circle, Spring (alternate could be Mt. Nebo Field to Charter Oak), Dartmouth, Fern, Gardner, Timrod, Tam, Spring.

About Town

The British American Club will have a past presidents dance and buffet June 15 starting at 8:30 p.m. at the clubhouse. Reservations may be made at the club.

Manchester Emblem Club will meet Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Elks Home. Mrs. John Callahan and Mrs. John Ziemak are in charge of the program, which will include a film on "Americanism." Members planning to attend the June dinner are reminded that reservations must be made at this meeting.

Being recommended for study by parents, children and school authorities (as well as all bicycle riders, of whatever age) are the following safety rules and habits:
• Ride on the same side of the street with traffic.
• Use sidewalks when available (except in heavily used pedestrian areas, such as Downtown Main St.).
• No riding at night except with proper lights.
• Obey all traffic rules, such as traffic lights and stop signs.
• No riders on crossbars or handle bars.
• Ride single file on all highways.

'Green Thumb' Contest Planned for Summer

The Exchange Club of Manchester and the Lutz Junior Museum are sponsoring a Jolly "Green Thumb" Garden Competition this summer. Boys and girls in Grades K-6 are invited to enter the contest and may be named a "Green Thumb" award winner.
The size of the garden is not a consideration for judging what the garden produces. The child can have his own garden, a corner of the family's, a window box or a patio garden. The garden will be judged on its appearance and how well the child has cared for it.
Members of the Exchange Club and the museum staff will visit the gardens throughout the summer months.
Ribbons will be awarded for the first edible cucumber, pepper, lettuce, etc., the
