

Sewer Project Okayed For Keeney St. Area

By SOL R. COHEN
The Manchester Board of Directors Tuesday night approved a $100,000 appropriation for sanitary sewers in Garden Grove Rd., Erie St. and a portion of Keeney St.

The sum will be financed by issuing temporary notes limited to expiration in 12 years. The notes, in turn, will be paid from assessments against abutting property owners.

The board's action (7 to 0, with Pascal Prignano abstaining because he lives in the area and John Tam not present) is not the final action prior to sewer construction.

The board still must hold a public hearing on a schedule of assessments against the property owners. Present estimates are the assessments will be at about $14 per front foot.

Under town sewer regulations, the property owners will have up to 12 years to pay their assessments, at 6.5 per cent interest per year. The interest rate is under a bill signed into law this year by Gov. Thomas Meskill. The rate had been 5 per cent previously.

Public hearings may be scheduled on sewers in other sections of the Keeney St. area. If approved, they may be included in one total project.

The board's action followed a public hearing at which nobody spoke.

In other actions Tuesday night (public hearings were held June 4), the board approved:

- $1,500 for a language-arts program at Keeney St. school, to be financed by a federal grant.
- $583 for the Emergency Shelter-Care Service, to be financed by a state grant already received.
- $10,000 to the Downtown Planning Consultant Fund, to be financed by an equal amount in a savings account established by downtown interests. That $10,000 allocated last year by the directors from town funds, is toward the fee of a consultant for downtown planning. Carl Zinsner voted against the appropriation, but on the basis he hasn't been shown what the money is buying.
- $160 to the Flag Fund, to be financed from donations already received.
- $2,079 from the Special Downtown District Reserve Fund for the annual payment (three more to go) on an Oak St. parcel on which a building has been located and then demolished to make room for parking.
- $4,475 from the Water Department Reserve Fund to reimburse the contractor who installed water mains along Hartford Rd. and Spencer St. The sum is for the price differential for 12-inch mains installed against 8-inch mains required. The town follows the same procedure in all water-main installations.
- A $3,000 transfer from the Insurance, Fire, Liability, etc. Account to the Highway Account, to pay for extending drainage pipe in a portion of Tolland Pk.
- $38,000 from revenue-sharing funds for improving and enlarging the parking area at Lincoln Center and for moving its entrance from the south side of the building to the north side.
- $50,000 from revenue-sharing funds for highway department equipment.
- $5,000 from revenue-sharing funds for sidewalk ramps at sensitive areas and for bicycle route designations. The three Republicans (Vivian Ferguson, Carl Zinsner and

U.S.-Egyptian Nuclear Power Pact Signed

JEDDAH, Saudi Arabia (UPI) — President Nixon, fresh from a triumphant visit to Egypt that ended with a U.S. promise to sell Cairo nuclear technology for peaceful purposes, arrived today in Saudi Arabia for the second leg of his "journey for peace."

King Faisal planned another lavish reception for Nixon, whose plane landed at this Red Sea port at 10:28 a.m. EDT. The announcement of the agreement to provide nuclear technology came as part of a communique signed by Nixon and Egyptian President Anwar Sadat before Nixon departed Cairo.

Police estimated that 5.5 to 7 million persons had dogged Nixon's tracks since his arrival Wednesday. They followed the President until he departed today, out to the pyramids and back, chanting "Nixon, Nixon" all the way.

"Unquestionably this will help Nixon in the United States," said the President's chief of staff, Alexander M. Haig, said when asked for comment on the tumultuous reception in Egypt and Watergate back home.

At one point in his motorcade back from the pyramids, Nixon waded into the throngs for the first time to shake hands with blind children who had gathered a band to serenade him. Secret Service men finally persuaded him to return to the car.

King Faisal had American flags and posters of the Nixon placed along the President's three-mile motorcade route in Saudi Arabia — the nation that led the Arab oil embargo against the United States last winter.

The U.S.-Egypt pact signed after the United Nations-Sadat meeting provided for the sale of nuclear reactor technology and atomic fuel to meet Egypt's power needs of the 1980s, development of a joint group working in scientific fields — including space; and major U.S. economic aid including an expected $2 billion in private American investment.

It also endorsed the existing policy of setting the Arab-Israeli conflict on the basis of U.N. Security Council resolutions, taking into due account the legitimate interests of all the peoples in the Middle East, including the Palestinian people and the right of existence of all states in the area.

But it was the nuclear portion of the agreement that raised the first criticism. Moshe Dayan, former Israeli defense minister, said in an American television interview he was suspect of that section.

Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler said the White House expected no protests when Nixon visits Israel Sunday and said any suggestions giving nuclear power to the Egyptians could lead to the production of nuclear weapons was "erroneous."

He insisted the material would be sold under the strictest safeguards. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said the

Ehrlichman Trial To Start June 26

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. District Judge Gerard A. Gesell today ordered John D. Ehrlichman, former President Nixon's No. 2 aide, and three other men to trial in the Ellsberg break-in case on June 26.

Gesell said the White House had complied with federal rules on producing evidence that Ehrlichman had said was necessary to his defense. White House reluctance to produce that evidence had threatened to delay Ehrlichman's trial perhaps until next year.

Gesell also rejected attempts by William S. Frates, Ehrlichman's chief lawyer, to put Ehrlichman on the stand today to testify that there still were White House documents needed for the defense.

The trial of Ehrlichman, the remaining chief defendant in the case, had been scheduled for Monday. But in roller coaster developments during the week, it appeared the trial might be delayed until next year because of White House refusal to turn over Ehrlichman's old files.

James D. St. Clair, President Nixon's chief Watergate lawyer, told Gesell during the brief hearing that the White House would turn over memos from June 19, 1971 and June 22, 1971 — the documents Ehrlichman's lawyer said were necessary to his defense.

"We mutually pledge our individual and collective efforts to persuade our respective national governments that by international agreement they should create a favorable climate for long term, secure private and public contracts governing the ready flow of energy and the full utilization of the most efficient forms of energy production and transportation between the regions," the compact said.

The compact recognizes that the United States and Canada "suffer from the worldwide shortages of reasonably priced consumable energy," and that "the shortage of energy places a grievous economic burden on the people" of the two regions.

U.S.-Canadian Energy Exchange Plan Advocated

WARREN, Vt. (UPI) — Eastern Canadian premiers and New England's governors today signed a compact calling on their national governments in Ottawa and Washington to minimize the barriers to an exchange of trade and power.

"We mutually pledge our individual and collective efforts to persuade our respective national governments that by international agreement they should create a favorable climate for long term, secure private and public contracts governing the ready flow of energy and the full utilization of the most efficient forms of energy production and transportation between the regions," the compact said.

The compact recognizes that the United States and Canada "suffer from the worldwide shortages of reasonably priced consumable energy," and that "the shortage of energy places a grievous economic burden on the people" of the two regions.

Ehrlichman has been inspecting his old files at the White House this week, while Frates has been in an adjacent room. Frates disagreed that he had all the White House documents he needs and he

Diplomas Given 274 Graduates In East Catholic Ceremonies

By JUNE TOMPKINS
The Class of 1974 of East Catholic High School, representing 274 seniors, commenced a new phase of their lives Thursday night at graduation exercises in St. Joseph's Cathedral in Hartford.

Preceded by the assemblying in the lower chapel at the cathedral, for gown donning, autograph exchanging and photographing, the formal ceremony began when a trumpet voluntary from the great organ signaled the entrance of the long double column of graduates marching in stately step.

The cathedral was filled with people standing who could not find seats, people who moved to get a better view of their son, or their daughter, in order to snap a photo.

After a greeting from Roland J. Charest, senior class president, the Rev. Robert E. Saunders, principal of ECHS, presented the graduation class.

As he announced the names, the young men in their blue gowns and the young women in their white robes alternated in approaching the Most Rev. Joseph F. Donnelly, D.D., Auxiliary Bishop of Hartford, who presented them with their diplomas.

It was a moving moment when the first diploma, awarded posthumously to Robert Laurent Lessard who died May 17 after an automobile accident, was accepted by his father.

A brief, but emphatic message was given to the graduating students by the Rev. Edmund M. O'Brien, assistant pastor at St. Mary's Parish in Simsbury.

The purpose of East Catholic High School, he said, was not just to teach secular subjects, but to teach Christianity and the love and power of Jesus Christ.

Material and financial success were fine, he said, and there are other kinds of success, but "if Jesus Christ is in your lives, what a success you will have been!"

A choir of ECHS undergraduates sang a short selection of hymns and chorales followed by the combined choir and graduates uniting in singing the school song.

Bushardt Condition Serious But Stable

WASHINGTON (UPI) — White House counsel J. Fred Bushardt, who has prepared much of President Nixon's Watergate legal defense, was reported in serious but stable condition in a hospital today from a heart attack.

The White House said doctors at Fairfax Hospital in suburban Falls Church, Va. had confirmed Bushardt on Thursday had suffered "a myocardial infarction of intermediate degree."

The spokesman added, "His condition this morning remains serious but stable with no particular complications as this time."

Instead of naming a valedictorian and salutatorian of the Class of 1974 at East Catholic High School, the ten top scholars of the class are recognized. Top honor scholars of the class: Diane Robert Lussier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lussier of East Hartford, and Suzanne Maillet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Maillet, also of East Hartford.

Robert Lussier's school activities are: National Merit Letter of Commendation, State of Connecticut Scholar, National Honor Society, Honors "E," Spanish National Honor Society, Math League, Literary Arts, Radio Club, participant in Yale Science and Humanities symposium, and tutor. He plans to attend Georgetown University, Washington, D.C.

Suzanne Maillet's credits are: National Merit Letter of Commendation, Connecticut State Scholar, National Honor Society, Honors "E," president and treasurer of Junior Achievement, drill team, tutor, and a volunteer at a convalescent home. She plans to attend Boston College.

Other scholars and their school activities are: Mark Bradley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bradley of 65 Ludlow St. — National Merit Finalist, State of Connecticut Scholar, varsity letter on tennis team, National Honor Society, drama club, Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute Medal, president of the Student Council, Math League, Honors "E," Catholic Youth Organization, Confraternity of Christian Doctrine. ## Oil Building Bombed

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The "Weather Underground," in an attack against Gulf Oil Corp.'s "racial policies in Africa," claimed responsibility Thursday for a bomb explosion which demolished the 28th floor of the Gulf Building.

It was the second blast in 15 days attributed to the group, a remnant of the radical "Weathermen" student group which caused chaos on the country's campuses in the late 1960s.

The blast, which occurred at 9:41 p.m., 17 minutes after a Gulf switchboard operator received a bomb threat, ripped a gaping hole in the floor, blew out all windows at that level, destroyed several offices rented to physicians, and blew out huge chunks of marble from the building's exterior.

No injuries were reported in the nearby vacant building which houses Gulf's international headquarters. Police said they presumed the device was placed under a chair near the elevator doors.

Police said they investigated another bomb threat at 11:30 p.m. at the Chamber of Commerce building, but found no device. There was no evidence that the events were related, police said.

The FBI said an eight-page document left in a phone booth described the blast as "an attack on Gulf's racial policies in Africa."

"Gulf finances the Portuguese colonial war against the people of Angola," the document said.

The document was discovered after a woman who identified herself as a member of the "Weather Underground" telephoned a news agency to say where it could be found and warn about the bomb.

Gulf Vice President Paul Shelton called the document "nonsense."

"Our position is that we do not become involved in the political situation of any country in the world and have no control over how a government spends the money it collects in taxes."

Top Scholars Listed

Mrs. Kissinger Hospitalized

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mrs. Henry A. Kissinger has entered Bethesda Naval Hospital for treatment of ulcers, the State Department said today.

Mrs. Kissinger, the former Nancy Maginnes, was admitted to the hospital in suburban Bethesda, Md., on Thursday, a department spokesman said. She was driven to the hospital by car, not by ambulance.

The spokesman said Mrs. Kissinger, 39, has a history of ulcer trouble. He said she would be in the hospital 10 days to two weeks. Neither the spokesman nor the hospital would say what Mrs. Kissinger's condition was.

Crash Cause Pinpointed

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — The reason a carrier-based jet fighter crashed into a residential area here in March was that the pilot took off with the plane's wings folded, the Navy has reported.

Several homes were damaged, one person was slightly injured and the $1 million A7F Corsair was destroyed. The pilot, Lt. Robert A. Schreiber of Fresno, Calif., ejected and parachuted safely.

The wings on Navy fighters fold up so the planes are not so difficult to maneuver on crowded carrier decks.

Court Cases

CIRCUIT COURT 12
Manchester Session

Two 18-year-old boys from Bridgeport appeared in court Thursday facing charges involving the break May 19 into the Nassif Arms Store at 911 Main St. in which 24 handguns were stolen.

Francisco Garcia and Louis Millet were each charged with third-degree burglary, first-degree larceny and two counts of second-degree larceny. They are being held on $5,000 surety bonds each and are scheduled to appear in court here next Thursday along with two other youths facing similar charges in the break for a hearing of probable cause to bind the cases over to Hartford County Superior Court.

Det. Sgt. Raymond Mazzone said today police got their first lead on the Nassif case when Bridgeport police arrested Nelson Millet, 17, of Bridgeport after he allegedly fired a .38 caliber revolver in a housing complex there May 30. The gun was found to be one stolen from Nassif's.

Rubin Ramos, 16, also of Bridgeport was arrested the following Saturday. Both Ramos and Millet are charged with third-degree larceny.

Garcia and the younger Millet were arrested by Bridgeport police Tuesday on charges involving breaks there and turned over to Manchester police Wednesday.

David G. Hawkes Jr., 23, of Squire Village, charged with risk of injury to a minor female, had his case continued to June 18 in Vernon. His bond was set at $4,000 with surety and he was committed to the Connecticut Correctional Center in Hartford.

Vernon police said the charges stem from incidents involving a 14-year-old girl.

Other dispositions included: Walter Clinton, 23, of Fitchburg, Mass., hazardous parking, $10, reckless use of the highway by a pedestrian, noled; Maria Clinton, 24, same address as Walter, hazardous parking, $10; Richard A. Robbins, 38, of South St., Coventry, threatening, disorderly conduct, and being found intoxicated were all noled.

Mooney and Rene L. Wylie, 20, of North Carolina tied from a work detail there in early May. Manchester police arrested them on Main St. here May 15 in a car with guns after Garcia for several days.

Ribicoff Opposes Lottery Excise Tax

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., plans to block an attempt by the Internal Revenue Service to collect a 10 per cent excise tax on revenues collected from state lotteries.

Ribicoff said today the IRS is using a 10 year old loophole in the tax law to collect back taxes on the lotteries that in Connecticut alone, would total $8.5 million.

The Connecticut lottery, which began Feb. 24, 1972, has contributed more than $32 million to the state general fund.

Ribicoff said he would introduce legislation Monday that would exempt all state-run lotteries from the excise tax law that was enacted by Congress in 1965.

The language of exemption in the bill involved the only state-run lottery operating at the time in New Hampshire, based on horse race sweepstakes.

Ribicoff said the original wording of the law excludes lotteries where winners are not determined by the results of a horse race.

"After almost a decade, the IRS has suddenly decided to close a tax gap that takes even more money from a state like Connecticut that is paying more federal taxes than it gets back in contracts and services," Ribicoff said.

"I'm simply not going to stand by while the IRS scoops off an extra percentage," he said.

Ribicoff said his bill also continues the exemption for the $50 occupational tax that would discourage many of Connecticut's 3,300 lottery sales agents from selling tickets.

U.S.-Egyptian

United States has similar agreements for peaceful nuclear use with 50 to 55 other countries and this was "a normal international agreement with safeguards."

Large crowds had been expected for Nixon's visit - in fact Sadat had planned it. But the spontaneity of the masses that trailed Nixon on his arrival Wednesday, his train trip to Alexandria Thursday and his visit to the pyramids today overwhelmed even the Egyptian officials.

"Allah alone could have planned what happened," one Interior Ministry official said today. "There is still a long road to travel. We recognize this as you do. We look forward to working with you in attempting to work out solutions to problems of the Middle East," Nixon said.

Sadat, reiterating the need for a settlement to the Palestinian question before there could be lasting Mideast peace, told Nixon: "From the bottoms of our hearts we welcome the new American position and we look forward with every satisfaction to the continuation of this new spirit and the positive policy. We are now more hopeful of the success of the efforts being made for peace."

Nixon and Sadat returned in the morning from Alexandria and went by limousine to the pyramids in suburban Cairo. Friday is the Islamic sabbath, but the multitudes turned out once again at the pyramids to yell and chant "Nixon...Nixon."

Vo-Techs Accused Of Discrimination

SEYMOUR (UPI) - Sen. William Pownada, R-Seymour, says the state's 16 regional vocational-technical schools are discriminating against women.

Pownada said Thursday that applications from women for courses in traditionally male areas such as auto mechanics, carpentry, and others, are not considered equally.

SAM Courses Offered

Keeping your bike, your body and your plants in good shape may be a lot easier this summer, if you take some of the courses being taught in SAM (Summer Activities in Manchester).

Bicycle Repair
A bicycle repair instruction class, taught by Jack McVeigh, begins on Wednesday, July 10, from 7-8:30 p.m. in the front lobby of the West Side Rec. McVeigh is the owner and operator of The Bike Shop on Spruce St.

The class will deal with parts and functions of bicycles and general bike maintenance, from minor to major overhauls. McVeigh will demonstrate repair techniques on a model bike. Students will not be working on their own bikes during class time.

Interested persons may register for this class by calling the SAM office at 649-2506, between 8-30 and 12-30, Monday through Friday. Registration ends June 21.

Modern Dance
Elementary students, Grade K-6, may develop their dancing skills in a modern dance class. The instructor for this class to be held on Monday afternoons from 2 to 3 p.m. is Ms. Susan Fleishman. Ms. Fleishman has studied dance at the Hartford Conservatory and taught dance in the West Hartford summer program for two years.

The classes will be held in the West Side Rec lobby, beginning on July 1 and continuing for five weeks. Ms. Fleishman states that the students dress comfortably. No shoes will be worn during class.

Registration for this class also may be made by calling SAM at 649-2506, by June 21. There will be a maximum enrollment of 15 students.

House Plants
Persons plagued with sickly house plants may find relief in a course on plant care. Starting on July 1, these courses will be held every Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the library room at the West Side Rec.

Basic plant care, decorating with plants and growing plants with artificial lights, will be some of the topics covered by the instructor, Ms. Kathy Hynes. Ms. Hynes works at the Plant Store on Broad St., maintaining and selling plants. She asks that plants be provided by the students, and adds that the nature, structure, and length of the class will be determined by the SAM office.

The SAM office, at 649-2506 will be taking registrations for this class until June 25.

Craft Classes
Those persons looking for a creative outlet this summer will find it in any one of the four craft classes being taught by Ms. Bea Shettel at the West Side Rec.

Ms. Shettel, the arts and crafts instructor for the Town Recreation Department, is holding classes in ceramics, pottery and multiterics. Two ceramic classes are being offered. One will be held on Mondays from 1:30 to 3:30, the other on Tuesdays at the same time. Besides a fee of $7 to cover all firing, glaze, stain, and special paint expenses, participants are asked to supply three brushes, three stain brushes, a sandpaper sponge, and greenware. These are available at any ceramic studio.

Summer Jobs Available for 150

Federal funds are available to provide summer jobs for 150 Manchester young people in special low-income categories, according to Rick Gowan, Youth Commission chairman. The jobs would be in maintenance work with various town departments including the Highway and Parks Department, and doing clerical work at the Municipal Building.

The pay would be $2.01 per hour, 25 hours a week for those from 14 to 22. The income qualifications range from a yearly income of $2,330 for a family of one, to $4,560 for a family of four, and to $6,770 for a family of six. Others who may qualify are those whose families receive state or local public financial assistance, those who are wards of the state, former members of the armed forces who served in Vietnam, or a member of a Social Security family within the income limits.

Anyone who worked in the Neighborhood Youth Corps last year may also apply, Gowan said. Applications, which close June 21, may be obtained at the personnel office at the Municipal Building, the placement office of Manchester High School or the guidance office of Hill or Bennet Junior High Schools. Gowan called the qualifying restrictions more stringent than those required for last year's Emergency Act monies for youth employment.

He hopes all 150 jobs will be filled, and said that for each 10 youths hired, a crew leader will be hired to supervise. Of the $10,000 the Board of Directors appropriated this year for youth employment, $7,500 is available to provide 20 part-time jobs under the SAM (Summer Activities in Manchester) program, Gowan said.

If too few youths qualify for the federally-funded jobs, Gowan will consider going back to the Board of Directors for more funds, he said.

Flag Day

Nearly two centuries ago, on June 14, 1777, the Continental Congress adopted the stars and stripes as the flag of the United States.

Official recognition of the birthday of the flag apparently was first advocated by William P. Kerr, who founded the American Flag Day Association in 1888 to promote it. A National Flag Day bill encouraging display of the flag each June 14th, was signed into law on August 3, 1949.

The first stars and stripes was very similar to Britain's Grand Union flag. George Washington explained the important difference between the two, however, in these words: "We take the star from heaven, the red from our Mother Country, separating it by white stripes, thus showing that we have separated from her, and the white stripes shall go down to posterity representing liberty."

There were many other flags that had been used during the American Colonial and Revolutionary era. They had borne various inscriptions which the stars and stripes would later come to symbolize, such as "Liberty," "Don't Tread on Me," "An Appeal to Heaven," and "Conquer or Die."

Even after the Continental Congress adopted the stars and stripes as the nation's official flag in 1777, early versions were not uniform. The field of 13 red and white stripes representing the original 13 colonies remained basically unchanged (except for a temporary addition of two stripes starting in 1794). Some flags, however, included stars shaped in a circle, while others had them in columns. In 1818, it was finally decided that 13 stripes were enough and that each new state would be represented by a star on the union of the flag.

The classic story of Betsy Ross making the first flag can neither be proved or disproved by history. She was a young Philadelphia widow who did excellent needlework to support herself and her children. Her direct descendants claim that General Washington, Robert Morris, and George Ross, her deceased husband's uncle, visited Mrs. Ross and commissioned her to make the first stars and stripes. However, although the story may in fact be true, there are no written reports or records to verify it.

Nuclear Death Is Too Easy To Steal

The theft from private industry of sufficient nuclear material to make an atomic bomb is a growing threat. A series of small "bookkeeping" alterations or materials substitutions could cover the theft. Such alterations would require no more ingenuity than the methods used by bank embezzlers to hide the stealing of millions of dollars over a period of years.

LA JOLLA, Calif. — If the United States meets the fate of the Roman Empire in its decline and fall, some will assign it to the fleshpots of New York, some to the corruptions of Washington. But there is a sizable group which will pick the death drive and the life force operate in it together, interlocked in a mortal embrace.

Grid Fans Face Crisis

Those football fanatics who are looking forward to those July games had better start making their plans early or they may find themselves thoroughly frustrated when game time rolls around.

First it would appear we are in for a long hot summer. This means that the air-conditioner will have to be working properly if the game is to be enjoyed over the tube. Of course this means a concentrated campaign must be launched now to cut down on all non-essential uses of electricity, like air-conditioning in your mother-in-law's bedroom and night games of such minor sports as baseball.

This is necessary to avert a brown-out through wasteful use of electricity. Another threat that looms is the reported shortage of beer which is the essential ingredient of football watching, especially in hot summer weather.

This will mean laying in a supply before the supplier runs out and stashing it away where it won't be found by the in-laws during their annual summer visits. Now it isn't easy to conceal a case or two of beer from a brother-in-law or son-in-law who has a nose that can detect beer's delicate aroma when six miles away from a tavern on I-91 during a maximum carbon-dioxide pollution alert. But it must be done and your best hope is convincing the better half that you are saving it for that "new" diet she has been nagging you about for years.

Assuming you are successful in laying in a supply and protecting it against unauthorized consumption, you must be prepared to have an alternate way to cool it if you have to shut down the refrigerator in order to have enough juice for the boob tube.

Since, it would be unrealistic to just plunk down a tub of ice in the living room, you will have to use fact and diplomacy. The only solution is to convince junior that he hasn't lived until he has made home-made ice cream. While 25 pounds of ice is sufficient for this purpose, it is wise to get 50 and then rather than let it melt away unused, you got your beer cooler.

But the key to successful July football watching is still electricity conservation for as yet even the most die-hard football fan hasn't figured out a way to run a TV with candles. With the beer shortage there isn't enough beer to share with that friend who has a battery-operated set. And besides how many grown men can crowd around a small screen without banging beer cans?

Time is running out, fans, and the season of July football is in the hands of the weatherman, the breweries and your public utility, which is enough to make you want to cry in that precious beer right now.

In 1777, the "Stars and Stripes" became the national flag. In 1861, Wisconsin Republican Sen. Joseph McCarthy charged Defense Secretary George Marshall with having "common cause" with Russian Communist leader Josef Stalin during World War II.

Plum Gulley Vote Tomorrow

SOUTH WINDSOR
Judy Kuehnel
Correspondent
644-1364

Saturday is the day of reckoning for that park with the "funny name" - Plum Gulley when thousands of South Windsor voters decide upon the fate of the 2.4 million proposal.
After a year and a half of controversy, stormy times, and much planning, town officials will see whether their efforts to convince South Windsor residents of Plum Gulley's merits have paid off. By 8 p.m. Saturday, the fate of the library-recreation complex will have been determined and finally the Town Council will know whether it can plan on a ground-breaking celebration.

The council members have put much effort into convincing residents of the need for a project such as Plum Gulley. Not only will the park provide services to all age groups, the council contends, but also would provide South Windsor with a town center and a core around which future plans could be made.
Despite the push to pass Plum Gulley, there is just as much opposition as there is support. Each councilman has on separate occasions expressed his or her support of the park and each has expressed the disappointment that would be felt among those who would be around which future plans could be made. While both the Chamber and SWAC have few members, and consequently represent a small segment of the community, Plum Gulley has been on somewhat shaky ground to begin with.

Officials here quickly admit that to predict the fate of the park at this point would be like flipping a coin and watching it stand on its edge.
As with the recent primary, and a recent watershed referendum, voters will cast ballots from noon to 8 p.m. at the following schools: Pleasant Valley (District 1); Ellsworth (District 2); South Windsor High (District 3); Timothy Edwards (District 4).

Bolton Will Honor Retiring Teachers

DOUGLASS
Donna Holland
Correspondent

In less than two weeks four teachers, with a total of 90 years of service between them in the Bolton School system, will be retiring.
Over 100 persons, including school administrators, past and present teachers, Board of Education members and Bolton residents will honor the teachers at a retirement dinner and appreciation night Friday at the Marco Polo Restaurant in East Hartford.
A cocktail hour will precede the dinner. There will also be a presentation of gifts.
The evening is being sponsored by the Bolton Education Association with assistance from the Board of Education. The four teachers who will be retiring are Mrs. Evelyn Halloran, Mrs. Evelyn Halloran began teaching in Bolton in 1949 at a one-room schoolhouse. She has seen the school system as well as the town grow through the years.
Mrs. Halloran was the first president of the Bolton Teachers Association. She presently teaches Grade 7 at Bolton Center School.
She has been described as a "great inspiration to all teachers entering the profession. They all look to her for advice and direction."
Prior to teaching in the Bolton area, she taught in Maine and Rockville.
Upon retirement she plans to spend time on her farm in Maine.
She said she has enjoyed her teaching years.
She graduated from the Gorham Normal School in Maine and the Teachers' College of New Britain.
She resides with her husband, Daniel, on Hebron Rd. in Bolton.
She has a son, Bruce, and a daughter, Patty, and six grandchildren.
One of her grandchildren, Lisa Halloran of Coventry, was recently appointed to the Senate. She will serve in Washington from July 1 to Oct. 3.
Mrs. Sylvia Patrick
Mrs. Sylvia Patrick began teaching in Bolton in 1949 at the consolidated school, now Bolton Center School.
The first year she taught there were five classrooms there. She taught the second grade for five years, one year having 46 students in her class.
She has served as president of the Bolton Teachers Association.
Since 1964 she has been teaching Grade 3 and many a parent heard their child ask to stay back so as to have Mrs. Patrick again.
She has taught innumerable children and has a special place in her heart for those who have been good to her. She has derived much personal satisfaction and would do it all over again if she had a chance.
She said in some small way she hopes she has been an influence to her students. She feels today's society is too permissive and asks children to grow up too fast.
She feels parents should be models - for their children, should live in a moral way and ask their children to do the same. The home and school should set strong guidelines for the kids for their own good, she said.

"I treated other people's children the way I treated my own," she said.
She taught in Massachusetts for three years before coming to Bolton. She also taught the homebound.
Mrs. Patrick graduated from the Bridgewater State Teachers' College and Bridgewater, Maine.
She resides with her husband, William, in Columbia, Maine.
They have a son, Steven, superintendent of Heublein in California, and a daughter, Mrs. Ann Rudolph, teacher at Bolton Center School, and two grandchildren, Jackie and David Rudolph.
Mr. and Mrs. Patrick have been married for 35 years. She took an early retirement so as to be near her husband and her husband and visit her son in California.
She plans to do some substitute teaching.
Mrs. Bertha McGarrath
Mrs. Bertha McGarrath entered the Bolton school system in 1964.

Wetland Map Posted

SOUTH WINDSOR
Judy Kuehnel
Correspondent
644-1364

A map which designates areas of South Windsor including streams, swamps, and flood plains, which would be included in the proposed inland-wetlands regulations, is now on file in the Town Council chambers. The map and the proposed 19-page inland-wetlands regulations, recently completed by the Conservation Commission, will be explained at a public hearing set for Wednesday, June 19, 9 p.m. at the Town Hall.
Under the new regulations, if accepted, grazing, farming, nurseries, gardening, harvesting of crops and the storage of water in connection of public water supplies would be prohibited within the construction of certain buildings, and pollution and alterations of the regulated areas.
The Conservation Committee was appointed the inland-wetlands agency for South Windsor last June by the Town Council, and has spent many months setting up the regulations.
It has the responsibility of animal surveillance of the regulated areas and the power to grant permits for uses of the regulated areas, including the change of boundaries of set areas.
Public hearings on requests for exceptions are required before action can be taken. The agency consists of the following members: Cynthia Wotel, chairman; Dennis Erickson, Frank Comer, John Reid, Robert Herzog, Ben Jurawicz and Robert Finch.
Permits Issued
Building Inspector Donald McLaughlin reported that building permits, issued last month totaled an estimated $57,121 worth of construction. The total is $29,498 less than the permits issued in May 1974, which was estimated at $86,611.
Last month permits for 17 dwellings were issued valued at an estimated $403,000. Last year in May 16 permits for dwellings were issued for a total value of $391,000.
Also issued last month were permits for the following alterations or additions, $59,777: two tool sheds, $1,150; 19 swimming pools, $41,699; one horse stall, $500; one vegetable stand, $200; and two in-ground fuel oil tanks, $1,000.
Art Show
A Pops Concert and Arts and Crafts Show for the benefit of the South Windsor Cultural Arts Committee will be held Saturday at the South Windsor High School at 8 p.m.
Art work can be viewed before the show at 7 p.m. and will be available for sale at that time, as well as during intermission.
The Arts and Crafts Show is the creative result of art students at the high school. Sale proceeds will benefit the Art Education Award.

Tickets are $2 for adults and $1 for students. Refreshments will be served.
Varieties Granted
The Zoning Board of Appeals (ZBA) recently granted a variance to Edward R. Kuehn, 1029 Ellington Rd., to convert a dwelling at 1055 Ellington Rd. to a branch office for a law firm, Kuehn, Fanning, Cavanaugh and Cummings.
The building, in a commercial zone, is not set back as far from the road as is now required.
Bee Vic Inc., 641 Sullivan Ave., was given permission to put up a two-by-six-foot sign at a cafe on Sullivan Ave. The original request was for a four-by-eight-foot sign.
Inspiration House, Pleasant Valley Rd. was given permission to convert a building at 819 Main St. from a grocery store to a mail order and retail store dealing in cards, books, stationery and miscellaneous items.
Charles F. and Carol A. Geiger, 285 Diane Dr., were given permission to build a garage at their home nearer the boundary line than present zone regulations permit.
Edmund J. Gorman, 604 East Middle Tpke., Manchester, was granted permission to erect a sign at 510 Ellington Rd. in a rural residence zone.

Resent Late Pay Tolland Teachers Plan To Delay Final Grades

VIVIAN KENNESON
Correspondent

Ronald Dextrader, Tolland Education Association president, announced today that students' final grades will be withheld until the last day of school.
Dextrader said that at a meeting earlier this week teachers agreed to take this action until contract obligations are met by the Board of Education.
The teachers are upset by the news that their final pay check, due June 21, will be held up until June 26, the last day of school.
Dextrader said that TEA representatives who met with the Board of Education Wednesday, in executive session, were told the funds had been invested and would not be available until June 26.
He said that the teachers received no formal notice of the decision and asked the board to either issue their pay on June 21, as per the contract, or in two parts, on June 21 and on June 26, for the final three days of school.

If the grades are withheld until June 26, graduation, set for June 23 at Tolland High School and June 25 at Tolland Middle School, will presumably be affected.
Robert Dean, chairman of the Board of Education, said this morning, "It is unfortunate that the TEA is showing hostility toward the Board of Education." He feels that pressure with the end of school, contract negotiations, and hostility toward the Board of Education, triggered this action.
Dean said, "The teachers would be acting in an insubordinate way and the board would have to deal accordingly."

Democrats Elect Mrs. Baum

VERNON
In a 44-9 vote, the Vernon Democratic Town Committee,

Thursday night, elected Mrs. Devra Baum to replace Dr. Robert Fenn on the Vernon Board of Education. James Moore ran against Mrs. Baum. Dr. Fenn was elected to a six-year term on the board, last November. He is moving out of Vernon and therefore had to resign. His resignation is effective now. Mrs. Baum's name was presented for the Board of Education candidate last fall when most of the offices were taken by the Republicans.
Mrs. Peggy Rak, who also ran last November, was a contender for the replacement slot but withdrew last week and threw her support to Moore who is a relative newcomer to the town committee.
Mrs. Baum's name was presented by Thomas Benoit and seconded by Robert Houley. Emphasis was on the work Mrs. Baum did in trying to keep double sessions from starting at Rockville High School. Mrs. Baum will have to run in the election next year for the final four years of the six-year term.

Cooperation Pays Off — Mom Gets Her Degree

"Congratulations mom," were the sounds emanating from the Gordon Lassow household at 100 Hollister St. when Mrs. (Marilyn) Lassow received her master's degree in the area of special education from Saint Joseph College in West Hartford.

The mother of three sons, Lee 16, Michael 13, and Jay 10, she stuck to her determination through the years to earn her master's degree and though she says, "It took the cooperation of the entire family, it was something I wanted very badly."

Juggling a time schedule to accommodate three active youngsters and a husband is no easy task.

"It was hard at times," she said, "to take care of a family and a home and study at the same time, but it is very gratifying and definitely worth the effort."

Marilyn, who is a full-time teacher at the Horace Porter School in Columbia, had completed three years of college when she was married. Three children later, she decided to go back to school and earned her BA degree in elementary education at Eastern Connecticut State College in Willimantic.

Getting mom through college was definitely a team effort. Lassow, who is employed at Ellsworth and Lassow Oil Company on Oakland St., is equally proud of his wife's accomplishment.

"She would get home from teaching about four o'clock, fix supper, and leave by six to attend college," he said. "Sometimes it was difficult arranging our schedules for the children's activities and my working hours, but we managed."

"The boys have been great," Marilyn said, "they really pitched in with Gordon to make it all possible."

Summing it all up, she said, "You really have to want to do it bad enough and if it really means that much to you, you can. It has many rewards mainly self-satisfaction with your achievement, and in my particular field of special education, it enables me to help my own children as well as others."

Mrs. Marilyn Lassow enjoys admiring glances from the young men in her family as they view the MA degree she received from Saint Joseph College in West Hartford. Obviously very proud of their mom are, from left, Lee 16, Michael 13, and Jay 10. (Herald photo by Dunn)

NEW YORK (UPI) — Teresa Lassow has turned into a globetrotter carrying hope to women concerning cancer.

The gist of her message primarily deals with breast cancer, the leading cause of incidence and death among women today, how self-examination can lead to early detection, how if surgery is necessary there is an R to R (Reach to Recovery) volunteer program to help in readjustment and overcoming the "trauma" of a breast removal.

Mrs. Lassow, who had a mastectomy in 1962, has just returned from a three-month trip through Southeast Asia and Australia, speaking to radio, television and live audiences.

"400 Million People" She can't even estimate how many women — and men — she reached in the 10 countries but it had to be in the many millions.

Reaching to Recovery operates with carefully selected and trained volunteers who assist the physician and surgeon in providing specialized assistance to the woman with a mastectomy without interfering with the doctor-patient relationship. The patient sees and talks with another woman who has had the same surgery.

Self Examination Mrs. Lassow said her trip was the most extensive she's made since joining with ACS, where she is a fulltime but unearied staffer. The trip was arranged through cancer societies in the countries visited.

"Every country has the problem," she said in an interview. "I'm told the incidence of breast cancer is on the increase almost everywhere." Since Mrs. Lassow's mastectomy she's become sort of a clearing house for bras that the woman can wear comfortably.

Protest Out of Order

Protests lodged by banner-carrying female athletes from Manchester High last Tuesday night against the Manchester Lodge of Elks for not being invited to the annual Lettermen's Award banquet were uncalled for as well as a low blow directed at this fine organization.

Honored guests were all male letter winners of major sports at Manchester High. The demonstration, carried out by only a handful of female athletes at Manchester High, borders on the ridiculous.

If the Elks, or any other organization wants to honor any athlete, or athletes, and pay the full freight for the dinner, that's strictly their business. They do or do not extend an invitation to it also their business.

The Elks, as well as other organizations, may chuck the whole business of honoring athletes in the future if they find intentions are going to be marred as was the case Tuesday night.

Gary Player Reveals His Secret Of What it Takes to Win Open

MAMARONECK, N.Y. (UPI) - Amid a sea of red faces and a wave of embarrassed golfers, little Gary Player revealed the secret of what it will take to win the U.S. Open.

"It takes a world of mental discipline," said the dark-haired South African, who one day hopes to be recognized as the greatest golfer in the world. "You have to play all the shots in your bag, plus the bag upstairs."

When the opening round of the 74th U.S. Open was completed Thursday evening, it was apparent that just about everyone in the field of 150 was missing some piece of their equipment, whether physical or mental. No one was able to break par 70 and only Player was able to equal it over the tortuous, 6,961-yard Winged Foot Golf Club.

This gave Player, seeking to complete a second Grand Slam of the world's four major tournaments, a one-stroke lead over Mike Resnor, once a caddy to Arnold Palmer, and Lou Graham, neither of whom owns a tour victory. It also led a number of the other top pros with egg on their face and little more than a few wisecracks to show for a hard day's work.

"This course really makes you feel like a dog," laughed Johnny Miller, the defending U.S. Open champion who came in with a 76 and complained the pin placements couldn't have been more difficult. "I'm beginning to think the only way I can play this course well is in a fog."

Even the incomparable Jack Nicklaus, who holds the all-time record of 14 major victories, was reduced to human frailties as he bogeyed his first four holes and had to scramble for a five-over 75. On the first hole, Nicklaus tapped a 28-foot putt that rolled 18 feet beyond the cup, and as he said later, "That's some way to start an Open. It was ridiculous."

And so it was on Day One of America's most prestigious golf event. Only five players - Bobby Nichols, Bruce Crampton, Barney Thompson, Jim Colbert and Ray Floyd - managed a two-over-par 72, and Palmer found himself in excellent position with a 73, bracketing him with Jerry Heard, Hale Irwin, Tom Watson, Rod Funseth, Mark Hayes, Dave Graham and John Buczek.

Tom Weiskopf was in a group with Miller at 76, Lee Trevino was at 78, Billy Casper, winner of the Open the last time it was played here in 1959, had an 80 and Hubie Green, winner of three tour events this year, including last week's Philadelphia Golf Classic, opened with a hair-raising 81.

And, in the opinion of many, the scores can get even worse as the weekend activities proceed. "This is the toughest course I ever played, and it was on a perfect day," said Colbert, a 33-year-old graduate of Kansas State. "If we get some bad weather, I'd hate to see what happens. We'll all be embarrassed."

Only a bogey on the 18th hole prevented Player from turning in a sub-par round, and he admitted he "really wanted it bad."

"I have such respect for this course, it would have meant something," explained the 38-year-old physical fitness addict. "I really attacked on that hole and it didn't come off. It was the worst looking drive you ever saw. If you followed it, you would have had a sore neck."

Player, in response to a question, said he would like to be recognized as the world's best golfer, but he added that it isn't fair to start making comparisons until a man's career is over. In addition to winning the PGA, Masters and British Open twice each and the U.S. Open once, his bag of victories also includes the South African Open eight times, the Australian Open six times and the Piccadilly World Match Play championship five times.

Palmer, in relaxed and happy frame of mind following his 37-36 round, a greed with Player's assessment that this is a thinking man's tournament. "It's very difficult, no question about that," he said. "But I think it's one of the best courses we've played in a long time. You have to think about every shot you take. You can't be reckless."

It isn't necessarily a reflection on the ability of golfers to think, but when the first round was over, 43 competitors had cards showing 80 or above and the field of 150 turned in a meager total of 155 birdies among them.

MB's Easy Winner Behind Waslewski

Treated roughly and handed a loss in his Twilight League debut, tall Gary Waslewski came back last night and furlled Moriarty's to an easy 9-2 win over Volkswagon at St. Thomas.

Waslewski scattered eight hits, didn't walk a batter and fanned six. Both runs were unearned.

Meanwhile, Manchester Community College was tagged with its fourth straight defeat when Bristol blanked the locals 7-0 at Mt. Nebo. The loss was the second absorbed by the lighting Collegians this week.

Moriarty's, winning for the fourth time in five starts and leading the American Division standings, broke a 1-1 tie in the fourth with five runs from Mark Royce.

Two walks, a hit batsman and two hits highlighted the big frame. Ron Kroug's triple, the only extra base hit of the night, and an error wrapped up the game.

up the MB scoring in the last frame, Jimmy Balesani, who has mixed baseball with softball this season, slammed two hits for the Gas Housers. Kroug drove in two runs.

Mike O'Connor, Paul Kindt and Pete Bogus each collected two hits for the losers, now 2-3 for the year.

Held to just one hit Tuesday night, MCC came up with just four last night, all singles, in absorbing its fourth straight setback.

Former Moriarty pitcher, Steve Libby proved too much for MCC. The winners tallied one run in each of the first four innings and added three more in the fifth. Libby was yielding the whitewash 8-0.

Pete Acey, Howie Beeler, Al Falco and Larry Warszawsky collected the local hits.

Tonight, MCC faces Hartford Insurance at St. Thomas at 6.

Complaints, Complaints at Open

Now comes Gary Player, the first round leader with an even par 70 which puts him one stroke up on everybody else.

Player has a little devil in him. He knows Winged Foot is excruciatingly tough, and the majority of his colleagues are complaining. Publicly, he had this comment: "This is the way golf should be played."

Privately, he went even better. "Make it tougher," he whispered, implicitly, to one of the officials here, Frank Hannigan, assistant director of the U.SGA.

Player means it. The tougher it is, the more most of the touring pro man and complain; the tougher it is, the more Gary Player loves it.

He's a pusher. He delights in working hard and pushing himself to see how much he can accomplish. He believes no professional golfer works any harder or pushes himself any more than he does, and after observing him for 20 years now I'm inclined to agree with him.

Money isn't what impels Gary Player the most. Pride does.

That's why I don't think he'll quit even if he does win this Open. He's still in better physical shape at 38 than more than three-quarters of the entrants in this field and he says he thinks "a man of 50 can do anything he can do at 20."

Gary Player could get a little argument there, but one thing he's absolutely dogmatic about is that his family, meaning his wife and six children, come before anything else with him, grand slams, prestige or money.

"Making money isn't the answer to life," he said to one newsmen in the locker room after Thursday's round. "Do you realize I've been away from home (in South Africa) what amounts to 12 years in my 20 years on the tour?" It's a fact.

"When I leave home, do you know what I do? I cry like a baby. I choke up, and I'm not at all ashamed to admit it. Leaving my family for six weeks at a stretch is the most difficult thing in the world for me. Listen, you may think what I do is a bed of roses, but I can personally assure you it is not."

Don Cherry to Coach Bruins

BOSTON (UPI) — Once Harry Sinden convinced him he no longer was needed in Rochester, Don Cherry agreed to coach the Boston Bruins. Cherry, a loyal employee who turned a bunch of castoffs into a Calder Cup challenger while coaching the Rochester Americans, was determined to stay with his American Hockey League team.

"Well, I walked into the room (in Montreal Thursday morning) to say, 'No. I wear it to Harry. I had it all planned to say, 'No.' But because the main stumbling block to the whole thing to me was that Rochester had to be well taken care of, there was no way I was going to say goodbye and forget it," said Cherry, 40.

But Sinden, who has been seeking a coach officially since Bep Guidolin resigned May 27, convinced Cherry the Americans would have a good team next season.

The managing director promised to put a number of good prospects on the unaffiliated AHL team and assured Cherry that Art Stratton, the top player in the minor league last season, could handle the coaching job.

"That was the main thing," said Cherry upon arriving back in Rochester from the NHL meeting in Montreal. "It wasn't the money and I know I can do the job (in Boston). It was how Rochester was going to be taken care of."

Cherry's feeling for the organization he served for seven seasons as player, coach and general manager typified the former minor league defenseman's dedication to the game.

"What I like most about him is that he's a career hockey man first and foremost," said Sinden Thursday night after the Bruins had signed Cherry to a multi-year contract for a reported $200,000 annually.

"After talking to Don, I came away with the impression: 'You don't have to worry about coaching; I'll take care of that,'" Sinden said.

The personable Cherry displayed his coaching talents in Rochester upon taking the job two months into the 1971-72 season. He borrowed young players from NHL teams and picked up a number of over-the-hill veterans to assemble his club.

Two-and-a-half seasons later, Cherry had brought the Amerks to a first-place finish in the AHL. His overall record was 75-52-25.

Cherry said he would not change his aggressive style of coaching when he reached Boston. "I'm not going to change my coaching philosophy and I'm not going to change in any way."

The brash former defenseman, whose only NHL game in 16 years came in the 1955 playoffs for Boston, oozed confidence. "If I didn't think I could do the job, I never would have taken it... The thing is, to tell you the truth, I'm ready for Boston but is Boston ready for me?"

Slim Pickings In NHL Draft

MONTREAL (UPI) — After looking over the slim pickings harvested from the National Hockey League Expansion draft, the Kansas City Scouts and the Washington Capitals hardly are including the Stanley Cup among the plans for their inaugural season.

The 57th annual meeting of the National Hockey League ended Thursday with the expansion team general managers Sid Abel and Milt Schmidt calling their new squads "the best we could do under the circumstances."

The meetings also saw expansion franchises for the 1976-77 season granted to Seattle and Denver, which sounded the demise of the Western Hockey League, to which each city previously belonged.

Abel, general manager of the Kansas City Scouts, and Schmidt, manager of the Washington Capitals chose their 24 players Wednesday from a bleak list offered by the established clubs.

"I think we did the best we could do under the circumstances," said Schmidt, a former manager of the Boston Bruins. Neither manager would say whether they got their money's worth—$8 million for franchise and players.

Among the veterans on the Scouts, aside from Nolet, are goalie Michel Plasse, who played part of the past two seasons with the Montreal Canadiens, sharing the duties with two others.

After a predictable draft and the long-remembered Walt McEneaney-for-Derek Sanderson trade between New York and Boston which followed, the NHL meetings wound up with a reverse draft.

American Hockey League got to pick NHL-owned players from a special list at $15,000 each, but only six were taken.

While the meetings buried one league, they pointed to continued growth in the NHL. NHL president Clarence Campbell announced the league would comprise four divisions and 26 teams by 1976.

In signings, the meetings saw the New York Islanders come to terms with their first selection of the 1974 amateur draft, leftwinger Clark Gillies.

A similar agreement was reached between the Buffalo Sabres and leftwinger Michel Dezibel who scored 92 goals for Sorel.

American Hockey League got to pick NHL-owned players from a special list at $15,000 each, but only six were taken.

While the meetings buried one league, they pointed to continued growth in the NHL. NHL president Clarence Campbell announced the league would comprise four divisions and 26 teams by 1976.

In signings, the meetings saw the New York Islanders come to terms with their first selection of the 1974 amateur draft, leftwinger Clark Gillies.

A similar agreement was reached between the Buffalo Sabres and leftwinger Michel Dezibel who scored 92 goals for Sorel.

Among the veterans on the Scouts, aside from Nolet, are goalie Michel Plasse, who played part of the past two seasons with the Montreal Canadiens, sharing the duties with two others.

After a predictable draft and the long-remembered Walt McEneaney-for-Derek Sanderson trade between New York and Boston which followed, the NHL meetings wound up with a reverse draft.

Sox Playing .700 Ball Since May 17

BOSTON (UPI) — The Boston Red Sox feel they will play better baseball when a couple of injured players come back, said manager Tom Yawkey Thursday.

But if they play any better than they are now, the Sox will clinch the American League East title in early August. Boston has rattled off 17 wins in 24 games since May 17, a .708 percentage, to vault three games ahead of second-place Milwaukee.

The Red Sox, who open a six-game West Coast trip tonight in Anaheim against the California Angels, have moved out from under second baseman Doug Griffin and pitcher Rick Wise. Griffin, hit behind the ear April 30 by a Nolan Ryan fastball, will be out at least another few weeks while Wise, who jammed a finger on his pitching hand, has started throwing again.

"When we get Wise and Griffin back, we'll be in fine shape all around," said rookie manager Darrell Johnson. Asked if Boston would be overstocked with talent when the two players return, Johnson said, "Not in the heat of the summer. There's no such thing as an overload of good players when you're playing in the heat."

Rookie Rick Burleson, one of the Red Sox instant heroes in the three-game sweep of Oakland, credited Johnson with Boston's recent success. "Darrell is making the right moves with this team."

"We're getting real good pitching now plus Wise will be back soon and Reggie (Cleveland) is coming around."

The Red Sox throw their best against California tonight in Luis Tiant. The master of the hesitation pitch has pitched eight straight complete games, winning seven, including the last six. The Angels will counter with Ryan, who lost to the Red Sox the night he beamed Griffin.

There was talk in Anaheim that Frank Robinson would be traded by the Angels before the trading deadline at midnight Saturday. He has been offered to the Red Sox, but Boston rejected the initial deal because the Angels wanted some of Boston's young talent.

Johnson said he would like to be able to use Robinson's right-handed power, but not at the expense of the players mentioned by California General Manager Harry Dalton. Players initially mentioned by Dalton included pitcher Roger Moret and outfielder Dwight Evans, as well as minor leaguers Jim Rice and Fred Lynn of Pawtucket.

Jim Barr Fulfills Promise Predicted Four Years Ago

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jim Barr may have found the secret to fulfilling the promise predicted of him when the San Francisco Giants signed him off the campus of Southern California four years ago.

The 28-year-old right-hander, who has posted a rather undistinguished 20-2 record in his first three major league seasons, Barr accidentally came upon that idea last year in Chicago when rain delays twice interrupted his pregame warmups.

Barr pitched one of the best games of his big league career. He thought nothing about it, however, until Thursday when he decided to try the same routine prior to a start against the Chicago Cubs.

He cut down his warmup considerably, pitching for a few minutes then sitting down and pitching again. The experiment worked again as Barr allowed only six hits in pitching the Giants to a 1-0 victory that snapped a four-game losing streak. The complete game performance was only the seventh in the by the Giants' staff this season.

Barr said he was able to get loose in only six minutes so he saw no need to continue throwing hard before the game.

"I sat down for five minutes," he said, "then I threw again for five more, but I didn't throw hard. I remember how that routine worked for me once before, so maybe now I'll stick to it and see what happens. When you aren't winning you have to try everything to get straightened away."

"If Barr could pitch that well all the time," said Giants' manager Charley Fox, "we wouldn't have a care in the world. It was as good a game as anyone could pitch and it came at the right time."

Gary Thomasson, the Giants' "super sub," said he knocked in the only run with a single in the seventh inning.

After the Bank tallied three times in the fifth, Groman's came back with four runs to wrap up the decision.

Tom Boland paced the winners with two doubles which drove in four runs. Chris Merisotis, Tom Prignano and Pete Gorman all hit well. The latter pitched the route and gave up six hits while fanning nine.

Burger King scored five times in its first at bats and then went on to tack a 7-1 defeat on Moriarty's last night at the Oval.

Helle Talks of Stay

Each academic year AFS (American Field Service) sends a student to MHS. The student lives with a compatible family in town and attends the High School. This year was no exception.

Helle Romme Hansen, from Denmark, has contributed much to our school. As a senior, Helle has been active in the AFS Club, German Club, Current Affairs Club, National Honor Society, and tennis and volleyball teams.

With the approaching end of school and Helle's departure, it was my pleasure to conduct an exclusive interview with Helle. Let us now take a closer look at Helle Hansen.

The idea of coming to the United States first occurred to Helle almost three years ago. Last year as AFS'er from Delaware attended her school and lived in Denmark. Helle grew very close to the student body and decided to visit the United States through the AFS program. Many of her friends have visited the States although no one in her family has, to date.

Helle has had no problem adjusting to life in the United States. This was the result of an extensive study of our political, cultural and social system, previous to her trip. Many informative discussions with friends who have travelled further prepared her.

Helle did not experience "a culture shock" nor was she frustrated by misconceptions. "I knew too much before coming."

The mentioning of schools in this country brings immediate reaction from Helle. In comparison to those in Europe, they are rigid, restricted and slower paced. "I think these rules are made because your schools are much bigger than those in Denmark." (Helle's school educates 300 students.) Helle would "never feel comfortable sending her children to schools in the United States."

Although one does not notice unless previously informed, Helle was taught "King's" or "British" English. There are some distinctly different meanings of words from our variation of the language. For example "biscuit" is used in Europe instead of "cookie." Since her arrival, Helle's whole manner of speaking has changed significantly. Even after her departure from the United States Helle believes she will continue speaking American.

Helle enjoys all her classes at MHS although her favorite are philosophy and theater arts. She is very interested in languages and has studied many.

Helle is weighing the possibilities of her returning to the United States in the near future. Presently she would like to complete her education in Denmark. Live in the U.S. "during the best years of my life" and return to Europe. Upon reaching retirement age, Helle believes our social system is best oriented for her plan.

New Fad Exposed

Of course, the pace in America is much faster than in Europe. Helle comments "it is very hard to measure because I'm in the pace myself."

Graduation is speedily approaching and Helle is excited about the formal celebrations. Proms, picnics and a formal graduation ceremony are events not experienced by Denmark seniors.

Helle is quick to agree the AFS year has been invaluable. "I'm sure I've gained a lot which I'm not aware of. Perhaps these things will thank me in the future."

Helle wishes to thank everyone for making her stay enjoyable. Using a phrase to describe her feeling about our country Helle usually says "the United States is a country of contrasts and I will never ever stereotype an American."

Though Helle leaves the country late in June, she will never escape our memories. Her arms will always be open to welcome her return. On behalf of the MHS student body I extend the best of luck and much success to Helle Hansen. — Jessica Lauffer

NHS Gets New VIPs

In our wisdom and maturity, in our seats of higher and lesser learning, we have turned away from the established norms of behavior which once were: the swallowing of goldfish, the packing of bodies into telephone booths, and panty raids. We've come to the pinnacle of civilized man's achievement, streaking.

Streaking, the movement which is sweeping across the country, has never been clearly defined or defined. Something so vital to our nation, which overshadows Watergate, impeachment, and the energy crisis, surely deserves classification.

It is streaking an art form, a way of expressing one's self. Then are the performers artists? Does the beauty of this lie in the form of it, the eye of the beholder? If in the form, then why remove it so quickly from our sight? Would more than a glimpse be too much of a good thing?

And what school of art would it be called?

Surely it must be impressionism, because all who have seen it have come away deeply impressed.

Suppose streaking is not an art form, but a sport. Let's examine the possibilities. It would be a sport where women are equal to men and need no handicap. Would it be a team sport? Would there be tryouts for the team? Who would qualify as a judge? And what would be the criteria—speed? Style? Endurance? Streaking may truly be the sport of the near future.

Aridian Editors Named

Aridian, Manchester High School's art and literary magazine, has chosen editors for next year.

This year's editors were Ellen Covogre, literary editor, and Linda Carahan, art editor. You have probably seen his sculpture series, "The Mourning." Besides Aridian, Kent belongs to Soccer, and is a member of the International Thespian Society. He has performed in many plays and was last seen as Fore in "Tell Me That You Love Me, June Moon." Kent plans to go into graphic design.

Replacing Ellen Covogre as literary editor is a hard job, but Barbara Senna is the person who can do it. Barbara has served on the Aridian staff for two years and will be an excellent editor. She is a writer and poet, as well as an avid reader. Her future plans include journalism and theatre.

At this writing, she has not decided on an assistant editor. Kent Denley will serve as the new art editor, replacing Linda Carahan. Kent has had his work in Aridian this year and last. ## Wildlife Topic At Ecology Class

The Ecology and Man class recently had Mr. DeCarli of the Wildlife Compliance Department as a special speaker. His department is involved in protecting wildlife, providing wildlife crops for hunting and keeping populations of wildlife slightly increasing.

Mr. DeCarli stressed the fact that many people urge the protection of wildlife as an environmental necessity, but rarely support it. The hunters of Connecticut, however, usually contribute one million dollars towards the preservation of wildlife, usually for the improvement of the animals' habitat. Degeneration of habitat and uncontrolled plundering accounts for 80 per cent of the declining populations and species. He said that in the last 10 to 15 years, increasing importance has been placed on environmental problems, and slowly the importance of wildlife has become more visible.

Wildlife have only two basic needs: food and cover. Yet they

MHS Track Team Season Successful

After a dismal 0-6 start, the MHS track team rebounded well, winning 10 of the last 12 meets. This was the finest season ever under coach Dick Williams. He was assisted by Craig Phillips.

The team was led by record-setters Al Wood, Jim Boyak and Mike Coughlin. Wood was the individual high scorer with jumps along with junior Joe Stankiewicz, junior Scott Moffat, Kevin Scholaky, Dave Lemieux, Paul Philbrick and sophomore Mario Orduz.

In the weight events, besides Boyak in the shot put and Coughlin the discus, Manchester's best were seniors Jim Michael, Steve Smith, Dave Hunt, junior Jim Rossillo and sophomore Bob Hawkes. Lombardo led the MHS jumpers along with junior Brian Rathbun and senior Russ Hebert. In the other field events, sophomore Tom Zerio was a surprise in the pole vault and sophomore Jeff Joy, junior Randy Snow, and senior Mike Armentano supported Wood in the hurdles.

The team was captained by Joe Stankiewicz, Al Wood, and Jim Michael. Next year's team has a fine nucleus and with a little depth could make a run at the CCIL crown. — Mike Lombardo

Dispute Over Budget Delays Lease Probe

HARTFORD (UPI) — A legislative investigation into the state leasing system may be delayed because of disagreement over the requested $35,000 budget for the probe.

The Legislative Management Committee requested to grant immediate approval of the budget this week.

Sen. George L. Gunther, R-Stratford, deputy majority leader, called the amount "ridiculous." Gunther said the investigation is not complex enough to require spending that much money.

Gunther has been a persistent critic of the state's leasing system and said he has been probing into it for 7 or 8 years at his own expense.

Charges have been made that the leasing system has allowed political favorites to gain huge profits at taxpayer expense.

Gardening

with
FRANK ATWOOD

When Gordon and Shirley Adams turn into the driveway of their home at 66 Old Bolton Center Rd., Manchester, they are surrounded by rhododendrons. In the last few weeks the plants have been in full bloom and from any window in the Adams home there has been a display of huge rose flowers and glossy green leaves.

Gordon is the planter and "I'm the weeder," says Shirley. When Gordon decided that his hillside house lot would be a good place for rhododendrons he bought more than 30 plants that are all the same variety, Roseum elegans. It is a hybrid of the Catawba rhododendron, native of the Great Smokey Mountains and one of many hybrids that have been developed from this variety.

Gordon has increased his plantings by simply taking slips from the older bushes and sticking them in the ground under the shade of the bush itself. Most of them take root in the naturally acid leaf mold that he has after a year he can move them to a new location. It would be hard to make an accurate count, but Shirley puts the number at "more than 50."

They refer to the blossom color as lavender. Donald Wyman in his Gardening Encyclopedia calls it "fuschia-purple."

The hillside was covered with trees, mostly oaks, when Mr. and Mrs. Adams had their house built 13 years ago. Some of the oaks have been taken down because of age and the planter of the family has set out young plants and hemlocks to reduce the shade of leaf litter. He still has plenty of mulching material, and wild flowers grow in the partial shade of the trees and shrubs.

Pink lady's slippers are blooming in several spots, and Shirley says they are the best where to expect them to appear. There are many ferns brought from the woods and growing luxuriantly on a steep bank.

Another wildflower present in profusion is our common wild blue violet, with the plants now forming a dense ground cover wherever they are allowed to grow. One of Shirley's wedding jobs will be to yank out the mother plants. Then the little new ones will have a chance to grow.

Violets on Westland St.

We had violets in small numbers when we moved into our home on Westland St. They were mostly in the bushes, and my wife, who loves the violets, had me now the encouragement they needed. Soon there were violets in the flower border among the iris and peonies.

During these years I was struggling to make grass grow in the border of a clump of gray birch trees and a clump of silver maples on the front lawn. I gave up the effort finally and planted pachysandra, rooted from cuttings given me by a neighbor. As I dug up unwanted violet plants I put them in the pachysandra. Presently I added some clumps of wild white daisies which came up in the flower garden.

This year I have a splendid ground cover of violets and daisies but I have to hunt for a pachysandra leaf. The wild plants have taken over and I suspect they are choking out the cultivated pachysandra.

Visitors admired the violets when they were in bloom and they compliment us now on our splendid stand of wild daisies.

Extended School Busing Seen Effective in 1975

According to a report from School Superintendent James P. Kennedy, he has received a verbal opinion from town counsel that Public Act 74-27, which extends busing for non-public schools, would not take effect until July 1, 1975.

The act changes the former requirement that eligibility for school busing at public expense is for children attending schools where over half the children live in the municipality to which the busing is provided.

Kennedy said that the implementation of the program if sufficient funds are made available to the Board of Education either directly from the state or from the town for such act.

Kennedy said today, speaking for the school administration, "We are not opposed to the implementation of the program if sufficient funds are made available to the Board of Education either directly from the state or from the town for such purpose."

He said they are opposed to diverting further funds from the present Board of Education budget which would further curtail programs for public school students.

The board took no action on the superintendent's report as none was needed.

Auditors Criticize State Comptroller

HARTFORD (UPI) — Conservative legislative auditors have criticized the state comptroller for failing to adopt several financial and record-keeping reforms.

Public Act 284 says, in part, that "no public act which imposes a duty on any political subdivision of this state which requires the appropriation of funds for the budget of such subdivision in order to comply with the provisions of such act shall be effective as to such political subdivision earlier than the first fiscal year of such political subdivision beginning after five months following the date of passage of such act."

Kennedy said today, speaking for the school administration, "We are not opposed to the implementation of the program if sufficient funds are made available to the Board of Education either directly from the state or from the town for such purpose."

He said they are opposed to diverting further funds from the present Board of Education budget which would further curtail programs for public school students.

The board took no action on the superintendent's report as none was needed.

but in the flower border the violets have become weeds. I have dug up bushes of them and next year there will be more.

Herbs

Mixed in with the garden flowers there are several herbs, such as spearmint, lemon balm and chives. There are some old-fashioned garden flowers including lemon lilies, garden heliotrope for its fragrance, and anemies for their cheerful color.

There are even a few strawberry plants in the flower garden, but wherever they are, they are not guarded by any netting.

Along one side of the house, and quite close to the wall, is a row of blueberry bushes. They are not guarded by any netting.

Enough Watergate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A 5-year-old girl from Deep River, Conn., is afraid her television favorites may be bumped if the House Judiciary Committee takes its impeachment hearings to the airwaves. So at the urging of her parents, Rebecca Reynolds, 5, has written a letter to the congressman, Rep. Robert H. Steele, R-Conn., "I like the Ranger Station," she wrote. "Don't let Congress be so that time. Your friend, Rebecca Reynolds."

Hold on to Those Tax Records!

Internal Revenue Service

You filed your 1973 federal income tax return a while back now, so that's out of the way for another year.

But wait a minute! Where are your tax records?

Just as certain documents were essential for you to fill out your Form 1040, they may well be necessary for you at some time in the future. Obviously, if this year's tax return is selected by the Internal Revenue Service for an audit, you will need those records to show how you determined what you thought to be the correct tax due. Even if your return is accepted as filed, for your peace of mind and good business practice you should keep all tax records as long as they remain useful to you.

The law specifies only that you must maintain records required to establish the correct amount of income, credits, deductions, and other matters to be reported on returns. This means that you should keep all information that will substantiate the items claimed on your tax return.

There is no requirement as to the particular kinds of records for tax purposes, other than that they must be permanent, accurate, and complete. However, it might pay to look over your tax accounting methods, for no one should remain under the illusion that bits and pieces of paper thrown into a discarded shoe box can be considered proper records at tax time.

Records are required by law for certain items such as receipts, canceled checks, and other records supporting a deduction, credit, expense, or item of income should be kept on file at least three years from the date of the return or the date the tax is paid, whichever is later.

Record-keeping is important during these three years because under the law, the IRS can audit individual income tax returns three years back when errors are suspected. There are other tax records that should be kept longer than three years. Records of how much you paid for your home and its major improvements, for example, should be maintained to establish your cost basis when you sell.

You should retain indefinitely records of costs of any stocks, bonds, or other investments so you can similarly compute gain or loss when you sell. And records should be kept on any property received by gift or inheritance so that you may determine tax due if you decide to sell someday.

Also, retain copies of your previously filed tax returns as well as in such computations as filing a claim for refund or income averaging.

OLD CODGER'S COGITATIONS

When O.C. was a little kid Manchester and nearby towns were excited about a horse-stealing thief-at-large. His name was Dimlow and rumors had him built up to a real blood-thirsty desperado.

We were told that everyone had the right to shoot him on sight. O.C. doubts that now.

There was a sheriff named George Hall. He had traced Dimlow to a barn (in Tolland, O.C. thinks) and ordered him to come out with his hands up. He came out with his hands up, but from a different direction than expected, with a gun aimed at Sheriff Hall who obeyed orders and dropped his gun and back away from him. Dimlow escaped with a new weapon.

O.C. can't remember if he was ever caught. Wonder if some other better memory in town knows?

Today the Town of Manchester is developed into one big settlement but it was not always so. North Manchester and South Manchester were separated by quite a large space of undeveloped open land. There were some farms and some wood lots of forest. They were connected by the South Manchester Railroad before O.C.'s day but he well recalls when the electric trolley line was built across town.

There were several separated settlements or clusters of employes homes near manufacturing plants. Often they took their names from the owners of the mill or most eminent property owner.

The most populous had been called Chesneyville. Talcottville at Talcott Bros. wooden mills, Hillardville at E.E. Hillard's wooden mill. Underhill village around the Union cotton mill, Oakland, Lydellville, Parker-ville, Manchester Green, Highland Park, Globe Hollow, Taylortown (S. Main St.), Hillstown (so many Hills families), Adamsville (at the Peter Adams paper mill), Buckland (after the early and prominent family), Frog Hollow (area around Center, W. Center and Cooper St.).

There was rivalry between the North End and South End, sometimes friendly, sometimes not. Although he didn't realize it then, O.C. believes now that many South Enders entertained a little feeling of superiority over the North Enders and Frog Hollow folks. Considered them kinda tough. At least any kid that strayed into their territories alone was liable to have a fight before he got out.

There was an unwritten law that was respected and observed everywhere. Any kid engaged in some activity that he could not avoid, like peddling newspapers or hand-bills or delivering anything to householders, was not to be molested.

When there was snow on the ground there was snowball fights everyday after school. All who lived east of Main St. were East Siders. Those to the west were called West Streets. The actual battles were sometimes along Main St. and from east of it, but sometimes to the west as far as the railroad tracks. Snowballs were sometimes

Nixon Meeting Syrians On Economic Requests

DAMASCUS (UPI) — President Nixon flew into Syria today where he faces a request for millions of dollars in U.S. aid and some of the tightest security of his five-month Middle East trip.

The security was tightened because of the large number of Palestinian refugees in Syria. Both King Faisal of Saudi Arabia and President Anwar Sadat have told Nixon in his previous two stops that the Palestinian question was one matter that had to be cleared up before there could be a lasting Mideast peace.

Nixon's reception was expected to be cooler than the wild outpouring by millions of Egyptians or the subdued but lavish welcome given him by the Saudis.

Nixon met for the last time with Faisal today for a private talk on U.S. aid to Saudi Arabia and the world oil situation before leaving the Red Sea town of Jeddah for Damascus. He landed in Damascus at 5:06 p.m. (19:05 a.m. EDT).

Diplomatic Relations

In addition to a request from President Hafez Assad for more economic aid, Nixon's visit here may bring a resumption of diplomatic relations between Syria and Saudi Arabia's King Faisal welcomed Nixon Friday with a lavish state dinner and told the President bluntly that a solution must be found to the Palestinian refugee problem and Jerusalem must be returned to Arab control before there can be lasting peace in the Middle East.

Today they talked at length about the details of the joint economic commission on which the agreement was signed just before we left Washington. Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler said.

Nixon Not Surprised

Ziegler, who said the two leaders also discussed the oil situation and a military affairs today, said Nixon was not surprised by the time of Faisal's message.

"The President, as we visit various countries, expects their leaders to express very frankly their point of view," Ziegler said.

Nixon did not directly answer Faisal's remarks. During his Cairo visit Thursday, the President heard similar comments, although in slightly softer terms, from Egyptian President Anwar Sadat.

He was likely to hear them again from President Hafez Assad of Syria, where a large number of Palestinian refugees live. The Arab leaders are pressing their position in advance of Nixon's trip Sunday to Israel. He then will go to Jordan.

Ziegler said Nixon discussed the Palestinian problem in private talks with both Sadat and Faisal but avoided a direct public response because he intended to play a mediating role in the Middle East.

"Our position is that the U.S. best serves its role by not setting forth a set of benchmarks," he said. "I certainly would expect that the two leaders you refer to express their views forcefully because they both hold the views very strongly."

Nuclear Agreement Sparks Controversy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's agreement to give nuclear technology to Egypt for peaceful purposes has sparked debate in Congress.

The initial reaction of several members was that the agreement could open the way for Egypt to join the nuclear weapons club.

The Atomic Energy Commission quickly denied that, saying atomic fuel which would be provided Egypt under the pact would not be rich enough for use in nuclear weapons.

Officials said the agreement, signed by Nixon and Egyptian President Anwar Sadat in Cairo Friday, calls for negotiations leading to the sale of Egypt to a 600-megawatt nuclear plant for generation of electric power.

Solon Disturbed

Rep. Mike McCormack, D-Wash., said, "I am very uneasy and disturbed by the President's apparent arbitrary decision to make this announcement without consulting with the Congress."

"There's no way around it," Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., said. "If they have nuclear reactors, they'll be able to make a nuclear bomb."

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said, "Our experience with Egypt's violations of agreements made after the war in 1956 should remind us we must be extremely wary about the possibility of introducing nuclear weapons into the Middle East under any circumstances."

Nixon visits Israel Sunday and officials both in Washington and Tel Aviv indicated Nixon probably would reach a similar agreement for technology to generate electric power in that country.

Officials in Washington and traveling with Nixon said safeguards would be attached to prevent the fuel being used for weapons purposes.

Rep. Melvin Price, D-Ill., chairman of the Joint Atomic Energy Committee in Congress, said safeguards are already involved in agreements the United States already has with 27 countries for peaceful nuclear technology have been tightened recently following India's explosion of an atomic device.

Price said the Egyptians have accepted the tightened safeguards. The Inter-

Report Fixes Blame For 'Dirty Tricks'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A draft of a report for the Senate Watergate committee blames the campaign of "dirty tricks" against 1974 Democratic presidential candidates on President Nixon, H.R. Haldeman and former Attorney General John Mitchell.

The 80-page draft, one of several staff reports being prepared for Watergate committee members, was obtained by UPI. The committee's full report is due at the end of June.

The report said Nixon "must be held responsible and accountable" for a systematic campaign of dirty tricks against Democratic presidential hopefuls during the campaign.

"This entire effort was coordinated by President Nixon's closest adviser, H.R. Haldeman, and the former attorney general of the United States, John N. Mitchell," the report said. "However, it is President Nixon who must be held responsible and accountable for the actions of his subordinates."

"Not only was he the candidate on behalf of whom these activities were undertaken, he also set the moral and ethical standards by which his re-election campaign operated."

The report focused on the activities of Donald Segretti, the so-called "dirty trickster" who already has served a prison sentence for illegal distribution of campaign literature in the Florida primary; John J. Caulfield and Anthony Blasi, White House operatives; and the Brookings Institute, and the International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. The report also mentioned the alleged $200,000 donation to the 1972 Republican National Convention for a favorable antitrust ruling.

The staff investigation also covered the activities of Arthur Bremer, convicted in the assassination attempt of Gov. George C. Wallace.

Nixon Popularity Rise Noted By Vice President

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Gerald R. Ford says President Nixon's popularity is on the upswing and that his Middle East tour should help him in the fight against impeachment.

Ford said he felt public support for the President had increased since hitting a low point following release of the transcripts of taped White House conversations in April.

"I think the President's situation has improved, very definitely. But it's hard to tell how much," Ford said in an interview during a flight back to Washington from appearances in Dallas and Chicago.

The calls by a number of newspapers, columnists and political figures for the President to step down "fell flat" and were "negative on the President, negative on the American people," Ford said.

While it is premature to judge the effect of Nixon's Middle East trip, he said "whenever the President went to China or the Soviet Union there was always an increase in popularity. The polls reflected it. I should think it should be here if it is in others."

Ford said he still believed the House would not approve an impeachment during a flight back to Washington from appearances in Dallas and Chicago.
