By SOL R. COHEN
State Comptroller Nathan G. Agostinelli today dropped out of the race for Republican nominee for governor and threw his support to Congressman Robert H. Steele of Vernon.

With Steele at his side, the former Manchester mayor made the announcement at a press conference in his State Capitol office — from the same podium he used nine weeks ago to announce his candidacy.

"I have reassessed my candidacy," said Agostinelli, "and I believe it is in the best interest of the Republican party to withdraw my candidacy for governor."

Simultaneously, he announced he is a candidate for re-election as state comptroller.

To cement his support, Agostinelli presented Steele with a campaign check for $100, the maximum contribution Steele is accepting.

"I have chosen to actively support my fine American," said Agostinelli, "not only because he can win, but also because his views on open and clean government coincide with my own. He has been a leader in campaign reform and he agrees with me that we cannot legislate morality."

In announcing his candidacy for re-election as comptroller, he said he is ruling out, at this time, the post of lieutenant governor. He said it's "highly improbable" he will seek the GOP candidacy for U.S. senator or First District congressman.

Agostinelli and Steele were emphatic in statements "there were no agreements, no commitments, no deals in today's action."

Steele said he will support Agostinelli in his quest for re-election.

Steele reciprocates. "However," he added, "Nate doesn't need my support nor any other candidate's support for the state comptroller nomination. All he has to do is attend the state convention and he will be acclaimed unanimously the candidate."

Asked what Agostinelli's endorsement means for his own candidacy, Steele replied, "It means that one of the top Republican leaders in the state and one of the most popular office-holders in recent years is now working in my behalf. I agree with him that we're both 'people candidates.'"

Agostinelli declined to predict what action the 72 state delegates pledged to him will do, except to guess that "a good proportion of them will lean to Bob Steele." He said he includes about 200 to 300 "uncommitted out in the marketplace."

New Politics
Agostinelli insisted "the politics of the 1950s and 60s are gone forever. I'm not about to tell the delegates pledged to me who to back. It's a personal decision for everyone. This is the new politics of 1974."

Steele agreed. "This is no time for discussions of the state comptroller nomination as usual. I'd be ticked pink to get those delegates; however, it's up to each and everyone of them to make his or her own decision."

Steele estimated, "We now have a chance to win big on the first ballot," and predicted he will definitely be the nominee.

He said he'd be happy to accept Bridgeport Mayor Nicholas Panuzio (his chief rival for nomination) on the state ticket, adding, "Obviously, however, it's not my decision but that of the state convention delegates."

Nate Gives Thanks
Agostinelli expressed his personal thanks to "members of the press, supporters, contributors and all the people who gave me encouragement."

He concluded, "I'll never forget it — the consideration, courtesy, confidence, encouragement and support given me — not alone as a candidate for governor, but for any office I ever sought. I cherish it and will always cherish the memories."

"We have just had a very constructive exchange of views with regard to the problems our two countries face," Nixon said after a two-hour meeting with Portugal's new president, Antonio de Spínola. "I have assured him that he will have no difficulty in walking through that door," Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler said in assessing the trip.

Nixon, wearing the wear and tear of his nine days of travel, described his trip to the Middle East "as a very long and arduous journey."

There was no mention by either of the two leaders of a renewal of the lease for U.S. use of the Azores base island, a subject that some officials had said would be discussed. The lease on the Portuguese island base expired Feb. 3.

A greeting by members of the Cabinet and Nixon's family was planned for his late afternoon return in Washington. Also awaiting him were the Watergate and impeachment problems that the President has been away from for more than a week.

Nixon will spend one night in Washington before going to Key Biscayne, Fla., for the weekend to rest from his exhausting Mideast trip, review his accomplishments and prepare for a Summit with the Soviet Union.

"The diplomacy on this trip has opened the door to peace in the Middle East and the Nations in the area now have an opportunity to walk through that door," Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler said in assessing the trip.

A Cowrie Downy Anyone spending some time at the shore this summer... whether it be for several weeks or for only a weekend, will probably become at least a part-time shell collector. It's hard not to, since shells come in such a variety of interesting shapes, sizes and colors. People living in coastal areas have always collected and used shells. Many of them, such as clams, mussels, conch, oysters and abalone are and have been, of course, sources of food. Murex shells found in tropical waters yield a purple dye once referred to as Royal Tyrian Purple by the Phoenicians, Greeks and Romans. Cloth colored with this dye could only be worn by senators, emperors and other dignitaries. East Coast Indians used quahog clam shells as money. They carried and ground the shells into beads and discs called wampum. Beads formed from the purple outer edge of the clam shell were more valuable than those shaped from the inner white portion. These beads were then pierced and strung together to be used in trade or worn together into belts to serve as tokens of treaties. Ottawa NATO Meeting Prelude to Summit

By PHIL NEWSOM UPI Foreign News Analyst The 15 foreign ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization are taking belated note this week of the Western alliance's 25th anniversary in an atmosphere considerably relaxed from just three months ago. In fact, the two-day meeting now concluding in Ottawa is laying the groundwork for what President Nixon and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger hope will be a truly gala occasion at a summit meeting in Brussels on June 26. There, just one day before going on to Moscow, the President is expected to deliver a major address, hailing a new Atlantic Charter first called for by Kissinger on April 23, 1973. Thus, with the cheers of five Mideastern nations still ringing in his ears, it is the presidential appearance a symbolic reconciliation with the United States' European allies. Friendly Atmosphere In Moscow, Soviet party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev already has signaled his hopes for "good new agreements" pleasing to both the American and Soviet publics. A number of developments have contributed to the new friendly atmosphere in sharp contrast to the bitter criticism voiced by both Nixon and Kissinger of the European allies last winter. U.S. charges that the Europeans were making decisions without adequate consultation with Washington led last March to cancellation of a planned Nixon visit to Europe in April. Since then a new government has taken over in France, seemingly less determined to shut the United States out of Europe and more willing to consult on even terms. The United States and Germany have signed a new agreement by which Bonn will provide $2.18-billion to offset the cost of maintaining 107,000 troops in Germany. Under pressure from her allies, the Dutch dropped immediate plans for a reduction in the size of her armed forces. The Dutch contribution is relatively small—some 6,000 troops stationed in Germany—but a reduction now could now affect adversely talks in Vienna aimed at a mutual reduction of forces between Communist Warsaw and NATO pact members. Rejection by the U.S. Senate of a proposal to reduce the number of American troops overseas gave the Europeans a new confidence in the intent of the United States for the future. Area instrumentalists are invited to join the Manchester Summer Pops Orchestra for its fifth summer season. Rehearsals will be at 7:30 p.m. for five consecutive Tuesdays starting June 25 at Manchester High School auditorium. The concert of light classical and popular music will be presented July 24 at 8:15 p.m. at the auditorium. It will be open to the public free of charge, and refreshments will be served. Students have been invited by referral of their school music directors or private teachers in some 14 area towns. The orchestra particularly invites string players. Auditions are not required but a reservation is asked and may be made by contacting Mary Chirico, 206 Long Hill Rd., South Windsor, 02014. The orchestra began primarily because string music programs in most area schools are lacking and to give adults an opportunity to return to their music after years of inactivity, Mrs. Chirico said. Sectional rehearsals will be scheduled as well as ensemble performing among the members. A "Pops Party" is being planned for orchestra members July 19 at the Chirico home. Funds are currently being sought by donation to help defray expenses; to avoid a rehearsal fee for participants, to purchase music, and perhaps to establish a music scholarship fund.

Confusing The Consumer

We, as a consumer, don't like to gripe too much about those who would make it easier for us to determine just what exactly we are buying.

We, like all consumers, like to know what we are getting for our money.
But grading of products always has been sort of a mystery to us unless we wanted to take a lot of time to study and compare the "fine print" of descriptions and warranties, etc.

We think the government, however well intentioned, is not helping the matter any in a lot of its edicts on standards.

For example, it is proposing regulations to give motorists an "instant guide" to tire traction, tread wear, and high speed performance, under a Uniform Tire Quality Grading standard to be effective May 1, 1975.
Under this standard, tread wear grades would be in the form of numbers which would represent the tire's projected mileage. High speed performance would be indicated by letters, A, B, C, to represent resistance to heat generated at high speed.

Simple enough, you say. Maybe if you're an engineer because traction grades will be indicated by a number of five pointed stars, based on stopping ability on concrete, which means you should know a formula for translating a two or three star concrete stop to asphalt, gravel, etc.
The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, which is proposing the code and standards, must feel the same way because each tire will carry a label explaining the codes which will be molded on the sidewalls of the tire.

Revision Welcome

For some years the people have had the uneasy feeling that judicial proceedings and prescribed rules of police conduct, when arresting and detaining suspected criminals, have been weighted toward protecting the rights of the suspect to the detriment of crime prevention.

Some reversal of this trend hopefully may be seen in the recent Supreme Court ruling that rigid and punctilious application of the Miranda rule may be relaxed.

That was the rule that a criminal suspect, upon arrest, must be informed in meticulous detail of his legal rights. TV viewers have seen this applied many times in police or crime dramas when the arresting officers read or recite the suspects "rights."

In the case before the court the arresting officers had failed to inform the suspect that a lawyer would be appointed for his defense in case he was not economically prepared to retain his own counsel.

In this latest decision Justice Rehnquist is speaking for the "protective guideline and prophylactic standard", not a constitutional guarantee.

The Miranda rule had originally been promulgated as a reaction to police strong-arm methods and confessions which were produced under duress or police brutality.
The purpose of the ruling was un-

The fact of the matter is that the standards and codes are not for the consumer at all. The simple application of our old math tells us that any tire made today can be coded to comply with the proposal which will lead to consumer confusion.

A tire can be tops in mileage but low in traction, and infinitum. The standards do not improve tire quality but merely grade existing variations of quality.

What the consumer needs is a simple standard which tells him that, "A" tire represents "X" more mileage, heat resistance and traction than "B" and so forth. We think there should be no more than four different grades of tires each embodying a safety and performance level.

The idea should be manufacturing tires to certain specific quality grades rather than applying a code to cover the dozen or more grades produced by several manufacturers for hundreds of different brands.

The tire business is highly competitive and this means each line is made to compete in price. The consumer has a right to know what he is getting for the price he is willing to pay in a straight-forward, simple, and understandable plain English description.

As far as we are concerned, the NAHTSA's instant guide proposal flunks under the grade system we are most familiar with and rates a fail if you prefer the pass-fail system of grading which is something we would rather not get into at this time.

Proud

To the editor:
As the final notes of "Show Business" faded, the entire audience rose to a standing ovation for the MHS Round Table Singers at the shell stage on Constitution Plaza June 5.

"What's the school?" "Who are they?" "Who is that director?" Everyone asked. One lady came over to tell them she had been so depressed and sad down when she heard the music. She walked away like a new person, happy and cheered.

One of the festival directors said it was the best show ever. I was so proud of those young people and of our school. My thanks to the powers that be in our educational administration, who have the wisdom and vision to give them the time to perform. (I know how much the elementary children enjoyed and learned from "Molly Brown" and her friends.)

If the court has taken into account public fear and uneasiness over their security—and it should—this relaxation of procedure is a welcome first step towards law enforcement uncluttered with legalistic furbelows.

Hi Neighbor

Burl Lyons, Publisher

Each day's mail is bringing orders for our special Profile '74 edition which will appear Saturday, June 29. The section will be an ideal one to send to friends and relatives out-of-state.

The number of copies available will be limited. Whether there are any copies left shortly after June 29 is doubtful. Last year's special edition was a sellout. While the size of Profile '74 won't compare with our Sequentiennial, we think the edition will be popular.

While Friday is the first day of summer, it seems rather anti-climatic because we have already enjoyed some grand summer days.

Perhaps more fitting recognition of the day is the fact that school will be out for a great many Manchester students.

We are sure the vacation is welcomed by teachers, students and parents. Recalling the dark, dreary days of last December, it seems to have been a long school year.

Everybody appreciates thank you letters and The Herald is no exception. Our appreciation to Richard Torsello, Unit D teacher at Nathan Hale School, for the letters sent us by his fifth grade students expressing thanks following a tour of The Herald.

What we liked most is that the letters praised the courtesy and friendliness of The Herald's staff. Our tour guides commented it was an easy tour because the students were so well mannered.

With the increased price of postage, you would think a lot of firms that constantly bombard you with literature would take the time to update their mailing lists. However, we haven't seen any revisions in the past couple of years.

It's remarkable, and a credit to the Manchester Post Office, that we receive a lot of mail which is poorly addressed. The other day we received a letter addressed: Bisswell Street.

In case you might be planning a tag sale, The Herald is offering free posters to advertise your sale if you place a tag sale classified ad for three days or longer.

As a reminder, though, do not fasten your poster to a utility pole. That's a violation of the law.

An understanding subscriber: One of our readers in Florida writes that the mail delivery service of his Herald is awful but he doesn't expect any improvement because of the low priority the Postal Service gives newspapers.

One day he received four back issues and in general the delivery varied from three to eight days. As we have stated before, mail copies are dispatched from The Herald each evening.

Those of you who are planning two or three week vacation a considerable distance from home and would like to receive The Herald by mail might as well forget it.

As much as we would like to have you receive the paper while on your vacation, the chance you would get the copies before you start for home is indeed remote.

Could he collect damages from the landlord for not keeping the apartment in good repair? In a court case, the landlord argued that Erma herself was guilty of negligence for forgetting about the faulty condition of the floor.

But the jury absolved her of negligence and granted her claim. Reason: the "distraction doctrine."

Under this doctrine, behavior that would ordinarily be considered negligent may be excused if the person's attention was distracted from the danger.

But not every kind of distraction is enough to constitute an excuse. It must be quite sudden, quite unusual, and quite compelling. Something less won't do.

A shopper in a supermarket noticed a loose carton on the floor ahead of her. Just before reaching that spot, she paused to converse with a friend about rising prices. By the time she started walking again, she had forgotten about the carton—and proceeded to fall over it.

"It was her own fault," said the market when she sued for damages. And this time, the court agreed. The court said that a distraction that was not a compelling enough distraction to justify forgetting about such an obvious danger, in using the city, that the rumble of an oncoming car had diverted his attention. But a court held this to be so excuse.

"The sound of automobiles," said the judge, "is hardly an uncommon occurrence in urban America. City inhabitants should not be diverted by ordinary city traffic."

TOY INDUSTRY DRAGS NEW YORK (UPI) — The toy industry is suffering a severe contraction and there will be 20 per cent fewer separate items on toy shop shelves this year because of the plastic resin shortage. Chain Store Magazine reports. Also higher prices of plastics have forced toy prices up. A vinyl doll that cost $6 last year may be $8 this year and a $9 plastic toy car has jumped to around $12.39.

Not only has the bank been active in community affairs but officers also contributed a great deal of their time to the community. Parker has acted as auditor for the past two years for the Miss Manchester Pageant. The IRS, in its administrative appeal process, does not require taxpayers to protest in writing in disputes of tax amounts of $2,500 or less. But it does ask the taxpayer to provide records for items claimed on the tax return so that full consideration can be given to the law, the facts, and the taxpayer's position. The taxpayer need not hire someone to represent him but may do so if he wants.

The Tax Court similarly has provided a means for taxpayers to have their day in court. The procedure makes special provisions for taxpayers who have federal income, gift, or estate tax disputes involving $1,500 or less.

Here is how the Small Tax Case Procedure works:
If an increase in tax is proposed by the IRS examiner, the taxpayer will receive a statutory notice of deficiency after conference and Appellate conference, or he may bypass them if he wants.

Then, if the taxpayer intends to contest the adjustment to the tax proposed by IRS, he files a petition with the Tax Court within 90 days from the date of that notice.
Taxpayers who want to petition the Small Tax Case Division of the Tax Court, must only contact the Clerk, U.S. Tax Court, Box 70, Washington, D.C. 20044. He will provide instructions and necessary copies of T.C. Form 2, which the taxpayer must complete in duplicate and file with both the notice of deficiency and a $10 fee. The 90-day deadline for filing this petition cannot be extended.

The information the taxpayer provides at the time he files should include the date of receipt of the deficiency notice, the address of the IRS office that sent the notice, the amount of the disputed tax, the years involved, and the reasons why the taxpayer believes the additional tax is not due.
If both taxpayer and spouse join in filing the return, both must sign the petition.
Once the taxpayer has petitioned the Small Tax Case Division of the Tax Court, the Revenue Service cannot collect the tax until the Court makes its determination.
Unique to the Tax Court, in this small case procedure, is that neither side may appeal the decision of the Small Case Division, nor can the decision set a precedent for future cases.

Another advantage of this procedure is that the hearing may request that the hearing be held in any one of 104 cities listed in the instructions accompanying the Form 2.
The hearing will be held informally, allowing the taxpayer to present his or her case for the court in the best possible manner. And, as in tax cases in the IRS administrative appeals process, the taxpayer may appear alone or be represented by any person admitted to practice before the U.S. Tax Court.

A Family Moves To Bolton

This family of wild geese was spotted in Bolton recently. They are believed to be Canadian geese, but how they arrived in Bolton is anyone's guess. The discipline of the geese is a sight to behold, whether they are walking, sitting around, entering the water or in the water. A pattern they do not seem to ever stray from is that the father leads, the children follow and mother is always last. The young geese, in all endeavors, stay between the parents. (Herald photo by Holland)

It will be mandatory for all mothers of cheerleaders to attend the meeting said Jocelyn Soares, president.
"We will be discussing the rules and regulations for the cheerleaders as well as dress uniform," she said.
Mrs. Soares said all mothers of boys planning on participating in either the pop or midweek football league should also attend.
Mothers of last year's midweek cheerleaders who have not yet returned the uniforms are asked to bring them that night.

Enrollment Up
John Eagles, principal of Bolton Elementary and Center School, reported that 50 students have registered for kindergarten classes.
Eagles requested that the Board of Education consider the appointment of a half-time teacher.
The matter was not brought to the board for action, but rather to make it aware that enrollment figures could change prior to the start of classes in September.
There is a written memorandum on file to the Board of Finance stating the possibility of the school board's need for a half-time teacher.

Steel Price Good, But Timing Bad

VERNON

Councilman Robert Wherli, who is also chairman of the Vernon Permanent Municipal Building Committee, told the council Monday night that he had had news and good news concerning the ordering of steel for the expansion program at Rockville High School.
The bad news was the steel cannot be delivered in November as expected and the good news was that the low bid came in under the budgeted amount of $380,000. Low bidder for the project was Manchester Steel and the council authorized Mayor Frank McCoy to sign a contract (subject to review by Town Attorney Abbot Schwelb) with that firm.
The Board of Education and the Building Committee, voted a few weeks ago to pre-bid the steel. Instead of the November delivery it will probably be February, Wherli said.

He explained that the steel is being ordered for the fabrication house and it will be another month before it is delivered to the high school site. The contract does not give an actual completion date. It states work will proceed with judicious speed.
The contract amount is $359,000.
Wherli said the plans for construction of the school addition will go to bid in the fall. The architects, McHugh and Associates are now completing the preliminary plans for review of the Board of Education, the Building Committee and the council.

Sales Permits
Town Counsel Marshall Taylor is presently working on a proposal that will enable Electroflux salesmen (vacuum cleaners) to operate in town by obtaining a special commercial license.

The town presently has a suit against Electroflux due to its salesmen selling in town without a permit.

Pilot Math Plan to Expand

SOUTH WINDSOR

Judy Kuschnel
Correspondent
644-1364
A third grade mathematics pilot program introduced at the Avery St. School in October 1973, will be continued on an expanded level next year, according to School Superintendent Dr. Robert W. Goldman.
Dr. Goldman has also said that an evaluation-research firm has been contacted to do an "expanded external objective evaluation" of the program next year, which would permit a decision on whether to formalize the program into the "mainstream" of South Windsor's school system.
The pilot allows students to remain in their heterogeneously grouped homerooms for mathematics instruction rather than be regrouped according to ability.
The math lesson was taught to the entire class each time a new concept was developed. Once the concept was developed by the teacher with the whole class, the children met as small groups for further exploration and discussion.

The "small groups" were constantly reorganized to get as much interaction as possible between all the students in the room, regardless of math ability.
According to Dr. Goldman, the teachers involved in the program felt that it created a better understanding among the children, allowing each to take pride in the accomplishments of the other.
According to test results, the students who would normally be considered "high level" in math ability have achieved the same if not higher level and that more students achieved overall higher levels than had been expected.
It is also believed a more positive self-image and more positive learning attitudes toward math were developed by the children.

Bicentennial
The South Windsor Bicentennial Commission will meet Thursday at the Town Hall.
Commission members will meet at 7:30 p.m. with the Town Council to discuss an operating budget for the commission. A regular planning meeting of the commission will be held at 8 p.m.
All residents with ideas for the programs in connection with the celebration of the nation's 200th anniversary in 1976 are invited to attend.
Drain Layers

Teachers Get Pay, Students Get Grades

TOLLAND

Vivian Kennesson
Tolland teachers will receive their final paychecks on June 21 and June 26 and student grades will be released this week.
Ronald Dextradeir, Tolland Education Association (TEA) president, made the announcement this morning that teachers had unanimously voted to release the grades now. Last week, when informed final paychecks would not be released until June 26, the association voted to withhold grades until the last day of school. This action would have affected graduation in both the middle and high schools, in regards to borderline students.

Teachers will be paid Friday, as per contract, and again on June 26 for the final three days of school.
The high school graduation is set for 4:30 Sunday afternoon on the school grounds. Middle school graduation will be June 25 at 7 p.m. at the school; in the case of rain, in Tolland High School.

Health Council Established

The Board of Selectmen passed the ordinance Tuesday establishing the Tolland Health Council, which was a recommendation of the recent district health study committee.
The creation of the ordinance will supersede the one which established the Tolland Public Health Nurses Commission, and the 12 members of that commission will form the Tolland Health Council.
Members whose terms expire May 31, 1975 are: Philip Nangle, Bev Gallic, Marcia Workman and Irene Candito; terms that expire May 31, 1976 are: Ken Smith, Robert Casey, Eugene Marquette and David Serluco; May 31, 1977: Judy Goldstein, Lorraine Manning, Corey Beck and Helen Wamat.

The Board of Selectmen passed the ordinance Tuesday establishing the Tolland Health Council, which was a recommendation of the recent district health study committee.
A $66,047 allocation from Revenue Sharing for current law enforcement operations, fire protection operations, and public transportation capital was approved, leaving $2.62 in Revenue Sharing.
The selectmen approved an additional appropriation to the current Board of Education budget in the amount of $3,408.01, which will be financed by a state grant.

The board approved a resolution authorizing the town manager and treasurer to borrow up to $130,000 in anticipation of taxes, a normal action near the close of the fiscal year. Town Manager John Harkins said the tax bills have gone out this week and he does not anticipate having to borrow up to the maximum authorized.
The selectmen made several appointments filling vacancies of various town boards:
Jonathan Walsh of Browns Bridge Rd. assistant professor of economics at the University of Hartford, was appointed to the Economic and Development Council.
Carol Butterworth of Cedar Swamp Rd. was appointed a member to the Regional Forum. Ms. Butterworth is on the Board of Education, and was supported by both political town committees in the appointment.
Susan Henry of New Rd. was appointed to the Board of Recreation to replace Priscilla Smith. She was the recommendation of the Board of Recreation, and was backed by both political committees.

Immunization Clinic To Be Held Friday

Dr. Robert Bowen, director of health, will conduct a town-wide immunization clinic Friday from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. at the town office building on Rt. 31.

The clinic is open to all Coventry residents and the following immunizations will be offered: Rubella (regular measles), Rubella (German measles), Oral Polio, DPT (diphtheria, tetanus, pertussis), and Adult DT (diphtheria, tetanus).

Dr. Bowen reminds parents of the regulations issued by the Board of Education in September of 1972: "All children entering school shall receive complete inoculations against polio, rubella and rubella unless exempted for medical or religious reasons."

The board also recommends that all children entering school receive a first injection or booster of DPT and a tuberculin test.

Also, adults who have not had need of a tetanus booster in the past ten years are advised to take advantage of the DT booster available at the clinic.

A donation of 50 cents may be made to the Public Health Nursing Association of Coventry for each immunization.

Historian Dr. James W. Covington of the University of Tampa said the plans for establishing Fort Brooke grew out of the Treaty of Moultrie, which was signed in 1823 with the Seminole Indians.

Report Describes Planning for Grade 2

COVENTRY
Monica Shea
Correspondent
742-9495

The Board of Education recently heard a progress report on the planning for Phase II B of the Sequential Learning Program which will be implemented in the second grade this September.

Second grade teachers, Mrs. Zaleski of Robertson Grammar School and Mrs. Hurley of Coventry Grammar School, reported that the majority of the planning for the phase has been completed.

A rough draft of the skill chart has been prepared which will outline each student's progress in reading, language arts, math, social studies and science.

Curriculum guides have been formulated for those subjects. Coventry Grammar School will be set up with two modulars with each modular having three grades. Robertson School will have one modular with three grades.

Each modular will have five interest centers, math, art, social studies, science and language arts.

There will be a library corner in each modular.

The summer workshop will be devoted to finishing the guides and skill charts and interviewing aides for the program.

Stipend Rejected
The board received a letter from the president of the teachers' union informing the board that the board passed increases in stipends for the coaches of the girls teams will not be accepted.

The letter stated that the increase would not create a parity between the coaches for the boys and girls teams.

The coaches will refer the matter to the state's Human Rights and Opportunities Commission for review.

The board was informed that it would receive approximately $22,500 of the town's Revenue Sharing fund for the coming year.

These funds will be used for capital improvements such as the reconstruction of the driveway at Capt. Nathan Hale School, to repair the roof at Coventry Grammar School and to install a skylight at Robertson.

The board appointed Roger Belard, South Coventry Fire Department, Dick Cooper, North Coventry Fire Department, and Dick Gallant, fire marshal and director of maintenance of the Coventry Grammar School System to review board policies on fire regulations and procedures.

The committee will report back to the board on Aug. 15.

Adult Education
Bob Pratt, adult education program director, told the board that the program offered 29 courses and had an enrollment of 362.

The net cost of the one semester program was $1,849.18.

Due to the difference of the teacher student ratio at the grammar school; 15 to 1 at Robertson, and 18 or 19 to 1 at Coventry Grammar School, the board has moved the boundary lines for those children entering kindergarten.

Kindergarten Shift
In September all kindergartners who live on Daly Rd. and in Waterfront Park, Oak Grove and Bellevue will be going to Robertson. This change of boundary lines will just about even the ratio of students to teachers in both schools.

Town Democrats Endorse Ahearn For Assembly

BOLTON
Donna Holland
Correspondent
Tel. 646-0375

Aloysius J. Ahearn has been unanimously endorsed by the Bolton Democratic Town Committee in his bid for state representative from the 55th District.

The 55th District includes the towns of Andover, Bolton, Columbia, Hebron, Marlborough and the 4th District of Vernon.

John Mahon, DTC chairman

Treschuk said, "As a citizen who cares and as a delegate, I support Ahearn's bid for representative of the people of the 55th District whose needs are similar in many ways to those of Bolton. A's leadership and efforts are well known to all in Bolton and his accomplishments are many."

"Bolton taxpayers have been overtaxed year after year to create large surpluses. Since Ahearn has been chairman of the Board of Finance we have seen an end to unlawful over-taxing. His efforts have brought about responsible fiscal control and accountability of town funds which in turn have benefited town programs, schools and recreation."

In the five years Ahearn has been on the Board of Finance Bolton's mill rate has only gone up 1 1/2 mills.

Ahearn was recently re-elected president of the Tolland County Democratic Association.

He is a teacher at East Hartford High School and a lecturer at Manchester Community College.

He resides with his wife, Lorna, and their two sons, Peter and Michael, at 14 Lynwood Dr. in the Bolton Lake Area.

Gran Sasso Restaurant, Inc., represented by Atty. Bruce Kalom, presented a request for a permit for a beer and wine license before the Planning and Zoning Commission at a recent meeting.

The commission members gave their approval for the plan. This is the first step and other approvals are required.

Speaking for the restaurant, Kalom told the PZC that it met all the requirements for this type of permit. It is over 500 feet from the nearest establishment serving liquor for on the premises consumption.

Also the restaurant is over 500 feet from the town line of the nearest adjoining town of 600 feet from any church, college, school or hospital.

The pizza restaurant which now occupies unit 6 of the newly opened Village Shopping Plaza, will be expanding into unit 5 when the permit to serve liquor is granted.

Hearing June 24 On $8,177 For Schools

HEBRON
Nancy Drinkuth
Correspondent
228-3970

At a recent meeting of the Board of Finance members approved, for town meeting action, a request from the Board of Education for an additional appropriation of $8,177. The town meeting to vote on the additional money will be held on June 24 at the Hebron Elementary School at 8 p.m.

Bill Henagan, chairman of the Board of Education, explained the deficit in detail. The largest single deficit item is in the account for contracted services. The projected deficit in that account is $4,000 caused by the many maintenance emergencies faced at the two elementary schools last year.

Other large deficit items include heat and bus contract. These accounts went over their budgeted figures because of the energy crisis and the high prices for gas and fuel oil.

At present, the estimate of unanticipated revenue per pupil to educate is $10,915.

Other business
The Board of Finance authorized the tax assessor to spend $50 for a new calculator. The Board of Finance received a report from Town Treasurer Marion Foote stating that she anticipates a cash deficit before the end of the fiscal year on June 30. The board authorized her to continue the policy of borrowing on next year's tax revenues, but did not authorize seeking a loan from a outside source.

Meeting Date Set
To avoid the holiday weekend the Board of Finance will hold its July meeting on Monday, July 8.

Central Office Committee
Andrew Mulligan, a member of the Taxpayers Association, was present at the Board of Finance meeting to question some of the spending policies of the Central Office Committee.

He brought with him a letter he had received from the superintendent's office and claimed that he paper used for the correspondence was of very high quality and very expensive.

Mulligan asked who had the authority to insist that the COC use a cheaper grade of paper. He also asked whether or not the elementary schools could have a principal superintendent and get out of the COC set up.

Mulligan was told that his comments should be taken to COC or to Hebron's representatives on the COC. Some members of the finance board, however said that they agreed with Mulligan's criticisms.

Resignation
The board accepted with regret the resignation of Harry Wirth who is moving out of town. Wirth has served on the Board of Finance for seven years.

The board members expressed thanks to Wirth for his years of service to the community.

Firecrackers Given Reprieve

WASHINGTON (UPI) - It will be a noisy Fourth of July after all, but maybe the last one of that kind.

Four trade associations representing Chinese manufacturers and American importers and wholesalers had asked for the delay, claiming they would be stuck with inventories valued at $50 million on the retail market if the ban started at 12:01 a.m. EDT today as originally scheduled.

The commission ruled that the petition was legally sufficient to warrant the public hearing. The trade associations had raised other objections to the regulations beyond liquidation of inventories. They objected, for instance, to an over-all revision is necessary in its new regulations.

Investment Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) - "The market continues to blow hot and cold with the banking securities," says Standard & Poor's Corp. At least several weeks will pass before there are concrete signs of a letup in loan demand and an easing of interest rates, the firm predicts.

"After a heavy advance the market is undergoing a normal correction," says Comparative Market Indicators of Bellevue, Wash. This correction may last several days longer than expected because bargain hunting early last week diminished some of the buying power, the firm notes.

Police Report

MANCHESTER

A 14-year-old youth was taken into custody by Patrolman Gary H. Benson in the Burr Corners commuter parking lot as the youth was riding a stolen motorcycle Tuesday at 2:27 p.m. while police were seeking the burglar who broke into a Burnham St. dwelling.

The youth had escaped from the Long Lane detention center for juveniles Monday at 9:17 p.m.

The boy had a motorcycle stolen from Wayne R. Bastis of 88 Hilliard St. at 4 a.m. Tuesday. He was released Tuesday to Long Lane authorities.

The motorcycle had some ignition system damage but was returned to Bastis.

About $100 worth of Kennedy half dollars and several silver certificates were stolen from the home of Bruce Hartwick of 364 Burnham St. Tuesday noon. Entry was made through the back door.

Mrs. Thomas Irwin of 123 Benton St. may have scared off the thief when she arrived at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Hartwick, at about 12:50 p.m. in order to work in the garden. She found the back door open and blood on the broken back door window. Only one room had been through.

Richard Lescaort, 20, of 122 New State Rd. was taken by ambulance to Manchester Memorial Hospital Tuesday at 9:27 p.m. after a collision with a car at Woodland and Joseph Sts. X rays were taken and he was treated and released.

Scott F. Leonard, 21, of 4 Cider Mill Rd., Bolton was riding a motorcycle Tuesday at 10:40 a.m. north on Main St. when he was struck by the car driven by Louis Terzo Jr., 28, of 60 Jensen St., who was heading south on Main St. attempting a left turn into W. Middle Tpke.

Injuries and damage were minor. Terzo was given a written warning for failure to grant the right of way.

Two youths strung a heavy rope across Brookfield St. Tuesday at 10:40 p.m. from a "No Parking" sign to a telephone pole by Durkin St. The youths then left in a car.

The rope was taken by police but no explanation of the action was given.

Other police action included: About $90 worth of old American coins and long out-of-print paper money was stolen from the bedroom of John C. Jacobs of 125 Brookfield St. sometime Tuesday morning.

Entry was gained by ripping out a screen and smashing the glass of a basement window.

The coin-operated telescope on top of Wickham Park was taken off its base on Lookout Point in the park sometime Monday night. Police suspect the reason for the theft was the coin box.

The Stamp Collector

By Russ MacKendrick
The Manchester Philatelic Society, Inc. held its annual meeting and election of officers at Mott's Community Hall on June 11. Taking office for the forthcoming year by the bylaws they have pages and pages of bylaws were the following:

Robert Deming of Rockville, president; Harry Madmont of Manchester, vice president; Alice Morris of South Windsor, corresponding secretary; Pauline Trian of Manchester, recording secretary; and Russell MacKendrick of Manchester, treasurer.

A member of executive board is the outgoing president, Richard Shele. Continuing as board members are Francis Gamache, William G. Gerard, and Edward Bushnell, Manchester.

All this conforms to the requirements for a non-profit corporation in this state — which they have been since 1965. The club was hatched in 1959 at the Lithuanian Hall on Colway St., to the skirts and equals of a baggage group practicing somewhere under the same roof.

Membership was announced at the annual meeting above as reaching 101. Fifteen of these are eager-beaver juniors. One thing about stamp collecting — there is no generation gap. The membership spans eight to eighty.

There was a lot of buzzing about the UPI big-lip. This was the 100th Anniversary Universal Postal Union issue — first day June 6. It is a group of eight jumbo 10-cent stamps. The problem it poses for collectors of plate blocks is that there are five members. So it is a challenge in the way of housing it in the album. And if you save singles you have to figure out whether you want a strip of eight or a four-and-four.

Postmaster John Bengtson has assured a jittery club member that supplies in this town are ample once you have decided what to do with it.

Also in the air is the issue for the First Kentucky Settlement — Fort Harrod — which had first day honors at Harrodsburg, Ky., on June 15. This is the usual commemorative size and, thank heavens, has only one plate number to take care of. It is in five colors and shows ox-drawn covered wagons. So here we have a logical that should be gobbled up by collectors of wagons, cattle, and forts.

Then on July 4 at Philly there will be the Continental Congress Bicentennial job. It is four different stamps, but again only one plate number. Two stamps show quotations, then a sketch of Carpenter's Hall where the First Continental Congress convened and the last has Independence Hall (then called the State House) from whence came, as everybody knows, the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution.

Page 32 of the June 17 Linn's Stamp News has a write-up of the recent show, the Manxex '74, that was held at the high school and reported on in The Herald with a good shot by Reg Pinto on May 1. The Linn's story has a picture of David Rhineland, who made the photograph of Robert Frost that was worked up into a popular stamp. Dave is shown getting an award from J.R. Fay. Looking on are the new president, Bob Deming, and the Manxex chairman, Jerry Caron.

Another weekly periodical, the magazine, Stamps, which is on tap at our Mary Cheney Library Reading Room, also had related articles.

Report Outlines Campaign Abuses

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Senate Watergate Committee staff report has concluded that abuses in President Nixon's 1972 campaign "spanned the entire spectrum of corrupt campaign financing."

"Some solicitations were tinged with extortion and some contributions were tinged with bribery," the report said. Large corporations engaged "in discussions or negotiations related to their self-interest, in connection with the contributions."

The report, approved by Chairman Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., was sent to the other six committee members Tuesday for inclusion in their final report. A copy of the 41-page report was obtained by UPI.

"The abuses uncovered in connection with the 1972 presidential campaign spanned virtually the entire spectrum of corrupt campaign practices," the report said.

"Bribe cash contributions — legal and illegal — were transported to campaign offices in everything from plain white envelopes to airline flight bags and utilitarian corporate-funded tickets and even corporate jets."

"The resources of corporations and government contractors were tapped," the report said. "Foreign materials, out of the reach of scrutiny by American officials, gave contributions, or made loans for contributions."

The report contained a number of recommendations for legislation to cut campaign financing abuses. Including proposals to limit cash contributions, put capping expenditures for presidential campaigns and prohibit large cash contributions.

Committee take no position on the public financing of campaign — since the members apparently were sharply divided on the question.

The specific recommendations made by the staff included:

• Creation of an independent, nonpartisan Federal Elections Commission to enforce campaign spending laws. An effective commission could be the "most significant reform that could emerge from the Watergate scandal," they said.

• Prohibition of campaign contributions by foreign nationals.

• Candidates would be limited to a single campaign finance committee. The report said Nixon used hundreds of campaign finance committees to conceal large contributions from the milk producers and other groups.

• A limitation on over-all campaign expenditures. The staff proposed a spending limit of 12 cents for each person of voting age during a general election.

• A limit of $3,000 on political contributions by any one individual to a presidential campaign. They said a $15,000 limit proposed by Nixon was "too high."

• Additionally they recommended a limit of $25,000 on the total amount an individual could contribute to all candidates for federal office.

• A limit of $8,000 on the contributions from large organizations — such as the milk producers.

• Prohibition against government officials on the White House payroll or serving by presidential appointment participating in soliciting campaign contributions for a period of up to one year after leaving government service.

• Increasing the penalty for illegal corporate or union contributions from one year to five years in jail.

R: SAFE LIVING MANCHESTER PUBLIC SAFETY COMMITTEE

Playground safety Playgrounds around town are filling up with kids again. They're running around, playing games, and using the playground equipment. This is fun for kids from 3 to 80. What could go wrong in such a sunny, fun-filled environment? It's hard to imagine that accidents can happen in happy places like playgrounds, but they can — and do! Children get hurt there almost every day. Nobody likes to see a child get hurt. Often, playground accidents can be prevented. As a parent, you can encourage your children to play it safe at the park. Tell them:

• Don't go down the slide on your stomach. If you go down the slide properly, you'll have fun. But if you try to get fancy and impress your friends with your acrobatics, you can get hurt. Scraped knees and elbows aren't funny when they're yours.

• Don't jump of the swing while it's in midair. This is a good way to break an arm or a leg, but that can make your summer pretty dull. You can't run on a broken leg. And it's hard to play ball when you have a broken arm.

• Don't throw sand at anyone. Sand can get in your eyes and make you cry. Sand doesn't taste too good, either.

• Watch out on the jungle gym. It's easy to lose your grip and fall. Also, be careful when other children are in the jungle gym with you. Don't kick them or pull them or cause them to fall.

• Don't get off the see-saw when you're on the ground and somebody else on the other end is up in the air. The person up in the air can really get hurt badly. And getting hurt is no fun at all.

• Don't throw rocks or dirt at other children. A rock can really hurt somebody. Your mother doesn't appreciate it when you get dirt all over yourself and nobody else's mommy will like seeing her child come home covered with dirt either. Leave rocks and dirt on the ground where they belong.

• Don't play with broke glass or cans. Getting cut is painful. Germs can get into the cut and cause an infection.

• Don't jump off the merry-go-round while it's going. You can scrape your arms and legs or get cut on a rock. Wait until

No MHS Graduation Party Planned Thursday Night

John T. Sele SOUTH WINDSOR - of 350 Thomas Sele, 70, of 350 Buckland died Tuesday at Manchester Memorial Hospital.

It doesn't look as though there will be any real big graduation party this year by Manchester High School students.

Several meetings of senior class members and officers with the students, school faculty, town officials and police failed to establish an acceptable plan for a graduation party.

Police Chief James R. Reardon said today he had met Thursday with four of the five senior class officers.

State Seeks Guidelines On Rent

HARTFORD (UPI) - Connecticut is seeking advice from the federal government in defining rent standards under the state's new rent payment program for welfare recipients.

Welfare Commissioner Nicholas A. Norton Tuesday asked regional Health, Education and Welfare Commissioner Neil P. Fallon in Boston if standards for rent may exceed a maximum standard of individual rent payments.

Norton added the question to a list of eight questions he already has submitted for assistance in implementing the program.

Burke Gets Union Vote

State Sen. Harry S. Burke, D-District 1, has the unanimous endorsement of Local 1746 International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers in his candidacy for a fifth term in the State Senate.

The veteran lawmaker served five terms in the House before becoming a state senator in 1962.

He mentioned the senior class picnic, the senior prom and breakfast which is co-sponsored by the Manchester Rotary Club, during the quadrangle party, and the final awards ceremony.

The Third Senatorial District consists of all of East Hartford and about 52 per cent of Manchester.

Factory Fire

BRISTOL (UPI) - A million-dollar tempering machine was heavily damaged in a fire at Bristol Brass Corp. Firemen called the blaze at 6:30 a.m. Tuesday prevented the flames from spreading to the rest of the factory.

The fire was attributed to a short circuit which touched off a pit of oil used to cool the machine, officials said. No injuries were reported.

Ruling Stands

HONOLULU (UPI) - City building inspector Herbert Marooka cited Eric Chapman for violating Honolulu's building code, explaining that there could be no exceptions to his department's regulations.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) - Parliamentary procedure reached new heights of contention at a recent San Francisco Labor Council meeting.

Class Donates To Anti-Poaching

The sixth grade science class of Mrs. Sylvia Hellstrom at Martin School have donated money, which they earned, to the "Anti-poaching Fund" sponsored by Bill Burrud, director of many wildlife television shows.

Two Cars Destroyed In Gas Station Fire

COLUMBIA Two cars inside the garage were also destroyed, police said. No injuries were reported and no explosions occurred but RT. 66 had to be blocked from traffic for some time at the highway was covered with fire equipment.

Police said the Columbia Fire Department was assisted by other departments from area towns.

Solar Heat Outlook Promising

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The ability of American ingenuity to build, deliver, and install solar collectors at prices substantially lower than present prices, according to the GAO report by Phillip S. Hughes, assistant comptroller general.

"Continued increases in gas, oil, and electricity prices, similar to those occurring in the last year—should improve the relative cost position of solar heating and cooling."

Hughes said the sun's energy will be important because more resources are not being produced fast enough and may some day run out.

The GAO analysis showed federal spending averaged only $100 million annually from 1950 through 1970 for solar energy, although this fiscal year's budget has allotted more than $16 million and next year's budget request is for $50 million.

The GAO said it found unanimous opinion among industry and scientists that there are no big technical barriers to widespread use of the sun's energy for heating and cooling buildings. The key is the collector, a panel usually bathed in water that is heated by the sun.

'Plowshares for Peace' Food Program Proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., today proposed a new $20 billion a year international food effort - "Plowshares for Peace" - to prevent mass starvation among the world's hungry.

He also called on President Nixon and Secretary of State Kissinger to "place the great world food and population problems at the top of their agenda" in their travels through the Middle East, Western Europe and the Soviet Union.

McGovern's proposal came at the opening of three days of Senate hearings on developing a national nutrition policy.

He is chairman of the Select Committee on Nutrition and Human Needs.

Although the plight of America's hungry, including those forced to eat dog and cat food for lack of money, will be examined at the hearings, the major focus will be on international food and population problems and the U.S. role in alleviating them.

Dempsey Suggests Delay In Paying Transit Bill

VERNON While asking the Town Council to delay paying two bills received from the Greater Hartford Transit District, Richard Dempsey, one of the town's two representatives to the district, said he feels the bills should be paid.

Dempsey appeared at the Town Council meeting Monday night and noted the time was unfortunate as the district has received a suggestion from Gov. Meskill that the district should be subsidized 100 per cent at the present level of service and if it goes above that then the member towns should contribute.

The town received a bill for $385 as its share of the $5,500 district expenses for a Technical Assistance Study performed by Dr. John Bailey, consultant to the district.

The bill was explained as a voluntary contribution. The other bill for $2,966.07, was also a request for a voluntary contribution as Vernon's share of administrative expenses of the district not covered by federal and state planning grants.

The requested amount is based on 11 cents per capita, using 1970 census figures. At the time the bills were received the council decided it would not pay anything until it sees some progress made.

Monday night, Councilman Mildred Pereira has been elected president of the Tolland County Art Association and Patricia Rial, vice president.

Also elected were Doris Delapina as secretary and Sue Niederwieser, treasurer.

The association has chosen an oil painting, "Lilacs" by Mildred Luk as the "Picture of the Month" and it will be on display at the People's Savings Bank, Rockville.

Mrs. Lois Malinette of East Windsor has been chosen as the "Artist of the Month" and some of her works will be on display in the main reading room of the Rockville Public Library.

Mrs. Malinette works in oils, watercolors, acrylics, pastels and she has examples of each in the library display which will remain until July 9.

Other selections on display in area banks, libraries and offices are: "Summer Bloom," an acrylic by Barbara Nison of Ellington, Rockville Public Library; "Touch of Autumn," a pastel by Trudy Lee of Rockville, Savings Bank of Rockville.

Also: "Forest Trail," oil by Ernest J. Garrott of Ellington at the Mary Dunphy Dance Studio, Plaza 83, Vernon; "Mist on Seascapes," acrylic by Laurie King of Vernon, People's Savings Bank, Vernon Circle; "Blue Glass Vase," watercolor by Pat Kelly of Vernon, offices of Dr. Daniel Woolwich and Harold Barn, oil by D. Town To Build New Dog Pound

VERNON The Town of Vernon will soon start construction of a new dog pound, hopefully on town-owned land near the sewage treatment plant on Windsorville Rd.

The Town Council voted Monday night to refer the matter to the Planning Commission for its approval. The pound is now located on the Madden property on Bamford Rd. in Vernon.

Mrs. Florence Madden was the dog warden and the acting dog warden now is Mrs. Helen Gleason.

The town has been urged by the state to build a new facility and Mrs. Madden has been vacated. Mayor Frank McCoy told the council she has been very patient but would like the town to vacate her property by Sept. 1.

Originally Vernon officials were trying to arrange to build a joint facility with the town of Andover but problems in finding a proper site squelched that proposal.

Mayor McCoy said he was hoping to delay construction at the Windsorville Rd. site until the proposed new treatment plant facility is built, otherwise the town will have to put in an access road to the dog pound.

Councilman Thomas Benoit said he was in charge of the effort by members of the Student Senate and Voluntary Action Program at Manchester Community College.

Five cartons of books, more than 100 in all, were unclaimed at the end of a used book sale sponsored by the Student Senate on the MCC campus last semester. Because the Senate is not in the used book business, Director of Student Activities Andrew Paterna, on behalf of the Senate, asked VAP Student Director Jean Kasluskas for her suggestions of appropriate recipients of the books.

Having donated other books last year to the Department of Corrections, she suggested that the same organization be the recipient this year.

The texts, novels and other books were picked up by John McNamara, the librarian for the Department of Correction in Hartford. He is in charge of sorting through books obtained for prison libraries and distributing them to the several prisons in the state. He told the students that this group "probably" would be added to the library at Somers Correctional Institution.

For several years, Manchester Community College offered courses in English, math and psychology to inmates at the Somers Prison. MCC was the first college to send inmates to Somers to teach, and one of the first colleges in the state to bring higher education to prison inmates.

Assn. Comm. Herbert Marooka cited Eric Chapman for violating Honolulu's building code, explaining that there could be no exceptions to his department's regulations.

Eric is 14 years old and the condemned structure was a club house built by neighborhood kids.

Right When Wrong SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) - Parliamentary procedure reached new heights of contention at a recent San Francisco Labor Council meeting.

The chairman decided he had violated the rules of order, but a delegate insisted the chairman had allotted more than $16 million and next year's budget request is for $50 million.

The GAO said it found unanimous opinion among industry and scientists that there are no big technical barriers to widespread use of the sun's energy for heating and cooling buildings. The key is the collector, a panel usually bathed in water that is heated by the sun.

Inflation, Energy Crisis Boon to Hobby Business

SANTA ANA, Calif. (UPI) — William Selzer's company has built out more airplanes each year than McDonnell Douglas, Boeing and Lockheed combined, and business is good, thanks in part to inflation and the energy shortage.

Selzer is president of L.M. Cox Manufacturing Company which manufactures engine-powered model airplanes and automobiles as well as HO model electric trains. He is also vice president and a director of the Hobby Association.

Not only is his company doing well in the face of high prices and some fuel shortages, Selzer said, but the $1.2 billion hobby industry as a whole is looking toward a 10 per cent increase in sales this year.

"The energy crisis is doing much to boost hobby craft sales as people try to conserve gas by discovering new areas of interest and recreation at home," he explained. "The hobby craft industry historically has shown a capacity to move ahead during hard times. Our market studies indicate that when the demand for new cars, boats and motor homes slackens, young and old alike turn more and more to hobbies."

A Fighter Pilot A model plane enthusiast himself since childhood and a World War II fighter pilot and B29 navigator, Selzer got into the hobby industry almost by accident. Following graduation from the University of Michigan with a mechanical engineering degree, Selzer worked for Pratt Whitney in East Hartford, Conn., for two years and then moved to Southern California in 1952 to seek employment in the aircraft industry.

He heard about the small Cox company which made a little racing car with an engine in it but turned out its engineering work to outside people. He went to work there as an engineer and became president when owner-founder Roy Cox retired five years ago and the firm was acquired by Leisure Dynamics.

From a small company that had only 15 employees in 1952, Cox has grown to a firm with more than 60 employees and annual sales of nearly $20 million in more than 75 countries. It sold more than one million model airplanes last year.

The airplanes range from the PT19 trainer of World War II, a standard for 15 years, to a Messerschmitt 109E superplane introduced this year. Three models are the Sopwith Camel, a Fokker triplane and Fokker D7 from World War I. The most popular ones date from World War II—the P51D Mustang, P40 Warhawk and the JUBIG Stuka, in addition to the PT19 and Messerschmitt.

"I guess they are so popular because they represent the last propeller-driven high performance aircraft," Selzer says. "And the PT19 is popular because so many people train with it during World War II."

Similarly, the Stuka has traditionally been the best seller in West Germany and that country is Cox's best export country.

All the airplanes built by Cox fly at the end of control lines and most are powered by the standard Cox .049 cubic inch engine that turns 15,200 revolutions a minute. The company's smallest engine, about the size of a lead pencil eraser, is only .010 cubic inches but turns a three-inch propeller at 30,000 revolutions.

Even with the easing of the energy crisis, Selzer still sees a bright future for the hobby industry because of inflation.

"During periods of economic tightness, people have a lot of leisure time on their hands and they want to do things," he said. "They can't afford to go on expensive trips, so they spend more time at home on hobby and craft type projects."

Comment Session A Board of Directors comment session will be conducted Thursday from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. in the Manchester Municipal Building. Similar sessions are held on the first Tuesday and third Thursday of each month.

The hearings are for those town residents who wish to comment or compile about any subject in the directors' jurisdiction. Their remarks are sent to the town manager's office for review and reply.

Payless Constables Patrolling Andover

Ellen Lariviere Correspondent Tel. 742-9117

The constables were notified, during the mid-May meeting by First Selectman David Yeomans that there was only $18 left in the constable budget.

At the June 11 meeting, Yeomans suggested that it would be a good idea to discontinue patrolling the town. Constable Ronald Mike told the Board of Selectmen that regardless of the expended budget, he intended to continue patrolling.

Capt. William Kowalski informed the Board of Selectmen that the patrol would continue as usual and also stated that "you just don't stop police work for lack of funds."

Kowalski stated that the constables would submit their bill to the town as usual and the patrolling would continue whether they were paid for it or not.

First Selectman Yeomans told the constables present that he could not tell them to stop the patrolling but that if they decided to carry on their duties of the town they would not get paid for it. He also remarked that if the constables were called out on a special case or an emergency that they would get paid for it, but he would not under any circumstances go to the Board of Finance for additional money for regular patrolling.

The constables feel that the Board of Selectmen should make a request to the Board of Finance for an additional $300 for the months of May and June to complete the present fiscal year.

The constables' activities for the month of May consisted of 3 1/2 hours of patrolling. One written warning and two summonses were issued and assistance was given to the State Police at the scene of three accidents.

Report Burglaries Andover constables reported that two breaks took place within the town last week. The Andover Market was broken into at approximately 11:20 p.m. Friday. A resident passing by phoned in the report to State Police and town constables.

A constable investigating the scene reported that the thieves gained entrance through the front door. They took the safe and left from the side door with an estimated $170 and some change. The thieves brought the safe across the parking lot, crossed Rt. 6, and went through the field to Hutchinson Rd. where it is assumed they had a car waiting.

Why the safe itself was stolen is a puzzle, commented a constable, because it was not even locked.

Some time after midnight Sunday night Walt's Amoco Station on Rt. 6 was also broken into. Cigarettes and soda were stolen as well as the change from both machines. Also stolen were some tires and batteries.

Social Security

Q. My regular employer deducts Social Security contributions from my pay until my earnings reach $13,200. I also work part time for another company and they withheld Social Security contributions on the $3,000 I earned with them. Since I will pay the maximum contributions in my regular job, is my part-time employer correct in taking Social Security contributions out of my pay?

A. Yes. Each of your employers must withhold Social Security contributions on the first $13,200 paid to you in a year. However, you can claim the excess Social Security contributions you paid as a credit for your income tax returns. You may obtain a refund at the time you file your federal income tax return.

Q. I am a laborer in heavy construction. Since I work for different contractors throughout the year, I request a statement of my earnings from Social Security over the last few years. The last statement I got did not agree with my own records. How can I get this corrected?

A. Get in touch with any Social Security office promptly so that the differences can be cleared up. You should bring along with you any wage receipts, work records, or any other record you have of your earnings.

Q. I live on a small farm and have net earnings of about $700 a year from working on it. I do some work part of the year at a local factory and earn about $3,600. Should I report my farm earnings for Social Security?

A. Yes. You should report your earnings from farm self-employment. The amount of Social Security benefits payable to you and your dependents is based on your record of earnings in employment and self-employment covered by Social Security. The higher your average monthly earnings, the higher your benefits will be.

Q. I have hired a woman to stay with my mother as a companion while she is recuperating from an operation. Should I report her earnings and pay the Social Security wages I pay her?

A. Yes. If you pay her cash wages of $50 or more in a calendar quarter (three-month period of the year), the Social Security office has a free leaflet entitled "Social Security and Your Household Employee" which gives more information.

Refinery Task Force Reviewing Consultant Applications

HARTFORD (UPI) — The Governor's Fact Finding Task Force on Refineries said Tuesday it has received a dozen proposals for a study of the economic impact of an oil refinery on Connecticut.

The consultants will study only the economic impact of the refinery, Leuba said. Other state agencies will review the impact on the environment, housing and the job market, he said.

The study will examine refineries ranging in size, from 100,000 barrels a day to 400,000 barrels a day and will include European-type simple distillation and American catalytic cracking types, Leuba said.

One announced proposal calls for unloading oil tankers off the New London shore and pumping crude oil to an inland refinery for processing.

Manpower Groups Appointed

HARTFORD (UPI) — The appointments of 15 members to the state Manpower Services Council and nine persons to the Manpower Planning Committee have been announced by Gov. Thomas J. Meskone.

The appointments enable Connecticut to qualify for federal manpower funds and assistance under the federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Act, Meskell said Tuesday.

Newly appointed to the council are: James W. Axon of Wallingford, Acting Community Affairs Commissioner; Susan H. Bennett of Farmington, Stephen Berner of Bridgeport, Beverly Brown of Shelton and Joseph P. Dyer of Manchester.

Robert Burgess of Norwalk, Larry Crowley of Groton, Maurice Heon of Willimantic, Hugh Langin of Torrington, Cecelia LeBrun of Norwalk, David MacKenzie of Derby, Bruce Sill of Derby, David Smith of Middletown and Gary Stenhouse of Danbury.

Police Say Suspects Admit Killing Woman

MONROE (UPI) — Police say a young man and his accomplice have admitted they shot to death his sister and then tried to murder his parents in a plot to collect money from their insurance policies.

Thomas Bergeron, 19, admitted firing a handgun that wounded his parents in the predawn attack Tuesday in the family home after David Stowe, 18, of Sandy Hook, pumped two bullets into Christine Bergeron, 23, in her bedroom, police said.

Police Chief Jack J. Tuffano said both Bergeron and Stowe admitted after questioning they planned to "wipe out" the family and divide the insurance.

The pair was arrested about four hours after the dead girl's father, Laurence Bergeron, 47, called police about 3:15 a.m. to his home on Lois Circle in this Bridgeport suburb.

Both suspects were arraigned on murder charges in Bridgeport Circuit Court and each ordered held in $100,000 bond. A court spokesman said he expected a bench warrant would be issued to transfer the case to superior court.

New Statistics Tie Chemical to Cancer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The vinyl chloride cancer scare has fueled the fence from grimy factories to surrounding neighborhoods with frightening new statistics from Connecticut. It ultimately may be traced into the homes of almost every American consumer.

The mystery surrounding vinyl chloride suddenly deepened this week with the first figures showing what may be two confirmed cases of people who developed liver cancer — not because they worked with the plastic chemical but because they lived near plants where it was produced.

Officials at the National Institute of Occupational Safety and Health are calling them the first "downwind" cases. The deaths occurred in the towns of Bridgeport and Stratford among people who lived as far as 2 1/2 miles from vinyl chloride plants in the past 30 years.

One of the Connecticut victims was a housewife. The Agency recently surveyed seven chemical complexes in Kentucky, Massachusetts, Louisiana, California, Ohio, Delaware and New Jersey and found no evidence of an imminent health hazard, but it stresses that its findings were sketchy and it told the $12 billion-a-year industry it should take immediate steps to reduce neighborhood exposure to the lowest practical level.

For the average consumer who may be wearing, carrying, using or otherwise living with some polyvinyl chloride product almost every waking moment, the health implications are less clear but no less a cause for concern.

So far, basic consumer exposure to vinyl chloride gas has been limited to aerosol sprays. It was used as a propellant in a variety of household aerosol products until as late as March.

The same figures from the Connecticut Cancer Registry also show two other cases of liver cancer that have been confirmed as the first incidents involving secondary exposure. These people worked not with the basic vinyl chloride gas but in turning its powder or pellets into a variety of consumer products.

While only about 6,500 U.S. workers are employed in plants where basic vinyl chloride gas is handled, about 700,000 come into contact with it in its later stages while turning the widely used plastic into everything from coat covers to briefcases.

The health implications for that industry only now are beginning to be realized. And the hazards to people living near plants where vinyl chloride is processed are only just being discovered.

Health officials do know that about 6 per cent of the 6 billion pounds of vinyl chloride gas produced in the United States every year escapes into the air — usually through factory smokestacks.

The Environmental Protection Agency recently surveyed seven chemical complexes in Kentucky, Massachusetts, Louisiana, California, Ohio, Delaware and New Jersey and found no evidence of an imminent health hazard, but it stresses that its findings were sketchy and it told the $12 billion-a-year industry it should take immediate steps to reduce neighborhood exposure to the lowest practical level.

For the average consumer who may be wearing, carrying, using or otherwise living with some polyvinyl chloride product almost every waking moment, the health implications are less clear but no less a cause for concern.

Both suspects were arraigned on murder charges in Bridgeport Circuit Court and each ordered held in $100,000 bond. A court spokesman said he expected a bench warrant would be issued to transfer the case to superior court.

The senior Bergeron is president and treasurer of the Jiffy Printing and Mailing Co. of Bridgeport, a medium-sized concern.

The Bergerons live in a residential section of Monroe where the cost of homes averages $50,000 to $60,000.

Tuffano said a 38-caliber pistol and a 22-caliber gun were used in the shootings, and the youths admitted driving to Lake Zoar in the Sandy Hook section of Newtown and throwing them into the water.

Bergeron and his wife, Vera, 46, were taken to St. Vincent's Hospital in Bridgeport and released after treatment of head and scalp wounds.

Tuffano said Stowe admitted firing "at least two shots" into the Bergeron girl, once in the face and another into the chest.

Tuffano said the elder Bergeron had called police and said he was bleeding, that someone had broken into his home and that he had heard shots in the upstairs bedroom where his daughter slept.

Responding police found the daughter in the bedroom. She was pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. James Garrely, a medical examiner.

Two MCC, ERCC Golfers Advance

By Earl Yost

Two golfers from each the Manchester Country Club and Ellington Ridge Country Club were among the 32 successful qualifiers yesterday in the Northern Section round of the Connecticut State Golf Assn. Open Tournament staged at Ellington. Blessed with perfect weather, a field of 135 sought to advance Monday to the 36-hole opening round at the Waterbury Country Club. Successful from the home club were Francis Vignati with a 40-35-75 score and Pete Lingua who came in with 39-37-76. Vignati tied for seventh place. Representing the MCC in Monday's play in the Brass City will be Scott Leone, fresh from a fine season at Brown University, who posted a 39-37-76, and veteran Doc McKee. The latter toured the long Ellington course in 39-38-77. Medalist honors went to Bill Orlovsky of Timberlin with a one over par 73. The 30-year-old winner parred 14 holes, scored an eagle on the 11th hole and bogied three holes. Among the non-qualifiers were Woody Clark, current club champion at Manchester, and Stan Hilinski, a former club champion at both Manchester and Ellington. Lingua was runner-up to Art Tulin for the ERCC club crown last summer.

Waslewski Routed In Moriarty Loss

By Len Auster

Scoring five times in the opening frame against former major league hurler Gary Waslewski, the Bristol Cassins topped Moriarty Brothers, 9-3, last night in a Greater Hartford Twilight League tilt at Mt. Nebo. Waslewski, who was late arriving at the field, was fouled for five hits in the first inning as Bristol sent 10 men to the plate. Ed Smith led off with an infield hit and Dave Raponey followed with a single just past the glove of second baseman Frank DiMauro. Mike Giovinazzo bunted hard past the mound towards second base and reached as Moriarty's infield didn't field it. Smith scored on the play. Mike Griffin laid down a sacrifice and reached safely as DiMauro couldn't find the first base bag. John Curry followed with a fly to left which was dropped allowing the second run to score. Duke Snyder's single brouder in the third run and John Chapulis's bad hop single over the shortstop's head chased home the final runs of the frame. The 4-2 Cassins added single runs in the second and third innings before Jim Balesano belted a home run in the fourth to leftfield, hitting a departing spectator's car in the process. The Cassins added a run in the fifth, with a potentially big inning being averted by a doubleplay. One more Moriarty run scored in the sixth off starter and winner

No Beer Nights at Fenway

Beer Nights may be a big drawing attraction in some major league baseball parks but one can rest assured that this type of promotion will never come about at Fenway Park in Boston as long as Tom Yawkey owns the team. Boston is the only team in the majors which does not allow beer to be sold in the stands. Beer is available under the stands and ushers are advised to see that no beer is taken back into the grandstand area.

Following the recent trouble in Cleveland following a Beer Night promotion, new American League President Lee MacPhail issued a statement that tighter control should be used on any such future night's projects to get more people to come to the ball park.

Baseball would be much better off if it sold baseball, and not beer as a promotion.

The biggest crowds at Yankee Stadium for years, outside of World Series games, have been bat, ball and cap promotions, all run first class.

Now that the Yankees are temporary tenants at Shea Stadium, the best turnout this season was the recent Bat Day, with better than 50,000 paid customers on hand. Bob Fishel reported a record Little League 37,000 bats were distributed to youngsters, a record total.

Personally, I like Yawkey's firm stand on keeping beer out of the stands. Beer drinkers can make it uncomfortable, and do, for many fans at many parks.

Rugged Slate Ahead

Starting with Friday night's home stand at Fenway Park, the Red Sox won't have a day off until the All-Star break, July 22-24. That's a period of 31 straight days, all single games. Nineteen of the dates are at Boston...With Rick Wise and Reggie Cleveland question marks among the pitchers, rookie Dick Pole and forgotten man Rogelio Moret may get some work. The major league baseball trading deadline passed last weekend without any major transactions. The Yankees picked up relief pitcher Rudy May from California...Just Wondering: What major league manager will get the pink slip first, Bobby Winkles in California, Bill Virdon with the Yankees, Charlie Fox in San Francisco or Whitey Lockman with the Cubs? All four are operating on thin ice...Looking for some batting punch, the Mets offered Jerry Koosman to the Pirates but the deal was nixed...Steak Out food, service and atmosphere for the recent banquet of the Manchester baseball umpires was excellent, which should please owner Mark Kravitz. The latter is a fine golfer who plays out of Ellington Ridge...Friday night is the deadline for Hartford Twi League baseball entries to file their rosters. Each team will be allowed 22 players.

Pre-Season Grid Camps

Less than a month away are the official opening dates of National Football League pre-season training camps. The New York Jets will use the facilities at Hofstra and open July 9 for rookies and July 14 for regulars. The New York Giants, who will return to Fairleigh University, will take a look at the rookies July 15 with the regular reporting four days later. New England's Patriots will start drills for new men July 13 at the University of Massachusetts with the vets due July 17. All sessions will be open to the public...Ted Owen, track coach at Central Connecticut, will direct the Connecticut Senior Men's Track and Field Championships at Central in New Britain July 9. Twenty events are planned starting at 6 p.m. AAU-sanctioned entries will close July 8. Post entries will be accepted at an additional fee. Owen is handling entries at his Central Connecticut State College office. The fee is $1.

Legion in Rally To Nip Simsbury

Trailing going into the bottom of the seventh, the Legion baseball team came up with two runs for an 8-7 verdict over Simsbury in an exhibition tilt at East Catholic last night. Bob Odell started things off for Manchester in the seventh with a walk and pinch-hitter Dave Bidwell brought him home with a towering triple to left center. Paul Groves' sacrifice loft to centerfield brought in the winning marker. Manchester opened the scoring in the third with three runs on a single and five walks. Simsbury retaliated with one of its own in the fourth off starter John Koepsel. Manchester added three markers in the fourth on an error, Dennis Quinn's single, Dan Smacchetti's triple and a wild pitch. The visitors took the lead in the fifth erupting for six runs. # Moret Goes Distance in RSox Triumph

National League

OAKLAND (UPI) — It took the Boston Red Sox until the first of July a year ago before they finally gave Roger Moret a chance to start a game. He went on from there to a 13-2 year, and he did it with an aching knee that was operated on during the past winter. As might be expected, Moret went to the Red Sox training camp in the spring fully confident he had a job, but wait a minute. The club had picked up a lot of help in trades—pitchers such as Rick Wise, Juan Marichal, Reggie Cleveland and Dick Drago—and there simply wasn't room for Moret in the rotation. But now Marichal and Wise are hurting and so, too, is the Red Sox staff. So Moret was pressed into service Tuesday night. He gave up 10 hits but he also struck out 10 in going the distance in a 6-1 victory over the Oakland A's that restored Boston's lead in the American League East to 3 1/2 games. Does that mean Moret now has a job as a starter? "No," said Red Sox skipper

Derrell Johnson. "His status remains the same. He's still a spot starter and a long reliever. Nothing has changed because of this one game." "I don't mind," said Moret. "I'll do what they want, but I think I can pitch as a starter. I'll wait. Maybe I'll get a chance. I think I can pitch against any club." "When my curve is breaking like it did in this game," said Moret, "I think I can beat anyone, although it is harder to pitch against so many right-handers."

The loss shaved Oakland's Lead in the American League West to one game over Texas, and was charged to Ken Holtzman, who gave up seven hits and four runs in 2-2/3 innings. Six different Boston players accounted for the RBIs. Danny Carter drove in the first Red Sox run with a first inning single and then Boston jumped Holtzman and reliever Glen Abbott for five singles and a sacrifice fly in the third for a 4-0 lead. Carlton Fisk, Dwight Evans, Bob Montgomery, Rick Burleson, and Dick McAuliffe got the other RBIs. The victory evened Moret's record at 1-1, while Holtzman suffered his eighth loss in 15 decisions.

Two Sites Considered For Elderly Housing

The search for a location for the Manchester Housing Authority's planned 40-unit elderly housing project has narrowed to only two sites "worthy of serious consideration," according to Town Manager Robert Weiss.

A memo by Weiss, released Tuesday by Assistant Town Manager Charles McCarthy, identified the two sites as a parcel on Brainerd Pl. owned by developer Alexander Jarvis and a town-owned, disused parking lot on Lodge Dr. near the entrance to Center Springs Park.

The two possible sites will be inspected next Tuesday night prior to a joint meeting of the Housing Authority, the Planning and Zoning Commission, and the Board of Directors.

Weiss' memo, pointing out the pros and cons of both sites, stated that restraints imposed by the Housing Authority on site selection have made the possible elderly housing locations scarce.

The restraints include proximity to public transportation, convenient shopping, availability of public utilities, and the cost of land.

The Housing Authority is struggling with an estimated $25,000 land acquisition expense out of a total state grant of $640,000 for the project.

The Jarvis lot downtown, a three-quarter-acre parcel at Brainerd Pl. and Johnson Ter., has several advantages — closeness to shopping and a bus line — but Weiss said the disadvantages for the site include a high land cost (reportedly $75,000), and the small lot size, which would require zoning variances and expensive two-story construction.

The Brainerd Pl. site has a "generally unattractive environment" as well, Weiss' memo mentions.

The town-owned parcel on Lodge Dr. has the advantage of excellent physical environment, space for single-story construction, low land costs, and potential for increased use of Center Springs Park, the memo said.

But the disadvantages of that site include its distance from stores and public transportation.

The Housing Authority has been searching and inspecting many sites in the last eight months, after receiving state approval of the $640,000 grant for the housing complex.

Will Link Earth With Mars

This UHF radio, destined to become the first U.S. broadcasting station on Mars, gets a final test adjustment from technician Jim Johnson at the RCA Space Center in Hightstown, N.J. The 10-pound transmitter is part of the over-all Viking communications system RCA is building to send scientific information some 225 million miles back to earth from the red planet. The communications system will be carried aboard NASA's unmanned Viking spacecraft scheduled to soft-land on Mars on July 4, 1976. (UPI photo)

Sea Law Conference To Open In Caracas

CARACAS (UPI) — Thousands of delegates from 151 nations gathered in the Venezuelan capital today for an historic United Nations conference called to modernize the laws that rule the sea.

The delegations will begin the 10-week-long meeting Thursday seeking agreement on a new set of laws to govern offshore boundaries, protection of resources and commercial exploitation of the oceans, which cover two-thirds of the earth.

The conference is expected to draw 3,000 delegates and aides, making it one of the largest in history.

He Earned Degree at Great Odds

By JUNE TOMPKINS

Mark Bain

Mark Bain, 16, the youngest senior ever to graduate from East Catholic High School (according to the Rev. Robert E. Summers, principal), did so against great odds.

Not only did he receive a regular high school diploma during the graduation exercises, but during an awards ceremony at the high school he received a Courage Triumph trophy—an award specially conceived for Bain.

Bain's handicap stemmed from a hit-and-run accident which occurred March 30, 1973, while he and two friends were walking along Two Bolton Rd. (Rt. 41) about dusk that day.

Bain says he suffers from recurrent infection in his injured leg.

He did not have any home tutoring while he was absent from school, but his father saw to it that he had assignments in all his subjects at school. On his own, Bain completed his assignments and fulfilled all his requirements.

This summer, Bain will receive an unusual therapy for his leg—the sun of sunny Italy. Sunday, he boards a jet with his father to go to the vicinity in Italy where his mother's relatives live—on the Italian Riviera. When he returns in the fall, he plans to attend Manchester Community College for a liberal arts course.

Massaro Wins Upset Victory In 8th District

By SOL R. COHEN

In one of the biggest upsets in recent years, District 8 voters Wednesday night elected Michael Massaro district president for 1974-75, and Willard Marvin and Gordon Lassow directors for 1974-77.

Massaro, who resides at 57 White St. and who owns the West Side Italian Kitchen on Center St., won by a 97 to 78 vote. Massaro is an honorary member of the District Fire Department. In addition, he is a volunteer firefighter in Hose Co. 1 (McKee St. Firehouse), Manchester, Town Fire Department.

William Hankinson, at left, after his upset defeat for a sixth consecutive term as Eighth District president. At right is Michael Massaro, surprise candidate and new district president. Second from left is Gordon Lassow, and next to him is Willard Marvin—both upset winners for the district board.

The three victors were candidates of a faction backed by Eighth District volunteer firemen, who now will have a dominant role in district affairs. (Herald photos by Dunn)

Mrs. Tedone Candidate For Secretary of State

HARTFORD (UPI) - Mrs. Margaret V. Tedone, Republican minority leader of the Hartford City Council, today announced her candidacy for secretary of the state.

Mrs. Tedone, 49, a grandmother and the mother of four sons, said she is one of the few candidates for the job, which is traditionally held by a woman, to have campaigned openly for it.

Rather than have the post on the ticket filled behind closed doors at the party's July convention, she said, the candidates should openly seek the job.

"Especially this year, after two years of Watergate, I believe it is the responsibility of the Republican candidates to make themselves known to all the delegates," she told newsmen.

She said she had no preference among the four GOP candidates for governor and would be comfortable if Rep. Ella T. Grasso, D-Conn., the current Democratic front runner and a personal friend for many years, were elected as chief executive.

She said she could work with any of the Republican contenders and would not endorse any particular one.

Agostinelli, former Manchester mayor, threw his support to Congressman Robert Steele of Vernon and released the delegates (the estimates there are 72) pledged to him.

Panzuzio said he intends to contact all Manchester delegates (plus West Haven and other towns) pledged to Agostinelli and that he's "hopefully confident they will now give serious consideration to my candidacy."

He scoffed at Steele's claim he now has more than enough delegates to win on the first ballot at the July 30-31 GOP state convention.

He said he saw Agostinelli's withdrawal as only "the addition of a single delegate" to Steele's total.

Graduation On-Rain or Shine

Rain or shine, Manchester High School will hold its graduation exercises tonight promptly at 8:45, says School Principal George Emmerling.

The weatherman historically enjoys a game of "dodge" with the MIS graduating seniors and keeps them guessing from one year to the next whether the weather will be fair or foul for the regularly scheduled outdoor event.

However, Emmerling said this morning he is planning an outdoor ceremony. If the weather appears questionable by mid-afternoon, Emmerling suggested parents and friends planning to attend the graduation listen to radio station WINF, WTIC, or WDRS for an up-to-the-minute announcement.

In case of inclement weather, the ceremonies will be inside in Clarke Arena where admission will be by ticket only, said Emmerling. No tickets are needed for the outdoor event.

Nathan B. Gatchell of Andover, former teacher of English at MIS, will be the guest speaker.

Ellen Burns Barred From Eagle Award

Mary Ellen Burns is working harder than most other scouts do to receive the Eagle Award, the highest honor awarded Boy Scouts.

The 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Burns of 27 Montclair Dr. has been petitioning for the special award since last June but to date the Boy Scouts of America has not agreed to extend the Eagle Award to Miss Burns.

Officials of the Long Rivers Council agreed Wednesday to inform her in writing of their decision.

The girl's mother said today her daughter has never received any official communication concerning the matter. At the last meeting of the Long Rivers Council, she said a statement was received by them over the phone from the Boy Scouts of America declining to make the award.

The decision in the statement was not considered official, Mrs. Burns said, because it was based on present rules which were different at the time of her daughter's application.

At a meeting called by Hartford's Mayor George Athans to discuss the council, however, Douglas Beales of the council said he would send Mrs. Burns a letter notifying her of the council's refusal to accept her application.

As a member of Manchester Explorers Post 112, Miss Burns has earned two more merit badges than the number required to become an Eagle Scout.

The Boy Scouts' position is that one must first achieve the rank of first class as "a scout" in order to continue working toward Eagle.

While the position refers to "a scout in a troop," they insist that means "boy scout."

Miss Burns earned first class in her Girl Scout troop. She recently received the Pope Pius XII emblem, the first girl Explorer Scout in Long Rivers Council and the Archdiocese of Hartford to do so. Her mother said a girl in California received the award one year ago, and she thinks her daughter may be the only girl on the East Coast to have received that award.

The National Council of the Boy Scouts of America informed Athans of their position on the matter of a girl achieving the coveted award. He then asked Beales for a similar written reply to Miss Burns.

And Lassow, after thanking the voters and noting the large turnout, said, "Let me not let the interest die with this meeting. If there's anything I can help you with, feel free to call on me."

Irish, in explaining Massaro's candidacy, said, "Mike had made up his mind over the weekend he'd run for president. We decided, in the best interests of district politics, not to make the announcement until the meeting."

Massaro, in a short "thank you" to the voters following his election, said, "I intend to give the Eighth District my 100 per cent effort."

Hankinson said he had no prior knowledge that Massaro was running, but that his nomination caught him completely by surprise.

He said, "I hope Mike will work in harmony with the board—to keep the tax rate down and to keep the district at the same proudfest point it now is."

Marvin told the voters, "I hope I can give the job of director my very best for the next three years."
