

Bean Festival Saturday

VERNON

Preparations will start Thursday for the 11th annual Tolland County Bean Hole Bean festival with 200 pounds of beans to be cooked in special ingredients. The festival will be Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Tolland County Agricultural Center (TAC), Rt. 30, Vernon.

Cochairmen for the event are Franklin Welles and Frank Niederwieser. They will be assisted by a large committee of workers.

The county home-maker groups have been making homemade brown bread and have 600 loaves stashed away in freezers.

The 500 pounds of beans will be cleaned Thursday and the festival will be started Thursday night. The beans will be par-boiled and then put in heavy pots to bake in the pits starting Friday afternoon.

While the price of the beans has just about tripled from a year ago, from $20 per hundred pounds to $60 per hundred, the committee is going to hold the price of the festival to the same of those of last year. The charge for adults will be $2.50 for children under 12, it is $1.25.

The menu will also include hot dogs, cole slaw and ham besides the beans and brown bread. Brown bread, by the loaf, and baked beans, by the carton, will be sold at the festival which will be held rain or shine.

Ryan Seeks D57 Seat

VERNON

Atty. Albert B. Ryan of Ellington has announced his intention to run for the office of Representative from the 57th Assembly District. Rep. Daniel McKeever of Ellington, now serving in that capacity, has announced he will not seek re-election.

In a letter to Everett C. Patyska, Ellington's Republican town chairman, Ryan expressed concern with the void created by McKeever's decision not to seek re-election.

He is married to the former Alice Bliven and the couple has five children.

Bletchman Committee Announced

A Bob Bletchman for State Representative Committee has been formed and named its officers.

Robert H. Bletchman of 45 Tudor Lane announced June 12 he is a candidate for the Democratic nomination in Assembly District 12. He is the only announced Democrat seeking the seat held since 1967 by Republican Donald S. Genova.

The Democratic Town Committee will meet July 31 at 8 p.m. in the Municipal Building Hearing Room to endorse candidates for state representatives in Assembly Districts 12 and 13. The incumbent in District 12 is Democrat Francis J. Mahoney, who has indicated he will seek re-election to a fourth term.

Officers for the committee heading Bletchman are: David Paris, chairman; Betty Emerson, vice chairman; Victor Moses, treasurer; Joyce Gattman, secretary; Anne Miller, public chairman; and Robert Jardiif, research chairman.

Bletchman, 42, is a Manchester attorney. He is chairman of the Political Action Committee of the Democratic Club of Manchester, vice president of the Manchester Lions Club, former board member of the Little Theater of Manchester, and a member of Big Brothers of Manchester.

Museum Sponsors Trip to Okladle

The Lutz Junior Museum is planning to sponsor a trip to Okladle Theater in Wallingford for a children's production of "Tom Sawyer" on July 31. There is sufficient interest. The performance, designed especially for children ages 5 through 10, begins at 11 a.m. and lasts for approximately 1 1/2 hours. Past children's performances have been enthusiastically received by their young audiences.

The fee including theater admission and travel is $2.40 for museum members and $2.95 for non-members. All children must be accompanied by an adult.

The deadline for registering for the trip is Friday, July 19 to register, contact the museum at 643-0949.

Genovesi Removes Self From District 12 Race

State Rep. Donald S. Genovesi, Republican, who represents Manchester's 12th Assembly District, has announced he won't run for re-election.

"I feel the time has come that I can no longer devote the amount of time necessary to adequately fulfill the responsibility of this office," he said in his statement.

Genovesi, 42, has been Manchester Republican's most consistent vote-getter since 1967. In that year, he was elected to fill a vacancy caused by the death of his brother, Vincent. He was re-elected in 1970 and in 1972. He has been assistant majority leader of the House the past two years. He heads the Donald S. Genovesi Insurance Agency.

Genovesi said in his statement, "To win re-election in the fall, and then not be able to devote the time necessary to carry out the duties of the office, would not be fair to the voters."

Genovesi said he has been a very gratifying experience. "At this time," he added, "I would like to thank the people of Manchester who have been so generous in supporting me during the past seven years."

Ribicoff Won't Oppose Meskill Judge Nomination

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., says he won't oppose the nomination of Gov. Thomas J. Meskill of Connecticut to the 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals despite American Bar Association criticism.

The Democratic senator, commenting in a local WCBS television interview Sunday, said he considers Meskill an able man and has high respect for the man who nominated him, Sen. Lowell P. Weicker Jr.

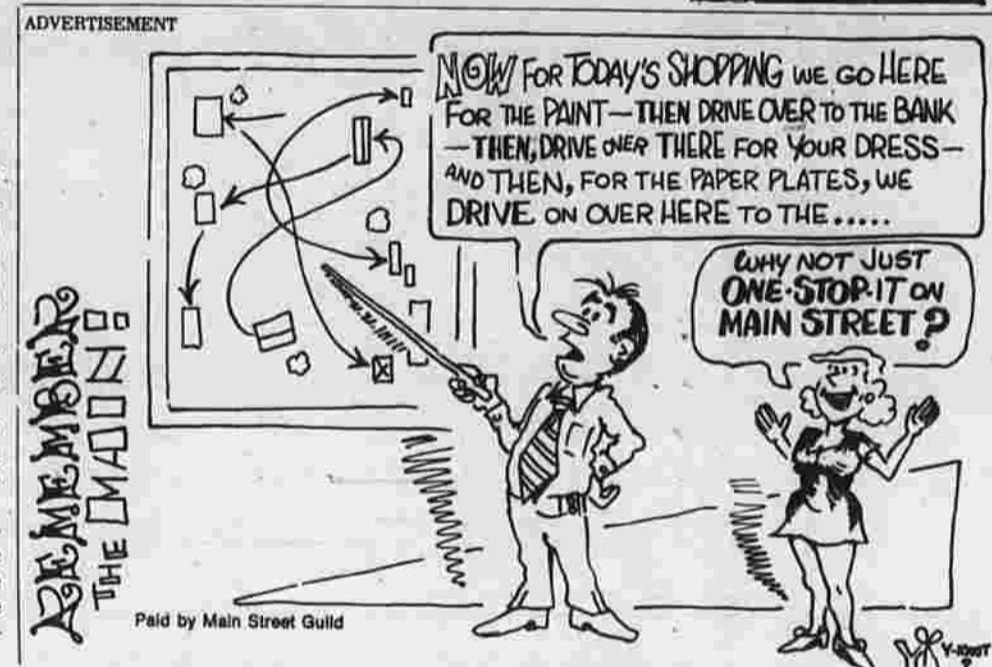

But Ribicoff did not pledge full support for the Republican governor.

If approved, Meskill would serve a life term on the bench at $42,500 a year on the 2nd circuit, which covers southern New York, Connecticut and Vermont. The U.S. Circuit court of appeals is the next level below the U.S. Supreme Court in the federal judicial system.

A preliminary review of Meskill's qualifications for the bench reportedly concluded that the governor's legal experience was lacking and that most of his career was spent in politics.

Ribicoff said he will follow Senate Judiciary Committee hearings on Meskill of his nomination if submitted by President Nixon and will make a final decision after the hearings.

The Meskill nomination apparently has bogged down in the White House. Normally the nomination would be made routinely on the recommendation of a Republican senator.

Pay to Main Street Guild

"Save at CBT? Don't savings banks pay higher interest?"

Yes, if you like to collect quarters. You see, savings banks pay one-quarter of a percent higher interest on regular savings.

But that only comes out to 25¢ a year for every hundred dollars you save. If you're putting money away for retirement, vacation or to buy that something you've always wanted, you should be getting more than just extra pocket change from your bank.

That's why CBT gives you free personal checking with a savings account. Along with high interest, automatic savings plans and a lot of other services no savings bank can give you.

And remember, CBT has over 80 offices throughout the state. So no matter where you work, live or travel, there's a branch nearby.

Holdover Directors Block Fire Chief's Reappointment

BY SOL R. COHEN

The four carry-over directors of the Eighth Utilities District blocked the reappointment of Granville (Ted) Lingard as district fire chief and fire marshal Monday night.

As a result, the district finds itself without a fire chief and fire marshal. First Assistant Fire Chief Frank Moravsky will be acting chief and marshal in the interim. Lingard, fire chief since 1968 and fire marshal since 1971, was named for reappointment by the district's incoming president, Michael Massaro.

The vote to confirm the appointment was 2 to 4.

State Aid Funds For Town Roads Said Inadequate

Manchester's 1974-1975 share of state transportation department funds isn't enough to keep town roads in good shape and use of the money for public transportation is unlikely, Public Works Director Jay Giles said Monday.

Of a state total of $16.4 million, Manchester has been allocated $12.73 for roads and public transportation services this fiscal year. The 1974-1975 allotment is about the same as funds granted Manchester last year, Giles said.

The money continues to be distributed by the state on a formula based on town road mileage and population, and Manchester's share of the available funds has increased little in recent years.

On the other hand, costs of town road improvements have skyrocketed in the last few years, Giles said, and Manchester is falling behind in its road-paving program.

"Because the paving program is lagging, Manchester probably won't be able to spend any of the 1974-1975 state road money on public transportation, Giles said. Use of road improvement funds for public transportation facilities was okayed by the 1973 General Assembly.

"We can't afford to spend any of the money on transit," Giles said, noting that town budgeting should include a commitment to contribute toward road maintenance now funded by the state.

Manchester's 1974-1975 allotment of $12.73 is based on a town population of 48,600 and town road mileage totaling about 167 miles.

Distribution of state funds in other Manchester area towns, announced last week, include $41,960 for Andover, $44,146 for Bolton, $75,028 for Coventry, $69,843 for Hebron, $81,158 for South Windsor, $78,207 for Tolland, and $121,488 for Vernon.

Nixon Fires OEO Director

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon has fired the head of the Office of Economic Opportunity for trying to save some of the programs the President wants to abolish.

OEO director Alvin J. Arnett said Monday afternoon that he was fired by a federal judge for trying to kill the agency without congressional approval.

Arnett said he had fought against Nixon's plan to abolish the agency "because I've been concerned about the programs for the poor."

He said his lobbying was not for the purpose of keeping the 19-year-old office as an operating agency but for keeping its programs intact, mainly the Big Community Action project that provides federal grants to set up anti-poverty agencies at local and state levels.

John Carlson, a White House press spokesman, said that Arnett has been opposed to phasing out the OEO and "has been running around the country advocating that it be continued."

Other White House sources said that Arnett is being fired because of his opposition to administration policy.

But a congressional source close to OEO and that I have been accused of lobbying to continue the agency."

"The resignation will become effective July 31, and Arnett will be replaced by OEO general counsel Ben Galleago, acting deputy director of the agency under Arnett's predecessor, Howard Phillips, who was forced out of office by a federal judge for trying to kill the agency without congressional approval.

Baltimore Police Hear Contract Terms

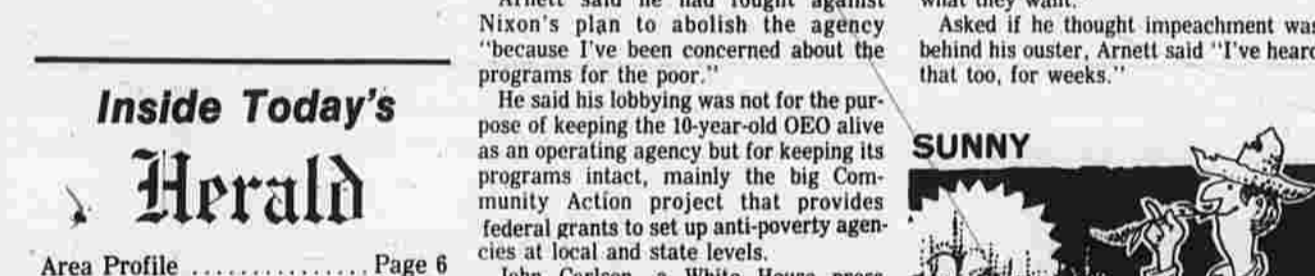

Manchester finished its 1973-74 fiscal year (June 30) with about $305,000 still outstanding in General Fund revenue, a report by Collector of Revenue James A. Turek indicates.

Tax receipts as of June 30 were $213,857 below estimates, with $10,422 of the $213,857 from prior to 1973-74.

Other categories of General Fund revenue show Pines, Licenses, Permits and Fees short $3,191; Current Services short $1,632; From Other (Town) Agencies short $13,419; Rents and Leases short $8,580; and State and Federal Aid (not educational) short $274,812.

Accounts with revenue exceeding estimates are: State and Federal Grants (educational-related), $94,574; and Other Revenue, $120,890.

Revenue as of the end of the fiscal year for other town funds shows: Fire District Special Fund, $10,000 below estimates; Water Fund, $8,541 above estimates; Sewer Fund, $21,920 above estimates; Special Downtowns Taxing District Fund, $75 below estimates; and Data Processing Services Fund, $6,000 above estimates.

The Midas Touch

By the end of the year, Congress may once again permit private citizens to own gold in form other than jewelry and to hoard or sell it on the open as they wish. Some observers anticipate a boon in world gold prices. Gold is one of the enduring things of history, both physically and psychologically. Empires have been conquered for it. Three-quarters of all the gold ever mined is still in existence. Yet of the present world inventory of between 2.5 and 3.5 billion troy ounces, only about one per cent serves a utilitarian use, mostly in jewelry. Gold has even ceased to be a backing for currency. It remains a symbol only, and symbol-minded people have made a fetish of it, claims one metallurgical businessman.
"If we dumped every ounce of gold in the ocean, the lifestyle of the world would be virtually unaffected," says Herb Barchoff, president of Eastern Rolling Mills, Inc., of the Bronx, N.Y.
Next to gold in psychological value, and exceeding it in practical value, is silver. Although silver has important industrial uses, fully half of this is limited to two applications, photographic and electrical.

Photopolymers and xerography could become effective replacements for silver in the next few years. Even should silver vanish from the scene, there would be some disruption, but the effects would be tolerable.
The real workhorse, says Barchoff, is copper, without which industry would come to a grinding halt. Its absence would result in the complete collapse of our industrial infrastructure.
Thus the move by the four biggest copper-producing countries to band together to raise prices in emulation of the oil producers could have far greater consequences in our daily lives than the lifting of the ban on gold ownership.
Unless there is a massive expansion of copper production to maintain adequate supplies at a fair relative price, warns Barchoff, copper selling for two to three dollars a pound is not unthinkable in this decade.

Free Road Map End Near

The free map may be going the way of glass dishes and green stamps.
In a test program, Standard Oil of California has installed map vending machines at 100 of its stations, asking 10 or 15 cents per map. Other companies are reportedly considering charging for maps or selling advertising space on them or switching to inexpensive, unfolded maps a station attendant tears off a gummed pad.
Road maps may no longer be as necessary as they were before the nation became crisscrossed with easily followed superhighways, or as indispensable as they were in the early days of unpaved roads and nonexistent signs. Yet they are a part of Americana, and much of the development of this country in the 20th century is recorded on them.
According to the National Geographic Society, which has a fund of this kind of information, Gulf Oil distributed the first maps in the East just 60 years ago, in 1914.

Other companies soon got into the act (that was back when there was such a thing as competition). Charges of copying flew and mapmakers began setting snares. They would deliberately insert errors on their maps, perhaps misspelling a place name. If a rival company's map showed the same mistakes, the thief was exposed.
But since the public accepted the maps as gospel, this caused confusion. Some small towns solved the problem by changing their names to conform to the misspelled maps.
The demise of the free map will mark the end of an era, even as did the passing of the horse-drawn ice wagon, and it is sad to think that future generations of motorists will never know the triumph it was to successfully retold one of the things.

Discontented With New Tennis Policy

To the editor:
I am writing this letter in order to express my discontent with the new tennis court policy. I have already spoken to Mr. Siebold and feel that a written response is also called for.
I do not offer this letter merely as a complaint, but also willingly offer a solution. Why not post a sign-up sheet at the courts and let people sign their names for a time and court? People would be expected to show up within 10 minutes of sign-up time or default use of the court. The time limit would still be one hour.
I am sure that trying such a system based on the honor of the people involved could be worked out effectively, especially if people were made aware that should this system fail, the present one would be reinstated.
Though I am aware that some towns do charge for the use of tennis courts, I am also aware that other towns use a system similar to the one I have suggested. Should we not favor this system which puts faith in the honesty of our townspersons?
Sincerely yours,

Capital Fare

For A Garterless Society

WASHINGTON — A friend who just may be the country's leading authority on ancient Greece returns from a scholarly seminar the other day to report a revival of the notion that Congress should pass legislation establishing a "democratic" nobility for individuals of special achievement in various fields — not, presumably, including the un-dertaking dodge.
The argument is that the Medal of Freedom is the only decoration bestowed on civilians by a grateful government, and that it would be fitting to set up a knighthood of distinguished citizens, most of them, I gather, from academe.
Proponents say it would encourage selfless initiative to the benefit of the commonweal.
Only a boulder would challenge this concept, but I don't know. Aside from our pretension that we operate a classless society, there is the danger a union of nobles would be corrupted by its own reservation free? Often at hours that were previously open when all courts were taken, the courts are empty. Were they not meant to be used at the optimum?

apart. I'm not sure I could trust even of Knox not to turn snooty and bellow "Down with the nobility!" when I approached him for two bits to see me through my next saraparilla.
That is pretty much what happened in Great Britain, where folks still take individualism seriously even though many of its sirs and ladies are jockeys and strip-teasers, and where admission to the nobility has often been used to make a fast buck or steal a plot of land. Mostly, it has always been pure gimmickry, a system devised to make some people feel superior and, often, arrogant.
A typical example of such gimmickry was the establishment of the Order of the Garter, most famous of the lot. As might be logically assumed, it was named after a lady's accessory, back around 1344 A.D. when Edward III, a notable ladies' man, was King of England.

considerable funds were given before the late by many groups, including most probably the milk industry.
But on the record, the dairy industry reported political gifts in 1972 in the neighborhood of $1.3 million. This was about a fifth of all the money recorded either directly or through party committees by all registered political associations — business agriculture, labor, health and the like.
Almost all the $1.3 million was given by three groups.
The Committee for Thorough Agricultural Political Education organized by the Associated Milk Producers, Inc., in San Antonio, Texas.
The Agricultural and Dairy Educational Political Trust set up by Mid-America Political Education for all presidential candidates.
The Nixon re-election campaign received $95,000 on the record. Various news reports have indicated the actual figure was considerably higher.
Almost $70,000 in gifts were reported to the campaigns of Democratic presidential hopefuls — including $54,000 for Rep. Wilbur D. Mills (D-Ark.), and much smaller amounts for Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.), Gov. George C. Wallace (D-Ala.), Sen. Edmund S. Muskie (D-Maine), and Sen. Vance Hartke (D-Ind.), presumably in the race for the Democratic nomination.
As of early this year, these major dairy industry political education groups had $2 million on hand, much of which presumably is available for helping candidates in 1974 and future campaigns. There is every reason to believe these funds will be added to during the year.

New Library Bids Planned

BOLTON

The Public Building Commission decided Monday to direct Alan Wiedie, architect for the planned Bentley Memorial Library, to prepare a list of possible alternatives to the planned facility with a cost estimate and to present it to the commission at its next meeting July 22.

The PBC now plans to reject all bids received July 9 and go out to bid again after the plans have been modified. The bids were higher than expected.

The commission Monday rescinded its July 9 action asking the selection to approve an additional appropriation of $70,000 in order to proceed with construction of the library.

The letter asking for an additional $70,000 had a date at the end that the figure did not include the funds necessary for the additional architect's fee, which was not brought out at the July 9 meeting.

As Douglas Cheney, PBC chairman, was leaving the meeting July 9, Morris Silverstein, Board of Finance member, was just arriving. Silverstein brought Cheney's attention to the fact that the additional architect's fee had been overlooked by the architect. At the July 9 meeting

Wiedie was asked by several people present if he was sure all the money needed to complete the library was figured in the $70,000 figure the PBC was requesting.

The lowest bid received for construction of the library added to other costs totaled $353,000 which was $28,000 over the $271,000 approved by townspeople earlier in the year.

The PBC expects to change methods of construction and materials in hopes of bringing the cost of the library down to the amount townspeople approved.

Attending Monday's meeting of the PBC were members of the finance board, Wiedie, and Marshall Taylor, town counsel. They discussed possible areas where projects costs could be reduced such as changing the size of the building.

Taylor noted it would be legal to change methods of construction. He said if substantial changes were made, such as the size, the PBC would have to go back to townspeople for approval.

Wiedie noted if the project were dropped now the town would be obligated to him for $24,000. The figure does not include the costs of advertising and tests, $21,500.

He said his firm, Mankey Associates, would be willing to designate $4,000 to the library building fund if the project was dropped now.

They recommended long-term bonding due to bonding rates.

Mrs. Butterfield said if a town meeting was called it would be nice to give the people a choice of answers instead of confirming or rejecting the selectmen's decision.

She said, regardless of the fact that few people have publicly come forward to voice their objections to the planned building, there were few people in town who wanted the planned library and everyone knew it. Even though most people want a library, few want the one planned by the PBC she said.

Democrats Abstain From Casting Votes

VERNON

Objecting to being given resumes of persons being appointed to boards and commissions, "just before the vote," Democratic Councilmen Thomas Wolf and Thomas Benoit abstained when the vote was taken for approval of the list.

At Monday night's meeting of the Town Council, 19 names were submitted, some for appointment to town boards and commissions.

Wolf said, "A month or so ago we spent considerable time on appointments and the town clerk was asked to make a list and put party affiliation by the names so appointments would be made with the minority representation status."

Wolf added that the town clerk did not even have the resumes handed out at the meeting. Wolf, a minority member of the council, said, "I think when we have good, qualified persons we should keep them regardless of party affiliation."

Councilman Donald Eden questioned, "Who are the qualified persons you say we throw out? We've been waiting to get names from the Democratic town chairman."

Town Clerk Henry Butler said he recommended to the mayor's secretary that the dress and party affiliation of nominees be listed with the names.

Wolf said he was told by Democratic Town Chairman James Roche, a few hours before the meeting, that he had not been asked to submit any names for appointment.

Mayor Frank McCoy, referring to the list he had presented, said it was his understanding that they were valid appointments and he was keeping with the state statutes concerning minority representation.

Appointments approved were: Gary Horan as alternate to Zoning Board of Appeals; Stanwood Miller, alternate Zoning Board of Appeals; Herbert Silver, Jr. Arthur Bryant, and Russell Fransen, alternates to Zoning Commission; Gretchen Mason and Daniel Wright, Traffic Authority.

Reappointments approved were: Mrs. Elizabeth Lutz, Grove Hill Cemetery Supervisory Committee; Henry Abner, Robert Marshall and Wilton Lisk, Permanent Municipal Planning Committee; Robert Latta and Andrew Myer, alternates to Planning Commission; John Canavari, Carleton Milne and Joyce Taylor, Recreation Commission; and Norman Strong, Board of Tax Review.

Two Hearings Held On Multiple Dwellings

The Planning and Zoning Commission conducted two public hearings for changes to multiple-family dwellings Monday and took no action on either.

Drawing the most interest to residents was the hearing for 10.6 acres of land on Rt. 196 and Baxter St., for a change from commercial for proposed condominiums.

Cocandidates for the zone change are George Yakalis, Bertram Robinson, and Harold Shapiro. Atty. Gordon Buck, engineer Rick Lombardi, and architect James Curtis spoke of the proposed complex of 40 units of town houses in five buildings.

Access would be on Baxter St. and the developers want an acre left commercial for a small village center. Wetlands, open space and that state statutes governing condominiums would be undisturbed, Buck said.

Cited mainly as starter homes for newweds, priced from the upper $20,000's to mid-$30,000's, the 1,2 and 3-bedroom units would not produce many school children, according to Buck.

No one else spoke in favor of the zone change but ten residents, many from Baxter St., opposed it.

Francis Perry asked that, if granted, the PZC see that the Eighteen months after a preliminary plan was presented to the Planning and Zoning Commission, a proposed Howard Johnson Campground was denied because no road leads to the site.

Town Counsel Harold Garrity has ruled that the access to the property, Old Patton Rd., is a legally discontinued road and ownership has reverted to the adjoining landowners. "It is certainly not owned by the owner of the proposed camp," Garrity told the commission in his letter.

Garrity also said in his letter that the matter of land-locked property is up to the owner to pursue in court.

Wolf said it was his understanding that the council just accepted the reports. The mayor said the reports asked for were submitted and accepted as final.

Wolf said, "I beg to differ. The town engineer's report was not requested."

The mayor answered, "It is unfortunate you weren't here when the reports were accepted."

Wolf then asked for about 15 seconds to explain his position and the mayor said he didn't think he had subject the council to a rebash of the matter.

Wolf charged the mayor with "trying to bury the matter and I object to his attempt."

The mayor then ruled Wolf out of order and ruled the discussion closed.

Wolf appealed the ruling of the chair, a vote was taken on Wolf's motion to overturn the ruling of the chair and it was defeated in an 83-vote by one councilman, Humphry, absent.

Wolf then asked to place an item on the next agenda of the council to discuss the May 17 memo of Town Atty. Abbot Schwebel. The memo concerned the bid on the West Rd. sidewalk project. The motion was defeated and again the matter was discussed closed.

Vernon Planters Vandalized

A few weeks ago blossoming geraniums and petunias were removed from planters in front of stores and the Union Congregational Church, Union St., Rockville. Last weekend the church returned and bent the wrought iron frames dumping the soil on the sidewalk leaving an empty soda can as an added "touch." The same fate befell all of the planters in the area across the street from Rockville Hospital. In several other areas the flowers were pulled out but the planters were not vandalized. The Town Council Monday night established a timetable for repairs on the Coventry Lake Dam.

Target date for starting repairs is Oct. 15. Work must be done when the water level is low. The work had to be postponed to the spring lake level would have to be lowered, making it a strong possibility that the level would not be high enough for boating next summer.

The town manager has been directed to submit the report compiled by Griswold and Fuss to Sutures, and to seek from Sutures some agreement on mutual rights and sharing costs.

The town manager is also to secure easements from the owners of property abutting the lake.

The council will seek to resolve repair rights through the services of the town attorney, Abbot Schwebel.

A town meeting will be held before the start of construction for financial approval.

In terms of cost and the effects on human health it has become obvious that the "routine X ray" is something we simply can no longer afford. Thus, old routines such as a mass chest X rays are being eliminated. The X ray is certainly too important a tool to abandon. However, the patient can ask his doctor: "Is this X ray essential to my physical well being?"

"Have all previous X-ray films, or other test results which might provide the necessary information, been checked?" If the X ray is essential, then has every step been taken to limit the exposure to the absolute minimum?" All these questions answered, the X ray beam will assume its role as a vital weapon against disease.

Inflation Hitting Pocketbooks Throughout the Free World

By JOHN NEEDHAM

United Press International

Raw material shortages and booming oil prices have made inflation the number one affliction of nations around the world, battering dollar, franc and rupee alike as well as topping governments from Europe to South America.

The 10-pace (81) hike, ride a year ago in Argentina is the 30-pace (83) cab fare today. The tiny steak that cost 1,300 yen (85) in Tokyo last year now sells for 1,800 yen (86).

In Denmark, soaring apartment rents have given rise to the "midnight fix" — families skipping out of lodgings in the dead of night to escape the rent collector.

The inflation rate, which averaged 4.9 per cent in industrialized nations during the previous decade, has climbed to 10.7 per cent in the United States and 22 per cent in Japan. Cambodia's rate is 300 per cent and Chile's is a world record 500 per cent.

The basic cause of the price spiral has been an increase in the amount of money and credit available at a time when shortages in basic commodities prevent an equal rise in the amount of goods.

The major oil-exporting nations cut production and the price of petroleum soared from $25 billion last year to $100 billion this year, setting off a major drain on the finances of oil buying countries.

The runaway inflation affects rich and poor, luxuries and necessities.

"I'm catching it at both ends of my life," said a retired Londoner who grew up in pre-Hitler Germany when the mark collapsed because of inflation and plunged the country into a turmoil that brought the Nazis to power.

Israel's rate of inflation was 21.1 per cent in the first three months of 1974 and has been closer to 31 per cent since last October's war. A pound of beef that cost $3.50 before the war goes for $4.50 now.

In Beirut, where prices rose 80 per cent last year, bank clerk Mohammed Saleim moaned, "How can I feed my wife and two children on my salary of $247-a-month with prices going up and up? I have to take another job to survive."

Efforts to halt the price spiral vary from country to country, with each government trying to avoid tipping over into recession or the economic "final solution" — depression.

France and Italy have waged taxes. Brazil is trying an "index" that increases wages and pensions when prices climb.

Union agitation in Britain helped oust the Conservatives and install a Labor government. A military coup in Chile toppled the Marxist government of Salvador Allende when massive inflation undercut his

The Soviet Union claims it has abolished the capitalist price of inflation, but cheap items either disappear from stores for good or are "replaced" by new, improved models — at a price 90 per cent or more higher.

Who Killed the Caterpillars?

The caterpillar count is way down this year and the experts are scratching their heads as to why.

"Now, I'm not an expert, but I do have a theory, at least about what happened to the caterpillars in our back yard."

Last summer, quite by accident, I found out that nine-year-old boys are the natural enemy of the Gypsy Moth Caterpillar.

"Hey," I suggested in an effort to get them out of the kitchen. "How would you boys like to earn some money?"

"Doing what?" asked John suspiciously. "Hunting wild caterpillars," I countered. The boys looked interested, so I continued.

"I want you to take a plastic bag and a stick and collect those icky caterpillars that are all over our trees. There must be millions! I'll pay you a penny for every ten you get."

A half hour later I went outside to check on the boys progress. They were zooming around the yard like a couple of Kamikaze pilots, recklessly flinging caterpillars into their plastic bags.

"Wanna see something gross?" cried John running over to me. "I think I've got 354, but you'd better count to be sure." With that he dumped the contents of his bag on the ground at my feet.

"Eek!" I screamed, stepping back quickly. "Keep those things away from me. I don't need to count them. I'll take your word for it." With that I turned and ran for the safety of the house.

Since that day the caterpillar population has steadily decreased, and this year not even one has shown its fuzzy head in our yard.

Now, obviously, the boys didn't capture every caterpillar. But their reputation must have reached the caterpillar-grapevine.

It's only a theory, mind you, but I think those boys literally scared the poor caterpillars to death!

Buy it unset. Best way to buy a diamond. Then buy the setting. You wouldn't buy a horse for its saddle. Or would you?

In explaining the "rebirth of a city" New York Upbeat, a group of volunteer professionals in fields ranging from public relations and communications to urban restoration and travel promotion, said, "Senator Kennedy, with the help of Senator Jacob Javits, pushed through legislation that helped create the Bedford-Stuyvesant Restoration Corporation.

Toward this end, programs were launched simultaneous rehabilitation of housing, health, education, economic, social and cultural life. The organization is only 7 years old, has a long way to go, but dramatic things are happening.

Members of the organization are striving to live down the image that "There is danger in our streets." "It's unsafe to work alone at night," and that "New York is indeed a 'sin city'."

Win Climaxes Great Record

Climaxing a great three-year coaching record in the Manchester Little League baseball program last Saturday night was George Maloney.

For three consecutive years, Maloney guided the Army & Navy entry to regular season championship laurels in the American League at Wadwell Field.

Maloney will bow out a winner, for weeks ago he publicly announced this would be his final season in Little League.

Now that the Little League is over, Maloney will turn his attention to football where he serves as head coach with the Chargers.

Maloney has been an excellent influence on the many youngsters he has come in contact with in the small-city baseball program and his loss next spring will be a big one.

But he'll be a busy man with five young Maloneyes to look after, including four boys, all of whom are athletes.

Briles Stops Bosox

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Nelson Briles, slowly but surely, is returning to form.

The 26-year-old right-hander, out for two months to recuperate from a knee operation, made his fourth start Monday night since coming off the disabled list.

Briles scattered seven hits over eight innings, enabling the Kansas City Royals to whip the Boston Red Sox 3-2.

"I felt much better and I think I threw better, too," said Briles, 2-3. "I'm still struggling with my breaking ball, but I'm getting there."

Briles displayed fine control, walking only one Steve Mingori and Doug Bird closed out the Red Sox in the ninth.

Rookie third baseman George Brett laced a two-run double in the second and scored on Frank White's single, which evened Reggie Cleveland's record at 7.

Brett, despite consistently batting in the No. 8 or No. 9 slot, has a fine hit-RBI ratio. Brett, who was called up in May, has 47 hits and 24 RBIs in 63 games.

"The runs were sitting out there tonight and I was just looking for a pitch to hit," said the 23-year-old Red Sox slugger.

Final All-Star Balloting

Jackson, Aaron Top Vote-Getters

NEW YORK (UPI)—Reggie Jackson, reigning most valuable player of the world champion Oakland Athletics and Hank Aaron, the major league's all-time home run king, topped all corners of their respective American and National Leagues in the final All-Star balloting for baseball's 41st midsummer classic scheduled July 23 at Pittsburgh's Three Rivers Stadium.

There were few surprises in the final American League totals with familiar standbys Dick Allen of the Chicago White Sox (first base), Rod Carew of the Minnesota Twins (second base), Brooks Robinson of the Baltimore Orioles (third base), Bobby Murcer of the New York Yankees (outfield) and Carlton Fisk of the Boston Red Sox (catcher) all easily retaining their starting positions of a year ago along with Jackson in the outfield and Campaneris at shortstop.

Only Jeff Burroughs, Texas' young slugger who leads the AL in RBIs and is batting at a .350-plus clip, will be a new face voted into the starting lineup this year. Of course, with Fisk sidelined for the season with a knee injury, the Yankees' Thurman Munson, second in the AL catcher sweepstakes, will be also making his debut as an AL starter.

The National League, however, had a few eleventh hour upsets.

Along with the Atlanta Braves'

Aaron, the Los Angeles Dodgers and Cincinnati Reds, 12 in NL West, placed three players apiece in the starting lineup. Catcher Johnny Bench (second behind Aaron in total votes with 2,628,465), second baseman Joe Morgan and outfielder Pete Rose all made it from the Reds, while the Dodgers were represented by first baseman Steve Garvey, third baseman Ron Cey and outfielder Jimmy Wynn.

The selection of Garvey, who was a write-in, came as somewhat of a surprise inasmuch as another write-in, third baseman Mike Schmidt of the Phillies fell short by about 100,000 votes from the Reds, while the Dodgers were represented by first baseman Steve Garvey, third baseman Ron Cey and outfielder Jimmy Wynn.

Phillie boosters did, however, get some measure of satisfaction when their pugnacious little shortstop, Larry Bowa, overtook the Dodgers' Bill Russell in the final week. Bowa, who trailed Russell all season long in the balloting, wound up with 1,570,033 votes to his Dodger rival's 1,085,494.

Still another Phillie, second baseman Dave Cash, made a valiant effort at the Reds' Morgan before falling short.

American Stars Bow in Tournery

By Len Auster

Doing most of the damage in a five-run third inning, the Windsor International League All-Stars ousted the Manchester American League All-Stars, 6-1, last night at Wadwell Field from the District Eight Tournament.

The game was called in the bottom of the fifth because of darkness after being delayed previously for 30 minutes because of rain.

Third baseman Wayne Allen and pitcher Rich Magnusen were the key ingredients to Windsor's triumph. Each went two-for-three at the plate with Allen clubbing a two-run homer deep over the rightfield fence in the third. Allen also played a flawless third base. Magnusen kept the Manchester batters off stride striking out four and issuing one free pass in notching the win.

Windsor scored one in the second after the rain delay as Dave Ellis singled to right and went to third as rightfielder Gary Coffin couldn't find his footing. Ellis walked home on Dana Farrow's single up the middle.

Five runs in the third clinched it. Don Cieri reached on an error and Allen followed with his two-run shot. Two hits, a walk and an error drove starting and losing pitcher Dave Nurni from the box. Helhel hurler Mike Colombe uncorked a wild pitch letting in Windsor's final tally.

Manchester averted the shutout in the fifth as Nurni singled and took second on an outfield miscue. He moved to third on a ground out and scored on Jon Brandt's infield hit.

Brandt was a perfect three-for-three at the plate. Manchester collected four hits altogether. Tom McCuskey showed some fancy glove work around first base for the local All-Stars, climbing the fence down the first base line in the second to make a putout.

Striking Players Seen Weakening

NEW YORK (UPI)—With the National Football League players strike moving headlong through its third week, Players Association President Bill Curry Monday called for a resumption of negotiations.

"If we can't reach agreement in six or eight weeks, something's wrong," Curry, the veteran Houston Oilers center, said in Houston Monday. "I believe an atmosphere has been created in which both parties can sit down and reach a settlement through collective bargaining. It's high time to get to work and settle this thing."

Cook left a note saying, "I just can't do it any more," and left during the night. Philadelphia Eagle players who had planned to practice at Veterans Stadium during the strike were felled when the NFL Management Council, which is representing the league in negotiations, ordered training facilities at the stadium shut down.

New York's pro clubs will have a unique setup Wednesday and Saturday when they held combined workouts. Citing the lack of enough players in camp for scrimmages, new coaches Bill Arnsparger of the Giants and Charley Wynn of the Jets agreed to send specific units against each other in 90-minute drills at Hempstead, N.Y., Wednesday and Fairfield Conn., Saturday.

"We figured it would be a good learning opportunity for our rookies," Arnsparger said. "We are both short of people in camp."

National League Roundup

Zisk Gets Respect Living Up to Code

NEW YORK (UPI)—Richie Zisk of the Pittsburgh Pirates is commanding respect around the National League because of living up to "the code."

"The code" of all professionals, baseball or otherwise, is that the team performance counts more than the individual's—and Zisk made that clear Monday night after the Pirates defeated the Houston Astros 3-1 and he raised his batting average to .318.

Zisk is a fellow who easily could put the knock on Pirate management. He was overlooked in the spring of 1973 when the Pirates were looking for a right fielder to replace the late Roberto Clemente and the Pittsburgh management went to the extreme of converting catcher Manny Sanguill into an outfielder rather than play Zisk.

Now all those maneuvers have been forgotten and Zisk is a star in his own right. It would be easy for him to rap the club management but he's proving he's a real pro with his desire to lead the team if possible.

"I'm satisfied that so far this season I've done what I set out to do," he said Monday. "I'm hitting well, keeping the pitchers honest. I've changed my style a lot, even my bat model. Since I used to be known as a power hitter, I don't try to pull everything. If I want to play regularly and do well, I've got to be consistent. I used to think you had to have speed to win a batting title but I've changed my mind when I saw Joe Torre win one in 1971."

The Pirates are still a long way from becoming favorites to win the NL Eastern Division title but the team are so closely bunched that everyone has a chance. Thus, any hitting will buy a team's spirit, such as Dock Ellis' going nine innings with an eight-hitter to win his fourth game against eight losses.

Ellis, who hadn't won a game since June 14, got a 2-1 lead in the fourth inning when the Pirates scored two runs on singles by Al Oliver, Zisk, Sanguill, Richie Heber and Frank Taveras and then hung on for the victory. Dave Roberts suffered his eighth loss for the Astros.

Reds 3, Cardinals 0
The Reds, continuing their uphill struggle against the Los Angeles Dodgers in the West, downed the Cardinals behind the nine-hit pitching of Clay Kirby, who won his seventh game. Joe Morgan homered and Ken Griffey and Cesar Geronimo had run-scoring hits to lead an attack that dealt Alan Foster his sixth loss against four wins.

Cubs 7, Braves 3
The Cubs scored four runs in the top of the ninth inning with Andy Thornton's third hit of the night, a two-run single, the big blow in their victory over the Braves. The Braves led the score in the seventh on Ralph Garber's homer. Oscar Zamora, who pitched two hitless innings, was the winner and Joe Niekro the loser. Dusty Baker also homered for Atlanta.

Ring Fever
DENVER (UPI)—Jimmy Ellis wants a shot at regaining the world heavyweight boxing title he lost in 1970. Ron Lytle wants his first shot at the same crown.

Firemen Want Lingard

Said Lassow, "From what I hear, the three assistant chiefs and the men of the department all want to keep Lingard as chief. It seems obvious only the four directors from the old board want him out, and all because of the June election. He's the best man for the job and the record of the department proves it."

Cervino, who only a few weeks ago, was honored by Lingard and the men of the department at a testimonial dinner on the occasion of his 50th anniversary as a volunteer firefighter, admitted to Lassow the department has been doing a good job.

Lingard asked for permission to speak, received it and said, "I've been associated with the district fire department for close to 25 years. I never did anything without first considering the good of the department and always with the approval of the board."

Concerned

"I'm grateful and proud that the men are loyal to the department and to me. It concerns me that 25 years of service could go down the drain — just like that."

Assistant Chief John Christensen cautioned, "Please consider the move very, very carefully. The effects of your actions could take the heart out of the fire department. After all, the fire department is the Eighth District."

Christensen hinted the board's action could bring consolidation with the town fire department that much closer, and Brown acknowledged the possibility.

"However," said Brown, "it is in the

Westmoreland Blames Ineptness for Loss

COLUMBIA, S.C. (UPI) — Retired Gen. William C. Westmoreland, his voice only a whisper because of laryngitis, blamed himself for his crushing defeat in Tuesday's South Carolina Republican gubernatorial primary.

"I was an inept candidate," said Westmoreland, former chief of staff of the Army and commander in Vietnam at the height of U.S. involvement. "I'm accustomed to structured organization, something like this is so nebulous."

Thrashed

Westmoreland was thrashed by state Sen. James Edwards, a Charleston oral surgeon who had lashed about even getting into the race with one of the country's most well-known generals.

With most of the state's Republican precinct reporting, Edwards had 19,487 votes or 58 per cent of the total 13,886 votes for Westmoreland.

He will face either Rep. W.J. Bryan Dorn or political newcomer Charles "Pug" Ravalin in the fall. The two Democrats will be in a run-off election in two weeks to decide the party nominee.

Manchester GOP Backs Figueroa

By SOL R. COHEN

Manchester's 19 delegates to the First Congressional District's Republican Convention are unanimously backing Ruben Figueroa for the GOP nomination.

The announcement was made today by Manchester GOP Chairman A. Paul Berte, one of the 19 delegates.

Figueroa's name will be placed in nomination by State Comptroller Nathan Agostinelli, also a delegate.

The convention will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. in the Whiting Lane School Auditorium, Whiting Lane, West Hartford. Figueroa, who resides in Middletown but is in the process of moving to Cromwell, is the only declared candidate for the nomination. He resigned his post as commissioner of the state Department of Community Affairs when he declared his candidacy.

Figueroa, 43, is seeking the seat held in Congress for two terms by Democrat William Coffer of Hartford. Coffer is seeking re-election.

Berte, in announcing the Manchester endorsement, said, "Connecticut is indeed fortunate to have excellent candidates such as Ruben Figueroa who will be on the ballot Nov. 5."

"Ruben Figueroa has an extensive and well-rounded background which qualifies him for the nomination. He served as commissioner of the state Department of Community Affairs, is a retired Navy veteran who has served in numerous posts both within and outside the United States, and has had many years experience in administrative and community affairs."

Firemen Want Lingard

Said Lassow, "From what I hear, the three assistant chiefs and the men of the department all want to keep Lingard as chief. It seems obvious only the four directors from the old board want him out, and all because of the June election. He's the best man for the job and the record of the department proves it."

Cervino, who only a few weeks ago, was honored by Lingard and the men of the department at a testimonial dinner on the occasion of his 50th anniversary as a volunteer firefighter, admitted to Lassow the department has been doing a good job.

Lingard asked for permission to speak, received it and said, "I've been associated with the district fire department for close to 25 years. I never did anything without first considering the good of the department and always with the approval of the board."

Concerned

"I'm grateful and proud that the men are loyal to the department and to me. It concerns me that 25 years of service could go down the drain — just like that."

Assistant Chief John Christensen cautioned, "Please consider the move very, very carefully. The effects of your actions could take the heart out of the fire department. After all, the fire department is the Eighth District."

Christensen hinted the board's action could bring consolidation with the town fire department that much closer, and Brown acknowledged the possibility.

"However," said Brown, "it is in the

Westmoreland Blames Ineptness for Loss

COLUMBIA, S.C. (UPI) — Retired Gen. William C. Westmoreland, his voice only a whisper because of laryngitis, blamed himself for his crushing defeat in Tuesday's South Carolina Republican gubernatorial primary.

"I was an inept candidate," said Westmoreland, former chief of staff of the Army and commander in Vietnam at the height of U.S. involvement. "I'm accustomed to structured organization, something like this is so nebulous."

Thrashed

Westmoreland was thrashed by state Sen. James Edwards, a Charleston oral surgeon who had lashed about even getting into the race with one of the country's most well-known generals.

With most of the state's Republican precinct reporting, Edwards had 19,487 votes or 58 per cent of the total 13,886 votes for Westmoreland.

He will face either Rep. W.J. Bryan Dorn or political newcomer Charles "Pug" Ravalin in the fall. The two Democrats will be in a run-off election in two weeks to decide the party nominee.

Manchester GOP Backs Figueroa

By SOL R. COHEN

Manchester's 19 delegates to the First Congressional District's Republican Convention are unanimously backing Ruben Figueroa for the GOP nomination.

The announcement was made today by Manchester GOP Chairman A. Paul Berte, one of the 19 delegates.

Figueroa's name will be placed in nomination by State Comptroller Nathan Agostinelli, also a delegate.

The convention will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. in the Whiting Lane School Auditorium, Whiting Lane, West Hartford. Figueroa, who resides in Middletown but is in the process of moving to Cromwell, is the only declared candidate for the nomination. $15,000 More Sought For Ice Rink Study

BARBARA RICHMOND

A resolution appropriating an additional $15,000 for phase two of a feasibility study, including design documents, for an ice sports center and/or other community center, was approved by the Town Council Monday night and will go to public hearing July 22.

Geoffrey Walbe, of Carlisle-Edwards, Inc., the firm hired to do the preliminary feasibility study, was present at the meeting to answer questions concerning the next phase of the study.

Mrs. Ruth Ventura, chairman of the Rink Study Committee appointed by Mayor Frank McCoy, said the committee reviewed the preliminary study report completed by Carlisle-Edwards, and agreed with the conclusion that an ice facility for Vernon is feasible.

In his report, Walbe recommended that the next step would be for the contractor to give his price and the authority would compare the estimated price with the price projections given by the consulting firm. The authority would then make a decision to go ahead with the project, as is, or to modify it.

In his report, Walbe expressed concern about a site for the facility, noting there had been talk about putting it on the town-owned Eckert property adjacent to the Middle School.

Walbe said he hadn't gotten to that phase as yet. He said site selection will be part of the next phase.

The council also briefly discussed methods of financing, municipal bonds or conventional bonds. Walbe noted that with revenue bonds, the users, rather than the taxpayers at large, pay for the facility.

Town Attorney Abbot Schwebel told the council an "authority" could be created by resolution of the council. He reminded the council that such an authority would be autonomous.
