

Tourists Told To Expect More Blasts

By NAT GIBSON

LONDON (UPI) — "There were wounded all over the place," an Australian woman cried. "It looked like a scene out of hell."

It wasn't an easy sight to forget. A child's foot was blown off. A youngster was blinded. A woman was killed. More than half the 35 injured were children.

Scotland Yard warned of more blasts against tourist attractions following Wednesday's bombing at the historic Tower of London, which contains the crown jewels and a world-famous collection of armor and weapons.

Detectives tentatively blamed the Irish Republican Army for the attack and said an American girl filming the tower might provide a key clue to the identity of the terrorists.

"The bombers waited for a good sunny day when they must have known the tower would be crammed with school parties and foreign tourists," an angry policeman said. "I hope they're satisfied with their day's work."

Police identified four of the injured as Americans — Jackie Ford, 27; Sheila Gray, 23; Christina Grillo, 24, and Ed Klein, 27 — but did not release any hometowns. They were treated at London hospitals and released.

Police said the dead woman, a London librarian, was the 13th person to die in British bomb attacks since last December. A spokesman said most of the 35 injured were West German and Danish tourists.

The Australian woman said the blast blew out windows and doors of the picturesque 11th century tower, knocking bleeding children and adults to the ground of the courtyard.

Scotland Yard warned the public to expect other blasts and increased security around tourist attractions and government offices in London.

Police said an American girl filming the tower when the explosion occurred could provide a major clue to the bombers. She reported seeing a man running from the scene moments before the blast and gave officers her film.

The tower, patrolled by a contingent of colorful pike-carrying Beefeater guards, draws thousands of foreign tourists each day. It was once used as the execution site for Britain's royal prisoners.

Strike Vote Authorized Among Phone Workers

By United Press International

The Communications Workers of America rejected a contract offer from American Telephone & Telegraph and authorized a strike vote today among 500,000 union members who work in Bell Telephone Systems across the country.

The strike vote came just as the country's labor problems appeared to be easing, with many of the 230,000 striking workers returning to their jobs today.

CWA President Glenn E. Watts, chairman of the union's national bargaining committee, announced the decision 90 minutes after most of the more than 100 contracts in the Bell System expired at midnight.

Contract talks have been going on for several months between AT&T and workers who are members of two major international unions plus several independents covering all of Bell's 750,000-000 employees.

In Charleston, W. Va., about 1,300 members of CWA Local 2001 staged an unauthorized strike and set up pickets in the

NLRB Asked to Assume Nurse Dispute Jurisdiction

The staff of the Manchester Public Health Nursing Association (MPHNA) has received a delay in seeking to obtain the Connecticut Nursing Association as its bargaining agent.

The staff had a preliminary conference Wednesday morning with the state Labor Relations Board and determined that the nine members of the agency's nursing staff would be one bargaining unit, and that the nursing supervisor would be in an individual unit.

The state Labor Relations Board declined to assert jurisdiction in the case pending a determination of whether the National Labor Relations Board is the proper forum, according to Mrs. Dorian Shainin, president of the MPHNA board of directors.

A petition for an advisory opinion has been filed with the National Labor Relations Board on the issue of whether that agency will assert jurisdiction in this case, Mrs. Shainin said.

A spokesman for the MPHNA staff called this a delaying action, and said that if the National Labor Relations Board asserts its jurisdiction, Mrs. Dorothy Gowett, the agency's supervisor, would be prevented from qualifying as a bargaining unit and would be in the same position as the agency's former director, Mrs. Jean Bates, who recently resigned because of conflict with the MPHNA board of directors.

Hospitals Face Regulation, Unions

By MARK MILLER

HARTFORD (UPI) — Connecticut's 36 general care hospitals, largely unregulated and non-unionized for years, will encounter more regulation and more union activity, the Connecticut Hospital Association predicts.

And while regulation will work to hold rates down, increased union vigor may push the costs of labor up.

The hospitals, an estimated 15 per cent of their employees organized for collective bargaining purposes, last week proposed rate increases averaging 9.6 per cent, which the association pointed out is under the national rate of inflation, 10.7 per cent in May.

Officials of the nine-month-old state Commission on Hospitals and Health Care point out that the 9.6 per cent figure is even more noticeably under the 14 to 17 per cent average increase requests projected for this year.

John A. Doyle, director of the watchdog commission, and Rep. Morris N. Cohen, D-Bloomfield, the legislative "father" of the commission, therefore figure they've saved the public between $25 million and $41 million in rate increases.

The hospitals cite cooperative cost-cutting programs and internal measures and tend to downplay the role of the commission, the first of its kind in the nation. Their association stresses a hand-in-hand relationship with the commission.

"We are confident that there exists an air of cooperation and mutual respect between private facilities and public regulators," Herbert A. Anderson, commission president, said last week.

"I think the little boy tells his mother that he's been a good boy because he wanted to be a good boy and not because he had that strict old nanny with him," a commission official says of Anderson's view.

Whether the commission as "nanny" uses sugar or a switch to keep its charge a "good boy," the hospitals and their association for the first time in their history have had to devise cost-cutting programs to please a state agency.

Group purchasing and patient care sharing have resulted in significant savings. Neither practice is new this year, with the creation of the commission, but hospitals are more willing to participate in the association's programs now that their rate increases are subject to scrutiny by a state agency.

Twenty-one general care hospitals and 17 other institutions have agreed to buy their pharmaceutical supplies, surgical equipment, bedding and fuel oil collectively, a $7.5 million commitment this year, Dr. Fred Hyde, an association spokesman, says.

And 14 general care hospitals next month will enter into a group purchasing contract for food, which has made up three to four per cent of their budgets.

To Hear St. Clair

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Judiciary Committee has heard testimony from its last witness and is preparing to get down to business next week with a debate and a vote on whether to recommend the impeachment of President Nixon.

White House Watergate lawyer James D. St. Clair gets a last chance to argue on Nixon's behalf today, his final act in the committee's 10-week-old inquiry.

The committee's special counsel, John M. Doar, said he would present various forms of the articles of impeachment against Nixon so committee members would have a choice when the vote comes.

People Mover Picketed

WINDSOR LOCKS (UPI) — The Connecticut Citizens Action Group today picketed ground-breaking ceremonies attended by Gov. Thomas J. Meskill for the controversial "people mover" at Bradley International Airport.

CCAG Director Marc Caplan led about 15 members of the group in orderly picketing to protest the $4.5 million state project.

In a statement released prior to the ceremonies, Caplan said, "Connecticut taxpayers should be getting a useful mass transit system for their money, not a trolley for the rich. This is purely and simply a waste of the hard-earned money of this state's citizens." Caplan said.

Cabinet Sworn In

LISBON (UPI) — President Antonio de Spínola ended a week of political crisis in Portugal today, swearing in a military-dominated cabinet to combat economic problems at home and wind down three colonial wars in Africa.

Spínola was scheduled to swear in the new, 17-member "government of discipline" this morning after selecting military men for seven key cabinet posts. Newspapers in Lisbon predicted Spínola would use the swearing-in ceremony to make a major statement about the future of Portuguese Guinea, one of the country's three African territories.

Buy Into Krupp

ESSEN, West Germany (UPI) — Iran is buying a quarter of the giant Krupp steelworks in the biggest move by an oil-producing country into Western industry, it was announced today.

Krupp, a munitions maker for Germany since the 19th Century and one of the world's major industrial empires, announced approval of Iran's purchase of 25.4 per cent of the firm's steel division. The announcement gave no details, but said the pact was linked with Iranian oil deliveries and the Tehran government's participation in West Germany's gasoline service station network.

The accord marked a major change for Krupp, a big arms maker for Germany's military machine during the two world wars. The Iranian purchase also marked the biggest move by an oil-producing country into Western business.

Premier Bulent Ecevit on ways to avert war between Greece and Turkey over the Greek-led military coup that deposed Cyprus President Archbishop Makarios last Monday.

The Turkish Parliament met in emergency session in Ankara to consider giving Ecevit a mandate to invade Cyprus. Turkey has massed thousands of troops along its southern coast with a number of landing craft and warships. Cyprus lies 50 miles off Turkey's south coast.

Sisco, undersecretary of state, was meeting later today with British Foreign Secretary James Callaghan and Prime Minister Harold Wilson. With diplomatic activity centering in London, Wilson conferred with his cabinet in advance of Sisco's arrival.

Makarios also talked with the British leaders and flew today to New York to plead his case before the U.N. Security Council. Diplomats likened his case to that of Emperor Haile Selassie in his vain attempt to get the League of Nations to intervene when Italy invaded Ethiopia in 1936.

The Soviet Union, which backs Makarios and Turkey, accused Greece on Wednesday of aggression and appealed for vigorous U.N. action to counter the coup. The Kremlin said NATO was blocking U.N. action. Communist news media have accused NATO of master-minding the coup to win a new NATO base on Cyprus.

The U.S. State Department in public statements discounted the likelihood of a war between NATO allies Greece and Turkey but the situation was so serious that Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger postponed a meeting with the House Foreign Affairs Committee today to fly to San Clemente, Calif. for talks with President Nixon.

The United States and Britain were in disagreement on their approach to the Cyprus crisis. Britain rescued Makarios from the Greek-led Cypriot National Guard and flew him to London where it gave him all the courtesies due a ruling president. A British official said he was seeing off Makarios as "the president of Cyprus."

The United States, which has never been fond of Makarios, was reported considering the possibility of recognizing the revolutionary regime in Cyprus. One of the British officials engaged in nonstop diplomatic activities since the crisis broke Monday said, "It is not going to be easy and the danger grows the longer a settlement is put off."

Washington and London agreed to demand that Greece come out "directly or indirectly" against Enosis — the union of Cyprus with Greece — diplomatic sources said. This is the key issue which rouses Turkish anger — the possibility that the 100,000 Turkish Cypriots would come under Athens' rule.

The insurgent government on Cyprus appeared to be completely in control and the Nicosia airport was opened today for the first time since Monday and the curfew was eased. A pooled dispatch from Nicosia said Greek Cypriot troops have launched a massive manhunt for left-wingers and Makarios' supporters.

The dispatch said more than 1,000 persons, including the American-born wife of a Makarios adviser, already have been arrested and house-to-house searches are continuing throughout the island. The American was Barbara Lyssarides, wife of Center Union party leader Vasso Lyssarides. She was arrested in a mountain village, but her husband was still at large.

An unidentified American woman and her child were reported wounded by gunfire as they drove through the Cyprus capital. Hospital spokesmen said their condition was not critical. They were the only foreigners reported wounded.

The pool dispatch said scattered gunfire could still be heard in the countryside, but that Spyros Papageorgiou, the new information chief, denied that it represented continued resistance to the troops that overthrew the government.

Ex-Mayor Lindsay Signs As Commentator on TV

FRANK S. SWERTLOW
NEW YORK (UPI) — Former Mayor John V. Lindsay, one of the great celebrities of television politics, will ironically become a TV commentator this winter when he makes his debut on ABC's new morning show, "AM America."

Lindsay is to politics and broadcasting what athletes are to football and sportscasting. But the choice of Lindsay raises some interesting questions about television and politics in America.

Lone Bid at $39,030 For Case Mt. Fence

Only one bid has been received by the Town of Manchester for furnishing and installing about one-half mile of chain-link and wire fencing on Case Mt. — to separate the town's portion from the portion retained by Wells C. Dennison, Robert C. Dennison and Mrs. Dorothy Case Beach.

The New England Chain Link Fence Co. of Dorchester, Mass. said it could begin work within 30 days of a contract award and could complete the work within 90 days after that.

The loan bidder, at $39,030, is the New England Chain Link Fence Co. of Dorchester, Mass. In addition to the half mile of fencing, the bid specs include two chain-link, double-swing gates.

Town Manager Robert Weiss has recommended a $50,000 appropriation to the Capital Improvement Fund — for installing the fence and for providing a roughly hewn access road to the town property.

Only one bid also was received Wednesday for furnishing and installing an aeration system in Gibbs Hollow Reservoir. The bid is from the Maher Corp. of North Reading, Mass. Its price — at $4,505 — is below the amount estimated and allocated for the job.

Judge Rules Easter-Timed Breaks Invalid

MIAMI (UPI) — Dade County schools have been ordered to stop scheduling spring vacations around the Easter weekend because the practice has the "direct and immediate effect of advancing religion."

The order by U.S. District Court Judge C. Clyde Atkins came as a result of a lawsuit filed by Leonard A. Speller, a social studies teacher who is Jewish.

Atkins also ordered the Dade (Miami) County School Board to allow teachers to use as much of their annual 18 days sick leave as they wish for religious observances. The board had limited use of sick leave for observance of religious holidays to two days a year.

Speller's suit argued that Christian teachers get paid vacations at Christmas and on Good Friday while non-Christians must take sick leave to observe their religious holidays.

In an opinion issued over the weekend, Atkins ordered the Dade County schools to set spring vacation over a uniform established period that does not fluctuate from year to year.

However, he ruled that since Christmas always falls on the same date and has a "secular and indeed universal image," the winter recess may continue to coincide with Christmas.

A school official said the 1975 spring vacation had been scheduled for March 24-28. March 28 is Good Friday. The official said it would be rescheduled.

Solar Plant Proposed

CHARLESTOWN, R.I. (UPI) — Instead of building a nuclear power plant at the former Charlestown naval air station, why not a solar energy plant? Dr. Samuel Seely, a professor at the University of Rhode Island, and president of the Concerned Citizens of Rhode Island, claims that harnessing the sun's energy is a more environmentally sound venture than the possible destruction of the environment by nuclear energy.

The 60-acre site is currently being sought by the Narragansett Electric Co. for a nuclear plant, and the state governments and several local communities are also vying for the surplus acreage left behind in the massive military cut-backs in the state.

"The governor could exercise leadership and could make Rhode Island a leader in solar energy. It is a fact that the ultimate source of fuel in the world will be provided from the sun. It is going to be a major factor in the next 20 years," the physicist said.

Gov. Philip W. Noel has recommended that a nuclear power plant be put at the site. "The governor has taken a position and the real question is can one get the governor to have second thoughts," Seely said.

"When you look at the utilities and see the difficulties they have raising money and consider the poor reliability of nuclear plants, you wonder why they are so persistent in this untried and dangerous technology," Seely said.

One-Time Pill For Canines Being Tested

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Drug manufacturers are testing a one-time birth control pill for female dogs which will give lifetime protection, the director of the National Humane Society said Tuesday.

But he said the government is afraid if the pill gets on the market people might think it was a humane society product. He said the FDA feared low income humans would eat the dog food. He did not identify the manufacturer.

Because of a campaign by grade school students, legislation was introduced in the Iowa legislature to declare the ladybug as the state bug.

Energy Equals Water; Water Equals Energy

There's another aspect of the long-term energy crisis that many people are unaware of. This is the fact that "enormous additional volumes of water" are going to be needed in the nation's effort to meet its future energy needs.

The growth of the electric power industry alone "will soon produce a water shortage that will make the present energy shortage appear trivial," warned chemical engineer Lawrence K. Cecil, speaking before the recent 9th Annual Conference of the American Water Works Association. The association is a nonprofit scientific and educational society representing 30,000 water utilities in North America.

The already started "economic war" between the raw material-producing nations and the profligate consuming nations is forcing a new look at sources of raw materials, said Cecil.

For energy, we are turning to our lavish supplies of fossil fuels—coal, shale oil, tar sands and secondary and tertiary petroleum production—all of which require a great deal of water. The imminent large increase in the cost of bauxite for aluminum is focusing attention on our abundant low-grade aluminum ores, which will require much more water than high-grade bauxite.

The rapidly burgeoning coal gasification industry requires water for use in its product, as well as water for cooling. The pipeline pumping of slurries, like pulverized coal, also demands water, though most of it can be recovered at the destination.

The most important raw material is food. Purchases of food from this country and food donations to some nations facing starvation because of droughts will place a large demand for water in American agriculture. Already, Cecil noted, there is fierce competition for water between agriculture and energy in the fossil fuel-rich western states.

But if it takes water to make energy, it takes energy to produce water, another speaker reminded the conference. Water utilities are beginning to wonder where the power is going to come from to supply the future's greatly increased demands for water, said Ronald L. Raison, superintendent of utilities in Holland, Mich.

Water utilities around the nation currently provide Americans with more than 20 billion gallons of water a day. It takes 45,000 barrels of oil per day to make the necessary electricity to pump this water through treatment plants.

To produce safe water requires chlorine, and to make chlorine requires a large amount of electricity. If there is an increased demand for water, said Raison, it is going to take more electricity to produce the chlorine that will be needed.

At present, however, water is cheap — so cheap that many cities show little concern about how much they waste. Distribution losses are so widespread, consulting engineer Charles W. Keller told the conference, that if a system loses only 10 per cent of its water it's rated as excellent. Even a loss of 20 per cent is considered reasonable.

Not all losses are caused by leakage. Many systems don't meter water used in lighting fires or in flushing streets. Some systems don't meter water that is furnished without charge, such as to parks, municipal buildings and schools.

The message of the conference seems to be that there's water, water everywhere, with many a drop to drink and use for other purposes. But great efforts, and great changes, will be needed over the coming years if we want to keep it that way.

Old Commercials Never Die

If you've ever wondered what happens to old television commercials, and you probably haven't, a lot of them are finding useful retirement in Tucson, where the University of Arizona is establishing an archive.

Advertising agencies and sponsors have already donated more than 1,000 commercials to the collection. Spanning 25 years of history and documenting the rise of the "affluent society," they're considered "irreplaceable cultural artifacts and valuable research material."

Today's Thought

A boy was given his choice of any apple in a basket. He chose the reddest, shiniest one he could find. But when he took the bite, he found it rotten at the core.

"Please cut the next for me," he requested. "That one just had on a pretty costume to fool me."

Paul warns Christians about merely wearing a costume of righteousness, observing customs because of what people might think. He saw the danger in self-righteousness and admonished Christians to glory only in the work of Christ Himself.

Have you made the mistake of trying to look like a Christian without really being a Christian? A costume like this may work for a while, but soon people will discover the truth. The miracle of salvation is that God can give us pure hearts that will cause us to really be what we want people to think we are. Then we will be truly happy. Begin today to make this your personal goal. "God forbid that I should glory, save in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ." Galatians 6:14.

This week and all through the summer months the major power struggles will be over impeachment, until the Senate vote settles it in the end.

Here again, as so many times in the past, President Nixon has shown himself to be his own mortal enemy.

During the past months, it looked for a time as if the House committee had overtalked, overinvestigated and overleaked its credibility with the people, at least just enough to give President Nixon again some of the slight margin of doubt that he had lost with his publication of the transcripts.

Also, the arguments over constitutional law have shifted the spotlight somewhat from the factual question of the President's own complicity in the coverup to the more abstract constitutional questions about executive privilege and the separation of powers.

His reasoning evidently is that if the President's case stands up on the most serious

Washington — Heaven knows what terrible news lies ahead, but as of this writing President Nixon seems to have guessed right in his opposition to Democratic demands for a tax cut to stave off a recession that might happen.

These latest figures issued by the Labor Department should convince Sen. Ted Kennedy & Co. that the economy is more likely to expand again than plunge into a recession. The nation's unemployment level since January after hitting a three-and-a-half year low of 4.6 per cent last October.

Moreover, in case some in Congress think inflation has gone away, they should take note of the Labor Department's report that wages throughout the economy continued to rise in June for the second month in a row since controls were lifted on April 30. Basic wage rates have risen at an annual rate of 9.8 per cent in the last quarter and are up 8.1 per cent over a year ago — both records — and anybody who thinks higher wages don't increase the cost of living should go "way back and sit down."

In short, inflation not only is still with us, it will grow worse before it grows better. President Nixon hasn't much to crow about on the domestic front, but he gets points for at least recognizing the situation and fighting off political attempts to cut taxes in an election year.

Byzantium Itself

WASHINGTON — Had William Butler Yeats lived in Washington, he would feel no need for any sailing to Byzantium. This is Byzantium itself. Here the murderous corridors of power are as dark and twisting as any Byzantine could wish.

Witness the House Judiciary Committee's release of its documents bearing on the Nixon impeachment and especially the disclosure of the alterations made in the original tape texts by the White House auditors. Witness also the maneuvers inside the committee, divided on personality and party lines even within the broader frame of consensus on impeachment. Witness finally the maneuvers of Mr. Nixon and his staff in response to the committee.

This week and all through the summer months the major power struggles will be over impeachment, until the Senate vote settles it in the end. Here again, as so many times in the past, President Nixon has shown himself to be his own mortal enemy.

People Car Hard to Believe

By GIL GODFREY

NEW YORK (UPI) — It was not a dream, a mirage, an idle fantasy.

It was a hard, realistic fact — but the people who saw it shook their heads, rubbed their eyes, stared in utter disbelief. There, into the grimy West 4th Street station on a torrid morning in July glided a subway that looked as if it were commuting between Buckingham Palace and Windsor Castle.

The vision in silver and red drew to a smooth halt. Handsome windowed doors opened silently on air-cooled interiors of multicolored carpeted floors, vinyl-covered foam rubber seats, subtle indirect lighting. An air of immaculate spaciousness left the scene a surreal flavor.

"What's going on here?" "I don't believe it!" "This can't be New York!"

Strangers looked about uneasily to see if they were on the right platform. Some, afraid to get on, plopped down on benches to await the next train.

The ones who bit the bullet enjoyed the best subway ride of their lives. They found themselves aboard a State-of-the-Art car developed by the Urban Mass Transportation Administration of the U.S. Transportation Department. The car is so named because it represents the best available technical know-how in the art of rail rapid transit.

Actually, the State-of-the-Art train consists of two cars — one designed for subway use and another for suburban commuter traffic on such lines as Penn Central or the Long Island Rail Road.

The suburban car seats 62 passengers and has a maximum capacity of 220. There are tables between some of the seats, but otherwise it closely resembles the subway car.

This car seats 72 persons and can accommodate 300. The floors of both cars are covered with red and blue carpets. The one-piece molded fiberglass chairs are colored green, blue and red and are equipped with upholstered cushions.

Four seats are arranged back to back, two on each side. In front of, and behind, each four-seat unit are three seats in a straight row. Some have arm rests beside them.

There are no straps to hang onto, but there are a number of lather-padded metal poles for standers to grasp. The car is skilfully illuminated by indirect lighting along the ceiling and walls. Each side of the car has four sets of doors and three large windows.

The train took off and stopped at the station along the route with effortless ease, and there were no jerks at any time during the trip. Its maximum speed is 80 miles an hour, but New York laws set a 50-mile-an-hour limit. The train can accelerate at 24 feet a second.

Most extraordinary of all was the quietness. Insulation factors built into the car's construction enable passengers to hear each other perfectly when they converse in ordinary tones.

The riders' reactions? Officials of Boeing Vertol Co., systems manager for the train, quote customers as saying: "Isn't it wonderful!" and then adding quickly: "Isn't it a shame it couldn't last in New York!"

The interiors of the cars are vandal-resistant but not vandal-proof. The cars were therefore kept under 24-hour police guard during their July 8th to 13th demonstration run in New York.

The State-of-the-Art train will go to Boston next, and then to Cleveland, Chicago and Philadelphia.

The cars, built by the St. Louis Car Division of General Steel Industries, cost an estimated $350,000 apiece. Municipal transit officials have always been averse to bold experiments. Nevertheless, the future looks black for the cattle cars which have for so long ruled the underground. The era of the People Car may well be at hand.

Vernon Briefs

"A Look At Nature Through An Ecological Approach," will be the theme of the three-week nature course to be sponsored by the Recreation Department at Valley Falls Park starting Monday.

The course will be taught by James DeWitt, a teacher in the Tolland school system and formerly pool director in the Vernon summer program. The classes will meet Monday through Thursday for the three-week period, or a total of 12 classes. One class will run from 1 to 2:30 p.m. and the other from 2:30 to 4 p.m. It is for boys and girls in Grades 3-7.

Members of the lodge, and friends, who have not already purchased tickets for the golf tournament, should contact Frank Sierakowski at 875-8257, as soon as possible.

The summer reading program at the Rockville Public Junior Library will get a boost this week with the addition of about 275 books which are being borrowed from the Williamam Service Center.

A "trade book" program was introduced at the library last week through the donation of a large number of paperbacks by John Halloran, the program operates on the basis of a child bringing a book from home to exchange for one at the library.

On Monday the children will be treated to a trip to Spain via slides and posters loaned by Mrs. John Rodinsky who was a former student at the University of Madrid.

All library programs are offered free of charge to Vernon children in Grades 1-7. However, tickets must be picked up ahead of time, at the library.

On July 24, two movies will be shown: "Moonbeam Princess," and "Private Life of the Kingfisher." There will be a morning and afternoon showing.

The recreation department is also sponsoring a synchronized swimming class for any girl who has earned an intermediate swimming certificate or its equivalent. These classes meet Monday and Thursday from 5 to 6 p.m. at the Vernon Elementary Pool, Rt. 30.

Louise Devaney is instructor of the group which will participate in triangular meets against Bloomfield and Bradford at a later date.

The recreation department is also forming a diving group with Barbara Wise as instructor. This group holds practice sessions on Tuesdays at 7 p.m. at the Vernon Elementary pool.

Men's Club
The Men's Club of the Talcottville Congregational Church is making plans for several summer events. The regular meeting of the club will be Sunday morning in the Fellowship Hall.

Plans are being made for a golf tournament July 31 at the par-three course in Talcottville. It will run from 7 to 9 p.m., and prizes will be awarded. Refreshments will be served later at the church.

A baseball excursion is being planned for Aug. 16 when a chartered bus will transport 45 parishioners to a game in Boston between the Boston Red Sox and the Minnesota Twins.

On Sept. 14, the club will conduct a Tag Sale on Rt. 83, Talcottville. Proceeds from the sale will be used to pay for the paving of the church parking lot.

Golf Tourney
Members of the Rockville Lodge of Elks, and their guests, will compete in the annual golf tournament to be sponsored by the lodge, Aug. 5 at Ellington Ridge Country Club.

Proceeds from the tournament and dinner to be served at the Elks Carriage House following the tournament, will be used toward the lodge's major charity project, The Newington Children's Hospital.

William Pease, exalted ruler of the Rockville lodge, said a minimum goal of $750 has been set as Rockville's share of the $100,000 goal set by the Connecticut Elks Association.

The Connecticut Elks, at a recent state convention, adopted a $30,490 plan presented by Dr. Burr H. Curtis, medical and executive director of Newington Hospital. This plan will involve the renovation of a wing in the East building of the hospital, the purchase of two minibuses, a pulmonary function unit, and equipment for the expansion of the closed circuit television system.

AAA Reports Most Stations Open Weekends
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The American Automobile Association says a majority of gasoline stations are staying open weekends.

In its weekly survey of more than 5,000 stations in every state except Alaska, the AAA said 76 per cent of the stations contacted reported they stayed open after 6 p.m. weeknights, 68 per cent are open Saturday evenings and 57 per cent remain open on Sunday.

The average price of a gallon of gasoline remained at 56 cents for regular and 60 cents for premium, the AAA said. Less than one station in 100 reported that it was out of gasoline entirely.

Hellier Gives Views Wins Endorsement

ANDOVER

Ellen Lariviere
Correspondent
Tel. 742-9117

Speaking to the Andover Republican Town Committee Tuesday evening, Sam Hellier, who is campaigning for the congressional seat from the Second District, gave his views on a variety of many issues. After the speech, the committee voted to endorse Hellier for the post.

Concerning inflation, Hellier explained that he served in the state legislature on the Eberington Commission where he made extensive studies and recommendations to help the Connecticut taxpayer to get more for each dollar. He feels something can be done to combat inflation, but it must be a joint effort on all levels including the international level.

On the issue of Watergate, Hellier stated that he does not feel that the President should resign. He feels the impeachment process should be carried out and that the President should be tried by the government and not by the news media. Hellier said he would not take a stand on the issue for if he is elected to Congress he would be a member of the jury in the impeachment process and wanted to keep an open mind on the matter.

Agriculture is another important issue especially in Eastern Connecticut. Hellier feels that low interest or no interest loans should be made available to young persons interested in going into farming. The farms must be kept productive, for if they are not functioning everyone will suffer. He also feels that federal grants should be made available for young people interested in agricultural education.

On the issues of foreign policy, Hellier stated that he would not agree with any agreement that doesn't have a great number of safety measures. He said he is a strong believer in talking, for as long as people are talking, peace is more evident. Hellier said that if people are starving in another country we should help them without expecting repayment. He also sincerely hopes that action can be taken to convince the Turkish people to discontinue the growing of opium.

Hellier said that if elected he will keep open the offices which were started by Con. Robert Steele. These offices serve as communication points so taxpayers have a more direct line to the congressman. He also said he plans to open additional offices.

If he goes to Washington, Hellier feels he will leave his family in Connecticut. This way he will be better in touch with those he is representing.

The miniature signal has "walk" and "don't walk" flashing signals. Deputy Commissioner James F. Shugrue made the presentation.

The "Safety Town" project, funded by the DOT office of highway safety, was developed by the town and the woman's club, to establish a comprehensive safety program for preschoolers. Included in the grant are funds for the full-time instructor to teach the course.

Joseph B. Burns, commissioner of transportation, said, "The project provides an excellent opportunity to familiarize preschool youngsters with highway safety."

He complimented the town and the woman's club, for extensive volunteer work in developing the program which involves some 180 children a year.

After the Vernon program ends, the traffic signal will be available for loan to all of the state's education groups as well as civic and safety-oriented groups.

Towns interested in developing programs similar to Vernon's Safety Town, should write to Commissioner Burns, Connecticut Department of Education, P.O. Drawer A, Wethersfield, Conn. 06109.

Members of the lodge, and friends, who have not already purchased tickets for the golf tournament, should contact Frank Sierakowski at 875-8257, as soon as possible.

Special Traffic Signal Given to 'Safety Town'

VERNON

A specially constructed education traffic signal was presented to the Town of Vernon Wednesday at an open house at "Safety Town" sponsored by the Vernon Junior Woman's Club.

The signal, built by the Department of Transportation's (DOT) office of maintenance traffic signal laboratory out of salvaged parts, is to be used to familiarize preschoolers in the grant area with the meaning of various traffic signals.

The miniature signal has "walk" and "don't walk" flashing signals. Deputy Commissioner James F. Shugrue made the presentation.

And We'll Hitch Old Dobbin to the Shay'

Newlyweds, Peggy Lee Jacobs and David J. Forman, turned down the jet-age means of transportation and returned to the horse and carriage, at least for their wedding day.

The couple exchanged wedding vows July 13 at the Church of the Assumption in Manchester.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard P. Jacobs, 742 Hilltown Rd. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Forman, 66 Benton St.

The Rev. Paul Trinquet celebrated the folk Mass and performed the double-ring ceremony.

Mrs. Carol Hawthorne, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Nola J. Forman of Manchester, the bridegroom's sister; Mrs. Patricia Miller of Terryville, the bride's cousin; and the Misses Maureen and Michelle Riley of Glastonbury, cousins of the bride. Miss Cheryl Terryville, the bride's cousin, was flower girl.

Raymond Sartor of Manchester was best man. Ushers were Paul D. Hawthorne of Manchester, the bride's brother-in-law; Thomas Jacobs of Manchester, the bride's brother; and Michael Riley of Glastonbury, the bride's cousin.

The couple was driven in a horse-drawn carriage to the bride's home where a reception was held. Miss Lori Langan of Seven J's Farm in Glastonbury was the driver.

The couple left for a trip to Niagara Falls and the coast of Maine. They will reside in Manchester.

Mrs. Forman is employed as a secretary at Hartford National Bank. Mr. Forman is employed as a technician at the United Aircraft Research Laboratories.

While there was no "fields of clover" to drive old Dobbin through, Mr. and Mrs. David J. Forman enjoyed the ride to the reception following their marriage Saturday. Neighbor's Kitchen

Last week, we talked about proper hygiene in the kitchen. The suggestions were those of Brenda Strong, assistant dietitian at Manchester Memorial Hospital.

Food infection or food poisoning can occur at any time of the year but more particularly in warm weather. Micro-organisms grow most rapidly in temperatures from 66-100 degrees. With many outdoor functions, we must take particular care to ensure the health of our families.

Anything that contains mayonnaise or salad dressing should be handled with great care. The dressings themselves may not require refrigeration. In combination with other foods, refrigeration is absolutely imperative.

Cold cuts and hamburger contaminate easily. If the food is left out too long, it may not look contaminated, though it will be. Should it touch anything else or you handle it, you can contaminate other foods and utensils.

When serving outdoors, put the food out at the last minute. Keep it covered with mesh covers especially made for the purpose. A clear wrap can serve just as well to keep out insects. If food is left over, get it back into the refrigerator. When cooking hamburgers outside, why not have a cooler nearby filled with ice. Put the hamburgers inside until you are ready to grill another batch.

Another housewife cuts a chicken on a wooden board. She simply wipes it off, uses no soap. Everything that touches the cutting board from that point on contracts salmonella.

Another housewife cuts a chicken on a wooden board. She simply wipes it off, uses no soap. Everything that touches the cutting board from that point on contracts salmonella. Mothers of babies should be most aware of this. If the baby doesn't finish his bottle, don't leave it on the counter even if it is still warm. Put it into the refrigerator for later reheating.

It is most important that hot foods be cooled down as quickly as possible. So often, hot foods are left on the kitchen counter until they reach room temperature, then refrigerated. It is far more important to get them into the cold climate rapidly even if the refrigerator runs a little longer.

The same rule is true when defrosting meats. "So often, comments Brenda, "the housewife who works will take something out in the morning for defrosting. She may leave it on the counter until she gets home from work. By that time, the food could be contaminated without her knowledge and we can't be sure that the micro-organism will be destroyed in cooking."

Brenda recommends all defrosting be done in the refrigerator. "If necessary, put the defrosted item in the refrigerator the night before rather than leave it out on the counter. It's much better to plan ahead than to take the risk."

There is a way to defrost foods more rapidly if you are around the house. Put it in a water-tight plastic bag, seal it well and submerge in cold water. As soon as defrosted, use it or put into the refrigerator. As a general rule do not refreeze foods that have been defrosted. Chicken, pork, hamburger and fish are foods that become easily contaminated. After defrosting, meats such as pork and chicken should be thoroughly cooked. There is no danger in eating pork in the summer if you buy it from a reliable butcher, bring it home and refrigerate it promptly, cook it the day you buy it or at least the next day, and cook it well. It is important that hands, utensils, cutting boards, etc. be washed thoroughly with hot soap and water after preparation. The Department of Consumer Protection gave me two

Representatives of machinists and the management of National Airlines were called back to the bargaining table today in Washington. The same union, the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers, AFL-CIO, is still negotiating with financially distressed Trans World Airlines. The union has reached settlements with United, Eastern and Northwest Airlines.

At Quincy, Mass., 1,800 shipbuilders at the General Dynamics Yard ratified a three-year contract Wednesday by a 2-1 margin, ending a 12-day strike that had become the second longest current walkout in the country. Workers returned to their jobs today.

Frison guards returned to work Wednesday at Cranston, R.I., following a two-day strike. Union leaders agreed not to stage walkouts in the future. The strike started Tuesday when guards protested a decision by Deputy Warden Ronald Brule not to place an inmate automatically in the segregation unit of the facility. The inmate had been involved in a fight with a guard.

About Town

The Prayer Group of St. Mary's Episcopal Church will meet tonight at 7 p.m. in the Guild Room of the church.

Manchester Young Marines will meet Friday at 7 p.m. at the Marine Corps League Home.

Full Gospel Christian Fellowship, Interevangelical, will have a Bible study and open discussion tonight at 7:30 at Orange Hall.

Dr. Turek said that many individuals in Manchester are knowledgeable about and interested in setting up such a health department. The Capitol Region Advisory Council will soon start reaching decisions and making recommendations on emergency medical services that will affect Manchester, she said. Therefore it seems urgent to have an advisory board or committee set up with the authority to speak for the town on such matters, she added.

Economy Drops

WASHINGTON (UPI) — States endured a mild recession in the first three months of 1974. The drop in economic output between April and June was small — something less than 1 per cent — informed sources said. This was far less than the 4.3 per cent decline in the first three months of 1974, the biggest quarterly slump since 1968.

Sanitary Crew Cited

Two sewage pumping stations maintained by the Town of Manchester were reported earlier this year in good operating condition and the sanitation department commended "for a job well done."

Charles Pailer is chief operator of the town Sewage Treatment Plant.

The inspection was made Feb. 4 by a representative of the state Department of Environmental Protection (DEP); the report was dated May 24; Town Manager Robert B. Weiss Wednesday released the report of Gregory G. Sznuk, the DEP's senior field inspector.

The pumping stations inspected are on Ridgewood St. and on W. Middle Tpke., west of I-86.

The one on W. Middle Tpke. services the Fountain Village and Beacon Hills apartment complexes. It pumps sewage into the East Hartford sewage plant of the MDC (Metropolitan District Commission). Because of I-86, the town is unable to pump the sewage into its system and pays a sewage fee to the MDC. Fountain Village and Beacon Hill apartments are serviced with water also by the MDC — also on a fee basis.

The Ridgewood St. pumping station services a few low lying dwellings in that area. It is the only station in Manchester pumping sewage into the town system. The sewage flow in all other areas is by gravity.

In his complimentary report, Sznuk said, "The Ridgewood St. station is old, needed maintenance (before it was readied for inspection), cleaning, painting, repairs, lighting, etc. This station, in its age, now looks brand new. An excellent job was done on everything recommended."

All-Star Balloting

With this year's major league All-Star game slated for Pittsburgh's Three Rivers Stadium Tuesday night, attention must be diverted toward the manner of selecting the teams.

Boston Red Sox' injured catcher Carlton Fisk was way ahead in his department with a final tally of 1,638,574 votes. His unavailability makes New York Yankee catcher Thurman Munson the starter. Munson is hitting around .290 at latest look.

Detroit Tiger Bill Freehan followed Munsion in fan support. For argument sake, however, let's say Freehan was second. In other seasons a good selection, Freehan has been used extensively at first base by Manager Ralph Houk in recent weeks. He placed second in the balloting at first base but only after some last-second ballot stuffing by Philadelphia fans. He was a write-in candidate.

It might not be the wisest move public relations-wise but Kuhn should give serious consideration of turning the voting back to the fans. They're the ones who should know who deserves to participate in the mid-season classic.

The All-Star game is for the fans, letting them view the top talent of both leagues at one site at the same time. But it is dubious having the fans electing the teams' just recall the year Cincinnati boosted voters out of starting positions to their own players. It could happen again.

Popularity Contest

It all goes to prove that the voting has turned into a popularity contest — which town can stuff the ballot faster and longer, the deciding factor — not the player's ability.

Oakland's Joe Rudi is consistently overlooked while Texas' slugger Jeff Burroughs made the lineup with a late second surge of fan support.

It's nice to have fan participation in All-Star selections as Commissioner Bowie Kuhn deeply believes, but a major question arises. Are the players who make the squad deserving? In some cases fans vote because of nostalgia — Aaron the prime example. Other times ballots are cast out of familiarity. It doesn't matter if the player is having a mediocre season — just please know the name and punch out the card where the name is indicated.

Ralph Garr of the Atlanta Braves deserves more support and budding stars like Mike Schmidt of the Phillies and Greg Goss of the Houston Astros have been overlooked. Garr has proven consistent with the bat, yet his recognition is minimal. Schmidt placed second in the balloting at third base but only after some last-second ballot stuffing by Philadelphia fans. He was a write-in candidate.

It might not be the wisest move public relations-wise but Kuhn should give serious consideration of turning the voting back to the fans. They're the ones who should know who deserves to participate in the mid-season classic.

Bruce Ballard Hurls Two-Hitter Pacing Manchester Legion to Win

Manchester did all of its scoring in the second with two-out. Bruce Peck walked and stole second without drawing a throw. Tim Thibodeau also walked and both runners moved up on a wild pitch by losing hurler Rich Rabe. Ballard then ebbed a slow roller to second baseman Tom Smith. Smith fumbled it, picked it up, and then threw wild-past first baseman Jim Kayan allowing both runners to score.

Joe Banning drew a free pass and Ray Sullivan dumped a single to shallow right playing Ballard.

The Silk Towners apparently added a marker in the third but it was called back. Ron Soucier singled to left, swiped

New Mental Outlook Aiding Angels, Twins

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dick Williams and Frank Quilici have one thing in common as managers; they think mental attitude is as important as physical ability.

Both made the same point Wednesday night in explaining why the California Angels and Minnesota Twins have hit winning strides after experiencing brutal slumps. The Angels have won five of their last six games while the Twins have won nine of their last 12.

"They've never been winners before and now are beginning to win," said Williams after the Angels' 7-5 victory over the Cleveland Indians. "It's a new experience. I've been a winner and know what it's like. Now it's their turn and they're beginning to like it."

"The combination of hot weather and the tough schedule takes it's toll," Williams said. "The Twins whipped the Milwaukee Brewers, 10-5. 'But we're playing exceptionally good ball and developing a winning attitude.'"

Lee Stanton hit two-run singles in the eighth and ninth innings as the Angels overcame a 3-0 Cleveland lead. The Angels were held to just two hits in the first seven innings but then rallied for four runs in the eighth and three in the ninth to hand the Indians their sixth straight loss.

Reggie Jackson doubled in one run and scored the other on a wild pitch by Mike Cuellar as the A's completed a three-game sweep of the Orioles. Vida Blue allowed seven hits in 8 2/3 innings for his 10th win with Rolfie Fingers coming on to get the final out. The loss was Cuellar's sixth against 12 victories.

Serafini Hurls MB's To Twilight Victory

Behind the two-hit pitching of John Serafini, Moriarty Brothers blanked the East Hartford Merchants, 7-0, last night at McAuffie Park in a Greater Hartford Twilight League encounter.

The win boosted the Comets' lead in the American Division to a full game over New Britain. The MB's are now 184 with the Falcons at 84.

Moriarty's pushed across three runs in the third frame. Bill Crowley led off with a double and Bob Carlson walked. The runners moved up on a ground out and Paul Baretta legged

Dodgers' John Fuming

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Berra picked John's teammates Andy Messersmith (10-2) and reliever Mike Marshall (11-4) but said he would be scheduled to pitch Saturday for the Dodgers. The All-Star game is in Pittsburgh Tuesday.

John, whose ERA is 2.50, Mets' manager Yogi Berra. "In all my baseball career, I'd have to say this is the biggest disappointment I've had," John said.

"What's the excuse? Berra or (commissioner) Bowie Kuhn or whoever is saying a team can't have three pitchers on the All-Star team is a lot of bunk."

Attendance in WFL Down

NEW YORK (UPI)—Judging by the latest returns, last week's encouraging World Football League attendance figures may have been only a case of "opening night" curiosity.

The fledgling football conference began Week II of its existence Wednesday night and the crowd figures, although still higher than many skeptics predicted, took a dramatic downward plunge.

In New York, where the Stars were making their debut in dilapidated Downing Stadium, 17,493—1,200 admitted freebies—showed up to watch the hometowners blow a 26-point halftime lead in losing 33-29 to the Birmingham Americans.

The Chicago Fire drew 26,058 in winning its second straight game at home, 25-22 over the Jacksonville Sharks. The turnout, however, was quite a drop from last week's estimated 42,000 showups at spacious Soldiers Field.

And in Houston, even a "nickel beer" come-on drew only 26,277 to see Texas blank Philadelphia 14-0 in the 50,000 seat Astrodome. Detroit, meanwhile, drew half its expected crowd when 10,631 showed up to see the host Wheels get edged by Florida 18-14 in the final minutes of play.

Southern California, opening at home, drew 32,088 fans to watch the Sun beat the Hawaiians 38-31.

For 30 minutes, the insufficient lighting at New York's Downing Stadium, a converted soccer field, played to the Stars' advantage in their WFL hometown inaugural against Birmingham.

The enthusiastic crowd was treated to a most delightful first half as the Stars, who had lost a heartbreaker the week before, jumped out to a 29-3 halftime lead on a looked-after drive to punn out on their southern visitors.

But suddenly, the second half became a complete turnabout as Americans' quarterback George Mira began throwing touchdown strikes and by early in the fourth quarter, Birmingham trailed by only four points.

"It was really a matter of my receivers getting used to the poor lighting," said Mira, who fired TD strikes of 20 yards to Ted Powell and four yards to Al Jenkins before running a third score from the ones.

Nevertheless, it appeared the Stars would still be able to hold onto the victory when they stopped a Birmingham drive at the Americans' 43 late in the final quarter.

Mira, however, wasn't through yet and after failing to hit his favorite target Dennis Hornan on a long gain for all night, found the former Alabama star with a 53-yard TD bomb that dashed the Stars' hopes for an opening night win in front of the hometown faithful.

Florida 18 Detroit 14
Tom Reamon slashed over from the five with 1:37 to play to deliver Florida's victory over Detroit. Like Birmingham, it was the second straight triumph for the Blazers. Ex-New York QB quarterback Bob Davis connected with Matt Maslovski for a six-yard scoring pass that accounted for the other Blazers' score. A disappointing crowd of 10,631.

Houston 11 Philadelphia 0
Defensive back Daryl Johnson intercepted King Corcoran's sideline pass and returned it 17 yards for one Texan score in the first period and Charlie Durkee added a 28-yard field goal in the second stanza.

Chicago 25 Jacksonville 22
Virgil Carter directed an 88-yard drive in less than four minutes to set up a 26-yard field goal by Chuck Ramsey that delivered the Fire victory with six seconds remaining to play. Rookie Mark Keller also scored twice for Chicago, taking a 31-yard pass from Carter in the first period and punting over from the one in the fourth.

Southern California 38 Hawaiians 31
Tony Adams completed 13-of-19 passes for 208 yards and one touchdown and ran for two TDs to spark the Sun to a wild victory over the Hawaiians.

Cross Country Opener Draws Large Turnout

Showing the interest is there, over 50 runners and 100 spectators turned out last night at the Manchester Community College campus for the first of a series of cross country races to be held this summer in Manchester.

Young Pat Brand of Rockville turned in an exceptional performance as he out-classed a field of outstanding high school runners as he toured the 3.7 mile course in 17:46. The High School Division was the most contested grouping as close to 15 schoolboys crossed the line within minutes of the leader. Joe Fretto of Tolland was second and Joe Noel of Rockville took third place.

Barry Shekely of MCC and Rick Gove of Summer Activities in Manchester (SAM), race co-ordinators, were pleased with the opening turnout. "This was our first experience with a running race of this size," Shekely said. "We hope to solve a few minor problems in the design of the course so the remaining races run smoother."

The second race of the series will be held Wednesday night at 6:30 on the MCC campus. All are invited to participate.

ABA Makes Move, Barnes Inks Contract

St. Louis and renamed the Spirits, had signed Barnes, a 6-foot 9 center-forward who was the second highest draft choice of the NBA behind UCLA's Bill Walton.

Barnes is a "can't miss" prospect, according to pro coaches and scouts, who combine size, strength, speed and agility. He signed with the ABA instead of the NBA Philadelphia 76ers, he said, "because of its dedication in getting the best of all college players."

Charlotte Cougars for the past three years, finalized the sale of the franchise to a group of New York businessmen headed by 41-year-old marketing executive Harry Weisman early in the day to clear the way for him, Munchak, to replace Storen as the ABA Commissioner.

But crucial to both moves and essential to the ABA's effort to keep pace with the National Basketball Association was an announcement that the Cougars, who will be moved to

NFL Players Strike

No Progress Reported

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The pro football players proffered what they viewed as a negotiating olive branch. The owners reacted as if it were caught. That was today's progress report on the National Football League strike.

Bill Curry, president of the NFL Players Association, advocated Wednesday a three-stage agreement to end the strike, entering its 18th day. The Houston Oilers center proposed that around-the-clock bargaining talks between the players and owners start Friday. If they fail, he expressed the union's willingness to submit everything except the so-called "freedom issue" demands to binding arbitration.

Curry also suggested that a special fact-finding commission be created to weigh the "freedom issue" demands which consist of allowing a player to switch teams after his contract expires and to have some veto power over being traded to another club.

But John Thompson, chief negotiator for the owners' Management Council, contended that Curry's proposals were a breach of a confidential agreement both sides had made with a federal mediator.

The mediator was James Seacore, who met with the two sides for seven hours Friday in an effort to get bargaining going again in the strike which started July 1.

Ed Garvey, executive director of the Players Association, said of Thompson's "breach of confidence" charge, "I don't know what he's talking about. Bill Curry's proposals were made at the initiative of the players' union."

Curry proposed a five-member commission, with one of them from the news media, to "investigate the impact of the association's proposals as to the freedom issues on the players, the owners and the game of football."

Except for 13 basic "freedom issue" demands, he said the players would be agreeable to letting other economic and non-economic issues go to arbitration if the owners would agree.

But first, he said, the players want "good faith, down-to-earth, round-the-clock negotiations."

In another move, Washington Redskins veterans decided against picketing a rookie scrimmage to be played at Robert F. Kennedy Stadium Friday for the benefit of the American Boy Scouts with a $3 admission charge.

Garvey association, explained, "The Redskins members of the union decided they didn't wish to picket an intracade game that's being played for charity. It's kind of a trace to see if the proposals the union has made can work."

Elsewhere, six Miami Dolphins veterans crossed picket lines Wednesday and returned to training camp. Coach Don Shula said other striking veterans could jeopardize bonuses by refusing to report.

Center Jim Langer, safety Jake Scott, tight end Jim Manich, linebacker Bob Matheson, quarterback Earl Morrall and reserve fullback Don Nottingham also reported.

Three Nabbed In Robbery

FAIRFIELD (UPI) — Three men, a juvenile and a woman were arrested late Wednesday night shortly after the 1900 robbery of a rest area on the Connecticut Turnpike in Fairfield.

State police said the woman was arrested at the scene of the holdup in the Nutmeg Inn and the others apprehended in an auto at Exit 9 of the turnpike in Stamford.

State police said a man accompanied by a woman entered the inn about 11:30 p.m. and went to the manager's office, pulled a gun and took the money.

The man ran out, leaving the woman behind, and jumped into an auto containing three other persons, state police said.

Responding police who arrested the woman said she was armed. All the money was recovered from the auto, police said.

Charged with first degree robbery were Grady Cobb, 26, and Delisa Floris, 28, both of Stamford.

Andrew Peniston, 25, of Stamford, Eddie Young, 47, and a 15-year-old boy were charged with conspiracy to commit robbery.

Smoke Radiation Seen Possible Key To Lung Cancer

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — A Johns Hopkins University professor says low-level radiation that occurs naturally in tobacco smoke could be the primary cause of lung cancer in smokers, especially men.

Previously, tar and nicotine have been blamed as the main cause of lung cancer in smokers, especially men.

Radford said the lead-210 possibly could be removed from the tobacco leaves by scrubbing or some other process.

He also said the danger of contracting lung cancer decreased after a smoker quit, because the body had time to expel the radioactive material and time healed damage done to tissue.

Radford, a professor of environmental medicine in the Johns Hopkins School of Hygiene and Public Health, said lung cancer each year kills about 65 males out of 100,000 and about 12 females out of 100,000. The rate for women, he added is increasing rapidly.

Long Life
A newly planted date palm tree will not bear fruit for about eight years and will not be fully mature until it is 30 years old. But the tree does not begin to decline until it is 100 years old and some have lived 200 years!

The system's software permits man to freely "converse" with the main computer either numerically or pictorially, which in turn produces an instantaneous response. As a result of this specialized programing the computer "understands" the picture, makes calculations based on it, and presents understandable answers or a revised picture to the designer or engineer.

Prior to joining Gerber, O'Brien was associated with Pratt and Whitney Aircraft and United Aircraft Research Laboratories.

Patriarca Seeks Freedom on Bail

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — Reputed New England underworld boss Raymond L.S. Patriarca, claiming his conduct in prison has been "exemplary," Wednesday asked the Rhode Island Supreme Court to release him on bail until a hearing is held on his request for a new trial on murder conspiracy charges.

The shooting deaths of two men who were gunned down in a Providence grocery store in 1966.

In a petition filed with the high court, Patriarca said he has never jumped bail and has had "an exemplary conduct record" as a prisoner. He said he runs a small unannounced business in Providence and has "emotional, physical and family ties" to the city.

The Rhode Island Parole Board recently rejected Patriarca's request for release pending a court hearing in October.

Houley Places Self In District 35 Race

Vernon Democrat Robert D. Houley, a two-term state senator from the 35th District, has decided to run again for that post after taking a two-year breather.

Robert D. Houley

Houley announced in March of 1972 that he was retiring from politics at the end of the term he was then serving. At the time he cited increased personal business pressures as his reason for not seeking a third term.

In a letter to delegates to the party's convention which is a week away, Houley said he expected withdrawal from the senate race of front-runner Michael Riley of Somers.

"I started my adrenalin flowing," Houley said. "Mike, who waged such a strong campaign in the race of overwhelming odds in 1972, seemed likely to be an even stronger candidate this year and certainly had a good claim to consideration once again."

The 42-year-old Houley has, over the years, been active in Vernon having served on the Town Council, the Economic Development Commission and the Zoning Commission.

At the convention which will be Wednesday at the Regency Hotel, Houley will be opposed for the nomination by District, a Democrat can win," he said.

In the race between Riley and Vernon Republican Thomas Carruthers two years ago, Carruthers won "by only 52 to 46 per cent despite the Nixon-Republican landslide," Houley said.

Houley defeated Carruthers for the 35th District senate seat in 1970 but reappointment in 1972 changed the district's boundaries to the southern Tolland County and half of Democratic Mansfield adding a half-dozen largely Republican towns and part of a 15th. It extends from Somers to Brooklyn and from Vernon to Woodstock.

During his second term Houley was a frequent and outspoken critic of the Republican Meskill administration and its "fiscal practices" which he termed excessive and irresponsible. He also charged that the Meskill system had replaced the merit system for state employees.

Houley served as chairman of the Agriculture Committee in 1969-70 and became chairman of the Appropriations Committee in his second term. He and his wife, Helen, live on Merline Rd. with their three children.

Houley would get into this contest if I didn't plan to give it all I've got, and I know that, despite the Republican yearning of the 35th district.

The assets of the Savings Bank of Rockville have reached a high of $56,254,141, corporators were told at the 116th annual meeting Tuesday.

Charles Pressler, president, said the figure represents an increase of $1,433,431 over a year ago. He said the total deposits of the bank's 20,652 customers, plus 2,830 club account members, totaled a new high of $50,472,301.

He added that group home mortgage insurance, group home mortgage health insurance and low-cost savings bank life insurance are also a part of the many services of the bank which, besides the main office in Rockville, has a branch in Somers providing all of the same services.

At Tuesday's meeting the following directors were elected: Julius M. Kosiorek, Pressler, Francis Gregory, Francis Rupprecht, Raymond Ramsdell, Raymond Ladd, Charles Chibberg, Wayne Vincent, Edward Zuhner, Howard Wolfanger and Robert Pigo.

Arbitration Continues In Teachers' Contract

By DOUG BEVINS

Disputes over a new contract for Manchester's public school teachers went into a second arbitration session today with the major issue of the contract — salary — still unresolved.

Representatives of the Board of Education and the Manchester Education Association (MEA) began today's session before a three-member arbitration panel at the school board's administrative offices at 9:30 a.m.

It was expected that today's meeting, which follows a 6½-hour meeting last Thursday, would conclude the arbitration. A written decision by the arbitrators on unresolved contract issues is expected within two weeks.

By SOL R. COHEN

On Monday, when GOP State Rep. Donald Genova, 12th Assembly District, announced he won't seek re-election to the post he has held since 1967, only one Democrat had been in the race for his party's nomination.

thought of running crossed his mind in the past, but he isn't interested at present. Joseph Czerniowski, long-time member of the Democratic Town Committee, said he is proud to have been considered, but his work wouldn't permit him to devote the time needed for the legislative post.

Manchester Republicans, who will endorse their candidates the next night, Aug. 1, have yet to announce potential candidates.

Teacher Salary Decision In Hands of Arbitrators

Tank Car Explodes

DECATUR, Ill. (UPI) — A tank car exploded in a railroad yard early today, touching off a fire that covered nearly a city block.

The MEA's demand for increases in salary are based on the skyrocketing cost of living, teachers' total benefits Thursday. The request for fringe benefits increases are based largely on an attempt to gain parity with fringe benefits now received by other Town of Manchester employees, teachers said.

There were no deaths reported, but at least 65 persons were being treated for injuries at local hospitals, mostly for lacerations from flying glass. The blast rocked the city at 5:03 a.m. and residents three miles away reported shock waves from the blast.

Town Officials Pleased With Paper Pickup

By MAL BARLOW The once-a-week pickup of newspaper from the curb by the town's new refuse collector has made town administrators "quite happy."

Teacher Layoff Procedure Issue Remains Unresolved

By DOUG BEVINS The Manchester Education Association (MEA) and Board of Education Thursday agreed to a provision for the new contract provision because of anticipated teacher staff cutbacks if student enrollment drops.

Before the new plan, townspeople would voluntarily bring their newspaper to the refuse area off Olcott St. and leave it at the town's trailer. Giles said the town was getting three to four tons of paper a week by this method.

The primary intent is to protect teachers with long years of service in Manchester. DiRosa said he called attention to the school board attitude of "more for less," and suggested that the board might try to save money by dismissing older teachers who are more expensive than new teachers.

Since the new method of curbside pickup began, he estimates the pickup has been closer to 20 tons a week.

DEP contends that the lake is being polluted by these properties but town officials have said it is not so. Recent coliform tests done in the lake have shown that the lake is not now polluted.

The town had hoped for as much as 20 tons of newspaper per week, which is equal to half the total of 60 tons of newspaper the town guesses townspeople order into their homes each week.

Since the firm has not received their new trucks yet, they cannot use this method, So, Giles said Thursday, the firm

Due to the potential income from the ordinance against other firms picking up the newspaper, Town Council William Bronnelli told Giles and Weiss there is an ordinance on the books against "scavenging" along city streets.

All the disputed issues are now in the hands of the arbitrators, who are expected to meet next week and render a written decision within two weeks.
