

Standstill Truce Signed for Cyprus

By United Press International

The United Nations appealed today for immediate reinforcements to help police the new Cyprus peace agreement, which brought a standstill truce to the war-torn island but left months of hard bargaining ahead.

Both Greece and Turkey hailed the truce as a step toward peace on Cyprus and the beginning of a new era of friendly relations for the two countries, America's allies in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The breakthrough agreement, signed Tuesday night in Geneva by foreign ministers of Britain, Greece and Turkey, ordered an immediate halt in fighting and the start of talks next week on the future of the former British colony.

But the pact left open the question of troop withdrawals, meaning the Turkish invasion force could remain on the troubled island for the time being. It also made no mention of Archbishop Makarios, the deposed Cypriot president.

New Status

"This is the beginning of new status for Cyprus," Turkish Premier Bulent Ecevit said in Ankara Tuesday night. "Turkey has confirmed at the conference what its forces gained in Cyprus."

In Athens, Greek Premier Constantine Karamanlis said the pact was "the starting point for a just settlement of the Cyprus issue."

He said the pact benefited "the peace and prosperity of its people, the restoration of good relations between the two neighboring countries and the safeguarding of peace in this corner of the world."

In Nicosia, a U.N. spokesman said the peace-keeping forces on the island would need immediate reinforcements to supervise the truce. "We now have 3,500 troops and we will need 5,000 to make the cease-fire work," he said.

Started July 15

The cease-fire agreement came two weeks after the Greek-led Cypriot national guard's July 15 coup against Archbishop Makarios. Turkey invaded the island July 20 to prevent union of Cyprus with Greece.

Both sides agreed to a U.N.-sponsored cease-fire on July 22, but Turkey continued to pour men and materiel onto the island. The last U.N. estimate put Turkey's strength on Cyprus at 30,000 men.

The "Declaration of Geneva" signed Tuesday night came after six days of grueling talks, threatened continually by boycotts from Greece and Turkey.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger helped win the final breakthrough in crisis phone calls to the Greek and Turkish governments.

Turkey Winner

Political analysts said Turkey appeared the real winner in the pact, gaining almost everything it had demanded while making few concessions in return.

The Geneva agreement called for a 10 p.m. in-place cease-fire, creation of a security zone between Greek and Turkish forces to be manned by U.N. troops and the return of prisoners.

It also called for negotiations on the "timely and phased" reductions of foreign troops and war materiel on the island and for discussions next week on establishing permanent peace between Greek and Turkish communities.

Foreign Ministers George Mavros of Greece, Turan Guney of Turkey and James Callaghan of Britain agreed to return to Geneva Aug. 8 to resume the talks.

Nixon May Seek Quick House Vote

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With odds growing that the House will impeach him, President Nixon is considering asking for a vote without debate in order to get a prompt trial in the Senate, a White House official said today.

Patrick J. Buchanan, the President's main speech writer, said that such a move is "under active consideration" and has not been ruled out.

Buchanan said that the reasoning behind such a move would be to "get it over with quickly" in the House and, if impeached, to give him a chance to prove his innocence in the Senate.

"None of us want to see the House Republicans put in a very difficult position, especially if we prevail" in keeping the House from impeaching Nixon, he said.

Traffic Safety Grant Given Town Police

The Manchester Police Department has been awarded $36,000 in federal highway safety funds to implement a two-man "traffic services bureau." Police Chief James Reardon has announced.

The grant is one of five given Connecticut towns for such a program, Reardon said, and Manchester's $36,000 award is the largest share of money given any municipality.

The grant, which comes from the Federal Highway Safety Program through the state transportation department, will finance a two-man, two-vehicle traffic division, Reardon said.

Reardon said the function of the new traffic division will be accident investigation and selective enforcement, with special emphasis on behavior such as drunken driving.

Implementation of a traffic division is one of the last steps in an overall traffic safety program which has been paid for by

Judiciary Committee Finds Three Impeachment Counts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Judiciary Committee has finished judging Richard Nixon and has called for his impeachment, trial and removal from office for three alleged high crimes against the government he heads.

Almost glad at the end of finding something to exonerate Nixon about, the committee decided by majority vote at its closing session Tuesday night against recommending impeachment on two other proposed grounds — secretly bombing Cambodia, and underpaying his taxes by $432,787.

Last week, lilting prayerful songs from flag-carrying supporters of the President greeted the congressmen on the Rayburn building lawn when they finished their first night's work.

But Tuesday night, they were replaced by about 100 men, women and children who stood in a cluster and applauded the congressmen who voted to recommend impeachment. They hissed Rep. Charles W. Sandman Jr., R-N.J., Nixon's vocal defender.

Next — in about two weeks — comes the House impeachment debate and, if a majority votes to impeach, the President goes on trial in the Senate late this summer.

The Judiciary Committee, led by Peter W. Rodino Jr., who came to Congress with Nixon in 1949, held more than 35 hours of debate in six sessions and recommended impeachment on these grounds:

The Articles

—By a vote of 27-11, with six Republicans in support, for obstruction of justice in the Watergate cover-up.

—By 28-10, with seven Republicans joining, for abusing power and violating the rights of citizens through break-ins, wiretaps and tax harassment.

—By 21-17, with two Democrats dissenting and only two Republicans joining the majority, for defying the committee's subpoenas for 147 tapes.

A White House official, declining to be quoted by name, condemned as "a dangerous precedent" the committee's decision to recommend Nixon's impeachment for refusing to furnish tapes demanded by the committee.

Future presidents could be removed for refusing to comply with inappropriate subpoenas, he argued.

Articles Rejected

A majority of 26 to 12 committee members turned down a proposed impeachment article charging Nixon with misleading the nation and usurping

Congress' power to declare war through a systematic 14-month secret campaign of bombing Cambodia, a staging and supply area for North Vietnamese troops.

By another 26-12 margin, again with united Republican opposition, the committee rejected a proposed article on Nixon's taxes and the government expenditure to improve his coastal homes.

It charged Nixon collected greater emoluments of office than the Constitution permits and tried "to evade the payment of a portion of federal income taxes due and owing by him for the years 1969, 1970, 1971 and 1972."

Reps. Edward Mezey, D-Iowa, and Jack Brooks, D-Tex., were its sponsors. That debate was the most partisan and acrid of the inquiry.

"When Nixon signed his tax returns, he attested to false information with the purpose of defrauding the American people of half a million dollars," Brooks said.

Rep. Thomas Railsback, R-Ill., who supported the first two articles of impeachment, said the committee did not know when to stop.

"This is another case where we have impeachmentitis," he said of the article on taxes. "Let him have a little relief."

Tentative Income Tax Cut Favored by Panel

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Most middle and low income Americans would get an income tax cut next year under tentative decisions made Tuesday by the House Ways and Means Committee.

The committee is nearly finished with the first draft of a wide-ranging tax bill. All decisions so far are subject to change, but it seems likely now that the bill will lower the tax on individuals at least a small degree.

Despite the tax cut, the over-all bill so far would gain about $500 million for the Treasury, largely because the committee decided to include in it a previously approved bill to increase oil company taxes.

Change Deductions

The $1.6 billion income tax cut is brought about by first abolishing or limiting several popular deductions, then more than making up this loss to the taxpayer by creating a new type of general deduction and increasing the standard deduction.

Some taxpayers actually will pay more tax under this formula, but most will pay less, especially at the lower income levels. The committee staff estimated that the very lowest income wage earner, with less than $3,000 per year of adjusted gross income, would get a 15.5 per cent cut. Those with $3,000 to $5,000 income would get an average 10.4 per cent cut.

Smaller Savings

For taxpayers in the vast middle ground of adjusted gross income, from $5,000 to $20,000, the cut would range from 2.1 per cent to 6.3 per cent, with the greater cuts coming at the lower levels.

From $20,000 to $50,000, there would be almost no cut, and above $50,000, there actually would be a slight tax increase.

The tax cuts approved by the committee Tuesday would:

• Create what the committee is calling a "simplification deduction" for all taxpayers of $350 plus 2 per cent of adjusted gross income up to a maximum of an additional $300.

• Increase the standard deduction from the present 15 per cent of income with a $2,000 maximum to 17 per cent with a $2,500 maximum.

New Standards

• Increase the minimum standard deduction, of greatest benefit to the very poorest taxpayer, from the present $1,300 to $1,400 for single taxpayers and $1,500 for married couples.

These cuts would offset a number of deductions that the committee has tentatively decided to disallow or curtail, such as deductions for state gasoline taxes, half of medical insurance premiums, and the first $100 of dividends.

One of the most popular items to be curtailed is medical deductions. Instead of present law, which allows deductions of prescription drug expenses over 1 per cent of adjusted gross income and medical expenses over 3 per cent of such income, the bill would allow deductions for combined medical and drug expenses over 5 per cent of adjusted gross income.

The committee also agreed to cut out all sick pay exclusions except for totally disabled persons, and made changes in casualty loss and child care deductions.

John Ehrlichman Sentenced to Jail

WASHINGTON (UPI) — John D. Ehrlichman, President Nixon's former top domestic affairs adviser, was given a prison sentence of 20 months to five years in prison today for conspiracy in the Ellsberg break-in.

Ehrlichman continued to proclaim his innocence before sentence was imposed by U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell. Removing his glasses as he stood before the judge, Ehrlichman said, "I believe I am the only one who really knows whether I am guilty and, your honor, I am innocent of each and every charge."

Gesell also sentenced G. Gordon Liddy to one to three years — to run concurrently with his sentence as a Watergate conspirator — but gave suspended sentences to the other Watergate participants, Bernard R. Barker and Eugenio Martinez, saying they had been punished enough. They were put on probation for three years each.

'Shameful Episode'

Gesell told Ehrlichman, that "you are a lawyer, you held the position of highest public trust" among defendants in this "shameful episode" of American history. "The Constitution was ignored, the rights of citizens were abused and falsehoods and concealments were employed," the judge told Ehrlichman just before passing sentence.

He could have given Ehrlichman up to 20 years in prison and fined him $30,000.

Ehrlichman, Liddy, Barker and Martinez were all found guilty July 12 of conspiring to violate the rights of Dr. Lewis J. Fielding, Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist. Liddy, Barker and Martinez were among the participants in the break-in aimed at obtaining derogatory information about Ellsberg, the Pentagon Papers defendant.

Ehrlichman, who already has appealed his conviction on grounds that Gesell's gestures and facial expressions influenced the trial jury, was released on personal bond pending outcome of that appeal.

Gesell said that he had put Watergate out of his mind and had given "heavy weight" to other aspects of Ehrlichman's life, otherwise "the sentence would be far more severe."

Gesell gave Ehrlichman identical 20-month to five-year sentences on each of three counts on which he had been found guilty, but said the sentences would run concurrently.

Gesell said Martinez and Barker had contributed "to illegal activity that was typical of the regime you so strenuously opposed in Cuba." He added that when "zealots take over" the result is that "the rule of law is ignored."

Fielding's office in Beverly Hills, Calif., was ransacked by the plumbers in 1971 in a search for damaging information about Ellsberg, who leaked the Pentagon Papers to the press.

Six Convicted

Six persons associated with the former White House "plumbers" special investigative unit have been convicted of Watergate-related crimes.

Egil "Bud" Krogh Jr., Ehrlichman's deputy in the White House and co-director of the plumbers, pleaded guilty to an identical conspiracy count last November and has been released after serving four months in prison.

Former White House Special Counsel Charles W. Colson, who raised the money for the Fielding break-in, pleaded guilty in June to one count of obstruction of justice for seeking to disseminate damaging information about Ellsberg. He is serving a 1.5 year prison term.

E. Howard Hunt Jr., a former CIA agent and the mastermind of the Fielding operation, got immunity from prosecution for his testimony. He, like Liddy, Barker and Martinez, was found guilty in the Watergate break-in. David R. Young Jr., co-director of the plumbers and former deputy to Henry A. Kissinger, then Nixon's national security affairs adviser, and Felipe De Diego, who participated in the Fielding break-in, got immunity from any prosecution.

Enraged Man Attacks Two Police Officers

HARTFORD (UPI) — An enraged man with a club attacked a Hartford patrolman Tuesday afternoon, took his gun and shot the stunned officer as he lay on the sidewalk.

Police said the man then shook off witnesses who tried to restrain him and stalked off down the street, still carrying the club and gun. A police cruiser came to the scene and the man fired into the car, wounding another officer. A third officer and an off-duty security guard finally stopped him by wrestling him to the ground.

A man on leave from the Norwich state hospital was charged with attempted murder in the apparently unprovoked shooting, which took place about 3:30 p.m. Bertram Duncan, 23, of Deerfield Ave., Hartford, was held under $200,000 bond.

Conditions Reported

Motorcycle patrolman Frederick Morhardt, 25, was reported in fair condition at Hartford Hospital suffering from a head wound. Officer William Hippe, 24, was in guarded condition suffering from bullet wounds in the face and stomach.

An acquaintance of the suspect told police that he saw Duncan on the street before the shooting.

"He had a big stick and he was walking around mad as hell," said Vincent Smith of Hartford. "It was like he was looking for somebody."

Police said Morhardt was writing a traffic summons on Pratt St. when Duncan came up behind him and hit him with a club, shattering his safety helmet and knocking him to the ground.

Shoots Officer

Duncan then brushed off a person who tried to grapple with him, hit Morhardt again with the club and then took the policeman's service revolver and shot him in the face as he lay on the ground, police said.

Duncan, according to police, then ran a short distance through the crowded downtown streets, fighting off at least four persons who tried to apprehend him.

Authorities said a patrol car driven by Hippe finally caught up to Duncan about two blocks away, but Duncan turned around and shot Hippe in the face and stomach.

Hippe's partner, officer Ronald Smith, rushed Duncan and tackled him, knocking him to the ground, where he handcuffed Duncan with the help of Jefferson Davis, 20, an employee of International Security Services, police said.

Rushes to Help

Davis, who wants to be a police officer himself, had watched part of the incident from a bus on his way to go shopping, and warned the other passengers to stay calm and out of danger as he rushed out to help Smith, police said.

Authorities said more than 30 persons who witnessed the incident voluntarily showed up at police headquarters to give testimony and identify the suspect.

Thursday — sunny and warm with the high 85 to 90 but lower along the shore. (See map on Page 2)

Opportunism

Political ambition is almost without limits in the steps which it will take to stay in office or achieve even higher position. We are seldom amazed or unduly shocked at anything politicians do to survive.

But one of the most self-serving acts of political opportunism which has occurred in a long time has to be the recent action of Rep. Lawrence P. Hogan of Maryland, a member of the House Judiciary Committee.

Hogan had been considered one of the doubting thoms of the 18 Republican members of the Judiciary Committee. That is, it had been unknown as to whether he would probably vote with the majority of the Republicans on the committee against impeachment of the President or would vote for it.

However, he settled that matter by calling a press conference to announce that he was going to vote for impeachment before the public sessions had begun, and before the statements of the other members of the committee, both Democrats and Republicans, had an opportunity to be heard.

It is as if a member of a jury had publicly announced how he was going to vote before the jury had taken its vote and before the foreman had announced its verdict.

It is, of course, no coincidence that Hogan is also a candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination in Maryland.

He purchased 15 minutes of television time in his home state to explain his reasons to the voters.

Of course what he did was to bypass the whole Judiciary Committee and for a day or two steal the limelight from the rest of the members.

Was Mr. Hogan solely possessed by righteous indignation at the evidence in the possession of the committee? We think not. He was possessed by an almighty ambition to be elected governor of Maryland by any means at his command even if it meant bypassing his fellow committee members, both Republicans as well as Democrats.

He is undoubtedly well aware that in five primary elections held this year four of them have been won by Democrats apparently because of Watergate influence. He knows that this has happened in former Republican strongholds.

This was then an opportunity for him to ally himself with the anti-Nixon forces no matter what effect it would have on the further actions of the House Judiciary Committee.

We would hope that Mr. Hogan is aware of what happened to Congressman Jerome Waldie of Northern California who ran for the Democratic nomination for governor and was one of the most vociferous proponents of impeachment on the House Committee.

Mr. Waldie ran a very poor fourth in his attempt to gain the nomination of governor of California. This, of course, cannot be attributed solely to his anti-Nixon stance.

But the point is that it did not help him at all.

In our opinion there is a positive political force in Watergate but also a backlash effect. Mr. Hogan will be very fortunate if he does not become a backlash victim because of his action.

Younger Than Their Years

If you have been inclined to take a mild, tolerant view of those fellows and girls that you meet in the early morning hours out for their days jogging, perhaps it may be wise to revise your views. They may very well attend your funeral.

A ten-year study of middle-aged joggers and swimmers has shown that while they naturally were ten years older chronologically, their cardiovascular and respiratory systems did not age at all. It was probably the most comprehensive long term study of the effect of exercise ever undertaken.

The study made at San Diego State University comes to the conclusions that exercise, done regularly, can forestall aging decreases in the heart and circulatory function and help to maintain a good level of cardiovascular health.

The 15 men checked in the study either ran or swam three days a week for ten years. They now range in age from 46 to 66.

Some of the participants were teachers at the university, others were drawn from different occupations.

Asked for an opinion on which was the better form of exercise, swimming or running, the survey head said that they were almost equal in beneficial results, but running might have a slight edge since the runner was also fighting the effect of gravity.

Most of the men run or swim 45 to 60 minutes daily, at least three days per week. Lung function was reported to have improved by about 15 per cent; that is their air intake capacity was increased by that amount.

It all seems to indicate that if you exercise regularly you have a much better chance of living longer.

Presidency Will Never Be The Same

WASHINGTON — Richard Nixon was right on the button when he said the presidency would never be the same if the Supreme Court dismissed the principle of executive privilege. Now that the court has done so — by unanimous 8-0 ruling of historic significance — no future President may run his office as an institution, safe from prying of the public. Chief Justice Warren Burger made this clear in the opinion ordering Nixon to produce those tapes when he declared that the case at issue was clearly "the kind of controversy courts traditionally resolve."

Salute Soccer Program
Gentlemen:
We would like to use your column to give our personal salute to everyone connected with the Manchester Recreation Department Junior Soccer Program. The co-ordinators of the program, referees, coaches (many of them fathers and many of them teenagers), Mr. and Mrs. Doug Pearson, who seldom, if ever, missed attending games, and the players themselves all contributed, we think, to a very successful season.
Naturally, we wish to thank especially those boys who coached our sons Tom Amato of the Tornados, and Jim McKelvie and Mario Orduz of the Falcons. These fellows all gave a great deal of their time and energies to helping the boys learn the game of soccer. The most important thing, we feel, is that the boys had fun and that's what it's all about.
Our whole family looks forward to next year's program. Very truly yours,

Today's Thought

Again, in "A Second Touch," Keisler writes of his experience of "being a Christian" in the midst of his family. His early morning prayers and Bible reading period disturbed his wife's sleep and he was being gruff with the children when they "interrupted" him. His daughter's tearful question to her mother, "What's the matter with Daddy?" and his wife's matter of fact reply, "Oh, he's learning to be a good Christian so that he can love the people downtown," led into the following paragraphs:
"I was furious! I was also very frustrated. I realized Mary Allen had really hit the truth — and that made it worse. I was the Christian doing Christian things, yet it was fouling up my relationship with my own wife. My first reaction was, well, they crucified my Lord, too. But one day I heard a

"Don't believe everything you read," a Manchester Realtor remarked to us the other day.
He went on to comment that some persons might have a struggle securing money for a home mortgage but it is available to the borrower who has a good job and a good credit rating.
He emphasized one point that some economists are also making. Now isn't a bad time to buy because interest rates are still expected to climb.
Another point, also shared by economists, is that real estate is one of the best long-range investments you can make.
So if you're contemplating purchasing a home, you might as well go ahead and make the plunge like many of us have done before you. Just like the slogan, "A home of your own, the happiest thought you ever have known."

The U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics reveal that nearly 70 per cent of all employed men in America now hold two or more jobs to combat mounting inflation.
The implication is that a countless number who are engaged in self-employment in second jobs right out of their home such as appliance repair, income tax service, saw sharpening and the like. They are taking advantage of their evening and weekend hours pulling in a few more bucks toward the family budget.
We are also experiencing a summer where employment for teen-agers is mighty slow. The cost of living has been rising for everyone, including teen-agers, which makes it tough to be without a job. Since businessmen are extremely cost-conscious these days, expenditures for extra summer-time help are being crossed out.

Praise is certainly due our police department for its quick efforts in solving a case of wanton vandalism. With vandalism supposedly on the rise, it is also a time for both parents and the public to be much more observant.
We find it most amusing that employees of Amtrak, the federally-subsidized national passenger railroad system, spent more than $600,000 on airplane tickets last year despite the fact they could have traveled free on Amtrak. While it is company policy that employees are to take trains on business trips, sometimes other methods of travel are preferable. For instance, Amtrak says it makes little sense for an executive to spend three nights and two days taking a train to the West Coast for a one-day meeting.
However, by the same token, if management officials of Amtrak rode the trains more often, the public might eventually get better service. It appears management is really unaware of the situation on the trains they are responsible for running.

Gasoline has become so plentiful in the West that some auto dealers are using it to bring people into their showrooms. With the purchase of a new or used car, your name goes into a hat, and the winner gets 1,000 miles of free gas for a vacation trip.

Out of Los Angeles came a shocking report that tests conducted in four high schools show that only 21 per cent of the graduating seniors had acceptable reading levels and 56 per cent were categorized as "practically non-readers."
The revelation was the result of a grand jury study made by a retired educator. The study was made of four inner-city high schools with large minority group enrollment. Actually, the report shouldn't come as a real shocker. Over the past few years, too many educational systems have neglected some of the basic fundamental subjects such as reading.

One California utility is seeking its third rate increase in less than a month.
Since we are in business also, we can understand the financial problems facing utilities. At the same time, we can also understand the problems of the consumer.
Unfortunately, there is little the consumer can do whether he be in Connecticut or California. A minimum amount of electricity, or gas, is needed to cook, heat hot water, and heat or cool the house. This he is at the mercy of the utility company.
We wish we had the answer.

The hot dog has to be one of this country's most popular foods, particularly at cookouts. The National Hot Dog Council estimates that during the period from Memorial Day to Labor Day, U.S. families will have eaten as many as 4 1/2 billion hot dogs. And although they may be up in price, Americans are still eating more of them.

Perhaps it is because there are more home gardens but we understand some canning supplies are in short supply.
We were reading the other day that the demand for canner/canners, jars, and cold canning supplies has spiraled beyond the prediction of even the most optimistic officials. Maybe it is just the year of shortages for virtually every item but one of the reasons for the short supply of canning equipment might be due to the limited number of manufacturers on the market.

We were a bit disappointed that our tomatoes weren't ripening until Dr. Bernard (Red) Sheridan, perhaps Bolon's most ardent green-thumb, told us it isn't a particularly good season for tomatoes.

We are pleased to see the distinguished Hartford Courant in the leading of The Herald in switching to the electronic process of producing a newspaper.
The Herald made the switch to the new process two years ago next month in make-shift quarters prior to moving into our new building in November.
During the conversion, there were periods of frustration for our staff as well as our readers. We are happy we made the switch and happier yet that it is all behind us.

Q. I'll be 65 in November and I'm trying to keep up with all the latest information on Medicare. I read that there was a change in the way I'll enroll in Medicare. Is this true?
A. Yes. People who become 65, and are eligible for Medicare hospital insurance will automatically be enrolled in Medical insurance part of Medicare. However, you'll still have the opportunity to decline enrollment if you decide you do not want Medicare insurance coverage.
Q. My wife and I get monthly Social Security retirement payments, and have Medicare coverage. We are planning a 30-day trip to Europe later this year. If either of us needs medical treatment while we are on our trip will Medicare cover it?
A. No. Medicare cannot pay for any health services you need while you are in Europe. Q. I'll be 65 later this year, and I've never worked under Social Security. I want to apply for Medicare hospital insurance at 65, even if he continues to work.

Q. I will be 65 in October, and I plan to sign up for Medicare. Since over half the year will have passed when I reach 65, must I still meet the 40 medical insurance deductible for this year before Medicare will help pay my bill?
A. Yes. Even though your medical insurance coverage starts late in the year, the 40 annual deductible will have to be met before and reimbursement can be made on your medical expense this year, and only medical bills after the effective date of your medical insurance coverage can be counted toward the deductible. However, if you have covered expenses in the last three months of the year, they can count toward your $60 annual deductible for the year. These expenses can be used again to help you meet the deductible for the next year.

Q. I am enrolled in both parts of Medicare, but I haven't needed to use it yet. If I forget my Medicare card, can I give a doctor or my hospital my regular Social Security number when I need medical services?
A. No. Your Medicare card number and this number is needed to process your claim for payment of medical or hospital services. But this shouldn't delay your treatment. Just bring your card in later or phone the number in.
Q. Is there a booklet that explains what is covered by Medicare?
A. Yes. There is a Medicare handbook which gives most of the information about Medicare coverage. You may get a copy by phoning or visiting any Social Security office.

HEBRON

Tel. 228-3970

The Republican Caucus for candidates for justice of the peace and judge of probate is scheduled for tomorrow night at 8 p.m. at the Gilead Hill School. Three Hebron men have indicated an interest in their party's nomination. They are Edward Hinichliff, the incumbent, Gerald Cross and Harvey Backmender.

Edward Hinichliff has recently completed a six-year term on the Hebron Board of Education and a three-year term on the state association of boards of education. He is presently serving on the Middle School Program and Planning Committee.

He has lived in Hebron with his wife and five children for the past nine years. Hinichliff was the treasurer of the Republican Town Committee for five years, but is not presently on the committee because he felt that the probate court should be non-political.

Gerald Cross resides in Hebron for twelve years. He is a local realtor and the past president of the Board of Realtors and the current chairman of the M.L.S. commission.

Harvey Backmender is also a member of the Republican Town Committee. He is a member of the Connecticut Bar Association, committee on continuing legal education and served on the finance committee when he was a resident of Danvers, Mass.

Backmender and his wife and one child live on Brennen Rd. He was a captain in the Air Force and is presently employed with the Travelers Insurance Co. as a private placement lawyer.

Stripper, a furniture stripping and refinishing business.

Justices of the Peace
The following Democrats were chosen to run for the office of Justice of the Peace: Russell Anderson, Joseph Fill, Richard Keefe, Wayne Miller, G. Earl Porter, Aaron Reid, George Smith, Cynthia Wilson, Wilbur Dennis, Nancy Foote, Alicia Erickson, Richard Grant, Salvatore Mastandrea, David Albee and Joan Rowley.

Town Committee Action
At a town committee meeting following the caucus, Dr. Edward Williams of Slocum Rd. was recommended to fill a vacancy on the Hebron Board of Education. Dr. Williams' name will be sent to the board for approval at the August meeting.

Williams, a veterinarian, has been in practice in Manchester for 12 years.

Town Committee member Sal Mastandrea moved that Williams' name be sent to the Board of Education along with the name of Robert Owen, a Town Committee member also interested in the post, to let the Board of Education members make the final decision. By a vote of 8 to 7 the motion was defeated. The Democratic Town Committee members decided to make its own decision and recommend only one name to the Board of Education.

A motion to vote by written ballot was also defeated and the Town Committee voted by roll call. Williams was chosen over Owens 11 to 9.

Other Business
Members of the committee voted to send a gift to Emile Caron, a Democratic Town Committee member who is in the hospital following a serious automobile accident. They also voted to make a $10 contribution to the American Cancer Society in memory of Edward Pomprovic former town committee member and legislator. Pomprovic was elected to serve in the State House of Representatives in 1946.

Bicentennial Group Seeks Two Officers

SOUTH WINDSOR

Judy Kuehnel
Correspondent
Tel. 644-1364

The South Windsor Bicentennial Committee is seeking a permanent chairman and financial director, according to temporary chairman Mrs. Cynthia Wotel.

Mrs. Wotel, who cannot continue on as chairman because of her position as chairman of the town's Conservation Commission, said that the financial director should have some type of accounting or banking background.

The next meeting of the Bicentennial Committee will be held on Sept. 12, after the vacation period is ended, to permit full town response. Only seven persons attended the July 18 meeting, resulting in cancellation of the session.

Mrs. Wotel said that the committee is seeking suggestions from town residents on some type of permanent bicentennial landmark for the town.

Also sought is a location for a townwide picnic to be held July 4, 1975, launching the South Windsor observances which will continue until September, 1976.

Suggestion boxes for recommendations will be placed throughout the town soon.

However, in 1972-73 the state paid for superintendent's services. The state services were phased out and the town pays its own superintendent.

Costs in other categories are also detailed.

Health Services were $3 cents in 1972; $1.36 in 1973 and $1.41 in 1974.

DR LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Heart valves can leak

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.
DEAR DR. LAMB - What causes a "leaky" valve of the heart? Just what is this and how does it affect an individual? Are the lungs affected? Is it a serious condition? How should it be treated?

DEAR READER - There are four main valves inside the heart that regulate the flow of blood. All of these are made up of two or three flaplike structures. You can think of them as curtains. When the flaps close no blood can normally pass between them. When they open they let the blood flow through that part of the heart. Sometimes the valve flaps are damaged or don't close completely. In this case blood will leak through the valve when the flaps are supposed to be closed. This is called a "leaky" valve.

Damaged valves can be caused by many different things. In young people the most common cause is rheumatic heart disease. When a person has a heart attack, the control valve flaps can be affected so they don't fit together properly and cause a leaky valve even after the heart attack is over. If the heart enlarges as in heart failure, the valve flaps may not meet properly and cause a leak.

What to do about the problem? It really depends a lot on how bad the leak is. If it is a small one it won't affect the function of the heart too much and may be left alone. If it is a large one, depending on which valve is involved and the patient's condition, it may have to be replaced by heart surgery.

If the heart is not pumping effectively because of the leaky valve it can result in accumulating fluid in the lungs. This is one of the things that can happen with heart failure.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I think I might have cancer of the rectum. When I move my bowels there is usually blood. This only happens once in a while. I am 15 and no one in my family has ever had cancer. Is there any other way I can tell if I have it before going for a checkup? Could this be something other than cancer? Would you please hurry with this answer. It's very important to me.

DEAR READER - There is only one thing to do about bleeding from the rectum, get an examination. That is true for all ages. It is less likely that you have cancer of the rectum, but it can and does occur in young adults. Even if you don't have cancer, it is still important to find out what is causing the bleeding. The most common cause is hemorrhoids. You can have those internally where you can't see them. However, cancer of the rectum can cause pressure on the veins in the rectum and cause hemorrhoids. So you shouldn't neglect having an examination just because you think it's hemorrhoids. Early diagnosis of cancer of the rectum often means it can be cured. Letting it go can be a disaster.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. For a copy of Dr. Lamb's booklet on hemorrhoids, send 50 cents to the same address and ask for "Hemorrhoids" booklet.

Atlanta's Fox Theater Fans Trying to Save Landmark

By THOMAS G. BELDEN ATLANTA (UPI) - The Fox Theater, a once-glimmering monument that is one of America's last, palace-like movie houses, is scheduled to be demolished and the people of Atlanta don't like it one bit.

The Fox's marble water fountains, masonry latticework, carved chair legs and low archways are all from an era that seems destined for oblivion.

The Fox is a showpiece in the Roxy style, theaters which were built in the twenties and were a phenomenon," says theater manager Mike Spiro. "The other ones have all been torn down and there just won't be any left."

The owners of the theater announced a month ago that it was no longer "economically feasible" to operate the Fox and said they planned to sell the building to Southern Bell Telephone Co. as the site for a new high-rise headquarters.

Almost immediately, a "Save the Fox" movement was launched to find an alternative to the destruction of the huge, ornate theater that is supposed to be a replica of the Alhambra in Granada, Spain.

Organizers of the movement have collected the signatures of 11,000 persons who say the 46-year-old palace should not be torn down, and all manner of public officials plus actress Helen Hayes have added their support.

Zeal for the movement is running high enough now that almost 2,000 persons turned out Monday for a "Save the Fox" rally at the theater, and let out a hearty cheer for an Atlanta real estate man who said he would make an effort to buy the building and turn it into a music hall.

"We're not Santa Claus, we're businessmen," developer Harry Avron said. "We're prepared to buy the Fox Theater and we're going to pay what it takes."

The theater, built between 1926 and 1929, has a seating capacity of 4,000 and beneath its stage are five floors of dressing rooms, caverous storage areas, practice rooms and another auditorium.

The Metropolitan Opera used the Fox for many years, but as Atlanta grew numerous other auditoriums were built and many special productions, including those of the Met that also, but in the last few years, feature films were no longer making money because of the theater's location in a changing neighborhood.

Before Avron, sounding like an evangelist, took the microphone, dozens of officials and citizens told the boisterous crowd about efforts to save the building.

"The Fox is an endangered species," said Georgia Tech architecture professor Frank Beckum. "I think we all agree that they don't build them like this anymore. The Fox is extremely significant as an architectural masterpiece as well as a socio-cultural document."

Democrats Quit Meeting After Council Argument

VERNON
BARBARA RICHMOND
The last item on the agenda of Monday night's meeting of the Vernon Town Council erupted in an argument and three of four Democrats on the 12-member board walked out of the meeting.
The agenda item was listed as "Review of the manner in which the town attorney furnishes opinions to the Town Council." The request for the agenda item was made by Councilman Thomas Benoit, one of the four Democrats.

Benoit led the discussion, commenting, "Nothing personal but I am not in agreement with the May 17 opinion of the Town Attorney Abbot."
Benoit said the opinion was not clear. The opinion concerned the manner of handling the contract for the installation of the sidewalk on West Rd.
Benoit and other Democrats on the council felt the contract was not handled within the framework of the charter and questioned the manner of handling the extension of the sidewalk when it was found the bids did not include the proper distance requested by the Traffic Authority.

After Atty. Schwebel's opinion was given to the council at a subsequent meeting and was approved by the council, the matter was declared closed by Mayor Frank McCoy.
Councilman Wolff said to have the matter discussed at the July 15 meeting of the council and because the reports had been accepted it was ruled that further discussion would require a motion to reconsider, which must come from someone voting with the majority, so the matter was not discussed.

At Monday night's meeting Benoit said the town attorney's opinion on the cost of the sidewalk construction did not agree with his (Benoit's) figures and he wanted the matter clarified.
Atty. Schwebel said, "I thought that issue was dead," and Benoit replied, "Maybe as far as you're concerned but as far as I'm concerned when it involves dollars and cents."

Mayor McCoy said the discussion did not concern what he thought it would be when Benoit requested the agenda item.
The Democrats did not know what the new item of business was when they left the council rooms.

Dooley Offers Booklets On Constitution Changes

VERNON
State Rep. Thomas Dooley (D) of Vernon is making available to his constituents pamphlets describing the proposed amendments to the state constitution to be voted on in the November 3 elections.
Rep. Dooley said, "Many of our citizens are unaware that four proposed constitutional amendments will be on the voting machines, in November, for consideration."
He explained these amendments include one which would prohibit discrimination on account of sex; one providing for more rapid processing of future amendments; an amendment concerning forfeiture of the right to be made an elector; and the fourth, one which would eliminate the constitutional requirement that justices of the peace be elected.
Dooley said the secretary of the state has provided him with literature which explains the impact of the amendments on the constitution and on the people of the state.
He also said he has some of the new guides for Connecticut voters, entitled, "You and Your Voting Machine."
Anyone wishing either or both of these booklets should mail requests to Dooley at 109 Irene Dr., Vernon, Conn. 06066.

Democrats Reinstate Hartford Bus Students

SOUTH WINDSOR
Judy Kuehnel
Correspondent
646-1164
Thirty-seven Hartford students—29 currently enrolled in South Windsor and eight new students—will be attending classes this fall following a South Windsor Board of Education vote to reinstate the program two weeks after the board defeated it.
In the 5-4 vote Tuesday night the board, following more than three hours of debate, reversed a 4-3 decision made two weeks ago when the board voted not to renew the Project Concern contract with the Hartford Board of Education.
Project Concern is the program in which Hartford's inner-city children are bused and educated in the suburbs.
There are no surprises in last night's meeting, except for the small attendance the special board session drew following heavy controversy over the program's defeat July 16.

A full attendance of board members debated the merits of Project Concern last night and at times tense discussions between board members ensued.
After a defeated motion to move the question without further debate, and after a brief recess in which board members grouped and attempted to give one another their personal positions on the matter, the motion passed along party lines with four Republicans again voting to defeat the program and five Democrats passing it.
Two weeks ago the board had only eight members when chairman Ole Decker was vacationing. At that time the board voted 4-3 against Supt. Robert Goldman's recommendation to renew the contract. Acting Chairman David Cohan, a Democrat, did not vote at that time.
Last night's 5-4 vote had been predicted as early as the night Project Concern was defeated, when Democrats said they would wait for Mrs. Decker to return and call a special meeting.

Pitkat Expresses Concern Over Sewage Treatment

BARBARA RICHMOND
Foreseeing problems with the town's existing waste treatment plant and with the proposed new treatment plant, Charles Pitkat, superintendent, has asked the Town Council, acting as the Sewer Authority, to review several items with him at the next meeting of the council.
The proposed new plant is still in the beginning planning stages and although the state ordered the new facility it will be sometime before construction starts.
Pitkat said in a memo to Mayor Frank McCoy that it now appears that the existing plant will have to operate for another three years, and that continued operation will become expensive as far as repairs are concerned.
He also advised the mayor, "We have no place to dispose of the filtered sludge; we should be doing something about sewer infiltration; and we should have another professional study of our industrial waste."
Many of the problems with the operation of the plant were attributed to the types of industrial wastes going into the system and several of the industries have attempted to correct this.
Concerning the proposed new plant, Pitkat told the mayor that there should be an attempt to try to clarify operational costs, especially for electricity.

56th District Democrats Back Burke

The Vernon Democratic Town Committee Tuesday night unanimously endorsed Allyn Martin Burke of Rockville for State Representative from the 56th District which is one whole section of Vernon.
Burke was nominated by Robert D. Houley who has been endorsed to run on the Democratic ticket for the 35th Senatorial District seat.
Rep. Thomas Dooley, presently serving the 56th District, was to make the nomination speech. He is hospitalized, so Houley filled in for him. The nomination was seconded by Sandra Faloon. Burke was unopposed.
In his acceptance speech, Burke said he felt a heavy responsibility for two reasons, the "outstanding record of my predecessor and the political climate surrounding our country."
He expressed as some of his particular concerns, carefully planned and diversified state-subsidized mass transportation, increased state aid to education, federal revenue sharing, and reform of election and campaign laws.
The Republican caucus to pick a candidate for the same post, is scheduled for Thursday night at 8 at the First Federal Bank, Park Place, Rockville.

A NEW NAME FOR AN OLD FRIEND
Manchester Savings & Loan Assn. is now called Heritage Savings & Loan Assn.

The name Manchester Savings and Loan Association has been changed to Heritage Savings and Loan Association effective July 22, 1974 with the prior approval of the membership, the Board of Directors and the State Banking Department. We believe our new name more accurately describes our identity.
Since 1891, this institution has been an important part of the local heritage. Back then, there was no bank where a family could save and borrow for a home. A group of our forebearers got together and founded the Manchester Building and Loan Association (later called the Manchester Savings and Loan Association) for this purpose. These men of vision pioneered the concept of local people getting together to encourage thrift and home ownership. As the first and oldest savings institution in Manchester and Coventry, we have played a significant role in our local heritage since our founding in 1891.
Today, we are very enthusiastic about plans for expanded usefulness through broadened services in the future. Our new branch office is now open in K-Mart Plaza on Spencer Street in Manchester. There are several new and exciting services now in the planning stage at Heritage Savings. We enjoy serving you and we look forward with enthusiasm to a continuously expanding role in the financial heritage of our communities during the years ahead.

ONLY OUR NAME HAS CHANGED
Ownership and management remain unchanged. As a mutual institution, we continue to be owned by you, our customers. Our board of directors, officers and staff remain unchanged.
NO EXCHANGE OF PASSBOOK or other documents required or necessary.
INSURED SECURITY FOR YOUR FUNDS
Deposits at Heritage Savings are insured by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, an agency of the U.S. Government. There is no stronger insurance for your savings.

Heritage Savings & Loan Association • Since 1891
Main Office: 1007 Main Street, Manchester 649-4588
Coventry Office: Rt. 31, Coventry 742-7321
K-Mart Plaza Office: Spencer Street, Manchester 649-3007
As a graphic symbol for Heritage Savings and Loan Association, we have adopted this woodcut representing landmarks of significance to our local heritage. As the first savings institution in our area, and being owned and operated by local people, we are indeed tied closely to the local heritage.
CHENEY MILL (left foreground) The nation's first silk manufacturing was done at this Manchester Mill in the eighteenth century. Since then, Cheney Brothers have perhaps been our best known local manufacturer. In 1905 Frank Cheney became a president of this Savings and Loan Association.
NATHAN HALE HOMESTEAD (extreme right) The homestead of the early American patriot, Nathan Hale, is a nationally known landmark. It is located in Coventry.
CENTER CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH (rear center) Standing atop the hill in the center of Manchester, this church is regarded as an outstanding example of church architecture of its era.
PITKIN GLASS WORKS (rear, to left of church) The Glass Works is the earliest manufacturing concern of significance in Manchester.
A HOMESTEAD (rear, extreme left) Homes are an important part of our local heritage. A home is a fitting statement on our symbol since we were the original home financing institution in this area. Nationally, savings and loan associations finance more homes than all other types of financial institutions combined.

Like Old Times for Red Sox

BOSTON (UPI) — It was just like old times—when the Boston Red Sox used every concoction imaginable to do the Detroit Tigers.

The main ingredients were there. Boston led 4-3 going into the ninth and Reggie Cleveland was pitching. This meant disaster for the Red Sox Tuesday night as Al Kaline gave Boston its first touch of nostalgia with a two-run homer—the fourth he's hit off Boston this year out of seven homers. Then a two-run throwing error by catcher Tim Lincecum led to the final two Tiger runs in the ninth as they overtook Boston 7-5 in a sloppy game featuring five Red Sox errors.

Last year the Tigers beat the Red Sox 15 times and Kaline was the main culprit. This season, Cleveland had been a tough-looker twice against Detroit, pitching identical three-hit complete games, losing 1-0 both times.

This time, he went eight innings and took the loss when the Red Sox were fooled by a play they've used often—the delayed steal. After Kaline's homer, Jim Northrup doubled and Cleveland was replaced by Bob Veale. After striking out Norm Cash, Veale was replaced by Diego Segui, who inentionally walked pinch hitter Ben Oglivie before getting Aurilio Rodriguez to fly out, with Northrup taking third.

With a 1-2 count to Ed Kranepool, Oglivie broke for second. Blackwell pumped toward second but threw to attempt to pick off Rodriguez. But the ball sailed over Terry Hughes' head and both runners scored.

"Those things happen," said Tiger Manager Ralph Houk. "It would've been a helluva play if Blackwell had picked Northrup off. Look, you've got to try to play in this game. You might as well not play if you don't."

Red Sox manager Darrell Johnson said roughly the same thing. "Those things happen to experienced catchers too," he said. "Carlton Fisk did it earlier this year out in Oakland and it cost us a ballgame. I won't bench Tim for this. He's done too many good things for us this year. He's catching tomorrow night."

The four-run ninth obliterated a three-run homer by Cecil Cooper in the seventh, which put Boston ahead 5-3, after the Tigers pecked Cleveland for three runs in the first four innings.

Ed Kranepool in Twilight Of Long Baseball Career

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ed Kranepool was different from the very first day he reported to the New York Mets. It's 12 years later now and a lot of things have changed. No him, though. He's still different.

Most ballplayers, for example, don't like you telling them they're in the twilight of their careers, especially when they're not even 30 yet.

With Ed Kranepool, it's completely the other way around. You don't have to tell him, he tells you. What makes the whole thing odder yet is that he's only 29.

"The reason I say I'm in my twilight is because I've played up here 12 years already," says the Mets' left-handed hitting first baseman-outfielder-pinch swinger. "I know guys who don't ever get five years in up here. When you say 'twilight' in baseball, you're talking about the last years of anyone's career. Well, that's me, isn't it?"

Yes, and then again, no.

Because the Mets have put Kranepool up on the block several times the past few years and never were stamped by takers. No, because Kranepool, a .251 lifetime hitter, is playing left field for the Mets and ripping the ball at a dizzy .402 clip now. He contributed a key single in Sunday's 4-1 win over Montreal. As a pinch hitter, he's 12-for-24 and hitting .500 this season.

"If I hit .400 this year," he laughs, "I'm gonna retire at my peak and put in an application for Bob Scheffing's job as general manager with this club next year. Why not? He's retiring after this year. If (Dave) DeBusschere did it with the Nets, why can't I do it with the Mets?"

Ed Kranepool has about as much chance of becoming the next general manager of the Mets as Marv Throneberry or Elio Chacon has, and he realizes that. He also realizes he's a far better hitter now than he ever has been in all the years he has been with the club.

Kranepool was 17 when he first joined the Mets out of James Monroe High School in the Bronx.

Jackson Shakes Slump With Pair of Homers

NEW YORK (UPI) — Reggie Jackson had been fighting a slump ever since fighting it out with teammate Billy North but he finally got turned around and ended his frustrations on an opposing pitcher.

Jackson belted two home runs and Gene Tenace added a pair as the Oakland A's rolled to a 11-3 win over the Texas Rangers Tuesday night for their 13th win in their last 16 games and increased their American League West lead to nine games.

All four home runs came off loser Jim Bibby, who pitched a no-hitter exactly one year ago in Oakland.

Jackson's pair drove in three runs and ended a drought in which the slugger has hit just over 200 and hit two homers in the last two months since his celebrated lockerroom fight June 5 with North over "lack of hustle" on the field.

"The slump was eating my heart out, just eating me alive," Jackson said. "All my teammates had confidence in me but I somehow started losing confidence in myself. They told me to relax but I don't want to relax. I want to be in the thick of it. I want to earn my money. I want to be the type of hitter I'm supposed to be."

Jackson said he ended his slump because he was fed up inside.

"I took it as long as I could until I started feeling dejected. So I drove around and around the block until 5:30 this morning, got some sleep and then came out and got early batting practice."

Tenace and Jackson didn't think batting practice had stopped when the game began though as they sent Bibby reeling to his 13th loss as 27 sent Bibby to the mound for the second time.

Yankees Lose Two, Checked by Rookie

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Young Kevin Kobel seems to relish pitching against the New York Yankees and he turned in another outstanding performance Tuesday night.

"I just tried to do what (catcher) Charlie Moore told me," Kobel said after hurling a four-hit 4-0 victory to give the Milwaukee Brewers a doubleheader sweep over the Yankees. Milwaukee took the first game 9-2 in 10 innings.

Kobel, 20-year-old rookie lefthander, said he "guessed" he did what Moore told him to do "a little better than half the time."

"I can't put the ball where I want to all the time," he said. "But when you get ahead 4-0, that takes the sting out of their bats."

Kobel, now 4-8, has beaten the Yankees in all three of his starts against them this year and Manager Del Crandall called his four-hitter "simply outstanding."

"He had gotten into a pretty bad habit and it was one of those things that was tough to catch."

Crandall explained Kobel had been dragging his left leg instead of thrusting it toward the plate during delivery and it was costing him velocity and made him wild with high pitches.

Tenace Won't Feel Safe Until A's Increase Lead

OAKLAND (UPI) — "I won't feel safe until we have an 18-game lead," says Oakland A's catcher Gene Tenace.

But what scares the rest of the American League West is that the A's already are half that many games ahead after two homers by Tenace and a pair by Reggie Jackson gave the World Champions an 11-3 win over Texas here Tuesday night.

That gave Oakland 13 wins in its last 16 games and six of seven in the current home stand, which winds up this afternoon with Jim Hunter of the A's going against Steve Hargan.

Tenace now has 16 home runs and four have come off Ranger Jim Bibby, Tuesday night's loser and author of a no-hitter here on July 30, 1973.

Yankees Lose Two, Checked by Rookie

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Young Kevin Kobel seems to relish pitching against the New York Yankees and he turned in another outstanding performance Tuesday night.

"I just tried to do what (catcher) Charlie Moore told me," Kobel said after hurling a four-hit 4-0 victory to give the Milwaukee Brewers a doubleheader sweep over the Yankees. Milwaukee took the first game 9-2 in 10 innings.

Kobel, 20-year-old rookie lefthander, said he "guessed" he did what Moore told him to do "a little better than half the time."

"I can't put the ball where I want to all the time," he said. "But when you get ahead 4-0, that takes the sting out of their bats."

Kobel, now 4-8, has beaten the Yankees in all three of his starts against them this year and Manager Del Crandall called his four-hitter "simply outstanding."

"He had gotten into a pretty bad habit and it was one of those things that was tough to catch."

Crandall explained Kobel had been dragging his left leg instead of thrusting it toward the plate during delivery and it was costing him velocity and made him wild with high pitches.

Tenace Won't Feel Safe Until A's Increase Lead

OAKLAND (UPI) — "I won't feel safe until we have an 18-game lead," says Oakland A's catcher Gene Tenace.

But what scares the rest of the American League West is that the A's already are half that many games ahead after two homers by Tenace and a pair by Reggie Jackson gave the World Champions an 11-3 win over Texas here Tuesday night.

That gave Oakland 13 wins in its last 16 games and six of seven in the current home stand, which winds up this afternoon with Jim Hunter of the A's going against Steve Hargan.

Tenace now has 16 home runs and four have come off Ranger Jim Bibby, Tuesday night's loser and author of a no-hitter here on July 30, 1973.

Messersmith and Marshall Apply Brakes to Dodger Skid

NEW YORK (UPI) — That screech heard 'round the National League Tuesday night was caused by Andy Messersmith and Mike Marshall applying the brakes to the Los Angeles Dodgers' skid.

Messersmith and Marshall, a couple of free souls who have become buddies in the last few months, combined to pitch the Dodgers to an 8-0 victory over the San Diego Padres. The victory restored the Dodgers' first-place lead in the NL West to 5 1/2 games over the Cincinnati Reds, who lost to the Houston Astros 8-4.

The victory also means that the Dodgers have picked up two games on the Reds in as many nights, reversing the trend of the previous 20 days during which Cincinnati cut seven games off the Los Angeles lead.

Messersmith, who scored his sixth straight win and raised his record to 12-2, held the Padres to five hits for seven innings and then Manager Walt Alton turned the game over to Marshall. Marshall, making his 30th appearance in the Dodgers' last 34 games, closed out the game with two perfect innings.

The Dodgers, who have beaten the Padres 11 straight times dating back to last season, wasted no time taking command of their private parties, racing to a 5-0 lead with two runs in the second inning and three in the third.

St. Louis defeated Philadelphia 4-3, New York beat Pittsburgh 4-3 after losing the first game of their doubleheader 6-0, San Francisco scored a 6-3, 12-inning triumph over Atlanta and Montreal beat Chicago 4-3 in 10 innings in other NL games.

Tom Paciorek's RBI double and Messersmith's sacrifice fly gave the Dodgers two runs in the second and Steve Garvey's triple was the big blow tagged him with his 14th loss against seven victories.

Lee May drove in three runs with two doubles and Cliff Johnson and Cesar Cedeno homered for the Astros, who dealt the Reds' Fred Norman his 10th loss against 10 wins. Don Wilson went eight innings, allowing only five hits, for his seventh win with Ken Forsch finishing up for the Astros. Johnny Bench and Tony Perez homered for Cincinnati.

Cardinals 4, Phillies 3

Reggie Smith drove in all four St. Louis runs with a triple and two homers to bring the Cardinals from behind and give reliever Al Hrabosky his fifth win compared to one loss. Reliever Jesus Hernandez was the loser for the Phillies.

Giants 6, Braves 3

Chris Speier's three-run 12th inning double—his fourth hit of the game—lifted San Francisco's Elias Sosa to his sixth win and handed Atlanta's Danny Friesella his fourth defeat. Pinch-hitter Dave Kingman sent the game into extra innings with a homer for the Giants in the ninth.

Expos 4, Cubs 3

Mike Jorgensen drove in the winning run for the Expos with a bases-filled single with one out in the 10th inning, ending Montreal's five-game losing streak and extending Chicago's loss skid to four games. John Montague picked up his third win while Rick Reuschel suffered the loss.

Defensive Lapse Costly for Pirates

NEW YORK (UPI) — All it took was just one defensive lapse for the Pittsburgh Pirates to blow a shot at winning a doubleheader Tuesday night.

The Pirates, who were plagued by mistakes earlier this season when they got off to a bad start, beat the New York Mets 6-4 in the first game of a doubleheader and were sailing along with a 3-0 lead on Bruce Kison's three-hitter in the sixth inning of the second game.

But a mistake that set up Ed Kranepool's three-run sixth inning homer and a run-scoring double by Cleon Jones in the eighth gave the Mets a 4-3 come-from-behind triumph in the second game.

The mistake came on

Jones' sharp grounder to second basemen Rennie Stennett with one out and one on in the sixth. Stennett shuffled it to shortstop Mario Mendoza, who just Kraneop a lot of credit for hitting the ball out of the park but if Kison had gotten a little luck, he could have had a shutout going into the seventh inning.

Kison said, "The error had nothing to do with the homer. I just threw him a bad pitch."

Jerry Kosman, who survived the three-run fourth inning when Manny Sanguillen doubled in two runs and scored on an error by Jones, pitched a five-hitter for the Mets.

In the opening Jim Rooker had a five-hitter for the Pirates, who jumped on Jon Matlack for four runs in the second and two in the fourth to wrap it up.

Richie Hebner singled twice, scored twice and drove in a run while Rooker, who once was an outfielder, had two hits and beat out a sacrifice bunt for a fielder's choice.

"Our pitching staff's been underrated," Rooker said. "We've had pretty good pitching most of the season."

But if the Pirates are going to win their fourth division crown in the last five years, they can't afford the type of errors Mendoza made in the sixth inning.

Los Angeles Confident No Repeat of Last Year

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — It is a question which stalks the Los Angeles Dodgers wherever they go, win or lose: Is 1974 going to be a repeat of last season?

Steve Garvey, the Dodgers' All-Star game MVP (first baseman), was asked his opinion Tuesday night of the team's chances after he had three hits, including a homer, in the Dodgers' 8-0 rout of the San Diego Padres. The win hiked Los Angeles' lead to 5 1/2 games over the Cincinnati Reds in the National League West.

"None of us feel we lost the pennant last year," Garvey said. "Cincinnati just had a super second half. I like (manager Walt) Alton's explanation when he says he might win a pennant one year and it wouldn't mean a darn thing the next season."

It was the second straight night the Dodgers won, and picked up a full game on the Reds. They needed the breathing room after losing three straight seeing their lead reduced to 3 1/2 games.

Appeals

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI) — Former Green Bay Packer great Bart Starr made a public appeal Tuesday for an end to the dispute between striking players and the National Football League.

But Starr would not commit himself to active intervention in the negotiations. "I'd go to the negotiations in an hour if I thought it would do any good," the former quarterback said.

Starr said he had no immediate plans to intercede in the dispute but was willing to help if asked.

Starr was approached by a group of striking Packer veterans who asked him to intercede with them with the Packer management.

"I've differed with them completely on some issues and I've differed publicly with management on some," he said. "But if there is a way to get some of this behind us, we want to do it."

Starr was aware of his unique position as a former player, a former assistant coach and an avid football fan.

"I'd like to challenge the players to get their house in order," he said. He added that management "has to make a greater effort to stay attuned to the players' needs and requests."

Starr said the players should realize their salaries and benefits "are substantial. I don't think there is any place where they can do better."

But he also noted the raise in pre-season pay was "long overdue and the season is too long. Six pre-season games is too many."

Defensive lineman Mike McCoy, one of three players who approached Starr as a mediator, said they "came to Bart as a true friend. We respect his opinion as a disinterested third party who can help bridge the gap between management and the players."

Football Strike Talks Reach Critical Stage

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The renewed round of pro football strike talks headed into the "critical stage" today, according to the government's chief labor mediator in his intensified efforts for a settlement.

After a day-long Tuesday session of almost seven hours with both sides, W. J. Usery Jr., head of the Federal Mediation Service, called both sides back to a 10 a.m. EDT session in a stepped-up campaign to end the 31-day-old strike.

Usery was pressing the owners and the players union to settle the dispute, possibly by Thursday before the first weekend of National Football League exhibition games begins but there was no assurance he would succeed in meeting that immediate deadline.

He said today's session at the Labor Department would be "very, very critical."

"We spent all day Tuesday getting to the point where substantive issues can be discussed tomorrow," Usery observed.

He said that economic issues were the main topic of discussion at the Tuesday talks, although the two parties explored the player freedom demands on a separate basis.

It was learned from other sources that the Tuesday bargaining focused on player proposals involving pensions and minimum pay. Evidently there was some give and take on minimum pay which currently sets a floor of $12,000 for rookies and $13,000 for veterans. The players originally asked that the minimum be boosted to $20,000 for rookies and $25,000 for veterans. The owners last week counter-offered $14,000 and $16,000.

The Players Association is believed to have cut their initial figure back to $18,000 and $20,000.

Usery said that the long day of bargaining was "typical" of what he expected at this point in the strike but there were reports the players indicated they would be back Wednesday with further suggestions and ideas.

Usery said he was "hopeful" that progress could be made in ending the dispute, but cautioned there were "a lot of issues to be negotiated" before a settlement could be reached.

After a one-hour and 45-minute morning meeting with the bargaining team for the owners, the head of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service told newsmen:

"I think their attitude was good just as the attitude of the players yesterday at our meeting was good. I'm hopeful, but it's a little too early to say. We'll know better later today."

Only two owners, Wellington Mara of the New York Giants and Art Modell of the Cleveland Browns, were present for the morning session. But John Thompson, executive director of the owners' Management Council, said others on the owners' bargaining unit were on a stand-by call basis.

Thompson declined to express any optimism at the outset of the renewed talks, commenting: "We have no reason to feel either way. We don't know what's in store. We'd like to feel optimistic, but we just don't know."

The NFL Players Association spelled out at a Monday meeting with Usery a number of revised contract demands which included modification of some of the controversial "freedom issues" but not their total abandonment.

Before breaking off talks 10 days ago, the owners offered a four-year money package which they estimated would cost more than $4 million in the first year but totally rejected the players' freedom demands.

Winless WFL Patsies Paired

NEW YORK (UPI) — Tonight may finally be the night for a pair of winless World Football League patsies.

The Portland Storm and the Detroit Wheels, both 0-3, find themselves in the unaccustomed role of favorites or near favorites while also holding the "home field" advantage.

The Storm entertains the Philadelphia Bell, which has won only once itself thus far—against Portland in the season opener. Call it the law of averages, if you will, but the odds-makers like the Storm to avenge that 33-8 defeat on their home turf.

And in Detroit, the Wheels may not be the favorite against unbeaten (3-0) Birmingham but they got a confidence boost into the nation's agricultural production every year goes toward turning out steaks, roasts and other cuts for the dinner table. At the processing end, meat again is the top energy user.

The study by the Center for Science in the Public Interest concludes that increased technology and mechanization are to blame. Cattle finished in feed lots, for instance, use up a lot of energy in everything from chemical fertilizers to feeding machinery before they reach the tender state favored by American eaters.

"To cut down on meat consumption is an energy conservation measure," the study says, "and it might be just what the doctor ordered."

The cattle industry, for one, disagrees and has already told the center it did not give adequate consideration to range grazing when it compiled its figures.

Meat, however, is only a small part of the report. Called a "Lifestyle Index," the report tries to educate the reader on how many of his daily activities involve energy use — some of it unnecessary.

"All in all," it says, "we use about eight calories of energy to obtain a single calorie of food. This is a poor track record for a 'developed' people, and a more simple lifestyle could cut some of the waste. We could grow more of our own food, muck garbage and leaves, buy homegrown food at the source, and cut out excessive packaging and container use."

Study Suggests Energy Saving Starts With Diet

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Americans might be able to save some energy by new study suggests, if they ate less meat. Almost half the energy poured into the nation's agricultural production every year goes toward turning out steaks, roasts and other cuts for the dinner table. At the processing end, meat again is the top energy user.

67-Mile Run for West Took Nine Hours, Plus

By Earl Yost

Ambitious Andy West, the 16-year-old Cheney Tech student who ran from his home in Eastchester, N.Y., to Ocean Beach in New London, will never forget the 67-mile trek last week.

"I picked up a few blisters and a bloody nose when I fell, but I was also greeted by about 80 friends and a band, Ricky Bobinski's, when I arrived at Ocean Beach," the young distance runner said. Employed at Cheney during the summer months with the maintenance crew, West covered the trip in nine hours and 15 minutes.

"I left home at 4 a.m. and arrived at Ocean Beach at 1:15. I ran about 40 miles, to Colchester, before I stopped for a rest. I then went as far as Salem, about 55 miles from home, before I rested again. I had a friend, Fred Seaman and his son, who drove down and led the way. "When I arrived at the park, the band greeted me and I was the guest of the park management who put me up in a hotel for the day," West said. He added that he was given a trophy for his efforts.

West, who is counted upon to head the Cheney cross-country team in the fall, runs 80 miles a week, including eight a day, back and forth to Cheney.

A running enthusiast for three years, West's previous longest race was 45 miles to Modus.

Coming up next will be a 12-mile AAU-sanctioned race Sunday at Ocean Beach.

Dr. Rothfield Appointed to Federal Panel

FARMINGTON (UPI) — Dr. Naomi Rothfield, a professor of medicine at the University of Connecticut School of Medicine, has been named to a panel which helps set federal safety and effectiveness standards for drugs.

Her appointment to one of 22 panels which advise the U.S. Pharmacopoeial Convention was announced Tuesday by Dr. Robert U. Massey, dean of the medical school.

Dr. Rothfield is recognized for her study and therapy work on systemic lupus erythematosus, a disease related to arthritis which most often attacks young women in their child-bearing years.

Anthropologist Building Monument To Prehistoric Man in Nairobi

By JOHN WORRALL, London Financial Times-UPI

NAIROBI — An inspired young East African anthropologist, Richard Leakey, is building a monument in Nairobi to prehistoric man.

It is also a memorial to the young man's famous father, the late Dr. Louis Leakey, whose discoveries suggest East Africa was the cradle of humanity.

Richard Leakey, 30, is director of the National Museums of Kenya. He is emulating the name and work of his father in the 770,000 Louis Leakey Memorial Institute for African Prehistory, soon to take shape in Nairobi as an international center for anthropological study and research.

The institute will be a final graveyard of prehistoric man. It is to be the repository of a huge, unique and ever-growing collection of fossils and artifacts illustrating the emergence of man millions of years ago from his ancestors, the southern apes, up the long and still not properly understood ladder of evolution.

Dr. Louis Leakey died in London in 1972, his work on East African prehistory unfinished. His discoveries, with his wife, Dr. Mary Leakey, at Olduvai Gorge, Tanzania, shook the scientific world in the 1950s and 1960s. Among them was the find of the earthy remains of the first maker of stone tools.

Olduvai Gorge is a 25-mile-long canyon, where the Leakeys discovered layer upon layer of ancient lake shores containing evidence of human occupation, including the continuous evolution of stone tools, from crude pebble tools to the more sophisticated implements of final stone-age man.

Scientists poured into East Africa, new sites were opened up and fascinating new discoveries were made. Louis Leakey's big nucleus collection of priceless fossils and artifacts was housed in the Kenya National Museum. The collection grew rapidly as new specimens came in.

Louis Leakey set up a Center for Prehistory and Palaeontology in 1962 at the museum to meet the fossil crisis. As more scientists came to Kenya to examine material, as new expeditions were organized, the modest facilities of the center were extended and the crisis of palaeontological plenty hit the museum.

World Record In 1,000 Run

OSLO (UPI) — Rick Wohlbuter of Chicago set a world record for 1,000 meters with a time of 2 minutes, 13.9 seconds Tuesday on the opening day of the Martin Luther King international track and field meet.

The time was 2.2 seconds better than the old mark of 2:16.1 set by David Malans of South Africa.

"I had aimed at a time around 2:14 and all went as I had hoped," Wohlbuter said.

"Of course, I had brilliant help from (Mike) Bot who managed to keep the high tempo and shares a great deal of the honor for the new record." Bot, a Kenyan, finished second in 2:16.7.

Changes Jobs UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UPI) — Tony McAndrews, 31, assistant basketball coach at the University of Richmond, Tuesday was named to a similar post at Penn State.

Campy Russell Refuses To Sign Cavalier Pact CLEVELAND (UPI) — Campy Russell of Michigan, the No. 1 draft choice of the Cleveland Cavaliers, has refused to sign his NBA contract with General Manager Coach Bill Fitch and will now start negotiations with the American Basketball Association.

Fitch, who announced last Friday that Russell had agreed to terms, called a news conference Tuesday to say that Russell and his attorney, Arthur Morse of Chicago, had demanded "four or five additional demands" in the reported four-year contract for more than $1 million.

Fitch refused to grant Russell and Morse their additional demands and held his own news conference with assistant coach Jimmy Rogers. "Neither was very happy," he said.

When asked whether Russell would ever wear a Cavaliers' uniform, Fitch replied: "At this point, the way things are, I'd have to say no."

Tolan Out SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Outfielder Bobby Tolán of the San Diego Padres will undergo surgery Wednesday to repair torn cartilage in his right knee.

Tolan, who injured the knee in a game here July 18, will be hospitalized for three days. He is expected back in the lineup in six weeks.

'Raincheck'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Harold Solomon had the biggest payoff in his pro tennis career to take to the bank today — a $16,000 "raincheck" for winning the $100,000 Washington Star-News tournament.

After an overnight suspension because of rain, Solomon finished off Argentina's Guillermo Vilas 1-6, 6-3, 6-4 Tuesday.

Solomon termed the victory "my biggest thrill except when I beat He Nautsue (the world top ranked player) in the French quarterfinals earlier this year."

Havlicek will be 36 when he completes the final two seasons of his current Boston contract. From his off-season home in suburban Upper Arlington, Ohio, Havlicek said he would like to help younger players and remain connected with basketball in some way after retiring as an active player.

"I wouldn't mind having a capacity such as Jack Grant had," Havlicek said. "I think I would enjoy that."

Graf, while running a business of his own, was Ohio State coach Fred Taylor's part-time assistant for a number of years.

"I would allow me to stay in the game and possibly help some of the younger players if they had no aspirations, telling them what they have to do to achieve that," said Havlicek.

Villanova D.A. VILLANOVA, Pa. (UPI) — Theodore A. Aceto, quarterback of Villanova University's last two bowl teams, was named the school's athletic director Tuesday.

Rupp Satisfactory LEXINGTON, Ky. (UPI) — Adolph Rupp, the longtime basketball coach at the University of Kentucky, was reported in satisfactory condition Tuesday at the school's Medical Center, where he was being treated for back pains.

Rupp, 72, entered the hospital Sunday after reportedly suffering a fall at his home. He retired as the Kentucky coach in 1972 after winning more games than any other coach.

Havlicek Would Listen To Part-Time Offer COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — John Havlicek, the former Ohio State University great and now a veteran with the Boston Celtics, says he might consider a part-time coaching job at his alma mater after retirement from the National Basketball Association.

Havlicek will be 36 when he completes the final two seasons of his current Boston contract. From his off-season home in suburban Upper Arlington, Ohio, Havlicek said he would like to help younger players and remain connected with basketball in some way after retiring as an active player.

"I wouldn't mind having a capacity such as Jack Grant

FINAST BREAKS TRADITION IN FOOD PRICING

Finast will no longer increase the prices of food already on the shelves. Effective on Wednesday, July 24, 1974 all Finast supermarkets began a new pricing policy on Grocery, Meat & Produce items. Here is how it works:

When Finast is forced to make a price increase, cans and packages already price-marked will be sold at the old, lower price.

When these items are restocked on the shelves, the new, higher priced items will be placed behind the lower priced items.

As regular prices go down, Finast will immediately reduce the price on shelf stock, and the lower price will always be honored at the register. When a can or package shows more than one price, the customer pays the lowest price for that item.

Weekly specials or "sale" items will be priced at the lower price, and if any remains after the sale event, it will be repriced upward.

Baked goods, baby foods, fair trade and items controlled by state laws are exempt from this new policy.

Finast supermarkets strongly believe that breaking the old industry tradition of re-pricing will find favorable reaction by the public.

Relaxation May Succeed Coffee Break

By BERNARD CAUGHEY

BOSTON (UPI) — Scrap that coffee break. Instead take a "relaxation response" break — and maybe you'll live longer and happier.

That's the advice of Dr. Herbert Benson, director of the hypertension section of Beth Israel Hospital, who has come up with a simple technique you can go through in your office or home to help prolong your life and reduce the risks of high blood pressure, heart disease and stroke.

Here's all you need:

- A quiet environment with as few distractions as possible. For example, an office desk in a quiet room.
- A mental device such as a single-syllable word or word repeated in a low, gentle tone. He suggests the word "one."
- A passive attitude to help you rest and relax. If distracting thoughts enter your mind, simply disregard them.
- A comfortable position, probably a chair where you can get in as restful a position as possible to reduce muscular effort. You can support your arms and head, remove your shoes and loosen all tight-fitting clothing.

Benson, in the current edition of Harvard Business Review, says you should then follow this procedure:

Close your eyes.

"Deeply relax all your muscles, beginning at your feet and progressing up to your face — feet, calves, thighs, lower torso, chest, shoulders, neck, head. Allow them to remain deeply relaxed.

"Breathe through your nose. Become aware of your breathing. As you breathe out, say the word 'one' silently to yourself. Thus, breathe in... breathe out, with 'one'... In... out, with 'one'..."

"Continue this practice for 20 minutes. You may open your eyes to check the time, but do not use an alarm. When you finish, sit quietly for several minutes, at first with your eyes closed and later with your eyes open."

An associate professor of medicine at Harvard Medical School, Benson said the technique should be practiced twice daily, but not within two hours after a meal, since the digestive process seems to interfere with the expected changes.

He noted that heart attacks and strokes have been increasingly affecting young people and many cardiologists feel we are in the midst of an epidemic of these diseases.

After using the "relaxation response," Benson said, "The great majority of people report feelings of relaxation and freedom from anxiety... skin to those often noted after physical exercise, but without the attendant physical fatigue."

Through additional study is required, he said preliminary research shows regular use of the relaxation response may lead to use of fewer drugs or decreased dosages and could decrease or eliminate heavy use of alcohol and cigarettes.

Benson warned no person should treat himself for high blood pressure and if suffering from the disease should use the technique only under doctor's supervision.

Benson called on the business sector to take the lead.

"For example, programs could be established in which time is made available for employees to practice the relaxation response... A quiet environment is desirable, but a person can elicit the response at his or her desk or at any comfortable seat.

"A relaxation response break" might be substituted for the coffee break. They may improve employees' ability to deal with stress and increase their sense of well-being.

"Not only may such an application prove beneficial to the individual — it may have further, broader benefits and ramifications for industry as a whole," he said.

The Stamp Collector

The American Topical Association had its 11th and now it is time to take a look at another even larger group, the American Philatelic Society. APS membership, throughout U.S. and 88 other countries, totals 31,000. Their interests are general, covering the whole field of philately, rather than just thematic and topical areas. They offer a sales division, expertising service, stamp insurance, and handbooks. Their journal, the American Philatelist, appears monthly.

Our Manchester Society is a chapter club of the APS and has made substantial contributions to the building fund of their Research Library.

The July number of the "Philatelist" shows a cover picture of Norway's 2-stamp set commemorating the 700th anniversary of National Legislation. Then there is an eight-page dissertation called "Multiples of the U.S. Private Die Proprietary Stamps."

The stamps are usually referred to as "back-of-the-book stuff," since they are listed far far along in Scott's Specialized Catalogue, another term for them is "Match and Medicine" issues. The category also includes a canned fruit stamp, perfume, and playing card stamps. The article would do pretty well as a master's thesis, with all the thorough study supported by 16 references. Such pieces make the library, like Yogi Berra's party, "necessary."

Something else in the public prints last week is even further toward the back of the book than the Match and Medicine — Herman Herst has a story in Coin World about Encased Postage Stamps. He tells how the inventor, John Gault, came up with the idea during the Civil War when small coins were scarce.

Scovill of Waterbury made the things, which were composed of a metal case with advertising on it, a stamp in-

Around World With Mouth Organ

BIRMINGHAM, Mich. (UPI) — Howard Rice is setting off on a lone sailing trip around the world, taking with him a harmonica and a dream.

"This is just something I've always wanted to do," he said. "Something to make me a little different from everyone else."

He does not plan to set any records even though the current fastest time for sailing along around the world in a small craft is almost four years.

Instead, Rice, 20, plans to take it easy. "I'll stop a lot along the way," he said, citing plans to visit relatives in Virginia, to surf in Florida and to scout for real estate he might find attractive elsewhere along the way.

The voyage, he reckons, will last 30 months. That comes to 1,000 miles every month that Rice plans to maneuver his largely homemade craft, Karsy Girl, through the waters of the Atlantic, Pacific and Indian Oceans.

The voyage starts Sept. 1 in Marion, Mass. In a way, the voyage began in West Bridgewater, Mass., where Rice obtained the bare hull of his craft.

With a little help from his friends and the sponsorship of 21 different firms, Rice gradually built and outfitted the blue and white Karsy Girl. The sponsors range from food suppliers who gave him special diet of food to a company manufacturing life rafts equipped with radar.

On board, in addition to the harmonica, Rice will carry only a receiver for weather forecasts and a heating device — for use if he runs into trouble. He brought the harmonica to keep himself company.

The voyage is a first for Rice, who has never sailed long distances. "I'm definitely not an old hand at this," he said. "But if all my backers think I can do it, I'm sure I can."

Rice, a former University of Detroit business student, plans to travel down the east coast of the United States, through the Panama Canal, across the Equator to the Galapagos Islands, then to Tahiti, the Fiji Islands, along the top of Australia, across the Indian Ocean along the bottom of Africa, across the Atlantic to the East Coast of South America and north to Florida.

Ready To Go

Howard Rice, 20, a former college business student, will have no worries for money or supplies when he leaves this summer on a solo 30-month sailing journey on three oceans.

Rice has 21 sponsors backing him. His craft, named the Karsy Girl, will be the laboratory and he will be the subject for a series of "guinea pig" tests of new products for the backers. (UPI photo)

Republicans Seek Clarification Of Status of Their Key Men Club

HARTFORD (UPI) — The state Election Commission is awaiting a definition under the new election laws of a club of influential Republicans.

The GOP headquarters recently asked the commission for a ruling on the Republican Key Men club, to avoid contributing $250 each to the day-to-day operations of GOP state headquarters.

Hammer said the definition will force those two organizations to reorganize with themselves and line agencies such as the community college system, Groppo said.

Hammer said his office had not determined the details on the Key Men matter, it appeared the case was similar to the Young GOP and Democrats.

'It Don't Pay to Worry or Work on Sunday'

By DOLLIE L. SMITH
YAPOUN BEACH, N.C. (UPI) — In this coastal resort area lives a man who keeps his money in fishing nets, doesn't worry, doesn't get in a hurry and doesn't work on Sunday.

He's Buddy Brown, 64, and he's satisfied with his life as a part-time handyman and fisherman.

Brown has not moved more than a mile in more than 35 years. For a while he lived beneath the bridge crossing the intracoastal waterway, warmed at night by a pet pig and dog sleeping at his sides.

Then he was "chief cook and bottle washer" on a fishing barge that traveled the waterway from Carolina to Florida.

Now Brown lives in the first house on the right across the bridge with his wife, "Miss Emma."

He repairs lawnmowers, outboard motors and bicycles, mends fishing nets and does a little shrimping. To get around, he rides a bicycle or gets "rides from friends."

The last car he owned he finally "parked it for two or three years and then sold the motor."

can't see and I quit. We don't burn lights at night."

When shrimping season opens in late June, Brown once again will head into the waters he has shrimped and fished all his life, but his catch will be more expensive this year.

"I've been selling shrimp for 50 cents a pound all these years," he said. "But I just heard that they're selling for $1 a pound. I don't believe I'll be selling any more for 50 cents."

The Browns keep a goat, a dog and a duck, and tend a small vegetable garden behind their house. Miss Emma grows or cans the garden products for the winter.

Brown now deposits his money in a nearby bank, but at one time he kept his money in tin cans buried around the house.

Beach residents said he always had money to lend to his friends. One grocer said he could identify the money by its rust marks.

"But, you know, only one person ever paid me back," Brown said. "I get a whole lot out of life. I don't have no problems. I don't worry about money. 'It don't pay to worry or work on Sunday. I feel better and get along better. I never get sick and I haven't had a cold in God knows when."

The last car he owned he finally "parked it for two or three years and then sold the motor."

"It was too much trouble to mess with and I didn't need no car," he said.

Brown's monthly bill for electricity runs between $6 and $7. "I hardly ever burn a light over 30 minutes," he said. "It keeps the bills small."

His day begins as early as 3 a.m. and ends before 7 a.m. "Anyone come to see me after eight, there's no one here," he said, packing tobacco in his pipe. "I just work 'til 1

Confusion, Outside Interference Noted in Community College Report

HARTFORD (UPI) — The Legislative Program Review Committee said part of a study of the Connecticut community college system shows it has been subjected to confusion and outside interference.

Sen. David O. Odegar of Westchester, co-chairman of the committee, said the operation of the system should be clarified by statute.

The system would be helped if the various control agencies would adopt standard procedures and work to improve communication between themselves and line agencies such as the community college system, Groppo said.

"We also found that the three missions of community college — college transfer education, occupational training and community service — are not clearly defined," Groppo said. "We found that this distortion in the emphasis placed on the three separate missions is also partially due to the current system of funding community colleges which is based on enrollment," Groppo said.

Another problem, Odegar said, is the lack of specific objectives for the community college system. The result, he said, has been an overemphasis on transfer and general education programs.

Rep. John G. Groppo, R-Westchester, co-chairman of the committee, said the operation of the system should be clarified by statute.

MPHNA Functions Without Director

The Manchester Public Health Nursing Association (MPHNA) is continuing to function without a director, according to a member of the agency's staff.

No information has been received by the staff regarding the board of directors success in finding a new director to replace Mrs. Jean Bates who resigned from the post June 30 because of conflict with the board, Mrs. Lois Stout, a staff nurse, said. No acting director has been named, Mrs. Stout added.

Mrs. Dorothy Gowett, the agency supervisor, is handling the day-to-day functions of the agency, securing funds from grants, and serving as a liaison person with community, state and federal agencies, Mrs. Stout said.

Mrs. Stout also said these are functions of a director, but are not the responsibility of the board of directors. The board is not prepared to handle these functions, she said, and has sought consultation from the state Health Department to supplement its limited knowledge.

"Such an arrangement should be only short-term," she said. Mrs. Stout said that because of the lack of a director, Mrs. Javorski, the nurse who has been with the agency the longest, will be expected to coordinate the work of the staff, handle her own case load, and refer the work which properly belongs in the hands of the director to Mrs. Margaret Shainin, chairman of the board of directors.

"The board of directors has created this situation but is expecting the staff to maintain the agency until a replacement director is found. The board only trust that the staff is doing its job properly and will continue to do so," Mrs. Stout said.

Mrs. Bates has been given an opportunity to respond to accusations regarding her, which have been made by board members. She has not been asked to reconsider her resignation nor has she been asked to remain as director until a qualified replacement could be found, Mrs. Stout said.

She also said that the board of directors is not willing to negotiate with the state Health Department, which is possibly because the staff is in the process of organizing."

Need a Doctor?

The Manchester Medical Association would like to offer the following suggestions as to how persons new to the community or without a physician can obtain the services of a physician.

1. Before an Acute Problem Arises: Remember that only some of the physicians listed in the telephone directory are primary medical physicians (the first doctor to see a patient).
2. Many are surgeons, gynecologists, anesthetists, radiologists, etc., and that usually only see new patients referred to them by primary medical physicians for special problems.
3. Speak to your friends and neighbors about their primary medical physicians or pediatricians—and obtain their names if they seem desirable.
4. If you cannot make contact with a physician in this manner, call the Hartford County Medical Association at 236-9422. Ask them for the names of primary medical doctors or pediatricians in Manchester.
5. If you are still unable to contact a physician, call the Manchester Memorial Hospital emergency room (646-1222, Ext. 231) and they will provide you with the names of primary medical physicians who are able to accept new patients.
6. When you have obtained the name of a physician, call his office during office hours and explain that you would like to become his patient.

Many physicians will be happy to have you as a new patient, and may suggest a future office visit to become acquainted with your particular medical history. This allows much better care especially when an acute problem arises.

If the physician you call in this manner is unable to accept you as a patient, ask his secretary to suggest the names of doctors they believe could take you. If they cannot, remember that (see b).

All of the physicians whose names are provided by the Manchester Memorial Hospital emergency room will be happy to accept you and will usually suggest a future visit.

The Manchester Medical Association is quite confident that all persons in the community could have a primary medical doctor or pediatrician if the above protocol is used.

B. In an Acute Situation When You Have No Physician

1. Call the Manchester Memorial Hospital emergency room and explain your problem to the clerk or nurse on duty.

2. The person on duty will confer with the physician on duty and you will either be given the list of doctors who will answer your call, or, if it is deemed necessary, you will be told to come directly to the emergency room.

The Manchester Medical Association will continue to make every effort to provide medical care to every person in the community, and the above protocol is a good basis. If a patient cooperates by making arrangements for care with a physician before an acute emergency arises, he can obtain a doctor much easier when one is needed in a hurry. The physicians of Manchester are certain that the vast majority of the community enjoys good medical coverage; but they will cooperate to extend that coverage to those without it. Mutual understanding and cooperation in this manner should provide each person in Manchester with satisfactory medical care and coverage. (This has been published by The Manchester Evening Herald as a public service, in cooperation with the Manchester Medical Association.)

New Cottages For Mansfield Training School

The Lawrence Associates of Manchester today unveiled this rendering of 16 new cottages for the mentally retarded, soon to be constructed on Mansfield Training School. Unveiling was by Gov. Thomas J. Meskill and Deputy Commissioner Gareth D. Thorne of the Connecticut Office of Mental Retardation. Bids for the work will be let Aug. 9 by the state Department of Public Works. The estimated $3 million project was authorized with overwhelming bipartisan support of the 1973 General Assembly. When completed, the new structures will allow the Mansfield facility to abandon use of several dormitories which date back to World War I. The new buildings are designed for multiples of four people with each group of four housed in "module" units of two bedrooms for two individuals each, plus a living-recreation area.

Kissinger Wiretap Role Probe Near End

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has heard from its last witness in the investigation of whether Secretary of State Henry Kissinger told the truth at his confirmation hearings last year. Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., said Tuesday that the key issue is an "unfortunate semantic difference" in Kissinger's testimony he never "initiated" wiretaps of reporters and government officials while he headed the National Security Council. White House chief of staff Alexander M. Haig was the last witness Tuesday and said he generally supported Kissinger's account of the wiretapping. Haig was Kissinger's deputy on the council.

Fulbright did not make clear whether he was backing away from previous support for Kissinger, saying, "I am not prepared to make any conclusion yet." Fulbright's committee began the review of Kissinger's role after the secretary threatened in June to resign unless cleared of allegations he did not tell the truth in sworn testimony that he did not order the taps. Asked if he had reassessed his resignation threat, Kissinger said Tuesday night, "What I do all depends on the final verdict of the Foreign Relations Committee. But I do not think I will resign — as of now." FBI documents gathered in the course of the House impeachment inquiry showed the 17 wiretaps on newsmen and certain press and former government officials were instituted upon requests from Kissinger relayed through Haig. President Nixon has accepted responsibility for authorizing the program, and Kissinger has testified he only supplied the names of some persons to be wiretapped. "I think a very unfortunate semantic difference has arisen which will be difficult to resolve," said Fulbright. "I asked him in September whether he initiated any wiretaps and his answer was 'no.'" "I think he was thinking of 'initiated' as meaning the program. But if you think of it from the point of view of the individuals (who were tapped) I don't know how you can get away from saying he initiated them."

Cyprus Truce Under Threat

By United Press International The Cyprus cease-fire threatened to crumble today, with reports of major Turkish truce violations and a Soviet veto blocking the United Nations from expanding peacekeeping efforts on the war-torn island. Turkish warships anchored off the northern Cypriot port of Kyrenia shelled two Greek Cypriot towns Wednesday, less than 24 hours after the signing of a three-nation cease-fire agreement in Geneva. Greek Cypriot leaders denounced the attacks as "gross violations" of the truce and accused Turkey of sending more reinforcements to occupied sections of the embattled island. At the United Nations, Soviet Ambassador Yakov A. Malik rushed to the Security Council from vacation and vetoed a resolution calling for peace-keeping forces to expand their duties on Cyprus in accordance with the Geneva peace agreement. Immediately after the dramatic vote, Secretary General Kurt Waldheim said he had no choice but to comply. In Moscow, the official Soviet news agency Tass said Malik "foiled the attempt" by some NATO members to impose a change in the U.N. role without "sufficient sounding out."

Foreign Minister Dimity Dimitrova accused Turkey of "gross violations" of the cease-fire. She said Greek Cypriot troops were under orders not to engage the Turks in battle. Another influential conservative Republican, Rep. John M. Ashbrook of Ohio, predicted Nixon would be impeached by a 3-1 margin in the House. Ashbrook, who endorsed impeachment over the weekend, said the President would go into a Senate trial as an underdog and would be "hard pressed" to find the 34 Senate votes required to stay in office. Rep. Charles E. Wiggins, R-Calif., who led Nixon's defense during the House Judiciary Committee sessions which approved three articles of impeachment, said, "Everybody's been telling me about Republican erosions but I don't find any."

Rhodes Anguished Over Impeachment

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House Republican leader John J. Rhodes was portrayed today as anguished over whether to call for President Nixon's impeachment. Rhodes made it "respectable" for a Republican to vote to impeach. An aide described Rhodes, who succeeded Gerald R. Ford as House GOP leader, as "anguished" over what position to take. His office said Rhodes was drafting a statement he issued next week, on whether he would support impeachment. But Republicans who called themselves undecided on impeachment said privately the vote by eight of the Judiciary Committee's 17 Republicans to recommend impeachment was made it "respectable" for a Republican to vote to impeach. Ashbrook, who ran against Nixon in 1972 on the grounds the President had betrayed his old conservative supporters, said he struggled for a reason not to come out for impeachment. "I truly wanted to find a reason I could live with to say, 'Here's why I oppose impeachment.' But I couldn't find any," he said. In other developments: At the White House, some of Nixon's aides privately indicated they now think it likely the House would vote to impeach him and he would face a Senate trial. Two staunch conservatives, Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., and James B. Allen, D-Ala., agreed with the position taken by Senate Democratic leaders that a Senate trial need not stop and start over again if it lasts into the next Congress in January.

Democrats Name Cummings, Mahoney, Fitzgerald

By SOL R. COHEN Manchester Democrats Wednesday night nominated William Fitzgerald for re-election as Manchester judge of probate, Francis Mahoney for re-election as state representative from Assembly District 13, and Democratic Town Chairman Ted Cummings for state representative from Assembly District 12. Cummings, who announced his candidacy Monday, defeated Robert Blechman, who had been a candidate since June 12. The vote was 21 to 1. It had been 20 to 2 before one of Blechman's backers switched to Cummings. The latter abstained from voting. Blechman had the endorsement of the Democratic Club of Manchester, but Cummings had the votes of the Democratic Town Committee, which he has headed since 1961. The seat in Assembly District 12 is held by Republican Donald Groves, who has announced he will not seek re-election — after almost eight years in the post. Cummings was nominated by Joseph Czerwinski, who stressed "the dedication and enthusiasm the town chairman has brought to the committee and the town." The entire town committee participated in the nominations for judge of probate and justices of peace. However, only those members residing in Voting Districts 2-7-10 chose the nominee in Assembly

District 12, and only those residing in Voting Districts 3-4-6-8 chose the nominee in Assembly District 13. Those in Voting District 1 represent Assembly District 14 (all of South Windsor and a portion of Manchester), and those in Voting District 9 represent Assembly District 9 (part of East Hartford and part of Manchester). Democratic votes cast in the Assembly in District election in November 1972 (about 200), plus a $25 filing fee. Judge Fitzgerald was nominated by Rep. Mahoney, who pointed to "the excellent job by Bill Fitzgerald, in the tradition of former Judge John Walliet." Mahoney noted "the step forward" taken by Fitzgerald in scheduling Thursday night probate court sessions. Seconding speeches for Fitzgerald were by Piatrantonio, Hugh Ward, Henry Becker and Matt Moriarty Jr. All stressed his "compassion and service beyond call of duty." Judge Fitzgerald, after a standing ovation for him, thanked the committee members. "If not for the people in this room, I wouldn't be holding the office now and seeking re-election." He introduced his wife, Janice, and their daughters, Debra and Megan, and said the honor was the second for him in one day. Earlier, he had been elected vice president of the Manchester Bar Association. He said he will start campaigning immediately, "because, that's the only way to win an election — by not taking anything for granted," and he pledged a campaign "which will preserve the dignity of the court and which will do nothing to demean (See Page Eighteen)

Lt. Richard Sartor of the Manchester Police Department checks out the latest addition to the bike storage room at the station. Bikes lost or stolen often end up here. Bicycles Vital, And Vulnerable

By MALCOLM BARLOW Julian Martin bought a 10-speed bike for $160 as one of his few expensive possessions. It was partly a necessity as he used it to get to the jobs he has held while saving for college. On July 18 in the afternoon someone stole it. The 18-year-old youth became one of 244 people who have reported their bicycles stolen since Jan. 1 this year. Since only a total of 103 bikes have been reported found, most of the victims have little hope of recovery, according to police. Martin, of 165 Henry St., stopped in the Corner Memorial Store on Main St. for a few hours' work. All five employees there ride bikes, including the manager, Mrs. Carol Brown. "We will bring the bikes in whenever we're working," Mrs. Brown said. "You can't leave it out for a moment without someone taking it." Martin planned to go right back and get the bike but got busy with other things. An hour later, he went for it and it was gone. It is a burgundy color Schwinn Continental with racing bars. Martin looked all over town for it, even going to the home of people he suspected may have taken it. But he had no success. Off. Russell Holyfield, community relations officer at the police department, said, "A bike is easy to steal. This year's bike thefts are not unusually high." He noted that even chaining the bike to utility poles does not always work as bike thieves have been able to cut the chains. And the more expensive the bike, the lighter it is to carry away. Martin said he told police right
