'I Didn't Know That'

I'll bet you don't know how long there has been a part-time chaplain at Manchester Memorial Hospital. Who supports the chaplain financially? Who is the present chaplain? What does the chaplain do in the hospital? Is there a chapel service in the hospital on Sunday morning? Can you ask the chaplain to visit someone who is having an operation? Will the chaplain talk with families of patients?

Do you know how many beds are usually filled at the Manchester Hospital? Do you know what it would cost to have a full-time chaplain available to our hospital? Do you think it would be worth it to patients and their families?

That's the questions - here are answers. The chaplaincy started in 1961. During the last 13 years, eight chaplains have served our community hospital. The names of Robert Giuliano, Theodore Batchelor, Eugene Mace, Tolly Williamson, Henry Millan, Carleton Young, Howard Pope and Jean Gilbert are well known to some of us elderly pastors.

Chaplain Gilbert works 20 hours each week in our hospital. She conducts a Sunday worship service at 8:30 a.m. in the chapel. Her main task is to visit "unburied" patients and also see as many new patients who come from out-of-town as possible. She counsels with patients and families as much as time allows. She is paid $4,000 from the hospital and $2,000 from the MACC.

It could be very helpful to patients and families to have well trained full-time chaplains available in the hospital. It would also be helpful to the churches of the area to have a trained and training chaplain available. But it would be most helpful to the staff of the hospital to have such a professional available in their midst. It would probably cost about $4,000 to hire and house such a professional person.

Many of us just get acquainted with the chaplain when they move on to other persons in 13 years. I believe that hospital, community and patients would benefit from a state chaplaincy present to us for several years. The time may be near to push for action. Do you?

Nixon's GOP Support Is Eroding

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Republican support of President Nixon eroded seriously in Congress today following his admission he withheld evidence from the House Judiciary Committee. Six of 10 GOP committee members who voted against his impeachment changed their minds.

Rep. Charles W. Sandman Jr., R-N.J., who became a national figure through his insistence during nationally televised committee debate on "specificity" of charges against the President, today said new transcripts yielded Monday by Nixon carried the "hard proof" of criminality warranting impeachment.

Rep. Robert McClary III, second-ranking Republican on the Judiciary Committee, said he favored beginning House impeachment debate next week and limiting it to one day.

Rep. Robert L.F. Sikes, D-Fla., a leader among Southern Democrats who introduced Nixon, called for his resignation. Sikes said he was dropping his plan to support a motion to censure instead of impeaching Nixon, but said he would wait a few days before deciding how to vote on impeachment.

Resignation Looks Inviting

Resignation perhaps looks inviting to President Nixon in view of his latest disclosure that he withheld Watergate evidence from Congress and his own lawyers.
Mr. Nixon might have much to gain by resignation and so might the country. Although he has emphatically rejected resignation on many occasions it is almost an entirely new ball game today.
Resignation would almost surely guarantee his annual pension of $60,000 per year for life based on his long tenure of public service.
It would also assure him a very substantial expense account for maintenance of an office and administrative expenses.
It would also give him time to write his memoirs which is supposedly the reason he taped all the material on Watergate in the first place.

Yes, resignation must look inviting to a man as besieged as President Nixon.
The one thing we can't understand is why the President waited so long to reveal what he knew about the Watergate break-in. By his action he forced the American people, to suffer right along with him, the weary months of investigation.
We can assume that if the President had made a full disclosure of Watergate in the beginning it would never have escalated to where it is today.
No, resignation isn't the answer now. Let the President stick to his prior stand and fight it out to the end. Let the impeachment process go forward with trial in the Senate.

The $10 Littering Fine

If you are now caught littering the highway, it will cost you only $10, instead of $200, thanks to legislative action.
We have felt that $200 was too small a price to pay for someone apprehended while throwing trash from an automobile. There is simply no excuse for such an act.
Enforcement of the littering law has been weak, and apparently still is judging from the number of fines, even though the price is $10.

In the meantime, the Department of Transportation says its costs around $1 million a year to clean up litter around the highways.
Don't be surprised if the cleanup cost by the DOT doesn't increase substantially with the ridiculous littering fine of 10 bucks.

Bi-Partisan Effort Needed

If George Bush, national Republican chairman and native of Connecticut, has his way, the congressional campaign this fall will be battled on the issues of federal spending and the Democratic Congress rather than the Watergate scandal.
Bush, who now lives in Texas, told some fellow Texans recently that the American people "are smart. They know that wasteful government spending is an issue far transcending Watergate. That, in turn, makes the Democratic-controlled Congress a major issue this year."

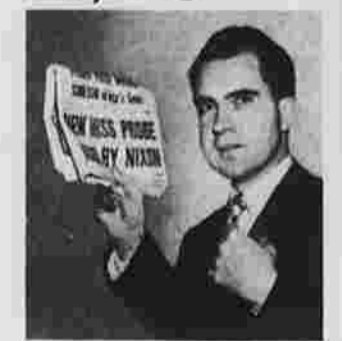

It is quite true the American people are smart and are concerned about wasteful federal spending. They are also smart enough to know that much of the "waste" is the results of bipartisan back-scratching in Congress which enables too many bad projects and programs to get funded.
We would welcome a full discussion of federal waste in the coming campaign but prefer it to be on a non-partisan basis.
We fear, though, we would be belabored at length by both parties seeking to lay blame on the other, rather than with sound, constructive and specific proposals to balance the federal budget and insure that every tax dollar is expended wisely and in the common interest.
But this would be too much to wish for since the price tags of political promises, regardless of party label, are never known until after the election and there is no recourse to a voter protection agency to give us either promised performance or our money back.

Four Part Series...

The 12 Crises Of Richard Nixon

In 1962, Richard M. Nixon published a political autobiography called "Six Crises," an account of the events which he regarded as momentous. Since that book was published, the Nixon public life has continued to be a series of crises.
Attention is now riveted on what may be his ultimate crisis: impeachment and a Senate trial. In this article, researched and written by NEA Associated Editor Ross Galspagan, 12 crises are related.

FIRST CRISIS: The Hiss Case Fall, 1948

After his election to Congress from California in 1946, Richard Nixon gained national prominence as a member of the House Un-American Affairs Committee investigating the infiltration of Communists into the U.S. government.

On Aug. 3, 1948, Whitaker Chambers, a senior editor of Time Magazine who had been a communist in the 1930s, told the committee that Alger Hiss, a former bright star in the State Department, had been active in underground organizations promoting communist infiltration into various government agencies.

Two days later, Hiss took the stand. His credentials were impeccable. From a law clerk for Supreme Court Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, Hiss had risen through a series of government posts to the State Department where he helped develop U.S. policy toward the new United Nations.

While most HUAC members were prone to accept Hiss' claim that he had never been a communist, Nixon was struck by the fact that Hiss never flatly denied knowing Chambers but only "a man by the name of Whitaker Chambers."

Despite the opposition of most committee members, and most of the press and public, and despite bitter denunciations by President Truman, Nixon persisted in picking away at Hiss' story. Eventually, at Nixon's instigation, a meeting between Hiss and Chambers was arranged in a New York hotel room before a number of HUAC members. Hiss finally admitted knowing Chambers but under the name of "George Crosley."

From that point on, Hiss began to lose credibility. He was eventually convicted on two counts of perjury and served 44 months in a federal prison.

Defending the work of HUAC, and of congressional investigatory committees generally, Nixon later wrote in "Six Crises," "I strongly believed that the committee served several necessary and vital purposes... first, to investigate for the purpose of determining what laws should be enacted; second, to serve as a watchdog on the actions of the executive branch, exposing inefficiency and corruption; third... to inform the public on great national and international issues."

Twenty five years later, member of the Senate Watergate Committee cited exactly the same reasons to justify their investigations of Nixon's 1972 campaign.

SECOND CRISIS: The Checkers Speech September, 1952

During a white-hot week in 1952, Richard Nixon found himself engulfed in his second crisis, one which came within a hair's breadth of ending his political career.

Senator Nixon had been nominated as Gen. Eisenhower's vice-presidential running mate. A couple of weeks into the campaign, Fox Edson, a Washington columnist for Newspaper Enterprise Association, asked Nixon about an alleged "supplementary salary" of $20,000 which was paid by a handful of California businessmen.

Nixon had no doubts about the propriety of his fund, and he referred Edson, as well as Leo Katcher of the New York Post, to Dana Smith, a former campaign treasurer, who administered the fund.

According to Smith, the fund collected around $20,000 a year from wealthy backers. The money was used for transportation, telephone calls and for circulating speeches, questionnaires, newsletters and Christmas cards, which Nixon's senatorial salary of $12,500 did not cover.

While Edson's story was handled soberly, the Post article ran under the headline: "Secret Nixon Fund: Secret Rich Men's Trust Fund Keeps Nixon in Style Far Beyond His Salary."

The Democrats seized on the issue, demanding that Eisenhower jettison Nixon from his ticket. The fund became a national issue. Editorials called for Nixon's replacement.

Nixon's advisers decided that his only option was to go on television and plead his case to the nation. An hour before Nixon was scheduled to go on the air, he received a call from Thomas Dewey, one of the G.O.P.'s elder statesmen, telling him that Eisenhower's advisers had concluded that Nixon should announce his resignation at the end of his telecast.

"What should I tell the advisers? you are going to do?" Dewey asked.
"Just tell them... I know something about your feet!" Nixon replied, slamming down the receiver.
A few minutes later, he delivered an impassioned speech baring all his personal finances and revealing that the only political gift he had ever accepted was a checkers set, a cocker spaniel which had been given to his daughters.

Seek Out The Facts On Nursing Assn.

To the editor:
I would like to thank the people of Manchester for their many kind letters concerning my resignation as director of the Manchester Public Health Nursing Association and for their expression of appreciation for the work of the staff. It was my pleasure to be of service for these past six and one half years and to work with such a fine team.
It cannot be stressed enough what an outstanding group of professional women make up this staff. Each is dedicated to providing the highest quality of care possible and it is this devotion to service that keeps them on the job under most difficult circumstances.
This public health nursing service, despite its incorporation as an independent agency, is in fact an essential service that belongs to the people—the consumers—who have basic rights to quality health care. As trustees—not merely as employers—the members of this board of directors should not allow their vision to become clouded by personal bias or their ranks to become inaccessible to the broad representation of consumers needed to plan for health services.
There is no evidence that the membership of this board has looked objectively at the problem or investigated the cause. No visits have been made to the agency to seek answers or facts and judgments have been made only on other than first-hand information.

This membership should be acceptable to this community, not only for the agency's use of public monies in the form of fees and grants, but it must also be accountable morally for what it is doing to jeopardize a public service. Not once has this group, or indeed any individual member, sat down to analyze the facts or carry on a meaningful discussion with the staff. Leadership and direction are totally lacking. The side-stepping of direct questioning, the hiring of expensive legal advice, and the manipulation of meetings are just more evidence that this board is unable to act in good faith. This is a sad commentary on a very sad situation.
It is not time for the people of this community as individuals, or as groups, to begin to seek the facts on their own. All are potential users of this vital service and it is up to the people to ensure that public health nursing will be of the highest caliber and available when it is needed.

Dear editor:
I am writing to you on behalf of the over 40,000 disabled veterans now living in the State of Connecticut. We have resolved a mandate on the floor of our state convention to bring our problem to the good people of Connecticut, through the auspices of the news media, for the purpose of benefiting all of the citizens of our state, but more specifically, our disabled veterans.
Our problem comes in a time of many problems, too many to enumerate and too many to ignore, but yet, in a time when the solution of just one of these problems, carried to and solved in the public eye, shall go far in demonstrating to the people of this state your desire and willingness and ability to help a crippled veteran, to right an injustice, to demonstrate again your position of leadership in the community of Connecticut.
Our facts are real, they have been documented before the Congress of the United States, testified to before committees of our state's veterans' organizations, and recorded to the point of cruelty in our collective voice of need and desperation, one theme rings out over all the others: "This time we shall not be denied." Now, it is only a matter of asking, "Will you help us?" that we are appreciated by Congress two years ago for the construction of a new veterans hospital in Connecticut. You see, the solution does not require any special legislation to be passed; that has already been done; nor does it require that job done.

No Police State

To the editor:
I am writing with Alan Lamson, president, Manchester Jaycees, that vandalism is deplorable. But his solutions are unconvincing.
He calls on parents to "know where your children are and what they are doing." The question is not, Mr. Lamson, "Do you know where your children are tonight?" but rather, "What have you been teaching them for the last 10 or 20 years?"
It's time we realized that a police state, complete with parental wardens, is a poor substitute for a society that teaches its young the Judeo-Christian values—starting with the Ten Commandments.

Atty. Harvey Backmender has decided not to force a primary in the Republican selection of a candidate for judge of probate. Backmender had announced he would seek a primary after he lost the nomination to Edward Hinchliff in a close vote at a Republican caucus.

Backmender, in announcing his decision not to contest the choice, said in part, "I have decided to withdraw from seeking the primary and to accept the result of the caucus."

In another action at the caucus, Republicans endorsed fifteen candidates for justice of the peace.

They are Charles Barnes, Charlene Cross, Anne Dallaire, Anne Emt, Marion Foote, Geraldine Kant, Kay Thomas, John Hooker, Walma Taylor, Charles Wallace, Rosalie Carlson, Daniel Paine, John

Sibun, John Fitzgibbons, and Janis Prell.

To Oil Roads

At a recent meeting of the Board of Selectmen a list of roads due to be oiled this summer was presented. The roads on the schedule include: Jagger Lane, Hardy Rd., Abbey Dr., Jan Dr., Hickory Dr., Oak Dr., Salt Box Rd., and Stocum Rd.

Also, Wellswood Rd., Hillcrest Dr., Woodside Rd., Turner Rd., Elsmere Rd., Reid's Hill Rd., Stinner Lane and Buck Rd.

The shoulders on Elizabeth Dr., Jones St., Hope Valley Rd., and Kinney Rd. will also be oiled this summer.

First Selectman Aron Reid announced that the cost for the materials alone for this job will be over $26,000. The price of the oil used for this operation has gone from 19 cents per gallon two years ago to 57 cents per gallon today. If the roads are not oiled, Reid said, they will deteriorate so badly that they will cost more next year.

Greyville Falls

Reid showed First Selectman

Pete Dallaire a bill for the repair of one picnic table partially destroyed at the town owned recreation area, Greystone Falls. He said that two more tables have been badly damaged since the first was discovered.

The selectmen discussed possible ways to deal with the problem including a sundown closing of the facility and hiring a special constable for Greystone Falls.

A letter was received by the first selectman requesting that parliamentary procedures be accepted by the town for town meetings and that something be done to improve the voter qualification procedures. Karen Biskupiak, who wrote the letter, was present at the meeting and was told that the matter would be discussed with town counsel.

Bryant Andrews was named chairman of the caucus and the town committee was empowered to fill any vacancies which might occur between now and the Nov. 5 election.

Albert Hadigian had expressed a desire for this position but withdrew his name just prior to the close of the caucus.

He said his withdrawal was because of his commitment to party unity and harmony.

A contest for justices of the peace resulted in a paper ballot vote. Six names were placed in nomination. The five elected were Richard Urban, Georgianna Pesciello, Bees Hochberg, Terry D'Italia and Frances Malek. Henry Beck, not present at the caucus, was not elected.

Schools To Pick Coordinator For Health, Development Course

A coordinator for South Windsor's new Human Development and Health Education course is expected to be selected by Sept. 1 with implementation of part of the course expected to take place by next spring.

School officials are nearing completion of interviews of coordinators for the controversial curriculum which includes sex education.

Once selected the specialist will set up in-service training among teacher groups and will meet with members of PTA's, PTO's, and parent groups.

The entire human development program, aside from sex education, will include subjects such as: health care of the body, growth and development, emotional and social aspects, drugs, alcohol and tobacco.

The curriculum sparked many heated debates both within the school board and among members of the community when the board, earlier this year, voted to allocate funds to finally implement a program that had been drawn up and approved many years ago.

The only reason the board had not implemented the curriculum before this was that other courses usurped funds for it.

With hardly any cuts in its 1974-75 budget the board saw this upcoming school year as opportunity to finally give students a health education program.

However scores of opponents saw the program as a threat to the training and upbringing that parents had been attempting to give their children at home.

When all the arguments were heard the school board decided to compromise, and voted to keep the program, but modified it drastically so that it barely resembles the controversial program at hand.

Elections for the new officers will be held at the beginning of the next year. Anyone planning to run will be required to state the reasons for seeking election.

School Driveway Plan Resolved

Board of Education members met with the Town Council last night to resolve the procedure for securing plans and bids for the proposed driveway at the Capt. Nathan Hale School.

The board will get an engineering design from Griswold and Foss, consultants, submit this design to the council, and after receiving council approval, will have Griswold and Foss draw up bid specifications and secure bids.

The board will pick the bid they wish to accept and submit it to the council for approval for the release of the $15,000 allocated for the driveway.

Richard Galinat, maintenance director for the schools, informed the council that OSHA had made an inspection of the school property and notified him that there was thousands of dollars worth of work to be done by the schools up to OSHA specifications.

The council set Aug. 21 as the date for a special town meeting to set on the contract with Windham Regional Planning Agency for the services of Frank Connelly as town planner for the coming year.

PZC Tables Harkins Request For Town Hall Site Plan

TOLLAND

Vivian Kenneson

The Planning and Zoning Commission tabled a request from Town Manager John Harkins for a site plan for a future town hall.

The 5.4-acre parcel, bounded by Old Stafford, Dunn Hill, and Bald Hill Rds., on the top of the Green, is for sale by the Southern New England Telephone Company for $50,000. SNETCO purchased the land last year, but was denied a commercial zone change to build a switching station on the site.

Although no soil testing has been done, Harkins cited its desirability in location and access from three roadsways. PZC members Douglas Hatch and Robert Hopkins agreed with the Green location for a future town hall, while members Edith Knight and alternate Clifford Williams did not. Mrs. Knight charged it would be the "biggest pile of rocks the town could buy for $50,000."

The procedure, should the PZC approve the site plan, is for the proposal to go to a public hearing, before the action by the council.

The PZC will seek engineering input before deciding on the site.

Dog Pound

The PZC also tabled a site plan approval for a dog pound behind the jail which it leases from the town. Once repaired the barn will be used to store the ambulance, to hold meetings in, and for safety instruction classes and demonstrations.

Other items on the agenda are to approve allocation from the Board of Education budget, special grants fund, in the amount of $12,282.96, to be financed by lapsed appropriations and a grant already received.

PZC Approves Four-Acre Site For Housing For Elderly

TOLLAND

Vivian Kenneson

Tel. 875-4704

The Planning and Zoning Commission Monday approved the site plan for 30 units of senior citizen housing, located behind the former jail on the Green.

The Board of Selectmen had previously agreed to give the Housing Authority the four acres, which the state had deeded to the town.

Town Manager John Harkins and the Housing Authority Chairman, Rev. Donald Miller, tabled the PZC that the Department of Community Affairs, which had granted the funds for the housing project, had also approved the site.

In deciding on this location, the authority had cited the walking access to churches, stores, library and the Green. Residents who expressed concern for the safety of the senior citizens walking to these points were told that the architect has been asked to give consideration to sidewalks. The expense would come from the state grant.

Harkins also outlined a plan for Green improvements, which has asked the state to look at, which would make a T-intersection in front of the Education Administration Building, the jail, and the Green. The plan includes a three-way stop, which would slow drivers down and eliminate a dangerous curve going down Rt. 74.

Engineering tests have shown good soil on the site, Harkins said. The contour maps have been delivered to the architect, Richard Schoenhardt, who will present preliminary plans for the development to the PZC when they are ready.

Actions Tabled

The PZC tabled action on a three-lot subdivision and on a site plan for a retail store on Anthony Rd.

Birth Saturday: A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McDonough, Upper Butcher Rd., Ellington, Susan Leach, Hammond St., Rockville; June Whittier, Enfrico, Grove St., Rockville; Jeffrey Baker, Ester Green Rd., Tolland; Michael Chapman, Plains Rd., Tolland; Lloyd Emery, Moser Dr., Lemek told the PZC he does not plan to sell the lots for building in the near future. "Maybe when I'm old and gray but that's a long time from now," the young man said.

Admitted Monday: Jeffrey Germona, Center Rd., Vernon; Jane Cook, Snipe Lake Rd., Ellington; Nancy Rockefeller, Spring; Todd Fountain, Hayes Ave., Ellington; Esther Fontanella, Stafford Springs; Herman Prutz, Highland Ave., Rockville; Kelly Girard, Rocky Hill; Marion Grover, Snipe Lake Rd., Ellington; Gerald Legare, Adams St., Manchester; Mary McNeilly, Mt. NEW HAVEN (UPI) - The Connecticut Conference of Mayors and Municipalities says state property taxes are rising from 2.5 percent to 3.5 percent, while property tax levies doubled in the past seven years, their value increased by only 50 percent, the conference said.

Last year, property tax revenues topped the $1 billion mark for the first time and doubled the level of seven years previously, the conference said. The statewide grand list increased 50 per cent, they said.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House is ready to debate a sweeping reform of election campaigns including restrictions on candidate spending and political contributions. Vice President Says He Will Say No More WASHINGTON (UPI) — Acknowledging that the House would pass articles of impeachment and there would be a Senate trial for President Nixon, Vice President Gerald R. Ford Monday said he will make no further comments about it.

In a statement issued Monday, Ford said: "The public interest is no longer served by repetition of my previously expressed belief that, on the basis of all the evidence known to me and the American people, the President is not guilty of an impeachable offense under the Constitution, which specifies treason, bribery, high crimes and misdemeanors."

"Inasmuch as additional evidence is about to be forthcoming from the President — which he says may be damaging — I intend to respectfully decline to discuss impeachment matters in public or in response to questions until the matters are more fully available." Ford said "The whole truth should be the objective of the trial before the Senate." He said he would be relieved of his presiding duties once such a trial begins and "There are no precedents to guide me except my own common sense and my conscience."

were "laundered" through a bank in Mexico to conceal the names of contributors.

At another point in one of the conversations, Haldeman told the President he believed John N. Mitchell, former attorney general who then was Nixon's campaign manager, knew in advance of the Watergate break-in. In the same conversation, Nixon is shown raising the question whether G. Gordon Liddy, later convicted as a mastermind in the burglary, was involved.

The transcript of the morning conversation between Nixon and Haldeman showed the President asking Haldeman, "Did Mitchell know about this?" Haldeman replied, "I think so. I don't think he knew the details, but I think he knew."

"P. He didn't know how it was going to be handled though... Well, who was the hole that did? Is it Liddy? Is that the fellow? He must be a little nuts!" "H. He is."

"P. I mean he just isn't well screwed on, is he? Is that the problem?" "H. No, but he was under pressure, apparently, to get more information, and as he got more pressure, he pushed the people harder to move harder."

"P. Pressure from Mitchell?" "H. Apparently."

"P. Oh, Mitchell. Mitchell was at the point (unintelligible)." "H. Yeah."

"P. All right, fine. I understand it all. We won't second guess Mitchell and the rest. Thank God it wasn't Colson (former presidential aide Charles Colson)." Mitchell, Haldeman, John D. Ehrlichman and three other former presidential staff or campaign aides face trial next month on Watergate cover-up charges.

Admitting mistakes in the handling of Watergate, Nixon nevertheless said: "I am firmly convinced that the record, in its entirety, does not justify the extreme step of impeachment and removal of a president."

"I trust that as the constitutional process goes forward, this perspective will prevail."

The President made his disclosure after a week of listening to tapes and soul-searching with family and senior aides. It was a major gamble for survival in office. He confessed he withheld from both the House Judiciary Committee and his own lawyers the fact that last May he had reviewed tapes of his conversations, which occurred six days after the break-in and found them to be "of variance" with his public statements.

"This was a serious act of omission for which I take full responsibility and which I deeply regret," Nixon said.

In a public statement May 22, 1973, Nixon said he had told his aides he was concerned the FBI's Watergate investigation might uncover "covert CIA operations totally unrelated to Watergate" and ordered coordination between the FBI and CIA to prevent this.

But the President said Monday that the June 23, 1973, tapes he was releasing were to conceal the names of contributors.

Chief lawyer James D. St. Clair said he will remain as head of Nixon's defense team. In the depths of his latest, and most devastating crisis, the President has had the solace of his family. Monday evening they took a two-hour boat ride on the Potomac River while aides assessed the response to his disclosures.

Chief lawyer James D. St. Clair said he will remain as head of Nixon's defense team. In the depths of his latest, and most devastating crisis, the President has had the solace of his family. Monday evening they took a two-hour boat ride on the Potomac River while aides assessed the response to his disclosures.

The transcript of the morning conversation between Nixon and Haldeman showed the President asking Haldeman, "Did Mitchell know about this?" Haldeman replied, "I think so. I don't think he knew the details, but I think he knew."

"P. He didn't know how it was going to be handled though... Well, who was the hole that did? Is it Liddy? Is that the fellow? He must be a little nuts!" "H. He is."

"P. I mean he just isn't well screwed on, is he? Is that the problem?" "H. No, but he was under pressure, apparently, to get more information, and as he got more pressure, he pushed the people harder to move harder."

"P. Oh, Mitchell. Mitchell was at the point (unintelligible)." "H. Yeah."

"P. All right, fine. I understand it all. We won't second guess Mitchell and the rest. Thank God it wasn't Colson (former presidential aide Charles Colson)." Mitchell, Haldeman, John D. Ehrlichman and three other former presidential staff or campaign aides face trial next month on Watergate cover-up charges.

Admitting mistakes in the handling of Watergate, Nixon nevertheless said: "I am firmly convinced that the record, in its entirety, does not justify the extreme step of impeachment and removal of a president."

"I trust that as the constitutional process goes forward, this perspective will prevail."

The President made his disclosure after a week of listening to tapes and soul-searching with family and senior aides. It was a major gamble for survival in office. He confessed he withheld from both the House Judiciary Committee and his own lawyers the fact that last May he had reviewed tapes of his conversations, which occurred six days after the break-in and found them to be "of variance" with his public statements.

"This was a serious act of omission for which I take full responsibility and which I deeply regret," Nixon said.

In a public statement May 22, 1973, Nixon said he had told his aides he was concerned the FBI's Watergate investigation might uncover "covert CIA operations totally unrelated to Watergate" and ordered coordination between the FBI and CIA to prevent this.

But the President said Monday that the June 23, 1973, tapes he was releasing were to conceal the names of contributors.

Nixon Defender Says President Had to Gamble

CHESHIRE (UPI) — The head of a Connecticut group supporting President Nixon says world peace would have been jeopardized if the President had not ordered the FBI to limit the scope of the Watergate investigation.

"I don't think that you can divorce this from that time in history," Joseph W. Raines of Cheshire, founder of the Connecticut Committee for the Presidency, said late Monday.

An unlimited investigation would have exposed sensitive areas of national security which would have endangered negotiations with Russia and China.

Nixon came to realize later, Raines said, that the directive would make him vulnerable to the charge that he tried to cover-up the Watergate scandal. "But it was worth the gamble because world peace was more important than these two hoodlums," Raines said.

"I voted for him, but probably wouldn't again," she said. "I didn't think he was doing a bad job at all until Watergate. It seems now everyone's bringing up everyone's dirty linen. I think people should forget about it all and let him finish his term. I don't think he can do much more harm in the two years he has left in office."

The over-all impression seems to be that most people already have made up their minds of President Nixon's guilt or innocence and that they are past shock or surprise by any new disclosures.

the men around him who are to blame. He took us out of the war and I think it is right of him to bomb Cambodia. He's done a good job and should continue."

Joe Garman of 68 Bowers St., a downtown businessman, is a Democrat. He said he voted for Nixon because "I thought he was a capable man and the lesser of two evils."

"However," continued Garman, "the latest disclosure only proves what everyone knew but refused to believe. Nixon just jumps the gun. The Supreme Court ruling would have disclosed the truth anyway. This is another example of the Nixon strategy — the defense."

"The whole Watergate 'schmear,'" concluded Garman, "is the best thing that could have happened to the country. It proves that no one man or group is bigger than the country."

Mrs. Mary Jean Tani of 60 Teresa Rd., a Democrat, said, "My first reaction was that I felt sorry for him. I feel he finally found out it was best for his conscience to come to a decision to disclose the truth."

"Now we can believe what he says," continued Mrs. Tani. "Before, we couldn't. I'd rather see him resign than get impeached. It wouldn't look as bad to the rest of the world."

Mrs. Jill Messier of 19 Maple St. is an unaffiliated voter.

The worst drought to hit the nation since the 1930s showed no signs of weakening today and officials feared disaster for farmers and ranchers and skyrocketing prices for consumers.

Fifteen other persons were hurt in the accident Monday. All were employees of the Federal Drug Enforcement Administration housed within the three-story building in downtown Miami.

Firemen speculated that the weight of the cars on the roof may have been too much for the six-inch slab of concrete supporting them. Eleven cars and a van crashed through the roof, falling into a laboratory and processing room below.

The four recovered bodies were women workers in the FDEA offices, which were shored with concrete and automobiles when the rooftop parking lot collapsed Monday morning.

The old building had been altered by the FDEA six years ago and actually had only two stories inside and a rooftop parking deck.

The building housed both the regional and district offices of the FDEA, covering most of the Southeast U.S. and the Caribbean area.

Excerpts of Nixon's Conversations About FBI Probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Following are excerpts from conversations and statements by President Nixon regarding his admission he tried to limit an FBI probe of the June 17, 1972, Watergate break-in. The excerpts are in chronological order.

The June 23, 1972, conversation was released by Nixon Monday and the July 6, 1972, conversation was revealed by Nixon May 22, 1973.

June 22, 1972: "The White House has no involvement in this particular incident."

June 23, 1972: (H.R. Haldeman, speaking to Nixon): "Now, on the investigation, you know the Democratic break-in thing, we're back in the problem area because the FBI is not under control, because (Acting FBI Director L. Patrick) Gray doesn't exactly know how to control it and they have — their investigation is now leading into some productive areas — because they've been able to trace the money — not through the money itself — but through the bank sources — the banker. And, it goes in some directions we don't want it to go... The way to handle this now is for us to have (Deputy CIA Director Vernon) Walters call Pat Gray and just say, 'Stay to hell out of this — this is ah, business here we don't want you to go any further on it.'"

(Nixon to Haldeman): "When you get in — when you get in (unintelligible) people say, 'Look the problem is that this will open the whole, the whole Bay of Pigs thing, and the President just feels that ah, without going into the details — don't, don't tie to them to the extent to say there is no involvement, but just say this is a comedy of errors, without getting into it, the President believes that it is going to open the whole Bay of Pigs thing up again. And, ah, because these people are plugging for (unintelligible) and that they should call the FBI in and (unintelligible) don't go any further into this case period."

O.K., just postpone (scratching noises) (unintelligible). Just say (unintelligible) very bad to have this fellow Hunt, ah, he knows too damned much, if he was involved — you happen to know? If it gets out that this is all involved, the Cuba thing it would be a fiasco. It would make the CIA look bad, it's going to blow the whole Bay of Pigs thing which we think would be very unfortunate — both for the CIA, and for the country, at this time, and for American foreign policy. Just tell him to lay off."

July 6, 1972: "...Mr. Gray discussed with me the progress of the Watergate investigation, and I asked him whether he had talked with General Walters. Mr. Gray said that he had and that General Walters had assured him that the CIA was not involved. In the discussion, Mr. Gray suggested that the matter of Watergate might uncover "covert CIA operations totally unrelated to Watergate" and ordered coordination between the FBI and CIA to prevent this.

April 30, 1973: As the investigation went forward, I repeatedly asked those conducting the investigation whether there was any reason to believe that members of my administration were in any way involved. Hostage Happy Carrasco Dead

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (UPI) — A Catholic chaplain held hostage by Fred Gomez Carrasco and wounded by one of his confederates says the world is better off without him.

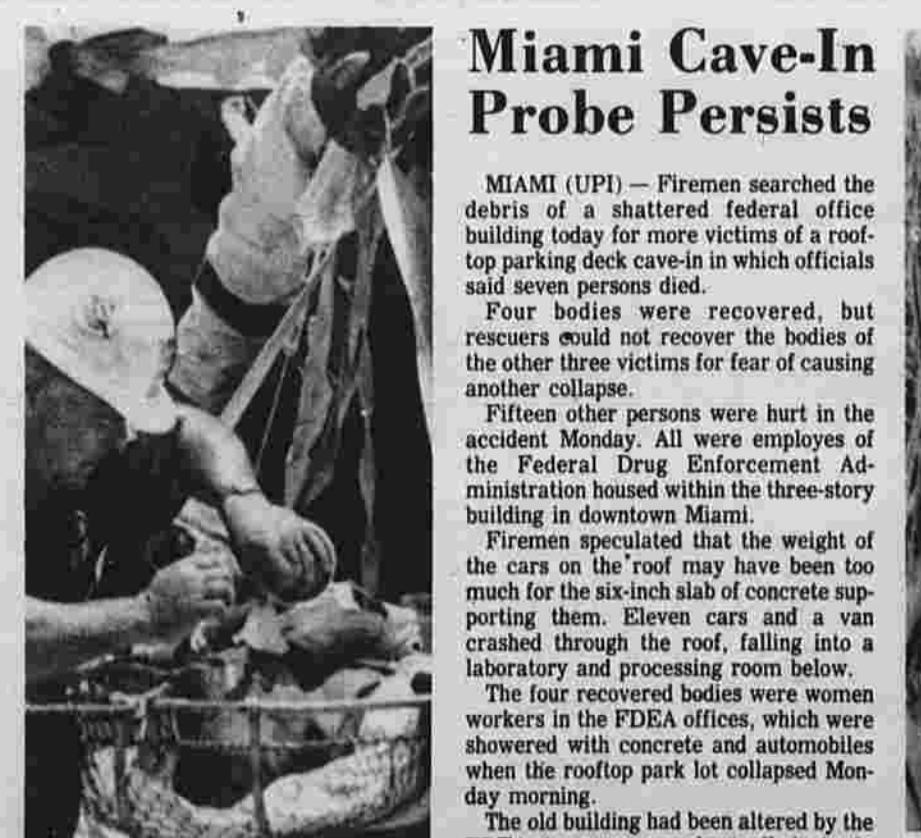

"I think he was a very, very sick, a very, very vicious man, and I think the world is better off that he's not in it any more," the Rev. Joseph O'Brien said of Carrasco.

Ironically, Carrasco told O'Brien during his 11-day siege at the state penitentiary that the Catholic chaplain was one of the few persons he had ever met that he respected.

Carrasco and his cohorts held 12 hostages in the library for 11 days, the longest such confrontation in American penal history.

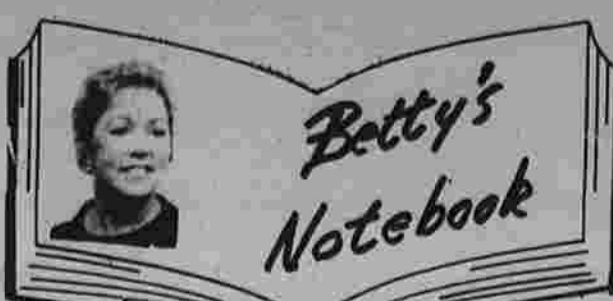

As they walked down the zigzagging concrete ramp inside a contraption fashioned from blackboards covered with library books and shielded by the eight other hostages, they were met by 13 state and federal law officers who called on them to surrender.

At this point, prison officials said, Carrasco, Dominguez and Cuevas opened fire on the hostages, killing Julia Standley, 43, a prison librarian, and Elizabeth Beseda, 47, a teacher. O'Brien was wounded.

Rescue workers give oxygen to one victim as he's lifted from rubble of smashed cars and cement following collapse of a downtown Miami federal building Monday. (UPI Photo)

The "bombs" that Fred Gomez Carrasco threatened to set off during his escape attempt at the Texas state prison in Huntsville were fakes, Houston Bomb Squad Chief James Ashby said after examination of the devices. Carrasco and two other inmates held hostages at the prison for 11 days before a Saturday night shootout ended the episode. (UPI Photo)

"Dearie, do you remember when . . . in the good old days gone by? Do you remember if you remember, dearie, you're much older than I?" Words from an old tune, some of us do remember.

If you really want to take a sentimental journey back through the years when such songs as "They Can't Take That Away from Me," "Be My Love," sung by the unforgettable Mario Lanza; "Thank Heavens for Little Girls" by the star of "Gigi" Maurice Chevalier; and Judy Garland's renditions of "The Trolley Song" and "Over the Rainbow," take a night out to see MGM's "That's Entertainment."

We were invited to a "sneak" preview of the production Saturday night at Showcase Cinema in East Hartford and we can assure those of you who do remember, you will experience a few tugs at the heartstrings. . . Whether you were a Clark Gable fan when he zoomed around in "Test Pilot," or added a few new twists to your dancing after watching Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers, or even tried a high dive after watching Esther Williams perform, you'll feel a stir within you.

The Andy Hardy series are recalled. Donald O'Connor and Debbie Reynolds recall some of their years on the MGM lot. Jean Harlow in her famous white satin slip-type gown, litters through a few scenes. We even got to see Greta Garbo, way back when she didn't "want to be alone."

Even old "blue eyes" (back in his skinny days) and the "crooner," both of whom narrate a part of the film, join forces for a few bars on musical appreciation.

And when Eleanor Powell dances atop those big drums in a scene from "Rosalie," for one fleeting moment we wished we had practiced our tap dancing - in the good old days. Imagine where we might have landed if we'd exerted a little greater effort on "Shuffle Off to Buffalo" and "East Side, West Side."

Nelson Eddy, residing in his Royal Canadian Mountie uniform, gazes longingly into Jeannette MacDonald's eyes as they sing "Indian Love Call." Really brings goose bumps.

Gene Kelly gets all wet "Singing in the Rain" and teams up with Astaire in what was their only picture together. Spectacular productions with casts of thousands, which were the MGM trademark, and which would be financially impossible to reproduce today, are backdrops for the tremendous talents which graced the lot way back then.

Many other stars and sentimental tunes too numerous to mention, are featured. It's one of those pictures that you wish would go on and on, but as they say, all good things must come to an end - and so it does.

Perhaps it was the audience, mixed in ages, that set the pace for our sentimental journey. They clapped loudly after Howard Keel and Katharine Grayson sang "Let's Just Make Believe I Love You," and laughed out loud when Donald O'Connor did a slapstick dance routine. It was as though it was vaudeville night and the performers were on live stage.

It's a great show. We took a part of it home with us - but many of us left a part of us there. We remember, do you? Well, that's entertainment!

Fall Legs Take On Color
If your calves need a little trimming and the thighs need a little slimming, better get at it. Hosiery designers are predicting a colorful fall - pantyhose in tweedy looks, bold stripes, snowflakes, argyles and ski patterns in colors ranging from mahogany to slate and misty (a continuation of the denim look) to white and hunter and pine greens ever popular.

Slim, shapely legs look very attractive in wild, bold patterns and colors, but legs that are a little heavy, we think look better in solid, less conspicuous patterns and colors.

Casualness Is Just Ahead
Kenneth, the renowned hair expert who has been creating totally personal, non-look-alike hairstyles for some of the world's most famous women, sees the casual, natural influence, mirrored in hair and wig styles.

"As clothes become softer, allowing for greater freedom and comfort, hair will reflect the less rigid, less graphic mood," he says. "A woman may decide to continue wearing a pageboy but might flick some pieces around the face."

He predicts no particular return to anything this fall. The days of period-infused styles such as massive clusters of curls which made some women look as if they were wearing helmets, are over. Instead, he says it's a time for more bounce and movement.

As for the shape and length, Kenneth suggests each woman decide for herself. "Anyone who needs someone to say 'You should be a redhead' or 'You should wear your hair this way or that way' is missing the point." As long as women have confidence in themselves and take the time to know what they are really like, they can decide what looks best on them.

Guidelines? Well, he has a few. Someone six feet tall won't look well with a tiny cropped head while a short woman generally doesn't look her best with long hair. There are exceptions, he admits, but in most instances the whole body must be taken into consideration.

Afraid of Tomorrow?
Since we seem to be in a nostalgic mood (must have been that movie), thought we'd pass along a poem by Robert Browning. "We're sure you'll get the message."
"Grow old along with me,
The best is yet to be,
The last of life, for which the first was made:
Our times are in His hand
Who said, 'A whole I planned,
Youth shows but half; Trust God, see all, nor be afraid!'"

The Alley Is Not A Percentage Shot

The other day my husband bought me a copy of the book "Use Your Head in Tennis." He was obviously trying to tell me something.

"This is too much," I said to him when I saw the book. "It's all I can do to use my hands, feet, arms, legs, shoulders and knees on the tennis court. Now you want me to use my head too?"

According to the book, tennis is like a game of chess. Strategy is all important. You've got to figure the angles and play the percentage shot. One entire chapter of the book is devoted to calculating percentage shots.

Now, if I could play tennis from my desk with a pencil and paper, I'd do fine. But how can you carry on this kind of higher mathematics when you're running around with a racket in your hands?

In spite of my protests, I couldn't put the book down till I'd reached the last page. It was crammed full of secret tactics. When I finally closed the book and went to sleep I dreamt that my husband and I won the Mixed Doubles Championship at Forest Hills! The spectators cheered and commented on our Machiavellian maneuvers. And my husband said, "Honey, that's really using the old head!"

The dream was great, but I couldn't wait to put my new found knowledge into life action. The next afternoon my husband and I played doubles. On the way to the courts I reviewed my strategy out loud to myself: "The alley is not a percentage shot. Don't hit to the net man. Lob over the net rather. Keep the ball deep. Always cover your partner."

I had a chance to use my new strategy in the very first game when a ball soared in my direction. It was high and arching - perfect for an overhead smash. There was even an empty spot to aim for.

Now the book says there are three things to do when approaching overhead: relax, wait, and disguise your return. Maybe I relaxed too much, for suddenly - klunk - the ball was on top of my head. It bounced once, dropped over the net and landed at our opponents feet.

It was awful! Like a bad rerun of my dream. The spectators laughed and commented on my crazy maneuver. And my husband groaned "Oh, well, that's one way of using the old head!"

Bridesmaids were Miss Jill Ann Abrams of Hartford, Miss Elizabeth Pawelek of West Willington, and Miss Margaret Rooney of New Britain. They wore gowns and carried baskets identical to those of the honor attendant.

John Dunn of Coventry was best man. Ushers were John O'Neil and Donald Doughty, both of Manchester, and Richard Barton of San Diego, Calif.

Mother Is Changing During Menopause

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.
DEAR DR. LAMB - My inquiry is about menopause. My mother is going through it. I've recently returned from a visit with my parents, and although we frequently correspond, I was unaware of my mother's condition. It was when a "hot flash" occurs suddenly break out in a sweat and be cold at the same time. I realize there would be personality changes and a physical change. My mother has gained at least 150 pounds each in a year's time. Her obesity is excused because of the hardships of menopause. They are not under a doctor's care. I'm wondering if they shouldn't be, even for a good diet.

My parents were always weight conscious and often "watched" what they ate. A couple of years ago she could pass for my older brother and sister. Today they can easily pass for my grandparents. My brothers accept all of this as the change of life cycle. I've been away from the family for a few years and just returned to the United States after a two-year absence. Am I one overreacting to this new state of life?

DEAR READER - Even allowing for a little exaggeration, the weight gain you describe is really unnecessary. Nothing makes a person look older faster than gaining a lot of excess fat. Obesity is directly related to medical problems, for example vascular diseases.

Women do tend to gain weight with the menopause, but your father is not having a menopause, he is suffering from obesity. A big factor in weight gain after 40 is a sudden decrease in the amount of calories the body uses at rest. That is often caused by a loss of muscle. We use a lot of energy at rest because muscles need energy even while we are sitting still. A muscular, heavy laborer uses more energy at rest than a fat man of the same weight.

The loss of muscle is related to inactivity. A great deal can be done to prevent this problem with regular daily exercise, not just walking but strengthening exercise also that maintains the size of the muscles. Actually, a person should increase his physical activity as he gets older to avoid the middle-aged spread. With inactivity, and often boredom, people often begin to overeat.

Your parents do need a doctor. A real effort should be made to reverse the trend. Happily, it is reversible, including a lot of the fatty deposits that accumulate in arteries.

The hot flashes are uncomfortable, and it is possible to have hot and cold sensations. Something can be done to control those problems, too. For more information write to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 151, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019 and ask for the booklet on menopause. Send $0 cents to cover costs.

Mother Is Changing During Menopause

It is always a surprise to see one's parents age. When the change is rapid it is a shock. With age you can expect the hair to get gray and white, a few wrinkles to appear, but it is not necessary to lose your muscles or to gain fat. That is not aging, but a result of living habits, mostly unhealthy ones.

Dr. Lamb welcomes questions from his readers, but because of the volume of mail he cannot answer personally. Questions of general interest will be discussed in future columns. Write to Dr. Lamb in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 151, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Dodgers' Win Scares Reds Wynn Declares

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jimmy Wynn likes to think it's almost all over but the Cincinnati Reds still have history on their side.

"The Reds are scared, they know it and we know it," Wynn beamed Monday night after he hit a two-run homer and Steve Yeager hit a grand slam to give the Dodgers a 6-3 victory over the Reds in a nationally televised game.

"I don't know what this win does to Cincinnati but it really helped our spirits," Wynn added. "This game was really important. You could sense the significance by the reaction of the crowd. It really built our morale. They know they're going to have to do more than we do to get going."

The victory moved the Dodgers 7 1/2 games ahead with two more games left in this series and even Reds' Manager Sparky Anderson admitted, "Obviously, it was a very important victory for Los Angeles."

But the Reds remember last year—and the Dodgers must, too. Last year, the Reds advanced nine games on the Dodgers in two weeks. They were 4 1/2 behind on Aug. 22 and five games ahead by Sept. 12. The Reds won by 3 1/2. The Dodgers this year don't seem on the verge of collapse. They were 5 1/2 in front at the All-Star break and have won 10 of 13 since then, including eight in a row.

The Dodgers are 9-1 against the Reds this year although Anderson said before the game, "It doesn't matter who you win them against, you've just got to win the most games. They could turn around and lose several in a row."

Yeager hit the first grand slam of his career in the seventh inning off Don Gullett after Ron Cey beat out an infield hit, Joe Ferguson walked and Tom Paciorek loaded the bases with a bunt single when he was trying to sacrifice.

Dodger Manager Walt Alton hopes Yeager doesn't keep shooting for homers now. He said, "Steve sometimes swings too hard. I hope this doesn't spoil him. He's hit better this year because he's going to rightfield more."

Alton said that if Anderson had brought in a right-hander to pitch to Yeager, he might have batted for him. Of course, if Paciorek had been out on his sacrifice attempt, the Reds probably would have walked Yeager and he wouldn't have had a shot at the homer.

In reference to the Wynn and Yeager homers, Gullett—who allowed just one hit (Wynn's homer) over the first six innings—said simply, "you make two bad pitches and it costs you."

In the other games, Houston downed San Francisco 7-2. New York routed Montreal 10-4, St. Louis nipped Philadelphia 3-2 in 11 innings and Atlanta outlasted San Diego 9-7.

Cards 3, Phils 2

Joe Torre's bases-loaded single in the 13th inning lifted St. Louis over Philadelphia. Lon Brock, batting .320, got four hits and Bake McBride, hitting .304, collected three. When ailing Reggie Smith, hitting .320, gets back into the lineup, the Cards will have a .300 hitting outfield. The Cards sent the game into the extra innings with two runs in the ninth on homers by McBride and Ted Simmons.

Astros 7, Giants 2

Greg Colless collected five singles, scored a run, drove in one and stole a base to lead the Astros over the Giants. Don Wilson, who helped lead Ken Forsch over the last 12-13 innings, gained credit for his eighth victory.

Mets 10, Expos 4

Reliever Tug McGraw hit a three-run double in the eighth inning to hand the Mets the victory over the Expos. McGraw went the final three innings after Tom Seaver allowed four runs in the first six.

Braves 9, Padres 7

Hank Aaron's run-scoring single and Dusty Baker's sacrifice fly in the ninth inning lifted Atlanta to the victory over San Diego. Mike Lum's single and a walk set the stage for Aaron's hit. Max Leon got the win in relief and rookie Rusty Gerhardt got the loss.

May Hurls Two-Hitter As Yanks Blank RSox

NEW YORK (UPI) — Rudy May of the New York Yankees had just finished a brilliant two-hit shutout against the first-place Boston Red Sox and a bottle of champagne was waiting for him at his locker. The donor was anonymous.

"Maybe it was the owner, he gives us so much stuff," said May. Whinger gave May his "stuff" tonight was the real one to thank.

"I'll tell you, I can never tell in advance when I have good stuff. I had a curve in the bullpen but when I got to the mound, I felt strong," said the 30-year-old left-hander.

He was strong enough to throw strikes on his first eight pitches of the game, striking out the first two men he faced and going to a count of 0-2 on Carl Yastrzemski before getting him to fly out.

Did the eight straight strikes psych him up for the rest of the game? "Well, they felt good, but I was up for this game already. We had to win tonight to stay in contention. I was really up."

The Yankees went into the game against Boston southpaw Bill Lee having lost to him eight straight times, four of those this year. As far as May was concerned, he couldn't have cared less.

"I didn't know we had never beaten Louie before. He's a good pitcher and a really fine competitor."

Rico Petrocelli broke up May's no-hitter with two out in the fourth when he hit a soft liner just beyond the reach of shortstop Jim Mason.

Tommy Harper led off the ninth with a clean single to left.

Comets Win Slugfest, Collegians Upended

Erupting for nine runs in the third inning, American Division champ Moriarty Brothers outlasted Langan VW, 11-7, last night in Greater Hartford Twilight Baseball League action at St. Thomas Seminary in Bloomfield. Manchester Community College went down to defeat, meanwhile, at the hands of Her's Sports Shop, 8-1, at St. Thomas last night.

The Comets, now 16-5 for the season with one game left on the slate before the league playoffs, used long ball power to top VW. Mike McDonald had a bases clearing double in the third and Rich Riordan subsequently belted an inside-the-park grand slam homeer giving winning hurler John Serafini a comfortable margin to work with.

Serafini, who owned his first no-hit record, had four straight shutouts before VW broke the string with a run in the fourth.

Six hits and a walk gave Langan five runs in the sixth to throw a scare at the MB's but Moriarty's put the issue away with two runs in the bottom of the sixth on hits by Bill Crowley and Jim Cullen and Lev Spencer's sacrifice fly.

Riordan had three hits and Paul Baratta and Oullen two apiece in leading the Comets' 11-hit attack.

MCC lost for the 18th time in 20 starts last night to Her's. The Sports Shop took a 2-0 lead in the second and built it to 4-1 in its half of the third on one hit along with two Collegian errors.

Manchester catcher Larry Warhovsky was struck on the head by a throw on a play at home in the fifth and was taken to St. Francis Hospital. No report was available.

MCC mastered just four hits while 9-11 Her's had eight.

Moriarty's concludes its season Wednesday night against the New Britain Falcons at St. Thomas. Action begins at 8:45.

Large Reception Committee American League Roundup

Baltimore Uses Long Ball To Sweep Two from Tigers

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Baltimore Orioles, who used speed to win the American League's Eastern Division Title in 1973, hope power will do it for them this year.

The Orioles staged a strong finish last season with "roadrunners" Al Bumbry and Rick Coggins leading their attack. They aren't exactly knocking down fences this season but they've had a flurry of seven homers in their last seven games and are now three games behind the first-place Boston Red Sox.

Bobby Grich and Paul Blair, both of whom have already surpassed their 1973 season totals, connected for the game-winning blows Monday night when the Orioles swept the Detroit Tigers 7-4 and 6-3.

Grich hit a three-run homer in the second inning of the first game and also singled in a run to help Wayne Garland win his fourth game. Grich hit 17 homers this year compared to 12 last season.

Paul Blair hit his 12th homer — compared to 10 last season — to snap a 3-3 tie in the sixth inning of the second game. Doyle Alexander went 7-1-1 in his first win for his fifth win.

Between them, Grich and Blair had seven hits, scored 10 runs and drove in six during the doubleheader.

New York Yankees beat Boston 9-0, Texas pummeled Chicago 13-0 and Minnesota rebounded from a 2-1 opening game loss to down Oakland 4-3 in other AL games.

Johnson Top Batter In Twilight League

Weekly statistics released by the Greater Hartford Twilight Baseball League office showed that Player-Manager Gene Johnson of Moriarty Brothers is the top hitter with a .412 average. The stats do not include Monday night's list.

Other Comets in the top of the league in batting include Rich Riordan with a .377 average and a league-leading 23 hits in 61 official at-bats. Frank DiMauro was hitting at a .309 clip and Ron Krogi had an even .300 average and the league lead in homers with three. Jim Balesano has also done his share for the American Division champs with 12 RBIs and 16 runs scored. Balesano is a top gopher also in the infield or outfield.

John Serafini leads the circuits with seven victories

Third Major Crown Gary Player's Goal

CLEMMONS, N.C. (UPI) — South African Gary Player, easily the best of the "little" golfers since Ben Hogan's legs gave out, has his eye set this week on one of "Bantam Ben's" most cherished records.

Hogan, now retired, is the only man to win, in the same year, three of the four tournaments that make up the "grand slam" — the Masters, the U.S. and British Opens and the PGA. No one has won all four in the same year.

Hogan won three in 1953, missing that year only the PGA (won by Walter Burkemo). Jack Nicklaus made a run two years ago when he won the Masters and the U.S. Open, but Nicklaus finished second on Lee Trevino in the British Open and Player then won the PGA that year.

Now Player has a shot at that record. Winner of the Masters and the British Open, but not the U.S. Open, Player is the favorite in the PGA which begins Thursday night at the Tanglewood Country Club here.

Nicklaus is the defending champion.

"I'd like to have come in here having a chance for the slam," said Player, a two-time PGA Champ who has won eight "major" titles in all, six less than the record-holding Nicklaus.

"It would have made it really exciting, both for me and for the spectators. But, when you consider that Ben Hogan is the only golfer ever to win three of the four, that's something to shoot for."

Player, Nicklaus and Trevino all skipped this past weekend's PGA stop at Sutton, Mass., to get in some early practice on the 7,650-yard Tanglewood course, located about 10 miles northwest of Winston-Salem, N.C., the tobacco capital.

Player arrived here Sunday and practiced Sunday and Monday (except for a constant threat of rain. The course got a good soaking last week but Player and other early arrivals praised its condition on Monday.

"It's a true test for a major championship," said Player. "It's a well-balanced course with a variety of holes. The bunkers are well placed and they have good sand."

And, of course, there's that Hogan record to consider. Three-fourths of a slam is better than none.

Anderson Unhappy With Second Place

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Sparky Anderson was almost sullen in the face of the 7 1/2 game deficit his club faces. "I don't like finishing second at anything," the white-haired manager of the Cincinnati Reds said. "Anybody who's happy to finish second is a born loser."

His team was second Monday night. The Reds, winners of two National League titles and three Western Division crowns in four years under Anderson, lost a big game to the Los Angeles Dodgers 6-3.

Second to the Reds in the division a year ago, the Dodgers are now the team to beat.

"It obviously was a very important win for Los Angeles," conceded Anderson. "If we had that much of a lead, we'd have a mortal lock on the pennant."

The Reds and Dodgers have eight more games left—including contests here tonight and Wednesday night—and Anderson was asked if his club had to win a certain number of them to overtake the division leaders.

"No certain amount," he said. "The important thing is who wins the most games. It doesn't matter who you

Slow Beginning For Rookie QB

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — David Jaynes dazzled a crowd of 35,521 and more than 40,000 empty seats Monday night with a perfect touchdown pass on his first throw as a professional.

His first game, it was all downhill for the rookie Kansas City Chiefs' quarterback who was an All-American last year at the University of Kansas.

"It wasn't bad, I handed off pretty well," Jaynes joked, referring to Coach Hank Stram's penchant for staying on the ground. "Really, I always want to call my own game but maybe that isn't always the best. This probably was the best thing to do, it eased things a lot."

Jaynes' first-quarter, 46-yard strike to Craig Clark started the Chiefs to a 21-2 National Football League exhibition victory.

He admitted the pass, which hit Clark about the five-yard line behind three defenders, was a great thrill.

"Yeah, it was," said Jaynes. "I didn't see him. I was going across and then I heard he crowd. It felt pretty good."

Slow Pitch Softball

Advancing to the Town Tournament was Jim's Aro last night with an 11-7 win over Highland Park Market at M. Nebo. An eight-run second inning did the most damage.

Jim Jennings was four-for-four for the winners with Tom Theobald adding three hits and Dan Jones two. Tom Mac and Tim Devaney each had a triple and a single for Highland.

NFL Players Strike Settlement Doubtful As New Talks Begin

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Negotiations resume today in the stalemated 36-day old National Football League players strike but there seems to be little hope of a quick settlement.

The players and the owners are starting to resemble two weary fighters in the late rounds who are inflicting a lot of damage on each other but are both incapable of scoring a knockout punch.

A few big names including John Hadl, Bob Griese and Terry Bradshaw crossed the picket lines Monday but they said they had no intention of striking. They said they had no intention of striking.

Just like regular Bingo, you can win with a perfect five digit match down, across or on the 2 diagonals appearing on each of the four Bingo Cards. Diagonal matches pay off both ways, starting at either end of the five digit number.

CONNECTICUT'S $100,000 LOTTERY

More ways to win. More fun than ever.

Willie's Steak House nipped the B.C. Club last night, 13-12. Lori Grant blasted a grand slam home for Willie's while Barbara Silver and Brenda McConnell each had doubles for the losers.

Scoring in every inning, An-sald's outlasted Nassiff Arms while Craig Repoli and Jim Granato had a number each for the winners.

Debbie Kosky had a three-run homer and a two-run homer for An-sald's and Nancy Duffy added a two-run hit for the winners. Beth MacDonnell and Patty Packard homered for Nassiff's.

Breakfast Set By Chamber at Lincoln Center

The Greater Manchester
Chamber of Commerce, under the auspices of its Business Services Division, is sponsoring an Insight 74 breakfast Tuesday,
Aug. 27, at the Lincoln Center
Center, 404 Main St.
The Chamber, which seeks to identify service resources for its industrial community, has selected the workshop because it provides an outstanding resource for subcontracting work available to neighboring industries. Among the many businesses which have placed work with the workshop are Gerber Scientific of South
Windsor and Allied Printing Co. of Manchester.
The breakfast, which begins at 8 with the program commencing not later than 9, will give company representatives an opportunity to meet and become acquainted with the workshop facility and the resources it offers.
A continental breakfast will be served at a cost of $1.50.
Anyone interested in attending may contact the Chamber of Commerce office at 257 E.
Center St.

Today's Thought

When life has once begun, it needs to be nourished. Life will unless it is sustained.
And these nourishments and sustentions are not available unless one is able to help, or personally in himself.
Or, a person is the greatest of all creations, and what he does with any other thing, a person needs nourishment. Perhaps the best overall word for this is: Food.
Every person is a master of his own destiny, like it or not;
capable or not; To be the best person one can be, what he does with the food he eats or has available determines how he lives—how long he lives—how well he lives. The food is much more than groceries; it is also psychological and spiritual.
When real living has once begun, our sustenance comes from those who share in our love, who return our love. This is the kind of food Jesus of Nazareth left for us: the food of Eucharist.
Have you availed yourself of the love of God? Have you availed yourself of the love of Christ? A harvest of great plenti-tude awaits you in him. Partake, and live.

The worst outbreak of fighting on Cyprus since a cease-fire went into effect a week ago threatened today to shatter the island's fragile truce despite reported progress in Greek-Turkish peace talks.

Turkish troops advancing behind a curtain of artillery and mortar fire Tuesday pushed further westward from their invasion beachhead on the island's northern coast, overrunning three Greek Cypriot villages.

Military representatives of Greece, Turkey and Britain, meeting under U.N.

reporting from Kyrenia, said the fighting between Turkish soldiers and Greek Cypriot troops on the northern coast began at dawn Tuesday, died down 10 hours later and resumed at dusk.

The Turkish troops advanced under the cover of artillery and mortar barrages, overrunning the abandoned towns of Karavas, Lapithos and Vassila, west of the key northern port of Kyrenia.

Milk Lawyer Admits Bribe Of Connally

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Jake Jacobson, a former lawyer for the nation's largest milk producers' cooperative, pleaded guilty today to a charge that he gave former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally a $10,000 bribe.

In his first direct statement since Nixon disclosed Monday that he had sought to limit the FBI investigation of the Watergate burglary, Scott noted that he had said often in the past that Nixon was entitled to be presumed innocent in any Senate trial.

"His own statement has removed the presumption," Scott said. "But he has left with the question of the degree of accountability."

5 From State Ask Removal

United Press International Five of Connecticut's eight-member congressional delegation have called for the removal of President Nixon from office.

The state's two gubernatorial contenders, each a member of Congress, split, with the Democrat, Mrs. Ella T. Grasso, uncommitted, and the Republican, Rep. Robert H. Steele calling for Nixon's resignation or impeachment.

Mrs. Grasso said the disclosures in tapes released by the White House add to the case against Nixon, but she gave no indication of how she will vote.

Steele, on the other hand, said he will vote for two articles of impeachment against the President and called for his immediate resignation to relieve the nation of further trauma.

Sen. Lowell P. Weicker, R-Conn., an outspoken critic of President Nixon and a member of the Watergate committee, had no comment on the latest development Monday.

Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., urged Nixon to resign "in the best interest of the nation."

Ribicoff categorized the latest bath of materials as "the President's own admission of a cover-up."

"It is overwhelmingly clear that the president has lost the confidence of the American people and the Congress. He has lost the ability to lead this nation," he said.

Last Defense Lines Crumble in Senate

Goldwater denied the report and Tower could not be reached for comment.

Tower, chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee, said his assessment of the meeting — open to all 48 Senate Republicans — was that "the majority removal from office."

Fragile Truce Threatened

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Los Angeles International Airport was blasted Tuesday by the most destructive bomb ever to hit a U.S. air terminal — hurling bombs, baggage, spears of glass and chunks of concrete through a passenger waiting area.

It was still a mystery today who planted the bomb, and why.

Two skycaps died, blown apart with such force that the first investigators on the scene thought there were four or five dead, and 36 others were injured, mostly passengers waiting to board flights for Hawaii and the Orient.

Seventeen were hospitalized, one in critical condition and two in serious condition.

Italians Emerging As Political Giants

HARTFORD (UPI) — After years of making up more than a third of the population of Connecticut, Italians are finally seeing their own emergence as a force in the two political parties.

Rep. Ella T. Grasso, D-Conn., who easily won the Democratic nomination for governor, would not only be the first woman, but also the first person of Italian descent to lead a major Connecticut political party.

Attorney Vincent A. Laudone of Norwich has been agreed upon as a compromise candidate to succeed J. Brian Gaffney as Republican state chairman, the first Italian-American to assume a party state chairmanship in state history.

The two Democratic town chairmen maneuvering to succeed Democratic Chairman Tom M. Bailey are both from Italian parents — Nicholas A. Carbone in Hartford and Arthur T. Barilanti in New Haven. Both were ineligible in Mrs. Grasso's bid for the gubernatorial nomination.

The current state manual lists only 17 Italian-Americans as Democratic town chairmen and 13 as Republican town chairmen in 159 cities and towns.

The first Italian descendant elected lieutenant governor in 1960, was Samuel J. Tedesco of Bridgeport, now a Superior Court judge. Tedesco provided "ethnic balance" to a ticket headed by Gov. John N. Dempsey, of Irish descent.
