MMH Heating Requirements Dip

In a survey by the Connecticut Hospital Association comparing fuel and electricity consumption from Jan. 1 to March 31, 1974, to the same period in 1973, MMH Memorial Hospital showed an increase in oil use and a decrease in electricity.

Edward M. Kenney, hospital administrator, said although the hospital did increase its use of oil from 182,406 gallons to 206,087 gallons for the two time periods under consideration, the nature of the oil used in 1974 was such that the BTU output was not as great for a given amount.

The 13 per cent increase in actual gallons of oil used during that three-month period, he said, "unfortunately resulted in only a 5.5 per cent increase in the number of BTUs produced."

He said that fact, when combined with the 8 per cent increase in degree days for this area in 1974 as compared to 1973, resulted in a total decrease of some 2.5 per cent in heat requirements for the hospital.

"Of even greater significance," said Kenney, "is the hospital's 8 per cent decrease in the number of kilowatts of electricity used in 1974 as compared to 1973."

The number of weekly newspapers in Georgia increased from 59 in 1969 to 225 in 1980.

Nixon Plans To Resign

To Address Public Tonight

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon informed Gerald R. Ford today that he was resigning the presidency, a White House aide said.

Nixon met for 70 minutes in the Oval Office earlier today with the vice president to tell him he was stepping down and to lay plans for an orderly transition of power.

"I'm aware of the intense interest of the American people concerning developments over the last two days," Nixon called in the vice president to tell him he was leaving office.

Nixon's chief speechwriter, Ray Price, was directed to prepare a draft of Nixon's resignation speech for delivery to the nation.

Some other advisers urged Nixon to stay on and see the fight through a Senate trial. But Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, R-Ariz., said Wednesday he felt Nixon could now count on only about 15 Senate votes, whereas he would need 34 to avoid conviction and removal.

The President's wife and two daughters, Julie Eisenhower and Tricia Cox, were reportedly to have argued strenuously against resignation.

The White House switchboard has been jammed for more than 24 hours with telephone calls since rumors swept the country that Nixon was on the verge of resigning.

As demands for Nixon's resignation mounted and the President was told by congressional leaders that his chances were dim of escaping conviction by the Senate, an aide, who asked not to be identified, said that the President now concurs with chief advisers that he will have to resign.

Town Due $1.8 Million Under Proposed Law

By DOUG BEVINS Manchester may be eligible for $1,800,000 in federal funds if the Nixon administration's proposed Better Communities Act wins approval of Congress.

The Better Communities Act, it was reported, is one of three proposed measures which would replace categorical grants of the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Zinner said it's uncertain what the "life" of the act is, and he's waiting for additional data from Weicker.

Town Manager Robert Weiss pointed out today that anticipated funds from the Better Communities program could be used for a "wide variety" of programs formerly funded by HUD.

White House Chief of Staff Alexander M. Haig is among advisers who have suggested to Nixon that he quit in the aftermath of the President's disclosure that he was aware of the Watergate cover-up as far back as late June 1972.

In Congress, Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., introduced a resolution urging that Nixon not be prosecuted if he resigned. Such a resolution would not have force of law but Brooke suggested it would be a sharing of responsibility by Congress with Watergate Prosecutor Leon Jaworski who would make the decision.

Some advisers were reported urging Nixon to wait about a week and allow the atmosphere to calm to show that he is not being stampeded out of office.

Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., said, "I think something will happen today or tomorrow."

Maneuvers were in place suggesting his departure from the presidency which he twice won, the last time with a historic landslide victory.

The President, crushed by the Watergate scandal that all but demolished his administration, was told by Republican leaders Wednesday that he faced almost certain removal from office in an impeachment trial.

Three Men Each Reported Nixon appeared to be bearing up well under the crisis in the aftermath of the President's confession Monday that he withheld from the impeachment panel and his staff information that he had made "no decision" when he met with the leaders.

They kept a vigil long after dark. John Rhodes of Arizona to his Oval Office for a 35-minute meeting.

The three leaders told Nixon the outlook on Capitol Hill was "very gloomy, very distressing" for the President's chances of acquittal in a Senate trial. Nixon and congressional leaders agree that House impeachment is a foregone conclusion.

The leaders told Nixon he had only about 15 votes against conviction in the Senate and perhaps only 10 votes in the House against impeachment.

There were unconfirmed broadcast reports that Scott passed along to Nixon a proposal for a "sense of Congress" resolution to spare the President any prosecution for wrongdoing should he quit.

Whether the President has any further claims that portions of tapes already rendered should be kept secret on grounds of executive privilege.

Two sought by the Watergate grand jury were reported last November never to have been recorded, and on Tuesday St. Clair told Strick that a third demanded by Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski fell into the same category.

Jaworski last April subpoenaed 64 tapes for possible use as evidence at the scheduled September trial of six former top Nixon aides accused of plotting to hush up the scandal.

Family Against Nixon Quitting

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A White House official says white President Nixon's family has remained silent, his daughter Julie is "sticking by her father" and does not want him to resign.

Julie remains one of the President's most ardent defenders, the official said, but she, the First Lady and sister Tricia Cox, have remained out of the public eye recently.

"They do not want to see their names in print at this time," the official said.

Julie, a 315,000-a-year editor for the Saturday Evening Post, has been visiting the White House frequently. She told a friend last weekend that "Everything is going to be all right."

Mrs. Nixon has been busy answering the 200 to 300 letters she has been receiving daily, most of them expressing support.

Viet Communists Continue Offensive

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist troops took their Da Nang offensive to the southwest of Da Nang and predicted the capture of a nearby district capital and the destruction of its entire 500-man defense force.

The Saigon command said the Communist troops were massing troops around Duc Duc, a war-torn district capital 5 miles southwest of Da Nang, and predicted an attempt to overrun the town.

A government spokesman said the Saigon command was rushing reinforcements to Duc Duc to avoid a repetition of the loss of Thuong Duc, a district capital eight miles to the northwest.

Communist troops overran Thuong Duc Wednesday in 90 minutes of hand-to-hand fighting to win their first major victory in the three-week-old offensive against the outskirts of Da Nang, 50 miles north of Saigon.

An open letter to Mayor John Thompson: Dear Mayor: What's right is right. I owe you an apology - so, here it is. Remember five weeks ago when part of Woodbridge St. (over Bigelow Brook) was washed away during a torrential rain, and you didn't know anything about it until I phoned you, and the town manager didn't know anything about it until you phoned him?

Yes, Mayor, I know now exactly what you were talking about. The other night, I walked over to Woodbridge St. to see whether any progress (even stop-gap) had been made at the sunken portion of the street. It hadn't. What impressed me, however, was the silence. It was deafening and awesome. It was like another world.

Nixon's Plight Boosts Dollar

BRUSSELS (UPI) - Speculation that President Nixon will resign boosted the U.S. dollar on world money markets today and brought down the price of gold.

The dollar rose in Frankfurt to its highest level for almost five months opening at 2.560 German marks, one piling up from Wednesday's close and a gain of three plemig from Wednesday's opening rate. It was the highest dollar rate since March 20.

The 12 Crises
Of Richard Nixon

EIGHTH CRISIS: Cambodia and Kent May, 1970
NINTH CRISIS: The Week that Changed the World February, 1972
TENTH CRISIS: Watergate 1973

Nixon's eighth crisis - an intense wave of violence and polarization that swept the country - was precipitated by his decision on April 27, 1970, to send American soldiers to search out and destroy communist sanctuaries inside Cambodia.

On Feb. 21, the President arrived in Peking for an eight-day visit to the People's Republic of China. Bringing to an end 23 years of official hostile silence between the two countries, Nixon and Premier Zhou En-lai hammered out an 18,000 word communique...

Sen. Edward Kennedy, called the communique "one of the most progressive documents in the history of American diplomacy, and hailed 'the bridge that has now been built to Peking.'"

Three months later, Nixon met Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin and Communist Party Secretary Leonid Brezhnev in Moscow for a spectacular summit meeting, heralding an era of detente between the U.S.R. and the U.S.

On May 28, Nixon and Brezhnev signed a historic arms limitation treaty, limiting the proliferation of antiballistic missile launchers. For Richard Nixon, the spring of 1972 was a period of exhilarating success.

Does this mean that the man who spent so much of his political life fighting communism suddenly lost all suspicions about the international conspiratorial communist threat?

M.I.T. historian Bruce Mazlish suggests not. But he adds, "The basic context for Nixon's foreign policy is his dedication to peace. As Nixon told Walter Cronkite back in 1960, 'the major role of a president is to contribute toward building world peace.'"

Bruce Mazlish, author of "In Search of Nixon," speculates that "the months of April - May 1970 imposed the greatest strain on Nixon's psyche since 1952. It is a tribute to his strength of character and his dogged perseverance that he suffered merely a depression and not a breakdown..."

Policy Decisions, Alcohol Linked

WASHINGTON - In Washington, government and politics also are affected by the ambience of the genteel bash houses to which our leaders repair between and after hours. Policy decisions are subject in particular to how many and what kind of alcoholic beverages are consumed during these happy intermissions.

On the other hand, I suggest the free-drink shops are playing a safe and known hand. They are aware that people are not the classic gaziers of old and that therefore they can with impunity let the boys have the booze.

I suppose this was naughty of them, but they were men of brilliance, if not genius, and the best of company. And I am constrained to argue that a late assistant city editor of a Boston newspaper had not refueled hourly from a jug of Old Grand-dad...

It began with the breaking of the Democratic Party headquarters - and, as scandal after scandal unraveled, it came to include corporate contributions, laundered money, the notorious "Huston Plan" for a White House directed illegal secret police operation, the revelation that Nixon had secretly taped all his White House conversations...

It would be good to be able to record that the sudden crumbling of the military dictatorship, which misruled Greece for seven years could be credited, at least in part, to efforts by the United States.

Richard Nixon wrote those words three years before the turbulent, slow-motion explosion of events, collectively called "Watergate," began to tear the soul of America.

While the Watergate affair actually began in June, 1972, when James McCord, a member of the burglary defense team, wrote a letter to Judge John Sirica implicating a number of White House personnel in the Watergate mission and its subsequent cover-up.

The nation was further rocked when John Dean, a former counsel to the President, told the Senate Ervin Committee in June that Nixon knew about the cover-up as early as September, 1972.

When another aide abruptly announced in July that Nixon had recorded all conversations in his offices, a fight ensued between Congress, the courts, the Special Prosecutor and the White House, for possession of the tapes.

One casualty of the battle was Special Prosecutor Archibald Cox, whom Nixon fired, despite earlier assurances of Cox's independence. Cox's resignation, however, was not a compromise on the tapes.

There, more criticism of the 13-year old regime of President Park Chung Hee is punishable by death. There, an ongoing series of trials of dissidents which began last winter has had the effect of stifling every voice of opposition to Park's increasingly repressive rule.

Our Own Mount Trashmore?
By SOL R. COHEN

Manchester, which doesn't lay claim to even one tourist attraction (until a year ago it at least had the Antique Car Museum), may have one in a few years - to resemble one in Virginia Beach, Va.

Mount Trashmore is what they call it there, with its peak 80 feet above sea level and only eight miles west of the sand, surf, salt-water taffy, bikinis and boardwalk.

The 640,000 tons of garbage, disguised as a real, man-made, if not honest-to-goodness, mountain, attracts camera-mad visitors from as far away as Japan, Australia, Taipei and Hawaii - not to mention Europe and South and Central America.

What does it have to do with Manchester? Well, Manchester may not have a 30-foot-high honest-to-goodness mountain, but it may have, at the very least, a man-made terraced hill.

The town hopes to utilize its refuse disposal area for an attractively seeded recreation area in not too many years, and the land-fill process is attuned toward that eventually.

In Virginia Beach, where the mountain already greets in the fling, a 1,500-foot track for the Soap Box Derby, plus roads and parking lots. Only a few years ago, Mount Trashmore was a 50-acre garbage dump. Manchester's land-fill area is larger than 20 acres and the nearby, town-owned Laurel Lake (now a dry bed) is larger than Virginia City's 77-acre lake.

Manchester's "Five-A-Flivver" program is only a notified by the building inspection and for the $5 fee, will pick up the junked car and take it to its Portland facility for crushing and salvage.

R&H Moller will pick up any junked vehicle, with or without wheels, provided it is within 50 feet of access by its wrecker. The phone call is to the town building department, at 649-5281. The $5 is to a resource-recovery facility. R&H Moller is of nearby Portland, when year-and-a-half old and still kicking but to call it an outstanding success and to predict it will flourish into a full-blown success is a bit premature.

The novel program offers a real possibility of riding Manchester off its abandoned and junked cars. All it takes is a phone call and $5. The phone call is to the town building department, at 649-5281. The $5 is to a resource-recovery facility. R&H Moller is of nearby Portland, when year-and-a-half old and still kicking but to call it an outstanding success and to predict it will flourish into a full-blown success is a bit premature.

It is a zoning violation in Manchester to keep unregistered vehicles in other than a bonafide "junk yard" area. How has the program done in its year-and-a-half life? It depends on how one looks at it. About 80 cars (less than four a week) were removed by R&H Moller in that time. To that can be added cars picked up and towed away by others. To that must be added the obvious - Manchester has that many less eyesores to worry about.

Knowledge is the estimate there are about 200 junked vehicles dotting the Manchester landscape (or hidden) at any given time.

Yet too often we are willing to play along with the little dictators - if they are anti-Communist, and if they serve the interests of our global military and diplomatic strategy. But that strategy is supposed to be for a larger purpose than just our own national security. It is supposed to be in defense of human freedom everywhere.

Must we, the leader of the so-called Free World, remain so silent?

Summertime—The Fashion Is Easy

By Helen Hennessy
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Now that the sun is here to stay for awhile, it's high time to start looking summer-chic.

Pick clothes for the easy life in the best of summer's new looks and colors. All the good styles of the season are designed for easy living, easy wear and easy care. Clothes made of polyester and nylon yarns add up to no-fuss and no-worry dressing.

Cash in on the new multiples of fashion, separate parts that add up to a great fashion whole — skirts, jackets and dresses that can work together and still stand on their own.

Today's new fashions can get you from morning errands to evening glamor. Add a shirt over a halter. Switch pieces around. Change a skirt for pants and you're ready for daytime look has magically turned into nighttime fashion.

Use scarves and jewelry to add a fresh touch or alter a look completely.

Use your imagination. Play with colors. Start with white for the basic jacket and skirt. Now add apple-green pants, a print or solid sheer top in a color that works with green and white, a navy blue halter that looks great with green, fabulous with white.

Then to give you that one extra outfit, pick a body dress that can play it simple or elegant. Team it up with a blazer or sheer shirt for day.

Stripes take to the easy life in a good-looking trio knit of polyester.

Let it go on its own after dark. If you plan ahead your shopping spree can be easy on your budget but great for your ego.

Corn—How Sweet It Is

STORRS — Corn-on-the-cob season in Connecticut is short but sweet. Take advantage of summer's supply of corn by freezing it often and by serving some for later.

Corn is a fair source of vitamin A, some of the B-vitamins and vegetable protein according to Janina Czajkowski, Extension nutritionist at the University of Connecticut. A medium-sized ear of corn has about 100 calories, so it is one of the higher calorie vegetables. People watching their weight should consider serving corn with lower calorie foods.

To cook corn-on-the-cob, bring water to boil in a large kettle. Use about two quarts of water for four ears of corn. Add corn. Cover kettle and quickly bring water back to a boil. Reduce heat and cook gently until kernels are tender, from five to 10 minutes.

When corn is cooked, remove immediately from water and serve hot with salt, pepper and margarine or butter.

If you have some cooked corn left over, cut it off the cob and use it to make succotash, corn pancakes, corn pudding, corn chowder or try this recipe for Corn-Staffed Green Peppers.

Wash six medium green peppers. Cut a slice off the top of each pepper. Remove seeds and membrane carefully. Par-boil in one cup of water for three to five minutes or until almost tender. Drain.

For Corn-On-The-Cob: Blanch corn ears from seven to 11 minutes.

Small ears (one and one-fourth inches or less in diameter) 7 minutes. Medium ears (one and one-half inches in diameter) 9 minutes. Large ears (over an inch and a half) 11 minutes.

Cool promptly in cold water in moisture - vapor resistant freezer wrap. Label and freeze.

Mushroom Bread

As soon as they appear, the temperature must be dropped to between 55 and 65. About every 10 days, there will be sudden outbreaks of mushrooms. These outbreaks are called "flushes or breaks".

In between, only a few mushrooms will appear. As a rule, water is applied to the bed surface each time a break is appearing. The moisture of the soil is imperative to maintain a maximum crop.

The humidity in the mushroom house must be kept above 80 per cent to prevent drying out of the mushroom caps. At the same time, in the best of ventilation, there is no direct sunlight.

After the first mushrooms have appeared and especially at the time of the second flush, the temperature is kept constant at 60 degrees.

Mushrooms are one of the greatest vegetables for dieters. They are low in carbohydrates and calories, high in protein. It is also tasty and it can be eaten raw as well as cooked in innumerable ways.

Next week, I'll tell you about a visit to the American mushroom institute along with some interesting facts about mushrooms and how to freeze them. In the meantime, have you ever heard of mushroom bread? You can bake it in normally shaped loaves or make it layer of "casings" soil or peat is spread about an inch thick over the surface of the beds.

This soil is loam that cannot be too sandy or too high in clay. It must be neutral in reaction. Very light watering is continued until the mushrooms begin to form.

Rhodes said that "as four old friends we talked over a situation that of course is very painful to us."

Scott said the President was "serene" and in "entire control of himself." Rhodes described him as "in good spirits and good health."

Vice President Gerald R. Ford was preparing to fly to Los Angeles today on the first leg of an 11-day speaking trip which is to take him as far as Hawaii. A Ford aide, who declined to be identified, said the trip "may be cut short."

Ford met for an hour with White House chief of staff Alexander M. Haig Wednesday morning at Nixon's request.

Mansfield did not appear to have much support in Congress for that proposal. Rep. Edward Hutchinson, R-Mich., senior Republican on the House Judiciary Committee, said it would be "unnecessary and unwarranted."

Senate Republicans considered Wednesday sending a delegation to urge Nixon to resign, but appeared today to have dropped the idea. Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., said some Senate Republicans on their own sent Nixon a message urging resignation.

The White House turned over more tapes Wednesday to U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica for use in the September Watergate cover-up trial. But it said none of the subpoenaed tapes do not exist and apparently never did.

A 14-year-old boy was picked up this morning at 2:30 a.m. on Green Rd. after he escaped Wednesday from the Long Lane School in Middletown.

The boy stole the station wagon of Dr. Patrick Lee of Middletown and drove to Manchester. He squealed his tires on the pavement behind the Wadwell School causing residents to complain to police about 2 a.m. Police found the station wagon with a leaking radiator after it had been driven into a chain-link fence behind the school.

The boy's case was referred to Juvenile Court and he was charged with second-degree larceny by possession. He was returned to Long Lane authorities.

Softball Playoffs Under Way, Action Resumes on Three Fronts

Playoff action in three town slow pitch softball leagues was on display last night at three sites.

In the Silk City League Tournament, Moriarty Brothers topped Dillon Ford, 7-2, and regular season league champ Groman's Sports Shop bested Fogarty Brothers, 20-2, last night at Fitzgerald Field.

In the Candlelight League Tournament, Wholesale Tire had to go into nine innings before outting Don's Boys, 10-9, and Dick's American also had to go into extra innings before upsetting Army Tavern, 13-12, last night at Robertson Park. At Nike Field, Feline League Tournament play saw WINF eliminate Moriarty Brothers, 6-2, and Crispino's nip Roosevelt Mills in eight innings, 11-10.

Ed Kowal, Craig Jordan and John Quaglia each had two hits for Moriarty's in its win over Dillon while Dolph Hampton was hit by three for the losers and two RBIs. Three other players had one hit each for the Fordmen.

Pack Paced by Gates Across Finish Line

Outclassing a talented assembly of runners last night in the fourth MCC-SAM summer cross-country race held at the Manchester Community campus was Eastern Connecticut State College star Steve Gates.

Gates, a Manchester High product, extended an early lead to a quarter-mile cushion at the 2.5 mile mark as he glided to the finish line in 17:03. Winner of the three previous Open Division races, Gates has a comfortable point lead for the championship trophy.

Eastern's Rene Charland, UConn's Jeff Geyer, Hartford Track Club's Tom Waites and MCC's Larry Woykovsky followed Gates across the tape in the division.

For the third week in a row, the highly competitive High School Division had a new front runner. Joe Fretto held onto an early lead as he outkicked Pat Brand to the finish line. Dan Foley and Joe Noel also pushed Fretto across the tape.

Next week's competition should decide the championship. Either Brand, who won the first two races, Fretto, Foley or Noel could cop the trophy with a win in the final race Wednesday.

The Vester sisters once again outtraced the Kelly sisters in the Women's Division. Ruth and Lori Vester crossed the finish line a second apart to earn the first- and second-place spots.

Ruth Vester now has won all four of the races contested. John Dupont outkicked Scotti Dupont to the tape to secure first place. Competition for the division trophy is among Carone, Brad Jones, the winner of the first three races, Lorraine Aubin and Jim Martin. David Warren turned in his best performance of the summer to capture the laurels in the Master's Division.

The final race in the series will be held Wednesday night at 8:30 on the MCC campus. Manchester Mayor John Thompson will present the trophies to the winners immediately after the conclusion of the race.

Moret, Ryan Not Disappointed About Losing No-Hit Efforts

NEW YORK (UPI) — Nolan Ryan and Roger Moret weren't unhappy Wednesday night when they lost their bids for no-hitters. Ryan, the California Angels' 27-year-old fireballer, pointed out that he's been through plenty of no-hit pressure before and was primarily disappointed because he wound up losing to the Chicago White Sox 2-1.

Moret carried his no-hitter for 7 2/3 innings before Pedro Garcia singled, giving the Brewers runners on first and second. Dick Drago pitched the Red Sox out of that jam and was in turn rescued by Bob Veale in the ninth. Rick Burleson singled home the only run of the game.

Baseball Meeting

Expansion Key Issue

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bowie Kuhn envisions a major league franchise in Tokyo in 10 years, according to a spokesman for the baseball commissioner. But expansion of a more immediate nature will be discussed today at the conclusion of baseball's annual two-day summer meetings with Washington, D.C.

Thoughts APLENTY by Len Auster

Jeff Burroughs hit his 22nd for the Rangers. Sandy Alomar's run-scoring sixth-inning single stood up as the winning blow for the Yankees when the Orioles rallied for three runs in the eighth. Pat Dobson went seven innings for his 10th win but needed relief help in the eighth from Sparky Lyle, who ran into a ninth-inning jam and was rescued by Cecil Upshaw.

Fighting Spirit Keeps Reds Alert

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Cincinnati Reds are determined to take the fight out of the Los Angeles Dodgers — one way or another. The Reds, who have trailed the Dodgers in the National League West for practically the entire season, used their fists in addition to their baseball skills Wednesday night to defeat the division leaders for the second night in a row 2-0 and reduce their deficit in the standings to 5 1/2 games.

Brown Expecting Some Not Coming

WILMINGTON, Ohio (UPI) — Cincinnati Bengals owner-coach Paul Brown, expecting the players strike to extend into the regular season, is beginning to make adjustments on the probability that some veterans will not report. SDS Meets Needs of Town, UConn

VERNON
"Children can all benefit from added educational experiences."
This is the philosophy of Dr. William Evans, supervisor of the Student Development Services (SDS) program in Vernon this summer.
Dr. Evans is on the summer school faculty of the University of Connecticut. He has worked with him, in the program, 10 student teachers who are University of Connecticut interns.
The program is in its third year in Vernon but in prior years students were housed in several schools. This year the entire program is being conducted at the Vernon Elementary School.
Coordinating the program are Ronald Knoch, director of continuing education, and Anthony Magliocco, supervisor of special education-student development services, both in the Vernon School System.

Dr. Evans said the program is meeting the needs of the town and the university. The town is furnishing the school and the students and the university the staff and material.
The program gives individualized instruction to the students, following the basic concept in special education which is to meet the children where they are and go as far as you can.
The teachers the children have in their regular classrooms set up the guidelines for each student, noting their strengths and weaknesses.
The total enrollment of 70 students, averages out to about 10 students each day. They range in age from pre-school to Grade 6 and all were referred by their regular classroom teachers who felt they would benefit by the added school experience during the summer months.
The academic portion of the program concentrates on reading and math but the children also enjoy working with art projects, a physical education teacher, and going on field trips.
Another feature at the Vernon Elementary School is the outdoor swimming pool which the children enjoy at various times during the week.
The largest class has 14 children but the average class is five. Dr. Evans said, that making it possible to fit the program around the individual needs of the students.
Dr. Evans and Magliocco said the students have been very enthusiastic about the program and they have not heard any complaints about having to go to school in the summer.
The student teachers have been assisted by four Rockville High School graduates who are planning to continue their education in the field of special education. They are Deborah MacMillan, Andrea Novgrad, Esther Bellows and Patricia Louch.
Dr. Evans said a successful unit was forged out of a variety of learning problems. Dr. Evans will be leaving when the program ends Friday, for the University of Denver where he will be working in special education.

McCoy Optimistic Funds Will Come For Renovations

Vernon Mayor Frank McCoy, who went to the Philadelphia office of the Economic Development Administration (EDA) Wednesday, said he is optimistic that the EDA will give the town permission to go ahead with the Memorial Building renovation project with some changes from the original plan.
Due to the rising costs of construction, since the first federal grant was given the town for the project, not all of the original renovation plans can be carried out.
Howard Tourtelotte, the contractor, and John Pozzato, engineer for the town, accompanied the mayor to Philadelphia where they spoke with federal officials and engineers. They were told action will be taken immediately and that they would probably be informed by telegram to go ahead with the project.
The total amount now available is $505,000. The first federal grant was for $300,000 and when the bids came in for twice that amount, the EDA agreed to increase the grant to $605,000.
Tourtelotte said Wednesday that as soon as the official go-ahead is given, he will immediately start to order materials. The first step of the project will be to clean the bricks on the outside of the building. Tourtelotte said this has to be done before winter sets in.
The renovation program will put into use the third floor of the building and make better use of the space on the second floor.

South Hit By Showers

United Press International
Thundershowers rumbled over the South early today, producing up to four inches of rain. Georgia residents are braced under the threat of flash floods.
Portions of south Texas collected up to four inches of rain within one three-hour period overnight and parts of northwest Georgia got more than two inches. It was the third straight day of wet weather for Texas.
A flash flood watch, which began Wednesday in northern Georgia, remained in effect.
Scattered thundershowers dumped rains from the Ohio Valley to the south Atlantic Coast during the night. The same was true for the western Plains, the northern Rockies and parts of Arizona, southern Texas and northern Missouri.
Two tornadoes were sighted near the town of Big Spring in west Texas Tuesday night but no damage was reported.
Clouds cloaked portions of the Pacific Coast, but skies were fair through most of the northern Atlantic states, the north central United States and country region.
Temperatures around the country early ranged from 94 at Needles, Calif., to 46 at Laramie, Wyo.

Directors Agenda Tuesday Top-Heavy

By SOL R. COHEN
In the opinion of veteran Board of Directors watchers, the agenda facing Manchester's board for its meeting next Tuesday is enough to make strong men stagger and weak men weep.
It is so top-heavy with items requiring decisions of far-reaching consequence, one wonders why they ever were placed for action in one night and how they ever will be ruled upon in one night.
And if the meeting scheduled for 8 p.m. in the Municipal Building isn't enough, the directors have two previous items of business. At 6:30 they will tour the adjoining Lincoln Center, "at which time candid pictures will be taken for use in the Annual Report"; and at 7:30 they will meet with officials of the State Department of Transportation, to be briefed on the status of proposed improvements along I-95 and I-84, including a connector to the latter at Spencer St.
Because the board scheduled only one meeting in August, meeting Tuesday will be for both public hearings and actions. Its usual practice is to conduct public hearings on the first Tuesday of the month and to take actions on the second.
Among some of the items to be acted on and considered are:
• To place for a Nov. 5 referendum a proposed $2.5 million bond issue for purchasing the privately owned Manchester Water Co.
• To place for a Nov. 5 referendum a proposed $2 million bond issue for townwide storm-drainage projects.
• To appropriate $200,000 for sanitary sewers in Bolton, Concord Rd. and a portion of Deming St. and to be financed by sewer assessments against abutting property owners.
• To appropriate $5,000 for expanding the fire alarm system in the northeast part of town, and $5,000 for preliminary architectural plans for a new firehouse in the Buckland area, with both sums to come from Fire Fund surplus.
• To adopt an ordinance for purchasing for $600 a small parcel at Parker St. and Colonial Rd. — to improve the traffic lane. The purchase would be from Sidney B. and Elsie T. Cushman.
• To authorize the manager to sign agreements on behalf of the town and the Park and Recreation Authority, regarding a parking lot on the property of St. James.

Kissinger Would Get Resignation Letter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — If Richard M. Nixon voluntarily quits the presidency, he may be able to deliver his letter of resignation to the office of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.
Nixon's resignation would immediately shift to Vice President Gerald R. Ford the mantle of power of the nation's highest office.
It would be the first presidential resignation in U.S. history. But the process is well defined by law and by practices developed in the past.
The procedure for presidential resignation was established in the nation's first presidential succession act on March 1, 1925. That act remains in the law today as U.S. Code, Section 20. It reads:
"The only evidence of a refusal to accept, or of a resignation, of the office of president or vice president, shall be an instrument in writing, declaring the resignation and subscribed by the person refusing to accept or resigning, as the case may be, and delivered into the office of the Secretary of State."
It is this law which would require Nixon to deliver his letter to Kissinger at the State Department either by messenger or in person.
Susan E. Hilt of Jackson holds the world record for writing on White House stationery already has crossed Kissinger's desk.
That one, dated Oct. 10, 1973, said simply: "I hereby resign the Office of Vice President of the United States, effective immediately." It was signed, "Spiro T. Agnew."
The VFW Post and Auxiliary will have a picnic Sunday for patients at the Rocky Hill Veterans Hospital. Members planning to attend will meet at the Post Home no later than 4 p.m.

Cat Costs $500
LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Fashion designer Irene Kasser and her husband, Gerald, will not have to go to jail just because their cat went where it wanted to.
The Kassers were sentenced last week to five days in jail for contempt of court for allowing their cat, Calico, to stray into the yard of a neighbor, Willard D. Horwich, who had obtained an injunction against the Kassers and their cat last year.
Horwich complained that since then, the cat entered his yard four times and "defecated repeatedly in and about the property."
The Kassers argued in vain that it was in the nature of cats to go where they will, and Horwich wants to his yard with fish and chicken bait so he can give them to authorities to be destroyed.

Fumes from Gas, Paint Explode, Causing Fire

By MAL BARIOW
Gasoline fumes, spray paint and a basement water heater combined Wednesday evening to cause a blaze in a large four-family house at 428 and 429 Broad St. two houses from Center St.

Prompt action by residents, police and firemen prevented injuries and kept fire damage confined to the basement.

John Svelny, the upstairs tenant of 428 Broad St. was in the basement early in the evening working on a motorcycle. He had parts of the engine spread around the basement floor. The engine's gas tank with some gas still in it was among the parts as was the gas tank of an outboard motor and some of its parts.

There were a couple of quart jars of gas there also.

Svelny was using small cans of spray paint on some of the parts. He told firemen he had his back to the water heater. The heater apparently lit to heat its water and also ignited the paint and gas fumes in the basement.

Svelny turned to it. He saw a big flash of fire.

It was not clear to firemen exactly how he got out of the basement without injury.

"He was a very lucky man to escape without being roasted," said Deputy Fire Chief William Stratton, duty officer Wednesday night.

One of the tenants of the large structure rushed out on the street. He flagged down a passing police cruiser driven by Patrolman John Mott.

Mott radioed the Police Headquarters dispatcher who phoned the fire station at 6:58 p.m. The first truck arrived on the scene from the Center St. station shortly after.

Deputy Chief Stratton said firemen used an inch-and-a-half hose with a "fog" nozzle to pump a spray into the basement. They hooked the hose up to the hydrant at Center and Broad Sts.

He put out a call for off-duty firemen and volunteers at 7:06 p.m. Engines No. 1 and 2 and a ladder truck came on the scene. Besides the 10 on-duty men at the scene, there were another 25 off-duty and volunteers before the fire was definitely out, the deputy chief said.

The fire was confined to the basement but smoke damage was extensive, especially in the 428 side of the house.

About $1,500 worth of tools, motor parts and fishing gear were destroyed in the basement. As much as another $2,000 or more worth of damage was done by smoke to upstairs furnishings.

Fire damaged the floor joists exposed in the basement as well as a wooden wall dividing the basement. The wiring was also damaged but the flames did not extend into the upper levels of the house owned by John Tomasiak of 46 Meadow Lane.

The tenants of the building are the Richard Bevin family in the downstairs side of 428 Broad St., Svelny and his wife and child upstairs, the Peter Wodal family in the downstairs side of 429 Broad St., and the Alvin Byron family in the upstairs of 428.

The Bevin apartment suffered the greatest smoke damage, Deputy Chief Stratton noted.

Police blocked off the street during the fighting of the fire. Manchester Ambulance stationed an ambulance nearby in case of injuries.

The Chief Warden, Chief John Rivosa said this morning that misuse of gasoline is the cause of this fire. He noted it is almost exactly like the fire June 8 at 14 Knott St. Here, as on June 8, a young man kept a motorcycle in the basement next to the hot water heater. Gas fumes were allowed to spread in the air. When the invisible fumes were thick enough, the heater ignited them causing a blaze.

The Knott St. house was also a two-story, four-family dwelling. Firemen there were also able to confine the fire and fire damage to the basement although there was extensive smoke damage.

Chief Rivosa called attention to the two quart glass jars of gasoline which are illegal kept in the Broad St. house. He noted it is illegal for gas stations to sell gasoline to people with any kind of glass container. The containers must be approved and made of metal or plastic material.

"We could have been scraping (Svelny) off the walls," the chief said noting how lucky he considers the young man. "Nobody realizes the hazards of gasoline."

He added that some insurance firms are now attempting to have the people who cause this type of fire pay the damages.

Aide Says He Quit Over Access to Tapes

DALLAS (UPI) — A former White House aide says he quit his post last March because he was not allowed to examine Presidential tapes which he learned this week exposed Nixon's role in the Watergate cover-up.

"They wouldn't let me listen to the tapes," attorney Cecil Emerson said. "That was my main complaint."

"I wasn't going to do something up there on blind faith. I wanted to hear the tapes and read the documents before I made any affirmation about anything."

Emerson was an adviser to Nixon's personal lawyer, James St. Clair, and also coordinated an investigation of an 18-minute gap in a crucial Presidential tape on Watergate.

Emerson said White House attorney J. Fred Buzhardt Jr. excluded everyone but himself from listening to subpoenaed tapes of Presidential conversations.

"I couldn't ever figure out who was concealing what," Emerson said. "But I knew something was being concealed between Buzhardt, Gen. (Alexander) Haig and Nixon."

"And my main attention and anger, I guess you might say, or suspicion, was directed toward Fred Buzhardt. Because I knew he had direct access to the President. He talked to him daily. And he was in charge of all the tapes."

President Gerald R. Ford

Ford Takes Oath

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gerald R. Ford took the oath of office today as the 38th President of the United States "acutely aware" that he had never been elected to national office. He asked for the nation's prayers.

While his predecessor Richard Nixon resigned the office and flew west, Ford took the oath from Chief Justice Warren E. Burger in the East Room of the White House before old colleagues from the Congress, Nixon's cabinet, his family and wife.

Ford pledged to enter into "an unprecedented compact" with the American people and give to them "straight talk" as one friend to another.

Burger, dressed in flowing black judicial robes, asked Ford whether he was prepared to take the oath. Ford answered that he was, and Burger began administering the 30-second oath.

"My fellow Americans, our long national nightmare is over," Ford said in reference to the Watergate scandal which had compelled Nixon to give up the office he had sought most of his adult life. "Our Constitution works."

In remarks delivered on national television immediately after being sworn in, Ford said he was delivering "just a little straight talk among friends, and I intend it to be the first of many."

"I am acutely aware that you have not elected me your President by your ballots. So I ask that you confirm me as your President by your prayers."

"If you have not chosen me by secret ballot, neither have I gained office through secret promises."

"I have not sought this enormous responsibility, but I will not shirk it."

"As we bind up the internal wounds of Watergate, more painful and more poisonous than those of foreign wars, let us restore the golden rule to our political process, and let brotherly love purge our hearts of suspicion and hate," he said.

"In the beginning, I asked you to pray for me," Ford said in a choking voice. "I ask for your prayers for Richard Nixon and his family. May our former president who brought peace to millions find it for himself."

Only half an hour before the oath-taking, Nixon's letter of resignation was delivered to Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, an hour, 15 minutes after Nixon left Washington with his wife for California.

Before Nixon left, he had an emotional farewell to his grief-stricken staff, cabinet and his nation.

"We leave with high hopes in good spirit, and with deep humility and with very much gratefulness in our hearts," Nixon said, choking back tears on national television.

Ford said that "I can only guess" at the burdens of the presidency although he said he had directly witnessed the conduct of the office by three presidents.

He said he would enter the presidency with "all the strength and good sense I have gained from life," with the help of his dedicated staff and the "good will" of all Americans.

"I reaffirm the promise I made last Dec. 6 (when he became vice president after the resignation of Spiro T.

Nixon Says Farewell

By HELEN THOMAS
UPI White House Reporter
WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon choked back tears in an emotional goodbye to his staff, and in effect to his country, then left the White House today for the trip back to a life as private citizen in California.

"We leave with high hopes in good spirit, and with deep humility and with very much gratefulness in our hearts," Nixon said to his staff and Cabinet on national television. "I can only say to each and every one of you, we come from many faiths, we pray perhaps to different gods, but really to the same god in a sense."

"But I want to say to each and every one of you, not only will we always remember you, not only will we always be grateful to you, always you will be in our hearts, and you will be in our prayers."

"Thank you very much."

The emotion-packed goodbye ceremony was held in the East Room of the White House — called a "great house" by Nixon. He and his family were greeted with a trumpeted "Hail To The Chief," and five minutes of continuous applause.

The farewell left Nixon close to tears and many of his staff members openly crying.

Nixon and his wife then walked directly to the South Lawn and, with his successor Gerald R. Ford bidding them goodbye, went by helicopter to Andrews AFB where they left at 10:17 a.m. EDT in the presidential jet, Spirit of 76, for the flight to San Clemente.

Nixon, who announced Thursday night he was resigning, was accompanied by some of his staff and his daughter and son-in-law, Tricia and Edward Cox. His other daughter and son-in-law, Julie and David Eisenhower, stayed behind, weeping openly as they waved goodbyes to the departing helicopter.

While Nixon was in the air on the way to retirement, he was to become an ex-President, with Ford being sworn in at noon EDT.

In his farewell speech to cabinet members and White House aides, Nixon acknowledged as he did in his resignation speech that some mistakes were made during his stay in the White House.

"Sure we have done some things wrong in this administration, and the top man always takes the responsibility, and I've never ducked it," Nixon said. "But... no man and no woman came into this administration and left it with more than he came in. No man or woman ever profited at the public expense or the public till."

"Mistakes, yes, but not for personal gain, ever. You did what you believed in, sometimes right, sometimes wrong."

Agostinelli Feels He's Been Had

By SOL R. COHEN
"It's a sad feeling. I feel I've been had. I've been fooled, and I don't like it," said State Comptroller Nathan Agostinelli today.

Agostinelli in 1972 was Connecticut chairman of the Committee to Re-Elect the President. A Democrat to 1966, when he switched to the Republican Party and was elected mayor of Manchester in his first political try, he now is GOP candidate for lieutenant governor.

"There's nothing to be happy about," Agostinelli said of Nixon's resignation. "The only good thing about it is that it shows the process does work."

One result of President Nixon's experience and the whole Watergate affair, Agostinelli said, will be "a new kind of politics—at the local, state and national levels."

"The politics of the 1960's, the 1950's and even before that will no longer be tolerated," he said.

He said he "would like to think" Nixon's resignation won't effect the 1974 campaign either way.

"You know," he said, "we have a tendency sometimes to stereotype people. All Italians are not members of the Mafia, all blacks are not on relief and all Republicans are not responsible for Watergate."

He concluded, "It's too bad. The man had such an opportunity for greatness. He's done so much good. And to think it'll all be overshadowed by such a Mickey Mouse operation as Watergate."

"If this had happened in other countries, they'd be in turmoil and crisis today. We are a greater country for it and we'll survive to even greater heights in the future."

Mayor John Thompson said he is convinced President Nixon's decision to resign "was a correct one."

"The Constitutional process that we witnessed," said Thompson, "has demonstrated our system of government is sound and will endure. I believe it is in the best interests of America that we should move forward and not look back."

Thompson said, "I pledge my allegiance to our country and my support and best wishes to our 38th President — Gerald Ford. I urge and hope that our entire com-

Kissinger Stays; Other Posts Open

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gerald Ford has pledged to pursue Richard Nixon's quest for world peace and asked Henry Kissinger to remain as secretary of state.

He gave few other clues as to the makeup of his administration.

The quiet-speaking former House GOP leader will be sworn in today by Chief Justice Warren Burger in ceremonies in the White House Rose Garden, weather permitting.

The 61-year-old Nebraska-born and Michigan-raised conservative Republican, who never aspired to the presidency, was thrust into the job by two of the greatest public scandals in American history.

Named 18 months ago to succeed the disgraced Spiro T. Agnew, Ford became the nation's chief executive Thursday night when Richard Nixon, crippled by the Watergate scandal, resigned.

As he set about the task of setting up a new administration, Ford pledged to continue the Nixon foreign policy by asking Henry Kissinger to remain in office.

Other major appointments — particularly the naming of a new vice president — remained unknown.

A spokesman said Ford was "not going to move quickly" on naming a vice president, whose nomination must be confirmed by the House and Senate.

Ford's voice shook with emotion as he spoke on his suburban front yard Thursday night only minutes after Nixon announced his plans to resign.

He said his goal as 38th president of the United States would be "what's best for America and the world."

For the time being it was believed that Ford would retain most of the Nixon cabinet. His widely reported animosity two months ago toward Defense Secretary James A. Schlesinger reportedly has turned to respect.

It seemed likely that Ford would in rather rapid fashion replace Nixon's top White House aides with his own, although chief of staff Alexander Haig will remain, at least for the present, a source close to Ford said.

Ford picked Jerry Ter Horst, chief of the Detroit News Washington bureau, to be presidential press secretary, replacing Ron Ziegler, who was flying to San Clemente with Nixon.

Laird, an old friend from Congress, and Interior Secretary Rogers Morton were thought likely to play major roles in the new administration, as was former New York Sen. Charles E. Goodell, a man who played a pivotal role in Ford's rise to leadership in the House.

Nixon Lacks Guarantee He Won't Be Tried

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon leaves office today with no public assurance he will not become a Watergate defendant in the future.

Congress is expected to leave to the new president, Gerald R. Ford, the question of whether Nixon will be spared the possibility of prosecution.

But the impeachment effort is expected to die in Congress now that Nixon has decided to relinquish office voluntarily.

Speaker Carl Albert said after Nixon spoke Thursday night that impeachment proceedings "will now come to a halt."

Shortly after Nixon announced his resignation, Special Watergate Prosecutor Leon Jaworski said there had been no deal — no negotiations between his office and Nixon to guarantee that Nixon would be spared as either a defendant or a witness in future Watergate trials.

Earlier this year, Jaworski convinced a grand jury that an incumbent president could not be named a defendant in a criminal action. As a result, the grand jury named Nixon an unindicted co-conspirator in the Watergate cover-up conspiracy. Seven of Nixon's ex-associates were named defendants in the same case.

Ford could seek to prevail upon Jaworski not to bring charges against Nixon on the ground Nixon had paid a severe enough penalty in becoming the first chief executive forced to resign.

Ford has said nothing publicly about his intentions.

Wives of Town Leaders Vary in Views of Talk

By BETTY HYDER
President Nixon's speech of resignation Thursday night was received with mixed emotions by the wives of some of the town's political leaders.

Aware of some of the traumas facing their husbands as they moved into the political spotlight, they voiced a sense of sadness after hearing the president's farewell speech, but seemed anxious that the country put aside the past and get on about the business of today.

State Sen. Odgaard's wife, Karen, said, "I was sad and disappointed — I hate to see anyone quit or give up. Maybe now we can get out from under the Watergate cloud and get back to straightening out the country."

"The effect the past few months of indecision has had on the Nixon family was up- permost in the mind of Mrs. John Thompson, wife of Manchester's mayor.

"I felt very badly for his family, they must have been under a lot of tension these past months. I'm sure they are relieved that it is all over."

"It was a good speech," she added, "but it is a sad and tragic time for our country."

He (Nixon) did what he had to do under the circumstances. He (Nixon) said he hoped this would begin healing the wounds of the country. I just hope now we will all unite under our new president."

Mrs. A. Paul Berte, wife of the Republican Town Committee chairman, took a few minutes out from caring for her week-old baby to express her feelings on the resignation speech.

"It's a sad occasion," she said, "but I think we are all pretty much relieved. We can now go on to other things — there are many other pressing problems."

Mrs. Ted Cummings, wife of the Democratic Town Committee chairman, was disappointed that President Nixon didn't explain to the American people his reasons for resigning.

"As though in unison with the wives of the other political figures, Mrs. Cummings said, "I'm glad it's over. I'm glad he resigned."

"He really didn't explain his reasons for resigning, and I do think he owed that explanation to the American people."

Today, the United States will have a new president.
