Bill Allows Local Rule Over Funds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The $11.2 billion housing and community development bill to be signed today by President Ford is designed to give local governments more control over how federal aid money is spent, and will allow more people to buy houses.

The three-year bill consolidates eight federal programs, including Model Cities and urban renewal, into one block grant. The federal government would establish goals that cities must meet, such as elimination of slums and housing for the poor. But beyond those general goals local officials determine how their grant money is spent.

It also raises the ceiling on home mortgages insured by the Federal Housing Administration, establishes a new federal rental assistance plan and continues the controversial sections of the home ownership and rental assistance programs, which former President Richard Nixon wanted to kill.

The mortgage limit on FHA-insured single family homes is increased from $33,000 to $45,000, reflecting the rapid rise in real estate values.

The maximum mortgage loan a savings and loan institution can make for a single-family home is increased from $45,000 to $55,000.

The $8.6 billion block grant program, which requires no local matching funds, replaces Model Cities, urban renewal, rehabilitation loans, open space and urban beautification, neighborhood facilities, advance acquisition of land and the basic water and sewer facilities programs.

Those narrow categorical grant programs often were unwieldy to administer, and resulted in extra work for local governments in applying for each separate program. Now they will make one application outlining their plans for using the money.

Funds will be distributed on the basis of poverty, population and overcrowding, with poverty given double weight in the formula.

The new $1.2 billion rental assistance program will pay the difference between fair market rents and 15 to 25 per cent of the gross income of eligible lower income families.

Swinging Summer Away

It was an all-star performance with Tess Coder, Colleen O'Rourke, Lisa Cobb, and Diane Westlake until Kelly Coder got into the act as the littlest swinger. Alas, she couldn't get down. Just kept right on swinging, like it or not. Together, the quintet helped swing summer away in Bradford, Pa. (UPI Photo)

Building Condemnation Mulled

By SOL R. COHEN

What to do about the vacant and deteriorating building at 811-821 Main St., empty for about three years and last occupied by the W.T. Grant Co., was the question posed this morning by Irving Bayer, a member of the Mayor's Downtown Action Committee.

Because of the sparse turnout of committee members, its meeting was short, with discussion centered around possible action for condemning and demolishing the 72-year-old structure and with routine business touched lightly.

Present, in addition to Bayer, were William Sleith, committee chairman; Francis Handley; Bruce Watkins; Dennis Brown, consultant to the committee; Richard Clark, president of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce; Mayor John Thompson; and Leon Enderlin, executive director of the Manchester Housing Authority.

Bayer said he refuses to believe the town can't take steps at once to condemn the building. He called it an unhealthy situation — with floors buckling, ceiling tiles fallen and apparent water seepage damage throughout the building. He acknowledged there weren't any tenants in the building but pointed out there were tenants on both sides of it.

"There must be some way," he insisted. "Someone has to get nasty, to condemn the building and knock it down. There's no doubt it's a health hazard."

Sleith said it is his understanding, unless the building is architecturally unsound or unless a tax lien of sufficient value is outstanding, nothing could be done.

He acknowledged a tax lien exists, but said it's of insufficient value to institute court action. He said he will contact the owner again and impress upon him the health hazard concern. Sleith said the owner had told him previously he wouldn't repair and renovate the building until he gets a tenant.

The building is owned by Abraham M. Druckman of the New York City, who acquired the property in 1961. The building, constructed soon after the turn of the century, is assessed at $111,440, town records show.

McCarthy said the town will look into the situation for possible action, provided a health hazard can be proved.

Brown, commenting on the situation, said almost every town has it. He said he's never been able to solve similar problems and, many times, had to answer to show-cause orders from the courts.

Thompson remarked that it seems to him the committee's efforts now should be addressed, not alone to cleaning up and dressing up the street, but also toward getting some tenants into the vacant properties.

Clark revealed the Chamber knows of no actions at present for filling the vacant stores — on both sides of Main St.

The committee's next meeting will be Sept. 5 at 8 a.m., in the Municipal Building Hearing Room.

Greek Prisoners Freed by Turks

By United Press International

Turkey said today its troops on Cyprus have begun freeing Greek Cypriot civilian prisoners and Cypriot President Glafkos Clerides said he will meet shortly with Turkish Cypriot leader Rauf Denktash in a possible first move toward a peace settlement.

Clerides said he hoped to meet Denktash within 36 hours. However, the Cyprus government later announced Clerides will fly to Athens Friday for urgent talks with the Greek government. This made it unlikely Clerides and Denktash could meet before Saturday.

United Nations representatives on the island have been trying to arrange a meeting between Clerides and Denktash, boyhood friends, for the past two days.

Water rationing was introduced in Nicosia during the day. The pumps furnishing most of the capital's water are behind Turkish lines and the Turks have barred Greek Cypriot technicians who fled during recent fighting to return to maintain them.

A U.N. spokesman in the east coast port of Famagusta, captured by the Turkish army a week ago, said livestock abandoned by fleeing Greek Cypriots were drinking water from the sea.

Swedish U.N. troops continued to man eight observation posts in Famagusta despite a Turkish request that they leave.

A U.N. spokesman said the Turkish soldiers in Famagusta were holding up food supplies to the 550-man Swedish peacekeeping contingent. Blue-bereted Swedish soldiers trundled food supplies on handcarts to their posts in the old walled city because Turkish soldiers refused to allow their vehicles into the area.

Turkish military authorities announced in Ankara that Turkish troops have turned over about 40 Greek Cypriot civilian prisoners to the United Nations peacekeeping force.

Freeing of Cyprus war prisoners began nearly two weeks ago but stopped, with only a score or so released, after the Turkish offensive opened up Aug. 14.

In New York, the Turkish mission to the United Nations announced that Turkish roving Ambassador Nuri rn has brought messages from his government for President Ford and Secretary of State Henry Kissinger. Its contents were not disclosed.

Ford Eyes 1976 Race

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gerald Ford has been President less than two weeks, but he apparently likes it enough that he intends to run for a full term in 1976.

Using a breathtaking but lowkey method, Ford orchestrated the announcement that he has changed his mind and intends to head the Republican ticket in the next presidential race after he serves the 2½ years remaining in former President Richard Nixon's term of office.

Vice President-designate Nelson A. Rockefeller told reporters Tuesday that Ford gave him the impression he had "every intention" of running for president on his own. On Wednesday, White House Press Secretary Jerald F. terHorst, in a casual announcement that sent reporters scurrying to telephones, said Ford "is now of the opinion he will probably run in 1976."

Later Ford parried questions from reporters who wanted the direct word from him. He said he thought Rockefeller "well expressed" his position.

While it appeared to be a major thrust to build up a Ford-Rockefeller ticket and to eliminate any other contenders, neither Ford nor his aides were prepared to say whether Rockefeller would be Ford's running mate.

GNP Down Again

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Gross National Product dropped by 0.8 per cent during the second quarter of the year, the Commerce Department said today. It was the second straight quarterly decline — the theoretical definition of a recession.

The 0.8 per cent figure was a slight improvement over the preliminary figures for April to June issued by the department last month which showed a 1.2 per cent drop in the GNP.

On the other hand, the department said inflation in the second quarter rose faster than reported last month — 9.6 per cent at a seasonally adjusted rate instead of 8.8 per cent.

The small improvement in the GNP, which measures the growth rate of the U.S. economy, did not change the fact that the economy has failed to show "real" or noninflated growth for two consecutive quarters. The first quarter decline was 7 per cent and was due chiefly to the energy crisis.

A two consecutive quarter decline is the shorthand definition of "recession" but administration economists have insisted that the situation is not bad enough to warrant that term.

With the exception of the 12.3 per cent rate of price increases in the first quarter, the April-June inflation rate was the biggest three-month rise since the first quarter of 1951.

Commerce Secretary Fredrick B. Dent said the modest softening was "an improvement" over the first quarter but "nevertheless validates the essentiality of President Ford's battle to cut the inflation rate."

Both the growth and inflation figures were part of the department's quarterly report on GNP, which measures the total value of goods and services produced in this country in a given period.

Equality In Race

Equal opportunity for all. That's what members of the fairer sex have been advocating and winning more and more support every day.

Fifteen years ago a woman sought to compete in Manchester's annual Five Mile Road Race and was turned back.

Each year since, women have run the annual holiday feature.

Will they be allowed this Nov. 28 to run? Action was taken last night at a meeting of Nutmeg Forest, Tall Cedars of Lebanon.

Complete details are on Page 13.

Rocky's Fortune Near $1/2 Billion

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice presidential nominee Nelson A. Rockefeller's personal fortune — which he said he will disclose to congressional committees handling his confirmation — may total a half billion dollars, according to family friends and business associates.

They said the $500 million was "only an estimate" and one added, "He probably doesn't even know himself what he's worth. Only his accountant knows for sure."

Rockefeller's wealth is concentrated in three areas — stock, land and art, and his holdings in the last two categories carry the label of "priceless."

Like most wealthy families, the Rockefeller family has kept the extent of their empire a closely guarded secret. Much of Rockefeller's wealth is in trusts for himself and his heirs.

The value of his extensive stock holdings is believed to have declined considerably in the past two years because of poor market conditions.

Rockefeller told the chairmen of the two committees handling his confirmation that he would give them whatever financial data they requested.

One of the few known facts about Rockefeller's fortune is that he paid an income tax "in seven figures" the years he was governor of New York. In 1964 it was estimated he had a yearly income of around $5 million, with his weekly income from stock dividends exceeding his $50,000 annual salary as governor.

In related developments:

• Sen. Howard Cannon, D-Nev., chairman of the Senate Rules Committee, has asked the FBI, the Internal Revenue Service, the Library of Congress, and the General Accounting Office to begin investigating Rockefeller's record.

• Rockefeller, speaking at a GOP fund raising dinner in Newport, R.I. was heckled three times but he handled the interruptions like the seasoned political veteran he is.

• Rockefeller has begun to put together a high-powered vice presidential staff of men with long backgrounds in public life, many of them who worked in Albany, N.Y., when Rockefeller was governor.

Considerable fog tonight with occasional rain; low temperatures 65 to 70.

Considerable cloudiness Friday, continued warm and humid, with a 40 per cent chance of rain. Highs in the 80s.

Clark Resigns Post With Town Chamber

RICHARD G. CLARK

Richard G. Clark, president of the Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce, has resigned effective Sept. 24 to accept a similar position in Florida.

Clark, who has headed the local chamber since December 1972, will become chief executive officer of the Greater Plantation Chamber of Commerce, near Fort Lauderdale, Oct. 1.

"My wife and I leave Manchester with deep regret," Clark said this morning. "The Florida position," he added, "presents a challenge which I feel I cannot refuse."

"I sincerely appreciate the splendid cooperation I have received from the Chamber board, its members, our civic officials, and most of all, the warm hospitality of our community," Clark said. "We shall always have a soft spot in our hearts for Manchester," he said.

Burl L. Lyons, chairman of the Chamber's board who accepted Clark's resignation, said, "We sincerely hate to lose Mr. Clark. Our chamber has experienced great growth under his dedicated leadership but we recognize, and can certainly appreciate, the challenge of the new position in Florida. We wish him and his wife the best of success."

Clark, 31, is a native of Peekskill, N.Y. Before coming to Manchester, he was director of retail and consumer affairs with the Stamford (Conn.) Area Commerce and Industry Association.

Lyons said the local Chamber is starting an extensive search for a new chief executive.

Artificial Respiration
Would you be able to help a person resume breathing? You can if you know how to restore breathing by artificial respiration. Knowing how to administer artificial respiration comes in handy in helping victims of near drowning, gas poisoning, electric shock, heart failure, and suffocation.

Seconds count when a person is not breathing. Move fast! Start artificial respiration at once. Don't take time to move the victim unless the location is unsafe.

There are three basic methods of artificial respiration: mouth-to-mouth, chest pressure — arm lift, and back pressure — arm lift.

If you use the mouth-to-mouth method, follow these basic steps:

- 1) Remove any foreign matter from the mouth. Tilt the head back so the chin points up.
- 2) Place your mouth tightly over the victim's and close his nostrils with your fingers.
- 3) Blow into the victim's mouth until his chest rises.
- 4) Remove your mouth and let the air come out.
- 5) Repeat. This procedure every five seconds for adults.

Confessions of a TV Junkie

FRANK S. SWERTLOW
NEW YORK (UPI) — Most people watch television for pleasure. I watch it for business — a reviewer for UPI.

"Hey, I bet you can't go without watching television for a week," said a cynical friend of mine.

To use the chest pressure-arm lift method:

- 1) Place the victim face up. Clear or clean the mouth. Put something under the victim's shoulders to raise them so that the head will drop backward.
- 2) Kneel at his head. Grasp his wrists, cross them, and press over lower chest to force the air out.
- 3) Release pressure by pulling the victim's arms outward and upward and backward over his head as far as possible to cause air to rush in.
- 4) Repeat this every five seconds. Keep checking to see if the victim's mouth is clear and his airways are open.

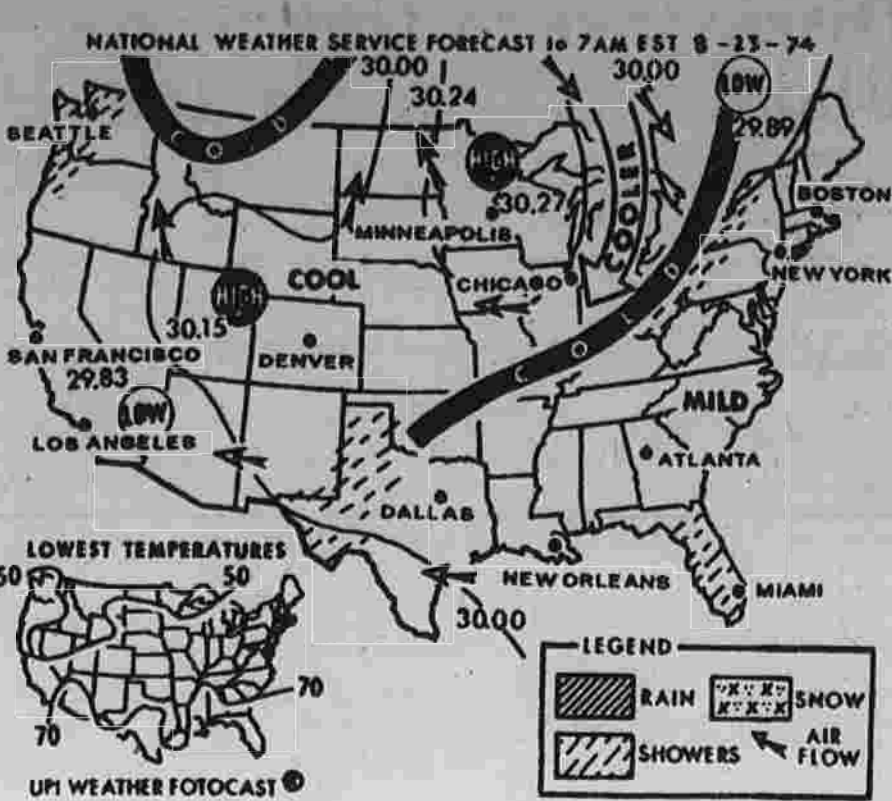

The back pressure-arm lift method can also be used to restore breathing.

- 1) Place the victim face down and clear or clean his mouth.
- 2) Bend his elbow and place his hands one upon the other. Turn his head slightly to one side, making sure the chin just fits.
- 3) Place your hands on the victim's back so that your palms lie just below an imaginary line between the armpits.
- 4) Rock forward until your arms are almost vertical and the weight of your body exerts steady pressure on your hands.

Which ever method you use, make sure you continue artificial respiration until the victim breathes normally, a doctor arrives and declares him dead, or his joints stiffen. The victim has to be moved, continue artificial respiration.

Discoverer of Cyclamate Blames Politics for Ban

By JAMES V. HEALON, STAMFORD (UPI) — The discoverer of the artificial sweetener cyclamate is calling for its return to the market, saying its 1969 removal by the government which linked it to cancer in rats was based on questionable scientific judgment.

Dr. Michael Sveda says there is also evidence suggesting cyclamate was involved in the decision and that the restoration of cyclamates would cut down on the public's sugar intake which he says is now hazardous to health.

"There is no place for sugar in the quantity we eat it. We have a sweet tooth. We can't control it," Sveda said. He and others contend it plays a part in coronary heart disease, obesity, diabetes, and dental cavities.

Imported and domestic sugar is expected to total 12.5 million tons in 1974 or 25 billion pounds, according to Department of Agriculture predictions. The total divided by America's 200 million population averages out to 125 pounds a year.

Less Sugar Needed
Dr. Aharon M. Cohen, a scientist at the Hadassah Medical Research Center in Jerusalem who has spent years researching sugar, suggests Americans could get along on 13 or 14 pounds of sugar annually. Cohen appeared in 1973 before the Senate Committee on Nutrition and Human Needs whose chairman, Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., said there was no definite proof sugar was a health hazard.

"But there is sufficient research, with disturbing implications both here and abroad, to take a close look at this matter," McGovern said at the hearing's outset.

Sveda discovered cyclamate by accident in 1957 while a graduate student at the University of Illinois and was compensated until the patent ran out in 1959.

He says he has no financial interest in Abbott Laboratories of North Chicago, Ill., which asked last November to have cyclamates restored to the government's GRAS list, an index of substances generally regarded as safe. The request is pending.

WOODSTOCK (UPI) — Residents of this small rural community will vote again on Oct. 17 on whether to end a 40-year "drought" during which the sale of liquor has been prohibited.

The town, which has only 2,000 more inhabitants than it started out with in 1790, was one of the few Connecticut communities elected to stay "dry" in 1938 after the repeal of Prohibition.

Residents last voted on the issue in 1965.

The latest call for a vote was initiated by the owner of a golf club.

The Amnesty Issue

The dictionary defines amnesty as forgetfulness: 1, the voluntary overlooking of an offense by the one offended; 2, the act by authority (as a government) by which general pardon of an offense is granted often before trial or conviction, especially to a large group of individuals (as war criminals).

Thus in discussing proposed amnesty for young men who evaded service in the armed forces during the Vietnam conflict or deserted their units, we should keep in mind that "forgetfulness" is not the same as "forgiveness." That is to say, the granting of amnesty is not an admission by the offender party that the offender was right in what he did. This is important, think, since so much of the advocacy for unconditional amnesty is not unconditional at all. The advocates want amnesty granted because they believe the war was morally and legally wrong and therefore the evaders and deserters were morally and legally right in their actions.

In other words, there are those who are using the amnesty issue as a basis for indicting America for its involvement in Vietnam. If there is a case for such a blanket indictment, and we do not think there is, it should be presented as such and not by using the highly emotional issue of amnesty.

President Ford, in re-opening the amnesty issue, we feel, is not really offering amnesty at all for he stressed those seeking it would have to "earn" it. To our thinking, this is not true "forgetfulness" nor forgiveness, but an offer of a yet to be specified means of redemption on an individual case basis.

Thus it would appear that the young man who truly rejected his country's call because of moral reasons would not find this acceptable if his beliefs were truly fundamental. On the other hand, there are no doubt many that used the "moral issue" as a self-curb inflation, "jawboning" or out-and-out price controls, they will not work unless the public cooperates. Prices will go up as long as someone will pay them. Wages will go up as long as prices can go up accordingly. The inflationary spiral is a vicious thing in that the ones who have fixed or limited income are the ones who suffer.

We oppose price controls because they do not solve the problem and there is ample evidence to indicate controls really compound it. Therefore we have little choice but to put our hope in "jawboning" with the hope that the public, in making its buying decisions, can give "jawboning" the muscle the CLC needs to keep wage and price increases within tolerable bounds.

The time has come for most of us to ask not how we are going to pay for a new car or a new home but rather why we should even consider such a purchase at the present time at present prices?

The success of the new administration's anti-inflation effort will hinge on business and labor cooperation it is true but without consumer support this won't be enough. Balancing the federal budget will be helpful, but when consumers move toward balancing their own budgets too, maybe, just maybe, the demand pressures may cool enough to make inflation manageable.

"Jawboning" isn't the whole answer to inflation. Its effectiveness as a tool though is up to each of us and how we choose to respond to it in the coming months.

Since childhood, I've often heard the phrase "well, praise the Lord, anyway" used when things go wrong. We have been conditioned to thank God for everything good and blame the devil (or evil, etc.) for everything bad. And we have been taught to believe that "Praise the Lord, anyway" is prayer. It may be prayer, but it lacks power. Praise the Lord, anyway implies that God wants us to thank Him in spite of our troubles. The scriptures clearly state that God is able to work all things for good for those who love and trust Him, and that He wants us to be thankful in everything—regardless of how evil and miserable our situation appears.

God gives each of us the choice — go on thinking our difficult situations are controlled by the devil or evil or whatever, and by your lack of faith in God's supreme power make it difficult for Him to work out His plan for you — OR you can believe that God is at work, thank Him for everything, and thereby release His power to work in your life. 'Jawboning'

The President has opted for the time being to take the "jawboning" approach toward holding down prices. Liberal Democrats feel a new Cost of Living Council with no enforcement powers is doomed to failure. Events may prove the liberals right, but in the light of past experiences with economic controls, we hope they will work.

Perhaps most of us take a too-limited view of "jawboning" in that we expect industry and business to back off just because the President or the CLC says a price hike is inflationary. And the same can be said about wage increases.

"Jawboning," if limited in concept to verbal slaps on the wrist from the President or the CLC, cannot be expected to be very effective.

The real crux of "jawboning" efforts to curb price and wage increases is not how business and labor react but how the public does?

The public will be informed of those price and wage increases which the CLC deems inflationary.

The test of this approach will then come in the market place. If the public is convinced by the "jawboning" of CLC, for example, that the General Motors slightly revised increase in 1975 car prices is inflationary and too high, it can postpone or not buy a 1975 model. It can shift to other brands, foreign and domestic, which have not raised prices. Or it can back up the CLC by writing letters to GM, etc.

The point we are making is that no matter what the government does to

The Immunity Bind

NEW YORK CITY — The larger part of Social wisdom, as of individual, is whether we put the right questions to life. On the problem of criminal indictment or criminal immunity for ex-President Richard Nixon, there is a double question. One has been put clearly and widely. It is whether we intend to live up to the requirements of equal justice before the law. The other has not been put as clearly. It is not whether we are to show compassion and charity, or whether Nixon's loss of office is punishment enough. Compassion is important, but even more important is the question of how much we care about divisiveness in the society.

It would also be wise to keep the problem of a criminal indictment for Nixon from getting entangled with still another question — that of the legal ownership of his tapes. The impounding of the tapes by President Ford's order — that is what it amounts to — was the right decision to make. With a continuing set of current trials and grand jury investigations, they will have to be readily available, and if Nixon himself is tried the tapes will be crucial evidence on both sides.

under oath that although Jacobson offered the money, Connally had refused it. To bolster the story, says the prosecution, Connally gave Jacobson $10,000 out of his own pocket to place in a safe-deposit box in Austin. But, adds the prosecution, Connally made two fatal mistakes. The cash put in the box had been issued by the Treasury Department he himself headed after the deposit supposedly had been made. Connally allegedly realized this belatedly and replaced it with another bundle of bills, dated before the deposit. But some of those bills had not been placed in circulation until several months later.

It boggles the mind. True, John Connally is an underprivileged millionaire by Texas standards, but he was hardly so poor as needed that piddling $10,000. Moreover, he wanted to run for President and thus had every reason to keep his hands cleaner than those of, say, a precinct captain. Always preserving Connally's innocence, it is still fair to ponder the question of why he would even discuss any kind of a payment with Jacobson, especially since Nixon had decided to raise support prices to avoid an even bigger boost by a Democratic Congress. If Connally is guilty, the answer is the pursuit of power. Even a Presidential candidate — as of Watergate has shown — can be so obsessed with gaining or increasing his power that he will take money wherever he can get it.

Put a different way, the ambitious politician seeks to become known to big contributors as a man who gets things done, because he will need their money later to finance his Presidential campaign. piece of political machinery. It is a symbol of our national identity, part of our own conscious ties with each other, as well as part of our consciousness. Seen thus, the image of a former President sitting in jail for what he did as President can lead to a national trauma and start anew the social divisiveness which we have for the present happily avoided. We need to go slow on this, to give the people a chance to find their moral and psychic bearings on it. In the end the specter of social divisions may not loom as darkly as some think. It may turn out that no substantial segment of the people are ready to make a martyr of the former President and turn their hatreds against those whom they believe to be persecuting — as well as prosecuting — him.

Emotionally, a further legal process against the President could act as a necessary purge for the nation or it could yield an unhealthy harvest of social hatreds. The bind is a tight one, and judgments could go either way. For myself, my feeling that we need to go slowly means that I take the dangers of getting mired down in divisiveness pretty seriously.

Whatever Happened To Bushels And Pecks?

Francis S. Keery

WASHINGTON (UPI) — When the Agriculture Department says rice supplies will be fully adequate, almonds more than adequate and dry bean stocks ample, it doesn't mean to put all those supply situations in the same class, officials explained today. The explanation came after newsmen were puzzled by a food supply report filled with terms like "adequate," "more than adequate," "fully adequate," "ample," "generally adequate," "heavy," "abundant," "plentiful," "light."

Is an "ample" supply heavier than a "more than adequate" stock? they asked. Does "fully adequate" mean more or less than plentiful? A spokesman for the Agricultural Marketing Service replied that the agency's monthly Food Marketing Alert used the following bottom-to-top ranking for the supply status of individual items:

- 1 — Tight.
- 2 — Generally adequate.
- 3 — Adequate (which means there are no shortages).
- 4 — Fully adequate (which is a little better than plain adequate).
- 5 — More than adequate.

Bolton Ancients Second In First Competition

The Bolton Ancient File and Drum Corps (BAFDC) took second place in the group's division at a state competition in Rutland, Mass. Sunday. It was the first competition the BAFDC participated in. Thirteen of the group's 25 members competed.

The annual state competition of the Massachusetts Fire Drum and Bugles Association Inc., was attended by 24 corps from Connecticut, Massachusetts and Vermont.

The local group did a splendid job for their first competition and represented their town proudly, the judges reported.

The judges said they were amazed at how well the children performed during the parade as well as at the reviewing stand.

Making up the color guard were Donald Spoto, Douglas Moore, Cindy Chaffin, Eliza Zachmann and Michael Zachmann.

Drummers were Kathy Moore, Jed Higgins, David Warner and Jeffrey Warner. Fifers were Shelley Charbonnet, Lis Spoto, Laura Spoto and Diane Miller.

The BAFDC is directed by Bill Smith of Vernon. He is a major with the Whip City and Silhouettes Drum Corps, state champions for a number of years.

Ken Carey of Vernon is assistant director. He is a former member of the Colonel Johns and the St. Patrick's St. Anthony Drum Corps in Hartford.

Joe Randazzo of East Hartford is the drum instructor. He is a former drum sergeant for the Old Guard Ceremonial Ancient File and Drum Corps for the President of the United States.

Mary Ellen Greenleaf of East Hartford is the file instructor. She is a fife for the Connecticut state senior champions.

Barbara Spoto, publicity chairman, said, "Looking at the dedicated and talented people who are instructing and leading the BAFDC is easy to see why they are doing so well."

At this time the uniform of the corps consists of black pants, gold lined shirts, black tie, black belts, dark socks and white moccasins.

The corps members are presently wearing wool berets which will be replaced soon by a tricornered hat, keeping the theme of an ancient corps. Group members will also be getting either tunics or vests and lace ties.

Members may not enter competition unless in full dress. The BAFDC will participate in two competitions in September. The first will be at Lake Quassapaug in Middlebury, on Sept. 1. The second will be in Wethersfield, on Sept. 8.

Anyone interested in joining the local junior corps may do so at any time by calling Mrs. Dale Higgins, 645-0472 or Mrs. John Spoto, 645-2628.

The BAFDC is open to children ages 8 to 18. Children from area towns are welcome to join.

The BAFDC presently meets at the United Methodist Church on Boston Pike, each Monday from 7 until 8 p.m.

The present corps membership is about 25 students although all are ready for competition.

More than 100 boys and girls from the Vernon and Hartford areas will be treated to a day of fun and flying, under the sponsorship of the Rockville Exchange Club and the Central Connecticut Aviation Association (CCAA).

Owners of private planes have offered their services to the sponsors for the "holiday flight," out of Branford Field in East Hartford.

The fully licensed pilots will take the young people, ages 5 through 15, for a 20-minute flight some 2,000 feet in the air.

Bert Palmbo, past president of the Rockville Exchange Club and a CCAA pilot, will be coordinator for the event. He said more than a dozen planes will be used in the flight program.

Palmbo also confirmed that Gov. Meskill will be one of the pilots as he was for a similar program last year.

Gardner Ruggles, president of the Exchange Club, said arrangements for transportation to the airport are being arranged by club members. The children will also be served refreshments. Exchange club members have also offered to assist in supervising the young people.

Amtrak Trains Weekend Train To Vermont

MONTPELIER, Vt. (UPI)—Amtrak, the nation's passenger train system, is "giving careful consideration" to a weekend day train to Vermont for the winter months, Gov. Thomas P. Salmon said Wednesday.

The only train now serving the state runs between New York and Montreal, passing through the state during late night and early morning hours.

Salmon said David A. Watts, the director of state and local affairs for Amtrak, indicated it might be possible to institute a train between Philadelphia and White River Junction, Vt.

Salmon had asked Amtrak to consider a day train along the same route, but Watts said financial and operational problems made that impossible.

Priority Goals Listed For Elementary School

BOLTON
Donna Holland
Correspondent
Tel. 644-0375

John Eagles, principal of Bolton Elementary School and Bolton Center School, has compiled a list of priority goals for the 1974-1975 school year.

The goals were cooperatively prepared by the principal and a representative group of teachers working together. Their intent is to work toward achieving the listed goals during the coming school year.

The first goal is to instill in students a greater concern for the other person with a view of developing more wholesome interpersonal relations by the following activities:

- Included are the encouragement of good manners, encouragement of pride and respect for the rights and property of others and service to school wide projects to develop environmental pride in our surroundings.

An advisory committee on dress code will be established that will set minimum guidelines for dress that does not conflict with personal rights and standards. Parents, students and teachers will be asked to serve on the committee.

The second goal is to continue to expand instructional efforts to better meet the needs of each individual student in the basic skills of reading, writing, spelling and listening.

Individual students growth will be encouraged by activities such as the language arts committee studying the existing developmental reading program, attention to more thorough implementation of the Noble and Noble handwriting system, establishment of an "everybody reads" period in Grades 1 through 6 each day for 15 minutes, to bring in consultants to help with the in-service of the new spelling and English program, to develop screening procedures that insure early identification of reading and learning disability problems.

The third goal is to expand the professional efforts of sharing accurate information with parents concerning instructional programs and individual students progress by the following activities: Information hours during the day for parents in the area of reading, math, handwriting, spelling and language; develop an IGE (individual guided education) information booklet for parents; re-evaluate pupil progress reports to parents at the kindergarten through Grade 6 level and parent teacher conference effectiveness at the kindergarten through Grade 8 level; invite parents to visit the schools as observers during American Education Week and at other times throughout the year.

Investment Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Wiesenberg Services Inc. says it feels the stock market is "in gear to reach a major bear market low" before the end of the year. It says the 700 level of Dow Jones industrial level probably will be "penetrated authoritatively" but that the final low will be above the 600 level.

Bache & Co. advises investors to "concentrate on institutional quality stocks, many of which are selling at price-earnings multiples that have not been touched for a decade or more." It offers the belief that the major decline in common stock prices "provides a significant upward potential" for investors in shares of high-quality companies.

The current selloff in large institutional stocks is "a normal phenomenon" characteristic of final stages in bear markets, according to Harris, Upham & Co. It points out that this development "bodes well for the general market since it provides 'greater liquidity' for future investing."

He said the actual expenses of running the school are still not known and that the screening of a teacher will take place in January.

"The teacher will be selected in January to take over duties in summer," said the Rev. Mr. Gargel. "Salary will be determined this winter and the church today said the parish has 20 applicants interested in starting classes in the fall of 1975, when the church will start its first year of school.

"The parish intends to hold classes for Grades 1-5 under one roof, with 25 students from South Windsor and surrounding towns comprise the first class.

For the time being students will attend classes in the parish's educational unit, the second cluster of 25 students, which would begin classes in 1976, will be taught in the main part of the church, and the third year — "if everything goes as anticipated and we have 50-75 students" — the school will be the new home.

The Rev. Mr. Gargel said he does not anticipate an enrollment of 100 students in the school, and that the facility will be run on a non-profit basis.

Sewer Commission Plans Hearing

In the coming months the South Windsor Sewer Commission will hold a public hearing, followed by a possible 1975 referendum on what will be the town's last major sewer project for a while.

The Sewer Commission is now drawing up a list of those areas which will need sanitary sewers in the future. If the proposed project passes, it will be the last construction job for South Windsor for a while, possible several years, officials said.

The commission will meet Sept. 10 and expects to hold a public hearing on its proposed list in November, and the referendum in the spring of 1975.

James Throwe, commission chairman, said Main St., Pleasant Valley Rd., Farnham Estates, Windsorville and other areas will be included in the hearing, following their suggestion for sewers by residents.

Meanwhile, Throwe said the commission is asking residents for suggestions, prior to next month's meeting.

"We'll find out from Washington if there will be more or less federal funds available for sewer projects," said Throwe. "There may be more belt-tightening before than."

Officials said that if the next sewer project is passed, once completed all that will be done will be small areas where sewers may be needed.

Recently a sewer project made big news in town when it was discovered a $234,000 cost overrun existed and residents were asked to approve an additional appropriation.

President Signs Education Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Ford Wednesday signed a $25.4 billion education bill imposing new limits on school busing and guaranteeing new privacy rights to students and their parents.

Ford said at the signing the new law "contains an ordered and reasoned approach" to dealing with school segregation but he said he wished it contained a provision for reevaluating existing court orders on busing.

Ford has told Congress there might be inflationary aspects to the bill but the needs for quality education were more pressing. He also said he would oppose excessive funding of the legislation during the inflationary period. The law authorizes an outlay of $7.2 billion during the first year.

The bill, which extends the basic federal aid to education programs for another four years, includes a provision that a student cannot be bused beyond the next closest school district, unless a court rules the child would otherwise be denied his constitutional rights.

"In general, I am opposed to the forced busing of school children because it does not lead to better education and it infringes upon traditional freedoms in America," Ford said.

The measure bans use of federal education aid for busing and ends court-ordered busing if a school district proves it is in compliance with integration orders.

The legislation also contains a provision under which parents and pupils must be granted access to school records so that they may check for misinformation and correct errors. In addition schools would be prevented—unless the parents consented—from making the students' records available to credit bureaus, law enforcement officials and others.

The anti-busing provision is the strongest yet passed by Congress, but it was a compromise and some southern and northern congressmen felt it did not go far enough.

Messiah Lutheran Will Plan School For Fall of 1975

SOUTH WINDSOR

The town's only parochial school — now in the development stage — is progressing rapidly, with the town's smallest parish already over half its financial quota toward establishment of the school.

School Repairs Made

BOLTON

Donna Holland, Correspondent, Tel. 644-4375

James Vietch, superintendent of buildings and grounds for Bolton schools, reports that the custodial staff has been very busy this summer getting the schools ready for opening day.

Vietch said extensive repairs were done to the south wing entrance at the Center School including a new ceiling, roof and lights.

A total of eight rooms were painted this summer, six at the high school, one at the elementary and one at the center.

A planter was constructed for the front of the elementary school. Vietch said some shrubbery are being accepted.

All electrical plugs were changed to three prong in compliance with OSHA regulations. A new boiler room door was also hung.

About 14 doors were planed down to prevent sticking and were rehung.

Several new outlets were installed in the science room and in the new office of the school secretaries.

Vietch cited a young high school student who, through the Cooperative Work Experience Program, has been working under him during the summer.

The young man, Todd Redden, is a good worker and has learned a lot, Vietch said.

Connally Resigns Bank Directorship

HOUSTON (UPI)—Former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally has resigned as a director of First City National Bank of Houston and First City National Bank of Floresville, Tex., a spokesman for his law firm said.

Connally has been indicted by a federal grand jury in Washington on charges of accepting an illegal payoff, conspiring to obstruct justice and perjury in connection with government action in 1971 to raise milk price supports.

The former Texas governor pleaded innocent Aug. 9.

"Since the U.S. Comptroller of the Currency can request an indicted bank director to resign, the voluntary resignations were submitted to avoid possible embarrassment to the banks," the spokesman said.

Connally has not resigned from other boards of directors on which he serves nor has he any plan to sever his relationship with the firm of Vinson, Elkins, Sears, Connally & Smith, the spokesman said.

The title (from Old English "leofostan" meaning tenth) was a custom dating back to times of the Old Testament and adopted by the Christian church. Lay people were supposed to contribute one tenth of their annual income to the church. The money, or its equivalent, was used to support the clergy, maintain churches and assist the poor.

Dr. Lamb Hormones after hysterectomy?

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D. DEAR DR. LAMB - I am 34 and have had a complete hysterectomy. I was told a woman could not live without estrogen, and yet I know several women who have had the same operation who have gotten along without taking shots or pills. A couple of them were in their 20s. They said the only thing was they were thrown into the change of life early. Could you please explain the difference to me as I am confused, and I don't have a doctor anymore as my doctor left the area. I was taking estrogen shots and pills, but I am taking nothing now. If I can live without estrogen I would rather. My doctor never said I had to take it at all in the first place. It was my mother who says I need it. I just having a complete hysterectomy does not mean that there will be any loss of estrogen production at all. Estrogen is produced by the ovaries, and these may be left in place when a complete hysterectomy is done. And, usually they will be left in unless there is some disease of them that requires their removal. The difference between whether the ovaries were taken out or left in is one factor in the different responses women have to this type of surgery. If the ovaries are taken out then a young woman will have a premature menopause. However, estrogen is also manufactured by the adrenal gland. Deciding whether to have any operation, need estrogen is dependent upon the results of a medical examination. Some women go through the menopause with no problems and never take estrogen. In others it is very useful in controlling symptoms and preventing changes. In any case, you do not die because your body is not producing a large amount of estrogen. My advice would be to find a doctor and get a good examination to find out what you need, not what your mother needed or your friends needed. Only then you can know if you really need any additional female hormone or not. For more information write me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019, and ask for the booklet on menopause. Send 50 cents to cover costs. DEAR DR. LAMB - Can being overweight cause pain in the chest? DEAR READER - Yes, it contributes to causing a hernia of part of the stomach through the diaphragm, but enlarged, hole in the diaphragm. This is quite a common problem in our society in middle aged and older people. The hernia causes a leak of normal acid digestive juices into the esophagus. This irritates the lower esophagus and causes a burning pain at the lower end of the breastbone. It can also cause the esophagus to go into spasm, creating pain in the middle of the chest, not unlike a heart attack. The obesity contributes to heart disease, which leads to chest pain. It also contributes to the problem of arthritis. Dr. Lamb welcomes questions from his readers, but cannot answer personally. Questions of general interest will be discussed in future columns. Write to Dr. Lamb in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Something for Everyone

By Rosette Hargrove

PARIS - (NEA) - Variety is the spice of the Paris winter collections. Coats as vast as a parachute or as straight as a stovepipe. Dresses umbrella-skirted or cigarette-slim sheaths, not to mention the return of the chemise. Hats reaching from below the knees to below the calf. Linings absent from coats as well as dresses.

No more ukases from fashion dictators, instead, a hundred suggestions which allow a woman to dress according to her way of life, her tastes, her pocketbook and, certainly not least, her silhouette. The world over will welcome the news that the prevailing mood is utterly feminine, as soft as a kitten's ear, and that the waistline is a movable feast, that skirts can float and swirl according to whim, that pants are relegated to the informal scene, that suits - the conventional version - are back in force, from the casual tweed or corduroy to the formal, that what used to be known as the little Paris black number also makes a decisive comeback. For cocktail or dinner, in chiffon, velvet, crepe or satin.

Capas, as wide as a tent coat or fitting closer to the body, are another feature which will appeal to women. They belong to the daytime as well as the evening scene. Shawls strike a romantic note in simple crocheted wool or chenille yarn, they complement the most formal evening number. The dressy blouse is yet another revival which women will appreciate in these days of careful budgeting. In satin, brocade, chiffon, the silk, silk jersey, they have softly tied necklines or, befrilled at neck and wrist, contribute the "now" look to a suit. The supersumptuous evening number which can go anywhere at any time.

The fabric story highlights printed chailis, mohair, loden and jersey, along with knobby tweeds for daytime. For evening, velvet, lace, taffetas, silk crepes and jersey. Hats are more for the coming winter, as casual or formal as you please. And finally, there is the lure of nails on pert topknots for the cocktail hour.

The Franciscan Fathers planted the first Persian walnuts in California in 1769. Today, it is a major California crop. The word "walnut" comes from an Old English form of the word "Welsh-nut." It is believed that the walnut originated in Persia, traveled from there to southern Europe and thence on to England. Walnuts are a rich source of protein and a fine source of energy. They're good for the children though they are fat in calories. While there is fat in nuts, it is relatively unsaturated. When I was growing up, my mother would make a gelatine salad, containing apples and crunchy walnuts. Other fruits can be included with whatever flavor gelatine you like. It makes a nice lunch. Commercial harvesting of walnuts is, of course, mechanized. A big shaker removes the nuts from the trees. Some nuts from each batch are opened and sampled as to color, then stored accordingly. They are also given a treatment graded as to size in the shell. After sorting, the walnuts are cleaned to remove dirt and stains from the shells. Next, they go into drying bins where they stay for two to four days. Then, they are packed for shipment or off to a cannery. is combined with a great variety of other things - meats, fish, vegetables - you name it. Be sure to include nuts. We throw rice at weddings following old religious rites of the Chinese and the Hindus. Oriental peoples view rice as a symbol of prosperity and fruitfulness. Rice at a wedding symbolizes fertility. The ancient Romans threw nuts as well as sweets at the bride. This custom probably was the forerunner of today's confetti. With the thought of rice and nuts at wedding, why not a recipe containing these two ingredients. It should be easy to make and easy on the bride's budget. While it has an exotic appeal, it was created in the California kitchen of the Diamond Walnut people. This is something different for year-round entertaining. I thought you might find it helpful now in your outdoor serving. At this point, we have probably all had our share of macaroni and potato salads. Rice and toasted walnuts are served with a tangy lemon dressing. It is just as good hot or cold, equally good with meats, fish or poultry. It would be marvelous with shish kebab.

Rain Is Everywhere Except New England

United Press International
Thunderstorms stretched from the upper Great Lakes across the lower Missouri River to the southern Rockies today, but not a drop of rain was in store for drought-plagued New England.

The New England drought — the area's worst in 27 years — combined with the dry spell which withered crops in the country's midlands, was expected to cut sharply into the supply of corn and hay needed for the winter months and was likely to result in an increase in the price of milk.

Forestry officials banned campfires and cigarette smoking in some of the New England forests and had ordered some parks closed because of the tinder-dry conditions.

Farmers and ranchers still were hoping for more rain in portions of Oklahoma although recent rainfall, heavy but late, has halted the withering of crops and started turning pastures and ranges green again. Topsoil moisture was adequate in the northwestern portion of Oklahoma, but the Panhandle, southwestern and central areas still thirsted for more rain, crop reports said.

The midlands are just recovering from what some experts have called the drought since the Dust Bowl days of the 1930s.

But rain was the rule in much of the country's midsection today.

Warm, humid air over the Gulf of Mexico collided with cool air hovering over the northern Plains, touching off thunderstorms.

Wind gusts of more than 70 mph per hour lashed Clovis, N.M., Wednesday night as a storm dumped more than a half inch of rain on the community.

Sedwick, Kan., 15 miles north of Wichita, received more than five inches of rain Wednesday night, and Topeka has received more than an inch of rain.

A few thunderstorms dotted the eastern Gulf Coast and the southern and middle Atlantic seaboard.

Fog shrouded much of California's south and central coastal valleys and fog and haze obscured visibility at many locations from the Atlantic to the lower Great Lakes, the Ohio Valley and the lower Mississippi Valley.

Visibility was zero at Lebanon, N.H., this morning.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 42 degrees at Evanston, Wyo., to 90 degrees at Blythe, Calif.

With the help of phone callers and a store owner, police thwarted three stealing efforts this morning. Police reported that they tried to sneak up on the youths but bumped a chair.

They fled out the south side window they had cut open. An unknown amount of coins were taken, police said.

It is the second break recently at the store and one of several breaks in recent weeks in that area.

Other breaks reported recently include: Three cars parked to the rear of the Lincoln Center Wednesday evening were all broken into. Joanne Palazzi of Glastonbury reported a pocketbook with $20 in it missing. Teresa Lenares of Glastonbury reported a tape deck valued at $88 missing from her car. Jack Cunfin of East Hartford reported missing a bag of 20 tapes although a tape deck and a pocketbook in his car were left.

The storage bin of Donald Magel of 29C Thompson Rd. recently. Missing are 10 half-gallon bottles of whiskey.

The mailboxes of George Beisgen and Harold Bagot of apartments at 801 Main St. and of John McDonnell of 709 Main St. were forced open Wednesday before 2:20 p.m. and the contents taken. The U.S. Post Office inspectors of office has been called into the case.

A room at Piano's Motor find at 100 E. Center St., sometime Wednesday morning. A TV set valued at $200 was taken.

Other police action included: Vandals broke the fence at the house of Harvey Lapierre of 27 Lydall St. sometime Tuesday night.

A rear window on the second floor of the building at 153 Main St. was smashed sometime Tuesday night.

The house of Anthony Estano of 119 Campfield Rd. was struck by jammed into the oil fill pipe. The house had not been entered.

Seven rear windows were smashed in the house under construction on Tracy Dr. recently.

A large plate glass window on the Park St. side of the Slinger Sewing Center store on Main St. was smashed sometime Wednesday night with a board left on the sidewalk. Nothing appeared missing from the store.

The 1968 Mustang of Otis Coleman of 33 Park St. was stolen from his house sometime between 1 and 8 a.m. Police found it on St. James St. with the ignition wires cut.

The 1964 Impala of David Blackwell of 388 Center St. was reported stolen from his home sometime between 2 and 4 a.m. Glastonbury Police reported finding the car three soles after the report early this morning.

Five bikes were reported stolen and two found. Several cases of thefts are being investigated with the help of victims, police noted.

MANCHESTER

Ronald St. John, 33, of 111 Wells St. was arrested today at 10:15 a.m. and charged with operating a motor vehicle while his license is suspended. Court is Sept. 9.

William A. Chesters, 28, of 55 Wells St. was arrested today at 1:45 a.m. outside Ed Wilson's Club station at Spruce and Eldridge Sts. and charged with fourth-degree larceny.

Police went to the station in response to an anonymous call about a man at the station. Patrolman Edward Tighe found Chesters and his car with four old batteries in it that apparently belong to the station, police said.

Chesters was released on a $100 non-surety bond for court Sept. 9.

Chris Page, 17, of 86G Rachel Rd. was arrested Wednesday at 7 p.m. and charged with operating a motor vehicle without a license and operating an unregistered motor vehicle.

Page was charged with driving a small motorcycle on the lawn, sidewalks and in Rachel Rd., police said. Court is Sept. 9.

Five Mile Road Race Thanksgiving Morning Open to Females Officially for First Time

By Earl Yost

Fourteen weeks from today the 1975 Five Mile Road Race in Manchester, sponsored by Nutmeg Forest, Tall Cedars of Lebanon, will have a "new look," following action taken at an organizational meeting last night.

Wilbert Hadden, general chairman for the sponsors, said this year's race will be open officially to both males and females 14 years of age and older.

The Five Mile, the No. 1 sports drawing attraction in this City of Village Charm, will be staged on the traditional Thanksgiving morning, Nov. 28, starting at 10:30.

This year's race will be the 24th under the sponsorship of the Tall Cedars. All proceeds will again enter the Muscular Dystrophy Fund, national objective of the organization.

Back in 1960, Julia Chace appeared at the starting line and tried to run but was refused. The following year she was being assessed each contestant. The fee will be $1 and all money realized in this manner will help swell the Muscular Dystrophy Fund. Entry fee must accompany application.

Last year $1,358.54 was realized on race day by passing special containers throughout the crowd.

A year ago there were 692 entries of which 600 showed up at the starting line on lower Main Street, opposite School Street, with 538 crossing the finish line in a steady stream that took more than one hour. The winner was Andy Burfoot, former Wesleyan University star and national long distance figure, who completed the grind in 23:37.

The biggest change in the Turkey Day classic, which has attracted as many as 10,000 spectators in the past, has to be the open door to female runners.

Last year there was a peaceful demonstration staged outside Race Headquarters at the East Side Rec by both men and women against the ban.

The decision to open the 1974 race to all was unanimous. Charles "Pete" Wigren will again serve as race director.

The Five Mile was born in 1927 by the Rec Department and run annually on Thanksgiving until 1934 and then dropped for lack of interest until 1945 when the Army & Navy Club came forth as a sponsor. The 1945 race attracted just eight entries and has grown every since.

Today the Manchester Five Mile is the second biggest independent race in New England, topped only in number of participants and spectators by the world-famous Boston Marathon.

Many National intercollegiate and AAU champions as well as Olympic and Pan-American Games runners have competed in bunions here annually.

Entry blanks will be distributed early in October. No post entries will be accepted. All runners must be registered with the Connecticut AAU.

Now that the door has been open to all, race officials are looking forward to another record-breaking field of thin-clads.

With a single in the ninth with two outs. Chicago rallied in this game to top the Angels.

Swinging a big bat for the Red Sox was rookie Jim Rice, the home run king a year ago with Bristol in the Eastern League and the No. 1 producer of homers in the International League with Pawtucket this season.

Recalled this week, Rice drove in two insurance runs with his second hit of the game, a bases loaded single in the eighth.

Tough-luck loser was Wilbur Wood, making his 35th start of the year. He allowed seven hits in losing his 15th game. He has won 18. Morel shows a record of seven wins and five defeats.

Morel's dozen strikeouts was the most since Ray Culp turned the trick in 1970 and the crowd marked the 12th straight better than $2,000 at Friendly Fenway.

Oakland will be next at Boston after a day off today with Luis Tiant, Bill Lee and Juan Marchal scheduled to face Blue, Jim Hunter and Ken Holtzman in that order Friday and Saturday night and Sunday afternoon. Tickets for all three games are at a premium.

Dick O'Connell, Red Sox general manager, who enjoyed the game as did owner Tom Yawkey from the sky-view boxes, gave Morel a new contract after the game calling for a $1,000 raise.

Without allowing a base hit. Against Milwaukee Aug. 7, he held the Brewers hitless until Pedro Garcia singled with two outs in the eighth. Allen, the spoiler, a .310 hitter and home run leader in the American League, also rained Nolan Ryan's bid for a no-hitter last month with two outs in the eighth.

It appeared that Morel had little chance to get the ball which was glove-handled back of second base by Doug Griffin but no throw was made to first.

Yesterday marked the second time this month that Morel, who has caught the winning habit with the division-bound champions, went into the late innings

Football Seasons Upcoming

Fall practice begins Monday morning for the East Catholic and Manchester High football teams. Eagles' second year Coach John LaFontana expects about 67 candidates to report for the opening drills while Indians' mentor Larry Olsen, also beginning his second season at the helm, anticipates approximately 80 hopefuls.

LaFontana, who compiled a 3-7 mark in his rookie campaign, will have an entirely revamped coaching staff except for Al Freheit who returns as offensive backfield coach. New assistants are Ted Perry and Frank Driscoll from East Hartford who will handle the defensive line and backfield respectively while Jim Reagan from Manchester has been appointed offensive line coach. Reagan is an East graduate who also saw service on the Central Connecticut State College gridiron eleven. Bob Leavitt will serve as head freshman coach with an assistant still to be named.

The late-blooming Morel had to settle for a 4-0 one-hit, 12-strikeout success against Chicago before an unbelievable weekday crowd of 32,227 paid on a beautiful afternoon weather-wise.

Extending the Red Sox win streak to four straight and a six-game edge over Cleveland in the American League East, Morel had the White Sox in the palm of his hand all afternoon. Only one great fielding gem was turned in, that by Moret himself when he grabbed Buddy Bradford's liner in the ninth and started a game-ending doubleplay.

"I don't believe it," Moret told newsmen after the near-gem. "That's a no-hitter because I should have stopped the ball. It hit the fingertips of my glove."

The ground ball was right there, right near my glove, and I missed it. For me, that's a no-hitter," he added.

It appeared that Morel had little chance to get the ball which was glove-handled back of second base by Doug Griffin but no throw was made to first.

Mets Still Dreaming For Another Miracle

HOUSTON (UPI)—Games like the one the New York Mets won Wednesday night are enough to trigger a dream.

Consider first that the good fielding Houston Astros committed five errors and several other poor fielding plays giving away a ballgame 10-2.

Second, left-hander Jerry Kosman, battered in two previous appearances against the Astros, fired a six-hitter.

And third, Manager Yogi Berra, with his Mets 9½ games out of the National League East lead, said his luck may be returning in his quest for another miracle finish like the one which carried New York to the NL crown in 1973.

"I don't see why not if we can get something started," he said late Wednesday. "We haven't had a winning streak all year. We are only seven games back on the loss side with 42 games to go."

The Mets now travel to Atlanta hoping to capitalize on their good fortune and hoping never to experience such a tragedy.

"I'm just glad we didn't play that way," Berra said.

Houston Manager Preston Gomez hoped it never happened again.

"This is the worst game we've played all season," he said. "Physical mistakes, mental mistakes, everything we did was wrong."

A walk, Tommy Helms' error on a pop fly double play ball and hits by Rusty Staub and Wayne Garrett got the Mets off and running with three runs in the first inning Wednesday.

Staub, the former Astro sidelined with a pulled hamstring the first two games of the series, drove in four runs. Garrett, a 213 hitter, got three hits and two RBIs.

The three early runs were all Kosman, 12-8, needed.

"I had a little bit of everything tonight," he said, "but mainly I was keeping them off strike. That's the name of the game."

Despite giving up a home run to Lee May in the fifth and a run scoring sacrifice fly to Cliff Johnson in the ninth, Kosman was in control for the six-hit complete game win.

The loss meant little for the Astros, who open a three-game series at home against Philadelphia 14½ games behind NL West leader Los Angeles. But every victory the rest of this month will mean something special to Berra. He has some late season plans.

The whole month of September we play our own division," he said. "We play Pittsburgh and Philadelphia 13 games the last two weeks, so if we're not in it, we'll give somebody hell."

Schmidt Owns Reds' Hurlers

CINCINNATI (UPI)—It's quite obvious that Cincinnati Reds pitchers are going to have to make some adjustments as far as Mike Schmidt is concerned before they face the Phils next week in Philadelphia.

Schmidt slammed three hits, two of them homers, to lead the Phils to a 10-3 victory Wednesday night. And if the 25-year-old Philly slugger can handle quick fame as easily as he does Reds' pitchers, then Manager Danny Ozark has no reason to worry about Schmidt's future head size.

The two homers and a single Schmidt collected were three of 16 hits in 32 at-bats against the Reds this season. And those 16 hits, including seven of Schmidt's 32 homers, have accounted for 13 RBIs in the nine games the two clubs have played.

Jim Lonborg picked up his 14th victory against 11 losses as the Phils pulled within 1½ games of St. Louis in the National League East.

Meanwhile, the Reds dropped 3½ games behind Los Angeles Dodgers in the West.

What has brought about the change in Schmidt, who batted only .196 with the Phillies last year?

"I really can't say because he didn't do anything last year and I didn't watch him too closely," said Reds Manager Sparky Anderson.

However, Ted Kluszewski, the Reds batting coach, did.

"Schmidt was trying to hit everything out of the park last year," he said. "He had a long sweeping swing. This year he's popping the bat. His swing is sort of compact."

NEW YORK (UPI)—It's like old times for Dock Ellis and the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Ellis posted records of 19-9 and 15-7 in 1971 and 1972, respectively, when he led Pittsburgh to consecutive division titles. However, he dropped off to 12-14 last season as the Pirates finished third and was saddled with a less-than-spectacular 3-8 record through July 14 of this year when the Bucs were seven games out of first place.

At that point, the 29-year-old right-hander, who set a club record for starting pitchers in 1971 by winning 19 straight, regained his winning form and Wednesday night ran off his seventh consecutive victory when he tossed a seven-hit, eight-inning run-scoring single in the Pirates' 4-2 triumph over the San Francisco Giants. The win, the Pirates' 24th in 36 games since July 14, moved Pittsburgh to within 1½ games of first place. St. Louis in the National League East Division.

"I'm not now, nor was I ever the ace of this staff," Ellis preserved Andy Messersmith's 14th victory in Los Angeles' triumph over Chicago. Marshall, notching his 18th save, stopped the Cubs without a hit over the final 1-2-3 innings. Willie Crawford homered for the Dodgers who completed a sweep of the three-game series.

Expos 8, Padres 7

Barry Foote and Ron Hunt contributed RBI singles as Montreal rallied for two runs in the ninth to edge San Diego. Gene Locklear had given the Padres a 7-6 lead in the eighth with a pinch-hit home run. Bob Batley smacked his 16th homer for the Expos.

Pitchers Key In Little League World Series

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (UPI)—The pitchers were the difference on the mound and at bat Wednesday as Maracaibo, Venezuela and Red Bluff, Calif., advanced to a semifinal showdown today in the Little League World Series.

Mark Kelchke, a 5-foot-11, 250-pound full-blooded pitcher, was too much for Equipal, British Columbia. The 12-year-old struck out 11, fired a two-hitter and singled to ignite a three-run rally in Red Bluff's 3-0 quarterfinal victory.

Alfredo Urdaneta capped his one-hit pitching performance with a solo homer in the seventh inning to give Maracaibo a 1-0 victory over Jackson, Tenn.

Red Bluff and Maracaibo will meet in the second game of a semifinal doubleheader today after favored Kao Hsing, Taiwan, takes on Tallmadge, Ohio.

Red Bluff got only five hits off the third ball club in their quarterfinal win but scored its three runs in the fourth inning on Kelchke's single, an error, a fielder's choice and a single by Greg Shoff.

Maynard Blasts Ewbank

NEW YORK (UPI)—Don Maynard, the leading pass receiver in pro football history, is happy to be back in uniform again, this time in the World Football League. But he's still bitter toward his former employers, the New York Jets.

Maynard, who has caught more passes for more yards than any receiver in history, has signed with Houston of the WFL and made his debut Wednesday night as the Texans' second round pick. He was bombed 43-10 by the New York Stars. He had one pass thrown in his direction and caught it for a 17-yard gain.

"I feel I can still play the game," Maynard said. "Houston contacted me."

"I wouldn't say it was bitterness but more disappointment with the Jets' organization," said the 37-year-old Maynard, who was traded to St. Louis last season and was eventually released and finished out the year with Los Angeles. "I gave them 13 years of my life both on and off the field and after all that, they just shipped me down the river. They embarrassed me and they embarrassed my family."

"It was something I should have expected," Maynard said. "I've been a professional athlete for 13 years and I've been in the game for 13 years. I've been a professional athlete for 13 years and I've been in the game for 13 years. I've been a professional athlete for 13 years and I've been in the game for 13 years."

David Fells Goliath In Pro Tennis Open

BROOKLINE, Mass. (UPI)—David Fells Goliath. Small outs large. Obscurity is better than fame.

In other words, unseeded 26-year-old Fells, a Japanese-born American, swarmed all over the court Wednesday to pull off the upset of the $100,000 U.S. Professional Tennis Championships, ousting top-seeded Stan Smith in a fierce, nerve-wracking second round match, 5-7, 6-2, 7-5.

Kamiwazumi, son of a former tennis star and a three-time Japanese national champion in his own right, has never won a major tournament. But, on the other hand, neither has he ever lost to Smith, whom he beat in June in their only other confrontation at the French Open tennis championships.

Two other seeded players—Jaime Fillol of Chile (11)

Philadelphia Coach Mad About Officiating in Loop

NEW YORK (UPI)—Birmingham and New York may be the hottest clubs in the World Football League on the field but the Philadelphia Bell is definitely very hot in the clubhouse.

While Birmingham and New York continue to ride impressive winning streaks, the Bell are hot about what Coach Ron Waller calls, "jailed officiating."

Alonso Emery scored his third touchdown of the game from a yard out with just 52 seconds left Wednesday night to lift the Southern California Sun to a 31-28 victory over the Bell. The Sun marched 80 yards in 11 plays for the winning TD, aided by two 15-yard penalties, and that's what caused the temperature to rise in the Philadelphia dressing room.

"This is jailed officiating," Waller fumed. "Philadelphia is the low man on the totem pole. Southern California, Chicago and a few other teams are endowed with more money so the officials put us down."

"They called one penalty they said was defensive clipping. It's a disgrace to our league. I'd rather not be here if I have to put up with this."

King Corcoran, the WFL passing leader who threw three TD passes, also got into the act, claiming, "I've seen better refereeing in the Atlantic Coast Football League. Let the WFL fine me. On one play, the referees were arguing with each other about the call."

Irate fans from the crowd of 14,600 in the City of Brotherly Love even chased referee Bob Cooper and the

Webster Resting, Attack Ruled Out

ELIZABETH, N.J. (UPI)—Former New York Giants football coach Alex Webster has been told by doctors to rest in a hospital in Philadelphia.

Webster, who resigned as coach in 1973, played with the Giants from 1955 to 1964.

Webster, 44, was told Wednesday he should remain in the intensive care unit of St. Elizabeth Hospital although a hospital spokesman said Webster was not in serious condition.

Webster, of Sea Girl, N.J., entered the hospital Tuesday after suffering chest pains but doctors denied Webster had suffered a heart attack.

"He's in the intensive care unit so he can get the attention and rest he needs and to keep the visitors away," said Dorothy Shea, an assistant nurse.

"Those are the guys who really know the story. Like I remember Gerry getting up at a meeting and saying, 'Super Bowl and vowing that we'd win the damned thing despite Weeb. And he treated George like a little boy and George Weeb got up and quit. He got rid of a lot of other good people, too.'"

NBA Talks Held Today

DETROIT (UPI)—Official approval of the sale of the Detroit Pistons to a possible expansion of the playoffs to 10 teams are the main topics today at a special meeting of the National Basketball Association Board of Governors.

Commissioner Walter Kennedy of the NBA has scheduled an afternoon news conference to announce the board's action following the special session.

The NBA Board of Governors is expected to give its approval to the sale of the Pistons earlier this month. Fred Zollner, one of the NBA's founders, said his team's expansion group headed by Detroit-area industrialist William M. Vadsion.

Karen and Rusty Herbert Do Well in Kayak Races

Dominating the men's intermediate kayak 1,000-meter class at Salt Fork, Ohio, recently was Rusty Herbert of Manchester, Conn. He teamed with Shawn Sullivan of New York to top the doubles event.

During three days of racing, he defeated several members of the 1972 Olympic team and several past national champions.

Rusty's sister, Karen Herbert, a recent convert from swimming and only paddling for three months, did almost as well as playing second in the women's doubles kayak with her partner Bonnie Lockie of Niles, Mich. Miss Herbert placed third in the women's 500-meter individual race.

Rusty and Karen teamed up in the final 500-meter race and placed fifth in the field of nine finalists which included the past national and Olympic champions.

The Herberts will continue training for the U.S. team trials for the World Championships early next summer.

Pat Torza Fourth In Links Tourney

Wendy Ehrlich of Ellington Ridge Country Club fired a second round 87 to go with her opening 85 for a 172 total while farther down the list are Pat McKee of MCC with a 184 and Nancy Narkon with a 187 total.

The final round will be played today.

Bradshaw Hurt

LATROBE, Pa. (UPI)—The Pittsburgh Steelers conclude a two-day work sessions today, minus wide receiver Chuck Dries and concussed over the throwing arm of quarterback Terry Bradshaw.

Bob Davis threw 20 yards to Greg Latta for a TD and then passed to Latta for the action point as Florida beat the Storm before 15,451 in Orlando. Ken Johnson brought winless Portland to within a point with an one-yard TD but Les Perry's 24-yard field goal won it for Florida and kept the Blazers a game ahead of New York in the East.

Junior Women Sponsor 'Get to Know You' Tea

VERNON The Junior Women's Club will sponsor a "get to know you" tea Tuesday at 7:45 p.m. in the Edith Peck room of the Rockville Public Library for club members and women who may be interested in joining the club.

Any woman aged 18-40, living in Vernon, Poland or Ellington is eligible to join the club. Several new projects are being considered for this year. One of them is a "New Mother's Tea," sponsored by the home-life committee of the club.

For this event it is planned to have a nurse from the Rockville Public Health Nursing Association on hand to answer any questions the new mothers may have.

An amateur art show is planned for September and in November the club will sponsor a bloodmobile program. Also planned for the fall is a scholarship fund-raising dance and the health committee will be doing extensive work with the area senior citizens.

Those planning to attend the Tuesday tea are asked to call Mrs. Robert Smith at 978-0909. Benefit Dance The Nutmeg Village Country Club in Vernon, the social club of the Vernon Nutmeg Village apartment complex, is planning another in a series of fund-raising dances to benefit the club.

More Residents Complain About Parker St. Traffic

Another petition regarding Parker St. traffic (doubled since July 5, when Woodbridge St. traffic was rerouted to Parker St. because of the collapse of the bridge over Bigelow Brook) has been delivered to Police Chief James Reardon.

Signed by 17 residents of Parker St. from Green Rd. to E. Middle Tpke., and circulated by Mrs. Francis Wetherell, of 343 Parker St., it requests that "the Traffic Authority of Manchester take immediate steps to enforce the posted speed limit (25 miles per hour)" on that portion of the street.

The petition follows on the heels of one signed by 22 other residents of Parker St. and delivered to town officials Tuesday.

The latest petition reads, "The greatly increased traffic since the closing of Woodbridge St. has caused air and noise pollution, continuous annoyance and great hazard to pedestrians, bicyclists and other motorists in this neighborhood."

Bids were opened Wednesday for a new Woodbridge St. bridge, with the apparent low bid just under $50,000. Town Manager Robert Weiss has estimated a new bridge could be in by early October. The Board of Directors will consider an appropriation at its Sept. 3 meeting.

Smoke's Fate Up to Senate

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Only action by the full Senate stands between Smokey Bear, now in deteriorating health at the National Zoo, and his eventual return to his New Mexico home.

The Senate Agriculture Committee Wednesday approved a resolution to return Smokey Bear to his native Capitol Mountains of New Mexico after his death. A similar resolution already has been approved by the House.

The black bear, symbol of campaigns against forest fires, was found by firefighters suffering from a forest fire nearly 24 years ago in the Capitol Mountains.

Youth Pleads Innocent in Rham Bomb Case

Robert Cranfield, 18, of Marlborough pleaded innocent to charges of first-degree arson and conspiracy in Tolland County Superior Court Wednesday. His name was assigned to the jury trial list but no trial date has been set.

Cranfield, and three other youths, were charged in connection with the June 25 bomb incident at Rham High School in Hebron in which one student suffered minor injuries. The incident happened two days before graduation. All four accused were graduated but were not allowed to attend the ceremonies.

Eugene Turner, 18, of R. 6, Andover, who had the same charges placed against him, pleaded innocent previously and is also awaiting trial.

Two others, James Ellis, 18, of Hope Valley Rd. and David Politer, 17, of R. 16, both of Hebron, arrested on the same charges, had their cases continued to Sept. 3 in Superior Court.

Hospital Shelled

SAIGON — Communist gunners shelled a military hospital today in a district town 30 miles northwest of Saigon, field officers said today. Nearly two battalions of militiamen were fighting to free another company at Suoi Cao outpost. The company has been surrounded by Communist troops for the past two days, the officers reported.

'Sorry and Afraid'

DETROIT — Rudolph Acosta says he's sorry and afraid — sorry a 12-year-old girl died in a hail of bullets intended for a hired assassin and afraid outraged citizens may try to lynch him.

Acosta, 24, surrendered to authorities in Detroit Wednesday on a murder charge demanded by angry citizens of nearby Highland Park, where the shooting occurred.

WASHINGTON — Mrs. Nelson Rockefeller makes her first appearance in Washington today since the nomination of her husband to be vice president Tuesday. "Happy" Rockefeller, whom her husband said was not "presentable" enough to make the trip Tuesday, was to be Betty Ford's guest at a White House luncheon.

Plenty for Pets

WASHINGTON — Despite the summer's drought, there'll be enough grain on hand through the coming year to feed dogs and cats, says Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz. Butz got a flood of irritated letters earlier this month when he said that if critics who wanted Americans to eat less meat in order to save grain were really serious, they could save large amounts of grain by eliminating half of the country's 32 million dogs, 22 million cats and 8 million horses and mules.

Accused of Bias

BUCHAREST — Feminists accused the U.N.-sponsored World Population Conference today of "incomprehensible" bias and demanded a greater say in drafting plans to limit the earth's inhabitants.

Author Betty Friedan said the United Nations organized the conference "over the prone body of woman." Writer Germaine Greer said the delegates treated women as mere baby factories.

School Aid Lost

HARTFORD — A new federal financing formula may reduce the share of financial aid for education of disadvantaged children in Connecticut's largest cities. State Education Commissioner Mark R. VFW Still Against Amnesty

CHICAGO (UPI) — Despite pleas from President Ford and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., the Veterans of Foreign Wars convention has reaffirmed its unswerving opposition to any form of amnesty for those who refused to serve in Vietnam.

Angered veterans stood and shouted "No! No! No!" Wednesday when Kennedy asked if they had "faith enough to be generous and the strength to be, as he (Ford) said, lenient."

Kennedy called on the veterans to be "large enough, courageous enough, to heed the call of a man who sought your support. On this issue, he deserves it."

But a few hours after Kennedy's speech, delegates to the convention passed a motion by Pat Bohner, a Vietnam veteran from Minneapolis, Minn., reaffirming the group's "total" opposition to any form of amnesty.

Departing from his prepared text, Kennedy had scolded the veterans' group for its passage Tuesday of resolutions opposing amnesty. That action followed by one day Ford's speech to the convention calling for some form of amnesty to allow Vietnam war expatriates to work their way back into their country.

"It was these basic virtues that he placed before you," Kennedy said in a news conference prior to his speech. Kennedy said he thought Ford had been "excellent" in his first week as President.

Kennedy said that, if Ford could deal effectively with inflation, "he would be extremely formidable for anyone to unseat" in 1976.

Prisoners Going Free

HARTFORD (UPI) — About 120 prisoners at facilities across the state are going free today and Friday because of a ruling by Superior Court Judge Leo Parsky in a case earlier this year.

Parsky ruled that Circuit Courts in the state cannot impose a sentence of more than one year. His ruling, upheld by the state Supreme Court, nullified an act by the legislature giving Circuit Courts the power to give sentences up to five years.

As a result, nearly 200 writs of habeas corpus were granted Wednesday by Superior Court Judge Walter J. Sidor and Circuit Court Judge Nicholas F. Armentano.

Motions from 198 prisoners claimed they were being held illegally under sentences imposed by Circuit Courts prior to the ruling. Nearly 90 men will not be freed immediately, however, because of such problems as parole violations, other warrants lodged against them and possible mental problems. Court personnel said the rest would be freed as soon as paperwork is finished.

Voters Table Ordinances On Excavating, Insurance

ANDOVER Donna Holland About 35 residents attended a Town Meeting in Andover Wednesday at which all but two items on the agenda were unanimously approved. James Hohmann III was moderator.

Action was tabled on an ordinance prohibiting excavation on any town road or right of way without first obtaining a permit from the first selectman. Residents felt they would like more time to study the ordinance.

Although voters approved rescinding action taken at the annual budget meeting in 1962 prohibiting an insurance agent or any member of his household from serving on the town insurance committee, they tabled action on an ordinance providing that no member of the insurance commission or their family shall gain any financial benefit from the purchase of insurance by the town.

Residents again felt they would like more time to study the ordinance. Residents unanimously approved the following appropriations to the 1975-1974 budget: highways general, $1,311, social, security, hospital insurance, retirement.

Electors unanimously approved appropriating a $3,500 for a dump truck. The total amount needed for the year would be $13,600. It will be paid for by revenue sharing funds. The initial amount was approved at a Town Meeting earlier in the year.

Residents authorized the first selectman to enter into the Multi-Jurisdictional Prime Sponsor Agreement for Comprehensive Manpower Programs for Hartford Labor Market Area and Capitol Region State of Connecticut under Comprehensive Employment and Training Act of 1973.

10 days of work substitutes will receive $40. Dr. David Cattanch, superintendent, reported that he has been opening the school custodian weekly concerning building and grounds maintenance.

He said the building is in good shape and the custodial staff is doing a good job.

Someone Shoots Minister's Poodle

TUPPINS, the 17-year-old, white, miniature poodle owned by the Rev. Michael Ricci of 652 N. Main St., was found Monday at 3:30 p.m. in the middle of the road in front of the pastor's house — shot.

A couple passing by saw the dead dog. They picked it up and off the road. Neighbors told they belonged to the minister who is associated with the Assembly of God church on E. Middle Tpke. The couple left the dog at Pastor Ricci's house telling his mother they thought it had been hit by a car in the road.

The minister was not surprised the dog was dead. It was almost blind, could hardly bark, and was on medication. The vet had told him the dog was on "overtime" and that most miniature poodles last no more than age 16 at most.

But Tuppins was not in pain. Besides, the parishioners of Pastor Ricci's first church in England had given him Tuppins. Then and since, people referred to Tuppins as the "assistant pastor" wherever his owner went.

Young Long Hairs Form Top Painting Company

Story and Photos By Mal Barlow

"We got kinda bored and so we started painting houses in March, 1973," says Peter Belliveau, 21, president of the Belliveau Painting Co.

Peter now runs one of the most active painting firms in the Manchester area with nine employees and a steadily growing list of satisfied customers.

"We didn't plan out to be a company," said the easy-going part-time student at Manchester Community College.

Peter was born in Willimantic and lived in Coventry until age 4 when his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Belliveau of 142 Diana Dr., moved to Manchester. He has four sisters and a brother, 13, who has worked with him in the company.

Peter graduated from Manchester High School in 1971. "I used to want to be an architect," he said, explaining his first semester of college in the School of Architecture at the University of Miami.

Then he put in a semester at Manchester Community College.

With Greg Kelley, 20, he went on a cross-country trip of 13,000 miles in four months. They stopped in Colorado, Washington and finally in Santa Ana, Calif. where they stayed seven weeks.

"They paid their way with Manpower jobs, and super-market jobs," Greg stated in Santa Ana when Peter came home.

The First House
He has back in MCC again when he got bored. His mother works at the high school and knew a teacher who had a house that needed painting. It was at 89 Doane St.

He and Keith Merrill, 20, thought they got as good a job as any and went ahead.

"There was no scraping on that house than I ever did," recalls Peter.

But he is proud to point it out as his first, and gives it as a reference to prospective customers.

The Real Start
His second job that March pushed Peter into forming a serious company.

The Blanchard & Rossetto Realtors of 189 W. Center St. asked him to paint their office on the corner of McKee and W. Center Sts. It was an older home, it needed much repair, and the firm wanted a clean, stunning house for their business.

Apparently they got what they wanted.

"That's what got me started," Peter says. "They gave me so many referrals that Robert Blanchard explained why: "We were very well satisfied. We've given Peter many, many jobs over the months. Everyone we referred to Peter has been happy. He's saved people money and still gave them a good job."

Peter Belliveau

By this time, the Belliveau firm had five employees. They were Peter, Keith, Jim Budge, 23, Rob Bickford, 20, and Greg who had returned from Santa Ana.

They did a church and some older homes in the center of Manchester. They did a long string of single-family homes.

Peter's sister, Mrs. Lorraine Bycholski, knew Peter needed more help last October and urged him to give a "kid" a job.

The kid became the oldest member of the company, Mark Palmer, 27. Mark, often called Kelly which causes much confusion, has been an art student.

He's like my most steady man," Peter said. "I can leave him and he's not going to mess it up on me."

The Cape Cod Pro
Jim Budge worked for painters on Cape Cod where the weather is had on wood homes, the painting is frequent per house and the customers demanding.

"He taught us all the tricks," Peter said.

Jim does things the "right" way. He knew how to use different tools to get the most out of time and paint.

Jim urged Peter to buy the company a spinner. Peter would not. Finally he broke down and got a spinner. All it does is spin the brushes after they have been washed in turpentine. But it keeps the brushes usable much longer and has saved cleanup time, Peter said. They do not know what they would do without their spinner.

Either Jim or Peter is in charge of the many jobs they do. Despite their youth they claim very little friction.

Jim graduated from MHS in 1970 and has been going to MCC part time since.

"Other tricks" Jim uses are to buy five gallon cans of paint instead of gallon cans. And, when roll painting, use the staff of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Despite Kissinger's assertion that the State Department validated Holt's passport only reluctantly for his Cuban trip, the thought persisted that Kissinger's department had in effect against the Communist Cuba of Fidel Castro. Since 1964 the declared policy of the Organization of American States has been to isolate Cuba, diplomatically and economically.

Now, however, the United States finds itself close to a minority position in the OAS and, as a policy matter, risking the same isolation it sought to impose on Cuba.

Despite denials by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, a shift in the U.S. position seems probable.

Rightly or wrongly, strong impetus to such speculation came from the visit to Cuba last July by Pat M. Holt, chief of

"He taught us all the tricks," Peter said.

Jim does things the "right" way. He knew how to use different tools to get the most out of time and paint.

Jim urged Peter to buy the company a spinner. Peter would not. Finally he broke down and got a spinner. All it does is spin the brushes after they have been washed in turpentine. But it keeps the brushes usable much longer and has saved cleanup time, Peter said. They do not know what they would do without their spinner.

Either Jim or Peter is in charge of the many jobs they do. Despite their youth they claim very little friction.

Jim graduated from MHS in 1970 and has been going to MCC part time since.

"Other tricks" Jim uses are to buy five gallon cans of paint instead of gallon cans. And, when roll painting, use the

Despite Kissinger's assertion that the State Department validated Holt's passport only reluctantly for his Cuban trip, the thought persisted that Kissinger's department had in effect against the Communist Cuba of Fidel Castro. Since 1964 the declared policy of the Organization of American States has been to isolate Cuba, diplomatically and economically.

Now, however, the United States finds itself close to a minority position in the OAS and, as a policy matter, risking the same isolation it sought to impose on Cuba.

Despite denials by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, a shift in the U.S. position seems probable.

Rightly or wrongly, strong impetus to such speculation came from the visit to Cuba last July by Pat M. Holt, chief of bigger can to dip the roller. He puts a screen over the "five" instead of using a tray.

Low Prices
"Our prices weren't high in the beginning," Peter said. "But they got higher as we learned more about painting."

Their volume of paint consumption is high, but they now have most of it trucked to their home.

"But we still use local paint dealers as well," he said.

"Am I making money? It's hard to say. I'm making a living," Peter said.

"Our prices have been going up. But they are still very reasonable."

When giving an estimate, Peter said, "People don't take a big view of me. They've heard about me."

"I usually wear what I have on, usually painting clothes. I drive up on my motorcycle."

"I breeze up to Pratt & Whitney Aircraft that way. I wore a T-shirt so they could pin the visitor badge on me."

Jim, who came to help me bid, had to pin the badge onto his chest hairs. It must have hurt."

Present Staff
There are now seven painters and two wallpaper men in the Belliveau company.

They are Jim, Keith, Mark, Doug Spaeth, 20, Rob, Rick Panchak, 20, and Peter as painters. Greg taught himself how to hang paper and then taught his younger brother, Brian.

Rick, Doug, Keith, Jim and Mark are all painters and have taken courses at MCC. Most are continuing their studies of both art and other subjects at MCC.

Mark is also a photographer. He is also the secretary of the company. His wife, Eileen, has worked for the company a few times.

Another young woman, Wendy Morrison, has also worked on some of the jobs. She is a friend of Peter's.

All the members of the company are Manchester youths. Most are attending, did attend, or plan to attend MCC full or part time.

The men have gotten quick and sure on even the biggest jobs. It only takes them a few days to complete an outside job.

"I am the boss," Peter said. "They all know that."

"Painters are known for being drinking. But I say, 'If I can wait till the end of the day, you can wait till the end of the night.'"

"They're good workers. When I'm not around and the customer comes in, they very seldom see anything wrong. I get a lot of compliments on them."

The House
"It was the worst looking house we ever worked on," Peter said of his present home. "There were holes in the walls

Most accomplished painters refer prospective customers to past jobs. Peter has reached that point. His firm has done over 100 jobs of all types and sizes in the area.

Peter gave a long list of happy customers. We contacted several of them and they are pleased with Peter's work.

"I'm very satisfied," Robert Blanchard of Blanchard & Rossetto Realtors on W. Center St. said. "We recommend him highly. He gets there when he says he'll be there. He's very clean."

"We are still very pleased with Peter's work," said Mrs. Donald E. Harrison of 45 Francis Dr. "He did our dining room, living room, upstairs hall and papered the kitchen and painted the cabinets."

"Peter notes modestly that the Harrison house "came out really great."

"He did wonderful, lovely work and we were very pleased with it," said Mrs. Herman D. Gates of Highland St. "He did the living room, kitchen, the halls and will do the bedrooms next."

"It was so hard to get anyone to do it. Peter comes when we want him. He's very good and very kind. We couldn't say but the best about him."

Finally, there is the attitude of Castro himself who sees a gradual thaw in Cuban-U.S. relations, beginning with trade and tourism. There is speculation he would like to rid himself of his present total reliance on the Soviet Union.

Actively supporting the lifting of the embargo against Cuba has been President Luis Echeverria Alvarez of Mexico in a tour of seven Latin American nations and is willing to be the United States could find itself outvoted in the OAS 11 to 12.

Some of the company are busy painting an older home on Cooper Hill St. They are, from left, Peter Belliveau, Jim Budge, and Mark "Kelly" Palmer. Note the portable radio in the grass. They like to work by music.

Innovative Education Projects Stress Evaluation and Research

Evaluation and research are on the rise in projects that have been approved for funding with federal money marked for educational innovation.

Seven of 16 new projects in the state funded under Title III of the U.S. Elementary and Secondary Education Act are concerned with evaluation, research, or dissemination of information. The other nine deal with classroom and instructional innovation.

Projects include an educational data bank, follow-up study of women's opportunities in the Hartford area, a training program for school administrators, and a leadership program for gifted students.

One program — Project TIPS sponsored by the Capitol Region Education Council — is a cooperative program between public and nonpublic secondary schools.

Another 33 ESSEA Title III projects are in their second or third year.

Some highlights of other new projects: Educational Resources Center at the Area Cooperative Educational Services (ACES) in New Haven will expand the capability of its state and national computerized education data bank.

Diagnostic Pre-School, also at ACES, is a special education and identification service for area preschoolers.

The City Semester, in Hartford, will conduct a study to determine the feasibility of a residential program for independent school students from outlying suburbs.

A Little Love, also in Hartford, will help evaluate and improve special education services to Spanish speaking pupils.

— Career Awareness, another Hartford project, is designed to help middle school students explore career areas.

A follow-up study of recent female graduates of Hartford high schools will cover career and educational opportunities for women.

Parent Education, sponsored by the Capitol Region Education Council, will provide workshops and other programs for the parents of handicapped children.

— Project PLUS, in Regional District No. 13 (Durham, Middletown), will continue developing individualized instruction by setting up curriculum centers.

— Leadership Colloquia, sponsored by Project LEARN in Madison, is a program for gifted and talented students which will use political problems to develop creative thinking.

— Project USE is an intensive training program for administrative personnel in the West Haven school.

THE CANDIDATES ARE SAYING

Muriel Yacovone

State Rep. Muriel Yacovone, Dem., Ninth Assembly District, today expressed concern over the "increasing number of bicycle accidents in the past year-and-a-half," and said "it's time for an examination of the state's statutes pertaining to the use of bikes."

She said she has asked the General Assembly's transportation committee's chairman to place bicycle safety on the committee's agenda for its September meeting.

"Discussion of possible changes in the laws and the possibility of new legislation," she said.

Mrs. Yacovone

Mrs. Yacovone, "should be taken up now, in preparation for the January session of the legislature."

She said, "In the next session of the legislature, I will support mandatory registration of all bicycles and a mandatory program of bicycle-safety education for all elementary school children. At a time when bicycle use is rapidly increasing as a healthful pastime and as a means for cutting down on the use of cars, we must take action to prevent loss of life and serious injury to bicycle riders."

No-Growth Economy Seen Despite Federal Acts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A respected economist says the United States is in for at least another year and a half of recession, inflation and unemployment — no matter what the government tries to do about it.

Testifying before the new Senate Budget Committee Thursday, F. Gerald Adams of the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School of Finance and Commerce forecast a no-growth U.S. economy whether or not Congress took President Ford's advice and cut federal spending by $10 billion.

Spending Cut
The spending cut might reduce the projected 1975 inflation rate from 8.2 per cent to 7.7 per cent, Adams said. But it also would produce an unemployment rate of 6.7 per cent instead of 6.3 per cent.

Currently unemployment is running at about 6.3 per cent of the civilian work force. And Adams forecast a 1974 inflation rate averaging out at about 10 per cent.

His gloomy forecast came against a gloomy background of economic developments.

GNP Declines
The Commerce Department reported the Gross National Product dropped during the second quarter of this year by 0.8 per cent.

This was far less severe than the 7 per cent drop of the first quarter, caused partially by the energy shortage. Two straight quarterly GNP declines is the classical definition of a recession.

The Dow Jones Industrial Average continued its descent, closing Thursday at 704.79, down 6.80 points. It fell below the 700 level for the first time in more than four years.

Gasoline Tax
The White House said the Ford administration had under study "along with many, many other things" a 10-cent-a-gallon increase in federal gasoline taxes with the revenue — perhaps $10 billion — used to offset a cut in personal income taxes for the poor.

Manfield said he would support proposals in the bill, "said Jerald terHorst, Ford's press secretary."

Kuwait and Venezuela announced they were cutting back oil production because they said overcapacity was pushing prices down. Kuwait, currently producing 2.55 million barrels a day, already had cut back but will lower production even more to keep prices high, the Arab country's oil minister said.

Pension Bill Signed
Congress completed action and sent to departments and agencies — a Nixon innovation — as part of his transformed operation.

Other Suggestions
He also apparently intends to go along with the suggestion of his transition that advisers on national security, budget, domestic policy, the economy, personnel and his legal counsel have equal status and access to the President.

Ford also is expected to reduce the White House staff substantially.

A 46-minute medical checkup in the morning. His personal physician, William Laksh, concluded he was "in excellent health and fully capable of meeting all physical demands and mental stresses of the presidency."

His only advice to Ford was to lose six pounds — get down to 196 — by football season.

On Manchester Teaching Contracts Arbitration Board Decision Expected Early Next Week

By DOUG BEVINS
An arbitration decision on the contract dispute between the Manchester Education Association (MEA) and the Board of Education is expected to be released early next week, Asst. School Superintendent Wilson E. Deakin Jr. said today.

A three-member arbitration panel, which heard arguments from both sides in two lengthy sessions a month ago, has reportedly reached agreement on all issues except the fully costed economic package, Deakin said.

"The arbitrators are still trying to get a unanimous award," Deakin said, explaining that he understands that the MEA rejects the arbitration award, negotiations will have to be reopened.

Negotiations for a new teacher contract started last January and ended unsuccessfully in May. The dispute went before state mediators, who decided that arbitration was necessary.

If either the Board of Education or the MEA rejects the arbitration award, negotiations will have to be reopened.

Negotiations for a new teacher contract started last January and ended unsuccessfully in May. The dispute went before state mediators, who decided that arbitration was necessary.

Other Issues
Among non-economic issues to be decided over the arbitrators are a teacher layoff procedure, teacher participation in decision-making, and policies dealing with leaves of absence, extracurricular activities, teaching facilities, and negotiating procedures.

The panel of arbitrators consists of an MEA appointee, a school board appointee, and a neutral arbitrator agreed to by both parties. They are, respectively, Atty. Michael Boyle, a member of the Hartford law firm of Gould, Killian & Krechevsky; Neil Macy, administrator of employee-employer relations for the Hartford Board of Education; and Peter Adomet, associate professor of law at the University of Connecticut, Hartford branch.

Old Newspaper Pickup Program in the Black

The first five weeks of Manchester's newspaper pickup program (July 1 through Aug. 2) yielded 67,666 tons, or about 13.5 tons per week. Director of Public Works Lydall & Foulds for the expense of transporting the newspaper from Manchester to Rockville Scrap.

That amount, he said, is about double necessary to reach the break-even point. He added, however, that incomplete figures show the pickup during the three weeks since Aug. 2 have averaged about 7.5 tons per week.

Giles explained that Sanitary Refuse is being used to pick up paper at the three weeks since Aug. 2 have averaged about 7.5 tons per week.

Price Computed Quarterly
Lydall & Foulds, on a quarterly basis, computes the average market value of the baled paper (averaged between New York and Boston prices), subtracts from that what it paid for baling and for transportation, and applies the net amount to the debt the town owes it.

At the present net gain to the town of $13.47 per ton, Giles said, at 7.14 tons per week must be picked up.

In the 18 months since the agreement, $1,147.57 has gone toward retiring the loan — leaving the balance $11,853.43. In addition, under the same agreement, Lydall & Foulds contributed $76 to the Conservation Commission.

Ford Helping GOP Candidates

By HELEN THOMAS
UPI White House Reporter
WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford is unable to campaign personally for Republican candidates, but he is trying to give them all the help he can.

Before Congress began an extended Labor Day recess Thursday, Ford took time to pose for separate photographs with 135 GOP congressmen who will be on the campaign trail during the next few weeks.

Two days ago, Ford presided over a Farm Family of the Year and representatives of senior citizens' organizations among other groups.

While Congress is away, Ford was expected to begin restructuring his administration.

Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton has said that Ford has agreed to curtail the authority of the Office of Management and Budget over the policies of federal departments and agencies — a Nixon innovation — as part of his transformed operation.

Other Suggestions
He also apparently intends to go along with the suggestion of his transition that advisers on national security, budget, domestic policy, the economy, personnel and his legal counsel have equal status and access to the President.

Ford also is expected to reduce the White House staff substantially.

A 46-minute medical checkup in the morning. His personal physician, William Laksh, concluded he was "in excellent health and fully capable of meeting all physical demands and mental stresses of the presidency."

His only advice to Ford was to lose six pounds — get down to 196 — by football season.

Manfield said he would support proposals in the bill, "said Jerald terHorst, Ford's press secretary."

Kuwait and Venezuela announced they were cutting back oil production because they said overcapacity was pushing prices down. Kuwait, currently producing 2.55 million barrels a day, already had cut back but will lower production even more to keep prices high, the Arab country's oil minister said.

Bank Bandits End Up Empty-Handed

NEEDHAM, Mass. (UPI) — Two masked bandits held the wife and baby of a bank manager as hostages while they emptied the safe of money, but they were foiled when a workman came across the scene.

Manfield said he would support proposals in the bill, "said Jerald terHorst, Ford's press secretary."

Judiciary Committee Closes Nixon Case

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The case of Richard M. Nixon is closed for as far as the House Judiciary Committee is concerned, with every member concluding that he should have been impeached if he had not become the first president in history to resign.

The committee's final report was released Thursday. The 525-page document with a dinky tan cover is historic. It is the result of the first presidential impeachment inquiry held in 107 years. It accuses Nixon of lying, violating laws and subverting the Constitution.

About half of it was written by the chairman, Rep. Peter W. Rodino, D-N.J., and the staff counsel, John M. Dear. Even stronger language is in the "supplemental views" of individual members and groups.

Evidence Overwhelming
"The evidence is overwhelming that Richard Nixon has used the office of President to gain political advantage, to retaliate against those who disagreed with him and to acquire personal wealth," concluded 11 liberal Democrats.

The ranking Republican, Rep. Edward Hutchinson of Michigan, widely offered a defense.

"History," he said, "will deal more kindly with Richard Nixon than did his contemporaries." As the Watergate affair moves into the past it may be seen for what a little thing a President was forced to resign from office when compared with the accomplishments of his administration.

Cover-Up
But even Hutchinson said Nixon had been involved in the Watergate cover-up. A legal case for obstruction of justice was
