Jim Horvath Was Noted For Role in Athletics

James E. Horvath Jr., 56, of 36 Proctor Rd., one of New England's top football officials died Thursday at his home. He was the husband of Mrs. Rika Carlson Horvath.

James Horvath Jr.

Mr. Horvath officiated at many high school and college football games and at high school basketball and baseball games in New England for 25 years. He was a past president of the Central Connecticut Association of Approved Football Officials, and Local Board 6 of the Connecticut State Basketball Officials. He also was a past president and retired honorary member of the International Association of Basketball Officials.

He belonged to the New England International Collegiate Football Officials Association, Manchester Chapter of the Connecticut State Board of Approved Football Officials, and the Connecticut State Board of Approved Football Officials.

A member of Manchester Country Club, he won its senior golf title in 1969 and 1970. In 1971, he and his son, Leonard Horvath of Manchester, won the club's father-son golf title.

Mr. Horvath was born March 31, 1918, in Manchester, son of the late James Sr. and Rose Miner Horvath, and had lived here all his life. A graduate of Manchester High School, he played football and basketball at the school and was captain of the basketball team. He also graduated from Cushing Academy and attended the University of Vermont.

He was an Air Force veteran of World War II, and had been employed as a manufacturer's representative by Kraser Inc.

Dry Weather Threatens Regions Forested Areas POLICE REPORT

By PETER A. BROWN United Press International A prolonged drought that devastated grain belt crops earlier this summer is still evident in New England where the danger to agriculture apparently is being overshadowed by the threat of massive forest fires.

Except for mountain areas of Vermont and New Hampshire, forestry officials around the region appear ready to ask local natives for instructions in rain-dancing.

Patrick Counihan, 27, of Middletown was arrested Thursday on a warrant issued by Circuit Court 12 charging him with disorderly conduct in connection with the investigation of an incident that took place in Vernon May 15. He was released on a $100 non-surety bond for appearance in Circuit Court 12, East Hartford Sept. 17.

South Windsor Police are investigating a complaint from Dana Kelly of 94 Pleasant Valley Rd. who said her car was entered by breaking a window and some 20 tapes removed.

Richard J. Ward Jr., 40, of 228 Ellington Rd., South Windsor was arrested Thursday on a warrant issued by Circuit Court 12 charging him with liquor to a minor.

Police said the accident involving a Vernon Police cruiser driven by Officer Clark Fisher and a car driven by Anthony Pelli, 48, of Grove St., Rockville, under investigation by Vernon Police.

Records in the Manchester assessor's office show that the empty building at 81-821 Main St., last occupied by the W. T. Grant Co., is about 64 years old, and not 72, as reported in Thursday's Herald.

Records show 1910 as the year the original building was constructed, with a 7,700-square-foot addition to the rear of it in 1950.

First Woman Police Patrol Officer Named

By DOUG BEVINS A part, 21-year-old brunette who has been a town employe for four years is among five persons appointed patrol officers with the Manchester Police Department, Chief James M. Reardon has announced.

Audrey Paradis, 21, of Middle Tpk., will join the force Sept. 8 to become Manchester's first woman officer assigned regular on-the-street patrol duties.

Since May, 1970, she has been a clerk-stenographer in the office of Town Manager Robert B. Weiss.

Robert W. Johnson, 26, of 540 Waterbury St., a graduate of Manchester Community College, effective Sept. 8.

Michael S. Swetes, 23, of 45 Wadell Heights Dr., effective Nov. 3. Swetes holds a BA degree in biology from the University of Connecticut and is attending law enforcement courses at Manchester Community College.

Steven J. Novak, 22, of 15 West St., a Manchester Community College graduate, effective Nov. 3.

Thomas H. Holton, 24, of Springfield, Mass., effective Nov. 3. He will be attending Manchester Community College this fall.

All five appointees will undergo an intensive, 400-hour training program at the Municipal Police Training Academy, Meriden. Miss Paradis and Johnson will go to the school Sept. 9, and the other three will start training Nov. 4.

Miss Paradis, a native of Maine, has lived in Manchester five years. "It's what I've always wanted to do: Police work on the patrol level," Miss Paradis said.

The violence, most of which took place in front of the jury, came at the federal trial of American Indian Movement leaders Dennis Banks and Russell Means, charged with five felonies each in last year's takeover at Wounded Knee, S.D., on the Pine Ridge Indian Reservation.

Laughter Ice Rescue Judge Kunster was questioning Louis Moves Camp, 23, a former ADM member who has turned witness for the prosecution, when the laughter occurred.

Nation's Economic Woes Increasing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's economic woes mounted on several fronts Friday, and aides say President Ford is taking his first step to a strategy to fight back.

He takes his first step today, signing the bill he requested to set up a wage-price task force. It will have less power than the Cost of Living Council that expired April 30. It is expected to monitor wage and price increases, reducing them by "jawboning" if they turn out to be inflationary.

Many Promises Ahead Friday's events give an indication of the troubles Ford is up against. They included: —A stock market that was lower than at any time in more than four years.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks closed at 688.80, the first time it closed below 700 since July 9, 1970. It dropped nearly 18 points, the steepest plunge since May 29 of this year.

The Agriculture Department predicted retail food costs will go up as much as 5 per cent during the second half of 1974. Its food situation summary said retail food prices for 1974 would be about 15 per cent higher than last year—the highest jump in 28 years.

Predictions for 1975, in which meat prices are expected to go up even more, will be offered next week. Auto Sales Off —Automakers reported mid-August sales were off 8.1 per cent from record sales in August 1973. More than 5 million cars have been sold so far this year, a 2.9 per cent reduction from the record 6.4 million sold last year.

Pan American Airways, the nation's largest overseas airline, petitioned the government for $50 million in cash and an emergency subsidy, $10 million a month, to help it survive increasing fuel costs, shrinking passenger business and increased competition. Pan Am said it had lost $33 million in the first half of 1973 and expected to lose $76.6 million in debt for the year.

A group of senior citizens met with Ford, telling him of the problems of living on fixed incomes with rampant inflation and trying to find proper health care. James Cavanaugh, a presidential assistant, said Ford assured them he would try to find proper health care.

Ford called a meeting in late September or early October, of government and economic experts and possibly business and labor leaders for a "summit" to discuss ways of fighting inflation.

Combined Effort Planned The President, terlfort said, "wants to put together a package of proposals and hopefully stem the inflationary tendency and help the (stock) market, ease high rates of interest and generally return the (United States) to economic stability."

But, terlfort said, Ford plans to delay any public announcements until after the meeting. "He doesn't intend to act in cowboy fashion, running down the middle of the street and shooting at both sides without picking his targets."

Soviet-Suggested Cyprus Conclave To Be Ignored

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite Greece's acceptance of the Soviet Union's call for a high-level international conference on Cyprus, the United States and Britain are expected to disregard it, diplomatic sources said today.

The sources said that the two trans-Atlantic allies regarded the Soviet conference call as a move to take advantage of the chaotic Cyprus situation and possibly gain a foothold on the war-torn island.

It's really a case of fishing in troubled waters. There is no need for the Soviet Union to become involved in the Cyprus situation," the sources said.

The sources regarded the Greek acceptance of the Soviet proposal — and Athens' rejection of U.S. and British offers to resume Greek-Turkish peace talks in Geneva — as a pressure tactic against Britain and the United States.

Britain, with the concurrence of the United States, has been arguing that Turkey is plunging itself into a Vietnam-like morass in Cyprus whose terrain is perfectly suited to anti-Turkish guerrilla warfare.

They are cautiously optimistic that we can get the talks resumed early this coming week, but you can never be sure," said one British diplomat. "That could slip, and the breakthrough might come towards the end of the week."

But, terlfort said, Ford plans to delay any public announcements until after the meeting. "He doesn't intend to act in cowboy fashion, running down the middle of the street and shooting at both sides without picking his targets."

Two ground-breaking ceremonies were held in the rain Friday for renovations and additions to Iling and Bennett Junior High Schools, under a $5.6-million appropriation approved last November in referendum. In top photo at Iling, Paul Phillips, chairman of Manchester's building committee, turns the first spadeful. Under the umbrellas in the rear is John Mrozek, student representative on the Board of Education. Looking on from the right are: Mayor John Thompson; Arnold Lawrence and Richard Lawrence, architects; Ray Adler, contractor; Frank Starnier and Robert Keniff, building committee members; Mrs. Alan Krupp, representing the Citizens' Advisory Committee; Allan Thomas, chairman of the school board; Thomas Werkhoven, building committee member, Superintendent of Schools James Kennedy; and Fred Bronn, school board member. In bottom photo at Bennett, the first spadeful was turned by Kennedy, Thomas and Mrs. Krupp, with most of the same people looking on. NEW BRITAIN — Rep. James H. Brannen, R-Colchester, a black and Republican nominee for U.S. Senate, is calling for school children to achieve racial integration a "means of decentralizing poor quality education."

Brannen Friday praised the new federal school aid bill signed by President Ford this week as restoring "common sense to this nation's commitment to public education."

The bill contains almost no provisions for busing to achieve racial integration in schools.

Two Attorneys Jailed After Courtroom Brawl

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI) — Two defense attorneys in the 7-1/2-month-old Wounded Knee trial were jailed Friday after a brawl in which federal marshals used MACE to disable several spectators and remove them from the courtroom.

Tensions exploded in the lengthy trial during questioning of a government rebuttal witness by attorney William Kunster. When one of Kunster's questions prompted laughter from some spectators, the federal judge ordered marshals to lead the spectators out.

Several of them fought back and the marshals, sometimes five at a time, used MACE to remove them. One woman was dragged from the courtroom with her knees hauled on the ground.

The defense attorneys protested and were arrested for assaulting the judge.

During the removal efforts Kunster started to protest, but the judge said he didn't want any further comment and asked Kunster if he wanted to be thrown out of court, too.

The judge ordered U.S. marshals to take Kunster out of court under arrest. Another defense attorney, Mark Lane, said he was leaving the courtroom with Kunster. A marshal asked the judge if Lane also was to be placed under arrest, and the judge said to put him under arrest, too.

"I'm impressed with the manner in which Mr. Kunster conducted the cross-examination," the judge said.

NEW BRITAIN — American Shipbuilding company board chairman, George M. Steinbrenner, Friday pleaded guilty to conspiring to make illegal corporate donations to the political campaigns of former President Richard Nixon and several Democratic candidates.

Steinbrenner, part owner of the New York Yankees baseball team, also pleaded guilty to instructing his former employes to make false statements about the donations to the FBI and a grand jury. He is the 20th corporate official to admit his guilt in connection with Watergate-related prosecutions since October.

Rockefeller Holdings SEAL HARBOR, Maine — Vice presidential nominee Nelson A. Rockefeller said Friday he is confirmed by Congress he will make a public meeting of his financial holdings. He stopped short of promising a full disclosure. "I want to give out as much information as seems appropriate," the former governor of New York said.

Newton Wanted OAKLAND, Calif. — An arrest warrant was issued Friday for Black Panther colonel Huey Newton who failed to appear to answer charges he shot a teenage girl and pistol-whipped a tailor. Newton's lawyer, Charles Garry, said there was a possibility he had been killed. He said former Oakland Police Chief Charles Gain told him there was a $10,000 "contract" on Newton.

'South Pacific' in 25th Year

By JUNE TOMPKINS

Remember the musical show where the female lead "washed that man right out of her hair" every night? Remember the suave Frenchman who charmed the audiences with "Some Enchanted Evening"? Remember the sailors who lauded femininity by singing "There is Nothing Like a Dame"?

If you remember these and other memorable tunes and incidents, you recall the musical show that ran a number of Broadway appearances second only to "Oklahoma" — the Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein favorite — "South Pacific."

Why the recollection? The year 1974 marks the 25th anniversary of the musical play, and it is still going strong. "South Pacific" originally starring Metropolitan star Ezio Pinza and Mary Martin, and memorable not only for its beautiful and catchy songs, well-written book and talented performers, is just as pertinent today as it ever was. The musical, a story of love and life is also a gentle but firm indictment of racial prejudice.

The increasingly popular musical has played to audiences in Canada, London, Australia, Sweden, and Spain. Madrid's venerable Teatro de la Zarzuela offered it as "Al Sur del Pacifico" and it turned out to be, in the words of Time magazine, "the greatest hit in Spanish theatrical history."

Some interesting facts about "South Pacific":

- Opening led reviews in London in 1951. "South Pacific" received public backing to stay on 2 1/2 years, after which it went on to tour for an additional year and a half.
- Richard Rodgers completed the music for "Ball Ha'" within five minutes after Oscar Hammerstein gave him the lyrics, and he never changed a single note.
- "Happy Talk" was done in about 20 minutes. A messenger brought the lyrics to Rodgers while the latter was sick in bed with a cold. Less than half an hour later Hammerstein telephoned to inquire if Rodgers had received the verse.

NEWS FOR SENIOR CITIZENS

By WALLY FORTIN

This is Gloria again, pinching for my bossman Wally. This column almost wasn't going to be. Jan and I were talking about Rocky Point, when all of a sudden I realized that we would be there Thursday when the column was out to the Herald office, so we had to get the news out right away. So here it is.

Card Players
 Speaking of Wednesday, we started the morning off with eight seniors playing shuffleboard out on the courts, and indoors we had eight tables of pinocle players with the following winners:

Red Sox Game
 On Monday, Sept. 9, we will have registration for the Red Sox game. This trip will include busfare, a grinder for lunch, the reserved seat, and a big buffet dinner after the game. You get all of this for just $15 per person. Sounds like a great day to keep this day in mind, and we will remind you of it again a little later on.

I wish to remind the Senior Bowling League of the organizational meeting this Tuesday at 1 p.m. in the afternoon at the Parkade Lanes. If you are unable to attend, please call Bernice at the lanes and leave your name. So come on all you seniors and join up for some exercise and fun.

Two Reminders
 I have two reminders for you folks. If you are going to Goodspeed, please be at the Center no later than 10:15 a.m. I also want you to know that we are trying to fill a sixth bus for the Bear Mountain Park trip. We only need 17 more in order for this bus to go. So, if you have been thinking about going, come on in and sign up so we don't have to disappoint you or anyone.

Also for the ceramic class students, I regret that we won't be going to the ceramic show in Boston. The dates of the show are Sept. 13, 14, and 15. The day we would go would have been on Friday, and that is the day after going to Bear Mountain. I felt we would be too tired to get up the next day to go to Boston. I will be looking for another show later on, and will keep you posted.

No Schedule
 Now if this column seems short it is because we are winding down our activities so we can spruce the building up next week; therefore, there are no planned activities scheduled for this week. Those who would like to play shuffleboard are free to do so, and the office will be open for business as usual. There will be no bus running.

I also want to remind you again, be at the Center at 10 a.m., all you who are going to Goodspeed Opera House Wednesday. See you all there.

Manchester Evening Herald OPINION

Rockefeller's Wealth

There is in all of us a certain fascination about wealth, especially that possessed by those who have more of life's material things than we do.

So it isn't unexpected that much of the material written about vice president designate Nelson A. Rockefeller is centered around his wealth. We'd venture from what we have read that he is perhaps the richest man in the country.

This raises an interesting point. One of the major aspects of the hearings on his nomination will be an accounting of his wealth, taxes, etc.

The reason is that should he succeed as president or be given policymaking duties by President Ford, he could presumably enhance his wealth.

Now this has happened in our country in that many politicians throughout the years have used public office and information obtained through public office for private gain.

But generally speaking these persons who allowed themselves to be tempted and corrupted were not independently wealthy. On the contrary, the men who have served who were independently wealthy have been more than scrupulous in attempting to avoid any taint of self-serving or profiting by their office.

funds above and beyond those appropriated for operating their offices. This has been particularly true of major ambassadorial posts.

The point at hand is that the laws on conflict of interest were written because there have been those who took advantage of public service for personal profit.

We do not believe that anyone suspects or believes that Mr. Rockefeller would abuse his public trust in this manner for he literally has more money than he can prudently spend or give away. With his business interests and connections the chances are he would become privy to so-called "inside information" as a private citizen much sooner than he would as vice president.

But there can be no exception to the law and the House and Senate committees will be conducting an exhaustive study of his assets and will have to set up some procedure under which there can be reasonable assurances that there won't be any conflicts of interest.

That Mr. Rockefeller is willing to cooperate fully to his credit and it is our hope that the committees will keep in mind the purpose of their investigation is to resolve any potential conflicts of interest rather than satisfy the natural curiosity of more than 200 million Americans about Mr. Rockefeller's wealth.

Bike Stolen From Police Garage

To the editor: A few weeks ago The Herald printed some articles on the ever increasing number of bicycle vandals. This made me curious about what kind of person would vandalize or steal a bicycle, mainly because I was in the same situation with my bicycle several years ago.

I had secured my bicycle in the station one morning a few summers ago because I was to get a ride to work in front of the station. What other location could equal because I was in the same situation with my bicycle several years ago.

I calmly walked up the stairs and reported the act to the stupified desk sergeant. In ending my letter I hope I have made the bicycle riders of Manchester realize that there is no hope with these gangs of professionals, who possess the technical know-how even to challenge the Manchester Police Department on their own ground.

But I suppose it was my own fault, after all I locked my bicycle twice, but left my German Shepherd at home.

A Practical Politician

WASHINGTON - Look at it this way: Nelson Rockefeller is a top-ranking member of the international club of bankers, businessmen and financial entrepreneurs - the movers and shakers without whose approval and help few if any Free World governments could survive.

It is something very big in international affairs to belong to the Rockefeller family, still the most influential tribe in the world. President Ford can pick up the phone and speak to any head of state, any international banker, Rockefeller not only is to the man who appointed him Vice President, and Richard Nixon no longer counts. Ford certainly will listen to Rockefeller on matters of foreign policy, the economy and administration, but Ford will remain his own man ideologically - a moderate-to-conservative Republican who employed unashamed (and sometimes shameless) pragmatism to achieve the politically possible.

Anyhow, Rockefeller will not have that much ideological influence on Gerald Ford. The President's only political debt is to the man who appointed him Vice President, and Richard Nixon no longer counts. Ford certainly will listen to Rockefeller on matters of foreign policy, the economy and administration, but Ford will remain his own man ideologically - a moderate-to-conservative Republican who employed unashamed (and sometimes shameless) pragmatism to achieve the politically possible.

Rhodes is interested in harvesting Republican votes, to reverse a state of affairs that has seen the party fall to win a majority in either house of Congress for the past 20 years, and which today is endorsed in the Gallup Poll by only 22 per cent of the voters - the GOP's lowest rating in almost 40 years.

Rockefeller voters across the land, and so he put the matter in perspective. "I can't believe conservative Republicans feel broadening the base of the party is a bad thing," he told reporters, "unless they want to keep on losing and keep on being a minority." Ideologically, John Rhodes is poles apart from Nelson Rockefeller, but he has seen and envied the success of the Democrats in putting together a coalition of widely divergent interests. Rhodes is interested in a Republican party, not a conservative party.

Even Arizona's Sen. Barry Goldwater, "Mr. Conservative," has said "I can support Rockefeller; he's very well qualified." Even Goldwater that is, because Rockefeller refused to support the Arizona's bid for the Presidency in 1964 and, as Goldwater noted, "ducked out" on the Nixon candidacy in 1968.

In short, John Rhodes and Barry Goldwater are looking to the future of the Republican party, and the devil take political labels. Fortunately for the GOP, they are men of influence in party councils, in contrast to such rigid ideologues as Rep. John M. Ashbrook, R-Ohio, and Sen. William L. Scott, R-Va., whose criticisms of the Rockefeller appointment are voices from a distant past.

Rhodes knows there are a lot of Safety Is For Cyclists, Too

The biggest difference between a bicycle rider and the driver of a car is that the bike rider is a lobster without any shell. He's a knight without any armor. He's an infantryman in a field of tanks.

A bike rider has to depend for protection on his own good sense and the care and forbearance of the motorists with whom he shares the road. He can't be bigger or stronger or better protected, but he can be smarter.

Unfortunately, most bike riders are kids and a lot of them have no idea of the hazards they run. They see no reason why they shouldn't give a friend a lift. Traffic lights, as far as they're concerned, are for cars; bikes are exempt. And if they can get farther faster by swooping the wrong way through traffic or cutting across at an angle, they are sublimely sure that they can do it safely.

The crackdown which the Meriden police are currently mounting against bad bike riders is overdue. It is an attempt, finally, to make bike riders smart if not strong, to help them give themselves some of the protection of good driving which is their only defense.

Most kids don't realize it, but bikes are supposed to obey the rules of the road the way cars do. Stop signs and stop lights are for bikes, too. Cyclists must stay in their own lanes and not swoop and swerve out of place, far from their own protection. Bicycles built for one must not be overloaded with an extra passenger because it is difficult to control them.

Bikes should be registered, not only because there's a state law saying so, but because registration is one of the best protections against theft, and a sign of the owner's responsibility. Registering the bike will give the young rider contact with the police, who will give him or her a booklet on safe bicycling and how to manage it.

Bike warning tickets, which the police are giving out for infractions of the "rules of the road" must be taken seriously, too. Kids who get them should understand that it is for their own protection that they are being tagged; it's not the car drivers, who will suffer most in accidents. Parents who receive copies of the tickets should take the time and trouble to go over the problem with their children, helping them to realize what was wrong and why.

One more advantage: Following the rules will make expert, as well as safe bike riders. It is also the best practice there is for the time when the bike rider graduates to car-driving. If that news doesn't turn the kid on to the safety kick, he probably isn't ready for a bike anyway. - Meriden Morning Record.

WIN AT BRIDGE

He received the same king of hearts lead that was made at all other tables. Then he proceeded to duck, just as most other declarers did, but he played his jack not the six.

Now go back to West. What would you do? You are looking at all the cards now, but you weren't then. Of course, if your partner was one of those players who always plays second best when partner leads the king you might have seen what was going on and ducked the king. If, rather, you were a bit of a declarer, you would have shifted to the queen of spades and those unfortunate would up losing four spades, one heart and that kind of clubs.

See if you can figure out what the Professor did. We'll give you a hint. His top score was not due to some stupidity on the part of the defense.

Review Asked Of O'Marra Appointment

HARTFORD (UPI) — Sen. Wilber G. Smith, D-Hartford, has asked Gov. Thomas J. Meskill to review and reconsider the appointment of a convicted forger as a referee in the new state Employment Security Division.

Smith called "crassly political" the appointment of Thomas O'Marra of Manchester, a Republican found guilty in March of forging the name of another state official on a state lease.

Head of the leasing division of the Department of Public Works, O'Marra had pleaded no contest to the charge.

Smith said O'Marra lacks qualifications for the new $14,677-a-year job.

"This is not a training position," Smith said Friday. "It is a position of considerable responsibility. To turn it over to a person who abused his previous responsibilities in state service is to reward wrongdoing."

Stop and Shop Peas Recalled

BOSTON (UPI) — The federal Food and Drug Administration Friday announced that Stop and Shop Supermarkets have voluntarily recalled a number of lots of peas that could be contaminated because of insufficient processing.

Spokesmen said Stop and Shop brand tendersweet peas, small, medium and large size in 16 oz. cans were being recalled. The lots were coded KPTS4-4187, KPTS4-4188, KPTS4-4189, KPTS2-4187, KPTS2-4188, KPTS2-4189.

Praise The Lord For Everything!

Praise the Lord for everything? But that's no easy thing to do. How can we possibly thank God for losses that seemingly have no meaning? For pain and suffering that really hurt?

In our own strength, we can not do it. God has to do the changing. He wants us to commit ourselves to Him and trust that He will transform us. The Christian life is a continuous journey in faith — and our faith must be built on God's fact not our feeling.

We are constantly defeated by the circumstances around us because we aren't ready to accept that the battle is God's not ours. We are afraid to let go and trust ourselves to God's power. We say, "I don't understand; therefore I don't dare believe."

Another Successful Peach Festival

Long lines like this one were common on Main St. near William St. Friday night during the 17th annual Peach Festival sponsored by the Manchester, Eighth District, Fire Department. Figures were unavailable today, but fire department officials were hopeful of at least equalling the 1973 results when some 4,000 people were served. Below, Mrs. Jean Palmer, wife of fireman Brad Palmer, whips the cream for the patient customers to the left; the girls on the right were sampling the product. Entertainment was provided by the Stewart Highlanders Pipe Band of the British-American Club. About 90 prizes, donated by area merchants, were given away. "Dessert" music was furnished on the organ by Art Bjork. (Herald photos by Dunn)

POLICE REPORT

MANCHESTER

Richard M. Fazzina, 21, of 159 Birch St. picked up a rifle from the floor of a blue and white, 1965 VW van at 5:34 p.m. Friday and aimed it at Patrolman Gary H. Benson, police said today.

Benson was in a cruiser by the van as they were both on Center St. waiting for the light at Main St. Benson said Fazzina put the rifle back down. He followed the van which was driven by Louis P. McLane, 20, of 12 Trotter St.

McLane drove north on Main St. When other cruisers were approaching, Benson stopped the van at Haynes St. The two young men were ordered from the van at gunpoint.

Neither man resisted arrest, police said. Take from the van were two rifles, a total of 14 rounds of ammunition, and a machete, police said.

Police charged McLane with carrying weapons in a motor vehicle and Fazzina with threatening. Both posted $500 surety bonds for appearance in Circuit Court 12 on Sept. 9.

Bruce A. Burke, 22, of 126F Rachel Rd. and Joseph Kaminsky, 18, of 134G Rachel Rd. were both arrested on motorcycles today at 1:15 a.m. near the Gaslight restaurant on Oak St. and charged with operating a motor vehicle while their licenses are suspended. Both posted bonds of $250 non-surety for court Sept. 9.

Recent breaks reported include:

• Cheryl A. Schaffer of 118 Porter St. told police she woke up hearing a noise in her house Friday at 3 a.m. She saw a man standing in the doorway to her bedroom. She screamed and he fled downstairs and out the front door.

Entry to the house was made by sliding up the screen on a first floor window. Nothing inside was taken. Her car in the driveway was also entered but nothing was missing.

• Ronald Grenier of 1214 W. Middle Tpk. in the Beacon Hill apartment complex told police he heard someone in his apartment Friday at 2:51 p.m. He found a youth about 5 feet 5, 140 pounds, with black curly hair, dark complexion, wearing a dark sport jacket, white shirt, and blue jeans. The youth ran out the kitchen door.

Nothing was missing. But Michael McDermott of 1170A W. Middle Tpk. told police he found his apartment broken into when he got home Friday night. Missing was $72 in cash and several pieces of jewelry.

Entry in both cases was by slipping a screen from a bedroom window and then lifting up the inner window.

• A third mail tampering case on Main St. was reported this week by Bernard Menschell, manager of the Outdoor Theatre Corp. at 875 Main St. Over 40 pieces of mail were delivered to the office's mail box and 14 pieces were found opened in a lavatory in the building.

U.S. postal inspectors are handling the cases.

• A tank of gas was stolen sometime Thursday night from the car of Edith Knox of 198 E. Center St. where it was parked overnight in her driveway.

Jimmy Faranworth, 5, of 11 Vine St. was found crying on Charter Oak St. by David and Jerry Appleby of 96 Charter Oak St. He said he was lost.

The Appleby children called police. Policewoman Patricia Graves and Patrolman Gary Waterhouse drove Jimmy about the neighborhood for over an hour before coming to his home.

Jimmy's mother, Mrs. Elaine Faranworth, told police they had just moved here and this is why Jimmy could not remember his address.

ELLINGTON

Allen L. Chase, 26, of 8 Davis Ave., Rockville, was arrested today at 2:45 a.m. and charged with third-degree criminal mischief after an incident in Ellington involving a smashed car windshield. He was released on his written promise to appear in court Oct. 1.

CORRECTION

The Herald incorrectly printed in the police news section of the Friday issue that a girl, Catherine Betters, lived at 66 Strickland St. She is a Manchester girl but police did not have her address available.

Duo-Set Closes; 60 Jobs Affected

VERNON

Some 60 people are out of jobs today, because Duo-Set Processing Co., Inc. of Ellington closed its doors Friday.

Employees were told Thursday that Friday would be the last day, a company spokesman said.

Duo-Set is a commission dye and finishing company and is associated with Pioneer Systems Inc. of Manchester, a holding company.

Economic conditions within the textile and fabric industry was the reason for the closing, officials said.

Gerald Freed, general manager of Duo-Set, said the company is helping employees to secure employment with other fabric firms in the area. A Pioneer official said there are some openings at its Hale Rd. plant; it has been advertising for general plant help.

Duo-Set once was located on E. Main St. in Rockville and moved into a new plant on Village St. in Ellington about 15 years ago. It was formerly owned by Theodore Shettlin.

Cow on the Loose

BOLTON

Do not be surprised if you drive down West St. some evening and think you see a cow. You probably do.

Nearly two months ago a cow owned by a French Rd. resident got loose and the resident was unable to catch it.

Unfortunately, the resident did not have much time to try to catch the cow as he was in the process of moving out-of-town. The cow evidently did not care for the move.

The cow generally remains in the Herrick Memorial Park, Hebron and Loomis Rd. area.

"Slippery," which seems an appropriate nickname for the animal, is rarely spotted during the day.

She is, however, not hungry. She feeds at night on cabbage and cauliflower. Just ask some of the residents in the area.

She is also not thirsty as one resident reported that he often has to refill a birdbath located in his backyard.

The cow, which by now probably thinks she is a deer, feeds at night and sleeps during the day.

So far attempts by many different people to catch it have proved futile.

When there's so much to say, say it for less on weekends.

It's only about half of the day rate. For example: it's only 70¢ to call the first 3 minutes without operator assistance from Connecticut to San Francisco. It's $1.45 for the same call on weekdays. So why not save up what you might want to (or have to) say for the weekend. You get more for less every weekend by phone.

Weekend long distance: it's less.

How are you going to look this fall?

Mirror, Mirror on the Wall

In a pony tail, pulled back with a bow.

There's something more important in deciding how you'll look this fall than any new back-to-school outfit.

That's good grooming, or keeping yourself and your clothes neat and clean.

Long, stringy hair that falls in your face will ruin the look of a new shirt and pants set.

A well-fitting "hand-me-down" dress that has been worn several seasons still looks good if the wearer is well-groomed and stands up straight and tall.

Three Ways You Can Fix Long Hair

Many little girls like to wear long hair. It's no longer "in" to let it fly without pinning it back with barrettes or bows. Be sure to use covered bands when you pull it back into a pony tail. Uncovered bands will break your hair. Wear a shower cap when taking a bath.

Parted in the middle and pinned back with barrettes. You'll see lots of new barrette styles.

Two pony tails tied up in bows.

Eat the proper foods.

Get from 8 to 10 hours of sleep each night.

Brush up on good grooming!

Floss and brush your teeth after each meal and before bedtime. Then smile a lot.

Take a bath or shower every day. Wear clean underwear. You can wash out your own things at night.

Take good care of your clothes. Hang them up. Check and see if they need buttons or mending. Put dirty clothes in the hamper.

Keep your nails trimmed and use a finger-nail brush to clean under them.

Books: "Father Christmas"

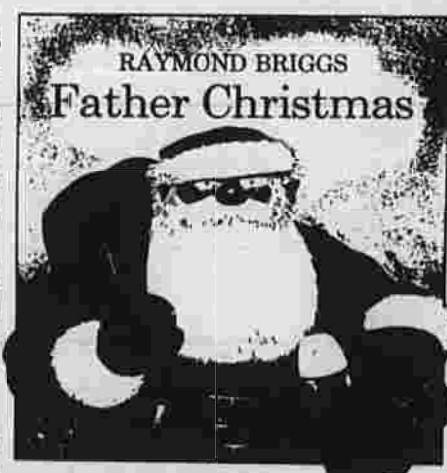

"Father Christmas," by Raymond Briggs, published by Coward, McCann and Geoghegan, Inc., New York, 1973, $4.95

"Father Christmas" is a great book by the English author and artist, Raymond Briggs. Even though it is about Christmas Eve, you can enjoy it all year long.

"Father Christmas" is what the English call Santa Claus. If you want to know what he's really like, read this book.

The book is in cartoon form and the pictures are funny. Father Christmas is a cute little man who seems very human when he fusses about the weather and sooty chimneys.

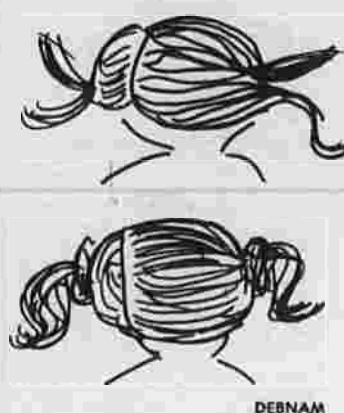

Any age person would enjoy it.

How Does Your Hair-do?

The Gatsby Look is the latest word in hairdos for big and little girls. The curl is put in with a curling iron. Even though long hair is still popular, shorter hair is IN. The very short blow cut that gives a pixie look is also one of the most popular styles.

Two Pony Tail Wrap-Around is a different style that girls with curly hair can wear. Each tail is divided into two parts. One part is wrapped around the tail.

Left: Boys will be wearing their hair shorter. The "John-John" hairstyle is back. This is the style that John Kennedy, Jr. made popular over 10 years ago when his father was President. This is the clean, neat look.

Right: The Mini Afro is the style that boys find very easy to care for. Girls like it, too. Since shorter hair is IN, this should be a popular style this fall.

Super Sport: Moses Malone

Moses Malone was such a good high school basketball player that more than 200 colleges and one professional team tried to sign him.

Many people say that he is the best prep star to come along since Lew Alcindor.

When he signed with the University of Maryland, it was understandable why people said Moses would lead the Terps to the promised land—meaning the national championship.

Moses, who is six-feet, 11 inches tall, led his Petersburg, Virginia high school team to two straight state titles and a record of 50 wins and no losses. He averaged 38 points per game.

Back-to-school fashions!

Hoods and the western look are the latest style in back-to-school fashions for the first grader on up!

Fashion News

For girls, the big news is HOODS! Hoods on dresses, shirts and sweatshirts. Pants are as good as ever. Dresses are very casual. U-necked, short-sleeved tee-shirt dresses are IN, too.

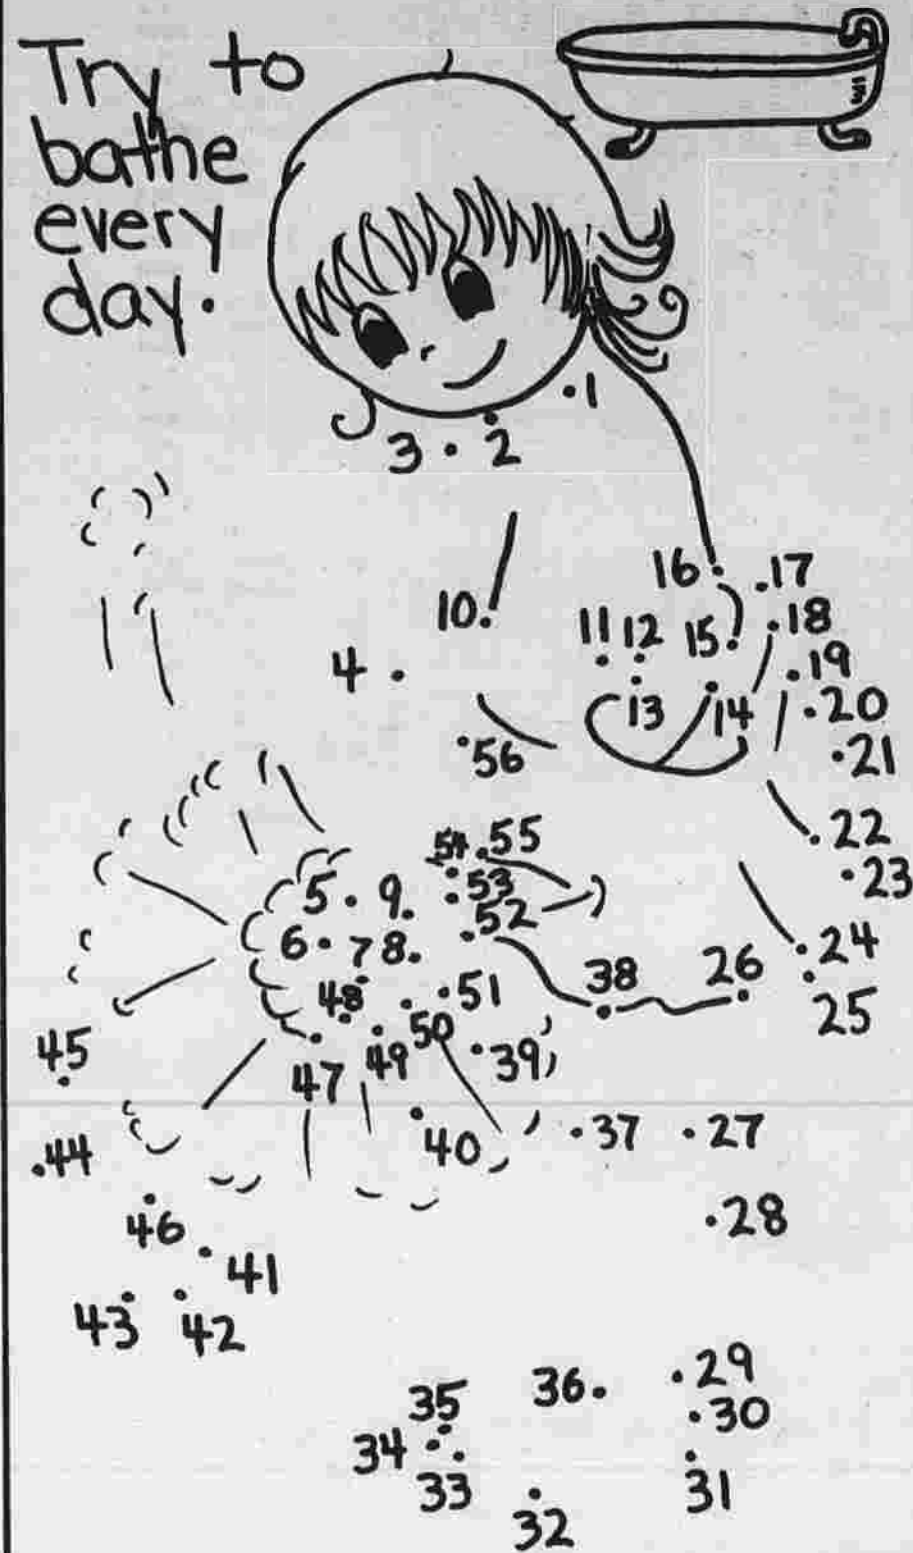

Girls' socks this year will be multi-colored stripes, blocks and checks. The knee-hi sock will be worn for dressy and casual dress. In shoes, the heavy bottom style will replace the huge platform.

For boys, the WESTERN look is news. You'll be seeing denim jacket and jean sets. N. F. L. clothes, such as parkas, warm-up jackets and ponchos, are still favorites.

Both boys and girls will be wearing tennis shoes or canvas athletic type shoes. As cold weather comes, everyone will become more interested in all types of BOOTS! The two-toned-saddle oxford should be a favorite with girls again this year.

Try to bathe every day.
