HEBRON

Tel. 228-3970

The Rev. R. Stanley Eaton has accepted the call to serve as the pastor of the First Congregational Church. He will begin his duties in Hebron on Oct. 1.

The Rev. Mr. Eaton is now serving as associate pastor at Wapping Community Church in South Windsor. He has been there since 1971.

The Rev. Mr. Eaton is a Connecticut native, born on May 14, 1946 in New Haven. He attended the public schools in Wilton and was graduated from Springfield (Mass.) College with a bachelor of science degree in 1968.

He then entered Andover-Newton Theological School and in 1971 received his master of divinity degree. He was ordained in June 1971 at his home church, the Wilton Congregational Church, by the Fairfield Association of the Connecticut Conference of the United Church of Christ.

His professional experience in the Christian Ministry consists of three years as student assistant at the First Congregational Church at Natick, Mass., one summer as a participant in the clinical Pastoral Education Program at Boston City Hospital and one summer as a full time assistant minister in the Wilton Congregational Church.

In 1971, the Rev. Mr. Eaton was married to the former Nancy Hemstreet of Wilton. Mrs. Eaton is a graduate of Goucher College and received her master of music degree from Yale in 1971. The Eatons have one daughter, Heather, who is a year old.

On Aug. 11 the Rev. Mr. Eaton preached at the 9:30 a.m. service, and at a special church meeting following the morning worship the congregation voted to extend a call to him to be pastor of the church. Following the church meeting an informal reception was held at the church for the Eatons.

The pastoral committee received a vote of appreciation on Aug. 11 from the congregation and having completed its duties was discharged.

Members of the pastoral committee were George Alden Jr., chairman, Carolyn Vellica, secretary, Gloria Bell, Edward Chasse, Jerry Gay, June Nygren, Mary Ruth, Charles Scheffer and Sally Whitehouse.

Mrs. Burnetta Temple of Rt. 66 won first prize for her Baltimore Friendship quilt at the "Craft Adventure," a craft show in the Storrtown Village area of the Eastern States Exposition grounds last week.

The Baltimore Friendship quilt is all hand applied, embroidered and quilted.

Mrs. Temple also won best in show for instructors. The voting in this contest is done by the spectators, and the instructors participating in the contest demonstrated techniques in rag making, quilting and needle point.

At the Hebron Harvest Fair, Mrs. Temple's Baltimore Friendship quilt took a first place ribbon. The Baltimore Friendship quilt is all done in cross stitch. Mrs. Temple began quilting when she was 19 and has been working at her craft for 46 years. For the last two years she has been teaching quilting first at Rham High School and last year at Manchester High School in adult education. She will be instructing at Manchester High School again this year.

It takes her from two to three weeks to complete a quilt and though it is really a hobby she has sold some of her creations, she says.

The South Windsor Zoning Board of Appeals (ZBA) has granted permission to a local rental firm B&B Do It Yourself Rental, to loan four U-Haul trailers with the condition that the firm store them in the back of the building.

The rental firm, located at 735 John Fitch Blvd., was denied permission two months ago to rent trucks and park them in the front.

The ZBA also granted three variances for construction closer to sidelines than zoning rules permit. The properties are owned by Thomas C. Brown Jr., 90 Beldon Rd., John N. Noor, 39 Peach Tree Lane, and David Sorenson, 1000 Strong Rd.

The request for a variance from Consumer Sales to allow signs larger than allowed and an additional sign at 513 John Fitch Blvd. was tabled by the ZBA.

Human Relations Committee Group Seeking To Form

SOUTH WINDSOR
Judy Kuehnel
Correspondent
Tel. 644-1364

The South Windsor Public Health and Safety Committee is investigating the possibility of forming a Human Relations Commission, according to Robert R. Hornish, chairman of the council's subcommittee.

A group of residents interested in such a commission recently met at St. Margaret Mary Church to determine the needs in South Windsor.

According to Hornish, "the purpose of a Human Relations Committee is to foster and promote mutual understanding and respect, improve communication and cooperation, reduce tensions, eliminate discrimination, bigotry and prejudice" at this time.

The Human Relations Committee would encourage equality of treatment and opportunity for persons with respect to housing, employment, government, education, economics and the law.

Nine members will be chosen from those attending the meeting and will discuss the aims and goals of such a committee.

Future meetings will be open to the public and held with the purpose of obtaining public support and additional assistance regarding South Windsor's needs.

It was generally agreed upon by those in attendance that a human relations commission in South Windsor should be self sponsoring at this time.

Hornish said that he agrees with the ideals and purposes of a Human Relations Committee and encourages the citizens of South Windsor to give their support to such an organization.

"The success of this commission would therefore be directly proportional to the interest and activities of individuals who would dedicate themselves to the concerns of their fellow citizens," Hornish told the Town Council.

The recent meeting was chaired by Mrs. Janet Farr, and consisted of representatives from the school board, town council, minority and church groups and associated agencies.

Bus Stop Change Okayed

TOLLAND
Vivian Keneson
Correspondent
Tel. 875-4794

Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Ludden of Old Post Rd. succeeded Wednesday in having the Board of Education change a school bus stop, saving their fifth grade student a 700-foot walk.

David Hopewell, school business manager, told the board he did not feel the walk involved was unsafe for a Middle School student. Judith Ford, scheduler, said she drove the entire length of the road one recent morning and never met one car.

The Luddens made it clear that they were not objecting to the length of their son's walk but that he must walk in the road.

"If there was someplace to walk besides the road there would be no complaint," Ludden said.

Carol Duncan moved that a former stop, next to the Luddens be reinstated. The motion carried five to three.

In a report following that action Hopewell noted he has been following buses checking lengths between stops and safety factors.

Although he admits there is room for improvement in bus schedules, he said there are some seniors who have had the same pickup at their homes for their entire school years.

"Eventually they will have to learn how to cross the road," he said.

Emphasizing the point, Hopewell said he doesn't feel a person gets the whole perspective of being a driver if he hasn't been a pedestrian.

School Menus
Monday: Chicken stew, cherry muffin, cranberry and celery sticks, fruit cup.
Tuesday: Hot dog on roll, relish, French fries, gingerbread, topping.
Wednesday: Hamburg gravy over rice, broccoli or corn, buttered roll, vanilla cream pudding.
Thursday: Pizza casserole, tossed salad, fruited jello with topping.
Friday: Baked chicken, buttered rice, cranberry sauce, spinach or wax beans, ice cream.
Saturday: Tuna in roll, potato chips, tomato and cucumber wedge, cake square.

UConn Heads Protest Cuts

STORRS (UPI) — University of Connecticut President Glenn W. Ferguson says he will protest budget cuts of $4 million made by the state Commission on Higher Education (CHE).

Ferguson termed the cuts "whimsical" and "capricious" and said he is uncertain why the cuts were made.

The proposed UConn budget for the coming fiscal year 1975-76 was $61.4 million after cuts made by university trustees.

The CHE recommended further cuts to $57.1 million, Ferguson said Wednesday.

Meet 'Mulkey' Owens: Barbarian of the Year

By ANDREW A. YEMMA
AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — J.M. "Mulkey" Owens spent years as the district highway engineer carving pieces of barbed wire discarded along Texas roads.
"The ranchers and farmers just cut it off and dropped it on the ground and, of course, this played hell with the highway department," Owens said. "I was like nearly everybody else — barbed wire was just barbed wire."
Then one day five years ago he discovered an unusual strand of wire and Owens was off on a hobby.
Now the silver-haired, 66-year-old Owens has been named "Barbarian of the Year" by the Texas Barbed Wire Collectors Association, a group of 300 members and part of a national society which aims to preserve the history of the fencing wire. Owens retired a year ago, but in his last four years with the highway department he built a collection of barbed wire over 300 strands strong with specimens from all over the United States, Australia, New Zealand, Turkey, Japan, Belgium, Puerto Rico and Mexico.

He can spin yarns for hours about the thorny stuff.
"A friend of mine in Turkey sent me a piece from the foot of Mt. Ararat. I've got another from the fence around the largest Buddhist temple in the world," he said.
Owens — like other "barbarians" — collects and preserves the wire because he believes it played a significant role in the development of the American West. Persons interested in barbed wire formed the collectors' association in 1967.
"Somebody found a piece of barbed wire up in the Trinity River bottom in Fort Worth in late 1866 and exhibited it on TV wanting to know what kind it was," Owens said. "The next morning six or seven guys called up to tell him. Those guys got together in early 1967 and now there are associations in nearly every state and even internationally."
The avocation has grown so fast that it sports two monthly magazines, numerous books and dealers that sell rare brands for a pretty price.
"At our meeting in Temple last month one of our members showed me a piece of wire that he paid $400 for. He said he wouldn't give it away for $1,000," Owens said.

Keeping Petitioners Informed

Almost invariably, when people affix their names to petitions, for whatever reason, they learn in a roundabout way the disposition of the matter for which they were petitioning.
Not so with the 30 persons who signed a petition circulated exactly four weeks ago today by Arthur C. Petrone of 235 Parker St. Petrone's petition concerned hazardous traffic conditions on Parker St., aggravated and compounded by traffic rerouted from Woodbridge St.
Petrone, on his own time and at his own expense, has furnished each of the petitioners with the results (including letters and attachments). Copies of the petition had been sent to Police Chief James Reardon, Mayor John Thompson and Town Manager Robert Weiss.
Petrone sums up the inconclusive replies and results in his cover letter to the 30 petitioners, as follows:
"It is obvious from the information contained in these documents that the Town of Manchester is powerless to take any action that would alleviate the serious traffic problem we are experiencing in our neighborhood."
Furthermore, the numerous inquiries I have made regarding State of Connecticut health and safety standards as applied by the State Motor Vehicle Department and the Department of Environmental Protection resulted in a maze of ambiguities and uncertainties. A truly frustrating experience.
"It is not uncommon for a person to dismiss a difficult problem by blaming others. The well-organized and vocal few in our society usually override the complacent and apathetic majority."
"Can you possibly imagine the resounding effect an organized people's voice would have on our elected officials at all levels of government who have the primary responsibility of enacting the type of laws that are truly representative of all the people?"

The Petrone petition was followed by another on the same subject — also from Parker St. residents.
The Woodbridge St. culvert, washed out July 5, is being replaced at a $60,000 estimated cost. Meanwhile, back in the Municipal Building, the director of public works and the town engineers agree that the Parker St. culvert also may have to be replaced — this one at a $50,000 estimated cost. Predictions are the Woodbridge St. culvert won't be in before mid-November at the earliest.
Police Chief Reardon, the only one who replied to the petition, wrote in a letter to Petrone:
"I realize the conditions that exist in this area, but they are caused by the bad washout on Woodbridge St., and I can find no other route on which to detour traffic until the washout of the Woodbridge St. bridge is repaired by replacement."
"I am sure that you realize that the general manager, public works department and the Board of Directors are doing everything possible to see to it that this bridge is replaced as soon as possible."
"In the meantime, we have police patrol in this area and have re-signed the street to bring the situation under reasonable control. If there were other alternate routes to which traffic could be detoured, this office would promptly reply. In the meantime, every effort will continue to be made to keep the speeding traffic under control."

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Rules Committee voted Wednesday to ask millionaire vice presidential nominee Nelson A. Rockefeller to make a full disclosure of his net financial worth.
Chairman Howard Cannon, D-Nev., said the disclosure would be in lieu of a requirement that Rockefeller place his vast fortune in a blind trust or sell some of his holdings.
Cannon also said that an FBI report on Rockefeller revealed no major problems that would stand in the way of his confirmation as President Ford's choice for vice president.
The committee voted to open hearings on the Rockefeller nomination when they begin Sept. 23, and Cannon said the Senate would complete the process before recessing in mid-October.
House sources indicated however that the confirmation process may take longer in that chamber. It was also doubtful whether the House would go along with the Senate plan not to require either blind trust or divestiture.
Chairman Peter W. Rodino, D-N.J., of the House Judiciary Committee was asked Tuesday if the action on the Rockefeller nomination might be delayed until after election day. "That could be," he replied. "It depends on when we complete the preliminary investigation."
Cannon said that by requiring Rockefeller to disclose his holdings, the public and the press could act as a "watchdog" against conflict of interest.
Rockefeller said previously he would make a "complete and full" public disclosure.
"If you require a man of great wealth to divest, it could have adverse effect on the stock market," Cannon said, and added that "you couldn't completely devoid him of knowledge of his own holdings with a blind trust."
Cannon, who has read the FBI report on Rockefeller, said "I do not personally see anything that's going to create a difficult problem in terms of confirmation."
He said there were some "problems which have been reported in the public press," such as Rockefeller's liberal stand on abortion, his tough proposals against drug abuse and the money he spent previously in search of a presidential nomination.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Predictor says its experience has been that market fortunes have been made in buying stocks when they were depressed and no one wanted them. It adds that since there is "no certain way" to catch the "absolute bottom" of the market, the "soundest approach" to take after a long decline is to buy stocks representing good value—and then stay with them.
A potential market bottom "of substance" may not be far off, according to Harris, Upham & Co. It adds that possibly following a near-term upward trend, prices again will dip and establish new lows—and such a reaction could be climactic. "But we are becoming more confident that a significant bottom is very near in time," Harris, Upham says.
A small but growing number of issues seem to be tracing out "minor reversal patterns," E.F. Hutton Co. says. Such a condition, the firm adds, gives these issues the potential for higher prices over the near term though they are "still in the confines of longer term downturns."

Stairwell Gallery Opens Friday

The Stairwell Gallery at Manchester Community College will open its seventh season tomorrow night with an exhibition of drawings and photo-real paintings by Jim Ruby and large color-field spray paintings by Natalie Hopf.

Gallery Director Robert Manning said the opening program will start at 8 p.m. with a screening of a 1932 horror movie classic, "The Old Dark House," starring Boris Karloff, Charles Laughton and Raymond Massey.

Following the film, a reception with refreshments is scheduled in the gallery, at the college's 146 Hartford Rd. building.

Natalie Hopf, a graduate of the University of Colorado and University of California (Berkeley), has extensive exhibition credits on the West Coast and the Hartford area. The most recent was "Ten Women Today" at West Hartford's Unitarian Meeting House in May.

Ms. Hopf has taught at the University of California (San Francisco) and has worked as a fashion illustrator for commercial studios.

James Ruby, who has taught at Manchester Community College and other state schools, holds degrees from the University of Hartford and Wesleyan University.

Last November he exhibited at the New Britain Museum of American Art, part of a three-man show known as "The Alternative Convention." He has received several awards, including the Purchase Prize at the Greater Hartford Civic and Arts Festival.

The Stairwell Gallery exhibit will remain on view until Oct. 4. Gallery hours are 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. weekdays.

The public is invited to the opening program, Manning said, at no admission charge.

Nixon Not Well, Son-in-Law Says

WASHINGTON (UPI) — David Eisenhower said today that one of former President Nixon's legs is swollen twice its normal size from phlebitis, an inflammation of the veins, and "his health is not good."

Eisenhower, Nixon's son-in-law, also said that Nixon would have rejected the pardon offered by President Ford if it had been "tied directly" to the issue of amnesty for Vietnam draft evaders and deserters.

Eisenhower, a law student at George Washington University, said he talked with Nixon by telephone Wednesday night and decided to be interviewed on the NBC Today Show because "someone should be reacting to the pardon on behalf of the family."

He said he and his wife, Julie, haven't seen the former President since he resigned his office Aug. 9 and returned to his San Clemente, Calif. estate.

Eisenhower was asked to comment on reports that Nixon was suffering deep fits of depression.

"I think he has his ups and downs," Eisenhower said. "Some people describe him as being sharper than ever in certain meetings and then at times ... yes he's depressed."

Speaking of the pardon that was announced by Ford Sunday, Eisenhower said that his father-in-law was "in one sense relieved that the Vietnam amnesty issue had not been tied directly to his pardon."

"Had the amnesty issue been tied directly to his pardon he would have had no choice but to stand trial and he would have done so and refused the pardon."

Eisenhower said he believed that Ford's decision, which has generated massive controversy, "was motivated primarily in what he felt was the best interests of the nation."

He said that Ford may have thought that "he would in some way assist in defusing this as a national issue and enable the country to get on with the country's business."

Both Eisenhower and Nixon's other son-in-law, Edward Cox previously were quoted by a friend as saying there has been no elation on the part of Nixon or his family over the pardon.

FTC Orders Stores To Make $2.8 Million in Refunds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government Wednesday alleged that five major department store chains — including Gimbel and Neiman Marcus — failed to refund more than $2.8 million that was due customers.

The Federal Trade Commission said in a proposed complaint that the stores kept unclaimed funds credited to customer charge accounts.

The FTC complaint requires the stores to refund the money. "Customers with outstanding credit balances on their accounts in time tend to lose these balances when they are unclaimed by the customers or no

Cyclamate Ruling Challenged by Sveda

STAMFORD (UPI) — The discoverer of cyclamates Wednesday challenged the government to prove its refusal to reinstate the artificial sweetener is not "a massive coverup of the elemental blunders committed in the name of science five years ago."

The Food and Drug Administration Tuesday put off a request by Abbott Laboratories to resume production of the sweetener, and Dr. Michael Sveda, its discoverer, said today the decision meant Americans would continue to eat too much sugar.

"FDA Commissioner Alexander Schmidt has given approval for our having these health problems by his refusal to reinstate cyclamates which are among the safest things we can eat," Sveda said.

"I am challenging Commissioner Schmidt to prove to me and to the country that this is not what I think it is, a massive coverup of the elemental blunders committed in the name of science five years ago by the FDA staff and the National Academy of Sciences when they wrongly, based on data available at the time, forced cyclamates off the market. The official reason given then by the government was that testing allegedly showed cyclamates produced cancer in a small number of laboratory rats.

A Good Time To Buy Antiques

GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
NEW YORK (UPI) — Now is a good time to buy antiques. In this inflationary economy, they're a protection for your money.

This is the view of Sigmund Rothschild, who for more than 30 years has been in the business of appraising and restoring art and antiques. Much of his work is in the prestigious areas like the White House or the Smithsonian.

"We're still in an inflationary economy," he said. "I put the classical antiques, in perfect condition, as something equivalent to buying prime bonds. If held long enough, they will go up. Think of antiques as useful commodities. I'd rather have fine American pieces, for instance, than stocks."

"A real Tiffany lamp continues its rising value, even though reproductions have been flooding the market."

And although by U.S. Customs ruling, any item must be at least 100 years old to qualify for duty free import, Rothschild figures we are making our own antiques as we go — "Things of our past should go into the future."

"Every new material used may decline in value for a generation and more," he said in an interview. "Then regenerated say 40 to 50 years later, it's valuable again. On a trip to London recently, I bought my daughter a 1920s dress. It's worth more now than originally."

He foresees no shortage of antiques even though museums keep stockpiling.

"I found in Britain that the government is proposing another personal tax," he said. "That would put a lot on the market from the big estates. London is one of the prime sources."

Rothschild, who also teaches "What's It Worth?" course at Long Island University, offered some tips to the neophyte collector.

Start with a specialty that interests you. It may be something that grows from a hobby.

In Rothschild's own case, his father collected stamps. "I was sorting for him when I was 12. I was his disciple."

"Buy things in good condition. Buy perfection. I don't believe in compromise here (although restoration for museums and the like is part of his job). Look for intrinsic artistic value. Buy what you like and use. That could be my first and last rule."

When we think of Indian cuisine, most Americans usually think of curry. The next thought is chutney, a spicy relish that is curry's number one companion unless you include the inevitable rice.

Curry is not strictly Indian as it is made in other countries of the Far East. It will vary from place to place and from one country to another.

"Curry is a word which comes from the Hindustani 'curry', so says the author of 'Classic Cooking from India,' Dharam Ji Singh. Colloquially, the word was shortened to 'curry' and probably became anglicized to 'curry.' This word means a sauce or gravy.

Curry powder, which provides the distinctive flavor, is a blend of several ground spices. In a good Indian household, it would be freshly made and can consist of as many as 18 spices. When you buy curry powder, it will vary from one manufacturer to another.

Curry powder is one of man's oldest seasonings being in existence at least 1,500 years. Curry will vary in the degree of "hotness" depending on the Indian culture. The people who inhabit the southern part of India make a much hotter curry than those from the northern area. The ancient recipes for curry powder contain no hot red pepper which is almost always one of the ingredients.

Curry can be made with a variety of meat such as lamb or beef as well as with chicken. While you may think of this as a winter dish, the southern Indians make it as hot as they can. The theory is that the "hot" dish causes one to perspire thereby keeping the body cool.

The word chutney also comes from a Hindi word, "chutni" from "chutna" meaning to be licked or tasted. As with curry powder, chutney is often made fresh in India from available fresh fruits, vegetables and seasonings. Mangoes, lamarindis, coriander may be used.

Today's recipes come from Mrs. Elizabeth Sole of 287 Green Rd. While a student at a theological school in London, England, Betsy met a young Indian fellow who gave her his recipe. The chutney directions were given to her by a professor of geography at Oxford University at whose home Betsy often visited on weekends and holidays.

While in England, Betsy became interested in people from all over the world sufficiently so that she lived in a different direction. She became the foreign student advisor at Tufts University, a position she held until she married.

The mother of a young toddler, Andrew, who is two, Betsy continues her involvement with people from other nations. She and her husband Fred are one of Manchester's host families for visitors under the Development Administrators Training Program co-sponsored by the University of Connecticut and the State Department.

"I always try to serve a typically American food. Right now, it might be corn-on-the-cob or it could be blueberry or apple pie. Chicken is good too as most of the visitors are from underdeveloped countries of Burlington. Fred's parents where chicken is expensive," says Betsy.

"Most visitors enjoy the family life and they especially like traveling up to Essex Center, Vt. a rural area outside of Burlington. Fred's parents live there."

MHS Booters Prepare To Defend CCIL Title

By Len Auster

Steeped in a long tradition of success on the soccer field, Manchester High appears to have the makings for another strong contingent in 1974. Coach Dick Danielson, beginning his 28th year at the helm, puts his charges to the test Friday afternoon at 3:30 when the Indians entertain CCIL rival Hall High of West Hartford.

"The key to the season is getting past Hall. If we can't win that game, we'll be in a bit of a predicament. We lost a lot of conditioning early. The first week of practice we lost three days and that is when we get them into shape."

"Every year the same thing happens that we have to rebuild the team. We have several experienced players but they're new in new positions. But we should be all right. Overall, our schedule is weaker than last year. But I'm not saying we'll do better or we'll go undefeated. Going undefeated takes a lot of luck and some good bounces to happen."

Top challengers to Manchester for the CCIL title are Hall, Conard and Wethersfield. More than one loss in the league could result in the loss of the crown. "In our league a team with two losses isn't the champion," Danielson cited.

"The players have the skills but right now they're not using them, making them work for them. But that was the situation when we started last year. Until somebody beats us we're in good shape. Everybody knows they have to top us for the crown. We should be okay," Danielson reemphasized. "We're not going to have a losing season. The potential is there."

"They just have to realize soccer is a team game. No matter how good a player is he can't do it alone. He has to work with his teammates."

Another banner campaign for Manchester soccer should be forthcoming. There should be no doubt about it.

Beating Alabama A Miracle

NEW YORK (UPI) — It was only a couple years ago that the best way to avoid the traffic jam leaving University of Maryland football games was to stay until the final whistle. Only the bravest could endure a full 60 minutes of Terrapine football and the mass exodus began at some point in the third quarter.

But in those days, the masses only numbered approximately 15,000. For Saturday's season opener against Paul "Bear" Bryant and second-ranked Alabama, Maryland has erected as many temporary seats as possible to accommodate an overflow crowd in excess of 50,000.

The renewed interest in Maryland football is the result of the wonders worked by Coach Jerry Claiborne. But beating "Bama" might more properly fall into the category of miracle.

Nonetheless, the College Park campus is vibrant with hope, rekindled by last season's success. Its No. 11 rating this year and the return of last year's starting lineup virtually intact, including standout defensive tackle Randy White.

East Catholic Soccer Getting Fresh Start

By Len Auster
Having to build a soccer program almost from scratch is first year East Catholic Coach Tom Malin. The Eagles were 0-9-3 a year ago and 12 members of that team have since graduated. East opens the 1974 season by journeying to Raham High to face the Sachem booters.

"We only have two letters from a year ago," Malin related. The two, fullback Jeff Fagan and sophomore Bill Traynor.

"Looking at last year's statistics (when East scored just eight goals) you can see that we have to get something going offensively. We're hoping to control the game in the opponent's end of the field and put the pressure on their goalie. Even if we do get an early lead, we'll still be on the offensive," Malin explained.

This statement, however does come with its reservations. The rookie mentor added if after the first few games the system doesn't pan out then a switch might be in order.

Longest Night Game Record Set at Shea

NEW YORK (UPI) — At 13 minutes and 40 seconds past 3 a.m. EDT Thursday morning, after 25 innings of baseball that lasted seven hours and four minutes, John Milner swung and missed.

It was a bad night for Lou Brock, though. He went 1-for-9 in 19 innings and was caught stealing for the 30th time in his only game. In the other games, Philadelphia's downed sweep Chicago 6-1 and 13-4, Los Angeles topped San Francisco 5-4, San Diego blanked Houston 2-0 and the Cincinnati-Atlanta game was called by rain with the score tied 1-1 after five innings. It will be played as part of a doubleheader today.

McBride then took a big lead because the Cards were going to try a hit-and-run and Webb picked the right off. But his throw was wild and went into short rightfield in foul territory. Milner retrieved the ball and fired to the plate when McBride decided to gamble for it all instead of stopping at third with none out.

Milner's throw seemed to have him but catcher Rick Hodges, who entered the game in the 24th, dropped the ball for an error as McBride slid across.

"I don't think we would have gotten me anyway," McBride insisted. "He was in front of the plate and I slid behind him."

The incredible thing was that McBride wasn't too weary to come all away around from first on the play. It could have been he was in a hurry to get back to the hotel for a good night's sleep.

"It was kinda tired," McBride admitted. "I always had had ideas in athletics and I don't apologize for it now." These are the sort of ideas I think are wholesome for America.

Living members of the Hall of Fame are Patty Berg, Byron Nelson, Ben Hogan, Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer, Gary Player, Gene Sarazen and Sam Snead. Each made brief remarks and received a plaque with a short account of their golf career.

Reduced inductions, represented in the ceremonies by family members or friends, were Mildred "Babe" Zaharias, Walter Hagan, Robert T. "Bobby" Jones Jr., Francis Ouimet and Harry Vardon.

Jugan, winner of nine major tournaments and famous for his comeback after a near-fatal 1948 automobile accident, told newsmen he had "many memorable moments in his career but one of the extraordinary ones" was in 1940 at Pinehurst where he won his first victory in the old North and South tournament after six second place finishes.

Sarazen, now 72, said his most memorable moment was winning the American and then the British Open in 1922—a feat that brought him a total of $1,500 in prize money.

Ford, saying he was on a "mini-vacation," called the opening of the Hall of Fame an "international event" which could lead Americans to take note that "many things we value most have been bequeathed to us by other nations."

Cheney Tech Soccer Looking to Future

By Len Auster
Hoping to build for the future is the goal of second year Cheney Tech soccer coach Marty Gonçalves. The Beavers open their 1974 campaign Friday afternoon at Bolton High. The home bow is Monday against Cromwell High at 3:30.

"We have 12 juniors on the squad (along with a group of sophomores and freshmen) and if we can keep them for next year then my aim is for a better than 500 record," commented Gonçalves. "The major goal is to build a team."

The Techmen were 1-2 a year ago with five of those losses by a goal. The mustachioed leader noted one player could help the forward line put the ball in the net — if some non-school troubles can be ironed out.

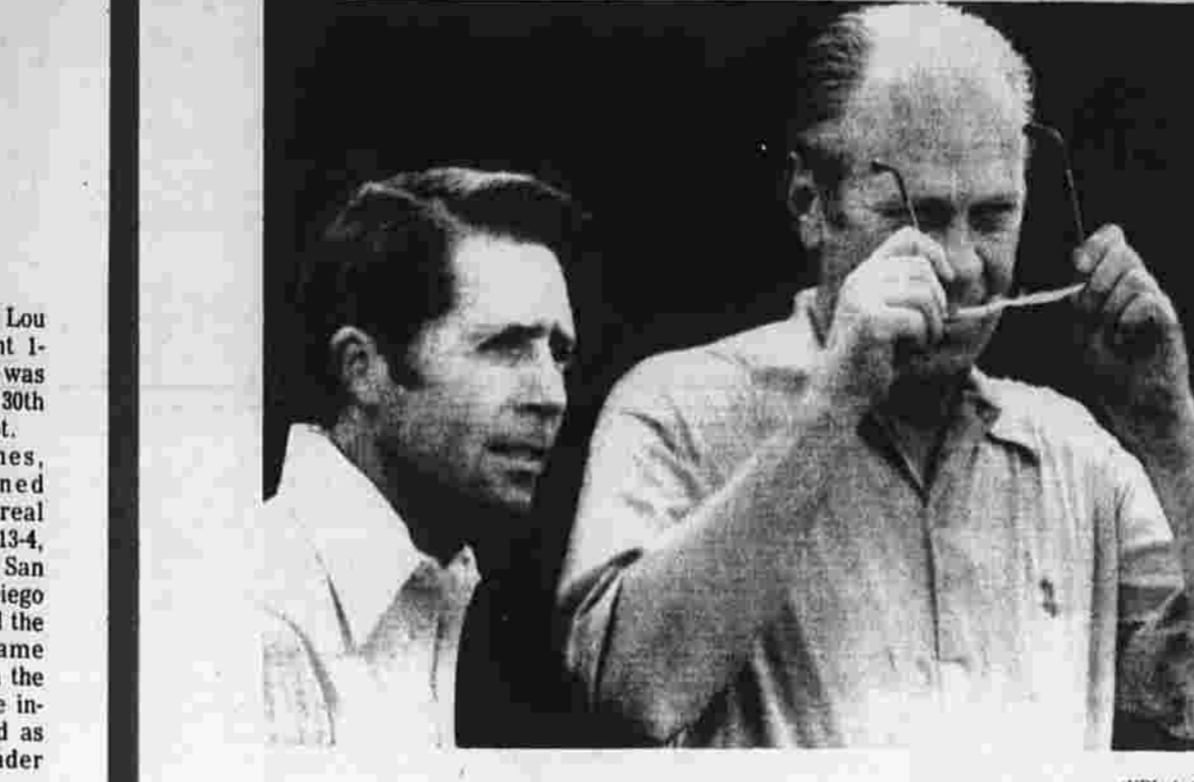

Slated to start in the forward line is senior Co-Captain Joe Sharples. Others in attacking positions are juniors Kevin Carpenter and Joel Tesier and freshman Peter Krawitz, one of two ninth graders to land a starting berth.

The halfback line is composed of senior Richard Dumas, junior Jeff Mount and freshman James Raymer, who has been very impressive in early drills. One serious blow was absorbed Monday in a scrimmage with East Catholic. Senior James Kristin, pencilled in for a starting halfback post, broke his leg in the last minute of play and will be lost for the season. Kristin suffered a severely broken tibia and his leg will be in a cast for at least six months reports Gonçalves.

Nailing down fullback jobs are senior Co-Captain Jeff Stetz, junior Lance Schors and sophomore Mark Perrone. A battle looms for the remaining position with junior Mike Herrick and sophomore Bruce Beebe in contention. A key to a successful season is for good goaltending and this is one area where Cheney has to improve.

"We have four tough opponents but against the other eight we should be competitive unless they're improved greatly. I think we've improved over last year. The players have more experience," Gonçalves explained. Early drills brought out about 25 to each session but when school started the entire contingent numbered 42, the largest group ever assembled. That number has diminished to 35, but only a varsity schedule will be undertaken. "For one man it's very difficult to work with more than one team. I don't know about cuts. I hope to carry as many as possible. I'd hate to turn the kids away. You might need them the following year," noted Gonçalves. Also, you never know if an untried rookie might blossom into a star performer.

There are no predictions for the 1974 season. The Beavers are still young and learning. If the necessary maturation occurs, improvement will be observed. It could be witnessed in 1974, if not, 1975 could be the turning point for Cheney soccer.

President Ford Adjusts Glasses Getting Set He Played With Gary Player and Other Inductees to Hall

Golf Hall of Fame Opened by President

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — A Dedication of a $2.65 million World Golf Hall of Fame Wednesday set some of the eight surviving inductees to reminiscing and had President Gerald Ford talking about being in "golfers' heaven" just to be around them.

Ford cut the ribbon to open the cultured, white stone building on Pinehurst Country Club, spoke at the dedication ceremonies and at a Wednesday night banquet and also got in nine holes of golf with inductees who were on hand.

Thirteen persons were named initial members of the Hall of Fame, five of them deceased. "I always had had ideas in athletics and I don't apologize for it now," said Ford. "These are the sort of ideas I think are wholesome for America."

Richest Event Gets Started

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Lee Trevino may not be a member of the World Golf Hall of Fame here, but he rates among some who are as a favorite to win the $300,000 World Open golf tournament beginning today.

In fact, one of the Hall of Fame inductees Wednesday, South African Gary Player, says Trevino "is the greatest player in the game."

"Whatever point you bring up, you can't name a better golfer than Trevino," said Player, lamenting the fact that "Super Mex" didn't join him in the hall.

Trevino, who beat Player in a playoff Monday to win the World Series of Golf for his latest four triumphs, was among the golfers who missed last year's premier World Open, a marathon tournament stretched over two chilly weeks in November with a record purse of $300,000.

Nicklaus, who was inducted into the Hall of Fame, Johnny Miller and Tom Weiskopf were among other top names who didn't show up for the PGA richest tourney of 1974, is one of the Tournament Players' Division "designated" events—meaning all the top pros must compete.

Other Hall of Famers who are competing in the tourney are veteran Arnold Palmer and Sam Snead, senior member of the PGA tour.

Trevino, who has won over a $1 million and 18 events since joining the tour in 1967, could have something of a point to prove by winning the World Open. And if he gets fired up, he can win anything, according to Player.

He can win wherever he goes," said Player. "He hits more fairways than anyone on the tour. He's just a fantastic golfer."

For today and Friday, the field of 180 players in the World Open will compete on two courses at Pinehurst Country Club—the 7,007-yard No. 2 course and the 6,885-yard No. 4, both are par 71. The half century will be witnessed in 1974, if not, 1975 could be the turning point for Cheney soccer.

Dream Record Stopped

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Memphis Southmen went to looking for blood and wound up leaving the Birmingham Americans completely drained.

The Southmen, blasted by Birmingham 58-33 earlier this season, vowed revenge and took it Wednesday night, crushing the Americans 46-7 and ending their dream of an unbeaten World Football League season.

Ed Marshall caught three touchdowns, Gary Shirk took another and J.J. Jennings and Willie Spencer each blasted for TDs as Memphis, now 9-2, sent the Americans to the Jacksonville California Stadium to Shirk and blasted to Marshall for the action point and a 20-0 lead. Then Marshall really turned it on.

After Birmingham scored its lone TD on a six-yard pass from Matthew Reed to Dennis Homan, Marshall took a 48-yard TD pass from fullback John Harvey and 12 and six-yarders from Huarte before 36,675 in Memphis.

In other NFL action, the Detroit Wheels upset the Florida Blazers 15-14 before 11,511 at Orlando, the New York Stars ripped the Storm 24-15 before 13,339 in Portland, Ore., the Bell blasted the Jacksonville Sharks 41-23 in overtime before 7,230 in Philadelphia, the Hawaiians beat the Texans 24-17 before 9,861 in Houston and the Southern California Stars topped the Fire 31-28 before 24,827 in Chicago.

Freezing Ocean Currents Eyed As Power Source

REDONDO BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — Huge floating power plants driven by the temperature difference between near-freezing currents deep in the ocean and warm waters at the surface may one day provide pollution-free energy for cities and factories on land.

The idea of harnessing the ocean is an old one, but it has never been successfully demonstrated on a large scale.

Today, however, researchers are working under two separate contracts from the National Science Foundation to see whether theory can be turned into practice to help relieve the energy shortage.

"We foresee the possibility of 100 to 500 megawatt power generating plants operating from floating ocean platforms," said Bob Douglas of TRW Inc., one of the firms to which the NSF turned. "A pilot plant to prove the concept could be operating in the early 1980's."

A plant capable of generating 100 megawatts of electricity might satisfy the needs of residential customers in a city with a population of 300,000 or 400,000 persons.

Lloyd Trimble of Lockheed Missile and Space Co., the firm conducting the other NSF study, said a string of these power plants might be anchored in the Gulf Stream a few miles off the U.S. East Coast to serve cities from Miami northward.

One major question still to be answered, however, is the effect that many of these plants operating in the same area might produce as they cooled the ocean surface and raised daytime solar heating and the cooling effect of evaporation.

Reclassing Beef May Lower Prices

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Consumer beef prices could come down if new Agriculture Department proposals to reclassify certain cuts are approved.

Pressure for such a change in the grading system grew recently when the summer drought sharply reduced the corn crop and increased prices for feed grains used to fatten top quality beef. Officials predict that farmers now will shift to marketing grass-fed cattle, which have less fat.

The grading proposal will be open to consumer and industry review for 90 days.

The new system would give higher classifications to some leaner and lower grade beef. As a result, there would be less cattle to be fed costly grains to achieve the current high grades, which in turn might save shoppers money.

"The net effect, increased production at less cost and less waste fat, could be reflected in lower prices at the retail level," Pierce said.

Additional Exemption For Totally Disabled

Under a new Public Act passed by the 1974 Legislature, totally disabled persons owning taxable property are eligible for up to $1,000 exemption off their assessment. To qualify, a taxpayer must be receiving permanent total disability benefits under the federal old age, survivors, and disability insurance program.

To apply for this exemption, taxpayers should call or write the Social Security office in Hartford requesting a statement of proof that they are 100 per cent disabled and receiving benefits. This statement should then be brought to the Manchester assessor's office in person where the taxpayer will be required to fill out an application in the presence of the assessor or a member of his staff.

are about two-tenths of one per cent below a year ago.

Maine to Help Fisherman

AUGUSTA, Maine (UPI) — Maine is seeking ways to help its coastal fishermen cope with economic losses associated with the new infestation of paralytic shellfish poisoning better known as the red tide, the governor's office says.

"We are discussing the economic affect of this red tide with the Department of Marine Resources to determine what kind of relief can be given the shellfishermen as well as the entire fishing industry," Willis Johnson, a press aide to Gov. Kenneth M. Curtis, said Tuesday.

The head of the Fisheries Development Commission, a private fishing co-op, has already asked Curtis for unemployment insurance and given by President Nixon.

However, while the disaster declaration helped out the fishermen, it also gave the entire fishing industry — including those sectors not affected by red tide — a bad public image.

"This is what we're really worried about this time around," Johnson said. "But we're not sure the fishing industry can stand another crash."

288 Students Enrolled

ANDOVER
Donna Holland
Correspondent
Tel. 646-0375
David Kravet, principal of Andover Elementary School, reported as of opening day the school had an enrollment of 288 students. Kindergarten, 36; Grade 1, 29; Grade 2, 42; Grade 3, 52; Grade 4, 37; Grade 5, 38; and Grade 6, 54.

Kravet said a parent brought to his attention a recall of 1974 General Motors Corp. school buses due to defective brakes and the school owned two 1974 buses. He was happy to report a GMC factory representative checked the buses and found they didn't have to be recalled.

All the buses are in good shape, he said. The only problem is all padding for the seats hasn't been delivered.
A successful training session for new bus drivers and a bus driver session for all drivers checked the buses and found they didn't have to be recalled.

Kravet said the first few school days brought some complaints and concerns expressed by parents. He said adjustments were made when possible.
Kravet told Board of Education members it was an experience in itself when he rode the school buses picking up students en route to school.

One child greeted him with, "I didn't know you lived on the bus."
Kravet was impressed with the safety factors involved and plans to ride all the routes at least once.

Grant Approved
The Board of Education has authorized expenditure of $50 for health education. The amount is fully reimbursable by the state.

The school was notified last spring of state funds available for health education. A letter of intent was submitted to them and the $50 grant was approved.

The money will be used for program development curriculum.
Kravet is preparing an order for books and materials that will be used. He said nutrition is an example what will be taught.

Board Actions
The school board accepted the resignation of Bill Bennett, custodian. Roger Delmastro was appointed custodian for a four-week trial period at a salary of $2.50 an hour.

The school board unanimously approved Dave Turkington, teacher, as acting principal in the event Kravet is absent.
It approved the appointment of Mrs. Person as a special education driver and Mrs. Bonneau as a special education transportation aide.

Reception
The Board of Education invites all school students and their families to an informal gathering to meet Kravet, the new principal.
The gathering will be Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m. at the school.

Adult On File
Ruth Munson, Andover town clerk, reports the adult report for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1974, is on file in the town clerk's office.
It is available for public inspection.

Voter Making Sessions Scheduled in Andover

Donna Holland
Correspondent
646-0375
Andover Town Clerk Ruth Munson has listed dates for voter-making by the Board for Admission of Electors prior to the state election Nov. 5.
The voter-making sessions are scheduled Sept. 28 (4 to 8 p.m.), Sept. 30 (7 to 9 p.m.), Oct. 7 (7 to 9 p.m.), Oct. 12 (10 a.m. to 3 p.m.), and Nov. 13 (5 p.m. to 7 p.m.).
Oct. 12 is the final day anyone living in town prior to Oct. 12 can become a voter. If anyone neglects to become a voter on or before Oct. 12 he will be unable to vote in the November election.

Mrs. Munson emphasized that anyone living in Andover prior to Oct. 12 and eligible to become a voter must do so by that date.
The Nov. 4 session is limited to persons who become 18 years of age on or after Oct. 14, or who become citizens after Oct. 12.

Saved by the Bell

By DONNA HOLLAND
Only seconds remained Tuesday until the Andover Board of Education would accept the resignation of G. William Lange Jr., Grade 6 teacher, when the telephone rang.
Lange recently submitted his resignation to the school board as he was planning to accept a teaching assignment at Cape Cod. Parents of school children were informed of his decision in the Sept. 6 issue of "School Days," a weekly school newsletter.

At the school board meeting Tuesday, Principal David Kravet was just about to read Lange's resignation to board members to get their approval when the telephone rang.
Kravet excused himself.

Dr. David Cattanach, superintendent, jokingly said, "Maybe that's Lange and he's changed his mind about resigning."
Chuckling, Kravet returned to the meeting and announced, "That was Lange. He requested we take no action on his resignation as he will be staying with us."
Believe it or not — that's just the way it happened.

Clinic Set On Control Of Migraine
HARTFORD (UPI) — The Institute of Living will open a clinic Sept. 23 that will use a bio-feedback machine to teach victims of migraine headaches how to control the affliction.
The institute has treated more than 100 patients in the past 18 months on a research basis and officials said eight of 10 patients have learned how to warm their hands in order to rid themselves of painful migraines.
The state Commission on Hospitals and Health Care this week gave formal approval of the new clinical service.

Trooper Fired In Theft Case
HARTFORD (UPI) — A Connecticut state police trooper has been fired for allegedly stealing a bureau and a radio from an abandoned home in Newtown in an act of official described as "poor judgment without criminal intent."
The fired trooper, Anthony P. Pezzimenti, 32, of Ridgefield, told superiors he took the items for use by a state ward who lives in his home.
Lt. Col. Norman S. Tasker said Wednesday Pezzimenti was fired after Third Circuit Court Prosecutor John Scovell refused to issue a requested arrest warrant for Pezzimenti, who joined the force 15 months ago.
Police said the building's owner witnessed the theft and reported it to the trooper's superiors. Police said the theft happened last Friday or Saturday.

Museum Reopens Sunday
The Lutz Junior Museum will reopen its doors to the public Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m. after having been closed since Aug. 1 for extensive exhibit renovations.
During that time, museum staff and volunteers have created a new series of exciting, touchable exhibits for the "Dining Room." These include a Bodega, or Mexican market, the history of money, a American sampler, and a "make-a-steam" pole.
In addition, visitors will delight in the Winnie-the-Pooh figures, the large wooden camel and the story of how it got its hump and an antique trunk filled with dress-up clothes.
All of these displays, as well as others, invite visitors to become actively involved. The exhibits are designed to appeal to a variety of interests and ages — from pre-schoolers on up.
A grant from the Ensworth Foundation has made possible certain additions to the living or animal room such as skeletal display models of a fish, bird, reptile, amphibian and mammal.
It also enabled the museum to purchase two listening stations and film loop projectors for visitors' use. These are partially installed and should be ready for opening day.
The public is invited to visit the museum on its opening day, Sunday, or soon thereafter. Museum hours are 2 to 5 p.m. daily, except Monday. There is no admission charge.

Hartwell Answers Call Of the Sea with Bottles

By STEWART POWELL, MANCHESTER, N.H. (UPI) — The sea. It lures men and sparks their dreams. Allen Hartwell knows because he answered the call.

The lanky 29-year-old professional oceanographer has turned a barefoot fascination into a healthy respect. And despite the piles of charts, graphs and maps stacked around his carpeted office, the fire for the sea still burns in him.

"The important thing you get is a great respect for the sea. It is a frightening, treacherous place. The more you learn about it the more you come to respect it," he says.

"Maybe it's not as romantic as when you first get into this line of work, but then I still get that thrill pacing the deck as we head out."

Hartwell's work has put him on the receiving end of a lot of other people's dreams about the sea.

During the past two years, he has dumped about 4,000 bottles into the massive Gulf of Maine between New Hampshire and Nova Scotia to study the drift wind, tides and water. He's been hearing from people ever since.

"Please if you can send me a little information on what you are doing, as I am very interested in my ocean," wrote a client of Norman Associates, a local consulting firm conducting the offshore experiments, and offers a $1 reward for the return of information about where the bottles were found.

About 20 per cent of the bottles and seabird drifters used to chart undersea currents are recovered.

"I'm sure in 10 or 15 years we'll get one back from England," Hartwell says. "Many finders reject the reward in exchange for a little information." Please keep the bottle on the beach at Plum Island along Massachusetts' North Shore.

Hartwell has concentrated his drift studies on the waters near the seashore. His company's clients include oil companies and New Hampshire's largest power company which plans a $1.2 billion marsh-front power plant on the coast at Seabrook.

The classical oceanographer considers the continental shelf a nuisance.

Hartwell calls his drift experiments pioneering efforts to trace the flow of ocean currents near the shore. The studies show a "net southerly drift" by the Gulf of Maine, but Hartwell says his experiments also do not how vulnerable the near-coastal waters are to oil spill off the Maine-New Hampshire coast would generally move southward toward Boston Harbor and the Atlantic side of Cape Cod, where Hartwell first became intrigued by the sea while still a boy. "I always loved the ocean. I think my summers on Cape Cod were a guiding influence for me," he said.

Not One of the Boys

Rain, Pardon Blamed for Low Turnout

MONTPELIER, Vt. (UPI) — The presidential pardon given to Richard M. Nixon and precipitation were blamed Tuesday for a low voter turnout in Vermont's primary.

"I think maybe it was the Watergate matter coming up just before the election," said Secretary of State Richard Thomas. "This might have sunk the voters back into apathy."

About 80,000 of the state's 280,000 registered voters voted, far fewer than the 100,000 Thomas had predicted.

Most of the state experienced rain during part of the day Tuesday, and Thomas said that "was also a factor."

More Watergate Pardons To Await Court Actions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford and the Senate separately have arrived at the same policy: no pardons for Watergate defendants until they are brought to trial.

How far the understanding would go to ease the weeklong controversy over the pardon issue remains to be seen.

The circumstances of Ford's pardon of former President Nixon were still in dispute, and Ford has yet to reveal his final decision on the closely related issue of amnesty for Vietnam war draft dodgers and deserters.

Asked whether Nixon's health was a factor, Ford replied, "Didn't you read my speech?" When he announced the pardon Sunday, Ford had compared Watergate allegations to a sword "threatening the health" of the former president.

His wife Betty also said, "I think he had a great deal to do with his decision."

For the third day in a row Thursday the Ford administration modified its position on pardons for Watergate defendants.

On Tuesday, White House Acting Press Secretary John W. Hushen said "the entire matter is under study." Wednesday, Hushen said Ford "never, ever planned to give mass amnesty" to these defendants but would consider individual requests.

Thursday Hushen told newsmen: "There was never any intention on our part that the Watergate defendants were about to be pardoned and especially not prior to trial."

No requests for pardons had been received, he said. "If we got one I believe (Ford) wouldn't act on it."

The statement followed a 1½ hour meeting between Ford and Senate Republican leader Hugh Scott.

"I don't know of any congressman or senator who wants a blanket pardon at this time. I do not think the American people want any blanket pardons," Scott told newsmen.

Later in the day, the Senate adopted 52-24 a resolution urging Ford not to grant any future pardons in cases related to the 1972 presidential campaign until the defendants have been tried and all appeals completed.

It has no legal force, but it puts the Senate on record with an opinion.

House Judiciary Committee Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., indicated the House might adopt a similar resolution.

For the six former Nixon aides who are awaiting trial in the Watergate cover-up case, the day was a double disappointment.

Motion Denied

First they learned no pretrial pardons would come from the White House. Then U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica denied motions of three of them to delay or cancel their trial because of the pardon issue.

Lawyers for former Attorney General John N. Mitchell argued that by accepting pardon Nixon implied guilt that jurors would impute this guilt to Nixon's aides and that this would deny them a fair trial.

Mitchell's brief said Ford has "further inflamed the atmosphere by publicly agonizing over whether or not further pardons are to be issued for all 'Watergate persons.'"

Asked if he thought Ford had been serious in suggesting pardons would be issued for defendants, John J. Wilson, H. R. Haldeman's lawyer, replied, "Of course I did, sure."

New Jury Panel

Sirica rejected the arguments by Mitchell, Haldeman and John J. Ehrlichman, but did agree to delay the trial one day from Sept. 30 to Oct. 1 to permit calling a new batch of nearly 1,000 prospective jurors.

In a related area, Nixon's son-in-law David Eisenhower told UPI in an interview that Eisenhower's attorneys sought some form of confession from Nixon before pardoning him Sunday.

"The Ford people wanted some kind of confession from him," Eisenhower said "but he wasn't willing to concede anything."

Presidential counsel Philip Buchen had said Tuesday that Ford never asked for a confession or admission from Nixon but only "as full a statement as possible."

Nixon, in accepting the pardon Sunday, admitted "mistakes and misjudgments," but not wrongdoing.

AMC Announces Price Increases

ROCHESTER, Mich. (UPI) — American Motors Wednesday announced that tentative prices for its 1975 models will average $300 more than comparable 1974 models, the smallest price increase in the industry.

The 7½ per cent increase is more than $100 below those already announced by General Motors and Ford. Chrysler has said its prices will be in the same ballpark as GM and Ford.

AMC Chairman Roy D. Chapin Jr. said the increases, which will be made firm when 1975 autos are introduced in mid-November, are "the minimum we can see because the pressures are, in fact, tremendous."

Chapin told newsmen at the company's new model preview near Detroit that inflation will continue to be a problem in the coming model year.

It isn't going to be business as usual in automotive markets after the dust has settled from events of the 1974. Chapin said. "Car buyer attitudes, I believe, have changed permanently."

Adams - W. Middle Tpke. Plans Aired at Hearing

Plans for reconstruction of Adams St. W. Middle Tpke. were presented at a public hearing in the Wadsworth School on Broad St. Thursday night.

Walter R. Foss of Oriswood and Foss Engineering Inc., contracted by the town in 1973 to design the work, made the presentation. He used slides to illustrate his talk and show the areas where work would be done.

Town Manager Robert B. Weiss conducted the hearing which was attended by about 40 people. He said statements or exhibits, in addition to those made at the hearing, may be submitted by a Sept. 23 deadline, either to the office of the town clerk in Manchester or to George Koch, deputy transportation commissioner, Bureau of Highways, 24 Wolcott Hill Rd., Westfield.

Widening Adams

Foss said plans call for widening Adams St. from its intersection with Center St. to 30 feet along the length of the project, which ends about 200 feet south of the bridge over the Hockanum River near Mal Tool. The road narrows now in some areas to about 25 feet.

On the Turnpike, the roadway would be widened to 46 feet. That portion of the project runs from the intersection near East Catholic High School to the west entrance of Manchester Parkade.

To Improve Traffic

Minor work would be done at Adams and Center St. to create a better circulation of traffic there, Foss said. Some trees would be removed on the west side of the street, he said, and also what limited sidewalks there are there would go. Sidewalks would run the length of the project on the east side of the street, he said.

Little work will be done near East Catholic, Foss said. Some trees would be eliminated on the north side of the Turnpike in that area and there would be sidewalks on both sides of the street.

The signlighting would be improved at Deerfield Dr.

Grass strips would separate sidewalks from the road all along the project, Foss said.

Strongman Takes Over

LOURENCO MARQUES, Mozambique (UPI) — Portugal's new military overseas moved today to keep angry blacks and whites from delaying explosive Mozambique's transition to independence.

Sentenced to Death

ATLANTA (UPI) — A Superior Court jury sentenced Marcus Wayne Chenault to death by electrocution Thursday for killing Mrs. Martin Luther King Sr. and a church deacon.

Man Accused of Murder

TORRINGTON (UPI) — A 19-year-old Norfolk man was arrested today for the murder of a 24-year-old woman whose body was found sprawled on the edge of a college parking lot, police said.

Police searched late Thursday found the body of Miss Mary Joan Campbell about 10 feet from the edge of a parking lot at the Torrington campus of the University of Connecticut.

She had been missing since Tuesday night when her roommate said she left work at Union Hardware Division of Brunswick Corp.

Police said they arrested Raymond C. Ludden early today. He was ordered held on $100,000 bond.

Police said they did not think Miss Campbell was dying. But both Wadsworth and the state coroner said she died of a gunshot wound.

The search began Thursday after police questioned Ludden who was at Charlotte Hungerford Hospital with injuries received in an automobile accident that morning.

Officers declined to disclose the cause of death, but a witness reported seeing blood around the young woman's head when her body was found.

CIA's Colby Defends Agency Role

WASHINGTON (UPI) — CIA Director William E. Colby defended the agency's secret activities today as essential to insure American security, lest the nation "risk subordination to possible adversaries."

In a speech prepared for a hostile symposium on the CIA, Colby acknowledged covert CIA operations as essential to here, my statement might be used to challenge the credibility of the intelligence community," he said.

Legality Challenged

The meeting, sponsored by the National Security Studies section of the privately financed Fund for Peace, has castigated covert CIA operations as a violation of international law and the U.N. Charter.

Former officials of the CIA, State Department and Pentagon intelligence groups, authors, researchers, and journalists came with new ammunition — the disclosure through "leaks" that the CIA spent from $3 million to $4 million trying to "destabilize" the Marxist

Discuss Oil Prices

VIENNA (UPI) — Western economists warned today of a possible new round of gasoline and home heating oil price hikes this winter if petroleum-producing countries go ahead with plans to increase profits.

Petroleum ministers from the world's major oil-exporting countries met today to work out details of a proposal to pocket a bigger share of fuel profits to compensate for inflation.

The Western economists said the move would leave the major international oil companies with the dilemma of absorbing the increased payments or passing their losses on to consumers.

Jamshid Amouzegar, Iran's chief petroleum official, said he would not join the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries would decide on an increase of "something between zero and 14 per cent."

Mothers' Meeting

BOSTON (UPI) — Motorcycle police provided armed escort for buses today and police broke up groups of three or more persons near schools as classes resumed for a second day in Boston under a court ordered desegregation program.

The head of the Boston chapter of the NAACP said he will go to court to get federal marshals assigned to escort black children into South Boston. "I don't want my kids used as cannon fodder," Thomas I. Atkins said.

Strict security, ordered near all schools by Mayor Kevin H. White, was evident and effective. The scene at South Boston High School and Gavin School, where hundreds of rowdy spectators gathered Thursday, was quiet and orderly today. There were no crowds and only a few neighbors looked out of windows, stood in doorways or sat on porches, as the buses passed.

Four persons, including three women, were arrested today on disorderly conduct charges near South Boston High School, the scene of widespread student boycotts and sporadic disturbances Thursday.

Opposition to Nixon Transition Funds Build

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Bitter, at times angry, Democratic opposition is building in Congress to an $850,000 request to pay for former President Richard M. Nixon's transition to private life.

"I think the country will stand for it," declared Rep. George Shipley, D-Ill.

"As one who has been pardoned from crimes, he is less worthy to be the world's president as good ones or bad ones but to make the transition as smoothly as possible."

Sampson received critical questioning Wednesday from a Senate appropriations subcommittee chaired by Sen. Joseph Montoya, D-N.M., who said the USA had been given a "screw job" by Nixon's aides.

Two Laws Involved

The money would be provided under two separate laws, an annual fund made available for all former presidents — including pension, offices and staff salaries — and a one-time fund for transitional expenses, including assistance to screen 5½ years of presidential papers.

Much of the criticism has centered on the USA's request for $110,000 to install a massive vault 12 miles from Nixon's estate in San Clemente in which the Watergate tapes and other materials will be stored under a 24-hour guard. Two keys will be needed to open the vault, one in Nixon's possession and the other kept by Sampson.

Friday the 13th, Unlucky? Maybe Yes - Maybe No

Did you wake up this morning thinking something was wrong? Was your head in a whirl and your heart without song? Was your razor so dull you got cuts on your face? Was the car kind of sluggish and the traffic in season? Was the orange juice warm and the coffee ice cold? Was the newspaper torn and the news a day old? Did your wife get upset when you said there's no money? Did you burp out the door when she said, "Don't get funny?" Was the car kind of sluggish and the traffic in season? Were your fights in the office without rhyme or reason? Forget it, dear friend, and don't feel unusual.

It happens to many — you'll find on personal.

It's the thirteenth, a Friday, when some people say, "If it happens, it happens — it was meant that way."
