Linwood Sewers Item Put on Agenda Again

Proposed sanitary sewers on Linwood Dr., rejected last month, will be considered again by the Manchester Board of Directors Oct. 1, at 8 p.m. meeting in the Municipal Building Hearing Room.

The proposal was defeated Aug. 20 on three consecutive 3 to 5 votes. Needed to approve were five affirmative votes. The new consideration is in reply to a new petition for the sewers from five Linwood Dr. property owners.

The board will conduct a public hearing on the proposal Oct. 1 — on a proposed $25,000 appropriation, to be financed by temporary notes which, in turn, would be paid from anticipated income from sewer assessments. Involved are seven parcels.

The last time the proposal was considered, three Democrats on the board abstained, two because they

Town Must Determine Priorities For Better Communities Funding

By DOUG BEVINS
Manchester's dormant Citizens Advisory Committee, an agency created by ordinance several years ago, may be reactivated in a revised form to determine priorities for spending $1.88 million in federal funds expected to be received in the next four years.

Town Manager Robert Weiss, speaking before the Mayor's Downtown Action Committee today, said town officials will be reviewing old reports, recommendations of the Community Development Action Plan (CDAP), and studying new projects to prepare an application for funds under the recently enacted Housing and Community Development Act of 1974, called the Better Communities Act.

The town has to prepare an initial three-year plan for using the annual $470,000 federal allocation, Weiss said, and update the plan each year. There are few limitations on how the money can be spent, Weiss said, but the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development will review the spending each year.

Hospital, Union Study Proposals

Manchester Memorial Hospital officials met on Monday with representatives of Local 1199 of the Drug and Alcohol Hospital Union, AFL-CIO, and presented initial proposals for a new contract.

Andre Marmen, director of public relations and development for the hospital, said the two-hour meeting was a very cordial one. He said hospital officials had been studying a list of initial demands presented by the union at a meeting last Thursday.

Plumbing Problem Cuts Hot Lunches

Suspension of Bennett Junior High School's hot lunch program today was caused by a complicated plumbing problem in the school's kitchen, according to Manchester School Supt. James P. Kennedy.

It wasn't related to construction work under way at the school, apparently involves a solid obstruction somewhere in the building's kitchen, according to Manchester School Supt. James P. Kennedy.

Manchester Evening Herald OPINION

Facing Up to a Challenge

In addressing the United Nations, President Gerald Ford has placed the United States in the forefront of a world challenge.

That challenge is hunger and starvation which faces millions, energy needs so crucial toward any solution of human food needs, and inflation which poses a threat to the well-fed as well as the starving.

While many specifics remain to be worked out, it represents a humanitarian goal in the highest tradition of the Marshall Plan which America instituted following World War II and a more real and harsh goal of survival for our nation and others who by-and-large do not suffer the extremes of hunger.

In the field of energy, we are dependent to a degree on other nations but not totally so. Yet, it is in our national interest that the energy have not be protected from domination by the nations having energy surpluses.

And inflation is a worldwide problem which ultimately must be resolved on a world-wide basis. Our own inflation is acute but not critically so as it is in nations such as Italy which is on the verge of bankruptcy and underdeveloped nations which are being stripped of funds for human needs by inflation-induced rising costs of imports.

These three problems are inter-related and it will be not only a challenge to the United States but to the United Nations to bring about the climate of trust and mutual concern needed to develop effective means of coping with all three.

As we understand the President's intentions, the United States stands willing to cooperate, not only in the terms of sharing some of its material blessings with other nations but more important, we are extending technological assistance to those desiring it to help them increase food production, stabilize their monetary systems, and cooperate with them in formulating a global energy policy.

As the President said, "It would be tempting for the United States — beset by inflation and soaring energy prices — to turn a deaf ear to external appeals for food assistance, or to respond to internal appeals for export controls. But however difficult our own economic situation, we recognize that the plight of others is worse."

We can only hope that other major nations in both the East and West will see fit to cast aside narrow nationalistic ambitions and join with this nation in an attempt to solve the problems of hunger, energy and inflation. We cannot do it alone.

Food Prices and Roads

We've been told we can blame high food prices on:

The Russian wheat deal last year; The drought this past summer; Changing tastes brought about by overall increase in our income;

Our desire for convenience, pre-packaged and pre-cooked foods; The nation's restrictions on food imports;

The nation's liberal export policies; The higher wages of food processing workers;

Higher profit taking by the middlemen;

And, increased world demand for food.
Now if any or all of these reasons don't satisfy you as you run through the check stand with a wallet-emptying partial cartful of groceries, be thankful you don't live in Georgia.

It seems residents of the Peach State, in addition to having their food costs go up for all the reasons above, are having their food budgets strained by poor roads.

A transportation group this week released a report alleging that 47,565 miles of Georgia roads are "intolerable" and do not meet federal standards to facilitate the faster movement of goods.

"Every time city shoppers pass a supermarket checkout stand," the report states, "they pay in part for slow, costly farm-to-market trucking."

Which leads us to another reason being voiced in some quarters for rising food costs: The increased loss of productive farmlands to highway construction.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — This opinion will go against the tide. Today, virtually every economist of note is raving to outdo his fellows in outlining the sad state of the economy. Daily, these men inflame their forecasts of gloom and doom. But the underlying economy is in sound shape, only terrible mismanagement from the top and paralyzing fear among money managers can create the dreadful economic shambles now being forecast.
This is not to discount the suffering caused by skyrocketing prices and rising unemployment, nor the possibility of probability of mismanagement both in Washington and in the offices of banks, investment funds and other financial institutions often governed by emotionalism.
But consider these facts:
Industries whose output is crucial to economic recovery and for the control of inflation are now expanding at record speed. Orders for machine tools and industrial machinery urgently needed for expanding production of critical materials have exceeded capacity, not for a few weeks but for months after months of late. Plants for turning out fertilizer are being constructed as a pace so rapid fear is already being voiced of overcapacity.
Industrial construction is well above last year. Steel, copper and chemical output has been running at 90 per cent of capacity.
Prospects are bright for a bumper food crop in 1975. The particular combination of factors which blasted hopes for a record in corn this year (and which will probably result in a 6 per cent decline in major food and feed grains overall) aren't likely two years in a row.
Food and fertilizer, machine tools, machinery, steel, chemicals, aluminum and a variety of other industrial materials and semiconductors are the bedrock for a healthy economy. And here is precisely where the action is.
The industries now suffering — automobile manufacturing, home construction and some consumer nondurables — are competing for those very materials required for expanding industries. The consumer is wise in making cutbacks here for if we are to have the necessary expansion in industries which underpin our economy, those purchases must be postponed whenever they can. These actions by the consumer will make possible the expansion in basic capacity which will mean more homes and a higher standard of living with less inflation down the road.
We are thus heading in the right direction in industrial and food production. The flaw, as indicated above, lies in the fiscal policies of the government and in the management of the money and credit markets.

about making speeches about "America's might," the report is most reading. Entitled "U.S. Energy Prospects: An Engineering Viewpoint," it offers practically no hope for self-sufficiency by 1980.
— Nixon's goal — and very little by 1985. There is, first, the money involved. The NAE report estimates that further development of energy sources will cost a whopping $600-billion over the next 11 years. That's $5-billion more than the combined assets of Fortune Magazine's 500 leading industrial corporations. Therefore, new venture capital will have to be found somewhere, and $600-billion is not going to suddenly materialize unless its lenders are guaranteed a reasonable return on its use.
Energy planners are looking to coal as one solution. The goal is 128 billion tons a year by 1985, compared with 600 million tons in 1973. That means we'll have to have 290,000 miners by 1985, as against only 165,000 today.
There's atomic energy. But problems with plants already built and delays in construction of others have caused the NAE to conclude that electrical output from nuclear sources in the early 1980s will fall short of expectations by about 50 million kilowatts. The NAE acknowledges that oil shale development looks promising, but points out that the amount of oil recoverable at present-day economic prices is limited, and development will be slowed by environmental and water resources considerations.

In short, as the administration official said, the crisis will be with us for some time. Even then, the chances are small that we'll ever be able to stop importing crude oil. NAE President Robert C. Seamans Jr., a former Air Force secretary, says that even if we manage to balance supply and demand we'll still have to continue importing some two million barrels of oil a year. Before the Arab oil embargo, the U.S. was importing about six million barrels a day from all foreign sources.
As winter beckons, the outlook could be grim indeed. Says the administration official: "If anything goes wrong — war in the Middle East, a series of crippling strikes in the energy industry, too many automobiles burning too much gasoline — the winter of 1975-76 will make last year's winter look like a season of content."

Park Staff Overworked: Tureck

By EARL YOST

"We're in difficulty and now instead of progressing, we are regressing," Ernest Tureck, Park Department superintendent, told members of the Advisory Park and Recreation Commission last night as monthly meetings resumed.
He noted that Mel Siebold, Recreation Department director, had expanded the summer program 100 per cent and the park maintenance crew, which was already overworked, has not increased.

"We are going to lose one fall season," Tureck added. "We are not out of the twister (last fall) and the ice storm (last winter) and we can't even get around to pruning trees because my men are working on Case Mountain."
"If there is no grass on the ball fields next season, don't blame the Park Department. We can't plant grass and be working at Case Mountain at the same time," Park workers are preparing the road at Case Mountain as a priority project.

"The situation is real serious," he added. "We will also have to put up the fence when it arrives, and as professional men would need 60 days, we will need 90 days, which will put us in the snow season," he added.
"We will lose one full season of conditioning the fields for next year because of our work load. The fields may not be seeded."

"I'd like to get back into the recreation and park work and get out of public works," Tureck continued.
"It's very plain where the problems are," he said.
He noted that his men have to police Case Mountain daily to clean our barrels of trash and it takes the better part of one morning for a man to perform this task, which is extra work.
Ron Gates, commission chairman, said he, and fellow members, realized the manpower shortage and will alert Robert Weiss, town manager, of the present conditions.

"East Catholic will scream when the football field isn't ready at Mt. Nebo for their home games, and they are paying for the use of the field. The midjet (football) league will scream, too. The Bennett Junior High football team has its own field but uses Mt. Nebo for practice. We just can't maintain the fields anymore," Tureck said.

Lien on Buses Affects Town Fee

SOUTH WINDSOR
JUDY KUEHNEL
The South Windsor School Department has been ordered to pay the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) $12,000 of any money it has intended to pay the U.S. Frink Bus Co. The action came as a result of a Notice of Levy by the IRS against Robert Goodwin, owner of both the Frink and Goodwin Bus Companies.

Police Seek Funding for Hand Radios

HARTFORD (UPI) — Connecticut Police Association is asking for $4.1 million in federal anti-crime funds to provide every policeman in the state with a portable radio. The association said its members, crime-fighting priority is to provide communication for each of the state's 5,804 officers and detectives. Goodwin reserved comment on the IRS action stating only "I know nothing about it. I've received no such papers from the IRS, and I don't know if our social security payment has been paid." The papers were served to School Business Manager Donald Mercere late Thursday according to both the IRS and School Superintendent Robert Goldman.

Fitts Regrets Lack of Consultation On Bus Decision

South Windsor Councilman Howard (Happ) Fitts said that while he has no quarrel with the Board of Education in its decision to fire Frink Bus Co. and hire Hayes Co. of Rocky Hill, he feels the education subcommittee of the council should have been notified of the pending decision. Fitts said the board "should have come to us and said they had a problem. I have no criticism with the action." Mayor Robert Smith said that he felt that the education subcommittee should have "taken the initiative" and that Superintendent of Schools Robert Goldman's decision to fire Frink was "an emergency decision."

Walks Dispute Back on Agenda

The Democrats on the Vernon Town Council finally won a round last Monday night and the matter of the installation of the West Road sidewalk will come up for discussion at the next council meeting, Oct. 7. Several times in the past the four Democrats on the 12-member council have attempted to reactivate discussion on what they said they feel are inequities in the figures concerning the number of feet of sidewalk installed and the price paid. The contract called for installation of the walk for a certain distance and after the contract was signed it was found the distance had to be farther, and this is where the disagreement came in concerning the additional feet and the final price.

Assessor Urges Listing Of Property

COVENTRY
Monica Shea
Correspondent
Tel. 742-9495
The assessor's office has reminded residents that all personal property must be declared during the month of October. Personal property acquired after Oct. 1, 1973 is exempt from local taxes. However it must be listed and filed on Form M-1-A available at the assessor's office. Failure to file new acquisitions will result in the following penalty: property will be entered on the tax list at full market value. Personal property acquired before Oct. 1, 1973 must be filed in the usual manner. Veterans are reminded to file their DD214 with the town clerk before Oct. 1 to be eligible for the $1000 exemption. New legislation provides a $1,000 exemption for persons receiving total disability payments from Social Security. Forms are available at the assessor's office to be filled between Oct. 1, 1974 and Jan. 31, 1975 for this exemption. Another new law eliminates the annual filing of farm and forest land. The assessor's office requests, however, that qualified persons file this year to give the office an updated list to work with.

New Books
Among the new books recently received at the library are: "The Mallen Street," Harrison, "Best Science Fiction," Swinerton, "Rosaling Passes," Westheimer, "The Olney Head," and Whittle, "The Widow of Windsor." New non-fiction include: Dorcas, "Handbook for Freezing Foods," Feininger, "Darkroom Techniques," Gibbons, "Stalking the Paradoxes," Gordon, "Parent Effectiveness Training," Holt, "Escape from Childhood," Kranz, "Gardening Indoors Under Lights," Marlin, "Stitchery, Needlepoint, Applique and Patchwork," and Paradies, "The Kitchen Book."

Tax Bills
The tax collector's office will be re-billing all motor vehicles and personal property bills that have not been paid as of Sept. 16. Any motor vehicle tax not paid by Sept. 30 will be reported to the Motor Vehicle Department as delinquent.

Next Thursday
The steering committee of the Nathan Hale School parents group will have an open meeting Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the school. Parents are invited. Maureen Danahy of the steering committee said, "Last year Dr. Donald Hardy and Edward Mahoney felt there was a need for increased parental involvement in our middle school. In response, a group of interested parents met with Mr. Mahoney and thus the lines of communication between the school and home were opened."

"As a result of everyone's effort, parents learned more about their children's school and how it operated. In order for this to continue, parents are asked to attend a meeting at the school at which time plans will be made for the coming year."

OBITUARIES

Town to Apply For Walks Grant

Mrs. Corina Caspanella
VERNON — Mrs. Corina M. Caspanella, 74, of Campbell Ave. died this morning at home after a long illness.

Mrs. Caspanella was born in Mexico and had lived in Vernon for the past few months. She was a retired seamstress.

Survivors are 4 daughters, Mrs. Corina Lane of Vernon, Mrs. Irene Smith of Ellington, Mrs. Lucretia Rogers of Maine and Sister Inez Marian of New York City; a son, Henry Caspanella of Pomona, N.Y.; and 20 grandchildren.

The funeral is Saturday with a Mass at Sacred Heart Church at 11:15 a.m. Burial will be in Ellington Center Cemetery.

The Burke-Fortin Funeral Home, 76 Prospect St., Rockville, is in charge of arrangements.

There are no calling hours. The family suggests that any memorial contributions be made to the American Cancer Society, 237 E. Center St., Manchester.

Joseph J. Midlin
Joseph J. Midlin, 77, of Bidwell St. died Thursday at a Manchester convalescent home.

Mr. Midlin was born in Pinski, Russia, and had lived in the Poquonock-Windsor area for 25 years before coming to Manchester. He had been employed as a carpenter in the Hartford area for many years.

Survivors are 2 sons, Stanley Midlin of Manchester and John Midlin of South Windsor; 4 daughters, Mrs. Mary Muszynski and Mrs. Jean Peterson, both of Hartford, and Mrs. Blanche Banasek and Mrs. Wanda Kozlowski, both of Windsor; 12 grandchildren and 2 great-grandchildren.

The funeral is Saturday at 10:15 a.m. from the Carmo-Poquonock Funeral Home, 1816 Poquonock Ave., Poquonock, with a Mass at St. Joseph's Church, Poquonock, at 11. Burial will be in St. Joseph's Cemetery, Poquonock.

There are no calling hours. This ordinance allows sidewalks to be constructed where the Vermont Traffic Authority rules there are hazards for children walking to school. The cost of these particular walks comes from the general town budget and the builders do not have to pay half as they do in other areas.

Mayor McCoey noted that the ordinance is very similar to the new state statute concerning sidewalks. He said the state law had much of its motivation from the Connecticut Conference of Mayors, "where I, as vice president, have been urging this type of legislation."

The mayor said during the past five years the town has installed 15 miles of sidewalks.

Library Board Okays Bookmobile Contract

The town Library Board Wednesday night approved contract signing for the purchase of a bookmobile from the Gerstenlager Co. of Wooster, Ohio, after further conferences with the company's sales representatives.

The board authorized its chairman, Dr. William E. Buckley, and vice-chairman, Leo P. Diana, to sign the contract after conferences with Gerstenlager representatives to discuss vehicle specifications.

The Gerstenlager Co. submitted the low bid of $47,750 for the purchase of a forward-control type bookmobile at a base price of $35,904 and $748 of Strebensky, Mass. will provide access to the bookmobile for handicapped persons.

Only one other bid was submitted on the vehicle, and that was from the Thomas Moroney Co. of Strebensky, Mass. with a bid of $40,350 for the basic forward control type, and a bid on the optional lift at $5,800.

The Moroney Co. also submitted a bid of $37,750 for a school bus-type vehicle and the same price as above on the optional lift.

The difference in bid prices on the optional lift, said John Jackson, head librarian, is in the type of lift considered by each company. The higher priced lift offered by the Moroney Co. is an elevator-type lift, said Jackson.

Jackson said conferences with the Gerstenlager representatives would probably be Monday. He said they would discuss several minor specification adjustments and how they would be made.

If the meeting results prove satisfactory, Jackson said the bookmobile contract would probably be signed at that time in order to take advantage of the Gerstenlager prices which are effective only until Sept. 28.

Orioles on Top First Time Since July 13

NEW YORK (UPI) — In first place for the first time since July 13, the Baltimore Orioles are the obvious favorites to win the American League's Eastern race.

They are, that is, unless you talk to Manager Bill Virdon of the New York Yankees.

Virdon thinks the Orioles "still have their work cut out for them" even after they took over first place by a half game with a three-game series sweeping 7-0 victory over the Yankees Thursday night behind Dave McNally's three-hitter.

"We're still theoretically tied," said Virdon, pointing out that the Yankees are only a half game behind but have one more game to play than the Orioles. "Naturally, I'm not happy about what happened tonight but it's still a day-to-day proposition."

Manager Earl Weaver of the Orioles took a different point of view—as might be expected of a manager who

Pirates as Good This season As Giusti Murtaugh Claims

NEW YORK (UPI) — Manager Danny Murtaugh sums up the strength of the Pittsburgh Pirates in two words — Dave Giusti.

"Our club this year has been as good as Giusti has been in the bullpen," says the Pirates' skipper.

After Thursday night, what more can the rest of the Pirate club say except "Amen."

Giusti, who missed 11 days because of a back injury, returned to action Thursday night against the National League East Division-leading St. Louis Cardinals and turned in a superb performance to protect an 8-5 Pittsburgh victory which moved the Pirates to within a half-game of the division leaders.

Giusti took over for reliever Ramon Hernandez in the eighth inning and pitched out of jams in the eighth and ninth to preserve Pittsburgh's second triumph in a row over the Cardinals.

His performance in the ninth was spectacular as he got himself into a jam by giving up two singles then struck out the three most dangerous hitters in the Cardinals' lineup, the last one coming with the tying runs in scoring position.

Low Brock and Ted Sizemore led off the ninth inning with hits for St. Louis, but Giusti managed Reggie Smith and Ted Simmons. Brock and Sizemore then engineered a double steal only to have Giusti strike out Joe Torre to end the game.

"You do it or you don't do it," said Giusti in reference to his final strikeout. "It's power versus power. I know I'm throwing the fastball and he knows I'm throwing the fastball. There was some exhilaration involved because this isn't April. I think we're the type of team we were in '71. We were down two games to Baltimore (in the World Series) but we don't give up. That's the type of team this is."

The Cardinals demonstrated their come-from-behind techniques against the Pirates with a five-run seventh inning rally that pulled them from a 4-3 deficit to an 8-4 advantage. A two-run double by Willie Stargell and a three-run homer by Richie Hebner highlighted the inning and both hits came off relief ace Al Hrabosky, who had been virtually unhittable the past several weeks.

In the only other scheduled NL action, Los Angeles trimmed San Diego 11-2, Cincinnati beat San Francisco 8-4 and Chicago topped Philadelphia 7-4.

Willie Crawford drove in three runs with a double and two singles and Steve Yeager ripped a three-run homer to spark the Dodgers' triumph over the Padres. Don Sutton went eight innings to record his 17th win while Mike Marshall pitched the ninth to tie a major league record for games finished (77).

Tiger Rookie Stops Reeling, Hopeful Red Sox

BOSTON (UPI) — The Boston Red Sox have turned another pitcher into a hero.

The latest hurler to stand against the reeling Red Sox is rookie Vernon Riffe, who might as well have been Cy Young himself Thursday night as he two-hit Boston in a 1-0 victory for the Detroit Tigers.

Riffe pitched seven innings, outwitting every pathetic Red Sox bat except that of another rookie—Fred Lynn, who homered and singled sharply for the only safeties.

"I had pretty good stuff, a good fastball and a slider that was shaky but moved around," said the 23-year-old Riffe, making his third major appearance and first start since being purchased from Evansville.

Manager Ralph Houk lifted the native of Midland, Mich., in favor of ace reliever John Hiller, who yielded a ninth-inning single to Carl Yastrzemski but preserved the youngster's first big league win.

The victory kept the last place Tigers in the American League East race, technically, and dimmed Boston's fading flag hopes.

The Tigers are 12 games back with 12 to play while Boston is three games back with 13 left. Boston's last realistic chance to reach for the pennant comes this weekend during a three-game home series against the division leading Baltimore Orioles, who are three games ahead of the third place Sox.

"This race still is anybody's ballgame," said Tiger Manager Ralph Houk, who a year ago managed the Yankees. "But I think Baltimore will win it because they've lost last night in the biggest game of the season for the Yankees and Orioles."

Houk's young Tigers, who bear no resemblance to the slow, power hitting Detroit teams of yore—except that Al Kaline still delivers key hits—can be the spoilers that help the Yankees back into the pennant. Detroit plays five more games against Baltimore, four more against Boston and no more against New York.

"We're not that easy," warned Houk. "Everybody thinks when you're in the cellar, you're an easy touch. But you body forgets—with 12 games left we're just 12 back. So how bad can we be?"

The Red Sox found out what they always have known: that the Tigers are not bad at all when they play Boston. Riffe was untouchable, except for Lynn, and Jim Nettles was more than poor Luis Tiant could handle. Then there was Kaline.

Tiant, unsuccessful in six tries for victory No. 21, yielded an RBI single to Kaline, the retiring veteran's 2,997th career hit, for a 1-0 first inning lead. Lynn, 7-for-11 in the Detroit series, rocketed a Riffe curve into the centerfield bleachers in the second and ripped a single in the fifth for Boston's only offense.

"There's one thing in this game of baseball that no man can explain and that's team batting," said beleaguered Boston Manager Darrell Johnson. "It's no one man's fault, it's all of us. But something has to happen; maybe a bloop single at the right time will snap us out of it."

That blop had better fall tonight when Boston's Dick Drago, 6-9, faces Ross Grimsley, 17-13, in the opener of the Detroit series, rocketed a Riffe curve into the centerfield bleachers in the second and ripped a single in the fifth for Boston's only offense.

But between the Lynn hits came a two-run Tiger fourth. Bill Freehan walked and Reggie Sanders singled before Nettles' two-run triple.

It was the last hit allowed by Tiant, who retired the final 16 batters. But despite a five hit, six strikeout performance, the Red Sox failed to get him more than one run for the fifth time in his last six outings.

"There's one thing in this game of baseball that no man can explain and that's team batting," said beleaguered Boston Manager Darrell Johnson. "It's no one man's fault, it's all of us. But something has to happen; maybe a bloop single at the right time will snap us out of it."

Foreign Librarians Visit in November

About 27 members of the International Federation of Library Administrators will visit here early in November.

Head Librarian John Jackson told the Library Board Wednesday night.

The visitors will represent England, Wales, Scotland, Germany, the Netherlands, Iran and Korea, said Jackson.

He said the foreign dignitaries are one of three groups that will visit libraries throughout the country. The other groups will be based in California and in Chicago, he said.

They will probably tour the Mary Cheney Library and other town library facilities and the bookmobile operation. Jackson said they would probably be here for a luncheon.

Experience Degree Plan Announced

HARTFORD (UPI) — The Board for State Academic Awards will begin Oct. 1 to enroll candidates for a program to earn a two-year college degree while by examinations based on knowledge of college-level subjects.

The program will have no admission requirements, time limits or class attendance requirements. Degrees will be awarded solely for test performance, regardless of how the information was acquired. Mrs. Doris Cassidy, board chairman, said Thursday.

The degree, the associate of arts, recognizes the equivalent of the first two years of study at a liberal arts college. Candidates will be tested on knowledge in the humanities, history and the social sciences, mathematics and science. The board will also recognize certain college courses and military service school courses. Cost of registration is $50.

GARDENING WITH FRANK ATWOOD

Our next-door neighbors, the Dodes, were cooking something on their charcoal grill and the tantalizing order drew us across the driveway...

While she removed the skins, Mrs. Dodge also cut away the stem of the pepper and removed the seeds. The cooked pulp, all she had left, went into pint-size plastic freezer containers...

The charcoal grill is not essential. Peppers can be roasted in a pan. Mrs. Dodge said, in the oven, but using the grill is more fun.

Planted Large Garden Mr. Dodge, an electrician by trade, managed a sizable vegetable garden this summer in an informal partnership with his father-in-law, Angelo Pasqualini, who has had a garden for many years...

For once, Joel said, "We had all the sweet corn we wanted." But talking with "Didi" about canning, I learned for the first time that there is an acute shortage of all kinds of closures for canning jars...

Extension Service in Vernon came away with a bulletin published by Cornell University, which cost 50 cents. For stewed tomatoes, it said, "Select tomatoes that are ripe and free from blemish; wash, seed two minutes to loosen skin, peel and core, cut into pieces and simmer until tender."

There was the usual caution that the tomatoes used for freezing, and one inch of head room should be left in the containers. Cornell said just bring to a boil. Miss Webb has been quoted, "US News and World Report on the shortage of canning jar closures in an article which said the shortage is nationwide."

Miss Cora Webb, home economist with the Tolland County Extension Service for many years, confirmed the report. Her office, she said, gets probably 25 calls a day with the same question, to which the same negative answer must be given.

Freezing Tomatoes Callers are told that Extension Service does not know, either, where anyone can buy jar closures, but there is a positive sequel. If you have freezer space, the positive answer is, use your freezer. This applies, in spite of the fact that you may have heard to the contrary, to tomatoes. They can be
