Contractor To Revise School Bus Schedules

COVENTRY
Coventry's school bus contractor has been told to work out an entirely new busing schedule by Oct. 10 which the Board of Education hopes will resolve problems that have been drawing complaints from residents.

An agreement to devise the new schedule was reached in an executive session attended by most board members, school officials, and representatives of the contractor Thursday night at Coventry High School.

It was announced by Joan Lewis, chairman of the board, at the outset of a board meeting at the school.

Several of the problems came up for discussion at the meeting, most of them for at least a second time.

Mrs. Lewis said the objective of the new schedule was to achieve a constant pickup time for students.

Mrs. Lewis said a minibus or van would be tried as a means of picking up students from Riley Mountain Rd. where it is apparently dangerous for a full-sized bus to maneuver.

She said two members of the board, Robert Walsh and Anthony Pelice, both bus up the road and concluded it was dangerous.

Mrs. Charles White, who has complained about the situation there, told the board that unless the problem is solved she will petition for a hearing under terms of state law.

Suzanne Brainard wondered about the possibility of using Hindman Rd. as a means of getting from Springdale Rd. back to Rt. 31.

Dr. Ashley later moved that the transportation committee's recommendation for using a van or minibus on Riley Mountain Rd. be accepted. The board did accept it.

The board also voted in favor of a safety plan for such a route on the Springdale road which was delayed until the town explores the possibility of road improvements there.

And the board voted to ask the town manager to develop a safety plan for such a route on the Springdale road which was delayed until the town explores the possibility of road improvements there.

Some members of the board suggested alternatives. Thomas Hill said he isn't convinced some way cannot be found to turn a bus around on Springdale Rd. Dr. Richard Ashley said one recommendation of the board was that the town explore the possibility of reconstruction there and he said he would like to wait for a reply from town officials on that point before a decision is made.

Case Mt. Encampment

Above is a view of part of an elaborate encampment set up in a remote area of the town's Case Mt. Property as it looked Thursday night. Below is another view of the site showing campsite furniture left behind along with a lot of debris. The campers were gone apparently because they became aware of the fact that town officials had located the site.

Case Mt. Encampment

Case Mt. Encampment

An unidentified group of "squatters" who had set up an encampment on town-owned Case Mt. land broke camp and left, apparently hours before police set out to post a kind of eviction notice at the campsite.

The camp, which appeared to be well-equipped and well-established, was discovered Wednesday by a Park Department employee who was part of a crew installing a fence nearby to divide the town land from land still retained by members of the Demmon family, original owners of the park-like site.

Police had inspected the camp, deep in the woods near the top of Case Mt., before it was broken up and found it fully equipped for camp living. No one was there at the time, however.

Yesterday, when Police Chief James Reardon and Det. Capt. Joseph Santos went to the site, the camp had been dismantled. All that remained was the drainage trenches that had fringed tents.

Dixieland Concert Sunday in Park

Ken Morgester's Jazz Band featuring Dixieland music will play the Concert Series 74 Sunday at 2 p.m. in Center Park. Should the weather be inclement, the concert will be in the auditorium of Howell Cheney Technical School at 73 West Middle Turnpike.

The concert is being sponsored by the Retail Trade Commission of the Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce. No stranger to Manchester, Ken Morgester has performed at post country and private clubs to the young people at a college party concert.

Just plain good music for all is wrapped up in this new package called "The New Sound of Dixie." An outstanding collection of musicians whose personal philosophies and individual talents enable them to perform an established jazz standard or a new tune with the true treatment of authentic Dixieland jazz, according to the Chamber.

Some of the jazz greats who have appeared with the "New Sound" are Max Kaminsky (who called the band one of the best he has ever worked with), Johnny Windburn, Bobby Hackett, Ruby Braff, Buddy Morrow, Pee Wee Erwin, Jimmy McPartland, Vic Dickenson, Chris Griffin, "Doc" Cheatham, Teddy Wilson and "Wild Bill" Davidson.

Economic Consensus Unlikely As Summit Meeting Nears End

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford's inflation summit winds up today, so far without any consensus except that the Fed must not raise rates until the solution to the nation's most vexing economic troubles since the Depression.

Ford planned to preside for a second day at the conference, but his wife's hurried trip to the hospital might cause him to change his mind. Betty Ford was hospitalized for the removal of her breast.

Stoically puffing his pipe, Ford heard one economic interest after another petition him Friday for relief in a long day of hand-wringing oratory. He heard no agreed-upon solution, but instead listened to a determined attempt by the Democrats to blame the Republicans for the country's stubborn bout of rising prices and rising joblessness.

By mid-October, three weeks before the congressional elections, Ford was expected to address the nation with a program for combating inflation. But until news arrived of his wife's personal troubles, the delegates had expected the President to at least give a hint of his intentions at the conclusion of the conference.

changed in looks since then. We also saw a few slides of other activities here at the center.

From there it was off to races in which we all had some fun before it was time to call it a day.

Anyone coming must bring a fairly large dish of their favorite goodies. There will be a nominal fee of 50 cents along with the goodies to help defray some of the expenses.

After the meal we will be entertained by the members of Mansfield School Blind chorus. These people are really terrific, and they will be going toward a donation to them to cover their expenses.

So it sounds like an interesting night. The only thing is we are limited to no more than 100 members. We have the tickets on hand and they will be sold on a first-come basis. So if you're interested in taking part of this program get your tickets early.

The Lighter Side

Political Weaknesses

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Shortly after Sen. Ted Kennedy took himself out of the race called one of the remaining 99 presidential candidates in the Senate for comment.

"No doubt it was a tough decision, but the right one," the candidate said. "Kennedy has done the best thing for himself, his family and the other candidates."

"I must have missed something, I didn't hear him mention the welfare of the other candidates as one of his reasons for withdrawing," Kennedy didn't mention it. He obviously was aware that by staying in the race himself he would be depriving many other candidates of any chance of getting the nomination.

"Family considerations came first, of course. But the plight of the other candidates must also have been on his mind. That's the kind of a guy he is."

I said, "Do you agree with those who say that Kennedy's staying in the race might have had tragic consequences?"

"The consequences certainly would have been tragic for me," the candidate said. "With him in the race I would have been lucky to get three delegates."

Stimulated by these insights into political realities, I asked Dr. Luigi V. Populi, a top political analyst, whether Kennedy's withdrawal would weaken the Democrats' chances of recapturing the White House.

"Not necessarily," he replied. "It is true that Kennedy was the strongest Democratic candidate against other Democrats. But that doesn't mean he would have been the strongest Democratic candidate against a Republican."

"Look what happened in '72. The Democrats made the mistake of nominating McGovern simply because he had beaten the other Democratic candidates."

"But up against Nixon he was about the weakest candidates they could have fielded. And that sort of miscalculation has happened many times before."

Coventry has a new zoning agent. Ernest Wheeler, a retired Army major has been hired by the Planning and Zoning Commission to fill the duties of zoning agent on a part-time basis.

Wheeler is presently living in Hartford but will be moving to Coventry in December.

Asked why a retired Army major would be interested in the job, Wheeler said, "I have been in service to the public for 30 years and I wanted to continue in that service. And I like challenges and I think Coventry will be a challenge. I also wanted to move to the country and get out of the city."

Wheeler entered in Army in 1942 and served in this country, Europe, and Korea in the field of planning and construction until retiring in 1967.

State Representative G. Warren Westbrook told a group of 300 persons attending the first public hearing on the Nurse Practice Act that State Statutes should reflect the "new status of nurses."

At the meeting, held in Danbury, he called today's nurses, "better educated and better trained than ever before, and said the purpose of the hearings is to find out "how they can best serve in making Connecticut a model in health care for the rest of the country."

Westbrook noted that the Danbury hearing was unusual because testimony came from individuals as well as groups. He praised the participants, who were mostly nurses, stating that they "presented concrete evidence in a concise manner." He expressed hope that the remaining hearings will be as well attended and the

House Plays Politics

While the issue of abuse of presidential power is still on our minds, we should not forget that the other branches of government are not immune to over reaching the bounds of their authority.

What we are speaking of is the House action to cut off military aid to Turkey until there is substantial progress in removal of Turkish troops from Cyprus. At the same session, it rejected a move to cut off aid to Greece.

Foremost, the House, which is a part of Congress, doesn't have any constitutional right to meddle in diplomacy, a province of the executive branch. Yet it took the action it did despite an appeal from House Majority Leader Carl Albert and against the advice of the chairman of the House Foreign Relations Committee, also a Democrat. This is not to imply the vote was a party one for the 307 to 90 count shows substantial Republican support for the ill-advised action.

Second, despite the proponent's allegations of Turkish violations of foreign aid laws, the vote obviously was cast with a strong eye to the calendar and that one date marked in red - election day.

Oversights

Dear editor:

After reading the article "Parents Give Views To Education Board" of Sept. 24, I find that discrepancies exist between what I heard and saw as I sat through the Board of Education meeting of Sept. 23 and that of the article.

I sat beside Mr. Brewer, pastor of the Church of Christ, who stayed through most of the regular board meeting contrary to the article. Mr. Brewer was present and heard the responses to the comments, including his own, that were made from the floor. Mr. Brewer was also present to hear Dr. Tychem's report to the Board of Education regarding the Health and Family Life Curriculum, not by accident but by intention, because the report was referred to by his title, Mr., rather than by his surname alone.

Furthermore it should also be noted that the Legislative Committee did not help prepare the Health and Family Life Curriculum; the credits belong to Dr. Tychem, Mr. Morrison, and a selected group of teachers. The curriculum was shared and discussed with the Legislative Committee, not as a representative P.T.A. Unit opinion, but as personal opinion.

I should like to commend The Herald at its attempt to keep Manchester residents apprised of local matters of interest accurately and feel certain that steps will be taken to rectify the afore mentioned oversights.

Our Dark Side

WASHINGTON - Perhaps nobody should say what Larry O'Brien said recently, because it is too ugly. And yet - Americans are not children. We have to face up to the fact that we have a dark side. So in a way, what O'Brien said is a left-handed compliment to the country.

O'Brien, former Democratic National chairman, said Sen. Teddy Kennedy of Massachusetts should not run for President of the United States in 1976 because he might be assassinated.

One might protest that the idea is outrageous, fit only for contemplation by citizens of a banana republic or some shooless African dictatorship. The protest would be futile. The danger that any member of the Kennedy family would be murdered by some hate-filled lunatic if he dared to run for President is very real. Kennedy-haters are not to be confused with Nixon-haters. People who adopted a hatred of Richard Nixon as a way of life are satisfied with merely their detestation and the satisfaction that Nixon eventually was destroyed politically. Those who hate the Kennedy, as all the evidence shows, include too many who would kill a Kennedy, or secretly eulge over the violent extermination of a political member of the family.

Indeed, the evidence is overwhelming.

Didn't Watergate Teach Us Anything?

WASHINGTON - (NEA) - For a short time there was a promise of a new post-Watergate morality in Washington.

That hope faded fast.

With some fanfare, Congress has been pushing through "clean elections" law so filled with loopholes, exceptions and complications that it is a travesty of morality. A congressional "reform" bill is bogged down in internal infighting with little hope it will pass this session - or next. That, however, is just as well. The bill is a thinly disguised power grab masquerading under a pious name.

The most ill-begotten attempt of all was that of a bi-partisan group of senators who, under the name of consumer protection, attempted to change the language of a House consumer protection bill to enhance their power and emasculate the Executive branch. This bill was supported by some of the most prestigious men in the U.S. Senate.

The senators and representatives turn deaf ears to proposals that they practice what they preach and make public their financial holdings and business interests, though they demand this and more of secretaries of Defense and vice presidential nominees they're asked to confirm.

They regularly refuse to compel their membership to follow the most rudimentary conflict of interest rules. That is, they cling to their right to hold corporate directorships, labor union posts, law firm connections, and to maintain investments in businesses with axes to grind before Congress.

Members regularly vote on measures in which they have a personal financial stake. Few are willing to put their investments in blind trusts.

New reports filed with Congress make it clear those lobbying groups whose contributions played such a role in the Watergate investigations of the 1972 elections have even more money to spend in

Housing vs. National Debt

Anyone who has seen the value of his common stocks (even some preferred) decline by 25 per cent to 40 per cent during the past 18 months would probably humbly admit that he or she is not the financial expert that he might aspire to be.

There is a new quirk in the money field, which is almost as paradoxical as the decline in stock values, which were long considered to be the great hedge against inflation.

Housing has been one of the concerns of almost all sectors of the country. Government, labor and the people who want a new home have all been aggrieved by the difficulty of purchasing. Labor has found it itksome since the housing industry has fallen into a relative slump due to the expense of financing new homes.

But it turns out that the United States government may be one of the greatest impediments to new housing purchases and construction.

For months now the United States Treasury has been offering treasury notes to investors at an interest rate usually better than 8.5 per cent. This, of course, was 1-3 percentage point higher than could lawfully be offered by savings and loan associations or savings banks.

These U.S. treasury securities were purchasable in amounts of $10,000 or more. This excluded the small saver and was considered an injustice. So the Treasury lowered the minimum purchase of these high interest rate securities to $1,000.

Well, in the month of August,

While the issue of abuse of presidential power is still on our minds, we should not forget that the other branches of government are not immune to over reaching the bounds of their authority.

What we are speaking of is the House action to cut off military aid to Turkey until there is substantial progress in removal of Turkish troops from Cyprus. At the same session, it rejected a move to cut off aid to Greece.

Foremost, the House, which is a part of Congress, doesn't have any constitutional right to meddle in diplomacy, a province of the executive branch. Yet it took the action it did despite an appeal from House Majority Leader Carl Albert and against the advice of the chairman of the House Foreign Relations Committee, also a Democrat. This is not to imply the vote was a party one for the 307 to 90 count shows substantial Republican support for the ill-advised action.

Second, despite the proponent's allegations of Turkish violations of foreign aid laws, the vote obviously was cast with a strong eye to the calendar and that one date marked in red - election day.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

"I'm standing upon the seashore. A ship at my side spreads her white sails to the morning breeze and starts for the blue ocean. She is an object of beauty and strength, and I stand and watch her until at length she hangs like a speck of white cloud just where the sea and sky come to mingle with each other.

Then someone nearby says, 'There! She's gone!'

"Gone? Gone where? Gone from our sight - that is all. She is just as large in mast and hull and spar as she was when she left my side. And she is just as able to bear her load of living weight to the place of destination. Her diminished size is in me - not in her. And just at that moment when the person nearby says, 'There she's gone!' there are other eyes watching her coming and other voices ready to take up the glad shout, 'Here she comes!' and such is dying." (Anonymous)

To believe this sustains us as relatives and friends leave us never to return, and as our own years speed ever more rapidly by!

What is your first waking thought? With many of us it varies from day to day as our moods change. Do any of these fit you?

It is impossible to give tests which show what children learn in Church School for it concerns intangibles that are not known immediately. How does one measure love, compassion, forgiveness? It may be many years later that the influence of a class is realized.

ABOUT TOWN

The British-American Club will have a dinner meeting Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. at the clubhouse.

A kitchen social will take place Monday at 1:30 p.m. in Cronin Hall of Mayfair Gardens. All residents of Mayfair are invited.

Marantha Christian Coffee House for teens and young adults will meet tonight at 7:30 p.m. in Fellowship Hall of Calvary Church, 647 E. Middle Tpke.

The Rev. Felix Davis, pastor of Second Congregational Church, will lead a devotional program Monday at 10:30 a.m. in Cronin Hall of Mayfair Gardens.

Some of the followers of the Rev. Leonard Feeney, a controversial Jesuit priest defrocked when he preached the "Feeneyism," will be referred to locally, spread about the country crusading his cause and selling literature.

Bishop Flanagan said about 30 of Feeney's followers "most likely, I believe" asked for reconciliation. He said it was a relatively simple procedure.

It was necessary for the priest to ascertain that they were sincere in their desire to become again good sons and daughters of the church," Flanagan said.

"Once this was done, then all canonical censures imposed as a result of their association with the group were lifted," he added.

Not much is known about the communal farm since newspapers and other visitors are not permitted there. One source indicated that the 30 who were reconciled, represented about half of the farm's population.

When the farm was established, some of the Feeneyites were single; others were married with children. All were dressed in the traditional garb of a Catholic religious order.

The married couples were permitted to live together for a time, but later were required to take vows of chastity and live apart in cubicles in separate sections of the farm.

Jews to Mark Feast of Booths

The Jewish Holiday of Sukkot will begin this Monday at sundown and will continue for nine days through Wednesday, Oct. 9. Only the first two days and the last two days are full holidays. The intervening days are semi-holidays.

Sukkot also known as Feast of Booths is a Biblical holiday commemorating the wanderings of the children of Israel in the Sinai desert for 40 years after their liberation from Egyptian bondage. During those wanderings the Israelites lived in booths which protected them against the scorching sun.

Throughout the holiday, observant Jews build Sukkot in their yards for the duration of the holiday.

The Sukkah is a frail structure consisting of four walls and an open roof covered only by branches of evergreen.

Throughout the holiday, observant Jews eat all their meals in the Sukkah.

Holiday services will be held at Temple Beth Shalom on Monday, at 8:15 p.m., Tuesday and Wednesday, at 10:00 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

Reports on the progress of election campaigns will be the top priority of business Wednesday, when the Democratic Town Committee conducts a regular business meeting.

It will be at 8 p.m. at Democratic headquarters, 443 Hartford Rd. Democratic chairman Ted Cummings said reports will be given by campaign coordinators.

Feeney Followers Reconciliated

WORCESTER, Mass. (UPI) — Some of the followers of the Rev. Leonard Feeney, a controversial Jesuit priest defrocked when he preached the "Feeneyism," will be referred to locally, spread about the country crusading his cause and selling literature.

Feeney frequently preached at Boston Common.

Bishop Flanagan said about 30 of Feeney's followers "most likely, I believe" asked for reconciliation. He said it was a relatively simple procedure.

It was necessary for the priest to ascertain that they were sincere in their desire to become again good sons and daughters of the church," Flanagan said.

Health Consortium To Get Director

The Capital Area Health Consortium, Inc., of which Manchester Memorial Hospital is a member, has its first executive director.

John M. Danielson, general director of the North Carolina Memorial University Hospital in Chapel Hill and an associate dean at the University of North Carolina School of Medicine, has been appointed executive director of the recently chartered consortium.

Dr. Stewart Hamilton, president of the consortium, in making the announcement, said Danielson, 50, will assume his duties Nov. 1. He became the first paid professional of the eight-hospital organization which is the first of its kind in Connecticut and New England. A central location for the consortium office has not been obtained as yet.

The consortium is designed to coordinate care, service, research and education within the participating hospitals and to effect cost savings and an eventual end to any unnecessary duplication of services.

In addition, he has served as a trustee of the American Hospital Association, as president of the Illinois Hospital Association, and was a member of the Governor's (Illinois) Advisory Committee from 1967 to 1969.

Danielson is a graduate of the University of Minnesota where he received a bachelor's degree and a master's degree in hospital administration.

He was a recipient in 1967 of a combined fellowship of the Nuffield Provincial Hospitals Trust and King Edward's Hospital Fund for London, studying and working with the English hospital system for six months.

Currently, he is a member of the liaison committee for graduate medical education.

Beck Says Columbia Stalling on Security

COLUMBIA
Virginia Carlson
Correspondent
228-9224

Columbia's chief constable says it's time the town "stopped dragging its feet" on the issue of security for residents. "Let's do something before something big happens," says Guy Beck.

The call for the annual town meeting in October will be to include a name a Safety Commission to study the issue of town security and report findings to the March town meeting.

Differences between resident troopers and a constabulary will be studied to find out what is best for the town.

Selectmen requested the present commission to call the meeting to "hash out" the budget proposed by the constabulary in a "brand new deal," said selectman Robert Tuttle.

"Budget for this account usually is minimal, running around $50. Proposed for next year is $10,850, including a two-man 24-hour-a-week patrol at a $7,500 salary."

The proposal is a part-time idea with weekend patrol and a few hours during the week. Some members of the commission were against purchasing a used vehicle for the constabulary. Chief Thomas Chownace said buying a used vehicle is like "buying someone else's problem."

The question of a resident trooper will be considered at a town meeting. Residents will decide if the winning again in December 1973 at a selectmen's meeting. Nothing further was ever done.

Commission vice chairman John Sullivan, said a resident trooper is on duty 35 hours a week, must be provided with office space, could be sent on public relations coordinator. Service unit chairman who work directly with the leaders in their area providing services for the council are Roger Gray, Central; Mrs. Christensen, South-West; Mrs. Swanson, North-East; Inga Anderson, North-East; and Mrs. John Sheeta, Bolton. Miss Jill Gelinas serves as assistant coordinator and is responsible for recruiting cadette leaders and placing girls in troops.

Special events planned for this season include an outdoor day on Oct. 19. Mrs. Kenneth Reynolds and Miss Betty Valicis, co-chairmen, have asked all leaders to have their girls ready for the event.

Workshops on a level basis will be conducted for all leaders as a follow-up to training in late October and early November.

The association is also planning its second annual Christmas party for adults in December, an intertroop Scout breakfast for Girl Scout Sunday, and "Heritage '75," a commemorative event. Mrs. Jeanne the new Hartford Civic Center.

Girl Scouts Plan Potluck on Oct. 7

Manchester-Bolton Girl Scout Association will have its annual potluck Oct. 7. All registered adults including Senior Scouts are invited to the annual potluck which is designed to provide an opportunity for fellowship and a brief outline of activities scheduled for the coming year.

Mrs. Don Carpenter, chairman of the association, will introduce the recently appointed officers and chairmen. They are Mrs. David Thomas, assistant chairman; Mrs. Reginald Christensen, secretary; Mrs. David Fairbanks, cookie chairman; Mrs. Herbert Tyler, Economic coordinator; Mrs. Thomas, camp coordinator.

Also, Mrs. Edward Bayles, hospitality; Mrs. Nelson Richmond, Manchester Community Services Council; Mrs. Harold Harmon, Permanent Memorial Day Committee; Mrs. Robert Gaffney, recruiter; Mrs. Arlene Swanson, interfaith breakfast; and Mrs. Thomas, interfaith breakfast.

Positions yet to be filled are service coordinator, Juliette Law chairman, and

Candidates Trade Jibes At Waterbury Forum

WATERBURY (UPI) — The two major party gubernatorial nominees in Connecticut agreed on many issues but traded jibes Friday at the first meeting of their campaign debate series in Waterbury.

Rep. Robert H. Steele, R-Conn., and Rep. Ella T. Grasso, D-Conn., both spoke against an income tax, urged more money for mass transportation and less for highways and recommended revising the state leasing system.

But at one point Steele accused the Democrats of failing to help the elderly. Mrs. Grasso came back and said they had and drew a laugh when she added, "That must have been when you were running around in South America playing games with the CIA." Steele had worked for the Central Intelligence Agency in Latin America.

On spending, Steele gave Republican Gov. Thomas J. Meskill credit for saving

Connecticut from financial disaster, but Mrs. Grasso called Meskill's budgeting "a magic show" in which taxes are "raised and lowered like a flag."

Before a full room of guests of the Waterbury Chamber of Commerce, both candidates said if elected they would consider appointing candidates of the opposing party.

Under a Grasso administration, lobbyists meeting with state agency officials would have to sign in a public record, the Democratic nominee said. She said a citizens committee would pass on every state lease.

The two gubernatorial aspirants were scheduled to appear together again today at Quinnipiac College in Hamden to answer questions at the Nonpartisan Political Forum sponsored by the League of Women Voters.

Aussie Unions Dip From 305 To 294

54% In Labor Unions

Canberra — The number of trade unions in Australia fell in 1973 — mostly because of mergers — from 305 to 294. About 54 per cent of the country's wage and salary earners were union members at the start of this year, compared with 53 per cent a year earlier.

Meskill Formalizes Development Policy

HARTFORD (UPI) — Gov. Thomas J. Meskill has formalized a statewide conservation and development plan to aid both state and local governments in preparing for economic development in Connecticut.

The governor, who announced the plan to guide development at a news conference Friday, said the state's power to enforce it will be limited to the amount of state funds that might be provided.

Meskill signed an executive order formalizing the document as official state policy to "promote the wise management of its land, water, agriculture and forest resources."

The governor said the plan is to be used by state agencies in guiding land development, including highways and industrial parks, to make best use of the state's resources.

The plan leaves it to local government to determine how land and water resources will be used, Meskill said, but the state could withhold funds to local communities where their plans conflict with the objectives of the overall plan.

The purpose of the plan, he said, is to "achieve a balance between urban development and the conservation of natural resources."

To achieve the goals of the plan, he said, state government will work in partnership with local planning and zoning boards to limit helter-skelter development in Connecticut.

The policy of the state, according to the plan, will be to:

—Establish and manage sufficient water supply sources to meet future water supply needs.

—Provide a wide variety of outdoor recreational opportunities with a high priority on providing urban areas with adequate facilities.

—Protect the scenic, historic and natural resources of the state from premature, uncontrolled and incompatible development.

—Protect rivers and lakeshores, flood plains and the Long Island Sound coastline from environmentally destructive alterations and development.

—Direct urban development to those areas identified as suitable for urban development, preferably close to existing urban, commercial and employment centers.

—Encourage urban development to be at sufficient densities for the economic provisions of services.

—Promote staged, continuous development with the existing urban-oriented areas of the state.

—Encourage decisions on development and conservation to be made in accordance with the findings of the plan.

The governor said he has asked state agencies to use the plan in program development, financial aid applications in light of the plan and budgets and new legislation.

Is Your Hobby Horses?

DEBNAM

Answer Yes or No:
 Do you whinny and neigh as you gallop around the house? _____

Do you spend your allowance on horse books and horse show tickets and riding lessons? _____

Do you collect toy horses and want a real one more than anything else in the world? _____

Do you dream of how great you'll look in your new riding outfit? _____

Did you write a love letter to the horse you met at camp last summer? _____

Are you simply super at drawing horses? _____

If you have answered YES to the above symptoms, you've got a bad case of horse fever.

More young girls seem to catch it than boys. No one really knows why. Some say it's because boys are more interested in motorcycles and things that go ZOOM. Others say girls have more patience and understanding and can communicate with horses better.

Stables are popping out all over the country. With the interest in ecology and a returning to the simple life, more Americans are riding than ever before!

Look out! The horse bug is catching!

With the bit in place, pull the crownpiece over the ears.

Saddle-up.

Grooming is a must! Use a hoof pick to clean each foot.

How about a big kiss? Many riders look upon horses as people. If they are lucky, they manage to stretch an hour's riding lesson to a full day at the stable.

Candidates Trade Jibes At Waterbury Forum

WATERBURY (UPI) — The two major party gubernatorial nominees in Connecticut agreed on many issues but traded jibes Friday at the first meeting of their campaign debate series in Waterbury.

Rep. Robert H. Steele, R-Conn., and Rep. Ella T. Grasso, D-Conn., both spoke against an income tax, urged more money for mass transportation and less for highways and recommended revising the state leasing system.

But at one point Steele accused the Democrats of failing to help the elderly. Mrs. Grasso came back and said they had and drew a laugh when she added, "That must have been when you were running around in South America playing games with the CIA." Steele had worked for the Central Intelligence Agency in Latin America.

On spending, Steele gave Republican Gov. Thomas J. Meskill credit for saving

Connecticut from financial disaster, but Mrs. Grasso called Meskill's budgeting "a magic show" in which taxes are "raised and lowered like a flag."

Before a full room of guests of the Waterbury Chamber of Commerce, both candidates said if elected they would consider appointing candidates of the opposing party.

Under a Grasso administration, lobbyists meeting with state agency officials would have to sign in a public record, the Democratic nominee said. She said a citizens committee would pass on every state lease.

The two gubernatorial aspirants were scheduled to appear together again today at Quinnipiac College in Hamden to answer questions at the Nonpartisan Political Forum sponsored by the League of Women Voters.

Meskill Formalizes Development Policy

HARTFORD (UPI) — Gov. Thomas J. Meskill has formalized a statewide conservation and development plan to aid both state and local governments in preparing for economic development in Connecticut.

The governor, who announced the plan to guide development at a news conference Friday, said the state's power to enforce it will be limited to the amount of state funds that might be provided.

Meskill signed an executive order formalizing the document as official state policy to "promote the wise management of its land, water, agriculture and forest resources."

The governor said the plan is to be used by state agencies in guiding land development, including highways and industrial parks, to make best use of the state's resources.

The plan leaves it to local government to determine how land and water resources will be used, Meskill said, but the state could withhold funds to local communities where their plans conflict with the objectives of the overall plan.

The purpose of the plan, he said, is to "achieve a balance between urban development and the conservation of natural resources."

To achieve the goals of the plan, he said, state government will work in partnership with local planning and zoning boards to limit helter-skelter development in Connecticut.

The policy of the state, according to the plan, will be to:
—Establish and manage sufficient water supply sources to meet future water supply needs.

—Provide a wide variety of outdoor recreational opportunities with a high priority on providing urban areas with adequate facilities.

—Protect the scenic, historic and natural resources of the state from premature, uncontrolled and incompatible development.

—Protect rivers and lakeshores, flood plains and the Long Island Sound coastline from environmentally destructive alterations and development.

—Direct urban development to those areas identified as suitable for urban development, preferably close to existing urban, commercial and employment centers.

—Encourage urban development to be at sufficient densities for the economic provisions of services.

—Promote staged, continuous development with the existing urban-oriented areas of the state.

—Encourage decisions on development and conservation to be made in accordance with the findings of the plan.

The governor said he has asked state agencies to use the plan in program development, financial aid applications in light of the plan and budgets and new legislation.

Is Your Hobby Horses?

Answer Yes or No:
Do you whinny and neigh as you gallop around the house? _____

Do you spend your allowance on horse books and horse show tickets and riding lessons? _____

Do you collect toy horses and want a real one more than anything else in the world? _____

Do you dream of how great you'll look in your new riding outfit? _____

Did you write a love letter to the horse you met at camp last summer? _____

Are you simply super at drawing horses? _____

If you have answered YES to the above symptoms, you've got a bad case of horse fever.

More young girls seem to catch it than boys. No one really knows why. Some say it's because boys are more interested in motorcycles and things that go ZOOM. Others say girls have more patience and understanding and can communicate with horses better.

Stables are popping out all over the country. With the interest in ecology and a returning to the simple life, more Americans are riding than ever before!

Look out! The horse bug is catching!

With the bit in place, pull the crownpiece over the ears.

Saddle-up.

Grooming is a must! Use a hoof pick to clean each foot.

How about a big kiss? Many riders look upon horses as people. If they are lucky, they manage to stretch an hour's riding lesson to a full day at the stable.

Ms. Selsam has written many children's books. Mr. Lee has done the illustrations in green and brown.

If I Only Had a Horse!

Have you ever promised to do the dishes every night for the rest of your life if your parents would get you a horse?

It's best to check zoning laws.

A map of your horse's home might look like this. You'll need at least an acre of land.
DEBNAM

Horses take time and money. Here are some of the things that your horse would need.

A Home

- A stable with a stall at least 12x12 feet.
- A tack room for his equipment and food.
- A paddock around the stall for him to graze and relax in.
- An 80 foot ring to exercise in.

Food and Water
Horses eat grain, hay and grass. They drink water.

Grooming
He'll need to be brushed every day!

A Clean Stall
His stall will have to be cleaned every day!

Equipment
He'll need a bridle, saddle and other "horse clothes."

Exercise and Attention!
You'll have to exercise him every day.

Maybe you could find a place to board your horse? Consider how you are going to get to the stable. Will mom or dad take you?

Super Sport: Lou Brock

No matter where he is—at bat, on the base paths or in the outfield—Lou Brock is an exciting player. The St. Louis Cardinal veteran is an excellent hitter and one of the greatest base stealers of all time. He has stolen 50 or more bases 10 times, a big league record.

Lou is five-feet, 11 inches tall and weighs 170 pounds. He grew up in El Dorado, Arkansas, and was one of nine children. Brock lives in St. Louis year-round and does community work in the off-season.

Some riders are lucky enough to ride in horse shows. They travel about the country, going from show to show. If they are really good, they will get to show their horse in a big show held in New York's Madison Square Garden. The rider above is Gail Hoing of Copper City, Florida. September 27 is the day your Ford Dealer introduces his new 1975 Fords, including the new Granada.

And here are the facts—facts on quality, innovation and value—to back up that belief.

Granada 4-Door Sedan shown with optional bodyside accent molding, WSW tires and deluxe bumper group.

Introducing a new car designed to give you efficient use of space, fuel and money. Ford Granada: 14-18 mpg city, 18-26 mpg highway.*

The design:

Ford Granada is designed to help deal with such problems as crowded roads, increased fuel costs and maintenance. Granada is about two feet shorter and a half ton lighter than most standard-size cars. So you can expect excellent gas mileage. Yet there's family-size room inside.

Granada was designed to be functional. It has a generous glass area that doesn't slant or curve severely so visibility is good all around.

Granada's high roofline provides excellent front and rear headroom. The squared-off tail houses a roomy luggage space that can hold eight assorted pieces of luggage.

The economics:

A luxurious car today has to earn its keep. Granada doesn't back away from that fact. Its trim design helps reduce needless weight and excessive fuel consumption.

It comes with gas-saving, steel-belted radial ply tires that deliver excellent tread wear.

Granada's base engine is a 200 CID† Six that's economical and easy to maintain. Along with the optional Six (250 CID) and V-8's (302 and 351 CID), it's precisely balanced to resist the vibrations that can cause engine wear. All Granadas feature solid state ignition for less scheduled maintenance than former systems. †200 CID not available in California.

*HOW MANY MILES PER GALLON

Based on results of tests conducted by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (as of 8/9/74) using a dynamometer to simulate city and highway driving conditions, on this type of car equipped with a 250 1V engine and frequently purchased options. Your gas mileage will depend on the type of driving and driving habits, maintenance, road and weather conditions and how your car is equipped. For example, a larger engine or power-assisted options like air conditioning (in constant use) or power steering can reduce your gas mileage somewhat.

FORD GRANADA—WHAT YOU GET

In addition to standard equipment noted at left, Granada comes with:
 □ Front disc brakes □ Individual reclining seats □ Deep cut-pile nylon carpeting □ Burlled walnut tone instrument panel □ Full wheel covers.

And Granada Ghia offers even more standard features and appointments:
 □ 250 CID Six engine □ Odense grain vinyl roof and matching bodyside molding □ WSW steel-belted radials □ Deluxe wheel covers □ Remote control mirror □ Deluxe sound and ride package □ Deluxe interior with super-soft vinyl seats □ Map pockets □ Assist straps □ 22 oz. cut-pile carpeting □ Deluxe door panels □ Quartz crystal digital clock □ Luxury steering wheel, and more.

The comforts:

Granada offers a lot of pure driving pleasure. A closer look shows that this car was thoughtfully planned for passenger riding comfort and durable good taste. Both contoured front seats recline and adjust in more than one hundred positions for your individual comfort. (A feature you'll especially appreciate on long trips.)

The instrument panel, with its handsome burlled walnut woodtone applique, is recessed to add to front passenger comfort. Controls are within easy reach. The plush nylon cut-pile carpeting is molded for smoothness and is stain resistant.

There's weatherseal around doors and windows to cut wind-noise.

Granada's tuned suspension, tight body construction and sophisticated use of insulation result in a smooth, quiet ride.

For added elegance there is the quiet luxury of the Granada Ghia in both 2- and 4-door models.

Granada Ghia 2-Door Sedan gives you a remarkably roomy interior and a wide door for easy entry. Shown with optional deluxe bumper group.

Granada Ghia. Rich look, spacious feel, full-scale comfort.

Ghia control panel is elegant, easy to read.

Ghia touches: map pockets, assist straps.

Ford's lowest-priced Granada comes with opera window. Spacious interior. Options shown: deluxe bumper group, WSW tires, bodyside accent molding.

The construction:

Granada is put together to stay together. Precision machinery holds body parts in tight alignment as they are welded into a solid unit. In a separate process, the body panels are treated to help minimize vibration.

To help protect against rust, Granada's body is covered with 13 pounds of primers and chip-resistant baked enamel.

Every Granada is subjected to hundreds of inspections while it's being built so that every Granada owner will have a car with the same high level of quality.

The feeling inside Granada is solid and secure; it hugs the road. It has about the weight of a Mercedes 280.

EVERYONE SAYS COMPARE FORD TELLS YOU HOW.

Tips on how and where to look for quality and value in a new automobile.

Sheetmetal: Notice the quality of the body work. Make sure that large sheetmetal areas are not wavy. They should look smooth and taut.

Paint: A good paint job helps make a quality automobile. Be sure there are no "runs," and be sure that the texture of the paint is not rough or grainy. The color should be uniform, with all surfaces having a high gloss and luster.

Body seams: Where two panels join, make sure that the seam is even and narrow. Adjoining surfaces of metal panels should be uniform.

Vinyl top: There should be a tight fit free of ripples over the entire surface. Seams must be straight, the metal trim snug and there should be no sealer or untrimmed edges showing.

Trim: Check bright-finished areas such as bumpers and door handles closely. Surfaces should be free from discoloration. Look for a tight, even fit around windshield and windows, with no gaping joints. Exterior moldings should fit snugly and align properly.

Carpeting: It should fit snugly around seat bases, door sills, and floor tunnel. It should lie flat with no unsightly bulges and it should be thick and color-coordinated.

Instrument panel: All segments of the panel should fit precisely. Instruments must be easily readable and should be illuminated. Controls must be reachable and easy to operate. The steering column and wheel should be color-coordinated.

Windows: Raise and lower all windows to check that they move smoothly. Check for even fit all around, and full contact with weather stripping when windows are closed.

Doors: The opening line between a door and the body should be narrow and even for its full length. Door should latch firmly with a solid "siam." A handle should not feel loose to your touch nor contain rough edges. Interior door paneling should harmonize with the seat trim, and have "scuff" protection along its bottom edge.

Your Ford Dealer invites you to see and learn all about the new Fords on his Video Network.

LTD Landau 4-Door Pillared Hardtop shown with optional Landau Luxury Group (see interior below) and fender skirts.

Ford LTD Landau: A logical alternative to longer, heavier, more expensive luxury cars.

Compare the workmanship in LTD Landau as well as its size, comfort and luxury, to much more expensive luxury cars. The main thing you don't get is hundreds of pounds of extra weight and almost a foot of extra length (compared to longer, heavier, costlier cars).

Yet you have the security of a solid full-size, well-made automobile.

The LTD Landau has all standard equipment featured in the LTD (see right). And in addition, special features and appointments of its own that make the Landau so distinctive. Compare them with more expensive cars:

- Hidden headlamps for distinctive styling
- Color-keyed vinyl bodyside moldings
- Front cornering lamps
- Flight bench seat with center armrest
- Lush knit cloth and vinyl trim
- Vinyl roof
- Electric trunk lid release
- Right- and left-hand remote control mirrors
- Automatic seat back release (2-Door).

LTD 2-Door Pillared Hardtop shown with optional WSW tires, vinyl roof, full wheel covers, deluxe bumper group, front cornering lamps, paint stripes and convenience group. Note distinctive center-pillar window. An even higher level of luxury can be found in the popular LTD Brougham 2- and 4-Door models.

Torino gives you full-size passenger space with plenty of room for knees, heads and hips. Yet you have easy handling and mid-size economy.

Torino has the solid construction and the remarkably smooth, quiet ride that makes it such a good mid-size value. Plus a higher level of standard equipment than ever offered before on our mid-size car: 351 V-8 engine, Power Steering, Power Front Disc Brakes, Select-Shift transmission, Steel-Belted Radials. Even Solid State Ignition.

Miles and miles on one tank of gas. With a big 26½ gallon fuel tank, Torino has an impressive cruising range. So for comfort and confidence on the road with mid-size operating economy, take a good look at the '75 Torino, Gran Torino, Gran Torino Brougham and Gran Torino Sport.

Maverick: The proven family compact.

The one that sets the standards. Maverick—a choice of over 1,400,000 owners. Designed to be a practical car, easy to service, handle, and park. Yet very stingy on its diet of gas thanks to a standard 200 CID Six* and 3-speed manual transmission. And despite the emphasis on economy, Maverick has the luxury you'd expect in a car costing much more. If pressed to pick one word that best describes Maverick we'd choose "value." And maybe that's why Maverick has been the best selling 4-Door compact in America.

Maverick 4-Door Sedan shown with Luxury Decor Option.

You have a choice of three models: A 2-Door Sedan, a 4-Door Sedan and a 2-Door Grabber. You can add the special Luxury Decor Option (shown at left) that gives you a Maverick with all-vinyl trim, individual reclining seats, cut-pile carpeting, map light, vinyl roof, WSW steel-belted tires, color-keyed wheel covers, vinyl bodyside moldings, a special Sound Package, and much more. All still at a price that's within easy reach.

Three sizes from the Wagonmaster:

In all three sizes the big plus is the efficient and flexible use of cargo and passenger space. The best-selling compact Pinto Wagon carries four passengers comfortably, or with back seat folded down has almost 60 cu. ft. for cargo. All three Torino Wagons offer the economy of mid-size and 85 cu. ft. for cargo. The LTD Wagon has 94.6 cu. ft. of cargo space. And with the rear seat option both LTD and Torino Wagons can carry eight passengers.

But it is wagon conveniences that have helped make Ford Wagons best sellers, like the 3-way doorgate on both LTD and Torino Wagons. Cargo space that converts to passenger space in seconds. The optional recreation table in the LTD is designed with children in mind. Whatever your wants or needs, Ford has the Wagon and the features to match. No wonder we say, The Closer You Look, The Better We Look.

Personal luxury in 3 sizes...

Mustang II Ghia 2-Door Hardtop shown with optional V-8 engine and bumper guards.

Mustang II:
The sporty personal luxury car...now with a V-8 engine.

The success car of '74 is doing it again.

In its first full year Mustang II was a new idea that ran away from all its so-called competition.

Now for '75 we've made Mustang II, even more exciting with a new optional 302 V-8 and a 2.8 Liter V-6. And to the impressive list of standard features, we've added improvements: gas-saving, steel-belted radial ply tires, and solid state ignition for less scheduled maintenance. Other standard features include bucket seats, 4-speed transmission, front disc brakes, a gas-sipping 2.3 Liter 4-cylinder engine, rack-and-pinion steering.

For '75, the luxurious Mustang II Ghia sports exciting new styling changes. From its distinctive new grille and opera windows to the classic vinyl roof, Mustang II Ghia is a small car with a high level of style and luxury. Inside you'll find plush bucket seats, a digital clock and extra-thick deep shag carpeting.

Last year's success car offers even more of a personal choice in '75.

3-Door 2+2, and a sporty Mach 1. Which ever one you choose, Mustang II offers plenty of driving excitement for your money.

Mustang II Silver Ghia features Cranberry crushed velour seating. Shown with optional Moonroof, cast spoke aluminum wheels, convenience group, bumper guards, V-8 engine and Silver Luxury Group.

...and at three price levels.

Elite shown with optional WSW tires, deluxe bumper group, power-operated glass Moonroof, interior decor group, and deep dish aluminum wheels.

Ford Elite for 1975:
The tradition of Thunderbird in a mid-size car.

This mid-size is unique because Elite combines the economies of mid-size with classic styling and luxury in the Thunderbird tradition.

And in the Thunderbird tradition of value, Elite comes to you complete. Vinyl roof. Protective bodyside molding. With driving conveniences standard too: Power steering, power front disc brakes, SelectShift transmission, and steel-belted radial tires. Even an electric clock. Elite also comes with Thunderbird-inspired options such as a power-operated glass Moonroof. A luxury upholstered split bench seat and 22 oz. shag carpeting.

But with Elite it is luxury designed for the times. Along with mid-size operating economy, Ford Elite offers a 26½ gallon gas tank that gives you a cruising range you can rely on—even on long highway trips.

Personal luxury mid-size for 1975. Built by the same company that built Thunderbird. And built for the way you drive today.

The 1975 Thunderbird:
Could it be the best luxury car buy in America?

Owning a Thunderbird is something very, very special. Yet most of Thunderbird's "luxuries" actually come standard. Air conditioning, steel-belted whitewalls, and a whole lot more. Thunderbird 1975. Simply beautiful. And a beautiful buy.

Pinto 3-Door Runabout shown with optional WSW tires, deluxe bumper group and exterior decor group.

Pinto: Still a leader in basic transportation.

Check out Pinto's price for 1975. It's very competitive. Check out Pinto's gas mileage. It's great. Then when you discover how well-made it is (see column at right), you understand why Pinto remains a leader.

Lots of room, too. Open up a Pinto 3-Door Runabout and you'll find a surprising amount of luggage space. Sit inside a Pinto and you'll enjoy the design efficiency that makes for real riding comfort.

Important features. Pinto is the only American-made subcompact from a major manufacturer to offer rack-and-pinion steering for precision handling. Pinto has a 4-speed transmission standard, not a 3-speed. And a 2.3 Liter engine. New this year is an optional 2.8 Liter V-6 engine on the Runabout and Wagon models. You can even order power steering and power front disc brakes on all models.

With three kinds of Pintos to choose from—2-Door, 3-Door, and Wagon—is it any wonder Pinto's outsold every other subcompact in America since its introduction.

Pinto, like all Ford cars—well made at any price.

The Pinto is built up to Ford standards not down to a price. Because a small car has to offer the same thing as a big car . . . value for the money. Here are some of the common features:

1. Big Car Safety Features. All Ford Life-guard Design Safety Features in an LTD are found in the Pinto.
2. Solid state ignition. For less routine scheduled maintenance.
3. Full immersion electrocoat body primer. Electrical attraction forces rust-proofing primer into nooks and crannies of the Pinto body.
4. Long scheduled maintenance intervals. Pinto's long intervals between service help make it economical to own.
5. Self-adjusting front disc/rear drum brakes. Pinto's disc brakes that resist heat and moisture are combined with long-wearing drum brakes for good stopping power.
6. Rubber-insulated suspension components. Road noise and vibration are greatly reduced with Pinto's front and rear rubber-insulated suspension system.
7. Steel-belted radial tires. They give excellent tread life and also help gas mileage.
8. Six-step electrostatic paint process. Anti-corrosion bonding coat, two coats of rust-resistant primer and three of acrylic enamel are applied to the steel body shell by an electrostatic process for a tough, beautiful finish.
9. Double-wrapped aluminized muffler. Saves money on the service life with a muffler that resists corrosion.
10. Corrosion-protected under body parts. Galvanized sheet steel and zinc-rich primer protect vital areas.
