SUMMARY OF PROPOSED ZONING REGULATIONS FOR A PLANNED COMMUNITY

The Greater Hartford Community Development Corporation is proposing that a new Section 17 be added to the Coventry Zoning Regulations which would permit and regulate development of a planned community in a Planned Community Zone. This summary outlines the proposed regulation. The numbers in parentheses refer to the specific provisions of the proposed amendments.

PURPOSE (17.1)

The purpose of a Planned Community Zone under the proposed regulation is to enable the coordinated development of a planned community pursuant to standards which will:

1. preserve to the greatest extent possible the rural atmosphere and the scenic and recreational areas of the Town and reserve substantial amounts of open space for use by the public;
2. promote the harmonious and comprehensive arrangement of land uses, circulation systems, open spaces and public facilities;
3. create an economic base which will support necessary utilities, public facilities, and a high level of amenities;
4. provide for balanced development, including housing and employment opportunities;
5. permit the Town to manage and control growth, change and development;
6. fulfill the purposes expressed in the preamble to the Zoning Regulations;
7. create a living environment which will foster common community interests, community stability, and a common sense of responsibility for the future of the community, and which will satisfy the diverse and changing needs of individuals throughout their life cycle; and
8. permit flexibility and the opportunity for innovation in design to achieve the above purposes within the confines of a comprehensive review and approval process.

REVIEW AND APPROVAL PROCESS (17.2, 17.4, 17.5 and 17.6)

Under the proposed regulation the approval of the Commission to obtain zoning review and approval by the Commission at four stages in the development process.

FIRST STAGE - PETITION TO ESTABLISH THE BOUNDARIES OF A PLANNED COMMUNITY ZONE AND TO APPROVE THE DETAILED DEVELOPMENT PLAN FOR THE PROPOSED PLANNED COMMUNITY AND A DETAILED DEVELOPMENT PLAN FOR THE FIRST STAGE OF DEVELOPMENT (17.3)

SECOND STAGE - APPLICATION FOR APPROVAL OF A DETAILED DEVELOPMENT PLAN FOR EACH DEVELOPMENT PHASE (17.4)

THIRD STAGE - APPLICATION FOR APPROVAL OF VILLAGE CENTER PLAN (17.5)

FOURTH STAGE - APPLICATION FOR APPROVAL OF SITE PLANS (17.6)

A general explanation of the various review and approval stages is outlined in greater detail below.

* The zoning regulation does not treat subdivision plan or inland wetlands approval as part of the General Development Plan and Detailed Development Plan. Applications for approval of subdivision and inland wetlands permits would be submitted in accordance with, and when required by, the Subdivision Regulations and the Inland Wetlands Regulations.

FIRST STAGE - PETITION TO ESTABLISH THE BOUNDARIES OF A PLANNED COMMUNITY ZONE AND TO APPROVE THE DETAILED DEVELOPMENT PLAN FOR THE PROPOSED PLANNED COMMUNITY AND A DETAILED DEVELOPMENT PLAN FOR THE FIRST STAGE OF DEVELOPMENT (17.3)

A. Submission of Petition (17.3.1)

A petition to zone land as a Planned Community Zone must be submitted to the Commission. The petitioner must be the owner, or the agent of the owner, of all the land to be included in the proposed zone.

The petition must include:

- a. map showing boundaries of proposed zone
- b. soil survey, topographical and other maps
- c. General Development Plan for the planned community covering all the land in the proposed zone. The plan must include the information described below under Second Stage for Detailed Development Plans, including the location, approximate acreage and maximum residential density restriction for each use area, and a statement explaining the relationship of the Detailed Development Plan to the General Development Plan.

B. Brief statements about the planned community concerning:

1. Anticipated phasing of development and zoning project
2. Circulation system
3. Water supply, storm drainage, sanitary sewage and solid waste systems
4. School, recreation, health and other public facilities

C. Detailed Development Plan for the first development phase of the planned community, covering at least 20% of the land area of the planned community. The plan must include the information described below under Second Stage for Detailed Development Plans, including the location, approximate acreage and maximum residential density restriction for each use area, and a statement explaining the relationship of the Detailed Development Plan to the General Development Plan.

D. Municipal Impact Study

E. Environmental Impact Statement

F. Population projections

G. Agreement to pay publication costs

H. Commission Action on Petition (17.3.2)

The Commission would hold a public hearing and act on the petition as provided in the General Statutes to change its zone boundaries. Every petition would have to meet the following standards:

1. The area to be zoned must include at least 500 contiguous acres (17.3.1)
2. Open Space Areas must comprise at least 20% of the acreage in the zone. These areas would be used for recreation, purposes and schools or preserved in their natural state. (17.3.2b) (17.3.1a)
3. Residential Areas must comprise at least 40% and not more than 65% of the acreage in the zone. These areas would be used for housing and related uses customarily permitted in residential areas. (17.3.2c) (17.3.1a) (17.3.2)
4. Village Center Areas must comprise at least 3% and not more than 10% of the acreage in the zone. These areas would be used primarily for commercial, trade, office, service, entertainment, communication, transportation, community facilities, governmental and residential uses. (17.3.2d) (17.3.1a)
5. Employment Areas must comprise at least 3% and not more than 10% of the acreage in the zone. These areas would be used for manufacturing, wholesaling, retailing, service, repair and development, commercial, transportation and governmental uses. (17.3.2e) (17.3.1a)
6. Total number of dwelling units cannot exceed an average of 5 per acre. (17.3.2f)

2. The Detailed Development Plan must cover at least 20% of the area of the proposed zone and satisfy all the standards outlined below under Second Stage.

In addition to these standards, the regulation also calls for the Commission to consider the following factors in acting on the petition:

- appropriateness of the location of the proposed zone
- the effect of such zone on properties in the surrounding vicinity
- traffic impact, and the adequacy of existing and proposed primary interior streets
- the orderly growth of the Town
- the existing and future availability of essential services, including water, sanitary sewers, and sites for schools and parks
- the need for adequate open spaces
- population trends in the Town and the Windham and Oxford Planning Regions
- the appropriateness of the general location of Open Space, Residential, Village Center and Employment Center Areas

If the petition is granted, the land covered by the petition is rezoned to a Planned Community Zone, and the General Development Plan and Detailed Development Plan are approved. Approval of the General Development Plan will fix the number of dwelling units for the entire planned community, establish the general location of Open Space, Residential, Village Center and Employment Center Areas, and designate the general location of proposed school sites and of primary interior streets. The Plan will also provide the general parameters for review of all subsequent detailed development plans, Village Center Plans and Site Plans. Approval of the plan will allow the petitioner to proceed with development in accordance with the approved Plan, provided that all the review and approval standards and development criteria set forth in the regulations are thereafter complied with.

SECOND STAGE - APPLICATION FOR APPROVAL OF A DETAILED DEVELOPMENT PLAN FOR EACH DEVELOPMENT PHASE (17.4)

Development in a Planned Community Zone may occur only if a Detailed Development Plan for the area to be developed has been approved by the Commission. The Plan may cover a portion of the zone. After the Detailed Development Plan for the first phase of development is approved in conjunction with the approval of the General Development Plan and the zone change under the First Stage, a Detailed Development Plan may be submitted for each subsequent area to be developed. (17.4.1)

A. Submission of Detailed Development Plan Application (17.4.2)

The owners, or their agents, would apply to the Commission for approval of a Detailed Development Plan covering their land. The application would include a survey, soil map, and topographical map, a statement explaining the relationship of the Detailed Development Plan to the General Development Plan, and agreement to pay publication costs. The Detailed Development Plan would show:

1. The boundaries of the land covered by the Plan
2. The general location and approximate acreage of each Open Space Area
3. The general location, approximate acreage, and maximum density restriction for each of three types of Residential Areas: Residential 1 Areas, Residential 2 Areas, and Residential 3 Areas
4. The general location, approximate acreage, and maximum number of dwelling units for each Village Center Area
5. The general location and approximate acreage of each Employment Center Area
6. The general location and approximate acreage of sites for public schools
7. The general location of primary interior streets

B. Commission Action on Application (17.4.3)

The Commission would hold a public hearing and act on the application as provided in the General Statutes for special permits. The application would be approved if:

1. The Plan is generally consistent with the General Development Plan (17.4.3b)
2. The density restriction permitted under the Plan will not cause the maximum number of dwelling units approved for the entire zone to be exceeded (17.4.3c)
3. The density restriction for Residential 1 Areas does not exceed 12 per acre (17.4.3d)
4. The density restriction for Residential 2 Areas does not exceed 12 per acre (17.4.3e)
5. The density restriction for Residential 3 Areas does not exceed 18 per acre (17.4.3f)

The Commission may modify a proposed Plan or approve it subject to conditions to assure compliance with the zoning regulations. The Commission must act on the application by 65 days after the hearing or the application is deemed approved as submitted.

Approval of the Plan will establish the general location of streets, utilities, parks, and building sites, the uses permitted on the building sites, and the maximum number of dwelling units, if any, permitted on a building site. Approval will constitute a special permit for the development of buildings in a Village Center Area, subject to Site Plan approval.

FOURTH STAGE - APPLICATION FOR APPROVAL OF SITE PLANS (17.6)

Site Plans will be required prior to the construction of any building in most Residential Areas and in all Village Center and Employment Center Areas. Site Plans will not be required in areas for single-family detached houses and Open Space Areas. (17.6.1)

A. Submission of Site Plan Application (17.6.2)

A Site Plan application would include a survey, soil map, topographical map, statement explaining the relationship of the Site Plan to the Detailed Development Plan and any Village Center Plan, and a filing fee of $25. Site Plans would include information needed to determine that the development criteria outlined below are complied with.

1. Boundaries and acreage of the Village Center Area

2. General layout of public streets
3. Location of major sewer and water lines
4. Location of major drainage facilities
5. Location of parks and other open spaces
6. Location of building sites and the permitted uses on such sites
7. Maximum number of dwelling units, if any, permitted on each building site

B. Commission Action on Application (17.6.3)

The Commission would act on Site Plan Applications within 65 days of submission, or the Plan would be deemed approved. The applicant could appear before the Commission if either the applicant or the Commission desires. A public hearing is not required.

The Site Plan must comply with the Detailed Development Plan and any Village Center Plan and must also show that the following development criteria will be followed:

1. uses (17.2.1)
2. heights (17.2.2)

Approval of the Plan will establish the general location of streets, utilities, parks, and building sites, the uses permitted on the building sites, and the maximum number of dwelling units, if any, permitted on a building site. Approval will constitute a special permit for the development of buildings in a Village Center Area, subject to Site Plan approval.

Sewer Department Seeks More Help

By SOL R. COHEN
For want of a 35-cent replacement part, the Town of Manchester was forced into buying 150,000 cubic feet of natural gas at an estimated cost of about $200.

That was the startling disclosure made Tuesday night by Frank Jodanis, water and sewer administrator, in explaining to the Board of Directors why he was asking for four or five additional employees for the town's Sewage Treatment Plant.

The 35-cent replacement part was a lead slug for the gas generator used by the plant's digester system. Jodanis said it either was misplaced or never ordered.

24-Hour Operation Needed
He said federal and state recommendations are for 24-hour operation of the plant and the 18 employees working there are insufficient for operating it and still providing preventative maintenance. He said only replacement maintenance is being done — at a high cost to the town.

Jodanis said the multi-million dollar plant opened in 1971 with 18 men on two shifts of eight hours as recommended by the consulting engineers for the project. Since then, he said, two men were added — not sufficient under the recommendations for 24-hour operation, and still maintain the plant as it should be maintained.

Would Require $40,000
He said about $40,000 additional would be needed for hiring an electrician, a building and equipment mechanic, a lab technician and a male record clerk — all to work at the treatment plant.

He said his department now pays out about $30,000 a year for overtime and that much of it could go toward the $40,000 for the additional jobs. Jodanis explained that about $13,000 in overtime pay is built into the union contract — about $1,000 for each of 13 permitted holidays.

He said the parts and maintenance supplies aren't organized and someone is needed to know what parts to stock, someone else to keep tabs on the electrical system and someone else to conduct daily maintenance.

Mayor Seeks Explanation
When Mayor John Thompson asked why the board hadn't been told before of the maintenance problems, Town Manager Robert Weiss said there weren't problems until a few weeks ago. Weiss said the $40,000 ask for is available in the Sewer Reserve Fund. Director Phyllis Jackson challenged the statement and asked for a report on it available funds.

Jodanis, in answer to questioning by several directors, conceded that problems with the plant's digesters are causing problems throughout the town. He said he is contributing to the need for 24-hour operation.

Unbalanced Operation
"Our problems result in an unbalanced (Sewer) system," he said.

Revised Linwood Sewer Request Turned Down
By SOL R. COHEN
It hardly can be called progress — even though it required only two-thirds as much effort Tuesday night as it did Aug. 20 for the Manchester Board of Directors to reject sanitary sewers for Linwood Dr.

On Aug. 20, the rejection required three votes, each 3 to 3 with 3 abstentions. Tuesday night, the rejection required only two votes, one 4 to 1 with 1 abstention, the other 3 to 5 with 1 abstention.

Only One Difference
There was one other difference. On Aug. 20 the proposal was for sanitary sewers on all of Linwood Dr. Tuesday night (following a new petition) the proposal was for sanitary sewers on only half of Linwood Dr.

The 4 to 1 vote was on a proposal by Carl Zinsner, for authorizing assessments against all but one of the property owners involved, and for deferring his assessment.

There was one other difference. On Aug. 20 the proposal was for sanitary sewers on all of Linwood Dr. Tuesday night (following a new petition) the proposal was for sanitary sewers on only half of Linwood Dr.

NEWS FOR SENIOR CITIZENS

Hi! Well, it's that time again, and by the time you are reading this our baseball trip will be about over. We didn't do too bad considering how the Red Sox dropped dead just two days too early. Our next big event is our potluck supper coming up a week from tomorrow, Oct. 10. We still have lots of tickets left, so if you're interested, drop by real soon and get yours. We here at the office wish her many happy returns of the day. Yesterday we had our first meal of the season. Sure was good to see the Latucca's back, and all of the students.

Pinchle In the afternoon we had one of our largest crowds for pinocle as we had 18 tables. The long list of winners is as follows: Beatrice Mader, 715; Boss Moman, 704; Florence North, 698; Esther Anderson, 685; Ellen Bronke, 680; Peter Uchaneetti, 679; Elfrida Hallin, 674; Lyla Steele, 670; Martha LaBate, 665; Louise Kohls, 653; Andrew Nicks, 645; Felix Jesanis, 644; Ann Thompson, 643; Betty Jesanis, 639; Gerhan Dahring, 637; Leon Falot and John Gotschalk, 630 and Lillian Lewis, 629.

This week it is tomato juice, roast turkey with corn bread stuffing, cranberry sauce, creamy whipped potatoes, buttered beans, roll and butter, fresh peach shortcake with whipped topping. After dinner starting at 1:30, we will have our Fun-Day at which we will have Officer Russ Halford with us to show a movie on burglary prevention, and then a question and answer period. Plan on eating with us, and then be around for the meeting.

Let's see, we start with our activities on Friday when we had our regular kitchen social.

Animals Stress Safety

What better way to stress safety than these two panda bears saying "Wear white at night!" From left to right, Dawn Smith, Peter Harrison, Esther Nix and Kent Michaud, all fourth grade students at Martin School, held the pandas which were members of the animal safety zoo that illustrated safety in the home, at school, and with bicycles at the school. Shana Hopperstead, right, zookeeper, made the introductions. The safety program was sponsored by the classes of Mrs. Dorothy Krause and Mrs. Mabel Jassie. (Herald photo by Pina)

Mortgage-Symposium Scheduled

HARTFORD (UPI) - Real estate and banking officials have been invited to a legislative committee symposium on ways to make lower mortgages in the light money market more available to eligible families.

Sen. Richard Bozzuto, R-Waterbury, and Rep. Rosario T. Vella, R-Enfield, co-chairmen of the legislature's state and urban development committee, scheduled the meeting for Friday in the judicial room at the State Capitol.

Those invited included John Maylott, executive director of the Connecticut Housing Finance Authority, Susan H. Bennett, commissioner of community affairs, representatives of the real estate commission, association of realtors, various bankers associations and bankers both participating and non-participating in the CHFA program.

Bozzuto and Rosario said Tuesday they want suggestions from those employed in the mortgage industry next year regarding the housing industry and financing.

They said they were hoping to find ways to increase the eligibility for middle income workers in obtaining mortgages at 7 1/2 per cent for higher priced homes. At present, they said, such workers, because of inflation, are in desperate need of help if they are to be able to purchase a home."

Electioneering By State Workers Causes Warnings

HARTFORD (UPI) - The Connecticut state Elections Commission Tuesday sent a letter to the personnel commissioner urging him to warn state employees that it is illegal for them to do campaign work on state time.

The letter to Commissioner Edward Simpson was in response to a report two employees in the State Comptroller's office were seen using state equipment on state time to advance the campaign of Republican gubernatorial candidate Robert H. Steele.

Comptroller Nathan Agostinelli is Steele's running mate, the GOP lieutenant governor candidate.

The report was issued last week by state auditors, who urged Gov. Thomas J. Meskill to require Simpson to tell Connecticut's 36,000 employees in writing about the laws restricting their political activity.

Elections Commission Chairman Lester B. Snyder, a law professor, said the letter raised the point that political activities in state offices may fall under provisions of Connecticut's new, Watergate-inspired campaign laws.

ZED Will Speed Up Long Distance Calls

Residents of Manchester, Elizaburgh and Wapping can make special long distance calls much faster starting Sunday, according to Mrs. Grace T. Girard, local manager of Southern New England Telephone.

A new phone system, called Zero Express Dialing (ZED), becomes operational on that date enabling callers to dial their own credit card, person-to-person, collect or bill-to-third-number long distance calls. ZED is made possible by new computerized equipment and operators handle calls from computer consoles instead of the traditional corded phone. Here is how the new phone system works: A caller dials zero and the number he wishes to reach. Computer equipment instantly starts the connection.

At the same time, the equipment seeks out an operator to assist the caller. The operator connects in on the call to obtain some basic information and the connection is made with the called party. Total time is a matter of seconds.

Mrs. Girard said, "ZED is a highly sophisticated computer and electronic equipment system that works incredibly fast, with very little margin of error."

She passed on this advice to area residents who make long distance calls: "The best and cheapest way to call long distance is for a person to dial direct to his party's number. This is called station-to-station. The caller dials 'one' followed by area code, if calling outside Connecticut, and the phone number. Follow this procedure even when dialing from a coin phone."

The new ZED system will help people who make credit card, person-to-person, collect or bill-to-third-number calls if they use these simple procedures:

When calling outside Connecticut, dial zero and immediately follow with the area code, then the phone number. When dialing within the state, dial zero and the number. After you dial the last digit, an operator will cut in to get information on the call, then the connection will be made.

Kennedy Will Attend School Design Parley

School Superintendent James P. Kennedy will attend a school building design conference Oct. 21-22 at the University of Connecticut.

Topping a list of topics to be aired is the possibility of recycling old public school buildings for use as change in the town's school population. He referred to the former Lincoln School, now the Lincoln Center which houses town offices.

"Since then, Kennedy said, several other communities have met with similar population changes which raises the question of school building conversion.

Coordinating the conference are Albert I. Prossman, assistant for instruction and facilities planning with the Hartford public schools; and Dr. Vincent Rogers, director of the UConn Open Education Center.

Manchester Evening Herald OPINION

What Are You Going To Do About It?

Three cheers for the major party candidates for governor.

They agree that inflation is a major problem.

But the agreement apparently doesn't end there for they seem to agree also that they should not offer the voters any concrete approaches toward combatting inflation on a state level.

Maybe they feel it is a federal problem. Maybe they feel it is a business problem. But other than agreeing that inflation is a problem, we have heard little about what to do about it on a state government level.

The only assumption we can make at this time is that both intend to follow the leader, whoever that might be. If President Ford offers a program that has bipartisan backing, this will be Connecticut's anti-inflation program.

Should such harmony in Washington not come about, we assume Robert Steele will accept the President's approach and Mrs. Ella Grasso will espouse that of the Democratic establishment.

The end result, regardless of what happens on a national level, is that inflation on a state level becomes a token issue.

We happen to believe that state government can do much to curb inflation. But it will take some political courage to do so.

State government could review and then postpone a lot of expenditures to ease the mounting pressures for more and tax dollars which in turn lessen the amount of dollars needed in the free enterprise economy. We say this because we believe that tax bills are paid from savings or borrowed money and either way they have an impact on money available for investment in mills, factories and housing.

We feel there is always room in state government, as in other levels of government, for increased efficiency in operations which could keep the cost of government down. We would particularly like to see an examination of the operation of all state agencies to evaluate them on a basis of whether the benefits derived are justified by the expense, whether there are other less costly alternatives, and whether there is duplication of efforts.

Regardless of who is in power, our state motto should be "there is a better way, find it."

We would suggest to both candidates that they tell us frankly and openly what they would try to do to fight inflation if elected.

We think it is incumbent upon them to develop an approach to this problem on a state level that can be implemented independently, if necessary, of any other efforts.

That the federal government sits on its duff in dealing with economic problems does not absolve the state from taking action on its own.

Mrs. Grasso and Mr. Steele are agreed that inflation is a problem. We think time is precisely short and each should tell us now how they intend to mobilize the state government in this battle.

How they propose to cope with this problem might be the soundest basis upon which the electorate can make a decision in November. Just because the state alone cannot offer the ultimate solution, it does not mean it can excuse itself from being a part of the solution.

Are We Being Set Up?

A 10 to 20 cent a gallon gasoline tax is being kicked around by Ford Administration officials.

For what it's worth, some success has been achieved in halting rising costs. About two weeks ago, a 40 cent a gallon tax was floating in the bureaucratic halls.

Initial reaction to most we have talked with is negative.

"Why give them (the federal government) more money to spend."

"(Expletive deleted) I can't hardly afford to pay my gasoline bill now just to get to and from work."

"(Again expletive deleted), they aren't looking for 10 or 15 cents a gallon but setting us up for another four or five cents. It's the old story of asking for the moon but settling for less. Either way, we get stuck with another tax increase."

In more sober reflection we wonder if the administration is really sincere about a gasoline tax.

As a conservation measure, it may have some merit but on the other hand, it is evident that Americans are conserving gasoline and we are currently in a surplus situation.

If the tax is imposed we question it will really amount to much as a conservation measure.

The other reason, to raise federal revenues to offset the projected budget deficit, makes more sense but the gasoline tax seems to be an illogical vehicle for this purpose unless the conservation aspect can be more substantially justified.

Perhaps the real reason behind the trial balloon is not so much to get reaction to an increased gasoline tax but to assess more generally public sentiment for or against any tax proposal aimed at balancing the budget.

Public acceptance of such a tax for that specific purpose would solve a lot of political problems.

With both the administration and the Congress on record favoring a balanced budget, both are faced with agonizing decisions as to what to cut out of the budget to balance it or, if the taxpayer will stand still for it, enacting a tax to increase revenue to balance it.

Obviously, if the taxpayers will accept tax increases to balance the budget the political dynamite of budget paring is avoided.

A general tax increase, say an income tax surcharge, would make everyone mad for a while, yet taxpayers as a whole are not too well organized and it is special interest groups favoring certain federal funding for pet projects that scare the politicians most effectively at the polls.

We think a tax increase to balance the budget will be acceptable only if and when a sincere effort has been made to reduce the budget.

President Ford has offered ways to defer more than $20 billion in federal expenditures. Until this has been fully examined and resolved, we think any tax increase, gasoline or other, is premature.

The disenchantment with the federal government is not so much the taxes we are assessed but the ample evidence that too many tax dollars are being expended unwisely.

Perennial Loser

WASHINGTON — I entered a shop and discovered what Alan Greenspan meant when he told a gathering of representatives of the poor. "If you really wanted to examine the percentage-wise who were hurt most in the income (by inflation) it was Wall Street brokers."

Greenspan, new chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisors, obviously is aware that the average broker can't go around dressed in a tuxedo. A broker not only must be sharp, he must look sharp. His apparel need not be ultrachic, but it must suggest affluence.

Thus, I now feel a touch more sympathy for those who toil in the gambling Hell known as Wall Street. Accosting a salesman in that exclusive men's store, I asked to be shown something in trench coats. My demeanor was humble, a reflection, I hoped, of my lowly economic status. Surely, the clerk would take me for a poverty-stricken stock broker.

It seemed to work. There was compassion in the clerk's eye as he led me to a rack of elegant merchandise. "I think this is what you're looking for," he told me. "These quite suitable trench coats are only $295." He smiled confidentially. "295 up, of course."

Shamefaced, I slunk out of the shop. My play hadn't worked. Obviously, class had told and the salesman had mistaken me for a head waiter or a filing clerk at the Agriculture Department.

Public acceptance of such a tax for that specific purpose would solve a lot of political problems.

Still on the subject of TV, the market for renting sets is growing. A fellow told us the other day that since the monthly rental fee also includes service, the consumer is looking with favor toward renting, particularly when it comes to a color set.

Well, get ready to weep. For the period, July of 1973 to July of 1974, the estimated cost of labor and material brought on by vandalism is $25,000 to $30,000.

Most of the cost is in the replacement of windows. In fact Fairbanks has two men, classified as painters, who for the past two years or longer haven't lifted a brush because they have been busy replacing windows.

Here's hoping that burglar alarms will considerably reduce the cost of vandalism; however, there was a slight problem at Verplanck awhile back.

Aside from that, though, it's time for people to get their heads out of the sand and realize that we have a growing vandalism problem. There's no easy solution, that's for sure. But a growing awareness on the part of civic clubs and organizations that we have a problem might be a start.

Manchester has a number of organizations where members spend money and provide many hours to aid charities or worthy causes.

One of the finest is the Benevolent Protective Order of Elks. And so a reminder that Manchester Elks will stage their Las Vegas Night Oct. 26, complete with an open buffet. It starts at 7:30 and will wrap up at midnight. Mark your calendar. You'll have a good time and also aid the Elks charity program.

We were getting calls last week about some businesses being solicited for a police program. In case you missed the item in the newspaper, Manchester Police Union 1499 won't be soliciting merchants for an annual ball until Nov. 1. All solicitation by the Manchester Union will be on a personal basis.

When a merchant has the slightest doubt about a solicitation, it might be a good idea to hold off momentarily and check with the Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce.

Cable television may get off to a slow start in Manchester early next year but the number of subscribers will increase as time goes by. The ease at which you can flip channels and get excellent reception will have great appeal despite what you may have spent in the beginning for a rooftop antenna.

We came from an area that had cable television and we have missed it in Manchester.

It will also be some local programming. Cable companies are required to do so by federal regulation.

It might be a brighter Christmas. We recall the other day that the Federal Energy Administration will not single out holiday lighting for voluntary or mandatory curtailment this Christmas season. Chief Sawhill said: "Our slogan 'don't be feckish' means be prudent, perhaps fewer Christmas lights indoors and out."

Go ahead and plan your outdoor display if you think you can afford it.

Begins Campaign

Hailed by a campaign slogan, Labor Party Leader Harold Wilson opened his campaign at a meeting in Hemet, Hampstead. The British election campaign started its 10-day countdown Tuesday with a record 2,192 candidates for parliament. Wilson's incumbent Labor Party is favored to win. (UPI photo)

Law Regarding Rape Evidence Now in Effect

By ROBERT LAMBERT HARTFORD (UPI) — Women's liberationists succeeded in getting nearly two dozen reform measures through the 1974 legislature, including bills dealing with rape, property rights and desecring of the state books.

The package of reform bills is among dozens of measures approved by the lawmakers which went into effect Tuesday.

Also going into effect are measures tying welfare benefits to the cost of living, erasing criminal records in certain cases and making the entire state the "community" in obscenity cases.

Under the equal rights package, women now may witness an execution or become forest rangers, and men may engage in the practice of midwifery.

Corroboration of rape is no longer required in criminal cases because it set a double standard of evidence, casting into doubt the integrity of a woman's testimony.

Previously, corroboration of a woman's testimony from another witness was required, making conviction in many cases difficult because of the lack of witnesses to the assault.

Other new statutes delete statutory references to gender and assure women equal protection in property and inheritance rights and legal actions.

The welfare commissioner now must compute at least once a year the impact of inflation on Connecticut's flat grant welfare program. The commissioner will use the federal regional Consumer Price Index or Boston as a measure of the changes in the cost of living and report his findings to the legislature.

The legislature separated rent from the standard of need and increased payment levels for everything but rent by 10 per cent to reflect the rise in the cost of living since the basic levels were set in 1962.

The rent is figured on prevailing rental rates in different sections of the state. The standard of monthly need under Connecticut law covers expenses for food, clothing, personal incidentals, household supplies, fuel, utilities, shelter and special needs. Connecticut provides 100 per cent of the federal standard of need.

A bill vetoed by Gov. Thomas J. Meskill's veto but overridden by the legislature allows the erasure of criminal records in certain instances.

DOWNTOWN CENTERS CAMDEN, N. J. (UPI) — The energy crunch may lead to a revival of downtown, urban shopping centers. Marshall C. Demmon, president of Associated Mortgage Cos. Inc., says the newest trend on the construction scene is recycling older structures downtown or in the immediate suburbs.

School Playground To Get Fence

VERNON
The Board of Education last night voted to construct a fence at Center Road School.
James Boettcher, chairman of the building and grounds committee, reporting on the request for the fence, to protect the play area at the school, recommended immediate installation.
Boettcher said, although he personally is not convinced of the need, he voted for construction because he is convinced that enough people feel it is necessary for the safety of children.

A petition signed by 50 parents was presented to the board at its last meeting. Petitioners and the school PTO cited heavy traffic at the Center Rd. Rt. 30 playground site, and reluctance of teachers to bring the youngsters outdoors because of potential danger.
The motion to erect a fence was passed

Commuters Continue School Lot Use

VERNON
The Board of Education unanimously approved the indefinite extension of use of the Vernon Center Middle School parking area for a commuter express bus parking lot last night.
The motion, by transportation committee chairman Stephen Marcham, saving the commuters from relocating to the state-owned parking area on Rt. 30, or from falling through completely.
Harold Collins, the bus company owner, had said he would not drive his buses in or out of the Rt. 30 lot.

Marcham had moved at the Sept. 9 meeting to close the school lot to commuters, within a month, in favor of the state lot, unless the Rt. 30 lot was proven unsatisfactory. He told the board last night that when planning the Rt. 30 lot didn't seem the town and state was coordinated. As a private citizen, he commented, "I'd like to put in a plug for a town planner."

Horse Compromise Fails

HEBRON
Nancy Foote

Tel. 228-3970
Members of the Planning and Zoning Commission held a special meeting Tuesday to discuss possible compromises in the Kenney horse situation on Dory Rd. Letters telling of the meeting were sent to all residents of the area who had signed the petition complaining about unsafe and unsightly conditions on the Kenney property.
Ten of the signers of the original petition were on hand at the meeting and no compromise was reached. The ten people present agreed that if the Kenneys intend to keep the horses on their property they want the area surrounded by a six-foot stockade fence as requested by the PZC last summer.

The PZC had requested that the Kenneys take action to improve the situation this summer and many of the items were completed. However, the Kenneys did not erect the stockade fence, provide a "safe zone" around the electric fence or complete their barn in keeping with the surroundings.
At a meeting in early September, the Kenneys indicated their desire to avoid the erection of the fence if possible. They stated that such a fence would be, in their opinion, unsightly and it would be expensive to construct.
At the September meeting the possibility of a compromise on the subject of the fence was suggested.
The petition signers made it clear last night that no compromises would be acceptable

A Heap o' Veeps By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Some of President Ford's ambassadorial appointments are catching flak. Critics say he is falling into the familiar pattern of using U.S. embassies as a dumping ground for campaign contributors, lame duck politicians and advisers whose advice he prefers long distance.

But how would you, as President, reward the fat cats who made your election possible? How would you take care of political pals the voters turned out to pasture? And how would you ease out aides you don't wish to fire outright?

In England, that sort of thing is no problem. In England, you simply elevate them to the knighthood. Being tapped on the shoulder with the royal sword and addressed thereafter as Sir George, Sir Kenneth or whatever is recompense enough.

Then you can appoint as ambassador to China someone who knows where the place is. American colleges also handle the matter nicely with their system of honorary degrees for eminent fund donors, emeritus deanships for obsolete professors and athletic directorships for losing football coaches.

Burglaries Predicted With Computers

By ELLEN KELLY NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Most police departments concentrate on predicting when and where certain types of crime will occur, but the New Orleans force thinks the public has a right to be warned as well. The department recently began issuing computer predictions for burglary, robbery and theft to the news media, in an effort to overcome citizens' apathy and fear of getting involved with police. "We're not at present doing the armed robberies as well because we simply want to try something a little more innocuous to see how people would react," said Dr. Hugh Collins, who supervises the forecast. "The idea is not to inhibit people, it's to say 'Take a few reasonable precautions and be so much safer.'"

ON SECOND THOUGHT

By JAN WARREN

My mother-in-law deserves a gold medal for the fine job she did in raising her son. Oh, I've made a few changes in him since we've been married, but basically, my husband is the product of his mother's good training.

I shudder to think of what my future daughter-in-law will say about me. In fact, sometimes when I watch my 11-year-old son in action, I wonder if I'll ever have a daughter-in-law.

Believe me, I'm doing my best to raise him properly, but despite my efforts he is a complete co-pot in some very important areas.

He cannot, for example, hang up a towel, or a jacket or a pair of pajamas. And although he can toss a basketball into a basket with amazing regularity, he never can make the hamper with his dirty clothes.

He can turn on lights but he can't turn them off. He can open doors but he can't close them. He has such strong muscles that he can wrench the top off any jar, but he is incapable of putting the top back on again.

He can scramble his own eggs for breakfast but he can't scrub the frying pan clean. He can stir up a batch of Kool Aid for the entire neighborhood but he can't get the purple stains off the kitchen counter.

He keeps his baseball cards filed in alphabetical order, but he stores his clean shirts in the same drawer with his gerbil's food.

He has uncanny balance on his bicycle (no hands going down hill) but he can't carry a glass of milk across the kitchen without spilling it.

The other day I got so upset with the condition of my son's bedroom that I cleaned and organized it from floor to ceiling.

When he came home from school, I dragged him upstairs to see the results. "I've worked all day on this room, young man. Look! Socks in the sock drawer. Shirts in the shirt drawer. Not a single lump in the bed. And your pajamas are hanging on a hook in the closet. Will you PLEASE try to keep it this way?" I pleaded.

John flushed me a warm slow grin and draped his arm around my shoulder. "Mom, you're the greatest. I don't know what I'd do without you around here."

Of course I knew what he was up to! But the sight of those big brown eyes made something inside me melt. I suppose, in spite of everything, I will have a daughter-in-law someday. She may even be willing to pick up John's pajamas.

DR. LAMB

Teenage Girl Is Too Tall

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I read your column about the woman who was worried about her children growing up to be too short. My problem is just the opposite. I'm almost five-foot nine and in the eighth grade. Whenever I meet someone I always dread it because the first impression they must have is, "Gosh, she's tall." Or, "Is she really in the eighth grade?" It has caused me to be very self-conscious and have an inferiority complex.

To keep from standing out in a crowd I stoop, crouch, and whatever else I can do to make myself shorter. Can you help me to get over this problem? Is there anything that can be done?

DEAR READER: Yes, something can be done to stop growth. First you should have a careful medical examination by an endocrinologist (gland specialist) to be sure you have no medical disorder that needs treatment.

If everything is normal and it is just a matter of coming into this world with a blueprint for a tall body, then you can be given hormones that will stop the process. The length of the legs are a major factor in how tall a person is. Within the shaft of the thigh bone, for example, there is a zone of cartilage just like a round circular cross section of the bone. It keeps growing and the outer layer of the cartilage disk calcifies and becomes part of the main shaft of the thigh bone. Calcified bone does not.

When you begin to mature sexually the sex hormones cause the cartilage disk to calcify. The long bones then quit growing. This, incidentally, is why doctors don't like to give sex hormones to either boys or girls before they have completed the growth of the long bones. It will stunt their growth.

So, you can take female hormones and stop the growth of your long bones and markedly slow or stop your continued growth. You would still be a fairly tall girl.

The next question that comes up is, do birth control pills stop growth in young girls? By the time the ovaries are active enough to produce ovum and cause the possibility of pregnancy they are already producing a lot of estrogen. This effect will already have occurred, and the small amount of female hormones in the birth control pill won't be important then. I send 50 cents to the same address and ask for the "Balanced Diet" booklet.

STAMPS AND COINS

By RUSS MACKENRICK

Hot off the press is a new catalog: "Guidebook of Franklin Mint Issues." (Krause Publications) Would you care to hazard a guess as to how many different products it covers? The figure is eight thousand!

A Coin World article reports that this private mint has been using an acrylic coating on most of its shiny stuff since 1972 - a "touchable proof coating." It is supposed to be invisible and to resist the miasma from the hand of some friend who would grasp a coin firmly between thumb and forefinger and then toss it in the palm a few times to test the weight.

This is good, but the story continues with news of their stripper, and their cleaning solution, and the klieg light put out for the home treatment of old coins. My skin crawls with the thought of a flowing-hair large cent and a century and a half of nature's toning being turned into a bright piece of copper.

Linn's first four-color issue arrived on schedule with a front-page representation of Aitutaki's first airmail stamps. It is a good beginning and only a grump would complain that the greens are a little billious. The Scott's Monthly Journal wasn't all that good at first and now it is great. Actually Linn's didn't do a whole hog for it this time as only four pages out of 120 show stamps in color.

We have the new Harris 1974-75 edition and find that the good commemoratives are laughing up their sleeves at the stock market. Some changes in the past six months: the Columbian and Omahas up 9 per cent, Pan-Ams up 11, Jamestown 8, Pacific perf 12 up 8, same in perf 10 up 15.

Continuing with the Pilgrims up 15, Walloons and Lexington up 15, and the Norse-American

EPA Bans Production Of Two Pesticides

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Environmental Protection Agency Tuesday banned further production of the pesticides aldrin and dieldrin, saying their cancer-causing potential poses an unreasonable health risk for the American public.

The ban, announced by EPA Administrator Russell E. Train, allows existing supplies of the pesticides to be used up. About 10 per cent of the nation's corn crop is treated with aldrin-dieldrin.

The ban, effective immediately, has the effect of stopping Shell from turning out an estimated 10 million pounds of the two pesticides which it had planned to start turning out this fall for use during 1975, mostly on corn crops.

Train said evidence presented during the hearings thus far shows that the pesticides cause a significant increase in malignant tumors in test animals. He said that Food and Drug Administration tests showed dieldrin is showing up in 83 per cent of all dairy products, 88 per cent of all garden fruits and 98 per cent of all meat, fish and poultry samples.

In addition, the EPA said tissue samples taken during surgery, or autopsies in 1971 showed detectable levels of dieldrin in the fat tissues of 92.5 per cent of those sampled.

Botticello Seeks Radio Tower Permit

 because a town is within 500 feet has been notified.

All maps and plans have been submitted by Botticello.

Desist Orders
 The zoning agent and zoning commission after much deliberation now have approved a cease and desist form letter which will be sent to Botticello regarding an existing building (Vito's Restaurant) and the erection of a radio tower.

Two decisions will have to be made following the hearing, one for the zone extension itself and one for a special exception for the radio tower.

Property owners within 500 feet have been notified that they will be attending a public hearing. The town of Glastonbury being within 500 feet has been notified and the Capitol Hill of the Region Council of Governments an arrest.

Officer Closed

The office of Calvin Hutchinson, building inspector, assessor, will be closed Oct. 7-10 as he will be attending a building officials conference at the University of Massachusetts.

Hutchinson said anyone thinking they will need his services during that period should contact him by Friday.

Horsemen Benefits

WOODBURY (UPI) - Connecticut horsemen say they will support of track betting in the state only if they are given a share of the "take" to foster the breeding of race horses in Connecticut. James Tyler, head of the Connecticut Thoroughbred Owners Association, said Tuesday they have the support of the Horsemen Protective Benevolent Association in their claim. State of track betting chief William J. Wade has said he plans to reach a mutually agreeable split with horsemen and other parties before a track opens.

Mixed Use Complicates Planning for Firehouse

BOLTON
 Donna Holland
 Correspondent
 Tel. 646-0375

In a letter to the Public Building Commission, Arnold Lawrence, architect for the proposed addition to the existing firehouse, said his investigation to date has focused on compliance with zoning requirements, state basic building code and state fire safety code rather than on design development drawings and cost estimates.

Lawrence said a zoning variance would be needed for the planned north bay.

Due to the building having mixed uses and occupancy, a public garage on the first floor and a place of assembly on the second, the SBBC three-hour rating required would be impossible to achieve in the existing wood frame structure, and cost estimates.

Lawrence said it was agreed to accept declassification of the second floor as a place of assembly.

Peter Massolini, fire marshal, said you could not have declassification merely by declaration, it must be through a physical action.

Lawrence said if it was practical to do this, then the building could be classified for a single use, public garage with the second floor space incidental to the primary use. He said he could then proceed with design development studies.

He said a meeting of those architects, PBC, fire marshal, building inspector and fire commissioners is in order.

The Public Building Commission agreed that such a meeting was necessary and asked Lawrence to set it up.

The PBC will also tell Lawrence to proceed on the assumption that the second floor area will be cut down for a declassification.

BOOK REVIEWS

A Bridge Too Far. by Cornelius Ryan. (Simon & Schuster, $12.50.) Conceived by Field Marshal Montgomery and reluctantly approved by Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, the battle of Arnhem, the greatest airborne operation of World War II, ended in abject failure.

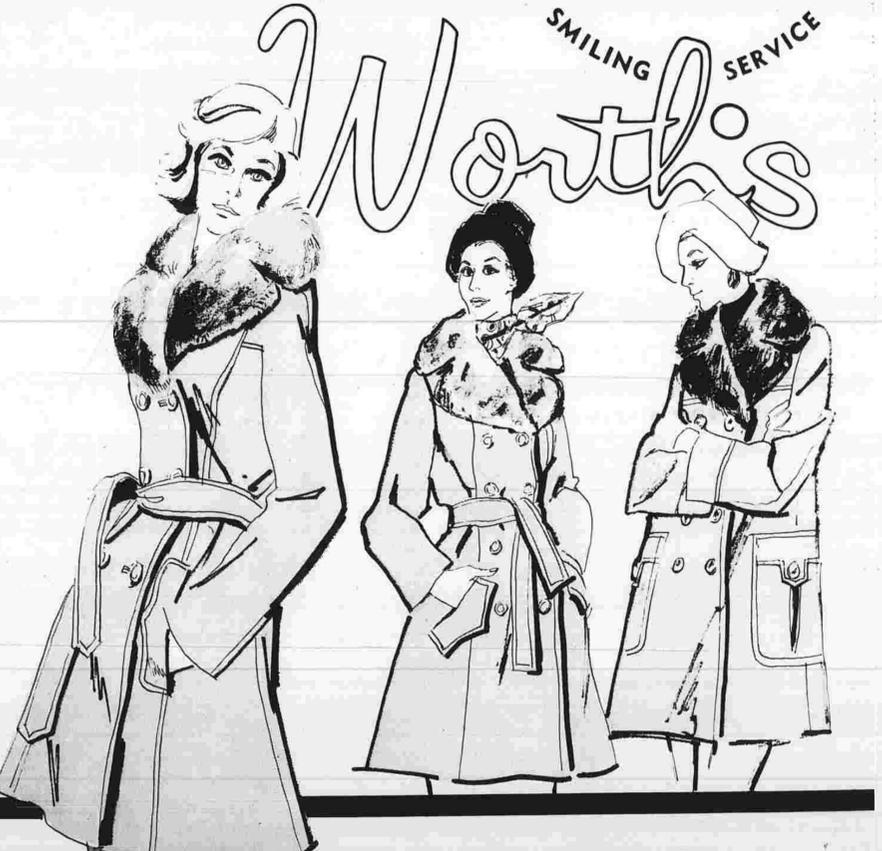

Cornelius Ryan brilliantly recounts this attempt by a combined British and American force to sneak through the northern "back door" of the German front in the attack area; the complete attack order plan, including even the names of the British divisions, was captured by the Germans but ignored as suspect.

Ryan writes clearly, dramatically, with mounting impact, never omitting the telling detail. A Dutch nurse watches from a window as Germans dig foxholes, thinking what a "beautiful view of the battle" she will have. Nearby the American soldier who will become her husband is landing by parachute.

A slambang important story of war and men. Joan Hanauer (UPI)

Police found extensive damage done to the lawns around the school. There were at least six deep ruts of from 25 to 30 feet in length, police said. All four youths were released on their written promise to appear in Circuit Court in Rockville Nov. 5.

Police Report

ERIC O. LAMARCHE P. VERNON, 19, of Rockville, was arrested by State Police Tuesday at 11:30 p.m. in a car on the lawn of Tolland High School on Old Catholic Rd.

The driver, Paul Gouin, 20, of Rockville, was charged with second-degree criminal mischief and loitering on school grounds.

His three teen-age passengers were all charged with loitering. They are: Steven Benson, 19, of Rockville, Mark Eller, 18, of Tolland, and Mark Bassett, 17, of Ellington.

Police found extensive damage done to the lawns around the school. There were at least six deep ruts of from 25 to 30 feet in length, police said.

All four youths were released on their written promise to appear in Circuit Court in Rockville Nov. 5.

Arthur Cloutman, SWEA president, said he thinks the bargaining representatives "felt satisfied" that the tentative agreement is "something we can live with."

The Dow indicator has fallen steadily as confidence in the economy erodes and discouragement over the government's ability to control inflation deepened.

Tuesday's closing price was off 3.06 from Monday.

In the last eight sessions, the widely watched average of stock prices has lost nearly 70 points. There is little optimism the slide is abating, and some analysts are saying the market could fall to around 540 in a short period.

Prices fell Tuesday because of increasing concern about world monetary problems and reports that some oil producing nations, including Kuwait, were raising royalty taxes on crude oil purchased by U.S. and British companies.

At Jodanis' suggestion, those directors who can will tour the treatment plant Saturday at 12:30 p.m., to learn of the problems there first-hand. Following the tour, they will attend an Open House at the renovated Cooper Hill Treatment Plant, scheduled for 1 to 5 p.m.

Director of Public Works Jay Giles was asked Tuesday night whether the raw sewage being sent directly to the plant by the Eighth District is affecting the operation.

Eighth District Impact Giles said it is having an effect because it doesn't pass through the district's primary treatment plant first, as before. The district's plant, on orders by the state, has been abandoned, in favor of the town's secondary treatment plant.

Burr Commuter Bus Still Most Popular

The most popular commuter bus service of the nine routes in Connecticut is still Manchester's Burr Commuter-downtown-Hartford run, according to State Transportation Commissioner Joseph Burns.

Initiated in July 1972, the Manchester-to-Hartford express buses have carried more than 350,000 passengers. Last week, ridership on the Burr Commuter buses totaled 4,625, easily the highest ridership count on any of the nine bus routes.

Burns' report on the Burr Commuter service came as he announced that total cumulative ridership on all the transportation department express runs has reached the one million mark.

Commuter bus operations, subsidized by the state, began in January 1972 with the start of service from West Hartford's Corbin Corner to downtown Hartford. The Corbin Corner buses now average 3,400 passengers weekly.

The other routes, and the weekly ridership totals, are Newington-Hartford (724), Middletown-Hartford (907), Glastonbury-Hartford (1,180), Avon-Hartford (2,327), Branford-New Haven (2,019), Enfield-Hartford (2,497), and Milford-New Haven (20).

The Milford-New Haven service is just getting off the ground after a Sept. 23 start.

Just Not Bill Virdon's Night to Celebrate, Scott's Bases-Loaded Single Does Yanks In

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — It just wasn't Bill Virdon's night to celebrate. Things had not gone well for him and the New York Yankees.

Even in the locker room, which was as hushed as a funeral parlor, the Yankee manager had trouble getting what he wanted.

Someone handed him a paper cup and he leaned over to take a sip.

"What is this? Beer?" he asked, holding the cup back. "I thought it was milk."

On the field a few minutes earlier Tuesday night, the Yanks lost 3-2 in 10 innings to the Milwaukee Brewers, and with the loss went their last chance for the American League East title.

The loss left the Yanks two games behind Baltimore with only today's game remaining.

Staring at reporters' shotguns, Virdon said his Yankees had given "a continual effort—but we just weren't good enough."

It could be argued the Yanks blew it Tuesday night but Virdon wasn't thinking about just that game.

He said he was opposed to a straight, non-refundable tax on gasoline. "I don't think that a straight tax would make sense but I do think that some kind of a refundable fee might make sense because it would help poorer people," he added.

He said the United States must "take some tough steps to cutback on our usage of energy" to prove to the rest of the world that the nation is "serious about energy conservation."

center and Maddox' diving attempt to catch it failed. The ball went by him and went to the wall for another triple, allowing Hanson to score.

Money came in on Sixto Lezcano's sacrifice fly. "He (Maddox) was calling for it too," said Piniella of the first triple. "I don't know if he heard me but I take the blame completely. I called for it first and I should have got it."

Maddox agreed they confused each other. "He called for it so far in advance and I started to slow down," Maddox said.

Maddox said the second triple was "one of those things. I knew I had to come in for it right away but it started sinking fast. It hit my glove before the ground but it still squirted by."

Virdon placed no blame on either of the two players: "If a man's got a chance to catch it, he's got to go for it. They got their wires crossed on the earlier one."

The Yanks missed a chance to score earlier when second baseman Pedro Garcia dropped Piniella's easy pop fly in the fourth. Thurman Munson then doubled but Piniella tripped while rounding second and made it only to third.

Milwaukee starter Kevin Kotel got the next two Yankees to end the threat. "But we've got that experience now. Our guys have gone through it and we'll be ready for it next year. One thing for sure, we'll realize games early in the season are more important. If this is remembered next spring, we'll be a much better ball club."

Virdon said he couldn't begrudge the Orioles the division title. "I can't take any credit away from them the way they played the last three weeks," he said.

Asked whether he was picking Oakland or Baltimore for the AL pennant, he said, "I've got to root for the East."

Winners and Losers Both Showed Class

NEW YORK (UPI) — The winners and the losers showed equal class Tuesday night when the Orioles otherwise known as the American League's Eastern Division race finally ended.

The Baltimore Orioles are the winners and the New York Yankees are the losers.

The Orioles, exerting unrelenting pressure for the last month of the season, set up their fifth Eastern title in six years when they beat the Detroit Tigers 7-3 Tuesday afternoon.

That set up a "lose and out" situation for the Yankees in their night game with the Milwaukee Brewers and they just couldn't keep the pace, losing to the Brewers 3-2 in 10 innings.

The way the race ended was rather typical of the teams—the regal Orioles rallying in the late innings for their victory and the ragged Yankees, poor relatives of those famous Yankees who used to serve the pennant season after season, scratching and scrambling and eventually losing.

The Orioles, classy as usual, followed the progress of the Yankees' game in Milwaukee with a hoopik telephone to their hotel in Detroit. Then they threw a "little" champagne party in a local gimball prior to playing out the season Wednesday.

Manager Bill Virdon said it for all the Yankees in the glow of their clubhouse when he pointed out, "We've got nothing to be ashamed of... I can't see how anybody will beat us next year... no doubt about it, we didn't fold."

Win, Win, Win For Baltimore

DETROIT (UPI) — The Baltimore Orioles are getting as bad as the New York Yankees used to be. "Win, win, win, that's all we ever do," a celebrating Mark Belanger said in Tuesday's early hours.

The Baltimore shortstop was not kidding it over the league. He was merely keeping the party going as the Orioles kept the cold duck flowing to observe their fifth American League East Division title in the last six years.

"Come September they said, 'everybody take their respective positions.'" Paul Blair said as he orchestrated the partying. "They said, 'Baltimore—you go to the front of the league.'"

"This is the most exciting of any of the division titles. The earlier one, we had them won... this one we had to come back to win."

"This was much more rewarding than the others," Blair said as he savored his moment. "The last month we had to go out and win."

That they did and Baltimore went 27-6 since Aug. 29, the latest victory in an eight-game winning streak coming Tuesday afternoon when Andy Etchebarren's ninth-inning double scored Brooks Robinson with the winning run in a 7-6 decision over the Detroit Tigers.

The Orioles retired for dinner and a trek to Manager Earl Weaver's suite to listen to the New York-Milwaukee game. If New York lost, which it did, then Baltimore knew it had won the division crown.

Weaver placed a telephone call to the broad cast booth at County Stadium in Milwaukee and the Brewers' announcers laid the phone down next to the microphone, and they listened—to all 10 innings.

"I'd sure hate to pay that phone bill," Etchebarren quipped. "It must be $300."

A now meaningless game today winds up the regular season.

Mike Cellar, scheduled to start, said he didn't think he'd be pitching. Weaver said he might go four innings just to stay in shape for the playoffs.

The Orioles' manager indicated he might go with four pitchers in the game, Don Hood, Wayne Garland, Jesse Jefferson, and Dave Johnson.

Tiger Manager Ralph Robinson, who will succeed Ken Aspromonte as manager, also will retain both his current role of designated hitter and his $172,000 a year salary, making him the highest paid manager in baseball history.

The Indians obtained Robinson, 39, on waivers from the California Angels two and a half weeks ago and the immediate speculation was that he was purchased not only for his hitting ability but also to replace Aspromonte as manager. The speculation gained credence last week when Aspromonte was fired.

Robinson will become the major league's first player-manager since 1962 when Lou Boudreau handled both jobs with the Boston Red Sox, getting into four games as a player that year. It was Boudreau who led the Indians to a world championship in 1948 when he served as player-manager.

"So far as I know, it's not official," said Robinson, who was with the Indians in Boston for Tuesday night's game.

But when questioned further by newsmen, Robinson did assess the Indians personnel in a general way. "There is some good young talent on this club," he said. "It's a type of team that can move because it's young. The older a player gets, the more set in his ways he becomes."

Hoop Date

Solidly implanted in the 1974-75 basketball schedule is a Saturday, Dec. 14 meeting between Manchester High and East Catholic at Manchester's Clarke Arena.

A second contest between the two local schools is planned, if certain considerations can be worked out. This will be the first time Manchester and East have opposed each other on the hardwood.

ORCHARD PARK, N.Y. (UPI) — The Buffalo Bills waived rookie running back Wayne Mosley Tuesday and acquired rookie defensive back Leonard Fairley.

Highest Paid Ever

Robinson Ready To Manage Tribe

NEW YORK (UPI) — Frank Robinson, the only man to win the Most Valuable Player Award in both the National and American Leagues, will become the first black manager in major league baseball Thursday when he will be named player-manager of the Cleveland Indians, it has been learned.

Robinson, who will succeed Ken Aspromonte as manager, also will retain both his current role of designated hitter and his $172,000 a year salary, making him the highest paid manager in baseball history.

'Refundable Fee' Gas Tax Plan Suggested

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal energy administrator John Sawhill said today he has proposed that the government levy a 20 to 30 cent per gallon "refundable fee" on gasoline.

Sawhill, head of the Federal Energy Office, said motorists would be able to gain their refund through the income tax system.

"The refund would have to come through the withholding system although other mechanisms would have to be found to refund to people who are not part of the tax system, that is (those) who don't pay income tax on weekly or bi-weekly basis," he said.

"In order to really be effective a fee would have to be somewhere in the 20 to 30 cents a gallon range."

As an example, Sawhill said that if a motorist drove 10,000 miles a year in a car that got 20 miles per gallon, he would pay a refundable fee of $100. But he indicated that if a motorist drove over 10,000 a year or owned a car getting less than 20 miles per gallon, all of the money would not be refunded.

Other Measures Under Study He said he has discussed the fee plan, along with several other energy conservation measures, with "senior advisers" to President Ford.

Sawhill was interviewed on the NBC Today Show.

He said he was opposed to a straight, non-refundable tax on gasoline. "I don't think that a straight tax would make sense but I do think that some kind of a refundable fee might make sense because it would help poorer people," he added.

He said the United States must "take some tough steps to cutback on our usage of energy" to prove to the rest of the world that the nation is "serious about energy conservation."

700 Pitches in Marathon Game

Turning out informative copy these days as publicist for the National Baseball League is Irv Kaze, one-time sports writer with headquarters in New York. Kaze passes along an interesting item concerning the recent 25-inning game between the New York Mets and St. Louis Cardinals at Shea Stadium, the second longest game ever played in the major leagues.

It took seven hours and four minutes before the Cardinals triumphed, 4-3. Rube Walker, Mets' pitching coach, chalked every pitch by a Met in every game. Ed Sudol, who worked behind the plate the full 25 innings, wondered how many pitches he called that night.

Walker supplied the answer, as far as the Mets' staff was concerned. New York moundmen threw 331 pitches — 215 strikes and 115 balls. Starter Jerry Koosman, who went the first nine innings, threw 137 pitches. Reliever Jerry Crum served up just 83 throws in eight frames.

The Cardinals do not chart their pitchers but it was estimated that Sudol had to call approximately 700 pitches before the final out was made.

One pitcher in an average nine-inning stint throws 120 or less pitches, Walker said. Sudol, who turned 54 two days after the Shea Stadium marathon, has been involved in the three longest timewise games in National League history. The first was a 23-inning game between the Mets and San Francisco which required seven hours and 23 minutes. It was the second game of a doubleheader on May 31, 1964 at Shea. Four years later, the Mets and Houston waged a 24-inning game in the Astrodom. Sudol called the balls and strikes in each game, the hardest spot on the four-man umpiring crew. In the latest long game at Shea, Sudol was hit by seven foul balls but never left the field even for a drink of water. He reported that before getting in his car at the ball park parking lot he had to walk around 20 minutes to get rid of leg cramps.

Alston's Smile Was Never Warmer After Dodgers Captured Division

HOUSTON (UPI) — Venerable Walter Edmonds Alston has been soaked with champagne too many times to remember. His smile, though, was never warmer. "These ballplayers. I'm proud of each and every one of them," he said in a wet and wild Los Angeles Dodger locker room Tuesday just before the champagne spray drowned out his voice.

Alston's players could claim after Tuesday they were the best in the National League West, winning the first title for Los Angeles since 1966 by beating the Houston Astros 8-5.

"It feels great," the 63-year-old Alston said. "After the regular season closing game tonight in Houston, the Dodgers will face the East winner, either Pittsburgh or St. Louis, in a playoff starting Saturday. Dodger centerfielder Jimmy Wynn, stripped to his pants and gurgling champagne for the cameras, looked to be content with the best ballclub in the world," he said.

Cards' Best Shot Just Not Enough

MONTREAL (UPI) — St. Louis Cardinals Manager Red Schoendienst says his team gave it their best shot and he can find no fault with his players in their 3-2 loss to the Montreal Expos Tuesday night.

Mike Jorgensen cracked a two-run homer in the eighth inning to lift Montreal over St. Louis, which dropped its game behind Pittsburgh in the National League East pennant race in the next-to-last game of the season. The Pirates defeated the Chicago Cubs 6-5 Tuesday night.

"It makes the ice a little thin for us right now," said the veteran manager in the silent dressing room. "I don't know what to say on a night like this. There were some great fielding plays during the game."

The Cardinals were leading 2-1 with two out in the eighth when Willie Davis singled and Jorgensen hit his 11th homer to give Bob Gibson his 13th loss.

"I was considering using reliever Al Hrabosky but Gibson was doing such an excellent job that I didn't want to take him out," Schoendienst said.

Cards' catcher Ted Simmons also said he felt Gibson pitched an excellent game.

"I thought Jorgensen's home run was going to make it over the fence," he said. "It looked like the wind would keep it in the park and it would have been an out."

Evert-Connors Later

FT. LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI) — Chris Evert and Jimmy Connors have decided to postpone their wedding although they are "still very much in love," according to Miss Evert's father.

"I thought Jorgensen's home run was going to make it over the fence," he said. "It looked like the wind would keep it in the park and it would have been an out."

It was a great satisfaction for Wynn, an Astro for 11 years, to win the flag in front of his former fans turned boohoos.

"Unbelievable," he said. "The celebration actually began in the dugout to start the fifth inning when it was announced Atlanta beat Cincinnati giving the title to Los Angeles. The Dodgers didn't wait for the Reds to falter. Davey Lopes tripled to open the game. Steve Garvey doubled and Willie Crawford singled for two runs.

Winning pitcher Don Sutton, who left the game with a 5-0 lead in the sixth, said he didn't feel added pressure to win. "I felt like I was the only one out there as I always do and it was up to me, and although we got some help from Atlanta—and that's great—we went at it as we always have this season," he said.

"Nobody is happier with this win (his 19th) than me because of the way I ugled up in June and July."

A Dodger who kept the pace throughout the season, Garvey, got his 200th season hit with the run-scoring double in the first inning and became the first player in three years to get that many hits and 100 RBIs in the same season.

"It takes this much next year to do what I have this season, I don't know if I can hold up," he said. "Any success I've had I owe to these guys. They're the best."

The victory was the first for Los Angeles since the leagues split into divisions in 1969. Before that Alston, who first managed the Dodgers in Brooklyn in 1954, won six National League pennants and four World Series titles.

"We've been enthusiastic about this team's chances. We've been improving all year long and I don't see any reason for that to change," he said.

After Sutton exited Tuesday to rest for the playoffs, the happy Dodger dugout looked on in apprehension as the ironman of the bullpen, Mike Marshall, experienced wildness and gave up four runs.

Marshall, playing in his 106th game, gave up two hits and four walks in one inning, and only the hitting of Alston's substitutes padded the lead for the Dodgers' 101st win.

There is nothing like getting out of the gate on the right track. The Manchester High football team did so last Saturday with a 19-17 comeback win over South Windsor and right now the coaches and players are a happy group.

Manchester makes its home debut Saturday at Memorial Field against Central Connecticut Interscholastic League (CCIL) rival Wethersfield High. The Eagles opened with a league win over Pomery, 22-14.

Youth in some instances has its drawbacks but overall the Indians weren't hurt by it against the Bobcats. Bob Noonan, Butch Kinney, Steve Dawson and John Madden, all making their initial varsity appearances, performed well. Madden hauled in a 10-yard pass from quarterback Jack Maloney during the Tribes' winning march while Dawson and Kinney were instrumental in keeping South Windsor off the scoreboard in the second half.

The only casualty of the opener was sophomore Dom Vuoto, a specialty team performer. He suffered a gash on the forehead which required eight stitches but he'll be ready for Wethersfield. Manchester will be in better physical condition this week than last. Three starters, Maloney, John Samotis and Bob Digan, who weren't 100 per cent against South Windsor, will be for the home opener.

"One thing which will have to work on this week is our pass defense," a still rejoicing Manchester Coach Larry Olsen commented. "Wethersfield threw like mad against Pomery." Air-minded Eagles' quarterback John Papa tossed for 205 yards and one touchdown in the victory over the Black Knights.

Manchester will counter with what Olsen believes to be the most potent ground game in the league. Maloney at the helm is a threat either as a passer or runner, as demonstrated by his 106 yards on the ground against South Windsor. His backfield mates are junior fullback Jason Dodge and senior halfbacks John Kunz and Pete McCluskey.

"We have to shore up our defensive end slots, find some depth there," Olsen noted. Ron Ricketts and Bob Hawkes stopped South Windsor in the second half after the Bobcats had success the first 21 minutes running outside. The Red and White should expect to be tested there by the Eagles.

Having found success outside the league the Indians will try to duplicate the feat inside by duplicating their eight CCIL tests against Wethersfield.

Rockefeller Lists Gifts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Among vice presidential nominee Nelson A. Rockefeller's mementos in a photograph of Moscow from Nikita Khrushchev and a modern ivory carving from Chinese premier Chou En-lai.

Rockefeller filed a list of his gifts from foreign leaders since 1956 with the Senate Rules Committee, which is considering his nomination. No values were attached to the list of 16 items.

They included a clock from President Lemus of El Salvador and two gifts from President Anastasio Somoza of Nicaragua — a volume of poetry by Ruben Dario and a gold flower pin.

More people die in the United States each year from insect bites than from snake bites.

Jim LaPine takes off his fireman's uniform and dons a forest ranger garb during Fire Prevention Week each year. He and other members of the Manchester, Town Fire Department then take trucks and equipment to town schools to talk about fires.

Parents may bring their children to the fire stations of the department for a tour any afternoon during the special week, the chief said. If parents wish to bring groups of children, he requested they call ahead for an appointment.

Firemen will be available for voluntary home inspections. To make an appointment, call the non-emergency number of the department.

It is our hope that all of our children will become more aware of the dangers of fire," Chief Rivosa concluded.

Present Security System To Be Retained at RHS

VERNON
After discussion in executive session, the Board of Education last night voted to retain the present security system at Rockville High School, and expand it to the addition.

James Boettcher, chairman of the building and grounds committee, reported a unanimous committee recommendation that the installation of a Sontrol Security system in the addition and present buildings, as recommended by architect David Evereth, not be approved.

The committee report said that the present system is competitive with Sontrol, while considerably less expensive on initial installation, monitoring, and maintenance. The report continued, "Present system is an effective deterrent to vandalism. It has the potential, with a few modifications, to be superior."

The committee conducted an evaluation, including the entire school system, with the assistance of the police department.

The move to discuss some aspects of the subject was called for after the report continued, "Present system is some comparison of security which is presently being used in the school."

Committee To Study Space Needs For School Administration

VERNON
Upon presentation of architectural plans for renovation of East Street School for administrative space at a cost of $58,000 by Dr. Raymond Ramsdell, the Board of Education last night established an ad hoc committee to investigate exactly how much space is needed for administration and how best to obtain it.

The plans presented by the school superintendent include 22,000 square feet of usable space, including a basement for storage. The half-million price tag for renovations would be 50 per cent reimbursable by the state.

Ramsdell noted the building does not presently offer ideal working conditions. Rain is falling through the roof and in some places the tile is falling in. A June inspection by local and state officials resulted in several violations being submitted to fire marshal. Ramsdell said so far local officials have "closed their eyes" but major violations must be corrected by tomorrow and put the lock on.

William Houle will chair the ad hoc committee. Others appointed to investigate are Robert DuBau, Devra Baum, James Boettcher, and assistant superintendent Dr. Linstone.

Four Named to Sewer Unit

TOLLAND
Vivian Kenneson
The Board of Selectmen appointed four members to the newly created five-member Sewer Authority Tuesday.

Ray Markanos, who served as chairman of the sewer study committee, was appointed. Other members, who also served on the study committee, are David M. Houghton, Kenneth Cooperwate, and Arthur Gossier.

Approval requires a favorable vote of four selectmen and the board was stymied, with only five members present, on reaching an agreement on the fifth member. The appointment is expected to take place at the next meeting.

The board established a Highway Safety Committee to consist of the town manager, road superintendent, school superintendent, a selectman, resident trooper, fire chief, Tolland Ambulance Association representative, and when hiring a planning technician. The board established an ordinance establishing a Tolland Bicentennial Committee for the celebration of the 200th anniversary of the United States of America.

The ordinance gives the committee powers under the General Statutes of Connecticut to plan and execute a celebration.

School Board Divided On Discipline Guides

VERNON
A report by Rockville High School Principal Martin Fagan regarding the hiring of a security aide, establishing a smoking area, and discipline outlines was discussed by the Board of Education at its meeting last night but no action was taken.

Board members disagreed on whether to accept it as a report or adopt recommendations as a board policy. After battling the report back and forth for nearly an hour, a motion by Stephen Marcham to accept the report was defeated by a 4-4 tie, with chairman Maurice Miller opting to cast the tie vote.

A motion by Dr. Daniel Woolwich to refer the report back to administration to formulate a guideline of policy on discipline at RHS for another meeting was defeated by a 2-4 vote.

Dr. Raymond Ramsdell, superintendent of schools, noted that problems at RHS have improved nearly 100 per cent since first reported to the board in January, said he was against set policies on discipline. "You cannot set a hard and fast policy to cover 2,000 students," he said.

Ramsdell also said he feels Fagan has demonstrated his ability to handle situations. "He has formed a committee of teachers and some of its input is being implemented. I wish each of you board members could take a week and give Fagan a vacation to see what's going on. If we're not doing things right give us a 30-day notice and get rid of administration," Ramsdell charged, "but don't think you can put everything down. If you write a policy you'll be changing it every week," he concluded.

Fagan's report included the recommendation of hiring of a service or security aide to prevent loitering at the school. Marcham recommended that more information, such as rate of pay, enforcement powers, and the like, be acquired by referral to the personnel policy committee.

On the smoking issue Fagan recommended smoking be allowed on school grounds but not in the building. He ruled out a specific area designated on the grounds due to the tight scheduling of the double sessions. He noted that by allowing smoking on the grounds, checks have produced very little evidence of smoking in bathrooms. His goal, said Fagan, is to establish a realistic and enforceable policy.

A motion by Atty. Robert DuBau to allow smoking with the "where and how" left to the discretion of school administration was defeated by a 5 to 2 vote. The smoking issue was referred to the public relations and student representation committee, as suggested by board chairman Miller. The discipline report, covering tardiness, truancy, and cutting classes, brought the board no closer to agreement. Although the report contained outlines for discipline for habitually tardy students, Fagan did not feel a policy should be set, citing a case of tardiness caused by late buses.

At this point in discussion, DuBau noted he did not feel the report should be codified, but accepted only as a report (the discipline, smoking and security aide). Devra Baum and Marcham agreed, with the latter noting, "One of Fagan's strengths over the years has been to fit discipline into the situation."

William Houle disagreed with DuBau, saying he would like to see it made into a concise policy for the board to adopt. He said he feels strongly that without board action that "in six months it will be just as wishy-washy as when the problem was first brought to us."

Woolwich agreed that some kind of written policy is needed, predicting nothing to fall back on without board action.

Elizabeth Steele noted administration needs flexibility and advocated accepting the report with others to follow periodically. James Boettcher said he feels some policies should be included in the handbook, but not necessarily hard and fast rules.

Ford Appearance Set for Oct. 10

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Ford will make a historic appearance before a House subcommittee investigating his pardon of former President Nixon at 10 a.m. Thursday, Oct. 10, the subcommittee announced today.

The hearings will be held in the same Judiciary Committee room in the Rayburn House Office Building where the impeachment proceedings were carried out against Nixon. Those proceedings led to Nixon's resignation and Ford becoming President.

Rep. William L. Hungate, D-Mo., chairman of the Criminal Justice subcommittee, has said that if the television networks want to, they may televise the hearing live. He said a majority of his nine-member subcommittee would allow the television coverage.

Ford will be asked at least 14 questions included in two resolutions of inquiry seeking a full explanation of the reasoning behind Ford's pardon of Nixon on Sept. 8. The questions ask what Ford may have known of Nixon's physical or mental condition or charges which may have been brought against him, whether the pardon had been part of a deal before Nixon resigned.

PUC Admits Awareness of Overcharges

HARTFORD (UPI)—The state Public Utilities Commission has admitted it knew of possible overcharges in the computation of fuel cost adjustments several weeks ago.

Commissioner Richard H. Stewart made the statement Tuesday on the heels of a claim by the Democratic gubernatorial candidate that the overcharge amounted to $11 million in the past year alone.

Stewart said the formula used to compute the fuel cost adjustments has been under study for several weeks, and the PUC is considering removing from it the factor that allegedly caused the overcharges.

PUC officials said they first came across the apparent overcharges during rate hike hearings for United Illuminated several weeks ago. They said they didn't know how the money would be returned to customers if the overcharges are verified.

On Tuesday, Rep. Ella T. Grasso, D-Conn., called for the abolition of the PUC for allowing utilities to overcharge consumers by about $15 million during the past three years.

Mrs. Grasso said her research had shown Connecticut's three utility companies had used outdated data to "pad" fuel cost adjustment charges since 1971 with an "improper" overcharge resulting. She refused to pin the blame on the utilities, saying the PUC had the responsibility to detect the alleged inaccurate data that permitted the alleged overcharges.

She said she would not characterize the utilities as acting fraudulently, illegally or illegitimately. "I would call it improper," she said.

Mrs. Grasso said she did not know how the alleged overcharges could be regained. When asked whether she would initiate a class action suit on behalf of consumers, Mrs. Grasso said "we'll have to wait and see."

In calling for the abolition of the PUC and the suspension of current rate hike hearings, Mrs. Grasso said she would disclose Thursday her plan for a "new commission."

She said $11 million of the overcharge was for the last six months of 1973 and the first half of 1974, while the remainder was for 1971 and 1972.

Connecticut Light and Power was reported to have overcharged its customers $4,070,239 in the 1973-1974 period. Hartford Electric Light Co., $3,151,194, and United Illuminating $3,711,980, she said.

The results of the private study, which Mrs. Grasso labeled as preliminary, blamed the overcharges on the PUC's failure to get the utilities to use updated figures on their efficiency levels when computing fuel cost adjustments.

The utilities' efficiency in producing and delivering electrical power, known as Factor B, is figured into the formula for determining fuel cost adjustments.

The PUC last updated Factor B for each of the utilities in 1971, although all three reported increased efficiency rates of at least 7.3 per cent in the 12-month period, CL&P by 7.8 per cent and HELCO by 12.7 per cent.

While the utilities were charging customers for producing and delivering power at 1971 levels, their higher efficiency rates meant the actual costs to the company were lower, Mrs. Grasso said.

Solons Would Limit Job Preference of Amnestied

HARTFORD (UPI)—Two Connecticut lawmakers say they will introduce legislation to insure that draft evaders and deserters accepting President Ford's amnesty get no job preference over honorably discharged Vietnam-era veterans.

Sen. Winthrop S. Smith of Milford and Rep. Joseph M. Pagliese, both Republicans, said Tuesday that as chairmen of the Government Administration and Policy Committee they would have to set some policy for state hiring practices in this area.

They said they disagreed with Ford's amnesty, calling it "an undesired slap in the face to those who served their country faithfully when called upon."

National PTA President Visitor

Manchester PTA officers and members were told not to be discouraged in their local endeavors Tuesday by Mrs. Lillian Herndon, president of National PTA.

Mrs. Herndon's appearance at Martin School was the first of a series of scheduled appearances throughout Connecticut this month. She is being accompanied by Mrs. Barbara Kenny, State PTA president.

About 75 persons including the two student representatives to the Board of Education attended the meeting. Mrs. Herndon was hosted by the Manchester PTA Council Oct. 17.

A spokesman said Mrs. Herndon encouraged the local PTA unit not to underestimate the power of any suggestions or proposals it might have.

She cited the instance of the child abuse proposal adopted by the Manchester PTA Council and sent to the state PTA Council. Eventually, the proposal was sent to the National PTA Convention and adopted as a nationwide proposal whereby all local PTA units are encouraged to distribute material on child abuse to their members.

Stressing the new PTA Action Program, "Every Child Needs You," Mrs. Herndon urged youth involvement in PTA, and she thinks teacher evaluation by the students would be a valuable asset to the board.

Mrs. Herndon was elected president of the National PTA in 1973. She has served in many posts on local, state and national levels. A native of South Carolina, she is the mother of two children.

Pratt Says Church Music Began with Colonization

Aaron Pratt, music department chairman of the Loomis-Chatfield School in Windsor, affirmed one point about early American history and implied the contradiction of a belief in praising his talk on "American Music: New England Style" at the first 1974-75 meeting of the Manchester Historical Society Sunday afternoon at Wadswell School.

The first is that church music, or American psalmody, began with British colonization. The Huguenots and Spanish settlers from Mexico, he said, had little impact on musical creativity.

Secondly, he said, it is hard to believe that the 20,000 people with 1650 New England were not musically inclined or did not remember music. The society from which they came, Pratt reminded the audience, was one of the most active in English history. The belief held by many that these people had no knowledge of or production for music, he conjectured, is probably due to lack of documentation because music was largely confined to the household.

"These devout people set great store by hymn singing," the speaker said. The colonists brought psalm books to their new land. English Protestants of the 16th and 17th centuries used a metrical adaptation in singing psalms, and the Protestant movement adapted European folk music discoveries.

"Lining out" was a method used to teach musical versions of psalms to those who did not have books. A minister with a strong voice or a deacon with a long memory, Pratt explained, would intone a line and the congregation would repeat it.

The end of the 17th century was marked by a change in liturgical emphasis to long sermons and less singing. The Plymouth Church pronounced psalms too difficult to sing, consequently, melodies became fewer and poorer.

One of the 18th century came the church singing schools as those instructional sessions as have not, Pratt said, were held in the back rooms of taverns because of their central location.

"One person brought three things. A candle, hymn book and some sort of motivation," he added, with the latter usually being of a social rather than a theological or devotional nature.

The students' tune books might consist of hymns by several composers or only one. Whatever the composition, they had one thing in common, an introduction that might be brief or elaborately detailed.

The singing master was an itinerant. One of the early ones whose newspaper advertisement Pratt showed was Samuel Hoytke.

William Billings, a tanner by trade, in 1770 published his compositions in "The New England Psalm Book" with plate engravings by Paul Revere. Pratt described Billings as "arrogant but having a sharp sense of observation. He felt, like Beethoven later, that musical rules were made to be broken."

In concluding his program, the guest lecturer played the following late 18th century compositions and simultaneously showed slides of the scores:

Two forms of the round by Billings, "Jesus Wept" and "Chester," the latter one of the colonists' Revolutionary War anthems.

Also, two fuguing tunes, "Amity" by Daniel Read and "Kittery" by Billings, a metrical setting of The Lord's Prayer.

Also, "Sternbergs" by Read, which used "shaped notes" (round, square, triangular, diamond) to teach music. Pratt said the ingenious method is still used in the South.

Also, "Plentitude" by Supply Belcher of Farmington, Maine, who served in just about every municipal office there after settling from Massachusetts in 1781 and given him as a Revolutionary War veteran.

Also, "Moomouth" by Jacob French, who experimented with tone color.

Also, "Coronation" by Oliver Holden, probably the oldest American hymn still in Protestant hymnals.

Also, "The Young Convert" by Jeremiah Legals, an example of the "white spiritual" still sung in the South but having its origin in the North.

Campaign Practices Code Suggested

HARTFORD (PI) The state Elections Commission has adopted a code of fair campaign practices that asks candidates to voluntarily swear off "dirty tricks" and various forms of character assassination.

The commission Tuesday recognized that the code would not be legally binding on the candidates, but said it would voluntarily swear off "dirty tricks" and various forms of character assassination.

The code was proposed by Secretary of the State Gloria Schaffer, who said it would offset the "heightened distrust of politicians" caused by Watergate "dirty tricks."

Mrs. Schaffer suggested all candidates pledge in writing to uphold the code and called for publishing the names of those who do not.

The code prohibits "personal vilification, character deflection, whispering campaigns, slander, libel, malicious or unflattering accusations to create doubt about an opponent's patriotism," the initiation of another candidate's campaign and the use of campaign material which distorts facts or does not reveal its true source.

Hadden Named To Judgeship

HARTFORD (UPI)—Gov. Thomas J. Meskill Tuesday appointed attorney William L. Hadden Jr. of Hamden a superior court judge to succeed retiring Judge Archibald H. Tunck of Greenwich.

Hadden will ascend to the bench effective with the Oct. 8 retirement date of Judge Tunck. His appointment is in effect until the next session of the legislature which will act on the nomination.

SCENE FROM HERE

By SOL R. COHEN

I see by the papers an admitted Connecticut bookie (the lives in New Hartford) was sentenced to two years in jail and fined $5,000 for income tax evasion.

Where he made his first mistake was in not entering politics. Instead of booking illegal bets on the horses, and dogs, and jai-alai games (that's all there is as of today but, if you're willing to wait awhile, there may be more), he could have wangled a job with the state's gambling commission, more respectfully called The Commission on Special Revenue.

He would have been assigned to the Off-Track Betting Division because of his experience and skill, would have managed the Telephone Wagering System, a high-toned phrase meaning "Your Friendly and Legal Bookie."

He might not have earned the taxable income on which he didn't pay taxes anyway (for which reason he was sentenced and fined), but, he'd have had peace of mind - less income, true, but peace of mind.

I tried telling that to a bookie I know. You know what he told me?

"Peace of mind won't buy the groceries," he told me.

Do you know what rationale was used by the 1971 General Assembly when it created the (gambling) Commission on Special Revenue? Do you know the rationale used by its nine-member commission when it established a Lottery Division, a Racing Division and an Off-Track Betting Division?

Their rationale was similar - to raise funds for the state's General Fund.

In New London, when a public hearing was held for establishing off-track betting facilities in that city (the City Council approved them and New London is one of six

Oil Firms Say Price Drop For Gasoline Temporary

By RICHARD HUGHES United Press International

Oil company executives and government officials say a slight decrease in oil prices is only temporary because Arab oil producers are ignoring pressure from President Ford and will push crude oil prices even higher.

Standard Oil of Ohio, Skelly Oil Co. of Tulsa, Okla., and Clark Oil Co., a major independent, dropped prices Tuesday on all grades of gasoline. Mobil Oil Co. reduced its prices last month and Exxon said it was reviewing its price structure.

Gulf Oil Co., however, has instead wanted even higher crude oil prices. He said these would be passed on to the consumer.

Sohio reduced its prices by one penny per gallon. Skelly dropped prices 25 cents per gallon, and Clark Oil cut prices by two cents a gallon in the 13 Midwestern states it serves.

But American motorists should not view the slightly lower prices as the start of a trend, warned one oil executive who asked not to be identified.

"They should not go out and buy a 3,000-pound car thinking the clock has been turned back," he said. "No way."

The executive said major oil exporting countries were not bowing to President Ford's pressure for lower prices but instead wanted even higher crude oil prices. He said these would be passed on to the consumer.

"Between you and me, they're thumbing their nose at Ford," the oilman said. "They want more money that will be passed through to the consumer. That pressure is not relenting."

A report from Washington confirmed the failure of Ford's bid for a rollback in crude oil prices. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger was reported to feel he has made no progress in persuading Middle East oil producers to lower oil prices.

The current variations in gasoline prices were prompted by the kinds of oil purchased or through higher royalty taxes instead of either a raising or lowering of the basic price. American companies must pay for foreign or domestic oil.

Nixon's Lung Clot Shrinks

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) - The blood clot on Richard Nixon's right lung is shrinking, improving his health, but apparently without changing the recombinant, long-continued valence that is keeping him off the witness stand at the Watergate cover-up trial.

The former president's doctor said Tuesday that a long scan revealed a "partial resolution," or reduction in size, of the clot in Nixon's lung, and showed that no more clots were forming.

Nixon has been in Long Beach Memorial Hospital for nine days, receiving anticoagulant drugs to combat blood clotting caused by a phlebotomy condition that began when he was in office.

His physician, Dr. John Langren, said Monday that although Nixon would probably be released from the hospital later this week, a "normal convalescence" would require at least a month, possibly as long as three months.

Five of Nixon's former top aides went on trial Tuesday in Washington on Watergate charges. Nixon has been subpoenaed by both prosecution and defense attorneys and his appearance on the witness stand was expected to be a high point of the trial.

Headache Cure Said Effective

HARTFORD (UPI) - The second oldest psychiatric hospital in the United States has a method of reducing or eliminating the agonies of migraines and tension headaches in which the patient manipulates his own internal state.

Dr. Bernard C. Glueck Jr., research director at the 152-year-old Institute of Living, has called the hospital's new biofeedback method "a real advance in medicine."

It was developed by Dr. Charles F. Strobel, the hospital's director of experimental psychophysiology. Similar methods have been used study elsewhere in the United States as well.

Here's the way the Hartford system works:

Sufferers, 80 per cent of whom are women, are instructed first in the use of a little electrical machine that monitors variations in body stress, otherwise not easily distinguished. In effect, the patient is wired.

The machine transmits the stress volume to the patient through auditory, visual or tactile signals. In the case of tension headaches, a steady beep registers and is altered only when the patient thinks the "right" thoughts.

And these could be anything as long as they are passive. A subject, Brooke Craven, a research assistant at the institute, was not saying what her's were recently. She merely smiled when asked.

When the thinking is correct, the beep subsides, and the tension headache either disappears or its severity is reduced, according to Dr. Strobel, a physician whose specialty is the body's circadian rhythm or inner timeclock.

Migraines occur when arteries in the head are constricted and stretched by too much blood. They ache because of the overload. So the patients are taught to divert the blood flow from the head to the hands by correct thinking.

They are able to tell how they are doing because the machine picks up the temperature difference between the forehead and the hands and this appears on a dial. As they think whatever they want - one woman said she thought of her hand in warm sand - the migraine subsides.

"I get the feeling my mother's hot chicken soup is flowing down my arms into my fingertips," one woman was quoted as saying by the spokesman, one of them Dr. John Donnelly, the hospital's psychiatrist-in-charge.

While the woman may have gotten good results thinking about mamma's soup, the institute's experts say some foods bear watching because they could figure in migraines.

Among these are salt, cheese, sour cream, chianti wine, pickled herring, liver, canned figs, raisins, chocolate, soy sauce, Worcestershire sauce, A-Sauce, Coca Cola, peanut butter, hot dogs, bacon, ham and salami.

The institute was to open an outpatient clinic today for headache sufferers. Patients will be charged $75 each - a break-even figure, the hospital says. The training consists of 13 hours spread over six weeks.

"It's not a one-shot deal," said Dr. Strobel, but something that must be practiced every day for the rest of one's life, once the 15-hour indoctrination ends and the machine is no longer needed. "It may be the best investment of their lives," said Dr. Glueck.

Caning Still Practiced in Singapore

By S.C. WEE SINGAPORE (UPI) - Flogging, the practice of beating criminals with a cane, still is common practice in Singapore's prisons, a legacy of British colonialism.

Prisons director Quek Shi Lei said offenders, generally those convicted of robbery, assault, mugging or other crimes involving some type of violence, are flogged "in such a way that criminals will get a taste of the violence they inflicted on their victims."

He said the punishment is intended to leave scars on the criminal for the rest of his life.

Flogging, also called caning, was introduced to Singapore as a punishment for criminals by the British, who ran the colony from its founding in 1819 by Sir Thomas Stamford Raffles until 1859.

Quek said prisoners normally are sentenced to a term in prison and also can receive up to 24 strokes with a flexible rattan cane on their bare buttocks. The judge determines length of the prison sentence and number of strokes.

"Prisoners about to be flogged are stripped of all clothes and strapped to a wooden trestle with the buttocks protruding.

Then, Quek said, one of the four robot executors of the punishment wields the half-inch-thick, four-foot-long cane using "the whole of his body weight, and not just the strength of his arms."

"After that, their struggles lessen as they become weaker," he said. "At the end of the caning, those who received more than three strokes will be in a state of shock."

Morgester Pleads for Band Shell

Ken Morgester is a man with a message and a mission. His message — to balance out town funds — lapsed down toward athletic activities and almost non-existent for activities of the arts.

His mission — A permanent band shell in Center Park — as the focal point for summer concerts and other cultural activities.

Morgester, an acclaimed Manchester musician and orchestra leader who was involved in the recent concerts in Center Park, made his point Tuesday night in an eloquent appeal to the Board of Directors.

The board voted unanimously its recommendation to the Bicentennial Committee — to consider a permanent band shell for 1976 Manchester activities.

"We have all kinds of funds for athletics in town and a mere pittance for the arts," stated Morgester in his plea. "I vigorously oppose spending any more money for physical programs until something is done for cultural programs."

He said a band shell could last as long as 30 or 40 years. He didn't know the estimated cost. Commenting on the $15,000 being requested for improving the entry and exit at Charter Oak Field, Morgester said, "Let them walk. It's better to use the funds toward a theater or a band stand."

He said he categorically opposes all new expenditures for athletic programs and isn't picking on any one of them. "It's time we balanced out all of our needs," he insisted.

Property Loss on Rise Due to Thefts, Breaks

The "property stolen" column of the monthly police report for August reveals a sharp rise to $74,165 in goods and cash lost.

In July, the figure was $35,647. In August, 1973, it was $25,113.

The rise is partly explained by the theft Aug. 8 of $5,880 worth of diamonds from Calder's department store on Tolland Tpk.

But the bulk of the losses were sustained by home and apartment dwellers and store owners in a sharp increase in reported breaks. Also, car thefts rose.

Property recovered rose to $14,094 in August compared to $11,314 in July. In August, 1973 police recovered $8,522.

The losses for the year so far are nearly $100,000 ahead of 1973. The figure stood at $302,918 on Aug. 31 and at $209,886 on Aug. 31, 1973.

Although the number of breaks lessened some in September, there were two more thefts of diamonds. On Sept. 16, thieves stole over $10,000 worth of diamonds during the day from the Fairway Catalogue store on Broad St. On Sept. 17, thieves struck during the day at Shore Jewellers at 917 Main St. hauling in over $16,000 worth of diamonds.

Police have two warrants out for the arrest of people involved in the second diamond theft. Also, police arrested over a dozen teenagers in September allegedly involved in nearly 100 recent breaks.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Money By Mistake

Martin took a $37.50 check to the bank to cashed. He was the teller, absently overlooking the decimal point, counted out $3,750. Martin accepted the money without a word and went home rejoicing.

But his joy did not last long. The bank discovered the mistake, reclaimed the money, and then had Martin arrested on a charge of larceny.

At the trial, he pleaded not guilty.

"It was their error, not mine," he reasoned. "They gave me that money of their own free will."

Nevertheless, the court ruled that Martin was indeed guilty of larceny. The court said he committed the crime by taking money that he knew wasn't his, fully intending to keep it.

Courts generally agree. In the view of the law, an accidental overpayment is supposed to be handed back at once.

But what if Martin had accepted the money in all innocence, not discovering the error until he got home? If he decided at that point to keep it, would he be guilty of larceny?

Many courts say no, although he would probably be guilty of a lesser offense. As one judge explained, larceny technically involves a dishonest purpose at the very moment of taking.

Now is it larceny if someone takes another person's property under the mistake—but reasonable—belief that he has a legal right to do so.

That kind of a case arose when a landlady noticed that one of her roomers had spilled ink on a carpet. To make sure he would pay for cleaning the carpet, she took a watch out of his room as security.

As a matter of law, she had no claim on the watch. But when the roomer had her haled into court on a charge of larceny, the judge found her not guilty. The judge said she had acted in good faith, without the slightest intention of keeping the watch for herself.

Portugal: A Revolution in Transit

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
The resignation of President Antonio de Spinoza of Portugal is the mark of a revolution in transit with the end of the road not yet in sight.

Declared Spinoza: "In this generalized climate of anarchy, in which everyone makes his own laws, crisis and chaos are inevitable. Before the complete impossibility of building in this climate a true democracy... I renounce the post of president of the republic."

It was, in fact, a temporary climax in a three-way struggle. On the one hand was Spinoza's struggle to become chief and only spokesman for the Armed Forces Movement, that shadowy organization of young officers in the Portuguese armed services that had engineered and carried out the overthrow last April of the rightwing government of Premier Marcello Caetano.

At the other corner of the triangle were the Portuguese leftwingers led by the Communists who professed loyalty to the MFA and the coalition government. From the overthrow of the Caetano government they had emerged as the best organized of the political parties and had extended their power by quiet takeover of municipal and other government offices.

Between the suspicions of the MFA and the machinations of the left had come Spinoza's downfall — coupled, perhaps with his own overconfidence in his status of national hero as leader of the revolution.

It had been his book, "Portugal and the Future", saying Portugal could not win its wars in Africa, that had sparked the April 25 revolution against the Caetano government.

On April 10 he called upon Portugal's "silent majority" to "awaken and to defend itself actively against extremist totalitarianism which fights in the shadows."

As political rightwingers rallied to Spinoza's call, the left reacted with similar vigor.

Fishing Limit Bill Sent To Committee

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Legislation to establish a 200-mile fishing jurisdiction off U.S. shores has been referred to the Senate Armed Services Committee in an effort to save the bill.

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee and sponsor of the legislation, decided on the course of action after top Ford administration officials indicated opposition to the bill.

The legislation, which is expected to be the subject of hearings by the Armed Services Committee, must be reported out by the Senate floor, a spokesman for the Senate oceans and atmosphere subcommittee said.

James P. Walsh, staff counsel with the subcommittee, said Magnuson decided on the course of action because early efforts to win passage of the bill were "going badly."

"It was an effort to keep the bill alive," he said, noting that Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and others in the administration opposed passage of the legislation.

Walsh described lobbying efforts against the measure as "the strongest effort yet to kill the bill" and said a delay in its consideration on the Senate floor would allow more time to "muster support."

At present, he said, a vote "would be close" — with indications that more senators are "leaning against the bill" than are supporting it.

U.S. officials oppose unilateral extension of the fishing jurisdiction from its current 12-mile limit.

A United Nations Law of the Sea Conference failed earlier this year to resolve the problem of foreign fishermen depleting stocks of fish near U.S. shores and supporters of the Magnuson bill feel passage is necessary to protect American fishermen until some international accord is reached. The Commerce Committee reported the bill out Aug. 8 with only two dissenting votes. However, the Foreign Relations Committee unfavorably reported the bill to the floor Sept. 23. The vote was 8-8 for the unfavorable report.

GOOD CORRECTIONS

The KEY To Reduced Crime

Places and People (Part II)

The Department of Correction maintains 11 facilities throughout the state. These include six correctional institutions, six correctional centers and one maximum security correctional camp. Generally speaking, correctional centers accommodate short-stay inmates and those awaiting trial.

Presently, the combined population numbers about 2,700, a figure which is considerably lower than the highs of the past; it's expected to decline further in the face of active departmental programs such as Retention, which seeks to alter staff members and their community relations in community-oriented projects.

The largest of the facilities is at Sohier, a maximum security institution for male offenders; the smallest is at Litchfield where the red-bricked, half-fronted building has lived side by side with the state colony structures on the Litchfield Green since 1841.

Young male offenders 18-21 years of age are usually assigned to Chesire Correctional Institution, females who enter the correctional system are housed at Natick Correctional Institution and its satellite facilities, the MCMC at New Haven and Watkinson House in Hartford. The fourth institution is at Enfield where male inmates live in a minimum security setting.

Scattered about the state are correctional centers, which are located at Hartford, New Haven, Bridgeport, Brooklyn, and Manchester. The latter is the Litchfield Newstead of these is Bridgeport Correctional Center (CCC) which was established in 1971. This institutionally planned complex was designed to permit classification of inmates by age, offense, and rehabilitation needs.

According to the lawyers, the justification of the police commission is that the state is a "massive military intervention" in what the government itself labeled a "civil disorder."

Winner of the local pageant will be a representative of all local girls, a high school senior fulfilling ideals in scholastic achievement, character and deportment.

More than $700,000 in college scholarships and other awards will be offered to the winners. Judging in the local pageant will be based, as it is on the state and national levels, on Scholastic Achievement, Mental Alertness and Judgment, Poise and Appearance, Youthfulness, and Creative and Performing Arts.

Local girls can enter the pageant by applying at the guidance office at East Catholic High School or by calling Mrs. John Kellogg of the club, at 643-5347, or Mrs. Frank Gurski at 528-822. The deadline for registration is Oct. 15.

It is a good contract and will be reached easily if South's first rebid is in diamonds. It doesn't matter if North's first response is two clubs or three clubs. He can have in into blackwood as soon as South bids the diamond suit.

Steele Would Bar Income Tax By Amendment To Constitution

HARTFORD (UPI) — Republican gubernatorial contender Robert H. Steele said today he would even support a constitutional amendment prohibiting an income tax in Connecticut.

Steele made the comment in response to a newsman's question on whether he would veto an income tax. His Democratic opponent, Ella F. Grasso, likewise has vowed to veto an income tax.

The Republican contender said Connecticut Medical Service has filed for a $47.1 million rate increase which he termed "excessive and inflationary."

"If inflation is the nation's number one ailment, then I think it is essential we ask the medical profession to join us in trying to treat it," he said.

If Mrs. Grasso's solution to public outrage over attaching added fuel costs directly to consumers bills is to abolish the fuel adjustment clause, he said, consumers would end up paying even more for electricity.

By incorporating the fuel adjustment clause into the rate structure of utility companies, he said, large users would get a better break than the small homeowner.

It would cost the average consumer more," he said.

A spokesman for Mrs. Grasso said she would not propose abolishing the fuel adjustment clause when she holds a news conference later today.

Under her proposal, the fuel adjustment clause would be maintained as a separate item but monitored more closely on a monthly basis by the governor and the agency she will propose to replace the PUC.

Steele, a congressman, said he is recommending putting technical experts on the state Public Utilities Commission to enable the agency to do a better job of controlling power rates.

"We have a solid program to try to get down utility bills and at the same time assure the utilities the financial strength they need," Steele said.

He said Mrs. Grasso, who has proposed abolishing the PUC, has been getting poor advice on the question of utility bills.

Steele said that he has said repeatedly in the past he would veto an income tax bill but commented that he would even support a constitutional amendment barring one.

Steele said he has asked state Insurance Commissioner Thomas White for permission to testify at a hearing on the rate hike, which ranges from 36 to 77 per cent, next week.

The rate hikes, he said, would affect 900,000 subscribers in Connecticut over a three-year period.

"The issue is simply whether we are all going to sit back and permit a huge 36 to 77 per cent increase to take place in medical costs at a time when we are struggling in every other area to halt inflation," he said.

While appreciating the effort doctors make and the value of their services, Steele said, they must be willing to apply some "first aid to our economy."

"Right now we need their assistance for our economic health as well as for our medical health," he said.

A breakdown of the rate hike, Steele said, shows:

- The monthly premium for an individual on a group plan would increase 50 per cent from $4.20 to $6.25.
- The premium for a husband and wife on a group plan would jump from $10.70 to $15.35, an increase of 42 per cent.
- The premium for a family on a group plan would increase 36 per cent from $12.40 to $16.85.
- For an individual on direct payment, the premium would rise 77 per cent from $18.10 quarterly to $32.10.
- A husband and wife on direct payment would have to pay 57 per cent more quarterly, or an increase from $39.85 to $62.50.
- The premium for a family on direct payment would jump 36 per cent quarterly from $43.25 to $71.10.

Teachers Consider Taking Job Action over Contract

Officials of the Manchester Education Association (MEA), which represents the town's 550 public school teachers, are contemplating job action unless the Board of Education approves an arbitration award for the disputed MEA-school board labor agreement.

Arthur Glaeser, first vice president of the MEA, said today Manchester teachers have scheduled a Friday afternoon meeting to make suggestions for job action.

Glaeser said the final decision on the action will be made by the MEA Representative Council Monday, he said.

He reports that the MEA is planning job action in the wake of a Monday night decision by recommendations in a special meeting next Tuesday.

Glaeser declined to say what form the job action would take, but other sources indicated the teachers may be considering a boycott of Parent-Teacher Association meetings and pre-school staff meetings.

Job action could also mean a strike. Members of the MEA's executive board have scheduled a Friday afternoon meeting to make suggestions for job action.

Glaeser said. The final decision on the action will be made by the MEA Representative Council Monday, he said.

Asks Subpoena Quash
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — Lawyers for former President Richard M. Nixon today formally asked that subpoenas for his appearance to testify at the Watergate cover-up trial be quashed.

U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica, who opened the trial of five former Nixon aides Tuesday, said the motions have been filed under seal "until the court has had an opportunity to review them thoroughly."

MANCHESTER, CONN., THURSDAY, OCT. 3, 1974 — VOL. XCIV, No. 3

Ranchers and dairymen had their stock trailers backed into a eight-foot-deep pit near Stephenville where they were going to slaughter 1,000 calves and then bury them to protest against the low prices cattlemen are getting for beef at the market. The cattlemen agreed to postpone the calf kill for two weeks. (UPI photo)

Ranchers Dissuaded From Killing Calves

STEPHENVILLE, Tex. (UPI) — Ranchers and politicians showed and argued about an eight-foot-deep pit — the politicians calling for a postponement and the financially strapped cattlemen explaining why 500 young calves must be shot to death.

A telegram arrived from Gov. Dolph Briscoe suggesting the ranchers donate unwanted and expensive calves to charity instead of shooting and burying them.

"We could give them to charity but charity couldn't raise them either," said Bill Fanning, who brought six calves to be killed Wednesday. "They haven't been alive long enough to raise a debt."

"You can't eat these calves now and by the time you raise them to where you can eat them — six months — with all the feed and equipment they're worth less than they are now."

A bulldozer pushed dirt from the depths of the burial pit and the crowd shouted for the machine to stop in order for the speakers to be better heard.

"The price of milk and the price of feed is about the same," said W.L. Payton, a Stephenville dairy farmer. "A pound of milk I sell buys me a pound of feed and there's no way you can make it that way."

"It takes $140 to $150 to produce a calf to six months and at the six months they are being sold for $75."

Texas Agriculture Commissioner John White pleaded with the ranchers to reconsider.

Funds for Nixon Cut to $200,000

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House that was ready to impeach Richard Nixon has decided that his resignation does not entitle him to $850,000 in public funds for the transition to private life.

It voted 317 to 72 Wednesday for a supplemental appropriations bill which would give Nixon only $200,000 and insisted that no taxpayer's money be used to transport the White House tapes to California.

The House appropriations committee proposed giving Nixon $200,000, but by a 342-47 vote, the full chamber subtracted $145,000 of the $245,000 request for the first six months out of office and by a 281-62 margin, removed $3,000 from the $153,000 earmarked for his second six months.

Both amendments were offered by Rep. Joseph Addabbo, D-N.Y.

The action was likely to have an effect on the Senate. Its Appropriations Committee scheduled a meeting behind closed doors on its subcommittee recommendations to give Nixon $238,000 in transition money.

The House had little patience with appeals not to punish Nixon for his actions in office.

At Rep. John Moss, D-Calif., asked, "What services can a president who left office under less than honorable conditions provide to the United States?"

The House also adopted an amendment by Rep. Sidney R. Yates D-Ill., to prevent any of the appropriated funds to be used for transporting Nixon's tapes and documents.

They are now in government custody but destined for San Clemente, Calif., unless the courts or Congress decide otherwise.

Yates' provision would allow transportation of the material if the possession issue is resolved in Nixon's favor or has not been resolved at all by next June 30.

The House rejected amendments to completely cut off Nixon's funds, to eliminate the remaining $55,000 of his $600,000 presidential pension and to leave him nothing but that pension.

Opponents of the amendments argued that past presidents received healthy transition sums and that Congress should not deny Nixon equal treatment just because he resigned in disgrace.

Some members said it didn't matter that they gave Nixon nothing, because President Ford still has authority to spend funds for Nixon, and already has spent $316,000.
