Halloween Party At Lutz. A Halloween celebration wouldn't be complete without witches, skeletons, apples, pumpkins, gravestones, masks, trick or treating, and much, much more.

The Celts who occupied northern and western Europe practiced Druidism as their religion. One of their major feasts, Samhain, on the last day of October, marked the end of the summer and the beginning of winter and the new year.

During the fall festival, the nature worshipping Druids tried to placate the Lord of Death, bearer of the harsh winter winds. It was believed that on Samhain he allowed the Spirits of those who had died during the past twelve months to spend a few hours at home.

When the Romans conquered Britain, some of their customs were added to those of the Druids. Consequently, Halloween has also been influenced by the Roman feast honoring Pomona, goddess of fruits, which occurred in late October.

Chair Swap Shows Need For School Inventory

BOLTON
Donna Holland
Correspondent
Tel. 646-0375

The Board of Education received a letter from the Board of Selectmen requesting the return of 27 chairs which had been borrowed for the June 1974 high school graduation.

Raymond Allen, superintendent, reported that because the chairs had not been returned after the graduation it was necessary to turn over 27 school chairs to the Town Hall.

Allen said the practice of borrowing chairs for the high school graduation would be discontinued.

He said it brought to light the fact that the inventory card system of the school's property has not been kept up to date for at least the last three years.

He said a complete inventory system is needed and will be done as soon as possible.

Allen said as soon as time permits an inventory will be done with all items being labeled as belonging to the school.

Exhibit Work
Diane Ursin, local artist, has been accepted by a jury of admissions to exhibit her work at the Berkshire Art Association Show at the Berkshire Museum in Pittsfield, Mass. The show will continue through Oct. 31.

The title of her watercolor is "Daydreamer."
Mrs. Ursin studied art at the University of Connecticut. She lives with her husband, Raymond, and three daughters on High Hill Rd.

Represent School
Four Bolton High School students belonging to the Future Business Leaders of America Club represented the school at the Youth-A-Rama Building at the Eastern States Exposition in Massachusetts recently.

Their responsibilities consisted of maintaining the club's business ledger, exhibiting and explaining the purpose and activities of their organization to the public.

The students took turns manning the booth so all could view other features of the exposition. The students were particularly impressed with the Better Living Building with its futuristic ideas for "tomorrow." They were highly enthusiastic about the livestock facilities and animal exhibits.

Those in attendance were Michele Barcomb, Pamela Lambert, Kathy Williams and Bill Stern. They were under the supervision of Mrs. Beverly Plumb, club advisor.

Dance Group Forming
Bolton residents interested in learning contra dancing and other dances of the revolutionary period are invited to join an 18th century dance group being formed in Andover.

Lessons will be given Wednesday evenings from 8 until 10 p.m. at the Old Town Hall on Rt. 6 beginning Oct. 30.

Adults and teenagers age 16 and over may participate. Anyone interested in participating is asked to call Mrs. Alice Roberts, 742-7184, to register.

Commended
Five Bolton High School seniors have received letters of commendation by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

The students whose names were announced by Joseph Fleming, principal, are Linda Graden, Robert Giglio, Randall Fish, Margaret Landrey and William Stern.

The students are among 38,000 named on the basis of their high performance on the 1973 Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test-National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test.

Although the commended students ranked high on the test they will not continue in the merit scholarship competition.

To increase scholarship opportunities the commended student's names will be reported to the first and second college of their choice.

Christmas Fair
The sixteenth annual month-before-Christmas fair will be held Nov. 2 in the Educational Building at Bolton Congregational Church from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Entitled "An Old Fashioned Christmas" it will feature many booths with homemade items, such as toys, knitwear and food as well as a luncheon.

It is sponsored by the Ladies Benevolent Society. Mrs. Edith Banz is general chairman.

Phone Overcharge
The Board of Education received notification from the Southern New England Telephone Co. that due to a billing error the school board's account has been overbilled a total of $216 over the past three years.

A credit for that amount has been given to the account.

Raymond Allen, superintendent, said a representative from the phone company will be coming to Bolton before the end of the year to evaluate the entire telephone system in the schools.

Comments were also made that some type of communications other than telephones are needed between the Bolton Elementary School and Bolton Center School.

Library Hardware
At a recent meeting of the Public Building Commission hardware which will be used for keys and hinges and the like for the new library was discussed.

Architect Alan Wiedie also presented members with three proposals for equipment for the library.

One of the proposals must be approved by the Library Board before the PBC will accept it.

Half Day School
Bolton Elementary School and Bolton Center School will have a 1 p.m. dismissal Thursday as it is a curriculum day.

Students normally attending the afternoon session of kindergarten will attend the morning session and be dismissed at 11:30 a.m.

South Windsor Leaf Collection Plans Set

SOUTH WINDSOR
Judy Kuehnel
Correspondent
644-1364

The South Windsor Department of Public Works has said there will be limited return to the mechanized vacuum mode of leaf collection.

Heavily wooded lands will get one vacuum collection to be made in the latter part of October, hopefully before Halloween. The exact dates will be publicized weather conditions allow a more accurate prediction.

Since vacuum equipment operates efficiently only in areas of concentrated development, the use of the equipment will be limited to such areas.

The department has stressed that to protect small children and to prevent street flooding because of clogged storm drains residents should rake leaves only to the front edge of lawns, rather than into the street.

A general list of areas to vacuum include the following:

Abby Rd., Berle Rd., Beezlebub Rd., Birch Hill area, Colony Rd., Edgewood Dr., July Lane area, portions of Foster Rd., Foster St., Graham Rd. and Herman Rd. area, Greenfield Dr., Hillside Rd., Ident Rd., Lawrence Rd. area, Main St. Portions of Miller Rd., Oak Ridge area, Orchard Heights area, portions of Pine Knob area, Sand Hill Estates, portions of Spencer Heights, Timber Ridge, and Woodland Park.

Profits from the dance will help support the AFS program in South Windsor. Presently the local chapter is sponsoring Carlos Santiago Balbuena of America, Paraguay, who is living with the family of Ronzo Falcinelli, 21 Breezy Hill Dr.

Tickets are available from the dance committee, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hawver, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Woodard, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Clayton, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Reeves, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Carney and any AFS member.

"It is my position that all meetings on the local as well as state level be open to the public," Westbrook said, "and I would like to see all Connecticut towns implement the strong right to know regulations."

Westbrook noted that two possible areas of exception might be where prior knowledge would be detrimental to an individual or his family, or where it might result in unfair advantage for a person or firm.

Westbrook, who represents the 14th Assembly District, is a candidate for re-election in November.

AFS Dance Planned
The South Windsor Chapter of the American Field Service (AFS) will sponsor its fifth annual benefit dance Saturday, Nov. 2, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at St. Margaret Mary's Church Hall, Hayes Rd.

Music will be provided by the Moonlighters of Westfield, Mass. A donation of $9 per couple is asked.

Theft at Parkade Sparks Demand For Protection

A big, would-be cigarette thief has sparked another flare up between Parkade merchants who want a foot patrolman and the police chief.

A white male, six feet and two inches tall, weighing 215 pounds, with red hair, red beard and blue pants, about 28 years old walked into the Liggett Parkade Drug Store at 2:52 p.m. Tuesday and picked up a case of cigarettes.

Ralph Dukett, assistant store manager, was busy with a customer at the store's tobacco shop but he noticed the man carrying out the $150 case.

Dukett, a medium-build man, ran after the thief and jumped him in the parking lot. The thief dropped the case and ran off into the woods near Hilliard Park.

Police Headquarters reporting a robbery.

"The most important thing about all this, the police didn't show up until 15 to 17 minutes later," Dukett said to The Herald this morning.

"We told them it was a holdup," he added.

While waiting for police, Dukett and store employees "did a little sleuthing," Dukett said. They figured out the man must have a car waiting for him somewhere nearby.

Dukett, in another car, spotted the man getting into a car with another man and hiding in the back seat. There were two "beautiful" girls in the front.

Dukett chased them in his car up Tower Rd. across from the

The Commission on Special Revenue was created by a general statute adopted by the General Assembly in May 1971, designed to study the formation of a state lottery which has continued to prosper.

"The Commission has granted a horse racing license in Wolcott, jai alai licenses in Hartford and Middletown, a bridgeport, and a greyhound racetrack is under way in Plainfield, with the purpose of bringing additional revenue to benefit the residents of the State of Connecticut."

Group Home Law Shifted Back To Human Relations Commission

The Human Relations Commission, which last April asked the Board of Directors to draft a group home ordinance, has had the ordinance returned by the board as "it is better equipped to handle it at this time."

The Board of Directors' decision was announced at Tuesday night's commission meeting.

The commission worked for more than a year on the proposed group homes ordinance before it decided last April that it didn't have the expertise to write such an ordinance and asked the Board of Directors to draft an ordinance for group homes for children with permitted use in any zone in Manchester.

More information on the board's decision will be sought by the commission from Phyllis Jackson, secretary of the Board of Directors, and Alan

The Board of Education Tuesday appointed Dr. Alfred B. Tychsen, assistant superintendent of schools for curriculum and instruction, as representative to the Cable Television Advisory Council.

Under the Public Utilities Commission's regulations, Manchester has four appointments to the advisory council. Three of these appointments are to be made by the mayor of the town, and the board of education of each town has one appointment.

In other actions, the board approved two leaves of absence, three resignations and two appointments.

Leaves of absence were granted to Mrs. Ruby Cleveland, a physical education teacher at Bennett Junior High School, who has received final word on the adoption of a baby.

Everett Murphy, 49, of 25 Perkins St., Manchester, was charged with operating under the influence of liquor or drugs. He was released on a $250 non-surety bond.

Carroll Gardner, 31, of 23 Brooklyn St., Rockville, was arrested Tuesday on a warrant issued by Circuit Court 12 charging him with threatening.

The endorsed candidates include two from Manchester, both Democrats — David M. Barry in the 4th Senatorial and Ted Cummings in the 12th Assembly District.

Also endorsed were Marjorie Yacovone, D, 9th Assembly District; Jesse Brainard, R, 5th Assembly District; and Christopher Dodd, D, Second Congressional District.

Last month the CEA endorsed Ella Grasso, D, for governor; Abraham Ribicoff, D, for U.S. senator; William Colter, D, First Congressional District; Stewart McKinnon, R, Fourth Congressional District; and both candidates in the Fifth Congressional District, Ronald Sarain, R, and William Ratcliff, D.

Arthur Kelly Jr., 19, of 289 Box Mountain Dr., Vernon, was charged Tuesday with possession of a controlled substance (marijuana) and failure to drive in proper lane, in connection with the investigation of a one-car accident on Rt. 88.

Police said Kelly's car hit three highway guard posts. He was released on a $250 non-surety bond.

All of those charged are scheduled to appear in Circuit Court 12, Rockville, Nov. 11.

More Candidates Endorsed by CEA

The Connecticut Education Association (CEA) has announced 33 additional endorsements for office (in addition to six for major office made last month).

Indians Step Closer CCIL Soccer Laurels

By Len Auster

Putting a sophomore halfback on a crafty, shifty senior forward who has a penchant for finding the back of the net might not seem judicial, considering the soccer game in question would most likely decide who wears the 1974 Central Connecticut Interscholastic League (CCIL) crown. But that is what Manchester High Coach Dick Danielson did yesterday in West Hartford in assigning Bill Meier the unenviable task of shadowing Hall High's 12-goal marksman Kevin Goodardy. And it proved to be the correct move as the Indians emerged with a 1-0 victory to move one step closer to defending their CCIL title. Meier drove Goodardy to distraction, even to the extent of outplaying the frustrated Warrior in the fourth period. He allowed the veteran just two shots at sure-handed Manchester netminder Ray Sullivan. Goodardy did get loose for a tester late in the third stanza but Sullivan was more than equal making a diving save of a low liner. Manchester did its scoring in its first quarter as Bill MacLean, senior co-captain, headed home a cross from Carl Bujacius. Hall goalie Bruce Behan vainly attempted to latch onto the pass from the right side but it slipped through and MacLean steered it in for his ninth goal of the campaign. The triumph was Manchester's ninth consecutive shutout effort as Sullivan continued to build to his school record. He made five saves. The verdict also averaged the only blot on the Indians' ledger, a 3-1 loss to Hall in the season opener. Since then the Silk Towers have outscored their opponents, 23-0. Manchester is now perched atop the league standings with 40 points on an 8-1 record while Hall stands at 6-2-1 and 32 points. The Warriors have an aggregate mark of 6-3-1. Besides the good job turned in by Sullivan and Meier, center fullback Mike Lombardo, Bill Donovan, Kurt Hassett, Bruce Ballard and Reiner Cacace played well. Cacace from his forward slot helped out defensively, blocking one dangerous shot with his back when Hall made a dangerous play. Manchester returns home Friday for a league clash with Enrico Fermi High of Enfield at Memorial Field.

Girls Bow
Bowling in its season opener yesterday was the Manchester Community College girls' volleyball team to Matiatuck Community College. The Cougarets lost in straight sets, 15-10 and 15-10. Next match is Thursday night at Catholic against Tunxis Community College.

Breaking the Enfield course record yesterday was Manchester High's Dave Lemieux with a 15:09 clocking over the 2.9 mile layout as the Tribe cross country team upped Enfield High yesterday, 21-34. The old standard was 15:12 held by Penney High's Rick Konon, established earlier this season. Lemieux and teammate Matt Wallace broke away from the rest of the field at the two-mile mark with Lemieux outdistancing his cohort the final half-mile. Scott Moffat took third place for the Indians, after trailing by 75 yards with half-a-mile to go. Jay Martin copped seventh place and sophomore Glenn Flodorf caught this six pound, 11 ounce large mouth bass at the Moodus Reservoir. The fish measured 23 inches.

Cheney Squares X-Country Mark
Seeing its record evened off at 3-3 yesterday was the Cheney Tech cross-country team as it bowed to Rham High, 17-39, at the Sachems' Bob McKay paced the 5-3 winners touring the 2.6-mile course with a winning effort of 14:30. The next three places went to Rham before Cheney's George Trian and Ed Dezzo could take fifth and sixth positions. Tech harriers Dave Millis and John Mathews were eighth and ninth respectively with John Scario rounding out the scoring with a 12th place.

10th Straight Setback For Catholic Booters
Getting closer but still not there, the East Catholic soccer team dropped its 10th straight yesterday, 2-1 to New London High at Cougar Field on the MCC campus.

Jay Angilli tallied for the Whalers in the first period but Jay Frank tied it for the Eagles with a goal at 9:58 of the second stanza. But the deadlock didn't remain long as Tom Amannson scored with less than three minutes left in the half and that's the way it stood. Despite the setback, East expressed optimism stating that his club has shown continual improvement. Senior Mark Etka has played well in goal with the junior and sophomore-dominated lineup showing signs for the future. East's next tilt is Saturday morning in New Britain against St. Thomas Aquinas.

Sharples Leads Tech Triumph

Snapping its two-game losing streak, the Cheney Tech soccer team whitewashed St. Thomas Seminary, 2-0, yesterday in Bloomfield. The Beavers now stand at 3-5 for the season.

Senior Co-Captain Joe Sharples accounted for both goals, running his season total to eight. Both markers were picturesque. On the first goal, Sharples took a pass from freshman winger Pete Krawitz and dribbled around the goalie and into the net. The second, also assisted by Krawitz, was a booming shot into the left hand corner of the net.

STAMPS AND COINS

This Bahamas stamp shows a roseate spoonbill whooping it up while his on-her partner looks on balefully. The occasion is the 15th anniversary of the Bahamas National Trust.

The stamp pictured is one of a set of four of their native birds: the spoonbills, white-crowned pigeons, tropic birds, and a parrot. The same values and designs are duplicated in a colorful souvenir sheet.

A good break for Manchester collectors was the grand opening yesterday of Sheldon Adler's "Sub-Deb Coin Company." It is on the downtown side of the erstwhile State Theater.

"Shut up!" he explained. "There is a piece in Stamps magazine supposedly telling all about the improved way of numbering sheets to help out the plate block collector, starting with the Sleepy Hollow issue. I don't get it — so it amounts to us that famous line above."

Next CPS meeting after this will be on Nov. 17 at our high school. It will be under the wing of the Manchester Philatelic Society. The USPS will apply a special pictorial cancellation to letters posted that day in the envelope with the cachet showing the Wright Flyer and the Skylab. There will be exhibits from the Cardinal Spellman Museum, the British Crown Agents, and many others, plus a 30-booth dealers' bourse.

Group Seeks Ouster of Incumbent Solons

HARTFORD (UPI) — Tony Hodges an airline pilot turned people's advocate Tuesday called on residents of Connecticut to stage a second revolution against unresponsive government, this time with ballots instead of bullets.

The average length of a representative's service rose from just more than two terms in the 1870s to more than seven terms in 1970. Senators' average service went from 4.5 years in 1829 to 10.5 years in 1969 he said.

By doing that, he said, the "antislavery power" incumbents we have at present will be eliminated along with the seniority system.

Hodges is a spokesman for a Hawaiian organization known as the New American Revolution that is working against reelection of incumbents as a means of making government more responsive to the needs of common people.

Hodges is on a 100-day tour of every state and major city in the U.S. He is director of Life of the Land, an advocacy organization in Hawaii.

As for the seniority system Hodges noted that in 1968 the average age of committee chairmen in both the House and Senate was 67 years. He said most of them were from small towns or rural areas in the South and averaged about 24 years of service in Congress.

Fiano Says Septic Tank Rules Too Costly

Proposed state regulations on sewage and septic systems will cost the average homeowner a lot of money, according to a study by Lawrence Fiano of Bolton.

Fiano recently told executives of the Manchester Board of Realtors that the regulations - proposed by the state Department of Environmental Protection - could ultimately add between $3,000 and $10,000 to the cost of a home.

Fiano said the proposed rules - subject of public hearings last month and now under review - could also mean condemnation of any home if a septic system is judged inadequate.

"We're not against environmental protection," Fiano said, "but these regulations go too far."

The proposed regulations - which would require stiff health department scrutiny of septic systems - are vague and discriminatory, Fiano said.

Explaining opposition voiced by the Tolland County Builders Association, Fiano said authorized by the proposed rules "is so tremendous that if it's absent in any way it could wipe out a builder."

Fiano said that the proposed regulations would create a lot of red tape, costing developers time and money. One provision, he said, calls for automatic rejection of a septic permit if environmental officials fail to reach a decision within 30 days of permit application.

"If the permit involves a septic system at an existing home, and the commissioner is out of state for a month, this could cost a homeowner his house," Fiano said.

Besides creating red tape entanglements for builders, the new rules would effectively require larger home lots which would reduce the amount of available land, Fiano said.

The Department of Environmental Protection says the regulations, if implemented, would drastically reduce the number of septic system failures in the state - estimated in the thousands annually.

Fiano said, however, that the number of failures could also be reduced by rules requiring preventive maintenance. He said that many people don't know how to take care of septic systems, and suggested requirements that septic tanks be pumped out at least once every three years.

Most Solons Favor Keeping Fuel Clause

HARTFORD (UPI) - The Connecticut Citizen Action Group said most state legislators seeking re-election don't favor changing the fuel cost adjustment charge on utility bills.

Marc Caplan, CCAAG director, today revealed some preliminary results of the consumer group's General Assembly Project, to be released next week. The project is an analysis of records and views of each state legislator running for reelection.

Today's report showed more than 60 lawmakers favor building an oil refinery in Connecticut to try to alleviate high fuel costs. Caplan said that only 12 per cent of legislators responding favored outright repeal of the fuel cost adjustment.

Caplan said 41 per cent of lawmakers polled "felt the system was OK as it is, or that the high fuel costs are a problem to be solved by the federal government."

Only 23 per cent flatly opposed building an oil refinery. The largest number, 30 per cent of the legislators, said they could go along with a so-called "white glove" refinery that has up-to-date environmental safeguards.

It will be the fourth campsite of the Club Mediterranee in Greece, the newspapers said.

Massachusetts Prepares to Regulate Cable Television on Uniform Basis

BOSTON (UPI) — The Massachusetts Cable Television Commission is preparing to take the first step toward uniform statewide regulation of an industry which now remains a financial mystery.

The seven-man commission has proposed a new reporting system which would give it and the public "the minimal information necessary" to determine the actual financial condition of the approximately 70 cable television franchises in the state.

In addition, the commission, following a legislative mandate, will soon be soliciting comments from the public and the industry on whether the state should take over rate regulation of cable systems from city and town officials.

The two-pronged action comes as the commission ends nearly three years of existence in an advisory capacity.

Under the legislation which created it, the commission will have the power as of Nov. 16 to create whether it should take over rate regulation of the industry.

The proposed reporting regulation, comments on a state takeover and a third issue, a proposed new form for cable license applications, are all to be aired at two days of public hearings, Nov. 8 and 9 in Boston. Members acknowledge the sessions will be controversial.

"It's no secret," said Commission Vice Chairman Anthony Ottenger, "that the industry is less than enthusiastic about any reporting system."

Ottenger and commission staff members say there are at least three options open following the hearings. In some cases, an order can be made immediately.

"Right now there is very little hard information available on what is going on," Ottenger said. "We do know most local officials have rejected any requests for rate increases, but it remains to be seen whether the industry is making too much or too little."

"The decisions," a staff member said, "have been based in some cases, on political considerations."

Currently, most cable operators are charging between $5 and $6 a month. Only a few are charging the $7-a-month maximum set by the legislature.

"We feel," Ottenger said, "that no matter who sets the rates, the commission or local officials, the decision should be based on solid information. Still to be determined, he said, are what portions of the financial report will be made public and which will be regarded as "confidential" for commission members only.

The proposed financial reports also represent a departure from traditional information sought by regulatory agencies such as the state Department of Public Utilities.

The cable operators would be required to report finances on a "fund flow basis."

Boy Charged In Vandalism At Cemetery

The first arrest in connection with vandalism Oct. 1 in Manchester's St. James Cemetery was made this morning, Police Chief James Reardon said.

William J. Stearns, 17, of 58 Chestnut St. was arrested on a Circuit Court 12 warrant charging him with first-degree criminal mischief and third-degree criminal trespass. He was still being processed by police this morning. Bond and court date had not been set.

Chief Reardon said police expect to make further arrests.

He said damages are estimated to be more than $2,000 at the cemetery, where nearly 100 stones were pushed over. Some were broken and chipped, and many require special equipment to raise them again.

There are still five large stones at the cemetery which have not been reset, according to Henry Higgins, cemetery director.

HARTFORD (UPI) — Contracts have been signed to establish off-track betting in Connecticut which will include the world's first broadcast of horse races over closed circuit television.

Paul Silverfield, state gaming commission chairman, said projected income for off-track betting would amount to about $300 million within four years with Connecticut realizing about $25 million in revenues.

HARTFORD (UPI) — A Constitutional amendment to set up a merit system for picking judges and end the political nature of the present process has been proposed by James Bingham (R-Stamford), chairman of the legislature's Judiciary Committee and GOP candidate for attorney general.

Bingham said the public lacks confidence in the present selection method, but he said he wasn't referring to the nomination of Gov. Thomas Meskill to the federal bench or Meskill's appointment of former state Republican Chairman Brian Harty to the Superior Court.

Boy Charged In Vandalism At Cemetery

The first arrest in connection with vandalism Oct. 1 in Manchester's St. James Cemetery was made this morning, Police Chief James Reardon said.

William J. Stearns, 17, of 58 Chestnut St. was arrested on a Circuit Court 12 warrant charging him with first-degree criminal mischief and third-degree criminal trespass. He was still being processed by police this morning. Bond and court date had not been set.

Chief Reardon said police expect to make further arrests.

He said damages are estimated to be more than $2,000 at the cemetery, where nearly 100 stones were pushed over. Some were broken and chipped, and many require special equipment to raise them again.

There are still five large stones at the cemetery which have not been reset, according to Henry Higgins, cemetery director.

HARTFORD (UPI) — Contracts have been signed to establish off-track betting in Connecticut which will include the world's first broadcast of horse races over closed circuit television.

Paul Silverfield, state gaming commission chairman, said projected income for off-track betting would amount to about $300 million within four years with Connecticut realizing about $25 million in revenues.

HARTFORD (UPI) — A Constitutional amendment to set up a merit system for picking judges and end the political nature of the present process has been proposed by James Bingham (R-Stamford), chairman of the legislature's Judiciary Committee and GOP candidate for attorney general.

Bingham said the public lacks confidence in the present selection method, but he said he wasn't referring to the nomination of Gov. Thomas Meskill to the federal bench or Meskill's appointment of former state Republican Chairman Brian Harty to the Superior Court.

Ford: No Deal Made In Pardon of Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford testified before Congress today that he entered into no agreement to pardon Richard M. Nixon before he took over the presidency from him.

Answering questions from members of the House Judiciary Committee in the first appearance in modern times of a president before a panel of Congress, Ford disclosed he discussed the possibility of a pardon with Nixon's closest aide in the hectic week before Nixon resigned Aug. 9.

Welcoming statements and Ford's own 10-page single-spaced explanation consumed half of the two hours allotted for the unprecedented appearance of the President before Congress.

Ford said he was primarily motivated by a desire to end national division "over whether to indict, bring to trial and punish a former president who already is condemned to suffer long and deeply in the shame and disgrace brought upon the office he held."

Sitting at a witness table before members of the House Judiciary Committee members who voted nearly three months ago to impeach Nixon, Ford said that the American people were not "resentful."

Ford volunteered to appear before the subcommittee to answer a series of 14 questions submitted to him about his pardon. Ford said in answer to the first one "whether I or my representatives had specific knowledge of any former criminal charges pending against Richard M. Nixon at the time of the pardon."

In answer to another question as to whether he or any of his representatives had discussed a possible pardon with Nixon's chief of staff, Alexander M. Haig, the week before Nixon resigned the presidency last Aug. 9, Ford said "Not to my knowledge."

"If any such discussions did occur it could not have been a factor in my decision to grant the pardon when I did, because I was not aware of them."

Nixon was pardoned Sept. 8 amid reports that he was depressed and seriously ill, facing possible indictment in the Watergate cover-up. Nixon, already named an unindicted co-conspirator in the cover-up and still under subpoena to testify in that trial, was freed from the prospects of being tried for crimes in office.

Ford said the pardon which cost him some of his early support in office was intended to turn the nation's attention away from the problems of the past to the challenges of the future.

"We would needlessly be diverted from meeting those challenges if we as a people were to remain sharply divided over whether to indict, bring to trial, and punish a former president who already is condemned to suffer long and deeply in the shame and disgrace brought upon the office he held," he said.

Ford volunteered to testify expecting that it would put an end to the questioning and Nixon's pardon on Capitol Hill and throughout the nation.

Rep. William L. Hungate, D-Mo., the subcommittee chairman, lauded Ford for offering to appear but said, "We are not here because of friendship but because of a responsibility our governmental system of checks and balances and separation of powers places upon us."

Former White House Counsel John Dean testifies as the first witness for the prosecution at the Watergate cover-up trial. (ABC-TV sketch via UPI)

Dean also testified he fully briefed defendant John Ehrlichman in June 1972 about who was responsible for the bugging but heard Ehrlichman tell FBI agents a month later that "the only thing he knew about the break-in was what he read in the newspapers."

In his second day on the stand the government's star witness continued to recite the story he first told the nationally televised Senate Watergate hearings 16 months ago.

The burden of Dean's opening testimony was that lead defendants John N. Mitchell, H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman — within days of the June 1972 bugging arrests — were all involved in hushing up the incident.

Also on trial are Robert C. Mardian and Kenneth W. Parkinson former aides to Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign.

There's Little Hope At New Hope Manor

By ALICE EVANS
New Hope Manor of Manchester, Connecticut's only rehabilitation center for teen-age girls who have had drug problems, may soon be closed due to lack of operating funds.

"The situation at New Hope is really desperate," Mrs. Madeline Uccello, president of its board of directors said today. "The girls are down to two meals a day, and the staff has not been paid in almost two weeks. There is very little hope of raising the additional funds necessary to keep our program in operation," she said.

New Hope will be getting state funds, which are now a week late. After checking, Mrs. Uccello said she discovered that the check was still in the state finance office and that it would be nearly two weeks before funds are available.

"The state offered us $51,335, which is 37 per cent of our budget and doesn't even cover the salaries of the staff. We are trying to cut down on everything, but we still need at least $60,000 more to operate for another year," she said.

"We have cut down on all extras. We used to take the girls to a movie once a week, but can't do it anymore. Breakfast is just a pick-up meal, and every other day for lunch the girls have peanut butter and jelly sandwiches, and something light such as macaroni and cheese on the alternate days," Mrs. Uccello said.

Members of the staff, wishing to help raise funds, have suggested they offer their services to outside employers for a couple of hours a day or week, whatever was needed, and their pay would go to New Hope. Mrs. Uccello said. "The employees could consider the pay charitable contribution, she added.

"If everyone would just send New Hope a dollar, that's all it would take to keep the center going," she suggested.

Dean Sticks to Story In Coverup Testimony

WASHINGTON (UPI) — John W. Dean III testified today that within a month of the Watergate bugging arrests, he obtained confidential FBI reports on the status of the investigation and shared them with all five men now on trial for covering up the scandal.

Dean also testified he fully briefed defendant John Ehrlichman in June 1972 about who was responsible for the bugging but heard Ehrlichman tell FBI agents a month later that "the only thing he knew about the break-in was what he read in the newspapers."

In his second day on the stand the government's star witness continued to recite the story he first told the nationally televised Senate Watergate hearings 16 months ago.

Also on trial are Robert C. Mardian and Kenneth W. Parkinson former aides to Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign.

Later today U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica will conduct a hearing on whether former President Richard M. Nixon whom Dean once served as White House counsel and later as chief of compliance in the cover-up — must be compelled to testify at the trial.
