

Drug and Alcohol Programs (Part IV)

As a parent, you've probably seen concerned about drug and alcohol programs affecting young people in your community and elsewhere; as a neighbor, you're probably aware of the socially active woman next door who tranquilizes her way through a busy day and calms her nerves with sleeping pills; as an employer, you may have noticed that your managers are absent nearly every Monday and takes longer periods for a liquid lunch hour.

Crime is an expensive commodity; citizen concern can lower the cost. (Next week: More about alcohol addiction services.) The Department of Correction welcomes comments and questions from readers about its programs. These may be addressed to Public Information Office, Department of Correction, 30 Capitol Ave., Hartford, Conn. 06155.

Massachusetts Prepares to Regulate Cable Television on Uniform Basis

BOSTON (UPI) — The Massachusetts Cable Television Commission is preparing to take the first step toward uniform statewide regulation of an industry which now remains a financial mystery.

The seven-member commission has proposed a new reporting system which would give it and the public "the minimal information necessary" to determine the actual financial condition of the approximately 70 cable television franchises in the state.

In addition, the commission, following a legislative mandate, will soon be soliciting comments from the public and the industry on whether the state should take over rate regulation of cable systems from city and town officials.

Under the legislation which created it, the commission will have the power as of Nov. 16 to decide whether it should take over rate regulation of the industry.

The proposed reporting regulation, comments on a state takeover and a third issue, a proposed new form for cable licenses applications, are all to be aired at two days of public hearings, Nov. 8 and 9 in Boston. Members acknowledge the sessions will be controversial.

"It's no secret," said Commission Vice Chairman Anthony Ottenger, "that the industry is less than enthusiastic about any reporting system."

"And," he continued, "the proposed rate regulation will be the real hot potato."

Ottenger and commission staff members say there are at least three options open following the hearings. In some cases, an order can be immediate.

"Right now there is very little hard information available on what is going on," Ottenger said. "We do know most local officials have rejected any requests for rate increases, but it remains to be seen whether the industry is making too much or too little."

"The decisions," a staff member said, "have been based in some cases, on political considerations."

Currently, most cable operators are charging between $5 and $6 a month. Only a few are charging the $7-a-month maximum set by the legislature.

"We feel," Ottenger said, "that no matter who sets the rates, the commission or local officials, the decision should be based on solid information."

Still to be determined, he said, are what portions of the financial report will be made public and which will be regarded as "confidential" for commission members only.

The proposed financial reports also represent a departure from traditional information sought by regulatory agencies such as the state Department of Public Utilities.

The cable operators would be required to report finances on a "fund flow basis."

Boy Charged In Vandalism At Cemetery

The first arrest in connection with vandalism Oct. 1 in Manchester's St. James Cemetery was made this morning, Police Chief James Reardon said.

William J. Stearns, 17, of 58 Chestnut St. was arrested on a Circuit Court 12 warrant charging him with first-degree criminal mischief and third-degree criminal trespass. He was still being processed by police this morning. Bond and court date had not been set.

Chief Reardon said police expect to make further arrests.

He said damages are estimated to be more than $2,000 at the cemetery, where nearly 100 stones were pushed over. Some were broken and chipped, and many require special equipment to raise them again.

There are still five large stones at the cemetery which have not been reset, according to Henry Higgins, cemetery director.

OTB Contracts

HARTFORD (UPI) — Contracts have been signed to establish off-track betting in Connecticut which will include the world's first broadcast of horse races over closed circuit television.

Paul Silverfield, state gaming commission chairman, said projected income for off-track betting would amount to about $300 million within four years with Connecticut realizing about $25 million in revenues.

Merit System?

HARTFORD (UPI) — A Constitutional amendment to set up a merit system for picking judges and end the political nature of the present process has been proposed by James Bingham (R-Stamford), chairman of the legislature's Judiciary Committee and GOP candidate for attorney general.

Bingham said the public lacks confidence in the present selection method, but he said he wasn't referring to the nomination of Gov. Thomas Meskill to the federal bench or Meskill's appointment of former state Republican Chairman Brian Griffin to the Superior Court.

'Dirty Tricks'

GROTON (UPI) — A firm trying to build an oil refinery in Montville has charged the governor's fact-finding mission is using unspecified "Watergate dirty tricks" to distort public opinion on refineries.

Joseph Wilson, president of International Oil Ventures Corp., called for a legislative investigation of the task force. He said there already are indications the probe will be conducted.

Lottery Hearings

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate hearings on proposals to forestall a threatened court shutdown of state lotteries will be held in November, Republican Leader Hugh Scott said.

Atty. Gen. William Saxbe said last month he would file suit against state lotteries under laws prohibiting the mailing and broadcasting of lottery information and the interstate transportation of lottery tickets.

Ford: No Deal Made In Pardon of Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford testified before Congress today that he entered into no agreement to pardon Richard M. Nixon before he took over the presidency from him.

Answering questions from members of the House Judiciary Committee in the first appearance in modern times of a president before a panel of Congress, Ford disclosed he discussed the possibility of a pardon with Nixon's closest aide in the hectic week before Nixon resigned Aug. 9.

Welcoming statements and Ford's own 10-page single-spaced explanation consumed half of the two hours allotted for the unprecedented appearance of the President before Congress.

Ford said he was primarily motivated by a desire to end national division "over whether to indict, bring to trial and punish a former president who already is condemned to suffer long and deeply in the shame and disgrace brought upon the office he held."

Sitting at a witness table before some of the House Judiciary Committee members who voted nearly three months ago to impeach Nixon, Ford said that the American people were not "resentful."

Ford volunteered to appear before the subcommittee to answer a series of 14 questions submitted to him about his pardon. Ford said in answer to the first one "whether I or my representatives had specific knowledge of any former criminal charges pending against Richard M. Nixon" the answer is no.

In answer to another question as to whether he or any of his representatives had discussed a possible pardon with Nixon's chief of staff, Alexander M. Haig, the week before Nixon resigned the presidency last Aug. 9, Ford said "Not to my knowledge."

"If any such discussions did occur it could not have been a factor in my decision to grant the pardon when I did, because I was not aware of them."

Nixon was pardoned Sept. 8 amid reports that he was depressed and seriously ill, facing possible indictment in the Watergate cover-up. Nixon, already named an unindicted co-conspirator in the cover-up and still under subpoena to testify in that trial, thus was freed from the prospects of being tried for crimes in office.

Ford said the pardon which cost him some of his early support in office was intended to turn the nation's attention away from the problems of the past to the challenges of the future.

"We would needlessly be diverted from meeting those challenges if we as a people were to remain sharply divided over whether to indict, bring to trial, and punish a former president who already is condemned to suffer long and deeply in the shame and disgrace brought upon the office he held," he said.

Ford volunteered to testify expecting that it would put an end to the questioning and Nixon's return to Capitol Hill and throughout the nation.

Rep. William L. Hungate, D-Mo., the subcommittee chairman, lauded Ford for offering to appear but said, "We are not here because of friendship but because of a responsibility our governmental system of checks and balances and separation of powers places upon us."

Dean also testified he fully briefed defendant John Ehrlichman in June 1972 about who was responsible for the bugging but heard Ehrlichman tell FBI agents a month later that "the only thing he knew about the break-in was what he read in the newspapers."

In his second day on the stand the government's star witness continued to recite the story he first told the nationally televised Senate Watergate hearings 16 months ago.

The burden of Dean's opening testimony was that lead defendants John N. Mitchell, H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman — within days of the June 1972 bugging arrests — were all involved in hushing up the incident.

There's Little Hope At New Hope Manor

By ALICE EVANS
New Hope Manor of Manchester, Connecticut's only rehabilitation center for teen-age girls who have had drug problems, may soon be forced to close due to lack of operating funds.

"The situation at New Hope is really desperate," Mrs. Madeline Uccello, president of its board of directors said today. "The girls are down to two meals a day, and the staff has not been paid in almost two weeks. There is very little hope of raising the additional funds necessary to keep our program in operation," she said.

New Hope will be getting state funds, which are now a week late. After checking, Mrs. Uccello said she discovered that the check was still in the state finance office and that it would be nearly two weeks before funds are available.

"The state offered us $51,335, which is 37 per cent of our budget and doesn't even cover the salaries of the staff. We are trying to cut down on everything, but we still need at least $60,000 more to operate for another year," she said.

"We have cut down on all extras. We used to take the girls to a movie once a week, but can't do it anymore. Breakfast is just a pick-up meal, and every other day for lunch the girls have peanut butter and jelly sandwiches, and something light such as macaroni and cheese on the alternate days," Mrs. Uccello said.

Members of the staff, wishing to help raise funds, have suggested they offer their services to outside employers for a couple of hours a day or week, whatever was needed, and then they would go to New Hope, Mrs. Uccello said. "The employees could consider the pay charitable contribution, she added.

"If everyone would just send New Hope a dollar, that's all it would take to keep the center going," she suggested.

Dean Sticks to Story In Coverup Testimony

WASHINGTON (UPI) — John W. Dean III testified today that within a month of the Watergate bugging arrests, he obtained confidential FBI reports on the status of the investigation and shared them with all five men now on trial for covering up the scandal.

Dean also testified he fully briefed defendant John Ehrlichman in June 1972 about who was responsible for the bugging but heard Ehrlichman tell FBI agents a month later that "the only thing he knew about the break-in was what he read in the newspapers."

In his second day on the stand the government's star witness continued to recite the story he first told the nationally televised Senate Watergate hearings 16 months ago.

The burden of Dean's opening testimony was that lead defendants John N. Mitchell, H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman — within days of the June 1972 bugging arrests — were all involved in hushing up the incident.

Also on trial are Robert C. Marjian and Kenneth W. Parkinson former aides to Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign.

Later today U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica will conduct a hearing on whether former President Richard M. Nixon whom Dean once served as White House counsel and later as a member of the cover-up — must be compelled to testify at the trial.

shall have the discretion to transact some public business out of the presence of the public.

In conclusion, any meeting of the Board of Directors, while acting in a legislative capacity, must be open to the public under the requirements of Section 37 of our charter.

"While acting in an administrative or executive capacity under authority of Section 37 of the charter, Section 1-21 of the General Statutes controls and the board may close its meeting to the public for an executive session voted by a majority of the board members present and voting when, in its discretion, it is confronted with a situation in which premature publicity of the same would be highly detrimental to the public interests. would adversely affect the public security of the town, or would violate personal privacy."

Tragedy Hits Family For the Second Time

The bodies of Mrs. Karen Wine, 35, and her 18-year-old daughter, Dawn, were found at their Marlborough home Wednesday. The bodies were being examined today, but police said they were "apparent to be the bodies of the woman and her daughter victims." There were no suspects in the case today.

The incident Wednesday wasn't the first time tragedy struck the Wine family. Five years ago Mrs. Wine's husband was involved in a Navy Espionage case.

By JAMES HEALION
HARTFORD (UPI) — Karen Wine was assured of one thing that March day in 1969 as she drove to the brig in Newport, R.I. from her Marlborough home. "My husband is a loyal American," said Mrs. Wine who was a widow with two children when she met Wine while working in a coffee shop.

Edward H. Wine, then 32, had pleaded guilty Dec. 30, 1968, to a charge of "mishandling classified material." He had been represented by L. Patrick Gray of Stonington who later became acting FBI director under President Nixon.

Wine said she had pleaded innocent and gone to trial. "I was exposed to some 20 to 50 years imprisonment," Wine received the two years, a bad conduct discharge, and his monthly salary of $200 remained intact.

Mrs. Wine was convinced her husband had been compromised by a drinking buddy whom the government said thwarted his alleged plan to sell Polaris submarine patrol information to the Russians. The Navy said the two were on their way to the Russian embassy in New York when the informer telephoned the FBI from Middletown.

David Maggolis, an assistant U.S. attorney, later publicly accused the tipster, subsequently identified as Thomas G. O'Donoghue, of Danbury, for preserving the nation's internal security.

The Navy said Wine, a submarine sonar-

Huge Manhunt

Israel launched the biggest manhunt ever in the northwest section of the country today, sending helicopters, jets, and troops after a small gang of Arab guerrillas loose in the area.

Also today, Israeli military censors ended a four-day penalty sanction against United Press International, which had been required to submit news copy by prior screening.

Uprising Ends

BELFAST (UPI) — About 100 rebellious women inmates freed the warden and three guards at Armagh Prison today to end a bitter 18-hour uprising. Fires swept a Londonderry prison camp and riots spread across Ulster.

Small Turnout

In a written opinion given town directors, Moses said any meeting in which the board serves a legislative role must be open to the public, but when the board acts as an administrative or executive body it can close its meeting after taking a proper vote.

Moses cited town charter provisions and state statutes in writing his opinion, which follows a week-long controversy surrounding closed board meetings. The controversy started last Tuesday when directors excluded the press and public from discussion of police investigation on Case Mountain vandalism and two directors — Republicans Hillary Gallagher and Carl Zinsner — walked out in protest.

The Superior Court case which Moses has much of his opinion on is a July 12 decision by State Referee Howard Akorn upholding the right of the Enfield Town Council to close its meetings except when it makes legislative decisions.

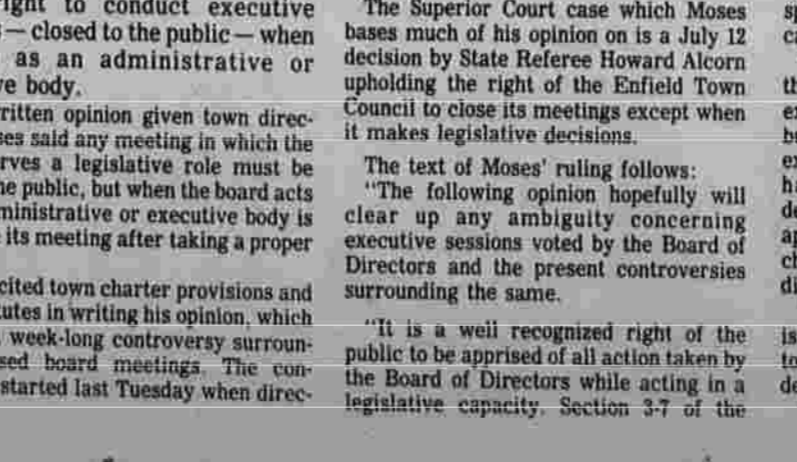

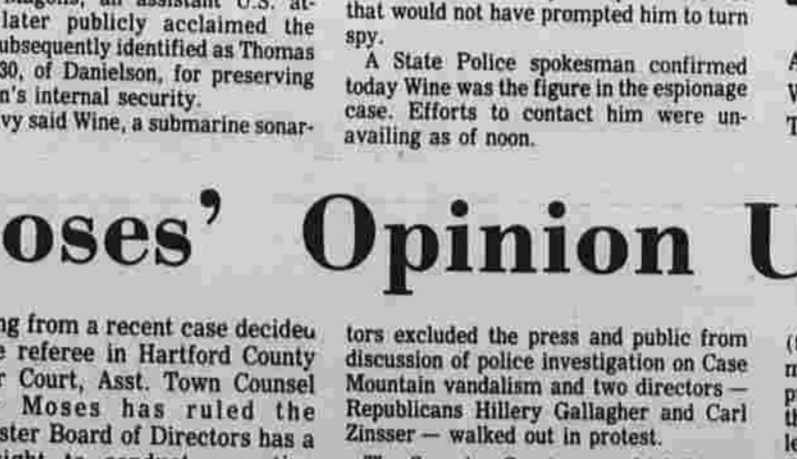

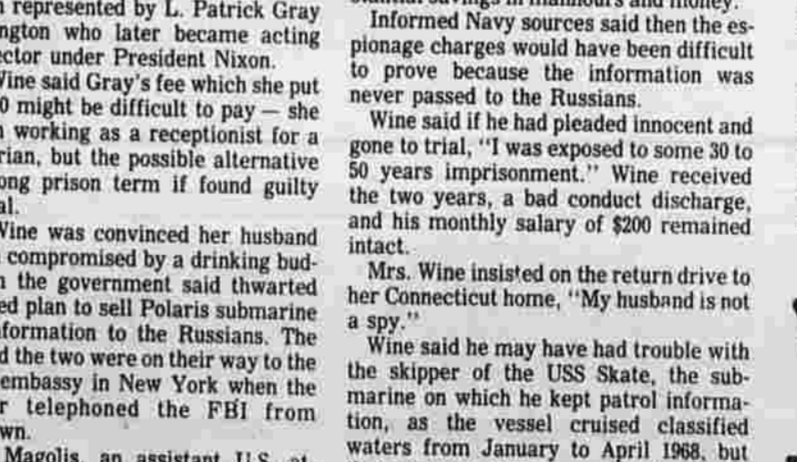

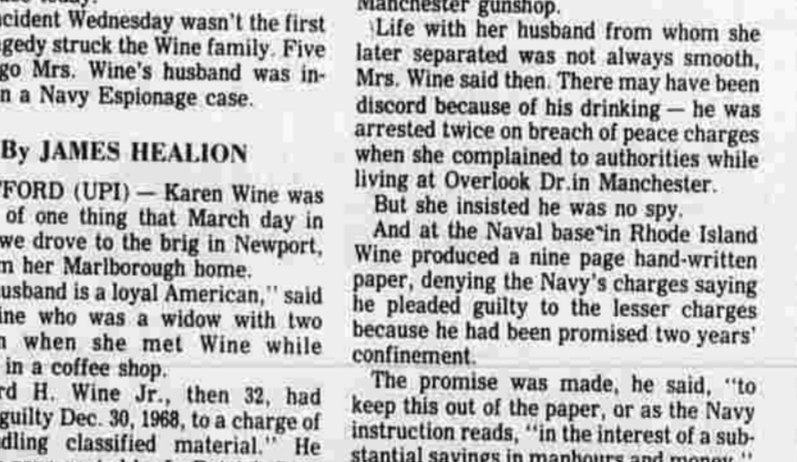

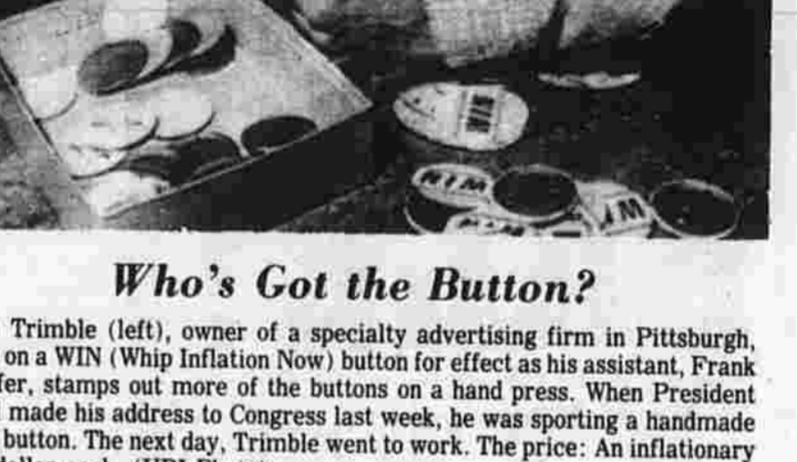

The text of Moses' ruling follows: "The following opinion hopefully will clear up any ambiguity concerning executive sessions voted by the Board of Directors and the present controversies surrounding the same.

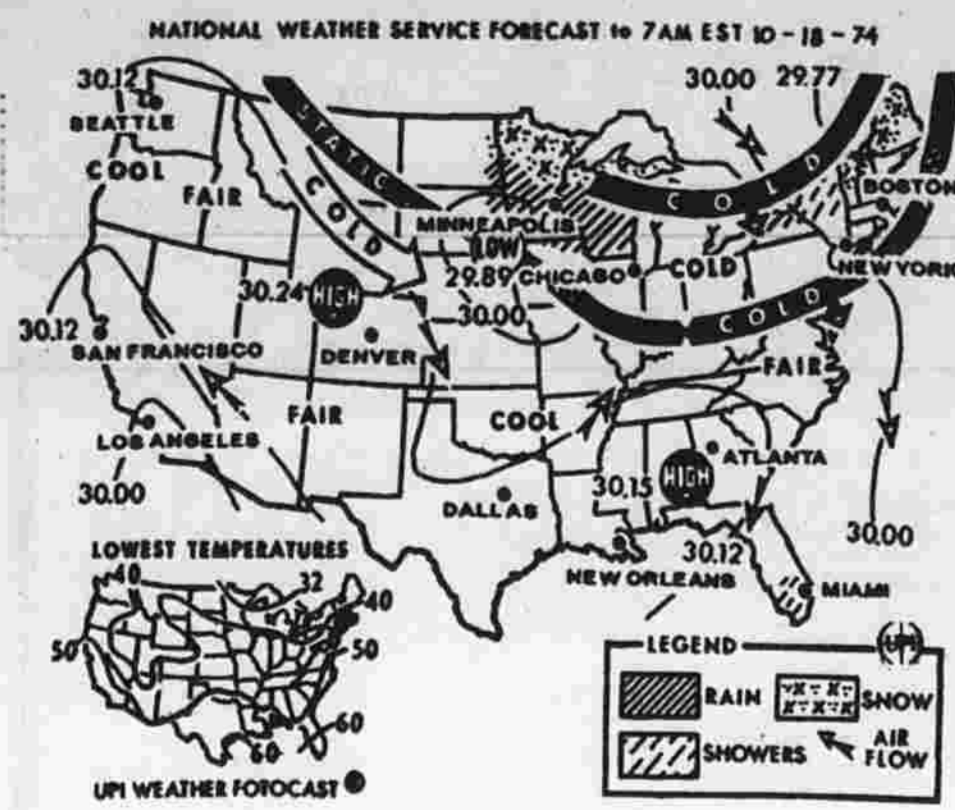

"It is a well recognized right of the public to be apprised of all action taken by the Board of Directors while acting in a legislative capacity. Section 37 of the

Heater Cores Defective In New School Buses

VERNON: Monica Shea Correspondent. The heater cores in 12 Coventry school buses, which were taken off the road yesterday, were all found to be defective when examined by inspectors from the State Department of Motor Vehicles.

Coventry police officer, Lawrence Fawcett, issued written warnings to the drivers, Wednesday morning, after he stopped to check on one bus which was pulled off the road. Officer Fawcett said the driver told him she had to stop periodically with a paper towel because the defroster was not working.

Democrats to Open Campaign Headquarters

HEBRON: Nancy Foote Correspondent. Democratic Headquarters, located adjacent to the Village Shoppers on Main St., will open officially at 8 p.m. Friday. The public is invited to attend. Refractions will be served. Democratic candidates planning to attend the event are J. Stewart Stockwell, candidate for judge of probate; David Barry, 4th District senatorial candidate; Aloysius Ahearn, candidate for the 55th District house seat; and Francis Curran, candidate for sheriff of Tolland County.

In his bid for the office of judge of probate, Stockwell has been conducting a door-to-door campaign throughout the town. He has lived in Hebron for five years. He is a member of the Democratic Town Committee and the Hebron Lions Club.

Mr. Roethke said, 'I continue to be concerned about the difficulties being experienced at Coventry Grammar School by the grammar school, said, 'The fact that the children were returned home so early, even though we were operating without our usual complement of buses, is no credit to the bus company.' She said the credit goes to the parents, who were called and asked to pick up their children and other children from their neighborhoods.

Manchester Evening Herald OPINION

Up To Congress

Undoubtedly the most sensitive and practical reaction to economic proposals comes from the stock market. The reaction there is not academic or theoretical. It reflects the thinking of people who are investing hundreds of thousands of dollars daily.

Hence it is encouraging that the market reaction to President Ford's economic proposals to fight inflation is good.

The mass of conflicting opinions which was apparent at the summit meetings of economists made it a certainty that no matter what the President proposed it would have opponents and detractors.

It should be remembered, too, that while the President proposes, implementation of his ideas is almost always at the disposition of the Congress.

The most salient feature of his program, and the one which will cause the most comment, since it reaches the most people, is undoubtedly the surtax on individual and corporate federal taxes.

The President proposed that a 5 per cent surtax be imposed on 1975 income in the average income bracket of $15,000 per year in joint returns, and $7,500 in the returns of a single person.

The formula is a little complex, but in average cases the tax would amount to about $25 additionally for the total income figure of $15,000. Since this is on 1975 income, it would not be paid until filing tax returns on that income in April of 1976.

Legislation incorporating this will have to come from the tax bill now under consideration by the House Ways and Means Committee. We think it probable that the final bill will raise the figure above the $15,000 floor suggested, possibly to $20,000.

We do not think this provision unduly onerous. President Ford was facing a two-pronged problem in his economic deliberations. There is undoubtedly inflation, but there is also a degree of economic stagnation which could lead to economic doldrums, or even depression.

The second act of the problem was attacked with several different proposals.

He suggested that the tax credit of 7 per cent for corporate investment be increased to 10 per cent. This seems that a company wanting to expand with new machinery or other ways will be able to deduct from the price of such expansion 10 per cent of the cost. Thus an expenditure of $10,000 would be reduced by $1,000.

This should encourage the flow of capital manufacturing, and hence help employment. It is not offsetting the 5 per cent surtax, unless the business spends the money on expansion.

Removing taxation on cash dividends of preferred stock should enable business to gain extra capital, without borrowing at today's extremely high prices. This should have the effect of bringing interest down.

We would have liked the President to have gone further and declared small savings accounts in financial institutions lending mortgage money, free of federal taxation up to a desirable maximum, perhaps, $20,000. This we think would help make more mortgage money available. Perhaps the Congress will insert this.

However, taking cognizance of the depressed housing industry Mr. Ford did urge allocation of $3 billion to insure mortgages up to $45,000 which cannot now be insured by either FHA or VA. This would finance about 100,000 new homes.

The President also recognized the problem of unemployment while making proposals designed to increase the work force. Community programs would be authorized when unemployment reaches a figure of 6 per cent.

These would be community service programs. The cost of this program would be as much as $1.5 billion. We would suggest that the estimates of unemployment in any community should be closely scrutinized so that percentages are not exaggerated by money-hungry municipalities.

In the energy field an unexpected change was made with control being placed in the Department of the Interior under Rogers Morton, rather than the Treasury, headed by William Simon.

A goal of reduction of imports by 1 million barrels per year was set. The President also suggested a tax scale on new automobiles based on mileage, so that those getting better performance would cost less than those consuming more gasoline.

Practices which result in unwarranted high prices in professional bidding and also in anti-trust violations would be severely fined under a new proposal.

At the conclusion of his address the President asked the people to voluntarily cut down on expenditures by avoiding waste in food and gasoline usage.

He also asked that Congress set a target figure of no more than $300 billion for the 1975 fiscal budget.

The performance of the Congress will make or break the President's program. If congressmen can bring themselves to do the politically unpopular it may have success. President Ford asked that it be considered as a complete package. Congress should rise to the occasion.

Ford Getting Some Flack

Vote Cummings

Dear sir: This letter is in support of the candidacy of Ted Cummings for the state assembly in the 12th district. Ted is eminently fitted for this important legislative post. He has served with distinction on both the Board of Education and Board of Directors. He has given many years of service in the area of practical politics in Manchester, the grassroots of our political system. Above all, Ted is a person of understanding, wide sympathies, good will and good judgment. His interests are those of the voters he will serve.

I urge you to vote for Ted Cummings for 12th district assemblyman on Nov. 5. Frederick P. Becker, md 38 Waranoke Road Manchester

Concerned About School Bus Vans

Dear sir: If I may, I would like to use your column to reply to the comments of Mr. Wilson E. Deakin, the assistant superintendent for administration in the superintendent of schools' office concerning my letter on school bus safety, printed in the Oct. 2 edition.

It is reassuring to know that the van type vehicles are "state inspected for the use to which they are put" transporting "special students," wheel chair victims, handicapped, etc. Mr. Deakin listed these groups and others that I won't quote now but I believe he avoided my one question.

What are we doing allowing our children to be transported in these vehicles? He admitted that the vans are not considered as school buses and do not meet state specifications for same. However, he knows as well as I, that perfectly able, physically fit, youngsters are being transported to and from school in the vans and it's these children that could be accident victims because of the lack of identification "School Bus" signs, or traffic control "flashing red lights," on these vans.

Granted neither of the above are required by law but I spent a day in Troy, N.Y., and noticed both safety features are in use on the vans in that city. It can be done and parents in Manchester, if you have youngsters riding in these vans, I'd be letting my state senator and representative know how I feel about my children's safety if I were you. Adequate safety measures are in such dire need in this area. It's a shame we don't correct this situation now.

Sincerely, James T. Cunningham, 140 Summit St. Manchester

WASHINGTON - Predictably, President Ford is getting some flack over his "grand design" to curb inflation. The scenario is as American as the rec room, which is to say that all the special interests - from tycoons to mendicants - have been heard from.

In that debate, Ford's pledge to slash at least $5-billion from the federal budget is unsatisfactory when placed alongside his proposal to impose a 5 per cent surtax on business and middle-and upper-income Americans. Our ruling classes can do better than that, simply by getting tough with the federal bureaucracy, especially the big Pentagon spenders.

It seems deliciously noteworthy that while Ford would cut $5-billion from the whole budget, the man who has been the Defense Department's staunchest ally over the years has decided that $5-billion can be trimmed from the defense budget alone without leaving the Republic naked to its enemies.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., apparently has had it with the Pentagon during that 45-year period has been a put another way, the federal budget deficit that 45-year period has been a major contributor to inflation. Deficits mean the government must finance its projects and operation by borrowing money. That leaves less money for others to borrow, such as home builders and home buyers. And, of course, where there is too little money available interest rates climb higher and higher.

One way deficit financing can be ended is by whittling down to size the many long-term weapons projects of the Pentagon. At the rate inflation has increased the cost of these projects, we just can't afford to let them go ahead on schedule.

Some frightening facts are figures provided in a new quarterly report filed with Congress by the Defense Department.

American taxpayer, the significance is that if such a slash can be made in defense spending, then the total reduction in the whole federal budget ought to be closer to $5- or $10-billion.

"We're in this situation because for 40 years we've been spending money we don't have," Goldwater says. "Inflation has not been caused by high wages or high prices - we've been printing money with no value behind it."

Inventors Say Laws 'Patently' Unfair

The ability of American inventors and patent holders to capitalize on their creative efforts has been seriously eroded in recent years by government action and court decisions.

"Ted" Bowers, executive director of Intellectual Property Owners. They are a grant of exclusive rights to the holder for a limited period of time so that he can capitalize on his investment of time and money in creating a new product or process.

When the energy crisis hit, the United States learned to its dismay what it means to be dependent upon foreign sources. If American technology is held back by an emaciated patent system, says Bowers, the nation could find itself dependent on foreigners for much more than energy.

UConn Seminar

"Armenians in the Modern World" is focal point of a new seminar series scheduled to start next Wednesday at the Hartford College for Women under the aegis of three University of Connecticut groups and the World Affairs Center of Hartford.

Stated to help launch the series is Dr. Kovork Donabadyan, executive director of the Harkness Publications. He will speak at 8 p.m. in the Auerbach Center auditorium.

On Nov. 6, a second seminar will be held at the UConn School of Law Auditorium at 4 p.m. Dr. Richard Hovannisian will deliver a talk then on "The Status and Prospects of the American Communities in the Middle East."

TODAY'S THOUGHT

We want a cleaner environment - but we won't stop driving cars. We want an honest government - but can't be bothered to study the candidates. We want to stop inflation - but insist on buying luxuries.

Basically, we want to enter heaven - but like the rich man in the Gospel, we refuse to go all the way in our commitment.

Yes, we'll follow the trivial details. We won't kill or steal. We try to be honest and care for our parents' financial needs. We intend to save electricity - if it doesn't inconvenience us. It is especially difficult for us to sacrifice material comfort for God - whose presence can be ascertained

Revised Charter Readied For Hearing Next Week

BOLTON

Bolton's Charter Commission reviewed the latest draft of the proposed town charter Tuesday night, made several changes, and is preparing to publish the revised document in time for a public hearing next Tuesday.

Copies of the proposed charter will be made available at the town hall and Bentley Memorial Library tomorrow. The commission's public hearing is scheduled for 8 p.m. Tuesday at the town hall.

Commission member Samuel Teller is preparing to present the proposed charter after commission members made several changes in his draft Tuesday night. Teller's draft returned Tuesday night incorporated suggestions made by selectmen and the town council.

Charter Commission members have urged townspeople to attend the hearing Tuesday.

After the hearing, the commission has until Nov. 5 to prepare a final report to selectmen who created the commission a year ago. The selectmen must then hold their own public hearing on the proposals.

After the selectmen conduct their hearing, they have 15 days in which to make recommendations for changes in the document, or it is accepted as final. If the selectmen want to make changes, they must return the charter to the commission, which would then have an additional 30 days to consider revision.

Bulletin Board
The Bolton Junior Women's Club will meet tonight at 8 at Herrick Memorial Park. Mary Dumpy of the Mary Dumpy School of Dance Arts will give a talk and demonstration on belly dancing. Club members are urged to wear comfortable clothing.

A business meeting will precede the demonstration. There will be an orientation for new members, and refreshments will be served. Bolton's Democratic Town Committee will meet Friday at 8 p.m. at the town hall.

Tel. 646-0375

The 10th annual community clothing appeal sponsored by the Bolton Ecumenical Council will be held Saturday from 9 a.m. to noon.

The drive is being conducted in cooperation with the Catholic Relief and Church World Service. Residents are asked to have donations ready for pickup at 9 a.m. and asked to leave articles by their front doors if they won't be home.

Anyone whose donation has not been picked up by noon is asked to call the town hall, 646-0252. Items most urgently needed are babies and children's clothing of all types and men's and women's work clothes, towels, sheets and blankets. Clothing will be distributed to the world's needy, especially the hurricane victims of Honduras.

The council is accepting cash donations to help defray the expenses of the clothing appeal. The Bolton Ecumenical Council consists of the Bolton Congregational Church, St. George Episcopal Church, St. Maurice Roman Catholic Church and United Methodist Church.

Ahearn Aide
Linda Hevener has been named Marlborough's campaign coordinator for Democrat Aloysius Ahearn of Bolton in his bid for the 55th Assembly District seat.

Mrs. Hevener, a graduate of the University of Connecticut, is a member of the Marlborough Board of Education and secretary of the Marlborough Democratic Town Committee.

Bill McGrath is campaign chairman for Marlborough.

The 55th Assembly District includes the towns of Andover, Bolton, Columbia, Hebron, Marlborough and part of Vernon.

Career-minded women might well consider the field of chemistry. For the first time, reports Chemistry & Engineering News, female graduates with a B.S. degree in chemistry or chemical engineering are receiving higher starting salaries than male graduates.

The publication predicts that women's median starting salary in 1974 will climb to 105 per cent that of men.

The report is based on responses to the American Chemical Society's annual Starting Salary Survey of new graduates.

However, years of unequal employment practices toward women and minority chemists are still reflected in statistics from society members.

For example, women and minority chemists still earn less than men with comparable positions. They had a higher unemployment rate in 1974 than the figure for all chemists. They held fewer managerial positions. And in 1973, two-thirds of the U.S. chemistry departments offering Ph.D. degrees had no women on their faculties.

On the other hand, one newly graduated chemical engineer, a female American Indian, was swamped with job offers. The average number of job offers received by B.S. graduates in chemical engineering this year was 4.6.

Fast Ship

The oceanliner The United States, which set the Atlantic crossing record in 1952, was the fastest ever placed in service. The ship frequently cruised faster than 36 knots. Designed for conversion to a troopship, the 817-foot vessel could steam at 40 knots, or 48 land miles an hour. Removed from service in 1970, the ship is berthed at Norwalk.

FROM YOUR NEIGHBOR'S KITCHEN

By VIVIAN FERGUSON

When you open a bottle of pure vanilla extract, you are using the product of a pollinated orchid. This most popular extract comes from a climbing plant of the orchid family.

The vanilla plant is native of Mexico. Long before America was discovered, the Aztecs were using vanilla for other purposes as well as flavoring. It was valued as perfume, as medicine and even as money.

For many centuries, the vanilla bean flourished in Mexico but, whenever it was transplanted, no beans could be produced. The mystery remained until 1836 when a Belgian botanist realized that it was the bees and the tiny hummingbirds of Mexico who were pollinating the orchids. Hand pollination was introduced elsewhere. Today, the island of Madagascar has the highest vanilla bean production (more than 90%) and it is still hand-pollinated.

Vanilla beans drying in the sun

When buying vanilla, be sure it is 100 per cent pure vanilla. I learned my lesson the hard way years ago. It is more expensive than imitation vanilla but, in my opinion, the imitation vanilla is a waste of time.

Only two ingredients are used in making the pure product—vanilla beans and alcohol. Alcohol is repeatedly circulated over the beans and has been finely chopped much in the manner of a coffee percolator. Sometimes, water is added. Then, the resultant liquid is filtered, aged and finally bottled.

Imitation vanilla products are made mostly of vanilla which is a major component of vanilla. It can also be made from the sap of pine trees. If you see the word vanillin on a bottle, beware. You will not get a pure product. U. S. laws require that only flavoring from vanilla beans can be labeled "pure vanilla extract."

Vanilla beans can be purchased for flavoring as well as the liquid extract. The pod should be split and is used to flavor desserts especially those using milk. It can be put into a jar of sugar for flavoring as well as rum and cognac to be used in cooking. I have just learned that the pod is reusable by rinsing it, drying and then putting away in a jar though I have never done it.

In the U. S., we import almost two million pounds of vanilla beans annually from the island of Madagascar, the fourth largest island in the world. Madagascar runs along the eastern coast of Africa. Here and in the nearby islands of Reunion and the Comores, the perfect tropical growing conditions. The vanilla bean crop provides work for 20,000 people. The consumption of our country alone amounts to more than 11 million dollars per year, most of it going into extract.

The Vanilla Information Bureau, located in the Empire State Building, New York City has provided us with three excellent pie recipes. The first two are reminiscent of grand-ma's cooking. The ice cream pie is easy, uses vanilla ice cream as a base.

Vanilla Buttercream
3/4 cup firmly packed dark brown sugar
2/3 cup granulated sugar, divided
1/4 cup cornstarch
1/4 teaspoon salt
2-1/2 cups milk
3 eggs, separated
2 tablespoons pure vanilla extract
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1-9 baked pastry shell
1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar

In medium bowl combine brown sugar, cornstarch and salt. Stir in milk; blend until smooth. Bring to boiling point, stirring constantly; cook 3 minutes. Remove from heat.

In small mixing bowl, beat egg yolks. Gradually stir half of hot sugar mixture into the egg yolks mixing well; then return to saucepan. Bring to boiling point, stirring constantly; cook two minutes longer. Remove from heat. Stir in vanilla extract and butter. Pour immediately into pastry shell; set aside.

Meringue: In medium bowl, beat egg whites and cream of tartar until soft peaks form. Gradually add remaining 1/3 cup sugar; beat until stiff but not dry. Spread meringue over filling sealing to edge of crust. Bake in preheated 350-degree oven 10-12 minutes. While still warm, use back of spoon to ease crust up side of plate; cool. Let ice cream soften 1/2-hour in refrigerator. In large bowl gently combine ice cream with apricots, walnuts and raisins. Spoon into pie shell. Freeze until firm, about 4 hours. Garnish with chopped apricots and walnuts, if desired.

Pay Toilet Issue Draws Response

A couple of weeks ago, The Manchester Herald, in its "The Candidates are Saying" column, printed a proposal which "has had tremendous response," reports the candidate who made it.

Marilyn England, GOP candidate in the 9th Assembly District, proposed the elimination of pay toilets.

Reports Mrs. England, "I received numerous phone calls, a spot on WDRB and WINF, the Merv Griffin Show made references to it, and it is my understanding that Johnnie Carson of the Tonight Show is planning to use it in his monologue."

Women's Group Opposes Equal Rights Law

The Citizens for the Preservation of Womanhood, a Connecticut group with an office in Monroe, has launched a campaign to defeat the "Equal Rights" amendment to the state constitution—a referendum question on the Nov. 5 voting machines.

In urging a "no" vote, it lists the following reasons: "It would legalize homosexual marriages."

"The amendment would make separate toilet facilities illegal."

"All rape laws will be stricken from the books."

"This amendment would upset all existing divorce laws and would cause the loss of a wife's legal claim of support by her husband."

"This amendment is not needed to guarantee women equal job opportunity and equal pay for equal work; such guarantees are already written into two existing federal laws and other state laws."

Mrs. Marie Martone of 435 Main St., Monroe, Conn., is chairman of the Citizens for Preservation of Womanhood.

ZBA Sets Hearings On 3 Bids

TOLLAND
Vivian Kenneson
Correspondent
875-4704

Tolland's Zoning Board of Appeals will hold a public hearing next Thursday at 6 p.m. at the Education Administration office.

The Connecticut Light & Power Co. is seeking a special exception to use a temporary construction trailer for office and storage space due to delay in construction of a new building on Rt. 74.

Earl Keltner has applied for a special exception and variance to move a six-room cape house to a contiguous lot and construct a commercial structure to replace the house located on the corner of Merrow and Anthony Rds.

Jay Burns of Loveland Hill, Rockville, has made application for a variance to build two homes on 8 1/2 acres with only 200 feet frontage on Crystal Lake Rd.

Square Dance
The Indian Valley Teens Square Dance Club will hold a Pumpkin Ball Oct. 26 from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. at the Parker Memorial School.

Jeff Page will be the caller and all are welcome for fun, games, and dance.

Church Bazaar
The United Congregational Church will hold its "Parish Village" bazaar Oct. 26 at the Religious Education Building, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The village will feature unique items such as Christmas bell pulls, patchwork pillows, unusual flower arrangements, bulletin boards and wooden accessories.

There will be the Olds School House, just for kids. Pins and Needles, Flower Stall and the Christmas Corner. The Senior Citizens have created a hand-made quilt that will be available for bid at the blind auction.

Lunch will be available at the Dicer Mill Lunch Shoppe and baked and canned goods will be for sale at Ye Olds Bake Oven. Anyone wishing to help set up Oct. 25, or to help sell items on the day of the bazaar may call Bev Shaw at 875-7914.

reduced next year when directors discuss the budget. Mrs. Jones said health aides in the school are very capable of handling needs there. With less time in the school, it would be possible for the nurses to increase the number of home visits, she added.

The board of directors voted to reduce the cost of the home visit from $10.50 to $10.

"The needs of the community are changing and we must change with them," she said. It is probable the nursing time in the school will be

PZC Must Have 4-1 Vote To Pass Two-Acre Zoning

COVENTRY

By MONICA SHEA DevCo Atty. John LaBelle filed a petition with Coventry's Planning and Zoning Commission (PZC) Wednesday night forcing the commission to record a 4-1 vote if it approves two-acre zoning regulations. The proposed change in regulations would affect a large portion of Coventry, including land DevCo plans to use for a new town. The proposed regulation would require minimum lot sizes of two acres. LaBelle, opposing the new regulation at Wednesday night's public hearing, charged that the PZC didn't follow proper procedures in preparing to change regulations. He also claimed that two-acre lot minimums would be "exclusionary zoning," designed to curtail growth. He said it would cause greater consumption of land for residential uses and would result in more air and water pollution. The petition submitted by LaBelle contained only the signature of Peter Libassi, president of Hartford-Process, DevCo, which owns at least 20 per cent of the land which would be affected by the regulation change. State statute requires a two-thirds majority vote for approval of any zoning matter if an opposition petition contains signatures of owners of at least 20 per cent of affected property. Improper PZC procedures cited by LaBelle included claims that property owners in affected areas weren't legally notified of the regulation change and that the PZC wasn't legally constituted when considering the change. The PZC, in response to LaBelle's requests, appointed Rosyln Kornfield a regular member Wednesday night to fill a vacancy created by the recent resignation of Joseph Shanahan. Local Realtor Richard Breen, also opposing the regulation change Wednesday night, said the proposal would be a burden to a small landowner. Breen also intimated that the PZC might not have thoroughly studied possible impact of the regulation change.

Sutton Stands Between A's Third Straight World Series and Place in Baseball History

OAKLAND (UPI) — Only Don Sutton, maybe the best pitcher in both leagues right now, stands between the Oakland A's third straight world championship and a guaranteed place in baseball history. The A's opened a three game to one lead over the Los Angeles Dodgers by beating them 5-2 Wednesday night and now all they need is one more victory to become only the second club in major league history to win three consecutive world titles. The New York Yankees are the only other club to have done so, and still stand alone in the record books with four and five titles in a row. But first the A's have to get by Sutton, winner of 12 straight games, including a 3-2 victory in Sunday's second game, or carry the World Series to a sixth game in Los Angeles on Saturday. "We'd like to win it right here and now, in front of our home fans," said Sal Bando. "But if we don't, it's no big thing. We're in great shape when you figure we have three shots to win one game." Sutton, of course, has all the pressure on his shoulders in tonight's fifth game. His pitching opponent is Vida Blue, who worked against the Dodger right-hander in that second game and was charged with all three Los Angeles runs.

"I'll go out there and give it my best shot, nothing more or nothing less," said Blue. "It's a big game and all that but you still have to throw strikes like in any other game." "No team ever has won three straight world titles with the exception of the Yankees of the early 1960s, who won five in a row, and the Yankees of the 1930s, who won four straight. "That's pretty good company," said Reggie Jackson, "and wouldn't it be something for us to match those records. I've said right along we are a lot better team than we have been given credit for, and now we have to prove it all over again. Maybe if we wrap this thing up quickly, people will take notice of us." While the A's are talking about a quick ending, the Dodgers are fighting to keep their hopes alive. However, the odds are stacked pretty high against them. Only three times in the past has a team come back from a 1-3 deficit to win a best-of-seven series—the 1925 Pittsburgh Pirates, the 1968 Yankees and the 1969 Detroit Tigers. "We're in a hole, Manager Alvin Dark. We've had to scratch for runs all year and we're still scratching against a good ball club." Lost in the fifth victory was a solo homer by starting pitcher Ken Holtzman which netted the A's their first run in the third, another sparkling, game-ending doubleplay started by second baseman Dick Green and 1-3 innings of shutout relief by Rollie Fingers. Dark, though, didn't forget.

Mrs. Helen Murray

Mrs. Helen Murray, 88, of 52 Weaver Rd. died Wednesday at a Manchester convalescent home. She was the widow of John Murray. Mrs. Murray lived in Hartford most of her life before coming to Manchester 28 years ago. Surviving are a son, John J. Murray of Wethersfield, a daughter, Mrs. Helen McAdam of Manchester, with whom she made her home; seven grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. The funeral is Friday at 9 a.m. from the John F. Tierney Funeral Home, 219 W. Center St., with a Mass at St. Bartholomew's Church at 9:30. Burial will be in Mt. St. Benedict Cemetery, Bloomfield. Friends may call at the funeral home tonight from 7 to 9 p.m.

The family suggests that any memorial contributions may be made to the Development Fund of St. Catholic High School, 216 South St., Hartford.

'Last Angry Man' A's Gene Tenace

OAKLAND (UPI) — Win or lose, the Oakland A's always seem to have plenty of candidates ready to play the "Last Angry Man" role. Today, with the A's on the verge of a spot in baseball history, that man is Gene Tenace. "Finley is trying to bury me," Tenace complained. "He's still bitter because I took him to arbitration over my salary. He'll never forget that." Finley, of course, is Charles O., the A's owner. Tenace's ire became particularly aroused Wednesday night when the A's beat the Dodgers 5-2 to take a 3-1 lead in games in the World Series because his name was scratched from the starting lineup only minutes before the game began. "Naturally, Tenace said, 'I asked the manager (Alvin Dark) why I had been taken out of the lineup, and he told me it was the owner's idea.' Tenace claimed Dark said:

'Make Room'

OAKLAND (UPI) — Oakland A's rookie Claudell Washington said Wednesday night that he hoped his club would "make room" for him in the starting lineup in the fifth game of the World Series with Los Angeles. "I've earned it," he said. "I've been hitting. 20-year-old Washington said after tagging two singles and scoring one run in Oakland's 5-2 win over the Dodgers.

Routine Night's Work

OAKLAND (UPI) — Without meaning to demean the Los Angeles Dodgers in any way, Rollie Fingers called it "another routine night's work for me." The ace Oakland reliever was referring to his 1-3 innings of work that helped save a 5-2 victory Wednesday night and put the A's within a victory of their third straight World Championship. "I knew ahead of time that at the first sign of trouble I would have to go in," said Fingers, "so in that regard it was just another night's work for me." What if he turned out to be Fingers' fifth World Series save, which is an all-time record, and his 15th appearance. He set the record in the eighth when Rolie struck him out on a high fastball.

Yeager Laughed Early But Not at Ump's Call

OAKLAND (UPI) — Steve Yeager had a laugh early in the sixth inning of the fourth game of the World Series but it proved to be the last one for the Los Angeles Dodgers catcher Wednesday night.

With Sal Bando on third and Reggie Jackson on second, pinch-hitter Jim Holt rolled a bunt foot down the third base line and when Ferguson stepped into him and kicked.

"I hope he (Holt) doesn't hit it to Fergy (Dodgers rightfielder Joe Ferguson) or we might have a replay of the other game."

In the first game of the Series, Ferguson uncorked a spectacular throw to nail Bando at the plate.

History almost repeated itself Wednesday night with only a change of characters for the A's.

In Oakland's 5-2 victory Wednesday night, Holt lined a single to Ferguson who cut loose with a throw right on the plate.

"I thought I had him blocked off at the plate," the husky Yeager said after the Dodgers left behind three games to one in the Series.

"I thought he slid away and hooked in. I know that his body mark was three feet from the plate and it felt like his left leg went right up my shin guard."

As it turned out, Jackson's tally made it 4-2 and the A's put the game out of reach with an insurance run later in the same inning.

"I knew the tag was late because I had to reach to the right for the ball," Yeager continued. "But where was he lying? I thought he was out."

Yeager jumped up to protest the call, bumped into umpire Don Denkinger and almost drew an expulsion.

"We had (Billy) North struck out on the 2-2 pitch," Yeager said of the sixth inning. "A break there and we're out of the inning. Heck, we didn't get any breaks last night either."

"They (the A's) capitalize on breaks," he continued. "Nothing wrong with that. That's just baseball. Now, if only we can get a few more out."

The Dodgers were ahead 2-1 when North drew a walk, one of three given up and Ferguson retrieved the ball.

"I may have bumped into him pretty good," Yeager said. "I don't know. But I know I was mad."

"The Dodgers could use a few breaks, Yeager added. "We had (Billy) North

Green Softens Criticism Of Oakland Playing Turf

OAKLAND (UPI) — Dick Green softened in his criticism of the Oakland Coliseum playing turf. But the ground has softened, too.

"The ground was much softer tonight," said the A's second baseman after his team beat the Los Angeles Dodgers 5-2 Wednesday night to take a 3-1 lead in the World Series.

"We've got to win one tomorrow (Thursday)," he said. "And we're about due."

Manager Walter Alton, his team backed to the wall, was realistic.

"We've got to win one tomorrow (Thursday)," he said. "And we're about due."

Messersmith, who was lifted in the seventh, left the ball park before his teammates trooped into the clubhouse after the game.

Miss Casals, of San Francisco, came to the net in the second set to throw Miss Evert's control game off balance.

Sun First to Clinch WFL Division Title

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Southern California Sun became the first World Football League team to clinch a division title Wednesday night.

The Sun then scored 26 straight points before the Americans, also 14-0, finally bounced back midway through the final period.

Florida's loss left the Blazers just one game ahead of Charlotte in the Eastern race. The Hornets blasted the Chicago Fire 27-0 in other games, the Shreveport Steamer beat the Bell 30-25 before a crowd of only 750 in Philadelphia and the Portland Storm edged The Hawaiians 3-0.

Hornets 27, Fire 0

Don Highsmith had TD runs of 15 and two yards and end Carter Campbell sparked the defense to its first shutout ever as the Hornets ripped Chicago before 20,500 in Charlotte.

Ed White also ran two yards for a score and Peter Rajceck kicked a 40-yard field goal. The Hornets met Florida next Wednesday night for first in the East.

Steamer 30, Bell 25

Jim Nance rushed for 104 yards and a touchdown and D.C. Nobles threw two TD passes to Rick Eber to lead Shreveport over Philadelphia.

Nobles scored on two-yard run and Nobles threw scoring passes of 27 and 39 yards to Eber. King Corcoran had two TD passes for the Bell.

Storm 3, Hawaiians 0

Grant Guthrie's 37-yard field goal accounted for the only scoring as the Storm beat The Hawaiians before 11,032 in Portland.

Trying to Stay Cool Alston Admits He's Little Warm

OAKLAND (UPI) — Yes, now that you mention it, Walt Alston does notice it getting a little warm.

Hot, in fact.

He's trying to stay cool, though, despite the fact that he's not in his element.

Outside of the pitching, Alston will stick with the same lineup he's used in all four previous games.

"This is the best we've got," Alston said in the wake of Wednesday night's 5-2 loss to the Oakland A's that left the Dodgers trailing three games to one in the best-of-seven series.

"First though, we have to win the fifth game," said the Dodger manager. "I think we are about due."

The Dodgers have outlit the A's in the four games played thus far but their defense has handed Oakland two games and was a factor in Wednesday night's loss, too.

There has been talk that the Dodgers' inexperience in World Series play is the reason why they are down right now, 3-1, but Alston says he doesn't see it that way.

Howe Family Scores Again

Last season Gordie Howe and his sons Mark and Marty led the Houston Aeros to the World Hockey Association title.

The Aeros opened their 1974-75 season in Vancouver Wednesday night and the Howes led them to a 6-0 rout of the Blazers.

Mark Howe scored the game's first goal after an assist from his father and Mark later assisted on Gord Labossiere's goal.

Marty Howe also contributed an assist and Don Graham turned back 29 shots for the shutout.

Larry Land, Jim Sherrit, Murray Hall and Frank Hughes also scored for Houston.

In the only other game Robby Flores scored a three-goal hat trick as the Phoenix Roadrunners rolled over the San Diego Mariners 8-2 in their WHA debut.

Flores broke a 2-2 tie in the second period and scored two more in the third along with Michel Cormier and Murray Keogan.

Gary Kurt claimed by the Roadrunners from San Diego in the expansion draft made 30 saves and shut out the Mariners the last two periods.

Pro Hockey Roundup Wings Start Fast Like in Old Days

NEW YORK (UPI) — The names are most certainly not as familiar but the Detroit Red Wings are off to a start reminiscent of their great Gordie Howe-Ted Lindsay-Alex Delvecchio-Red Kelly National Hockey League championship clubs of the 1950s.

The Red Wings posted their third home ice victory of the season Wednesday downing the Atlanta Flames 4-2 behind Bill Luchessa's (who?) third career goal.

Steve Vickers scored the tying goal with 1:18 remaining in the game to salvage the tie for the Rangers on their home ice. A little over a minute earlier Al MacAdam had given the Seals what looked to be a 5-4 victory with a deflected goal off Ranger defenseman Brad Park that trickled in behind goalie Ed Giacomin.

Black Hawks 4, Bruins 0

Right-winger Bill Flett scored a power play goal with 2:39 remaining to give the Leafs a tie — also on their home ice. The tie thus enabled both clubs to remain undefeated this season. Marty Murray scored the Kings' goal at 17:41 of the first period also on a power play.

North Stars 1, Canucks 1

Veteran Stan Mikita scored two goals in helping Tony Esposito register his first shutout as the Hawks won 10-0 in the first of three outings this season. It was the second defeat for the winless Bruins. Chicago wrapped up the game in the first period when Cliff Koroski scored on a power play and Mikita followed 37 seconds later with his first goal of the game firing a 45-foot power Ross Brooks.

North Stars 1, Canucks 1

Nu Name's breakaway goal at 12:22 of the final period lifted Minnesota into its tie with Vancouver. Don Lever had scored for the Canucks with just two minutes gone in the game.

Transfer of Nurse Is Meeting Subject

BOLTON
 Donna Holland, Correspondent
 Tel. 646-8373

Bolton selectmen have scheduled a meeting tomorrow night with officials of the Rockville Public Health Nursing Association to discuss personnel changes which were to have taken place Wednesday.

The selectmen asked the association to delay reassignment of Bolton's public health nurse, Mrs. Polly Comoli, pending discussion of the matter. The association had informed selectmen that Mrs. Ruth Kern would be the agency nurse offering services to Bolton as of Wednesday.

Tomorrow night's meeting is scheduled for 8 at the town hall.

The selectmen have stressed that Bolton wishes to continue having Mrs. Comoli available in town.

Phyllis Drysdale, RPHNA acting administrator supervisor, said that in keeping with its procedure of periodically rotating nursing districts and caseloads Mrs. Comoli would be reassigned.

Rotation becomes an important aspect of a public health nurse's education when the different services the agency offers are examined, Mrs. Drysdale said.

Each community is unique in terms of its particular health needs and in order for a nurse to function to the fullest extent of her professional capabilities she must renew her proficiency in relating to families where needs vary considerably from those of previous assignments, she said.

Mrs. Kern has been with the agency for some time and has had the opportunity to work in several of the areas the agency serves.

Mrs. Drysdale said Mrs. Kern will be most anxious to assist Bolton in meeting whatever health needs are made known to her. She said Mrs. Kern will continue the spirit of close cooperation which Mrs. Comoli established during her years in Bolton.

Former Resident Writes On Student Finances

A former resident of Manchester and graduate of Manchester High School has been invited to author an article on college financial aid for the New York Times.

Francis Strano, director of admissions and financial aid at St. Francis College in Fort Wayne, Ind., has written an article that will be published in the Sunday edition of the Times, one of the largest Sunday papers in the world.

Strano, who has been at St. Francis since 1970, has been active in both state and national councils on student financial aid and has served on both the ethics and executive committees of the Indiana State Financial Aid Association (ISFAA).

He is also state training officer for the ISFAA and will direct a federally-funded seminar on the administration of Basic Educational Opportunity Grants in Indiana later this year.

Strano has authored articles on financial aid for the Ft. Wayne Journal-Gazette, and News Sentinel, and has been heard on the radio as a guest expert on the subject of affording college.

ABOUT TOWN

The Prayer Group of St. Mary's Episcopal Church will meet tonight at 8 at 701 Hartford Rd.

A setback card game will be conducted Friday at 7:30 p.m. in Cronin Hall of Mayfair Gardens. All Mayfair residents are invited.
