Police Cruiser Damaged in Crash

This cruiser was involved in a two-car collision Thursday about 9:50 p.m. on Center St. near McKee St. This is how it looked before being towed from the scene. Patrolman William Daly Jr., 25, of the Manchester Police was the driver at the time. He was taken by ambulance to Manchester Memorial Hospital where he was treated for injuries to both knees and his head and discharged. Police are still investigating the collision and had no details as of this morning. No one else was reported seriously injured. Bystanders said the cruiser was chasing someone when a car pulled into its path. (Herald photo by Dunn)

Sen. Weicker Threatens To Break with Republicans

HARTFORD (UPI) — Sen. Lowell P. Weicker, Jr., R-Conn., is threatening to make a final break with his party and seek re-election as an independent in 1978. Weicker said in an interview Thursday for the Connecticut Public Information Network radio program, "Dialogue '74," that he will announce "prior to the next session of Congress" whether he will remain in the GOP.

"They (Republicans) will know plenty ahead of time so they can get their ducks in a row and they can get their candidates built up to go ahead and run against me," Weicker said.

Local Leaders Split On Weicker Criticism

By SOL R. COHEN
Manchester political figures had mixed reactions today to the apparent split between U.S. Sen. Lowell Weicker and GOP gubernatorial hopeful Robert Steele, with Democrats, for the most part, happy over it and the Republicans hoping the wounds will be healed and party unity maintained.

Republican Director Vivian Ferguson, a Manchester coordinator for Steele, said, "I think the most important thing, and it's extremely important, is to maintain the two-party system. This is the time for Republicans to rally and give support to the party."

at a gala fund-raising dinner in Hartford Thursday night was varied. Weicker was not at the dinner. Bridgeport Mayor Nicholas Panuzio said, "Lowell has a place in the Republican Party and that's where he belongs. We want him there."

Ford Feels Campaign Is Helping Republicans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford showed none of the strain of his Midwest campaign trip early today as he bounded off Air Force One, confident that his attacks on Democrats were helping GOP candidates.

As the jet flew back from appearances in Des Moines, Melvin, Ill., and Chicago, White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said of the President, "He does feel that in some of the places where he has been, the Republican candidates seem to be coming up."

CIA out of Chile and boycotting grapes. A sign above the crowd in Des Moines said: "Pardon Me, I'm a Bankrupt Cattleman."

Nessen said Ford used campaigns in South Carolina, Kansas and South Dakota as examples of areas where the polls showed GOP candidates improving their chances.

"This is not an exclusive list but it's what I heard him talking about tonight," Nessen said.

Mobbed at Reception
He was mobbed at a $50-a-head reception in a Chicago hotel, pressed toward the bar in the back of the room.

"I know what the polls tell me," Ford told 950 people who had paid $250 to see him. "I don't believe it."

The President appeared tired as he spoke. He frequently digressed from his prepared text and the applause was more polite than enthusiastic.

Melvin is located in Ford County, and from the warmth of his reception it could have been named after him. "Hey, ho, this is Republican country, I know," he said as he stepped out of the helicopter.

Local Credit Union Being Investigated

A United States prosecutor and the Federal Bureau of Investigation are now looking into what they called irregularities at the Manchester Teachers Federal Credit Union at 63 E. Center St.

Personal accounts at the credit union are not affected by the suspected losses, the FBI spokesman said.

WEATHER

Considerable cloudiness this afternoon with a chance of a few showers. High 60 to 65. Fair tonight — lows mostly in the 30s. Sunny Saturday. High in the mid 50s.

Green School Students Learning by Growing

The students of Mrs. Suzanne Steinhagen at Manchester Green School have just completed a unit about plants. The unit was developed and taught to the second- and third-year children by Miss Phyllis Jolie of Columbia, a student teacher from Southern Connecticut State College.

Observation and record keeping were a part of the project. Each student kept a folder which included growth charts, pictures of the plant as it developed, labeled parts of the plant, and short explanations about functions of the parts of the plant.

Utility Rate Proposal Protested by Grasso

HARTFORD (UPI) — Northeast Utilities' prospective bid for even higher rate increases brought a renewed pledge of a court fight from Democratic gubernatorial candidate Ella T. Grasso today.

He said the decision on when to file the request — perhaps for more than the original — will be made "when we have a few less things pressing on us."

She said the Public Utilities Commission has "refused to let the facts on the $19-million overcharges come out in its hearings, but they must and will come out in court. The coverage must end," she said.

Sillin said the $59.2-million request, filed in May, was "substantial but minimal," and was based on expectations national economic conditions would have improved by the time they were granted.

Manchester Evening Herald OPINION

Pros Vs. Amateurs

The state's gubernatorial campaign is degenerating into an old-fashioned name-calling donnybrook and in doing so it presents a classic in contrast between the political pros and amateurs.

The professionalism is stamped all over the Grasso effort from the prevention campaign by Attorney General Robert Killian, to his acceptance of second spot on the ticket, to the timing of the anti-public utilities campaign so it would peak on the eve of election.

The election issues by and large have been seeded, nourished and now flourish under the deft husbandry of Democratic party professionals which include both Mrs. Ella Grasso, the party candidate for governor, and John Bailey, the veteran political party leader.

On the other hand, Republican Robert Steele has been plagued by amateurism all along the way. The lack of finesse in disposing of a prevention challenger was the beginning, his hesitancy concerning a new party chairman reflected indecision at a crucial time when party wounds needed quick healing, and his persistent efforts to make the Democratic Party Platform a pocketbook issue failed to alarm anybody except a few within the party who have been alarmed at anything Democratic since childhood.

The latest evidence of this amateurism in Steele's handling of the Bailey-HELCO sale lease deal which reached back to 1961 for a utility-connected issue to counter the mileage gains made by Grasso forces on the Formula B overcharges the PUC has allowed to occur through failure to update the formula.

Amateurish because you don't serve the voters but without dressing it up to make it look like something more tastier and meatier. A pro would have either left it alone, or if he found it necessary, as the Steele strategists apparently did, he would have farmed it out to someone else to protect his candidate in the event the plot flopped.

Amateurish because the underlying issue of "sweetheart" leases is not the principles involved, nor interpretation of legality, but whether the allegation of "illegal profits" is true. Inflation alone largely deflates the margin between 1961's buying price and today's estimated market value of $1.8 million. A political pro would not make such a comparison without plenty of qualification.

Now we are not defending Bailey's deal with HELCO for we fear this practice has potential evils even though there is not any tangible evidence to date that Bailey's profit, should he elect to sell, would be any different than if he had made an investment somewhere else.

A pro, we think in the post-Watergate era of political morality, would have all but ignored the transaction in the context of the practice of utilities, and other businesses for that matter, letting political friends or potential friends in on the "ground floor" when business opportunities present themselves whether it is the sale of real estate, stocks, bonds, etc.

A pro, we think, would do this unless doing so would open Pandora's box. We sincerely regret that the Steele strategy is so amateurish. We have stated several times our feeling that there are many issues which could be discussed which would have benefit to the voters.

But as amateurs, we are afraid Steele's bright young men have fallen into the biggest political trap of all because, they have allowed the opposition to grab the ball.

It may be too late but the Steele team apparently needs a professional quarterback if it is going to score Nov. 5.

League Dismayed

The League of Women Voters of Vernon is dismayed by the recent developments surrounding the long overdue hiring of a town planner for Vernon. It is apparent to us that the search committee has been remiss in carrying out its duty in the best possible manner. Surely, establishing a salary, commensurate with those of other towns, should be among the first order of business. It appears this is being done now — after the fact — after the rejection of two search committee candidates by a panel of experts which suggests that the offered salary scale be raised.

The search committee also appears to have neglected to give emphasis to job descriptions and input from the members of the various commissions involved in the area of planning and zoning. These are the individuals who would rely upon the services and knowledge offered by an effective town planner with a fully-staffed planning department. Surely their opinions have value.

We, in the League of Women Voters of Vernon, believe that a town planner is essential to Vernon and that this position be filled immediately and in a thoughtful manner.

Vernon is the loser if we remain "penny wise and pound foolish." We stand the possibility of a loss of federal funds (the Environmental Impact Study for the Open Space grant has sat undone for months because there has been nobody to prepare it) and Vernon continues to be without representation at seminars held throughout Connecticut.

The two most recently held have been the Connecticut Conference on Comprehensive Land Use Planning and a workshop on the use of Natural Resource Data by Municipal Land Use Decision Makers. This course was offered free of charge to all town officials by the Department of Environmental Protection and the Cooperative Extension Service of the University of Connecticut.

Under Connecticut law, education of the Voters stands for responsive, efficient and effective government. We urge our leaders from both political parties to join forces and work toward this end.

MAX LERNER Pardoning A King

NEW YORK — The "pardon deal" hypothesis has been dealt a partial blow by President Ford's testimony before the House Judiciary subcommittee. But we'll have it to kick around for a time.

The flow is Ford's flat statement again, conveyed with all his earnestness before the TV cameras, that there was never any deal or understanding. The surviving suspicions will cluster around his admission that the pardon subject had been broached by Alexander Haig in a conversation a week before Nixon's resignation.

For me the key term in Ford's account of the exchange was "recommendation." Haig talked about the options before Nixon after the Supreme Court had compelled him to hand over the fateful tapes that sealed his doom. Among the options were resignation and pardon. There was talk about the constitutional aspects of the pardon. Ford asked whether the president had any "recommendations" to make to the President. The vice president wanted to think it over.

For our present hindsight we can see that Mr. Ford should have frozen Haig out immediately. Haig was no fool. Whatever course Nixon chose, the vice president was bound soon to succeed to the Presidency. Why pay him a call and talk about pardons unless it was to sound him out, however diplomatically, about what might happen if Nixon resigned?

The appropriate thing would have been to tell him firmly, "you know I can't make recommendations to the man I shall be succeeding and with whose case I shall have to deal. You shouldn't even be mentioning pardons to me." Mr. Ford didn't say it then. But having thought about the conversation overnight, he called Haig back and told him he had no "recommendations," and that nothing which he had discussed should be given any consideration in the President's decision. Having flunked the question the first time, Mr. Ford gave the right answer the second time.

In the area of his motives, the President

ANDREW TULLY

Remember Churchill's famous speech of June 1941. Roosevelt had written Churchill, quoting the Longfellow poem with the famous words "Sail on, O Ship of State, Churchill looked up from the Roosevelt letter and gave his answer to America: "Give us the tools and we will finish the job."

Churchill did not ask Roosevelt to "Make arrangements for the shipment of weapons and material of war and we will proceed to put a truce in the end to the hostilities." Nor did he promise the British people "blood, perspiration and tears." He was addressing a nation well acquainted with sweat.

Surely there is somebody in Ford's stable of ghost writers who has heard of Thucydides and can find the kernel of an idea in that philosopher's sayings. Or, in a crazy, mixed-up America, one could simply pirate Thucydides' reply when he was asked when justice would come to Athens: "Justice will not come to Athens until those who are not injured are as indignant as those who are injured."

For the Democratic opposition, there is also always the Chesire Cat's reply to Alice when she asked: "which way I ought to go from here?" Ford's critics could quote the cat to remind him: "That depends a good deal on where you want to get to." Sometimes the President is not quite sure of his destination.

And finally, both the White House and its critics on Capitol Hill must be persuaded, by another incident involving Adlai Stevenson, to address the people in plain, street-corner English. Stevenson once asked a cab driver whether the cabbie thought Stevenson's speeches were over the head of the average man. "Well, governor," the cabbie replied after some thought, "I understand you, but I'm not so sure about the average man."

Fortunately, Nelson said simply: "England expects every man to do his duty," and the Empire went on from there.

Having had personal experience with the concern, compassion, and ability shown by David Barry, we rejoiced when he announced his candidacy for state senator.

For many years all the trolley cars in Manchester were single track things that swayed and bobbed like a boat in a storm. Finally a larger double track car was brought in.

If the police made an arrest downtown they used a trolley for transporting the culprit to the center where lockup was held up two hours until the track was cleared. That meant no time ashore but that boat ride was the greatest thing that ever happened to the boy.

Right away his greatest ambition for a career was to be a cutter. Later in life that lust some of its lustre as a career. It was a wonderful dream while it lasted.

The boats "Hartford" and "Middletown" had regular schedules for passengers and freight between Hartford and New York with numerous stops between. Many took pleasure trips on them.

They were not very deep draft. The river was not kept dredged as well then as now, and the channel was not as well marked.

The U.S.S. Elfrida only drew nine feet. But she came up with the best pilot on the river she grounded three times getting to Hartford. River traffic had to knock off in winter because the icebreaker didn't keep the channel open as it does now.

O.C. remembers when horse and cutter races were run on the river ice in front of Hartford.

Newsweek — A Sore Point Over Sources

By S. I. Hayakawa
San Francisco Examiner
President Ford, according to Newsweek of Oct. 14, has almost no support. He faces an "increasingly hostile Congress whittling away at his proposals and angry over his pardoning of Richard Nixon."

Voters, Newsweek continues, are "openly disenchanted with both Ford and his party." Congress is "disgruntled." Ford's "personal lobbying failed to stop the Senate from wlaying a routine foreign-aid bill" and "legislators were openly mutinous."

The following quotations further elaborate President Ford's unhappy situation, as described by Newsweek: "Gerald Ford's young presidency fell into deeper disarray last week."

"With his advisers still at loggerheads over what to do about the troubled economy...the question was whether he had any substantive answers for his manifold problems, and fears were rising that he hadn't."

"He seemed to be backing away from any hard decisions on what to do next...The basic decisions were yet to be made."

"The area in which Ford...suffered the most confusion — was the stagflation economy...Ford and his advisers were still floating trial balloons."

"The President returned a brusque letter (in answer to William Hungate's questions)... And when he realized the fury he provoked in his former colleagues, Ford abruptly reversed himself..."

"Behind his relieved grin, however, Ford was noticeably changed by his recent ordeals... Ford turned pressing, even irascible."

"And he sought refuge from unfamiliar problems by doing what he knows best, scheduling campaign trips to 16 states within the next three weeks."

"No one will know, not even the President whether energy policies of any kind are to be addressed in that speech," said a White House economist."

"It was a 'dam stupid decision,' one of Ford's aides conceded later."

"...Aides feared that the timing of the discussion would suggest the appearance of a deal."

"It's not going to destroy us," said one aide, "but it's going to look awfully bad..."

"But other aides, recalling Ford's...good television presence, were less pessimistic."

The remaining 10 sources, again unnamed, are identified as members of the White House staff: "An aide" or "aides," one "economist" and one "topsider." And here are the things they are quoted as saying:

"A top Ford aide lamented, 'We're getting killed everywhere.'"

"No one will know, not even the President whether energy policies of any kind are to be addressed in that speech," said a White House economist."

"It was a 'dam stupid decision,' one of Ford's aides conceded later."

"...Aides feared that the timing of the discussion would suggest the appearance of a deal."

"It's not going to destroy us," said one aide, "but it's going to look awfully bad..."

"But other aides, recalling Ford's...good television presence, were less pessimistic."

"At the minute, he will come out of this as a man who made an honest error," said one topsider."

"What one Ford aide called the 'general raggedness of the Administration machinery.'"

"He looks like a guy who's been through a real trial," said one aide. "You can see it in his eyes."

All my life I've had to name my sources — in term papers and theses, in books and articles and newspaper columns — even in conversations with my wife.

It must be nice to work for Newsweek. — San Francisco Examiner

Newsweek also indicates 13 other sources. Two, although unnamed, are identified as Republicans: The "ranking" senator already quoted and a "GOP" insider, who "conceded" that "the pardon poisons the atmosphere around here."

The existence of another source is revealed by the words, "Ford is prepared to testify, Newsweek learned..." although Newsweek does not say from whom this information was learned.

Save Money- Bake Your Own

By LeROY POPE
NEW YORK (UPI) — Inflation now has pushed the price of bread so high any housewife who wants to go to the trouble can save a substantial amount by baking her own, with the added dividend of home-baked aroma and taste.

At the current retail price range of 16.6 to 19 cents a pound for flour, she can bake for 20 to 24 cents a one-pound loaf of bread that sells for anywhere from 45 to 60 cents. This includes the cost of flour, eggs, milk, sugar, shortening, yeast and fuel.

This calculation is based on figures supplied by supermarkets, the American Bakers Association, and Fleischmann's yeast.

"For years, the bakery people have contended the housewife 'can always keep us honest' if she is willing to bake herself. Until now, however, the amount she could save by baking bread hardly seemed worthwhile.

The inflation that has driven bread prices so high has been notable on flour, which has gone up 80 per cent in the past two years as wheat soared to 35 a bushel. But ingredients always have been the smallest part of the price of bread. The biggest cost is distribution to the grocery store.

Business Today

For this reason, according to the American Bakers Association, a 25 per cent rise in the wholesale price of bread in the past two years has resulted in an 85 per cent jump in the average retail price.

The three-quarters of a pound of flour it takes to make one pound of bread costs the big baker only 8 cents, a little less than half what it costs the housewife, for two reasons: The baker buys by the carload, the housewife by the five-pound sack. The baker buys a single-purpose flour. The housewife buys a general purpose flour which costs more to mill.

The American Bakers Association says the wholesale cost of the one-pound loaf currently averages 29.74 cents. The ingredient cost is only 10.01 cents and the wholesale profit is less than a penny a loaf.

Retail cost of the more popular 22-ounce loaf, priced proportionately higher, has soared from around 33 cents two years ago to 60 cents in major metropolitan areas. Obviously, high overhead and interest costs and rapidly rising wages in the stores and the wholesale distributors are responsible.

sales abroad may force some curbs on the use of grain in the United States.

However, the United States, even in a bad year, produces far more grain than Americans can consume, and it now is the only reliable source of grain for many hungry countries.

One big result of inflation is that the difference between the price of big-name brands of bread and the supermarkets' private label brands appears to have widened dramatically as the name brand bakers' costs soared.

The private label bread used to undersell the name brands by only 3 to 5 cents a loaf. Now the difference in price may be 15 to 20 cents.

When the big furor broke over the huge wheat sales to Russia last year, some bakers raised the specter of a loaf bread in a railroad station after a passenger was knifed to death on a platform. It said he was found to have committed a previous killing as well.

Suspect Nabbed

MOSCOW (UPI) — Police have captured a killer responsible for the stabbing deaths of two persons in Moscow recently, the newspaper Vechnaya Moskva said Thursday. The newspaper said the killer, whose name was not published, had been found hiding in a railroad station after a passenger was knifed to death on a platform. It said he was found to have committed a previous killing as well.

Activities planned for National Education Week, Oct. 27 to Nov. 2, include open houses at schools, displays, and a classroom "on exhibit."

The Parker School class K, 1 and 2, taught by Judy Howard and Winifred Clay, will be moved on Oct. 29 from 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m., to the main lobby of the Savings Bank of Tolland. Regular classroom activity will be carried out and may be observed by anyone interested.

The Tolland Middle School will hold open house for Grades 5 and 6 on Oct. 29 at 7 p.m. and Nov. 4 at 7 p.m. for Grades 7 and 8.

Although there will not be guided tours through the new addition, some classrooms will be open, such as the art room. Refreshments will be served by the Tolland Middle School Parents for Interaction.

The education committee of the Tolland Junior Woman's Club, assisted by the Tolland Public Library, will provide a week-long display at the Middle School of textbooks dating back to 1837.

Tolland High School will hold open house Oct. 29 from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., with five-minute sessions allowed with teachers. At 7:15 p.m. a ribbon cutting ceremony is planned for the students' store.

Horn Bid Lowest For High School

VERNON

BARBARA RICHMOND, Horn Construction, Inc. of Hartford, was apparent low bidder, at $4,063,000 for the base bid for additions and alterations to Rockville High School. Bids totaling seven, were opened by Robert Wehrli, chairman of the Permanent Building Committee Thursday night.

Bidders were asked to bid on eight alternatives to the base bid. The first being for an addition to the Vo-Ag building at the high school. Horn's bid for that was $552,500.

A referendum approved an amount of $5,000,000 for the high school and the state will allot up to $300,000 for the Vo-Ag expansion. The state will reimburse the town one half the cost of the high school expansion.

David Eveleth of McHugh Associates, the architectural firm that designed the school, said "Bids were very close to what we anticipated them to be. It looks very good to us."

He said Horn Construction is one of the biggest contractors in the Hartford area and there is no question of its ability to do the job. William McHugh said some changes will have to be made in the electrical work to keep within the budget. The other alternatives, and the amounts bid by Horn, included: Alternate 2 (a, b, and c) concerning partitions in the classrooms with "a" being building on the job steel studied partitions, $168,800; "b", Husman demountable partitions, $138,800; and "c", Virginia Metal Parts partitions, $138,800.

Alternate 3, the addition of air conditioning to parts of the new classroom wing, $50,100; Alternate 4, additional alterations to add air conditioning to the existing classroom wing which is two stories, $67,600; Alternate 5, the addition of air conditioning to the existing classroom wing and home economics wing, $28,250; Alternate 6, alterations to the existing auditorium, changing the seating and adding partitions, $120,200; Alternate 7, resurfacing the existing track, $63,500; and Alternate 8, adding six new tennis courts complete with fencing and lighting, $97,100.

Two of the four mechanical bids came in much higher than anticipated and the Permanent Building Committee voted Thursday night to seek a rebid on the electrical work, eliminating some portions of it. The low bid for this work came in at $916,356 and was submitted by Johnson Electric of Newton. This was some $300,000 higher than estimated by the committee.

The low bid for heating, ventilation, and air conditioning, was submitted by G & F Mechanical of Bloomfield at $617,200. A bid of about $550,000 was anticipated.

C & S Plumbing of Hartford was apparent low bidder at $143,000, for the plumbing portion of the project; and Automatic Sprinkler of Manchester, for the sprinkler system at $76,108. The general contractor will be obliged to complete a year ago contract by the building committee. In its bid, Horn Construction promised completion of the classroom wing by Dec. 1, 1975. One other bidder promised completion by Dec. 30, 1975 and the others set a completion date of January 1976. Eveleth said the completion dates were within the date asked for in the architect's schedule. He said the building committee has to consider each alternate with an eye toward staying within the budget. The referendum approving the $5 million was the third one on the high school project. The first asked for $10 million and the second, $2.5 million and both were rejected by the voters. The delay in construction made it necessary to put the high school on double sessions, last year and this year.

Other companies bidding were: J. S. Nasin of Willimantic, with a base bid of $4,569,000 and $216,000 for the Vo-Ag building; Associated Construction Co., Hartford, $4,785,000 and $183,000; Alexander Schnip, Norwich, $4,246,000; $265,800; Jack Hunter, Inc., Manchester, $4,356,000 and $288,000; Anderson-Fairbanks of $2,800,000, $4,233,000 and $280,000.

The bids on the other alternatives stayed pretty much in the same ballpark with the Horn bids. The general contract bids were sent to each general contractor bidding who was submitting a bid so they could include them in their bids. Architects fees and such are expected to run about $75,000; site improvements about $25,000; and equipment, $400,000. When this schedule was set some a year ago, costs were based on the current prices at that time not allowing for cost escalation.

Dr. Hardy Reflects On Stay in Town

COVENTRY

Monica Shea
Dr. Donald Hardy is leaving the Coventry School system today for a new post in West Hartford. At a Board of Education meeting this week, Dr. Hardy's last one, he was presented with an pen and pencil set.

In farewell remarks to the board, Dr. Hardy said: "The time here has been good. I think the system has come a long way. We have some very solid programs. I am proud of what has been done and the people involved. For a time there is needed an emphasis on staff; they have been pushed very hard on all the new programs. I just hope the momentum can be kept up for all the changes."

The school administrators took Dr. Hardy out for lunch this week and presented him with a desk clock.

Dr. Hardy told the board that fuel oil had gone up 10 cents since the budget was formulated in March and he is projecting a deficit of $15,600 in the fuel account, provided the system uses the same amount of fuel as last year.

The fuel use last year was 176,000 gallons down from 226,000 of the year before. The drop was caused because of conservation measures and the mild winter. That deficit could go higher if this winter is more severe than last.

Chairmanships for the negotiating committees were appointed; Dr. Richard Ashley will chair the administrators negotiating committee; Fran Morrone the secretaries; Robert Walsh the custodian; and Joan Lewis and Tom Hill will co-chair the teachers negotiating committee.

The board will hold a work session on Nov. 7 to discuss the new PPBS budget. Dr. Hardy has offered to come back to the board and explain this document.

Subs Contract
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. Navy Sea Systems Command has awarded a $2.2-million contract to General Dynamics Corp. Electric Boat Division, Groton, Conn., on a negotiated cost plus fixed fee basis for planning yard services for SSN and SSBN nuclear submarines. The work is part of the Navy's expansion of its submarine base at Groton. Announcement of the contract was made Thursday.

Conditions Outlined For Columbia Acres

COLUMBIA

Virginia Carlson
Correspondent
222-9274
The approval of Columbia Acres subdivision hinges on the compliance by Larm Associates, the developers, with sanitary conditions. Those conditions were stipulated in a letter from Ray Arena of the state Department of Health to John Lenard, engineer.

The conditions are: The existing sewer line should be removed and replaced at a distance of 75 feet from the wall; all soil with immediate contact with the sewer line should be replaced with new soil; prior to the soil replacement, dry chlorine should be spread in the area where the sewer line had been.

Also, before the well is put into service, it must be resampled and met federal drinking water standards.

If these conditions are met within 90 days, the proposed property development — located on Rt. 87 and Doubleday Road, formerly owned by the Boshnaks — will be approved.

Okay Garage
The PZT has authorized Sam Pscattello, the zoning agent, to approve construction of a three-car garage requested by Alice Englert of Lake Rd.

The commission stipulated the garage may be placed up to, but no closer than, 15 feet of the lot line abutting Rt. 87. The garage is open in a generally southeasterly direction.

Members said a lot line had been set by existing garages in that section of Rt. 87 and that if the garage does not face Rt. 87 it will not create a traffic hazard.

Methodist To Hold Service of Celebration

BOLTON

Donna Holland
Correspondent
646-0375
Members of the United Methodist Church in Bolton will attend a special worship service of celebration in Mansfield Sunday at 7 p.m.

The Willimantic United Methodist Church has relocated to Mansfield. It is now part of the six church cluster of United Methodist Church members in Tolland County.

There are 1,200 UMC members in Tolland County, not counting students at the University of Connecticut. The six churches are now acting in concert to affect a united impact on the county. Ecclesiastical boundary changes have been made so that Willimantic is no longer oriented to Norwich but rather to Tolland County. The clergy of the six churches are meeting monthly, providing hospital coverage for each other, reviewing programs that may be done together and other things.

The worship Sunday will be the second gathering of the laity of the county. The new church in Mansfield was dedicated in September by Bishop Edward Carroll.

The Rockville Public Health Nursing report for the month of September showed a total of 69 community hours were spent in Bolton.

Visits included one post partum, 3 health promotion, 10 cancer, mental illness, 7 other non-communicable, one diabetes, 2 alcoholism and 2 not preserved in excellent condition and are being recorded correctly with no omissions and very few minor corrections.

Hunting Forbidden
Raymond Allen, superintendent of schools, reported his concern upon learning grounds were being entered the grounds where Bolton High School is located.

Allen reminds anyone that may be involved that no hunting is allowed on the school property.

School Menus
The following cafeteria menus will be served to students in Bolton Elementary School and Bolton Center School Oct. 28-Nov. 1:
Monday: Meatball grinder, tossed salad, choice of pudding.
Tuesday: Fried chicken, cranberries, whipped potatoes, buttered corn, ice cream.
Wednesday: Hamburg on roll, potato chips, vegetable sticks, chocolate cake.
Thursday: Pizza with meat and cheese, jello with topping.
Friday: Tuna on hard roll, French fries, tossed salad, fruit cup.

Tax Statements Due This Month

SOUTH WINDSOR

Judy Kuehnel
Correspondent
644-1364
South Windsor Assessor Bert McNamara reminds residents that Oct. 31 is now the town's assessment date and all personal property with the exception of registered motor vehicles must be declared at his office during the month to avoid a 10 per cent penalty.

Taxpayers on the January 1974 Grand List are being mailed personal property cards. Owners who were not on the list should pick up personal property cards at the office in the Town Hall or call and one will be mailed.

Personal property consists of such items as unregistered motor vehicles, snowmobiles, aircraft, machinery, water power, dams, horses, cattle, sheep, goats, swine, poultry, commercial furniture and fixtures, boats, outboard motors, farming equipment, goods of manufacturers, utility equipment and so forth.

It is not necessary to declare real estate or registered motor vehicles.

South Windsor is now revaluing all property, real and personal, and notices of assessment change will be mailed to the taxpayers by Jan. 3, 1975.

Since all vacant land will be assessed at fair market value it is important that those property owners who qualify under Public Act 69 and have not applied, file with the Assessor during October.

No one will receive the preferential assessment allowed by law unless he has an application on file at the office. Farmers may also apply for exemption for livestock, poultry and machinery.

For further information regarding assessment residents may call the Assessor's Office at the Town Hall, Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

The Utah Technical College in Provo offers a one-credit evening course on how to understand your taxes.

Gagnon-Maheu

Lorraine Carol Maheu of Hartford and Robert Alfred Gagnon of Manchester, were united in marriage Oct. 12 at St. Maurice Church, Bolton, where the nuptial Mass was celebrated and the double-ring ceremony performed.

Miss Ann Treglia of Hartford was soloist and guitarist. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a sate gown designed with high sheer neckline and bodice trimmed with lace, long Bishop sleeves, Empire waist, A-line skirt with long court train ruffled at front and back. Her floor-length veil of silk illusion was attached to a silk organza and lace-trimmed picture hat. She carried a Burgundy and white nosegay of roses, carnations and baby's breath.

Miss Suzanne Maheu of Hartford was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a halter gown of pink jersey designed with Empire waist, A-line skirt and topped with a ruby velvet Eton jacket with long sleeves. She wore a lace picture hat edged with tulle and carried a nosegay of Burgundy and pink carnations with baby's breath.

Miss Elizabeth Maheu of East Hartford was flower girl. She wore a pink jersey gown designed with Empire waist and Juliet sleeves and trimmed with Burgundy velvet at neckline, bodice and sleeves. She wore a matching velvet cape.

Registered nurse at Hartford Hospital. Mr. Gagnon, a veteran of two years service in the U.S. Marine Corps, is self-employed as a blacksmith.

Mrs. Robert A. Gagnon

Bolton Lake Hotel, after which the couple left on a trip to Pennsylvania. They will reside in East Hartford. Mrs. Gagnon is employed as a registered nurse at Hartford Hospital.

Wedding

Bujak-Elliott

Elaine Patricia Elliott and Robert John Bujak, both of Manchester, exchanged wedding vows, 30 at St. Bartholomew's Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Elliott of 80 Columbus St. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Bujak of 74 Overlook Dr.

The Rev. Philip Hussey officiated at the double-ring ceremony. The altar was decorated with garden flowers. Nathan Gatchell of Andover was organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her parents, wore an embroidered eyelet gown with matching lace which she designed. Her headpiece was a wreath of baby's breath and she carried a single long-stemmed red rose.

Mrs. Marcia Juliano Vernon was her sister's matron of honor. She wore a blue and white print gown flocked with yellow flowers and carried a single long-stemmed yellow rose.

A dinner reception was held following the evening ceremony, after which the couple left on a motor trip to Cape Cod, Mass. and Pennsylvania.

They will reside in East Hartford.

Mrs. Bujak is employed by the State of Connecticut. Mr. Bujak is attending Central Connecticut State College in New Britain.

Islands Call, Over 600 Answer At Travel Show

Visitors to the Herald Travel Show last night at Manchester High School listened to answers to questions on Hawaii which the audience posed to George Brier of United Airlines and William Arnold of Hawaiian Holidays.

The islands called and over 600 people answered last night as the Herald and its participating travel agents presented the second in its series of travel shows at the Manchester High School.

The first 200 ladies to arrive received Vanda orchids flown in from Hawaii by United Airlines especially for the show.

A film entitled "This is Hawaii" featuring Don Ho, star of the Reef Hotel in Honolulu, was presented.

Jamaican Entertainment A Many Splendored Thing

In a hilltop garden overlooking a vast sweep of the Caribbean, the red-jacketed, turbaned Jamaica Military Band plays rousing marches for testime guests. That night, like torch-bearing dancers slither down a waterfall at an outdoor nightclub. Across the mountain, in a Kingston hotel supper club, a recording star in dark glasses and a satin shirt turns on all his electronic effects for a performance of his newest "reggae" hit.

Entertainment in Jamaica is an extraordinary combination of tradition, physical fitness, creative imagination and professional skills. But all the entertainers need to observe and enjoy.

There are no gambling casinos and few places offering Statewide show business talent. But having fun and being entertained is so natural a part of island life that, fortunately, these imports seem unnecessary. Jamaican residents as well as visitors may board dugout canoes for a ride upriver to a jungle feast, go kite flying on a beach, play golf on a working spice plantation, watch or play polo, cricket and soccer, see to the improvement of the breed at Caymanas racetrack, come shudderingly yet safely close to man-eating crocodiles at a conservation ranch, dance in city discotheques or small town night spots, go to the theatre, the ballet, folkloric concerts.

Although some of these diversions have been developed with the foreign visitor in mind, almost all are uniquely Jamaican in character. Pastimes and picnics have been held since early plantation days on the shores of the island's most beautiful rivers. Today, one can take part in torchlit feasts and merriment on three different north coast rivers: the Great River near Montego Bay and Dunn's River Falls and White River at Ocho Rios. On the Martha Brae near Falmouth and the Rio Grande at Port Antonio the most relaxing of entertainments await passengers who glide downstream on handmade bamboo rafts, stopping for a swim or refreshments. Other outdoor adventures are shown under the stars at Montego Bay's new Tropical Gardens; food, frog and entertainment at Kingston's elegant Devon House; weekly "buccaneer barbecues" on the site of the old pirate city, Port Royal; and Jamaican picnics on the white sands of Lime Cay outside Kingston Harbour.

Which Way Did He Go?

SYDNEY (UPI)—Australian wildlife experts say Chicago Police ought to toss handfuls of salt, dress up in animal skins or grab for the tail if they catch up with a grey kangaroo that's kept a jump ahead of the law for a week.

The old kangaroo hands, however, say it's going to be hard for authorities to find an animal that can hop along at 30 miles an hour and leap 10-foot-high obstacles.

Bill Poole, a government wildlife specialist, says Chicago Police should first try to corner a kangaroo hopping along Chicago streets since last Friday.

"The best way is to try and move him into a cornered fence, walk slowly up to him and grab his tail," Poole said. "That will immobilize him."

Randy Rush, a former cowboy in Australia's kangaroo country, suggests a searcher dress up in a kangaroo skin coat, approach the animal and make a mating gesture. He calls his technique kangaroo courting.

A chuckwagon cook, who likes to prepare kangaroo tail soup, says authorities ought to hide behind a bush until the animal comes along and then toss a handful of salt on its tail.

In a more serious vein, Poole says the kangaroo, which sleeps during the day, is usually frightened by traffic noises and will probably head for parks. "There's no known method of catching a kangaroo unless you can throw a net over him and he's not going to hang around when he sees anyone closing in on him," he says.

Clocks Fall Behind Sunday

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Most of the nation turns the clock back one hour on Sunday, returning to Standard Time and ending the emergency year-round Daylight Saving Time spawned by the energy crisis. Congress passed on Sept. 30 and President Ford signed on Oct. 5 partial repeal of the 1973 emergency act that took effect last January and was due to expire anyway on April 27, 1975. Congress acted after many parents protested that it was dangerous for their children to go to school in the dark and after it appeared the year-round daylight time wasn't saving as much energy as it was supposed to.

Michigan and Idaho voted to exempt the more eastern time zones in their states from the 1973 emergency act to the extent that Standard Time would be observed from the last Sunday in October, 1974, until the last Sunday in April, 1975. These zones will turn the clocks back one hour Sunday but will not return to daylight time with the rest of the country in February, 1975. Indiana voted to exempt the 80 counties around Indianapolis, Fort Wayne and West Bend in the eastern time zone from the 1973 act and have remained on Standard Time. They will not turn clocks back on Sunday, but six counties in the northwest, around Gary and Hammond, and six counties in the southwest around Evansville, were under daylight time and will turn the clock back one hour on Sunday. Here's a chronology that may cut through some of the confusion: The Uniform Time Act of 1966 called for Daylight Saving Time to begin nationwide annually on the last Sunday in April and end on the last Sunday in October. Any state, however, could exempt itself or part of the state from this edict. When the energy crisis peaked in late 1973 the Emergency Time Act was enacted, going into effect Jan. 6, 1974 and putting the nation on year-round Daylight Saving Time until April 27, 1975. States that took exemptions under the 1966 law could continue them under the new emergency act. With the easing of the energy crisis, Congress late this year voted to repeal the emergency act to provide Standard Time in the four darkest months of winter—November, December, January and February. When the 1974 repeal law expires on Feb. 23, 1975 (before the expiration of the law it repealed) the nation will return to Daylight Saving Time except for those states that have had continuing exemptions. The nation will officially return, on April 27, 1975, to provisions of the 1966 Uniform Time Act with Daylight Saving Time continuing until the last Sunday in October 1975.

The answer is fourteen eleven.

The question is: What's the new, and the one and only number you now have to remember to get directory assistance for anywhere in Connecticut? The answer is 1411, and it's in effect in this area right now. Of course, using the phone book is faster and more efficient. But, if you do need assistance, to get a number across town or at the other end of the state, fourteen-eleven is right at your fingertips. Southern New England Telephone

DEPRESSION ART "FOUND" Public Offered 1937 U.S. Gov't Art Prints

Imagine, if you can, finding several thousand sets of antique prints of the world's greatest paintings that were lost for more than 35 years? It actually happened... and this is the true story of the discovery of that lost treasure.

Eleanor Roosevelt Back in 1937, immediately following the depression years, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and a select group of a dozen nationally prominent people formed a voluntary national committee for art appreciation to create an art program that would give the public a well-needed moral lift. It was the committee's decision to select the world's most famous paintings from the 15th, 16th, 18th, 19th, and 20th centuries—the best paintings of Mantegna, Van Gogh, Raphael, Picasso, Gauguin, Titian, etc.—and to reproduce them in full color as perfectly as humanly possible and make them available to the public at a price within the reach of nearly everyone.

Abandoned in 1937 For some unknown reason, after a quantity of these beautiful reproductions were made the entire project was abandoned and this collection of perfect reproductions was stored in a Brooklyn warehouse, where they remained undisturbed since 1937. Through a series of rare coincidences, the lost collection was "rediscovered" and leading lithographers and art critics agreed that the subject matter and quality of detail and color reproduction was incredibly accurate. Over $500,000.00 was spent to make finely engraved glass printing plates. It would be impossible to reproduce prints such as these under existing methods, and for that reason these prints are literally collector's items. Once they have been sold, there will be no more available. A truly excellent art "investment" that makes a fabulous gift.

Available to Public These authentic original 1937 prints have been approved by the American Appraisers Assoc. at $7.00 each print. Now, these full color 11" x 14" prints are finally available to the public at $19.95 for a collection of 18 prints. Send cash check or money order to: U.S. Surplus, Dept. 2940, P.O. Box 606, Tarzana, Calif. 91354. Fully GUARANTEED. Certificate of authenticity given with each set. MasterCard and BankAmericard OK (give card number).

"the most despicable forms of campaign gimmickry"

WATERBURY REPUBLICAN * FRIDAY, OCTOBER 18, 1974

Deception Helps Mrs. Grasso

U.S. Rep. Ella T. Grasso's attacks on high utility bills and the controversial fuel adjustment clause have done much to garner support for her gubernatorial campaign. The issue has allowed her to shift emphasis away from the Democrats' spendthrift platform and to focus on her attempt to picture herself as one able to achieve drastic reductions in utility bills. The tactic represents one of the most despicable forms of campaign gimmickry. What Mrs. Grasso is doing is creating an illusion before the election which will crumble to reality after the balloting is over.

Mrs. Grasso's request for an injunction against rate increases approved by the Public Utilities Commission for the Connecticut Light & Power Co. and the Hartford Electric Light Co. has been granted by Judge Maurice Sponzo. A hearing has been scheduled for Nov. 12—one week after the election.

As voting time nears, the public sees Mrs. Grasso as one who can go to court and halt the implementation of new utility rates. But the ultimate consequences won't be realized until after Election Day.

If Mrs. Grasso is not successful, and a court ultimately lifts the injunction and restores the rates, the public will have been the victim of a well-planned deception. Higher rates after Election Day do not matter to politicians; the campaign is over.

State's No. 1 Schoolboy Grid Machine Xavier Due Here Tomorrow Night Against Catholic

"Don't talk about Xavier, maybe they'll go away. Maybe their bus will be hijacked," East Catholic football Coach John LaFontana said last week half in jest.

"We view this game as one where we have nothing to lose," LaFontana continued. "They are a very orthodox team which plays errorless ball so what we will try is some tricks. You have to be unorthodox. You can't meet them head on and expect to beat on them. Really, beating Xavier is like climbing Mt. Everest. It seems impossible but it has been done."

Viridon Rewarded, Two-Year Contract

NEW YORK (UPI) — When the New York Yankees first hired Bill Viridon as manager last January, it was with something less than boundless enthusiasm.

But Viridon, being a gracious man, demanded no apology when he brought the Yankees in a close second in the American League East race.

Viridon received an approximate $15,000 raise to $65,000 for each of two years, but it's that extra year's security which he finds gratifying.

So when Viridon was hired Jan. 3, the spectre of Williams and his possibly usurping Viridon, if later freed from his contract with Oakland, loomed heavily.

Viridon had that shroud over his authority eliminated when Williams signed to manage the California Angels in mid-season. At the time, the Yankees were in last place, but Viridon's revamped squad finally came around and won 35 of its last 52 games.

In his first season as manager at Pittsburgh in 1972, Viridon guided the Pirates to the playoffs before being replaced in September of the next season with the team a close second in the National League East race.

Viridon has said he believes the Pirates would have won the division title that year if he had remained manager.

But, in his characteristically blunt manner, Viridon said he does not believe the Yankees could have done any better this year.

"I'm a realist. I did want to be there at the playoffs, but I feel our club gave the maximum effort in 1974. I think the best team won this year. They deserve to be there. But the other clubs will respect us more next year."

Green MVP Fingers Says

NEW YORK (UPI) — Rollie Fingers, happy with the whole wide world, including Blue Moon Odom, sized up the new station wagon he had just been given the keys for and said he appreciated winning it, but personally if he had a vote, his choice for MVP would be Dick Green.

"That's who I would've voted for," said Oakland's skinny right-handed relief ace, whose delicately waxed fancy handlebar moustache was almost as much an eye-catcher during the World Series as his pitching.

Fingers sat on the front fender of the sand-colored vehicle Sport Magazine had presented him with for being named the World Series MVP, and talked about a dozen different subjects, including the Bobby Bonds-for-Bobby Murcer deal.

"I definitely think the Yankees got the better of the deal," Fingers said. "They got the better ballplayer. Better defensively, and he'll hit more home runs for them. Bonds is the complete ballplayer. The Giants train in Phoenix, you know, and I've faced him the past few years. He hit me pretty good. I'd say he's hitting around .300 against me."

Rollie Fingers only pitches for the A's, he doesn't manage them, but he thinks they can stand pat and still have a good chance of making it four straight next year.

"I don't think we need anybody unless Dick Green quits," he said. "They're high on Claudell Washington, and they've got a move on Joe Rudi to first base. I'd rather see Joe in the outfield, and he'd rather play there himself, but it looks like he's gonna wind up at first base."

Charlie Finley and Alvin Dark may make some other changes, too, but they're not about to make any involving Fingers.

No pitcher in the American League made more appearances this year than he did. Fingers was in 76 games for the A's, winning nine and losing five, and turning in 19 saves and a 2.65 earned run average.

"He's going to be better," said the 28-year-old Steubenville, Ohio, native. "At the beginning of the season, he didn't know the ballplayers that well. Now he does. They talk about him not standing up for what he thinks, but there hasn't been a manager of this club who could do it one hundred percent. Charlie likes to run the show."

Patriots Anxious to End Giant Winning Streak

Boasting a 2-1-1 record, lost, tied, record, the Patriots will be up against the undefeated Giants (4-0) tonight in the second half of the doubleheader at McNabo.

POLICE REPORT

MANCHESTER
Robert J. Stecko, 26, of 425 W. Middle Tpk., was arrested Thursday at 6:33 p.m. at David's restaurant at the Parkade and charged with third-degree larceny. He allegedly took a guitar without permission, police said.
He was released on a $150 non-surety bond for court Nov. 18.
Recent thefts and breaks included:
• The 1966 black Volkswagen of Guy K. Boileau of 82B Spencer St. from his home Wednesday night.
• Four tires and mag wheels, and a tachometer from the car of Steven Thomas of 579 Graham Rd., South Windsor from where it was kept at the Reddie Farms on Tolland Tpk. They were valued at $475.

• Three silver dollars valued at $22.50 from Thai's Interesting, antique store at 576 E. Middle Tpk., by a young man and woman Thursday.
• The home of Mrs. Norman Bruce of 25 French Rd. Thursday night. Missing are two diamond rings, a Purple Heart medal and $75 in cash.
• A Manchester woman was walking along the northwest side of the Treasure City building at the Parkade Thursday at 7:05 p.m. when a white male ran by her grabbing her purse, she told police.

The man then got into a white car which took off around the back of the building at high speed. In the purse was $5 and her personal papers.
Several serious accidents occurred Thursday causing injury to children that needed hospital care. The accidents include:
• Juan E. Rivera, 21, of 42 Neill Rd., Rockville was taken by ambulance to Manchester Memorial Hospital Thursday after an accident at 12:30 a.m. The front wheel of the motorcycle he was driving in the Parkade parking lot in front of the King's store struck a parking lot divider causing him to lose control and fall, police said.
Rivera was treated for an injured right shoulder and was discharged at MMH.
• Trent G. Reppell, 18, of 15 Euclid Lane, Bolton was injured Thursday at 2:38 p.m. on E. Middle Tpk. near Findlay St. when the car he was driving struck the rear of the school bus driven by Dorothy E. Sullivan, 53, of 216 E. Middle Tpk., police said.
Reppell was taken by ambulance to MMH where he was treated for contusions and abrasions and discharged.
Only one of the school children is reported to have been treated at the hospital. Sharon Chase, 15, of 180 New Bolton Rd. was treated for neck strain, a hospital spokesman said.
The car was totaled, police said. They are still investigating.
• Ronald E. Sloan, 17, of 10 Hemlock St. was riding his bike Thursday at 2:30 p.m. on Liberty St. when he ran into the rear of a parked car, police said. He went to MMH where he was treated for cuts on his face.
• Anthony Morello, 35, of Hartford was squatting down in a trench welding pipes on Adams St. near Jarvis Rd. when the west wall of the trench gave way and trapped him up to his waist in asphalt at 3:30 p.m., police said.
The workmen of the Reed Construction Co. could not extricate Morello until they used a backhoe on a large piece of asphalt. Once removed, he was taken by ambulance to MMH where he was treated for back and leg injuries and discharged.
• The final major accident of Thursday in Manchester occurred at 9:50 p.m. on Center St. at the intersection of McKee St. and involved the local police cruiser driven by Patrolman William Daly Jr., 25, police said. (See photo on Page 1)
No details were available from police late this morning as the investigation is continuing.

Free Milk Program Announced

St. James School has announced its policy for free milk for children unable to pay the full price of milk served under the Special Milk Program.
The school administration has made available to the parents or guardians of all students the criteria for determining eligibility. Eligibility is based primarily on family size and income.
In addition, families not meeting these criteria but who have unusual expenses due to unusually high medical expenses, shelter costs in excess of 30 per cent of income, special education expenses due to the mental or physical condition of a child, and disaster or casualty losses are urged to apply.

Application forms have been sent to all homes with a letter to parents. Additional copies are available at the principal's office in the school. The information provided on the application is confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility.
In certain cases, foster children are also eligible for these benefits. If a family has foster children living with them and wishes to apply for milk for them, it should contact the school.
In the operation of the Special Milk Program, no child will be discriminated against because of race, sex, color, or national origin.
Under the provisions of the policy, Sister Patricia Barry, principal, will review applications and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling of the official, he may make a request either orally or in writing to Sister Patricia Barry, St. James School, 73 Park St., or call 643-5088 for a hearing to appeal the decision.
The policy contains an outline of the hearing procedure. The school has a copy of the complete policy which may be reviewed by any interested party.

Guardsmen Complain About Camp

HARTFORD (UPI) - A group of Connecticut National Guardsmen have threatened not to re-enlist if they are made to go to an "unsanitary, unsafe and unhealthy" summer camp.
About 60 per cent of the 242nd Engineering Battalion signed the resolution which also said the long drive to and from Camp A.P. Hill in Virginia would be a waste of gasoline.
The battalion was told it would be going to the camp for two weeks in May for their summer camp training, but at Tuesday night's drill the resolution was passed around.
It claims last summer's stint at Camp Hill "resulted in serious injuries to several individuals and exposed everyone to unsanitary, unsafe and unhealthy conditions."
It also said the May 17-31 camp will conflict with teaching schedules and exams for many of the battalion's members. The resolution was presented Tuesday to the battalion commander, who could not be reached for comment.

GARDENING

By FRANK ATWOOD
"I just like farming," said Henry (Butch) Botticello. So when his daughter, Shelly, then 16, was looking for something to do in the summer last year he told her that he would grow the vegetables if she wanted to sell them at a roadside stand in front of the house.
Shelly accepted the offer. Her father rented the land and borrowed a tractor and necessary attachments from other members of his family to prepare the ground. Shelly helped with planting and weeding, and when there were crops ready for sale, in July, she opened the stand.
They began with lettuce and went on to green beans, peppers, tomatoes, eggplant, sweet corn, and finally winter squash, gourds and pumpkins. Shelly spent some of her earnings to buy a car and pay the premium on her automobile insurance.
This past summer, her second in the vegetable business, Shelly went into partnership with her boy friend, Jim Oechsler of 270 E. Center St., and opened a second stand on land her family owns in Vernon, carrying vegetables from Hillstown Rd. to the stand each morning in a truck and at night picked up whatever was left and brought it back.
At the same time, Mr. Botticello was planting vegetables for the home stand and his wife, Mildred, took over the main responsibility of waiting on customers there.
The parents, with Shelly and Jim running their own business, have paid some neighborhood boys and girls to help with garden care and harvesting. Two signs of believe or no believe weather this week have meant that everything perishable had to be taken into the house. The pumpkins were moved into a single pile and covered with canvas. Some of them, around the edges, were nipped by frost but there are still some left, with the tomatoes and peppers that were inside the house.
The Botticellos have been selling apples, too, this fall, although they have no orchard, and these have been purchased from a grower in East Windsor. Mrs. Botticello has decorated one of the pumpkins, especially with odd shapes, by putting faces on them with acrylic paint. One attention-getter is the frightening face of Frankenstein's monster. For contrast, she has some small round gourds painted with big smiles as "happy faces" and pumpkins painted with Mickey Mouse faces.
Mr. Botticello said he planted several kinds of pumpkins, and his largest was about 85 pounds. Pumpkins were sold at 10 cents a pound, but the scale at the stand only went as high as 23 pounds. Any pumpkin too heavy for the scale was sold for a flat price of $3.
Jet Star Tomatoes
His best crops were tomatoes and peppers. He has Big Boy and Jet Star tomatoes. Jet Star tomatoes sold better than Big Boy, which some customers thought were too big. Sweet corn was all Butter and Sugar variety. Hot peppers, while appreciated by Italians, were turned down flat by most non-Italian buyers.
The sold gladioli raised by Henry's brother, Paul, in South

Free Christmas Trees
Some people will remember the Botticello name in connection with last December's ice storm. Mr. Botticello had 100 Christmas trees cut and ready for sale in his yard. After the storm, with everybody in trouble, he decided to give them away and did so.
This summer a lady, whose name they do not know, brought a chocolate cake to the door and gave it the family in appreciation.

Too Much Spent In One Place

HARTFORD (UPI) - State Welfare Commissioner Nicholas Norton wants to know why Hartford, with only 5 per cent of the state's population, is spending 50 per cent of the department's local welfare dollars.
Norton said he has put together a special investigative team to see if there are any irregularities or careless management that may be responsible.
Norton said Hartford received 49.1 per cent of the total reimbursement paid in local assistance to all cities and towns in 1974 and 50 per cent in 1973.

The Stripes and Stars Forever

Two sixth graders at St. James School put this flag up on a sunny, windy day. Despite almost daily warnings from the school's secretary to make sure it's right-side-up, here is the flag flying in the emergency signal position. It happened once last year and a neighbor called the school about it. "I usually go out and check when they're done," said the secretary. "On this day, I guess we all forgot."

Pinkies Honored at Hospital

Pinkies were honored Thursday night at Manchester Memorial Hospital for service in the Junior Auxiliary Volunteer Program.

Called Pinkies because of their pink uniforms, the girls received caps and awards for service hours.

Hospital Administrator Edward Kenney spoke to the girls and their friends and families on the family relationship of the hospital and its staff. He described the cooperation between the 550 hospital employees, the almost 1,000 hospital auxiliary members, and the 90 members of the hospital medical staff.

Kenney also commended the Pinkies on the "great community service" they are performing.

Mrs. George Bendsten, director of volunteers, and Mrs. Mary Sterud, director of nurses, presented caps to the following girls: Alicia Arpin, Shelly Bernstein, Julia Brissette, Clara Come, Janet Dixon, Cindy Don, Rosemary Frost, Allison Grotta and Jane Stanton.

Pins for 150 hours of service were presented to: Lorraine Bailey, Diana Brannan, Susan Berger, Diane Brannan, Julie Brissett, Robin Glose, Kay Flanagan, Mary Foley, Eileen Gresh, Robin Jones, Bonnie Kennedy, Brenda Kniaz, Paula LaFren, Kathy Manning, Holly Miller and Donna Prior.

Receiving awards for 500 hours were: Lorraine Bailey, Diane Brannan, Susan Connelly, Annette Duke, Lorraine Egan, Mary Foley, Robin Jones, Bonnie Kennedy, Brenda Kniaz, Ann Litrico, Kathy Manning, Sylvia Pettengill, Susan Tucker.

Awards for 250 hours were presented to: Kathy Crombie, Margaret Lirico, Beverly Linder and Adele Silbaway.

A certificate for 600 hours was awarded to Debbie Cowles. The award was presented to Marcia Palizza, the group's outgoing president.

Mrs. Alan Krupp, president of the hospital auxiliary, expressed appreciation to the girls' parents and to the adult auxiliary members for their support and encouragement to the girls in performing their service.

Members of the Junior Auxiliary Volunteers come from nine surrounding towns as well as Manchester. Girls are taken into the program as close to their 14th birthday as possible.

Janet Dixon of Bolton was installed as president of the junior auxiliary. Other officers installed were Mary Foley of Manchester, vice president, and Bonnie Kennedy, also of Manchester, secretary.

COURT CASES

CIRCUIT COURT 12
Manchester Session

Roger J. Michael, 17, of 442 W. Middle Tpke, pleaded guilty Thursday to four counts of using a motor vehicle without the owner's permission and his license was suspended for 30 days.

Michael also pleaded guilty to a charge of third-degree larceny and that case was similarly continued.

Several other charges against Michael were not prosecuted Thursday.

Prosecutor William Collins. Those charges included third-degree burglary, tampering with a motor vehicle, operating a motor vehicle while his license was suspended, and operating with unsafe tires.

Metal Worker, 22, Wins State Lottery

NORTH BRANFORD (UPI) — Robert Veillette, 22, of Meriden, a sheetmetal worker, who won the $100,000 prize in the weekly Connecticut lottery Thursday, said he will use the money to buy a house for his family.

Veillette, an employe at Janazzo Heating and Air Conditioning in Bristol, said he and his wife buy three tickets a week, including one at place near work which he kept secret from his wife. A ticket he bought there won the prize, he said. The couple have a one-year-old daughter Jennifer. Veillette and his wife, Bonnie, 21, plan to use the money for a down payment on a home, and to send their parents, who have never traveled, on a vacation trip next year when both are 25.

WIN AT BRIDGE

Overbidders need more luck

He led a club to dummy's jack and cashed the ace and king of diamonds. Then he ran the rest of the clubs, stopping in his own hand.

Finally he threw East in with a spade. East cashed two spade tricks and then led a heart. West won his king of hearts up to dummy's ace-queen.

It was obvious to South that East held the king of hearts and that an attack in that suit would leave South down one before he ever got around to playing his ace of clubs to see what would happen. The queen dropped and South's overbid was ready to pay off.

Kissinger Meets Brezhnev

MOSCOW (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger began today a second day of meetings with Russian leader Leonid I. Brezhnev on the subject of slowing down the nuclear arms race. He was accompanied by the talks by an expert on strategic arms, Helmut Sonnenfeldt, the State Department's secretary for European affairs.

Nixon May Have Surgery

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — Former President Nixon's doctor said it is possible that his patient may not be responsive to treatment for phlebitis with drugs, in which case a surgical operation would become a "real possibility." A medical source at the hospital interpreted the physician's remarks as indicating that surgery is a likelihood, rather than just a possibility.

Claims Contact with Miss Hearst

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Retired convict Mickey Cohen said he has communicated with Patty Hearst in an unnamed city, and urged her to avoid capture because that would mean a long prison term. Cohen said he relayed this message to the fugitive heiress 10 days ago through two new members of the Symbionese Liberation Army who were in hiding with her and two fellow fugitives, Bill and Emily Harris.

Culture Minister Dies

MOSCOW (UPI) — The highest woman official in the Soviet Union, Culture Minister Yekaterina A. Furtseva, died today at the age of 64. She presided during the past 14 years over the steadily tightening controls which governed the careers of Russia's artists and writers.

Arab Talks in Turmoil

RABAT, Morocco (UPI) — A guerrilla threat to boycott summit talks left the Arab foreign ministers conference in turmoil today and endangered efforts to negotiate a peace agreement with Israel.

Conference sources said a Palestine Liberation Organization boycott of the weekend talks would almost certainly wreck the attempt by Arab heads of state to work out a joint policy toward peace talks.

The dispute between the PLO and Jordan over representation of the Palestinian refugees disrupted a three-day-old foreign ministers conference trying to arrange the summit talks.

The PLO claims to represent all refugees displaced by the creation of Israel in 1948. Jordan, however, claims to represent Palestinians living within its borders.

Vincent D. Perry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent J. Perry of 610 N. Main St., Wednesday night became the first member of Boy Scout Troop 157 to attain the rank of Eagle Scout.

The presentation was made jointly by Troop 157 and Explorer Post 169 in ceremonies at St. Bridget Church. Wilbert Auden, Algonquin District commissioner; Frank Ennis, district commissioner; and Joseph Gallagher Jr., council executive, conducted the ceremony. Arthur Galvin, scoutmaster, presented the Eagle award.

Others participating in the Eagle ceremony include Carl Gustafson, district chairman; with Greg Ennis and David Hayes as honor guard.

Vincent, an East Catholic High School junior, began scouting eight years ago in Cub Pack 2, where he earned the "Arrow of Light," the highest award in cub scouting.

He joined Troop 157 in 1969, while attending St. Bridget Junior High School. He has served as patrol leader, senior patrol leader and as a member of the Leadership Corps. In September, 1973, he was appointed junior assistant scoutmaster.

In 1972, he led the troop's representative patrol in the Algonquin First Aid-O-Rec and was a member of its champion senior swim team. He also earned the troop's "Scout of the Year" award in 1972.

Vincent holds the cub "Parvuli Dei" and the scout "Ad Altare Dei," Catholic awards, and for four years was active in the district annual retreat in Cromwell.

He joined Explorer Post 169 in 1973 and has served as its treasurer. As a member of its rifle team, he earned the rank of sharpshooter. In 1973 the Town of Manchester awarded Vincent and other members of Post 169 plaques for their efforts in manning emergency shelters during the ice storm.

Killian Scored For Anti-Freeze Investigation

HARTFORD (UPI) — State Atty. Gen. Robert K. Killian has been accused of "passing the buck" on a request that he begin an anti-trust investigation into the rising price of anti-freeze.

The charge was leveled Wednesday against the Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor by Eugene Neri, executive director of the Republican State Central Committee.
