Indian-American Relations Reported "on the Way Up"

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and Prime Minister Indira Gandhi buried past U.S.-Indian hostilities in two meetings today, and Indian officials hinted that President Ford has accepted an invitation to visit India soon.

Between the two meetings with Mrs. Gandhi, totalling one hour and 50 minutes, Kissinger signed an accord with Indian Foreign Minister Y. B. Chavan to create a Joint Indo-American Commission to promote trade, scientific and educational exchanges.

The cordial atmosphere of the meetings and Kissinger's separate two-hour talks with the Indian foreign minister appeared to have consigned to the past the ill feelings which sprang from the U.S. "tilt" towards Pakistan during the 1971 Indo-Pakistan war. Both Kissinger and Mrs. Gandhi said relations were not only good but "on the way up."

The Kissinger visit got off to a shaky start. On the eve of his arrival, Mrs. Gandhi had given an interview to the National Herald in which she castigated the United States for considering India

"as marginal to" U.S. global interests. But today, Mrs. Gandhi told newsmen after the first meeting that "the talks were good," and Kissinger himself said that they had gone "very well." U.S. officials added that the Gandhi-Kissinger conversations were "friendly and removed past misunderstandings, and set the course for better relations."

Indian government officials said they hoped that President Ford would now visit India, and hinted that the joint U. S.-Indian communique to be published

Tuesday would announce he has accepted an invitation.

The dramatic improvement in U.S.-Indian relations had been carefully prepared during the last year, and Kissinger flew to New Delhi to add the final touches following a tough bargaining session in Moscow with Brezhnev on disarmament.

Kissinger, in a speech tonight to the Indian Council of World Affairs, called on India to agree to common multilateral restraints on exporting nuclear technology after the Indian nuclear explosion of May 18.

Vietnam Veterans Hailed As Nation's Silent Heroes

ARLINGTON, Va. (UPI) — President Ford said today Vietnam veterans are "the silent heroes of their generation" and ordered the federal government to hire 70,000 of them by July 1.

Speaking at an Arlington National Cemetery ceremony commemorating Veterans Day, Ford said action is underway to improve Veterans Administration services including its medical program.

Ford, who laid a wreath at the cemetery's Tomb of the Unknowns, also pledged he will "do everything possible" to make sure all the men missing in action in Southeast Asia are accounted for.

Silent Heroes

"It has been said that the forgotten men of the Vietnam conflict are those who served," Ford said. "They're the silent heroes of their generation. Too often, those who failed in their duty have monopolized the headlines and distorted the image of their generation."

"I intend to see that the silent heroes, the more than 6 1/2 million Americans who served their country in the Vietnam era with quiet courage, are not forgotten."

Ford said an interagency task force has given him a "Jobs for Veterans Plan of Action." The plan is aimed at the federal government recruiting and hiring 70,000 Vietnam veterans by the fiscal year ending July 1, 1975.

Jobs Pledged

"I am ordering federal departments and agencies to move, and move now, on this action plan to make sure these veterans are hired as quickly as possible," Ford said. He said "important progress is already being made. Unemployment among veterans has dropped since its peak in 1971."

He credited the National Alliance of Businessmen in this.

"This coming year they hope to provide 200,000 jobs for veterans, including the placement of 7,500 disabled veterans," he said. "They are doing a magnificent job."

Nowhere in the speech did Ford mention his amnesty program for Vietnam evaders and deserters. He mentioned the draft dodgers only in passing.

"They (the veterans) served in spite of the most difficult psychological pressures," Ford said. "They served at a time when many of their peers and their elders were denouncing service to one's country as immoral.

Lack of Moral Support

"They served while some avoided service. They served without the full moral support that this nation has usually given its fighting forces."

Ford did give encouragement to the families of men missing in action.

"I intend to make certain as well that the men missing in action are not forgotten — and, to their families and friends I make this pledge: I will do everything possible to resolve the uncertainty of their status," he said.

Ford said while the Veterans Administration "has done a fine job under very difficult circumstances ... I am frank to admit that real problems exist."

Overcrowding

One problem, he said, is overcrowding with such results as veterans having to wait too long for hospital treatment. Another is getting "top quality" doctors, nurses and other persons to work in the VA programs.

"I have asked VA Administrator Dick Rousebush to let me know what is needed to eliminate these problems," Ford said. "I am determined to do everything I can to make a good system even better."

The ceremony at the tomb — formerly called the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier — was one of the few events the President scheduled during the day before taking a seven-state campaign swing later in the week on behalf of Republican candidates.

Walkathon Raises More than $20,000

In excess of $20,000 was raised Sunday for the Arthritis Foundation when about 950 hikers of elementary, junior high and high school age took part in a 20-mile Walkathon in Manchester and East Hartford.

The walkers, from Manchester, South Windsor and East Hartford, collected pledges of 10 cents per mile.

"One of the most successful walkathons ever," is how it was described by Jack Haslett of 81 Pearl St., Manchester, director of the Connecticut Chapter of the Arthritis Foundation.

Haslett praised all involved, "The kids, and they were marvelous; Miss Gloria White of East Hartford, chairman of the Walkathon; and the people who pledged donations."

He praised also Dr. Barney Wichman and Dr. Kenneth Wichman of Manchester, and Dr. Thomas Parsilli of East Hartford, all members of the Hartford County Podiatry Society. The three manned seven checkpoints along the 20-mile route. They reported no serious problems, with blisters, sore knees and injured ankles the main concerns.

Leading the march were Manchester Mayor John Thompson and State Health Commissioner Dr. Douglas Lloyd.

The Walkathon began at 8 a.m. and most walkers had crossed the finish line by 2 p.m.

The walk started and finished at Wickham Park, on the Manchester-East Hartford line on W. Middle Tpke., and covered a circle in Manchester and East Hartford.

Hostage Release Sought By Dutch Government

THE HAGUE (UPI) — The Dutch government insisted on the release of all women and children hostages today before negotiating with four convicts, including an Arab guerrilla, barricaded in a prison chapel.

The prisoners unexpectedly freed an elderly man, three children and a woman Sunday, but kept on holding 17 other hostages, including two women and a child.

Dutch officials said the prisoners demanded the transfer of an Arab guerrilla inmate from the prison hospital to the chapel, but gave no indication of the ultimate goal of the takeover.

Release Sought

A Justice Ministry spokesman said officials in contact with the second-story chapel by walkie-talkie insisted on the release of all women and children as a precondition to negotiations.

Rain whipped by North Sea winds lashed the red brick prison walls. Police ringed the prison and marine marksmen took up positions on nearby rooftops.

The convicts took over the chapel at Scheveningen Prison during a Roman Catholic mass Saturday, capturing 22 persons — two guards, a priest, an organizer, a nine-member visiting choir and nine relatives of the singers.

Rebels Identified

Police identified the rebel inmates as Palestinian guerrilla Adnan Ahmad Nuri, Algerian thief Mohamed Koudache and two Dutch bank robbers, Daan Denie and Jan Brouwers.

Dutch police, responding to prisoner demands, delivered food, soft drinks, cigarettes, playing cards, beds, mattresses and blankets Sunday to the chapel.

Justice Minister Wilhelm de Gaay Fortman said Sunday night Dutch officials "have no difficulties" in providing such items, but could "hardly envisage the possibility" of letting the prisoners leave the country.

Take Turns Talking

Officials said the four prisoners, armed with at least two pistols, took turns talking in Arabic, English and Dutch over a walkie-talkie taken from one of the captured guards.

Sami Hussein Tamimah, 22, the Palestinian inmate in the prison hospital, has been undergoing treatment since a 12-day hunger strike to protest being separated from Nuri.

Nuri and Tamimah were serving five-year terms for hijacking a British Airways jetliner last March and setting the aircraft on fire at Amsterdam airport.

The two guerrillas identified themselves as members of the Arab Nationalist Youth Movement for the Liberation of Palestine, a breakaway group condemned by the Palestine Liberation Organization. The prison rebellion came at the start of the Arab summit conference in Rabat, Morocco, but Dutch officials expressed doubt that the two events were linked.

Registered Voters Now Total 27,227 In Manchester

Manchester's official voting lists show 184 more registered Democrats today than a year ago and 339 less Republicans. The unaffiliated total is up 113.

A total of 27,227 voters are eligible to cast ballots in the Nov. 5 election — a drop of 42 from this date in 1973. A limited 9 a.m. to noon voter-making session next Monday will change the total slightly. It is only for those whose eligibility rights will have matured since Oct. 13. No others may sign up.

A drop in registered voters from a year ago is shown in Voting District 1, Buckland School; District 2, Robertson School; District 5, Buckley School; District 7, Wadell School; District 8, Verplanck School and District 10, Manchester High School.

An increase in registered voters is shown in Voting District 3, Church of Christ; District 4, Martin School; District 6, Nathan Hale School and District 9, Keeney St. School.

The Democrats lead in Districts 1-2-3-6-7-8-9-10. The Republicans lead in Districts 4 and 5.

The Democrats lead the Republicans in all Manchester Assembly Districts, 9-12-13-14, and in both Senatorial Districts, 3 and 4.

Manchester's 27,227 eligible voters consist of 10,824 Democrats, 8,604 Republicans and 7,799 unaffiliated.

The Laying of Hands

Rev. Johnson Ordained At Emanuel Lutheran

Culminating her study of theology, the Rev. Ruth M. Johnson was ordained into the Holy Ministry of the Lutheran Church in America in special services Sunday at Emanuel Lutheran Church.

The Rev. Dr. Thorsten A. Gustafson, former pastor at Emanuel Lutheran Church, served as the official representative of the New England Synod and was the ordinator. He is presently the pastor at St. James Lutheran Church in Southbury.

served as a parish worker at Augustana Lutheran Church in West St. Paul, Minn. Later she served as director of Christian education at Faith Lutheran Church, Murray Hill, N.J.

She received her Master of Divinity degree from the Lutheran School of Theology at Chicago last June. While attending there, she spent one year of internship for parish ministry at Whitnall Park Lutheran Church in Hales Corners, Wis.

To Serve in Indiana

Pastor Johnson has been called to serve at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Connorsville, Ind. She will begin her duties there Nov. 3. Pastor Johnson, who maintains her membership at Emanuel, is the sixth member of that church to be ordained into the holy ministry. She is the second woman in the New England Synod to be ordained and about the 15th in the nation from the Lutheran Church in America.

Other Participants

Others participating in the service were: the Rev. Ronald J. Fournier, liturgist, co-pastor at Emanuel Lutheran Church; the Rev. Arlo David Peterson, lecturer, assistant pastor of St. David's Lutheran Church in Massapequa Park, L.I., N.Y.; the Rev. Ralph Holmin, preacher, of Beach Haven Park, N.J.; and the Rev. C. Henry Anderson, co-pastor at Emanuel Lutheran Church, who sponsored the ordination.

Pastor Ruth M. Johnson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman V. Johnson of 51 Kensington St. She attended local schools and was graduated from Manchester High School in 1955.

Parish Worker

She received a Bachelor of Arts degree from Augustana College, Rock Island, Ill., in 1959. Following her graduation, she which claim they are being squeezed out of business by the combination of fuel costs, general soaring inflation and wages.

20 Cent Phone Calls

In some states, telephone companies say the dime phone call will soon be history. They ask for 20 cent phone booth charges and other rate hikes to homes and businesses.

In California, the state Public Utilities Commission is faced with $946.9 million in rate increase requests from electric, gas, telephone and water companies.

New York state's rate hike bids total $446 million, Illinois' $400 million, New Jersey's $426 million, Pennsylvania's $380 million, Michigan's $276 million, and Ohio's $205 million.

Utility companies around the country are claiming that the price increases are absolutely necessary.

Inflation Blamed

Virginia Electric and Power Co. President T. Justin Moore recently testified at a rate increase hearing: "Staggering inflation and declining revenues has deteriorated VEPCO's financial position so rapidly and drastically in recent months that its ability to continue to finance any major construction programs has been seriously endangered."

OPINION

Mexican Ascendancy

It was suitable and timely that President Ford's first visit to a nation outside of the United States was his trip to Mexico to meet with that country's President Echeverria. Relations of the two countries have been amicable with an apparent desire on the part of both to settle difficulties in a mutually agreeable manner.

Stifle Competition

There is much food for thought in recent severe criticism of governmental regulatory agencies made by, of all people, Federal Trade Commission Chairman Lewis A. Engman.

In a speech before the Financial Analysts Federation at Detroit, Engman stated that regulatory agencies originally set up to protect the public had instead become protective agencies, stifling competition for the very industries which they were supposed to police in the public interest.

Engman's speech had been preceded by one made by Mayo Thompson, an FTC commissioner, to the National Association of Retail Druggists, in which he had said that the commission was studying the impact on drug prices of non-advertising policies set by state pharmaceutical societies.

The Naysayer

NEW YORK - From now on, the figure 60,000 will recall the triumph of Sen. Henry Jackson (D-Wash.) and the change of letters committee the Soviet leaders to an annual emigration of that number of Russian nationals, most of them presumably Jews.

This is more than a humanitarian triumph for Jackson and the sponsors of his amendment to the Trade Act. It is a triumph for a new assertion of power in Congress in foreign policymaking. It shows what a willful, stubborn Senate leader and his little group were able to do, after a two-year struggle, to break through the double wall of both the American and Russian foreign policy establishments.

Where Sen. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) used to be a naysayer to the Administration on war matters, Sen. Jackson is emerging as a naysayer on a new range of subjects, including energy policies and - just where Fulbright was weakest - on any detente which is only a one-way street.

Few at the start would have gambled on Jackson's chances of success, but he stuck it out and won. He runs some means of evading the agreement, as several Jewish spokesmen in Moscow suggest they will.

One is to continue the harassments they have visited on those applying for exit, although the agreement warns against such harassments. The other is to keep offending the Arab states, which don't want Israel to benefit from skilled immigrants.

Yet the Soviets will prove losers by such pettifogging evasions during the 18-month trial period. Even more than has the removal of trade treaties, they need the advanced technology and huge credits that will come with it. What Jackson and his group have been saying is that if the Russians get they should also give. And one area where we want them to give now is that of human rights inside the Soviet Union.

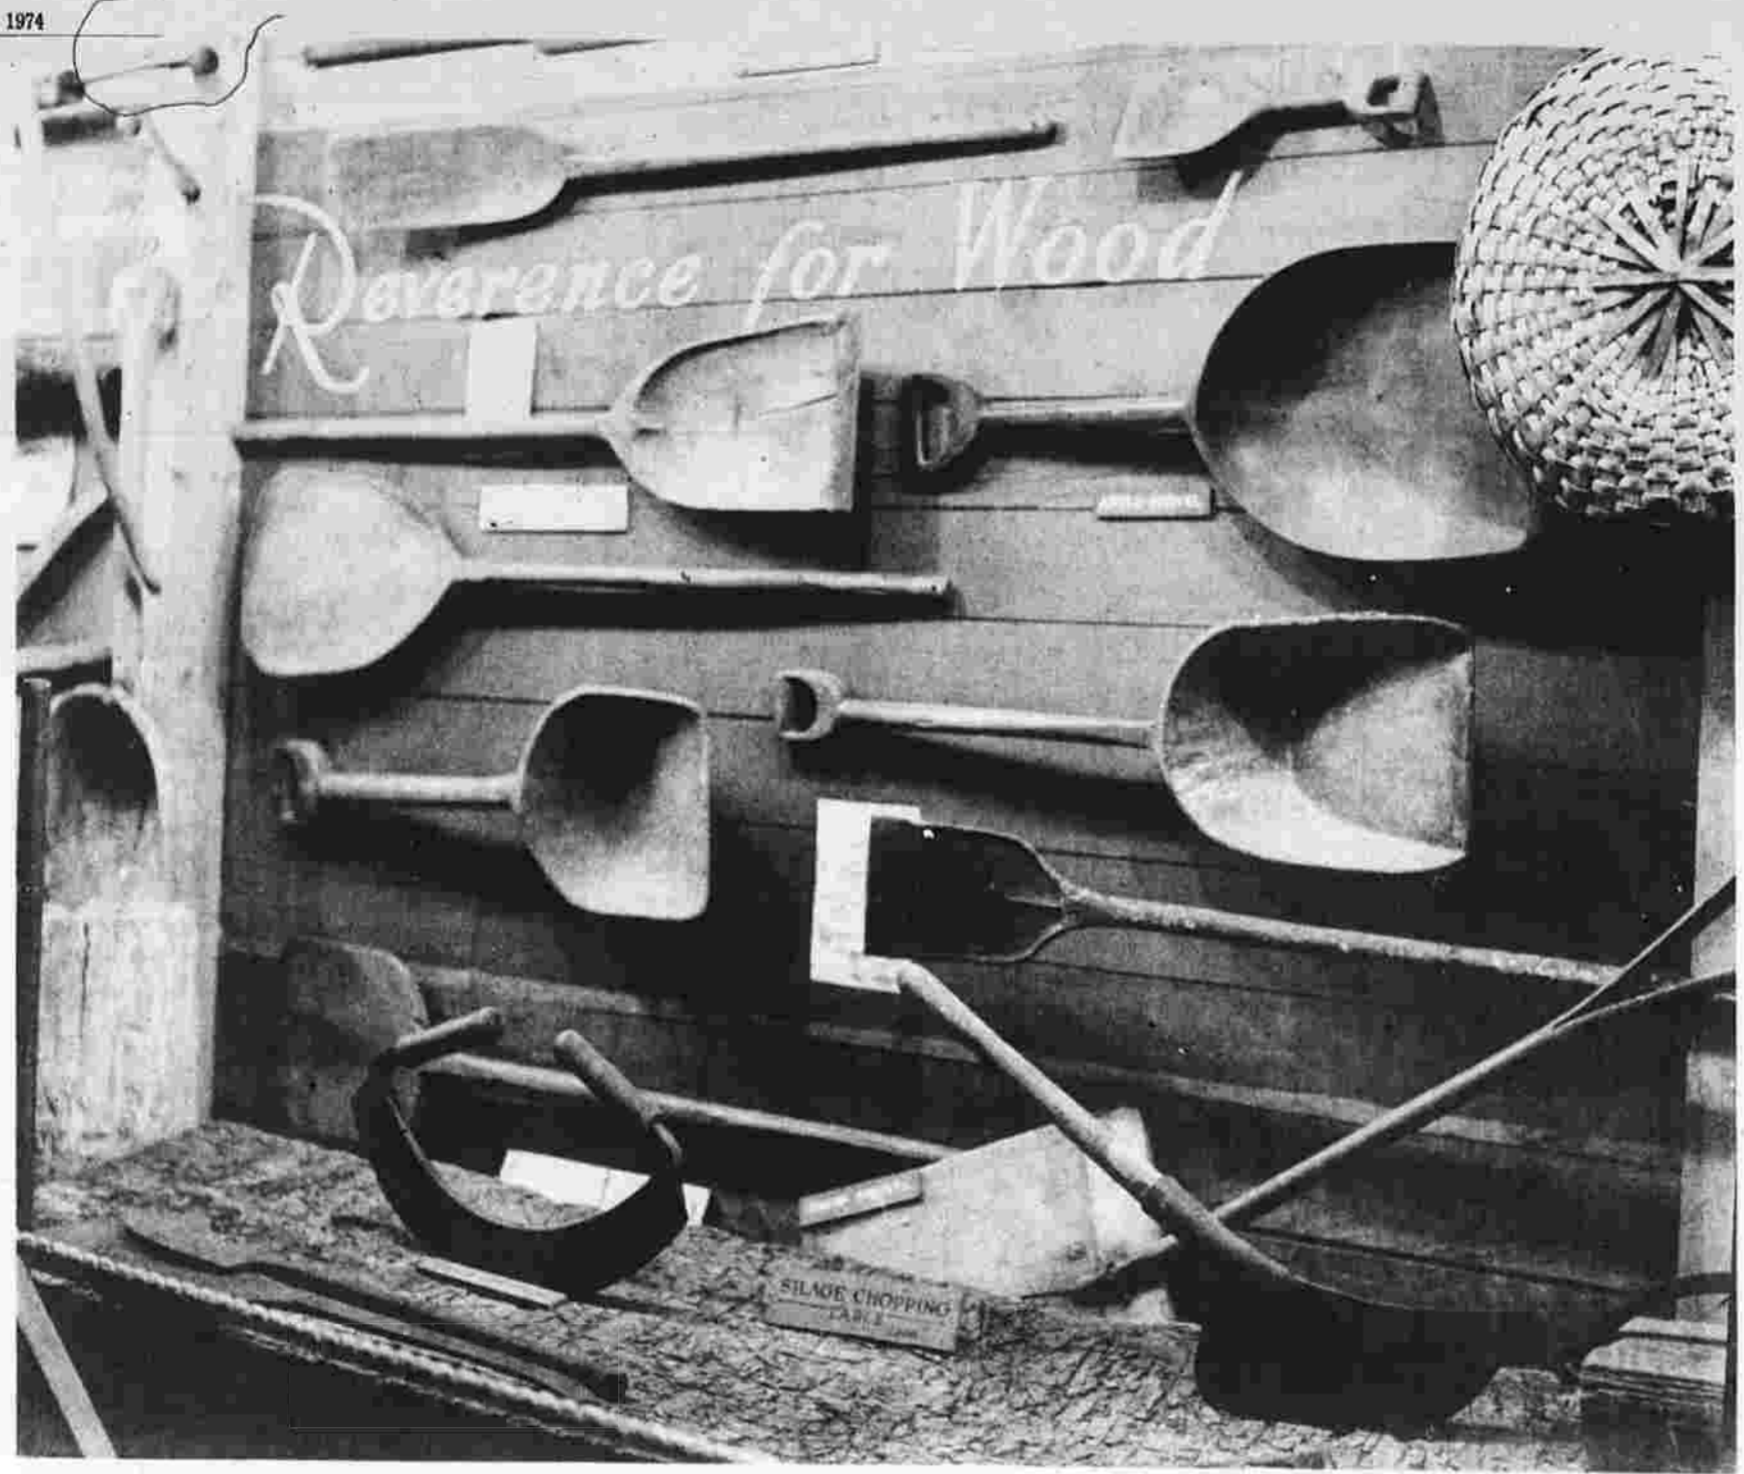

It makes sense. This isn't a stuffy insistence that American foreign policy should always launch a moral crusade. Global politics is still, at core, national interest and bargaining politics. But there are times when, by our bargaining power, we can edge the world a bit closer to becoming a moral community. The Russian leaders don't agree voluntarily to even this limited right of exit. They had to

Awake

To the editor: I attended the Manchester PTA Council meeting where the Health and Family Life Curriculum was presented.

Where were the concerned, interested parents? Are they so well informed or so irresponsible that they refer to remain ignorant in the matters of the education of their offspring?

Are they aware of the in-depth content areas and learning objectives? Are they aware that all six strands of the curriculum are not mandated by the State Department of Education? Are they aware that by the conclusion of 7th grade (ages 12-13) their children will know all the details of life?

Are they aware that the teachers are participating in a one hour in-service program to prepare them to instruct? Are they aware that a vote was taken at this meeting to support or not support this curriculum and they are aware that of the 53 delegates that have a responsibility to their individual PTA units only 21 were present to vote?

Are they aware that there were concerned parents who chose not to vote because they had not studied the curriculum and that their abstaining vote was considered a yes vote? How can anyone vote on a matter that has not been sufficiently presented? The curriculum was made available to eight groups in the community, what percentage is this in the community, will this again be minority rule?

Why is it that such a controversial issue is not placed on the referendum? Is it because funds are not necessary at this time to be appropriated, or does the school administration feel this should be brought in through the back door?

Other neighboring communities offer as an elective family life education on the junior high and high school levels but on a less extensive basis in the content area. Their teachers have participated in college accredited courses to better prepare them to teach the material.

Are our teachers so well equipped that they only need a one hour in-service program conducted by another classroom teacher?

I strongly suggest that our parents awake from their Big Van Winkle slumber and become better informed and voice their views on this matter. The Board of Education meeting being held Monday, Oct. 28, at 7:30 at the Verplanck School would be an excellent place to bring forth your suggestions, concerns, and responsibilities to your children.

Is it not the responsibility of the parent?

TODAY'S THOUGHT

OPEN FORUM

Psalm One is a good example of advice given to the person who wants to be happy. The advice of the psalm may be divided into six parts and those six will constitute the basis for this week's articles.

The first word spoken by the psalm to someone seeking happiness is a negative one: "Happy is the person who does not (do certain things)."

(a) The happy person will not take the advice of wicked people. That is, he does not order his life according to what morally unsuccessful people would say to him. "The wicked" are contrasted in Psalm One and throughout the Scriptures with "the righteous." How can one learn to be righteous (morally successful) from one who is wicked (morally unsuccessful)? Psalm One tells us in plain language that it is not possible.

(b) The happy person does not take a stance "in the way of sinners." A righteous person and a sinner might agree about an unimportant issue, but wherever morality and virtue are concerned, wherever justice must be won, the happy and righteous person will not side with sinners.

(c) The happy person will not take the throne of the cynic. That is, he will refuse to become a self-styled critic, a scold, a side-line expert who sits in his easy chair and picks apart the effort of anyone who tries to accomplish the good.

Notice the downward spiral of these three negatives which the happy person must avoid. First, one takes the wrong advice. Then he begins to agree with sinful people. Finally he becomes active himself in scoffing and criticizing.

Lesson One from Psalm One: There are some things which a happy person will not do.

Supports Cummings

Dear editor: One of Manchester's strengths has been the great number of interested citizens who have come forward to serve their community. To some, it is an important continuing part of their lives. There are few whose contribution and unselfish service to Manchester equals that of Ted Cummings.

Ted has served as a member of both our Board of Directors and Board of Education. He has served in numerous civic and charitable activities. In my opinion, he is a true Manchester patriot. Intergovernmental relations between state and local governments have become increasingly complex. We have great local needs especially in special and vocational education, aid to our elderly and handicapped citizens, and in improving transportation and health services. We desperately need in our state government women and men who understand these needs and who can relate to local government.

Ted Cummings has been an unselfish participant in our local government. He has great sensitivity to Manchester's needs and will serve us well in the General Assembly. I urge his election as our representative from the 12th House District.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The English statesman William Pitt, the 1st Earl of Chatham, exclaimed before the House of Lords, in 1770, that "Unlimited power is apt to corrupt the minds of those who possess it." In 1887, the English statesman, Lord Acton, an English historian, penned the phrase "Power tends to corrupt, and absolute power corrupts absolutely." The World Almanac recalls.

When a person develops frequent attacks of weakness or numbness involving one side of the body, confusion, headache, dizziness, temporary blindness in one eye, or slurred speech, an impending stroke is a possibility.

Any of these signs calls for medical investigation, and especially so when hypertension, high cholesterol level, or heart disease exist together.

Real trouble shows up when more vital parts of the brain are involved. For example, if the speech area is damaged, the victim has trouble talking. Injury to other brain areas may cause some paralysis of arm and leg.

THE CANDIDATES ARE SAYING

O'Connell: Wants Open Debate

In a letter to his Democratic opponent, Gerald O'Connell, Republican candidate for Representative from the 57th District, expressed disappointment that his proposal for a face-to-face debate, was turned down.

The letter was to Terry Bertinsson whom O'Connell had asked to meet him for an open debate in East Windsor, where she lives, and Ellington, where he lives.

He told Mrs. Bertinsson that he believes that open debate would provide the electorate with vital information regarding "our qualifications and our respective positions on the issues, so that intelligent, informed decisions could be made on election day."

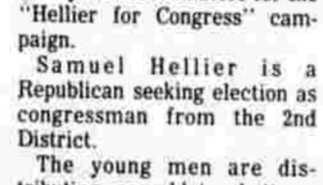

Haslett: Update Traffic Laws

"An area that is in need of updating in Connecticut," said Harriet B. Haslett, "is the lack of uniformity of our state traffic laws with other states, particularly our surrounding states."

Mrs. Haslett said the following areas need to be studied carefully, with a view toward new or changed legislation:

- Yielding right-of-way to pedestrian at crosswalk, when pedestrian has entered street.
• Passing on right on a limited access highway with two lanes or more.
• Making a right-hand turn on a red light when indicated.
• Requiring lights on mini school buses and establishing the distance at which school buses must put on flashing lights.

Schools Adjust Budget

COLUMBIA
Virginia Carlson
Correspondent

The Board of Education has accepted the revised 1974-75 budget, trimmed in some areas by $2,000, to adjust for an $18,000 cut in school funds by the October town meeting.

Cuts approved include the teachers' salaries account by $3,950, eliminated a half-time teacher for the gifted students program, the special education aide salary account was decreased $270 for a new total of $2,700.

The instructional aide salaries account was reduced $405 for a new total of $4,500; the library book account was cut $50 for a new total of $1,500; the gifted students program was cut $4,475; co-curricular athletic activity was decreased $1,000 for a new total of $1,000.

In the athletic program, the intra-mural basketball games will be retained, including basketball for eighth grade boys and junior high school girls.

The cuts eliminate interscholastic softball for junior high school girls and intermural soccer for junior high school boys and girls as well as for grades 4 and 5.

In other actions, the board agreed to "shop around" for a possible new fire alarm system for Porter School or for methods of renovating the existing facility.

The board released documents showing the schedule of charges by Burton and Van Houten, engineers, for their work on replacing the system. Fees are $12 an hour for draftsman; $18 an hour for designers; $21 an hour for project manager and $30 an hour for principals.

If the system is completely redesigned including a new annunciator, a control panel, flashing lights and detectors, the total engineering fee is estimated between $1,200 and $2,000. The cost of installation will range from $15,000 to $20,000. The project would be 50 per cent reimbursable by the state.

Robert Langer, fire safety specialist for the state Department of Education, told the board there are two types of systems approvable by his department - 100 per cent coverage and coverage in critical areas.

With 100 per cent detection, he said, insurance fees would be lower. Langer said the system will have to be updated at a cost of $15,000 to $20,000.

GOP Headquarters Election headquarters for Republicans will be the home of Margaret Anderson on Rt. 10, according to Jane Sandstrom, secretary of the GOP town committee.

The home will be open from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Persons may call for a ride to the polls or if they need baby sitting services, Mrs. Sandstrom said.

Costs: The Bottom Line Counts

Construction of the proposed Regional Occupational Training Center is estimated to cost $1.4 million and annual operating costs are estimated at $22,452. The "bottom line" cost to Manchester taxpayers would be considerably less.

The actual costs, officials estimate, would be a one-time expense of $60,000 to finance short-term loans and an annual increase of about $22,452 to the Board of Education budget.

The town won't have to pay the $1.4 million cost of building the center because the state offers money for such projects.

And the school budget will only increase an estimated $2,452 annually because surrounding towns would contribute, and the state offers money for operating costs.

The estimated one-time expense of $60,000, not eligible for state reimbursement, would cover interest charges on short-term loans from the town during the course of construction.

The $60,000 - estimated by architects and state educators who considered the national inflationary trend in compiling figures - would be the only construction-related cost to

And the Future...

The proposed Regional Occupational Training Center which will face a long return on investment in many more ramifications than meet the public eye.

Besides being a training ground for the unemployed, the multi-million-dollar center will provide a training center for Manchester Community College students in the field of occupational therapy, public health programs, and rehabilitation. It will also be responsible for operation of a special education for the Manchester Public School System and director of

The Regional Philosophy

Connecticut's regional philosophy in developing facilities for the mentally retarded and multi-handicapped occupational training center will serve Manchester but up to 15 surrounding towns.

Projected enrollment of the training center for us is 70 persons - half of them from Manchester and half from the rest of the region.

Area towns participating in the training center are Andover, Ashford, Bolton, Columbia, Coventry, East Windsor, Ellington, Hebron,

Operating costs of the training center are estimated at $22,452. (Charts detailing estimated operating costs and staff requirements are above.)

If Manchester voters act favorably on a training center referendum Nov. 15, the center would begin next spring. If the present timetable isn't altered, the training center could open in mid-1976.

make them taxpayers rather than recipients," he added.

Fendell cited a speech by the late Sen. J. Bennett Kennedy, who, when speaking on the floor of the state legislature, said, "This tragic human waste which, of course, affects not only the child but the family which surrounds it, can and must be stopped. I think we have a country as rich as any, especially a country as rich as ours - to block this and stop it."

Fendell, who first spearheaded the center, said that such a center, said he, would be an example for the state and the nation.

says the 15-year-old Vernon program has been a model for the state in handicapped training programming for the handicapped.

"We see this training center (Manchester's proposal) as holding great educational opportunities for children of the Manchester area," he said.

Lattuca Outstanding Educator

FRANK P. LATTUCA

Frank P. Lattuca Jr., of 3 Oakland Street, Manchester, has been named an Outstanding Educator of America for 1974. Lattuca is an assistant professor of hotel and food service management at Manchester Community College (MCC).

Each year, colleges and universities throughout the country are invited to submit to the organization Outstanding Educators of America (OEA), the names of faculty members who, in the judgment of the institutions' administrators, deserve recognition for professional achievements and civic contributions. The biographies of the nominees are compiled alphabetically by OEA and published annually in a book which then becomes a permanent record and reference volume.

Lattuca holds an Associate in Science degree from the University of Massachusetts, a Bachelor of Science degree from the Rochester (N.Y.) Institute of Technology and a Master of Science degree from Central Connecticut State College.

He also earned a diploma, with honors, in quantity cookery in 1962, from the Culinary Institute of America, in New Haven.

He joined the staff of MCC in 1967 as a lecturer in hotel-motel management. Currently, in addition to carrying a full-time teaching load of four courses, he is co-ordinator of the hotel and food service management program.

Each summer since 1969, he has been executive chef at Ocean House in Watch Hill, R.I. Locally, he and his wife, the former Nancy Tulenco of Amherst, Mass., own and operate a part-time catering service.

MCC Calendar

Manchester Community College offers this calendar of events in the interest of the community. All the MCC sponsored activities listed below are open to the public and many are free of charge.

In addition to publicizing events and activities individually, the college hopes the MCC Calendar will serve as a weekly reminder of all that is available at MCC.

Examining the Plans

The Training Center Concept

The proposed Regional Occupational Training Center to be located on the Manchester campus under study for several years.

Since 1963, when Manchester's first special education class began, a network of services to aid the mentally retarded and the multiply handicapped has been developed.

Present regional programs, occupational training programs, a work study program at Manchester High School, programs for the physically handicapped, as well as adult education classes for the handicapped, other educational programs include IOH (Instructors of the Handicapped), Camp Kennedy, two occupational training centers, the Manchester Regional Programs, the Manchester Sheltered Workshop, the Workshop Without Walls, Project HELP and Manchester Community College Special Education Association for Retarded Citizens, and the Exceptional Children's PTA.

But with all these outlets, there was a missing link — a regional occupational training center which would accommodate the needs of vocational and vocational needs of adolescents ranging in age from 14 to 21.

With such a center, specific skills would be developed using the trade school concept to provide useful skills and building maintenance; handicapping; training teacher aides from educational programs at MCC.

Also, occupational therapy, public health programs at MCC, cooperative programs for teacher training (special education) from the Tilton School of Rehabilitation; summer school and adult education programs for handicapped in community; training of physically handicapped in the field of occupational aides in sheltered workshops and rehab centers; physical education and diversified recreational programs and training handicapped programs on the campus at an expanding MCC.

The Role of the College

The role of Manchester Community College in the proposed Regional Occupational Training Center would be extensive.

The center is to be located on a 2.2-acre site at the northwest corner of Hillstown Rd and Wetherell St., adjacent to the Biddwell St. campus of MCC.

The land was transferred to the Town of Manchester by the State of Connecticut in 1971, recommendation of the Board of Trustees for Regional Community Colleges and a state General Assembly bill signed into law by Gov. Thomas Meskill in 1972.

The training center would offer educational and vocational training for handicapped and mentally retarded students aged 14 to 21. The facility would include classrooms, industry, automobile and industrial workshops, and classrooms.

Location of the proposed center close to the MCC campus is seen as an asset in using the center's resources as an integral part of the college's program. It would provide practical learning experience and unlimited observation opportunities for MCC students in education, social work, physical therapy, occupational therapy, psychology, and other fields.

Many MCC students already do field work at the Manchester Sheltered Workshop as part of their curriculum. In addition, faculty and staff of the college would be available to the center for program development and consultation.

One of the programs in which the college would be involved is the MCC's Hotel and Restaurant Division. MCC staff would help set up the training program.

MCC has the only college expected to become affiliated with the center. The training center will accept student interns from the University of Connecticut and other institutions.

Among individuals and organizations which have endorsed the proposed Regional Occupational Training Center are MCC President Frederick Lowe Jr. and the MCC Regional Advisory Council.

"The college stands ready to participate in any appropriate way in the ongoing program of the center," Dr. Lowe said, "once it is constructed."

"We foresee many possible contributions to the benefit of students at both the center and the college," he said.

PAGE 2 — THE MISSING LINK — OCT. 28, 1974

OCT. 28, 1974 — THE MISSING LINK — PAGE 3

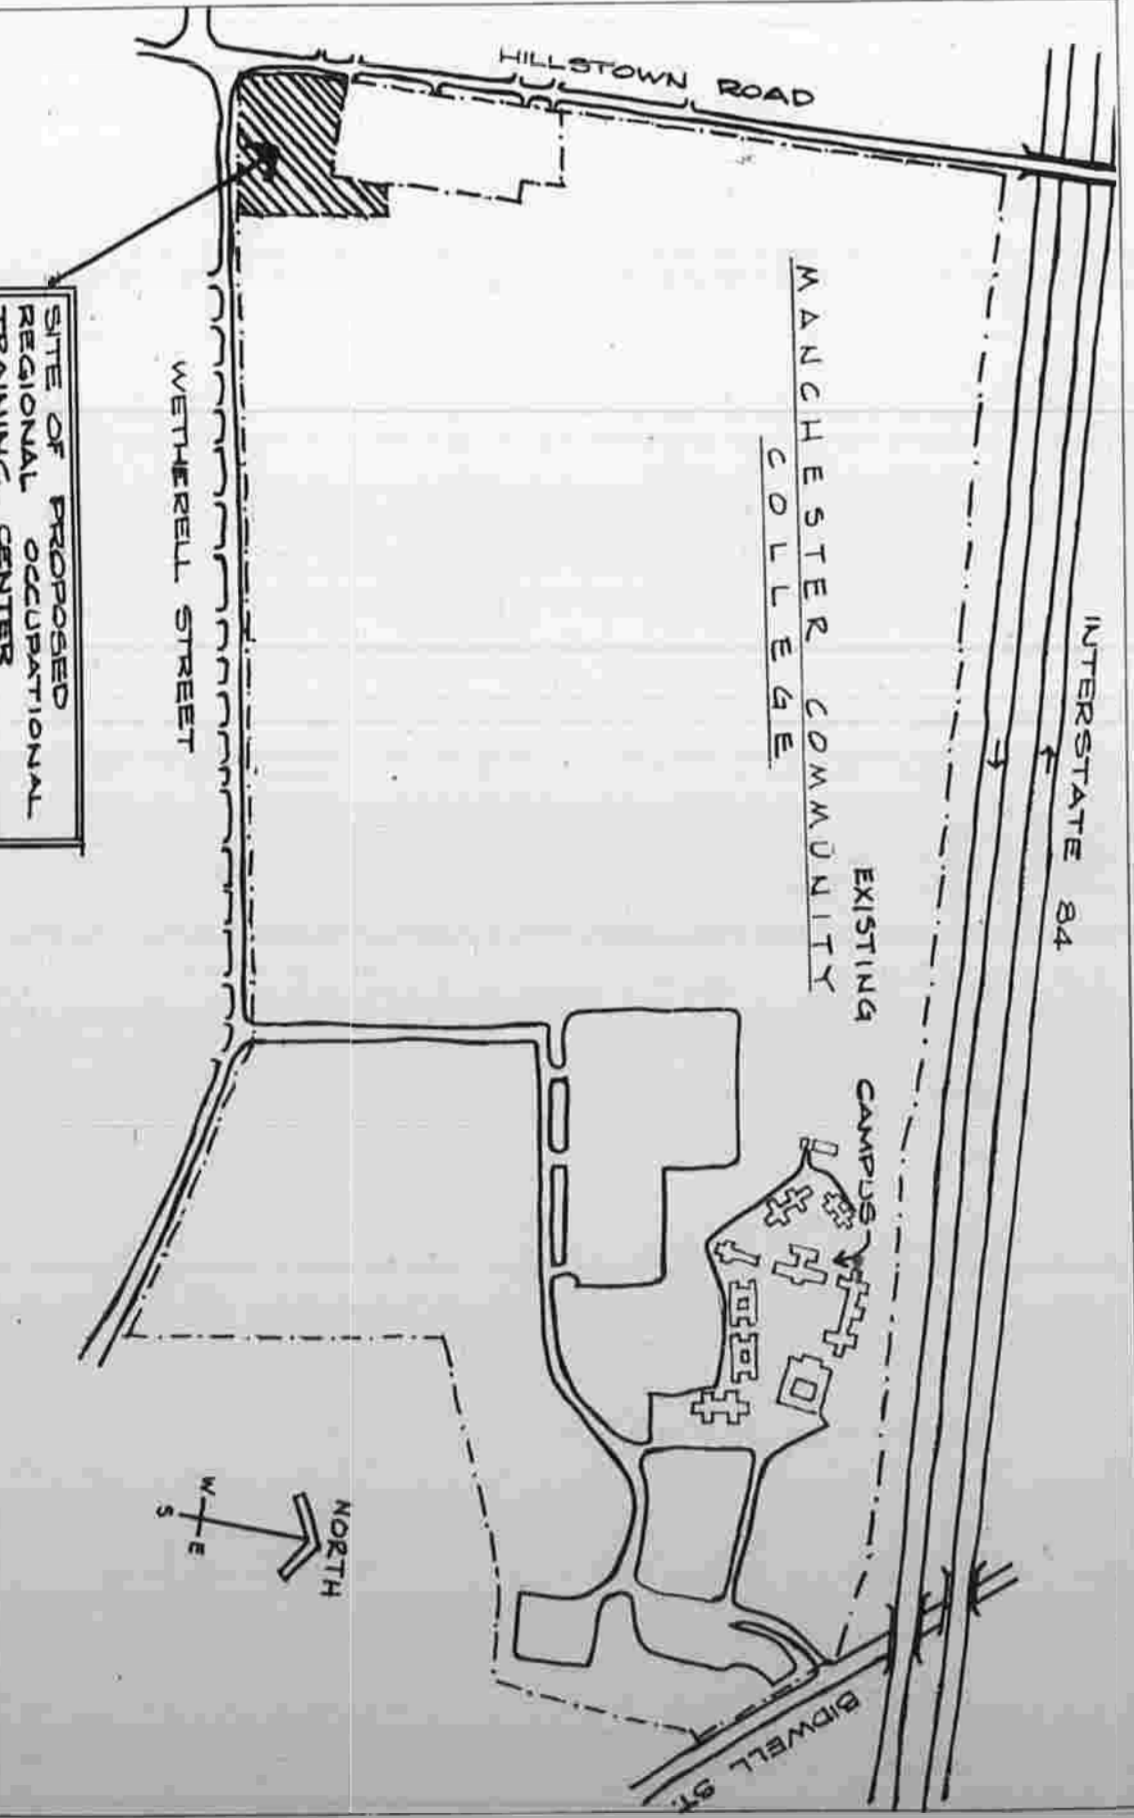

The Missing Link — a trade school for mentally retarded and multiply handicapped persons from the ages of 14 to 21 — would be filled by Manchester's Proposed Regional Occupational Training Center, a state-funded project to be decided by township in a Nov. 5 referendum.

Building and equipping the training center would be paid for by the state, but Manchester would own and supervise operation of the center.

Architect's Rendering

Architect's rendering of the proposed Regional Occupational Training Center shows the front area of the 236-square foot facility. Plans for the center, drawn by the Lawrence Associates of Manchester, provide for a building with an exterior wall interior. The building area to the left of the entrance (and bus) is for office and administration use. The high-roofed area, to the right of the entrance, is for physical education and other activities. The area at the rear of the building, not shown in the sketch, includes space for instructional classrooms. Plans are being prepared for teaching practical use of factory equipment, packaging, assembling, and other trades.

Site Location Plan

Regional Community Colleges and a special act of the General Assembly signed into law by Gov. Thomas Meskill in 1972. Plans will allow the center to make use of the college's recreational facilities.

East Catholic Eagles Hit Hard and Hustled In Bowling to Powerful Xavier High, 32-12

Defeat doesn't necessarily leave a sour taste. It can be bitter-sweet. The scoreboard at the end of Saturday night's football game showed Xavier a 32-12 winner over HCC foe East Catholic. What the vocal, emotionally-charged audience of over 3,500 at Mt. Vebco couldn't immediately detect is a winner.

A poorly executed pitchout resulted in a fumble with East's defensive end Steve Witham recovering on the gridiron. The Eagles gave it their best shot and what missed last week's action with an arm injury, took a quick pitch and sped down the right side like a lightning bolt shot out of a cannon for a 38-yard TD going in untouched.

Statistics belie what happened. Unofficially Xavier had 350 total yards and East 155, 124 via the air lanes on seven completions. This isn't a true complexion of what occurred on the gridiron. The Eagles gave it their best shot and showed they could play with the big boys on the block.

Patriots Show Vikings They've Hit Maturity

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (UPI) — The young Patriots showed the veteran Vikings they've reached maturity Sunday.

Fourth-year quarterback Jim Plunkett directed a scoring drive in the final seconds to rally New England to a 17-14 victory over Minnesota. It was the second straight loss for the defending Super Bowl runner-up although they rallied for 14 points in the fourth quarter.

With New England trailing by four points with 1:31 remaining, Plunkett marched the Patriots 88 yards in seven plays. Finally, he hit Bob Windsor with a pass at the one and the big tight end struggled into the end zone with only three seconds to go.

"Plunkett called the play on the touchdown pass to Windsor," Patriots Coach Chuck Fairbanks said. "He was one of the primary receivers and made a great effort to get in."

"It was a fantastic win for us.

The thing that counts is we came back and hung in there after all those ups and downs. "I can't say enough about Windsor," echoed wide receiver Randy Vataha, who caught a 55-yard bomb from Plunkett two plays before the final score. "He was stopped at the one but wouldn't go down. He fought his way in."

Pearson's TD Pass Sealed Cowboy Win

NEW HAVEN (UPI) — Drew Pearson now knows how it feels to be on the other end.

Pearson, signed by Dallas last year as a free agent out of Tulsa, currently ranks as the National Football League's leading receiver with 38 receptions following his three catches, including one for a touchdown, Sunday in the Cowboys' 21-7 defeat of the New York Giants.

However, the 23-year-old Pearson also managed to reverse his role when he caught the Golden State defense's leading receiver for his first touchdown pass.

"The defense made the big plays," Fairbanks said. "Bolton and Mildren were really outstanding and we got a better rush on Tarkenton than I thought we would."

Minnesota wide receiver John Gilliam, who caught five passes for 117 yards, said the Patriots "played a great ball game. They're the best team we've faced to date but the game could have gone either way."

third quarter, thanks to defensive end Roy Hilton's 71-yard touchdown romp after recovering Calvin Hill's fumble on New York's 20.

"I called the Pearson touchdown pass," said Cowboy Coach Tom Landry. "We had three passes intercepted."

Not even the appearance of Quarterback Craig Morton, acquired only four days earlier from Dallas, could help the Giants' stumbling offense.

Morton, after replacing starter Jim Del Gaudio at the second quarter, completed 11-of-22 passes for 186 yards but was sacked four times by his former teammates and had three passes intercepted.

"Morton is one of the best quarterbacks around and we haven't lost him," said Landry. "He did as well as could be expected today. There is no way he could have been ready to play any better. He's smart and when he gets to know the players, he'll be very effective."

Morton took part in only two practice sessions with the Giants after his acquisition and admitted, "I had about 25 plays down well enough to call them during the game. I absorbed as much as I could in the few days before the game but it wasn't enough to let me do the things I will do in the weeks ahead."

Landry said he will be better prepared and better still the week after that.

The Cowboys jumped out to a 14-0 lead in the second quarter on a one-yard touchdown run by Lay Garrison and a 23-yard scoring pass from Staubach to Pearson.

Bruins Extend Winning Skein

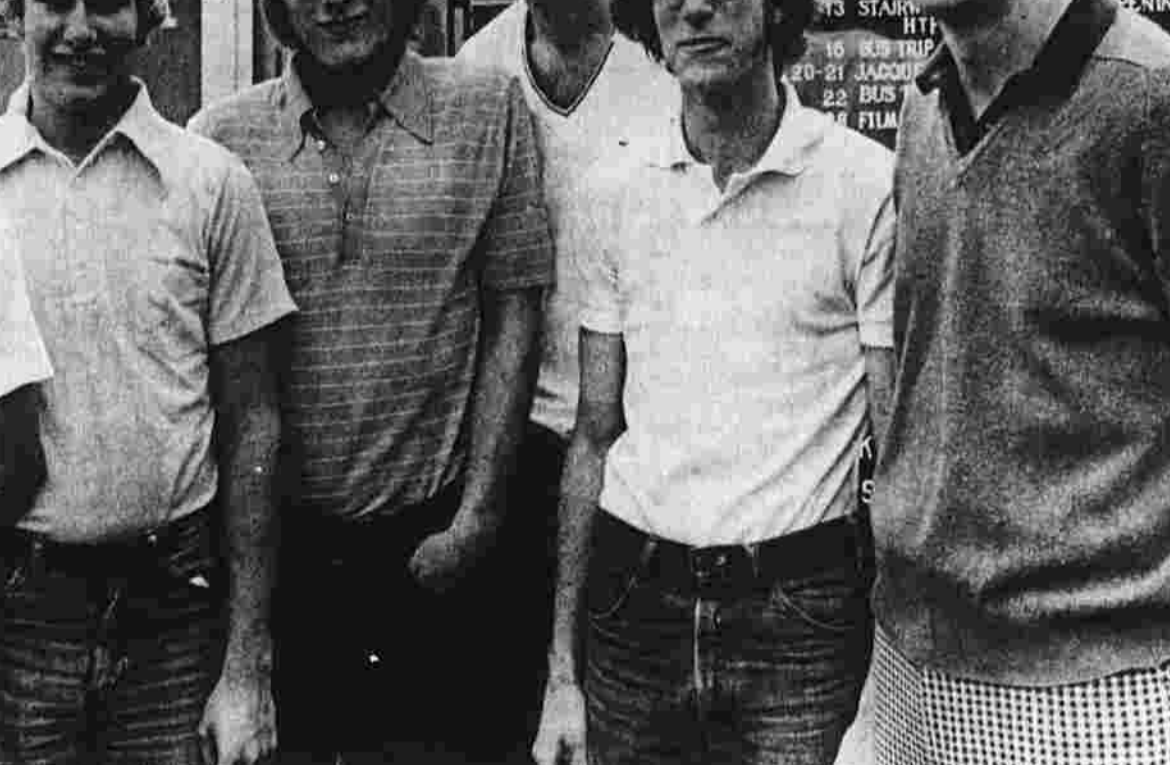

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Boston Bruins are never particularly good hosts but Sunday they were downright unfriendly to an "old pal."

Former Boston coach Bep Budolino, now coach of the Kansas City Scouts expansion team, were the visitors at Boston Gardens and the Bruins played like they wanted to punish him for all those $50 fines he handed them.

Extending their unbeaten streak to five games, the Bruins routed the Scouts, 8-2, even though the Scouts outshot their hosts 28-8.

It was the eighth straight winless game for the Scouts who have been on the road since their training camp to open their season because of their new rink isn't ready.

Pi Espinoza and John Bucyk beat the Montreal Canadiens, 3-2, the New York Rangers scored a 4-1 triumph over the Atlanta Flames and the Chicago Black Hawks whipped the St. Louis Blues 10-3 on their National Hockey League games.

UCCCA NET WINNERS - Brian Reynolds, Mike Murray, Conrad McIntire, Rick Gowen, Bruce Gordon and Coach Jack Redmond.

Second-period goals by Derek Sanderson and Bobby Rousseau led the Rangers to their win over the Flames. Walt Tkaczuk and Greg Polis added goals in the third period, with Polis' 10th of his NHL career.

Comely took passes from Jim Johnson and Rick Smith and rifled the puck into the left side of the Chicago net past goalie Dave Dryden for his first goal of the season to cap a stunning Minnesota comeback.

Winnipeg erupted for three quick goals in the third period, two while killing a penalty, to defeat Michigan. A crowd of 6,740 saw Lars-Erik Sjöberg, captain Danny Johnson and coach Bobby Hull clinch the win within a span of two minutes and 12 seconds in the third. The goals by Sjöberg and Johnson came while Winnipeg was killing a hooking penalty to defenseman Larry Horning. Hull's goal came on a power play.

Pair of McCutcheon TD's In 31 Seconds Beat Jets

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Los Angeles hierarchy had long Angles.

The Rams made one of the most surprising trades in recent history Tuesday by sending John Harland to the National Conference Player of the Year last season, to Green Bay for five draft choices.

The move insured James Harris of the No. 1 job and he was hardly building confidence in management's decision. The New York Jets, with only one victory in six previous games, led the Rams 13-7 late in the third period and owner Carroll Rosenbloom and General Manager Don Klosterman scowled and fidgeted nervously as time ticked away.

Then lightning struck.

The bolt consisted of 6-foot-1, 205-pound Lawrence McCutcheon and he scored twice within a 31-second span early in the final period to lift the Rams to a 20-13 victory.

Harris, who seemed to have problems picking up secondary receivers, sent McCutcheon on bursts of six and 11 yards and then hit Harold Jackson with a 17-yard pass to the Jet 23 on the last play of the third quarter.

McCutcheon needed just one play to score, hitting a wall of tacklers on the left side and suddenly breaking loose for a TD. David Ray, forced to make a 25-yard extra point because a penalty, converted for the 13-13 tie.

On the Jet's second play, Joe Namath threw toward Jerome Barkum but Charlie Stukes stepped in front at Jet's 42 and returned to the one before being hauled down.

McCutcheon went over on the next play for the game-winner. Oddly, the two scores were McCutcheon's first this season on the ground even though he entered the game as the NFL's leading rusher. The victory gave the Rams to 5-2 and the Jets dropped their fifth straight.

"We really tightened up in the second half," said Ram Coach Chuck Knox as a relieved Rosenbloom planted a kiss on his cheek. "This was the first time in a long time we were down and came back. I don't think we were flat today. Every time we got something going, we got a penalty. I knew this was going to be a tough game and I said so all week."

"Joe Namath still has one of the strongest arms in football and he throws as well as anyone in the game. I knew the Jets

Larry Brown. But Hart threw to Anderson for a 23-yard lead in the third period and Washington just managed to get close on Jurgensen's 13-yard TD pass to Brown.

In other games, Houston stunned Cincinnati 34-21. Buffalo dominated Chicago 16-0. Oakland overcame San Diego 20-13. Dallas stopped and ran for another score to lead Oakland 22-21. Miami struggled past Detroit 17-7. New Orleans topped Philadelphia 14-10. Detroit edged Green Bay 19-17 and Kansas City defeated San Diego 24-14. Atlanta is at Pittsburgh tonight.

Oilers 34, Bengals 21. Defensive end Elvin Bethea returned a fumble 38 yards for a TD and Dan Pastorini threw a 35-yard scoring pass to Billy Parks to lead Houston past heavily-favored Cincinnati. Bethea's score gave Houston a 27-7 lead and Pastorini's pass wiped out a three TD pass by Ken Anderson.

Bills 16, Bears 6. Larry Watkins ran one yard for Buffalo's only TD and John Leybold kicked field goals of 47, 25 and 36 yards as the Bills remained tied with New England for the AFC East lead by beating Chicago. The Bear defense held rushing star O.J. Simpson to just 62 yards but reportedly halted out Buffalo with his kicking.

Raiders 33, 49ers 24. Ken Stabler passed two yards to Dave Casper for one TD and Harold Hart picked up a loose ball following an Oakland punt and ran 40 yards for another score to lead Oakland 22-21. Miami struggled past Detroit 17-7. New Orleans topped Philadelphia 14-10. Detroit edged Green Bay 19-17 and Kansas City defeated San Diego 24-14. Atlanta is at Pittsburgh tonight.

MCC Captures Tennis Crown

Winning its first Connecticut Community College Athletic Association (CCCCA) tennis crown Saturday was Manchester Community College at Manchester Racquet Club. Both teams entered the match undefeated.

MCC's No. 1 performer, Mike Murray, won his singles match over Gary Genovese 6-4, 6-4 and No. 2 man Conrad McIntire was also victorious, topping Ernnie Goulet 7-6, 2-6, 6-0.

The other singles match was won by Middlesex' Peter Holmes over Brian Reynolds 3-6, 6-3, 6-2. In the doubles play, Bruce Parmenter and Holmes gave the visitors their second point with an eight-game set win over Rick Gowen and Reynolds, 8-3.

In the deciding doubles match, McIntire and Murray teamed to top Genovese and Goulet, 9-8, in a tie-breaker to win the league title.

Blazers' Play Pleases Coach

NEW YORK (UPI) — Portland Coach Lenny Wilkens had nothing but praise for his Trail Blazers after Sunday's nationally televised NBA contest against Seattle.

"We established the tempo, played offense well, defensively played well throughout the game," said Wilkens. "It was our most complete game of the year through four quarters."

The 120-94 victory over the Sonics put Portland at 3-3 for the season and may have given former UCLA star Bill Walton some added confidence.

John Johnson led the Trail Blazers scoring with 28 points, but Walton added 20 and pulled down 17 rebounds to add weight to the win.

The Trail Blazers held a 72-44 rebound advantage and shot 52 percent from the floor.

In the only other NBA game Sunday, Gail Goodrich and Jim Pothoff scored 27 points as the Los Angeles Lakers scored a 121-116 victory over the Phoenix Suns.

The Lakers scored 13 unanswered points to open the second half to take a 21-point lead that was reduced to seven in the final minute. Goodrich, Price and center Elmore Smith scored eight points apiece in the decisive third period when the Lakers outscored Phoenix 32-24 to take an 88-71 advantage.

In ABA action, the New York Nets shipped the Spirits of St. Louis 109-91, while the Utah Stars downed the San Diego Conquistadors 95-80.

Julius Erving scored 20 points and grabbed 13 rebounds to lead New York over the outclassed youngsters. The shooting guard "Dr. J." and center Billy Paultz, who finished with 18

Leafs 4, Capitals 3. George Ferguson's goal at 9:01 of the third period emboldened the Capitals, who scored one of two first-period TD goals, took a pass from Ian Turnbull and beat goalie Ron Low.

Salers 3, Canadiens 2. Craig Ramsey's long bouncing shot carried off rookie Danny Gare into the Montreal Net at 9:39 of the third period as the Sabres maintained their lead in Division Two. The Sabres outshot the Canadiens, 29-27.

Six West. WEST SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (UPI) — The New England Whalers got six goals from different players Sunday to roll to a 6-1 victory over the Indianapolis Racers, the Whalers' third consecutive home victory.

Caldwell Jones paced the Q's with 20 points and 23 rebounds. Travis Grant added 17 for San Diego as the Q's fell to 2-4.

Buono hit for 11 points in the third period, nine in the opening 3:12 minutes, as the Stars shot out to a 59-36 lead, their biggest of the contest. Utah ended the third quarter with a 69-50 lead, despite 10 points in the period by the Q's Grant. The Stars led at the end of the first quarter 25-17 when center Jim Watkins scored eight of his 17 points.

The aggressive play of San Diego rookie Billy Harris, who collected seven points and three steals, kept the Q's close in the period.

Utah steadily lengthened its lead through the second period with nine more points from Watkins, who led 46-32 at the half.

Watson Wins Playoff

PINEHURST, N.C. (UPI) — When Cary, N.C., pro Roger Watson took off Sunday for the final round of the $10,000 National Club Pro Championship, he was confident he could win. But he didn't know what he'd have to go through to take home the $16,500 first prize.

Watson, playing in a threesome ahead of leader veteran Sam Snead, dropped an 89-foot birdie putt on the 18th for a 68, and then Snead two-putted the same green, throwing them into a tie and forcing a sudden death playoff which Watson easily won.

The Forgotten Veteran: A Dog Eat Dog World

By JOHN LESAR
United Press International
Though today is Veterans' Day, many veterans think they are the forgotten Americans. Disabled veterans from World War II, Korea and Vietnam see the parade and the veterans, their families, their friends and their homes. "To some people, we're just not human, and it seems we're just being forgotten about," said Major Webster as he strolled his body around on the tugster car where he lay and shook his head.

Webster was on patrol in Vietnam when a sniper's bullet ripped into his side and struck his spine. For seven years, he has been a patient at Hines Veterans' Administration Hospital in Chicago, a paraplegic, unable to sit or stand.

"One vet helps another, but otherwise, it's a dog-eat-dog world," he said. "Everybody else is out for himself. They want to go to work from 9 to 5 and forget about us. If we need help, they don't want to be bothered."

Weekend Accidents Kill Eight Persons

United Press International
Three teenagers, a 26-year-old auxiliary state trooper and a sailor were among eight persons killed in weekend mishaps in Connecticut. The accidents were:

- Gaelan Michael, 26, of Meriden, killed on his way home at 12:56 a.m. Sunday in a head-on crash on Rte. 23 in Woodbridge. His southbound car collided with another driven by Lynn Romano, 18, of Bethany.
- Gary A. Martin, 26, of New London, killed when the rented Piper Cherokee he was piloting crashed and exploded at about 9:30 p.m. Friday off Mt Hill Road in East Hampton.
- Janet C. Blanchette, 18, of Willimantic, and Albert G. Guay, 18, of Chaplin, killed when the car in which they were passengers went off Rte. 12 in Mansfield while passing another, struck two trees and overturned.
- M. Judson Lusk, 18, of Avon, killed when his eastbound car went off the left side of a County Club Road in Avon and struck a tree at about 1:45 a.m. Saturday.

Weicker Inconsistencies Puzzle Many Politicians

EDITOR'S NOTE: Sen. Lowell P. Weicker, R-Conn., has been attacking the Republican party with vigor, and political leaders are trying to figure out his purpose. Here is a look at the impact of Weicker's attacks.

By ROBERT LAMBERT
HARTFORD (UPI) — Sen. Lowell P. Weicker, R-Conn., who was one of the most vocal of the Watergate scoundrels, has been burning his Republican bridges at a furious pace.

Weicker, the maverick Republican who smote the Nixon administration with righteous indignation, has wrapped himself in a series of inconsistencies that mystify political pros.

With less than two weeks before the election and the GOP fighting an uphill battle against inflation, Watergate, and the Nixon pardon just to survive, he announced Thursday he may run as an independent in 1976.

The GOP would have to change its moral image or he would leave the party, he said. He complained about his troubles in trying to fill a federal judgeship since he was elected to the Senate.

"Do you think I want to be responsible for hundreds of people in that type of situation? Not at all," he asked. "I'm very uncomfortable in the traditional political role of organization."

Bonanza's four-point program to beat inflation.

● Look a ribe in the eye. $1.89.
A great big steak, baked potato, crisp tossed salad and Texas Toast. Available every day. At yesterday's prices.

● Chicken fried steak at chicken feed prices. $1.59.
You get a beef party dipped in a special batter, deep fried and smothered in our creamy seasoned sauce. And more. French fries, crisp tossed salad and Texas Toast. (Get our chopped sirloin dinner for $1.59.)

● Feed a child in America for 49¢.
We've got just the right amount of food to make a kid smile — a hamburger, an order of French fries, and a lollipop. And a price — 49¢ — to make you smile.

● Drink up. The seconds are on us.
At Bonanza, you get free refills on all soft drinks, coffee, and ice tea.

the putting of the property on the market, to warn that a new Democratic administration might well engage in the same kind of deal.

He said he was pointing the finger at Ella Grasso's chief campaign issue — the high cost of electricity — as one laden with hypocrisy since Mrs. Grasso was a member of the Democratic administration at the time Waterman was in office.

Political experts have tried to assess what Weicker has had in mind in taking the tack he did. The theories include: he wants to take over the Republican party; he is afraid Steele may try to run against him in 1976; he is so intent on routing out political devils, he will do so regardless of the price.

Members of the Manchester Embellish Club committee for the visitation of the monument to President, Lucille Mahoney of Juneau, Alaska, will meet Thursday at 6:30 p.m. at the Elks Club on Bissell St.

The Women's Home League of the Salvation Army will meet Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. at the Citadel at 130 p.m. The hostess is Mrs. Capt. Arthur Carlson.

MANCHESTER HOSPITAL NOTES AREA POLICE REPORT

Center St.; Thomas Donne, 292 Mt. Vernon Dr.; Vernon; Edward Costello, East Hartford.

Also, Thomas Yeager, 88 Woodbridge St.; Bardella Gaudette, 247 Main St.; Donald Barrett, 50 Farm Dr.; Mary Garrison; Torrington; Oivan Harry, 5 Overhill Rd., Ellington; Victoria Popick, 109 Main St.; Talcottville; South Windsor; 166 Charter Oak St.; Marie Leabo, 122 Hebron Rd., Bolton.

SOUTH WINDSOR
Harold London, 16, of Holland, Mich., was admitted to Manchester Memorial Hospital Saturday night with injuries sustained in an accident on John Fitch Blvd., South Windsor.

A passenger in London's car, Althea Shaw, 15, of Brooklyn St., Rockville, was taken to the hospital, treated and released, police said.

ELLINGTON
Jack Jones, 21, of 12 Florence St., Rockville, was charged with reckless driving in connection with a one-car accident on Rt. 140, Ellington, Sunday night.

One of two passengers in the car, William Pury, 23, of Enfield, was taken to Rockville General Hospital and later transferred to Hartford Hospital. Jones was treated at Rockville Hospital. The other passenger was Richard Desrocher, 22, of 12 Florence St., Rockville.

VERNON
Edward Feigh, 54, of 82 Baker Rd., Vernon, was charged Saturday with evading responsibility in connection with a complaint that a parked car was struck on Union St. Feigh was released on his promise to appear in Court 12 and is in the custody of the police.

WOMEN'S PROGRAM PLANNED
The fifth program in the series "For Women, Relax and Learn," sponsored by Vernon's recreation department, is scheduled for Tuesday from 9:30 to 11 a.m. at the Lettie Fisk Building, Henry Park.

Katherine Lyle, home economist, and Sue Eickbaker, sewing instructor, will conduct a workshop on rejuvenating children's and adults' clothing. Women attending will learn how to repair and "perk up" clothes, how to lengthen slacks and skirts and how to remake a coat.

Women are asked to bring some of their sewing repair problems to the meeting.

Police Investigate Severe Rape Case

Manchester Police today revealed information about a "particularly foul" rape and beating that occurred Oct. 22 and is still being investigated.

A young woman driving a car on that Tuesday night stopped for a traffic light near the center of town, according to a report by Det. Lt. John Krijak. Two men armed with knives dragged her out of the car. One drove the car to a side street while the other dragged the woman into a wooded area, he said.

ELLINGTON
Jack Jones, 21, of 12 Florence St., Rockville, was charged with reckless driving in connection with a one-car accident on Rt. 140, Ellington, Sunday night.

One of two passengers in the car, William Pury, 23, of Enfield, was taken to Rockville General Hospital and later transferred to Hartford Hospital. Jones was treated at Rockville Hospital. The other passenger was Richard Desrocher, 22, of 12 Florence St., Rockville.

Trimline on a wall.
Sit down, get comfortable, and take the dial with you.

Because Trimline's dial is in the handle, everything you need is always together, right at your fingertips. And when you hang up, the dial gets tucked out of sight. So, sleek, slim Trimline looks more like modern sculpture than a phone.

Ideal for the kitchen or family room, where counter space and good looks are always at a premium. In many decorator colors, from bright gamet red to subtle dusty beige. Trimline is more than just a phone. It's fun.

MACC Recycling Has Long Way to Go

By NANCY CARR
Executive Director

"The world's economic crisis threatens about 500 million children in 70 poor countries with starvation, severe malnutrition, or other drastic curtailment of vital services. Ten million children under five in developing countries suffer from severe malnutrition and 80 million suffer from moderate malnutrition." UNICEF quotation over a picture of the body of a young child for whom aid has arrived too late, November, 74 issue of "Mayknoll" magazine.

Many of us have begun to turn our faces away from the sight and sound of so much suffering. Yet from such desperate need and misery, come hopeful signs of Christians banding together to bring life to the hungry of the world. Reports filter back of Church World Service and Catholic Relief Service field workers working side by side sharing and stretching the supplies as they come in as far as they humanly can.

We too have a blessed opportunity to bind together in Manchester to share our abundance with those for whom it will provide the very basis of existence. Many of us had an opportunity to give to the United Nations Children's Emergency Fund on Sunday when the neighborhood children rang our doorbells.

Trick or Life
Again, on Halloween night, costumed children will come to your door with a UNICEF can. Give to life this year — life for children much the same as the little ones at your door. We urge you to give more than you think you can.

The UNICEF collection in Manchester is sponsored by Church Women United in Manchester and for the past three years has been organized by the able and loving Annamary Potocki of Assumption parish.

Check (please!), for those wishing to make a large donation, may be made payable to UNICEF and sent to Church Women United, Box 773, Manchester. Even in this time of inflation and general tightening of belts, we urge you to find somehow — somehow to join with others in Manchester in sending life to the children of Africa and Asia.

Over the Top
Some 3,500 pounds of good used clothing were given by Manchester-Bolton residents a week ago Tuesday to the Church World Service clothing appeal. This is an increase of 2,000 lbs. over the 74 spring collection. Special thanks to all of you who went through your closets.

For those of you who did not quite get around to it — the next CWS Clothing Appeal will be May 5. Please remember particularly, children's clothing and baby layettes and blankets. Another project of Church Women United is providing blankets for distribution through Church World Service. These blankets, specially made for CWS, are extra large and extra tough. They serve the people for many purposes — warmth, shelter (they make sturdy tents), carrying of the belongings and children. A $3 gift certificate, available from any CWU member, will (by special arrangement) send one of these blankets, mostly used in disaster and emergency situations. Three S and H green stamp books if sent to CWS Clothing Appeal, Correspondence Box 988, Elkhart, Ind. 46514, will provide funds for two of these blankets.

Gift certificates for blankets and disaster relief will also be available on World Community Day, one of the three national ecumenical workshop celebrations sponsored by CWU. Manchester CWU will celebrate together at Second Congregational Church at noon with a "bring sandwich, coffee and dessert provided" luncheon. Baby-sitting is provided.

A kitchen social is scheduled for Monday at 1:30 p.m. at Cronin Hall of Mayfair Gardens. All residents of Mayfair are invited.

The council of ministries of South United Methodist Church will meet tonight at 7:30 at Susannah Wesley House of the church.

Zone leaders of North United Methodist Church will meet tonight at 8 at the church.

The non-denominational Good News Club for Kindergarten through Grade 6 will meet Tuesday at 3:15 p.m. in the front room of the Emanuel Lutheran Church parish house.

Novena of the Miraculus Medal and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament will be celebrated tonight at 7:30 at the Church of the Assumption, S. Adams St.

MICHAEL J. CONLON.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite all the can collecting and newspaper stacking being done in households across the country, recycling at the consumer level still isn't having much impact.

But the recycling industry, the big boys who turn scrap into re-usable material on a big scale, hopes President Ford's recent plugs for recycling will turn that around and make it worthwhile for everybody.

Ford, in his anti-inflation message, endorsed recycling as a concept and said it might be possible to lock inflation with the contents of the nation's trash cans.

The National Association of Recycling Industries Inc., which represents 700 recycling firms, says its "first time in recent memory that a President has recognized and underscored the importance of expanding the recycling effort of the country."

M. J. Mighdall, executive vice president of the association, believes Ford's goals can be brought nearer to realization by the passage of two measures now before in Congress.

One would give companies a 7 per cent tax incentive for using recycled materials. The other would direct the Interstate Commerce Commission to investigate and correct cases where shippers charge higher rates for transporting recycled materials than they do for virgin substances.

The Supreme Court recently announced that it would hear a case later this term involving the virgin versus recycled materials issue in freight rates. According to Mighdall it will take a major shift in government policy to create a market for consumer-level recycling. As it is now, he says, most post-industrial scrap is being successfully recycled. About one in every four newspapers is recycled, and about one of every six aluminum cans.

To make more recycling economically feasible, according to Mighdall, the government will have to switch to a policy of buying recycled goods itself and of actively encouraging private industry to do the same.
