Police Grants Reviewed

Manchester Police won $24,726 in grants this year from the Connecticut Planning Committee on Criminal Administration, according to the recently released 1974 Funding Report.

Vernon was the only other area town receiving CPCCA funds. Vernon's total was $20,814.

A grant of $9,296 came to Manchester to help fund a police community relations program. Off. Russell Holyfield was assigned to community relations last March.

The program is aimed at fostering good relations with the public and creating programs to ease or prevent crisis situations. Also, he is to create good contacts with potential problem groups and individuals.

Manchester also got a total of $14,340 this year to fund several civilian dispatchers at headquarters.

A grant of $11,000 to Manchester is meant for a new information system.

L. Richard Sartor of the local force said Thursday the town has yet to spend this last grant. The money is meant to pay for the services of a consulting firm.

So far, Sartor has received lengthy proposals from different firms bidding for the job. The department has studied them and is now in the process of picking one and signing a contract, he added.

The firm will consider the cost and effectiveness of manual or mechanical or microfilm or computerized information systems for a town the size of Manchester.

CPCCA hopes to use the results of the study here in guiding other towns this size in streamlining their systems, he said.

Manchester has received a total of $27,000 in CPCCA funds since it formed in 1971 to administer federal funds coming from

Coal Miners Begin Walkout

WASHINGTON (UPI)— Sporadic mine walkouts in Appalachia apparently foreshadowed a nationwide coal miners' strike to come Tuesday while bargaining teams wrestled over contract terms here during the weekend.

Just before talks recessed Friday night, the Bituminous Coal Operators Association, operators of 1,200 union mines producing about 75 per cent of the nation's coal, delivered up another revised economic package, which the union promised to study.

Meanwhile, walkouts were already occurring at mines owned by the Southern Ohio Coal Co. and at others in eastern Ohio and in West Virginia, although BCOA's contract with the United Mine Workers of America does not expire until 12:01 a.m. Tuesday.

Umw President Arnold Miller said he did not know about premature walkouts. Local union and company officials said the Southern Ohio miners jumped the gun.

Strike Likely Tuesday
A nationwide strike Tuesday is likely, because even if agreement were reached immediately, union ratification would take some 10 days.

Asked if Miller could "sell" the company's proposals, BCOA chief negotiator

Washburn said: "I don't think it's a very difficult package to sell the way it's turning out."

Miller Hedges
Miller said at a separate meeting with newsmen: "Mr. Farmer is not as familiar with our membership as I am. I'll be able to make a better assessment than anyone else when it's time to make an assessment."

Both agreed the talks were progressing, Miller said: "I don't think I'll be satisfied until we settle." Farmer said, "I think things are moving at a fairly good pace—it's not a rapid pace." He said talks were reaching the point that "everything you do is somewhat painful."

The Interior Department said electric utilities consume about $5 million more per month of coal and were down to an average of 30 days' supplies. The department said it's data indicates that within 30 days after a coal strike begins Nov. 12, 75 power stations producing about 5 per cent of the country's electrical power will run out of coal.

The Interior Department said coke stocks are "extremely low, averaging about one week's supply" and coke plants cannot be shut down without "serious damage to ovens." Coal provides about 46 per cent of the nation's electrical energy, about 15 per cent of the fuel requirement for industrial and manufacturing plants and about $2 billion in export sales.

Tanker Explodes in Tokyo Bay

TOKYO (UPI)— A Japanese tanker packed with oil and liquefied gas slammed into a Liberian freighter today and exploded in flames in Tokyo Bay.

Japanese Maritime officials feared all 29 crewmen aboard the freighter Pacific Aster were trapped in the roaring flames and killed.

Three Japanese crewmen from the tanker Yuu were killed and three others were still missing. Maritime officials said 22 seamen from the tanker were plucked from the choppy bay waters. Six of them were badly burned.

Rescue workers fought for hours to control the flames but an explosion and the intense heat kept them at bay as the fire roared out of control.

A spokesman for the maritime safety agency said "No crewmen aboard the ship has so far been found. Rescuers cannot reach the ship because of tremendous heat."

The spokesman said nearly five hours after the collision, there was contact with the crew of the 10,874-ton freighter, despite frantic attempts by maritime officials.

A Japanese agent of the freighter said the vessel carried a crew of 28 Chinese from Taiwan and a South Korean seaman.

Hepatitis Reports Said Exaggerated
Reports that 10 cases of hepatitis may be connected to the spring at Case Mt. and town water fountains are exaggerated, according to Town Manager Robert Weiss.

Weiss said this morning, "There is no serious situation. We are merely being cautious."

He said the town requested federal water experts check the town's system by drilling fountains "if they want to." No federal officials have contacted the town to say they will come, he added.

He added that "It's a very remote possibility" that water from town drinking fountains may have carried the hepatitis virus, caused the town to change the plumbing on all the fountains.

Town Health Director Alice Turk said both to drinking fountain and the spring have been shut off.

David Wiggins, director of the state's Environmental Health Services reportedly said Friday the study of the hepatitis cases is the first in the state involving public drinking water in 36 years.

Dr. Turk noted that hepatitis must not be in the town's system or there would be far more reported cases. She said the

Motorist Dies In Bomb Blast

NEW HAVEN (UPI)— Police say a motorist was killed instantly this morning when a bomb exploded in his car on Eastern St. in the city's Foxon section.

The explosion, which occurred at about 7:35 a.m., was so loud that reports from public works director. When they are done, there will be a thick clay shield around the spring, he said.

Dr. Turk said the town has requested federal water experts to look into the system to check on areas where sewage could leak into the town system.

Wiggins added that the virus cannot be pinpointed by an analysis of drinking water. All the investigators can do is determine if sewage is present, he reportedly said.

If sewage is detected, hepatitis virus may also be in the water, he said.

Consumers Losing Ground Against Food Inflation
WASHINGTON (UPI)— Consumers are losing ground in the battle against food inflation and the percentage of a worker's take-home pay needed to buy the groceries is rising.

Agriculture Department economists said Friday food spending increased at an annual rate of $6.5 billion from July through September, to a new seasonally adjusted annual rate of $17.7 billion.

This means food cost an average 16.9 per cent of after-tax income in the third quarter, compared with 16.6 per cent from April-June and 16.2 per cent last year.

The economists also predicted higher food prices for the rest of 1974 and through at least the first half of 1975.

The Agriculture Department's Crop Reporting Board issued a monthly report, showing further cuts in weather-damaged corn and soybean crops—the key raw materials for meat, milk and poultry supplies.

Consumption Up
A Food Situation summary report said per capita food consumption is rising nearly 2 per cent above 1973, the largest yearly gain since 1959. The increase was attributed to greater consumption of red meat, poultry and a 13.5 per cent drop in the volume of farm exports.

But the report added that gloomier times are ahead. With the exception of beef, production of most other meats, poultry and other livestock products will decrease next year because of the sharply reduced crop and record livestock feed costs.

Stocks Diminishing
At the end of 1974, the experts pointed out, total U.S. stock levels of all crop and livestock food commodities are expected to be at their lowest level in 18 years.

Rep. Lawrence Coughlin, R-Pa., said he will introduce legislation to create a special joint congressional committee to investigate soaring food prices—particularly sugar—when Congress reconvenes Nov. 18.

Tariff Removal Asked
Coughlin also urged President Ford take action to halt skyrocketing sugar prices by eliminating tariffs on sugar imports.

Several consumer groups charged that the government's proposed changes in the beef grading system will result in lower quality meat at higher prices. The groups said that the changes would upgrade certain lower cuts of meat and "the public would be ripped off by a lesser grade of beef for more money."

There are probably people in Manchester now who remember Foster Worthington. In his later years he worked as a carpenter in town, and O.C. helped him blasting out stumps when the land was being cleared of forest to make the south part of the east cemetery.

As a young man Foster had worked on a Midwest railroad as fireman and then engineer. He had some accidents, lost two fingers; one was killed in a wreck, the other by jumping to get away from an impending wreck. After a third wreck he was discharged and returned home to Connecticut.

There were "milk trains" that started each evening in upper Vermont and rolled through the night to New York City with a train of perishable freight. The cars were not refrigerated for that short (in time) trip. The engineers had a room in New York to sleep during the day and took another train north the next night.

On the trip south time was all important. Even passenger and mail was sidetracked to clear the way for it. Foster was hired for the job and was again happy in the cab.

He said he could not stop at Hartford but with previous arrangement of time and place he would slow down enough for a friend to climb up into the cab. It would have to be in a place where a red light warned of a possible stop ahead. It would be about 11:30 p.m. and wear overalls and jumper over your clothes if you want them clean enough to be seen when you get there.

"What a ride!" Thrillite wide open most of the time. Cab lurching back and forth as if it would leave the tracks at every lurch. Worthington laughing and joking most of the time and apparently paying very little attention ahead.

He seemed to pay slight attention to red lights that warned him to slow down and when he arrived at the final one that meant "stop." If it hadn't turned green at the last moment he jammed the brakes and brought everything to a screeching, shuddering, jolting stop, and caused because he had

Pope Says Birth Control No Answer to Hunger

VATICAN CITY (UPI)— Pope Paul VI told World Food Conference delegates today countries can avoid mass starvation by exploiting unexplored lands and seas and promoting world peace.

He said birth control was "inadmissible" and not the answer to hunger.

"The threat of hunger and malnutrition are not an inevitable destiny," the Pope said.

To avoid global hunger, the Pope said, "It is inadmissible for nations with the world's natural resources to try to resolve the hunger problem by forbidding the poor to be born," the Pope said.

"Mankind has means capable of making the resources of the universe yield their full potential. Will those who possess these means remain as though struck by paralysis when confronted with the absurdity of a situation in which the wealth of some can tolerate the enduring poverty of so many?"

OAS Debates Sanctions
QUITO, Ecuador (UPI)— Foreign ministers today worked on a compromise agreement to end a decade of Cuban isolation and bring Fidel Castro's regime back into the inter-American community without splitting the Organization of American States.

The meeting of the OAS members was called by Columbia, Costa Rica and Venezuela to lift the economic and diplomatic sanctions imposed on Castro's Communist government in 1964.

At least 13 member states agreed to lift the embargo, saying the sanctions are a leftover of the cold war and obsolete in an era of détente among major powers.

WINGS OF EVENING

By CLIFF SIMPSON

Say "YES" to Your Faith One minister started his sermon on Stewardship with a "spoonerism" Overjoyed with the special appeal response at the start of the church's financial drive, he intended to bring his congregation "cheerful tithing," he called out "tearful children."

Every year when the churches plan their budgets and wonder where the money is coming from there are those who say "It is God's work and He will take care of it." True, it is God's work and faith in His guidance and help is essential. However, I like the advice "Pray as if it all depends on God, and work as if it depends on you."

The Old Testament account of Moses at the Red Sea is an appropriate Scripture for these times. You recall he was leading the people of Israel out of bondage in Egypt. After the plagues and the threat of more to come Pharaoh cried "let the people go." Later he repented of his foolishness in losing all that free labor and sent chariots after them to bring them back. When the fugitives saw the chariots pursuing them they were afraid and cried to Moses:

"Because there were no graves in Egypt, hast thou taken us away to die in the wilderness? Let us die with the Egyptians. For we would have been better off to die in the wilderness." (Exodus 14:12)

Then Moses sought to restore their fears and restore their faith saying: "Fear not, stand still, and see the salvation of the Lord. He shall fight for you and you shall hold your peace." Then the Lord said unto Moses, "Wherefore criest thou unto me? Speak unto the children of Israel that they go forward."

A Chuckle Toward the end of a long sermon on the church's financial plight the preacher summarized with these words: "There is real trouble in some churches. Their major problem is that one half the people give the money and do all the work. Thank God that isn't our situation. Or is it?"

Check Up on Your Charity I would never advise holding back when you have the impulse to help those in need. The needs are great, and I am thankful that so many people are moved to help, resisting the tendency to become hardened to suffering. The pictures of starving children appear so frequently that it becomes easier to ignore them.

Don't Check your impulse to help but "check" on the appeals that come to you. Unfortunately there are people so devoid of compassion that they even divert funds for the needy to their own pockets, or capitalize on genuine prayers for assistance with false promises.

Who was not disturbed when a "March of Dimes" box was burgled in my neighborhood? Probably I receive more than my share of such appeals. As we worship the Lord in the beauty of holiness may we be aware of the holiness of beauty, and take care not to destroy it.

OPINION

AMA Lost Too

The Republican party was not the only loser in the recent election.

Add to the list the American Medical Association.

A spokesman for the group has announced the AMA, longtime opponent of socialized medicine and other federal health schemes, indicated it may switch sides and endorse compulsory health insurance.

Until the Democratic landslide, the AMA had been promoting an alternative plan called "Medicredit" which would have provided voluntary coverage in the form of income tax credits for the poor.

At the polls, at least 38 members of Congress who supported the AMA approach were defeated.

"We would be foolish not to consider mandated coverage," the AMA spokesman said.

Compulsory health insurance then appears to be a major piece of legislation the new Congress may adopt next year.

The voters apparently felt the only solution to sky-rocketing health costs is mandatory health insurance. It appears the fact that health costs, which have risen most sharply in recent months, influenced several congressional contests.

The AMA reversal won't be the first time it has made a faulty political diagnosis. It has been a die-hard in resisting any change in medical and health care in this country and has spent millions fighting governmental participation in meeting the nation's health needs.

We can hope AMA members are better at diagnosing health ailments than the AMA is in diagnosing political issues.

By United Press International Houston Post Secretary of State Henry Kissinger has told the Indian Council of Foreign Affairs the U.S. has abandoned opposition to governments that refuse to take sides in ideological rivalry.

In the long run we are likely to win more friends with this approach than with the old policy of opposition and interference. The ultimate payoff could be responding to Soviet policy that would put detente on a much sounder foundation.

Killean (Tex.) Herald It is when integration is massive and overwhelming or when it is artificially forced that there is conflict. We see an example in Boston where children of both races are being arbitrarily taken out of their neighborhoods and bused to distant, "quotaized" schools.

Rather than permitting, or being able to permit, integration to proceed at its own natural pace on the basis of gradually increasing affluence among blacks, we are trying to compress an immensely difficult social process into a matter of months. No nation has ever done this before.

Secretary of State Henry Kissinger opened the United Nations World Food Conference with a speech we hope was not unduly optimistic. He called for the elimination of world hunger within a decade and said that we may have the 'technical capacity' to do it now.

There is no good reason why meat-eating Americans should consume five times as much grain as the average Asian, but there has been little evidence either that Americans are prepared to sacrifice one hamburger, one steak or one egg to help out, or no recommendation from the White House that they should do so.

Atlanta Daily World We were saddened when we heard the news of former President Nixon going into shock and declared by his doctors as being in a critical condition after a Vietnam tour. But we are happy to know that he is improving.

Former President Nixon gave this nation a noble and courageous leadership during the past five years, especially in extricating us from a war which was bleeding and dragging us to death. So irrespective of Watergate, we shall always have respect and appreciation for former President Nixon.

Chicago Daily News From Connecticut, where so many unusual ideas are born, comes the latest thing in hygiene: beef-flavored toothpaste for dogs. The dentist who has created it, and who doubts its effects to equip every self-respecting dog with a toothbrush eventually, says dogs have the same problems humans do with their teeth—coatings of plaque, bleeding gums and bad breath.

We've always had to let to believe that dogs were specially gifted with self-cleaning mouths. As clean as a hound's tooth is an expression handed down through generations, even creeping into the political vocabulary on occasion.

It is going to be another instance of undermining the people's faith in the wisdom of their forefathers? Our inclination is to let this sleeping dog lie.

ANDREW TULLY The Death Penalty

WASHINGTON — "Better that bunch than me" was the dry comment of a federal prosecutor on the Supreme Court's decision to consider again whether the death penalty is constitutional.

His comment was cogent and to the point. The Supreme Court's task is an unenviable one, not because the issue of capital punishment has divided great masses of the citizenry, but because the court must wade through a complicated, legalistic bag of worms.

To go back a bit: In June 1972, the court ruled by 5 to 4 that the death penalty was unconstitutional as it was then administered. Nine separate opinions were written, splitting the highest bench in several directions. Justices Potter Stewart and Byron White called the pattern of executions "freakish and discriminatory." They meant that whether a murderer was executed depended too much on circumstances, including legal maneuverings indulged in between prosecution and defense.

In North Carolina, the state supreme court promptly reinstated the death penalty by ruling that the provisions for leniency and mercy were stricken from the law. The court's decision was chamber automatic for first-degree murder, rape, burglary and arson. Last year, the state's General Assembly enacted new mandatory legislation.

Now the Supreme Court will rule sometime during its current term on the case of a convicted murderer named Jesse T. Fowler, who kills "cruel and unusual" after a dice game brawl before several witnesses including two children. The only issue is whether he can be put to death.

But within that issue lies the big catch, because the Supreme Court must decide whether mandatory death sentences for specific crimes meet the court's strict standards under the Eighth Amendment ban on cruel and unusual punishment or due process and equal protection. The court must rule whether the death penalty is ever justified, or decide on the narrow ground that North Carolina's rules for capital cases are fair.

On the side of the convicted, the argument is that mandatory death sentencing has not eliminated the arbitrariness and discrimination that the Supreme Court criticized in 1972.

Let me prosecutor speak on the subject: "It's an almost impossible situation. Take what we call prosecutorial discretion. A prosecutor should be lenient in some special cases. Take plea bargaining. This is often necessary, to get at the big offenders who ordered a killing. A suspected murderer will talk only if he can make a deal to save his own life. What happens to jury clemency? How about the pardoning powers of governors?"

There is, of course, another and more simplistic side. It is that any individual who takes a human life should be executed — period. The Supreme Court could rule that when a state law decrees death for specific crimes, no prosecutor nor governor nor jury may interfere. The grounds for such a decision would be that the law makes execution mandatory and that therefore there is no discrimination or "freakishness" in the pattern.

Indeed, the 1972 ruling did invite the states to enact new laws that made administration of capital punishment non-discriminatory. A law making execution automatic after conviction would seem a logical, if not necessarily humane, response to that invitation.

I don't happen to like capital punishment. I wish it could be abolished once and for all. But I have about reached the conclusion that the death penalty is required for certain crimes. Nothing else would have worked. Moreover, I wonder if the Founding Fathers ever considered execution as a punishment. It was not until the late 18th century that it was made a punishment. They hanged murderers almost matter-of-factly in those days.

As for 14th Amendment's guarantees of due process and equal protection under the law, the murderer is entitled to a fair trial and has the inalienable right to go the appeals route right up to the Supreme Court if he is convicted. I am not sure, but perhaps passionately, I'll echo my prosecutorial friend: Better the death be made by the Supreme Court, and not by me.

Replies To Comments About UNICEF

Dear Editor: This letter is in reply to Mr. Cannon's recent letter about UNICEF.

First of all I would like to point out that Mr. Cannon's letter contained very few facts, just his opinions with nothing to back them up. I was not a refugee, but I could have written his letter since it contained no real information.

He states that my "information" was from 10 to 22 years old. First of all, that information was based on fact, not opinion. How old was the information Mr. Cannon gave? He neglected to say.

As far as the material being discovered, what makes him think there have been any changes in the goals and purposes of the U.N. or its agencies since its inception? We have all heard the expression, history repeats itself. Is it because we have ignored the facts and let the same terrible things happen over and over again?

Mr. Cannon's letter also said I used "isolated facts." In a letter to the editor it is impossible to include even a smattering of the facts that have been discovered about the U.N. and its organizations.

Lee Roderick States Pushed to Reduce Welfare Errors

WASHINGTON — The apparent decision by President Ford to seek a complete overhaul of the nation's welfare system upstages a current campaign to reduce an alarming rate of error in the system's single largest program — a rate still hovering at more than 50 per cent in some states.

A survey completed last December by the Social & Rehabilitation Service, the federal agency in charge of welfare, has found a nationwide error rate of 41.4 per cent in the program of Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC).

A second survey, completed in June, indicated the error rate had been affected by a drive to reduce it, but was still at 37.9 per cent. Included were 9.3 per cent of cases found to be ineligible for benefits, 20.8 per cent who were being overpaid, and 8 per cent who were being underpaid.

In Connecticut, the combined error rate as of June was 27.4 per cent compared to the national average of 37.9 per cent. "Many states have farther to go in reducing errors than they are," thought said James Dwight, head of the Social & Rehabilitation Service, in a recent press briefing. "But the important point is that the states are moving on a massive basis to clean up these errors, and the rates are beginning to move downward at last."

TOM TIEDE Spiro Rises Above The Nattering Nabobs

CROFTON, Md. — (NEA) — When Spiro Agnew opened the door to the Pigeon House here the other afternoon, he was smiling. He chatted lightly with an employe, waved to somebody in the back, then sat down at a table.

NEEDED IMMEDIATELY: Kids to cut out foolish spending. Wise savers can buy their own birthday and Christmas gifts or save up enough money to buy something big. Kids can also help fight inflation. By putting money in savings and not making purchases, you might cause merchants to lower their prices if they want to sell their goods.

Also, by not buying things, the pressure on natural resources and labor use is less, and this reduces the cost of manufacturing and cuts the prices.

Mary Bacon is a female jockey who doesn't believe in 'around'. The pretty 25-year old blonde has ridden more than 300 winners. She earns more than $50,000 a year riding horses.

But it's a rough life, too. Mary has been in the hospital four times in "critical condition." In 1973 the Philadelphia Sportswriters Association named her the "Most Courageous Athlete."

She grew up in Elk City, Oklahoma, and began riding when she was five years old.

THE HERALD ANGLE

Admission Prices Just Too High

Among the phone callers this week was a woman who asked if it was correct that tickets for New York Giant football games at Yale were selling for $8 a copy. That's the price for all 70,874 seats at the concrete saucer which covers 12 1/2 acres. The caller couldn't believe the price was so high.

Giant attendance has rivaled the play on the field to date. There has been poor, the worst in years.

There are plenty of tickets available for Sunday's games against the cross-town New York Jets for the bragging rights in the big city.

Attendance at Yale home football games this fall has also fallen off at an alarming rate.

The asking admission price may be too high, too. Last Saturday's Ivy League skirmish between the Elis and Dartmouth found the reserved admission tab $7, the seats being on the sides with end zone seats going for $3.50 each.

Neither the Giant nor Yale games are worth $8 and $7 apiece.

Going into Sunday's game with the Jets the Giants can show but one win, thus, it's been a losing season and not too many fans support a losing season.

On the other end of the stick, Yale boasted a perfect season long against Pennsylvania today in Philadelphia. Thus, Yale, a winner, can't draw.

One big reason for the decline in attendance at Yale is empty ticket prices are too steep.

Incidentally, Yale's home game next Saturday against Princeton will find the ticket sale $7 and $3.50 again and the Yale-Harvard encounter at Cambridge in two weeks will be $9 for all ducaats. Should Yale and Harvard both go unbeaten until the finale, Soldier Field will no doubt be packed to its 37,289 capacity.

Notes Off the Cuff

Raiders Nearing Western Honors

NEW YORK (UPI) — It could be clear sailing all the way to the playoffs for the Oakland Raiders after Sunday. The Raiders have won seven games in a row after an 21-0 opening loss to Buffalo and are running away with the American Conference Western Division race. They lead second-place Denver by 3 1/2 games and a victory Sunday over the Detroit Lions would leave Oakland at least 3 1/2 ahead with just five games to go, an almost insurmountable lead.

All eight of the Lions' games have been close. They lost their first four by margins of eight, one, two and three points and won their next four by four, four, two and five points. Bill Munson has taken control at quarterback for first-year Coach Rick Forzano's Lions and is having his best season since 1968.

In other games Sunday, Pittsburgh is at Cincinnati, Houston at Buffalo, Washington at Philadelphia, Miami at New Orleans, Cleveland at New England, San Francisco at Dallas, Atlanta at Los Angeles, Denver at Baltimore, San Diego at Kansas City, Chicago meets Green Bay at Milwaukee and the New York Jets and the New York Giants play in New Haven, Conn. ## NHL Victory Pleases Coach

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Atlanta Flames, with goalie Phil Myre knocking away 34 shots, defeated Chicago 2-0 Friday night, look over second place in Division 1 of the National Hockey League and pleased cantankerous Coach Bernie Geoffrion.

"It was real playoff hockey," grumbled Geoffrion. "Any time you beat the Black Hawks, standing. It was a great team effort and a great victory."

It was the only game Friday night in the NHL.

In the World Hockey Association, the New England Whalers ran their winning streak to seven games by beating the San Diego Mariners 3-0, and the Cleveland Crusaders edged the Vancouver Blazers 2-1.

Price Stunned
INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Jim Price, like most of the Los Angeles Lakers, was stunned.

"I guess that's life in this league," said Price after being informed he had been traded to Milwaukee for Lucius Allen Friday night. "Nothing is definite."

Price, a third-year guard, had just led the Lakers with 26 points in a 117-105 loss to the New York Knicks. He was the Lakers' second-leading scorer with a 20.8 average and their leader in assists with a 7.5 average.

"I'm going to fight again in six months, and I want Foreman and Frazier the same night — Foreman first because he'll go fastest," Ali told a crowd welcoming him back to Kentucky and the city in which he grew up.

Ali Challenge

Qualifying for the State CIAC Open Cross Country Championships at the University of Connecticut was East Catholic with a third place finish in the Class M Meet yesterday at Timberline Golf Course in Berlin. The Eagles compiled 174 points, placing behind champion Farmington with 52 points and Waterford with 72 points.

Leading the Eagle lineups was junior Mark Skehan with a 19th placement. Senior Jim Guiletti started strongly running in the top four for half the race but faded to a 35th placement. Running the best of their careers, John Joe Stamp and sophomore Luke O'Connor garnered 36th and 38th placements respectively. Junior Jeff Barinkas placed 46th rounding out the Eagles scoring.

Senior Ed Dana lost a shoe at the outset of the race and gamely placed 55th. Freshman standout Brett Jones also ran well placing 71th.

'Crazy Sam' Started Slow But Now in High Gear

His teammates call him "Crazy Sam," his opponent, especially the University of New Haven, use less endearing terms.

Steve Samotis is a 5-7, 165-pound sophomore halfback out of Manchester at Western Connecticut State College in Danbury. He has been named by big college standards, but it doesn't bother his speed or agility, both of which were late in blooming this year.

"To be frank," said Head Coach Dave Rice, "I was personally disappointed in Steve's work the early part of this year. He saw just spot duty against New York Tech and he didn't make the road trip to Georgetown. He even played in our last junior varsity game."

"But all this had a beneficial effect. Steve apparently saw the handwriting on the wall. He had two good weeks of practice, and then came off the bench against New Haven to give a super performance."

Samotis made up for his slow start by gaining 138 yards in 12 carries against New Haven, setting school records for most yards rushing and most yards per carry (11.3). He now ranks second for the season in team rushing.

Now, everything has changed. Will he start this Saturday? "Absolutely. He earned it," said Rice, "as long as a player performs in practice and in games — he plays."

Rice said his team this year is loaded with offensive backs.

"When you have three or four guys at a halfback or tailback, you look for the guy who's going to put out the most for you. You're not looking for the guy, but the performance. Steve obviously had a good one last week."

Score Two for Celts' John Havlicek
Pistons' Chris Ford and Dave Bing (21) Watch Action

Pistons Nip Celts, Gain Western Lead

NEW YORK (UPI) — Beating the world champion Boston Celtics on their home court would, for most folks, be sweet enough.

For the Detroit Pistons, however, Friday's one-point victory over the National Basketball Association champs was doubly satisfying — it enabled them to move into first place in the NBA's western division.

With veteran guard Dave Bing leading the way with 30 points, the Pistons took advantage of the Celtics' depleted front court (still minus Dave Cowens) and eked out a 105-104 win to move a half-game ahead of KC-Omaha in the west.

Elsewhere in NBA action, Philadelphia drubbed Portland 105-89, Phoenix edged New Orleans 105-102 and the New York Knicks downed Los Angeles 117-105. In the ABA, the New York Nets downed Memphis 104-102 and St. Louis beat Denver 132-121.

Detroit led 78-69 going into the final period and had to hold off a late Boston surge led by John Havlicek's eight points. Big Bob Lanier had a field day with the Cowens-less Boston front court, pouring in 27 points and picking up 20 rebounds. Havlicek, whose six points in the final two minutes pulled the Celtics to within the eventual 105-104 final, topped all scorers with 36 points.

"We tried just about every combination of personnel, but it just didn't click for us tonight," lamented Celtic coach Tom Heinsohn. "Usually we can find someone to help out, but not tonight."

76ers 105, Blazers 89

Steve Mix scored a game-high 36 points and the 76ers reeled off 22 straight points to open up a 52-30 lead with a minute remaining in the first half. Portland never threatened after that. Billy Cunningham had 19 for Philadelphia, while Sidney Wicks was high for the Blazers with 23.

Suns 105, Jazz 102

Charlie Scott sank a seven-foot jump shot in the final seven seconds to give Phoenix the victory and deal the witless Jazz their 11th straight NBA loss. Scott was high scorer with 36 points while Pete Maravich showed some of his old sparkle to pace the Jazz with 29.

Knicks 117, Lakers 105

Bill Bradley had a season-high 32 points to lead the Knicks past Los Angeles. Bradley hit 15-of-16 shots and New York hit 68 per cent of its shots in the first half to put the game out of reach. Jim Price had 26 and Connie Hawkins 24 for the Lakers.

Nets 104, Sounds 102

Julius Erving sank two free throws with five seconds left to assure the Nets of the victory. A three-point play at the buzzer by Rick Mount, his score as close as it was. Erving led all scorers with 26 points and teammate Brian Taylor had 20. George Carter had 24 for Memphis and Mount 22.

Spirits 132, Nuggets 121

Go Kennedy came off the bench to spark the Spirits with a career-high 24 points.

Rose Bowl Opponents Remain Only Mystery

NEW YORK (UPI) — With the premature announcements this week of major college bowl pairings, the Rose Bowl has surprisingly emerged as the only post-season classic with any mystery left.

In past years the bowl committees have been forced to wait until the third week in November to announce their selections. But the NCAA dropped that stipulation from its by-laws this year, and although an agreement was supposedly reached between the various bowl committees to wait until Nov. 16 to announce pairings, most of the bowls jumped the gun this past week by naming their opponents.

Of the nation's 15 top-ranked clubs, seven have already been named to appear in post-season games. Second-ranked Alabama and fifth-ranked Notre Dame will be opponents in the Orange Bowl, sixth-ranked Penn State will go to the Cotton Bowl, seventh-ranked Florida and eighth-ranked Nebraska are headed for the Sugar Bowl, 13th-ranked Houston will play in the Astro-Fluorid Bowl and 15th-ranked Maryland is going to the Liberty Bowl.

Of the other eight ranked clubs, at least seven will be going to post-season games. Fourth-ranked Texas A&M and 10th-ranked Texas are still in contention for the Southwest Conference title and a berth in the Cotton Bowl, with the runnerup virtually assured of a spot in the Gator Bowl.

Ninth-ranked Auburn, which still has a shot at the SEC title, looks to be the other Gator Bowl representative.

Twelfth-ranked Miami of Ohio and 14th-ranked Pittsburgh also seem headed for post-season action. Miami will probably end up in the Tangerine Bowl while Pittsburgh is still a candidate for the Liberty and Fiesta Bowls.

Nothing, however, is definite about the Rose Bowl, which is the oldest post-season game. The participants, as

Morris Returns, Faces Heavy Fine

MIAMI (UPI) — Dolphin running back Mercury Morris will be fined heavily for walking out on the Dolphins this week, but was welcomed back Friday mainly because his need, when the Dolphins face the New Orleans Saints Sunday.

"Four of the five running backs we had left were hurting. I felt I owed it to the rest of the team to bring Merc back," Coach Don Shula said.

The decision to reinstate the Dolphins' speedy outside running threat came just 24 hours after Morris was "definitely" dropped from the team. The decision to take Morris back came after a note conversation between Shula and Morris at the Biscayne College practice field.

Morris was back on the Dolphin field Friday, his suspension lifted and his availability assured for Sunday's game against the Saints.

"I'd feel pretty bad if we were to come up short in a game because of a suspension I'd imposed on a player," Shula said.

He added he was surprised at Morris' reaction to the disciplinary action taken after he was absent for treatment of an ailing left knee Monday and Tuesday.

Morris walked out of camp Wednesday after a heated conference with Shula, apparently over the missed treatment sessions.

"It was all a mis-understanding," Morris said before taking the field Friday. "I'm ready to play football."

Shula said Morris acknowledged he was wrong in not reporting for treatment. "I admitted his mistake. I felt the way he responded and the way he handled himself, he was genuinely sorry," Shula said.

"I didn't want to be sub-

Behind in Payment

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — The financially-troubled Birmingham Americans were warned Friday to pay $14,000 in county sales taxes and Jefferson County would seek to halt the remaining football game at Legion Field.

A letter from the county attorney gave the World Football League franchise one day to pay the back taxes. There was no immediate response from club owners.

The Americans also owe $90,000 in state sales taxes and an additional $14,000 in city sales taxes, but the two other governmental units reportedly have agreed to accept a delayed payment.

Mayor George Seibles said the city is not subsidizing the Americans, but he wanted to help them because "the Americans have been good for this city. They've provided more of a spark than I have seen in a long time."

Club owner Bill Putnam said the team, unlike other NFL franchises, was not in a deepening financial trouble. The Chicago Fire, Charlotte Hornets and the Jacksonville Sharks are all defunct for financial reasons and players with the Portland Storm have said they won't take the field again without being paid.

"It's a same problem we had six months ago," Putnam said. "We've raised $175,000 locally and the cost of going into business is much more than that."

He said the city sales taxes would be paid "as soon as we get a loan." Seibles also said the City Parks and Recreation Board would turn over about $10,000 to the Americans that was taken in as security for season ticket buyers in case the franchise did not complete the season.

BRIDGEPORT (UPI) — Forward Tom Boken, from Bridgeport, and guard Bill Bragdon, from Belle Harbor, N.Y., have been elected captains of the 1974-75 University of Bridgeport basketball team.

Boken averaged 8.5 points per game and Bragdon maintained a 7.5 scoring average last year. Anyone interested in coaching either the Pee Wees, Midgets or Juniors should contact Steve Kelly in person at the East Side Rec Center.

CNG Reports High Earnings

Connecticut Natural Gas Corp. earned $4,556,000 during the 12 months ended Sept. 30, compared with $4,128,000 in the preceding 12 months, the company has announced.

After deduction of preferred dividend, these earnings were equal to $4.13 per common share compared with $4.04 a year ago, the company said.

All figures are on a pooling of interests basis including operations of the Greenwich Gas Co., which merged with CNG Aug. 30.

Combined CNG revenues for the 12 months ended Sept. 30 were $46.2 million, compared with $43.5 million a year ago.

Robert Willis, CNG chairman and president, said the modest earnings improvement is partly due to deferral of some purchased gas costs.

Willis said CNG believes it will be able to meet customer needs this winter, providing the federal government's contract not result in pipeline curtailments.

Industronics Opens Warehouse

Several town and state officials were on hand when South Windsor's Industronics Inc. officially opened a 62,000-square-foot addition to its warehouse facilities on Sullivan Ave.

The new addition, completed in September, is expected to accommodate the company's anticipated expansion over the next five to ten years.

Company President Allan Caffyn said, "We consider our success in completing this new warehouse so rapidly a coordinated effort on the part of our contractors, the Connecticut Development Corp., various South Windsor agencies and town officials."

Robert Bruce, South Windsor economic development consultant, said Industronics and the Town of South Windsor have demonstrated what can be accomplished when industry and local citizens work hand in hand.

In the last eight years, Industronics has grown from 2,000 square feet of rented space to 94,000 square feet of manufacturing and warehousing at 489 Sullivan Ave. The firm has become a leader in rebuilding industrial instruments, furnaces, and ovens.

Industronics came to South Windsor in 1965 from Indian Orchard, Mass., and by 1966 the firm had already outgrown its rented facility on Mascolo Rd.

In 1967 the company occupied a 10,000-square-foot building on Sullivan Ave., and in 1970 it built a 20,000-square-foot addition to that structure.

The firm can now provide its ultrasonic inspection, magnetic particle and dye penetrant inspection and radiographic services "on location," Dunn said.

Metals Testing Expands Work - Metals Testing Co. Inc. of South Windsor has expanded its laboratory independent with certified inspection and non-destructive testing, has capabilities in order to offer field operations according to Frank W. Dunn, company president.

The firm has now provided its ultrasonic inspection, magnetic particle and dye penetrant inspection and radiographic services "on location," Dunn said. Metals Testing has been authorized by the general performance radiographic inspection using Iridium 192 and Cobalt 60, Dunn said.

The firm designs and executes technical tests of products ranging from automobile tires to sophisticated jet aircraft components.

Mrs. Schaffer Hopes Men Will Seek Job

HARTFORD (UPI) - Secretary of the State Gloria Schaffer says her job has been held by women for too long and she hopes someone a man will run for the office. In a broadcast interview Friday, Mrs. Schaffer said it is too early to discuss her future political plans. In Tuesday's election, Mrs. Schaffer proved to be an even bigger vote getter than gubernatorial nominee Ella Grasso. There has been speculation that she might seek the Democratic nomination in 1976 to challenge Sen. Lowell P. Weicker, R-Conn. A decision of that magnitude is still a year and a half away, she said. Asked whether she would like to work with a woman governor, Mrs. Schaffer said Mrs. Grasso, who served as secretary of state for 12 years, would be more sympathetic to the problems of the job than Gov. Thomas J. Meserve. On the question of whether a man should run for secretary of the state, she said, "I hope to see it someday. For too long this office has been the domain of the female chauvinist pigs. It may be because the word secretary is used."

Charter Oak Bridge To Get New Surface

A state transportation department project designed to make the Charter Oak Bridge smooth again is scheduled to start next week to minimize traffic tie-ups on the Hartford-to-East Hartford structure. The pavement milling project is scheduled for one lane at a time starting Monday night. The work will be done between 10 p.m. and 6 a.m. each day next week. State Transportation Commissioner Joseph Burns said the milling procedure, already used successfully on highways around New Haven, will provide a smooth and even travel surface. "Repeated applications of bituminous pavements over a period of years result in a buildup of materials which cause ripples and rough riding surfaces and increase the dead load on structures," Burns said, explaining the need for the work.

Malpractice Award Set At $427,122

HARTFORD (UPI) - A six-member jury Friday brought in a malpractice verdict of $427,122, believed to be the largest in Connecticut history, against two Southington doctors. The jurors said Dr. Herbert J. Douglas and Thomas Duda, who practice at Bracey Memorial Hospital in Southington, were negligent during surgery as a result of which Richard W. Gardner, 37, of Plainville, died. Court records showed that Duda performed the surgery and Douglas the anesthesia, Sept. 13, 1972. Gardner, a foreman at the United Aircraft Corp. plant in Middletown, was operated on for removal of two benign tumors from his left shoulder and chest. According to testimony, Gardner's heart stopped during the operation and he was without oxygen for six or seven minutes. As a result, his brain was severely damaged and he died Oct. 18, 1972, at the veteran's hospital in West Haven. Witnesses testified during the 10-week trial that Douglas removed a blood pressure gauge from Gardner's arm after only one tumor had been removed and thus failed to notice the heart stoppage. Further, it was testified, Duda continued removing the second tumor, even though there was no bleeding, a sign that the heart had stopped beating. Witnesses said the heart failure wasn't discovered until the end of the operation when a surgical drape was removed from Gardner's body, which had turned black from the waist up. The jury rejected negligence claims against the hospital, Dr. Ambrose Alfonsi, chief of surgery at the hospital, and Dr. Eugene Silman of Meriden, an internal medicine specialist. The five men and one woman deliberated from noon Thursday to 3 p.m. Friday. Defense attorneys immediately filed motions to set aside the verdict as excessive and contrary to law and the evidence.

WATERGATE Coverup Appeal Denied

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Supreme Court today refused to consider arguments by Watergate cover-up defendant H.R. Haldeman that he and four co-defendants were indicted illegally. Haldeman had contended that the Watergate grand jury which indicted him was illegally sitting past the normal 18-month grand jury term. He said the charges against him should be dismissed. U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica ruled today that Haldeman's possible reference on June 23, 1972 to "Gestations" - the code word for the Watergate bugging - will be read as unintelligible in transcripts given to the Watergate cover-up jury. Sirica's ruling was a victory for Haldeman, the former White House chief of staff whose lawyers contended he never used the word "Gestations" during his tape recorded White House conversation with Nixon on June 23. Sirica also denied motions by former Attorney General John N. Mitchell for a mistrial and by Kenneth W. Parkinson for a separate trial in the cover-up proceedings.

BULLETIN WASHINGTON (UPI) - Richard M. Nixon apparently agreed to H.R. Haldeman's suggestion on June 23, 1972, to tell the FBI to "stay the hell out" of the Watergate investigation, according to a tape played today in the Watergate cover-up trial. Sirica also denied motions by former Attorney General John N. Mitchell for a mistrial and by Kenneth W. Parkinson for a separate trial in the cover-up proceedings.

COAL Late Talks Won't Avert Strike

WASHINGTON (UPI) - A nationwide strike by coal miners is set for midnight tonight, but negotiators hope today's last-minute talks will shorten the walkout. Most miners are closed today anyway for the Veterans Day holiday. Those that were open pay overtime at triple time rates. Today's bargaining does not delay a strike, which is expected to last at least two weeks. It would take about 10 days for miners to ratify a new contract, even if one were approved in today's bargaining. Miners remain on strike during the vote because of a no contract, no work policy. "I think there's some encouraging developments in Sunday's talks. "We settled; I think, one of the major areas of the contract," Guy Farmer, chief negotiator for the Bituminous Coal Operators Association, said. Farmer did not say what dispute was resolved, but he indicated it was a non-economic issue.

UTILITIES Rate Revision Urged

HARTFORD (UPI) - Rate schemes for Connecticut utilities must be modernized, but in such a way so that it will not disrupt the economic balance of the utilities or the state, according to the state's energy chief. Lynn Alan Brooks, director of the state Energy Agency, said Sunday the changes must be carried out slowly and on a regional basis, so that industries will not be driven away to other states and consumers will not be affected harshly. Brooks also said the state Public

SUGAR We'll Just Make It

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The world's sugar supply has increased only one per cent this year and there will be just enough to meet world demand, according to Agriculture Department experts. The experts predict the worldwide sugar crop in 1974-1975 will end up around 81.1 million metric tons - about two million tons below earlier projections. But estimates place demand at 81 million tons. According to the new forecasts, beet sugar production was expected to be down about 1.4 million tons from 1973-1974 levels. Cane sugar output was expected to

CANCER The Odds Are Better for Survival

NEW YORK (UPI) - The American Cancer Society says about 222,000 Americans will be saved from cancer in 1975. Another 111,000 will probably die who might have been saved through earlier and better treatment. In a report titled "Facts and Figures, 1975," the society said lung cancer, the No. 1 cancer killer among American men, has moved up from fourth to third as a cancer killer of women. In 1975, some 17,600 women are expected to die as a result of lung cancer - 2,100 more than in 1974.

Survival Said Dependent on Vets

By SOL R. COHEN "America survives because they, the veterans, did what was necessary," said State Sen. David Odegaard today. "The veterans accepted their responsibilities, did a tough job and were willing to sacrifice, as circumstances might require."

Odegaard spoke at 11 a.m. at Veterans Day ceremonies in Manchester - held in front of Manchester Memorial Hospital. At noon, a second ceremony was conducted at Veterans' Field in East Concord, where a new flag pole was dedicated. Manchester Memorial Hospital was opened Nov. 11, 1920, as a memorial to the 1,242 local men and women who served in World War I. Until the mid-1940s, Nov. 11 was observed as Armistice Day - to commemorate the signing of the World War I armistice, at 11 a.m. on Nov. 11, 1918. When the hospital was dedicated, 43 trees were planted on its grounds - in memory of the 43 Manchester men who lost their lives from wounds and disease in World War I. "The responsibility of seeing that freedom survives - the same freedom for which our veterans fought - is hard for Americans to understand," said Odegaard. "We think of freedom as being the natural state of mankind. It is not. It is a fragile thing, a rare occurrence in recorded
