Mrs. Schaffer Hopes Men Will Seek Job

HARTFORD (UPI) - Secretary of the State Gloria Schaffer says her job has been held by women for too long and she hopes someone a man will run for the office. In a broadcast interview Friday, Mrs. Schaffer said it is too early to discuss her future political plans. In Tuesday's election, Mrs. Schaffer proved to be an even bigger vote getter than gubernatorial nominee Ella Grasso. There has been speculation that she might seek the Democratic nomination in 1976 to challenge Sen. Lowell P. Weicker, R-Conn. "A decision of that magnitude is still a year and a half away," she said. Asked whether she would like to work with a woman governor, Mrs. Schaffer said Mrs. Grasso, who served as secretary of state for 12 years, would be more sympathetic to the problems of the job than Gov. Thomas J. Meserole. "On the question of whether a man should run for secretary of the state, she said, 'I hope to see it someday. For too long this office has been the domain of the female chauvinist pigs. It may be because the word secretary is used.'

Charter Oak Bridge To Get New Surface

A state transportation department project designed to make the Charter Oak Bridge smooth again is scheduled to start next week to minimize traffic tie-ups on the Hartford-to-East Hartford structure. The pavement milling project is scheduled for one lane at a time starting Monday night. The work will be done between 10 p.m. and 6 a.m. each day next week. State Transportation Commissioner Joseph Burns said the milling procedure, already used successfully on highways around New Haven, will provide a smooth and even travel surface. "Repeated applications of bituminous pavements over a period of years result in a buildup of materials which cause ripples and rough riding surfaces and increase the dead load on structures," Burns said, explaining the need for the work.

Malpractice Award Set At $427,122

HARTFORD (UPI) - A six-member jury Friday brought in a malpractice verdict of $427,122, believed to be the largest in Connecticut history, against two Southington doctors. The jurors said Dr. Herbert J. Douglas and Thomas Duda, who practice at Bracey Memorial Hospital in Southington, were negligent during surgery as a result of which Richard W. Gardner, 37, of Plantville, died.

Court records showed that Duda performed the surgery and Douglas the anesthesia, Sept. 13, 1972. Gardner, a foreman at the United Aircraft Corp. plant in Middletown, was operated on for removal of two benign tumors from his left shoulder and chest. According to testimony, Gardner's heart stopped during the operation and he was without oxygen for six or seven minutes. As a result, his brain was severely damaged and he died Oct. 18, 1972, at the veteran's hospital in West Haven.

Witnesses testified during the 10-week trial that Douglas removed a blood pressure gauge from Gardner's arm after only one tumor had been removed and thus failed to notice the heart stoppage. Further, it was testified, Duda continued removing the second tumor, even though there was no bleeding, a sign that the heart had stopped beating. Witnesses said the heart failure wasn't discovered until the end of the operation when a surgical drape was removed from Gardner's body, which had turned black from the waist up.

The jury rejected negligence claims against the hospital, Dr. Ambrose Alfonsi, chief of surgery at the hospital, and Dr. Eugene Silman of Meriden, an internal medicine specialist. The five men and one woman deliberated from noon Thursday to 3 p.m. Friday. Defense attorneys immediately filed motions to set aside the verdict as excessive and contrary to law and the evidence.

WATERGATE Coverup Appeal Denied

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Supreme Court today refused to consider arguments by Watergate cover-up defendant H.R. Haldeman that he and four co-defendants were indicted illegally.

Haldeman had contended that the Watergate grand jury which indicted him was illegally sitting past the normal 18-month grand jury term. He said the charges against him should be dismissed.

U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica ruled today that Haldeman's possible reference on June 23, 1972 to "Gestations" - the code word for the Watergate bugging - will be read as unintelligible in transcripts given to the Watergate cover-up jury.

Sirica's ruling was a victory for Haldeman, the former White House chief of staff whose lawyers contended he never used the word "Gestations" during his tape recorded White House conversation with Nixon on June 23.

Sirica also denied motions by former Attorney General John N. Mitchell for a mistrial and by Kenneth W. Parkinson for a separate trial in the cover-up proceedings.

BULLETIN WASHINGTON (UPI) - Richard M. Nixon apparently agreed to H.R. Haldeman's suggestion on June 23, 1972, to tell the FBI to "stay the hell out" of the Watergate investigation, according to a tape played today in the Watergate cover-up trial.

COAL Late Talks Won't Avert Strike

WASHINGTON (UPI) - A nationwide strike by coal miners is set for midnight tonight, but negotiators hope today's last-minute talks will shorten the walkout. Most miners are closed today anyway for the Veterans Day holiday. Those that were open pay overtime at triple time rates. Today's bargaining does not delay a strike, which is expected to last at least two weeks. It would take about 10 days for miners to ratify a new contract, even if one were approved in today's bargaining. Miners remain on strike during the vote because of a no contract, no work policy. "I think there are some encouraging developments in Sunday's talks."

UTILITIES Rate Revision Urged

HARTFORD (UPI) - Rate schemes for Connecticut utilities must be modernized, but in such a way so that it will not disrupt the economic balance of the utilities or the state, according to the state's energy chief. Lynn Alan Brooks, director of the state Energy Agency, said Sunday the changes must be carried out slowly and on a regional basis, so that industries will not be driven away to other states and consumers will not be affected harshly. Brooks also said the state Public miners to ratify a new contract, even if one were approved in today's bargaining. Miners remain on strike during the vote because of a no contract, no work policy. "I think there are some encouraging developments in Sunday's talks."

He said rather than commissioning studies about the most efficient and fair rate system, Connecticut should look at other states that already have conducted such studies or experimental programs themselves.

When asked whether he opposed construction of an oil refinery in Connecticut, Brooks said he was "open minded," adding he is leaning favorably now because no one has shown him facts to the contrary.

Arnold Miller, president of the 120,000 member United Mine Workers of America, said negotiators reached agreement on some issues. "We're getting closer. I think it's sort of a compromise on both sides."

"We continued to make progress," Farmer added. "That's the name of the game. I'm encouraged... we settled a lot of differences. We're not too many days away from the settlement."

Energy reduction measures publicized at the height of the shortage early this year have taken root among Connecticut consumers, he said, with gasoline and natural gas usage down by about four per cent in August compared to the same month last year. Brooks said he expected to see small increases in the price of heating fuel, "but nothing dramatic."

SUGAR We'll Just Make It

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The world's sugar supply has increased only one per cent this year and there will be just enough to meet world demand, according to Agriculture Department experts. The experts predict the worldwide sugar crop in 1974-1975 will end up around 81.1 million metric tons - about two million tons below earlier projections. But estimates place demand at 81 million tons. According to the new forecasts, beet sugar production was expected to be down about 1.4 million tons from 1973-1974 levels. Cane sugar output was expected to rise by about two million tons, leaving a net increase of 600,000 tons - one per cent over last year's record crop. The Agriculture Department's Foreign Agricultural Service said world sugar consumption should also set a new record this year, but high prices would slow the rate of increase. With the price of sugar already at record levels, the government has announced plans to investigate pricing policies and the threat of major domestic suppliers. Although consumption estimates are

"Mechamed Ali Tabao, Libya's Agriculture Minister, said Libya was ready to allocate part of its oil income for international investment in agriculture projects of developing countries but only on condition that the big powers abandon their unlimited spending on wars."

Coal negotiations began Sept. 3 with the union presenting about 200 demands. Utility plants have an estimated average coal reserve of under 80 days. Coal negotiations began Sept. 3 with the union presenting about 200 demands.

CANCER The Odds Are Better for Survival

NEW YORK (UPI) - The American Cancer Society says about 222,000 Americans will be saved from cancer in 1975. Another 111,000 will probably die who might have been saved through earlier and better treatment. In a report titled "Facts and Figures, 1975," the society said lung cancer, the No. 1 cancer killer among American men, has moved up from fourth to third as a cancer killer of women.

Breast cancer in 1975 will continue as the No. 1 cancer killer of women, with 30,000 deaths. This is the type of cancer that recently struck President Ford's wife, Betty, and vice president-designate Nelson Rockefeller's wife, Happy. For both sexes, malignancies of the colon and rectum are the No. 2 cancer killers. Surgeons estimate heavy cigarette smoking causes at least 80 per cent of lung cancers. "Facts Figures" reiterates the society's main battle plan - early detection - in the war on cancer. Other highlights of the report:

The survival rate in cancer is one in three. In the 1930s fewer than one in five were being saved. In the 1950s one in four was being saved. The gain to one in three means the saving of an additional 35,000 lives a year. The death rate for men since 1930 has risen by over 40 per cent, due mainly to a 2,000 per cent increase for lung cancer, a highly preventable disease. Since 1949 more men than women have been dying from cancer each year. In about 1975 the ratio was about 55 to 45. During 1973 an estimated one million Americans will be under medical care for Cancer is the leading cause of death among women aged 30 to 64. More school children die of cancer than from any other disease. In 1975 cancer will take the lives of about 3,500 children under the age of 13. About half will die of acute leukemia. The over-all incidence of cancer among men is increasing but among black men the incidence is substantially higher. The cancer mortality per 100,000 has gone up 50 per cent for black men against 48 per cent for white men. In black men, the mortality rate has been declining but by three per cent, while going down nine per cent among white women. More than half of all deaths are among persons over 65.

Survival Said Dependent on Vets

By SOL R. COHEN "America survives because they, the veterans, did what was necessary," said State Sen. David Odagard today. "The veterans accepted their responsibilities, did a tough job and were willing to sacrifice, as circumstances might require."

Odagard spoke at 11 a.m. at Veterans Day ceremonies in Manchester - held in front of Manchester Memorial Hospital. At noon, a second ceremony was conducted at Veterans' Field in East Cemetery, where a new flag pole was dedicated.

temperature and with only a wisp of a wind blowing. "The responsibility of seeing that freedom survives - the same freedom for which our veterans fought - is hard for Americans to understand," said Odagard. "We think of freedom as being the natural state of mankind. It is not. It is a fragile thing, a rare occurrence in recorded history, and it is threatened today as it always has been. "Odagard praised those others who "contributed to our survival and to the survival of freedom." He mentioned, "the clergy, politicians, industrial and service workers, managers and industrialists, investors, writers - among a never-ending list and with each indispensable."

FOOD Oil Producers Pledge Dollars

ROME (UPI) - Libya and Kuwait, two of the world's major oil-producing nations, today promised part of their 1,242 local men and women who served in World War I. Until the mid-1940s, Nov. 11 was observed as Armistice Day - to commemorate the signing of the World War I armistice, at 11 a.m. on Nov. 11, 1918. When the hospital was dedicated, 43 per capita income, pledged to donate 5,000 tons of fertilizers to developing nations and said it was ready to increase its contributions to financing agricultural projects. The United States and other developed nations have partly blamed the world food crisis on oil-price increases which have skyrocketed the price of fertilizer. The Arab oil producers have denied the oil price hikes had anything to do with hunger. At the conference went into its second day, the only point of agreement among the 130 nations attending was that there is, indeed, a hunger problem in the world. "We are getting nowhere fast," one conference official said. "There is a dramatic about-face in the last days, there will be no decisions made and the conference will fail."

Post Attacks Overspending

ANDOVER

The townspeople of Andover are being hounded by the present town administration in a precedent set by David Yeomans, first selectman, when he overspent his budget by $17,000 and got away with it," said Robert Post, former first selectman.

Post said since that time other branches of the town government have been overspending their budgets preparing to come to the townspeople for more money.

"We can stop this bandwagon of the overspenders by attending town meetings and voting down the unnecessary expenditures," Post said.

Post said that at a town meeting a couple of months ago those present found out that Yeomans had overspent his budget by $17,000. He said Yeomans asked the townspeople to appropriate the needed money. The people rejected the request on the first vote.

"With the help of his brother, John Yeomans, Board of Finance chairman, and his niece, Katherine Hutson, town attorney, he was given the needed funds after a second vote," Post said.

A few days later the first selectman needed an additional $4,000 which was paid by the finance board with unspent funds from other budgets, Post said.

Since that time the Board of Fire Commissioners requested funds needed for repairs to a tank truck and brought it to a Town Meeting after the repairs were done, Post said.

Members Will Decide FISH Fate Tuesday

VERNON

The fate of the Vernon FISH program will be decided at a membership meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m. at First Federal Savings, Park Pl., Rockville.

A vote was to be taken at an Oct. 15 meeting as to whether or not the organization should disband due to a lack of help. Only five persons attended the meeting and it was decided to have those five persons poll the membership and then to call another meeting.

Mrs. Ruth Salt, acting chairman, said the response was very good to the poll. Most members indicated they are still interested in helping. She said some people not previously involved, called to offer help after seeing the article in The Herald.

The organization has the money to keep going. Persons who wish to offer their time only have to do so one day a month just to be available if a call does come in.

Veterans Day

Today is Veterans Day in Connecticut.

The General Assembly, at the request of state veterans organizations, has returned the annual observance to its traditional Nov. 11 which is the anniversary date of the Armistice ending World War I.

Still part of the nation continues to mark the day on the fourth Monday in October but there is a strong move on to restore Nov. 11 as Veterans Day nationally.

Originally Armistice Day, Nov. 11 became Veterans Day after World War II.

Unlike Memorial Day, which is dedicated to recalling the memories of those who died in the service of the nation, Veterans Day is intended to give recognition to those who served and lived through the nation's recent wars.

Particular recognition should be given to those who suffer disabilities and other handicaps because of their service.

For while their sacrifice may not be as great as those who gave their lives, it is most assuredly a greater sacrifice than that of those who served and through divine providence came through unscathed.

The distinction of a being a veteran today is somewhat a dubious one because the failure of mankind to live at peace has produced many veterans in the past three decades.

Despite the agony we still suffer over our involvement in Vietnam, we think today, on Veterans Day, we should all pause and give thanks, not only to all our surviving veterans of all our wars, but for the blessing of a free society which these men and women, through their service, have preserved for us.

We expect the observance of Veterans Day will be a quiet one because by and large today's veterans, with all the pride inherent in the past service to their country, are like most of us. They are too busy with the day-to-day problems of jobs, family and community.

In a sense, this preoccupation with daily life is perhaps the most fitting way to observe Veterans Day. Wars may be won on the battlefields but the battle for peace begins with each of us in our family, community, and other human relationships. The guns are silent for the moment but each of us in our own way continues and must continue to seek the universal peace that still eludes us.

RAY CROMLEY Campaign Reform At The Grass Roots

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The U.S. Congress has a great deal to learn from some state legislation on writing election campaign laws. And more to learn from public referendums such as that held in California.

In Texas, California and Washington, citizens can file lawsuits to force candidates to comply with financial disclosures.

In at least one state, contributions are limited to individuals. No special interest or public interest groups, no corporations or unions can give money to candidates, either directly or through separate permanent political committees.

One state not only requires lobbyists to make detailed reports of expenditures but prohibits them from making any type of political contribution.

A number of legislatures require that officials and candidates make available their personal financial records and, in addition, have set up monitoring committees to make certain complete, accurate reports are turned in on time.

One state allows political committees to donate to candidates only those funds collected from members within the candidate's own district. That same state prohibits contributions from any one individual or group greater than 5 per cent of a candidate's spending limitation.

One state not only requires business firms and labor unions to set up separate political committees if they want to donate to candidates; it also requires that these political groups make a clear distinction between their organization and financial support of candidates and their lobbying of legislators and officials in the executive branch. The financing of these two types of operation must be clearly separated.

The above, of course, is a summary of some of the provisions enacted by some of the states. These restrictions and others, including limits on campaign financing and regulations requiring the public disclosure of donors, are by no means uniform or universal. Most have been enacted or improved in the past two years as a result, presumably, of Watergate. In total, 47 state legislatures have passed some sort of financial disclosure legislation; numbers are in the process of expanding the right of private citizen access to what goes on in legislative committee meetings.

The Nixon Syndrome

CLAREMONT, Calif. — The decision — to visit or not to visit — couldn't have been an easy one for President Ford and his advisers. It became a complex set of questions — of how people feel about his physical and mental health, about whether the final truth will ever come out, about his ranking among the Presidents and his place in history.

Gerald Ford's decision to visit the stricken Richard Nixon was in the end a human and not a political decision. Actually, it was the right political decision also because it was the right human decision. Since he was already in the Los Angeles area, a decision not to visit Nixon would have seemed curious since it would have been so strongly out of character.

Political critics might say that the critical illness of Richard Nixon led President Ford partially off the hook for the pardon. Mr. Ford always said there was an element of compassion for a broken man in his pardon decision. In a sense, this has been partially validated by Nixon's close call and the credit for the doctors gave Mr. Ford for his "feeling softness."

The tough-minded would call the first feeling softness.

The sensibility-minded would call the second feeling hardness of heart.

In the nation as a whole, there has been a shift in focus on the Nixon syndrome from the question of his complicity and guilt — now pretty well settled — to the question of how people feel about him and his fate.

One evidence of the shift is the relative calm about the Watergate cover trial in Washington. What had been billed as the climactic event of the Nixon syndrome, Watergate, second only to a trial of Nixon himself, turned out to be an anticlimactic story with only mild news value. True, the TV crews would again be activated if U.S. Dist. Judge John Sirica were to decide later to move the courtroom to San Clemente, Calif., in order to get Richard Nixon's testimony from his sickbed.

Which only underscores the fact that what gave Watergate its suspense story character was Nixon himself, and the question of his guilt and whether he could be criminally punished for it. When the par-

ANDREW TULLY Diplomatic Romancing

WASHINGTON — Figures on oil imports for the first eight months of this year would seem to suggest that when President Ford and Secretary of State Henry Kissinger hand out foreign policy goodies they should pay special attention to Canada, Nigeria, Iran and Venezuela.

The figures, compiled by the Federal Energy Administration from Census Bureau statistics, show that the combined exports of crude oil from those four countries amount to an impressive 88.3 per cent of our imports from abroad. At the same time, FEA noted that the Arab oil-producing countries account for only 16.3 per cent of our imports — about one-sixth of the total.

Now this does not mean that Kissinger should forthwith tell the Arabs to get lost. After all, the Arabs probably own the world's largest oil reserves. Nigeria, on the other hand, is producing its limited amount of oil at close to maximum rate, which means it can run out of oil long before such nations as Saudi Arabia, for instance.

Yet there is opportunity here for diplomatic romancing, not to say cunning. We already are on excellent terms with Iran and Nigeria, but our relations with Canada and Venezuela could stand considerable improvement. In the past, Washington has tended toward casualness in its dealings with both Canada and Venezuela, a policy that predictably has produced considerable anti-Americanism in those governments.

Canada is still America's largest foreign oil supplier, shipping 24.7 per cent of our imports this year. But partly as a result of Prime Minister Trudeau's personal annoyance with Washington's patronizing manner, Canadian oil exports have fallen off from 30.8 per cent in 1973 and 35.8 per cent in 1972.

A Flanking Maneuver

The General Accounting Office is raising some questions about a proposed National Bulk Mail System devised by the Postal Service.

According to GAO, the new billion dollar system means that a package going from El Paso to Midland, Tex., 301 miles away, will travel 1,794 miles and a parcel mailed in Pensacola for Panama City, Fla., 103 miles away, will go through New Orleans, Memphis and Jacksonville to get there.

The GAO questions the claim that by 1984 the system will save $500 million a year.

Elmer T. Klassen, postmaster general, said "to most customers a one-day difference in delivery standards is not critical so long as the service is consistent, packages are not damaged and the price right" in reference to GAO's charge that service would fall short of the delivery standards of the Postal Service's chief competitor.

When we went to school, the shortest distance between two points was a straight line. And since then we have found on many occasions the shortest distance generally means less wear and tear because of less exposure.

Now it may be that the Postal Service has a logical answer which makes some of this old-time logic illogical.

However, even if we concede a one-day difference in delivery is not critical, unanswered is where in the postal delivery chain does parcel damage occur? If most of it happens at point of mailing, the longer circuitous routing won't cure it. If most of it happens on the receiving end, the same is true. If it happens somewhere between the sending and receiving point, the odds of damage increase.

We don't know the answer unless there is some significance in the GAO's assertion that the Postal Service's competitor can do the better job quicker. Maybe instead of building a billion dollar system to move parcels further and slower, the Postal Service should get out of the business entirely.

Our source doesn't say so but could we suppose that in the future all Christmas gift parcels will be routed via North Pole?

TODAY'S THOUGHT

"Little children, let no one deceive you. He who does right is righteous....He who commits sin is of the devil for the devil sinned from the beginning — and will sin to the end. Moreover sin involves guilt. Man will never adequately handle evil by pretending it does not exist, by repression, distraction, acceptance, education, nor by meeting evil with evil, or by despairingly giving it to him."

William James has written, "If life be not a real fight, in which something is eternally gained for the universe by success, it is no better than a game of private theatricals."

It certainly feels like a real fight. I John 3:10 and 11 gives the only base on which that fight can be creatively fought.

"In this children of God are manifest, and the children of the devil; for this is the message that ye heard from the beginning, that ye love one another."

MACC NEWS

By NANCY CARR
Executive Director

The philosophy of the conference is stated on the first page of annual reports:

"The Manchester Area Conference of Churches is formed by denominational Christians coming together in unity to proclaim their common belief in Christ as their Lord and Saviour and working together to bring their combined strengths, insights, and resources to dedicated service to the people of God."

"We pledge ourselves and the works of this conference to the will of God and the service of our brothers."

"Seasonal Sharing Fund"

The MACC Seasonal Sharing Fund is sponsored by the conference, the YWCA, the Town of Manchester Department of Social Services, the Salvation Army, and the Manchester Public Health Nursing Association, Inc.

The fund is beginning its annual drive to provide holiday assistance to those Manchester families in need.

Because of rising prices, particularly those in basic life necessities — food, shelter and clothing — the needs of our disadvantaged neighbors are more acute than ever.

We greet this opportunity to share with one another that sense of rejecting which sings out in Corinthians 9: Each one should give, not with regret or out of a sense of duty; for God loves the one who gives gladly.

And God is able to give you more than you need, so that you will always have all you need for yourselves and more than enough for every good cause.

As the scripture says, "He gives generously to the poor, His kindness lasts forever."

And God, who supplies seed for the sower and bread to eat, will also supply you with all the seed you need and make it grow to produce a rich harvest from your generosity. He will always make you rich enough to be generous at all times, so that many will thank God for your gifts through us.

For this service you perform not only needs the help of God's people, but also produces an outpouring of grateful thanks to God.

Sparked by this trust in God's providence, we begin the Seasonal Sharing Fund. Checks may be payable to the MACC Seasonal Sharing Fund and mailed to Box 772, Manchester.

Donations of food and new gift items may be left at the Salvation Army Citadel.

We would remind you that those on special diets or with special family needs or inadequate cooking facilities can often put gifts of money to more effective use than food packages.

Those wishing to alert us to a family possibly needing some holiday assistance may call Millie Lucek of the YWCA, at 647-9875. Mrs. Lucek has, for the past two years, coordinated the Thanksgiving and Christmas giving to needy organizations. All names are kept strictly confidential.

Convalescent Ministry

Those persons now working in convalescent homes or in need in visitation or wishing to become better informed about the special needs of the elderly are reminded of the Aging this Wednesday and next from 1 to 3 p.m. at Concordia Lutheran Church, Pitkin St. Everyone is welcome.

Namath Still King in New York, Passes, Runs Jets over Giants

NEW HAVEN (UPI) — Joe Namath is still king of New York.

He proved it Sunday with a sensational performance. Namath completed 21-of-31 passes for two touchdowns and ran three yards for his first score in five years as the New York Jets beat their arch-rival New York Giants 26-20 in sudden death overtime.

The Jets snapped a six-game losing streak and it was Namath who was the key, as he scored the tying touchdown on a play even his teammates didn't expect and then calmly threw the winning five-yard TD pass to Emerson Boozer at 6:53 of the overtime.

The game was the second overtime game this year under the new NFL rules but the first decided in sudden death. The other game between Denver and Pittsburgh ended in a 35-3 tie after a 15-minute overtime.

But Namath's final heroics came only after winning field goal attempts by both teams failed.

Namath gave the Jets a 7-0 lead with a 19-yard TD pass to David Knight in the first period but the Giants went ahead 10-7 on Pete Gogolak's 26-yard field goal and Craig Morton's two-yard pass to Bob Tucker. Pat Leahy's 34-yard field goal tied the game but Gogolak put the Giants back ahead at the half 13-10 on a 22-yarder.

Leahy, kicking in his first pro game, tied it 13-13 with a 22-yard field goal before Morton threw 12 yards to Bob Grim for a 20-13 lead.

Then Namath went to work.

He took the Jets 69 yards in 14 plays and got a standing ovation when he rolled around left end for his first TD since 1969. Leahy's kick tied the score at 20-20.

Namath then moved the Jets into field goal position with 12 seconds to go in regulation time but Jim Stenke blocked Leahy's 29-yard attempt to send the game into overtime.

Joe Dawkins' 53-yard kickoff return set up a 42-yard attempt by Gogolak that went just wide and then Namath ended it. He threw 42 yards to Richard Caster and 12 to Jerome Barkum and three running plays gained 16 yards to the Giant five. He then flipped the winning pass to Boozer just over linebacker Brad Van Pelt.

"It was a great victory for us when we really needed one," Namath said. "Emotionally, it has to rank with the Oakland game in 1968 when we won the AFL title. It was a big game for us. You lose one to the others guys in town and you have to take a lot of heat from a lot of people."

Namath stunned his own team with his rollout.

"He called a 34-wham trap and Boozer was supposed to follow me off right tackle," said rookie Bob Burns, a third-string fullback who had a career-high 101 yards. "We really blew them out but when I looked up, there was Joe all alone in the end zone on the other side of the field. He told me later that he wanted everyone to go full speed with the play."

"The first thing I thought was we fumbled," said Boozer. "He never gave me the ball. I looked around and there he was all alone."

"That was Joe's own call," said Jet Coach Charley Winner. "That's what makes him great. He beats you with the unexpected."

"I looked at the line and they were cheating to the middle," said Namath, who has undergone four knee operations and plays with cumbersome aluminum and rubber braces on both knees. "I just decided to try it. You should have heard our guys after the play—it was something. They couldn't believe it."

Gogolak's missed field goal caused the biggest stir among the Giants, who like the Jets are now 2-7. The Hungarian-born kicker ripped off his helmet and raged at the referee after the kick was waved off.

"I've been kicking for 11 years and I've never complained before," he said. "It was good by a foot. I couldn't believe he called it no good. He took it away from me."

Giants Coach Bill Arnsparger readily admitted Namath was the difference.

"They were better in the last drive," he said. "We had a good effort to go down the drain. I've never seen Joe when he hasn't put on a great show. You sort of expect it from him."

Plunkett Off Mark in Patriots' Loss

FOXBORO, Mass. (UPI) — The New England Patriots have found there's no percentage in throwing long duds.

The Cleveland Browns, shell shocked so often this year by the bomb, managed to defeat the Patriots Sunday by stopping the big play and making some gigantic defensive fireworks themselves to win the war with New England, 21-14.

Tom Darden, the Browns' free safety who dismantled two Jim Plunkett bombs with interceptions and returned a fumble 29 yards for a touchdown, explained Cleveland was so good for New England's straining air show.

"Teams have been hurting us with the long bomb all year so we were looking for it," Coach Nick Skorich, who needs as many victories in this 36 season as he can muster in order to stay employed, said the game was "the best our defense has played this year. Oakland ripped us back in the secondary. Cincinnati ripped us there and San Diego best us back there," scoring on passes of 43, 70 and 75 yards in a 36-35 win last week.

"The Patriots had every right to think they could beat us back there after setting up with short passes," said Plunkett, who wanted to shoulder most of the blame. "Each individual takes the blame himself, especially me. Throwing four interceptions is no good."

"It's not that they shouldn't have been thrown but that they were bad passes."

The truth was however, that Cleveland's defense unit ignited early fireworks long before Plunkett's duds fell with a thud.

Greg Pruitt took the opening kickoff and, with the speed of a torpedo, cut cross field through the Patriots for an 88-yard touchdown.

Don Cockroft kicked a 25-yard field goal on the fourth down play for an apparent three-point Cleveland lead. New England's Arthur Moore was off-side on the play, though, and Cleveland got a first down at the four. Brown went through a bombed out area in the defensive line for an unsuccessful score at 4-05.

The interceptions came back into play twice more — once at the Cleveland 45 and another at the New England 45 with 1:09 remaining.

"Well, right now I'm extremely disappointed in our team," said New England Coach Chuck Fairbanks. "They made so many poor showings in so many areas. I'll take responsibility for this one."

Jazz Wins First After 11 Defeats

NEW YORK (UPI) — It was a weekend of upsets all around. Michigan State topped Ohio State, the New England Patriots and Buffalo Bills were both downed by previously struggling teams and the New Orleans Jazz won their first game in the National Basketball Association after 11 losses.

Before the season started, most of the coaches in the NBA agreed that the expansion New Orleans Jazz wouldn't be as bad as the Cleveland Cavaliers were when they broke into the league four years ago.

And they were right.

The Jazz, perhaps remembering that they gained their maiden victory in the NBA, surprised Bill Walton and the Portland Trail Blazers Sunday by breaking their 11-game losing streak with a 102-101 triumph. Cleveland still owns the record for the most frustrating introduction to the league when it started its first season by losing 15 straight in 1970.

Pete Maravich provided the winning points for New Orleans with a 20-foot jump shot with only two seconds remaining as the Jazz capped a comeback from 21 points down late in the third period.

"We had too much freebies in the first half," said Jazz coach Scotty Robertson, "that's why we got so far behind. Then we ran our break and that helped us come from behind. Mel Counts made a few plays that sparked us and Pete took it from there. Pete was very much guarded on that last shot. We've had a lot of bad breaks, a lot of injuries, but I think we proved ourselves tonight."

Pete finished with 30 points, 12 assists, four steals and 11 rebounds. Walton scored 25 points and had 16 rebounds for Portland but couldn't get a desperation shot off at the buzzer after the Blazers called time out following Maravich's clutch shot.

In American Basketball Association action, Indiana defeated St. Louis 117-109, Denver trounced San Diego 125-101 and Memphis nipped San Antonio 91-89.

Warriors 106, Lakers 103

A basket by Butch Beard with one minute remaining and a free throw by rookie Keith Wilkes with 13 seconds left, gave Golden State its first win over Los Angeles after trailing the Lakers by as many as 13 points in the third quarter. Rick Barry, the NBA's leading scorer, tallied 23 points, nine in the last period. Wilkes had 22 points and Beard 19.

Pacers 117, Spirits 109

Darnell Hillman, starting in place of injured scoring leader George McGinnis, scored a career high 25 points for the Indiana Pacers in their win over the Spirits of Los Angeles. Rookie Marvin Barnes led the Spirits with 25 points.

Nuggets 125, O's 101

Denver outscored San Diego 21-2 during a seven-minute stretch in the second quarter to coast to the victory. Mack Calvin paced the Nuggets with 21 points while Travis Grant led San Diego with 13. Denver's Ralph Simpson had 12 points before leaving early in the third quarter for x-rays on a sprained finger on his right hand.

Sounds 91, Spurs 89 (OT)

Mel Daniels hit a tip-in with one second remaining in overtime to push Memphis to a slim win over San Antonio.

Jim Price, traded to Milwaukee from Los Angeles for Lucius Allen Saturday, scored 22 points for the Bucks, still struggling without injured Kareem Abdul-Jabbar.

Anderson Saves Bengals' Victory

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ken Anderson set two National Football League passing records Sunday, but his big play was a game-saving tackle in the closing minutes.

Cincinnati's Paul Brown, who has been around pro football long enough to know, said afterwards: "Ken Anderson is a lot of man. He is a hell of a football player."

Anderson convinced the Pittsburgh Steelers of that Sunday with his record-setting performance, which propelled the Cincinnati Bengals to a 17-10 victory and back into the race for a playoff berth.

Anderson set NFL records for consecutive completions and highest passing efficiency, but he also shook off a bellinging shot to the head in the third quarter to save the Cincinnati victory with a crucial tackle in the game's waning minutes.

"I had no idea I was breaking records," said Anderson, a shy, unassuming type who customarily shies publicity. "I feel better about beating Pittsburgh. We won the game and that's what counts."

But anyone keeping count discovered Anderson completed 30.2 percent of his passes (20 for 62) and connected on his first eight, which gave him 16 straight after completing his last eight against Baltimore last week.

Both are NFL records.

The 16 straight completions broke the record of 15 shared by Joe Namath and Len Dawson, while the 90.9 completion percentage surpassed the record of 86.2 (25 of 28) set by Ken Stabler last season.

But Anderson's biggest play came with 4:04 left in the game when Pittsburgh's Mike Wagner picked up a fumble on the Steeler nine and raced toward the Bengals' goal line for the would-be tying touchdown.

The Oilers intercepted six passes by Joe Ferguson in the third quarter to prove the game-winner.

Dolphins 21, Saints 0

Bob Griese threw three touchdown passes, two to tight end Jim Mandich, as the Dolphins regained a share of first place in the AFC East.

Redskins 27, Eagles 20

The grand old man of Washington, Sonny Jurgensen, dragged his ailing body off the bench in the third quarter Sunday to overcome a 20-14 Mike's lead. After setting up 40 and 35-yard field goals by Egles Moseley, Jurgensen connected on a game-winning 30-yard touchdown pass to Charley Taylor with 2:13 left to play.

Rams 21, Falcons 0

James Harris and Harold Jackson teamed for two touchdowns and the Rams' defense registered their first shutout of the season as Los Angeles took a four-game lead in the NFL West with only four games left to play.

Raiders 35, Lions 13

Ken Stabler connected on 20 of 29 passes, including two touchdowns strikes, to lead the Raiders past the Lions for Oakland's eighth straight victory.

Cowboys 20, 49ers 14

Calvin Hill ran for a club record 153 yards to carry the Cowboys past the 49ers, although it took a 70-yard drive late in the first quarter to get the victory. Hill scored from the six-yard line for the winning TD.

Broncos 17, Colts 6

The Broncos did little right Sunday except play the Colts, who brought down their eighth defeat of the season despite outgaining Denver in passing and rushing. Riley Odoms caught a one-yard pass from Charley Johnson and Otis Armstrong ran 37 yards for Denver touchdowns.

Chargers 14, Chiefs 7

Rookie quarterback Jesse Freitas threw a 71-yard touchdown pass to Gary Garrison with 9:02 left in the game as the Chargers upset the Chiefs.

Packers 20, Bears 3

Rookie Steve Odum returned a punt 95 yards on the final play of the first half to spark the Packers' victory over the Bears.

College Grid Title Now Up for Grabs

NEW YORK (UPI) — Michigan State's stunning victory over Ohio State has thrown the race for college football's national championship wide open and added another historic upset to the game's history.

The former adds zest to the current campaign and sets up showdown situations for Nov. 23 and Nov. 29 which should decide the national champion outright.

The latter provides the kind of fuel which will give college football fans a debatable issue for years. Little else in East Lansing, Mich., and Columbus, Ohio, will be spoon-fed on the events that transpired in the hectic seconds of Saturday's 16-13 upset by the three-touchdown underdog Spartans of Michigan State.

Michigan State's victory means: (1) undefeated Michigan and Alabama, tied for the No. 2 national ranking a week ago, become the favorites for the national championship; (2) the were be Ohio State and Auburn-Alabama games become even more important than the original Bowl contest between Alabama and Notre Dame shapes up as the most attractive of the post-season contests.

Ohio State wasn't alone in its disappointment Saturday as four other teams ranked in the top 10 and three unranked but bowlbound teams were beaten.

Southern Methodist defeated fourth-ranked Texas A&M 18-14, North Carolina State beat sixth-ranked Penn State 12-7, Georgia topped seventh-ranked Florida 19-16 and Baylor downed (R)-ranked Texas 34-24.

In addition, Kentucky defeated Peach Bowl-bound Vanderbilt 38-21, San Bowling missed Mississippi State to Auburn 24-20 and Sun Bowl-bound North Carolina was routed by Clemson 54-32.

Warriors 106, Lakers 103

A basket by Butch Beard with one minute remaining and a free throw by rookie Keith Wilkes with 13 seconds left, gave Golden State its first win over Los Angeles after trailing the Lakers by as many as 13 points in the third quarter. Rick Barry, the NBA's leading scorer, tallied 23 points, nine in the last period. Wilkes had 22 points and Beard 19.

Pacers 117, Spirits 109

Darnell Hillman, starting in place of injured scoring leader George McGinnis, scored a career high 25 points for the Indiana Pacers in their win over the Spirits of Los Angeles. Rookie Marvin Barnes led the Spirits with 25 points.

Nuggets 125, O's 101

Denver outscored San Diego 21-2 during a seven-minute stretch in the second quarter to coast to the victory. Mack Calvin paced the Nuggets with 21 points while Travis Grant led San Diego with 13. Denver's Ralph Simpson had 12 points before leaving early in the third quarter for x-rays on a sprained finger on his right hand.

Sounds 91, Spurs 89 (OT)

Mel Daniels hit a tip-in with one second remaining in overtime to push Memphis to a slim win over San Antonio.

Coventry's Soccer Dream Shattered by Rham High

By Len Auster

Time and time again it has been proven that one mistake will bring to an end ones greatest dreams. Coventry High's dream of a state soccer title was shattered Saturday at Glastonbury High as Chuck Berk scored the lone goal in the third period to give Rham High an upset 4-0 win over the Patriots in a Class C Division quarter final round tie.

Patriot nemesis Billy Goodale made a nice save but he was called for too many steps giving the Sachems an indirect kick from 10 yards out. Senior Co-Captain Ed Gardner's boot bounced off the Patriot defensive wall back to Berk who left-footed it into the short side at the 7:10 mark of the third stanza.

The eighth-ranked Sachems, who now own an 11-4 record, outshot the fourth-ranked Coventry booters and had control of the affair most of the way. Only after Rham's score did Coventry awaken from its dormant state but it was too little too late.

"This is the best Rham team I've ever coached," an emotionally spent Sachem Coach Mike Zotta said afterwards. "Coventry is a great team but I feel mine is also."

Outstanding defensively for Rham was fullback Brad MacLachlan. Best in defeat for Coventry was center halfback Chris Coates. This was the second meeting between the two Charter Oak Conference members, the earlier clash ending in a 1-1 tie. Coventry bows out with an 11-3 ledger.

The win sets the stage for a rematch in the semifinals Tuesday at Guilford High between Rham and Old Lyme, a 5-1 winner over Litchfield. Old Lyme eliminated the Sachems a year ago in the semifinals.

In Tuesday's other Class C semifinal will be Rocky Hill and Bolton, both COC representatives. The COC champion Terriers advanced to the round of four with a 7-0 blasting of St. Thomas Aquinas. Bolton High upset defending Class C champion Canton High, 1-0, on Steve Porter's goal with six minutes left in regulation time. The Rocky Hill-Bolton game will be played at Manchester High at a 2:15. Top-ranked Rocky Hill now has a 12-1 record and Bolton is 12-3.

Canadiens Showing Life, Cop Three of Last Four

NEW YORK (UPI) — After a slow start in the 1974-75 National Hockey League season, the Montreal Canadiens are showing signs of a rejuvenation. Just ask the Canadiens.

Last Saturday, the defending Stanley Cup champion Philadelphia Flyers shut out the Canadiens in Montreal 3-0, dropping the 1973-74 Cup winners to a 4-4 record, and observer began to wonder if the team was over the hill. But this past week the Canadiens flashed back to their form of two years ago, winning three of four games while tying the other.

Sunday night capped the successful week as veteran pro Henri Richard chalked up a five-point game, including two goals, and Guy Lafleur banged home two more as the Canadiens trounced the Capitals 11-1, the best beating given any team in the league this season.

Leading 3-0 after one stanza, the Canadiens netted six goals in the second period and outshot the Capitals 42-17 overall. Only a goal by Jack Eggers in that second period spoiled the shutout of Montreal's Ken Dryden, who had blanked the Caps for 63 consecutive minutes.

Montreal raised its record to 7-4-5, four points behind Los Angeles in Division 3 of the NHL. The Caps' state now shows 1-1-1 in its own home as co-expansionist Kansas City.

Montreal has now scored 62 goals, only two less than No. 1 scoring team Boston.

In other NHL action, Vancouver beat Detroit 4-2, Boston shutout Atlanta 4-3, Buffalo pounded Pittsburgh 8-3 and Philadelphia shut out California 5-0.

In the World Hockey Association, Toronto shut Chicago 7-2.

Post-War Job Gain High

The post World War II years in New England witnessed a strong employment upswing which added 1.4 million jobs to the region's economy, expanding from 3.3 million in 1947 to 4.7 million job-holders by 1973.

A comprehensive analysis of the New England experience since 1947 is contained in a new regional report announced by Wendell D. Macmillan, regional office of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, U.S. Department of Labor.

The employment increase was a substantial 41 per cent, although not as dramatic a gain as the 72 per cent national job expansion.

The relatively mature six-state region's economy did not keep pace with the growth of the nation as a whole but such parallel attainment was hardly to be expected.

The mature person does not grow as rapidly as the teenager and the economy of the oldest region did not expand as much as other, younger areas in an earlier developmental stage.

The region's weakest performance was in providing manufacturing jobs which decreased by 142,000 (nine per cent).

Meanwhile, New England workers engaged in non-manufacturing activities were increasing by 1.5 million (85 per cent) while the national gain was 97 per cent.

Clearly, it was in non-manufacturing where the bulk of the new jobs were created in both the region and the nation.

The phenomenon of the jobs outside the factory gaining farther than jobs inside the factory was not an experience unique to New England. In 42 of the 48 mainland sectors by 1973 accounted for a smaller proportion of nonagricultural employment than in 1947.

Service-producing employment accounted for two out-of-three of the region's jobs in 1973 compared with only one out-of-two, 26 years earlier. The goods-producing employers, on the other hand, provided only one out-of-three of the jobs in the region by 1973 compared to one-half of all jobs in 1947.

Consumers Cautioned On Fuelish Bargains

Consumers considering a switch to oil suppliers who advertise lower prices are advised by the Federal Energy Administration to examine terms of these agreements to be sure of adequate heating oil supplies in the event of another winter energy crisis.

FEA Regional Administrator Robert Mitchell said there is a current surplus of home heating oil as a result many dealers are lowering prices.

"We encourage the free enterprise system," Mitchell said, "but we are advising consumers to be aware of the long-term effects of new contracts, before they terminate existing supplier agreements."

Mitchell also cautioned suppliers who accept new customers that they assume the obligation of maintaining the relationship as specified in federal energy regulations.

Consumers with complaints may call or write the Connecticut Energy Agency, 20 Grand St., Hartford.

1. The consumer should check the liabilities of the new supplier.
 2. The consumer should find out if the new supplier has adequate product for the winter, not just a short-term supply.
 3. The consumer should request a contract from the new supplier so that adequate supply is assured, even during crisis conditions.
- Mitchell also cautioned suppliers who accept new customers that they assume the obligation of maintaining the relationship as specified in federal energy regulations.
- Consumers with complaints may call or write the Connecticut Energy Agency, 20 Grand St., Hartford.

Sagging Economy

HARTFORD (UPI)—The record increase in enrollment in Connecticut's community colleges is due to the sagging economy and new school facilities, according to Searle F. Charles, executive director of the 12-college system. A major factor in the 23.4 per cent enrollment hike this semester was the economy, which forced many students to stay closer to home, avoid dormitory and food costs, and take advantage of low-cost education, he said.

No Police Ruling

NEW HAVEN (UPI)—Police have declined to label as either murder or accident the death of a convicted extortionist with reputed underworld connections killed in a bomb explosion. The man—69-year-old John A. Palmieri—was killed instantly when an explosive charge in his car went off at 7:30 a.m. Saturday.

Contract Vote Today

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI)—Non members were to vote today on a contract offer to end a state workers' strike in which one picketer was killed by an automobile driven by a nonstriker. Negotiators reached tentative agreement Sunday in the labor dispute, in which violence struck a picket line at the state's Institute of Mental Health Saturday.

Shooting Rampage

LEWISTON, Maine (UPI)—An Air Force sergeant went on a shooting rampage after a family argument and killed two persons before killing himself Sunday. Robert Cloutier, 40, shot his estranged wife's parents to death and wounded his three children, his wife, and a neighbor, officials said.

Costs Still High

ABU DHABI, United Arab Emirates (UPI)—Oil experts said today consumers may wind up paying as much for fuel as before despite the decision of three leading Arab petroleum states to cut prices. Saudi Arabia, Qatar and the United Arab Emirates lowered the base price of petroleum Sunday, but corresponding tax and royalty increases threatened to cancel out any benefits for the world's energy users. The three oil states said the complicated move was aimed at cutting oil company profits and warned consumers to prevent the firms from passing on the tax and royalty hikes.

Auto Layoffs Soar

DETROIT (UPI)—Auto industry layoffs soared past the 84,000 mark today with the layoffs of 22,325 Chrysler workers. The United Auto Workers union has urged a strong government program to stave off a near-disaster economic situation. Of the 84,000 workers idled, 62,000 have been laid off indefinitely. About 40,000 workers at General Motors Corp. plants are already on indefinite layoffs with 8,400 idled at Ford Motor Co. and 17,800 at Chrysler Pl.

Calley Is Free

COLUMBUS, Ga. (UPI)—William Calley, a free man for the first time in almost four years, said "I'm going to relax and do what I want to do." Then he's going job hunting. The former Army lieutenant, convicted of murdering 22 South Vietnamese civilians at My Lai in 1968, was released from prison Saturday by U.S. District Judge J. Robert Elliott under a $1,000 personal recognizance bond. Calley drew a life sentence upon his conviction of the My Lai murders which was later reduced to 20 years in prison.

Praise for Henry

Kissinger, returning from a 17-day, 17-country journey, was to meet with Ford today.

Alternative School

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Ban-the-book forces formulated plans today to set up a dual system of education and boycott Kanawha County public schools that use textbooks they consider obscene and an affront to religion and patriotism. Protest leaders said most of the county's children would ignore classes Tuesday after the Veterans Day holiday.

Bulletin Expected

LONG BEACH, Calif. Church Unit Backs Busing In Bay State

BOSTON (UPI) - An estimated 200 members of the New England Senior Citizens American Lutheran Church staged a brief silent vigil in front of City Hall Sunday in support of court-ordered school desegregation...

The pro-busing forces marched to City Hall from the nearby Parker House Hotel where the Lutherans were conducting their annual convention. They stood silently on the hall's red brick plaza, then recited what they called "The Affirmation of Quality Integrated Human Relations..."

Police estimated about 1,000 cars were involved in an anti-busing motorcade which was its way through sections of Boston's short time earlier. The protest began at a rally at the Billings Field in West Roxbury, and later moved with horns blaring through South Boston to the Oak Square area of Brighton.

No incidents were reported. The demonstrations were the latest developments in Boston's ongoing attempt to integrate its public school system, which U.S. District Judge W. Arthur Garrity ruled should be deliberately segregated.

Under an order issued by Garrity in June, Boston began a busing program which directly involved about 18,000 students, mostly in predominantly white South Boston and Hyde Park and predominantly black Roxbury. Under a further order by Garrity, the program will be widened next fall.

Dayan Sees Good Chance For Peace

ORONO, Maine (UPI) - Former Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan says that despite recent developments in the Middle East, the chances for a lasting peace are greater than in previous years.

Dayan, speaking over the weekend at the University of Maine at Orono, said recent Arab diplomatic decisions may have jeopardized the forthcoming Geneva conference on the Middle East. He added, however, that he does not expect another war with Egypt.

"Even though I can't see that the Geneva conference will take place now," he said, "I don't think Egypt will go back to war."

He said a further agreement would be a step forward. "I hope it can still be made," he said.

Arrests Expected in Bakery Slayings

NEW BRITAIN (UPI) — Bench warrants for the arrests of two persons already in custody are expected to be issued soon in the Oct. 19 killings of six persons in a New Britain bakery.

Support affidavits for the warrants were prepared Monday, according to a highly reliable police source.

The disclosure came as police scuba divers prepared again today to search Silver Lake off Rt. 15 in adjoining Berlin for the weapons believed used in the slaying of six persons at the Donna Lee Bakery.

The watertight was searched once or twice before but without success. Further exploration of the muddy bottom is planned today.

It was also learned that key investigators went to a New Britain building with an itemized list but their search Monday apparently yielded nothing.

Police have said the bakery killers used a 9 mm pistol and a shotgun to kill their victims in the robbery in which $300 was taken from a register but $1,200 was overlooked in the pocket of John Salerno, 55, the owner and one of the victims.

All were shot in the head as they lay on the floor of the bakery in the rear. Four of the victims were customers, one of whom was a young man who chanced into the shop to ask directions to a date's house, according to scribbled notes found near his body.

If the pistol is recovered, authorities said ballistics tests would show whether it was likely to have been used in the killings.

A smooth interior of a shotgun barrel, however, leaves few telltale clues for ballistics, a policeman said.

More than 1,000 persons have been questioned by a State Police task force and a hand-picked detective unit from the local department in the quest for information in the case. Gov. Thomas J. Meskill posted a $5,000 state reward and New Britain's mayor, Stanley Pac has been promoting a drive among citizens to contribute toward additional reward funds.

Guy Farmer, the industry representative, said he thought a contract settlement would come by the end of the week but pointed out that "We're writing an entire contract from page 1 to the end."

Ruttenberg said those regional power companies which burn coal have supplies that will last for one to two months and most have access to imported coal.

FEA statistics state that about 4,000 households in New England use coal for cooking or heating. Ruttenberg said the FEA "will make sure these persons will not go cold" in the event of a long strike.

The miners, who currently earn between $41 and $50 a day, officially struck at midnight, although many had not been at work on Friday or Saturday. Most just stayed around the house and there were few picket lines around the country.

Both sides agree the strike will last at least two to three weeks. That would cost the already crippled economy $3 billion in production and the hundreds of thousands of employees in coal-dependent industries, analysts have predicted.

Each day that negotiators fail to reach a new contract means an added day to the end of the week, as an industry bargainer has indicated, it could take until at least Thanksgiving before ratification by the rank and file. The miners have a traditional "no contract, no work" policy.

Union president Arnold Miller said he felt the union's demands are "just and reasonable" and promised that he won't be pushed into a premature agreement because of the crippling effects that a strike will have on the economy.

Miller said some progress had been made but "some progress is not enough to undo 40 years of indifference and neglect."

FEA statistics state that about 4,000 households in New England use coal for cooking or heating. Ruttenberg said the FEA "will make sure these persons will not go cold" in the event of a long strike.

The miners, who currently earn between $41 and $50 a day, officially struck at midnight, although many had not been at work on Friday or Saturday. Most just stayed around the house and there were few picket lines around the country.

Both sides agree the strike will last at least two to three weeks. That would cost the already crippled economy $3 billion in production and the hundreds of thousands of employees in coal-dependent industries, analysts have predicted.

Each day that negotiators fail to reach a new contract means an added day to the end of the week, as an industry bargainer has indicated, it could take until at least Thanksgiving before ratification by the rank and file. The miners have a traditional "no contract, no work" policy.

Union president Arnold Miller said he felt the union's demands are "just and reasonable" and promised that he won't be pushed into a premature agreement because of the crippling effects that a strike will have on the economy.

Miller said some progress had been made but "some progress is not enough to undo 40 years of indifference and neglect."

Guy Farmer, the industry representative, said he thought a contract settlement would come by the end of the week but pointed out that "We're writing an entire contract from page 1 to the end."

Ruttenberg said those regional power companies which burn coal have supplies that will last for one to two months and most have access to imported coal.
