

Arafat Departs For Cuba

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Arab guerrilla leader Yasser Arafat departed New York today for Cuba, leaving behind a United Nations deeply divided over the future of Palestine and an Israel fearful of its eventual destruction at the hands of the Palestine Liberation Organization.

Arafat, in a militant speech to the General Assembly in which he was accorded honors of a visiting chief of state, called for creation of a Palestine in which Jews, Arabs and Christians could live side by side. Israel said that meant destruction of the Jewish state.

With the so-called Third Force expressing a more and more pro-Arab stance in the General Assembly, diplomatic sources said there was an increasing threat that Israel might even be expelled from the current U.N. session as was South Africa.

A more complete picture of Arab aims and possible delineation of a resolution they hoped to get from the Assembly's Palestinian debate was expected when Lebanese President Suleiman Franjeh, a Maronite Christian, addresses the assembly today.

Lebanese sources said Arafat had outlined what should be done for the Palestinians in the Middle East and that Franjeh would augment his remarks by suggesting how it should be done. As Arafat left, Radio Havana announced he was due there shortly at invitation of Premier Fidel Castro. Arab sources said he would travel to Moscow after a three-day Havana visit for talks with Kremlin leaders.

There was little doubt Arafat's speech had increased tensions in the Middle East, especially in the Israeli-occupied West Bank which an Arab summit conference at Rabat decided should come under administration of Arafat's Palestinians and not Jordan's King Hussein.

Arab youths jeered and cursed patrolling Israeli soldiers there Wednesday and shouted their support for Arafat's speech. Shopkeepers in Nablus, largest town in the West Bank, staged a general strike in support of the PLO.

There also was tension along the Israeli-Lebanese border where Israeli soldiers were on alert against attack by Arab guerrillas who carried out a rocket attack on an Israeli village Wednesday. Israeli infantry and artillery attacked villages in southern Lebanon today.

Arab sources said Franjeh was likely to suggest a regulation calling for U.N. recognition of the Palestinian right of self-determination, the right of the Palestinians to a national home, and for U.N. action to achieve acceptance of those two aims.

Democrats Dillydally On Rocky?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Republican Whip Robert P. Griffin interrupted Nelson A. Rockefeller's confirmation hearing today to charge that Democrats had been "dillydallying" because they feared Rockefeller would be "too good a vice president."

The Michigan senator said Rockefeller had "made a mistake or two in his public life" and had willingly admitted it.

"None of us will ever qualify for sainthood," Griffin said.

But the Democrats have delayed action on the nomination four months, he said, and placed in jeopardy the operations of the 25th Amendment. The amendment provides for filling a vice presidential vacancy by presidential appointment and congressional confirmation.

Committee Chairman Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., abandoning his usual mild manner, replied that he resented Griffin's "implication that this committee had not been diligent" in acting on the nomination.

Cannon said the FBI's final report on Rockefeller was not received until Nov. 4 and Rockefeller's report on his political contributions of $15.5 million was not received until Monday.

Griffin said the "foot-draggers" were not concerned that Rockefeller would be a bad vice president "but that he will be too good a vice president" — and he implied — a threat to Democratic success in the 1976 presidential election.

He said the 25th Amendment's operations had produced both Rockefeller and President Ford — "two of the finest, ablest, most qualified public servants in the American scene."

But because of Democratic "dillydallying," he said, Ford is going to leave for Japan this week without a vice president on hand and in office to mind the store.

The exchange came while Rockefeller was at the witness table for the second day of his reopened hearings. They have focused on his involvement in the publication of a book critical of his former political opponent, Arthur Goldberg.

He will be followed by Goldberg, the former Supreme Court justice who was Rockefeller's 1970 gubernatorial opponent and the subject of the unfavorable biography by conservative author Victor Lasky.

Also scheduled to testify was Laurence Rockefeller, who put up $50,000 to finance the book on Nelson Rockefeller's recommendation.

A Mint of Gold

With gold hitting an all-time-high rate of $186.50 per ounce on London's bullion exchanges today, the Royal Mint started to produce 22-carat gold sovereigns.

These coins, piled up at the mint, are the first new sovereigns to be struck since 1968. (UPI Photo)

More Landfill Considered

By SOL R. COHEN
A proposal for town purchase of a 6.8 acre parcel adjacent to Manchester's landfill area will be considered by the Board of Directors at its December meeting.

The proposal, recommended by Ronald Kraatz, town sanitarian, and backed by Town Manager Robert Weiss, is for expending $27,500 for a parcel north of the Hartford Electric Light Co. right-of-way and south of property owned by the Dennison family. It abuts the town-owned landfill area of Spencer St. The parcel is owned by Leon Podrovo, trustee.

The $27,500 purchase price is from an appraisal authorized by the town last March.

Kraatz recommends the $27,500 be obtained from the $1,391,000 bond issue approved March 13, 1973. Of that sum, $446,400 went to Robert Dennison and Wells-Dennison for the 110-acre Laurel Lake property. The remaining $944,600 was for improvements to the surrounding landfill area.

Kraatz acknowledges the bond issue didn't include acquisition of the 6.8 acre parcel. He suggests the $27,500 may be obtained by reducing spending in other areas.

He explains the bond issue included an expenditure for the first stage of a leachate collection system, at an estimated cost of $300,000.

"It appears at this time," he states in a Nov. 12 memo to Weiss, "that the leachate collection system may not be required, and in any case, a reduction in the first phase is quite feasible, with the money applied to the land purchase."

He justifies the purchase on the basis the "landfill capacity would be reduced by about 200,000 tons if the land is not acquired (because of projection of the parcel into the fill area)" and "The parcel would provide an estimated 12,375 cubic yards of cover material for the sanitary landfill operation."

'Embarrassed and Humiliated'

Nelson Rockefeller makes a point in hearings before the Senate Rules Committee on his nomination for the vice presidency. On Wednesday he said he was "embarrassed and humiliated," but he disagreed with allegations that his participation in publication of a derogatory book was comparable to Watergate.

Union Mulls Coal Pact

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United Mine Workers' 39-member bargaining council meets tonight to consider whether to recommend rank and file ratification of an agreement on wages, benefits and work rules for 120,000 miners.

Union President Arnold Miller said he expected approval by the bargaining council and the miners.

The agreement between negotiators for the miners and the soft coal mine operators, was reached Wednesday night. If approved by the miners in a nationwide ratification vote, coal mines in 25 states—shut down since midnight Monday—would be back in operation before Thanksgiving.

Many local union leaders said they expected quick ratification. "They (the rank and file) seem to be very enthusiastic over the agreement," said Dennis Scarford, secretary-treasurer of UMW District 31 at Fairmont, W. Va. "We're really open for a quick settlement on it."

Union officials said today a conference of representatives from about 600 union locals will be held Monday in Pittsburgh so that the contract terms can be explained fully before a secret ballot vote is conducted.

The union began preparing the contract for printing so that each miner will have a copy before he votes.

The bargaining council will be given rough copies when they gather to consider the pact. Research staffs were at work at the union headquarters preparing charts and educational materials to explain some of the terms of the contract, many of which will be new to coal miners.

Price Jumps Unexpected

Contrary to expectations of an easing of inflation, the wholesale price index jumped 2.3 per cent in October, the government said today. The higher wholesale prices mean higher prices for consumers.

The surge in wholesale prices came at a time when pressure has increased on the Ford administration to direct the government attack more directly at recession instead of inflation.

The October rise was more than double the September increase of one per cent, a modest rise that led some administration officials to express the belief that inflationary pressures were easing.

Prices for food, auto, chemicals and machinery led the surge last month, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said.

The October increase meant that prices wholesalers pay had risen at an annual rate of 27.6 per cent, significantly higher than the 22.6 per cent rate over the past 12 months.

Farm products and processed foods and feeds rose at an adjusted annual rate of 56.4 per cent in October following a decline in September. Manufactured foods, such as cereal and bakery products, rose sharply. Pork, eggs, milk and lamb were up but beef, veal and fresh vegetables were down.

The Republican governor of President Ford's home state of Michigan, hit hard by slumping car sales and heavy layoffs, is applying subtle pressure for a change in economic pressure, urging Americans to buy cars.

Gov. William G. Milliken's advice to consumers Wednesday was in sharp contrast to the President's earlier anti-inflation admonition to citizens to tighten their belts and save their money.

The conflicting approaches bring into sharp focus the national debate over whether inflation or recession is public enemy No. 1. Ford's approach was aimed at reducing inflation by encouraging less spending. Now many economists say the problem is recession and more spending is needed to stimulate the economy—or, sell more cars and save more jobs.

The Ford administration, having cautiously acknowledged that the economy is entering a recession, received new hard evidence that the economy is becoming even more sluggish.

Surge in wholesale price index means higher prices for consumers.

The Big Three auto companies reported a 38 per cent drop in car sales for the first 10 days in November, as the industry's worst sales period in a decade continued.

General Motors announced the temporary closing of three more compact car plants and the idling of another 7,100 workers, bringing the industry total to 78,410.

The coal strike made deeper cuts into industrial output and took a higher toll on rail and steel workers as thousands more were either laid off or given pink slips for next week. But agreement on a new contract Wednesday meant the impact on coal-dependent industries would be limited to the 10 days to two weeks it takes for ratification.

Northeast Faces Big Loss in Rails

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Railway Association has signaled Northeastern and Midwestern states they face the loss of thousands of miles of unprofitable railroad branch lines unless they prepare to subsidize or purchase them.

The agency in charge of forming a new railroad system from bankrupt Eastern railroads did not say how many lines it would declare unprofitable in its preliminary system plan in February.

But its first report Wednesday contained a clear warning to state governments to plan major subsidy programs.

The USA said the new railroad system would be only marginally profitable at best and could not survive unless state, local governments and even industries underwrite unprofitable operations. If unprofitable lines are necessary, it said, their deficits "must be assumed by a wider social base, not by the railroad alone."

"State governments, therefore, must be prepared to utilize the subsidy provisions in the act to provide for continuation of such services they feel are essential.

The report said USRA was carefully examining 10,000 miles of track as possible candidates for subsidy or abandonment.

A spokesman for Pennsylvania Gov. Milton Shapp said the report was a sham and that he would lead an effort to change the federal law setting up USRA. He said it is economically unwise to try revitalizing the rail industry by abandoning railroads. Many lines of six bankrupt railroads are in Pennsylvania.

The six railroads undergoing reorganization by USRA are Penn Central, Reading, Lehigh Valley, Jersey Central, Am Arden and the Lehigh & Hudson River.

The report said several alternatives are being considered for reorganizing the railroads, ranging from lumping them together from one trimmed down system to splitting the Penn Central apart into its pre-merger New York Central and Pennsylvania Railroad lines.

MRS. DEAN PATTERSON

New Hope Picks New President

Mrs. Dean (Mary) Patterson of 107 Tracy Dr., has been appointed president of the New Hope Manor board of directors.

She succeeds Mrs. Madeline Uccello who recently resigned to become assistant director of the drug and alcohol rehabilitation center.

Mrs. Patterson, a 40-year-old registered nurse, has been serving as vice president of New Hope's board of directors. She is a member of South United Methodist Church and was instrumental in obtaining the lease of the church's Jesus Lee House for New Hope, according to Mrs. Uccello.

A native of California, Mrs. Patterson has lived in Manchester for the past 12 years.

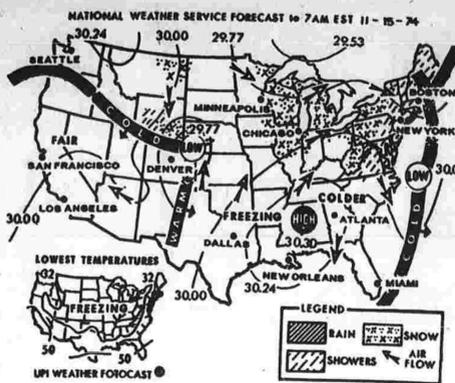

Speaking of her appointment, Mrs. Patterson said, "My goal is to make Connecticut residents aware that there is help available for their teen-age girls."

Mark Twain Exhibition Will Open at Atheneum

The public and private lives of Mark Twain during his 20 years in Hartford will be explored in an exhibition opening at the Wadsworth Atheneum in Hartford on Wednesday.

The exhibition will be open to the public during regular museum hours, Tuesday through Saturday from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m., and Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m., beginning Wednesday and continuing through Jan. 5.

"Mark Twain in Hartford" is a major event in this year's Centennial which celebrates the completion of Mark Twain's house on Farmington Ave. in Hartford in 1874.

Letters, cartoons and caricatures, portraits of family and friends, news clippings, manuscripts, theater programs, advertising posters, photographs, and illustrations for many of Twain's books will afford visitors glimpses into little-known aspects of the character of this complicated, many-faceted American personality.

Guest curator Jay E. Cantor describes the nature of the exhibition as "a look at the man himself, how he lived, who his friends were, and what interested him."

Mark Twain actually moved to Hartford in 1871, but his house was not completed until 1874. The house became a center for his wide circle of friends. He also traveled widely on lecture tours and for pleasure.

After the failure of some of his investments in 1891 he went to Europe. The death of his daughter, Susy, in the Hartford house during that trip so disheartened him that he never returned to Hartford.

Visitors to "Mark Twain in Hartford" will be introduced to the exhibition by an audio-visual presentation including slides and a spoken narrative which will set the historical scene and Mark Twain's place in it. A continuous presentation of slides of the Mark Twain house will be located in the center of the gallery, showing both exterior and interior views of the house.

Suggested admission rates to the galleries are $1 for adults, 50 cents for 12 to 18 years. Children under 12, museum members and scheduled tour groups are admitted free.

Stripper Becomes Actress

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Valerie Perrine is the sort of madcap woman one reads about but rarely meets, a rebellious soul whose antics have landed her in the movies.

She is not startlingly beautiful. But Valerie has a knockout figure, a raucous laugh and a propensity for the offbeat.

Rearred in various parts of the world by her mother and father, who was a career Army officer, Valerie kicked over the traces as soon as possible, left her family in Scottsdale, Ariz., and headed for Las Vegas.

"I got a job as a lead nude dancer in the Stardust Hotel," Valerie said proudly. "My father disowned me. He told his friends I was a model."

Valerie never caught cold working naked twice a night. She was crazy about dancing, but the salary was good. Neither did she have much in common with the other nude girls.

"I read a lot of books on philosophy and psychology," she said. "Then I fell in love with a very successful man in Hollywood. We were thinking of getting married when he died."

The loss resulted in Valerie running off to Europe with the savings she had tucked away in Las Vegas.

On her return to California a friend took her to meet director George Roy Hill who was preparing to film "Slaughterhouse-Five."

"I accepted the part as a lark," Valerie said. "I was bored with doing nothing. I thought I would do one movie and then find something else that interested me. But Universal sent me under contract for seven years."

Roy Hill told me I could act. And he told everyone else too. He said I wasn't just a ding-a-ling."

Now she will be seen in "Lenny" opposite Dustin Hoffman. "I felt like an actress for the first time in this picture," Valerie conceded. "I hope audiences and producer agree with me."

To Be Released

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — Richard Nixon's doctor, John Lungen, has announced Nixon will be released from the hospital today. U.S. District Court Judge John Sirica has named a team of three specialists to examine the former president to see whether he can testify at the Watergate coverup trial.

Never Again

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Army Secretary Howard Callaway (left) Wednesday released part of the long-secret Peers Report on the coverup of the My Lai massacre. He said he personally believed that improved military training and attitudes could prevent any recurrence. The report, prepared by now-retired Lt. Gen. William Peers, concluded that at least 28 officers — two of them chaplains — contributed to the coverup. The report had been withheld to protect rights of the accused.

Vote Promised

ATHENS (UPI) — Premier Constantine Caramanlis has promised to hold a referendum next month to let the people decide the fate of Greece's monarchy. The premier, who has been accused of planning to bring back exiled King Constantine, admitted he announced the plan "in order to subdue the false anxiety of my opponents."

Hi Neighbor!
HAVE I GOT DEALS FOR YOU!

If you receive our 32-page brochure, you'll notice that I cheated on this ad by using the same picture and title. As long as you don't tell my wife about it, I won't be in trouble. She thinks that every ad must be an individual creation, so I don't tell her everything I do. After all, Batten and Barton don't tell Durstine & Osborne everything either.

- Anyway, let me give you a few hints of what we have to peddle this weekend:
- 1) A full truckload of twin & full size bedding (firm only) consigned to a very posh department store and refused because of slight misprints in the design. All to be sold at almost half price.
 - 2) A grocery load that was surplus to a large supermarket. I guess their business is slow — makes business good for us. Priced below store cost.
 - 3) A big lot of Nylon Braided Rugs from an insurance claim. Priced from $12.90 to $39.90 according to condition. All are about 8'x11 1/2 size.
 - 4) A whole bicycle store load of high grade imported bicycles. Names like Royce Union, Savoy, CCM, Etc. at 30 to 35% off. Not the promotional type goods — all high grade stuff.
 - 5) All remaining London Fog coats reduced to $29.90, values to $65.00. Come see if we have your size.
 - 6) Three pallets of baked goods — bread sticks, toast rounds, rice crackers and English wheatmeal biscuits at less than supermarket cost.
- Plus disposable diapers (newborn & overnight), household brushes, Ozite and other carpeting, upholstery fabrics, records & tapes, stereo, stereo speakers, greeting cards, swags & wipes, etc., and hundreds of other things I can't even remember, all way below what dealers themselves pay.
- So come visit, enjoy the delicious complimentary coffee, and help me find out what we have. We'll really enjoy seeing you. Remember that we sell with a real "no-hard-time" money back guarantee if your purchase does not please you in every way. And my wife says, "Don't forget your wallet!"
- Remember our Exhausting Hours:
Thurs. Eve (Ugh) 6 to 9
Fridays 10 to 9 and Saturdays 10 to 5. We're resting less!

Manchester Evening Herald OPINION

Middle East Chip On The World's Shoulder

For Israel, nothing has failed like success. In the four wars it has fought in the 25 years of its brief modern history, the little nation has thwarted the combined military might of its Arab neighbors.

But though Israel could win the next war, and the next, the sheer statistics of population and resources dictate that sooner or later it will be overwhelmed if lasting peace is not somehow arrived at with the Arabs.

Now a fifth Arab-Israeli war looms. Syria, next to the Palestinian terrorists, the most implacable foe of Israel, has been massively rearmed by the Soviet Union which remains seemingly immune from world opinion.

But the world forgets that never have the Arabs been willing to sit down with the Israelis in face-to-face negotiations, much less agree to formal recognition of Israel as part of a permanent peace treaty.

In a significant defeat for the moderate King Hussein of Jordan, the Palestine Liberation Organization, whose goal is nothing less than the total obliteration of Israel, was recognized as the official spokesman for all Palestinians at the recent Arab summit conference in Morocco.

It is elementary facts like these that make the current go-between efforts of the redoubtable Henry A. Kissinger the most challenging of his career.

On top of this, the Arabs have discovered the immense leverage they possess against Western capitals in the use of oil as a weapon.

What do the Israelis offer? According to Premier Yitzhak Rabin, the only real solution to the Palestinian problem — which is central to the entire Middle East impasse — is to have two states, the Jewish state of Israel and the Palestinian state of Jordan.

The current diplomatic consensus seems to be that unless Israel makes immediate and sweeping concessions to the Arabs — withdraws from the Sinai Peninsula and the Golan Heights, relinquishes control of Jerusalem and agrees to the setting up of a separate Palestinian state on the west bank of the Jordan — there will be another war, probably next year.

Jordan, called Transjordan before 1948 under the British Mandate from the League of Nations and later the United Nations, was always part of Palestine. Half its 1.3 million population today is Palestinian, including those who fled there after the establishment of Israel. A separate Palestinian state between Jordan and Israel, says Rabin, would be a "timebomb" threatening both countries.

The Israelis know, however, that to do all that in the absence of an ironclad, international guaranteed agreement stipulating their right to national existence would be to sign their own death warrant.

A willingness to compromise, unfortunately, has never been in excess supply in the Middle East. The recent upsurge in the prestige and power of the radical Palestinians, the continued refusal of the Arabs to negotiate directly with Israel and the failure of the Western nations to unite behind a demand for accommodation by both sides make the outlook in this volatile part of the world as foreboding as it has ever been in the past quarter of a century.

There is still a surprising degree of consistency among the states in the percentage of male drivers. More than 94 per cent of the states vary within only 3 points of the national average. However, there was an 8.7 per cent difference between Ohio, which had the highest proportion of male drivers at 60.3 per cent, and Connecticut, which at 51.6 per cent was the lowest state.

Man's World On Highway

Females may outnumber males in the general population, but it's still a man's world on the highway.

According to the Federal Highway Administration, male drivers outnumbered female drivers in all age groups in 38 states out of the 43 that were able to supply the agency with actual or estimated counts of licensed drivers at the end of 1973.

The ratio in the reporting states was 55.3 per cent male and 44.7 per cent female. This was a change from the 60.2 per cent male and 39.8 per cent female ratio found in 19 states in 1963, but not as much of a change as the experts had expected.

There is still a surprising degree of consistency among the states in the percentage of male drivers. More than 94 per cent of the states vary within only 3 points of the national average. However, there was an 8.7 per cent difference between Ohio, which had the highest proportion of male drivers at 60.3 per cent, and Connecticut, which at 51.6 per cent was the lowest state.

A complete understanding of the reasons for this variance, says the agency, "would require an in-depth study of many factors, including the elements of motivation, vehicle availability and income levels."

Scenario For The Arabs

CLAREMONT, Calif. — Secretary of State Henry Kissinger has survived some trying ordeals but the acid test of his diplomacy is still ahead. It will come when the Arab's intent to push Israel back behind its pre-1976 borders collides with Israel's will to struggle to the bitter end, even at the risk of another war.

There are two dramas being played out simultaneously in the Middle East. One is the power and diplomatic duel between the Arabs and the Israelis. The other is the effort of the West to meet the continuing threat of the Arab oil cartel, with its power over prices and produce, and its colossal levy on the economic state of the industrial nations.

The Arab countries are no longer a loose assortment of divisions named together only by a common hostility to Israel. They have become an economic power cluster, one of the commanding forces of the world. They leaped overnight into this position when they showed their capacity and will to paralyze the world's economy.

The fact is that before Israel will sign any agreement it wants commitments — Arab leaders. It wants a new climate which will signify that the creation of a Palestinian state doesn't mean accepting the guerrillas' basic purpose of pushing the Israelis into the sea.

The Arabs feel a new wave of confidence and seem determined to exact their victory. The Israelis, on their part, have turned their backs on the psychology of the over victims. Instead, the mood of the Israelis is a Masada mood: They are ready to suffer a second Masada, fighting for their identity in a last bitter stand, if necessary.

Thus, the signs in the Middle East today are ominously pointing toward another war. The more hawkish Arabs may well be ready or even eager for it. But one thing should give them pause. It is the strong sentiment among industrial oil consumer nations — which means principally the United States and NATO — for an oil showdown.

ANDREW TULLY

Campaign Contributions

WASHINGTON — In the matter of political campaign contributions by various "interests," I hereby make a ringing statement: People don't give money to politicians in the hope said politicians will take stands inimical to the fortunes, financial and otherwise, of the donors.

In effect, a campaign contribution is a kind of bribe. The contributors — especially the money men from Big Business and Big Labor — are sending the candidate or candidates a message: I'll scratch your back and you ruddy well better scratch mine.

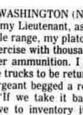

Thus I found trenchant a comment by U.S. District Court Judge George L. Hart Jr. when he sentenced two former top executives of the nation's biggest dairy farm cooperative each to four months in jail and fined them $100 apiece for conspiring to make illegal campaign contributions.

Hart told the two men he was not punishing them or attempting to reform them by sending them to the hoosegow. Instead, he said, his aim was to deter similar actions by others. "You pleaded guilty to a crime hundreds of other people have been guilty of in years past and nothing was ever done about it," said Hart.

In any event, I should like an accounting of the quid pro quos involved in the dough spent by various special interests to elect their candidates. A Common Cause study has revealed that these special interests contributed nearly $5-million to Congressional races in the 13 and a half months since Sept. 1, 1973. Big Labor spent $4,335,851 and business and professional interests came up with $3,262,248. Money like that is involved, I'm candidly enough to suspect skulduggery in fairly high places.

Put another way, perhaps too charitably, I cannot help but conclude that the political candidate has been haled before a grand jury to explain how he accepted illegal campaign contributions.

Meanwhile, 18 corporations and 21 corporate officers have been involved in cases concerning illicit contributions. Yet David Parr and Harold Nelson, the

TOM TIEDE

Waste as American As Apple Pie, Too

WASHINGTON (NEA) — When I was an Army lieutenant assigned one division to the rifle range, my platoon ended the training exercise with thousands of pounds of leftover ammunition. I ordered it loaded on the trucks to be returned to stock, but my sergeant begged a reconsideration.

"If we take it back," he said, "we'll have to inventory it, that means paper work and that means late hours. Let's just shoot it up." And so we did, several hundred dollars worth, bang-bang, into a soil bank behind the targets.

No telling how many millions or billions of rounds have been similarly wasted by other idiot lieutenants and sergeants, but assuredly the number is large. One of the only serious duties in that conservation is a pain in the buttocks. Extravagance, on the other hand, is encouraged with rewards by the system.

And so it is also the society at large. To some measure anyway, the nation has enjoyed prosperity for so long, prosperity meaning the rapid turnover of market goods, that fragility has taken on a conical connotation.

Indeed, so insistent is the social leadership concerning waste, it has developed the mechanics of built-in obsolescence; it is far less expensive in the long run, as auto salesmen find joy in the world could grow fat off our garbage and forego the need to shell out for repairs on "older" models.

The proposal, a sliding scale system of selling and buying, is nothing new. Phone companies, as an example, have long charged minimum rates for minimum use. Yet large segments of government and business have not gotten the message of rewarding thrift instead of waste.

President Ford for one knows well that 146 congressmen have introduced legislation to reform savings and loan inconsistencies, yet he has refused them a blessing. So has Congress as a body, for that matter, which has an excessive waste pile of its own in the form of lost opportunities.

So here we are again, doing battle with ourselves. Our offense is critical need and our defense is entrenched custom. Neither will likely lay a glove on the other. The only loser, perhaps, will be wisdom.

Tolland Passes Food License Ordinance

Vivian Keneson, Correspondent, Tel. 875-4704. The Board of Selectmen Tuesday approved an ordinance which will require any person, firm or corporation in the business of manufacturing, selling or dispensing food or drink to obtain a license from the town manager, and approval of the director of health.

John Harkins, town manager, and most board members disagreed that the ordinance should apply to suppers and food sales, but did agree that an education program on proper preparation and storage should be initiated.

Selectmen Hear Report On Region Health District

TOLLAND — Vivian Keneson, Correspondent, 875-4704. Kevin Cavanagh, vice chairman of the Board of Selectmen, and Phil Nangle, Health Council, reported to the board Tuesday on a recent meeting with representatives of Bolton, Manchester, and South Windsor regarding the formation of a Health District.

The group is in the process of trying to draw up a budget and establish what services the Health District would be able to provide.

Tolland presently spends over $8,000 for public health, according to Cavanagh, and it looks like participation in the district would cost another $6,000. The district would provide environmental health needs, Cavanagh, noting the septic systems problem in town,

The ordinance applies only to acquisition dates after the effective date, which will be in about two weeks. Peddlers' License The board tabled action on an ordinance requiring the licensing of hawkers, peddlers and itinerant vendors.

The ordinance would require a $25 fee, and is designed at least partially, to protect local businesses. The ordinance would not apply to sales by farmers and gardeners, or to the sales, distribution and delivery of milk, groceries, meats and baked goods, to sales on approval or conditional sales or merchandise, persons selling newspapers, or to charitable, political, religious and governmental organizations.

ALMANAC

By United Press International Today is Thursday, Nov. 14, the 318th day of 1974 with 47 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter.

The morning stars are Mercury, Mars and Saturn.

The evening stars are Venus and Jupiter.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Scorpio.

Robert Fulton, American inventor of the steamboat, was born Nov. 14, 1765.

On this day in history: In 1822, the first horse-drawn street car made its appearance in New York City. It carried 30 passengers.

In 1940, German planes bombed Coventry, in southern England, destroying or damaging 69,000 of the 75,000 buildings in the city.

In 1972, for the first time in its 76-year history, the Dow Jones industrial stock averages closed above 1,000.

In 1973, Britain's Princess Anne married commoner Captain Mark Phillips.

A thought for the day: Swedish inventor Charles Francis Kettering said, "A man must have a certain amount of intelligent ignorance to get anywhere."

Military Chief In Trouble For Remarks About Jews

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff is in as much trouble as he's ever faced in a long military career, the result of "unfortunate and ill-considered" remarks about American Jews.

President Ford reprimanded Gen. George S. Brown, his top military commander, Wednesday for his off-the-cuff answer to a question at a Duke University forum Oct. 12. The furor arose after his remarks were printed by the Washington Post Wednesday.

In addition to the reprimand, Brown faced calls for his ouster from Jewish organizations and cries of outrage from Capitol Hill.

In answer to a question on the possibility of U.S. intervention against Arab oil producers, Brown had said the specter of suffering by Americans from another oil boycott could lead to them "getting tough-minded enough to set down the Jewish influence in this country and break that lobby."

He said, "Jewish influence in this country... is so strong, you wouldn't believe," and that Jews "own, you know, the banks in this country, the newspapers. You just look where the Jewish money is in this country."

Gen. George S. Brown

Wednesday, Brown said he regretted those comments. "They were both unfortunate and ill-considered and certainly do not represent my convictions."

Ford's press secretary Ron Nissen said, "The President considers Gen. Brown's remarks ill-advised and poorly handled. He feels very strongly."

Defense spokesman William Beecher said Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger "continues to have confidence in Brown," who has been in the post four months.

Dore Schary, honorary chairman of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, said Brown's remarks "are not only false but contemptible and have an illiterate odor of prejudice and malice."

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said Brown showed "an appalling ignorance" and called for his resignation.

Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., a Jew representing the largest Jewish constituency in the country, said he would ask the Senate Armed Services Committee "to look into the whole episode."

Rep. Samuel Stratton, D-N.Y., a senior member of the House Armed Services Committee, called on Brown to repudiate his remarks, which he said "cast very grave doubts on your ability to continue to discharge the responsibilities imposed upon you."

Brown's apology came in a telegram to the Jewish War Veterans.

Cagey

Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley, who has been asked the same question time and again, was asked at least twice more his week whether he'll seek a sixth term.

The 76-year-old mayor, who underwent major surgery recently, said he's talking with doctors about it.

Does that mean he wishes to "run again?"

"The wish is not the involving factor," Daley said, "but sometimes the other factors and circumstances are such (that) you have no decision."

Winning is Everything' Attitude Not Otto Graham's Philosophy

NEW LONDON (UPI) - It's been 10 years since Otto Graham threw his final National Football League pass and the Hall of Fame quarterback says he no longer wants any part of the game he helped glorify.

He is happy in his dual role as athletic director and head coach at the U.S. Coast Guard Academy on the serene banks of the Thames River and he's content to stay there.

And he doesn't think the World Football League will survive as is, because of the glut of football competing for "the entertainment dollar."

Outside Strength Inside the Hartford County Conference the East Catholic gridgers are 0-3. In clashes against non-conference foes the Eagles have a 4-1 record.

First Day Out Tuesday was the first official day of high school basketball practice. Manchester High first-year Coach Doug Pearson had 35 candidates with another 15 expected to report off the football team and other areas.

Semifinal Round Bout Old Lyme Booters Victors over Rham Pushing across the winning goal with just eight seconds left in the second round debut period, Old Lyme nipped Rham High, 2-1, in a Class C semifinal round soccer match at Guilford High.

Old Lyme Booters Victors over Rham Pushing across the winning goal with just eight seconds left in the second round debut period, Old Lyme nipped Rham High, 2-1, in a Class C semifinal round soccer match at Guilford High.

Touring Mets Notch Fifth Straight Victory HIROSHIMA, Japan (UPI) - Joe Torre led a three-run homer and southpaw Jerry Koosman scattered five hits in going the distance Thursday to give the New York Mets a 4-0 victory over a combined Yomiuri Giants and Hiroshima Toyo Carp team.

Wayne Garrett to fly out over time before the winner was pushed across the goal line. Rham, a COC member, bows out with an 11-5-1 record. This was the second year in a row that Old Lyme has eliminated Rham in the semifinals, 1-0 last season.

Interpretation: Johnson won't develop a team of homegrown youngsters but feels, along with his issues, that Eddie Popowski, and Stange were doing an inadequate job with the kids.

Little Three WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass. (UPI) - The Little Three title will be determined Saturday when Williams visits Amherst.

SALEM Superior Judge Edward H. Bennett Jr. handed down the sentence to Joseph Marshall Jr., 39, Seabrook, N.H.; Pearly James Witham, 29, Nottingham, N.H.; and Wayne C. Hicks, 37, Newburyport.

RSox Youth Movement Why Coaches Changed

BOSTON (UPI) - Time for a little interpretive reporting...or else there is no real story to this story.

Strangely, neither Johnson nor Pesky nor Williams would issue specific statements about a "youth movement."

Consider, though, these Johnson pronouncements just 42 days after Boston beat the American League East pennant:

"The biggest reason Williams got the job was because of the job he did in Bristol with the young players. Lee Stange (recently replaced pitching coach) did a good job but we think Stanley can do a better job."

On trade possibilities... "We definitely will not be standing pat. This organization, at least while I've been here, has always tried to improve itself. But I think our best young players are outstanding such as Evans, (Jim) Rice and Burleson."

Interpretation: Johnson won't develop a team of homegrown youngsters but feels, along with his issues, that Eddie Popowski, and Stange were doing an inadequate job with the kids.

Brock Very Bitter, Not Voted N.L. MVP

ST. LOUIS (UPI) - Lou Brock, denied the National League's Most Valuable Player award after the best season of his 13-year major-league career, was quoted Wednesday as saying, "If I steal a thousand bases next year, and they offer me the MVP, I wouldn't accept it."

Brock, who finished second to Los Angeles Dodger first baseman Steve Garvey in voting for the Baseball Writers Association of America, set a major-league record of 118 stolen bases this past season. His marks were published by the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

(Brock was in Chicago filming a documentary on his life. An agent described him as "very bitter" over the MVP award but said he was not available for further comment.)

The St. Louis Cardinals' left fielder, who remained even-tempered and composed through his pressure-packed race to break Maury Wills' 12-year-old record of 104 steals, was bitter about his exclusion from the top award and accused the sports writers of "bad judgment." Wills won the MVP award in 1962.

Cardinal manager Red Schoendienst said, "It's really hard to understand how they voted. I don't know what else anyone could ask Brock to do. He helped the rest of our team by keeping the other club shook up."

When Schoendienst learned that two writers voted for Brock for seventh and eighth place, he exclaimed: "Oh, my God."

The award is based on points, with players getting a higher number of points according to the ranking by the writers.

Brock later was quoted as saying, "I was not pleased with the result of the balloting, but my hat's off to Steve Garvey."

Comeback Award to Jenkins

NEW YORK (UPI) - Tiresless Ferguson Jenkins, a Chicago Cub cast-off a year ago, who had a dramatic rise and fall, was named the Comeback Player of the Year by United Press International.

Jenkins, who rallied from a 14-16 season with the Cubs in '73 to a 25-12 log with the Rangers in '74, polled nine votes from the UPI baseball correspondents across the country to easily outdistance southpaw Jim Kaat of the Chicago White Sox who had four.

Accord Reached On Sale of Orioles

BALTIMORE (UPI) - A special commission seeking to retain the Orioles for Baltimore has announced agreement with Orioles' board chairman Jerald C. Hoffberger to purchase the team for $12 million.

The agreement on purchase price apparently was one of the major hurdles toward buying the team, which will be financed half by city revenue bonds and half through private investors.

Hoffberger, who could not immediately be reached for comment, gave the blue ribbon commission until Nov. 23 to come up with $5 million, or one half of its initial offer of $10 million for the club. At the time, the final purchase price was uncertain.

But the commission announced Wednesday it had arranged for $6 million in private capital to meet Hoffberger's terms. Ralph DeCarlo, a suburban developer heading the group trying to buy the team, said the purchase price agreement means his group "does have the $6 million in private money in hand."

That left another $6 million to be raised through city revenue bonds. The legality of a bond sale of that size was undetermined.

DeCarlo said the Internal Revenue Service has placed a limit of $5 million on tax-free municipal bonds for private business purposes, a matter which the city solicitor's office said would be studied.

Jabbar Return Gets Setback

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — Kareem Abdul-Jabbar's return to the Milwaukee Bucks' lineup will be delayed another week to 10 days because of a "slight swelling" in his mended broken hand, the club said Wednesday.

Team physician Dr. George Korikos said the hand has healed well, "but because of the swelling we aren't going to take any chances and have him get back to soon to avoid complications." "When Kareem tells us he's ready, he's going to be ready," Korikos said. "He'll play when he feels he can with his hand." "If it were football, he

Little Chance Unknown Will Capture Road Race

By Earl Yost

Very few so-called dark horses have broken the tape in the annual Five Mile Road Race in Manchester on Thanksgiving morning.

The 39th edition will be coming up two weeks from today with an expected starting field of 500. Entries will close next Thursday. No post entries will be recognized.

Will Hadden, general chairman for Nutmeg Forest, Tall Cedars of Lebanon, said the entries are nearing the 400 mark.

The closest to being considered a dark horse among winners since 1956 when the race was revived would be Charlie Dyson in 1956. Then a student at the University of Connecticut, Dyson was involved in the closest race in history when only two seconds separated first and third place.

past 29 years who did not attain national or international fame.

The list of winners here is most imposing, fellows like Joe McCluskey, Ted Vogel, Fred Schoeffler, Little Johnny Kelley, Nick Costes, Dick Hart, Pete Close and Vic Zwolick were all members at one time of United States Olympic squads.

The aforementioned also all won national honors as well as Tommy Crane, Bob Lowe, Ralph Buschmann, Art Dulong, John Vitale and Amby Burfoot, other Manchester champs.

Many national and international champions have found themselves also-rans here, the competition being just too great.

The Five Miler, which starts at 10:30 on Main Street, is considered the second biggest distance race in New England. Only the world-famed Boston Marathon on Patriot's Day in Boston lures more runners and more spectators.

Last year there were 692 official entrants, 600 of whom registered and started with 538 finishing.

NBA Roundup Bucks' Problems Mounting

NEW YORK (UPI) — It was a game between two teams with troubles and apparently the Detroit Pistons have a lot less problems than the Milwaukee Bucks.

Bob Lanier, taking advantage of the absence of Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, scored 40 points Wednesday night to lead the Pistons to a 98-91 victory over the Bucks. It was Milwaukee's 10th straight loss and 12th in 13 games. Lanier also grabbed 24 rebounds and blocked six shots.

"I don't know how long yet on Jabbar," said Bucks Coach Larry Costello of his superstar. "I can't even see him coming back soon. This is my most frustrating stretch as a coach to a player. We gave it everything we had, we just couldn't handle Lanier. He killed us. He scored, rebounded, and blocked our shots."

Jabbar, who suffered a broken hand when he punched a basket support in anger in pre-season, is working out some and taking treatment but his right hand is still swollen and doctors say he can't play until the swelling disappears. They estimate about another week.

And while Costello awaited the return of his star center, Detroit Coach Ray Scott was looking for some of the Pistons' magic of last season.

"We haven't played a good game since (beating) Boston," Scott said. "The problem is we're just not winning enough games. We're not playing with any consistency. We can't go back to the level of excellence we had last year. The other teams have improved. The whole league's moved to a higher level and we've got to, too."

"Teams are prepared for us now. We've got to be up for every game. They know we're legitimate contenders and they can't come into Detroit and just go through the motions and expect to win."

Bob Dandridge led Milwaukee with 28 points. In other National Basketball Association games, Washington crushed Kansas City-Omaha 118-81, Phoenix damped Philadelphia 105-100 and Seattle stopped Los Angeles 108-103.

Bullets 118, Kings 81 Phil Chenier had 25 points and Elvin Hayes 21 as Washington cruised past KC-Omaha. The Bullets had 37 points in the third period to break open the game. Nate Archibald led the Kings with 16.

Suns 105, 76ers 100 Charlie Scott's 41 points carried Phoenix past Philadelphia. Following Scott in the Suns' scoring were Curtis Perry with 18 and Dick Van Arsdale with 14. Six 76ers scored in double figures, led by Doug Collins, who came off the bench to get 20.

Sonics 108, Lakers 103 Guards Archie Clark and Fred Brown combined for 44 points in leading the Sonics to their fourth straight victory, a triumph over Los Angeles. They scored 15 of Seattle's 25 fourth quarter points. The Lakers, who lost their fourth straight, were led by Pat Riley's 25 points.

ABA Roundup Kentucky Reserve Paces Win

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bird Averitt should do his act somewhere else, as far as the New York Nets are concerned. They're just not winning.

Averitt came off the bench Wednesday night to spark the Kentucky Colonels to a 132-129 double overtime victory over the Nets. It was the second straight time Averitt has blitzed the Nets.

In a meeting of the one-two teams in the American Basketball Association East Saturday night, Averitt also came off the bench to lead Kentucky to victory.

In other ABA games, St. Louis beat Memphis 97-92. Utah edged Indiana 114-103 and Denver clubbed San Diego 132-108.

Spirits 97, Sounds 92 Rookie Marvin Barnes had 31 points and 24 rebounds to lead St. Louis over Memphis. Rick Mount led the Sounds with 24 points.

Stars 114, Pacers 103 Rookie Malone's career-high 39 points pulled Kentucky into a tie. Larry Kennon added 39 for the Nets and Billy Paultz had 24.

Nuggets 132, Q's 108 Mack Calvin scored 29 points and Byron Beck 26 to lead Denver over San Diego. It was the Nuggets' third straight win over the Q's this year and 11th overall against three losses. Travis Grant had 35 points for the Q's.

Wanting to Avoid Loss Clark Scores Winner

NEW YORK (UPI) — Only the kind of team that can play like the Philadelphia Flyers can afford to talk like them.

Picture a scene, for example, where a coach says winning or losing isn't important, it's how you play the game and saying it like he means it.

Or, how about the team hero proclaiming that he really wasn't trying to win the game; all he wanted to do was not lose it.

Accept it or not, this was the scenario Wednesday night after Philadelphia nipped the New York Rangers 3-2 on a goal by Bobby Clarke with only 15 seconds left.

Clarke blocked a shot by New York's Gilles Marotte and then carried the puck all by himself before beating Ed Giacomin with a sharp 40-foot drive.

Remarkably, it was only the second victory in eight years for Philadelphia in Madison Square Garden. Even when they ousted the Rangers en route to their Stanley Cup championship last season, the Flyers were unable to win a single playoff game in New York.

"At that time of the game, you just want to make sure the other team doesn't score," Clarke said about his winning goal. "I was lucky to block Marotte's shot. I was just trying to stop it so it wouldn't go through and it hit the shaft of my stick. How often does something like that happen?"

When Clarke gained control of the puck, the Flyers had a 2-on-1 break and Bill Barber on the left. Brad Park was defending between them. Clarke said he didn't consider passing to Barber because, again, his main concern was not losing the game and he was afraid of a pass being intercepted and the Rangers gaining a break of their own.

"I didn't even see the shot go in," Clarke added. "I just wanted to get it on the net."

The victory was the 12th against only three losses and two ties for the Flyers but Coach Fred Shero nevertheless remarked, "I don't judge by the wins and losses but by how good the team plays. I don't care whether we win or lose as long as I know we're doing things right."

Two other teams that seem to be doing almost everything right this season are Buffalo and Los Angeles and both continued their winning ways Wednesday night. Buffalo ran its unbeaten string to nine games and registered its first victory ever in the Montreal Forum by bombing the Canadiens 9-6 and Los Angeles, with only a single loss in 16 outings, trimmed Toronto 4-0.

In other National Hockey League action, Kansas City won for the first time at home with a 5-3 decision over St. Louis. Pittsburgh handed the New York Islanders their fifth consecutive defeat 8-2, Atlanta edged Washington 4-3, Minnesota beat Detroit 7-4, and California shut out Chicago 2-0.

Flyers 3, Rangers 2 Tom Bladen and Orest Kindrachuk gave Philadelphia a 2-0 lead before Bill Fairbairn and Jerry Butler tied it out the Rangers in the second period.

The Flyers maintained a five-point lead over rufinerup Atlanta in Division 1 with the Rangers last, 11 points back.

Sabres 8, Canadiens 6 Rene Robert, who says he particularly likes to do well against Montreal "as I don't see eye to eye with (Coach) Scotty Bowman," registered the second hat trick of his NHL career. Guy Lapointe also had three goals in a losing cause for the Canadiens, who fell six points behind Los Angeles in Division 3. Buffalo leads Division 4 by seven points over idle Boston.

Kings 4, Maple Leafs 0 Dan Maloney scored a pair of goals to support the perfect goaltending of Rogie Vachon, who turned aside 35 Toronto shots for his second shutout of the season. Vachon has allowed only 13 goals in 11 games for a sensational 1.18 goals against average and the Kings are now unbeaten in their last nine games.

Scouts 5, Blues 3 Jim McElmury and Richard Lemieux scored 57 seconds apart in the second period to lift Kansas City to its second triumph in 14 games. Ace Bailey had two goals for St. Louis.

Penguins 8, Islanders 2 Syl Apps, playing in his 300th NHL game, and linemate Lowell MacDonald each had two goals and two assists in leading Pittsburgh's rout. Jere Fronovost, the right wing on that line, added a goal and two assists.

Flames 4, Capitals 3 Randy Manery scored Atlanta's first goal and set up the second by Bob Letier while Tom Williams had a pair of goals for the Caps. Washington goalie Michel Belhumeur had 37 saves.

North Stars 7, Red Wings 4 Fred Stanfield scored his first hat trick as a North Star, helping Minnesota extend Detroit's winless streak to eight games.

Seals 2, Black Hawks 0 Gilles Meloche turned aside 28 shots for his first shutout of the season and Butch Williams scored one goal and assisted on another by Bob Stewart as California beat Chicago.

Glamour for Plante on Ice

NEW YORK (UPI) — The glamour of hockey, for a man such as Jacques Plante, remains on the ice and not in a front office.

Plante, who "retired" last year to a life of ease as general manager at Quebec, returned to active duty as goaltender for Edmonton earlier this week and came through with his second successive victory Wednesday night as the Oilers beat the Winnipeg Jets 5-3.

The 45-year-old Plante turned back 27 shots and received solid defensive support from Ken Baird, who scored three goals. In his debut on Sunday, Plante allowed Cleveland only a single goal.

A crowd of 10,873 was in attendance at Edmonton Wednesday night.

In other World Hockey Association games, the Quebec Nordiques blasted the Indianapolis Racers 10-3, the Houston Aeros beat the Minnesota Fighting Saints 8-5 and the Toronto Toros beat the Vancouver Blazers 5-3.

Nordiques 10, Racers 3 Alain Beaulac scored a pair of goals for Quebec as Indianapolis had its three-game winning streak snapped. The Nordiques piled it on with five goals in the final period, three of them coming when they were shorthanded. Quebec remained four points behind Toronto in the Canadian Division.

Aeros 8, Fighting Saints 5 Houston took over undisputed possession of first place in the West, two points ahead of idle San Diego, by beating Minnesota. Larry Lund had a pair of goals for the Aeros and Gordie Howe and son Mark added one each.

Toros 5, Blazers 3 Tom Simpson's goal with only 63 seconds to play broke a

Memphis Favorite In WFL Playoffs

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Memphis Southern ended their first World Football League season undefeated at home and became the team to beat in the playoffs which begin next week.

"This team has a healthy frame of mind," Coach John McVay said after the Southern ended their regular season with a 28-22 win over the Charlotte Hornets and a 17-3 record Wednesday night. "We're awfully crippled up but we'll be ready—at least as ready as we can be."

Ed Marshall, who caught touchdown passes of seven and 27 yards from backup quarterback Danny White, said the Southern's really big battles are yet to come.

"If we let down, we knew we were going to get our heads beat off," Marshall said. "That was incentive enough to be ready. But now we don't need incentive. We're going for the big thing—the World Bowl."

Memphis will host Portland in a nationally televised game next Thursday night. Charlotte, now 10-10, will play Florida in Orlando Wednesday night in the playoffs. A Memphis win will put the Southern's secondround game at home and another victory will place the World Bowl at Memphis Memorial Stadium Dec. 5, Birmingham hosts Philadelphia in the other game.

Trinity Gridders Top Weekly Poll

BOSTON (UPI) — Trinity has found there's more than one way to skin an Ephraim.

The Bantams lost to Williams College, 17-14, in the first game of the season, but have won six straight to grab first place over Williams in the next-to-last UPI coaches poll of New England College Division teams.

Trinity, which closed out its season Saturday against a struggling Wesleyan team, received four of the 12 first-place ballots cast and a total of 41 points.

Williams, with a Little-Three title game against Amherst still to be played, collected three first place votes among its 37 points. The Williams Ephraim also are 6-1, losing only to Middlebury.

Norwich closed the season with five straight victories after a 1-3 start to earn third place. The Cadets received two first place votes and a total of 28 points.

One point back in fourth position is Amherst. The Lord Jeffs were first in the regional poll last week but that was before a 24-19 defeat at Trinity. Amherst is 5-2 heading into the home game against Williams.

Nichols College, New England Football Conference winner, finished fifth with 13 points, with the help of two first-place votes. Nichols closed its 7-1 season last weekend by placing New Haven, 49-0.

Points are awarded on a descending scale, with a first place vote worth five points, a second place vote worth three points, and a third place vote worth one point.

Southern Records

NEW HAVEN (UPI) — Southern Connecticut State College's football squad set one record and crept closer to another when it upset C.W. Post 14-13 during the weekend. Owl punters Glenn Conlan and Tim McHugh punted a total of 13 times against the Pioneers, breaking the previous singlegame record of 12 against Holydra in 1972. Sophomore tailback Brian Small now has carried the ball 194 times this season, and could reach Gordon Taylor's record of 198 rushing attempts set in 1970. The Owls are 4-4 for the season.

Convicted Robbers Get 25-Year Terms

NEW HAVEN (UPI) — Three Black Liberation Army members convicted of bank robbery have been given maximum 25-year prison sentences each in U.S. District Court at New Haven. The sentences were handed down Wednesday by Judge John Newman to Harold Simmons, 29, and James Haskins, 26, both of New York City, and Michael Alston, 20, of Plainfield, N. J. Newman said the defendants must serve a minimum of five years each to become eligible for parole.

City Bank Executive Named ABA Official

William W. Grauly, executive vice president of the Connecticut Bank and Trust Co. of Hartford, has been named president of the Trust Division's executive committee of the American Bankers Association (ABA). The ABA's Trust Division assists member banks which have trust departments in their endeavors to improve fiduciary products and services and in the development of more complete understanding of the trust business.

Things Have Changed For Trust Officers

Back in the days when the stock market was going great guns and go-go money managers were producing big yields for their funds and their clients, it was fashionable to poke fun at bank trust officers. The bank trust departments were rather conservative and often satisfied with slow growth and modest yields. "You can't get rich letting bank manage your money," was a common complaint. "Things have changed," says Robert E. Dell, senior vice president of Hartford National Bank & Trust Co. "Banks' trust departments now are doing better than many private money managers in managing money, even though their policies still are conservative."

Although it's a regional institution, Hartford National has clients — big clients — in nearly all states. It also had the unusual distinction of having almost twice as much asset volume, $2.9 billion, in its trust operations as in its commercial banking at the last peak of the stock market. "That's no longer true, but trust volume still is a tremendous thing with us," Dell said. "We've done well because of our reputation of being more biased in favor of common stocks than most bank trust departments, but the present state of the stock market has forced us to change this policy."

State May Regulate Flow Of Cars on Interstates

HARTFORD (UPI) — Connecticut motorists may be barred from entering Interstates 91 and 84 when traffic is backed up in order to reduce pollution, according to state environmental officials. The proposal is among those being considered by the state Department of Environmental Protection and private consultants as a means of improving Connecticut's air quality to meet federal environmental standards.

PUC Stands by Decision

HARTFORD (UPI) — The Public Utilities Commission is standing by its decision to reduce the size of fuel cost adjustments on electricity bills from Hartford Electric Light Co. and Connecticut Light & Power.

The two Northeast Utilities subsidiaries had asked the PUC to reconsider its order to the companies to update their basic rates to include the price of oil as of last June. The order was part of the PUC decision in October allowing the firms to increase their rates. The utilities argued the PUC decision didn't take into account shutdowns of nuclear generating stations, such as Millstone One at Waterford. The utilities said the shutdowns cost them money by forcing them to use more fossil fuel.

New Shopping Center Has 3-Day Opening

Glastonbury's newest shopping center — the Fox Run Mall on Welles St. — opens today for a three-day grand opening celebration. For Fox Run Mall, the first new project in the town's redevelopment area, was to be opened amid a morning parade led by four horses and a motorcade. The mall's 11 stores are celebrating their openings with giveaways of more than $1,000 in prizes, and the three-day affair will include several special events. The Zephyr Hang Glider will be on exhibit all three days in the interior mall. There'll be a clown for children Friday night and Saturday morning. The Glastonbury High School Band will be featured in a concert tonight at 7. Friday night at 7, the Nyagug Fife and Drum Corps will perform. Prizes to be given away in a Saturday afternoon drawing include a hind quarter of beef, a stereo component sound system, a Polaroid camera, a 47-piece dinnerware set, and a man's watch. Each of the participating stores will also conduct prize drawings. The mall, owned by a four-man partnership, is about 80 per cent leased. Eleven of the mall's 14 stores are occupied, and office space is still available on the mall's second level. Key tenant in the mall is Top Notch Foods, whose owners — George Lucas of East Hartford and Leonard Ianzio of West Hartford — are two of the four owners of the mall. The other two partners, both Glastonbury men, are Stuart Osber and Richard Katz. Other stores already in the mall are Katz Creative Decorating, owned by Katz; Stuart's, a youngsters' clothing shop; Radio Shack; Colonial Lantern, a card and book store. Also, Groman's Sport Shop (sports equipment); Arrow Drugs; and State Bank for Savings. Expected to move into the mall soon are a restaurant and a laundromat. The mall complex is situated on about 8 1/2 acres of land and has parking for nearly 500 cars. There's 100,000 square feet of counting space and about 16,000 square feet of offices. All stores are open today and Friday until 9 p.m. and Saturday until 7 p.m., except the bank and drug store. Top Notch is open from 7 a.m. to midnight.

Corps of Engineers Honors Brindamour

Theodore Brindamour of 5 Dover Rd., Manchester has been honored by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers for his work on Hartford's Park River protection project. Brindamour, a member of the Greater Hartford Flood Commission and the City of Hartford engineering staff, received the Army's Certificate of Appreciation for Patriotic Civilian Service. John Mason, head of the Corps of Engineers New England Division, made the award recently in ceremonies in Waltham, Mass. Brindamour was cited for contributing space and energy "toward gaining official and public support...for the feasibility study of the Park River local protection project, and assisting the Corps in the planning, design, construction, and maintenance of the flood protection system. "His tireless efforts, noteworthy leadership, and great store of specialized knowledge materially assisted the division," the citation said.

State Energy Czar Urges Continued Conservation

State Energy Administrator Alan Brooks says Connecticut's energy conservation efforts are paying off. But he warns that "all of us have to continue to do our share if we are to come to grips with the long-range problems of energy management." Brooks cited state gasoline statistics showing Connecticut motorists used 3.3 per cent less gasoline in September than in September 1973. He said that comparable figures for natural gas and electricity indicate conservation achievement of roughly 7 per cent and 5 per cent respectively. "The gasoline figures are particularly significant," said Brooks. "This past July, state motorists used more gasoline — 4.8 per cent more — than in July 1973. But August figures showed a drop to 2.8 per cent below the August 1973 consumption level and this September's figure now appears to have re-established a conservative trend. If we continue at this rate until the end of the year," he adds, "we estimate Connecticut motorists will have used 50 million gallons less gasoline than last year."

"However," Brooks said, "the gasoline situation is only part of the picture. We are still urging people to conserve in other areas such as home heating by keeping thermostats at 68 degrees during the winter months. We still want them to develop and maintain energy saving habits such as driving less and at lower speeds and turning off air conditioning appliances and lights when not in use. "Overall," he says, "we must realize that we are all going to have to readjust our lifestyles to a certain extent if we are to accomplish any meaningful long-term energy gains."

'Coal Strike Makes Energy Saving Vital'

The coal strike has increased the necessity for energy conservation, according to Arthur L. Woods, president of the Connecticut Business and Industry Association (CBIA). "The energy crisis is still here," Woods said. "A prolonged strike will aggravate the energy situation further as the domino theory takes effect. A long strike by coal miners will strain oil supplies just as we enter winter." In an energy conservation message sent to CBIA's 2,800 members, Woods said oil supplies appear to be adequate at this time, however, he saw the coal strike as one of several factors that could alter the Connecticut energy supply situation negatively. Woods said that although Connecticut depends on oil for 75 per cent of its energy needs, a long coal miners' strike could affect the state's energy supply.

Danish Firm Builds Here

HARTFORD (UPI) — LEGO Systems, Inc., a Danish-based toy manufacturer, presented Gov. Thomas Meskill with a silver-plated shovel Wednesday in groundbreaking ceremonies for a new plant in Enfield. Construction of the new plant began July 2 on a 50-acre site purchased by LEGO, and the first phase of the plant, a 72,000-square-foot distribution center, is expected to be completed by next May. By late spring, employment is expected to reach 50 at the center. LEGO said it will employ as many as 800 persons as well as manufacturing and distribution as well as Meskill, in welcoming the firm, said some 40 companies have chosen Connecticut sites in the past five years.

Roomers Eligible for Tax Relief, Too

All persons 65 and over who pay rent—renters of houses and apartments or roomers—are eligible for tax relief under the state's "Circuit Breaker" law, Manchester Assessor Ed Belleville said today.

Previously, explained Belleville, roomers were told they weren't eligible for benefits; however, the state tax department has reversed its earlier ruling and has declared roomers eligible.

His latest announcement, said Belleville, is because the Manchester assessor's office had followed the state ruling and had refused applications by roomers.

"I urge all eligible roomers to contact my office in the Municipal Building as soon as possible and apply for benefits," he said. "They should bring receipts or canceled checks for rent, electricity, heat, water and gas paid during the 1973 calendar year."

The "Circuit Breaker" law provides tax relief benefits of up to $400. Elderly homeowners had to April 15 to apply for

Vote Against Busing Shocks Parents

In a letter to the Board of Education which was read at Tuesday night's meeting, parents in the Benton and Brookfield St. areas expressed shock that the board had voted against busing for their children who are presently walking to the Bowers School.

The letter was in reply to the board's action taken at an Oct. 28 meeting.

A group of parents had petitioned the board on Oct. 15 to provide busing for 17 children who were confronted with traffic hazards on their way to school, according to parents.

Tuesday night, Michael Regan of 55 Benton St. spoke for the parents present at the board meeting and requested a re-evaluation of the situation. It was suggested he contact Wilson Deakin Jr., assistant school superintendent, to find out what step should be taken in an effort to get busing.

In other business, the board approved two personnel actions.

The resignation of Kenneth J. Sullivan, a teacher in the Manchester school system for the past 18 years, was accepted with regret. Sullivan was also building administrator at the Bernard Building at Bennet Junior High School for the past seven years.

He has accepted a position as assistant principal at Somers High School.

Peter Tognalli has been appointed to teach math at Bennet Junior High School. He received his B.A. degree from the University of Connecticut. He lives in Williamantic.

In LTM Roles

The Little Theatre of Manchester's offering of "Inherit the Wind" will be presented in its last two performances Friday and Saturday nights at the East Catholic High School auditorium.

Curtaintime is 8:30 p.m. Tickets are available at the door.

Appearing in lead roles are Dwight Martin as the prosecuting attorney, and Bob Ross as the teacher who is on trial for teaching Darwin's theory of evolution to his students.

The play is based on the so-called "monkey trial" which took place in the 1930s in Tennessee.

EPA Asks for Delay Of Boston Air Study

By WALTER F. ROCHE JR. BOSTON (UPI)—The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency is seeking a 60-day extension of a federal court order to complete a new in-depth study of air pollution levels in the greater Boston area, it was learned Wednesday.

A spokesman for Regional EPA Administrator John A. McGlenon said the request for the extension has been forwarded to the U.S. Justice Department for presentation to the 1st Circuit Court of Appeals.

If granted, the request would delay until mid-February a public hearing on the study results and proposed plans to curb auto related air pollution in the greater Boston region. The court ordered new hearings in a Sept. 27 ruling in which it upheld the right of the regional EPA office to impose parking space reductions on employers within Route 495.

Paul Keough, spokesman for McGlenon, said the request to the Justice Department was prompted by the desire of the regional office to have complete data available for the new hearing.

Keough said the new data, once compiled, could lead to changes in the original traffic control strategy, unveiled more than a year ago.

"We feel additional monitoring of carbon monoxide and other pollutants will be necessary in order to satisfy the court. To get the new information we'll simply need more time," Keough said.

Busing Appeal Muddled

BOSTON (UPI)—Massachusetts Atty. Gen. Robert H. Quinn said Wednesday he is considering an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court of a state Supreme Court ruling which interprets as striking down a voluntary school integration program.

Quinn, in a State House news conference, offered the first clarification of Tuesday's ruling of the state Supreme Court in support of the high court's earlier order mandating forced busing for Springfield.

"I would say that Chapter 636 has been struck down by this opinion...all of it," Quinn said.

"I'm not so sure we won't carry an appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States," Quinn said. Quinn's term as attorney general expires Jan. 2 when Francis X. Bellotti assumes the office.

Quinn said he would consult with Bellotti before deciding on appeal to the U.S. high court. He would have 90 days to perfect the appeal.

Chapter 636 was enacted in late July. One of its main provisions prohibits the state Board of Education from ordering local school committees to use busing as a means of implementing the state's first-in-the-nation 1965 Racial Imbalance Law.

Although all seven state Supreme Court justices agreed that the court's busing order should be upheld, they were divided 4-3 on whether Chapter 636 was constitutional, or whether constitutionality was even at issue.

The majority opinion, written by Chief Justice G. Joseph Tauro, said "under as Chapter 636 was intended to forestall the implementation of the task force (busing) plan in Springfield, it is unconstitutional."

Tauro said in his opinion, the statute violated the 14th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and two articles of the state constitution.

Attorneys for both sides in the case said Tuesday night they felt the opinion provided little in the way of answering questions concerning the current status of the 1965 Racial Imbalance Law, which Chapter 636 sought to amend.

Quinn, however, said, "this particular opinion petrifies the racial imbalance law. It does not allow for any (legislative) changes."

He said he interpreted the state high court opinion to be that any proposed change would be unconstitutional.

Judge Hampers Cash Recovery

CHICAGO (UPI)—Efforts to recover at least part of the $4.3 million taken in the largest cash heist in American history have been hampered by a judge in the British West Indies.

The FBI said Tuesday that a judge on Grand Cayman Island has refused to let investigators examine records of five island banks. About $1.5 million of the $4.3 million taken in the Oct. 20 Chicago Armored Express burglary was believed stored there. The island banks follow the same rules of secrecy as Swiss banks.

Boland's Tire Sign Attacked In State Crackdown

Boland Motors' new tire sign at 389 Center St. has been ordered removed by the state Department of Transportation (DOT). It is one of hundreds of DOT signs that have been ordered removed in recent weeks in statewide crackdowns on signs.

The new sign at Boland reaches over the highway right-of-way about two feet or more. The right-of-way on Center St. extends across the sidewalk to the inner edge of the walk.

The DOT campaign began in October when so-called surveillance crews surveyed all highways, according to William E. Keish, DOT director of communications.

"We want to remove illegally placed signs," Keish said.

About 100 signs have been found in violation and have been ordered removed, he said. Another 500 will be ordered removed in November, he added.

The DOT driver purpose is for "safe and sane scenic highways," he said.

1967 State Statute The statute DOT is using to enforce its orders to remove signs was passed by the General Assembly in 1967 and is Section 13A-247, according to Joseph Levine of Keish's office. It is titled "Excessives and Obstructions" and the portions pertaining to signs reads:

"No person, firm or corporation shall place any obstruction, within, under, upon or over...any state highway without the written permission of the commissioner, and said commissioner may...remove or alter any such obstruction...and the expense incurred by the commissioner, shall be paid by the person, firm or corporation...placing such obstruction."

It goes on to say the obstruction...

...shall be removed by the person, firm or corporation making or maintaining the same within 30 days of the date when said commissioner sends by registered or certified mail, postage prepaid, notice to such person, firm or corporation, ordering such removal or alteration.

"Any person, firm or corporation violating any provision of this section shall be fined not more than $100 for a first offense and not less than $100 nor more than $500 for each subsequent offense."

Levine, who said he is not a lawyer, said he thought this law allowed DOT to remove anything, old or new, that obstructs the highway right-of-way.

He insisted the inspectors giving out the removal orders are being reasonable and polite with the sign owners. Many sign owners are not aware of or are breaking this law, he said.

Many of the signs are small and inexpensive, he added.

Story and Photos By Mal Barlow

Boland's Sign
Boland's sign is the only in Manchester that The Herald could determine has been ordered removed. It is directly opposite Altawood Park which divides Center and W. Center Sts.

Robert Boland, owner of the firm which also sells gas, oil, used cars, and car repairs, said he won zoning approval from the town for the sign post in 1947 when he ran the Nash car dealership.

Some time later, he changed the sign on the post to Studebaker and had no difficulty, he said.

A few years ago he took down the Studebaker sign but left the post, the only sign post at the sidewalk. An Amoco gas sign on the property does not overhang the sidewalk.

A few months ago Boland put up a shiny new sign reading "Cooper Tires, Boland Motors."

On Oct. 10, Boland received a letter from Ernest R. Macchelli, town zoning enforcement officer. It was a form letter and, in part, read:

"No portable signs or price signs except as stated will be tolerated."

Boland was verbally told he must take down his Cooper Tire sign as it was illegal. He would face prosecution if he refused, Boland refused.

The town apparently left off the battle with Boland as he heard no more from town officials about his sign.

But on Nov. 5, a Kenneth Bidwell visited Boland. Bidwell is a DOT inspector whose main job of late has been to enforce the sign law, a spokesman for the highway department said.

Bidwell told Boland the formal notice warning him to have the sign removed on or before Dec. 5 or the state would prosecute.

Boland said the sign does not mean that much to him or to his business.

"It's more a question of principle," he noted.

He noted many other businesses along Center St. have signs over the sidewalk and, to his knowledge, none have been told to remove them. The railroad overpass east of Moriarty Bros. on Center St. has a large sign painted on both sides, he said.

His sign is four feet square and to the side of the square. The overpass sign which is changed periodically is many times larger and over the highway.

Main St. downtown has many signs over the sidewalks and several reaching over the wide walks to the curbs, he said.

Boland asked Bidwell about all these other signs and said he was not given a satisfactory answer.

The Herald contacted DOT. Levine said Bidwell is a member of a team of inspectors working on sign removal with the authority of the 1967 sign statute. It is a team working state-wide and Boland's sign is only one of many.

"They are only beginning to enforce the sign regulations," Levine said. "I'm sure they will get to the others. I guarantee it."

Pickets in Custody In Kanawha County

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — A man and a woman today were arrested while picketing a public school but officials remained confident that heavy security would prevent renewed violence in the Kanawha County antitextbook furor.

School officials reported that school bus drivers were being intimidated by protesters and some drivers were refusing to work. Several buses have been raked by gunfire recently and Wednesday a police car escorting a school bus loaded with children was hit by sniper fire.

State Police today arrested Jerry W. Foster, 25, and an unidentified woman, as they walked a picket line outside Anne Bailey Elementary School.

The woman was charged with carrying a deadly weapon — an aerosol can of tear gas — using profanity and resisting arrest. Foster was charged with obstructing an officer and willful disruption of government property.

"Except for scattered picketing in the eastern part of the county and the two arrests, it's a good day," said Board of Education spokesman Mike Bell.

Most of the drivers are calling in and saying they won't work because of intimidation," Bell said. "They (the protesters) are really putting pressure on some of the drivers."

For the second straight day, State Police and sheriff's deputies were out in force.

Trouble flared Tuesday when school authorities returned to classrooms and libraries more than 300 books fundamentalists by those agencies involved with environmental, traffic, health and social impact.

Berte said his clients are seriously considering an appeal of the rejection to the Superior Court.

"I think Connecticut is the biggest loser," said Berte. The Colchester Kennel Club had planned a facility the state could be proud of."

His clients, he said, were the first in the state to propose a dog-racing facility. He said he couldn't understand why the commission, after receiving both applications the same day,

Colchester Dog Track Rejected

The State Gaming Commission has denied three Manchester men a license to construct and operate a $4 million dog-racing facility in Colchester.

The state action Wednesday came almost 21 months to the day since the three principals announced their proposal. The three are Stephen J. Cavagnaro, co-owner of the restaurant, Richard P. Hayes, real estate broker and land developer; and Raymond F. Damato, building contractor and developer. Their attorney is A. Paul Berte, also of Manchester.

The proposed facility is named the Colchester Kennel Club.

In rejecting the application, the commission said the proposed Colchester facility would be in direct competition with other planned pari-mutual facilities in the area.

On Sept. 17, the commission granted a license to Connecticut Greyhound Racing Inc. for a $3 million facility on a 60-acre site near Rt. 52 in Plainfield.

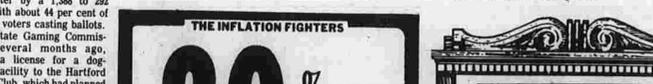

At the same time, it postponed a vote on the Colchester Kennel Club's proposal for a $4 million facility on a 45-acre site off Rt. 16 in Colchester. Plainfield is about 20 miles east and northeast from Colchester.

Applications for both facilities were filed the same day — April 11, 1973 — and both were processed simultaneously by those agencies involved with environmental, traffic, health and social impact.

Berte said his clients are seriously considering an appeal of the rejection to the Superior Court.

"I think Connecticut is the biggest loser," said Berte. The Colchester Kennel Club had planned a facility the state could be proud of."

His clients, he said, were the first in the state to propose a dog-racing facility. He said he couldn't understand why the commission, after receiving both applications the same day,

School Board to Act On Family Life Curriculum

BOLTON
Donna Holland
Correspondent
646-0375

The Board of Education will act on the proposed family life and health education curriculum for students in kindergarten through Grade 6 at its meeting today at 8 p.m. in the library of Bolton Center School.

Members of the school board received copies of the curriculum in September. The school's curriculum council made some revisions in the proposed curriculum. Several revised copies are available at Bentley Memorial Library.

Over three years ago the school board charged a group of people with the development of a curriculum guide. The group consisted of parents, teachers, clergy and professionals in the field of family life.

The Board of Education formally adopted a Health-Family Life Education policy in September 1972. Following the policy adoption certain areas were designated as priorities and a proposed curriculum in those areas was developed by the Family Life Committee.

The committee held a number of meetings open to all residents at which time proposals and concerns of the curriculum were discussed. In the spring of 1974 the committee voted to use Marlborough's curriculum as its guide with modifications to fit the town's needs.

The committee believes its proposed curriculum concerns itself with problems children face as they grow socially, physically, emotionally, intellectually and ethically.

The committee believes educators and the community can and should work together in a bond of trust and mutual support so the best interests of all children may be served in the school, home, church and community.

Members of the committee are Susan Smith, Thomas Dzieck, Thomas Sheridan, Jeffrey Heintz, Robert Hamm, Barbara Stephens, Marilyn Breslow, Esther Holsburd and Katherine Placco.

The physical growth and development aspects of the program will be integrated within the present science curriculum at the kindergarten through Grade 6 level. The classroom teacher will be responsible for most of the content.

The school nurse and other professional people will be responsible for certain areas.

The interpersonal relationships aspects of the curriculum will be integrated within the regular classroom day.

Parents will have the option of not having their children participate in certain areas of the curriculum which might be considered sensitive by them. An alternate learning situation will be provided by the administration.

Costs to run the program will include additional teaching time by the school nurse and purchasing of resource material.

The program will be evaluated after its first full year of implementation.

General Objectives: To help impart sound scientific information about growth and development. To help gain insight into student's own ethical, emotional, social, physical and intellectual growth and development. To help youth establish a more meaningful interpersonal relationship. Specific Objectives: To help students understand and accept how their bodies are built, how they work and the individual differences in growth and development. To increase self understanding so that individuals may become self confident members of their own sex. To increase understanding of the opposite sex in order to promote positive relationships between the sexes. To help students understand how emotions and attitudes affect behavior and how they can control their emotions and attitudes instead of being controlled by them. To help develop an inner satisfaction in planning and participating in acts that create good human relations. To help each student realize and feel he is a member of a family made up of individuals with a wonderful and complex creation. To allow and enable each individual to develop a personal code of conduct. To help students prepare for problems and joys of every day living.

Kindergarten-Grade 6
To show how each individual contributes to our national welfare. To help students realize that each job is an important factor in our economy. To show how each group has helped America become what is today. To point out that various people have different beliefs. To point out that you are in large part due to what you think of yourself and how others see you.

Kindergarten-Grade 6

President Ford Will Chalk Up His Own First In Japan

By HELEN THOMAS
UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON — President Ford will chalk up his own historic "first" when he travels to Japan next week.

He also will be attempting to establish his credentials as a statesman and leader of the most powerful nation in the world.

In making a foreign trip — on the anniversary of his first 100 days in the presidency — Ford will only be following precedent set by his predecessors.

Since World War II, new presidents have traveled abroad early in the game to test their foreign policy skills. Sometimes there have been rude awakenings as in the case of President Kennedy's first meeting with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev in Vienna in 1961.

Ford is anxious to get a grip on foreign policy making which was former President Nixon's strongest point. He has retained Secretary of State Henry Kissinger as his master diplomat, and most of the strategy emanating from the White House is definitely Kissinger's style.

The President has no hang ups about his own ability to meet foreign leaders on global strategy. He feels his 25 years on Capitol Hill, and as the Republican House leader prepared him to grapple with the problems on the worldstage.

Ford has never visited Japan before. When he flies to Tokyo Sunday he will become the first American President to ever set foot on that Pacific Island since the United States established diplomatic relations with it more than 100 years ago.

Other American presidents have been thwarted in their attempts to go to Japan. The late President Dwight D. Eisenhower had arrived in Manila en route to Tokyo when he got a telephone call from his Press Secretary James Hagerty recommending the trip be canceled because of anti-American demonstrations. Nixon had hoped to travel to Japan last summer following his Middle East and Soviet summits, but Watergate kept him from adding Japan to his list of presidential trips.

Ford's initiation into world diplomacy is fraught with potential trouble. Japanese demonstrators could disrupt his visit, and he is going to Tokyo at a time when Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka is on the political ropes, seeking to survive in office and fighting back against charges that he enriched himself in government.

Japanese diplomats are saying that Ford's visit will be symbolic and will have a significant impact on relations between the U.S. and its World War II enemy. They insist that whether or not Tanaka remains as prime minister, U.S.-Japanese policy will remain the same.

The President will be able to demonstrate that the traces of World War

II have dissipated when he is honored at a state dinner by Emperor Hirohito.

Despite the domestic strife in South Korea, Ford also will visit Seoul for talks with President Park Chung Hee.

Kissinger recommended the controversial trip to South Korea on grounds that it would be a "slap in the face" to Park if the President was in the vicinity and did not drop by.

Residential Construction in Holding Pattern

BOSTON (UPI) — Uncertainties caused by high inflation and the tight money market has placed residential construction in a holding pattern across the nation even though the demand for housing remains high, according to a Boston mortgage insurance executive.

Despite this, Jackson W. Goss, president of Investors Mortgage Insurance Co., said Wednesday the outlook for the latter part of 1975 is hopeful because the pressure for housing "is becoming a major item locally and nationally. Political leaders are beginning to recognize its import and will devote greater attention to this troubled sector over the coming months."

But for the present, Goss said, "uncertainties generated by today's double-digit inflation have made (residential construction) people generally apprehensive.

And their response to this monetary climate (is): Stay put — do nothing — until economic clouds disperse.

"The demand for housing remains high," he said.

"It is the supply that is so elusive."

But Goss did say that "luxury-priced, single-family dwellings will continue to do well."

He also said there were other positive features to look forward to in the housing market.

"At the other end of the price spectrum," he said, "there will be some experimental building of less expensive homes based on strong promises of government assistance through the secondary mortgage market."

In New England, he said, "Use of existing properties will be strong in urbanized areas of Connecticut, Massachusetts and Rhode Island, with little activity in Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont. The conversion of older dwellings into two-, three- and four-family housing will be found particularly in older suburbs surrounding major cities.

He said the trend to renovate existing homes, noticed for a brief time several years ago in the midwest, was now limited primarily to New England and the Pacific Northwest.

Goss also noted a change in the trend of constructing planned unit developments, which previously were solely recreational or residential communities.

He said new developments likely would be "all-in-one live, work and play towns offering employment opportunities, recreational amenities and educational facilities and other services."

In addition, he said, mini-shopping centers will continue to be a strong factor in the construction area and will be built near existing communities or where new development is planned.
