Surtax Alive

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration is considering a renewal of its call for a 5 per cent income tax surcharge, Treasury Secretary William E. Simon said today. "It (the surtax) is most clearly going to be an option we will give the President next week," Simon said in testimony to the Senate Budget Committee. While emphasizing that President Ford had made no decision about the economic package he will present to the Congress early next year, Simon appeared to dispute hints from the White House and others in the administration that the surtax was now a dead issue.

Weicker Boomed

MERIDEN, Conn. (UPI) — Sen. Lowell P. Weicker, R-Conn., who won national attention as an outspoken member of the Senate Watergate Committee, was boomed by Republicans at a meeting Monday night where he denied that he is trying to take over the party and refused immediate comment on his continued membership. The boos came when one of the Republicans at the meeting questioned Weicker's actions in the disastrous 1974 election campaign and Weicker replied that he had worked hard for party candidates. Weicker's political future has been up in the air since before election day. Soon after rebuking GOP gubernatorial candidate Robert H. Sirota for using alleged Watergate tactics in the campaign, Weicker said he might seek re-election in 1976 as an independent or a Democrat.

Meskill Cleared

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — Gov. Thomas J. Meskill has been cleared of any illegal acts in connection with Connecticut's housing program, but investigators withheld comment on his judgment or propriety. Sen. Lowell P. Weicker, R-Conn., who nominated Meskill to a federal judgeship, predicted Monday night the Senate would approve Meskill by the end of the week, after stalling a vote pending word from the subcommittee, which has been seeking possible corruption in the program. Weicker, who several times has pressured the subcommittee to disclose its findings on Meskill, earlier Monday attacked the investigators and a key witness' credibility.

Antibus Measure Killed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Adjournment fever is soaring as the House of Representatives appears headed for a controversy-free finish by the end of the week. Although no serious obstacles are in sight, Congress has in the past become snarled in unexpected stalemates that kept the Senate and House in session as late as New Year's Eve. A major roadblock fell Monday when the House, in a surprise move, dropped demands for a strong antibusing legislation, H.R. 138. The move sends an $8.6 billion supplemental appropriations bill to the White House — without the antibusing measure.

More Pentagon Papers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Government documents taken from the house of Daniel Ellsberg say the government tried to give a false impression of progress in Vietnam just before the deadly Tet offensive. The 75 pounds of papers are in the hands of Rep. William Moorhead, D-Pa., who calls them "explosive" and says his House subcommittee on foreign operations and government information will hold hearings on them in Washington.

Englands Appealing Shopping Area Ban

Louise C. and W. Harry England are going to court to challenge a Nov. 25 decision by Manchester's Planning and Zoning Commission (PZC) which halted their plans for a shopping center at Manchester Green. The Englands have filed an appeal with the Hartford County Court of Common Pleas, charging that the PZC acted improperly when it denied their request for rezoning of a five-acre parcel at the Green. The legal challenge, filed by Atty. Eugene Kelly, maintains that the zone change would have been in accordance with the town's comprehensive plan and would have encouraged the most appropriate use of the land. The Englands had sought a change from Residence A, Residence B, and Business 2 Zones to a Business 3 Zone. Envisioned was a 48,750-square foot shopping center with parking for about 300 cars. The PZC denied the request, citing un-

Costly Prank

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI) — A jail inmate stuffed a bedsheet down a toilet and flushed, gaining a day's freedom for 2,500 county employees. The water poured from the jammed toilet, and eventually everything in the block-long Santa Clara County Civic Center stopped: telephones, computers, typewriters, lights, and heat. Water flooded the sheriff's private rest-room below the toilet and an engineer said the water "sought the lowest level of relief." The basement of the center became soaked. The main 12,000-volt transformer was affected and insulators aborted. Power to all five government buildings in the complex and the seven-story administration stopped. Stopped clocks recorded the time of the incident at 7 p.m. Sunday night. The power was still off when the employees showed up for work Monday. The work force was sent home and power wasn't restored until Monday afternoon. Authorities are trying to find out who stuffed the sheet down the toilet, an act which may cost the county $100,000 in lost work alone.

The 29-member CDAC, created by the town Board of Directors to help decide priority projects, suggested stronger housing code enforcement and a low-interest loan fund to meet rehabilitation needs. Human Services Director Alan Mason, administrator of the block grants for Manchester, said code enforcement and a revolving loan fund would probably require an allocation of $600,000 over the three-year period. Details remain to be worked out, but Mason envisions establishment of a loan fund to make rehabilitation money available to homeowners at a two or three per cent annual interest rate. The interest charges would pay for administration of the loan fund, which will be designed to be flexible, Mason said. Loans made through the funds will probably be relatively small, he said, and repayment schedules will vary. "The concept is that the health of the community, in a broad sense, depends on the health of its housing," Mason said. "Poor housing leads to social problems," Mason said. "If we can maintain good, sound housing, we're way ahead of the game," he said. It is expected that the emphasis of the housing rehabilitation program would be in the downtown Manchester area. Other priorities set by the CDAC Monday night, after the committee heard reports from three subcommittees, were, in order:

Housing Renewal Tops Grant Priority

By DOUG BEVINS

Manchester's Community Development Advisory Committee (CDAC) agreed Monday night that rehabilitation of housing is the top priority for spending $1,410,000 in federal block grants over the next three years. • Establishment of a neighborhood center for social services, probably in the downtown area and probably involving acquisition and renovation of the vacant, dilapidated Jaffe & Podroze Building at 811-821 Main St. • A contribution toward land acquisition for elderly housing. • A day care center for pre-school children of low and moderate income families. • An allocation for recreation, split between renovation of the West Side Rec on Cedar St. and town acquisition of Hickey's Grove, an open space tract off Oakland St. near Union Park. • A contribution toward purchase and renovation of the 19th century Cheney Hall on Hartford Rd., which was once the cultural center for South Manchester. Beyond the top six priorities, there are a number of other proposals which weren't assigned specific funding. Mason said the top six items will more than use up the federal money allocated Manchester. The next step, Mason said, is a meeting of town officials to attach dollar estimates to the CDAC's priorities. The CDAC will meet again Jan. 6, conduct a public hearing at a later date, and finally present its recommendations to town directors. Directors have the final say on how the money will be spent. The block grants are allocated Manchester under the federal Housing and Community Development Act of 1974, and the grants don't require matching local funds.

Ford Told of Compromise On U.S. Aid to Turkey

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford was informed by congressional leaders today that House and Senate negotiators were on the verge of a compromise on the controversial issue of military aid to Turkey, which has already been cut off by the United States. Details of the plan were not announced, but lawmakers emerging from a White House meeting with the President indicated it might be adopted later in the day. There were indications the compromise might stop the aid cutoff temporarily and give the administration more time to work on a compromise between Turkey and Greece over the battle-scarred island of Cyprus. Aid for Turkey was cut off Dec. 10 by earlier legislation, but the Senate has passed a bill that would resume aid until Feb. 13. A House-passed bill, however, prompts the cutoff until Turkey agrees on a plan to withdraw its armed forces from Cyprus or until June 30. Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott indicated the negotiators have come up with a formula that would allow aid to resume at "the discretion of the President" until Feb. 5. The President called congressional leaders to the White House to brief them on his weekend summit meeting with French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing in the West Indies. He was also told that his nominee for vice president, Nelson A. Rockefeller, would be confirmed and sworn in by Thursday night. Ford has strongly opposed the aid cutoff to Turkey on grounds that angering the longtime ally could jeopardize the United States' strategic position in the eastern Mediterranean. Sen. Frank Moss, D-Utah, told reporters the conference committee on Turkey aid was "close to agreement," but he declined to give details. "Compromise is very much in the air," Rep. John Anderson, R-Ill., told reporters. "The President is working very hard on this matter," said Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C. "It felt the matter will be worked out. It's very delicate."

700 at Hearing Vernon Passes Porno Law

BARBARA RICHMOND

Close to 700 persons attending a public hearing in Vernon last night loudly applauded those who spoke in favor of an ordinance concerning obscene and pornographic material and just as loudly jeered a young man who spoke against it. Immediately following the hearing the Town Council, in a unanimous vote, approved the ordinance which will become effective Jan. 1, just one day before the owners of the Rockville Cinemas plan to bring a "live sex" show to town. Prompted by many calls from church groups, civic groups, and individuals, Mayor Frank McCoy, Police Chief Herman Fritz, and members of the Town Council, called on Town Attorney Abbot Schwebel to draw up the ordinance which, if violated, would bring a $100 fine, a 30 day jail sentence, or both. In opening the hearing Mayor McCoy read a long list of area churches which had presented him with petitions, all commending the mayor and the council and urging the passing of the ordinance. Besides the petitions received last week from St. Bernard Church Parish Council and the Rockville Area Clergy Council, others were received from: St. Matthews Church of Tolland; First Evangelical Lutheran Church, Rockville; Wesleyan Methodist, Ellington; Trinity Evangelical, Vernon; Rockville Baptist; St. John's Episcopal, Vernon; Sacred Heart, Vernon; and Union Church, Rockville. There were also petitions signed by individuals not representing any particular group. The Board of Education also met last night and passed a resolution stating it was "unilaterally opposed to the advertised entertainment planned by a local theater management." Commenting that the management has been purporting to be offering the show on the grounds "of its educational values," the board said it "can see no redeeming social values associated with this activity." It further stated it considers this entertainment to be "an educational and public affront." The terms used in the petitions varied but they all carried the message that Vernon does not want, nor need this type of pornographic show. Frank DeTolla, a former councilman, noted there is a state law prohibiting prostitution and said he wondered if this could include persons committing the sex act for money. Chester Bioniaz, representing the Rockville Knights of Columbus, said that council is definitely in favor of the ordinance to "get rid of this muck." His daughter, Rosemary Bioniaz, a teacher in the Somers School System, also spoke in favor of the ordinance noting that the theaters' close proximity to the schools would be very much responsible for affecting the children. John Mason, a local businessman, brought cheers from the audience when he questioned if they needed to be educated by this type of show. He asked, "not in a frivolous tone," if the theater owner and his wife were in the audience if they might want to identify themselves and give a demonstration. If they were there they made no move to identify themselves. Art Garafolo said he feels the good reputation of the people of Vernon has been put at stake for the sake of one man wanting to make a profit. Mary Oliver reminded the council that laws are only as good as how they are enforced. The Rev. Earl Pettibone, pastor of the Assembly of God Church, Vernon, commended the council for drafting the ordinance. He said he is concerned with the needs of people "and if there's one thing we don't need it's this type of lewdness and we protest it vehemently." James Harrington, who said he is 26-years-old, expressed concern that some people "may feel this is a fight between generations." Noting he is not alone in his age group among the protestors, he added, "I feel what they (the theater owners) are doing is degrading and what the council is doing is commendable." Ken Gilman, a trustee of the Baptist Church in Rockville, quoted the Old Testament, noting that God destroyed Sodom and Gomorrah because they were sin cities and added, "We don't need this kind of sin in Vernon." David Esler, who said he is 21, agreed with Harrington in that the problem is not one of a generation gap. He said, "There are too many beautiful things in Rockville to have us be known all over as 'sin city.'" It was then time for the mayor to call for any objections to the ordinance and Lee Hunt, who appeared to be in his early 20's, came forward to voice his objections and was loudly booed and jeered by the audience which kept calling for him to sit

SHOPPING DAYS TO CHRISTMAS

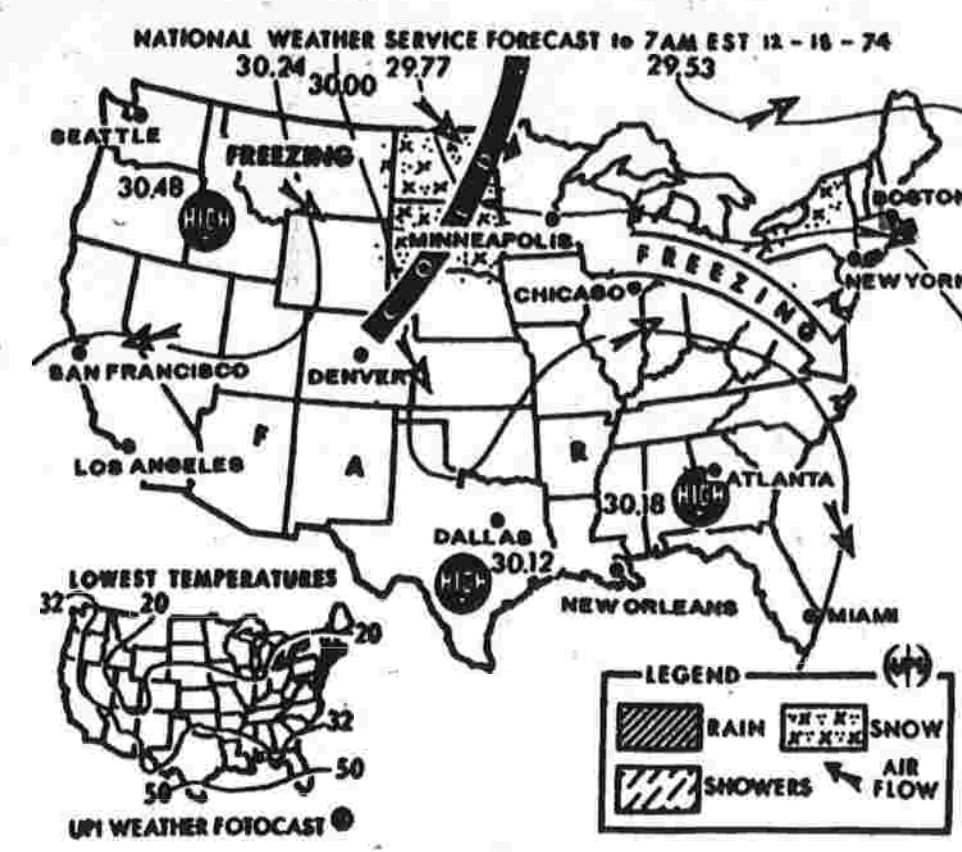

Storm Causes Some Blackouts in Area

A fierce winter storm dropped two to four inches of snow in the Manchester area Monday, causing electrical blackouts in Bolton but few automobile accidents in the region. Charles Hoffman, local manager for the Hartford Electric Light Co., said service to about 315 customers in Bolton was disrupted at 4 p.m. when line problems blew a fuse on Bolton Center Rd. Power was restored by 6 p.m. Hoffman said two other customers in Manchester lost electrical power briefly Monday. The Southern New England Telephone Co. reported a few scattered service disruptions, but nothing outstanding. Snow started falling about midday Monday and piled up quickly by late afternoon. In the evening, however, the snow became slush and the precipitation switched to rain. Temperatures rose and by midday today little snow was left on the ground. Manchester Highway Supt. John Burchill said highway crews began chemical routes shortly after noon, and switched to sanding and plowing operations at about 4 p.m. They finished by 9:30 p.m. One of the hardest hit areas of town, Burchill said, was southeast Manchester. Heavy snow made it difficult for vehicles to negotiate slippery roads, particularly Carter St., he said. The town water department measured 0.88 inches of precipitation (rain and melted snow) Monday. Elsewhere in Connecticut, snow and rain caused dozens of "fender-bender" accidents and brief power outages in Vernon, Glastonbury, Southbury, and Waterbury. The largest snowfall was recorded in Winchester: Nearly nine inches. Accumulations of up to seven inches were reported in northwest sections of the state. The precipitation Monday came from an intense winter storm moving north up the coast. The next chance of rain or snow, according to the National Weather Service at Windsor Locks, will be Thursday.

Manchester Evening Herald OPINION

Egypt Following U.S. Senate Lead

We have always had misgivings about members of Congress attempting to formulate foreign policy through legislative edict.

While we recognize the right of the Congress to exercise a critical role and its necessary involvement in what we have called a bi-partisan foreign policy, we still feel the day-to-day foreign policy effort is best done by the State Department and the administration as our Constitution intends it to be done.

It seems that whenever Congress gets into the detailed work of trying to run our foreign policy, we get certain backlashes and our diplomatic efforts are hampered.

For example, the arms cut-off to Turkey because of its invasion of Cyprus without a similar restriction on Greece which masterminded an attempted Greek takeover, has made infinitely more difficult a peace settlement there and emboldened Archbishop Makarios to return and escalate his demands also.

Another example is the Senate delaying a trade bill for two years until a commitment from Russia to allow 60,000 Jews to emigrate each year was made.

This may be a hollow victory for Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., the main proponent of tying in the emigration requirement to the trade bill despite administration concern that it constitutes unwarranted intervention in the internal affairs of another nation.

We say hollow victory because concurrent with Senate action, Egypt announced that as a condition to peace in the Middle East, Israel must freeze its population at present levels and impose a 50-year moratorium on Zionist immigration.

We doubt Israel will accede to such demands and don't believe it should.

The question, however, is whether the United States can morally reject Egypt's demands, which definitely seek to interfere with Israel's internal policies, when at the same time the U.S. Senate has made trade between Russia and the United States contingent on Russian emigration policies.

We sincerely hope the Egyptians won't be as bull-headed as the Senate in holding out for their demands. Important as trade might be in the light of our balance of payments, peace in the Middle East should not and cannot wait two years.

But the lesson is clear. For whatever high motivations the Senate may have felt it had in demanding freer emigration of Jews from Russia, the precedent of intervention in internal affairs of another nation leaves the bargaining position of the United States weaker in the face of Egypt's new demands.

We hope this practice will end at this juncture and Congress will return to its constitutional duties. It should leave the conduct of foreign affairs to the executive branch of government where our forefathers so wisely put the responsibility and recent events have so sharply confirmed their wisdom.

Scali's Warning

Hopefully our ambassador to the UN, John Scali, was not merely indulging in an exercise in rhetoric in warning that body that continued support of the United Nations by the United States was doubtful.

Mr. Scali made the point that the Congress would be reluctant to appropriate money for support of the international body if such action did not meet with the approval of the people.

The United States, notoriously, has been the principal money source for the UN with some 60 per cent of its total operating expenses coming from this country, plus the edifice on the East River in New York, which houses it.

And we imagine that if a strict accounting audit were made, showing arrears by many nations, plus the expenses of just having it in New York, that our percentage of support might be even greater.

Recent actions of the UN have been brazenly inhumane and insulting to the United States. The speech of Yasser Arafat of the PLO which implied the dismemberment of the state of Israel, plus the expulsion of South Africa, all were studied blows to the U.S.

With Russian veto power in the Security Council, plus the horde of Third World countries in the General Assembly, the Western Nations find themselves in a very weak minority position.

So-called emerging nations, most of which are blatant dictatorship, vote with the same numerical strength as the United States and the Western world.

We think the people are very disillusioned with the continuing prospect of paying for an institution which seems to take pleasure in spitting in our face.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

Sunday School of Christian Living

The church bells sound ever so sweet, more joyous on a Sunday morn.
Happiness — beauty of inspiration in prayer — with new hope — is born Sweeping away heart — aches, easing the burdens of trials, tribulations.

Strengthening weakness of the heart, diminishing impulses to temptations. To church they come — children with their parents — prayer and instruction books to the Bible, in hand, Proud in their Sunday finery — blooming flowers of innocence — attention of importance they demand.

To church, to Sunday School they go — to make more glorious God's Holy Love, Like Angels, they raise their voices to the open heaven — receiving special Graces from above.

The Sunday School teachers with fervent enthusiasm, enrich each child's heart, in God's sight — With God's Love portrayed in prayer, song, bringing each phase of Bible treasures to exciting light —

Giving the Christian foundation of religion a more rugged strength of the cross — revealing its might towering to the height of Heaven's Dome!

The pastor — proudly feels the presence of God through the children left in his care — The Spirit of Divinity enraptures his every action with joys of God's Blessing — for believers — never rare!

It seems that all Heaven in Holiness envelopes those bowed in deep prayer — announcing that The Lord — Jesus Christ is There!

'Positive' Leadership?

WASHINGTON — Heaven save us from the "positive, affirmative" leadership House Speaker Carl Albert promised at the Democratic Party's miniconvention in Kansas City. On the coast-of-living front, Albert can only "consider" an effort to get us out of the trenches.

The 1,900 delegates to the first mid-term party meeting in history adopted some resounding language in calling for controls covering wages, prices, executive salaries and fringe benefits, profits and rents. They even endorsed price rollbacks and wage cut-backs. Great!

Well, great — maybe. The Democrats do control Congress and therefore they do have the power to work their will on the Ford administration. But I kid myself not, with Albert in the Speaker's chair. The controls resolution was still warm when Albert rose to inform the delegates only that Congress would "consider" them, and expressed doubt whether they could be made "fair and balanced and equitable."

In other words, we the people are harder on the Democrats' highly publicized miniconvention. "We now have the numbers we need to do the job," said Albert in promoting Democratic alternatives to the "timorous, ineffectual, on-again, off-again policies of the Nixon and Ford administrations." But then he mouthed the same old baloney we've been hearing for years about the difficulties involved in not being "timorous."

God knows both Richard Nixon and Gerald Ford have approached the problem of inflation as if any positive action would expose them to a sudden attack of cancer. But the Democrats didn't have to wait until this year's Congressional elections to acquire the "numbers" they needed "to do the job." They have controlled Congress for almost four decades, including the period when Lyndon Johnson launched inflation with his determination to fight a major war without bothering to fund it.

Yet succeeding Democratic Congresses did nothing about curbing increasing inflation with his determination to fight a major war without bothering to fund it.

Indeed, the miniconvention actually came out in favor of higher prices. Its "crisis" economic program calls for more deficit spending by the federal government. The Democratic delegates voted for an expanded public service job program, tax cuts and an expensive national health insurance program. Sure we're in a recession, but spending big money while lowering taxes will only give people more to spend on higher-priced goods.

Charles Schultze, a Brookings Institution economist, recommended putting an additional $20-billion to $25-billion of "fiscal stimulus into the economy next year through some combination of tax cuts and higher federal spending. Francis Bator, a Harvard economist, admitted such a program would have "an appreciable" effect on inflation, but insisted the effect would not be "enormous."

It depends on what Bator means by "enormous." To the average housewife any "appreciable" increase in the price of food is "enormous" on top of what she's already been paying for life's necessities. She will find little or no comfort in the knowledge that she's helping to drag the country out of a recession — maybe.

Democratic Chairman Robert S. Strauss said he had assurances from the party's leaders in Congress that they "have every intention of coming to grips" with the economic crisis. Apparently what he means is that the Democratic Congress is determined to throw million-dollar bills at the problem — hoping it will then go away. Quick, Mrs. Balderdash, the aspirin. Economy size.

The Justice Problem

NEW YORK — What America is suffering from is not a crime problem but a justice problem. The continued increase in the crime figures suggests that the conditions of living in the society are harder on the human personality, which in turn leads to more crimes. They also suggest that the justice system is not working.

of the justice system, nor with personality types and psychological histories.

Every day the press carries the raw material of the crime stories, riddled with their inner contradictions. In Los Angeles there are two big current crime stories. One is about bogus city checks for millions of dollars — one of the growing category of white-collar crimes committed by ingenious clerks, accountants, employees in the vast bureaucracies of banks, corporations and local governments, and rarely prosecuted effectively.

The other is about the large-scale roundup and arrest of more than 100 high school students charged with drug pushing — and their release by a magistrate. The controversy about the drug arrests revolves both around the age of the juvenile offenders and the deceptive use of adult plainclothes men on high school grounds.

I am convinced that both functions can be fulfilled if they are held in a careful balance, but not if one is focused on and the other brushed aside. Americans deserve a more thoughtful and thorough public debate on the whole question than what has taken place thus far.

POLICE REPORT

Carmen K. Marois alias Casey Michelle DeLoe, 53, of Hartford was arrested by the detective bureau of the Manchester Police Department Monday and charged with being a fugitive from justice in California.

She had been arrested Saturday night at the King's store in the Parkade and charged with fourth-degree larceny in connection with a shoplifting attempt, police said. She was held over the weekend at the Hartford Police Department's jail, which has facilities for female prisoners, in lieu of $50 cash bond.

Over the weekend, police determined she was wanted by the San Bernardino, Calif. County Sheriff's Department for forgery of a credit card.

In Circuit Court 12 Monday, she signed a waiver of extradition. This means that when California authorities come for her, she can be taken without delay.

When she is extradited, the local charges against her will be noted (not prosecuted). In lieu of a new bond of $5,000, she was taken to the state correction center in Natick.

Ronald J. James, 21, of 22K St. James St. surrendered himself Monday at 3 p.m. at Police Headquarters and was charged on a Circuit Court 12 warrant with third-degree criminal mischief.

The charge is in connection with a complaint from a 40-year-old resident that on Dec. 2 two male youths were in his front yard chopping down one of his trees, police said. When confronted by the resident and his family, the two said it was a college prank and drove away.

James was released on his written promise to appear in court Jan. 6. Police have not placed charges against anyone else in the matter.

Steven P. Rodrigue, 19, of 155 E. Middle Tpk., was arrested today at 1:30 a.m. and charged with intoxication and disorderly conduct. The charges stem from a disturbance he allegedly caused in front of the Fall of Baloney restaurant on Main St., police said.

He was placed in a jail cell at headquarters pending determination of bond. If bond is posted, his court date will be Jan. 6.

Ernest A. Moberly, 19, of East Hartford was arrested Monday at 7:57 a.m. and charged with operating an unregistered motor vehicle, misuse of registration plates and operating without an operator's license. Court is Dec. 30.

Debra Ann Sawrun, 17, of Corinne Dr., Tolland was arrested at 3:15 p.m. Saturday and charged with third-degree larceny in connection with a shoplifting attempt at the King's store in the Parkade, police said. A total of $98.93 worth of items were found in a bag she was carrying, police said.

She was released on her written promise to appear in court Dec. 30.

Margarita Estrella, 36, of East Hartford was arrested Saturday at 2 p.m. and charged with fourth-degree larceny in connection with a shoplifting incident at King's, police said. She was released on a $50 cash bond for court Jan. 6.

Oliver R. Nelson, 30, of Hartford was arrested Sunday at 4 a.m. at Hartford Police Headquarters on a rearrest warrant charging him with fourth-degree larceny. He was brought to Manchester, processed, and released on a $250 surety bond for court Dec. 30.

Joseph H. Doyon, 33, of 158 Wells was arrested Sunday at 5:38 p.m. and charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor. He was released on his written promise to appear in court Dec. 30.

CORRECTION

The Herald incorrectly reported in Monday's paper that Hoscoe L. Thompson of 236 Woodland St. had to appear in court Dec. 30 to face the charge of making an improper left turn Sunday. Police did charge Thompson as stated but he does not have a court date; he will merely pay a fine to the court office.

The charge stemmed from an accident on E. Center St. at Woodbridge St.

Drugs React Dangerously With Alcohol

Many people do not realize the many bad reactions that can occur when people drink alcohol while taking Doctor's prescription drugs or patent medicines!

Alcohol can be in the form of Wine, Beer, Whiskey or Egg Nog. Now, I believe, is timely to warn people at this most festive season of Christmas and New Year's!

Below you will find a tabulation of some of the popular medications used.

IF YOU TAKE	AND YOU DRINK ALCOHOL	EFFECT
Addressine (Phenothiazine), Tranquilizers (Valium, Meprobamate, Valprol), Anti-depressants (Elixir), Antihistamines (Chlortrimen), Cardiacs, cough syrups with antihistamines		can cause DEPRESSION, weakness, with acute intoxication, also interfere with heart muscle efficiency.
IF YOU TAKE: Salicylates (Aspirin, Anacin, Bufferin, Escogesic, Empirin, etc.)		can cause INTERNAL BLEEDING.
IF YOU ARE AT: Hospitals and Labs (Oxycase DDI - or diabetes, or insulin injection)		can cause VERY LOW Blood Sugar, psychotic symptoms (hallucinations, weakness with fainting).
IF YOU TAKE: Anticoagulants (Coumadin)		can cause internal bleeding when drinking a lot of alcohol.
IF YOU TAKE: Diuretics (Lasix, Durin)		will cause increased diuresis and loss of Potassium with dizziness and nausea.

Another warning...don't kid yourself by skipping a dose or two and think you can go ahead and drink all you want, because some tranquilizers remain in your blood for several hours to several days after your last dose. Therefore, the inter-action will still occur.

Try to keep these inter-actions in mind and it might save you a lot of grief and pain after the party.

Moderation is the key to a good and healthy life and we wish every one a happy and sane holiday.

Town Gets $612 in Antitrust Case

SOUTH WINDSOR
Judy Kuehnel
Correspondent
644-1364

South Windsor has received $612 as the result of a judgment by the United States District Court in regard to Gypsum Wallboard antitrust cases.

South Windsor was a member of the Governmental Body Class in this antitrust action, since it was involved in construction of a public building during 1966 and 1967.

The facility in question was the Timothy Edwards School. The settlement received by the town was based on its filing of the construction costs for the school along with the claims of other governmental units involved in the action.

Town Manager Terry Sprekel said the settlement is the result of a class action instituted "along the way but not by the town."

Selectmen Meet Tonight

Vivian Kennesson

Tel. 875-4704

The Board of Selectmen will meet tonight at 7:30 at the Education Administration Building.

Following a public hearing, the board will act on these appropriations:

Additional appropriation to the General Fund, Emergency Employment Act, $4,200, to be reimbursed by state grant.

Allocation of Revenue Sharing funds, $12,500, to Streets and Roads Capital Account, for road grader and salt bin.

Additional appropriation to the General Fund, Streets and Roads, $95, to be financed by state town aid.

Additional appropriation to the General Fund, Capital Account, $18,000, for rebuilding bridge, to be financed by the issuance of notes and bonds.

Additional appropriation to the General Fund, Fire Protection, $8,100, to be financed by per capita grant.

Non-public hearing items on the agenda are: Appointment of a member to the Zoning Board of Appeals to fill a vacancy; appointment of seven members to a Water Study Committee; and adoption of a resolution concerning Flood Plain Insurance.

Under unfinished business, the board will consider action, for the third time, on an ordinance entitled "Licensing of Hawkers, Peddlers and Itinerant Vendors."

Rescheduled: The Tolland High School Christmas Concert, canceled.

Town, Police Reach Accord in Contract

SOUTH WINDSOR
Judy Kuehnel
Correspondent
644-1364

Ratification of the month-long police-town contract dispute appeared imminent today, following an announcement from both sides that a tentative agreement had been reached.

Town Manager Terry V. Sprekel and Police Union President James Morrison, in a joint statement, said details of the proposed agreement will be announced following ratification by both parties.

They said the tentative contract relative to the salary schedule and medical benefits for police would be retroactive to July 1.

The agreement, now subject to approval by both the Town Council and the Police Union, was reached in an arbitration session last week.

However, announcement of the agreement came Monday night when Sprekel released a short statement approved by both him and Morrison.

Both Morrison and Sprekel said they will recommend ratification of the proposed package, and expressed appreciation to Dr. Joseph Emerman, the arbitrator.

Dr. Emerman, of the UConn. School of Labor Relations, was credited for "his professional assistance and understanding of the contract disputes... his efforts reflected in both parties comprising their earlier positions."

Negotiations over the contract began last April, but following breakdowns went into mediation and, later, arbitration.

All details surrounding the bargaining session were and still being kept under wraps by both sides. At time the talks became stormy and police began distributing bumper stickers and signs urging the town to "Sprekel sum money" into police coffers.

Emergency Medical Service Approved

HEBRON
Anne Dallaire
Correspondent
228-3267

It took 75 townspeople 4 1/2 minutes Monday night to make three decisions concerning emergency medical services.

In a special Town Meeting, voters approved a $22,200 appropriation for that service.

The sum will come from Revenue Sharing Funds in the Capital Reserve Account now earmarked as Reserve for Town Office Building Expansion.

Voters designated the present Ambulance Purchasing Committee as the one to draft policies for ambulance service in accordance with the committee's Nov. 22 report.

The committee was authorized to implement the service, not to exceed the $27,000.

BETTY'S NOTEBOOK

By BETTY RYDER

Our friendly chef at the Waldorf Astoria in New York City keeps us well informed on delicacies season by season.

Arno Schmidt, executive chef, takes some of the game (if you'll pardon the expression) out of cooking deer meat.

"To start off, you have to expect game to taste gamey, he says, and different from the meals you normally eat during the course of the year.

"Since wild game has to scrounge around for food and run for its life it is normally as lean as a well trained athlete," he said.

"Young deer is tender and can be roasted slowly like any other piece of meat. Since it is lean it should be covered with thin pieces of pork fat, a process called 'barding'."

Chef Schmidt says the lesser a piece of meat is exercised or used the more tender it is. The back or loin gets little exercise and is on all animals the tenderest part suitable for roasting.

And older deer is already a little tough, the chef says, and might need aging to make it tender. It is the same process used to age sirloin steak. The meat is sorted in a dry, well ventilated cooler at about 35 degrees and natural enzymes in the meat slowly break down the proteins.

A farmer might hang his deer, hide and all, on a rafter in his barn and in a week or two it is perfectly aged. The weekend hunter must ask a friendly butcher for a corner in his cooler. If you don't know a friendly butcher you will probably put the meat in the freezer and marinate it a few days before using.

Marinating means putting meat pieces in an aromatic liquid which will not only preserve it but the acidity in the liquid will make the meat more tender. Marinated game is always braised and you can use your favorite recipe for pot roast as you use some or all of the marinating liquid in the sauce.

Let's Hear It For George!

Back in September, on the 17th to be exact, we mentioned George Blanda, quarterback and field goal kicker for the Oakland (Calif.) Raiders, who at that time was celebrating his 25th year in football. The 47-year-old veteran gave us a quote that we feel is worth repeating.

"I live for today, cause nobody promised me tomorrow." This weekend the veteran football player was honored by being named the National Football League's "Man of the Year."

"All good things come to he (or she) who waits."

Whither Thou Goest

Did you ever take a trip to an unfamiliar place and have your fear of getting lost dispelled cause everybody knew the way?

Well, we took such a trip last weekend. It was no good feat—the co-pilot (person in the back seat) was in good form, the route had been charted, and it was just a routine flight (We mean trip).

Oh, we did the usual things like missing a few turns, coming smack dead up to a fork in the road before we heard that reassuring cry "Take a left," or the more confusing statement "That's right—you go left." It worked out well though, cause if we hadn't listened and proceeded straight, we'd have ended up on the historic front lawn of a very historic house.

It's just the little things that make life fun. After all when else can you see the North, South, East and West of a town before finding out it isn't even the town you're looking for?

Brings to mind years ago when the patriarch of the family was driving up North. He'd go for miles down a road muttering (not always to himself) "I know this is the wrong road" (those weren't his exact words) and he'd continue down the wrong road another few miles.

Finally—and much to our relief—his own words would take hold. He'd stop the car, make a sharp U-turn and return in the direction we had just come. With a smile, and an "I told you so" glance at us in the rear view mirror he'd say "Almost prettier going back this way isn't it?"

Looking Ahead

"Just ahead lies tomorrow with its promise of things to come. Run. Meet it with an open heart."

Mourning Bands Due

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Oakland Raiders are going to be wearing black for Saturday's invasion of the Miami Dolphins in hopes that the defending World Champions will be in mourning after their AFC semifinal playoff encounter.

The Raiders are asking fans to bring black handkerchiefs to the show-down, which many feel will produce the eventual Super Bowl winner. The request, said to satirize the Miami fans and their white handkerchiefs in the Orange Bowl.

Early indications are that Oakland fans are exceeding the request. Stylized designers are planning extensive Silver and Black dress for the nationally televised clash between winners of the AFC's Eastern and Western Divisions.

Dramatic Bowl Victory Quickly Turned Somber

MEMPHIS (UPI) — Tennessee's celebration of a dramatic Liberty Bowl victory over Maryland turned quickly somber Monday night when word reached the dressing room of the collapse of Coach Bill Battle's father in the stands with a heart attack.

William R. Battle Sr., 66, collapsed minutes after backup quarterback Randy Wallace aimed a high pass toward the end zone and Larry Seivers made a leaping catch that gave the Volunteers a 7-3 victory.

The elder Battle, former athletic director at Birmingham Southern University in Alabama, died early today at a local hospital. His son was by his side, as he had been while emergency crews applied external heart massage and administered oxygen at the stadium in an unsuccessful effort to save the senior Battle.

"We're glad we won," Seivers said when word of the collapse of the coach's father reached the players. "But how can we be happy?"

Tennessee opened the final period with a drive from its own 21 to the Maryland five. Starting quarterback Conde Holloway then lost 12 yards in three plays and Townsend prepared for another field goal try.

A bad snap from center gave Holloway, the holder, trouble and Maryland's premier defensive tackle, Randy White, broke through to block the kick. Holloway was shaken up and Larry Seivers made the rest of the game walking unsteadily along the sidelines.

The winning Tennessee touchdown came, with 2:38 to play, after Maryland punter Phil Wagenheim dropped a high snap from center and Tennessee defenders pounced on him at the Maryland seven. Three plays later, after losing four yards, Wallace found Seivers in the end zone for the winning touchdown. Townsend added the extra point.

"It was a perfectly thrown ball and Seivers made a great catch," Tennessee assistant Lide Huggins said. "He has great jumping ability and on that particular play, we throw the ball high in the hope he can jump up and make the catch."

Maryland would quickly downfield after the Tennessee score and Bob Avellini hit Frank Russell with a 20-yard pass that moved game with the game, but the receiver landed out of the end zone with the ball. On the next play, Ernie Ward intercepted for Tennessee and the Maryland threat was over.

"It was just a question of mistakes—crucial penalties and fumbles," Maryland Coach Jerry Claiborne said of the loss. "The defense played super."

White led the Maryland defenders with 12 tackles and four assists, in addition to the blocked field goal and a recovered fumble. He was named the game's Most Valuable Player.

"Randy White is just super," Claiborne said. "Without a doubt he's the best lineman in the country."

Throughout an error-filled third quarter during which neither team mounted a serious scoring threat, the overcapacity crowd of 51,284 and a national television audience must have thought the fireworks were exhausted during a patriotic pre-game show that featured a Liberty Bell suspended high in the air.

Indiana Overtakes UCLA in Cage Poll

NEW YORK (UPI) — North Carolina State is still rated the nation's No. 1 college basketball team but Indiana has, surprisingly, moved ahead of UCLA as the Wolfpack's top challenger.

The UPI Board of Coaches dropped UCLA from second to third in this week's rankings, perhaps because the Bruins did not play last week and were forgotten.

Indiana, meanwhile, scored impressive triumphs over Notre Dame and Texas A & M and drew six first place votes. North Carolina State, the defending national champion, had 25 of the 35 votes for the No. 1 spot.

Louisville, unbeaten as are the top three, is ranked fourth, followed by Southern

Whalers Play

HARTFORD (UPI) — The New England Whalers, leading the World Hockey Association's Eastern Division by 17 points, will be in Detroit tonight to try to avenge a 2-1 loss at the hands of the Michigan Stags earlier this season.

The Whalers play at the Sports Arena. Jacksonville meets New Mexico in the opener Friday while the Trojans take on Vanderbilt in the nitecap. Winners and losers will play each other Saturday night.

"If we can win the tournament," Boyd said, "we'll be 7-and-0 and on our way to a real good season."

In another key game Monday night, Steve Green scored 29 points, 18 of them in the first half, as No. 2 ranked Indiana crushed Toledo. Green and Scott May helped the Hoosiers surge to a 44-33 halftime lead and they kept up the pressure in the second half to run their record to 6-0.

Borg Admits Not Trying

Wales Tennis Officials Are Reluctant to Act

SYDNEY (UPI) — New South Wales tennis officials are reluctant to take any action over the performance of Sweden's young star, Bjorn Borg, in the first round of the New South Wales Tennis Championships here Monday.

Borg was beaten 6-4, 6-3 by a virtually unknown Australian, John James, and immediately admitted that he did not try.

Local tennis officials believe they have no official course they can take but it has been said privately that Borg will not be invited back to play here. He claimed he was very tired and was a little sick of tennis when he played in the NSW title.

Troubled Nissalke Searched for Words

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — Troubled Tom Nissalke squinted into the television lights and searched carefully for words to react to his dismissal as head coach of the San Antonio Spurs at a time when he was so confident of his position that he moved his family in from Wisconsin.

"Quite frankly, in view of my very pleasant association with this community, I never foresaw that I might be appearing in such a manner," Nissalke, seated between his two attorneys, said.

Nissalke met with newsmen Monday for the first time since he was dismissed last Friday in a move that caught fans, team members and even Spurs Sports Information Director Wayne Witt by surprise.

Nissalke said he was "wrongfully discharged" and was ready to go to court if negotiations by his attorneys did not get his job back or vindicate him of alleged "conduct detrimental to the franchise."

"However, it is not my desire to unduly initiate any extended controversy but to see that I am fairly treated," Nissalke said. "My professional shareholders and to explain any conceivable problem," Nissalke said.

Reportedly, a "power struggle" between Nissalke and Drossos, manifesting itself in a dispute over who decided what players to add to the roster, precipitated the firing.

However, Nissalke said Monday: "I am not involved in any power struggle with anyone. I suppose the characterization of the situation as a power struggle makes for an interesting reading, but such is not the case.

"I am a coach, and my contract not only calls for me to coach but fittingly requires that I do so."

"As far as the firing is concerned, we felt, or I felt, it was for the best interest of the franchise and the team and I am glad to accept that at this time," said Drossos, an investment broker who helped bring the franchise to San Antonio from Dallas where, in one year, it became one of the strongest in the ABA.

"I feel to get into any more elaborate statement would not serve any purpose whatsoever."

Nissalke said Monday he never was told by team Vice President Angelo Drossos why he was being fired. The team hired Bob Bass, general manager of the Memphis Sounds, to replace Nissalke the day before Drossos got the necessary vote of confidence from the owners to take the action.

"I was not given any specific reason, and therefore, was not given the opportunity to be confronted with any specific problems whereby I could be given a chance to answer to the board of directors or

Keep Oceaners

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — A group of businessmen have decided "to go all out" to keep the Rhode Island Oceaners in the state but have not completed a sales agreement with the present owners because of uncertainty player ownership rights.

George Patrick Duffy, general manager of the American Soccer League-defending champions and sparking behind the effort to retain the team, said he feels the Rhode Island group has the edge and will be given priority for purchasing the team. He said the latest offer was "considerably lower" than the $200,000 sought by Michael Bossos of Norwich, Conn., majority stockholder of Soccer Ltd.

Hill Quits School Board; Job Takes Him from Town

COVENTRY
Monica Shea
Correspondent
742-9495

Tom Hill, a member of the Board of Education, has tendered his resignation, effective no later than Jan. 20. Hill will be leaving the state due to a relocation in his job. Hill resigned immediately from the board's teacher negotiating committee to allow for an immediate appointment to that committee as it is now negotiating a new contract. The board appointed Tony Pelice and Sue Brainard to work with Council Chairman Rose Fowler in evaluating the DevCo proposal on the town's school system in the event that DevCo does not withdraw its amendment to the zoning regulations within the next few days. The board, in a unanimous decision, will ask the council to review its decision to make Windham Turnpike a one-way street on the contention that this will cause a potential safety hazard for school buses that have to turn right from Rt. 44A onto Rt. 31. The board is asking in a letter

The Herald

The board authorized the expenditure of $1,066 for the replacement of the ground water drain at the Robertson School. Some time during the night of Dec. 11 the drain became blocked and Richard Galant, maintenance supervisor, attempted to clear it with a snake. When that failed, a fire hose with 200 pounds of pressure was used. This method also failed. The drain was then dug up to locate and correct the blockage. Rescheduled The Planning and Zoning Commission meeting originally scheduled for Monday night has been rescheduled for Thursday evening at 7 at the Town Hall. The Town Council meeting which was canceled Monday night has been rescheduled for this evening at 8 after the town carol sing.

Auto license plates in the United States have been made of metal, wood, leather and ceramics. Tags made of a soybean compound were tried during World War II, but abandoned because cows ate them. Pelice, chairman of the transportation committee, told the board that a complete list of the morning bus routes had been received from the Massachusetts Bus Co. and that attempts will soon be made to consolidate or pickup stops to provide for more efficient bus service. Pelice asked parents not to resist the consolidation of stops, and claimed this could help the transportation problems considerably. Mrs. Brainard, chairman of the building and grounds committee, told the board that the state grant for the track-soccer complex would not be paid until the project is completed in May or June. She requested that the board authorize the expenditure of $4,600 for work done to date so that contractors would not have to wait until spring for their money.

By SOL R. COHEN

Writing "fin" to its sewage treatment operation, which dates back to 1959 when its primary treatment plant was opened, the 8th District Board of directors voted Monday night to sell the dismantled equipment to the Town of Manchester.

The plant was abandoned last spring, on orders by the state Department of Environmental Protection. All district sewage flows directly to and through the town's Secondary Treatment Plant, dedicated and placed in operation in 1971.

The district directors waived competitive bidding for their equipment and accepted the recommendation of Calvin Taggart, their superintendent of public works - to accept a firm bid by the town's sewer department, at a minimum bid of $147,747, plus $74 in interest, districts

Court Asked to Speed Up ITT Divestiture Agreement

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justice Department has charged International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. with wasting time in complying with an antitrust agreement.

The department filed papers Tuesday asking the U.S. District Court in Hartford, Conn., to appoint a special master who would find ways that the giant corporation could, as the court required, divest itself of Avia, Inc., Levitt and Sons, Inc. and Hamilton Life Insurance Co.

Alternate Suggested

If it could not work out a way to accomplish this divestiture, the Justice Department suggested that ITT be ordered to get rid of the very profitable Hartford Fire Insurance Co.

An ITT spokesman said the giant corporation would go to court to fight the order.

ITT is one of the nation's largest corporations. Since 1959, it has acquired more than 250 corporations and is best described by the word "conglomerate"—a corporation made up of various other corporations. ITT earned $231 million in 1973.

Three Years Allowed

On Sept. 24, 1971, the federal court in Hartford ordered ITT within three years either to divest itself of Hartford Fire—which earned $125 million in 1973, about a quarter of the ITT total—or Avia, the car rental company; Levitt, the home builders, and Hamilton. It said getting rid of Hartford would be easier but allowed ITT a chance to untangle the financial bonds between it and the other subsidiaries.

"As of Sept. 24, 1974, ITT retained all of Levitt and 52 per cent of Avia," the Justice Department said. (For the first nine months of 1973, ITT earned about $2.6 million from its ownership of Avia.)

"ITT had three years in which to complete the divestitures required by the final judgment, but did not do so," the court memorandum stated. "On Sept. 20, 1974, the government so informed the court and stated that it would present plans which would obtain compliance with the final judgment. These plans were submitted to

Huge Energy Program Passed by Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress has voted $20 billion to find new sources of energy for the nation and is nearing final approval to spend $5.5 billion to provide jobs and benefits for the growing ranks of the unemployed.

In a rush to adjourn by Friday, Congress also is working on final passage of a compromise foreign aid bill renewing military aid to Turkey until Feb. 5.

The energy measure, approved and sent to the White House Tuesday, provides funds for research and development of energy sources including heat within the earth and from the sun.

Largest Ever Undertaken

It was described by its sponsors as the largest research and development project ever undertaken by the United States.

House and Senate negotiators approved the jobs bill Tuesday, and quick passage by the two branches of Congress is expected.

It includes $2.5 billion to create 330,000 public service jobs for the unemployed. Some of the jobs would be with police forces, fire departments and hospitals.

Speeding Loans

The bill also provides up to $2.5 billion for unemployment benefits for those not now covered by unemployment insurance, and $500 million for special loans and grants to public and private projects to increase employment.

Another bill already passed by both houses would extend unemployment benefits another 13 weeks, giving most workers up to 52 weeks.

Six million Americans are unemployed, and the tax deduction an individual may claim for a political contribution. The allowable $12.50 tax credit for an individual would also double.

Compromise On Turkey

The Senate Tuesday approved a $2.7 billion foreign aid bill after House and Senate negotiators agreed to a compromise allowing President Ford to give military aid to Turkey until Feb. 5. The House is expected to approve it today.

The House earlier had voted an immediate ban on the arms aid to Turkey. But Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger lobbied for an extension, saying the ban would hurt his negotiations for a Cyprus peace settlement.

In other action Tuesday: —Congress approved and sent to the White House a bill to promote construction of deepwater ports for use by oil tankers.

Veteran Home Loans

—Congress approved and sent the White House a bill improving the terms on which veterans can obtain guaranteed home loans and another increasing educational benefits for disabled vets.

—The Senate voted to pay cash bonuses of up to $400 to poor families who do not qualify for welfare because the head of the household is employed. Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., who sponsored the measure, said it was designed to encourage fathers to work rather than desert their families to qualify them for welfare.

—The Senate voted to raise from $25 to $50 the tax deduction an individual may claim for a political contribution. The allowable $12.50 tax credit for an individual would also double.

Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., said the purpose was to encourage small political contributions and get away from reliance on large contributors.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The last committee report is in, finding Nelson Rockefeller qualified to be vice president. Plans are already being made for his final confirmation and swearing in Thursday.

The House will vote on Rockefeller Thursday, and in anticipation of his overwhelming approval the Senate has vowed to allow television cameras in its chamber for the first time when Rockefeller takes the oath of office an hour after the House vote.

New Town Decision Expected Later Today

The Board of Directors of Greater Hartford Corp. was meeting this afternoon with a group of Coventry residents who are opposing the corporation's reported decision to shelve its plans for a new community in Coventry.

The meeting was scheduled for 3 o'clock. An hour later, the corporation directors were to hold a press conference to announce the decision they made Tuesday night on the future of the project.

After that meeting Peter Libassi, president of Hartford Process-DevCo, the corporation's development arm, and Arthur Lumsden, chairman of the board, both declined to say anything about the results.

A letter asking DevCo not to abandon its Coventry plans was presented to the board Tuesday night. More than 100 names of residents were attached to it.

The letter said: "Gentlemen, We are very disturbed to read the news reports of the possibility of DevCo withdrawing the zoning regulation (presently) before the town of Coventry. "Even though we do not all support every aspect of your proposal, we all support the principles and concepts of your proposal. "We strongly request that you do not withdraw your application. We believe you have much greater support in the Town of Coventry than has been publicly demonstrated to date. "We pledge our active and public support of the principles of your application. "A group of residents whose names were on the letter had intended to go into Hartford Tuesday night and present the letter to the directors, but word was received from Hartford that the board would not be able to see them and that the meeting will be closed to the press and public."

Sugar Prices Drop In Supermarkets

By United Press International

Supermarkets throughout the nation were selling sugar below wholesale today, and a sugar price war was being fought in the New York area.

Raw sugar prices declined at least 2 cents a pound to 40-43 cents on world markets Tuesday, signaling further price declines at the wholesale and consumer levels in the next few months.

There also was a slight easing of beef prices, although declines were not widespread. A large supply of livestock on auction markets was expected to force lower beef prices in the immediate future.

In San Francisco, Safeway's beef prices had dropped in a week's time from $1.79 to $1.39 a pound for rib roast, from 69 cents for chuck blade roast and from $1.79 to $1.69 for porterhouse steaks.

But in most sections of the country, supermarkets reported no change in beef prices.

Escaped Murder Suspect Recaptured by Police

NEW HAVEN (UPI) — Police ended an intensive all night search early today when they raided a New Haven apartment and apprehended Ernest Washington, 16, a suspect in the hold-up robbery slaying of Yale student Gary Stein.

Washington was arrested without a fight in a second floor bedroom occupied by a girl companion in the Hill section residence about 4 a.m.

Washington, described by police as "extremely dangerous," was the object of an area-wide search that continued through the night.

Officers said Washington was being brought back with two other prisoners to New Haven Correctional Center from arraignment in Sixth Circuit Court when he bolted from the van at 2:45 p.m. Tuesday.

All three prisoners were secured by handcuffs and attached to each other with a chain, police said. Somehow he freed himself and made his break soon after the door of the van was opened.

Washington and another youth, a juvenile, were arrested in connection with the slaying of Gary Stein, 20, in an apparent robbery attempt early this month. Washington was arraigned Tuesday on a dangerous weapons charge before his escape. Only one officer was in the van at the time. The van was stopped outside the jail.

During the search, police found two youths who had previously escaped from the Long Lane Correctional School in Middletown. Washington has escaped from authorities in the past.
