Panel Named To Review CIA Charges

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Lucien H. Nedzi, D-Mich., says his House subcommittee will conduct its own investigation of charges the Central Intelligence Agency illegally spied on Americans, no matter what the Justice Department and President Ford's committee do.

"We intend to go ahead... as soon as the new Congress has organized itself," Nedzi told UPI Sunday.

Focus on Spying
He said the investigation would "very definitely" focus on charges the CIA spied upon dissidents in the United States and that he expected the agency's charter to be tightened to ensure that it confined its activities to foreign intelligence gathering.

This would make the third probe of CIA activities. Working in secrecy, the agency's old rival, the Justice Department, has begun its own probe, and Ford named Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller to head a conservative "blue ribbon" panel.

Congressional Failure
Nedzi's intelligence subcommittee is one of two given regular briefings of CIA activities. In response to a statement by Rep. John Brademas, D-Ind., that he thinks there is "a congressional failure" in keeping tabs on the CIA, the chairman said:

"Historically, that is probably true." He said his subcommittee got the authority to oversee the CIA two years ago.

"Since that time," Nedzi added, "I think we've had very adequate oversight. The CIA has been reporting on its activities regularly, almost daily, and it has to be remembered that most of the (domestic spying) activities charged occurred before that time."

Members Appointed
Ford announced the membership of his panel Saturday to "ascertain and evaluate any facts relating to activities conducted within the United States by the Central Intelligence Agency that give rise to questions as to whether the agency has exceeded its statutory authority."

The appointments were made Sunday. They are:

—Rockefeller, also a member of the Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board. He is close to Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, whose "40 Committee" gives the CIA its day-to-day direction.

—C. Douglas Dillon, Treasury secretary under Presidents Kennedy and Eisenhower.

—Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff during the CIA-sponsored invasion of Cuba that foundered at the Bay of Pigs.

—Erwin N. Griswold, former solicitor general.

—Joseph Lane Kirkland, secretary-treasurer of the AFL-CIO.

—John T. Connor, a former secretary of commerce. The Washington Post said Connor was a Marine intelligence officer in 1944.

—Ronald Reagan, the former governor of California who has announced plans to become a conservative columnist and broadcaster.

—Edgar F. Shannon, former president of the University of Virginia.

Administration sources said CIA Director William E. Colby asked Ford for the FBI investigation in his 50-page report on the allegations, first made in the Dec. 22 New York Times.

Balloon Flight to Europe Scrubbed Until February

SANTA ANA, Calif. (UPI) — Malcolm Forbes' planned 7,000-mile balloon flight to Europe was aborted before dawn today when the four tiers of helium filled balloons broke apart.

But Forbes said he will immediately plan another flight to be launched before the end of February.

Forbes, 55, and aerospace scientist Thomas Heinsheimer, 35, were inside the gondola, "Windborne," when the balloons snapped free. The gondola was dragged about 20 feet across the tarmac of the Marine Corps helicopter base here, but neither man was hurt.

Forbes said they have the nylon to make more balloons and the high altitude weather will be adequate until the end of February.

He said the Windborne, which was not damaged although it ended up on its top, could be ready to go again in 30 days.

Forbes, publisher of a business magazine, and Heinsheimer, of Rolling Hills, Calif., had planned four previous takeoffs since Dec. 30.

Gusty surface winds delayed the flight three times. A faulty communications system further delayed the flight early Saturday.

It was scheduled for launching into the jetstream 40,000 feet above the earth Sunday morning and was again postponed by unfavorable winds.

Early today, Forbes said the weather was good and he was ready to go, and quickly began a countdown.

The tiers of balloons were dragged from the hanger onto the tarmac and were being raised slowly with helium when they began separating.

Forbes said as one tier pulled another upward, he released the bottom stack of three balloons to prevent heavy damage to the spherical aluminum gondola.

Egyptians Crack Down On Suspected Commies

CAIRO (UP) — Security agents have arrested hundreds of Egyptians in the first major crackdown against suspected Communists since President Anwar Sadat took office in 1970.

Sources close to the government said Sunday authorities have rounded up about 400 members of a "new clandestine Communist organization" in connection with New Year's Day worker protests in Cairo.

Domestic Matter
The sources said the mass detention of workers, students and journalists over the past five days was a strictly domestic matter and did not reflect recent reports of Soviet-Egyptian discord.

The semi-official Middle East News Agency said the prisoners belonged to a new Communist group "aimed at creating disturbances." It said police found anti-government leaflets in the possession of some suspects.

Higher Pay Sought
Government sources accused the suspects of sparking New Year's Day protests in which workers clashed with police and stoned shops, offices, buses and cars. The demonstrators demanded higher pay and lower prices.

The sources said the mass arrests moved Sadat's policy toward Egyptian Communists closer to the hard line of his predecessor, the late President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Nasser seized thousands of Communists without trial in 1960 and 1961, but Sadat adopted a more lenient attitude when he took office, releasing many of the prisoners.

Communist Party Outlawed
The Communist party has been outlawed in Egypt since the days of King Farouk, who was ousted in a 1952 military coup that led to Nasser's assumption of power.

Sadat, on taking office, said he would let Egyptians adopt any ideology, including communism, as long as they didn't take action against the government.

The sources said the suspects seized in the latest roundup were arrested because of their action against the state, not their Communist beliefs.

Stiff Penalties
The Egyptian penal code, without mentioning communism specifically, provides penalties of up to 10 years in jail for acts aimed at "overthrowing the basic social or economic systems of the state."

Political sources said Egyptian Communists have been angered by Sadat's steps to improve relations with the United States, his public criticism of the Soviet Union and his attempts to encourage Western investment.

Arab League Responds To Kissinger Statement

The Arab League urged Arab countries today to take precautionary measures against the possibility of U.S. military intervention against oil producing states. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger raised that possibility if the Arabs' use of oil as a weapon brought "some actual strangulation of the industrialized world."

Almost every Arab oil producing state plus Venezuela and the Shah of Iran have denounced the Kissinger statement. Arab League Secretary General Mahmoud Riad joined them today and said the Kissinger statement violated the United Nations charter.

Protective Action Urged
"We reject attempts to restore the world to the era of threats and domination," Riad told a meeting of the League's Economic Unity Council in Cairo. "Arab countries should take these statements seriously and the oil-producing states should think of taking protective measures."

Riad's statements constituted the strongest Arab reaction yet to Kissinger's statement.

Riad said the American threats "are a violation of the charter of the United Nations, under which the countries of the world, including the United States, agreed to a world system that bans the use of force and threats to use force."

Clarifies Statement
In Beirut, the newspaper An Nahar said Kissinger has sent messages to the four largest oil-exporting countries clarifying his statement. The newspaper, quoting diplomatic sources, said Kissinger sent messages to Saudi Arabia, Iran, Venezuela and Kuwait.

State Minister Abdel Aziz Hussein of Kuwait told newsmen Sunday the remark was unjustified and part of an American policy aimed at scaring the oil producers into lowering their prices.

The Cairo newspaper Al Ahram charged in an editorial that the United States seemed to be headed for the role that Britain played in the 1956 Suez war against Egypt.

"Israel looks forward to joining the U.S."

in a new war against the Arabs in the same manner it joined France and Britain in attacking Egypt in the wake of the nationalization of the Suez Canal," the newspaper said.

Manchester Woman Dies In Automobile Crash

Mrs. Eileen Mary Clark, 28, of 9B Ambassador Dr. was killed in a two-car accident on I-86 in Willington at 2:30 a.m. Sunday.

She was a passenger in a car driven by Ms. Diane McAdam, 28, of 32 Earl St., Rockville. Driver of the other car was Robert A. Mihaliak of Stafford.

Mihaliak has been charged with misconduct with a motor vehicle.

State Police charge Mihaliak struck the rear of the McAdam car as both were westbound on the highway.

Thrown From Car
Mrs. Clark was thrown from the car and was pronounced dead at the scene.

Ms. McAdam was treated for a fractured arm and facial lacerations at Johnson Memorial Hospital at Stafford Springs and was discharged.

Mihaliak was released on a $1,000 surety bond for appearance in Common Pleas Court 19 on Feb. 3.

Mrs. Clark was the wife of Linwood "Woody" Clark Jr., popular golfer at Manchester Country Club. She was born May 2, 1946 at Hartford, and lived in Manchester all her life.

Taught In Vernon
She was a second-grade teacher at Center Road School in Vernon.

Other survivors are a daughter, Coren Linn Clark, at home; her parents, James and Estelle Odeerman, Perry of Manchester; two brothers, John F. Perry of Vernon and James L. Perry Jr. of Old Saybrook; and two sisters, Mrs. Kathleen L. O'Dell of Coventry and Miss Elizabeth A. Perry of Manchester.

The funeral will be Tuesday at 8:45 a.m. from the John F. Tierney Funeral Home, 219 W. Center St., with a Mass at 9:30 a.m. at St. Bartholomew's Church. Burial will be in St. Bridget Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home tonight from 7 to 9.

Willimantic Budget Paring Under Way

WILLIMANTIC (UPI) — Having cut another $200,000 off the city's proposed budget since its second rejection, the Willimantic Board of Finance will ask city residents to approve it on the third try Jan. 15.

The rejection left the city without an operating budget, but Mayor David Calchera said Sunday he thought Corporation Counsel Daniel Lamont would decide the city could borrow money until a new budget was approved.

Meanwhile, Willimantic Involved Taxpayers (WIT), the organization which coordinated opposition to the budget proposals, will try to amend the latest budget to cover only the first four months of the fiscal year, which began Dec. 1.

The group will seek to have the city appropriate only up to $800,000, approximately what the finance board is asking for each third of the year, Richard packson, a WIT spokesman, said Sunday.

If Lamont decides the city can borrow, action would be taken Monday to borrow from a local branch bank to meet the city payroll Tuesday.

Youth Services Largely a Digan Creation

(Editor's note: This is the first of a four-part series dealing with the Youth Services Center. It concerns mainly the history and staff of the center. Tuesday's chapter will concern an interview with a youth who has "ripped off" countless people and is now trying to go straight.)

By MAL BARLOW
The Youth Services Center is largely the creation of Robert Digan.

His work with it here has earned both Digan and the center a statewide reputation among school leaders, social workers, juvenile court people, police and other youth services people.

"Bob is a leader in this field," said Fred Ballette, director of youth services in East Hartford.

Digan became the state's first certified youth services officer in 1967, the same year the town set up the Youth Services Center.

To tell the story of the center, we begin with the story of Digan.

Digan is a Springfield, Mass. native, a graduate of Cathedral High School there and St. Michael's College in Vermont.

He earned an M.A. in sociology from Notre Dame in 1952 while working as a probation officer for the Juvenile Court in South Bend, Ind.

Back in Massachusetts, Digan placed children in foster homes and worked with unwed mothers, letting out their children for adoption.

In 1955, he became a probation officer in the Juvenile Court in Vernon while living in Manchester. He worked with Manchester children as well as youths from the Vernon area.

In 1960, Harold Garrity, then chairman of the Board of Education, and Police Chief James M. Reardon both said the town's part-time truant officer was seeing too many kids. They wanted a full-time man to help keep kids in school and try, thereby, to prevent juvenile delinquency.

Started in 1960
Digan began chasing truants in October, 1960, taking over from the retiring Sedrick Straughan, the assistant fire chief who had chased truants part time for as little as 25 cents a toused head.

Right up to today, Digan's work most often begins with chasing a truant school child. But the school system's aim have become far greater than merely keeping a child in school.

"We look for a pattern of truancy," Digan said.

"Truancy is a statutory offense in Connecticut. A kid can be sent to Juvenile Court for not going to school."

Since truancy often comes before a child gets into scrapes with the police, Digan has kept in close touch with the police and courts.

Duties Expanded
Dr. William H. Curtis, school superintendent through most of the 1960s, pushed for the Youth Services Center and worked with Digan to expand the scope of his duties.

In 1967, Digan became certified with the state as the first youth services officer and the center was created to replace the attendance office. Now any problem of any school child in town was his business.

Richard Provost joined Digan in 1969. Provost is a graduate of the St. James School on Park St., Manchester High School, St. Anselm's College in New Hampshire with a B.A., D.C. with an M.A. in sociology. He also served in the Virgin Islands with the Peace Corps and taught fifth grade for two years in Wethersfield.

Mrs. Jennie Talbot joined the two men in 1972 to work with girls who preferred to talk to a woman about their problems.

Mrs. Talbot is from Wellesley, Mass. She earned a B.A. in psychology from the University of Vermont, and an M.A. in rehabilitation counseling from the University of Connecticut in 1973.

VISTA Background
Although she and Provost did not know each other at the time, she also spent time in the Virgin Islands working with VISTA.

Rounding out the staff and, according to Digan, keeping them squared away most of the time, is Mrs. Sabina Silhavy, their secretary.

When Digan was able to get state and federal funds, he hired a half dozen other workers for various projects. When the funds ran out, he lost them.

Digan and his staff work closely with the schools, the police department, the Juvenile Court, social workers and the various social service agencies working in Manchester.

Special programs run by the center include:

• The Network, a shelter care program for youths out of their own homes for some reason, usually an argument. A Network home gives the boy or girl and the family a day or so to cool off without putting the youth on the street.

Outreach
• Outreach, a program run by Provost to try and keep some kids out of the jaws of the criminal justice system just as they are about to enter it. With court and police approval, Provost steps in between the youth and the court to see if court can be avoided.

• JOY stands for Job Opportunities for Youth. It is a small job clearinghouse for youths and people or businesses with big or little jobs.

• Manchester Youth Commission was begun by the center and is now a part of the town government. It is designed to give youth a voice on local issues.

A troubled youth and his family may not get all their problems solved at the Youth Services Center, Digan said.

But he and his staff have worked with hundreds of Manchester youths.

MACC NEWS
MANCHESTER AREA CONFERENCE OF CHURCHES
Nancy Carr, Executive Director
The Division of Social Action and the Division of Special Ministries are co-sponsoring Volunteer Sponsor Training Sessions on Jan. 24 and 25 at Concordia Lutheran Church.
The Volunteer Sponsor Program uses the powerful wedge of concern to help a man separate himself from his past failures and to direct him toward a new life as a useful citizen. If we merely punish the offender by locking him up and making him serve his time we return him to society no better able to cope with society than when he was incarcerated.
To help combat the ravages of serving time in an institution, concerned men and women work on a one-to-one basis with inmates of the Connecticut Correctional Institutions, trying to impart kindness and friendship. They also attempt to develop a relationship that will serve as a window through which the inmate or ex-convict can see more constructive patterns to emulate. The conference is actively seeking your support to help in giving more of our offenders that second chance.
Do you think you might be interested in the program? Would you or members of your congregation or your friends wish to know more about our correctional institutions and life in jail? What happens as a man returns to re-enter Manchester from a period of incarceration? What can you and your congregation do to help a man recidivism rate so high that at present almost two out of every three released prisoners return to prison within three years?
The meeting on Jan. 24 from 7:30 to 10 p.m. is an informal meeting. There is no commitment involved. Come and find out about the program and about our penal system.
The Saturday session, from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. is a training session for those who might be interested in being a volunteer sponsor. Responsibilities of the sponsor and how he can meet them will be discussed. Both sessions are at Concordia Lutheran Church. Please call the conference office, 649-2093, for further information.

Work Starts on RHS Wing
VERNON
With the gold shovel that broke ground for the existing Rockville High School Building, ground was broken Saturday to signal the start of the $5 million addition to the school.
Termed the end of an agonizing period by Robert Wehrli, chairman of the Permanent Building Committee, he cited the many problems with soaring building costs and the lack of an adequate appropriation as the reason for these problems.
Wehrli also outlined the work his committee had to do over many months to bring the project to fruition. The request for the appropriation went to three referendums before the $5 million was approved.
Over that period the Board of Education and the building committee had to make many concessions in their plans to bring the project within the budget. They were assisted in doing this by the board and the architects William McHugh and David Eyleth of McHugh and Associates.
Ever since the contract and the mechanical contracts were put out to bid they came in over the budget and the major mechanicals had to be rebid.
Here again concessions had to be made and the equipment portion of the budget had to be cut back. However, the board feels the school will fill its educational needs.
Dr. Raymond Ramsdell, also present at the ground breaking and assisting in turning the earth, reminded those present that as far back as 1967 he cautioned the town that additional space would be needed at the high school by 1973.
He proved to be right as the lack of space made it necessary to put the high school on double sessions in September 1973. It will continue this way until January? 1978 when the classroom portion of the school is scheduled to be finished.
The Horn Construction Co. was awarded the building contract and officials from that company said it is expected excavation work will start this week. If weather permits the company hopes to then get on with pouring the foundation.
Others present at Saturday's ceremonies were: Maurice Miller, chairman of the school board; Dr. Robert Linstone and Albert Kerkin, assistant superintendents of school; Martin Fagan, John Murphy and Edward Masker, principal and assistant principals of the high school; Eyleth representing the architects; Donald Eden, mayor pro tem, and several members of the school board and Town Council.

Youth Council Elects Slate
VERNON
Nine Rockville High School students have been elected to the Youth Council, the governing body of the Ram's Horn, Vernon's teen drop-in center.
The students represent the four classes at Rockville High school. Those elected are: Lisa Nardini, Cindy Satkiewicz and Jeff Smith, seniors; Cathy Crowley and Michael Santacrose, juniors; Kayla Dougherty and Sue Wilde, sophomores; and Maura Conway and Danny Hodgkins, freshmen.
The council conducted its first organizational meeting last week under the direction of Robert Callahan, the center supervisor; and Donald Berger, director of recreation for the town.
Officers elected at the meeting were: Miss Nardini, president; Smith, vice president; Miss Satkiewicz, secretary; and Michael Santacrose, treasurer.
In other business, the council authorized the installation of a music system at the Teen Center and the purchase of a new television set.
The center, located on Rt. 30 at Vernon Center, is open each Friday and Saturday from 8 p.m. to midnight. Membership cards are available to all high school-aged boys and girls.
The present membership is about 230 with the average nightly attendance about 125.

Trio Accused Of Assaulting State Troopers
WEST HAVEN (UPI) — A California man and two Massachusetts girls were to appear in court today on charges of assault on a police officer following two encounters with state troopers and a chase on the Connecticut Turnpike.
The trouble began in East Haven at about 8 p.m. Sunday, when police stopped a van driven by Richard Odradi, 24, of Santa Ana, Calif., after he allegedly evaded two tolls.
Odradi allegedly struck two troopers, giving one a cut requiring 18 stitches to close, police said.
When the van was stopped again in West Haven, one of the girls allegedly used a baseball bat to keep troopers away, police said. Odradi, 24, of Santa Ana, Calif., and Judith Sprague, 17, of Boston's Mattapan section, and Hollis Govia, 19, of North Easton, Mass., were held under $10,000 bail at the Winstley Street jail in New Haven.

Democratic Leader Backs Judge Gaffney
HARTFORD (UPI) — Rep. James J. Kennedy, D-Hartford, the new speaker of the House, says he plans to vote in favor of renominating J. Brian Gaffney to the Superior Court bench.
"Gaffney, from the trial bar that has appeared before him, is an able, competent and compassionate judge," Kennedy said. "His reputation as a jurist comports to my personal knowledge of him as an able and competent attorney."
Gaffney, who has held a legislative commission in the patronage is an accepted activity of government, was linked to Connecticut's leasing scandal because of a lucrative lease for a highway garage which was awarded to his uncle.
"While the vote for a judge is a secret vote in both chambers, I will state I am prepared to vote in support or in favor of his renomination if called upon to do so," Kennedy said.
Kennedy is a 306-in-law of Democratic State Chairman John M. Bailey.

Public Hearings Set On Three Ordinances
COVENTRY
Monica Shea Correspondent
742-9495
The Town Council will hold a public hearing tonight at 7 on three proposed ordinances. Two concern the establishment of a Civil Preparedness Agency and the command of all local government functions during a disaster.
The other would establish a Parks and Recreation Commission composed of nine members. The commission would include the existing six-member Recreation Commission which would have the added responsibility of caring for the town's parks and recreational facilities.
There will also be a report from the Bicentennial Commission on events planned for 1975.
Another item on the agenda will be a report of the dog warden's activities and the status of the Dog Account.
Manpower Funds
Town Manager Allen Sandberg says that the town will receive $20,000 in federal manpower funds.
The town is eligible to receive the funds because of a current unemployment rate of 6.7 per cent.
Sandberg had originally requested $100,000 to hire 14 persons to serve on the town roads crews, clerical help at the Town Hall and two police dispatchers.
The $20,000 will be used to hire two men for the town road crew. These persons will also be used at the town landfill.
Sandberg has received the first monthly payment of $2,600 but the funding is for a full year for the two men.
Sandberg said if the town's unemployment rate goes over seven per cent then the town would be eligible for additional funds.

Federal Transit Funds Withheld
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The federal government is withholding $12 million for Connecticut bus lines in Hartford, New Haven and Stamford because of disputes over whether the cities or the state should pay operating losses.
At stake is a definition of the word "discontinue." The cities agreed to a plan under which the state would pay the deficits caused through operation of basic services and divide evenly with the municipalities the losses incurred by additional service.

Watergate

The basic Watergate Cover-up Trial is over.

There will be, we are sure, appeals by those who were found guilty of crimes in the trial.

There will be countless post-mortems as to whether the outcome would have been different if former President Nixon had been on trial. And there will be, undoubtedly, a few who will not accept the verdict as a fair one in the light of the circumstances preceding the trial which included involvement of a former attorney general, two of the president's closest aides, a president and several governmental agencies. The resignation of Nixon and his pardon by President Ford also seemed to make a fair trial seemingly impossible.

But, yet, when we look back at the jury's conduct during the proceedings, including its willingness to deliberate on New Year's Day in order to reach the verdicts, Judge John Sirica's firm control of the trial to keep it from becoming a forensic circus, and the over-all attitude of the public that it was really no different than any other court trial; we think it represents an outstanding example of the American system of justice working at its best.

According to most observers, the appeals of the guilty verdicts will come on the basis of legal technicalities and not the general conduct of the trial.

The defendants, like all defendants, can be expected to maintain their innocence until every avenue of legal remedy has been exhausted or until they no longer afford the legal fees of appeals.

The jurors can return to their regular labors with the thanks of the American people for a job well done. Ahead for Judge Sirica is the matter of sentencing the defendants and then other cases in his court.

The Watergate Cover-Up Trial is over but Watergate and all it now implies will be forever with us as a reminder that regardless of how hard we may try, we can never fully protect ourselves or our institutions against abuses. The victory of Watergate will not be who ultimately goes to jail but that our system of justice can be and is applied to all offenders from the lowest to the highest and to the end that justice prevails.

OPEN FORUM

No 'Closed Campus'

To the editor: This letter is written in response to one submitted in the Dec. 31 issue of The Herald.

Mr. Philip Pelletier, author of that letter, briefly mentioned the numerous amounts of vandalism which have occurred at Manchester High School recently. I am also disturbed by these acts of vandalism. My concern though, is not only for the monetary effect on the citizens of Manchester, but also because of an unknown person it probably appears as if the halls of Manchester High are loaded with arsonists, thieves and muggers. I realize though, that it is a very small percentage of the student body that participates in such activity.

Mr. Pelletier suggested as a solution to the destruction of the "School Boys' Room" the hiring of a one man guardian for every two bathrooms. There are a few major reasons why I for one would disagree with this concept. First of all, there are quite a few boys' rooms in the school and the cost of hiring an individual to stand guard for 180 days a year would probably be a substantial expense. Secondly, we have an open campus at Manchester High and with this type of a restricted atmosphere, I believe the openness of our school would be greatly lessened.

Manchester High, which was one of the first to institute an open campus in the state, does have occasional problems as a result of the large amount of responsibility placed on the student. I personally think that the existing open campus is a student to mature much quicker and forces him to make mistakes in a controlled atmosphere rather than the streets of Manchester when he graduates. Obviously not everyone is able enough to handle the present arrangement but, for the majority, I believe the open campus is a plus.

Unfortunately at this time I don't have a solution to the problem. However, I can assure you that the students of Manchester High are working together with the administration in search of an answer. Who knows what we will come up with, but hopefully it won't be the conservative "closed campus."

Need Veterinarians

Dear Sir: I am writing in behalf of many teenagers of New England who wish to work with animals in the future. We ask you to write to the governor and request support of the efforts to expand educational opportunities for future veterinarians of New England.

We ask people to write to our senators and state representatives asking for their support in this cause. New England needs a veterinary college.

According to the standards set by the American Veterinary Medical Association, New England lacks about 1100 veterinarians. The health of our animals, both those we keep as pets and those needed for food and economic reasons, depends on the veterinarian. A shortage of veterinarians will increasingly mean a lowering of health care for both our animal and human populations. The health of your loved ones, both pets and people, depends on your action now.

Dictionary

NEW YORK — I have been leading through several new dictionaries that came out this year, none as good as Ambrose Bierce's Devil's Dictionary. But their definitions seem archaic. Dwelling on the changing moods and needs of 1974, here are a few gossamer suggestions for the mid-1970s.

— BUGS: What Richard Nixon did to others — and himself — and what the CIA doesn't want to hear about.

— CHEATING: A wound with a spreading stain, reaching to the college laboratories and to New York exams.

— CONFIDENCE: What a people needs most, especially toward its leaders and toward the economy — but cannot muster.

— CYCICISM: Someone who and the Russians want, but at what cost to each?

— ENERGY, ALWAYS TO BE USED WITH CRISIS: Has ceased to mean gusto and drive and come to mean gas and oil.

— EXORCISM: The art and fiction of getting rid of the devils that nest us.

— FEAR: F.D.R. sought to banish the fear of it, today's constant companion, eroding trust, destroying hope.

— GOLD: Formerly a sly denizen of F.L. Knox, now a world traveler much in demand for its enduring qualities amid so much change and decay.

— GOVERNMENT: A group of men and women whom we endow with power but don't entrust with it, whom we want to be blameless and know to be human.

— HANG OUT: As with wash on a clothesline, to tell all.

— HEROES: Leaders in the past, a genus now extinct.

— HOPE: The fall guy of today's tragicomedy. But note Arthur Hugh Clough's, "If hopes are dupes, fears may be liars."

— INFLATION: A blown-up, balloonlike devil. Comes in single- or double-digit form; dangerous in one, lethal in the other. Can be lived with if reasonably under control; can also prove a killer if let loose.

— JOY: Promised, if not yet found, in cooking and sex, but lost in politics.

— LAW, EQUAL JUSTICE UNDER: The polestar of the democratic polity. Unattainable as a dream of perfection but a good star to steer by.

— LEADERS: Someone we choose to lead us, but not before we have frisked and unmasked him.

— LYING: An art, once the sole province of advertisers and diplomats, more recently developed by intelligence agencies and politicians.

— MARRIAGE: A partnership in coping and matching of neuroses. Had almost been replaced by the sanctimonious pair bond, but now coming back into its own.

— MONEY (OBS): What people used to make, in order to buy things with. Still in use, but with a vanishing content.

— PARANOIA: The widespread disease of our time, the more deadly because the prevailing violence gives some semblance of fact to the fantasies of conspiracy and encirclement.

— PARDON: An all but impeached President becomes a pardoned one. This domestic falling-dominoes theory has given the term a meaning of more than compassion and less than a deal.

— RECYCLING: Once applied to a make-do second use of source materials, the term now refers to the wooing of Arab oil dollars back to where they were first spirited away — the coffers and stock portfolios of the West.

— SINGLES: Only a year or two ago, those who gathered for fun in an unblemished hedonistic state; more recently the "naked nomads" who live solitary, wretched lives.

— STONEMAN: The Sphinx-like refusal to talk, even when the jig is up. Applied mainly to high political criminals.

— TROUBLES, AS IN 'TIME OF TROUBLES': What everyone feels part of, but also feels that someone else has caused.

— VIRTUE: The traditional honesty we now expect of every official without demanding it of ourselves.

— WOMEN: The hottest political and literary "property" around, the coolest pressure group, the focus of the swiftest-swirling social change, the strongest identity force, the sex with the widest-open options.

— WORK: Once an adjective combined with "wage" to mean a job, now a noun, object of the verbal phrase, "how to get."

Money-Saving Rules: Big tax news was made last year even without the passage of a new income tax law by Congress. These were among the major changes:

The Pension Reform Act of 1974, signed into law by President Gerald Ford last Labor Day, could affect the tax planning of an estimated 40-million Americans.

A new ruling by Internal Revenue Service permits thousands who have been forced into early retirement because of a disability to claim up to $5,200 a year in sick pay benefits. This right formerly had been denied them.

Even more important, perhaps, is the right granted to disabled retirees to amend their tax returns for the last three years and to receive substantial refunds because of this new policy on sick pay.

The optimal automobile expense deduction for those employees required to use their car in their work has been increased to 15 cents a mile for each of the first 15,000 miles and 10 cents a mile thereafter. A year ago the figures were 12 cents and nine cents, respectively.

At the same time the allowable transportation expense in seeking medical care or in connection with charitable activities has been raised to seven cents a mile from the former six cents.

This is the first installment in a 14-part series outlining the highlights of your 1974 income tax return. Save them all for future reference, or order now a personal copy of How to Save Money on 1975 Taxes to receive not only all the information but also filled-in sample forms.

The tax consequences of the new retirement program are so important that two chapters in the series will be devoted to them. The first of them appears tomorrow.

Water Rate Increase Before Council Today

VERNON - Proposed rate and charge increases for customers of the Vernon Water Co. will be reviewed at a public hearing to be conducted by the Town Council at 7:30 tonight at the Administration Building.

The town recently purchased the privately owned water company for $175,000. The proposed rates of $75.42 per year for the average customer will mean an increase of $8.49 over the present rate.

At the company will be paid for by the users and not from general taxes, the users will also pay a charge of about $13 in a 10-year period to finance the purchase.

The town will pay $100 a year per hydrant as compared to the present rate of $42 a year. At its regular meeting to follow the hearing, the council will take action on the rate increases.

It is expected that Mayor Frank McCoy will make a recommendation to the council for the appointment of a town planner. The town has been without a planner since June 1973 when Joseph Pastic resigned.

Thomas Dooley, who completes four years as state representative this week, will be recommended by the Democratic Town Committee to replace Thomas Wolf on the council. Wolf resigned last month due to business pressures.

The council will also be asked to act on the appointments of Morgan Campbell to the sewer subcommittee, Phillip Brousseau to the Economic Development Commission and Terry Beagle to the Planning Commission.

Town Gets $247,022 From Revenue Sharing

The Town of Manchester received $247,022 in revenue-sharing funds today for the fourth quarter of 1974. It brings to $2,569,699 the total received since Jan. 1, 1972, when the program started.

As of Dec. 31, 1974, an additional $123,546 was earned in interest. Payments of $247,022 each are anticipated also in April and in July.

The federal revenue-sharing program, as adopted by Congress, is for five years' duration - to Dec. 31, 1976 - but may be extended, if pending proposals are approved.

Governor Believes Financial Rescue Highpoint of Term

HARTFORD (UPI) - Gov. Thomas J. Meskill says he considers his administration's advances in humanitarian fields and the financial "rescue" of Connecticut among the high points of his administration.

"I think that in the long run, the thing that will be most remembered for, hopefully, is the human services area," Meskill said Sunday. "Corrections, mental retardation, mental health, these are the areas that are more urgent, perhaps."

The day before Nixon resigned, he nominated Meskill to the 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, the second highest federal court.

The outgoing governor also said he was confident President Ford would reinstate his nomination to the new Congress when it convenes in Washington. Ford had reinstated Meskill's nomination after Nixon resigned, but it was not acted upon during the interim.

Meskill said during the interview he would probably miss the telephone call from a subordinate in London in 1919, former President Theodore Roosevelt died at his home in Oyster Bay, N.Y.

Utility Authorized To Use Lagoon System To Cool Reactor Water
HARTFORD (UPI) — The state Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) ended 1974 by deciding that Northeast Utilities can sufficiently cool water from three nuclear power plants without building $150 million worth of towers.

A permit issued last Tuesday lets the southern New England utility continue to run two existing plants in Waterford and build a third while relying only on a much less costly lagoon system to cool the high temperature water before it is discharged.

The towers, as tall as 60-story buildings, would have housed a cooling process in which the water is constantly reused. The two Waterford plants and one to be built will pump their heated water into a lagoon system in nearby quarries, where the water will be cooled before it is pumped into Long Island Sound, Douglas M. Costello, DEP commissioner, said.

He said the state maintains the right to reverse itself and require building of the towers if the cooling standards are not kept up. The third plant will be designed to convert to water tower cooling if it is needed, Costello said.

Ford Ponders Tax Cut

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford has decided on a tax cut to stimulate the economy but still is mulling over the size, administration sources said today.

He plans to recommend a 1 to 83 per barrel tax on imported crude oil to reduce consumption as part of the intertwined economy-energy program he will submit to Congress in the Jan. 30 State of the Union address.

5 to 10 Per Cent

Estimates of a tax cut range from 5 to 10 per cent. Much depends on how much Ford figures will be needed to stimulate the economy.

Sources said the President's program to deal with the recession will not be a "block buster" but it will be "hard-nosed" and tough. They did say "It will be significant and impressive in displaying the President's leadership."

More Meetings Set

Ford has made some tentative decisions but still wants further study, he said.

Some Advisory Committee Members Upset by Block Grant List Revisions

By DOUG BEVINS

Manchester's Community Development Advisory Committee (CDAC) learned Monday night that its recommendation for spending federal block grants may be meaningless.

Although several committee members were frustrated by Tom Manager Robert Weiss' revision of their priority list, the CDAC accepted the changes and prepared for a public hearing next Monday.

Remains of the CDAC's recommendation for spending the $1.88 million in federal grants over the next five years is creation of a low-interest rate, revolving loan fund for housing rehabilitation.

Details of the loan fund proposal as well as the determination of its legality remain to be worked out. The CDAC, however, has assigned a figure of $90,000 to be put into the fund over five years.

The second priority, coupled with the loan fund, is stronger housing code enforcement, estimated to cost $20,000 per year for five years.

The frustration of committee members over their role in the decision-making stemmed from Weiss' deletions and additions to the priority list, made since the CDAC developed its original list Dec. 16.

Deletions made by Weiss and agreed to by CDAC Chairman Peter Crombie included recommendations for renovation of the West Side Rec and purchase of the Odd Fellows Building to improve traffic conditions at the Center.

The additions made since the CDAC met Dec. 16 included reorganization of recreation open space priorities and inclusion of specific proposals for spending money on downtown revitalization.

The downtown revitalization items, estimated to cost $343,000 over five years, includes a revolving loan fund to help commercial property owners, new street lighting, and drainage, sidewalk, and sewer improvements.

The next day, in developing his first priority list Dec. 18, included downtown revitalization items as low priorities and didn't specify how the money might be spent.

Several members of the CDAC, reviewing the priority list Monday night, questioned how and why the downtown items got on their priority list. They claimed the town manager had no right to change the list before it is submitted to the Board of Directors.

"That's the way you have a citizen input doesn't mean you have to follow it," Crombie told his committee.

Provisions of the federal Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 require a municipality to seek citizen input, but the legislation states that the citizen input requirement can't restrict administrators' decisions on how to spend the block grants.

The CDAC will conduct a public hearing on the priority list and housing assistance plan next Monday, at 7:30 p.m. at Nathan Hale School. After the hearing, the CDAC will again review its list and submit it to the Board of Directors, which will conduct another hearing before the town manager formal application for the block grants.

Many Manchester Democrats To Attend Inauguration

By SOL R. COHEN

Manchester Democrats will be well-represented Wednesday in Hartford, with many of them planning to witness the 11 a.m. seating of the new General Assembly and the 2 p.m. inauguration of Gov-elect Ella Grasso, and with a contingent of about 40 to attend the Governor's Inaugural Ball in the evening.

To be sworn in will be Democrat David Barry, who will replace Republican David Olegard as state senator from the Fourth District.

Democrat Francis Mahoney will be sworn in to his fourth consecutive term and Democrat Ted Cummings to his first. Cummings will succeed Republican Donald Genovesi as state representative from the 12th Assembly District. Mahoney represents the 13th Assembly District.

New Senator

George Hannan of East Hartford will receive the oath as Third District state senator, Muriel Yacavone, also of East Hartford, as 9th Assembly District state representative, and Abraham Glasman of South Windsor as 14th Assembly District state representative. All are Democrats. Each represents a part of Manchester.

Mrs. Yacavone will be serving her third term. Hannan will replace Harry Burke, also an East Hartford Democrat. Glasman will succeed Republican G. Warren Westbrook, also of South Windsor.

Austerity Faces New State Regime

By ROBERT LAMBERT

HARTFORD (UPI) — Mrs. Ella T. Grasso, sent to office by an overwhelming margin, officially becomes the first woman governor ever named on her own merits Wednesday when she takes the oath of office.

In keeping with the austerity facing her Democratic administration, Mrs. Grasso plans to ride a morning train from her home in suburban Windsor Locks to Hartford for the ceremonies.

Ball at Armory

She will attend the inaugural ball that evening at the State Armory, a bleak granite building near the Capitol, rather than in more posh quarters in the effort to cut expenses.

Mrs. Grasso, married and the mother of two, has received worldwide attention because of her electoral accomplishment in becoming the first woman governor who did not succeed her husband to office. She has been mentioned as a possible vice-presidential candidate for the 1976 Democratic ticket.

She is the state's first woman governor and its first governor of Italian descent. When she steps into office it also will mark the first time that two women have held top state elective posts. Secretary of the State Gloria Schaffer was elected to a second term.

While Gov. Thomas J. Meskill, a Republican, has promised her that the state's books will be balanced, Mrs. Grasso faces mammoth fiscal problems, including a projected revenue gap of more than $200 million, in her first budget.

Although committed against imposing an income tax, Mrs. Grasso, 55, may be forced to raise other taxes to meet already trimmed agency requests of $1.5 billion, up from the current $1.3 billion.

Leaders in both parties believe Mrs. Grasso will hold to her campaign pledge, but expect some tax increases. Among the possibilities are a hike of up to one percentage point in the six per cent sales tax, and increases in the corporation and gasoline taxes.

Rep. James Kennedy, D-Hartford, who becomes House speaker in the new legislature which went Democratic by more than a 4-1 margin, says the Grasso administration will be characterized by "humanity, realism, austerity and open government."

Economic Realities

But, Sen. Lewis B. Rome, R-Blomfield, who will head the tiny seven-member Republican minority in the upper chamber, believes Mrs. Grasso will be forced into an "extraordinarily conservative" position. Because of economic realities she will have to keep state spending at a minimum and avoid new government programs, Rome says.

Mrs. Grasso represents what Kennedy calls a "golden opportunity" for innovations in state government because of her gender and the large Democratic majority in the legislature.

Meskill who ended 16 years of Democratic rule when he took office in 1971, faces an uncertain employment future.

Boy Tells How Youth Services Helps

By MAL BARLOW

(Editor's note: This is the second of a four-part series dealing with the Youth Services Center. It concerns a troubled youth in trouble with the law. Wednesday's chapter will concern an interview with a third-grade girl who skipped school 30 days in a row.)

Bob (not his real name) is 17 and has "ripped off" countless people, homes and stores since the age of nine.

The first item was a squirt gun. The last (prior to his interview with The Herald) was a wallet.

During the interview, he seemed aware of where he "was at" and what got him there. He knew where he wanted to go but was not sure of how to get there.

Bob is the oldest of a family of five. He said he doesn't remember his father very well.

"My mother and I don't get along too bad. We have different points of view. But that's the way with any mother."

About authority, he said, "I've been caught three times in my life."

"The first was by a store. They never told my mother or anybody."

"A year ago I got caught ripping off a radio. They sent me to see Digan (Robert J. Logan, director of the Youth Services Center). He brought the radio back to the people and they didn't do anything."

"I had a talk with him and that was it."

"Miss Anne Beecher, the guidance teacher at the high school, she's trying to get me back into school."

"I'll go back. I think I can learn to read if I really try."

"I'd like auto body work. I did some for my stepfather. I'd like to be an auto mechanic, too."

About his friends, he said, "I met up with the wrong people. I still know them. You can't dump friends."

"They've stopped ripping off and I've stopped."

About what the town could do further to help and guide youth, he was quick to say, "If you want kids to stay out of trouble, you should give them jobs."

"Give them training for jobs when they're 14 to 16 or so."

"Then they would stay out of trouble," he said.

Digan commented sometime after the interview that an extensive medical testing program was scheduled for Bob to find out why he cannot learn to read. He said he hopes that, with an answer, they can remove one of Bob's worst frustrations.

Getting Older

"My friends are still rowdy but they used to go ripping off every night. They're getting older, learning."

"And he'll do his best for you, too."

About police, Bob said, "They treated me the way they're supposed to. Not good, not bad."

"I saw Pat Graves after the last arrest. She's another person that if you put in your time, she'll help you, too."

First Big Snow Hits New England

By United Press International

The next year's first major snowstorm hit New England today, dumping as much as 10 inches of the white stuff in the northern mountains of Vermont while Boston and other southern coastal regions escaped with moderately heavy rains.

Travelers adversely were posted by the National Weather Service from northern Connecticut to Maine as roads away from the coast became snow covered and slippery. Sailing and sanding crews were called up from Hartford, Conn. north.

Three to five inches of snow was expected in eastern Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Maine, Rhode Island and parts of Connecticut. Some ski areas reported up to nine inches of new snow.

Numerous fender benders were reported throughout the region, but there was no serious accidents.

No power failures were reported.

Directors to Discuss Salary-Related Items

A proposed cost-of-living raise for the actually pulling a car apart and would be used for removing accident victims. It would eliminate the need for saws and abrasives — thus eliminating the danger of sparks. The proposed purchase would be financed from 1973-74 unappropriated Fire Fund surplus.

Other proposed appropriations to be acted tonight would be financed by equivalent grants. A $10,000 proposed appropriation for Police Department special services would be financed from equivalent payments from those using the services. A $70 town allocation for engineering services for a traffic study program would be financed from the General Fund's Contingency Account.

Among agenda items to be discussed are proposals for increasing sewer-use charges for large volume users and proposed increased charges for water and sewer connections.

Among other items is a proposed $9,000 allocation for constructing ramps for the handicapped at the Municipal Building, a report on the estimated cost of safety improvements at the Secondary Sewage Treatment Plant, a report on proposed sites for housing-for-the-elderly units, and the proposed transfer of $1,883 from the defunct Pension Trust Fund to the replacement Retirement Allowance Fund.

WEATHER

Probable snow accumulations of 3 to 5 inches. Snow inland may mix with rain while coastal areas will have mostly rain. Partial clearing this afternoon with highs today in the lower 40s. Fair tonight with the lows in the 20s except in the low 30s on the coast. Increasing cloudiness Wednesday with highs in the 40s.
