Gov. Grasso Still Opposes Income Tax

Tax Hikes May Be Needed to Balance Budget

HARTFORD (UPI) — Gov. Ella T. Grasso, who campaigned on a pledge of no state tax increases, today said some tax hikes may be needed in fiscal 1976 to balance the budget.

"I would think we have to look forward to some higher taxes," she said in her maiden news conference at the State Capitol, noting however she still is opposed to a state income tax.

When asked whether she would request the Democratic-controlled legislature for a tax increase for the remainder of the present fiscal year, Mrs. Grasso said, "I have no intention to do so."

Deficit Forecast

Her financial advisors have predicted a $200 million budget deficit by the end of fiscal 1976 because of falling state revenues and soaring government costs.

Mrs. Grasso also said there will be cuts in the state labor force, either through attrition or outright layoffs, although she declined to speculate on the number of workers who will be affected.

"I would think there would be some firings," she said.

Problem Acute

"Unfortunately the problem is immediate as well as long range," she said.

"The problem now is to stay off the red."

Throughout the campaign against her Republican opponent, Robert H. Steele, Mrs. Grasso denied Steele's charges the Democratic platform contained many spending programs that would require tax increases.

He had called her "Spenderella."

Plans Spending Cuts

Mrs. Grasso said she plans to reduce state spending in all areas, including payrolls, energy conservation and funds used for the publications of the various state agencies.

She will make every effort to cut back government spending to avoid tax hikes, but if those efforts are not enough she will make sure the budget proposals are presented to the public at a series of public hearings, she said.

Gaffney Nomination

Mrs. Grasso also said she has not decided whether she will renominate former Republican State Chairman J. Brain Gaffney to the state Superior Court.

Gaffney's nomination by former Gov. Thomas J. Meskill has been opposed by the Connecticut Bar Association and he has been involved in the legislature's probe into irregularities in state leasing practices.

Mrs. Grasso, like the thrifty housewife concerned about rising inflation, has started tightening the pursestrings in her household.

The Connecticut Democrat's domain is the state of Connecticut, weighted under $58 million deficit in the current fiscal year and confronted with a projected deficit of $172.5 million next fiscal year.

As a wife, mother, and now governor, Mrs. Grasso, the daughter of an immigrant Italian baker, has called for "tough decisions and heroic sacrifice" in an administration which she says will "practice what it preaches."

No Easy Task

So far, it is doing just that. As the former congresswoman and Phi Beta Kappa economist knows, saving millions is no easy task, but any homemaker knows its the little savings and enough of them, that add up.

On Thursday, the day after her inauguration, Mrs. Grasso told her agency heads to start pruning their $1.07 billion in appropriation requests.

"The days are over when state budgets throughout the country produced surpluses; when needed revenues were developed without trauma or strain," she said.

Later, she ordered the state transportation department to unload a state airplane purchased just last year for $280,400 and used by aviation buff Gov. Thomas J. Meskill.

Plane To Be Sold

"A state plane is a luxury we cannot afford at a time when the state faces a critical budget situation. There's no place for a state plane in an administration that's going to practice what it preaches," she said.

Hartford Civic Center Officially Opened

Thousands of Capitol Region residents thronged to Hartford Thursday to take part in the first day of activities which marked the official opening of the new multi-million-dollar civic center complex. In the picture above, Herald Photographer Steve Dunn captured a panoramic view of the Hartford Symphony Orchestra and Glenn

Campbell Concert Thursday night in the coliseum area's first formal program. The arena's 12,500 seats were filled for the concert. Tickets to the first sports event — a New England Whalers hockey game — Saturday night are sold out. Below, Herald Chief Photographer Reggie Pinto caught the ribbon cutting ceremonies which featured Gov. Ella Grasso, center, and Lt. Gov. Robert Killian, second from right. Despite the weather, an estimated 15,000 persons turned out to visit the new facility and tour the Festival of Progress being currently sponsored by the Hartford Chamber of Commerce.

Vernon Man's Brother an Innocent Victim of Irish Terrorism

By JUNE TOMPKINS

"Anyone who shoots another person in the back is a coward, and you can quote me," said Matthew Ramsey of 149 Taylor Rd., Vernon, as he related the tragic death of his brother in Northern Ireland recently, and its surrounding circumstances.

Notified of his brother John's death, he flew to Ireland to be with his brother's family, his mother and his other brother. After a week of exposure to militant conditions and the strife in Belfast of which his brother was an innocent victim, he tells of his experiences and his feelings of the conditions there.

A call was received by Ramsey on Nov. 26 at 4:30 p.m. that his brother, John Alexander Ramsey, 45, had been killed in Belfast. Later that same day, he was on a flight to Ireland.

When the plane landed in London, Ramsey's first connection with military guard began. His destination of Northern Ireland prompted interrogation from the authorities.

"All my luggage was taken, searched, and put in large transparent bags and sealed. No hand luggage was allowed on board. It was also sealed in transparent bags. Those going to Northern Ireland were personally searched. All cigarette packs and wallets were searched. We went through several doors during the searching process — all policed. The searching and interrogation were under constant supervision of British guards.

"Armed British soldiers stood at a point outside the plane as passengers boarded for Northern Ireland.

"As we got off, we were again escorted under armed guard into the terminal. That was only the beginning of security.

"We were given our baggage, but again we were searched before we got on any bus. The airport is strictly guarded by British troops.

"It was not until I got to my brother's house that I learned my brother had been shot five times in the back at close range as he was returning home from work on Belfast's Crumlin Rd., the same route he had taken for 25 years. He was carrying a bag of candy for his little girl in one hand and a grocery item for his wife in the other hand.

Trying to reconcile his brother's death is impossible, but Ramsey said he is not bitter at the people, "only the system." In his attempt to find out the reason for his brother's death, Ramsey met nothing but discouragement and defeat.

Ramsey said his brother had belonged to no lodge, no social or political organization. He was a churchwarden in Immanuel Church, Ardoyne, a member of the choir, a member of the church bowling league, and, according to the Belfast Telegraph (Nov. 28), a devoted husband and father.

"A Catholic woman was the only one who came to my brother's aid with a blanket to cover him after he had been shot. Later, she came to our house and brought a posy bouquet and offered prayers," said Ramsey.

"In all the crowd during the late-in-the-day rush hour, there must have been witnesses," said Ramsey, "but none came forth with any information."

The day Ramsey went to the location where his brother had been shot down to see if he could learn any details, he was advised by an officer to leave the scene (it was in a Catholic area) and not to talk to anyone about the shooting.

The reason for John Ramsey's death may never be known, nor may the reason for the death of many be known.

"There are murder squads, splinter groups who are terrorizing the people," said Ramsey. "They shoot Catholics and Protestants, sometimes both together."

"A murderous tit-for-tat," a Bishop called it in the Belfast Telegraph. A favorite reprisal tactic, said Ramsey, is to shoot people in the kneecaps. All streets in the center of Belfast are gated and guarded, said Ramsey. Every person and child is searched before entering the street. Ramsey said it would be like being searched before entering Pratt St. or Asylum St. in Hartford.

It is a shocking sight, Ramsey said, to see an 8-year-old child stand with his legs spread and his arms raised above his head while guards search him from head to toe. Children are known to plant bombs, he said.

The same sort of guard and search system is found at the entrance of all the stores in Belfast, said Ramsey.

"No one is allowed to drive into the center of Belfast," Ramsey said, "for fear of bombs being planted in the car. Nor does one leave his car unattended if he parks it on the edge of town for fear of the same thing happening."

"Not only is there a fear of bombs, but hijacking the cars," said Ramsey. "Everybody watches everybody else with suspicion," he said.

He told of a present he bought for his niece. As he carried the large packaged gift out of the store, he said people dispersed in all directions for fear the package might be dangerous.

At night, people pull the shades in their houses to avoid being "sitting ducks" for possible killings, said Ramsey.

"They're afraid to go out at night," Ramsey said. "They sit at home and watch television to find out what happened during the day." Residents will not turn on the light after dark to use the phone usually located in the hall of their homes, he said. A light would make them a perfect target for a killer.

"The fear of something happening is so great that a person will call his home to report he arrived safely at his destination, and vice versa," said Ramsey.

Ramsey theorizes it might take the next hundred years to overcome the strife and strong feelings of enmity in Northern Ireland.

"It comes down to the children," he said. "If they could all go to school together, play games together — the blacks, the Protestants, the Catholics, the Jews — they would grow up without any prejudices," he said.

"Let the Catholic priest teach the Catholics their catechism for a half hour or so, let the Rabbi teach the Jewish children for a certain period, but then let them all be together for the rest of their curriculum," said Ramsey.

Ramsey repeatedly said, "If there is one point I would like to make clear, it's that the money which is being collected in this area is only going to aid in the merciless killings that are taking place all the time in Northern Ireland.

"If the people here who are donating money to what they think is a worthy cause could see the conditions over there and see the senseless killings to Catholics and Protestants without discrimination, they might do differently."

(Editor's Note: Matt Ramsey has learned from his mother and sister-in-law that a suspect is now in custody in his brother's death.

They told him that a 28-year-old man — a Protestant — apparently had mistaken John Ramsey for a Catholic because he was in a Catholic area of Belfast near a Catholic Church.

The suspect's wife is expecting her first baby, Ramsey reported.)

Regional Health District Pros and Cons Tabulated

Town Manager Robert Weiss has taken a middle of the road position on Manchester joining neighboring towns in the formation of a Regional Health District.

In a memo to the Board of Directors Thursday, he noted what he sees as the advantages and disadvantages of the health district to Manchester, which he says should be evaluated by the board in making such a policy decision.

Advantages Noted

The advantages he noted are: "There would be no net saving to the town under the present state subsidy if we go into a district, but there would be an increase in services of approximately $37,000 in value;

"If we do not go into the district, we should expand the town budget in order to provide an adequate level of health services;

"The state legislation, presently being proposed, could increase the subsidy if recommendations of the state health department are supported." (It now is.)

The disadvantages he cites are: "The town would have to buy, from the district or private physicians, medical services for school health and town employ health services;

"The Town Board of Directors and manager would lose direct control over the health function."

More Study Recommended

He recommended that the Board of Directors meet with the local ad hoc committee this month to explore fully all aspects of the proposed district before taking final action at the February board meeting.

If Manchester is to go with the district setup in the next fiscal year, a decision will have to be reached in February in order to get into the state budget process for state funding as well as determining what would be required in our local budget, Weiss said.

Four Towns Included

The proposed health district would be composed of the towns of Bolton, South Windsor, Tolland and Manchester. To provide the necessary level of service to each town, a budget of $3.10 per capita would be necessary. Each town would contribute $2.10 per capita with the state contributing $1, according to a report by an ad hoc committee to form such a district. This regional committee has recommended that a health district be established as of July 1.

The district's responsibilities would divide into two major areas — community health and environmental health.

The community health program of the district would include chronic and communicable disease control, health needs assessment, data collection, analysis and dissemination; planning for future programs; referrals to other agencies; health education; and clinics for immunizations, well child conferences and possible teen-age or adult clinics.

The district would stress its community health program, working closely with the public health nurses in case findings and follow-ups of the various diseases and family health in terms of the well child

Crossroad Open House Week to Start Sunday

Crossroads, Manchester's counseling and drug information center at 33 Park St., will sponsor an open house starting Sunday and continuing through Friday.

This will be a "get acquainted with us" week to allow the community a better understanding of the purpose, operations and staff of Crossroads, Jim Breitenfeld, director of the center, said. Certain time periods have been scheduled for each professional group so that the staff may discuss or answer questions about Crossroads.

Parents and concerned adults are invited to visit Crossroads Thursday from 6 to 9 p.m. A coffee house for teen-agers is scheduled for Tuesday from 6 to 9 p.m., and all Manchester young people may visit the center on Friday from 2 to 5 p.m.

Sunday's open house is for members of the congregation of St. Mary's Episcopal Church, owner of the building which houses Crossroads.

"The abuse of drugs," Breitenfeld said, "continues to be a serious problem for a multitude of people across the country. Manchester is no exception. What sets Manchester apart from other communities is the fact that something is being done about the situation.

"People are forgetting that there are still a lot of drugs on the street, and kids and adults are using them. There are not as many arrests as before, and no longer are there the dramatic things of the '60s that catch people's attention," he said.

"Kids today are more sophisticated and keep their use of drugs out of the public eye. At one point, it was college-age youths and high school dropouts; now we are concerned with those of junior high age, and it is not unusual for us to work with seventh graders. On occasion, we have dealt with children in third, fourth and sixth grades," he said.

Crossroads handled 319 new cases in 1974 compared to 284 new cases in 1973, Breitenfeld reported. Most people stay long enough so that we can see some changes in their behavior, he said.

"We are involved in drug education for fourth, fifth and sixth grades, and spend a lot of time in the schools, working with younger kids on drug prevention," he said.

Crossroads is open 60 hours a week — Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., and a staff is on call 24 hours a day, seven days a week, he said.

Mostly sunny this afternoon with highs in the 40s. Fair tonight with some increase in cloudiness later at night. Lows in the 30s. Cloudy Saturday with occasional rain developing during the day. Highs in the 40s.

Manchester Evening Herald OPINION

Warning Proper

Confidentiality of communications between lawyer and client, doctor and patient, clergyman and parishioner, and husband and wife has been held to be inviolate by law and custom in the Western world for many years.

It has been a legal tenet that a wife could not testify against her husband in certain court cases. And we have seen many accounts of a lawyer refusing to testify against a client under the rule of confidentiality.

Some years ago in Europe there was a case of a young man, who had committed a series of killings, presumably of a psychopathic nature. He had confessed each murder to a priest. The priest did not report him to the authorities, maintaining the silence of the confessional.

An ethical question arose as to whether the priest should have been bound by his religious restrictions in the case, since the murderer had demonstrated that he would probably repeat the crime as he had done in the immediate past.

In psychiatry there have been an ethical question as to whether psychiatrists should warn potential victims when a patient receiving treatment has made threats against the life of another.

The California Supreme Court has recently ruled 5-2 that it is the duty of the psychiatrist to warn an intended victim when a patient has made threats against them during psychiatric treatment.

The matter came to court when the family of a Berkeley coed, who had been murdered, sued the University of California regents, hospital officials, psycho therapists and the campus police.

A graduate student, had threatened in therapy sessions to kill the young woman. His threat was reported to the police and he was taken in for questioning. Since he appeared rational he was released and a hospital supervisor ordered that no further action be taken against him.

Neither the girl, whom he later killed, nor her family was told of the threat to her life.

The decision has been hailed by some as a needed landmark. Others in the field of psychiatry have protested that it will drive patients away from therapy since they will fear that their thoughts will not be held in confidence.

We agree fully with the thinking of the court. It is a clear case resolving the question of whether the rights and needs of a criminal supersede the rights of the potential victims.

We have had entirely too much law in the past decade which offers protection to those who commit crimes but disregard the victims of the crimes.

MAX LERNER The Verdicts

NEW YORK CITY — When the Watergate trial brought in its verdicts, something clicked in the minds of Americans, as if to say "After the resignation, after the pardon, that is how it had to be." The trial seemed endless but the verdicts — except for the inevitable minority who cling to the frame-up theory — will be accepted as just.

The jury was serious, hard working, scrupulous. That is in itself an important fact, for in a pluralist society with shifting color and class lines, the jury system is constantly on trial.

The difficulty about holding the big governmental trials in Washington is that they are necessarily national in their stakes and their wider audience and that Washington is not a representative national city. It is weighted heavily toward blacks, females and government employees and is more liberal politically than the rest of the nation. This special profile could be one of the appeal grounds for several of the defendants — which is why the jury's careful conduct of its deliberations was crucial.

Those who reported on the trial found an element of fascination in the techniques of the prosecution and defense counsels. But another element of fascination lay in character.

The public knew little about two of the defendants — Robert Mardian, who seemed broken by his guilty verdict and Kenneth Parkinson, who was joyful at his acquittal. The other three were better known — John Mitchell, who had run Richard Nixon's campaign and had once been the strong man of his first cabinet; H. R. Haldeman, who had more power than any man except the President and who set the frame within which Nixon ran the government; and John Ehrlichman, who was Haldeman's partner of domestic matters.

Of the three, John Mitchell showed himself most consistent in his behavior throughout. Like it or not he was what he was, had done what he had done and was not about to assume a mask of public virtue or to court public opinion. He is a man whose life, like his career, is broken forever, but he remains himself.

The other two are studies for the historians, psychologists, novelists. There are three pictures we get of them at three phases of their careers. One is the familiar pre-Watergate picture of men in power, at the head of the Palace Guard, very much in command of others and of themselves, sure of their direction, vigilant in screening out of the President's world the people they didn't want him to see and the aspects of America and of his own administration that they had contempt for.

The second picture emerges from the tapes, which were first played at the trial, and later in the courtroom history. They reveal the President and his two top lieutenants as a confused and frightened underdog, the first time in history that the people will be able to listen to a ruling group as it debates its own fate in a series of tense, unrehearsed, un-dressed moments of agony and indecision.

They reveal the President and his two top lieutenants as a confused and frightened underdog, the first time in history that the people will be able to listen to a ruling group as it debates its own fate in a series of tense, unrehearsed, un-dressed moments of agony and indecision.

The third picture was that of the defendants on trial. Since the story is not yet ended, it is still a picture in the making. It tells much about each of the men, not only about the kind of public image they have been shaping along with their counsel but even more about the kind of men they are essentially — the boundaries of personality and the quality of character in each of them, their relation to their families, their behavior under extreme stress.

I include here not only the men who fought it out in the courts but also those who talked to the special prosecutor's staff and got lighter sentences to varying degrees. In time all of them — the co-operators and non-co-operators alike — are likely to give interviews, as John Dean has been doing, or to write books about the experience, as Joe Magruder has already done. Americans are a people untrusting in their appetite for disclosure, however subjective. In the end it will make quite a story.

I should have made an exception. All are likely to do it except one. His name is John Mitchell. He will be as contemptuous of the chances for self-revelation and self-justification in the future as he has been all along. He will remain carved out of one piece.

ANDREW TULLY Sheer Lunacy

WASHINGTON — What can be said about that tax cut everybody is talking about except that it could be sheer lunacy. Even without such "relief," the cost of maintaining existing federal services is now uncontrollable.

That is the message contained in a report by the staff of Congress' Joint Economic Committee which says the federal budget deficit will be somewhere around $22.8-billion in the fiscal year ending June 30. And without any tax cut, says the report, the deficit will rise during the next fiscal year to a post-World War II record of $36.4-billion.

We tend to forget that under some programs, outlays will increase automatically, among those programs are Social Security, interest on the public debt and veterans' benefits. Every time the rise in the cost of living reaches a certain point, government workers and retired government workers get increases in their wages and pensions. So do many labor union members, which means an automatic increase in the prices of the products they make.

But most Americans benefit in one way or another from what could accurately be described as a continuing tax reduction. Uncle Sam hands out a whopping $95-billion a year in direct cash subsidies or special tax breaks to business and individuals, according to an earlier study by the Joint Economic Committee's Profits and Economy subcommittee.

Does anyone want to eliminate the Medicaid program for the indigent ill? That costs the taxpayers $6.6-billion a year. Exemption of local property taxes deprives the U.S. Treasury of another $3.8-billion annually. When a taxpayer deducts charitable contributions, there goes another $3.7-billion, and deductions for medical payments and medical insurance costs the Treasury an annual $3.5-billion. Then there is business, big and little. The biggest subsidies by category go to stimulation of business, including tax credits for investment, the oil depletion allowance and the like — a total of $21-billion. Another $12.7-billion goes to stimulate housing. Well-to-do taxpayers save $6.3-billion a year from tax breaks on capital gains, and $3.7-billion from the exemption of state and local bonds from U.S. tax.

So it is not surprising to learn that the total of direct and hidden subsidies has increased by nearly 50 per cent from the $63-billion of fiscal year in 1970. For such subsidies have become a big part of the American way of life under a Big Government that cuts almost everybody in on the goodies. We all want our share, and so in effect Big Brother is not government but every American who can afford to pay taxes.

Yet the argument in numerous quarters is that there must be more pump priming of the economy, that individuals and business need more money to spend (with inflation still traveling at a gallop). Thus the building of a tax cut, despite studies which have shown that many of the subsidies don't work even in achieving social goals.

Well, the Commerce Clearing House of Chicago, which specializes in compiling tax statistics, has reported that the local, state and Federal governments take about $1.57 a year from the average American's pocket. So much for Big Brother's benevolence.

RAY CROMLEY Waste Adds to World's Want

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Over the years, we waste billions in foreign aid because we do not use our heads.

There is mounting evidence that relatively small amounts of money carefully channeled into food improvements, waste recovery and the prevention of insect damage and spoilage would sometimes do more to help the world's undernourished than hundreds of millions spent in huge and haphazard food deliveries.

We think conventionally and forego these inexpensive measures which could produce superior results with fewer dollars.

It should be noted too that some of these without-thinking practices also result in higher food costs here.

Some 15-billion pounds of usable wheat, rich in protein and in milk lactose, is destroyed down the drain each year by industry. Billions of pounds of useful materials are thrown out as waste in other food processing plants.

Rapeseed, instead, sunflower and palm kernels are cultivated in the main for oil. But the protein potential for humans from current crop levels equals the total protein today supplied from animal sources. All that's required is the adoption of practical techniques for removing toxic and other undesirable constituents.

Many doctors think vitamin A and iron deficiencies to be the most serious nutritional problems — in a range of low-income countries such as India. It is believed practical to add A to tea, and ferrous sulfate to salt, for hundreds of millions of people at ridiculously low cost.

Sometimes the problem is simply that foods available for shipment are not those normally eaten by the hungry abroad. In most cases, it would be possible with little work to change the taste or form to make these edibles acceptable to different digestive systems and palates. There is no reason why a drink made from soy beans could be more like cow or buffalo milk, or why cheese made from cow's milk could be made with a taste similar to goat's milk cheese.

But the major gains would come from saving more of the world's crops from insect pests and molds, and food from spoilage. Storage is so primitive in many areas of the world, and protection from pests so inadequate for growing crops, it is considered likely by experts here that half of all agricultural products is lost worldwide.

Rich fish catches in the tropics are a special problem. Uncounted thousands of tons spoil before they can reach the tables of millions of families.

Within the United States itself it's estimated that insects, rats, molds, nematodes and other diseases, weeds and birds and the like destroy almost a third of the crops before or after harvesting. There are an estimated 16,000 pests in this country alone.

Part of our problem is carelessness. For years, we have known how to make human and animal food products from why economically. In fact, we've been making use of 15-billion pounds a year, which is exactly equal to what's wasted. But it has been convenient, or traditional, for many plants to throw this valuable product away. Starch has been dumped in large quantities with the water when potatoes are boiled in food plants — because manufacturers have been unimaginative.

Today, scarcities and strict new rules on what can be poured into rivers are putting pressure on industries to process and use waste products, to discover new methods for preventing spoilage and to adopt methods already known but neglected.

In the long run, new techniques forced by anti-pollution rules, the worldwide food demand and inflation can paradoxically help prevent food shortages and excessive foreign aid costs in the next decade. We will also have cleaner rivers.

It's a game in which no one loses.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

I quit
I've tried my best to live as God expects
As my family expects me to...
I want to do the best, but always fail,
I give up!
The world's no use trying
I just fail...
It?
"Relay not on ourselves, but on God."
He directs us all.
Again, and again, and again,
like food,
like sheep,
So God will give us strength every day.

Millers Falls Shutdowns Won't Affect Town Facility

Planned shutdown and layoffs at the Millers Falls Co. manufacturing plant in Greenfield, Mass., will have little or no effect on the company's distribution center in Manchester, local officials say.

The company, which makes a variety of hand and power tools, announced Thursday it will shut down the Greenfield plant for the first week in February and temporarily lay off about 750 employees. Company officials said a similar shutdown would most likely occur in the first week of March as well.

Millers Falls' Manchester facility, which employs about 100 full-timers, will continue operations as usual because layoffs are anticipated, company distribution director

Ewald Dickau said. Dickau said the reason for Greenfield shutdowns and layoffs is to reduce inventory at the Massachusetts plant, but there will be no effect on distribution.

Dickau said, however, that he was uncertain of the long-range impact of the company's decision to reduce inventory. "We'll have to wait and see," he said. There have been no layoffs of full-time employees at the Manchester facility in recent months, Dickau said. He said, though, that the local operation no longer has the need for hiring temporary, part-time

Should Drivers Be Recalled?

Hey, Ralph Nader, where are you? You made your name by convincing America that most of its cars were unsafe "at any speed."

The implication was that our automakers didn't give a hoot about passenger safety and only cared about profits.

Now, Ralph, here this.

The Department of Transportation says driver mistakes, rather than mechanical failure, are responsible for four out of every five auto accidents.

What Price Price Control?

Things aren't so bad that they couldn't be worse — if they were better, that is.

There is a steel shortage today, among other shortages. Bad enough. But if the economy were humming and if the auto industry were taking its normal share of production, the shortage would be of "staggering" proportions. This is the opinion of William H. Knoell, president of Cylops Corp., a steel producer.

dollar was eventually cut loose, but devaluation was almost immediately followed by a freeze on steel prices at "unrealistically" low levels.

Steel imports continued to rise, to account for 18 per cent of domestic steel consumption, or the equivalent of all the growth in the consumption of steel in this country over a period of seven or eight years.

The result was to restrict steel producers from making the profits necessary to expand capacity. The plants that were closed and the plants that were not built then are where the steel isn't coming from today, Knoell asserts.

If legislators opt again for price controls, he warns, there will be no profits to be invested in reopening or building steel mills. U.S. producers thus will not be able to provide the steel that will be needed when the economy gets going again.

Others no doubt will draw different conclusions from the same facts. There is no shortage of evidence, however, to support those who caution that while price controls may buy economic stability for a time, they only store up a lot of trouble for later.

As Knoell says, "Today's crisis all too often is yesterday's hastily contrived legislation."

Knoell is concerned about the re-imposition of price controls, an anti-inflation measure strongly supported in some quarters and even more strongly now because of the price hike announced by U.S. Steel, the industry's pacesetter.

In tracing the origins of today's steel shortage, he attributes it to the price controls imposed a few years ago, which compounded the problem the industry had already been having competing with foreign steel under the fixed dollar exchange rate established by the Bretton Woods agreement in 1945.

Because of a severely overvalued dollar, says Knoell, foreign producers with their modern postwar plants were able to undersell American producers by $20 to $30 a ton. The

Christmas Project Successful

During November and December some MHS students were involved in a project designed to aid some of the needy people in Manchester. The project was sponsored by the student assembly. The Christmas Project Committee would like to thank all the students and teachers at MHS and town citizens who donated so generously to the project. Your donations along with those of 57 local stores enabled the committee to make up boxes containing food and presents for 40 Manchester families which are currently on welfare. On Wednesday, December 18, these boxes were turned over to the Manchester Social Service Department for distribution.

The following is a list of stores which contributed to the project. Special thanks go to Calhoun for making stuffed animals.

A Review 'Woman' Lacking

Last Friday, Aridian, the literary magazine of the high school, presented a one-act play by Estelle Aubrey Brown, a Woman of Character, to English classes. This play seemed to be tragically in the good throw. All those who saw the production seemed to be played more for what humor could be obtained from the script.

The basic plot takes place in a rather nice house in a small town in the 1920's. The lady of the house, Nan Adams, played by Barb Anderson, is playing hostess to her weekly ladies circle meeting. Her mother (Barb Carlson) insists that it is really a gossip clique, now learning about Mary Lange (Sharon Foy) who caught her husband with another woman.

If you, the reader, happened to see this play, you are probably wondering if I saw the same show. Although the acting was fairly good, the play was ruined by poor direction. Kent Denley, the director, has a great deal of theatrical experience but when it comes to direction, he leaves something to be desired. There are some beautiful set movements on stage. People were popping up and down, drawing attention from the main action. Therefore, there was no focus in the scenes with all the ladies on stage. Often the body positions of the cast looked as if they were thinking of as her "holding room." An asparagus, fern, native to South Africa, never looked better. Nasturtiums, grown from seed, had beautiful significance to hold the audience's attention. I was disappointed because I know Kent is capable of more. — Stuart Flavell

Career Planning Center Busy

The Guidance Department's Career Planning Center has been open for a little over a month. In addition to the many displays of career materials, a few speaker programs have been held.

The most recent was a talk and demonstration by two local hair stylists, Bennie Benevento and Jeff Gentilcore. Both are graduates of Manchester High School and have their own hairdressing business.

Outside of school, Hunt is a member of the National Council of Teachers in Connecticut. He is very active in English teacher organizations and was named to a nearby armory factory and a local tool company.

The VIP program has been reactivated, with a number of students spending a day with a person employed in their area of interest. The following such visits were scheduled for this week:

Monday, Jan. 6 — Connie Parcell, nurse aid; Steve Pongratz, journalism; Allan Robb, civil engineering.

Tuesday, Jan. 7 — Debbie Duff, dental hygienist; Lorena Bilodeau, registered nurse; and Bob Richardson, chemist.

Student Opinions

Last week Dave Jacobs, Student Assembly president at Manchester High School, sensed an epidemic at hand. He accordingly took to the airwaves and fervently pleaded for a miraculous change of student behavior. In correlation with his plea, Jacobs has since made tours of the student dining lounge during lunch periods with his cohorts, vainly attempting to inspire a more begotten sense of pride and personal duty.

Whether from pressure from within or from without, no one knows, but a self-proclaimed leader is desperately trying to do what he thinks he ought to do. The blackened situation, however, is only something to scoff at. Events inside the walls of the high school parallel events outside. Mounting infestation and unemployment present a more lucid picture of our current state than any of our nightly images. Within the next two months the student dining facility may lose another precedent-setting amount of dollars. This situation may lead another few thousand dollars worth to barbarism and assorted self-destruction.

GARDENING

The ice storm and power failure of December 1973 started Miss Millicent Jones on a quest, now in its second winter, to determine what house plants will survive in temperatures that are much cooler than generally recommended.

Miss Jones, who thinks she has 150 different kinds of plants in the house, lost a considerable number of them during the cold days that followed the ice storm. At the same time, many survived. Now she thinks that with future oil supplies uncertain and with prices sure to be high, it would be well for her to know how plants of various kinds react to cool temperatures.

Some of the plants, Miss Jones already knows, will not stand this cool temperature. Geraniums and some of her begonias. They are in the base-jones. Where the temperature is a little higher. To her surprise a white impatiens droops limply in the cold air, while pink impatiens is husky and healthy.

Reaching toward the ceiling, and the tallest plant in our picture, is a Norfolk Island pine, native to the island whose name it bears in the South Pacific.

Does Andover Need Safecracker?

Donna Holland, Andover selectman, town office help and residents are locked out of the town vault.

The vault, which is located off the constable's office in the Town Office Building, does not contain any valuable papers, said David Veomans, first selectman.

Most Oppose Creation Of Building Committee

Only 26 residents attended the Charter Revision Committee hearing last night and the main concern of all those present was the creation of a Municipal Building Committee.

Folke Erickson, speaking for Town Concerned Citizens, said it "would add another layer of bureaucracy to the town government. Robert Bass, chairman of the Conservation Commission, recommended building committees be appointed on a project-by-project basis as needed. A hand count of everyone present showed all against the proposal.

Post Critical Of Dozer Cost

Donna Holland, Correspondent 646-0375

Robert Post, resident and former selectman, said he seriously doubts most residents realize it has cost the town $7,000 in bulldozer rental fees over the last seven months.

Post claims the present board of selectmen rented a bulldozer from the Pakulis firm from June through September at a cost of $1,000 per month. He said the dozer was kept very busy.

Sale of IUDs May Endanger Women

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Food and Drug Administration may have "needlessly endangered many women" by deciding to permit sales again of the controversial Dalkon Shield, an intrauterine device for birth control, according to one expert.

Richard P. Dickey, associate professor at Louisiana State University, asked the FDA to give a fuller explanation of its action. Dickey was on an advisory panel which recommended to the FDA last year that the ban be continued pending further research.

The FDA lifted the ban on Dec. 20, allowing the contraceptive to be used again under a program in which the manufacturer, A. H. Robins Co., of Richmond, Va., will keep close track of all patients.

"Sales of the IUD were halted last June after 14 deaths were reported among women who became pregnant despite the device."

"The precipitous action in releasing the Dalkon Shield for commercial distribution at this time before additional data can be accumulated and reviewed, may needlessly endanger many women," Dickey said in a letter of the controversial Dalkon Shield, an intrauterine device for birth control, according to one expert.

conferences, the regional committee reported. While the district would supply the doctor and programming for the clinics, the operation and staffing of the clinics would be the responsibility of an outside health agency such as the Public Health Nursing Association, the committee said.

Environmental health, the report said, would include inspections and informational assistance in the areas of septic systems, schools, restaurants and cafeterias, grocery stores, day care centers and nursery schools, swimming pools, wells, ice machines, mosquitoes, housing, rooming houses, complaints, and public toilets.

Music Shell Heads Priorities Of Bicentennial Committee

By MAL BARLOW The building of a music shell in Center Park behind the Hall of Records building by April, 1976, is the aim of the music shell committee and the Manchester Bicentennial Committee.

MacCarone, assistant chairman of the committee, announced at its meeting Thursday night at the Town Hall that a music shell can legally be placed in that park.

Mr. Sims was born in Inverness, Que., Can., and was a retired car salesman.

MacCarone is heading up the effort to get a music shell in Manchester in time for the Bicentennial. Besides the legal opinion on the Center Park site, he reported on other progress.

MCC To Restore Vernon Program

BARBARA RICHMOND Due to the interest expressed by concerned students and citizens, and personal action by Vernon and state officials, Manchester Community College (MCC) is rescheduling its satellite program in Vernon.

The rooms at the high school will be offered rent free. The spring semester will start Jan. 21. The three courses originally scheduled will again be offered, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday evenings from 7 to 9:30 p.m.

Mr. Collin, 30, died Thursday at the scene of a one-car accident on Rt. 85 in Bolton. His car left the road and struck a tree, state police said.

Those who have already registered for classes in Manchester but wish to switch to Vernon, or those who have canceled their registration and wish to re-register now that they may attend in Vernon, should do so during the general registration session.

Mr. Collin was born in St. Agatha, Maine, son of Rocco and Gladys Michael. He was a member of the American Legion and had lived in East Hartford before coming to Hebron.

Persons interested in attending classes in Vernon should register as soon as possible due to the space limitation imposed by the classroom size at the high school. In the church facility, the classes could accommodate 50 students and at the high school the limit will be 30.

Tapering Down Period Starts for Super Bowl

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—The tapering down for Sunday's Super Bowl IX between the Pittsburgh Steelers and Minnesota Vikings begins today.

The Vikings, hoping to avenge the losses they suffered in their previous Super Bowl appearances, went through their hardest workout of the week Thursday.

"Thursday's always our hardest day of the week for regular season," said Viking coach Bud Grant. "Everything is taped up and wears pads and pants. We practice our blitz drills. If you're near the field you can hear the hitting but there's no tackling."

The only casualty from the 40-minute practice ses-remainder of the session. Tinglehoff had his ankle wrapped in ice by the team trainer as a precautionary measure.

In contrast to Tinglehoff, the news on Minnesota's other two ailing players, quarterback Fran Tarkenton and starting left tackle Charles Goodrum, was much better for Viking fans.

"Tarkenton threw for 25 minutes during Wednesday's workout and his sore right arm didn't seem any worse for having participated," Grant said. "I am confident he can perform his normal functions."

Goodrum pulled a leg muscle earlier in the week but his condition was upgraded by Grant from "doubtful" to "possible" for Sunday's game. "If he continues to improve at this rate, he probably could play and may even start," Grant said.

The Steelers got some good news of their own when they were rejoined by right defensive end Dwight White who had been hospitalized since late Sunday night with a viral infection. White arrived back at the team's training quarters in time to attend the club meeting and practice session.

"I'm pretty weak from not eating," White said. "I lost about 10 pounds but I won't have any problem putting it back on."

"I imagine he will be ready to start," said head coach Chuck Noll about the 6-foot-4, 255-pound White. "How long he can go is something we'll find out."

Noll also said wide receiver John Stallworth, who sprained a thumb Tuesday, was catching the ball normally now and that x-rays of the thumb were negative. He also said guard Sam Davis, bothered by a foot injury, could play at the Super Bowl.

Thursday was the last day for the players to meet with the news media until after Sunday's game and the only thing on today's agenda was separate news conferences with each of the coaches and Pete Rozelle, commissioner of the National Football League.

Grant was critical of the two week period between the conference, championship game and the Super Bowl, saying, "It doesn't address the news of the 1970's, complete with the coaches wearing a fedora with fake press card in the brim and dryer carrying an old-fashioned box camera.

Several of the Vikings and Steelers, their patience worn thin by the various distractions of the past week, became upset with the turmoil caused by the antics of Rozelle and Dryer and several newsmen also objected to their clowning tactics.

"There's not much we can do about it," said Jim Ken-sil, executive director of the NFL. "They're accredited. But we will make it clear to the magazine's editors that news conferences are to report news, not to make news."

Hat Trick for Bruin Ace Esposito Averages One Goal Per Tilt

BOSTON (UPI)—Phil Esposito is used to having sportswriters speculate on his goal scoring records. But it still makes him uncomfortable.

Thursday night he scored a hat trick and reached another milestone, tying former Montreal Canadian Jean Beliveau for fifth place on the all-time NHL goal scoring list with 507, as the Boston Bruins whipped the Vancouver Canucks 5-1.

The hat trick gave the highscoring center 41 goals in 40 games, renewing the annual question of whether anyone besides Hall-of-Famer Maurice Richard is capable of scoring 50 goals in 50 games, and keeping up that goal-a-game average throughout the entire season. But Esposito, as always, stayed away from any public acknowledgment that he has a chance to accomplish the feat.

"To be honest with you, I wish you all wouldn't bring up the subject," he said to a group of sportswriters. "Last year, I got the same thing and it drove me crazy. Don't get me wrong, I'd love to do it. And if I do, I promise to sit down and talk with you for an hour."

Esposito also alluded to Richard, who has repeatedly stated that today's expansion and watered down talent is the reason for the increase in scoring.

"Let him say what he wants to say," Esposito said. "I don't want to talk about it. If I do it, then I'll talk about it."

Esposito almost had a goal-a-game average in 1970-71 when he scored 76 goals in 78 games, and last year started fast and tallied off to 68 goals in 78 games.

The hat trick was Esposito's third of the year and 25th of his career, leaving him only three behind Bobby Hull for the lead in three-goal games among active players.

He put Boston ahead 1-0 at 7:24 of the first period, tipping in a Bobby Orr rebound. After Vancouver tied the game, Gregg Sheppard shot through a screen to give Boston a 2-1 lead.

Esposito's second goal early in the middle period made it 3-1 and Dave Forbes broke in alone only nine seconds later to give the Bruins a 4-1 lead.

Late in the second period, Esposito finished off a two-on-one with Carol Vadnais for his hat trick.

Besides scoring three goals, Esposito also killed every penalty against the Bruins, something coach Don Cherry was reluctant to let him do early in the season.

New Breed of Reporters on Scene

Cubby O'Switzer and Scoop Brannigan, also better known as Lance Rentzel and Fred Dryer of the Los Angeles Rams, ham it up with Stewardess Carol Stunton. The players, dressed in 1920 clothes, will cover the Super Bowl Sunday for a sports magazine.

Grid Contract Renewed Campbell Reired To Handle Falcons

ATLANTA (UPI)—Marion Campbell is generally given credit for being the architect of the slingsy Atlanta Falcons' defense. Now, with at least one more year ahead of him as head coach, he must direct his attention to the fabled Falcon offense.

Owner Rankin Smith, describing Campbell as a man who "has been very successful every place he has been," announced Thursday that he has hired the former Georgia tackle for another season as head coach of the Falcons. Campbell took over from Norm Van Brocklin after the eighth game of the season and the Falcons won only one while losing five from that point.

But Smith said Campbell couldn't be blamed for that lackluster showing. Decisions regarding player performance had already been made before the coaching switch and it was too late to make player changes when Campbell took over.

"My full attention will be given to improving the offense," Campbell said at the news conference announcing his new contract. He said he felt the defense was basically sound, although there were places where improvements could be made. Then he emphasized, "My first and most urgent attention will be given to the offense."

Campbell's first act after Smith's vote of confidence was to fire four of his assistant coaches, three of them concerned with the offense.

Campbell said he has dismissed Harry Gilmer, who coached the receivers, defensive line coach Bob Griffin, offensive back field coach Billy Barnes, and offensive line coach Dwane Patton.

"This was a most difficult decision to make," said Campbell. "I have nothing but the highest regard for these men. They are capable coaches who each made distinct contributions to the Falcons. The move was made simply because I want to hire my own coaches."

As head coach of the Detroit Lions in 1965-66 and joined the Falcons in 1970, Griffin had been with the Falcons since 1969 and Barnes since 1971.

In 1974, the Falcons averaged less than eight points per game, the worst offensive record in recent years in the National Football League.

The defense was tonight anchored by a big, fast front four. The Falcons were first in the league in defending against passes, although they often proved vulnerable to running attacks.

Because Atlanta's offense so seldom got the jump on anyone, opponents found they could stay on the ground, play conservative football and wait for a break. The Atlanta offense seldom turned the ball over with good field position and the defenders occasionally faltered at the end of the season.

But Campbell may have saved his job when the Falcons upset Green Bay, 10-9, the last game of the season. Instead, Green Bay boss Dan Devine was fired.

Campbell said his stint as Van Brocklin's replacement was "an educational six weeks."

He said rookie Kim McQuiken, who quarterbacked Atlanta at the end of the season, had done a fine job. Still, he indicated that the Falcons would be receptive to deals involving a proven NFL signal caller.

"I know what has to be done but it's hard to say that it's going to be done because who is going to give you a Fran Tarkenton or a (Terry) Bradshaw," Campbell said.

Flyers' Home Success Over Islanders Ends

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Spectrum charm is wearing off for the Philadelphia Flyers.

Philadelphia, which last year became the first expansion team to win the Stanley Cup, largely because it won all nine of its playoff games at home, lost at home to the New York Islanders Thursday night for the first time ever.

The score was 3-1, and New York's victory snapped an 0-7 run at Philadelphia and was only its second triumph over the Flyers anywhere since it joined the league two seasons ago.

Billy Smith, the Islanders' goaltender, was in range of his fourth shutout this season, but Ross Lonsberry prevented that when he scored with 7:21 to go.

Bob Nystrom, Clark Gillies and Jude Drouin scored for the Islanders, who are in last place in the NHL's Division I despite the fact they're two games over the 500 mark. Philadelphia is the division leader.

In the other games in the NHL Thursday night, Los Angeles defeated Buffalo, 5-2, and Boston beat Vancouver, 5-1.

WHA scores were Michigan 5 Winnipeg 4 in overtime, New England 1

Phoenix 1, and Edmonton 3 Minnesota 2.

King's 5, Sabres 2.

Bob Goring's 40-yard slap shot in the second period snapped a 2-2 tie and Bob Berry and Mike Murphy scored in the third period for Los Angeles. Bob Nevin and Whitley Widm also got goals for the Kings, while Buffalo twice rallied to tie on scores by Rene Robert and Jocelyn Guvernment.

The WHA Steve West's close-range shot at 4:40 of overtime provided the winning margin for Michigan; the Oilers' Mike Rogers batted in a rebound with 12 seconds left in the game after Rusty Patenaude had just given Edmonton a tie a minute and 25 seconds earlier, and New England's Tommy Abrahamson and Phoenix' Michel Cormier traded first-period goals in that game's only scoring.

Two Teammates Top Draft Picks

ILLING VARSITY Copping its second win in as many outings last Thursday was Illing Junior High, 6-44 over John F. Kennedy High of Enfield.

Bill Finnegan paced the winners with 30 points with Bill Kelly and Bill Talbot adding six markers apiece. Talbot led in the rebounding department with nine.

SENIOR Getting 33 points from Carl Hohenthal, Schiebel's topped Cyclo Gear last night at Illing, 86-80.

Pat Collett (14) and Steve Rascher (15) were other twin figure point-makers for the winners with Mike Phelps (26), Marc Schardt (12) and Rich Haberern (12) best for the Gaers.

EAST SIDE MIDGETS Two games last night found Pro Remodeling trimming Allied Building, 35-30, and Police beating Automatic Comford, 40-33.

Pat Silver's 18 points paced the Pros with Chris Carmel's eight points high for the Builders.

No individual scoring in the second game was listed.

BENNET GIRLS Victorious yesterday was the Bennet Junior High girls' team, 38-27 over Kosciusko.

Ellen Donadio paced the winners with 29 points while Sharon Maher, Wendy Warren and Pat Shelton played well on defense.

EAST GIRLS One-point winners yesterday was the East Catholic High girls' basketball team, a 23-31 decision over Hartford Bulkley.

The success was the seventh in eight starts.

It was nip-and-tuck all the way, the score being tied at halftime, 16-16.

"Debbie Beaulieu tallied eight points and Deb Couteau seven in a winning cause."

Fights Spark Whalers' Tie

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—The New England Whalers and the Phoenix Roadrunners did all their fighting and all their scoring in the first period and wound up with a 1-1 tie for their efforts.

Fighting players accumulated 44 minutes of penalties, more than twice that gathered by the teams in their two previous games this season, both won by Phoenix. Thirty minutes were Whalers' penalties.

Center Gary Swain was involved in two of the four fights, surprisingly because he had had one six-minute penalty in the previous 36 games this season.

Defenseman Tommy Ahrensman scored his sixth goal of the season with assists from Tom Webster and Don Blackburn, but this was neutralized minutes later by Mike Cormier, his 20th goal of the season.

North Lineup Altered For Senior Bowl Game

MOBILE, Ala. (UPI)—The favored North has made three last-minute changes in its defensive lineup for Saturday's Senior Bowl game because of injuries.

North Coach John Ralston of the Denver Broncos said linemen Wayne Baker of Brigham Young and Dave Waisick of San Jose State and cornerback Monte Jackson of San Diego State received invitations when three other scheduled North players were hurt — and all three earned starting assignments.

Baker replaced Stanford All-American Pat Donovan who hurt his elbow in the East-West game; Waisick replaced Ohio State's Pete Cusick, who hurt his knee in the Rose Bowl; and Jackson replaced Southern Cal's Charles Phillips who hurt his hip in the Rose Bowl.

"The South, which had already lost All-American defensive lineman Randy White of Maryland who simply decided to play in Washington State and he didn't want to play in either the Hula Bowl or Senior Bowl, made two more changes.

South Coach Dick Nolan of the San Francisco Forty Niners said linebacker Bo Harris of Louisiana State was replacing Florida's Glenn Cameron who injured his knee in the Sugar Bowl; and that offensive tackle Andy Steele of Auburn was replacing Tampa's Darryl Carlton who had pneumonia.

Both coaches announced their starting lineups today for Saturday's nationally televised (NBC, 1 p.m. est.) all-star game. The game marks the professional debut for 62 college seniors with members of the winning team getting $1,500 and the losers $1,250.

The North will have California All-American Steve Bartkowski, the No. 1 college passer in the nation last fall, at quarterback and Jim Germany of New Mexico State and Andy Jones of Washington State at running backs.

Sidewalk Priorities Listed

A list of Manchester's top 47 sidewalk needs, listed in priority, has been made public by Director of Public Works Jay Giles. He estimates the total cost at $1,252,075 for its 86,350 lineal feet total, based on today's price of about $14.50 per lineal foot.

Giles has given top priority to Green Rd., from N. Elm St. to Princeton St., with Green Rd. from Princeton St. to Woodbridge St. next. Both are for the north side of the street.

He said the priority for the first 20 locations listed is firm, with the remaining locations subject to change in their listed order.

The list was compiled by him after consultation with Police Chief James Reardon and Assistant School Superintendent Wilson Deakin Jr. Giles' information was obtained from public works files dating back several years. Deakin's information was obtained from the town's school principals.

Those sidewalks which would be used by students now walking to school and those which would eliminate buses were given highest priority. In general, sidewalks which would benefit the general public, especially the elderly and large numbers of persons, also were included in the top 20 priority locations.

The locations and their order of priority follow:

- 1. Green Rd., north side—N. Elm St. to Princeton St.
- 2. Green Rd., north side—Princeton St. to Woodbridge St.

"SCIROCCO"...

GETS UP TO 38 M.P.G.

"In the past years we have offered a car that was economical... the Volkswagen, and one that had style and performance... the Porsche. Now we've got our cars... the Scirocco. This car has better gas economy than any small car in America (38 m.p.g.) and the handling characteristics of a Porsche.

"If you want something a little racier than a VW, but can't afford a Porsche right now, then the Scirocco is the car for you."

India Recognizes PLO

United Press International — India today became the first non-Arab country to extend formal recognition to the Palestine Liberation Organization, giving the guerrilla group another diplomatic victory.

Indian Ambassador to Lebanon S. K. Singh and PLO Chairman Yasser Arafat signed an agreement to send a representative to India, a representative of the Indian Embassy in Beirut said.

The PLO operates information offices in several European countries, mostly Communist nations, and also has an office in New York.

But its representative in India will have the status of a diplomat, enjoying privileges and diplomatic immunity, an Indian spokesman said.

Lottery Tax Unintentional

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress unintentionally has slapped a 2 percent excise tax on the gross receipts of lotteries now operated by states as new revenue-generating devices.

According to the unofficial word of both congressional and Justice Department sources the action affects all or almost all of the 13 "lottery states" — Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Rhode Island.

The new law, which went into effect Dec. 1, also requires the various state lottery commissions and every agent who sells lottery tickets to buy a $500 federal gambling stamp.

Observes Birthday Quietly

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) — Former President Richard Nixon received a cake and flowers from his small staff on his 62nd birthday Thursday. His only birthday visitor, one of his staunchest supporters, Rabbi Baruch Korff, quoted Nixon as saying he was "glad" to hear of the release of his three former aides from prison. Korff also said Nixon is still very weak and sick. President Ford telephoned Nixon, "spoke for a few minutes" and wished him a happy birthday, according to a White House spokesman in Washington.

Richardson Given New Job

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Attorney General, Undersecretary of State and Secretary of Defense and Health, Education and Welfare Elliot L. Richardson, has a new job. President Ford Thursday appointed him ambassador to the Court of St. James in London. The appointment is subject to Senate approval. The post of U.S. ambassador to London is one of the most prestigious in the Foreign Service.

Nuclear Arms Assessed

LONDON (UPI) — A study released by the Institute of Strategic Studies said the Soviet Union has "an overwhelming superiority" over China in nuclear weapons, but soon might be very vulnerable to Chinese nuclear strikes. The study went on to say the United States is still out of range. According to the institute, China can blanket India, Southeast Asia and Japan with missiles and soon will be able to blanket some Trans-Siberian cities.

Herald Travel Show To Feature Ireland

"Ireland" will be featured at the Herald's Travel Show, which runs 23 at 8 p.m. at Manchester High School auditorium.

'Old Time' Blizzard Howling Through Midwestern States

By United Press International

An "old time" blizzard howled across the Midwest today and killer temperatures struck the Southeast Friday. The two storms left at least a dozen persons dead, dozens of persons injured and thousands of travelers stranded.

Tornadoes slammed through Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas, Alabama, Kentucky and Indiana Friday, killing at least eight persons.

"When the winds hit," a second-grade teacher at a McComb, Miss., school said

"the children began screaming. I told them to kneel down and put their heads between their knees and I heard one little boy say, 'Oh, God, please save me. Then the roof blew off.'

The children escaped serious injury, but seven other McComb residents were killed and more than 70 persons injured. Dozens were hurt in Petham and Pell City, Ala. Pell City's hospital was so crowded the National Guard was asked to open the local armory as an emergency medical station.

Dakotas Hit

Winds up to 75 miles an hour and eight inches of snow whipped up a severe blizzard in North Dakota, South Dakota, Iowa, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Seventy-mile-an-hour winds raked lower Michigan, killing at least one person. A tree smashed a car near Orion, Mich., killing a woman and injuring her husband. Drifts piled up seven feet high in Iowa and southwestern Minnesota. Highways in many sections of the Midwest were closed and officials pleaded with motorists to stay off the roads.

Tower Tumbled
Winds knocked over a 1984-foot-high television and radio tower near Sioux Falls, S.D. The tower, owned by a transmitter building and knocked two radio stations and two television stations.

Cosmonauts Trying to Rendezvous With Orbiting Space Laboratory

MOSCOW (UPI)

The Soviet Union launched two rookie cosmonauts into space today for a rendezvous with a space laboratory orbiting the Earth, less than six months before a scheduled U.S.-Soviet linkup in space.

The new agency said the Soyuz 17, the same type of craft that will link up with the American Apollo in July, blasted off at 12:48 a.m. (4:43 p.m. EST Friday) from the Baikonur Space Center in Central Asia.

Maj. Gen. Georgy Beregovoy, director of cosmonaut training, denied the craft would make any attempt to dock with the station. He said the main aim of the flight was to test new Soyuz control and life support systems.

Tass said Soyuz 17 commander Lt. Col. Alexei Gubarev and civilian flight engineer Georgi Grechko, both 43, were feeling well and adjusted easily to the weightlessness of space.

The new agency said its two cosmonauts would conduct joint experiments with the three-room Soyuz 8 space station, which was lofted into space Dec. 26.

Soyuz 15, the last Soviet attempt to link up with a Soyuz station, ended in failure when an automated guidance system failed to operate properly. The two Soyuz 15 cosmonauts returned to Earth for an unusual nighttime landing.

The last Soviet spacecraft, Soyuz 16, was officially described as a successful dress rehearsal for the joint Soviet-American space venture.

Soyuz 17 is the first space flight for both Gubarev and Grechko. Tass said Grechko helped design the unmanned Soviet spacecraft that landed on the moon.

"Exploration from space of the planet's resources so as to make sensible use of them is a task neither of one day nor of one people and we are glad to contribute to solving this global task," Grechko, a Leningrad native, said before takeoff.

Tass did not mention the forthcoming linkup with an Apollo craft — the first international docking in history — but the new agency indicated that docking practice was a prime aim of this mission.

Get the gifts that are driving Manchester wild.

Now at all First Federal offices.

It started innocently enough. The eagle was opening his new Manchester office. So he thought he'd throw a little party.

But when he put on his Santa suit and started giving out gifts, the whole town went wild. Crowds poured in. Begging for blenders. Screaming for spice racks. Crying for comforters.

Come on down and get in on the gifts. They're free with any deposit of $25 or more in a First Federal savings account.

If you don't have one, start one. Then take your choice.

$25 deposit.
Take home an elegant gravy ladle with matching cake server, or a handy combination screwdriver/wrench set.

$100 deposit.
Choose from an 18-piece punch bowl set, an 11-piece table service; a GE powerful flashlight; or an alarm clock.

$250 deposit.
Choose any of these: a pair of regular tote bags or a single deluxe tote bag; a dutch oven; a spice rack; a distinctive salad set; a bridge chair; or a cozy comforter.

$5,000 deposit.
Take your pick: a versatile Black & Decker jig saw kit or a Black & Decker drill; a GE digital alarm clock; a steam spray and dry iron; or a blender.

It can't last forever, so come in now. Save some money. Take home a gift from our Santa. And join the celebration that Manchester just couldn't help back.

Presented Good Citizenship Pins

Mrs. Ruth Wiley of 112 Elizabeth Dr., the Good Citizenship award chairman of Orford Parish Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, presents Good Citizenship Award pins to students from six area high schools. From top, the recipients are: Miss Maryellen Casolino of East Catholic High School, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steven Casolino of 11 Dorset Lane; Miss Elizabeth Schwanda of Stafford High School, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schwanda of Stafford Springs; Miss Yvonne Smith of Bolton

High School, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Nichols of Rosewood Lane, Bolton; Miss Jacquelyn Matyia of Ellington High School, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albie Matyia of 10 Florence St., Bolton; Miss Erlinde Meier of Manchester High School, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilhelm Meier of 45 Timrod Rd.; and Miss Lisa Lombardi of Rockville High School, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Richard Lombardi of 53 Marjorie Lane, Vernon. (Herald photo by Barlow)

DAR Honors Seniors

Six area high school seniors have been awarded Good Citizenship Award pins by Orford Parish Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution.

The DAR award is presented annually to a girl in each high school who shows the qualities of a good citizen: dependability, service, leadership and patriotism. They are shown by the recipients as punctuality, truthfulness, loyalty, cooperation, consideration, self control and a sense of responsibility to family, school, community and the nation.

The Orford Parish Chapter has sponsored more than one high school student for more than ten years.

At one time the award winners were selected by an essay contest, but since the expansion of the program, the selection is made by the faculty and students of their respective high schools.

The Good Citizenship Award presentation is part of the DAR's general program to preserve patriotism and promote good citizenship.

Tax Cut Rumors Spur Stock Market

By United Press International

Rumors of an impending tax cut triggered frenetic trading in the stock market Friday, despite announcements of new auto industry layoffs and a 29-year high in industrial payroll reductions.

President Ford was reported giving "very serious consideration" to a $20 billion tax reduction, which would reduce family income taxes by an average $375 this year. Another proposal under consideration was a one-shot tax rebate for 1974, which would cut tax bills due in April by 10 per cent.

The Dow Jones industrial average was up 13.3 points to 688.79 Friday. The turnover of 25,890,000 shares was the largest since Oct. 10 when 26,360,000 shares were traded. Friday's trading ranked as the seventh heaviest day in the history of the New York Stock Exchange.

But investor enthusiasm was shadowed by a report from the Labor Department which noted that more Americans lost their jobs in the last two months of 1974 — more than at any time since the postwar recession in 1945.

The department's survey showed that 1.1 million jobs were lost in the last two months of 1974 and an announcement from the Ford Motor Co. said that more than half of its work force — 85,174 employees — will be off the job next week.

More Auto Layoffs
Nearly 24,400 auto workers will be on short- or long-term layoffs next week at Ford, General Motors and Chrysler. GM is idling more than 662,000 workers and Chrysler, which has announced price cuts, backs to unload surplus stocks, is laying off 100,000.

The Labor Department also reported that three-quarters of the country's industries reduced their payrolls in December. Blacks and other workers in metropolitan areas were hardest hit in the cutbacks. The Bureau of Labor Statistics said.

Cattlemen in the Coma, Tex., area took direct action Friday in protesting high feed prices and shrinking milk profits. They killed 110 calves and gave the carcasses to the poor and hungry. And area dairymen shipped 35 live animals to a Texas orphanage, saying it was too expensive to buy feed for the cattle considering current low beef prices.

Unseasonably mild today with rain and wind. Possible thundershowers this afternoon. Highs in the upper 40s or low 50s. Chance of a few showers tonight with lows in the 30s. Cloudier Sunday. Chance of precipitation 100 per cent today, 30 per cent tonight and 40 per cent Sunday.

Whimsical Walkout

BOSTON (UPI) — Harred only by what may have been a whimsical walkout by about 100 white students at Roslindale High School, Boston's racially-troubled schools enjoyed a violence-free day Friday.

A school department spokesman said the white students may have walked out of Roslindale High "for kicks."

No incidents were reported at Hyde Park High School, where police patrols were beefed up Friday to avoid a recurrence of Thursday's fighting among black and white students that resulted in the arrests of 15 students and the closing of the school.

Abortion Trial Reverses

BOSTON (UPI) — Prosecutors say they can prove Dr. Kenneth C. Edelin, in the process of performing an abortion, killed "by suffocation," a healthy 20-to-24-week-old "baby boy."

Defense attorneys for the Boston obstetrician say no one was killed because an abortion was performed and a lifeless fetus was removed before any human was born.

Opening arguments in Dr. Edelin's trial were completed Friday and the case was recessed for the weekend. The 13-man, three-woman jury was sequestered at a hotel.

Kill 108 Communists

SAIGON (UPI) — South Vietnamese warplanes killed 108 Communist soldiers and destroyed nearly 200 military installations in bombing raids, many of them in rebel-held Phuoc Long Province, the Saigon command said today.

The air strikes were conducted Friday against the Viet Cong in Phuoc Binh, the capital of Phuoc Long Province, and near Hoai Duc town, 70 miles northeast of Saigon, the command said.

No government casualties were reported in the battles, but the command said 108 Viet Cong were slain and 195 Communist military installations destroyed.

Hoffa Quits Race

DETROIT (UPI) — Former Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa has set aside, at least temporarily, plans to regain control in 1976 of the 2-million-member union.

Hoffa, 62, told a news conference he was dropping out of the race for the presidency of his old Detroit local on the advice of his attorneys.

The former chief of the nation's largest union said he was advised that the U.S. Parole and Commutations Board would consider his acceptance of a nomination for office of Local 229 as a violation of the terms of his 1971 release from prison.

Abhey Occupation Continues

GRESHAM, Wis. (UPI) — District Attorney Richard Stadelman indicated Friday he would not grant immunity to Indians still occupying the 84-room Alexian Brother novitiate near here.

However, despite Stadelman's statement, some observers were optimistic a settlement was near.

About 50 Indians remain inside the abbey, which is ringed by troops of the Wisconsin National Guard. The guard was called in after gunfire broke out between the Indians and sheriff's deputies following the takeover last weekend.

Skylab Hulk Falls

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The heat-scared bulk of a 42-ton SkyLab rocket apparently fell to Earth before dawn today. No one reported seeing it fall, and the Space Agency could not give a definite landing site.

Space Agency officials first announced it landed in the Indian Ocean at 1:39 a.m. EST, but an hour later said the rocket had apparently taken an extra, unpredicted, spin around Earth and had apparently finally fallen at 3 a.m. EST.

Dollar Drops Slightly

BRUSSELS (UPI) — The U.S. dollar fell slightly Friday on European money markets and the price of gold dropped.

Gold prices opened firm on the London and Zurich bullion markets, but weakened during the day to close $2 down at $177 an ounce in Zurich and $1.50 off at $177.50 in London.

The dollar dip was in quiet trading.

Re-Hab Loan Fund Proposal May Not Meet Federal Rules

A proposed low-interest loan fund for rehabilitation of commercial buildings in downtown Manchester probably isn't eligible for funds under the federal Housing and Community Development Act of 1974, a town official said Friday.

Alan Mason, Manchester's human services director, said he has determined that the loan fund — one of the priorities for spending $1.88 million in federal grants over the next five years — "is in the questionable category under the intent of the legislation."

Whether the commercial loan fund stays on the priority list is now up to a 29-member Community Development Advisory Committee, which hasn't shown much enthusiasm for the idea.

The advisory committee will conduct a public hearing on its priority list at 7:30 Monday night at Nathan Hale School. After the hearing, the committee will review its list and report to the town Board of Directors. Directors have the final say.

The latest priority list approved by the advisory committee last week allocates $50,000 of the community development money for commercial rehabilitation. The proposed commercial loan fund stemmed from requests by downtown interests for money to sandblast Main St. storefronts.

Mason said the loan fund would, if approved, work the same way as a housing rehabilitation loan fund which is the advisory committee's No. 1 priority. The commercial loan fund had been part of a current area (downtown) program listed as priority No. 9.

Mason didn't say definitely that the commercial loan fund was ineligible under federal legislation.

"You might be able to build a case for it," he said, "but it would still be shaky."

The intent of the community development money is to help low- and moderate-income families, Mason said.

The list of priorities developed by the advisory committee is:

1. A revolving loan fund for low and moderate income homeowners to rehabilitate their homes — $500,000 over five years.
2. Stronger housing code enforcement — $100,000.
3. A neighborhood multi-service center, possibly located in the vacant W.T. Grant store on Main St., which would include services for the handicapped — $175,000.
4. Land purchase for elderly and handicapped housing projects — $330,000.

Town Allocated $74,000 For Federal Job Program

Manchester is being allocated $74,000 for 1975 under the Emergency Jobs Program recently signed into law by President Gerald Ford.

The job program is aimed at three target groups:

- Unemployment insurance exhaustees.
- Unemployed persons not eligible for unemployment insurance benefits.
- Persons unemployed for 15 weeks or more.

Special consideration must be given to those most seriously disadvantaged — veterans, welfare recipients, and former manpower trainees.

Town Manager Robert Weiss is proposing the town hire three painters and one painter-lead man for the Sewage Treatment Plant, two assessment field workers for assisting in reevaluation of town real property, and one engineering aide for transferring maps to the town's new microfilm files.

The position requests already have been submitted to the Hartford Area Administration of the Emergency Jobs Program — at its urging, in order that the positions could be filled by Jan. 24.

The Board of Directors will be asked in February to approve a washout appropriations for the jobs, Weiss said Friday.

The program is moving very rapidly," he told the directors in a memo, "and I am making administrative decisions on these matters, in order to meet the time restraints."

The latest Emergency Jobs Program is

- 5. A child day care facility, depending on findings of a feasibility study — $75,000.
- 6. Purchase of Ricker's Grove, an open space-recreation site off Oakland St., with matching funds from the federal Bureau of Outdoor Recreation — $50,000.
- 7. A study to determine the feasibility of renovating the 19th century Cheney Hall on Hartford Rd. — $20,000.
- 8. Purchase of Hillard Pond, W. Middle Tpke., with matching Bureau of Outdoor Recreation funds — $50,000.
- 9. Core area projects — $243,000.
- 10. Administration of the block grants — $19,000.
- 11. Ramps for the handicapped at public buildings — $20,000.
- 12. Expansion of space at the Senior Citizens Center — $5,000.
- 13. A walk light and Oakland and N. School Sts. — $10,000.

In addition to a $2,015 grant promised the town under a Hartford-Area Comprehensive Manpower Program. Under it, the town will hire three maintenance men for the Secondary Treatment Plant plus another assessment field worker. The assessment worker will be substituted for an analyst for Cable TV study, as previously proposed.

Manchester's $74,000 allocation for the latest Emergency Jobs Program is under a formula which uses October 1974 unemployment figures. Manchester was shown to have 1,021 unemployed then, for a 4.2 per cent unemployment rate.
