

Sidewalk Priorities Listed

A list of Manchester's top 47 sidewalk needs, listed in priority, has been made public by Director of Public Works Jay Giles. He estimates the total cost at $1,252,075 for its 86,350 linear feet total, based on today's price of about $14.50 per linear foot.

Giles has given top priority to Green Rd., from N. Elm St. to Princeton St., with Green Rd. from Princeton St. to Woodbridge St. next. Both are for the north side of the street.

He said the priority for the first 20 locations listed is firm, with the remaining locations subject to change in their listed order.

The list was compiled by him after consultation with Police Chief James Reardon and Assistant School Superintendent Wilson Deakin Jr. Giles' information was obtained from public works files dating back several years. Deakin's information was obtained from the town's school principals.

Those sidewalks which would be used by students now walking to school and those which would eliminate buses were given highest priority. In general, sidewalks which would benefit the general public, especially the elderly and large numbers of persons, also were included in the top 20 priority locations.

The locations and their order of priority follow:

India today became the first non-Arab country to extend formal recognition to the Palestine Liberation Organization, giving the guerrilla group another diplomatic victory.

Indian Ambassador to Lebanon S. K. Singh and PLO Chairman Yasser Arafat signed an agreement to send a representative to India, a representative of the Indian Embassy in Beirut said.

The PLO operates information offices in several European countries, mostly Communist nations, and also has an office in New York.

But its representative in India will have the status of a diplomat, enjoying privileges and diplomatic immunity, an Indian spokesman said.

Lottery Tax Unintentional
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress unintentionally has slapped a 2 per cent excise tax on the gross receipts of lotteries now operated by states as new revenue-generating devices.

According to the unofficial word of both congressional and Justice Department sources the action affects all or almost all of the 13 "lottery states" — Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Rhode Island.

The new law, which went into effect Dec. 1, also requires the various state lottery commissions and every agent who sells lottery tickets to buy a $500 federal gambling stamp.

'Old Time' Blizzard Howling Through Midwestern States

Presented Good Citizenship Pins

By United Press International
An "old time" blizzard howled across the Midwest today and killer tornadoes struck the Southeast Friday. The two storms left at least a dozen persons dead, scores of persons injured and thousands of travelers stranded.

Tornadoes slammed through Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas, Alabama, Kentucky and Indiana Friday, killing at least eight persons.

"When the winds hit," a second-grade teacher at a McComb, Miss., school said

"The children began screaming. I told them to kneel down and put their heads between their knees and I heard one little boy say, 'Oh, God, please save me. Then the roof blew off.'

The children escaped serious injury, but seven other McComb residents were killed and more than 70 persons injured. Dozens were hurt in Pecham and Pell City, Ala. Pell City's hospital was so crowded the National Guard was asked to open the local armory as an emergency medical station.

Dakotas Hit
Winds up to 75 miles an hour and eight inches of snow whipped up a severe blizzard in North Dakota, South Dakota, Iowa, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Seventy-mile-an-hour winds raked lower Michigan, killing at least one person. A tree smashed a car near Orion, Mich., killing a woman and injuring her husband. Drifts piled up seven feet high in Iowa and southwestern Minnesota. Highways in many sections of the Midwest were closed and officials pleaded with motorists to stay off the roads.

Tower Tumbled
Winds knocked over a 1984-foot-high television and radio tower near Sioux Falls, S.D. The tower, owned by a transmitter building and knocked two radio stations and two television stations.

Two Die in Plane Crash
The Missouri Highway Patrol Friday found the bodies of two persons whose plane crashed during heavy rains near Thayer in the south central part of the state. The plane crashed Thursday night.

High school basketball games were canceled in South Dakota and Minnesota. Schools also were shut down Friday throughout Minnesota at Omaha, Neb. and Council Bluffs, Iowa.

Nebraska Statehouse and University of Nebraska employees went home at noon. The postal service in Omaha called off mail deliveries and all routes in and out of Columbus and Norfolk, Neb., were closed. The Blizzards of 1888 Club canceled its annual get-together in Lincoln, Neb.

Whimsical Walkout
BOSTON (UPI) — Harried only by what may have been a whimsical walkout by about 100 white students at Roslindale High School, Boston's racially-troubled schools enjoyed a violence-free day Friday.

A school department spokesman said the white students may have walked out of Roslindale High "for kicks."

No incidents were reported at Hyde Park High School, where police patrols were beefed up Friday to avoid a recurrence of Thursday's fighting among black and white students that resulted in the arrests of 15 students and the closing of the school.

Abortion Trial Reverses

BOSTON (UPI) — Prosecutors say they can prove Dr. Kenneth C. Edelin, in the process of performing an abortion, killed "by suffocation," a healthy 20-to-24-week-old "baby boy."

Defense attorneys for the Boston obstetrician say no one was killed because an abortion was performed and a lifeless fetus was removed before any human was born.

Opening arguments in Dr. Edelin's trial were completed Friday and the case was recessed for the weekend. The 13-man, three-woman jury was sequestered at a hotel.

Kill 108 Communists

SAIGON (UPI) — South Vietnamese warplanes killed 108 Communist soldiers and destroyed nearly 200 military installations in bombing raids, many of them in rebel-held Phuoc Long Province, the Saigon command said today.

The air strikes were conducted Friday against the Viet Cong in Phuoc Binh, the capital of Phuoc Long Province, and near Hoai Duc town, 70 miles northeast of Saigon, the command said.

No government casualties were reported in the battles, but the command said 108 Viet Cong were slain and 195 Communist military installations destroyed.

Hoffa Quits Race

DETROIT (UPI) — Former Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa has set aside, at least temporarily, plans to regain control in 1976 of the 2-million-member union.

Hoffa, 62, told a news conference he was dropping out of the race for the presidency of his old Detroit local on the advice of his attorneys.

The former chief of the nation's largest union said he was advised that the U.S. Parole and Commutations Board would consider his acceptance of a nomination for office of Local 229 as a violation of the terms of his 1971 release from prison.

Abhey Occupation Continues

GRESHAM, Wis. (UPI) — District Attorney Richard Stadelman indicated Friday he would not grant immunity to Indians still occupying the 84-room Alexian Brother novitiate near here.

However, despite Stadelman's statement, some observers were optimistic a settlement was near.

About 50 Indians remain inside the abbey, which is ringed by troops of the Wisconsin National Guard. The guard was called in after gunfire broke out between Indians and sheriff's deputies following the takeover last weekend.

Skylab Hulk Falls

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The heat-scared bulk of a 42-ton Skylab rocket apparently fell to Earth before dawn today. No one reported seeing it fall, and the Space Agency could not give a definite landing site.

Space Agency officials first announced it landed in the Indian Ocean at 1:39 a.m. EST, but an hour later said the rocket had apparently taken an extra, unpredictable, spin around Earth and had apparently finally fallen at 3 a.m. EST.

Dollar Drops Slightly

BRUSSELS (UPI) — The U.S. dollar fell slightly Friday on European money markets and the price of gold dropped.

Gold prices opened firm on the London market and Zurich bullion markets, but weakened during the day to close $2 down at $177 an ounce in Zurich and $1.50 off at $177.50 in London.

The dollar dip was in quiet trading.

Brian MacDonald and the Electric Cowboy, a rock group, has gone ape—that is, this four-man group of local and area members has cut an album which they hope may lift them to stardom.

Called "Planet of the Apes," the album includes the group's own arrangements of the songs written by Terry Phillips and Rick MacDonald (no relation to Brian).

Brian MacDonald did add one selection of his own, however, "Jungle Fever." The record, with narration, is geared for sale to the teeny-boppers, said Mike Hayden, who plays drums

A truckload of chairs is ready to leave the old trade school for the Main Building of Junior High School to be set up in renovated classrooms.

From front to rear, Neil McKinney, Jay Massett and George McAuley move a file cabinet up the down staircase, or is it the other way 'round?

The Day Bennet Moved

December 13 and 14 were "moving up" days at Bennet Junior High School. Many students were involved, as they moved countless various shaped items of school furniture up the long flights of stairs of the renovated Main Building to their new permanent locations.

The move was made from the old trade school on School St. where classes had been held since September while extensive renovations forced the closing of the Main Building for school use.

OPINION

Free Enterprise And A Free People

The American free enterprise system must be pretty tough after all. For all the brouhaha it has taken in recent years from the consumerists, the ecologists-environmentalists, the bureaucrats and others, not to mention the perpetual heckling from the old and New Left, something resembling it is still around and functioning.

How free it is and how much enterprise remains is a good question. One would have thought, though, after a decade of Nader-type conditioning in the idea that no company is in business but for the one purpose of ripping off the public, and the bigger the company the bigger the rip-off, one would have thought we would be much further down the road to Big Brother, Inc.

Indeed, we may be closer than we think, if the attitudes of the up-and-coming generation are an indication of what they will advocate, or tolerate, as adults. For instance, a recent survey by Opinion Research Corp. revealed that 20 per cent of teen-agers rated our business system as "very bad" or "bad outweighs the good."

Yet only 4.3 per cent of teen-agers who had participated in Junior Achievement programs shared that belief. Instead, 55.3 per cent felt that the "good outweighs the bad."

This is not surprising. Achievers have had first-hand experience in what is involved in running a company, in producing a product or service that people will buy and selling it at a fair price while making enough profit to pay for wages and raw materials and have enough left over to repay stockholders for their investment.

Junior Achievers, however, seem to be the only young people who are getting any education in free enterprise these days. We neglect that education at our peril.

Now probably not even Cal Coolidge would have asserted that capitalism and political freedom are two sides of one coin, that you can't have one without the other. The Scandinavian countries, at least, seem to be proof that a society can go pretty far along toward socialism and still preserve democracy.

And too often in the past, freedom for the capitalist or entrepreneur meant freedom to exploit, whether it was resources or people — which, of course, is why there was a Karl Marx. Government rule-making and regulation was welcomed only if it protected the businessman from competition from others, as, unfortunately, it too often the case today.

Yet it is more than a provocative historical coincidence that the rise of capitalism was contemporaneous with the rise of popular government; that where capitalism evolved most rapidly, there did popular government also evolve most rapidly; that those countries with the minimum of government control over the means of production also seem to exert the least control over the thoughts and lives of their citizens and that those citizens have more of material abundance.

A bill to establish a Business Day was passed by the Senate last May. This would not be a legal holiday but simply an annual recognition of business each May 31, even as each Labor Day we recognize that other partner in the free enterprise system.

May 31 was chosen by the originator of the idea, Louis E. Farraye of Virginia, because it was on that day in 1607 that Jamestown was founded by colonists sponsored by a private business venture, the Virginia Company of London.

More than a day of honor, however, what business needs are some statement of real stature who will provide the leadership and vision this nation and its free enterprise system must have to meet the challenges ahead as we pass the three-quarter mark toward the next century.

Bolton Dog Problem

To the editor:
This letter is to answer a recent story headlined, "Republicans Form Watchdog Group," in which a Bolton group will use its expertise to take a concerned "people stand" on Ella Grasso's program. Since these self appointed watchdogs have gained their expertise by aiding and supporting the Meskill and Nixon programs, an enumeration of their great accomplishments for "people" is in order.

We the people have inherited from them, a state budget deficit, estimated to reach $200 million for fiscal 1975. We the people have inherited a crime wave that has skyrocketed during their years in office. We the people have inherited a new high moral standard from their X rated movies and books. We the people benefit from their wheat deal and meat prices, time to skyrocket with their re-election of Richard Nixon. We the people have gained a great lesson in the "free enterprise" they champion, the freedom to loot, to plunder people of 800 per cent profits. We the people have gained more leisure from their second depression in the past four years. We the people love our cozy cool dark homes, fuel adjustment charges, all the result of Mr. Nixon's timing to request over two billion dollars in aid to Israel. We the people will gain great sport from their opening our state for dog, horse and other gambling. This sport will be worth several million dollars that will go to out of state organizations, many linked to the underworld.

I suggest that the Bolton watchdogs use their publication, Truth, which we find in our news tubes, to expose Gov. Grasso's programs. Since she will make public new income and assets each year in office, how about a year by year comparison to their Gov. Meskill?

Another barking issue could give a pictorial report of Gov. Meskill's $50,000 out of state ski lodge. This example of Gov. Meskill's frugal and austere living versus Gov. Grasso's spend thrift living, will bring hope to the many people who now despair of owning their own home.
How about a "growing" report of the over $50,000 yearly cost of the fence, guards and hollow point bullets you taxed us to protect Meskill and children. A copy could be sent to each congressional Vietnam veteran confined in beds. What a meaningful way to show that the watchdogs who elected the most strident Vietnam war hawk congressman for their governor has not forgotten them. How about a tall wagging report of President Ford's pardon of Mr. Nixon? This could set an example of fiscal responsibility to Gov. Grasso to meet each 30 day bill due. Then how about a scratching good story of President Ford's tour of Japan and Korea and his ski vacation? Surely the hundreds of thousands of gallons of gas used on these trips will make gas taxes and rationing more welcome.

Although Bolton's dog problem may seem minor and could be cured by a quick call to the dog catcher, it is only one end of a leash leading back to the White House. Like Spiro Agnew, Richard Nixon, the Watergate group, they all seem no wrong, heard no wrong, and did no wrong, and again would repeat it all over again.

ANDREW TULLY

Hell City

WASHINGTON — South Trimble Jr., a Washington attorney and a former member of Congress, was shot to death the other night during an apparent robbery attempt in the basement garage of the apartment building where he lived in the "safe" northwest section.

On Capitol Hill, a man indignantly over having been dismissed from his job as a mail carrier, walked into the office of Sen. Charles McC. Mathias of Maryland and held an aide at knife-point for 50 minutes. "Yep, this is still Hell City, South Trimble, 78, was the 45th human being murdered here in good old 1974, a year in which the tourist industry frantically tried to ignore the fact that visiting Washington is to live as dangerously as squatters on the Golan Heights.

There is, of course, much public outrage over the slaying of Trimble and the ordeal suffered by the Mathias aide, James B. Young, 35. Virtually everybody in political office has "mourned" the two incidents. Asserted authorities have promised that, by golly, they'll get around to making the people's capital safe as soon as they finish recapturing their rec rooms.

You see, Trimble was a distinguished citizen who had held a number of high government positions, including solicitor of the Commerce Department. And Young works for a United States senator and, thus, quite properly, has a certain status.

Well, I join in the general indignation. But not because Trimble was, and Young, is, a public figure. What matters is that Trimble was a human being and so is Young. I mourn also for the 49 other human beings who were slain in Hell City during 1974, and for the thousands who are regularly, almost offhandedly, mugged, beaten and raped in this peculiar capital every year.

And yet Hell City is beset by judges who, in the fashion of Pavlovian dogs, slaver over the killers and muggers and rapists without a word of compassion for the victims of these brutes.
A case in point: In July 1970, a man named William H. Darden of New Haven, Conn., was on his way home by car with four children and an adult companion, when he stopped for coffee and hamburgers at a Northeast carry-out restaurant. During a holiday attempt, Darden was shot and killed.

The cops caught a suspected named Conrad Dancy, 22. This being Washington, things take time, and it was not more than a year later — in September 1971 — that Dancy was convicted of murder. He was sentenced by Judge Joseph C. Waddy to an adult term of 20 years to life imprisonment.
Then, two days after South Trimble was murdered and a day after James Young works for a United States senator and, thus, quite properly, has a certain status.

Appeals ordered a new sentencing hearing for Conrad Dancy. The court's majority said Judge Waddy made no determination as to whether Dancy should be incarcerated under the more lenient Youth Correction Act, which can be applied to defendants up to the age of 22.

Wrote David L. Bazelton, chief of the Appeals Court: "...The diagnostic and treatment facilities provided for the act present an invaluable opportunity to learn why these youngsters have gone astray, whether and how society has failed them, and what corrective measures can be taken to avoid such failures in the future."
Fine. There are indeed cases where society "has failed" youngsters — although 22 seems a bit long in the tooth to come under the youngster category. Anyway, how much should society take from a youngster if he failed?

Dancy was committing a felony when the New Haven man chanced into the fast-food shop. He was convicted of murdering William H. Darden merely because Darden came upon the scene. If society did fail Dancy, it cannot be the argument that a year later — in September 1971 — that Dancy was convicted of murder. He was sentenced by Judge Joseph C. Waddy to an adult term of 20 years to life imprisonment.
Then, two days after South Trimble was murdered and a day after James Young works for a United States senator and, thus, quite properly, has a certain status.

The National Sampler

From the Country's Editorial Pages

Tulsa World
President Ford has been swept up in the current running battle against the Central Intelligence Agency, and now we are going to have a "blue-ribbon" investigation of alleged illegal spying on American citizens.

In view of the outcry raised in recent days — after The New York Times reported as many as 10,000 persons were once under CIA surveillance — Mr. Ford no doubt felt he had to do something. But this one of those controversies that give him no chance to win.

The new liberal-oriented Congress can be expected to find the CIA the logical successor to Watergate in its search for another national villain. The others (Rosenberg panel and Justice Department) may well view the picture differently — which is not to say they will find nothing wrong. These matters generally are seen largely according to the eye of the beholder.
The problem is to get the facts and try to see them in fair perspective. The inquiry is warranted; we hope the results will not be an over-reaction as bad or worse than what the CIA has done. Some distinction must be made between the CIA's excesses, if any, and its legitimate, necessary role in our national security.

The Sun, Lowell, Mass.
Although some criticism has already been aired about the fact that some of the panel members have at one time or another dealt with the CIA on a professional basis, they are nonetheless responsible officials and, in the handling of an investigation of this type, this is what is important. Because of the nature of the agency's activities, certain of its operations must remain secret.
The panel the President has named can be expected to honor this need for secrecy, while at the same time being honest and fair in its investigation of any wrongdoing and heading off a full-blown scandal.

While the contents of the report President Ford was given on charges that the CIA spied on U.S. citizens were not made public, the fact that Mr. Ford has named a commission to investigate the CIA indicates that there is substance in the allegations. Some danger is inevitable in the tremendous power and secrecy in which the CIA must operate in order to carry out its job. If the American public is being spied upon instead of being the beneficiary of foreign intelligence, the CIA is not carrying out its proper role or even obeying the law. The choice of Vice President Nelson Rockefeller to head the eight-member commission is a good one.

Another barking issue could give a pictorial report of Gov. Meskill's $50,000 out of state ski lodge. This example of Gov. Meskill's frugal and austere living versus Gov. Grasso's spend thrift living, will bring hope to the many people who now despair of owning their own home.

Chicago Tribune
Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., and some others are critical of the President's commission, as containing people too close to the CIA to give "the vigorous, adversary, critical analysis... we are supposed to get." This criticism is almost certainly unjustified, but everyone can welcome the fact that independent congressional investigations may be expected, also. What one investigation misses another one may get.
All this constitutes a serious and responsible response to allegations that CIA activity has gone out of bounds... The possibility that this secretive executive agency might be turned against an administration's domestic critics and opponents is chilling. The experience of all totalitarian regimes, both Communist and fascist, has been that secret operatives have victimized citizens of their own countries. Freedom must mean freedom to oppose them — legitimate ways without any degree of official harassment. President Ford's prompt appointment of a high-caliber investigating commission shows that he... seeks to uncover rather than cover up any past excesses. That is the best possible guarantee against any future excesses.

WINGS OF EVENING

What's the Difference?
When the World Council of Churches was formed in 1948 it spent the two weeks with a Dutch family in the suburbs of Amsterdam. Since then we have visited them a number of times and received them from members of their family and their friends. What a joy it has been!
During the recent holiday two Dutch girls were our guests. One, who is doing graduate work at Cornell, wanted to know the difference between the Presbyterian Church in Ithaca, which she has recently joined, and the United Church of Christ to which I belong. I told her that there is very little difference, and explained it in this way:
Church denominations are usually formed along these lines: Credoal (what the church believes), polity (how the church is organized), liturgical (how the church orders its worship), ethical (what the church says about moral conduct).
The only practical difference between the Presbyterians and U.C.C. is in the organization, the manner of government. The U.C.C. has a greater freedom in local church affairs, but that is not a fundamental difference that would affect the individual attending either church. In the USA people move from denomination-to-denomination much more freely than in Holland. I believe this is very good because there is such a strong movement here toward ecumenicity.
COCU Makes Progress
Have you heard of COCU? It stands for Council on Church Unity and has been in existence for 13 years. Recently it met in Cincinnati and those who had become discouraged about it were amazed at how much life it showed. Two hundred and fifty delegates from nine different bodies met for six days and came away confident of the importance of their task, and of the increasing power of the movement toward unity.
Within the machinery were members of the United Church of Christ, the Disciples, four Methodist groups and two Presbyterian churches. The goal is not just a merger of all these but a real qualitative improvement in all the branches. The General Secretary said: "I have a vision of a church, making no pretense of power or even influence, a church not holding it over its members, a church in which the wisdom, humility, long-suffering, dependence on God of the truly powerless make up the ligaments and muscles, the heart and soul."
He went on to give a startling statistic. Since the United Church of Canada was formed in 1925, sixty-three church unions have been accomplished and not one has dissolved. This is powerful medicine for our separatism, and a bitter pill for those who had hoped for the demise of the ecumenical movement.
No Thought for Tomorrow?
One of the misleading translations of Matthew 6:34 in the older version of the Bible is: "Take no thought for the morrow." Jesus never meant this. He was in favor of foresight. He warned against the man who started to build a house and the king who declared war, each before he was well prepared.
When the king James' version was written in 1611 the word "thought" was frequently featured on the "700 Club" television program on Channel 18. Last summer, he was leader of a group of 30 young people on an missionaryary trip to France and Quebec. He also has made two missionary tours in Alaska.
Being a recognized gospel singer, he has produced over 50 Christian music albums for many outstanding recording artists.

standard deduction of 15 percent of income, to a maximum of $2,000, is granted. It could be the perfect tax form for an unmarried person or a married person with a minimum of deductions. Married couples may file a joint return on 1040A. But for persons with high interest payments on a mortgage, real estate taxes or excessive medical expenses, use of this form could cost them additional taxes. There is the distinct possibility that the use of the more complicated Form 1040, on which they can claim full credit for all their deductions, will reduce their tax bill or create a larger refund.

Persons who have a sick pay exclusion, employer business expenses, deductible moving expenses, are denied these benefits if they use Form 1040A. In addition, it is impossible to claim a retirement income credit or take advantage of income averaging if Form 1040A is used.

The 29-member Community Development Advisory Committee learned this week that its recommendation for spending federal block grants may be meaningless, because the committee's priority list was changed by Town Manager Robert Weiss.
The Manchester Housing Authority asked the town to set aside up to $250,000 in the community development block grants for land it needs for immediate and long-range elderly housing construction. The advisory committee will conduct a public hearing Monday at 7:30 p.m. at Nathan Hale School on its priority list and housing assistance plan. The housing authority will hear public comments at 7:30 Wednesday night, at 24 Bluefield Dr., on its plans for a 40-unit housing project.

Middle of Road
Town Manager Weiss said this week he's taking a "middle of the road" position on plans for Manchester to join with three other towns in formation of a Regional Health District. Advantages and disadvantages of the plan — which also involves Bolton, South Windsor, and Tolland appear equal.
New Hope Manor, the financially ailing rehabilitation center for senior citizens has been awarded a $1,500 grant from the Elizabeth Cady Foundation, to pay operating expenses. A number of fundraising events have been planned to help New Hope.
Crossroads, Manchester's counseling and drug information center at 33 Park St., will sponsor a series of open houses starting tomorrow and ending Friday.

Manchester Week in Review

Inaugural, Civic Center Overshadowed Local News
It was a relatively quiet five days in Manchester this week, with events in Hartford overshadowing local news. First there was the seating of a new legislature at the State Capitol and then there was the opening of the $70 million Hartford Civic Center.
Manchester, obviously, was well represented in the first event, and area residents also participated in the second. Among legislators sworn in Wednesday at the Capitol were six persons representing Manchester and five representing Manchester area residents also sworn in Wednesday were House Clerk Paul Grobrot of Manchester and Deputy Secretary of the State Harry Hammer of Vernon.
Several Manchester church choirs participated in an Interfaith Service Thursday marking the opening of the Civic Center. Manchester area residents also played key roles in several of the Civic Center grand opening operations.

Town Projects
Progress was made or plans announced this week on several Town of Manchester construction projects.
Renovations at Bennett Junior High School's Franklin Building was said to be ahead of schedule. Renovations at Bennett's Main Building were finished in December. The work is part of a $5.6 million project approved by voters in November 1972.
Developments were also seen in two other projects approved by voters in November 1972. The state Board of Education approved a $1.4 million grant to Manchester for a Regional Occupational Training Center, and the town's option to purchase the Manchester Water Co. for $2.5 million was extended until June 3.
It was learned that the town Board of Education and Recreation Department are cooperating on plans to improve recreational facilities at Washington School and the West Side Rec. A proposal problems began just over a year ago, when the firm was forced to lay off up to 100 employees because of difficulties in getting raw materials.
The raw material for Kage Co. is plastic, which became in short supply because it's made from petrochemicals derived from crude oil.
Although prices are sky-high, plastics are now available, Gerstein said. But the company faces other problems.
A year ago, Kage Co. was the only manufacturer of plastic novelty decorations in the United States, Gerstein said. But in the last year, competition sprung up in at least three plants throughout the country. There's also stiff competition from overseas, Gerstein said.
"We had problems a year ago," Gerstein said, "and now we have more problems."
"All the economic indicators

Moses Rules Bid By O'Brien Kicked
Assistant Town Councilman Victor Moses has ruled that the bid submitted Wednesday by T.B. Construction Co. of Manchester for installing a storm drainage system in Wells St. is legal.
O'Brien submitted the apparent low bid. His price of $14,888 was the lowest of 16 submitted and about $2,600 less than the next lowest.
A ruling was sought from Moses because O'Brien submitted a certified check equal to 10 percent of his bid price. The specs asked for a bid bond, a procedure required by the town for all bids over $10,000.
Moses based his opinion on Paragraph 13 of Standard Instructions to Bidders — used by the town in all its specs.
Paragraph 13 reserves to the town the right to reject any and all bids, to waive technical defects and to make such awards as it deems in its sole discretion to be in the best interests of the town. Moses said all apply.

Tech Tops Saints In Cold Shootout

By Len Auster

Both clubs were colder than Antarctica shooting from the floor. But hotter than a pistol was rebounding Tom Foran in leading Cheney Tech to a 62-50 triumph over St. Thomas Seminary last night at the Beavers' gym.

Foran, 6-1 senior forward, dazzled the crowd with 40 75 shots from the floor while the Saints were connected, 24 for 75. But many times when the Beavers misfired either Foran or Vinkinez would latch onto the offensive carom and convert it into a score.

Both clubs seemed jittery in the opening stanza with Foran tallying 18 points to follow Mark Vinkinez' team-high 21 markers. "There is no doubt about it, Jake (Foran) was the difference. He was superb," Cheney Coach Gerry Blanchard exclaimed. The victory was a most satisfying one for the mustached Blanchard, who a year ago coached at Seminary.

Also cited by Blanchard was 6-0 junior Jim Kurlowicz, who played despite a sprained ankle. With the ankle heavily wrapped, Kurlowicz scored just four points but had 12 important caroms along with playing his usual fine defensive game.

"I'm happy with our performance," Blanchard sighed. "We looked like we were just getting the season started. We didn't execute properly. Just some fine individual efforts won it for us."

Cheney connected on 26 of 75 shots from the floor while the Saints were connected, 24 for 75. But many times when the Beavers misfired either Foran or Vinkinez would latch onto the offensive carom and convert it into a score.

Impressive Except Main Event Thursday night's official opening ceremonies at the Civic Center were carried out to the letter until it became time for the main event — the appearance of Glen Campbell.

VIP's Singled Out But... As expected, many VIP's were singled out and marched down the center aisle, and some of the important men were overlooked, except for Master of Ceremonies Bill Hanson's kind and thoughtful work.

National Football Conference The Vikings, who will lose in Super Bowls IV and VIII still vividly etched in their memories, were founded only 14 years ago but are only the second team, along with Miami, to have appeared in three Super Bowl games.

Sparks Tourney Win

By Earl Yost

Joe Whelton

Elated with a 76-60 triumph that vaulted his UConn basketball team into tonight's finals of the UConn Classic at Storrs, Coach Dave Rowe could not say enough about his charges, particularly Joe Whelton.

With 3,844 fans looking on, Whelton did his thing best — in the offense. "Whelton hasn't played a bad game yet," Rowe said, adding, "and I don't think he will. He has a lot of jewels and he's so confident that he can't possibly play a bad game."

Whelton almost didn't suit up. He injured an ankle in practice, had a feared hairline fracture was feared but X-rays proved negative. "If broken, he would have been out four weeks," Rowe said. "I wish that I could enjoy this win a few days especially after our (subpar) performance against New Hampshire. Carolina is tough and they are big. I think we have four pretty evenly matched teams," he continued. No one could disagree as both games last night were not decided until the final minutes.

TED TRUDON IS MOONLIGHTING. Many people can't get to work on their report sheet during the day, so starting January 6th we will be staying overnight. Call and make an appointment. We will be able to work on your VW Monday through Friday until 12:00 A.M. And we'll be there every evening just in case you need a spare part or a brake job or a tune-up. Anyone will work on your VW during the day. (Only if you don't mind Volkswagen will work at our convenience.) That's Ted Trudon.

Battle for Rebound Won by Tribe's John Koepsel

With both teams opening with pressing zone defenses, sloppiness and carelessness were the main ingredients in the first half. Windham was penetrating the Indians' defense but missed easy layups. Manchester, however, was effectively shut off by Windham's zone, scoring just eight points in the first quarter.

Keeping up the same fast moving pace in the second period, Windham rolled its lead to 20-20 minutes into the second. Picking at weak spots in the Tribe defense, Windham's lead never went below seven points throughout the half. Manchester tried to slow down but didn't get enough offensive rebounds to get more than one shot. The Whippets went into the lockerroom with a 29-22 lead.

Manchester in the second half looked like a different team. Their newly gained poise was evident from the top. After trading pairs of baskets, the locals rattled off four straight buckets to take a one point lead five minutes into the second half. On the ensuing play, Ray Sullivan was apparently tripped driving to the hoop. The injury, which proved to be a twisted knee, didn't seem to bother Sullivan as he went back in the fourth quarter but at that juncture was replaced.

John Pisch replaced Sullivan and playing with a lot of poise controlled the Indians' offense. Manchester led going into the final period, 40-37. The Indians were riding

Judge Reduces Murder Case Bonds

HARTFORD (UPI) — A judge Friday barred the public from hearings in which he reduced from $500,000 to $200,000 the bonds for two men charged with the robbery slayings of six persons in New Britain.

The suspects, Ronald Piskorski, 25, and Gary B. Schrager, 31, both of New Britain, have been held since November in the execution style murders that occurred during a robbery Oct. 19 in the Donna Lee Bakery.

Superior Court Judge David M. Shea closed the courtroom to the public after the request was made by Schrager's attorney, F. Mac Buckley, a former assistant U.S. attorney and unsuccessful Republican congressional candidate last November.

Shea said he agreed to the reduction in bond because he felt the original bond was too high, in view of the suspects' local background. The judge said he granted Buckley's request to close the proceedings because they would only add to prejudicial pretrial publicity.

The two men were arrested after one of the most intensive manhunt in Connecticut police history. Following their arrest on murder charges, a superior court order was issued barring all authorities and officials connected with the case to publicly comment on it.

Piskorski's public defender, A. Arthur Giddon, made no objection to the request by Buckley, who may possibly seek a change of venue or claim no fair trial is possible because of massive publicity in the case.

The two suspects have been held at the state prison in Somers and despite the reduced bond it was expected they will remain behind bars until grand jury hearings next month in which the state is expected to seek six charges of murder against each man.

Missing

This girl, Lori Jean Shea, has been missing from her Coventry home and is being sought by her father, Joseph Shea. When last seen she was wearing a blue leather jacket with zipper closings, bleached jeans, and work boots. She is 15 years old, weighs 110 pounds, and has light brown hair. Her father, who is concerned about her welfare, asks that anyone who has information about her phone him at 742-9495 in Coventry.

Two-Way Runs Set For Commuter Bus

The Burr Corners-to-downtown Hartford commuter express buses—which are empty on half of the runs—will soon have passengers riding both ways.

The Manchester-based commuter route is one of several express runs scheduled to start "reverse service" Monday.

Buses leave Burr Corners weekdays from 7 to 9 a.m., carrying commuters to Hartford. The buses are empty on the morning return trips to Manchester, and starting Monday, the state transportation department—which subsidizes the service—will promote the buses for Hartford residents who travel to Manchester.

The opposite is true of afternoon express buses, which are empty on the Manchester-to-Hartford run after commuters return to Burr Corners between 4 and 6 p.m.

State Transportation Commissioner Joseph Burns, in announcing the "reverse service," said the purpose of the plan is to make better use of the buses.

One-way fare on the express route is 50 cents. Monthly commuter passes are available for $17.

Corrections Made At Sewage Plant

Last February, the state Department of Labor made a courtesy inspection of Manchester's sewage treatment facilities and cited 77 violations under OSHA (Occupational Safety and Health Act) regulations.

Frank Jodaitis, Manchester's water and sewer administrator, reported this week his department has corrected 30 violations to date.

He estimated the remaining violations would cost $46,175 to correct. In addition, he recommended installation of an emergency power unit at the Primary Sewage Treatment Plant—a deficiency not cited as an OSHA violation.

Jodaitis' $46,175 estimate consists of $35,245 for the Primary Treatment Plant, $7,430 for the Secondary Treatment Plant, and $3,500 for the sewer department in general. He hasn't estimated the cost of an emergency power unit.

Jodaitis wrote in a memo given the Board of Directors, "We have attempted to correct as many items as time, materials and funds allowed during the past year. The items which we have deferred are violations which require major expenditures, professional consulting services or contractual work."

"We believe that some of the corrections can be converted into beneficial assets for both the water and sewer departments. Common violations and shortcomings exist in both department—deficiencies in chemical storage facilities, for example."

Learning to Talk with Your Hands

How Deaf Children Learn

Most children who are deaf go to special schools.

With their eyes, they lip-read and see finger spelling, gestures and sign language.

With their hands, they learn to send and write messages. Sometimes they spell out a word using the hand alphabet. At other times they use one signal to stand for a word.

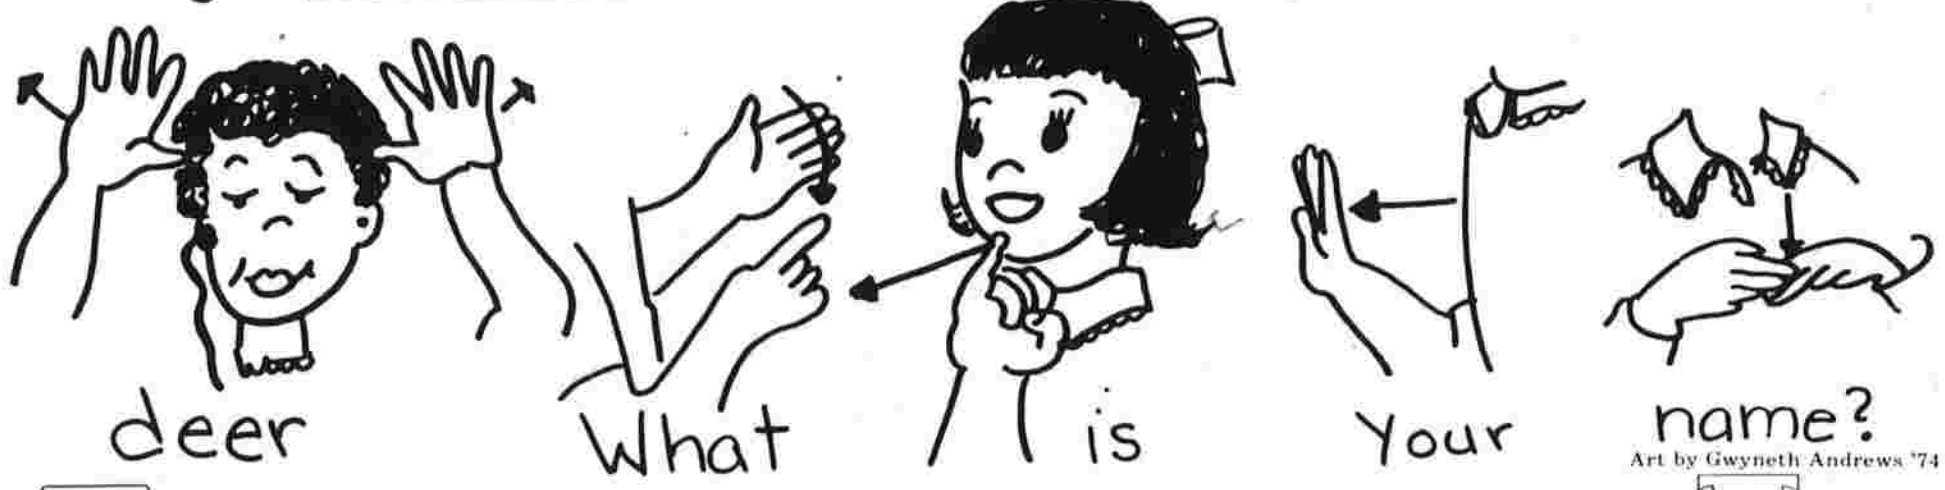

With the help of hearing aids, they learn to make the best use of the hearing they do have.

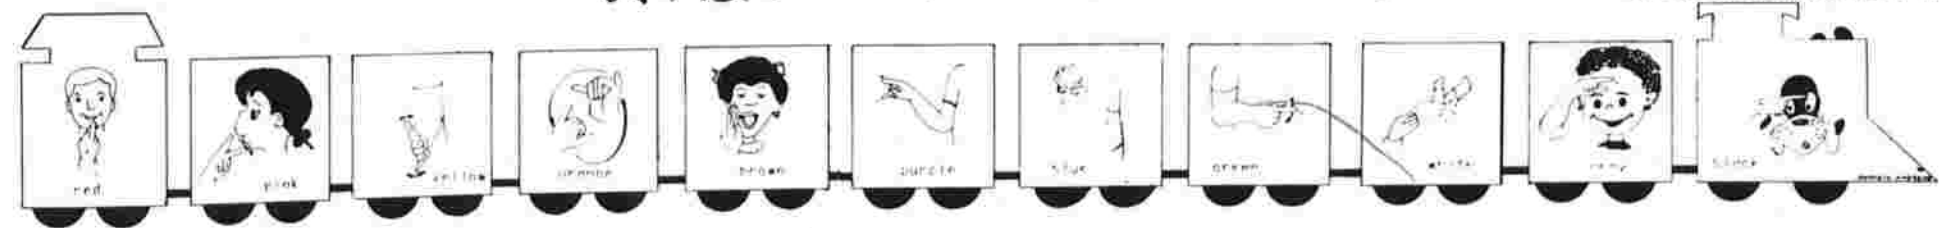

Since they cannot hear, they have to be specially trained to make and hear sounds. They very carefully watch lip movements and receive special speech training.

Using the hand alphabet, this is how you make the letter "F".

The Care of Hearing

Using a machine called an audiometer, a public health nurse checks a child's hearing. He moves his hand everytime he hears a "beep."

1. Have regular hearing examinations.
2. Never put anything smaller than your elbow in your ear.
3. If you have an earache, go to see the doctor right away.
4. Swimmers should be especially careful to clean out their ears properly after getting out of the water. Never swim if you have a cold.
5. If you grow up to play in a rock band, be certain to have your ears tested regularly. Don't stay too close to the amplifiers.
6. Wear protective earmuffs if they are required on a job.

Super Sport: Chris Hanburger

Most experts thought Chris Hanburger was too small to play professional football. But today the Washington Redskin veteran is considered one of the best linebackers in the game. Chris has been selected to play in six Pro Bowl games. In 1972 he was chosen National Conference Defensive Player of the Year.

Chris is six-feet, two inches tall and weighs 218 pounds. Before joining the Redskins in 1964, Hanburger was a star at the University of North Carolina. Chris is married and has three children. In the off-season he works for an auto dealer in Falls Church, Va.

Why did the crook drive away from the robbery in a laundry truck?
 So he could make a clean get away.

Books for Deaf Children

Special books in "Signed English" help parents and teachers communicate with deaf children. Children learn by signs. They also learn by reading lips. The most noticeable shape of the first lip movement of each word is shown in a face above the sign.

About Wearing a Hearing Aid

The Mini Page asked Jane Matuszak, now in her 20's, what it is like to wear a hearing aid. She has been wearing one since she was three years old.

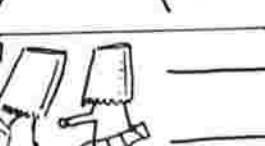

"I can set the volume control so that sounds or words come to me more clearly. I can identify them. But my hearing aid is not magic. It will not help me hear the singing of birds or the wind softly blowing through treetops. It will not damage my natural hearing ability.

Best of all, when I am working and do not want to be bothered by noises, I can turn it 'off' without telling anyone."
