Vandalism at School Costs Thousands

Vandalism made big news in Manchester this week when custodians at Highland Park School discovered several thousand dollars worth of damages done Tuesday night.

School system workers struggled to get the school back in shape for re-opening Monday, while classes were out this week on mid-winter vacation.

Among vandalism reported at the school were smashed windows, destroyed audio-visual equipment and ransacked classrooms and offices. There were signs of attempts to start fires which weren't successful.

The following day, school officials reported a burglary at a Manchester High School maintenance garage. Stolen goods and vandalism there resulted in a loss of nearly $300, Manchester police are investigating the cases.

Money Matters Town Manager Robert Weiss, speaking at the Wednesday night annual meeting of the Manchester Property Owners Association, said the formula he used to project a probable tax increase is still valid.

Weiss, preparing to start budgeting for the 1975-1976 fiscal year, wouldn't repeat his December prediction that Manchester's tax rate would go up by as much as nine mills.

Neither did he disclaim the prediction.

The controversy over the driveway at Lincoln Center Gibbons, who were conducting a surveillance at the scene, placed Raub and Hopkins under arrest.

The man entered about a minute later, police said, and kept his back to Bechen as the latter pulled the woman's order for a bag.

Bechen, in a statement to police, said he did as he was told.

OPINION

Bottom Line

Town Director Phyllis Jackston made a statement the other night which transcended the partisan nature of the debate in which she was engaged. It concerned a Republican-sponsored resolution urging Democrat Gov. Ella Grasso to fulfill a campaign promise to pass through the municipalities about $25 million in revenue sharing funds.

Mrs. Jackston, a Democrat, said: "The answer is not in asking the state to subsidize our increased costs so that local taxes might not truly reflect the expenditures which are a part of our ever increasing budgets; the answer truly lies in holding the bottom expense line."

As she pointed out, the town faces the hard task of developing a budget within the town's means of support.

While not specifically saying so, she has pointed the finger on what might be termed a modern public administration's alternative to management. Instead of managing, or as Mrs. Grasso likes to put it, "cutting the pattern to fit the cloth," our public administrators play the game of grantmanship.

School administrators seek state and federal grants for all kinds of projects, some of which are fully funded but many of which the town must match funds.

Town managers, under pressure from their selection or directors, regardless of party, are constantly looking for federal and state funds to "help hold the line on property taxes." Here too, many projects start out fully funded by state or federal sources but many require some matching funds or seed money.

Too often forgotten is that inevitably most of the programs lose their outside funding. Those special school programs, if they are to be kept, must be fully funded out of local revenue. The streets and roads built with matching funds become a full-cost maintenance responsibility of the town, etc.

As long as administrators are successful in getting grants, we will, as Mrs. Jackston said, continue "asking the state (and federal government) to subsidize our increased costs."

But it appears that perhaps this grantmanship game may be nearing an end.

Just as Mrs. Grasso has found that the state has limited resources, the federal government is finding itself faced with a similar limitation.

Mrs. Jackston's question really becomes this:

Wouldn't it be best in the long run if Manchester realizes, as a fiscal fact of life, that it must begin managing its public business within the limits of what it can support and definitely count on in the form of existing state and federal aid?

No longer can its administration be oriented toward outside assistance which may or may not become available and if it does may or may not be permanent.

After all home rule, if it is to be meaningful, must be based on fiscal independence.

The answer is truly in "holding the bottom expense line."

The question is whether partisanship can be subdued to the point where bottom line decisions can be made at budget time.

Mrs. Jackston has laid it on the line for town directors. What she has said transcends partisan politics. For better or worse, until the economic climate improves materially, Manchester and the other cities and towns in Connecticut must accept the fact they will be on their own for some time.

They can either cut expenses or raise mill levies.

Neither action is easy but it appears that neither action can be avoided.

Postal Services Need A Review

If Postmaster General Benjamin Haller is given his request, the price of postage stamp will rise to 15 cents later this year and to 16 cents by 1977.

The Postal Service says costs will continue to escalate and the increases are needed to meet them.

The Postal Service is a unique institution in this country. It has always been run directly or indirectly by the government, and at a loss.

We have had long debates about it becoming self-supporting as opposed to the taxpayer assuming part of the cost as a legitimate toward promotion of knowledge and freedom through the mail.

And there are continuing debates as to the caliber of service we should have.

It is in this latter area that represent the more vocal criticisms today as it is only natural, we expect, for mail patrons to expect as good or better service after each postage increase.

The choice we are faced with in the delivering of mail appears to be one of striking a workable compromise between a certain level of service, a certain acceptable subsidy, and a rate structure to make up the balance.

Congress can resolve the subsidy issue and review it periodically.

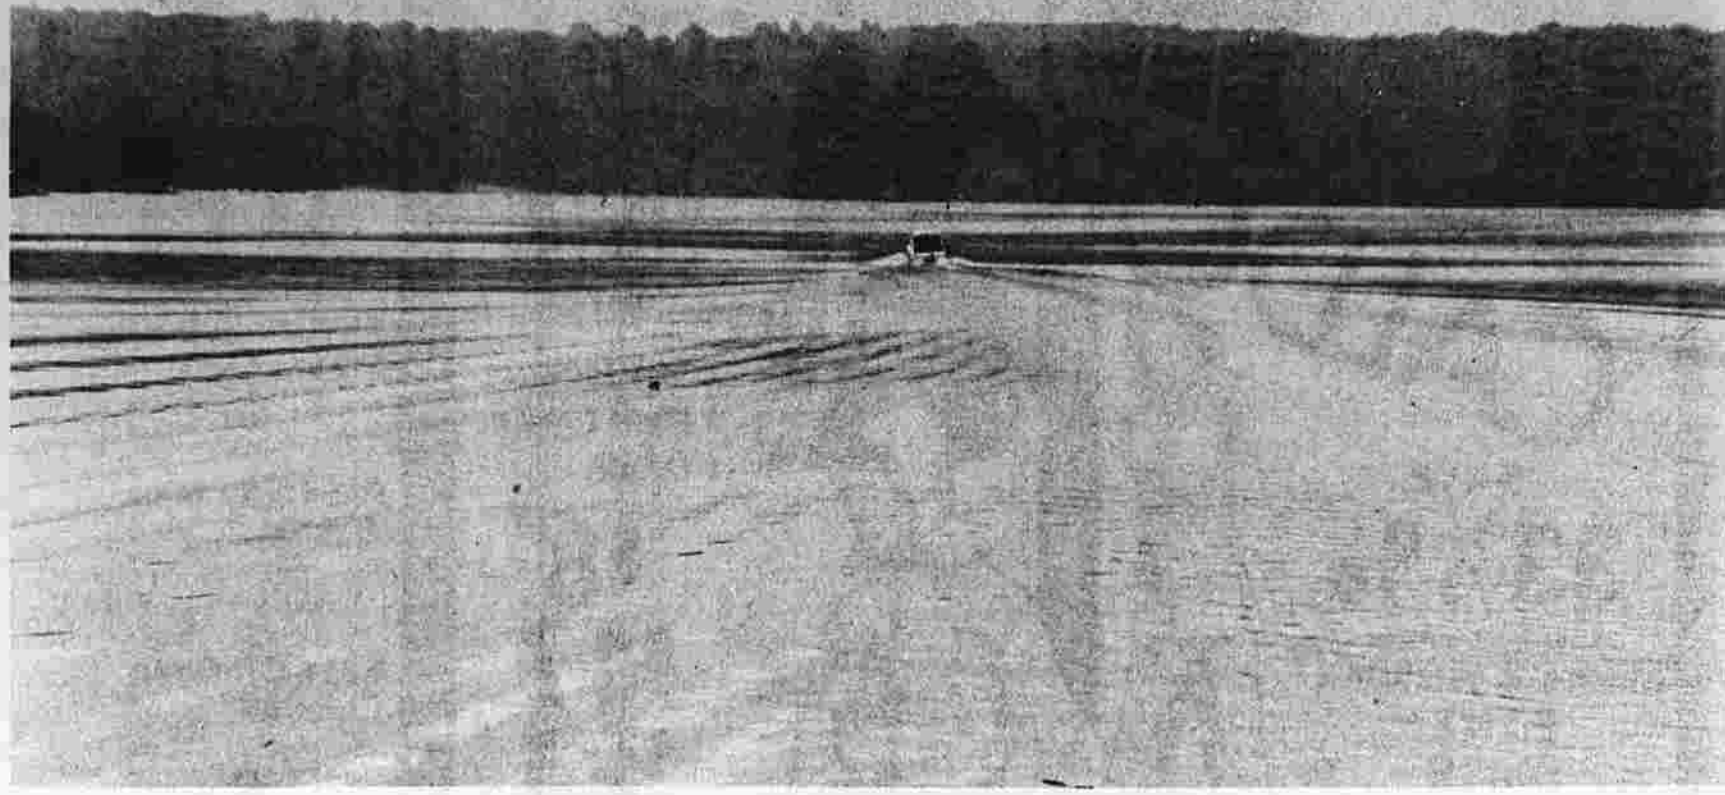

The patrons, however, are the ones who must assess and decide and then be prepared to pay for the service level of the Postal Service.

For example, to what extent can a 15- or 16-cent first class stamp cost be delayed or averted by eliminating Saturday mail deliveries to residences?

For that matter, is daily residential mail delivery really necessary in this day and age when most of us use the telephone for urgent communication?

Now we are not advocating any change in delivery of the mail at this point. However, we do think in the light of the fact that costs have increased from 5 to 10 cents since 1963, an objective look at the postal services we are now getting as opposed to truly essential services would not be out of order.

As we see it, we are near the point where some conveniences of our postal system are costing more than they are worth. Perhaps by some judicious pruning we might improve basic service and keep the cost down as well.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

MAX LERNER

Third World Case History

OCHO RIOS, Jamaica — As a visitor to Jamaica for many years, observing the island with a warm empathy but without any party bias, I feel it offers an important case history of a Third World democracy under difficult conditions.

In a talk with Prime Minister Michael Manley, described in an earlier piece, I volunteered what my big worries would be if I were in his place — managerial skills, crime and alienation among the young and the work ethic. "I worry desperately about them all," he said. His forceful answers to each give me a chance for some added reflections of my own.

It was poignant about the first. "If I died tomorrow," he said, "you would find 'managerial skills' written on my heart." This is the problem of most Third World nations, with skilled managers leaving because of fear of government policies and with the difficulties of educating and training replacements for them. In education for such skills, Manley says, "You have to choose between the 'altar of elitism' and the policy of giving marginal groups an honorable place in the new scheme of things." Yet I wonder whether the price being paid for a quick independence from the past hold of the West may not be a very high price. A wise policy would count on a long transition period and would meanwhile maintain close relations with the technological and training resources of advanced countries.

On crime, Manley spoke of "pulling down the Victorian prison system, gambling heavily on the rehabilitation of prisoners," and dealing with the poverty roots of crime while trying to change the ideological climate in order to get at the problem of alienated youth. In principle, it is a good approach. But I felt that getting at it through stronger work and achievement incentive might prove more effective.

This leads, of course, to my third worry, about the work ethic. The prime minister spoke of his efforts to heighten the symbolism of work by a national youth service and by the project of three days' work for the community, in which he had set a personal example.

Yet the problems of the work ethic go deeper. Like other Third World nations, Jamaica is cruelly caught between pitifully low past daily wages and task rates and the young militants but are not reflected among the people themselves.

The United States has shown that it can live with socialist patterns, whether among small nations or large. The Chinese are more friendly both to the United States and to Europe than many Third World nations. Israel is more socialist than either India or Jamaica, yet its ties to the West are strong. It is hard enough for small, struggling nations to resolve their pressing problems without adding to them by building defensive walls against the West.

It is good to see the two-party conflict continuing in Jamaica. One must welcome the choice of a hard-thinking leader like Edward Seaga as head of the opposition, the Jamaica Labor Party. I look for the emergence of a new realism both in socialist-pattern and capitalist-pattern countries, important as that is. They offer dependence where possible and recognize mutual dependence where necessary. The world frame in the next quarter-century will be a cartel frame for raw-material producers, but this will not in itself insure their salvation. Technologies shift, as world markets do. What doesn't change is the need for freedom, skills, leadership realism, decent living standards, hard work and authentic values.

Police said they found about $15,000 worth of clothes in the Woods car, apparently taken from the Wayside Clothes Store.

The brothers were charged with carrying a weapon, a knife, in a motor vehicle, third degree burglary and first degree larceny. Kenneth Woods, who police said was driving the car, was also charged with reckless driving, running a red light, misuse of license plates, failure to obey a police officer and driving with a suspended license.

When Foley is not resolving the complex claims of farm spokesmen, he will have to deal with an increasingly vocal group that pressures consumer issues. Peter A. Peyer, a New York Republican, joined the committee in 1974, proclaimed himself its only consumer advocate and fought Poage on bills to subsidize sugar and rice and indemnify chicken farmers from disaster. He said all of them wanted the consumer's money.

This year Peyer will have allies on the committee. But Foley is optimistic about avoiding conflict. "I've never been sympathetic," he said, "to the teeter-totter game of Newington, Conn., a machinist, said Sunday they encountered intense heat and reluctance by the boarders to obey a police officer and driving with a suspended license."

"They'd grab for a radio, drop it, reach under the bed, grab something else," Daleh said. "Finally I'd just have to pull them out of there. That's all they have, a room with all their valuables in it."

"They didn't want to leave their possessions, I guess," Lieber said.

Even Poage admits that he would have had credibility problems if he had stayed on. "I think Mr. Foley will do a better job of it than I could possibly do," Poage said. "He'll have more cooperation than I could possibly have received."

what drives movements like Manley's — pride of color, pride of nation, pride of having one's own governing class. Manley speaks sharply about extreme leftists like Trevor Monroe who — as he put it — are "both racist and Leninist," while he is himself neither.

But one senses in Manley a lingering fear and dislike of the West, especially of the United States, which may please some of the young militants but are not reflected among the people themselves.

The United States has shown that it can live with socialist patterns, whether among small nations or large. Justice Department to Review Lease Report

HARTFORD (UPI) — The first steps of what could become a federal investigation of state leasing practices were taken today by U.S. Attorney Peter Dorsey. Dorsey said Sunday he planned to ask the legislative subcommittee investigating state leasing practices for a copy of its final report made public Feb. 15.

If a reading of the report convinces him an investigation is needed, Dorsey said he would personally direct it.

He told UPI Saturday his knowledge of the subject was from news accounts which, he said, gave no indication federal involvement was called for.

"If there is a suggestion that there had been a number of improprieties — bribery or extortion, threats by government officials looking for payoffs — we will investigate," he said. "But there has been nothing to suggest that."

There could very well be matters here in the federal jurisdiction. It depends on what the report shows and what the state does," he said.

He told UPI Saturday his knowledge of the subject was from news accounts which, he said, gave no indication federal involvement was called for.

Chase Ends With Crash Of Five Cars

MILFORD (UPI) — Two Bridgport brothers were arraigned today after leading police on a high-speed chase that ended in a five-car crash and five disabled police cruisers.

One of the suspects, Sherman Woods, 28, was reported in fair condition at Milford Hospital Sunday suffering from injuries he received in the final crash. Woods and his brother James, 24, were held on $25,000 bond each.

Authorities said the chase began at 12:28 a.m. when a white sedan was spotted on the Connecticut Turnpike facing the description given of a vehicle wanted in connection with a clothing store burglary late Friday.

Four Milford police cruisers chased the car. It hit the turnpike and entered the east-bound lanes of the Connecticut Post Road. An Orange police cruiser joined the chase when the car crossed into that town.

Milford patrolman Thomas DeMatteo tried to pass the suspect's vehicle on the right side, but was forced off the road, rolling over and crashing into the Demos Contemporary Furniture store. DeMatteo was not injured but his car was wrecked.

Another Milford cruiser blew its engine as it raced at 90 miles per hour.

The chase ended at the Orange Center Road intersection in Orange, where the suspects tried to turn left but piled head on into another vehicle driven by Glenn Miricola, 18, of Orange.

Two Milford cruisers then crashed into the suspects' car, pinning its doors shut, and Sgt. William Schultz shot at its rear tires to disable it. An Orange policeman was unable to stop in time and crashed into one of the Milford cruisers.

A Milford policeman and Miricola, who car was totally wrecked along with the suspect's vehicle, were treated and released at Yale-New Haven Hospital for minor injuries.

Police said they found about $15,000 worth of clothes in the Woods car, apparently taken from the Wayside Clothes Store.

The brothers were charged with carrying a weapon, a knife, in a motor vehicle, third degree burglary and first degree larceny. Kenneth Woods, who police said was driving the car, was also charged with reckless driving, running a red light, misuse of license plates, failure to obey a police officer and driving with a suspended license.

Senior Citizens Plan Busy Day

BOLTON
Donna Holland
Correspondent
646-0375

The Bolton Senior Citizens have a very active meeting planned for Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. at the Town Hall.

The meeting will begin with entertainment provided by the instrumental group of Bolton Center School under the direction of Edward DiFranzo, music director.

After being entertained the seniors will conduct their regular monthly business meeting that will be followed by speaker Jeannette Guerra, manager of the hot lunch program at Bolton Elementary School and Bolton Center School.

Mrs. Guerra will speak on having a hot lunch program for the senior citizens. If the seniors show enough interest she plans to prepare hot lunches for them immediately following the students' lunch hour. The lunches will be served in the school cafeteria.

Following the speaker there will be a Valentine's party sponsored by the Bolton Junior Woman's Club public affairs committee. Hostesses will be Pat Noren and Bonnie Legg. There will be card playing after the party.

Luginbuhl Named Rotary Citizen

VERNON
BARBARA RICHMOND
Glenn Luginbuhl, a Tolland farmer, was named the Rockville Rotary Club's 19th "Citizen of the Year" at a dinner Saturday at The Colony in Talcottville.

Luginbuhl is a partner with his father, Urban Luginbuhl on the family farm. He was nominated for the award by the Tolland Farm Bureau of which he is an active member.

The plaque was presented to Luginbuhl, who is one of the youngest persons to receive the award, by A. Richard Lombardi, chairman of the Rotary selection committee.

Lombardi said Luginbuhl was chosen from among many nominees and his selection was not made lightly. He said, "We think it is entirely appropriate to present this award this year to a member of the farming community. For all too long the contributions of this segment of our society have been overlooked and taken very much for granted."

Lombardi added, "We think it particularly noteworthy that Glenn, as a young man, has chosen to follow the life of a farmer, even though during the past decades many of the young people in the farm community have chosen to follow more lucrative and perhaps more adventuresome and less demanding employment in other fields."

Luginbuhl has served as chairman of the Young Farmers Committee of Tolland County for three years and has also served on the state committee and is presently serving on the national committee of Young Farmers as well as presently serving a two-year term on the National Young Farmers and Ranchers Committee of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

As a member of Yankee Milk, Inc. he represented Connecticut at the National Milk Producers Federation for a two-year term and is a past president of the young corporators division of Yankee Milk.

He is a member of the Tolland County Dairy Herd Improvement Association.

Luginbuhl has been active in agricultural circles since the age of nine when he joined a local 4-H club and subsequently served as a leader for nine years. Over the years he has served as an adviser of the 4-H Fair Association and as a director of the Extension Council.

Lombardi said Luginbuhl exemplifies the qualities of achievement, leadership and service and has contributed to the betterment of the community, prerequisites to being named a "Rotary Citizen."

Luginbuhl is married to the former Marietta Brissette of Manchester. The couple has two children, Todd, 8, and Lisa, 7.

Jack Grant was master of ceremonies and he told Rotarians and guests that, besides celebrating the annual award presentation, that they were also celebrating the 70th birthday of Rotary. Rotary was formed in Chicago on Feb. 23, 1908, he said.

Grant, who at one time served as district governor of Rotary International, said the Rockville club was organized as the 38th of District 788 which is made up of about 56 clubs. It had 22 charter members and of that number three still

IT'S OUR POLICY

CONSULTANT
According to crime statistics, there are about two burglaries a minute every day of the year. How safe is your home?

First protection is good locks - and not just on the front door! Side and back doors, usually not visible from the street, are even more important.

A good lock is resistant to jimmieing or picking; the best have a double-locking deadbolt or dead latch which is locked separate from the outside with a key. Some even have semi-proof bolts for further protection.

Doors with glass panes (or with easy-to-break wooden panes) should be fitted with double cylinder locks that require a key on the inside as well as the outside. This will keep a burglar from breaking the window and just reaching in to open the door.

Nothing can stop an experienced burglar who really wants in - but most of us need protection against the more common thieves who burgle on the spur of the moment when they find a home that looks empty and easy to break into.

Dear Abby

He Can Only Bury First Wife Once

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a man who was a pallbearer at his first wife's funeral on his second wife's 14th wedding anniversary?

DEAR ABBY: Someone wrote asking whether one should wear pants UNDER pantyhose or OVER them, and you replied that pantyhose served as both panties and hosiery... so with nightly laundering panties were not necessary at all.

DEAR WIS: I consulted several top-notch gynecologists and dermatologists, and they all agreed with you! So the word from here is—play it safe, girls, and wear white cotton panties under your pantyhose, unless your pantyhose have cotton crotch.

DEAR ABBY: I smoke because I enjoy it. And I resent the way people are now trying to make smokers feel like second class citizens. I see "NO SMOKING" signs in places where they never were before.

Six Straight Wins for Jazz In Complete Turnabout

NEW YORK (UPI) — Countdown to the playoffs: Boston, Washington, Chicago and Golden State, all rolling along to division championships; battles going on in three of four divisions for second place; wild card berths up for grabs.

But where do the New Orleans Jazz think they're headed?

Everybody knows the Jazz, the expansion team with Pete Maravich and Little else, can't expect finishing in the cellar this year. That's where all expansion teams hang out.

But don't tell that to the folks in New Orleans, who are making a brave, if belated, attempt to make something good come out of a season that started so poorly.

Only two weeks ago, the Jazz were eating a bare seven victories against 45 losses, now they have a chance to play the spoiler in the NBA, if not actually overhaul Atlanta for fourth place in the Central Division.

Maravich was unstoppable again Sunday night as he scored 38 points to help beat the playoff-hungry Houston Rockets 108-99 and give the Jazz their sixth straight victory.

Combined with Cleveland's victory over Atlanta, Houston is now two games back in the loss column to the Cavaliers in the race for the second playoff spot in the Central Division and two games ahead of New York in the win column for the Eastern Conference wild card berth.

The Jazz's win string began with a victory at Houston Feb. 14. Two days later, they slapped a loss on Milwaukee, which may not make the playoffs for the first time since Kareem Abdul-Jabbar arrived, then knocked off Philadelphia, Portland and Phoenix, all of whom need every victory they can muster to make the playoffs.

Coming up on New Orleans' schedule this week, though, are Chicago, Buffalo, Kansas City-Omaha and Houston again. If the Jazz still haven't lost by this time next week, maybe they should be made honorary playoff participants.

Maravich scored 12 points in the final three minutes Sunday to lock up the Jazz' 14th victory. He made 18 points in the first half, connecting on five of his first six field goal attempts. Kevin Kunnert led the Rockets' scoring with 27 points, 13 of those in the first quarter.

Elsewhere, Washington whipped Portland 113-98. Cleveland beat Atlanta 111-105 in overtime, Philadelphia downed Seattle 114-100, Phoenix whipped Milwaukee 106-97 and Boston ripped Los Angeles 119-115.

Bullet 113, Blazers 99
Elvin Hayes and Phil Chenier scored 21 points apiece as Washington romped over Portland in a nationally televised game. The win, Washington's 18th straight at home, improved the Bullets' over-all record to 44-17, best in the league.

Portland, playing without injured center Bill Walton, who may be out for the season with bone spurs in his foot, suffered its fourth straight loss and is now 24-37 in the league since the season series to Washington, 3-1.

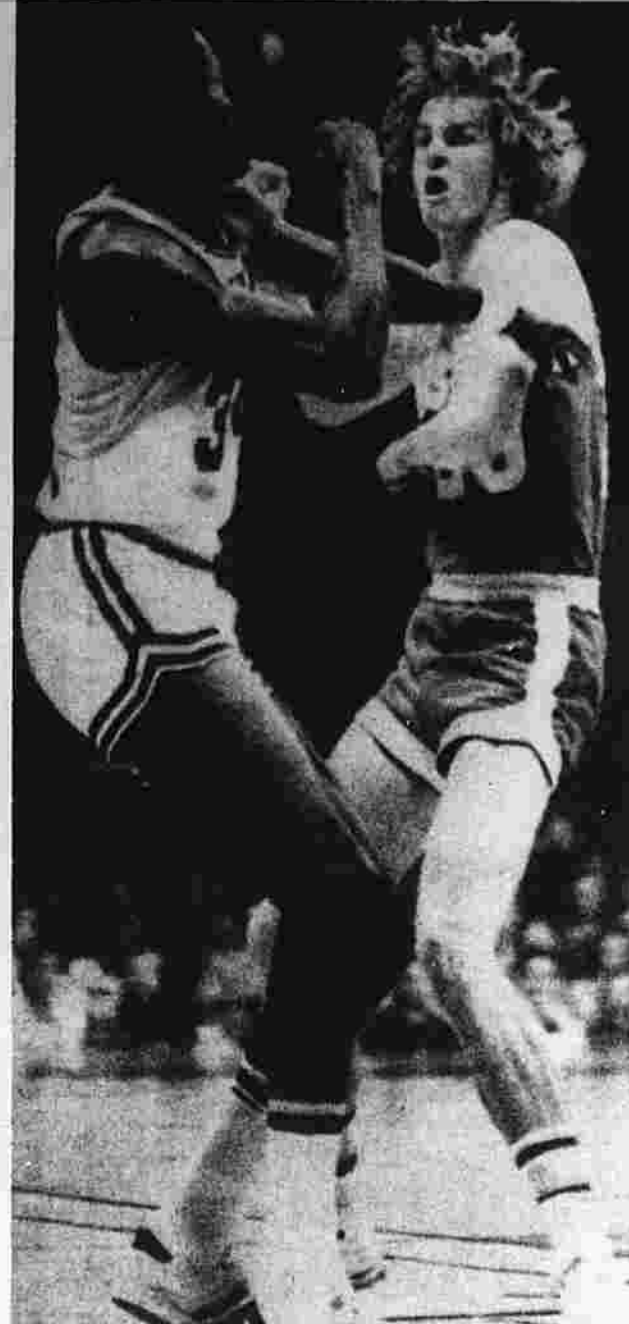

Cavs 111, Hawks 105
Rookie Foot Locker lost in a career-high 18 points, including six in the overtime period, to help Cleveland to its 52 victory of the season. The Cavs have now tied their best win mark set during the 1972-73 season.

Walker, who logged 46 minutes of action because starting guard Jimmy Clemons left the game in the first period after suffering a partial shoulder dislocation, also grabbed 12 rebounds, picked up 11 assists and had three steals.

7ers 114, Sonics 100
Fred Carter's 26 points, including an important three-point play with four minutes left, sparked Philadelphia. The victory snapped a three-game losing streak for the 7ers and ended Seattle's string of four consecutive wins.

Suns 106, Bucks 97
Balanced scoring by Phoenix offset three Milwaukee players who had 20 or more points. The Bucks led by as many as 11 in the first half but the Suns rallied in the second half. Kareem Abdul-Jabbar led all scorers with 28 but the Suns had six men in double figures, led by center Dennis Johnson with 24 points.

The loss cost Milwaukee a chance to gain a half-game on its three Midwest Division foes, who were idle, and the Bucks settled further into the cellar in the Midwest Division, with little hope of making the playoffs.

College Basketball Latest Win Costly For No. 1 Indiana

NEW YORK (UPI) — Indiana escaped the humiliations UCLA and North Carolina State suffered Saturday, but still may have been the biggest loser of the day.

While UCLA was being embarrassed by Washington and N.C. State was getting clobbered by Clemson, the undefeated Hoosiers were wrapping up the Big Ten tie. But, in the victory, Indiana forward Scott May broke his wrist and, consequently, will miss the NCAA tournament playoffs.

The loss of May could injure Indiana's hopes of invincibility and back to the rest of the college basketball pack as perhaps was indicated by the Hoosiers' narrow 83-82 triumph over Purdue Saturday.

"I don't know who will replace May," said Knight after the Hoosiers had won the Big Ten championship by the largest margin ever. "It will depend on the matchup for each game. We'll continue playing the rest of the schedule the same as before we won the conference."

However, the Hoosiers' best is untested as No. 1 Indiana has been something of an iron-man squad this season, at least until a game is safely out of reach. Swing man Bob Workman, a 6-7 junior, is a prime candidate to replace May in the starting lineup, although 6-7 Tom Abernethy could get the call.

Prior to May's injury, the Hoosiers had stood out as the only potentially superior college team this season's college season.

"That balance was shown in Saturday's storm of upsets, highlighted by the UCLA and N.C. State shellackings.

UCLA coach John Wooden called the loss "one of the poorest games we have played in many years."

N.C. State coach Norm Sloan had much the same to say following the fourth-ranked Wolfpack's 92-70 loss at Clemson, but he said in a slightly different manner. "We just got an old-fashioned funny kicking," Clemson's freshman

Matmen Advance

Three Manchester High wrestlers placed second in their respective divisions in the Regional Tournament last Saturday at Windham High. The three now advance to the State Class A Tournament Saturday at Glastonbury High.

Lee Snuffer, 11-1 during regular season matches and undefeated in the COIL, placed second in the 120-pound division. Bob Hawkes, 188-pound class, placed second losing a decision and Leon Thibodeau placed second in the unlimited division. Hawkes was 8-5-1 and Thibodeau 10-4 in the regular season recently completed.

If any Indian matmen place in the top three of the large school tournament, they will advance to the State Open Tournament, March 8, at Plainville High.

Rec Natators Claim Medals

In the 15-17 year old group, Karen McArdle took a silver medal in the 200-yard butterfly and Paige Johnson a bronze medal in the 200-yard butterfly. The 400-yard medley relay team of McArdle, Johnson, Leslie Scott and Patty Duffy took the gold medal with a 4:39.1 clocking.

Intriguing Battle For Last Place

NEW YORK (UPI) — With virtually all of the playoff berths firmly secured, the most intriguing race in the National Hockey League could develop for last place.

Only in Division 1, where Atlanta trails the New York Islanders by four points for third place, does there appear to be any promise of a battle down the stretch for a playoff position. Under the new setup, three teams from each of the four divisions will qualify for post-season play.

One of the six teams that certainly isn't going to make it to the playoffs is Kansas City, but the Scouts are dead-end on a mission of their own that is just as important—overtaking Minnesota for fourth place in Division 2.

The fledgling Scouts, dealt a shaky hand in last year's expansion draft, nevertheless are playing inspired hockey and on Sunday night they knocked off the North Stars, 4-2, to climb within four points of the disorganized Minnesota team in their bid for fourth place.

Robin Burns, who defies superstition and wears uniform No. 13, scored two goals and assisted on another as Kansas City caused the North Star management a further case of amnesia. Claude Houde, notching his first NHL goal, and Guy Charron also scored for the Scouts.

Minnesota now has lost 22 of 29 road games.

Atlanta didn't help its playoff bid by dropping a 4-0 verdict to the Chicago Black Hawks Sunday night, but the Flames still have a game in hand over the idle Islanders, Chicago, by winning, narrowed its deficit to three points behind first-place Vancouver in Division 2 as the Canucks were idle.

In Sunday's nationally televised game, the New York Rangers edged Philadelphia, 2-1, and in other games Detroit edged Pittsburgh's home unbeaten string to 20 games with a 3-1 victory. Buffalo beat Toronto, 4-1, St. Louis routed Washington, 7-2, and California gained a 2-2 tie against Los Angeles.

Dargay of Minnesota was fifth with 195 points on jumps of 236 and 228 feet.

BRATTLEBORO, Vt. (UPI) — Jerry Martin of Minneapolis, a member of the U.S. Ski Team, won the senior class competition of the U.S. 52-57 decision to Jumping Championships Sunday.

Martin had jumps of 246 and 235 feet and a point total of 210.8.

Second was Jay Rand, 24, of Lake Placid, N.Y., a graduate student at the University of Vermont. He had jumps of 240 and 231 feet and a point total of 201.6.

Bernie Wells of Brattleboro, Vt., was third with jumps of 236 and 223 feet and 201 points.

Greg Swer of Duluth, Minn., was fourth with 225 and 241-foot jumps and 198.5 points. Tom Wright.

Richmond 500 Race Victory
No. 9 in 10 Tries for Petty

Richmond (UPI) — Richard Petty won the Richmond 500 at Fairgrounds Raceway Sunday.

So, what else is new? Richard Petty almost always wins at Fairgrounds Raceway.

With the exception of a 1974 victory by Bobby Allison, Petty has won every race here since August, 1970 — nine out of the last 10. Sunday's win was his 13th on the 542-mile oval.

Since there was little doubt from the start who would win — barring mechanical problems — something Petty hasn't had in a while — one had thought the race would be dull.

It was. "It cost me a couple of laps," Petty said.

Close WHA Races Out

NEW YORK (UPI) — Any hopes of close divisional races to spice up interest in the World Hockey Association suffered another severe setback Sunday.

All three divisional leaders won their games while the only two second-place teams that were in action lost.

Houston beat Toronto, 5-1, to stretch its West Division lead to 12 points over idle Phoenix; New England edged Winnipeg, 2-1, in overtime to boost its East Division margin to 11 points over Cleveland, which was routed, 6-4, by Indianapolis; and Quebec moved to an eight-point lead over Toronto in the Canadian Division following a 6-4 decision over San Diego.

In other WHA action, Chicago edged Vancouver, 2-1, and Edmonton beat Minnesota, 4-4.

Andre Hinse scored two goals for Houston, which jumped off to a 4-0 lead after two periods. Veclav Nedomansky got the lone Toronto goal early in the third period.

Whalers 2, Jets 1
Tom Webster scored at 5:21 of overtime Sunday night to lift the New England Whalers to a 2-1 victory over Winnipeg, ending the Jets' winning streak at five games.

Webster's winning goal was set up by the checking of Terry Cafery, who stole the puck inside the Jets' blue line and fed a pass to Webster. Webster then beat Winnipeg goalie Joe Daley with a 20-foot shot.

Don Blackburn had tied the game for New England at 10:30.

L.A. Course Record Equalled By Fitzsimons in Golf Win

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — When it was over and refreshed Pat Fitzsimons had wrapped up the $150,000 Los Angeles Open for his first triumph, the young tour rabbit from Oregon was informed he'd equalled Ben Hogan's 1946 record over the 14th hole. That brought him to within four shots of the best record over the arduous Riviera Country Club layout.

"I can't believe that," he beamed. "That really means a lot."

Not unlike the immortal Hogan, Fitzsimons, 24, kept his poise under pressure Sunday and finished with a one-under-par 70 after a sparkling course record 64 Saturday night.

He had a tough time in the morning and it's there. "That's the first good round I've played in a long time," he said.

"No," Fitzsimons answered when asked if he was worried about Nicklaus. "I was only concerned with the group (the threesome containing Kite) ahead of me."

Nobody made a charge early and that helped Pat, said Kite, a tour nonwinner who pocketed $82,655 in 1974. "I had made three birdies on four holes on the front nine it might have been a different story."

But Pat's a good player. He's had a tough time in the morning and it's there. "That's the first good round I've played in a long time," he said.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — After two head-to-head confrontations on the tour this year, Jack Nicklaus and Johnny Miller haven't settled anything.

Nicklaus, 35, finished seven shots ahead of the 27-year-old Miller in the wintry of the $150,000 Glen Campbell Los Angeles Open Sunday.

But Nicklaus, despite an outstanding final-day 65, was five shots back of surprise winner Pat Fitzsimons of Salem, Ore., while Miller earned only $2,325 and was a dozen strokes behind.

Nothing Salvageable in Foodline Blaze

BARBARA RICHMOND
Vernon firemen were mopping up debris and boarding up windows Sunday at the scene of a fire at Vernon Circle that gutted a supermarket and caused smoke and water damage to a paint store Saturday night.

He said he expects a crane will be brought in today to haul away some of the debris.

The Vernon Paint and Wallpaper Store next to the supermarket, suffered smoke and water damage but a fire kept the flames from spreading to the other stores which include a dress shop, hardware store, and pharmacy at that end of the shopping center. On the other end of the market closed a little after 6 p.m.

About 11 p.m. there were still areas where fire was breaking out and the thick black smoke permeated the surrounding area. Several explosions were caused by the many products packaged in aerosol cans.

Chief Johnson said three of the firemen were treated at Rockville General Hospital and released. Two were treated for smoke inhalation and one for a nail in his foot.

Other businesses in the area said when the fire first broke out the flames could be seen for several blocks away.

Through the Tolland County Mutual Aid Center, besides the three Vernon departments, Rockville, Tolland, Manchester, and South Windsor department responded to the call.

The Mutual Aid Center said that the Andover air compressor unit also assisted in fighting the blaze and two Vernon ambulances stood by.

Vernon Police assisted at the scene to keep traffic flowing in the busy circle area and to prevent looting.

The fire is Vernon's first major fire this year.

Apartment Tenants Allowed to Return

Tenants of the Vernon Towers Apartments on Vernon Ave., Rockville, were back in their apartments Sunday after having to leave them temporarily due to a fire in a storage area Saturday night.

Rockville Fire Chief Donald Maguda said the fire was in the middle complex and was confined to that area but smoke filled the rest of the building.

Maguda credited Vernon Police with alerting the tenants and getting them out with no mishaps. The fire was reported shortly after 10:30 p.m. One police officer was treated at Rockville General Hospital for smoke inhalation and released.

Maguda said the cause of the fire has not been determined but it is the third such fire in that apartment complex.

The Rockville department also called to 11 High St., Rockville, about 7 a.m. Sunday to extinguish a mattress fire.

Maguda said there was no damage other than to the mattresses.

POLICE REPORT

Richard C. Oliver, 31, of 272 Main St., was charged Saturday night with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor and failure to drive right, Manchester Police reported.

Police said the charges were lodged after a car driven by Oliver hit a parked vehicle on Main St. near Pearl St.

While the accident was being investigated, police said, a passenger in Oliver's car became verbally abusive. Judy Novak, 28, of East Hartford, was charged with interfering with a policeman.

Court date for Oliver is March 11. Court date for Miss Novak is March 17.

Ernest I. LaPlant, 43, of Rt. 44A, Coventry was charged Saturday night with disorderly conduct, police said, after he created a disturbance at the Manchester Memorial Hospital emergency room.

Police said LaPlant's arrest came as they were trying to complete an accident report on a collision involving LaPlant's car.

Cars driven by LaPlant and David K. Road, 22, of 131 Vernon St., Bolton were in collision at E. Middle Tpk. and Dale Rd. Both vehicles were towed. LaPlant was also charged with making an unsafe lane change. Court date is March 10 for the criminal charge and March 11 for the motor vehicle charge.

Peter L. Hatch, 29, of Willimantic is scheduled to appear in court March 10 to face charges stemming from a Sunday afternoon accident at E. Middle Tpk. and Summit St., police said.

Hatch was charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor, and failure to obey a red light. His car was in collision with a car driven by Raymond J. Sartor, 28, of 30 Irving St.

Arrests made or summonses issued by Manchester Police over the weekend included:

WINE Plans Move To New Quarters

Radio Station WINF, now in its 17th year on the air in Manchester, is planning a move to the Bradford Building at 257 E. Center St., pending favorable action tonight by Manchester's Zoning Board of Appeals.

The station, owned by National Media Corp., is now housed at 376 W. Middle Tpk. in the Manchester Shopping Parkade.

Jeff Jacobs, the station's general manager, said the move of offices and studios is planned March 14-15 if the zoning board approves a variance to allow the station at 257 E. Center St.

Radio stations are permitted in business zones, and the Bradford building—part of an office complex owned by the B & H Co.—is in a residential zone.

The zoning application will be considered in a public hearing at 7 tonight in the Municipal Building hearing room.

WINF's transmitting facility won't be affected by the moving plans, Jacobs said, and will remain on Love Lane.

Founded by John Deme, WINF went on the air May 18, 1959, with a power of 250 watts. In 1959, the station increased its power to 1,000 watts and joined the Mutual Broadcasting System. It became affiliated with the CBS Radio Network in 1961.

The Stanley Works of New Britain has reported 1974 earnings of $2.57 a share, down 13 per cent from 1973 earnings of $2.95 per share.

Net sales for 1974 reached a record level of $487.2 million, compared with $424.2 million in 1973.

Company President Donald Davis said the increased sales reflect inflation-induced price increases. The earnings decrease, he said, resulted from a greater interest expense and a change to LIFO (Last-In, First-Out) accounting.

Directors of The Stanley Works have declared a quarterly dividend of 24 cents per share of common stock, payable March 28 to stockholders of record March 3.

The Stanley Works is a leading manufacturer of tools and household hardware, builders' products, and industrial products.

The Perkin-Elmer Corp., a Norwalk-based manufacturer of scientific instruments, has reported second quarter sales of $73.9 million and net income of 26 cents per share. The figures a year ago were sales of $68.5 million and earnings of 24 cents a share.

Combustion Engineering Inc. of Stamford has reported 1974 earnings of $4.2 million ($3.75 per share) on sales of $1.1 billion. The comparable 1973 figures were earnings of $43 million ($4.05 per share) on sales of $1.169 billion.

CE President Arthur Santry Jr. said the earnings reduction resulted from the company's switch to LIFO (Last-In, First-Out) accounting of inventories.

Jobless Count Disputed

NEW HAVEN (UPI) — A University of Connecticut labor expert says the state's unemployment rate probably is more than 10 per cent rather than the 8.7 per cent reported by the state Labor Department.

Dr. David Pinsky, professor of labor relations, also said despite reports to the contrary, Connecticut's economy was still tied to defense spending and suffers heavily during peacetime.

Pinsky said the labor department counts only those workers who file for unemployment benefits and leaves out potential workers ineligible for benefits, such as young people who never worked.

If the state's present calculation of 126,000 unemployed were to be adjusted for those factors, the figure probably would rise to about 150,000 persons, he said.

Pinsky disputed economists who say Connecticut would not suffer as badly as other states in the present recession because it has moved away from defense work and into the service field, which includes the insurance industry.

He was the keynote speaker at a conference sponsored by the Connecticut Committee Against Inflation and Unemployment at the Yale Divinity School.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss... and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done". But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment for both men and women, that is not only stopping hair loss... but is really growing hair.

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. They invite you to try the treatment for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this opportunity unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

Air Bubble Could Cover Rink and Court Complex

Complete details on an air-supported structure which would contain an artificial ice skating rink, which could be converted into four tennis courts, were presented to the Advisory Park and Recreation Commission Thursday night.

Royce Toni, of the Pioneer Parachute Co., described an air-supported balloon-type apparatus which Pioneer is now manufacturing.

Toni presented slides, photos and models of the type structure Pioneer is making. The structure described is of polyester and vinyl with a curved top. The life span ranges between 10 and 15 years.

Currently, Pioneer has two of its air-supported units operating in Bloomfield and Rocky Hill.

The cost, Toni said, would be $14,000 for the basic structure, including the envelope, lights and a heater. Another $22,000 was recommended for extras to conform with required town safety standards, plus $36,000 for wiring, soil testing, concrete foundations and erection of the unit. Also, $20,000 for a chain-link fence and $15,000 for sub-contracting work.
