MCC Council Presents Gift to Dr. Lowe

By FLOYD LARSON
Dr. Frederick Lowe Jr. Monday night attended his last meeting of the Regional Advisory Council as president of Manchester Community College.
When the last item on the agenda was completed, Christie McCormick of Vernon, council member since the college's inception, offered the following resolution which was unanimously adopted:
"As one who participated in bringing Dr. Lowe to Manchester Community College, I would like to express to him that, in my opinion, he has done an outstanding job as chief administrator from the very beginning.
"Starting out as a town institution in 1963 with 120 students and a budget of $75,000 he has guided the destinies of this college to an enviable position in high education and in the State of Connecticut and New England in general.
"His administrative leadership has laid the foundation, under many difficult and

Seabed Decision Called Vital To Energy Program

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Solicitor General Robert Bork says President Ford's energy program needs a quick Supreme Court decision on whether 12 Atlantic Coast states or the federal government own vast offshore oil rights.
Bork argued for federal title to millions of acres of undersea land Monday. He said the justices decided the basic issues 28 years ago, and "the urgent efforts of the President to improve the energy program require immediate judgment here."
States Claim Shelf
Twelve Atlantic Coast states have laid claim to the sea beds beyond the 3-mile limit to the brink of the Continental Shelf, which extends up to 100 miles offshore.

Sex-Designated Classified Ads Ruled To Be Discriminatory

HARTFORD (UPI) — The Connecticut Supreme Court ruled today that the use of "Help Wanted—Male" classified ads by newspapers discriminates illegally against women. But a dissenting justice termed the issue a tempest in a teapot.
The court, in a 4-1 decision, said segregating employment ads by sex encouraged the commission of unfair employment practices.
The Ansonia Evening Sentinel brought the suit challenging a finding by the Connecticut Human Rights and Opportunities Commission in favor of the National Organization of Women. Attorney Marilyn P. Seichter of West Hartford represented the women's group in the original hearing.
"At the calculated risk of being accused of male chauvinism, I must observe that I consider this particular controversy nothing more than a tempest in a teapot that raises such ridiculous overtones as to call for some equally ridiculous observations," Justice Herbert S. MacDonald said.
He said he saw nothing wrong with such ads seeking a carnival strongman, a Pittsburgh Steelers linebacker or an actor to play Winston Churchill. The same would apply to ads for a bearded lady, a topless dancer or an actress to play Lady Godiva, he said.
Lonely Hearts?
"I shudder to contemplate the implications that might follow the non-classified placing of the 'Lonely Heart' ads," he said.
Connecticut led the nation in the 1974 elections by picking the nation's only woman chief executive, Gov. Ella T. Grasso, "purely on the basis of her qualifications for the position," MacDonald said.
Justice Louis Shapiro, writing for the majority, said Connecticut has long fought for equal rights for women, and allowing

Ford Confident Americans Can Solve Economic Problems

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford today predicted Americans will solve "their very serious" economic and energy problems with the same sacrifice, hard work and tenacity exhibited by past generations in coping with the American Revolution, two world wars and the Depression.

He made the remarks in a prepared address to be delivered to the National Bicentennial Conference in Washington before flying to Florida for an overnight stay to campaign for his anti-recession program.
"Each generation has been called on to accept the challenge of a different crisis," he said, and "each generation has lived up to its responsibility."

In the Depression, Ford said, "millions of Americans living today did not fail us. They pulled themselves together and kept the nation going."
"In two world wars, Americans gave their time ... talent ... resources ... and many lives, to keep the cause of freedom alive. They did not fail us."
No One Has Failed
"In unhappy times and unpopular wars, Americans accept the challenge. No generation of Americans has failed to accept the necessary sacrifices of the day. I am convinced we will not fail ourselves or future generations."
"Today, we face challenges—our economic and energy problems. New perceptions and new priorities are required to meet new difficulties."
Solutions to the nation's economic and energy problems, Ford said, "will require the same hard work and tenacity required to wage a successful revolution, establish a working government, carve a civilization out of wilderness, produce the greatest industrial machine ever and develop the highest standard of living in any nation of the world."

Full Schedule

On his two-day trip to Hollywood, Fla., Ford will address an economic conference, give a dinner for mayors from the southeastern United States and play 18 holes of golf Wednesday in the Jackie Gleason Celebrity Tournament with comedian Bob Hope and golf pro Jack Nicklaus.

Ford met with his chief economic advisers Monday to review the $21.3 billion Democratic tax cut alternative to the administration's proposal and discuss the potential credit squeeze brought on by the huge federal deficit.

"It's tragic that they've taken this long to pass a tax cut," Ford was quoted as telling his advisers.

The House Ways and Means Committee has approved the $21.3 billion tax slash. The legislation was scheduled to come up for debate before the full House on Thursday.

Community Colleges Face Fiscal Pinch

By FLOYD LARSON
Gov. Ella Grasso's program of fiscal restraint is a two-edged sword cutting into the current and proposed budgets of Manchester Community College and the community college system.

This was the message given the MCC Regional Council at its February meeting Monday night by Dr. Frederick Lowe Jr., who retires as president at the end of this month.

"Out of the current community college budgets," Dr. Lowe reported, "the governor's budget people have asked us to spend $1.5 million less than the budget calls for and the trustees of the system are hoping that perhaps $725,000 can be returned to the state by various economies already implemented. But it appears $585,000 will be a more realistic goal."

Discrepancies Explained
He explained that there are certain expenditures in the system which must be met and which were not anticipated, which explain the discrepancies in the three figures. For example, the fuel bill for Greater Hartford Community College was no previous experience to go by. Also he said, George Conkling, the acting finance commissioner, has told the colleges to go ahead and hire part-time people if they are needed for essential programs.

Of this cutback in the current budget, MCC will be expending about $100,000 less, Dr. Lowe reported. Much of this, he said, has been recovered from unexpended first quarter fund allocations. The remainder is expected to be made up through reduced personnel services, sharply cutback equipment purchases and leaving vacancies unfilled. The college has restricted out-of-state travel and paying of memberships in professional organizations, reviewed its publication policy and cut back some of the spring term course offerings.

Voluntary Cuts
"I wish to stress," Dr. Lowe said, "that the state did not order these cuts but suggested them and that we have voluntarily made the curtailments. Conkling's office has assured us any essential expenditures we make will be honored."

This was in apparent reference to Dr. Lowe's running battle with Conkling's predecessor, Adolph Carlson, whom Dr. Lowe has accused of deliberately impounding funds appropriated to the colleges by the legislature.

The second edge of the economy sword was shown in Dr. Lowe's review of the governor's recommended budget for the community college system.

While the 1.56 per cent over-all system increase looks good, he said, when compared with other college systems which were either cutback or had no change, "we have been trapped by our willingness to carry higher student loads than our budgets really allowed."

Over-Enrolled
He explained the current budget was based on 16,500 full-time equivalent students but the system has actually enrolled 18,306. The community college board of trustees had asked for a budget for 18,200 students in 1975-76 and the Council on Higher Education agreed.

"The governor's budget," Dr. Lowe said, "also is based on 18,200 students but where we are trapped is that we are given no more money than what we basally got this year. It will be hard to argue for more since we are taking care of 18,306 students now with the money we now have. In the past we have done this (taken more students than budgeted for) and been able to pick up the difference in the next budget but this year we won't be able to," he said.

Important Question
"This raises an important question for the Regional Council to consider and one which it may want to communicate to the new president (Dr. Ronald Denison who will take over March 3). Do you want MCC to go to a smaller enrollment? The governor's budget provides for no increase in faculty and there are some automatic increases in salaries which must be considered, too."

The council agreed the matter must be evaluated and the admissions and stan-

Education Board Given Outline of CATV Plan

By JUNE TOMPKINS
A proposed plan for the use of cable TV in the school system was presented by Assistant School Superintendent Alfred Tychsen at the Board of Education meeting Monday night at Green School.

With the cable necessary for TV use already in the ground and ready to be hooked up to individual homes and schools, Dr. Tychsen feels strongly Manchester public schools should plan for use of cable TV in the instructional program.

Dr. Tychsen also recommends its use because he says it is relatively inexpensive.

Costs Outlined
Installation of cable TV for the first room would be free, he said, with a charge of $3.50 for each additional room hooked up to the system. This would be a once and for all charge, he said.

A converter would be necessary to pick up the signals. Again, the installation of the first one would be free, and for each additional converter, the cost would be $3.50 per month to rent one, said Dr. Tychsen.

There are presently eight schools in the system that are wired for cable TV. They are: Buckley, Keeney, Martin, Nathan Hale, Robertson, South, Washington, and Iling Junior High School. Iling will not be ready until the completion of the building program now under way.

Dr. Tychsen recommended a four-phase program in which four schools should be hooked up to the cable TV program in a pilot program. Those four schools would be Keeney, Robertson, Nathan Hale and Washington.

Evaluation Suggested
After a certain length of time, the system that are wired for cable TV in these schools would be evaluated, and, if successful, phase two would be adopted which would involve more schools, and so on through phase three and four.

"These plans are tentative at best," said Dr. Tychsen. He said costwise it would be an advantage over purchasing individual films and showing them as they do now. He will present his plans to the town cable TV committee by March 1.

Plans for reducing vandalism at Manchester High School as well as other schools in town were presented to the board by student representatives John Mrosek, senior representative, and Michael Simon, junior representative.

In presenting the proposal, Mrosek

Senate Power Struggle Delays Penn Central Fiscal Relief

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Senate power struggle threatened today to block financial relief for the Penn Central, but emergency funds from the government will allow the bankrupt railroad to operate until the end of the week.

A $347 million authorization for grants and loans to Penn Central and the Erie Lackawanna has become the victim of efforts to change the Senate's anti-filibuster rule.

Senate reformers and their opponents blamed each other for the delay in passing the Penn Central bill. Neither side, however, yielded.

Penn Central, unable to meet its payroll, received swift help from the Department of Transportation.

On Monday the railroad received $2.5 million in grants and $8 million in advances for freight charges and other federal payments which would have been made in a few weeks.

Today, Penn Central was to receive another $12.8 million through purchase of its maintenance-of-way equipment. The money would come from funds already set aside to rehabilitate and maintain the railroad when a new government-planned agency begins operating bankrupt Northeast rail lines.

Penn Central trustees said they believe the money will allow them to operate through the week.

Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., filed a petition under which the Senate will vote Wednesday whether to force a vote on the Penn Central bill. The Hartke motion, however, requires a two-thirds majority to carry.

Hartke told the Senate that if Penn Central was to cease operations, it would "threaten the foundation of our economy."

Courtly Commissar Bulganin Dies at 79

MOSCOW (UPI) — Nikolai Bulganin, the courtly commissar upstaged by boisterous Nikita Khrushchev during their two-man rule of the Soviet Union, died in obscurity at the age of 79, the Tass news agency said today.

The official news agency said the bearded Bulganin, former chairman of the Soviet Council of Ministers, died Monday after "a serious protracted illness."

Bulganin's leonine white hair and well-trimmed beard became familiar to the world in the 1950s when he and Khrushchev emerged as twin leaders of the Soviet Union.

Overshadowed
Khrushchev overshadowed his partner from the moment the pair assumed the helm of the nation in 1955, following the fall of Stalin's successor, Georgi Malenkov.

The rustic Khrushchev was first secretary of the Communist party and the dapper Bulganin was premier during their three years of tandem rule.

Khrushchev, who played the shoe-hanging buffoon in public, worked cunningly behind the scenes to shoulder the aristocratic-looking Bulganin aside and emerge as the strong man in the Soviet Union.

Banished
He abruptly banished Bulganin into obscurity in 1958. Bulganin was seen chatting with Khrushchev at a Kremlin reception in 1964, but then dropped out of sight. He had not been mentioned in the Soviet press in recent years.

Tass reported Bulganin's death in a brief dispatch from Moscow marked "urgent." The report said simply: "Nikolai Bulganin, a former chairman of the Soviet Council of Ministers, died on Monday at the age of 79, following a serious protracted illness."

Bon Vivant
Bulganin seemed more of a bon vivant than a Bolshevik, more of an aristocrat than a commissar. But he was far from a buffoon.

On his way to the titular top of the bureaucracy, he knocked on doors at midnight as a secret police agent and served with brilliance as administrator, engineer and political commissar in the army.

What he lacked was the drive, the cunning and the long labors in the party vineyards that provided Khrushchev with his secure power base.

Bulganin was born June 11, 1895, of middle class parents in the city of Nizhni Novgorod (now Gorki). He worked as a clerk in a factory and became a member of the Communist party in his home town on the eve of the revolution.

From 1918 to 1922, he was an official of the Cheka, the first secret police organization, in his native region. He then was sent to Moscow for industrial management training.

Stalin was impressed by his abilities, and in 1934 Bulganin was a person of national importance in his role as a candidate member of the Central Committee of the Communist party.

He became premier of the Russian Federal Republic in 1937, and deputy premier of the Soviet Union and chairman of the State Bank from 1938 to 1941. He rose to the rank of full member of the Central Committee in 1939.

Bulganin's star shone brightly throughout World War II. He won a reputation as military administrator in the defense of Moscow.

Manchester Evening Herald OPINION

Facing Political Reality?

President Ford has faced up to political reality in allowing a bill which would prevent an increase in food stamp prices to become law without signing it.

That, of course is the manner in which the government is providing most of these humanitarian benefits to the recipients.

While the President has faced reality it is questionable that the Congress has on this test of strength between the administration and the Democratic heavy legislative branch.

With a proposed $52 billion deficit it follows that the money for many of these benefits can be made available only by borrowing in the open capital market through the issuance of bonds and notes.

The President had ordered an increase in the price of food stamps in an attempt to save $645 million and by holding down spending keep his proposed budget within the $52 billion deficit which he has foreseen.

The system as it is arranged prevents any balanced team effort or spirit, individuals strive to obtain high scores status so their names can appear in The Herald the next day. Also too much emphasis is put on team standings which are meaningless.

If this is to be the reaction of the Congress to any cuts in the social welfare spending of the country we can see little hope for reducing budget deficits now or for years to come.

We ought to also remember that the interest on our national indebtedness now is as much as the total federal budget was a few short years ago.

The President pointed to many areas in which savings could be made in his budget message. It is true, of course, that practically all of the proposed spending cuts would affect some segment of the population.

There is one large class of people which is being sadly neglected in the government's humanitarian programs. It is the taxpayers who pay the money that make all of the philanthropies possible.

Social Security, federal pensions, health and welfare, Medicare, all of these programs can be supported by humanitarian arguments.

And do not delude yourself that the great percentage of federal income is generated from giant corporations. It is not. It comes from individual income taxpayers such as we.

In our private lives we could all muster up cogent reasons why we should have larger homes, more cars,

The middle-class American taxpayer is the most overlooked person in our national spectrum. Perhaps it is time that we let the Congress know that we don't like it.

Insured to the Teeth

In 1973, Americans spent $5.4 billion on dental care. While only a fraction of this bill was met by insurance, there is a definite national trend towards this kind of health coverage.

This is still a long way from 85 per cent of the population which enjoys some form of medical coverage, either through private plans or Medicare and Medicaid.

Ten years ago, only about 100 organizations around the country offered prepaid dental insurance to their employees, reaching some two-million people. Today, 3,000 institutions offer the coverage directly to 22 million Americans.

Increasingly, however, prepaid dental care is being used as a bargaining tool by trade unions when negotiating contracts. The American Dental Association estimates that by 1980, more than 60-million Americans will be receiving direct dental-care coverage.

Change Midget Hoop Program

As a coach in the Midget Basketball league, I would like to comment on the premise of this program under its present set-up. I feel the purpose for this league's existence is team competition and organized recreation it offers for youngsters age 10-13. What we have currently is a program geared towards developing prospects for the NBA.

ANDREW TULLY Ford's Budget

WASHINGTON - Look at President Ford's budget this way: If you have a child entering a four-year college in September, the economy will be in tough shape at least for as long as it takes him to get his degree.

There is no good news in the immediate future. Both unemployment and the high cost of living will continue to increase. Under the President's projection, inflation will still be climbing at a 4 per cent annual rate in 1980.

Meanwhile, recession threatens to become depression. Ford's economists estimate that the current decline in the real Gross National Product (GNP) will continue at least during the first two quarters of 1975, and probably into the third quarter, and could mean a whopping 7.3 to 7.5 per cent over-all drop for the year.

RAY CROMLEY Washington's Favorite Whipping Boys

WASHINGTON - (NEA) - There is in this town a most virulent hate for business and industry - within Congress, the bureaucracy and among commentators. Much has been said about the oil lobby, the business lobby, the munitions and aerospace lobbies.

With all this hate, paradoxically, there's a prevailing fear in government today of allowing major companies to go broke. Contracts and other assistance are all too frequently given to companies whose performance has been poor and whose leadership these days comes, by and large, from the same colleges as the leadership in government and the academic world.

For these reasons, a healthy government skepticism is in order. Persistent investigations are required to root out inequities and criminal acts - including price gouging. But the raging inflation, I've heard in high places in this town go beyond all reason.

McCoy To Assume Office In Conference of Mayors

VERNON Mayor Frank McCoy of Vernon will take over the presidency of the Connecticut Conference of Mayors and Municipalities at the annual meeting tonight thus returning the leadership to a smaller town.

McCoy, who is serving his third term as mayor of Vernon, succeeds New Haven Mayor Bartholomew F. Guida as head of the statewide organization.

McCoy has his own law practice in Vernon. Prior to his first term as mayor he served on the Town Council for two terms. He is a Republican and has served as executive director of Connecticut Conference of Mayors. He is also active in Little League.

Gov. Ella Grasso will be the featured speaker at tonight's meeting and a special award will be presented to First Selectman Theodore R. Clark of Woodbridge, honoring his 37 years of service as chief executive of that town. He will be retiring in May but holds the honor of having served as chief executive of a town longer than any other one in Connecticut.

Manchester Mayor John Thompson, along with Catherine Reynolds of West Hartford and Donald Irwin of Norwalk will serve for the first time on the conference governing board.

The others, all re-elected, are: Anthony Sbona, Middletown; George Athanson, Hartford; Francis Messina, East Haven; Elmer Mootenham, Newington; Frederick Daley, Torrington; Clark, Woodbridge; Victor Mambrano, Waterbury.

In accordance with the bylaws of the organization, the nominating committee gave consideration to "achieving geographical representation and to representing municipalities of different sizes." The nominating committee said it also "sought an appropriate balance of political parties," continuing the completely nonpartisan nature of the organization which has prevailed since its formation in 1966.

The executive committee is the conference's governing board and consists of the officers, directors and past presidents.

All of the nominees are unopposed and will take office tonight at the meeting in the Hotel Sonesta, Hartford.

Police Considering Switch in Unions

SOUTH WINDSOR Judy Kuehnel, Correspondent 644-1364

Some members of the South Windsor Police Department are attempting to switch their union affiliation and have petitioned the State Labor Department for a union election.

The town's 10 members of the International Brotherhood of Police Officers, Local 351 (IBPO), which represents 16 members of the Police Force ranging from patrolmen to sergeant, could become members of the Civil Service Employees Affiliates Inc. (CSEA).

The CSEA is a branch of the Connecticut State Employees Association, which recently branched into municipal service.

Local IBPO President James Morrison, a police officer here, said his union last month filed a petition with the State Labor Board asking that an election be held to determine who shall be the police bargaining agent.

Morrison did not elaborate on the reasons why some of the IBPO members are seeking a change in representation.

However at least 30 per cent of a union's membership must be willing to change unions before a petition can be filed with the state. Morrison said the town has at least that many policemen willing to convert.

The state must now review those who petitioned it for the change to determine the legitimacy of the petition. Once that is done, the state will approve an election and the winner must receive 51 per cent of the vote.

Until the union issue is clarified, the town cannot negotiate with police over upcoming contracts — which expire June 30. All negotiations have come to a halt pending the outcome of the petition.

However Morrison said he believes the union issue will be settled in time for negotiations and the new contracts.

Police here recently settled their 1974-75 contracts after months of negotiations and arbitration. No sooner has one contract been settled but another is slated for negotiation.

Morrison said town officials are aware of the police request to switch unions and "the IBPO has been in contact with us to determine why it is we wish to switch."

One advantage to switching to the CSEA was that it has a Hartford office, as opposed to the IBPO's Boston headquarters, making it easier to keep in contact with the union.

Bolton Pays $11,000 On Dump Bill

Donna Holland Correspondent 646-0375

The Board of Selectmen unanimously approved paying the Andover Disposal area bill in the amount of $11,026.26 for the period July 1, 1974 through Dec. 31, 1974. The motion was made by Leon Rivers, selectman.

Richard Morra, first selectman, said that because the bill is within the town's budgeted amount it would be paid.

Township approved about $30,000 in the 1974-75 budget for use of the disposal area, about $22,000 for the area and $8,000 for a hydro-ecological study planned by Andover.

Morra said the town wouldn't pay any portion of the $8,000 unless it gets a firm commitment that it can use the area for the next several years.

A breakdown of the bill shows $4,787 for salaries, $3,983 for drivers and operators, $1,451.88 for insurance (first time included by Andover), $4,995 for fill and gravel and trucking both, $743.88 for utilities, $277.21 for maintenance, $75 for rental of a bulldozer and $2,500 for depreciation of equipment.

The total cost to operate for the first six months of fiscal 1974-1975 is $17,463.90. Bolton's share being $11,026.26.

David Yeomans, first selectman of Andover, sent a revised bill for the last six months of fiscal 1973-1974 in the amount of $17,286.96.

Yeomans said further consideration of the bill showed a loader, charged full time in the time book, was not being operated all the time so the charge was reduced accordingly.

The monthly meeting of the Bolton Ecumenical Council scheduled for Thursday at St. George's Episcopal Church at 8 p.m. has been changed to Thursday at the United Methodist Church at 8 p.m. due to a conflict in lenten programs.

The St. Maurice Council Knights of Columbus will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the basement of the church to begin making plans for the St. Patrick's Day dance.

The Board of Selectmen invited selectmen candidates Norman Preuss, R, and Larry Shaw, D, to its work session with the Board of Finance Wednesday.

Parents To Confer On Kindergarten

TOLLAND Vivian Keneson, Correspondent 875-4704

A pre-kindergarten parents' conference will be held at Parker Memorial School March 20 at 7:30 p.m.

At the meeting parents and school staff will discuss the kindergarten programs, school health, and the process for registration. Opportunity for small group discussion will be arranged and parents will be given a handbook.

Registration materials will be distributed and parents asked to complete them in advance of registration during the week of March 24-27.

Registration of pre-kindergarteners will take place Monday through Thursday, March 24-27, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the school with the secretaries, Mrs. Peacock and Mrs. Pierce.

Required for registration are a certificate of birth, physician's certification of inoculation and immunization, and Tolland residency.

During the week of May 19 to 23, various staff members will meet individually with parents and pre-kindergarten children. After a brief interview each child may visit a classroom.

Coventry PZC Seeks Views On Preservation of Farms

Monica Shea Correspondent 742-9495

The Planning and Zoning Commission agreed last night to pursue concepts which would help to maintain Coventry in its present atmosphere.

The commission will send letters to the Conservation Commission, the Beautification Commission and the Historical Society asking that these committees submit within the next two months a list of areas which are unique to Coventry that could possibly be included in a Preservation Zone.

Residents are also invited to send a list of any areas that they would like to see preserved to the commission.

A Preservation Zone is similar to a Historical District which would preserve unique areas and enable the town to protect natural areas and scenic vistas.

The commission also agreed to contacting the anti-DeVCo groups to seek their assistance in the formulation of some kind of agricultural leasing program that would respond to the need to maintain as much land in farming as possible.

This would be to encourage farmers who are not using all their farmland to lease it for cultivation either in small parcels or as a whole.

After receiving recommendations on these two items the commission will then decide if there is enough interest in the ideas to them further and to incorporate them into the zoning regulations.

The commission acting as the Inland Wetlands Agency granted a permit to Leo LeMay to excavate the remainder of the island and the causeway in front of his property in Hemlock Point.

The commission did specify that the excavation must be done to a level of seven feet below normal lake level. The earth removed must be placed at the edge of the beach area and a $1,500 bond must be posted to insure that the stipulations are met.

The town engineer after inspecting the site indicated that there were about 1,500 cubic yards of earth left to be removed.

The commission also stipulated that the dirt must be removed no later than March 31, 1975 and preferably when there was still ice on the lake which would prevent silting of the soils to other beaches.

LeMay had told the commission that he was interested in using the earth removed to fill two other lots that he owns on the beach front and the commission will hold a public hearing March 10 at 8 p.m. to review that proposal.

Filling comes under the Planning and Zoning Commission while the excavation comes under the Inland Wetlands Agency so two separate hearings must be held on the proposal.

The commission will complete the remainder of the agenda at a special meeting Monday, March 3, at 8 p.m. in the Town Hall.

Tolland Land Trust Opens Membership

Vivian Keneson Correspondent 875-4704

Membership is open in the Tolland Land Trust, a non-profit corporation created to help preserve open space in the Tolland area. Dues of $5, and $2 for students, may be mailed to the Tolland Land Trust, Box 143, Tolland 06084. The organization will meet Feb. 27 at 8 p.m. at the Savings Bank of Tolland.

The Board of Directors recently elected the following officers for the current year: Lee Schalmelster, president; Diana Malkin, vice president; Ro Smore, secretary; Ivy-Lynn Patapas, treasurer.

Members of the Board of Directors are: Schulmeister, John Elliott, Larry Small, Bob Hopkins, Anne MacArthur, Fred Carpenter, Bill Osborn, Pat Woods, Bette Quatrala, Ed Patapas, Neil Wainai, Bob Bass and Mrs. Malkin.

At the organization's annual meeting Atty. Robert McGann was made an honorary member, acknowledging his assistance during the past two years.

Pat Woods, president for the first two years, was presented with a gift, and special thanks was extended to Sandra Olafson for typing assistance.

Your kidneys do not require the "flushing" or "stimulation" patent medicines may claim to achieve. No medicine for your kidneys should be taken except on a doctor's orders.

Some kidney stones may never cause symptoms or trouble. Others start to pass out of the kidneys causing severe pain and tenderness over the kidney area, and frequent and painful urination. Such symptoms require prompt medical attention.

What are they? Kidney stones are deposits of mineral or organic substances, varying in size from tiny "pebbles" to large "stones." They are unlikely to form where there is a normally brisk flow of urine unobstructed by injury, infection or tumor.

PTO Meets Wednesday

HEBRON Anne Dallaire, Correspondent 228-3267

The PTO will have a business meeting Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Gilead Hill School.

The agenda will include, follow-up on Indian project, the final report on Santa's Workshop, information on summer swim program, and review of coming events.

Following the business meeting there will be a Self Protection Program.

Iver Jensen of the Burrill Mutual Savings Bank will show a film entitled "Lady Beware," which shows what a woman should do if she is attacked.

John Soderberg, Hebron's resident state policeman, will show a film on how to deter house burglars.

South Windsor Swim Club To Construct Tennis Courts

The South Windsor Swim Club has contracted with a Farmington firm for the construction of two artificial surface tennis courts with completion scheduled for early May.

Club President William Carroll said the courts will be of crushed stone rolled on a prepared surface. He said the friable nature of the material allows quick drying and the surface is excellent for play.

Carroll said the club will then be able to offer tennis to its members, in addition to swimming instructions, swimming competition, and social programs.

Anyone wishing further information about the club activities and membership requirements should contact either Mrs. Patricia Smith, 644-6538 or Mrs. Lorraine Sabatella, 644-2025.

'Playboy' Gone From Holyoke

HOLYOKE, Mass. (UPI) — Enforcement of the state's new obscenity law has resulted in the disappearance of Playboy from all but one of its Western Massachusetts city's newsstands.

Only Woerner's continues to carry sex-oriented material, and although a District Court judge has ruled Playboy is permissible, Police Chief Francis Sullivan says his ban on the magazine remains in effect.

Eight persons were arrested in November for selling similar magazines, and 52 grand jury indictments are awaiting action in Springfield Superior Court.

Of the 351 cities and towns in the state, Holyoke is believed to be the only one banning the magazines.

In 1901, J. P. Morgan formed the United States Steel Corporation in New Jersey, to become the nation's first "billion-dollar" enterprise.

We may be the only business in Connecticut that buys more than it sells.

Connecticut's Insurance Companies.

Last year, for instance, we received a little over $500 million in premium payments from Connecticut people. But we spent more than $730 million in purchases of Connecticut goods and services.

How can this be? In simple terms, since Connecticut is such a large insurance state, we sell the bulk of our "product" . . . insurance . . . outside the state. In an economist's terms, we have a very favorable "balance of payments".

And, when you factor in the millions we paid out in Connecticut for such things as benefits, loss payments, dividends, salaries and commissions, pensions, taxes, and investments, you'll find that we put about three dollars back into Connecticut's pocketbook for every dollar we took out of it.

At a time when double digit inflation and rising unemployment are two of the nation's most critical domestic problems, we believe our contributions to a more stable Connecticut economy are one of the strongest indications that Connecticut's Insurance Companies are doing a lot more than just selling insurance.

Schoolboy Tournament Time

Schoolboy post-season basketball team has arrived and each of the three successful local teams in the CIAC tournament pictures are down for first action this week. Manchester High, which will be making its tourney debut under first year mentor Doug Pearson, may find Norwich too much to handle Saturday night at Windham High in Willimantic. Norwich plays in the tough Capital District Conference, perhaps the best in the state, and has a tourney-tested squad. Cheney Tech will bump up against Stafford for a third time. During the regular season, each won on its own court. Ellington High will be the neutral site Wednesday night and a tossup is expected.

Although its 11-9 non-loss regular season mark is the least impressive of any East Catholic squad in its 11 previous consecutive seasons in league play, one has learned not to take the Eagles lightly. East has lost just once in an opening CIAC test, Wilby High of Waterbury turning the trick in 1967. Jonathan Law of Milford will be the opening foe Thursday night in Wallingford.

This year's event marks the second time in history all three Silk Town schools were in the tourney.

Little Reason to Be Upset

"I'm not at all upset," Reggie Jackson of Oakland's A's told friends after losing his salary arbitration battle with Charlie Finley. "At $140,000 I ought to be able to keep the wolf from the door," he added. "Just Wondering: How many followers of pro sports are getting sick and tired of demands being met by athletes today, from super down to run-of-the-mill, for outrageous demands? Dave Queenel, 12, knocked 18 1/2 inch last week ice fishing at Crystal Lake while on vacation. Standout performances in the National Track and Field Championships will be spotlighted on CBS Sunday afternoon starting at 3. First regular season baseball telecast is listed April 12 when Oakland plays Texas. Last year the average time for a nine inning baseball game in the National League was two hours and 35 minutes, or one minute longer than a game in 1973. Not one single game last season in the senior loop was played under two hours, the fastest being 2:15.

Lot of Hoop Viewing Due

Channel 30 will carry three games in each of the opening round and the regional finals in the NCAA Basketball Tournament March 15 and March 22. Both national semifinal games will be shown March 29 and the final Monday night, March 31. Al Putz, who decided to end a pro basketball career last year, is now teaching school in New Marlboro, Mass., in the Berkshires. Former Manchester town duckpin bowling champion George Cochran is now living in Andover and not eligible to enter the local event in April. This year's small pin event to determine the town king will be the latest it has ever been staged in the season. John Toller, Assumption Junior High basketball coach, was recently presented the CVO Referee Award for his contributions to the program this season. Tom Connor, was also cited for his work over the years in assisting the pro basketball program. Seattle moves into the Hartford Civic Center Sunday noon to face Boston and Celtic fans want to forget the last meeting between the two. The Sonics of Coach Bill Russell tested the Celtics at the Boston Garden, 121-95. Seven-foot, four-inch Tom Burleson leads the Seattle entry. He's the tallest player in the NBA.

College Hoop Roundup

Kentucky Elation Ends

NEW YORK (UPI) — Kentucky's elation of the weekend ended abruptly Monday night. On Saturday the Wildcats satisfied their long wish to return to the Southeastern Conference title race by upsetting Alabama, 84-79, to tie for first place. But Monday night, it was Kentucky which was upset, falling 66-58 to Florida. Florida's pressing defense held fifth-ranked Kentucky scoreless for nine minutes of the second half and Gene Byrd provided the Gator offense with 20 points. Florida outscored Kentucky 14-0 in one stretch of the last 10 minutes of the game to win. Kevin Grevey led Kentucky, now 20-4, with 20 points. John Lotz, the Florida coach, called the victory his most satisfying since leading his team to the SEC lead by beating the two at the school. "Each player finally got it together with his best game of the year," Lotz said. "I was and was happily pleased with our defensive work. Those nine minutes we held them were just great." "We just weren't ready," said Kentucky Coach Joe Hall. "No second efforts. But it is kind of hard to be up after beating back Alabama." Seventh-ranked Alabama, meanwhile, surged back into the SEC lead by beating a 72-64 victory over Georgia. Charles Russell and Charles Cleveland had 20 points each to lead the Tide, now 21-3. In other major games Monday night, Auburn downed Louisiana State, 110-94. Florida State crushed Mercer, 91-68. Furman edged Jacksonville, 80-79. Georgia Tech dumped Tulane, 74-69. Tennessee whipped Mississippi State, 106-83. Vanderbilt defeated Mississippi, 68-60. North Carolina nipped Michigan State, 67-66. Purdue beat Ohio State, 84-72. Wisconsin shaded Michigan, 70-68, and Oral Roberts squeaked past Oklahoma City, 71-68.

Pro Golfing Tour Appears Healthy

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — On the surface at least, the pro golf tour seems to be healthy. Of the seven tournaments played to date on the so-called winter schedule, attendance is up, in some cases dramatically, and PGA officials seemingly are jumping for joy. So are some of the sponsors and the charities they support. "We're extremely pleased," Deane Beman, commissioner of the Tournament Players Division, said. "This has been a wonderful start especially in a year when other segments of our society are caught in an economic squeeze. The credit for our success to this point certainly goes to our sponsors and the hundreds of volunteers who help put on our tournaments." The tour shifts East this week for four consecutive events in Florida, starting with the Jackie Gleason Invitational Classic at Landerhill, and Beman for one probably is happy to get away from the West Coast, where this year his name has been mentioned about as often as Johnny Miller's. Despite the outward success of the pro tour in the West, Beman and the TPD have alienated a number of sponsors over a proposed share-and-share-alike television money package. The current format calls for each tournament with television rights to donate 30 per cent to a common pool. The second stage, to go into effect next year, calls for 50 per cent, and the third stage, to go into effect in 1977, calls for 75 per cent.

Finley Overruled By Court Verdict

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Charles O. Finley, who has had great success in baseball salary arbitration hearings the past few days, was overruled Monday in a court battle with his former concessionaire. The Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals reversed a lower court ruling that awarded the owner of the three-time world champion Oakland A's $846,504 in damages from Twin City Sportservice Corp. The appellate court, in handing down the decision, said Justice Tom C. Clark had incorrectly defined the "relevant market" two years ago in giving Finley $282,168 from Twin City City portservice, which held the concession franchise for the A's between 1954 and 1967 when they were still based in Kansas City. "The trial court erred in treating Sportservice as a seller of concession services to major league baseball teams," the appellate decision said. "Such services are sold to speculators who directly and immediately pay therefore — not to the major league baseball teams." "We must, therefore, remand this case to the district court to determine the scope of the relative franchise market."

The suit resulted from a franchise contract first signed in 1950 by Connie Mack, late owner of the Philadelphia A's, with a predecessor of Sportservice, Penn Sportservice Inc. The agreement included a "follow the franchise" clause which kept it in effect when the club moved to Kansas City.

Quebec Nears Division Title

NEW YORK (UPI) — Quebec, like New England and Houston, appears to have its division in the World Hockey Association all but wrapped up. One goal and two assists by Quebec's Rejean Houle led the Nordiques to a 5-3 victory over the San Diego Mariners before 11,229 fans Monday night. The victory was the 38th of the year for Quebec, which now leads second-place Toronto by ten points in the Canadian Division. Quebec's Chris Bordeleau opened the scoring at 1:30 of the first period with his 20th goal of the season. The Nordiques extended their lead to 5-0 with third period goals by Marc Tardieu, Jeanant Gilbert, Real Cloutier and Houle. "Each player finally got it together with his best game of the year," Lotz said. "I was and was happily pleased with our defensive work. Those nine minutes we held them were just great." "We just weren't ready," said Kentucky Coach Joe Hall. "No second efforts. But it is kind of hard to be up after beating back Alabama." Tennis Boom Sport of the 1970s, 34 Million Now Playing in U.S.

million are really serious and frequent players. Nearly as many women enjoy the game as do the men and herein lies the popularity of the sport. Nielsen figures show that 12,742,000 men played sometime last summer while the total of women players was 10,589,000. Jimmy Connors' mother, Gloria, said her son had grasped the fundamentals of the game by the age of seven, so it comes as no surprise to learn there are 2,047,000 registered players under the age of 11, while there are 8,971,000 in the age bracket between 12 and 17. The United States Lawn Tennis Association estimates there are 120,000 courts in the country and the number is growing by 1,000 per month. The bulk of these, 37,500, are located at clubs or resorts, while there are 22,000 municipal courts. Despite tight money and raging inflation there are 14,000 private courts which cost in the region of $15,000 each to build. The game is played during the entire 12 months, both in the sunny south and the colder east. There are now 1,400 indoor courts, mostly in the east, compared with only 250 six years ago. Television has played a big part in boosting the game and other reasons most commonly offered are: interest in physical fitness; increased leisure time; the opportunity to play around the clock; comparatively inexpensive equipment and, for busy people, the fact that a good workout in tennis can be achieved in an hour compared to three to four hours—and more—for a round of golf on a crowded course.

Beman and the TPD have alienated a number of sponsors over a proposed share-and-share-alike television money package. The current format calls for each tournament with television rights to donate 30 per cent to a common pool. Ralston Selects Aetna Cup Team

HARTFORD (UPI) — Marty Riessen, Arthur Ashe, Bob Lutz, Stan Smith and Dick Stockton will make up the American team that will try to wrest control of the Aetna World Cup from Australia next month. The American team was named Monday by Dennis Ralston who will captain the team. Riessen, 30, is a former Wimbledon champion and a former U.S. player in the $55,000 international competition to be held March 6-9 in the new Hartford Civic Center. The Aussies have won the AWC the past three years and have a commanding 4-1 lead in the annual series of veterans. John Newcombe, Ken Rosewall, Roy Emerson and 22-year-old

Stull, the tour lost two events this year and is in imminent danger of losing a third — the Quad Cities Open at Bettendorf, Iowa, scheduled for July 10-13. The principal booster of the event is a restaurant chain, which has withdrawn its sponsorship. Unless someone quickly comes up with the money, the event will be cancelled this summer. Additionally, while the TPD has put pressure on the celebrity-oriented West Coast events to increase their purses, there are six events, including Quad Cities, with purses of less than $150,000. One, the Tallahassee Open, carries a purse of only $60,000. No one at the moment seems certain that the TPD and the West Coast sponsors can get together, but Beman said before heading East the 1976 winter schedule will be released by early June.

Maryland No.2 In Weekly Poll

NEW YORK (UPI) — Indiana was a near unanimous choice as the No. 1 team in the weekly United Press Intentional major college basketball ratings, but Maryland has replaced UCLA in the runner-up position. Indiana, the nation's No. 1 team, has won three of its last four games, including Quad Cities, with purses of less than $150,000. One, the Tallahassee Open, carries a purse of only $60,000. No one at the moment seems certain that the TPD and the West Coast sponsors can get together, but Beman said before heading East the 1976 winter schedule will be released by early June.

Father & Son Players

MIAMI (UPI) — Both Miami Dolphin quarterback Earl Morrall and his son Matt will be playing football in Florida next fall, it was disclosed here Monday. Morrall said from Birmingham, Mich., he would line up for the Dolphins for his 20th professional season, backing up Bob Griese, and Matt signed a national letter of intent with the Florida Gators. So far as I know, there hasn't been any other active pro football player whose son was playing in college, and Jane (Mrs. Morrall) and I are real proud of that," Morrall told the Miami Herald by telephone.

McAdoo Well on Road To Second Point Title

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bluffin's Bob McAdoo is closing in on his second straight National Basketball Association scoring title as he heads into the final six weeks of the regular season with a two-point per game lead over Golden State's Rick Barry. The 29-year-old forward, announced last week by captain Fred Stolle, is made up of veterans John Newcombe, Ken Rosewall, Roy Emerson and 22-year-old Milwaukee's Kareem Abdul-Jabbar 30.1. Barry is first in steals with 2.79 per game and second in free throw percentage and assists in a game. New York's Bill Bradley, with whom Barry traded punches last week, leads in free throw percentage with a .915 average while Barry is at .900. Don Nelson of Boston retained the field goal percentage lead at .533.

Workout Washed Out

CLEARWATER, Fla. (UPI) — Rain washed out most of the Philadelphia Phillies' spring training workout Monday, but General Manager Paul Owens spent most of the day trying to come to terms with two of his unsigned stars. Owens met with Jerry Kapstein, who represents shortstop Larry Bowa and second baseman Dave Cash, and was hopeful of reaching a deal. "I believe the two are not far apart on a contract for more than one year for Bowa, but the negotiations for Cash have not been fruitful."

Free Agents Signed

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Giants announced Monday the signing of eight free agents for the 1975 season. The eight include Mike Ajello, a 6-foot-5, 225-pound linebacker from Fordham; Sid Bond, a 6-4, 270-pound offensive tackle from TCU; Kelly Curbow, a 6-5, 255-pound offensive tackle from Missouri and Billy Brittain, a 6-5, 250-pound offensive tackle from Kansas State. Also, Terry Brown, a 6-2, 205-pound defensive back from Kansas State; Charlie Williams, a 6-0, 190-pound defensive back from Ohio University; John May, a 6-3, 255-pound offensive end from Connecticut State; and Kevin O'Brien, a 6-1, 225-pound linebacker from St. Thomas College.

Robbie Arrives

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — Frank Robinson, first black manager in major league baseball, arrived here Monday to take control of the Cleveland Indians. Robinson, who will also be a designated hitter this year, warned his charges to look out for a "tough spring" camp. Coaches and players have been arriving here for the start of the spring camp which officially gets under way Wednesday with Media Day.

He Doesn't Know

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — Buffalo Sabres General Manager George "Punch" Imlach said Monday he doesn't know anything about a report that the National Hockey League Buffalo Sabres plan to train in Sweden prior to next season. Imlach's response came after Arne Stromberg, technical director for the Swedish 1st Division team of Faerjastad, said earlier Monday that it was "more than likely" that the Sabres would practice in Sweden and play four warm up games against Swedish opponents.

SPORTS BRIEFS

Out of Action

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Philadelphia Flyers will face Atlanta Wednesday night with at least two of their players, defenseman Jimmy Watson and forward Bill Clement, out of action. The Flyers said Monday that Clement, who suffered a knee laceration in Sunday's loss to the New York Rangers, has his left leg in a cast. Watson is suffering from back muscle spasms and will not play against Atlanta.

Trade Held Up

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Boog Powell of the Baltimore Orioles, the American League's most valuable player in 1974, appears headed for the Cleveland Indians. It was learned Monday that the Orioles are trying to trade the 33-year-old first baseman, along with pitcher Don Hood, to the Indians in return for catcher Dave Duncan and an unnamed player. All that is holding up the deal is the fourth man.

Claire Named VP

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Fred Claire, publicity director for the Los Angeles Dodgers, Monday was named vice president in charge of public relations and promotion, Dodger President Peter O'Malley said. Claire, 38, assumes the post held by Arthur "Red" Patterson, who was named president of the California Angels of the American League.

PGA Money Leaders

WASHINGTON, D.C. (UPI) — Pat Fitzsimons, who earned a mere $11,900 on the PGA tour last year, climbed into seventh place among the 1975 leaders Monday with earnings of $41,890, of which $30,000 was collected for last weekend's victory in the Los Angeles Open. Johnny Miller's three tourney triumphs this year kept the defending money champion on top with a total of $113,120. Gene Littler is second with $53,821 and Gary Grob stands third at $49,473.

Businessmen

MIAMI, Fla. (UPI) — Eight members of the Baltimore Orioles, defending American League East Division champions, officially became holdouts Monday as the club opened spring training for pitchers and catchers. Manager Earl Weaver had only five pitchers and one catcher from last year's club on hand for the opening workout. Pitchers Ross Grimsley, Bob Reynolds, Mike Torrey, Doyle Alexander, Wayne Garcia and Don Hulse, plus catcher Earl Williams and Andy Etchebarren are the holdouts.

1,000-Game Player

PORTLAND, ORE. (UPI) — LeRoy Ellis of the Philadelphia 76ers will become the ninth, 1,000-game player in the National Basketball Association in Tuesday night's game here with the Portland Trail Blazers. Ellis, who started his NBA career in 1962 with the Los Angeles Lakers, will be given the game ball to mark the milestone and also will be honored when the 76ers return home Friday night to meet the Seattle SuperSonics.

Brown's Brown Top Shooters

BOSTON (UPI) — Phil Brown, steady and unexcited like the team that bears his name, has the top shooting eye among New England Division I college basketball players, according to statistics released Monday. Brown, a 6-5 senior for Brown University, has converted 183 of 303 field goal attempts for a 60 percent success rate at 24 games. The figure from New York City also was averaged in 111.6 rebounds a game, second in that category, and was tied for seventh in scoring with a 17.4-point average.

Will Not Replace

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — A spokesman for the Kentucky Colonels said Monday the American Basketball Association club has no plans "at this time" to acquire an additional player to replace injured forward Jim Bradley. The Colonels, reduced to nine-man squad by the absence of Bradley, lost all three of their games last weekend to fall out of a tie with the New York Nets for the first place in the Eastern Division.

Pitt Grid Stars Could Be Pros

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — University of Pittsburgh athletic officials are investigating the possibility that star freshman running back Elliot Walker and his brother Leverga have become pro athletes by retaining a Miami attorney. Under NCAA rules, a college athlete may retain a person in the role of adviser but not in order to help negotiate for professional contracts. Elliot Walker, who played sparingly last year, has been touted as a bigger, stronger copy of Pitt sophomore running back Tony Dorsett, who gained over 1,600 yards in his first year as a Panther. Pitt Athletic Director Casimir Myslinski said Monday he did not know if any agreement had been signed between the Walkers and their attorney, Anthony Pace. "I haven't had a chance to talk with the Walkers," Myslinski said. "We've withheld, Tom Morris Jr. (from Pace). One seems to imply professionalism, the other does not. Neither of these contracts is signed. I'm trying to get an opinion from the NCAA."

Evans, Vare Included

PINEHURST, N.C. (UPI) — Six golfers from the game's early years, three Americans and three Brits, were named Monday to the World Golf Hall-of-Fame. Morris was a four-time British Open winner whose winning total of 149 in 1870 wasn't surpassed more than 30 years. He died suddenly on Christmas Day, 1875, at age 24. Miss Wethered, now Lady Heathcote-Amory, entered only 11 championships and won nine of them. Taylor won the British Open five times — the first in 1893 and the last in 1913. He was also a founder of the British Professional Golfers Association.

World Golf Shrine Admits Six More

ANDERSON, S.C. (UPI) — The six players named Monday and those to be elected in coming weeks will join 13 players who were inducted last September at the formal opening of the World Golf Hall-of-Fame here. Scheduled in September. The six players named Monday won a combined 26 national championships over a 67-year period.

First Woman Fails In Men's Net Play

RIDGEFIELD (UPI) — Able Maynard, the first woman ever to play in a men's professional tennis tournament, Monday learned the hard way that it goes together with the boys, dropping a 6-0, 6-0 match to Ion Tiriac of Rumania. "It was a little worse than I thought it would be," Maynard said with a thin smile after she dropped her first round match of the Fairfield International Tennis Tournament. "There was a lot of pressure on and it really showed. I had a bad game and I was pretty erratic. My serve was way off. That's the first thing that goes when you're nervous," she said. Maynard's nervousness, which she attributed to the publicity her appearance has attracted, was obvious as she failed frequently and was able to pick up only five points in the match, all in the set.

Nets' Julius Erving Fires Away

No Place Like Old Home With Memphis Sounds

NEW YORK (UPI) — There's no place like home for Julius Erving as he led the Nets to a 108-106 victory over the Memphis Sounds as guests to help the Colts get to a losing streak and back in the ABA East race for first place with New York. Erving led the Nets with 33 points but New York's got to foul Malone responded seconds later with his own dunk and the next shooting Stars scored the next six points to lead to the final buzzer. Two Clinics Get Grants

Two Manchester clinics have received grants from the Community Services Division of the state Department of Mental Health.

Grants totaling $161,588 were awarded to the Manchester Child Guidance Clinic and to Manchester Memorial Hospital.

The Manchester Child Guidance Clinic received a grant of $110,000, which is slightly more than half its annual operating budget.

The clinic has developed a variety of programs under the direction of Dr. Tanah Atontan for emotionally disturbed children and their families.

1,535 Idle in Manchester

Manchester's unemployment rate was 8.3 per cent in mid-January, the state Labor Department reported today. The number of townpeople out of work was estimated at 1,535.

The Manchester jobless rate was considerably less than the regional, statewide, and national unemployment rates. The department said it was a substantial increase over the town's unemployment rate of 5 per cent in mid-December.

Unemployment in the Hartford region (which includes Manchester and 26 other towns) was 7.3 per cent in mid-January, compared to 5.9 per cent a month earlier. Statewide, the mid-January figure was 7.7 per cent, compared to 7.1 per cent in mid-December. The national unemployment rate is estimated at 8.2 per cent.

Mid-January unemployment rates in neighboring towns were 8.2 per cent in Vernon (up from 6.6 per cent in December), 5.3 per cent in South Windsor (up from 4.3 per cent), 5.4 per cent in East Hartford (up from 4.3 per cent), and 4.8 per cent in Glastonbury (up from 3.6 per cent).

The highest regional unemployment rate in mid-January was in the Danbury area, with 18.4 per cent of the work force out of work, the department said. The lowest rate was in the New London area, with 1.5 per cent unemployed.

Missing

Elizabeth (Betsy) Fox, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Fox of 31 Edgerton St., has been reported missing from her home by her parents. The Manchester Police Department has been notified.

Mrs. Fox said she last saw her daughter on the morning of Feb. 8. She was wearing a black and white plaid jacket, a black rabbit fur jacket and carrying a light brown leather hand-tooled over the shoulder handbag.

The missing girl is 5 feet 5, has dark blond hair, blue eyes and weighs approximately 105 pounds. Her mother says she was frequently hitchhiked.

Anyone having any information as to her whereabouts is asked to contact the Manchester Police Department or her parents.

Commission unanimous

The Rev. John Mortimer said, "We're talking about human beings and human needs of some 3,500 to 4,000 senior citizens in the Tri-Town area consisting of 94 square miles."

He said one of the greatest needs is transportation. "We have to think of transportation as they see it...a regular bus driving through the Tri-Town area."

He said most of the senior citizens feel they have already lost a good part of their lives. "Core transportation...esteem is being diminished and they hate to ask for anything."

He said the regular bus run would give them some sense of self-esteem.

He said "It is a matter of regional consciousness."

Public Discussion Shifts Vernon Transit Stance

The mayor said, after that meeting, that Vernon would not stand in the way of the other towns at the same time meeting Monday night and was followed up by the Town Council giving provisional approval to a sub-regional program and the towns of Vernon, Tolland and Ellington would be funded by the state and federal governments through the Urban Mass Transportation Act.

The town of Vernon has a satisfactory plan going for its senior citizens and therefore has been reluctant to become involved with a regional program which officials felt might end up not serving the Vernon citizens.

In giving Mayor Frank McCoy the authority to sign a letter of intent to participate in the program the approval was based on the provision that Vernon would not loose control of its existing vehicles and would be contingent upon affirmative action of the other two towns.

At the outset of last night's meeting the mayor explained some of the background of other meetings held to discuss a regional approach to the problem.

The Committee on Aging of the Hockanum Valley Community Services Council has taken an active part in pushing for the regional program. The mayor said at a recent meeting no clear, factual evidence was given concerning the needs of Ellington and Tolland.

Glenn Roberts, who heads the Committee on Aging for the and again declining to a 208 increase from the present rate in the tenth year. The figures are on the assumption that one mill equals $100,000 and the Grand List remains constant over the next 11 years. The first year would be consumed by construction.

Member Debra Baum said she was confused by the number of conflicting figures for the cost of a new building. She said she would know if the estimated costs were $29 per square foot, $35 per square foot or $53 per square foot.

Architect Richard Lawrence of Lawrence Associates held the administration building, which is on the site for the new building. The $29 to $30 per square foot is for building costs alone. The $53 per square foot includes the cost of furnishing, equipment, architect fees and site cost is included in Lawrence said these

School Board Seeks More Data on Space Need

The Vernon Board of Education last night accepted the ad hoc committee report on space for school administration personnel, for informational purposes only. Those members who voted for the motion expressed a desire to look further into some of the questions raised by the report.

William Houle told the board that the maximum cost for the room for a new building would be $300,000 with the state paying up another $300,000. The total would be $600,000 per year plus 4% interest under a ten-year bonding plan. The largest amount the town would have to pay would be $42,000 in the first year with a decline every year thereafter.

Pregnant Soldier Given Discharge

McCormick said Mrs. Gaudreau would probably be given a general discharge from the Army within three or four days.

Gaudreau, enlisted in the Army last spring, under a delayed entry plan, during her first semester in high school, and was to report for basic training following her graduation.

In the meantime, however, she met her future husband, Ernest, and finally married him on Sept. 14.

She had gone with another group of recruits to New York late in June for transfer to Alabama but she missed the flight and returned to Manchester.

She had been warned that she could be charged as a deserter.

McCormick said she was first enlisted because the Army offered her a college education she could not afford.
