Manchester Evening Herald OPINION

Budget Ploys

Before the business of finalizing state, school and town budgets gets too serious, we'd like to make a few light-hearted observations about the ploys used in budget gamemanship by our bureaucrats.

First, there is the "We'll-Have-to-Cut-Police-and-Fire-Protection" ploy. This is to scare you into thinking that every other item in the budget has been pared to the bone and that an extra untrillion dollars or so is needed to protect your life and property.

What it really means is that "We'll scare them so much they won't look at the rest of the budget where all our in-laws are working or even raise questions like why we need a voter registrar for each political party."

Second, with the adequate staff necessary ploy. With this tactic we are told that unless there is adequate staff certain programs and projects cannot be carried out effectively.

What it really means is that each bureaucrat's prestige is measured by the number of people on his staff. For him to admit he could do the job with less staff would violate the Bureaucratic Oath which says never assign one man to a job two men can do half as well.

Third we have the comparison caper. Here is where we are told Manchester (or the state's towns) get less state aid than towns in other states therefore the state should be doing more to ease the tax burden on local property.

What it really means is that the local bureaucrats are getting the heat from the property taxpayer and when they're to increase their budgets they have to get money from somewhere else.

Does this mean no tax break for the local property owner? Again, we have two definitions of tax breaks. One is for state aid to actually lessen mill rates for a year or two and the other is to use state aid to defer mill increases for a year or two. What it amounts to is temporary relief or aspirin politics.

And we have the inflation-escalator tactic. Inflation has eroded the value of the tax dollar therefore more dollars are needed to do the same things.

What they are really saying is that we don't know how to do it any cheaper. This means the taxpayer must pay more and more for less and less which is the essence of good bureaucracy.

While not a tactic or ploy for getting budget increases approved by taxpayers, tax cuts or selective tax increases come into play also. Promises of tax cuts, no tax increases, or no new taxes have a way of fading fast after elections.

The reason is that public budgets are based on two uncontrolled items which are controlled in private budgets. These uncontrollable are called income and expense.

Tax income is constantly re-estimated upward depending on spending needs. In normal economic times, revenue tends to increase and keep pace with expense increases. But in abnormal times, revenue estimates are changed downward and expenses continue to increase, thus making a case for tax increases.

So there will be talk of increased sales taxes and a valiant battle to avert an income tax until Uncle Sam threatens to cut federal aid to Connecticut because its tax effort is less than other states.

This also is a deception to keep us from realizing that we are going to be taxed as much as 10 or 12 per cent more next year.

You won't find it in the budgets but because of the deficits projected in the federal budget and other bureaucratic tinkering with the economy, it will lessen the value of your paycheck, your pension, your savings, and your property. It is the cruellest tax of all, inflation, which is nourished by the fact that we continue to make it profitable.

Watch For Youngsters

In its infinite wisdom, Congress voted last year to return to Daylight Time in February instead of April as we used to do.

The idea was to have Standard Time during the winter months and the shortest days. Generally speaking, the switch last Sunday probably is not any hardship to much of the nation, but we in Connecticut are on the eastern edge of the time zone and for the next few weeks it will be dark when many youngsters start for school.

We hope motorists particularly will be on the alert until daylight catches up with what Congress intended, enough light for safe passage of our youngsters to school.

We hope that parents of children who bicycle to school will check those bicycles to see they are adequately reflectorized so they can be readily spotted by motorists.

With the advent of Daylight Time, hope springs eternal that spring is near. Let's not mar that happy thought with an injury or fatality due to inattention during this transition period.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

In the give and take of daily existence, occasionally people are bound to rub us the wrong way, hurt our pride, take unfair advantage, be thoughtless or ungrateful. The minor irritations we can usually take in stride, but the serious hurts — betrayal or rejection by someone close to us — may fill us with the blind urge to return hurt for hurt. Without the saying grace of forgiveness, injury begets injury until revenge has run its course of mutual destruction.

We often think of forgiveness as a form of charity. It is, of course, but we may overlook the fact that the benefits extend both ways. It is as beneficial to forgive as to be forgiven. This is not a formula but a spirit which can bring out the best in people and brighten up every moment of their lives. It is one of the happy paradoxes of human behavior that the reader we are to forgive, the less we are called on to do so. It's one of the signs of love, according to St. Paul, "Love is always ready to forgive" (1 Corinthians 13, 17). "If I had my way," said a wise old lawyer, "I'd change the marriage promise to read, 'love, honor and forgive.' It would be a healthy reminder of the power that could save many marriages."

marriages consists of two words — "I'm sorry." And it should be said as soon as it's needed. Putting it off only deepens the wound and forestalls forgiveness. A true apology is more than just an acknowledgment of a mistake. It is recognition that something we have said or done has damaged a relationship and that we care enough about that relationship to want it repaired and restored. It doesn't always require words. Even the touch of a hand can restore broken communications. We should never underestimate this silent language of the heart.

Christ gave us the law of forgiveness to keep us from hurting ourselves as well as others. Hatred always defeats its purpose and gradually destroys those obsessed by it. One who hates another is not free; rather he is enslaved by his enemy. One sometimes hears a person say, "I can forgive, but I cannot forget." This is usually just another way of saying "I will not forgive." Forgiveness ought to be like a canceled note — ripped up and burned, so that a person's debt can never be used against him. ANDREW TULLY 'Only In America'

WASHINGTON — One is reminded of the response uttered by the late movie mogul, Sam Goldwyn, when informed that Dublin had a Jewish mayor. "It could happen only in America."

Here we are with 1975 less than two months old and Democratic politicians are yearning to save the Republic by winning the Presidency already have raised nearly $4-million for a campaign that will not end until November 1976. Indeed, every penny of that $4-million was raised last year, before a new law limiting individual contributions to $1,000 an election vote into effect Jan. 1.

Only in America is this, the Presidential campaign obviously will be a cavalry charge. On the Democratic side, almost everybody is either already running or says he's willing to run. And although the Republicans have an incumbent in the White House, the natives are restless that Sen. Howard H. Baker, Jr., of Tennessee has announced his "availability," whether or not Gerald Ford stands for re-election.

Ford had a press conference in Atlanta that Baker had a right to run. What else could he say? Besides, Ford is no political novice. He knows there are other aspirants breathing down his neck, notably his very own Vice President Rockefeller, and also including former California Gov. Ronald Reagan and Sen. Charles Percy of Illinois.

Only in America is every boy told he can grow up to be President and all sorts of politicians are taking that seriously. There are 17 Democrats either running or interested in running and the number could swell. No one would die of shock if Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota decided to make another run, or Maine's Sen. Ed Muskie. In Capitol Hill, there are rumors that Sen. Teddy Kennedy is reconsidering his decision to stay out of the race.

Only in America could it happen that Alabama's Gov. George Wallace raised more campaign dough than any other would-be candidate in 1974 — a whopping $1,750,000. Not to disparage the gutsy little governor, who has a lot more horse sense than some of the glamor pussies, but the best he can hope for is to influence the choice of a Democratic nominee.

That would be had for most of the Democratic hopefuls, but not necessarily for Sen. Henry Jackson of Washington, or Sen. Lloyd Bentsen of Texas — who raised, respectively, $1,130,000 and $1,034,804 last year. Neither Jackson nor Bentsen is a hard-core liberal, and as a Wallace man put it the other day: "George could be comfortable with either he couldn't do any better."

At any rate, as of now Jackson, Bentsen and Wallace are the big men in the money sweepstakes. And as the relatively little-known George McGovern proved in 1972, any candidate who raises a lot of money can win the nomination.

Moreover, it is significant that other candidates were left far behind the three leaders in the 1974 fund-raising game. Former North Carolina Gov. Terry Sanford raised only $62,241. Former Gov. Jimmy Carter of Georgia raised only $46,723. Rep. Morris Udall, D-Ariz., the first to announce in November raised $20,975. Even former Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota, potential candidate of the Committee for a Constitutional Presidency, did better with $38,559, although he picked up $21,000 of that total from William Clay Ford of the Detroit Fords.

It's still early, of course, and more Democrats will be heard from because nobody can lock up the nomination for at least a year. Ohio's Sen. John Glenn, first man on the moon, is interested, and so is Robert Byrd, assistant Senate Minority Leader. There are the perennial possibilities like Sen. Frank Church of Idaho, Birch Bayh of Indiana and Adlai Stevenson of Illinois. There are the dark horses: Gov. Dan Walker of Illinois, Gov. Edmund Brown of California, Sargent Shriver of the Kennedy Shivers, and Mayor Kevin White of Boston.

After all, they're politicians, and as Scotty Reston of The New York Times once wrote, "Politics is like booze and women: dangerous but incomparably exciting."

HI NEIGHBOR By BURL LYONS

It seems that nearly every time the Town of Manchester deals with the federal government the town is faced with a panic button approach when it comes to making a decision.

The latest example is that federal funds might be available to start an elderly transportation system in Manchester but the deadline for getting a share of the "free" money is March 14.

Certainly, someone, somewhere, must have been aware of such a program as early as January or December.

We should tell the feds what they can do with their money. Another case in point. For weeks there has been a lot of time and discussion as to how we could best spend the new federal grant windfall. That program moved at a frenzied pace also and possibly more time and more study may have been beneficial in the long run.

Day care centers weren't around when we were young and rearing a family so couples had to handle their own baby-sitting service.

We agree that we live in a different age and day today. However, we hope town directors give a lot of solid thinking before launching or participating in any new programs of any magnitude. Due to the economic climate, and the critical tax situation facing us at both the town and state level, we cannot afford any new programs.

John Mitchell, former attorney general, got a lot of mileage out of that comment concerning Martha with whom he is legally separated. His comment brought the remark from a cohort here at The Herald that the telephone company should give serious consideration to carrying a photo of Martha on the centerfold of the new directory.

Some bankers have told us that a few 1974 income tax refund checks have started to make their way to the windows of tellers. Since the Internal Revenue Service says processing takes about six weeks, some folks must have filed real early.

IRS reports that tax refunds will be greater in size and number this year than last year because of overwithholding by employees and the poor condition of the economy. The service predicts that some 68 million persons will be entitled to an average refund of $385.

From The Meriden Record: Then there's the story about the Forist who got an order for a funeral mixed up with an order for a City Hall secretary at inauguration time. The secretary got the funeral wreath, and at the cemetery was an impressive floral piece that said, "Lots of luck under the new administration."

The Arabs are seeking to get into the newspaper business in this country, of course, as well as other businesses. A newspaper broker in New York received a letter from a Mideast businessman and publisher that he is actively seeking acquisition of U.S. newspaper properties.

Another victory for newspapers. The Massachusetts Supreme Court has dismissed suits against two Boston newspapers by ruling that the refusal by a newspaper to accept advertising for publication is not an unfair trade practice.

Registration fees and other expenses of the state orchestra members will be covered by a $500 technical assistance grant given to the Waterbury Symphony Orchestra by the Connecticut Commission on the Arts.

The grant request is being disbursed by the Connecticut Foundation for the Arts, the state arts agency's grant-giving wing.

The court said that the sale and publication of newspapers is a private enterprise and that newspapers are free to do business with whomever they choose.

Newspaper publishers are "under no obligation to accept advertising from all who apply for it."

People read about state and federal budgets but most have no conception when it comes to millions or billions of dollars. Out in North Carolina, a bank officer reports that a million in $1 bills, if you could ever get them all together, would be 312 1/2 feet high. Does that give you some indication?

A survey just out reveals what might be a startling fact. Despite the "new life style" publicity, the young marry at about the same age as their parents did. However, it is no surprise to learn that they don't have children at the same rate and hence the dramatic decline in the under-five population.

Something to think about. Two years ago, about $4 billion in benefits paid out under the basic federal unemployment compensation law.

With an average unemployment rate of 7.5 per cent this year, the projected cost for today's expanded efforts would be $17 billion, according to the Labor Department. However, a jobless rate that low for the year now seems unrealistic and some analysts suggest that this year's unemployment benefits tab could reach $20 billion.

Under the federal law, 90 per cent of the employer-paid tax goes to the states and 10 per cent to the federal government. Together, they form the pool from which benefits are paid. Some five states, among them Connecticut, are borrowing or have applied for loans from the federal government to keep their programs going. Yes, Mr. or Mrs. Employer, you can look forward to an upward adjustment in your tax rate.

A number of retailers and shopping centers across the country are planning to kick off their Bicentennial advertising and promotion plans late next month. It isn't too early for Manchester area retailers to be outlining plans for promoting the nation's 200th birthday.

The other day we took an auto journey of about 300 miles and traveling at the rate of 55 miles per hour it seemed we were never standing still. A great many other motorists must have felt the same thing as we were repeatedly passed. One point for certain, it did improve our gas mileage which is leaving something to be desired these days. We can't understand, though, why we paid six cents a gallon less for a major brand of gasoline in Massachusetts compared to Manchester.

Since the Department of Transportation's Nickel Day, Dime Day bus promotions proved popular there is a possibility that even free rides might be considered in the future.

Regardless of the charge, or no charge, we don't think Manchester taxpayers should have to help foot the bill for buses to take shoppers to Hartford. There is evidence that the cash registers of Manchester area businesses have suffered with the DOT's bus promotions for Hartford merchants.

SCENE FROM HERE By SOL R. COHEN

It Grew, and Grew, and...

The only way I could get it home was to lay it flat on its side in the trunk of my car. When I got home, I lifted it gingerly from the trunk, carried it to the house and stood it upright on the porch.

Except to move it in and out of the house, as the seasons and temperature changed, it was the only contact I had with it and the only contact I wanted to have with it.

To me it was a monster. It reminded me of a story I once read — about mythical man-eating monsters brought back from Mars by mythical explorers of that planet.

My wife loved it. She'd had her eye on it for several weeks. The first time she saw it, it was nothing but a baby. It needed special food and special care. So, she left it there to grow up.

To say it was full grown the next time we saw it (and bought it) is the understatement of the century.

If you ever wanted to see a man-eating rubber plant, you should have stopped by our house during the time (the plant) was alive and before it was its way to oblivion. We had it standing next to our old rubber plant — the one with more trunk showing than leaves. The new one was so luxuriant, we couldn't even see its trunk.

Remember the old saying, "He couldn't see the trees for the forest?" Well, with that plant I couldn't see the house for the porch.

When I told my wife what I thought about her new plant, she wanted to know, "Why didn't you tell me before we bought it?"

Get a load of that "we" bit. The only thing about it even resembling "we" is that she paid for it with my money.

"Look," she had said when we stopped by the garden center to pick up a couple of eight-nine-cent plants, "the rubber plant I was so crazy about is still here, and just see how it's grown."

How could I help but see. The plant occupied everything else within a 500 square foot area. People would approach it, do a double take, and retrace their steps. Only one hardy explorer went around it. We never saw him again.

When my wife learned the full-grown rubber plant cost only two dollars more than it had as a sapling, there was no stopping her. She asked me for the money, paid for it and had me carry it out to the car.

So, I lay it flat on its side in the trunk of the car and drove home. I know now I had the subconscious feeling something would happen to it before got home.

Something happened to it alright. It grew the trunk — that's what happened to it.

Kindergarten Registration Set Two Days

Advance registration for children eligible to enter kindergarten in September will be Wednesday and Thursday, March 5 and 6 from 3 to 4 p.m. at the schools they will attend.

Letters of notification are being sent to families having prospective kindergarten children. Any parents who do not receive registration forms are asked to call the nearest elementary school for the necessary materials.

A child may enroll in kindergarten if he is five years old on or before Jan. 1, 1976. At the time of registration, the parent is asked to bring the child's birth certificate, proof of diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough immunization, rubella (German measles) and polio inoculations, and evidence that the child has had measles vaccine or the disease. Smallpox vaccination is no longer required.

The Board of Education also may require proof that a tuberculin test has been given between the ages of three and five. A final request is that each child have a physical examination before September.

If children cannot be immunized for medical or other reasons, parents should present statements at registration time. It is not necessary for children to appear at registration.

Notification letters also tell of a pre-school screening program to be administered at a date to be announced. An appointment for the screening procedure will be made on registration days.

Screening includes a parent interview and informal appraisal of each child in the area of visual acuity, motor coordination and receptive and expressive language.

Vernon To Seek $25,000 Grant For Valley Falls, Newhoca

VERNON
BARBARA RICHMOND
 The town of Vernon will file an application for $25,000 in federal Housing and Community Development Act (CDA) funds and state its objective will be improvements to Camp Newhoca and Valley Falls Park.

The Town Council has voted to authorize Mayor Frank McCoy to file the application. The town is scheduled to receive a total of $100,000 spread over a five-year period therefore the town cannot embark on any large project as the funding program will end at that time.

Valley Falls Park is owned by the town and has undergone several improvements. Camp Newhoca was purchased about a year ago and has yet to undergo major improvements.

The funds are designated for use for public facilities, neighborhood facilities, senior citizen centers, utilities, or historic properties.

Report Makes Plea to Save Blighted Downtown Rockville

BARBARA RICHMOND
 The committee cited as causes of the exodus, the lack of access roads, the lack of parking facilities, improper planning, gross inefficiency, and poor utilization of development.

Among the assets of the area it listed the significant pre-20th century architecture, natural beauty of terrain and river, and local residential area and pride of vested home ownership, availability of federal and state funds, and the availability of local investment to back positive citizen involvement.

Expanding on the causes of the problem, the committee said Rockville suffers from poor access in all directions. It said from the north, Ellington Ave. enters the town indirectly and only through stop signs and stop lights and is too narrow when cars are parked on either side.

It termed Snipsic St. a "converted cowpath that freezes over from poor drainage, has no sidewalks, and cannot be considered a secondary artery."

The committee said to the town, the mayor, and the council will take an active part in halting any further disintegration and to implement a coordinated plan to reinvigorate the vigor associated with the area for many years.

Massage Parlor Ordinance Tabled

BARBARA RICHMOND
 In view of some questions raised by Atty. David Marder at a public hearing concerning an ordinance regulating the operation of massage parlors in Vernon, the Town Council tabled action on the ordinance until the town attorney reviews some proposed changes.

Atty. Marder represented the owners of an existing massage parlor in Vernon, "Man's World," on Rt. 83. He said his client's overall objection deals generally with legal constitutional questions the proposed ordinance raises.

He said the ordinance attempts to regulate things that are regulated by criminal law. One of the sections he objected to concerns a requirement that persons working in a massage parlor have at least 70 hours of training.

He said state officials said there is no such school around that has this type of curriculum and there are no proposed schools either, he said.

He said he doesn't feel that alternatives have been explored. Although he said it might be possible to arrange something with the University of Connecticut program for physiotherapists.

He also objected to the section concerning alterations of existing facilities which may be non-conforming use. He said if structural changes are required, zoning regulations might make it impossible to comply.

Atty. Marder emphasized that his clients do not have any objections to any part of the ordinance concerning health and welfare of the people. However, he questioned the ordinance section setting standards of attire for employees. He said he wondered if an employer would be asked to put such restrictions on employees in any other business.

The ordinance sets standards of dress specifying the top portion of the body has to be covered and also specifying that skirts can be no higher than just above the knees.

Atty. Marder also registered objections to the hours set by the ordinance that the parlors may operate. The ordinance sets 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

He said, "Curtailling the hours would not necessarily attain the end which that particular section might desire."

"The overall ordinance raises some very serious constitutional questions," he said. "There were no other comments for or against the ordinance. But in view of the questions raised by Atty. Marder, the mayor asked the council to vote to table the action and refer the ordinance to the town attorney to re-draft and bring back for approval."

Vernon To Add Ice Rink Consultant

BARBARA RICHMOND
 Vernon Mayor Frank McCoy was authorized Monday night to sign a contract with Boos-Allen & Hamilton as consultants for a phase II feasibility study for a proposed ice facility in town.

Carlisle-Edwards Inc. did the first phase of the study but because that firm is relatively new in the field, the Ice Facility Study Committee ran into a problem of trying to get an underserving firm to back the proposal.

A New York City underwriter, Herbert Sims had expressed interest in the project but withdrew his proposal noting that Carlisle-Edwards, Inc. was not well-known enough "on the street."

Kathleen Zacher an associate of Boos-Allen-Hamilton attended last night's meeting with Dale Martin of the study committee, to present a proposal.

The town has already approved an appropriation of $13,000 for the second feasibility study and it was not clear on question about the credibility of the consulting firm.

Councilman Thomas Dooley emphasized that the firm is very reputable in the business world but he questioned whether any underwriter would be interested in the Vernon project, especially without the town underwriting it.

The proposal is to have the users pay for the facility and no cost to the town other than for the studies.

Councilman Richard MacDonald said he was a proponent of the proposal when it was first initiated more than a year ago. He said the economy was rallying then but now we are in the midst of a depression or an economic recession and "I don't feel the town can afford $13,000 for the study and it was not clear on question about the credibility of the consulting firm."

Boos-Allen plans to use the services of Geoffrey Walsh of Carlisle-Edwards who did the first study.

The firm will do a complete analysis of the proposed uses of the facility, operating costs, market demand and such and then prepare a detailed report concerning his opinion of the feasibility of developing such a facility.

Cycle Training To Be Extended

VERNON
 A pilot motorcycle course, approved by the Vernon Board of Education a year ago and instituted this past September, will be extended for another six weeks.

The Board of Education, Monday night, voted to grant the extension on the request of Jerry Fitzgerald, driver education manager, and to include in its budget, the cost of the program.

The initial registration for the course was 19 students but actual attendance boomed down to seven, Fitzgerald said.

The students pay $10 for the course. The gross cost for salaries for the classroom and riding phases was $180 and insurance, $25. The net cost was $215 and the net cost $145.

John Larabee of Manchester Honda loaned, free-of-charge, three small cycles, and helmets were donated by several dealers.

The training program and the materials for it were also donated and the Department of Motor Vehicles granted permission to use the school parking lot and not to require that the cycles be registered.

The classes were taught by Philip Kelson and Leon Kassler, both members of the high school faculty and qualified driving and motorcycle instructors. The course ran from Sept. 21 to Nov. 23.

Noting that the small number taking the course was a disappointment, Fitzgerald said.

Special Education Over Budgeted

VERNON
Ron Dickerman
 In a report to the Board of Education last night, Albert Kerkin, head of special education in Vernon, said $70,000 has been spent this year on special education, $25,000 over the budget.

He also told the board that the special education budget for the town of Vernon was substantially lower than the budgets of surrounding towns.

Dr. Raymond Ramsdell, superintendent of schools, also spoke to the board about the deficit. He said the budget for this item is hard to pin down because the Board of Education has no say in where special students get their education. Outside agencies and the children's family pretty much dictate where the child will go to school.

Even though the town feels it can provide the education and training required by the child, it has to follow the dictates of the state in this matter, according to Dr. Ramsdell.

Dr. Ramsdell said that even though the state partially reimburses the town for expenses incurred by these children, the money goes back into the town treasury, not the school budget.

The funds originally come out of the school budget.

He also said there will be a $1,900 deficit for the Driver Education Program this year.

Child Drowns

WINDHAM (UPI)—Jennifer Clark, 2, of Windham, died Tuesday afternoon after she wandered into a neighbor's yard, climbed through a hole in a fence and fell into a swimming pool, state police said.

The child was pronounced dead on arrival at Windham Memorial Hospital in Willimantic.

Cemetery Land Bought

VERNON
 On request of the Grove Hill Cemetery Association and following a public hearing and a special town meeting, the Vernon Town Council approved Monday night the purchase of additional land next to the cemetery.

Mrs. Elizabeth Lugg, a member of the committee, said the committee feels the purchase is extremely desirable. She said it would increase the number of lots that could be made available for cemetery use.

The land will be purchased for $24,000 appropriated by the special town meeting. It has a house on it which Mrs. Lugg suggested could be used by a caretaker so an eye could be kept on the area.

It will mean 540 more lots and the sale of these will mean more money will be pouring in than it cost for the purchase.

Fire Calls Show 30% Hike for Year

SOUTH WINDSOR
Judy Kuchel
 Investigations revealed that 25 per cent of all fires were caused by abandoned or discarded material; 17 per cent were started by children and 17 per cent were caused by electrical short circuits and part failures. Another 17 per cent of all fires were of a suspicious nature.

Responses not involving fires included: Motor vehicle accidents, 18 per cent; mistaken and accidental alarms, 10 per cent and public service calls, 8 per cent. There were two more malicious false alarms reported.

Officials could not attribute the increase in alarms to anything in particular.

The South Windsor Zoning Board of Appeals (ZBA) will meet March 6 at 8 p.m. in Town Hall to consider three applications.

Mr. Mario and Erika Cicero, 375 Denning St., is requesting a variance to allow a building lot with less than the required frontage on premises known as 375 Denning Street, AA-30.

All persons interested in petitions may appear and be heard. Copies of the application are on file in the building inspector's office.

Committee Accepts Portion Of Health Curriculum

SOUTH WINDSOR
Judy Kuchel
 Correspondent
 644-1364

South Windsor's Human Development and Health Education Committee has given preliminary acceptance of coordinator Joel Wells' K-1 section of the revised curriculum.

The committee has been awaiting the revision undertaken by Wells in an attempt to satisfy opponents critical of the discussion of human reproduction in kindergarten and first grade.

The new curriculum, presented by Wells last week, eliminates all mention of reproduction and simply states that all living things reproduce themselves and a baby is nourished within the mother and grows until it is born.

School officials said they feel the new curriculum "reflects the concerns of everyone in the best way possible."

Most changes in the new curriculum consist of moving subjects and terminology up a grade level or two.

Included in the accepted kindergarten and first grade curriculum were the following concepts:

- There is a pattern of growth that is unique for each individual.
- The senses enable one to learn about the world around him.
- Teeth. Their importance and why.
- Good food and eating habits are essential for good health.
- Rest and sleep are aids to good health.
- Physical exercise and its importance.
- Personal appearance and clean health habits.
- Every person is a member of a family and all families and homes differ. Families vary in membership, size, race and color.
- Everyone is an individual and deserves consideration. This can be accomplished through sharing.
- Everyone expresses feelings in different ways. The way feelings are expressed can effect the way one gets along with others.
- Leisure time.
- Each individual can express his personality in ways that are directed toward responsible behavior.
- Reproduction continues a species.
- All babies require protection and care for survival. A baby may receive milk from the mother's breast or from a prepared formula out of a bottle.
- Safety and first aids and the preventing of accidents.

School board members will meet again Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at Timothy Edwards School to continue discussion on Grades 2-4.

It is not known exactly when the course will be implemented in South Windsor schools, however, some sources believe that the new curriculum will be taught by the end of the present school year.

Notices Sent Out On Changes Made In Revaluations

SOUTH WINDSOR
Judy Kuchel
 Correspondent

Notices regarding changes in South Windsor revaluation have been completed and mailed to affected property owners throughout the community.

Notices indicating "no change" in the original revaluation figure, as compiled by United Appraisal Company were sent to 475 while 328 notices were sent indicating a "change" in the original revaluation figure as compiled by United. Of the 328 notices changed, 128 applied to Main St. properties.

Informal hearings held by United resulted in nearly 1,000 persons attending, of which 175 attended for "information only," officials said today.

Some persons received notices indicating a change in the original revaluation figure even though they did not attend the informal hearings. This was due to the fact that United made modifications in areas affecting sections of the community.

Correspondent
646-0375

The Board of Selectmen received an explanation of assessment of dues to the Capitol Region Council of Governments (CRCOG) for fiscal 1975-1976.

The council uses a three-part formula giving equal weight to population, land area and the net grand list.

Bolton's population is 3,700 or .006 per cent of the total of towns in CRCOG; land area is 15.5 acres or .022 per cent and net grand list $21 million or .010 per cent.

Due to the assessment Bolton's cost is $800 for CRCOG, $80 for the crime squad and $109 for the Capitol Region Drug Information Center (CRDIC).

In other business the selectmen:

- Accepted a report from the town clerk to the secretary of state showing Bolton as being one voting district, having 1,088 registered voters and having four voting machines.
- Appointed to a temporary salary study committee because it is close to budget time. A request was made by Raymond Woollett, librarian, to investigate comparable library salary budgets in order to adjust the salaries of the

In a letter to Yvo Anson, Republican Town Committee chairman, Post resigned from the committee.

He said he has been dissatisfied with the neglect of the committee in taking any action on many controversial transactions of the present administration.

Post said the transactions include: "promissuous oversteering, unauthorized expenditures and the rubberstamping of town meetings."

Post said he does not agree with the direction taken by the committee for the 1975 election. He said he and a number of townspeople feel a new administration is needed in Andover.

"We need an administration that will be more true in with the times, one that works with its townspeople by watching the budget and by responding to their needs," he said.

STAMPS AND COINS
By RUSS MacKENDRICK

Another look at American history through stamps which should remind us of some blessings to count.

In the early days of the POD there was no mail pickup or delivery. Not even a drop-box. Anyone had to take his letter to the post office and go back there for the answer. So it was natural that local services should spring up to fill the gap. And by the early 1840's there were already several private carriers delivering between business places and homes and post offices.

Actually the first adhesive stamp used in the United States was issued in 1847 by the City Dispatch Post of New York. This was just a year after Britain's famous Penny Black and five years before our Scott No. 1, the 5-cent Franklin.

The total number of local delivery companies that put out stamps is listed at 168. Most of them gave up after the Act of 1861 that made them illegal. There was one in 1864, though, the Bicycle Mail Route (between Fresno and San Francisco) that carried 300 letters during a strike. Also in 1868, for just five days, there was the Blizzard Mail issue that went on letters mailed during the snowdrifts into New York City.

The Hussey's "Special Message" shown here is a Scott No. 1491, which came out in 1879. The other is the Empire City Dispatch, issued in 1881, but almost immediately squashed by the establishment.

More exciting but not available would have been a Wells Fargo Pony Express stamp issued in 1861, and a Hartford, Conn. Mail Route. The Hartford stamp (1844) shows a top-hatted man striding across a river with a bag marked "MAIL." This stamp lists at $50 unissued.

The Hussey stamp is typical of the Private Die Proprietaries that substituted for some of the Revenues issued in 1862 to help finance the Civil War.

If you think our pesky sales tax is bad, remember it is only money. What if you had the right amount to find just the scratch stamp every time you

Collective Bargaining is due on the 13th of March

Collective Bargaining is due on the 13th of March and the Contributors to the Cause foursome on the 25th.

Also in March the United Nations will issue four stamps plumping for peaceful uses of outer space.

Later, in May, we will have the third in this year's American Art set. This one will honor the poet, Paul Laurence Dunbar.

The N.Y. Times has a picture of a proposed design for a $2 bill. It is welcome back if they will make it ungreen so it won't mix up with a five.

Do you know what paper money collectors call each other? Ragpickers!

A kind of pre-numismatic show will be put on at the Central Connecticut Coin Club next Tuesday. It will be a film on silver mining and metallurgy. Place: K of C Home, 138 Main St. Time: 7:30 p.m. March 4. Bourse and refreshment bar—everybody welcome.

Producers of matches, canned fruits, perfumery, playing cards, and some medicines were permitted to make up their own designs and at least get a bit of advertising out of the nuisance.

The stamp shown was put out by a firm between 1861 and '81 to push their "Lansbury's Perfumery." Note the bottom line: "U.S. Inter. Rev."

The "Am. Rapid Tel." is a prepaid telegram stamp meant to be put on messages dropped into a box for pickup. Scott lists 17 companies using such adhesives — starting in 1870. The last one was for the Atlantic City World Telecommunications Conference in 1947.

Now a great tear forward into 1975. The new comenoms are coming thick and fast. The British priest who hid escapes from the Nazis despite the protests of his superiors and the American OSS man who for one day was the absolute commander of Rome.

The plot to kidnap the Pope had its roots in Martin Berman's fanatical hatred of Roman Catholicism as a "spiritual competitor" to Nazism. Chosen to carry it out was SS Gen. Karl Wolff, an essaying extrovert who had been linked to the extermination of hundreds of thousands of Jews. But he feared the notoriety of being labeled the kidnaper of the Pope and disavowed Hitler from the scheme.

This is a bizarre tale replete with the foolish acts, the cowardice and courage, the grandeur that makes the study of men at war so fascinating.

Mom Hankers For Daughter's Hubby

DEAR ABBY: Please don't think I'm crazy, but I'm in love with my son-in-law, Lenny is 22, and he's in love with me (I'm 37).

It all started when I went to stay at my daughter's house while she was at the hospital having a baby. (She has one child, a year old.)

I don't know how it happened, Abby, but all at once Lenny hugged me, and before I knew it, I was in his arms and we were kissing like a couple of teen-agers. I've never been so thrilled in all my life. We went the limit, and now I don't think I can live without him. Lenny says he feels the same way about me. He says the difference in our ages doesn't matter a thing to him. Me either. In fact, this 22-year-old kid is more of a man than my husband, who is 42.

I would be willing to go anywhere in the world with Lenny, but I don't want to hurt my daughter. Also I have a husband and five other kids at home. Please give me some advice, but don't tell me to give up Lenny. I'm too far gone on him.

SEEING STARS

DEAR SEEING: You had better quit star-gazing and get back to earth. Your daughter and her children need Lenny, and you have a husband and five children who need you. It may be a thrilling, new, physical experience, but it's not the kind of stuff of which lasting marriages are made. Cool it, Mom.

DEAR ABBY: Perhaps you can settle a bitter dispute in our family. For the past 14 years, my brother has been running for a local county office on the Republican ticket. A few years ago, my sister's husband got interested in politics, too. Meanwhile, every two years my brother kept filing for this office, thinking that eventually he would win. (He didn't.)

Last April, my brother-in-law decided to run on the Democratic ticket for the same office my brother had been running for so many years. Well, my brother-in-law won!

I said it was unethical for my brother-in-law to have opposed my brother for that office. I was challenged to prove that it was unethical, and I could only say that it is an unwritten law.

MISS IN BETWEEN

DEAR MISS: Unwritten laws aren't worth the paper they're written on. If your brother-in-law is undoubtedly strained family relations, there is nothing "unethical" about it.

DEAR ABBY: I was married to a man for 13 years, and we had three children. After we were divorced I tried to keep in touch with my ex-husband's parents because I wanted my children to know their paternal grandparents even though I had to initiate all the meetings. I used to take the kids on the bus. My in-laws had a car and it would have been easier for them to come to me, but I didn't let that stop me.

Well, I finally met a very nice man who married me and adopted my children. Their last name was legally changed to his. When my ex-in-laws heard the news they told me that since my children no longer had their last name, they didn't consider them their grandchildren—so they didn't care to see them again.

HURT

DEAR HURT: Unreal! It's their loss.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope. Please include return address. Send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212, for Abby's booklet "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (10¢) envelope.

Girl Scouts Planning Day Camp Program

The Connecticut Valley Girl Scout Council has announced that its summer day camp program will again be held at Camp Merriewood, Gardner St., Manchester.

Camp Merriewood will be open to children (Scouts and non-Scouts) ages 6 to 11; and serves the towns of Manchester, Bolton, South Windsor, Vernon, Ellington, and Rockville. There will be three two-week sessions beginning June 30. Applications for campers and staff are now being accepted. For more information or applications, call 522-0163 or write to the Girl Scout Office, 74 Forest St., Hartford, Ct. 06105.

This year, the camp will be under the direction of Miss Ila Gelinas of Manchester. She is a graduate of Manchester High School and Central Connecticut State College. She is currently employed as a special education teacher for the Town of Preston.

For the past two years she has been the assistant director at Camp Merriewood. She has also served as the assistant camp director for the YWCA in Milwaukee, Wis. Miss Gelinas has been a registered Girl Scout since first registering as a Brownie Scout while in school. After graduating from college, she worked for the North Atlantic Girl Scouts in Heidelberg, Germany. Currently, she is the Cadet-Senior Girl Scout Coordinator for Manchester-Bolton, and is a Red Cross instructor in her spare time.

VFW Plans St. Patrick Day Dinner

The VFW Auxiliary will sponsor a St. Patrick Day dinner March 15 at the Post Home. A corned beef and cabbage dinner will be served at 7 p.m. After dinner, the Heritage Group will play for dancing.

Mrs. Vytan Chermerka is in charge of the event. She is being assisted by Dorothy Radatz, Jane Zikus, Margaret Stickey, and Margaret Pardon. Tickets may be obtained at the Post Home or from any committee member.

Couples Club Prepares For Antique Show

The Couples Club of the Second Congregational Church will sponsor its 12th annual Antique Show on Thursday, March 6 from 1 to 10 p.m. and on Friday, March 7, 1 to 9 p.m. at the church.

The proceeds will be used by the club to provide educational scholarships for needy students and for other church projects.

Approximately 30 New England antique dealers will display and offer for sale various items including clocks, jewelry, primitives, furniture, china, glassware and many others.

There will be a food bar where the women of the church will serve sandwiches and baked goods. Admission to the show is $5.

Mr. and Mrs. George Dickie are general chairmen of the event. Mr. Fuller is the son of Mrs. Judy Fuller of 225 Highland St. The bride-elect is a graduate of Manchester High School and is employed at The Travelers Insurance Co.

Her fiancé is also a graduate of Manchester High School. He is employed by the Pratt & Whitney Division of United Aircraft Corp. in East Hartford. The couple plan a May 2 wedding in St. Bridget Church.

The engagement of Miss Cheryl Ann Rogers of Manchester to Michael Alan Masse of Tolland has been announced by her parents, SFC William F. Rogers of 49 Nike Circle and Mrs. Elizabeth R. Kasha of 41 Morse Rd.

Mr. Masse is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond O. Masse of Elin Dr., Tolland.

The bride-elect is a 1973 graduate of Manchester High School. She is majoring in accounting at Manchester Community College and will graduate in June. She is a member of Alpha Beta Gamma Honor Society and is employed as a clerk at Pathmark of Manchester.

Her fiancé is a 1973 graduate of Tolland High School. He attended the Culinary Institute of America in Hyde Park, N.Y., and Manchester Community College. He is employed as a cook at Restaurant 94 in Manchester.

The couple plan a June 13 wedding at St. James Church.

B'nai B'rith Gives Award

The annual Americanism Award of the Connecticut Valley Council, B'nai B'rith has been presented to Mrs. Edward Wasserman of Fairfield.

The Charter Oak Lodge and the Ben Ezra Chapter, both of Manchester, are members of the council.

The award is given annually to the individual in the council area who exemplifies the principles of patriotism and devotion to the American way of life through community service, humanitarianism, and personal involvement in the highest ideals of the Bill of Rights.

Former recipients have included Gov. Ella Grasso, Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, Mrs. Chase Going Woodhouse, Leonard Petrocelli, Herbert D. Setlow, the Hon. Richard C. Lee, former mayor of New Haven and the Rev. H. Parker Lansdale.

Mrs. Wasserman has had a varied and full career in community service. She currently serves as vice president of the United Jewish Council of Bridgeport, is chairman of the Council's Commission on Community Relations and of the Education Committee of the Urban Coalition.

Correction

In the account of the Miss Manchester Scholarship Pageant which appeared in Tuesday's Herald, the age requirement for applicants was incorrectly stated. It should have read "shall not be less than 17 nor more than 28 on opening day of the national competition in September."

ON SECOND THOUGHT

By JAN WARREN

Meet My Friend What's-Her-Name

In view of all this, can you explain why I have such a terrible time remembering people's names? Last Saturday, I found myself totally helpless at a party trying to introduce two of my good friends to each other. Their names, which had been on the tip of my tongue, were suddenly gone.

I hesitated and said with as much enthusiasm as I could muster, "I've always wanted you two to meet!" Then I reached for the nearest mushroom canape, stuffed it in my mouth, and rendered myself incapable of saying any more.

The situation could have been handled in several ways. For example, you can think of something the two people have in common and say, "I want you to meet a fellow golfer, or a fellow film buff or a fellow Chinese cook."

You can also shift the burden of introduction by asking, "Have you two met each other?" When you don't know people too well, you can question them with wide-eyed interest. "Do you spell your name with an 'O' or an 'O'?"

None of these methods are foolproof and it's always wise to have a canape in your hand, just in case.

Frequently I try to help my memory by associating a person's name with something distinctive about him. This did not work when I remembered Bill Redman because of his red jacket. The next time I saw him he was in his bathing suit.

Now my mother usually comes up with an answer for all my problems, but she wasn't very helpful with this one. In fact, her forecast was down right ominous.

"How do you remember people's names? Good heavens! I don't even try. I just relax and blame the whole thing on my age."

My mother looked over her glasses at me with a smile. "Don't worry," she said, "Somebody will be able to use that excuse, too."

Troop Plans Rummage Sale

Girl Scout Troop 10 will conduct a rummage and white elephant sale Friday from 7 to 9 p.m. and Saturday from 9 to 11 a.m. in the Parish Hall of St. Mary's Episcopal Church, at the Locust St. entrance.

Any donations of clothing or other items will be welcome and may be left at the church on Friday. Proceeds from the sale will be used by the scouts for a three-day camping trip in April to Jeffrey, N.H., where they will hike up the trail to Mt. Monadnock.

How to Save $85.20

Every bank tells you that you ought to save. The bank that listens tells you how.

Be a home economist.

Never use the dishwasher, clothes washer, or dryer unless you have a full load. Caulk windows, repair storm glass, check for adequate insulation. Think of the dozens of other ways you can cut down on your utility bills.

Typical Annual Savings: $35.20

Let's make a deal.

Suggest to the manager of your supermarket that you'll buy canned and packaged goods by the case if he'll knock off a little. (Chances are he'll be glad to, since he won't have to go to the trouble of unpacking and pricing.) Typical Annual Savings: $50.00

Where you save matters too:

To begin with, you should do all your banking in one place. (Just driving another mile to save at another bank will cost you about 30¢ each time you do it.)

And, because we offer our savings customers free personal checking, plus high interest rates, plus every banking service you'll ever need... well, it just makes savings sense to save at the bank that listens.

In 1974 more people saved at CBT than in any other year. There must be a reason.

Real Live Dolls Dance at Buckley

A group of real live dolls entertained the student body at Buckley School Tuesday morning. Young dancers from the Priscilla Gibson School of Dance arts presented "La Boutique Fantastique," a dance interpretation of a toy shop. The performance tells the story of a toymaker who makes all kinds of dolls to sell in his shop. Two mothers come in with their little girls to pick out some toys. As the shopkeeper brings forth his various dolls - Spanish dolls, Cas-Can dolls, Tarantelle dolls, wooden soldiers, Jack-in-the-box - they dance and perform until a selection is made. There is more to the story and it becomes quite exciting, but there is a happy ending. The presentation features dance students ages 11 to 17 from Manchester and the surrounding area, and teachers from the studio. The program will be repeated Tuesday at the Robertson School, and March 11 at the Green School. The program at the Buckley School was sponsored by the Buckley PTA fine arts program.

Jaycees Plan Program On Poison Prevention

Manchester Jaycees are organizing a program they hope will reduce the number of accidental child poisonings. This week, the Jaycees heard Dr. W. T. Moyer Jr. speak on poisonings of children. He told the group the majority of such poisonings come to the attention of pediatricians on Sunday mornings when parents tend to sleep late and children wander through the house investigating things they are normally not allowed to touch. The most common poison for children, he said, is aspirin in excess. Excess for a 30-pound child would be five adult aspirin or 40 children's aspirin. One of the Jaycees plans in the poison prevention program is to place a number in the Manchester phone book which could be called if emergency poisoning information is needed by any Manchester resident. Anthony P. Peckham, chairman of the Jaycees' poison awareness program, said that other plans include a grammar school to make the students aware of household chemical dangers. Other plans involve a public panel discussion and distribution of pamphlets.

Ajello Will Speak To Jaycees Tonight

Atty. Gen. Carl Ajello, who once received the Distinguished Service Award from the American Bar Association, will be guest speaker tonight when the Manchester Jaycees make that award to a young Manchester leader. The Jaycee will also present two other awards, one for the Outstanding Young Educator and the other for the Outstanding Young Man.

Court Studying Appeals Of Contempt Sentences Against Two State Women

NEW YORK (UPI) - A ruling on a possible contempt sentence against two Connecticut women who refused to answer a federal grand jury's questions has been stayed until Thursday so a three-judge panel can study their appeals. U.S. District Judge Jon O. Newman imposed the contempt sentence against Ellen Grusse and Marie Therese Turgeon of New Haven upon their repeated refusal to answer. They had been granted immunity from prosecution. The grand jury asked them about Susan Saxe and Catherine Powers, who are on the FBI's "Ten Most Wanted" list for the policeman's killing, two bank holdups and a theft from a Massachusetts Guard armory in Massachusetts. The FBI says Saxe and Powers lived in Connecticut for brief periods in 1972, 1973 and 1974. They also lived in Kentucky, according to the FBI, and a grand jury there has been carried placards saying, "People Against Grand Juries." A number of feminists were among their supporters.

Sikorsky Training Iranian Personnel To Use Helicopters

STRATFORD (UPI) - Iranian pilots and ground personnel will be trained in Connecticut to use six helicopters the Sikorsky Division of United Aircraft has sold to the Iranian government, a Sikorsky spokesman has confirmed. The company has contracted to supply the RH53 twin engine helicopters used for mine sweeping and to provide "some training for these people during the coming year." Donald G. Fertman, Sikorsky public relations supervisor, said the report was not clear, but one report placed it at 55 and another at 110. Harry Rowell, vice president for business and finance at the university, said talks with Sikorsky, a subsidiary of United Aircraft Corp., had been underway for some time. He said the talks were based only on a proposal. He also denied that any money had been paid by Sikorsky toward a rental fee. The Iranian soldiers are said to be elsewhere in the United States learning aircraft skills and language.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Musical Mayhem

Maggie knew exactly how to deal with the uppity couple who moved in next door. She placed her radio in a strategic window on their side of the house and kept it running full blast all day long. After months of this sort of harassment, the neighbors finally went to court seeking damages.

"On what grounds?" demanded Maggie. "After all, I am not making noise. I am only playing music." But the court decided that even music can become a nuisance. Granting the neighbors' claim, the court said:

"A musical instrument played loud and long enough (can become) a nuisance comparable to a kind of torture of the neighbors. Between feuding neighbors, music may indeed be employed as a kind of torture of the neighbors. The law will not tolerate. Not only the loudness but the content may be condemnable. For example: A marimba player used her instrument as a means of mockery. Whenever a certain fat man walked by the house, she would tap out 'Hugle Bells.' For an elderly widow she played 'Little Old Lady.' For a retired naval officer it was 'Anchors Aweigh.' Here too a court ruled that the music was being used as a deliberate irritant and should be curbed. However, the law does not frown on any particular school of music. At a summer resort, an aristocratic gentleman brought suit against his youthful neighbors for singing 'lowbrow' songs on their front porch. 'It is quite true,' said the judge, 'that a class of music which may be entertaining to one may be annoying to another. But those who enjoy the modern cannot be restrained from producing it because it offends the classical ear.'"

Ken Jones Kisses Cobras For Living

By JAMES L. OVERTON GALVESTON, Tex. (UPI) - Ken Jones isn't the biggest alligator wrestler or the bravest snake handler in the world - but the reptiles in his outdoor show don't know that. "I have to constantly pinch myself out. I totally concentrate on what I do," the slim, 47-year-old grandfather said in an interview. "It's not weight; it's knowledge."

Each day Jones goes before an audience at the Sea-Arma Martineville and pits himself against alligators weighing up to 600 pounds and stretching 12 feet in length - and some of the world's most poisonous snakes. "They are reptiles. They react to a situation," he said. "They are not intelligent. That's why you can't train them."

Jones, a native of Ponchartraine, La., has been handling reptiles since he was 7 and living in the bayou country around New Orleans. He learned his unusual profession from an uncle who did the same thing for 51 years. He stands 5 feet 9 inches and weighs 125 pounds. He believes a knowledge of the reptiles saves him from serious injury, even though he's been bitten 33 times by poisonous snakes and has quit counting the alligator bites. Why does he count the snake bites? "It's something you don't forget. You never get used to the pain," he said. "It's like a bad burn. There's no pain pill or shot that can take it away."

Daley Wins

CHICAGO (UPI) — Richard Daley, Chicago's mayor for the past 20 years, beat off three challengers Tuesday to win a mayoral primary election. The 72-year-old mayor has virtual assurance of four more years in City Hall. The men he defeated at the polls were William Singer, a reformist alderman, state Sen. Richard Newhouse Jr., and Edward Hanrahan, who formerly was part of Daley's organization as Cook County state's attorney.

Elijah Muhammad Dies

CHICAGO — Elijah Muhammad, 77, the "last messenger of Allah" died Tuesday at Mercy Hospital of congestive heart failure. Muhammad's second son, Wallace, reportedly has been sworn in as the new leader of the Black Muslims. He was said to be his father's hand-picked successor.

Midwest Hit by Storms

The weather is still acting up. It snowed on Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley's re-election parade, accompanied by winds gusting to 67 miles per hour. Michigan's north woods experienced a blizzard that snarled traffic and left up to 24 inches of new snow. Windows were shattered and chimneys toppled in the New York City metropolitan area by raging winds that swept through much of the East. In one small town in upstate New York five house trailers were overturned and a barn destroyed. The storm system's icy fingers spread all the way to Maine, spreading a dusting of light snow and a glaze of freezing rain.

Airport Shelled

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Communist shelling of Phnom Penh and its airport started Tuesday night and at least nine rockets exploded inside the city today. Altogether 21 rockets were fired. Four adults and one young girl were wounded. Tuesday the Communist-led Khmer Rouge captured the former royal seat at Oudong, 18 miles northwest of the capital.

Chefs Dine Out

PARIS (UPI) — Four of France's top chefs were invited to lunch by President Valery Giscard d'Estaing Tuesday. The guests stopped en route to the Elysee Palace for food, cooked it when arrived, then joined Giscard at the table to do the meal justice. The object of the lunch was to award the Legion of Honor to Chef Paul Bocuse, owner of the Bocusse Restaurant near Lyon.

CIEE Helps to Locate Summer Jobs Abroad

Hundreds of U.S. students will be able to work in Great Britain this summer with the help of the Council on International Educational Exchanges (CIEE) Summer Jobs in Britain program. Applications and details of the Summer Jobs in Britain program are available from CIEE, Hotel McAlpin, Suite 2200, Broadway and 34th St., New York, N.Y. 10001. CIEE will also help students find jobs in Germany and France this summer. Information on opportunities in these two countries is available at the above address. Students may choose from two different plans for their summer in Britain. They may have a job pre-arranged for them for a fee of $75, or they can obtain the necessary working papers through CIEE and then find their own job for a fee of $25. One student who found his own job last year spent the summer working as a grouse fisher on the estate of a Scottish marquis. CIEE has been actively involved in student travel for more than 25 years and has been operating the summer jobs in Britain program for six years.

Utility Study Urged

HARTFORD (UPI) — There would be an independent management study of the three major electric companies servicing Connecticut, if the newest member of the state Public Utilities Commission had his way. Albert J. Kleban said Tuesday a study would compare the Hartford Electric Light Co., Connecticut Light & Power Co. and United Illuminating Co. with other electric utilities in New England. Kleban told legislators' Banks and Regulated Activities Committee the study is urgently needed and should be completed by a firm which could competently audit the utilities. Raymond S. Thatcher, another PUC member, said at the meeting that he opposes the automatic fuel adjustment clause because it allows the utilities to get more money without hearings.

Ohio Man Appointed Finance Commissioner

By ED BUTLER
HARTFORD (UPI) — A young Ohio man who favors a state income tax has been chosen by Gov. Ella T. Grasso as Connecticut's chief financial officer. Jay O. Tepper, 37, a one-time assistant to former Ohio Gov. John J. Gilligan, was named Tuesday to succeed acting Finance Commissioner George Conkling in the $33,000 a-year post. Tepper's selection completes Mrs. Grasso's cabinet, which includes only one woman, Mary Heslin, who becomes consumer protection commissioner March 1. Some women's groups have criticized Mrs. Grasso for not appointing more females to high posts. She said she hadn't expected to appoint a woman to the financial post because "we had no women who were interested in this position at this particular time." Mrs. Grasso said it would be "very nice if Mr. Conkling turned on as a consultant" to Tepper, who worked four years in Ohio, initially as state budget director. Tepper, who said he had helped institute a state income tax while in Ohio, said his emphasis in Connecticut would be on spending priorities and not tax raising schemes. Mrs. Grasso campaigned on a pledge of no income tax for Connecticut. Married with three children, Tepper was budget director for Nassau County, Long Island, New York, where he worked seven years in county government. He said he should have no difficulty adjusting to Connecticut since it is "microcosm of Ohio." He said he knew about the Nutmeg State, Tepper said "I know a little about Connecticut. My college roommate was from Hamden." Tepper is a graduate of Wharton School of Finance with a bachelor of science degree in economics.

Federal Aid Cutbacks Hurting State, Towns, According to Gov. Grasso

HARTFORD (UPI) — President Ford's budget contains cutbacks in federal aid to state and local government when what it should contain is more aid, Gov. Ella T. Grasso has told Connecticut municipal executives. "In these times, particularly, it must be the job of the federal government to continue to help us to help our people," she said Tuesday to the Connecticut Conference of Mayors and Municipalities. An analysis of Ford's budget by the National Governors' Conference "demonstrated a disturbing trend towards overall reduction in aid to state and vital local programs," she said. Health care services and federal grant programs were targeted for reduction in the budget, Mrs. Grasso said. "The trend is that the federal share of matching programs may begin to wane—a sure indication that heavier and heavier burdens will fall in the future upon state and local taxpayers," she said. In Connecticut, state government will do what it can for municipalities, but with its hands tied by a lack of revenue, she said. Connecticut has unemployment nearing 9 per cent statewide and 20 per cent in some areas, as well as rising costs and decreasing revenues, Mrs. Grasso said.

Tolland Joins Application for Transport of Elderly

The Tolland Board of Selectmen Tuesday authorized Town Manager John Harkins to issue a letter of intent to participate in a program which, if approved, would result in a bus available for senior citizens and handicapped persons in Tolland, Vernon and Ellington. The action opens the way for a non-profit organization, possibly the Hockanum Valley Community Services Council, to make application through the State Department of Transportation for part of $81,000 released by the Urban Mass Transportation Administration in Washington. The federal money is to be used for capital equipment, such as buses, and the state, under Title 3, will provide $65,000 toward operation of programs. Both of these amounts are allocated for specific programs. If the application is approved, Tolland's share would be $70 in cash or services in kind, toward matching the state operational money. Richard Leete, manager of mass transit planning for the State Department of Transportation, told the selectmen that his department will evaluate and rank every application, which must be in his office by March 14. Applications will be ranked according to established criteria which contain six considerations. Once applications are approved which total the amount of money available, no further applications will be submitted to Washington.

The considerations are: assurances that elderly and handicapped persons receive transportation service; proof that funding can be provided for operations; experience of each region in providing service such as transportation; cooperation and coordination among elderly and handicapped organizations to ensure maximum utilization of the program; the degree of need in the area; and documentation that the population is sufficient to utilize the service. If the application is approved, the agency responsible for the application would appoint a local coordinator and an organization would be formed from those eligible for the service. This group would elect a governing body and would be responsible for scheduling. Other persons speaking to the selectmen Tuesday on the proposal were Glen Roberts of the Hockanum Valley Community Services Council, J.B.C. Thomas, executive for the Capitol Region Committee on Aging; Howard Wolfanger; and Rev. John Mortimer. Roberts told the selectmen that the application probably wouldn't get in without Tolland's cooperation. Both of the other towns have committed to sending letters of intent to participate. Roberts also suggested that an arrangement of selling tickets at $5 per year for an individual, or $8 per couple, could offset costs. He stressed that the purchase would be voluntary and that no elderly or handicapped person would be denied use of the transportation.

The Herald Area Profile

School Board Denied $19,268

TOLLAND — The Board of Selectmen Tuesday denied an additional appropriation of $19,268 to the Board of Education. The figure is the amount of 1973-74 surplus, and was denied because the education board has not asked for it. Prior to the town budget meeting last May, selectmen promised the education board additional funds, based on predictions of Selectman Stewart Joslin, that the 1973-74 year would end with a surplus of over $150,000. The promise was also a compromise to irate citizens at the budget meeting who objected to the cut of over $100,000 in the education budget and threatened to chop each budget item to a dollar. Joslin moved Tuesday that the surplus be appropriated but the motion was killed by a lack of a second. A motion by Kevin Cavanagh to table the item was defeated, and then Cavanagh moved not to approve the appropriation. This motion was approved by a 5 to 2 vote, with Joslin and Charles Luce against. Cavanagh explained that the action does not mean the board is against education, and most selectmen agreed that if the education board does need additional funds, due to unanticipated expenses, it can come to the Board of Education. Chairman John Burakas said, prior to the vote, that at a joint meeting of the boards last month Board of Education chairman Robert Dean said the education board was not interested in asking for the surplus, in view of the general state of economy. The selectmen did approve two other public hearing appointments: $2,025 to the Board of Education, Special Education Grant Fund, for business education, to be financed by a state grant. $2,400 transfer from the Human Services General Town Budget to the Board of Education for services to the Community Child Guidance Clinic of Manchester. By transferring the item it becomes two-thirds reimbursable by the state. The selectmen also appointed Donna Feir as an alternate to the Zoning Board of Appeals and gave approval to the Tolland Volunteer Ambulance Association to use the second floor of its leased town barn, for storage.

Selectmen Discuss Charter Changes

TOLLAND — The Board of Selectmen Tuesday discussed the charter revision proposals, which will now go to Town Counsel Harold Garrity to be typed. The revisions will then go back to the Charter Revision Committee before the selectmen set a date for a referendum on the revisions. A move by Selectman Ted Palmer to delete the proposed revision which would create a standing municipal building committee was defeated by a 3-3 tie vote. Republicans Palmer, Charles Luce, and Stewart Joslin voted for deletion, while Democrats John Burakas, Kevin Cavanagh, and Ed Moskey voted to retain it. Selectwoman Helen Wanat abstained from voting. The selectmen were in favor of retaining the appointment of a zoning enforcement officer by the town manager, rather than by the Planning and Zoning Commission as proposed. CRC secretary Carol Jordan said this revision would comply with state statutes, and the point will be clarified by town counsel. The residents will have an opportunity to vote on each proposed amendment when the special referendum is held, with the use of voting machines.

Rec Commission Elects Officers

COVENTRY — Monica Shea, Correspondent. The newly created Parks and Recreation Commission elected officers at its first meeting last week. They are as follows: Sandra Young, chairman; William Ayer, treasurer; and Silvia Bolidis, secretary. Mrs. Young and Ayers held the same offices on the former Recreation Commission which has been replaced by the new "Skip" Walsh, 33rd District will be the guest speaker. Club members will work on final preparations of the Arts and Crafts Fair to be held in April. Glaciers to Meet — The Glaciers Snowmobile Club will meet tonight at 7:45 at Upton's Garage on Rt. 32 in Stanfield. Items on the agenda include reports from the nominating committee, the social committee and a report on the Safety Sam Program. Plans will be discussed for the potluck supper and the final meeting of the season and for a summer picnic.

CCLU's Olds Criticizes L. Patrick Gray

HARTFORD (UPI) — L. Patrick Gray, former acting FBI director, has been criticized by a civil liberties advocate for saying crime in the streets may cause society to lose its freedom. William Olds, director of the Connecticut Civil Liberties Union, Tuesday said Gray's single-minded attention to street crime "represents the height of hypocrisy and strongly suggests that he has not escaped from the Watergate mentality." Gray, who burned potential Watergate evidence at his Stonington home and who prac-

Protection of Supply Lines Main Object Of Embargo's End

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
United States determination to protect the oil supply lines from the Persian Gulf probably was the chief factor in its decision to lift the arms embargo against Pakistan, outweighing the ill effects upon U.S.-Indian relations.
Such a decision would be consistent with the multi-billion dollar U.S. arms sales to Iran, bolstering the shah's determination to become the controlling military factor in the Gulf, and with U.S. moves to build up its own presence in the Indian Ocean.
It probably also means at least a temporary end to the gradually warming ties between the United States and India.
India Foreign Minister Y. B. Chavan told the Indian parliament on Feb. 18 he had officially warned A Kissinger of the arrival in New Delhi of the new U.S. ambassador to India, William Saxonby.
The lifting of the embargo, first instituted against Pakistan

PROSTATE CANCER
SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — More than 15,000 American men die each year of cancer of the prostate, according to Dr. Donald R. Smith, urology department chairman at the University of California.
The overall cure rate for cancer victims is only about five to 10 per cent because too few men undergo periodic examinations advisable after they reach age 50, Smith said.

SOCIAL SECURITY QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Q. I hear that people can get supplemental security income payments if they agree to give up their resources over $1,500. Is there a time limit?
A. People who are 65 or older or blind or disabled may get supplemental security income payments conditionally if they agree to dispose of resources over $1,500 within time limits—generally six months for real property and three months for personal property. Their payments may have to be reduced when the resources are sold, some property such as a home or car of reasonable value do not count as resources.
Q. About a week ago I lost my wallet. My Social Security card was in it. How can I get a new card?
A. You can get an application for a duplicate Social Security card by calling any Social Security office. If you know your Social Security number, you will get your duplicate card faster. The duplicate card will be mailed to you.
Q. My husband and I are going to move to Florida in about two months. We both get Social Security checks. Is there some special form we have to fill out to give Social Security our new address?
A. You can report your new address on the change of address form printed on the back of the envelope your Social Security checks are mailed in, or you can call or write any Social Security office. Be sure to give both your old and new address, including zip codes, and your Social Security claim numbers which are printed on your checks. You should report your new address as soon as you know it to assure uninterrupted delivery of your checks.
Q. I want to send in a medical insurance claim under Medicare. I have filled out the Request For Medicare Payment form. Where do I send it?
A. Send your claim to the Medicare carrier for the state where you received the services. You can find the carrier's name and address in your Medicare handbook or by calling your Social Security office.
Q. My doctor gave me a Request For Medicare Payment form to use for filing my medical insurance claim. As I was looking over the form, I noticed a space for claim number. What is my claim number?
A. Your claim number is shown on your Medicare health insurance card. It consists of nine digits and a symbol, such as A, B, F. When you send a medical insurance claim, write your claim number on the Request For Medicare Payment form and on any itemized bill you send with the form just as it is shown on your card. A claim submitted without a claim number or with the wrong number can cause a delay in payment.

West German Court Rejects Abortion Law
BONN (UPI) — West Germany's highest court Tuesday overturned a law to permit abortion on request, saying it violated the constitutional "right to life."
"The usual phrase, interruption of pregnancy, cannot disguise the fact that basically, it is a homicidal act," said Ernst Benda, president of the Constitutional Court in Karlsruhe.
The court ruled on a law the governing Social Democrats pushed through parliament last year and which would have permitted abortion on request during the first three months of any pregnancy.
Six of the tribunal's eight justices found the law unconstitutional.
The two dissenting justices, both Protestants and one a woman, objected to the court being asked to rule on the issue, on grounds the decision properly should be taken by the legislative branch.
Benda said the majority of the justices considered legalized abortion violated Article Two of the Basic Law, which says that "everyone shall have the right to life."
The state "must protect potential human values from the moment of becoming a human being," Benda said. He said the majority of court considered this moment to have been reached 14 days after conception.
Eight hundred persons gathered on Karlsruhe's main square Monday when they learned of the verdict.
Benda said that only abortions performed on women victims of rape or to prevent the birth of a deformed child will be permitted.
