Task Force Urges Halt To Nursing Home Growth

HARTFORD (UPI)—A study group has urged state government to halt nursing home construction and overhaul the way it establishes daily rates for the homes.

Other recommendations, the commission said, were changes in the formula for determining the need for nursing home beds in a particular area and new programs for the elderly that do not involve institutionalization.

The task force also called for a ceiling of 70 nursing beds per 1,000 persons 65 years or older in each of Connecticut's Comprehensive Health Planning Regions, the commission said.

The commission said the task force also urged the state to establish more programs for the elderly that allows them to live in their own homes, such as day care centers for the aged, the "Meals on Wheels" program and home health care.

Manchester Evening Herald OPINION Doing Nothing On Purpose

We have suspected it for some time and as each day passes without any affirmative action to the contrary, we are becoming convinced the leaders in both political parties are locked in an accidental alliance to let the nation's economic problems run their course.

Item, President Ford's proposals have been praised and damned but nothing has been done to help bring about the parts which have been praised.

Item, the Democrats, while opposing the oil import tax to the point of passing a ban against it in both Houses, have not agreed on an alternative nor it would appear are they likely to until President Ford's anticipated veto is tested. If the veto is sustained, the tax will go on as planned. If it is overridden then the onus for alternative action will be on Congress which, if the following items are any criteria, won't act very quickly, if at all.

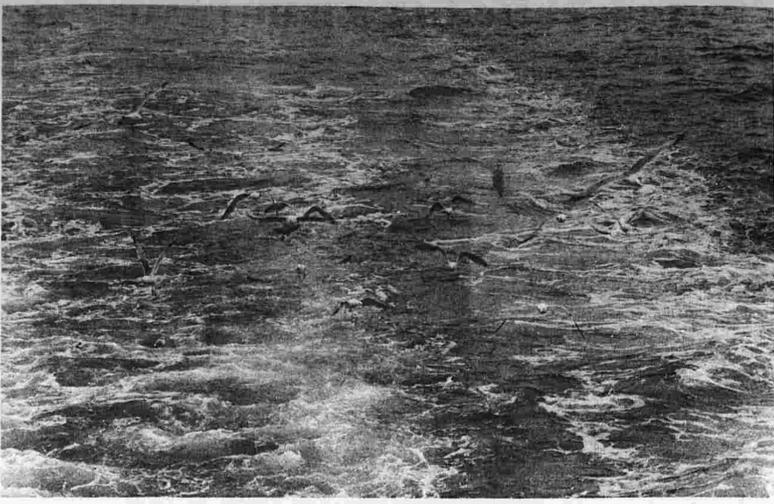

Item, the Senate is embroiled in a filibuster over the filibuster and only at the last minute staved off a possible disastrous shutdown of Penn Central.

Item, the House will defer action on tax relief until it resolves the oil depletion allowance issue. If it approves ending the allowance as part of the tax relief bill and sends it to the Senate, tax relief — an issue on which both Ford and the Congress agree — may be a Christmas present at best. If it rejects ending the oil depletion allowance, liberals in the House may well force tax relief back to committee for another delay.

Item, while ideas abound as to what should be done to revive the economy, the only action seems to be in the area of extending unemployment benefits which in itself are a perhaps cynical admission that the economy will probably rebound long before government can do anything about it. What it adds up to is that we should not expect too much from Congress to turn the economy around. As a matter of fact, we should watch economic indicators very closely. When prosperity appears to be just around the corner, we should make bloody well sure Congress and the administration keep their fire trucks in the firehouse.

In summary, we suspect neither Congress nor the administration can cope with our economic problems alone and neither is capable of rising to the challenges involved in coping with these problems together. It would appear the patriotic Spirit of 1776 could meet these challenges were it not for the political Spirit of 1976, a presidential election year.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

Down With Aging

NEW YORK — The cast of characters in the great nursing home scandal here in New York has a certain interest: Young New York Assemblyman Andrew Stein, doubtless destined for politically bigger things; Sen. Frank Moss (D-Utah) plodding along earnestly as chairman of the Senate Special Committee on the Aging; Bernard Bergman, the tarnished titan of the industry, standing mute to keep his financial operations from possibly sending him to jail; sundry politicians trying hard to keep from being hurt badly by past dealings with Bergman.

of the old over the young who are committed — by duty, affection or guilt — to caring for kin who all but strangle their lives. But this bit of pathology doesn't affect the larger truth about the way we segregate the elderly and old in "homes" away from home, and the way they complete the process by "retiring" and cutting themselves off from the currents of normal living.

For everybody's sake, including a defendant's interest in receiving a fair trial, I trust the President now has decided against his proclaimed intention to seek Connally's advice again.

Santa Is Finding Higher Toy Prices

NEW YORK (UPI) — Santa's been shopping here for the toys he'll deliver next Dec. 25. Like the rest of us, he's finding prices higher and he's being somewhat cautious.

Inflation and recession have made their mark on the industry that does a large percentage of its business in the first four months of the year.

The recession also has affected the number of new toys being shown for the coming season, with many companies relying on proven sales winners.

With tight, recessionary budgets, buyers are understandably nervous in trying to predict what will sell 8 or 9 months from now, and the tension and pressure were evident at the manufacturers' displays.

BUSINESS

Promoted

Michael L. Rothstein of Manchester has been promoted to assistant director of marketing support systems from Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Co., Hartford.

DANBURY (UPI) — The Boehringer Mannheim Corp., a German pharmaceutical firm, has decided to locate its U.S. headquarters in Indianapolis, Ind., instead of Danbury as originally planned.

The Greater Hartford Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a March 11 workshop on inflation-fighting measures for area businesses.

Radio Shack Co., based in Ft. Worth, Texas, has received a "gold turntable" award recognizing that the company has purchased and sold one million BSR turntables.

STAMFORD (UPI) — Goldmark Communications Corp. has announced development of an electronic television programming system that automatically schedules and transmits feature motion pictures into foreign hotel and motel rooms.

Contradictory Steps

In our near-state of national panic over the present economic recession — not inflation — steps are being taken which are obviously contradictory and at cross purpose.

The energy crisis, acknowledged both immediate and enduring, has as its principal whipping boy the automobile and its use of gasoline, as well as its release of atmospheric pollutants.

Grandiose plans are under way for mass transit systems which will get the automobile, hopefully, off the highways and both save energy and reduce pollution as well as doing away with horrendous traffic congestion.

Yet, in eagerness to create jobs and stimulate the economy the President has released two billion dollars in impounded funds to first of all create jobs, but secondly to build more highways and hence create further incentives for automobile driving.

Now, mind you, we are not at all certain that the automobile is the worst thing that ever happened to our civilization. Nor do we think that the problems which we create are insurmountable.

And we suspect some mass transit systems may be the greatest and most foolish expenditure of public funds ever conceived by omniscient legislators who possibly never got the electric train they wanted as a boy.

We don't think it possible to ever have an ever-normal economy that will have no fluctuations in response to forces of the market. Nor do we think it would be all that blessed if we did.

George Meany and Leonard Woodcock to the contrary, there are signs that the economy is getting close to an upswing before most of the remedial legislation has had time to go into effect.

A Good Question

To the editor:
A query?

In the Recreation Dept. or whoever, trying to make their bid for an indoor skating rink, by seeing to it that our available outdoor rinks are not plowed or snowed?

We certainly had a spell of cold weather which permitted favorable ice skating conditions. There was however, no skating allowed due to the fact that the rinks were not cleared of the snow. It is bewildering (and maddening) that the basketball courts are cleared and the ice skating rinks virtually ignored. There are not many times out of the winter season in which we are able to use our skating facilities due to warm weather conditions but because the snow isn't being removed is unfortunate and ludicrous.

It should be very interesting to see if in the near future Manchester residents find themselves being prodded to provide funds for an indoor rink. After all, it's all in the name of the game, keeping up with the Jones or rather, the Boltions.

How the purchasers of this property could relinquish the useable acreage and keep the part more suitable for mountain goats is beyond me.

Budget Provides New Goldman Aide

SOUTH WINDSOR
Judy Kuehnel
Correspondent
644-1364

School Superintendent Robert Goldman may have another assistant if a decision made by the Board of Education Tuesday night is approved by the Town Council next month. The school board narrowly passed Goldman's request to hire another assistant superintendent for about $23,000. The final 5-4 vote followed party lines with Democrats outnumbering the GOP.

The subject of a new assistant, to go along with Goldman's present staff of William Perry, assistant superintendent; Donald Mercure, business manager; and Edward Verry, director of facilities services, was met with much opposition by the public this week. The school board spent nearly two hours fielding comments from the public on the matter and then proceeded to debate the merits of the proposal among themselves.

Dr. Goldman's contention is that he and his staff put in too many hours now to evaluate teachers — as is required by law — in the manner in which they should be evaluated. Dr. Goldman cited both personal and professional reasons why he feels the increase in staff is necessary.

The Herald
Area Profile

• The number of hours he currently works.
• The inability to visit as many schools as a superintendent should, due to the prohibitive workload.
• The tremendous amount of hours needed to conduct a thorough and concise evaluation of faculty, as demanded by new state laws.

In essence, the new superintendent would be in charge of evaluating faculty members, along with other responsibilities. Dr. Goldman said he cannot be using Mercure in some of the capacities he has been using him, because his job is that of business manager, not assistant superintendent.

The proposal was followed by charges of irresponsible spending on the part of the board, by the public, and examples of how people are out of work, having trouble making ends meet and how times in general are tough. One comment was that this type of proposal would never stand in the business world, with the economic conditions being what they are today.

turned down evaluation will have to be conducted on a different level." Some members of the audience suggested the superintendent force school principals to do the evaluating, and at one point Republican Joan Cushman said, "We should demand the principals conduct evaluations and do excellent jobs of it."
Mrs. Cushman said she had received "a lot of negative, unsolicited phone calls" on the matter, and in one case it was suggested the school board hire a professional evaluator for less money to do the job. When it came down to the final vote, practically all board members announced their intentions and why they would vote either for or against it. Republican Robert DeRose said that education is big business and he was leary about adding another $23,000 to the $4.9 million school budget already being proposed this year.
Democrat Margorie Hutensky said, "I sense a distrust coming out here," referring to the audience reaction that "for the amount of money Dr. Goldman is being paid he should work 65 hours a week."
"I'm not in a position to say you (Goldman) have more time than you say you have," said Mrs. Hutensky. "I don't think the price is too high to get more than lip service." She favored the motion.
Democrat David Cohen said about 80 per cent of the almost $7 million budget next year is spent on staff and "it's ludicrous to expect this type of job (of evaluating) without help." He favored the motion.
Donald Bergius, Democrat, said he was in favor of the hiring because "I didn't run for the school board to preside over the deterioration of this system."
Democratic Chairman Cle Decker broke the 4-4 tie. The Town Council will review the entire school board budget next month.

'Wapping Plan' Costs Said Over $800,000

SOUTH WINDSOR
Judy Kuehnel

The second of two programs aimed at making more space for high school students wishing to take industrial and graphic arts has been submitted to the South Windsor Board of Education, and the cost is nearly twice as much as the first plan.

Called "The Wapping Plan," the program, as outlined by School Supt. Robert Goldman, calls for transferring 500 Wapping School K-8 students to various elementary schools in town; the conversion of Wapping as an annex to the high school; the renovation of part of the high school and of Wapping; the construction of enclosed walkway from the high school to the new Wapping School; the transferring of Timothy Edwards ninth graders to the high school, and the addition of more buses to accommodate the influx of high schoolers.

The cost of the proposed program is over $800,000. With state reimbursement, the cost would come to about $500,000. Last month, Dr. Goldman presented his proposal for adding space to the high school: "The Ellsworth Plan."

Under this program, the Ellsworth School would be closed at a savings of about $100,000 a year; ninth graders would be taken from Timothy Edwards and brought back to the high school, making it a four-year school; and a new wing would be added to the high school. While school enrollments are down everywhere, at least for the next few years the high school has a larger enrollment. Once the present high schoolers graduate, the population of students will be down considerably for at least a decade.

However, due to the increasing demand for craftsmen, students — even those in college curriculums — are attempting to take courses such as industrial arts, mechanics, graphic arts, home economics, metal working, etc.

This has put a strain on the high school's facilities applying to the arts, and therefore the school board is faced with an arts crunch. While neither the Wapping nor the Ellsworth plans are looked upon with great favor by town officials trying to hold the tax line, Dr. Goldman contends that it is his responsibility as an administrator to recommend what is best for the community educationally, and said he would be remiss if he did not recommend some sort of building changes to accommodate the influx of arts students.

The school board is expected to continue its discussion of the plans next month. However, Cohen did not say he favored either report, but that

Septic Tank Leakage Prompts Inspections

COVENTRY
Monica Shea
Correspondent
742-9495

Don Holmes, town sanitarian, will begin an inspection of all housing units in the Twin Hills development sometime in mid or late spring because of the discovery of several overflowing septic tanks in the development. Holmes found the overflows in a walking tour of the area after the problems had been brought to his attention by the state Board of Health.

Holmes said, "The state health agent was tipped off to the possible violations by a resident living in the area." Holmes said he would probably test the septic systems in Northfields and Pilgrim Hills developments at the same time the dye tests are done in Twin Hills. Holmes said that without the dye tests he could not conjecture about the seriousness of the problem, but indicated that there were probably more than five obvious overflows. Holmes will place on fluorescent dye into the toilets and if there is an overflow problem, the dye will show on the ground outside the next day. Holmes attributed the overflows to a less sophisticated knowledge in designing septic systems at the time these homes were constructed. He also said that soils in this area had poor drainage qualities and this would contribute to the problem. Holmes said, "If septic failures show up there is no reason why systems there cannot be corrected. This is serious. Anytime septic overflows appear a health hazard arises." "Disease from sewage remaining on the topsoil and spread by either children or dogs or other disease vectors, such as flies or rodents."

The state Department of Environmental Control has received money from a federal program and has allocated $3.5 million for a regional system to serve Coventry and surrounding areas, but the town has not completed certain requirements and then apply for the money. Heart Fund Drive Coventry's Heart Fund drive will begin this week. Mrs. Michael L. Hall of Hemlock Point has been named resident chairman of the drive. She is being assisted by the Junior Women's Club. Mrs. Paul Goodin of Barnesbee Lane and Mrs. William Keim of Feldstone Lane will head the Junior Women's efforts in the mailing requests for donations and house-to-house canvases of the larger town developments. Coventry High School student volunteers will participate in the door-to-door campaign with Lauri Andrusitis of Herbert Dr. acting as student co-ordinator. David Rinnells, manager of the Coventry branch of the Connecticut Bank and Trust Company, is fund treasurer and special gifts chairman.

Heart and blood vessel disease are the nation's number one killers and will claim more than a million lives this year. In addition, lost wages and medical expenses resulting from these diseases will cost the nation an estimated $20 billion in 1976, according to the Heart Fund Chairman Hall. Mrs. Hall urges town residents to help meet Coventry's Heart Fund goal of $1,100. Tickets on Sale: Tickets for the second annual Robert F. Kennedy Memorial Dinner in Hartford March 7 are available in Coventry from Sylvia Bolduc, 742-8368 and Janis Hetala, 742-6603. They must be purchased before March 1.

Tolland Selectmen Plan Meetings to Hear Views

The Board of Selectmen has approved the initiation of informal participation sessions on Saturday mornings on a trial basis.

Acting on a proposal by vice chairman Kevin Cavagnaro, the sessions are for the sole purpose of opening communication between the public, selectmen and the press regarding any item anyone may care to discuss. The meetings are intended for questions, complaints, comments and general education regarding town government.

Meetings have been set for Saturdays at 11 a.m. on March 8 and 22, April 12 and 26, and May 10 and 24. Representatives of, but not the entire board are expected to be at each session. If there is a lack of interest shown by the public, the procedure will be discarded after the trial period. Another recommendation by Cavagnaro of assignments to the chairman relating to the 1975-76 budget, was adopted by the board. Each of the six selectmen, with the exception of the chairman, will take specific areas of the budget to develop knowledge and expertise to enhance budget discussions among the selectmen and with the public. The categories specified are: public health and safety; improvements and maintenance; roads; recreation and library; education; finance; personnel; insurance.

The board adopted further recommendations including adding items to the agenda, rules of personal conduct at meetings, and establishment of new business items. Items added to the agenda are: public petitions and communications; reports from boards, officers and committees directly responsible to the selectmen; and communications and petitions from selectmen. Special meetings shall be called by the chairman, either at his own discretion or upon a written request by any three selectmen. Special meetings will require 48 hours' posted notice.

Program To Feature Jewish Music

VERNON
Congregation B'nei Israel, 54 Talcott Ave., Rockville, will celebrate Jewish Music Month with a three-part program on Sunday at 3 p.m.

The first part of the program will be the dedication of the new organ given to the congregation in memory of David Press, father of Cantor Marshall Press. Jacob Teller, organist of Emanuel Synagogue for 25 years, will be the guest artist. His program will consist of Israeli music as well as an original composition. The intermediate choir will present three selections taken from the liturgy of the synagogue. Miss Marjorie Baum will be featured as flute soloist in the "Twenty-Third Psalm" by Fromm.

The final part of the program will be the presentation of an original cantata, "The Jews and the Indians," written especially for the junior choir by Mrs. Lenore Brooks. Jared Pines will narrate. George Moore, organist for the congregation, will accompany the choir. Following the program, refreshments will be served. The collection will be used to further the musical program of the synagogue. The public is invited.

He is currently chairman of the Department of Composition and Theory at Hartt College of Music, University of Hartford. He recently completed his Ph.D. in music from Princeton University.

He is a pianist, conductor, author, and lecturer clinician. The newly commissioned work will be presented during the 1976 bicentennial season. The program is designed to aid in the building of an American musical legacy.

Male Voices Needed

SOUTH WINDSOR
Judy Kuehnel
The South Windsor Recreation Department's Community Chorus is in need of more male voices in the tenor and bass sections.

The chorus is free to Y members, with a small registration fee for non-members. Class size is limited and all registrants must be recorded at the Y office in Vernon, 672-7329.

The subject is world hunger and what can be done to help the predicament. Witham and April will be course director and will suggest ways in which the schools and community can participate in activities which will aid the world's hungry.

Witham recently headed a 40-hour student fastathon at ECHS from which about $9,000 was raised to benefit those suffering from hunger, locally and abroad.

Study Unit Would End Bolton Dump Use Pact

ANDOVER
Donna Holland
Correspondent

Andover should cancel the agreement with Bolton that permits it to use the Andover Disposal Area, effective June 30, 1976.

That will be recommended to townsmen at a town meeting the Andover Disposal Area Study Committee has requested the Board of Selectmen call as soon as possible.

If residents vote "yes" the committee will recommend residents approve instructing the selectmen to write a resolution to cover Bolton's use of the area for the period July 1, 1975 to June 30, 1976.

The committee decided the action Wednesday.

When asked about Bolton's overbid payment to Andover, Yeomans told the committee that the overbid was $11,000 for the period of the study and $30,000 for maintenance of the dump. The budget shows $30,000 as estimated income for dump rental.

Bolton selectmen say no portion of the study will be paid unless Bolton is able to use the disposal area for five or six years.

Yeomans said he was empowered by a town meeting about four years ago to operate the dump on a verbal agreement with Bolton for five years.

Since 1973 Andover and Bolton have been in a verbal agreement with Bolton for five years. Prior to that time there was a written contract.

Committee members suggested a town meeting summary of their findings to residents at the town meeting before their recommendations are voted.

Following the presentation, Thompson will recommend the committee's opinion to townsmen.

If the committee's recommendation is rejected at the town meeting, an alternative recommendation will be on the call.

The alternative will recommend Andover enter into an agreement with Bolton on a year-to-year basis with payments made quarterly. The agreement is to be in the form of a written contract.

Committee members felt if Bolton doesn't pay its long-overdue bill, termination of its use of the area should be a lot sooner. They also felt interest on the overdue amount should be charged.

MCC Instructors To Exhibit Works

A "first" for Manchester Community College's Stairwell Gallery will be a one-month exhibition of works by five college instructors - opens Friday night at the college's 115 Hartford Rd. building.

The opening reception is scheduled to start at 7:30 with a screening of the 1928 opera classic, "Phantom of the Opera," starring Lon Chaney.

A reception with refreshments will be held in the film. The artist is invited, Gallery Directors Robert Manning and John Stevens said, and there's no admission charge.

The exhibition, entitled "New Works by MCC Faculty Artists," features ceramics, crafts, and paintings by Arlene Jonna Kay; mixed media drawings by Manning; sculpture by Stevens; and paintings by Suzanne Howes-Stevens.

The exhibition will remain open until March 28. Gallery hours are 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. weekdays and 9 a.m. to noon Saturdays.

Registration for boys' and girls' baseball will be held Monday at Herrick Memorial Park from 7 until 8 p.m. A second registration will be held March 18.

All boys who will be nine years of age but who will not reach eleven years of age by Aug. 1 may register for the Little League.

All boys who will be eleven years of age but who will not reach thirteen years of age by Aug. 1 may register for the Little League.

All boys who will be thirteen years of age but who will not reach fifteen years of age by Aug. 1 may register for the Pony League. All will be subject to tryouts. The coach of the Pony team will determine which boys will be on the team.

All girls who are in Grades 5, 6, 7 or 8 may register for the girls' softball league.

It is essential that all those interested sign up on one of the registration nights for effective organization. Permission slips must be signed by either a parent or guardian. There will be a $2 registration fee.

Anyone interested in managing, coaching or umpiring is asked to call Ray Vene, Ernest Manning, 649-1787 or John Whitlam, 649-2660.

Anyone still having a baseball uniform or softball suit from the 1974 season in their possession is asked to return it on registration night.

Pre-School Screening Starts

School officials hope parents will use the time between the March registration and the May screening, to arrange for some of the treatments for their children. These children are asked to have appointments dates to provide the screening team and then this information can be presented in September when the child starts school.

In mid-June, each elementary principal will schedule 30-minute visits with parents during the month of May and parents should bring their child to the elementary school for these visits. The visits will be selected when the parent registers the child in the following information will be asked to report to the screening team prior to admission of the child in September. The school administrator and the Board of Education feel this program, which has been in effect for several years, will help improve the placement of each child and thereby increase the chances of a successful start in school.

Members of the North Coventry Fire Department administered first aid to the scene. Injuries were minor, police said.

Mark A. Carrill, 16, of South St., Coventry was charged Wednesday with operating an unregistered motorcycle and operating without a license.

He is to appear in Common Pleas Court 19, Rockville, March 11.

$2,190,258 School Budget Asked

Fontana said that the finance board is attempting to hold all local expenditures to this level. He said that to accomplish this goal, it is necessary for both the towns and the boards of education to eliminate spending wherever possible.

Fontana urged the Regional Board members to vote in favor of the budget. He said, "In view of the present economic recession and continuing inflation and unemployment, the taxpayer will not be aggressive in increasing the rate for anything other than the bare essentials."

Zani suggested giving the administration a percentage reduction desired in the total budget figure and letting it work out the details. Board members were reluctant to follow this course of action until they had received and had done outstanding work in the budget for next year.

Marlborough Vice Regional Board received a letter from Vincent Fontana, chairman of the Marlborough Board of Finance, urging no more than four per cent increase in the budget for next year.

1973 DODGE Dart, 2-door, 6 cylinder engine, power steering, vinyl roof

The Connecticut forests must have been elegant when our ancestors first came here. If only they had known how and cared to try they could have left a large part in good condition and still out what they needed.

Now a large percentage of our land is in woodland but of such poor quality that it is not productive. To rehabilitate it costs a lot of investment, and if left to nature alone it will take many generations to evolve to the climax forest again.

We are just about on the south boundary of the white pine region. There seems to have been a line running diagonally across Connecticut from northeast to southwest where there is some change in conditions affecting certain tree families.

When the best and easiest had been logged and sawed there could be back corner that was difficult to work or of poor quality, both because of the mill men were the worst ravishers of our forests.

They skimmed off the cream and polished what they left. They took all the valuable mature trees that could produce seed. They carelessly smashed the younger generation of trees and left only poor quality trees in possession of the land.

If he eventually was forced to pay it was still a big steal and money to use for a long time. When it came to delivering the lumber to buyers, things were done different.

The first load was billed for sawyer pay the balance he was told the job wasn't finished. For some reason the sawyer had to move temporarily but intended to go back to finish the job. He never did.

Jury Selection Explained

In response to many inquiries related to the process followed in the selection of potential jurors, Joyce Gutman, chairwoman of Manchester's three-member Jury Committee, has issued the following explanation:

"Each year, we receive a request from Hartford County Superior Court for a certain amount of jurors from Manchester. (The request was for 674 last year and 674 this year.) That number is divided into the total number of registered voters and we obtain a factor — which we use in the mathematical selection process.

House Enacts Tax Relief Bill With Oil Depletion Repealer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — If the Senate acts within the next few weeks, rebate checks of $100 to $200 could be on their way to 80 million taxpayers early this summer.

The House voted Thursday night to give Americans $21.3 billion in tax cuts and rebates, but to increase oil company taxes $2 billion by abruptly eliminating the most controversial of all tax breaks, the oil depletion allowance.

President Ford's proposed $16 billion recession-fighting tax bill, but Ford has indicated he probably would accept it in its present form.

Rebate and Tax Cuts
Unlike Ford's proposal, which contained only rebates of 1974 taxes, the House bill grants both rebates and 1975 tax cuts. There was almost no disagreement on business tax cuts which amounted to $3.1 billion of the House bill.

Capt. McCaughey Named Interim Police Chief

Capt. George P. McCaughey, an officer with the Manchester Police Department for nearly 30 years, has been named acting police chief by Town Manager Robert Weiss.

McCaughey, who has headed the department's patrol division since his promotion to captain in 1963, will serve as interim chief until Weiss names a successor to retiring Chief James M. Reardon.

McCaughey, who has been chief of the force for 16 years, leaves his desk today. Formerly with the Connecticut State Police, Reardon is winding up nearly 40 years in law enforcement.

McCaughey, 53, is a life-long resident of Manchester. He joined the department as a supernumerary in January 1946 and in April 1947 became a probationary regular. In May 1948, he was named a regular patrolman, and his promotion to sergeant came in March 1964.

In May 1963, McCaughey was promoted to captain, succeeding the late Walter R. Casella Sr.

McCaughey is a World War II army veteran, with several citations for bravery including the Bronze Star, for courageous action in the face of enemy fire in the Pacific Theater.

McCaughey is one of four local policemen who have applied for the post of police chief. A total of 12 persons have applied, but none of the other applicants have been identified.

Weiss, in announcing McCaughey's appointment, said no date has been set for examinations for the job. Weiss, whose responsibility it is to name a new chief, said the written portion of the exam may be eliminated because of the limited number of applicants.

Arrangements for the exam are being made by the state personnel department, Weiss said.

Housing Plan Unveiled

HARTFORD (UPI) — A new plan would let the Connecticut Housing Finance Authority float revenue bonds and lend the money to state savings and loan institutions to be loaned to consumers for home mortgages.

In unveiling the proposal Thursday, Gov. Ella T. Grasso said it would ease the home mortgage crunch and provide a shot in the arm for Connecticut's ailing construction industry.

The program would let the state treasury invest $20 million in pension funds in residential home mortgages, which was aimed at curbing consumption by boosting the price of $30 billion a year.
