4 Area Banks Plan Payouts

Four Manchester area savings banks are among 43 banks statewide planning to distribute $463,000 among mortgage borrowers under the Mutual Savings Banks Life Insured Mortgage Plan.

The Savings Banks Association of Connecticut said this is the ninth year in which a cash dividend has been paid to homeowners covered by the plan.

The area banks participating are the Savings Bank of Manchester, the People's Savings Bank (Rockville), the Savings Bank of Tolland, and the Savings Bank of Rockville.

Regional Officer R. Faye Becherer of Groton has been elected a regional vice president of the Institute of Real Estate Management, a division of the National Association of Realtors.

Mrs. Grace T. Girard has been named manager of the Manchester office of the Southern New England Telephone Co. Her territory also includes the East Hartford and Glastonbury areas.

Brand-Rex Opens Local Plant

Brand-Rex Co. of Willimantic, a leading wire and cable manufacturer, dedicated a new cable manufacturing plant Monday in the Manchester Industrial Park on Progress Dr.

The new 12,000-square foot facility will manufacture Brand-Rex's "Tape Cable" family of flat, flexible cable products, an addition to the company's line.

"Tape Cable," when compared with conventional round cables, offer several advantages to circuit design engineers, company officials say.

Installation cost is lower; there are savings in weight and space; there's a greater ease in handling; and electrical uniformity, current carrying capacity, and reliability are all better.

Brand-Rex Co. — created in 1960 by a merger of William Brand & Co. and the Rex Corp. — has six operating divisions: Telecommunications Cable Division, Electronic and Industrial Cable Division, Nonmetallic Manufacturing Co., Pyle National Co., Abbott & Co., and Teltronics Inc.

The six divisions make a wide range of products for the communications, process control, computer, electric utility, aerospace, and electronic industries.

Brand-Rex Co. is part of Akzona Inc., a diversified manufacturing and mining firm headquartered in Asheville, N.C. A publicly owned firm, Akzona has about 40 facilities in 16 states and six foreign countries, and employs more than 17,000 persons.

Irving N. Dwyer is serving as acting plant manager for the local plant. Supervisory personnel include Surendra Verma (product engineering), James C. Archambault (quality control), Randall A. Dumais (production control), and Ronald S. Poklema (process engineering).

The Progress Dr. facility now employs about 10 persons, the company said, but projections are for employment to increase to about 40 persons.

As children in school we were allowed to believe that the group of Pilgrims who came to Plymouth in 1620 were the first here from Europe except Captain John Smith at Jamestown. Now we read that at that time Europeans, French, Dutch, Portuguese, Spaniard and perhaps others were settled at several sites along the eastern seaboard from Canada to South America. Just in Maine there were more than a thousand English living when the Pilgrims landed.

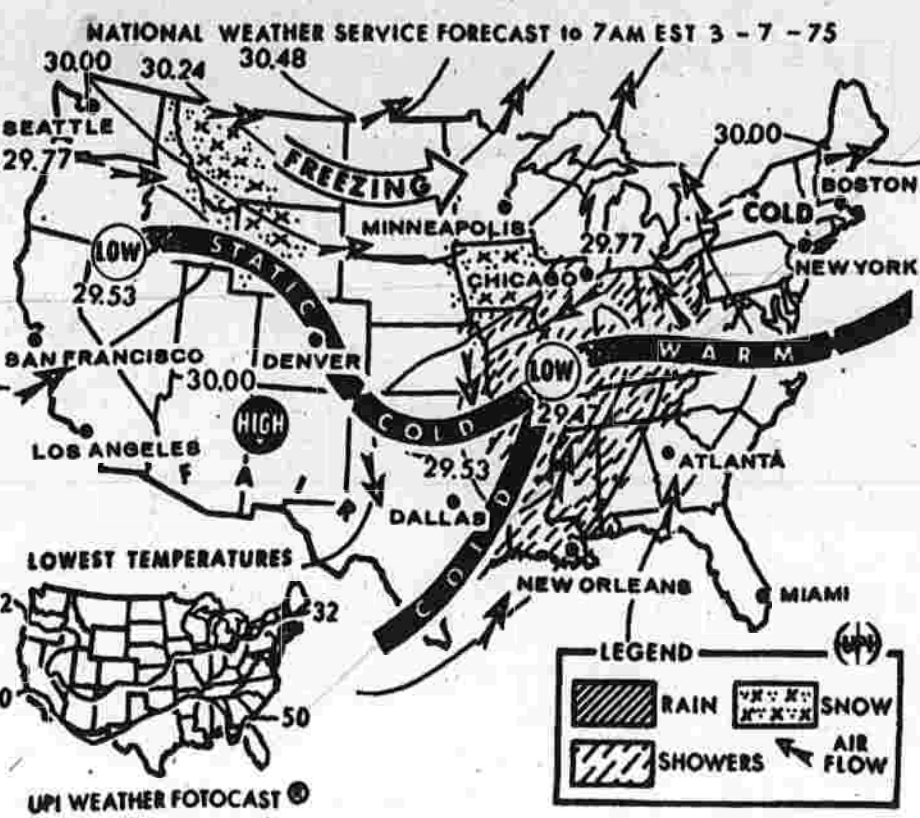

When the first settlers came to our vicinity they were seeking to get some land of their own from which they could have the fruits of their labor without sharing it with a landlord. No doubt many were city-bred and knew little about living off the land and working the soil. They became the poor whites that were little if any better fixed than the real slaves which were owned by the more successful ones in the south.

Manchester Evening Herald OPINION Three Major Issues

This has been a better than average week for editorial writers. In addition to the old standbys of inflation, taxes, federal spending (either too much or not enough) and the Congress (either doing nothing right or something wrong); we in Connecticut are blessed with such fundamental issues as:

— Conflict of interest in the case of the prosecutor who allegedly witnessed a go-go dancer go topless.
— Whether the mandatory requirement that waitresses legs be shaved is sex discrimination.

— And should barbers be allowed to call themselves hairdressers in order to attract clientele of the Ms. sex.

Each of these issues, obviously, is worthy of lengthy discourses. Because they are such burning issues and time is of the essence, not to mention the space problem, we will treat them all in one editorial.

In the matter of the prosecutor witnessing the go-go act without issuing a complaint, we have mixed views. Our law and order side says this was neglect of duty. On the other hand, anyone watching the (expletive deleted) tube lately can only yawn.

The issue in the leg shaving case is a bit more complex. We suspect the management's contention that female waitresses should have clean shaven legs as a matter of being "well-groomed" is a diversionary tactic with economic undertones.

After all no one really knows how many bad meals have been absorbed by males distracted by well-shaved, well-shaped gams. At our time in life, we'd prefer the hair on the legs to hair in the soup.

The biggest impact though is the barber proposal, especially for those of us who still have enough locks left to require periodic pruning.

Over the years, the price of haircuts has steadily increased and in order to fight rising costs, the gap between clippings has increased also. Perhaps you thought the long-hair male styles were aesthetic but the truth is long tresses is a sign of the nation's economic stresses.

But what's in a name? Apparently it is important enough to require the wisdom of the General Assembly to resolve.

We know they will want guidance from their constituents and therefore offer ours.

This must be done to halt inflation. What, you may ask, has a barber calling himself a barber or a hairdresser got to do with inflation?

Well, friend, if you check around a bit you'll find the difference between having your hair cut and having your hair dressed is about $4.

Besides, we think the barbers are acting prematurely. When the word gets out that the corner barber shop is one of the last refuges which is predominately patronized by males, women libbers will be storming the doors.

Better move the male chauvinist magazines into the backroom. And, barber, no hairdressing please, just a little off the top and trim the sides.

MAX LERNER The New-Old Politics

NEW YORK CITY — While President Ford and his congressional foes fiddle, and the American Rome burns, two powerful and indomitable old-timers are watching the scene with considerable self-confidence. They are, of course, Richard Daley and George Meany.

Daley has just had his long lease on power renewed as Democratic candidate for mayor of Chicago which will make him a Democratic mini-convention in Kansas City.

Meany has pushed through a decision, at the AFL-CIO convention, which disengages the labor movement as such from any party or candidate and throws the individual union leaders on their own resources if they want to be political activists.

The New Politics of urban populism, which dominated the 1968 and 1972 successes in the Democratic primaries, has become an old politics in the mid-70s but is still alive.

The Democrats are caught between the memory of their 1972 disaster and the temptation to push their post-Watergate liberal victories of 1974 all the way. Hence, the stand-off between Ted Kennedy, who could be nominated but probably not elected in 1976, and Henry Jackson, who could be elected but probably not nominated.

The Republicans are torn between their own brand of Ford-Rockefeller liberal-conservative new-order politics and Ronald

ANDREW TULLY A Changed Wallace

WASHINGTON — What makes George Wallace run? Clearly, he does not agree with Lord Chesterfield, who proclaimed that "the pursuit of office is like the pursuit of woman: the position ridiculous, the expense damnable and the pleasure fleeting."

I expect the answer is that, like Winston Churchill, the Alabama governor sees politics as "almost as exciting as war." Wallace is of the breed that seeks the Presidency because politics is in their blood. If his position is ridiculous, it is not more so than that of numerous other aspirants. He has proved he can raise a lot of money. And since he ran in 1964, 1968 and 1972, he must find the pleasure more than fleeting.

Wallace has said he'll make his decision this summer, but unless his health improves he'll be in there. He admitted as much to reporters recently when he agreed he was "99 per cent sure" to go for Top Banana.

This is a changed Wallace. But the change is only in his approach, not in his mind. He is less abrasive because he doesn't have to put on show to get the high cost of nomination. But he hasn't altered his fundamental views. To George Wallace, the issues are still what they were in 1968. He may be wrong, but he is not wrong in his own mind.

It is Wallace's view that the economic issue has not caused his supporters to forget the social issues. "People get even madder about law and order when they're out of work," he's fond of saying, and who's to contradict him?

Right or wrong, Wallace says a lot of things a lot of people like to hear. Unless the mail reaching this desk is phony, there must be a great nodding of heads across the country when Wallace says of crime in the District of Columbia: "I'd do whatever was necessary to stop it, even if it meant keeping a division of troops here." Radical stuff, oversimplification, scold his opponents. Perhaps. But not bad politics.

Washington is not everyone's favorite

TOM TIEDE Hippocrates Would Cringe in Shame

LATTA, S.C. — Life has never been overly fine for Shirley Abrams. A black, she was born to deep poverty, forced out of school by economic conditions, and grew up semi-literate or perhaps retarded. Now married to a $35-a-week furniture salesman, she bothers over a household so astonishingly decrepit that, according to one sympathetic neighbor, "even the roaches avoid it."

Recently, though, the woman suffered what must be an ultimate degradation even for one so thoroughly degraded. In labor with a terminating pregnancy and unable to afford proper care, Shirley Abrams was refused attention by her doctor, denied admission by a hospital and forced to give birth in the streets of a nearby town.

It happened this way: Labor began late on a weekend evening and Mrs. Abrams, 23, asked her husband to call the Latta Rescue Service, the only ambulance in town. Her pains were slight at first, but the time the ambulance reached County Memorial Hospital, the woman had severe cramps and discomfort was building. Knowing this, nevertheless, hospital officials refused to admit Mrs. Abrams even under emergency conditions.

The medicals explained they were completely within their legal rights, saying they could not automatically admit a patient without a physician's order. As for emergency treatment, Mrs. Abrams did not qualify because, they said, obstetrics is not considered an emergency since an expectant mother has nine months to plan her care.

Dumbfounded, the rescue squad placed a hurried call to a local doctor who had handled Mrs. Abrams as a patient in the past. But he, too, declined interest or responsibility. Yes, he said, the woman had been his patient in the early stages of her pregnancy, but when she did not meet payments on her bill he told to "hit the street." He said he would not go back on that. Hence, the matter was out of his hands.

Frantic now, with Mrs. Abrams crying out for help on the narrow ambulance cot, the rescue crew tried to get other doctors interested. One, a surgeon, at County Memorial; referred them to another, who could not be located, and another, who was away for the night. "It was crazy," says a witness, "like a sick comedy. We went from place to place, breaking all speed laws but never really getting anywhere at all."

In desperation, the rescue crew contacted a licensed midwife. However, they were told a doctor's permission was necessary. "And when we asked the doctor back, saying all we needed was his okay for the midwife, he still said no. We practically begged. We explained he wouldn't have to even show up — but he still said no."

Finally, all pleas exhausted, and with no place left to go, the rescue squad opted for their only moral alternative: they delivered the baby themselves. Slipping at a curb, draping paper sheets over the windows, borrowing cold water from a nearby faucet, and "praying the baby out as much as anything," the crew made a delivery at 6:15 a.m., seven hours after the ordeal began. The baby, a girl, was almost immediately christened "Faith" by crew and mother who determined, under the circumstances, it was fully apropos.

The story's end, however, is not happy. Though mother and child are doing fine, their initial suffering indicates the medical establishment in this area is ill. What's more, the incident is not just a local aberration; similar, if not so blatantly cruel events, are occurring in health setups across America. Rescue squads and ambulance crews in many towns complain of uncaring physicians and inflexible institutions endangering the well-being of the impoverished sick.

There can be no excuse for it. And the excuses that are made should be given no ear.

"The most damning thing about the Abrams' thing," says Mary Kate Butler, a poverty worker who was on the delivery, "is that nobody took responsibility for her. The doctors said it wasn't theirs, the hospital people said it wasn't theirs. Well then, whose was it? It's got to be somebody's, don't you see? If nobody has responsibility for the helpless, then all we are is animals."

Manpower who appeared Tuesday at a Board of Directors comment session recommended, in the interest of conserving energy, the town should remove some of its stop signs from intersections.

Today, a candidate for national office thinks more than twice before disagreeing too vigorously with Wallace. And that where his power lies Wallace probably cannot and perhaps should not be the Democratic Presidential nominee in 1976, but it's most unlikely any candidate will get the nod without Wallace's okay.

Moyer Quits Day Camp Post

David Moyer, director of Manchester's Camp Kennedy in 1973 and 1974, has resigned his post and the recreation department, which supervises the camp, is interviewing possible replacements.

Moyer said his decision to resign was made in light of the professional plans for full-time employment. At present, he works part-time at Crossroads, the town's rehabilitation center, part-time for Youth Services and teaches part-time at Manchester Community College.

Open House Planned At Preschool Sunday

Chestnut Hill Preschool will have an open house Sunday from 3 to 5 p.m. at Emanuel Lutheran Church, 80 Church St.

Slides will be shown of the children participating in various areas of the nursery school program. There also will be a display of art projects and units taught this year. The public is invited to visit with the teachers and with Mrs. Susan Blackwell, physical education advisor. Mrs. Robin Senan, a Manchester Public Health nurse; and Dr. Lee Miller, psychiatrist.

Plans Emerging

Congress seems to be getting off dead center and is preparing to come up with alternate plans to those of President Ford on stimulation of the economy and some solution to the energy problem.

Ways and Means Chairman Al Ullman is outlining a much slower program than that advanced by the administration and the likelihood is that it will be supported by the Congress with its large Democratic majority.

The fact that Congress is coming up with a detailed plan is encouraging since it opens up possibility of compromise with the administration proposals.

Up until now Congress has had no plan and has merely been criticizing and attempting to delay the proposals of President Ford, notably his levying of a one dollar tax on imported petroleum, with plans for it to accelerate to three dollars within a three-month period.

It would have been difficult for the administration to seriously enter into compromise with Congressional leaders since they had little to offer as a basis for negotiation.

The Ways and Means suggestions would scrap the President's import charges and instead would invoke a system of import quotas, which might in themselves be all right. We shudder, however, at the thought of a new bureaucracy striving to allocate petroleum products to meet national needs.

Allocation which would be administered by the existing marketing system would be much more practical in our opinion, and would make it unnecessary to set up an imperfect and expensive allocating bureaucracy.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

"Give weight to your father and mother that you may live long in the land which the Lord your God is giving you."

Each day we have been sharing thoughts on the meaning of the commandments and the fourth commandment helps us to forge and preserve a relationship within the family that enables us and our society to build the atmosphere for a healthy and enriching existence.

The basic relationship between parents and children is a matter to which God gives priority. Parental anxiety makes for some of the most common and difficult problems I face as a counselor. Hearing children is not a "hands-off" proposition. We should not be afraid to influence our children.

A famous preacher once said "if you don't stand for something, you'll probably fall for anything."

The commandment is double-edged. To children it says, "Give weight to your parents; you can learn from their experience." To parents it says, "Care for your children well."

You are God's appointee for the nurture of those entrusted to you, and be worthy of the weight they will give to you.

Town Planners Seek Cluster-Type Housing

COVENTRY

Monica Shea
Correspondent
742-9495

At a special meeting this week, the Planning and Zoning Commission completed last week's agenda and instructed Frank Connolly, town planner, to draw up zoning regulations that would allow cluster-type housing.

This type of zoning would allow more flexibility in housing layouts and allow more land to be left as open space.

The commission also instructed Connolly to draw up a zoning regulation that would eliminate the current low density multi-family housing and replace it with a regulation that would allow for smaller clusters of apartments that would be spread throughout the town.

The current regulations allow for three clusters of apartments of no more than 50 units to a cluster.

The commission also instructed Connolly to begin drafting a series of regulations that would provide for a density of alternating housing densities of types throughout the town.

This would include the uses of lots sizes anywhere from one acre to five acres depending upon the soil types in a particular area.

The commission will also be looking into the possibility of some sort of development rights transfer to assure that the town's over-all density would not be changed but there would be the flexibility needed to provide housing to all income groups.

The commission accepted a draft of a proposed sand and gravel operations regulations which would in effect clarify the existing regulations and to designate the condition in which the land must be left after the operation is completed.

This draft will be forwarded to the town attorney for his approval.

The commission instructed Connolly to contact the authors of the Ranapo plan to arrange for a speaker to come to Coventry for a seminar on how to control growth.

Sweatshirts

The Coventry Grammar School PTO is conducting a fundraising sale to purchase new playground equipment for the school.

The PTO is selling T-shirts and sweatshirts, green with white letters or white with green letters.

The shirts will be spelled out on the shirts.

The shirts will be available in youth and adult sizes.

The adult sweatshirts will sell for $5 and the youth sweatshirts for $4. They are 95 per cent cotton and 5 per cent acrylic.

Order blanks are available at the grammar school and orders and money must be into the school on Friday. No order will be accepted after Friday.

Entry Deadline

Deadline for filing entry applications for Coventry's 10th annual Arts and Crafts Show and Sale to be held the end of March will be Friday.

All applications should be sent to Olive Garden, Box 125, Coventry.

The show will take place in the high school from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday, March 22 and 23.

Craftsmen will demonstrate their skills in the gym.

The pre-fire planning process involves inspecting the building, preparing building diagrams, developing the actual plan, and communicating the necessary information. This expenditure of time and effort will be justified, Crombie said, should a pre-fire plan result in minimizing the loss of life or property.

Pre-fire plans are developed for all large industrial and commercial structures in South Windsor by planning in advance, all factors can be considered in determining the best response and operational tactics in the event of a fire.

Without such planning, critical information may not be available when needed.

Coventry Voting On Historic Districts

Monica Shea
Correspondent
742-9495

All property owners in the two proposed historic districts for Coventry have received ballots in the mail which must be returned to the town clerk by March 10.

Each district must be approved by a 75 per cent vote for it to be considered an historic district.

The district in the north of town is composed mostly of land on Rt. 44A and Silver St. The southern district is composed of Main St. and a portion of Lake St.

There seems to be no objection to the northern district by residents, but some businessmen of South Coventry are objecting to being included in a historic district to the extent of calling it the "Historical District."

One South Coventry resident posted a sign on his front lawn which states that parking is limited to horse-drawn vehicles.

The businessman asked why another regulatory agency was needed and indicated that the historic district would discourage new businesses from coming into the area and hamper the expansion and sale of existing commercial buildings.

The Historic District Study Committee has listed several benefits of being in a historic district.

Among these are assurance of protection and preservation of historic areas; assurance that the area would remain attractive; stabilization of present or future property values.

Property values in other town's districts have increased as much as 30 per cent, according to the committee. Since tax assessments are based on individual structures, and do not take into account the quality of a neighborhood, taxes would remain the same as areas outside the district.

Band Exchange

On Friday, April 4, the Capt. Nathan Hale Seventh and Eighth Grade Concert Band, under the direction of Angelo Gesmundo, will act as host for the day in welcoming the East Granby Middle School Band to participate in the annual exchange concert program.

On Friday, April 11, the Capt. Nathan Concert Band will leave by bus to return the visit and perform with the East Granby Middle School Band under the direction of David Reed.

Both programs will involve rehearsals and performances by each band, a dance band from the Coventry school and a combined band of 45 pieces.

Members and conductors of both bands will present a 50-minute assembly program at each school and both days will conclude with a social.

The 1975 Gas Mileage Guides for new car buyers are available free at the South Windsor Public Library.

The guides, published by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency will help the car buyer compare the expected fuel economy of different types and sizes of vehicles.

Manufacturers and major divisions are listed alphabetically and test results are given for both highway and city-driving.

The booklets are available on a first come first served basis for as long as the supply lasts.

Library hours are Monday through Thursday 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Friday and Saturday 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Bolton ZBA Postpones Hearing

A hearing scheduled by the Zoning Board of Appeals Tuesday was not held because it had been improperly legally advertised in the newspaper.

One item on the call was to hear a request for a side yard variance for an addition to the residence on Notch Rd.

John Roberts, chairman of the ZBA, said that will definitely have to be re-advertised. The second item will not be re-advertised as the applicant is no longer requesting a variance.

Three residents of the neighborhood attended the hearing and strongly suggested Moore have the property surveyed before anything was done.

The neighbors also complained that 14 people lived in one of Moore's houses. It was not the one in question.

At his point Morris Silverstein, secretary of the ZBA, suggested re-advertising the hearing because of the possible controversy.

FROM YOUR NEIGHBOR'S KITCHEN

By VIVIAN FERGUSON

When the U.S. Army at Aberdeen, Md. wants to show its men a fine example of a well-run restaurant with the highest standards of excellence including cleanliness, they take them to Karson's Inn in historic Canton, Md.

Next year Karson's will celebrate its 50th year in the Baltimore area under the operation of one family. Rudy and his brother, George Karson, inherited the business from their parents who passed away only nine months apart when they were 40 and 41 years of age.

The senior Karsons began a grocery store. Soon they were running a lunch corner which eventually evolved into the two-room inn which employs 105. The majority of the staff have been with the Karsons for more than 10 years, several having 25 more years of service.

There is a good-sized bar room as well as the two dining rooms with booths for eating. You won't find a single bottle of poor liquor on the Karson's bar. They've never bought one and don't intend ever to serve an inferior drink. "If you're going to cheat a man at the bar, you'll beat him in the kitchen," says Rudy.

From the moment the diner enters the front door, he is made welcome. The waitresses are mostly middle-aged ladies who are friendly and efficient. "We like to hire married women here. They're much more dependable and we don't want someone who is not living with her husband. We look for good steady people," Rudy told me.

George Jr. is one of the chefs. He graduated in 1972 from the Culinary Arts Institute which was then in New Haven, now in New York state. The wives of the two senior Karsons are involved in the front of the restaurant, training and tending to customers.

This restaurant is really clean. One rarely sees a ladies' room without a speck of dust. Karson's can pass any test. Let me state here that whenever I go into a restaurant, I never say I am a food columnist until I am through dining and I pay for my own meal. I do not feel that an honest evaluation can be given if the proprietor and staff have been forewarned.

Canton, Md. takes its name from the Chinese port. It was named by Capt. John O'Donnell, Esq. who brought a cargo of goods from China to Baltimore in 1785. He liked the place so well that, two months after landing, he bought 1900 acres fronting on the Patuxent River. He called his estate "Canton" because he felt that this port had brought him fame and fortune.

Canton is today a large commercial and industrial area. When the Union Railroad completed its tracks from downtown Baltimore in 1873, it hastened the change of the Canton area to a bustling complex which remains, though in different form, to this day. The Whip Party held its national conventions in Canton in 1840 and 1844. The bell from the last steam locomotive operated by the Canton Railroad was presented to Karson's Inn and is now mounted outside the restaurant near the main entrance.

Karson's kitchen is absolutely spotless and there is no hesitation in saying that it is one of the best in the area.

Use and bustle. The kitchen help is not permitted to carry on idle conversation. Everyone is quietly performing his job. Files of huge shrimp are being peeled by a white-uniformed woman. The chef is giving instructions to a helper yet you can't hear him across the room. The food ready for preparation is as top quality as the liquor at the bar. Fresh live lobsters are flown in three times a week from Maine. Quality meats, veal and Del-Mar-Va chicken is ready to be southern-fried. (Del-Mar-Va gets its name from the peninsula formed by the joining of the three states - Delaware, Maryland and Virginia.)

Bring chicken stock and chicken to boil. Chop the celery, carrots and onions and cook in separate pan. To chicken stock mixture, add the chicken stock, cheese whiz and salt to taste. Mix well, allowing cheese to melt, add cooked vegetables. (Thicken with corn starch if desired.) Karson's medallions of pork with dill sauce is an easy and different dish. Strictly speaking, medallions is a name applied to food which is cut in the shape of medallions, either round or oval. Usually, medallions of pork or beef are cut from the tenderloin. In the case of beef, we more often see the French word "tournedos" used which are slices taken from the heart of a beef fillet.

Medallions of Pork With Dill Sauce Using thin slices of pork, dip in flour. Sauté in half-oil, half-butter. Sprinkle with dill and sauté in the juice of half a lemon. Note: This does not mean paper-thin slices. You do not want the pieces too thick either as they will not cook quickly. The dill and lemon juice can be adjusted to your own taste.

The Stranger's Lunch Made Her Sick

DEAR ABBY: An incident happened about two months ago, and I can't seem to get it out of my mind. In fact, when I think of it, it still repulses me, and I'd like to know if you think I'm wrong to feel this way.

My mom and I were eating lunch during the rush hour at a fairly nice restaurant. A man and a young boy entered together. The man had no arms, just stumps hanging in full view of all. They sat near us, and ordered their lunch. The man's plate was placed in front of him, and he proceeded to knock it into eating position with his stumps. Then he put his face down into the plate and proceeded to eat just like a dog. I was so nauseated, I couldn't finish my lunch.

I honestly felt sorry for the man, but I also felt that he should not have exposed the people to that kind of scene. Please tell me how you honestly feel about it. It bothers me how much his looks and eating habits repulsed me. Thank you very much.

DEAR NO: You ask "Am I wrong to feel this way?" Consider this: The unarmless man had to overcome his self-consciousness and learn how to handle the stares and looks of revulsion from strangers in order to eat in public. (A major victory for him!)

It takes a mature and compassionate person to handle unesthetic situations with grace. I hope you learn to do so because you will need it to deal with life realistically. And if you don't, it will be YOUR problem.

DEAR ABBY: There is this guy who is a year older than me, and a whole lot bigger. The other day he gave me a black eye. I would like to get back at him, but I don't know how to do it.

Have you any ideas? DEAR BLACK EYE: Stay out of his way, or you might end up with a matched pair.

DEAR ABBY: I met a man about a year and a half ago, and I really think he is the man for me. The only problem is that he is very set in his ways, and one of his faults is always being late. If he says he is going to call me at 8 PM, he doesn't call until 7 PM. And if he says he is coming over at 8 PM, he never gets here until 9 PM. He is always about an hour late.

I have talked to him about this, and he says he's always been that way. It really infuriates me, I want to marry him, but I'd like to break him of this habit first. He treats me very well, and he is the nicest man I've ever met, but his constantly running an hour late all the time is something I can't stand. How can I change him?

DEAR NEEDS HELP: Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teenagers Want to Know," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20¢) envelope.

Rigazio-Morrison

Gaye Paula Morrison of Manchester and Mario Rigazio of Sagamore, Mass. were married Feb. 15 at St. Barnabas Church in Falmouth, Mass.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Russell Morrison of 60 Hemlock St. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mario Rigazio of Sagamore, Mass.

The church was decorated with white pompons and snapdragons. Patricia Brown of Falmouth, Mass. was organist and soloist for the double-hour ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an off-white, long silk jersey gown designed with high neckline, Empire waist, all trimmed with beads. Her elbow-length veil of silk illusion was attached to a Juliet cap. She carried a bouquet of iceberg pompons, white roses, baby's breath and ivy.

Mrs. Thomas Brown of Manchester was her sister's matron of honor. She wore a duobone velvet gown designed with high neckline, belted torso, while pompons and baby's breath.

Peter Wing of Falmouth, Mass. was best man. Ushers were Thomas R. Brown of Manchester, the bride's brother-in-law, Richard Gavazzi of West Barnstable, Mass., and Robert Boffetti of Sagamore, Mass.

A reception was held at the Commodore Inn, Falmouth, Mass., after which the couple left on a skiing trip to Saint Anne, Canada. For traveling, Mr. and Mrs. Mario Rigazio wore a blue knitted pantsuit. They will reside in Falmouth.

Mrs. Rigazio is a teacher at Otis Air Force Base, Falmouth, Mass. Mr. Rigazio is employed as an accountant for the Air National Guard at Otis Air Force Base.

Kathy Ann Falco, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Falco of 62 Hamlin St., has been named to the dean's list for the first semester at Gallaudet College, Washington, D.C.

Miss Sandra E. Bunce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Bunce of 143 Woodside St., has been named to the dean's list for the fall semester at the University of Vermont at Burlington.

The Manchester High School, Class of 1960, is planning a reunion June 14 at the Manchester Country Club. The event will be a dinner-dance. Invitations have been sent to Edson Barker, MHS principal for many years, and to Thomas Kelley, coach of MHS State Baseball champions in 1940 and the teacher to whom the class yearbook was dedicated.

Serving on the planning committee are: John and Betty Cerwin, Barbara Simons Larson, Thomas Conran, Beatrice White Hair, and Rika Carlson Horvath.

Project HELP Menus which will be prepared and served next week by members of HELP (Handicapped Earning and Living Project), a program designed to train handicapped for employment in the food service industry at Manchester Community College, are as follows: Monday: French onion soup, Swedish meatballs, buttered noodles, fresh rolls with butter, hermits, coffee or tea. Tuesday: Chicken noodle soup, Bar-B-Q chicken, French fried potatoes, fresh rolls with butter, fruited jello, coffee or tea. Wednesday: Baked veal cutlet, tomato sauce, mashed potato, buttered wax beans, bread, butter, milk, mixed fruit. Thursday: Grinder, applesauce, milk, ice cream. Friday: Baked fish sticks, mashed potato, cole slaw, bread, butter, milk, chocolate cake.

Girl Scouts Planning Interfaith Breakfast

The first interfaith breakfast of the Manchester-Bolton Association of Girl Scouts will be held Sunday from 10 a.m. to noon at the Manchester High School cafeteria. A clergyman from each faith will participate in the service expected to be attended by 40 girls and their leaders representing 30 troops.

The Girl Scout Breakfast was started in 1958 and was mainly for Catholic girls. Several troops meeting in Protestant churches started having their own breakfast.

Through the efforts of Mrs. Donald Carpenter, a committee was formed representing various church groups and they voted to name this event the "Interfaith Breakfast."

A donation of $1 from each troop participating to help defray expenses of the breakfast and 35 cents donation from each girl was decided upon.

Phoenix Getting Most From Loaned Sobchuk

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dennis Sobchuk is playing on borrowed time with the World Hockey Association's Phoenix Roadrunners this season but his two linemates aren't.

Sobchuk scored two goals Wednesday night and his linemates, Robbie Florek and John Gray, each added a goal and three assists to lead the Roadrunners to a 6-3 win over the Canadian Division-leading Quebec Nordiques.

But what Sobchuk is doing for Phoenix this season he will probably be doing against them next year. The rookie center is one of 12 players under contract to the Cincinnati Stingers, who do not begin play in the WHA until next season.

Sobchuk and his 12 future teammates are on loan throughout the league this year but head off to Cincinnati next season for the club's debut. The two goals against Quebec gave Sobchuk 28 for his year in limbo.

Florek and Gray have contracts with Phoenix and will stay there next season—especially if they keep scoring at their present pace. Gray has 22 goals and Florek 20. Their line has picked up 14 goals and 21 assists in the last three games.

In other games, Indianapolis downed Baltimore, 5-2. Minnesota beat New England, 5-3. Winnipeg outlasted Cleveland, 4-2 and Vancouver mauled Edmonton, 6-0.

Rangers 5, Blades 2. Nick Harbaruk scored two goals and set up linemate Brian McDonald for another guide. Indianapolis over Baltimore, 5-1. LeBlanc and Gary Brodin scored for Baltimore.

Whalers Don't Win On Minnesota Ice

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI) — George Morrison scored two goals, including the tie-breaker, to lead the Minnesota Fighting Saints to a 5-3 World Hockey Association victory over the New England Whalers Wednesday night.

It was Minnesota's ninth straight home victory without defeat in three seasons over New England.

Mike Antonovich added two goals for Minnesota while Mike Byers, Wayne Carleton and Don Blackburn connected for the Whalers.

Just 18 seconds into the third period, Morrison whipped Fran Huck's post rebound past New England goalie Al Smith to put the Saints ahead 3-2. Then 51 seconds later, Wayne Connelly banged in another rebound of a shot by Huck to give Minnesota a 4-2 lead.

Reassign Karlander

HARTFORD (UPI) — The New England Whalers of the World Hockey Association have assigned left winger Al Karlander to the Cape Codders of the North American Hockey League.

Whalers general manager Jack Kelley said Wednesday, "It's important that Al continue to keep himself sharp so that he can be ready to step in and help."

Kelley said Karlander is assigned to Cape Cod on a day-to-day basis.

Fights Poverty

Ali Declares War

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — World heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali, no stranger to battle, has declared war on poverty.

"Wars on nations are fought to change maps," Ali said Wednesday. "But wars on poverty are fought to map change."

With this slogan, Ali launched himself into an international aid program, pledging part of the proceeds from his March 24 fight to the U.N. Children's Fund title bout in Cleveland against Chuck Wepner to aid Africa's drought-stricken Sahelian region.

According to Ali's plan, 50 cents of the price of every ticket sold both at the arena and for closed circuit television will go to the U.N. Children's Fund title bout in Cleveland against Chuck Wepner to aid Africa's drought-stricken Sahelian region.

Canadiens' Plan Works

NEW YORK (UPI) — Coach Scotty Bowman threw out a challenge for Montreal's high-scoring line of Jacques Lemaire, Bob Gainey and Murray Wilson. He wanted it to play defense against the potent young Atlanta line of Tom Lysiak, Eric Vail and Larry Romachnych.

Bowman's strategy worked to near perfection Wednesday night as Montreal beat the Flames, 4-3.

The Lemaire line battled the Lysiak line to a 1-1 standstill, with Romachnych scoring a harmless first-period goal, and Gainey connecting on what proved to be the game winner early in the third period. Lemaire and Wilson each picked up assists on the Gainey goal.

"Look at the job Lemaire did against Lysiak," Bowman said. "If you give a guy a challenge, it makes the game more interesting. It gives the player a little incentive."

"I was asking one of my top point-getters to do a defensive job. This line (Lysiak's) had been a big hit for Atlanta, as you know."

It was the 21st consecutive road game the Canadiens have played without a loss but Bowman said his team was not particularly concerned with streak.

"It's not the record that we're after," he said. "It's the points in the standings. We're in a fight for first place in our division. We're not playing for records, we're playing for points."

Steve Shutt scored two of Montreal's goals, opening the scoring in the first period when he stole a poor pass from the Flames' zone, and adding another in the second period off a rebound. Yvon Labrecque scored once during that first period and added a second goal midway through the final period to pace the Blues' attack.

Black Hawks 4, Seals 2. Dick Redmond rapped home one goal and set up two others to lead Chicago over California and back into first place in Division 7 by a point over Vancouver. Jim Pappin also scored his 32nd goal and Stan Mikita his 29th for the Hawks.

Blues 5, Canucks 3. St. Louis' Vancouver goalie Gary Smith for four first-period goals to put the game away early. Bernie Labovitch scored once during that first period and added a second goal midway through the final period to pace the Blues' attack.

The 1974-75 Beavers went to the State Tournament to set the first time in six years, bowing to Stafford High, 54-52, in the playdown round.

The 12 victories amassed were the most in modern school history.

The career scoring mark was also rewritten, by two performers in fact. John Goodrow held the old standard with 761 points but he was bypassed by Tom LeCourt with 860 points and Mark Viklinek with 763 points.

After opening the campaign with a loss to Rham High, the Beavers reeled off five straight victories, another new modern school record. A loss to Coventry High followed but five wins in six subsequent starts gained the Beavers entry into post-season play, the second team in the state to do so at the time.

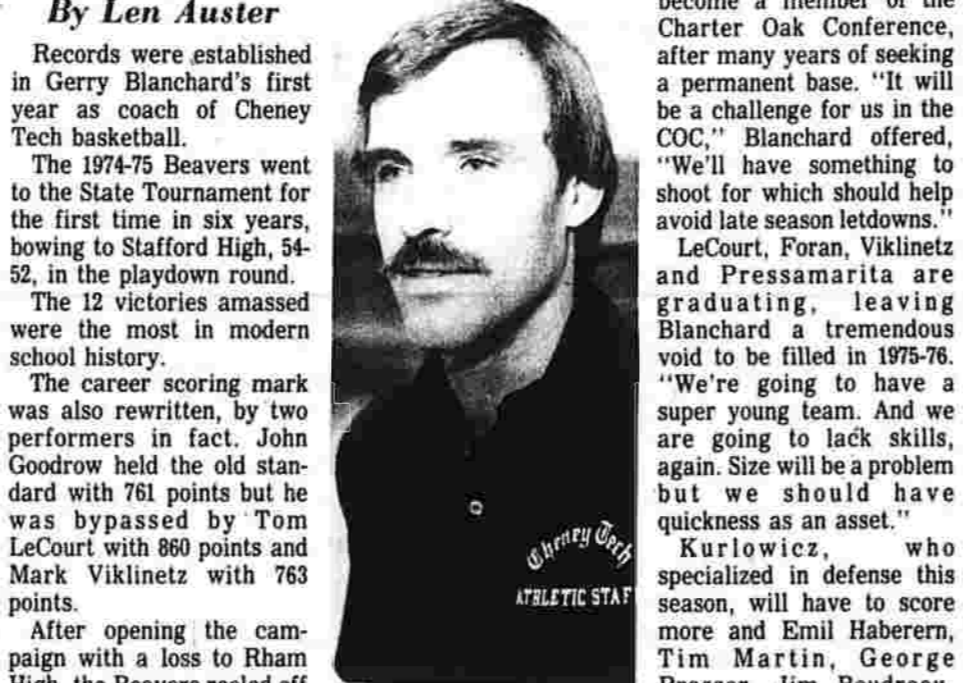

Blanchard's crew lost momentum at the end of the year. He explained, "We didn't play that much differently from the beginning of the season at the end. We were more deliberate, and did what we wanted to do. At the start we didn't press well and later on it was totally ineffective. But at the start we surprised people. They weren't prepared for us. We forced errors and capitalized on them. At the end, teams became a member of the Charter Oak Conference, about the end of seeking a permanent base. "It will be a challenge for us in the OOC," Blanchard offered, "We'll have something to do about which should help avoid late season letdowns."

LeCourt, Foran, Viklinek and Pressamarita are graduating, leaving Blanchard with 14 points for the Lakers, Kevin Tyler 18 for the Pistons, Doug Landry 14 for the Saints and Jeff Strider 26 for the Braves.

With three performers netting 20 points or more, Schiebel Brothers whipped Cycle Gear, 94-75, last night at Hilling. Duke Hutchison (123), Carl Hohenbahl (21) and Paul Collett (21) paced the winners while Mike Phelps (23), Marc Schardt (13) and Ron Anderson (10) were best for Gear.

Also, Kahuna Kids outdistanced Lagan VW, 117-92. Tom Jenkins and John Barry had 30 points each for the winners with Paul Jabs adding 19 markers. George Jay, Carl Frantz and Paul Rusello were best for Lagan with 16, 15 and 14 points respectively.

NFL Reps Convene

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Team representatives of the NFL Players Association convened today for a three-day session to weigh their future strategy on the labor impasse with the pro football owners and the legal battles that are being waged in the courts.

Union Executive Director Ed Garvey said there would be a "complete review of the labor and legislative situation" at the meetings which will end Saturday with a banquet at which the pro players will honor the stars of the past season.

Before then, however, the 28 teams reps and their alternates will be discussing at closed meetings the entire situation on the labor and court fronts involving their confrontation with the owners and NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

NFLPA President Bill Curry and Garvey will brief the player delegates from the 26 league teams on where the union stands in its dealings with management, particularly since the association and the owners are presently operating without a labor contract.

It will be the first full-scale player representative convence since last year when a six-week player strike disrupted the league's pre-season game attendance ended with no contract signed.

Union representatives and members of a management team have met twice in recent weeks under sponsorship of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service without any signs of progress.

The dispute started Monday when Rozelle announced that he would not set a good example for young players. Specifically, Rozelle accused Perry of being unenthusiastic about the football game when almost one-third of all the Indians' victories in the last three seasons, for not setting a good example for young players. Specifically, Rozelle accused Perry of being unenthusiastic about the football game when almost one-third of all the Indians' victories in the last three seasons, for not setting a good example for young players.

Also on the agenda will be discussed the threat of legislation by Congress to restrict the reserve clause operations of pro football and other sports.

Garvey himself may come under attack by some of the delegates. Kingree, a new representative from the New Orleans Saints, said recently: "My message from the players is that they want a change of leadership in Washington and that means Garvey."

He cited the lack of action toward settlement of a new contract as a main point of complaint.

New Champs To Be Named

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (UPI) — World Figure Skating Championships have a reputation for being cliquish. The Broadmoor World Arena is ruining that image.

As a rule of thumb, the chances of unseating a defending champion in one of the four events — men's, ladies, dance and pairs — is next to impossible, and the chances that three new champions will be crowned at the same meet is unheard of.

The last time three new champions were named at the same meet was the 1969 World Championships in Colorado Springs at the Broadmoor when American Tim Wood won the men's title, Soviets Irina Rodina and Alexei Ulanov took the pairs title and Gabriele Seyfert of East Germany won the women's.

Miss Rodina, now skating with Aleksandr Zaitsev, won her seventh straight pairs title and third straight with Zaitsev Wednesday night as the 1975 meet hit the halfway point.

And ironically everything pointed toward Rodina and Zaitsev as the only defending champions to retain their crown.

Men's champion Jan Hoffmann of East Germany underwent knee surgery in February and did not enter, dance champions Ljudmila Pakhomova and Aleksandr Gorshkov of the Soviet Union withdrew during the dance draw Wednesday because Gorshkov was reportedly spitting up blood in a 1974 Women's Champion Christine Errath of East Germany was sixth in the standings following the compulsory figures Wednesday.

Dianne DeLeeuw, a native of Paramount, Calif., who began competing for her parents' homeland, The Netherlands, after she failed to make the United States Nationals in 1970, held the women's lead while Soviet Sergei Volkov held a precarious lead in the men's, which winds up with free skating Thursday night.

In the dance, which opens today with two compulsory dances, the British team of Hilary Green and Glyn Watts, which finished as runners up at Pakhomova and Gorshkov in the European meet, and American Champion Colleen O'Connor and Jim Mills, were considered possible champions.

"It is nice to be here again," Miss Rodina said. "In 1969 I had less responsibility and it was easier to control. I did not expect

TOUCHY SITUATION

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Mexico's Tennis Federation is preparing to play South Africa in the Davis Cup here next month, unsure whether the government will allow the match to take place.

Mexico and South Africa do not have diplomatic relations and the federation has been bombarded with rumors that President Luis Echeverria's government may step in and call off the match, scheduled for April 4, 5 and 6.

State Briefs

Hope for Clues
ST. LOUIS (UPI) - Police say they hope letters written by Laura Dwinidwe to her parents in Greenwich, Conn. may give some clue to the killer of the young social worker.

Miss Dwinidwe, 23, a worker for Volunteers in Service to America, was found dead Tuesday night in her apartment on the north side. She had been stabbed twice in the chest and once in the abdomen, and her throat was slashed.

Ask Cutoff Delay
HARTFORD (UPI) - Utility companies have been asked by the Connecticut Legislature for a 30-day moratorium on discontinuing service to persons who have not paid their bills. The legislature Wednesday put its request in the form of a resolution, which includes a cutoff date of March 15. The legislature's bill is a resolution, which includes a cutoff date of March 15. March for Arts
HARTFORD (UPI) - A hearing of the state Capitol will be the destination Monday of a march by citizens favoring the present level of state support of the arts.

Would Cut Tape
WASHINGTON (UPI) - Red tape delays in aid to the aged and disabled will be cut if legislation co-sponsored by Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., is enacted. The bill would speed up replacement of lost or stolen social security, supplemental income and disability benefits checks, and reform the disability insurance and SSI appeals process.

On Danger List
NEW HAVEN (UPI) - A woman whose car was shot to death Wednesday night was on the danger list early today at Yale-New Haven Hospital with bullet wounds as a 16-year-old youth faced murder charges.

Watered Whisky
HARTFORD (UPI) - "Hettling," punning checker liquor with prestige label bottles or water into any kind of liquor, is rampant, according to George J. Montano, chairman of the Connecticut Liquor Control Commission.

Montano said Wednesday two federal agents have been assigned to his agency to stop the practice, which he called one of the most obstinate violations going on.

It's more widespread than we know. He told a group of hearing. He said that the main violators are medium-to-better-class people.

Ford Fears Cambodia Bloodbath If American Aid Is Not Granted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford says $222 million in aid may prevent a Communist takeover in Cambodia and perhaps allow negotiations. If Congress refuses, Americans would feel a deep sense of shame over the bloodbath that would come with the ingratious troops.

The President asks only for money. He told a news conference Thursday. "All American forces have come home. They will not go back."

50-50 Chance
Ford gave the Cambodian regime headed by Marshal Lon Nol a 50-50 chance of survival even with the aid. He said the money might allow Phnom Penh to last until summer, when the rainy season would make it easier to transport supplies.

If the insurgents cannot win by then, talks might follow.

Liberal congressional sentiment supported Lon Nol's removal and said that might be the price of additional aid. Ford did not agree, but he would not commit himself to Lon Nol.

"I am not saying that we would support any government," Ford replied. "I am saying that we would support any government that we could see coming out of the present situation or the negotiated settlement."

History Recalled
Ford said that despite a long history of efforts to negotiate — "six separate initiatives since I became President" — the insurgents feel they can win on the battlefield. "This belief will be encouraged if we cut off assistance to our friends."

If the Communist-Khmer Rouge takes Phnom Penh, Ford said the result would be "an unbelievable horror story. If we can hold out — and I think the prospects are encouraging — then I think we will avoid that kind of massacre and... murdering of people who really do not deserve that kind of treatment."

Humanitarian concerns, to save these lives, is one of three reasons the aid is requested, Ford said. The second was to seek a negotiated settlement — "If we abandon our allies, we will be saying to the world that we are preserving the credibility of the United States."

If help does not come, he said, "We will have to turn to ourselves, to our world and to our friends. No one should think for a moment that we can walk away from that without a deep sense of shame."

Congress is working on aid legislation. A Senate foreign aid subcommittee begins Tuesday to draft one bill, and its counterpart in the House also is planning hearings. Although all members of the congressional delegation that visited Indochina recommended increased food aid, Ford said Thursday the Lon Nol government was inept and the marshal should step down.

U.S. attempts to organize oil consuming nations "have been quite successful," Ford said. He would not comment on an oil producers' proposal to tie oil prices to the rate of inflation.

Unemployment Rate Remains Unchanged

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Nearly 540,000 workers lost their jobs in February but the unemployment rate held steady at 8.2 per cent last month because a similar number of people entirely dropped out of the labor force, the Labor Department said today.

The number of jobs supported by the troubled economy dropped to 84 million, back to the level of May 1973. Employment has dropped 2.4 million since September, 1974, a figure which the Bureau of Labor Statistics described as "the largest five-month cutback recorded in the postwar period."

The 8.2 per cent unemployment rate, unchanged from January, reflected a total 7.5 million persons out of work.

The steady rate seemed to support President Ford's economic advisers, who predicted the unemployment rate would peak at 8.5 per cent this year. The unemployment rate had jumped a full percentage point in January and some economists have predicted a top over 9 per cent.

The last time there was no change in the unemployment rate — which has been rising steadily since the end of 1973 — was in May and June 1974 when the rate stayed steady at 5.2 per cent in both months.

Although the number of jobs decreased sharply in February, the unemployment rate remained the same because 580,000 people, mainly women and teen-agers, left the labor force, no longer actively seeking work.

Guards Wounded In Bay State Prison Colony

NORFOLK, Mass. (UPI) — An inmate of Norfolk Prison Colony, possibly "high on drugs," surrendered peacefully to state police early today after wounding two corrections officers, one critically.

The inmate shot officers William Murphy, 28, of Milford, and Russell Fontaine, 48, of Westport, following "routine evening rounds in Unit 21."

The inmate, William Royce, of the Jamaica Plain section of Boston, was taken to the New England Medical Center in Boston where he was listed in satisfactory condition with gunshot wounds in the left elbow and upper chest.

The two guards were taken to Norwood Hospital where both underwent surgery. Murphy was in critical condition in the recovery room. Doctors removed a bullet which entered through his eye and lodged in his brain. He was said to be married and have two children.

Fontaine was in stable condition following the removal from his abdomen of a bullet which entered through his chest. Officials described him as married, but were unsure whether he had any children.

Subcommittee Finished
"I think we've gone as far as practical at the moment," Burdick said after his Senate Judiciary subcommittee finished examining some aspects of a property leasing scandal that erupted during Meskill's term as governor.

"Irrespective of the leasing issue," Burdick said, "I have grave doubts about his qualifications," a sentiment also expressed by the American Bar Association.

NEWS CAPSULES

To Hire Extra Help
HARTFORD (UPI) — The Connecticut Welfare Department plans to hire outside help to whittle down a backlog of 660,000 delinquent medical bills amounting to $7.3 million.

Losses Explained
PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Penn Central Railroad trustees said Thursday that higher operating costs and lower freight revenues were responsible for the company losing $13.7 million more in January, 1975 than in the same month last year.

Guardianship
The net loss for last January was $47,970,914 compared with $34,218,526 for January, 1974.

Trustees Said
The trustees said railway operating expenses were 12.5 per cent higher during the period. They said fuel costs alone were one-third higher in January, 1975 than they were the previous January.

Ford Tax Cut Stand
WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford says tax rebates should favor middle income Americans because they have borne increasingly heavy burdens during the recession.

Cost Increases Cited
Thomas noted the tremendous increases in costs. Also, there are new and state-required costs for which the state does not reimburse, he said.

Directors Present
The directors present all appeared to have studied the printed copies of the budget. They asked probing but friendly questions all through the discussion of the budget which was led by John Yavis, chairman of the finance committee of the school board.

More Teachers
The number of elementary teachers for the current fiscal year is higher than the school board proposed last year.

Director Phyllis Jackson
Director Phyllis Jackson asked why, she said, the kindergarten classes this year turned out to be much larger than anyone expected. For example, 23 children were expected in the Highland Park School kindergarten in September but 39 showed up.

Other Grades
Other grades showed less enrollment than expected but the teachers had already been contracted for them, he said.

Spelling Problem
A poor spelling turned out to be a weakness possessed by most Manchester children taking the townwide tests in the spring of 1974. A $15,000 item in the new budget is for materials in a program to help better spelling.

Director Carl Zinner
"I'm glad to see it," said Director Carl Zinner, chairman of the school board, which was led by John Yavis, chairman of the finance committee of the school board.

Director Pascal Prignano
Director Pascal Prignano questioned the need.

Applies and Oranges
Thomas refused to answer the question directly and said the two choices were like comparing apples and oranges. But he did show a preference for learning special physical skills from a teacher over walking.

Weiss noted
Weiss noted that Kennedy had kept him informed of money matters and problems all through the year.

There have been no surprises
Weiss said referring to the school board's proposal.

"I appreciate that kind of cooperation"
He said his own school budget proposal may be ready for the Board of Directors by the end of next week.

MMH Conducting Career Days

Students from Manchester High School and St. Bridget School toured Manchester Memorial Hospital Thursday in connection with Career Day sponsored by the Auxiliary of Manchester Memorial Hospital. Daniel Mikolowski, chief radio-therapist, discusses the Gamma camera which uses radioisotopes for diagnostic purposes. Other Career Day events for students in nearby towns are March 13 and 20. They start with the showing of a film, "A Member of the Family," filmed at the hospital. The events last from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. (Herald photo by Dunn)

Education Board Makes Appeal For Full Budget Requested

By MAL BARLOW
The Board of Education pleaded for its proposed $13.3 million budget for the coming school year Thursday night at the Municipal Building in a meeting with the Board of Directors and Town Manager Robert Weiss.

"At this time a few years ago," began Allan Thomas, chairman of the school board, "we said to you're would only need cost-of-living increases in future budgets."

"Well, this year is an exception."
"The rate of inflation is given as 14 per cent. Our budget is 10 per cent."

He said his own school budget proposal may be ready for the Board of Directors by the end of next week.

Weekend

A new entertainment magazine — Weekend — makes its debut in The Herald tomorrow.

The colorful tabloid, to appear in The Herald each Saturday, includes news and comment on the fine arts, the performing arts, hobbies, and television.

The Herald's television listings have been expanded to complete programming guides for 12 channels, including three New York stations that will be seen on local cable television.

Weekend will also have weekly photo features of interest to the Manchester area. Tomorrow: "20 000 Meals Each Month," a look at the Manchester Memorial Hospital dietary department.
