Kissinger Confers With Turks On Troubled Cypriot Situation

ANKARA (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, still believing a Mideast agreement is possible between Egypt and Israel on the Sinai despite Syrian complications, turned today to talks with Turkish leaders on the situation in Cyprus.

He flew here from Jerusalem after an hour-long private breakfast with Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin and a two hour and 45-minute meeting with the Israeli negotiating team.

(After he left Jerusalem, an Israeli government source told newsmen that Kissinger's peace mission probably would be a "long, extended and likely hard negotiation process." "There is no certainty and possibly even some doubt about reaching an agreement," the source said.)

Kissinger nevertheless still was optimistic about an Israeli-Egyptian accord, despite an unexpectedly hard stand by Egyptian President Anwar Sadat, who was under pressure from Syria.

Turkish leaders, smarting from the American Congress cutoff of military aid and still with only a caretaker government, were not expected to give him much to be optimistic about in their dispute with Greece over Cyprus. They also planned to discuss the future Turkish role in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization with the American secretary.

Acting Premier Sadi Irmak said last month Turkey would "review" its commitments to NATO because of the U.S. congressional action and Turkey recently withdrew from a joint NATO exercise.

The main point on the day's agenda, however, was Cyprus, where the Turkish minority declared an independent federated state one month ago.

Turkey maintains about 34,000 to 39,000 troops occupying about 40 per cent of the island. The U.S. congressional action to halt military aid to Turkey was intended to force a reduction of Turkish forces. Turkey withdrew 1,000 soldiers from Cyprus on Feb. 4 but denied it was intended as a concession to the U.S. Congress.

"As you know we're at the beginning of a process of negotiations which is complicated and which will take some time," Kissinger told newsmen as he emerged from the negotiating session with the Israeli officials. "We are engaged here in analyzing all the ideas and elements that might be part of a possible agreement. We are doing so with great care."

Asked about the chances of reaching an Israeli-Egyptian accord in Sinai, Kissinger said: "I came here because I believe an agreement is possible. I have no reason to change my views."

The Israeli newspaper Ha'aretz said Egyptian President Anwar Sadat had submitted demands for an Israeli pullback in the Sinai desert and another withdrawal on the Golan Heights front with Syria immediately afterwards "that surprised the secretary of state by its tough line."

In return, Egypt was willing only to extend the mandate of the U.N. buffer troops in the Sinai for 18 months and open the Suez Canal immediately, also to Israeli cargo, the press report said.

Sadat apparently has forcefully clarified to Kissinger Egypt's unwillingness to commit itself to ending the state of war by a declaration, Ha'aretz said.

The newspaper Davar, an organ of Rabin's ruling Labor party, said the proposal is unacceptable to Israel and Israeli leaders will not even respond to it "until Kissinger bears down on narrowing the gap."

Kissinger, on his 11th Middle East mission, will return from Cyprus to Jerusalem Tuesday and take any Israeli response with him to the Upper Nile resort of Aswan for further talks with Sadat.

Foreign Minister Yigal Alon asked newsmen Sunday night to avoid speculation about the peace mission, saying Israel wants to give Kissinger the best possible chance to succeed.

Kissinger flew to Aswan Friday night, starting shuttle peace talks between Israel and Egypt on a new troop separation agreement in the Sinai Desert.

Kissinger and Sadat conferred over the weekend and informed sources said the Egyptian leader offered concrete, concise ideas on a new disengagement agreement.

Tomasso Case Dropped

HARTFORD (UPI) — New Britain contractor Angelo Tomasso has won a court ruling that he need not submit tax records to a now defunct legislative committee that investigated Connecticut's leasing scandal.

Superior Court Judge Jay E. Rubinow has ruled that since the leasing subcommittee voted itself out of existence Feb. 26, the question of submitting Tomasso's records is academic.

Tomasso, a friend and supporter of Republican former Gov. Thomas J. Meskill, was a key figure in the investigation into charges that Connecticut's system of leasing was riddled with favoritism and patronage.

Rubinow handed down the decision Friday after attorneys John S. Murtha of Hartford, representing Tomasso, and H. William Shure of New Haven, representing the committee, said they had no objections to the proceedings.

Woo Sen. Byrd

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — Democrats are trying to woo Sen. Harry Byrd, I-Va., back to the fold. Republicans say the maverick politician is more likely to join their party.

Democratic chairman Joseph Fitzpatrick said he informed Byrd indirectly, through a "powerful Democratic senator" whom he would not identify, that "the door of the party is open if he wants to come back."

"Sen. Byrd is taking it under consideration," he said Sunday.

But state Republican chairman George McMath said he doubts the senator will say yes to the Democrats.

Four Die in Fire

RANDOLPH, Mass. (UPI) — Fire officials say an early morning blaze which killed four young persons and injured a fifth Sunday was the first fatal fire in 10 years here.

Robert McGrath, the tenant at 3 Lancaster Road, managed to escape the flames which broke out around 6 a.m. Sunday. He was listed in satisfactory condition at Cardinal Cushing Hospital in Brockton.

Officials said the victims, Joan Woods, 17, Susan Collins, 18, Anthony Depaolo, 22, and George Brown Jr., 24, all of Randolph, were houseguests at the small, four-room wood-shingled house.

Guru Becomes Father

MALIBU, Calif. (UPI) — Guru Maharaj Ji, self-proclaimed "perfect master" from India, assisted in the birth of his first child, a daughter, Sunday.

The religious leader's wife, the former Marilyn Johnson, gave birth to an eight-pound, eight-ounce girl at the guru's Divine Light Mission.

Maharaj, 17, assisted in the natural childbirth.

The Maharaj Ji named his daughter Premalata, which means vine of love, according to a family spokesman.

Post Opposes Meskill

WASHINGTON, D.C. (UPI) — Former Connecticut Gov. Thomas Meskill is not fit to become a federal judge, according to an editorial in the Washington Post.

The newspaper said in its Saturday edition Meskill reacted "more from emotion than from thought" in major issues he faced as governor.

The editorial also said doubt about Meskill's "role in leasing arrangements that brought profits to his friends convinces us that this nomination should not be confirmed."

Meskill's nomination to the judgeship of the Second Circuit Court of Appeals has been controversial and subject to lengthy delay because of questions about his abilities and ethics.

Winter Blasts Midwest

CHICAGO (UPI) — Spring is less than two weeks away, but drivers, schools and budding flowers in the nation's midlands are still taking a wintry beating. A powerful late winter snowstorm swept over the area Sunday night, dumping a heaving blanket of snow on the budding jonquils, closing schools and touching off a flurry of auto accidents. It was bidding to spread more of the same further east.

A Kennedy Center audience packed with celebrities from politics, show business and sports, applauded the President warmly when he and daughter Susan took their seats at a charity gala organized by the Kennedy family. Then Streisand, the featured entertainer, walked onstage and brought the house down. Men in tuxedos and women in high-fashion gowns stood up and carried on like bobby-soxers of old, shrieking and screaming above the thunderous applause.

President Upstaged

Grand Jury to Probe Shelton Plant Fire

NEW HAVEN (UPI) — Sponge Rubber Products Co. officials today were ordered to tell a federal grand jury Tuesday what they know about a $10 million explosion and fire March 1 that wrecked the firm's Shelton plant.

Sources said a total of 12 subpoenas were issued for the appearance of witnesses before the grand jury in U.S. District Court.

Meantime, the search continued for three men who sources said were disguised as telephone company employees and appeared in the plant the day before the fire supposedly to install telephone wiring.

The FBI said U.S. Attorney Peter Dorsey requested that the grand jury be convened. The fire threw some 800 persons out of work, creating a serious unemployment problem for this industrial town of 28,000.

The FBI said it hopes to determine shortly whether so-called "accelerants" were used to speed up the explosions which demolished the plant.

The plant, owned by B.F. Goodrich Co., was leased to Grand Sheet Metal Co. of Spencerville, Ohio.

Under an agreement between Goodrich and Grand Sheet Metal, any settlement on fire insurance claims go to Sponge Rubber.

After the fire, two security guards and a boiler tender said they were kidnapped at gunpoint by three men who wore ski masks and claimed they were members of a radical left-wing group known as the Weathermen Underground. But the Weathermen theory has been discounted, and the FBI says it has no support for a theory that the blaze was started by disgruntled plant employees.

Congress May Sit on Veto Of Oil Import Tariff Ban

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress may decide to sit on one of President Ford's vetoes to make sure he keeps a promise to postpone additional increases in oil import fees.

In January, Ford announced a $3 increase in oil import fees, a step taken to increase the price — an estimated 10 to 15 cents at the gasoline pump — and conserve energy. The first $1 increase took effect Feb. 1 and the other two were to go into effect on March 1 and April 1.

Congress passed a 90-day delay on his increases and Ford vetoed it. With the results of a vote to sustain the veto uncertain, Ford promised to delay for 60 days $2 of the increase and to delay for 30 days his intention to lift controls on the price of "old oil."

The vote on the veto is set for Tuesday. Instead of a vote, Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, plans to offer a motion to refer the measure to his committee for 60 days — to make sure Ford keeps his promise. There is no time limit on congressional response to a veto.

There may be a battle. House Republicans, charging that to do so would be like holding a sword of Damocles over the President, insisted on a veto now or a promise never to vote on the override.

Other action on the economy may come if the $21 billion tax cut bill clears the Senate Finance Committee as expected by the end of the week. The measure, passed by the House to offer rebates to low-income persons this year and reduced taxes next year still has a long row to hoe.

Gasoline Surplus Causes Complaints, Price Wars

By RICHARD HUGHES
UPI Business Writer

There's a surplus of gasoline in the United States.

In some areas, the surplus has touched off price wars, and lower prices. A number of retailers say oil companies have begun pressuring them to sell off the surplus, while publicly proclaiming conservation.

They also say the companies force them to buy large supplies at artificially high prices while selling the surplus at cheaper prices to competing independents.

"The oil companies are not about to cut back their profits," said one New Jersey station owner.

John O'Donnell, comptroller for the Pennsylvania Service Station Dealers Association, said the market is "loaded, it's glutted."

"The oil companies are forcing dealers to stay open whether it's necessary or not and to lower their prices at the retail level to get more volume," O'Donnell said.

"Their thinking is not conservation but to increase their volume."

The American Petroleum Institute says gasoline stocks are 10 per cent higher than a year ago, at 244 million barrels, highest since April, 1971.

Jerry Ferrara, executive director of the 3,000-member New Jersey Gasoline Retailers Association, said at least four major oil companies — Sun, Shell, Mobil and Esso — recently have increased their prices to dealers while forcing them to take more gasoline than they can sell.

"I just had a call a few minutes ago from a dealer being pressured to stay open 24 hours in an area that can't even warrant staying open until midnight," Ferrara said.

He said stations along major highways are forced to sell at near or below cost to get rid of the surplus, leading to price wars.

ment, denied claims they pressure stations to accept excessive amounts of gasoline to sell.

Senior Citizens Bus Starting New Run

The Senior Citizens bus is going to start making another run — on a trial basis — four days a week for seniors seeking transportation to shopping areas.

Wally Fortin, senior center director, says the trips at 10 a.m. will be on Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, beginning Monday, March 17.

The center has a 40-passenger bus operating week days now over a selected route to pick up seniors and transport them to the center. It also has a mini-bus, donated by Ted Trudon, Inc., which provides transportation for seniors not on the bus route and also for special appointments like to the doctor, hairdresser, bank, etc.

The new trial run route will start at the Senior Center and follow this route:

West on Center to Adams, south to W. Center and Squire Village, return on W. Center to Bluefield Dr. and Westhill complex and then to Hartford Rd.

East on Hartford Rd. to Main, north to the Center, east to Spruce, to Charter Oak, to Autumn, to Porter, to Pitkin, to E. Center.

East on E. Center to Vernon, north to Lydall, west to Woodbridge, south to E. Middle Tpke.

West to Main north to Mayfair Gardens, to Hilliard, to Broad, to the Parkade, returning on W. Middle Tpke. east to Main, and south to Locust and the Senior Center.

The return trip will be combined with the regular 12:30 p.m. bus run.

Following is the approximate pickup and return trip times, in that order: Senior Center, 10 a.m. - and 3:30 p.m.; Squire Village, 10:10 and 3:20; Westhill and Hartford Rd., 10:15 and 3:15; Hartford Rd. and Main, 10:20 and 3:10.

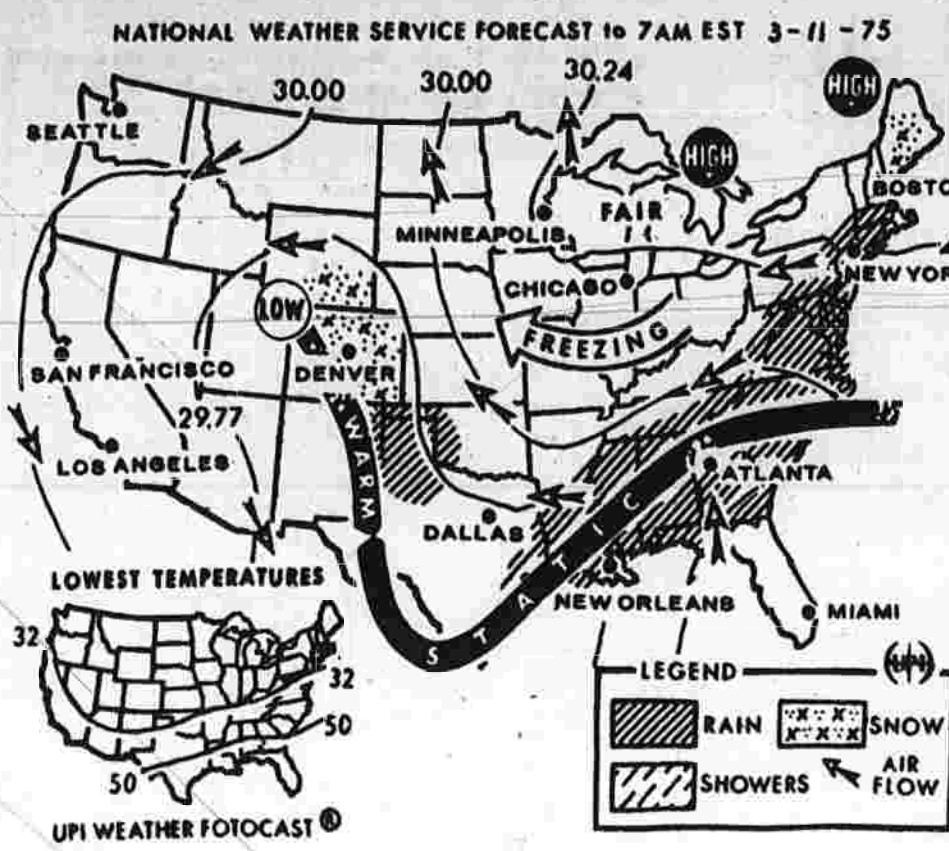

E. Center and Spruce, 10:25 and 3; Charter Oak and Autumn, 10:35 and 2:50; E. Center and Vernon, 10:45 and 2:45; Lydall and Woodbridge, 10:50 and 2:35; E. Middle Tpke. and Main, 11 and 2:30; Mayfair Gardens, 11:05 and 2:25.

Hilliard and Broad, 11:10 and 2:20; Parkade, 11:15 and 2:15; E. Middle Tpke. and Main, 11:20 and 2:05; and Main and Locust to Senior Center, 11:30 and 2.

THE COMMUNITY SPIRIT OF '76

By JOHN SIBUN

The first day of March was the official start of the Bicentennial celebration period. However, I can tell there is some confusion, from all the questions I get, as to the other dates on which to observe this matter.

Simply, as the Revolutionary era was considered to be from the mid 1760's to 1783, these same dates, two hundred years later, are considered the overall commemorative period.

The federal government did start its ill-fated Bicentennial Commission almost ten years ago, which later was converted to the present Bicentennial Administration. It was hoped that these years would be devoted to planning and perhaps some actual programming at all levels, federal, state and local.

With 1976 being held the key year, it became obvious that little would be done until the start of the seventies. In actual fact, in most cases nothing serious was undertaken until the past year and the situation went from having ample time to that of trying to make up for lost time.

Therefore, I would suggest to commissions that the time period for their program is entirely up to them, it does have to end on the last day of December of 1976. Few commissions, I feel, will be going all the way to 1983, though some have every intention of doing so.

Writing of sharing brings me to the following: Most of the Bicentennial programs which are being initiated with the celebration period in mind. However, I am frequently asked when Bicentennial products such as flags and pins and so forth may be obtained. If you are in need of this kind of information, please write to me in care of this newspaper.

From time to time we receive information concerning Bicentennial programs which specialize in various subjects such as garden clubs, music, agriculture and the arts. Also taken into consideration are those folks booted and saddled all ready for a good gallop.

Next month we will give details of a half-day seminar this newspaper will sponsor for local Bicentennial groups.

MANCHESTER AREA CONFERENCE OF CHURCHES

By Nancy Carr, Executive Director

(As I finished this column, I realized that almost entirely unacknowledged by the students of Manchester to help others - people they will never meet, nor see, or even really know much about. It has been enough for them to understand that someone needs their help.

The Manchester Community College Citizen Club is sponsoring a town-wide non-perishable food collection March 14, 15 and 16 to stock the MACC Emergency Food Pantry at Center Congregational Church.

Boxes will be available March 15 in all Manchester public schools and in East Catholic High School for those students who wish to participate in the drive by bringing in canned and dry goods.

On Saturday, Boy Scout Troop 25 will staff collection boxes from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the area supermarkets: Top Grocers, Frank's Finest, Stop and Shop, Crispino's, Highland Park Market, Mott's - who have agreed to cooperate in this worthwhile effort.

Saturday and Sunday, the churches and the synagogues will have boxes near their main entrances so that their people may leave their gifts on their way to worship. Civic students who have been offered the use of a large truck to expedite the collection, will work over the weekend collecting, delivering, and sorting out the food at the pantry.

The people of St. Bridget who have traditionally held food collections at Thanksgiving and Easter are consolidating their food collection with the Collegiate Civitan drive for the MACC Emergency Pantry.

The chairman of the St. Bridget Parish Food Collection, Joseph Schuster, relates the message that in addition to this major church effort are the St. Bridget Rosary Society in donating 10 to 12 canned hams to the pantry.

The opening of the pantry is in response to a growing number of Manchester residents who in the face of natural and/or financial crisis need temporary food assistance. Clergymen, state and local welfare social workers, police, health nurses, policemen, school social workers, etc. may refer an individual or a family who they find to be going hungry for temporary food assistance while long range assistance is being sought.

An elderly person whose Social Security check is late need not try to get through a weekend on a can of soup. The experience of other pantries suggests that many people come back when they are able to replace the cans of food which helped them get over a rough spot.

Please help - drop in a can. World Hunger. The Church School at South United Methodist Church has raised $98.35 for the Manchester Council on World Hunger to send to alleviate suffering caused by the present food famine.

Mrs. Judith Mohr, director of education support ministries, feels that in addition to successfully raising money for the hungry which was the primary goal, it also sparked the concern and awareness of the children about this vital issue. P.S. They sold every single item.

Manchester Evening Herald OPINION Overlapping Influences

We are sure that Treasury Secretary William Simon must often be uneasy when Secretary of State Henry Kissinger steps into the field of economics, as he has recently on the proposal that oil consuming nations agree on a floor price, or tariff, to protect domestic oil producers from a price onslaught by foreign producers.

Kissinger would, of course, be equally discomfited, or in his case perhaps even more so, if Simon were to overlap into the field of diplomacy and treaties.

Yet, it is inescapable that the two fields of influence overlap. Traditionally diplomacy follows trade and national interests, as was so well typified in the British Empire in its era of world dominance.

It is thoroughly understandable that it seems a desirable goal for the United States to seek to place a floor under its domestic oil pricing and protect that floor by tariff or some other means.

If we are to achieve energy independence at some future date — it is now put at 1985 — there is a pressing need for further oil exploration and development, as well as the research program to develop other fuels or energy production means.

Petroleum development is a very costly and risky business at best, requiring the investment of many, many dollars of risk capital.

Oil firms, large or small, will be cautious in expending vast sums of money with the uncertainty that if and when they are able to produce and market, they may have to do so in the face of a depressed price structure.

And perhaps there is some justice in this since they now have controls on the price at which they can sell oil.

Arab Blacklist Tests U.S.

Just how high a price are Americans willing to pay for Arab oil? The Jewish civil rights organization, B'nai B'rith, charges that two federal agencies, the Overseas Investment Corp. and the Army Corps of Engineers, refuse to lend Jews for jobs in the Middle East.

In testimony before a Senate subcommittee the other day, Col. William Durham confirmed that the Corps of Engineers does not assign Jewish officers to construction projects in Saudi Arabia because of Arab demands.

According to Sen. Frank Church (D-Idaho), 1,500 U.S. firms are on an Arab boycott list because they do business with Israel. Many of them have been on the list for years, but it didn't matter because more money was to be made dealing with Israel than with the Arabs — until, that is, things changed and we learned that century to Mao Tse-tung's famous dictum, all power flows not from the barrel of a gun but from barrels of oil.

Most recently, Western banking houses have acceded to Arab demands to blacklist Jewish bankers from participation in Arab investment programs.

All of which has led President Ford to issue a vague warning to the Arabs that "such discrimination is totally contrary to the American position and repugnant to American principles."

Does this mean that unless the Arabs shape up we will reconsider our aid programs, pull our military and civilian personnel back home or take other countermeasures? We'll see.

In the meantime, it is at least curious to be told by this same President that the pouring of another half-billion dollars into the Indochina sinkhole is necessary to preserve American honor and credibility.

ANDREW TULLY Political Power

WASHINGTON — A long and often bitter exchange the other day between Sen. Ted Kennedy and Sen. Howard Cannon, D-Nev., and Senate Minority Whip Robert Griffin, R-Mich., would make a chapter in a textbook on how to get and hold political power in Congress.

Kennedy was seeking money to finance the operations of two Judiciary subcommittees he heads — Administrative Practice and Procedure, and Refugees and Escapees. Cannon and Griffin argued that Kennedy's subcommittees were meddling in business that properly came under the jurisdiction of other Senate panels. They had a point.

For example, when Kennedy cited a clause in the rules that gives the Judiciary Committee jurisdiction over immigration and naturalization of citizens, Cannon pointed out that Judiciary has another subcommittee charged with that responsibility. Kennedy's response was hardly a forensic blockbuster. He could say only that his subcommittee had looked into refugee problems the immigration subcommittee had ignored, and his staff had become expert in such matters.

Maybe, but the Kennedy subcommittee's labors produced a mouse. In 1974, it held six days of hearings on refugee matters in Cyprus, Indochina and Chile, had no bills referred to it and reported no bills. Anyway, Griffin made the point that "you're saying a subcommittee can go off into any direction you want... as long as the committee that does have jurisdiction doesn't object."

Then the mini debate turned to the Administrative Practice subcommittee's recent hearings on airline fares and routes. Cannon is chairman of the Commerce Committee's subcommittee on aviation, which has jurisdiction over civil aeronautics matters.

Cannon wondered angrily what Kennedy's panel was up to in demanding a "voluntinous amount of information" from airlines and the Civil Aeronautics Board. "I've had considerable complaints from the regulatory agency involved and some of the air carriers involved," Cannon said. "...your subcommittee is getting into an area where it has no jurisdiction."

Kennedy insisted that when citizens are denied due process of law involving any regulatory agency, the Judiciary Committee does have a "narrow" but proper role. Cannon shot back that a questionnaire Kennedy's subcommittee sent out "is far, far beyond that narrow scope the Senator has described."

The citizen might well ask what this intramural warfare is all about. Well, for one thing, Congressional committees and subcommittees cost the citizen money. Kennedy was seeking a $429,500 budget for his Administrative Practice subcommittee and $200,000 for his refugees panel. If there is duplication of efforts within the committee-subcommittee structure, the taxpayer is being unfairly, if not illegally, socked. Moreover, Kennedy has admitted that he diverted 18 staffers from his two subcommittees to his Senatorial office.

But among politicians, power is the name of the game, and public exposure is one sure way to build and hold power. Hearings on such issues as refugees and airline fares and routes produce headlines, which are the ambitious politician's bread and butter. Kennedy is not the first, and won't be the last, member of Congress to tinker with jurisdictional lines in order to get his name in the papers and his face on television.

However, the practice smacks of a form of greed on Kennedy's part. Here is a young man who need not bend the rules to nourish his celebrity. Because of his name, he can get attention by merely clearing his throat or showing up at one of those dreary capital cocktail parties. He says he won't run for President next year and maybe he won't, but his little contretemps with Cannon and Griffin shows he is not about to abandon the empire building so necessary for a politician who has his eye on higher office.

The National Sampler From the Country's Editorial Pages

Wyoming State Tribune (Cheyenne)

Do the western democracies have the capability of pulling themselves out of the energy shortage caused economic morass in which they now find themselves? Viewing actions both in Washington and at our state capital here, the answer is apparently no.

In Washington, the House of Representatives has voted to eliminate the oil depletion allowance which has been in existence for over 50 years.

In Cheyenne... the Wyoming House of Representatives has voted to eliminate a two-year moratorium on the nation's and probably the world's most rigid standards on sulphur dioxide emissions.

The lack of foresight and the inability to come to grips with the task of overcoming America's energy shortages seems to have totally escaped a majority of the members of these two legislative bodies.

If we are going to resolve our energy problems we are going to have to do so all along the line at local, at the state and at the national levels.

Right now it is a depressing fact that the people who make the laws at all of these levels do not seem to be a part of the solution. They are a part of the problem.

Dallas Times Herald

At a time when loud and agonizing cries are sounding on all sides demanding development of domestic energy resources to make this nation energy independent, the U.S. House has elected to hurl a major stumbling block into the pathway leading to that development.

The House has... (voted) overwhelmingly to end completely the 22 per cent oil depletion allowance which has been in existence since 1924.

In these days of high costs, $100,000 and upward is required to drill an oil well... in the case of the purely exploratory drilling, which accounts for practically all the new discoveries, only one in every 50 holes results in any significant production.

It is sheer wasteful thinking to believe very many oilmen will continue to invest huge sums in a venture with these odds against success — unless they are furnished with some compensation for failure, which the depletion allowance provided.

San Francisco Chronicle

Any hopes that the country might look to Congress for wise and discriminating leadership in battling the recession have been dashed by the House of Representatives in its vote to repeal the oil depletion allowance with instant tax reduction. The battle plan has undoubtedly been set back by at least two months, as President Ford has warned it would be if the depletion abolitionists prevailed. Instead of a spring offensive against the recession and unemployment, we'll be lucky to get a summer offensive.

What Mr. Ford hoped for, on January 14 when he offered his tax rebate program, was its congressional authorization by April 2 and $8 billion in the pockets of taxpayers by May. What he will be lucky to get now is a Senate vote on the Democratic bill and its emergence from conference by June. The Senate Finance Committee is unlikely to pass out oil depletion repeal without long hearings and, once on the floor of the Senate, the bill will be filibustered, Senator Mansfield predicts.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat

The ghosts who are showing up dirt about the late J. Edgar Hoover, famed chief of the FBI for nearly half a century, should crawl back in their crypts.

It was J. Edgar Hoover's early mission to rid this nation of the gangs that terrorized it in the 1920s and 1930s. That he did. Thereafter he protected Americans from the threat of internal subversion and foreign conspiracies.

So Hoover had files. Big deal! He'd have been a terrible dummy if he hadn't.

How else could he organize and administer the most efficient police in the world without endangering civil liberties? Instead of screaming about the data that Hoover maintained, why don't those who have any claim of injury come forward? There is none.

The whole country is living in fear of being knocked off and some government officials are acting as if J. Edgar Hoover is a living menace. How paranoid can they get?

A lot of people would like to see J. Edgar Hoover back on earth. Try Patry Hearst's parents for a starter.

Hebron Firemen See $1,200 Budget Surplus

Anne Dallaire
Correspondent
228-2267

The Board of Finance heard from Fire Chief William V. Borst at its recent meeting in Hebron. Borst reported on the status of the budget for the remainder of the fiscal year.

Borst reported that expenditures to date amounted to $4,160.85. He went on to say if there were no major breakdowns, the department could have a surplus of about $1,200 at the end of the 1974-75 fiscal year.

Borst reported to the board on the board's request for an austerity program in the town. The board has asked all town boards and officers to review their 1974-75 budget status and report back due to the town being faced with a budget deficit at the end of the fiscal year.

Other agencies who reported to the board who felt there was no surplus in their budgets were the Registrar of Voters, the Zoning Board of Appeals and Civil Preparedness.

First Selectman Aaron Reid told the board that he will hold off on any requests and "try to stretch all he can, with any luck, during any overtime, we might get to the middle of June."

Some inflation items, Reid went on to say were street lighting and gasoline, which are going to be a problem.

Howard Porter, board member, expressed concern in the electricity bill for the lights and asked Reid if he would look into the way the Connecticut Light and Power charges the town for the street lights. Reid agreed to do so.

The board also received a letter from David Albee, chairman of the Board of Education, advising the Board of Finance there will be a $4,000 deficit in this year's budget, compared to the $6,944 deficit that was projected a month ago, due to the freeze the board has put on.

Film Dates
The following dates have been set for parents to preview the growth and development films at the Hebron Elementary School at 9 a.m. in Room 9.

Rabbit Run Set March 29

VERNON
The second annual Vernon Rabbit Run is scheduled for March 29, the Saturday before Easter. Runners will wind their way 4.2 miles through the streets of Vernon.

On March 23 at 1 p.m., race officials will meet in front of the Memorial Building in Rockville to reconnoiter the course with prospective runners.

Patrolled after Manchester's Thanksgiving Day road race, the Rabbit Run is sanctioned by the Connecticut Amateur Athletic Union (A.A.U.) and sponsored by the non-profit Vernon Rabbit Run, Inc.

The first woman and the first man to cross the finish line will be given a $25 gift certificate. Trophies and merchandise prizes will be awarded to men and women in five other categories.

These are: Grandmaster (for runners over 50 years of age); Masters (for those aged 40 to 50); Sub-masters (for those aged 35-40); Juniors (for those 18 and younger); and Open. There are separate men's and women's divisions.

Some 175 runners turned out for last year's race and race officials say they expect this second year there will be about 300 runners.

March 17 is the deadline for filing applications for those runners who wish their names to be published in the booklet which will be distributed to the public on the day of the race.

Applications may be obtained at several places including the office of the Rockville Area Chamber of Commerce, 30 LaSalle St., Rockville, and at the Food Store at Vernon Circle.

Moore, PZC Will Meet Over Role With WRPA

COVENTRY
Monica Shea
James Moore, the Planning and Zoning Commission's representative to the Windham Regional Planning Agency, will meet with the commission at 7:45 o'clock on Tuesday at the Board Room of the Town Hall.

The discussion will center on Moore's attendance at the WRPA meetings and a request that he report to the commission on a regular basis.

The commission will make a decision tonight on the application of Peter Gunas for a 16-lot subdivision at Carpenter and Merrow Roads. Gunas had indicated to the commission that he would be prepared to revise his original application but to this date the commission has not received new plans.

The commission will hold a public hearing on LeMay to deposit material removed from Coventry Lake onto two lakefront lots in Hemlock Point.

The Inland-Wetlands Agency had already given LeMay permission to complete the excavation of the inland and causeway on that beach.

To Fill Vacancy
The Democratic Town Committee Tuesday will select a candidate to recommend to the Town Council to fill the vacancy on the Zoning Board of Appeals, created by the resignation of Joseph B. Barreche.

The town committee will meet at 8 p.m. in the Board Room of the Town Hall.

The committee will also hear Harvey Barrette, a member of the Puddle Prop and Salt Club, on the status of the club which wishes to erect on Coventry Lake.

The committee voted by an overwhelming majority at its last meeting to send a letter to the Department of Environmental Protection asking that permission not be given to construct the causeway.

The nominating committee of the Zoning Board of Appeals vacated on Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. to interview candidates for the Zoning Board of Appeals vacancy.

Meets Wednesday
The Ladies Association of the First Congregational Church will hold its monthly Koffee Klatch in the church vestry on Rt. 31 on Wednesday noon.

Sandwiches, coffee and dessert will be served for $1.25. Homemade clam chowder will cost an additional 25 cents.

The board also cut $4,500 from miscellaneous account which would have paid for the expenses of the team of teachers that would have come in to evaluate the high school for its 10-year accreditation from the New England Association of Secondary Schools.

This will be the second year that this has been cut from the budget.

The board will send a letter requesting another year's extension.

Dr. Arnold Elman, superintendent of schools, told the board, "In all honesty, even if we have the evaluation we probably would not be accredited. Rather than cut this $4,500 from another account such as textbooks, I would see it cut from here."

Board members indicated that this was a very tight budget and that it wasn't cut to skin and bone but was now down to the bare bones, and if any further cuts were made programs would have to be cut.

School Board Trims Budget by $106,008

COVENTRY
Monica Shea
742-9495
After two nights of meetings, the Board of Education has trimmed its proposed $2,740,516 by a total of $106,008. This cut would bring the budget in at a 9.8 per cent increase over last year's budget and would necessitate an increase of 5.4 mills in town taxes to pay for the additional budget.

Last year's budget was for $2,634,508.

Larger cuts include a cut of $1,200 in the superintendent's office account; $5,831 cut in the proposed salaries of the principals; $3,300 cut in the salaries of consultants.

The largest cut was $20,661 in the salary account for the teachers. The teachers are currently negotiating a new contract and are asking for an 18 per cent increase over last year's wages while the board has offered a 5 per cent increase.

Other large cuts include $3,060 in the library magazine account; $2,255 cut from the elementary instructional aids account.

Finance Board Seeks COC Compact Review

HEBRON
Anne Dallaire
2238-3267
The Board of Finance voted unanimously to ask town council to review the Central Office Committee (COC) compact and determine the legal responsibility of the town under the compact and specifically to the COC's power to levy on the town.

Andrew Mulligan, president of the Hebron Taxpayers Association (HTA), presented copies of the association's proposed 1975-76 budget for the COC.

Mulligan said there are certain areas HTA feels that should be reduced. One is in the mitigation and another is in the COC's recommended 1975-76 budget totals $85,620, compared to $82,065 for the current budget.

The HTA in its proposed budget for the COC recommends a total budget of $77,929. If legal services were charged back to each board which required them, this could reduce the proposed budget to $75,929.

The COC increase in salaries for the superintendent is $903, and the assistant superintendent increase is $1,230.

The COC mileage expense is now at 12 cents per mile and it is requesting an increase to 15 cents per mile.

Mulligan said the 18,000 miles the COC is using in its budget is excessive number of miles.

Howard Porter, board member, said the superintendents should be taking a cut in salary instead of giving themselves a raise.

Porter said that the mileage works out to about 100 miles per day for 180 school days and that was too much.

Porter is concerned that the COC budget is not brought before the people for a vote.

The COC is comprised of two members from each of the four boards of education in the Regional District.

The budget is either defeated or passed by it. A levy is then placed on each of the boards of education.

Mrs. Sandra Kalom, board member, felt some of the dollar figures in the proposed COC budget were kind of high and with the Board of Finance asking all town agencies to decrease their spending, that the COC should also follow.

Porter added that he agreed with the HTA.

The board unanimously voted to draft a letter to each of the COC members and the chairman of the Regional Board of Education District 3 advising them of the board's feelings on the salary increase and the increase in mileage, and to remind them the board is asking for an austerity program in Hebron.

The Board of Education, without a formal vote, approved the proposed budget.

The COC will meet tonight in the superintendent's office at Gilead Hill School at 7:30 to vote on the proposed budget.

Mulligan thanked the board for listening and for the action that the Board of Finance was taking.

AREA POLICE REPORT

VERNON
Columbus Gibson, 57, of 99 Brooklyn St., Rockville was charged Saturday with disorderly conduct, intoxication, and interfering with a police officer in connection with the investigation of a disturbance at the Administration Building.

Police said Gibson was held at the police station and released later on a $150 non-surety bond for appearance in Common Pleas Court 19, Rockville, March 25.

Richard Jacobson, 41, of Summit St., Manchester, was charged this morning with failure to drive in the proper lane in connection with the investigation of a two-car accident on Rt. 83.

Police said Jacobson struck a car driven by Lurene Hyland of 99 Grand Ave., Rockville, as she was making a left turn into a private driveway. Jacobson was scheduled to appear in Common Pleas Court 19, Rockville, March 25.

Robert A. Mangillo, 25, of 95 Forest St., Rockville was charged with fourth-degree larceny (shoplifting) following an incident at the new K-Mart store in Vernon.

Mangillo was released on a $100 non-surety bond. Court date is March 25.

Lawrence Santaniello of 90 Thompson Rd., South Glastonbury was charged with driving above a reasonable rate of speed following a chain reaction accident on Rt. 86.

Police gave the following account:

The Santaniello vehicle was westbound on 186 when he lost control. The car spun around and rolled over several times.

David Shafer, of Lexington, Mass., stopped his car when he saw the accident occurring. Before he could get out of the car to give assistance, his car was struck from behind by a car driven by Thomas Classen, of Madison, N.J.

The Shafer car was then pushed into the Santaniello vehicle.

Court date is April 1.

ELLYNGTON
Francis Griffin, 27, of Rt. 140, Ellington was charged Saturday with intoxication and disorderly conduct, and Francis Willis, 21, of Burbank Rd., Ellington; Erik Chadwick, 22, of 275 Oakland St., Manchester, were charged with disorderly conduct.

The arrests were made in connection with the investigation of a disturbance at the Administration Building.

Police said three were released on their promise to appear in Common Pleas Court 19, Rockville on April 1.

South Windsor Police said an accident that happened this morning at Rt. 5 and Chapel Rd. is still under investigation. The occupants of a pickup truck involved in the accident were both injured and police said it hasn't been determined who was driving.

Police said John Kurtz, 56, of Philadelphia St., northbound and was stopped in the left turn lane waiting for the light to change when his car was struck in the rear by the truck.

The occupants of the truck, Barry Hogan, 44, and Charles Titus, 53, both of Enfield, were taken to Hartford Hospital. Police said Hogan suffered a head injury and Titus multiple injuries.

Joseph Bigos, 52, of 122 Griffin St., South Windsor was charged Sunday with failure to drive in the proper lane in connection with the investigation of a one-car accident on Rye St. Police said Bigos was stopped on Rye St., went off the road and struck a utility pole. No injuries were reported.

At least some of the 50 feet of Common Pleas Court 12, East Hartford, April 1.

James Corbett, 32, of Hartford was charged Sunday night with failure to drive a reasonable distance apart in connection with the investigation of a three-car accident at Rt. 5 and Colony Rd.

Police said Nola W. Taylor of Hartford and Richard Vaack of East Hartford were waiting for a light to change when the Vaack car was struck by Corbett in turn it struck the Taylor car.

Corbett is scheduled to appear in Common Pleas Court 12, East Hartford, April 1.

Mrs. Haverl said they are requesting $500 from the town; $250 each, to cover the cost of maintenance and insurance. She said they would like the trash picked up on a regular weekly basis.

Mrs. Haverl said it a generous offer that will give the town a baseball and softball field for the summer.

She said it also will give the Recreation Commission another season to get something else under way.

Financing Will Be Sought For Bulldozer, Ambulance

ANDOVER
Donna Holland
646-0375
Appropriations of $1,343 will be sought at a Town Meeting, March 27 at 8 p.m. at Andover Elementary School.

Residents will be asked to appropriate $8,000 toward the purchase of a bulldozer. The town has been renting the dozer. It has been used at the disposal area and for maintenance of roads.

Residents will be asked to appropriate $5,000 toward the purchase of a new ambulance. The Fire Commissioners will be requesting the appropriation from the Board of Finance Tuesday.

Andover's ambulance is ten years old and is the oldest in the area.

It is anticipated federal funding will pay for 75 per cent of the ambulance.

The Board of Selectmen approved a $3,000 request by the Recreation Commission for preparation of a ball field on the town property. The commission member, said the commission did not make any such request.

She said the commission is looking at more than one area and has not yet made up its mind which one to recommend.

The selectmen said the commission plans to get an estimate of cost from a civil engineer.

Townpeople will be asked to appropriate $848 for a land survey done in conjunction with construction on Jurvarty Rd.

The $848 was approved at a meeting on Jurvarty Rd. was moved to the northeast, leaving the town short some of the 50 feet needed for the road.

When the road was brought to standard, a small triangular piece of land remained. The selectmen wished to deed it to Robert Fuller.

Town Counsel Katherine Hutchinson said it must be surveyed, thus the need for the $843 appropriation.

The $943 was more than had been anticipated by the selectmen for the survey.

The selectmen plan to send a letter to the Board of Finance explaining the situation.

Those present at the meeting will be asked to give approval to the Board of Finance.

The finance board has not yet made any recommendation.

Residents will hear reports from the Board of Finance and the Law Enforcement Committee.

After the reports are heard, residents will be asked to vote on recommendations of the committee.

Surgery Offers Hope To the Impotent

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1975 by Chicago Tribune & News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a physician who reads your column in the Houston Post. A 40-year-old woman wrote to say that after four months of marriage she was still a virgin due to impotence on the part of her husband.

Your answer: "If it's physical, you have two choices—continue in a marriage without sex, or get an annulment."

From your answer, you obviously are not aware of the fact that recently a small device has been developed that can be surgically implanted into the male organ of men who are unable to effect an erection. With this device, the patient (or his partner) is able to pump fluid into the penis, thus producing an erection at will and for as long as desired.

Although the majority of our cases are men who are impotent due to physical reasons, we have also treated men whose impotence was due to psychological reasons.

This work is presently being done at various medical centers in the U.S. as well as in Europe, although it was initiated at St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital in Houston, Texas. Because this is such a new development, I realize why it has not become a part of your knowledge.

Should this letter be published, please do not use my name for ethical reasons so that my letter can in no manner be construed as an advertisement for patients.

HOUSTON UROLOGIST

DEAR UROLOGIST: Because my mail has brought me so many letters from readers who need and would appreciate this information, I am publishing your letter. I recommend that those who are interested in learning more about this surgical procedure consult their local urologists. And for further information write to St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital, Department of Urology, Box #20263, Houston, Texas 77025.

DEAR ABBY: In reference to first cousins who wish to marry and apparently could not do so legally in the state where they lived, such marriages are permitted by the laws of New York—and many other states.

A more curious question: "Can an uncle marry a niece, or an aunt marry a nephew?" A few Latin American countries permit such marriages, and in the U.S.A., the laws of Georgia provide for such marriage permitted by the law of the Levites (Leviticus XVIII) is legal in that state.

Under the law of the Levites, a marriage between a man and the daughter of his brother is permitted. However, the marriage of a man with the daughter of his brother, and a marriage between a woman and her nephew are prohibited.

H.N.N. (N.Y. ATTORNEY)

DEAR ATTORNEY: What you are saying is that a man may marry his niece, but a woman may not marry her nephew—a law which had its origin in the Old Testament.

DEAR ABBY: You have had letters about illegitimate children. May I add my two cents worth?

My parents were adults, well over the age of consent, when they entered into a love affair that would eventually produce me. My father was in the Navy and due to ship out when he learned of his impending arrival. He felt that under the circumstances he didn't want the responsibility of a wife and child, so he boarded the ship and was never heard from again.

My mother realized her mistake, but she courageously faced the problems that all unwed mothers must face, and she decided to keep me.

She later married a fine man who adopted me, and now I have a whole passed of brothers and sisters whom I love. I wish my natural father nothing but happiness and good fortune. I sincerely hope that the years have been kind to him, and have given him a family to love. I will not look for him, as his mistake is now over 30 years old, and I don't want to cause him any embarrassment.

When I was 18, mother told me the circumstances surrounding my birth, which I consider of little importance. I feel no guilt about the mistake of my parents. I was given a life, and what I do wish that life is far more important to me than how I got here.

I am now happily married to a kind and loving man and we have children of our own. We don't have a lot of money, but we are rich in other ways. We have love. And in this life, no one has a right to ask for more, sign me

DEAR BLESSED: Amen!

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 135 Leaky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20¢) envelope.

Foreign Food Festival Set For Thursday

HEBRON
Anne Dallaire
Correspondent
228-5257

Mrs. Nellie ManWarren's fourth grade class at the Hebron Elementary School will hold its annual Foreign Food Festival March 13 in the basement of the First Congregational Church.

The students have compiled a booklet containing food recipes of different ethnic and religious groups.

Parents will prepare the food for the buffet lunch at the festival.

The host for the festival will be Louis Marfessoli, hostess, Kelly Henaghan, greeter will be Christopher Hebron, band announcer is Patricia Petrolino, and chaplain for the day will be Michael Sherman.

The festival is held so that the students develop a greater awareness of the people in Connecticut, their countries of origin, and their contributions to our lives today.

Gym Program
Students from the Hebron and Gilead Hill Elementary Schools will be participating in the Annual Gymnastics Program, March 12 and 13 at 7:30 p.m. Students at the Hebron Elementary School will perform at 7:30 p.m. March 12 and the students from the Gilead Hill School will perform March 13 at 7:30 p.m.

The selections for this program is based on three criteria: Level of skill in gymnastics, performance in the daily classroom, and citizenship. Parents, friends, neighbors and relatives are invited to attend.

Students To Sing
The fourth grade class at Gilead Hill School have been invited to sing for the Connecticut State Federation of Women's Club's Spring Convention at the Red Coach Grill in Windsor Locks, April 12.

The Women's Club is providing a bus to take the students from Gilead School to the meeting and back.

Mrs. Crane, Mrs. Reveley and Mrs. Scheffich will accompany the children on the trip.

Baseball Signup
The Hebron Baseball Association has announced that registration for the 1975 Little League and Pony League baseball season will be today from 8:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the Hebron and Gilead Hill Elementary Schools.

Little League players must be at least 8 years old as of Aug. 1 and not over 12 by the same date.

Pony League players must be 12 by Aug. 1 and not over 14 by the same date.

Registration fees which are needed for liability insurance for the association are $3 per child and no more than $6 per family.

All youngsters signing up must be accompanied by a parent.

Synagogue Meeting
The United Brethren of Hebron will hold a meeting Tuesday, at 7:30 p.m. at the synagogue, Rt. 85.

Old Home Tour Date Selected

BOLTON
Donna Holland
Correspondent
646-0375

The Bicentennial Committee has chosen Oct. 18 as the date for a tour of old homes in Bolton.

Any resident having a home built before 1800 and willing to have the home on the tour is asked to contact Mrs. David Campbell, 666-725.

Selection of homes used will be based on giving patrons of the tour a broad range of the various types of early housing. It is hoped the tour will incorporate some features of crafts and industry in Bolton before 1800.

In 1628 Peter Minuit bought all of Manhattan Island's 2,300 acres for 60 Dutch guilders worth of trade goods. In those days 60 guilders equaled 2,400 English cents. Today Manhattan Island sells for about $24 a square inch.

Oswald Innocence Alleged in Book

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Lee Harvey Oswald was telling the truth when he said he did not kill President John F. Kennedy, according to a former Central Intelligence Agency official.

In a book which contends that Oswald was "framed," possibly by employees of the Dallas police force and the FBI, author George O'Toole based his conclusion primarily on the measurements of a device invented in 1970 known as the psychological stress evaluator — or PSE.

"President Kennedy was killed by a conspiracy," said O'Toole, 38, who was chief of the CIA problem analysis branch from 1966 to 1969.

"But the absence of stress is a sufficient condition of truthfulness," Oswald denied shooting anybody — the President, the policeman (J.D. Tippitt), anybody. The psychological stress evaluator said he was telling the truth.

O'Toole quoted polygraph expert Lloyd H. Hitchcock, of Lavonia, Ga., as saying:

"Assuming that he was not suffering from a psychopathological condition that made him ignorant of his own action, I can state beyond reasonable doubt that Lee Harvey Oswald did not kill President Kennedy and did not shoot anyone else."

Hitchcock added he had ruled out the possibility Oswald was a pathological liar. O'Toole also reached the "inescapable" conclusion "that at least some of the people who framed Lee Harvey Oswald were members of the Dallas police."

'When It Really Mattered, I Had It' - Laver, Australia Retains Aetna World Tennis Cup

By Earl Yost
"When it really mattered, I had it," a confident Rocket Rod Laver said as he sat in front of the spotlights in press headquarters at the Hartford Civic Center yesterday afternoon.

Minutes before he has given Arthur Ashe of the United States a lesson in the finer points of tennis. The result was an easy 6-2, 7-4, 6-3 straight sets which assured Australia of keeping the Aetna World Cup for another year.

After Laver gave Ashe a lesson, to take away much interest from the final doubles play, Stockton, who caught the fancy of the crowd in his loss against Laver in singles, teamed with Ashe to whip Ken Rosewall and John Alexander, 6-4, 6-3, 7-6. It was a meaningless match but surprisingly a majority of the sellout crowd remained to the end.

Who was timing the ball very cleanly. I was surprised that Ashe had changed his game around. I knew I had him as strong as any other. Naturally we have different people. One person who will be repeating at Evansville is 6-8 senior John Grochowalski, who had 23 points and seven rebounds in the tournament win. He was named most valuable player of the tournament which saw Hartford dump Sacred Heart, 102-91 in the consolation game.

Turgeon Adds State Laurels

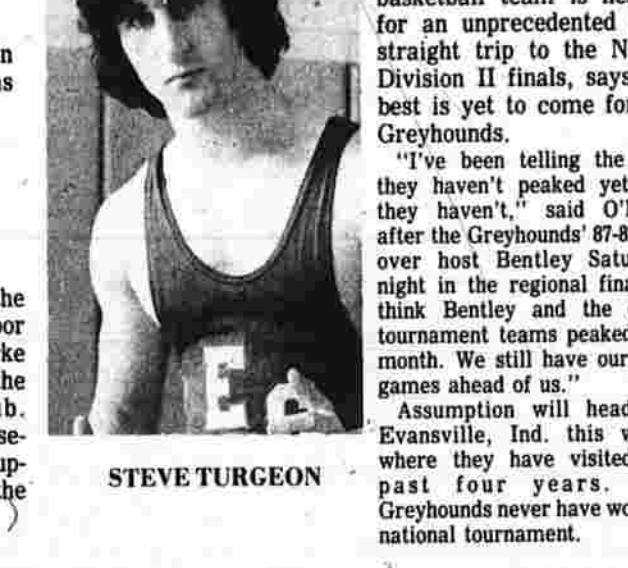

Adding the State Open Wrestling Championship title to the 126-pound division to his list of laurels Saturday was East Catholic's Steve Turgeon.

Bitterly Disappointed North Carolina State Turns Down NIT, Bid 'A Loser's Tournament'

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Atlantic Coast Conference's post-season tournament has driven Tobacco Road basketball fans to insanity for years now, but Saturday it added the NCAA to its list of victims.

The bitterly disappointed Wolfpack was left with only a bid to the National Invitation Tournament, which was essentially dreaming of David Thompson and full houses.

North Carolina's Tar Heels threw the monkey wrench into the NCAA tournament machinery Saturday night with a 76-66 victory over North Carolina State.

Rick Barry Helps to Bury Celtics Then Heaps Lot of Praise on Club

NEW YORK (UPI) — Rick Barry has the strangest way of showing his appreciation. The shaggy blond super-shooter for the Golden State Warriors first buried the Celtics then praised them Sunday after scoring 31 points in a nationally televised 102-101 victory.

"I love to play the Celtics," said Barry who shoveled home 11 of his points in the last 6:29 of play to bring the Warriors from an early 16-point deficit. "I love to watch them play."

"To me, they epitomize the game of basketball." The Celtics team Barry was discussing only appeared in the first half of play. In the second half, the defending National Basketball Association champions were just another lackadaisical outfit, according to Boston Coach Tom Heinsohn.

"We gave them the game, that's all I can tell you. We stopped running and pushing it (the ball) up. We stopped our pressing defense," said Heinsohn.

The Celtics started off typically even, netting the first eight points and amassing a 16-point lead, 51-35, by late in the second period. Their play was so smooth and effortless, it was hard for onlookers to determine just how Boston had built the bulge.

But the Warriors countered with sharp shooting to score eight of the final 10 points before intermission and closed to 53-43 at the half.

Barry, held to 10 points in the first half, had eight in the third period to go with 10 for Charlie Johnson (24 overall) and eight for impressive rookie Keith Wilkes as Golden State narrowed the edge to four, 91-87 after three periods.

Then the Boston fast break shut down while Barry and Wilkes took over. The two brought the Warriors from a 90-85 deficit at 5:31 of the final quarter, to the one-point victory by assisting for the final 17 points between them. Barry scored 11 and Wilkes, the freshman from UCLA, had six of his 18 points in the stretch.

Elsewhere, Philadelphia broke Washington's 22-game home court winning streak with a 113-100 win. Detroit beat Kansas City-Omaha 106-99, New Orleans down Cleveland 90-86 and Los Angeles ripped Houston 116-95.

Wilkes, battling Atlanta's John Drew for Rookie of the Year laurels, said the Warriors' surge came late because "sometimes things take a half to get going. We just started concentrating in the second half, that's all, and I think it helped that they (Celtics) didn't play too well in the second half."

FBI Checking Drug-Selling

BOSTON (UPI) — The FBI is investigating a nationwide drug-selling ring which may involve as many as 75 professional football players and their friends, according to the Sunday Herald Advertiser.

Calling the probe "what may be the biggest narcotics scandal in the history of professional sports," the newspaper said a Cambridge, Mass., woman, allegedly a part of the ring, was arrested over the weekend and she was expected to cooperate with narcotics agents.

"The former Boston professional narcotics dealer has not been officially charged as yet. He reportedly has been staying in Florida," said the Advertiser.

The report quoted the investigator as saying the players were from long established clubs as well as new franchises.

"Scores of agents, it was learned, began the probe during the fall's football season and the situation came to a head after the Super Bowl game," according to the exclusive report.

"Federal agents said Pete Rozelle, the commissioner of the National Football League and representative of the new World Football league "have cooperated fully" with sleuths in what may be the biggest narcotics scandal in the history of professional sports," it concluded.

Although Edward Cass, regional director of the Federal Bureau of Narcotics in New England, was not immediately available for comment, other officials said the woman who was arrested has been charged with "possession with intent to distribute narcotics," according to the newspaper.

ABA Roundup Kentucky Troubles With Lower Clubs

NEW YORK (UPI) — It is the mark of a championship team that it wins the big ones. But it must win the little ones, too.

The Kentucky Colonels, who fell apart in the playoffs last year, losing four straight to New York, seemed to be picking up the momentum, playing more cohesively, recently. Saturday night, in a show of force, the Colonels crushed the Nets 96-90 in Kentucky to draw within a half-game of the ABA Eastern Division leaders.

At Skinner started for the first time this season because of injuries to Mike Johnson and Mike Gale and scored 22 points, the same as Julius Erving, to lead the Nets. Willie Wise and Mike Jackson paced Virginia with 19 points apiece.

Elsewhere, Indiana ripped Kansas to win the season, trying to bring their enthusiastic fans in Kentucky a championship team. A new coach, several new players, a new style but the Colonels again may be fading in the clutch.

Maurice Lucas, one of many talented rookies on the Spirits, notched 30 points against Gilmore, matching his career high, and Freddie Lewis added 29 Sunday to lead St. Louis past the Colonels.

Loudd Object Of FBI Search

BOSTON (UPI) — FBI officials were seeking Rommie Loudd, the first black coach in the history of the American Football League, as part of a nationwide narcotics investigation. The Boston Globe said Monday.

The newspaper said the warrant for Loudd's arrest followed the arrests of three of his associates, in the Orlando, Fla. area, and a Cambridge, Mass. woman, Barbara Tripp, 28, over the weekend.

All four have been charged in connection with the sale of cocaine and heroin.

The Globe said Loudd was associated with Miss Tripp by federal agents through a narcotics transaction. The warrant charges Loudd with conspiracy to commit a felony and delivery of cocaine.

Record Set

PRINCETON, N.J. (UPI) — Seton Hall set a one-mile relay record and captured two sprint events Sunday in winning its first ICA indoor track and field championship.

With Charlie Joseph winning the 400-yard event and Howard Brock taking the 600-yard dash, the Pirates edged Maryland 37-34 for the team title.

SPORTS BRIEFS

Dogwood Winners

MARTINSVILLE, Va. (UPI) — Carl "Bugs" Stevens and Ray Hendrick scored narrow wins Sunday in the $60,000 Dogwood 500 doubleheader.

Stevens, from Rehoboth, Mass., a three-time National Modified Champion, averaged 69.65 miles per hour driving his 1973 Vega to win the 250-lap NASCAR National Modified race, with Ron Bouchard of Fitchburg, Mass., three seconds back.

Hendrick, scoring his 19th victory on the half-mile track, averaged 58.757 mph in the 250-lap NASCAR National Late Model Sportsman race. Joe Millikan of Randleman, N.C., was two seconds behind.

Win Certified

ARCADIA, Calif. (UPI) — Heavily-favored Stardust Mel, with Bill Shoemaker in the irons, survived an inquiry Sunday to win the $170,000 Santa Anita Handicap before a crowd of nearly 55,000.

The victory marked the 639th stakes victory and 107th triumph in a race worth $100,000 or more for the 45-year-old rider who was scoring with his eighth Santa Anita Handicap winner. Jockey Raul Ramirez, aboard second place finisher Out of the East, lodged a foul claiming interference in the stretch, but the stewards after viewing the films, disallowed the claim.

Friends Found

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Jess Richardson, a former pro football star, discovered while he was hospitalized for a serious kidney ailment that some of his best friends were total strangers.

A columnist for the Philadelphia Inquirer reported Friday that Richardson, who played defensive tackle for the Philadelphia Eagles and Boston Patriots, was undergoing dialysis treatment at Temple University Hospital here and needed a kidney transplant.

In response to the column, dozens of persons have offered to donate one of their kidneys to the former defensive tackle who has been hospitalized for 14 weeks.

Campbell Rallies

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UPI) — Buddy Campbell of DeMorra, Calif., fought his way out of the back of the pack to take second place in the two-mile event Sunday and wrap up the Senior Men's Division of the National Indoor Skating Championships.

Twenty records of the 41 events during the two-day event were broken on the one-twelfth-mile track at the University of Illinois skating rink. The normal size track is one-sixteenth of a mile.

Campbell, 31, representing the Southern California Skating Association, won the 440 and three-quarter mile before finishing second behind Bill Lanigan of New York in the two-mile. Lanigan finished with 16 points, one point behind Campbell.

Triple Crown Won

ONTARIO, Calif. (UPI) — A.J. Foyt became the first man in history Sunday to win all three jewels in the U.S. Auto Club's "Triple Crown," capturing the California 500.

The 46-year-old Texas-born Foyt finished the 200 laps in three hours, 14 minutes, 22 seconds, averaging 154.344 miles an hour. Defending Cal 500 champ Bobby Unser was second, 43.31 seconds behind.

Foyt's other 500-mile wins came at Pocono in 1973 and at Indianapolis in 1961, 1964 and 1967.

Awesome Returns Vital For Martina Navratilova

BOSTON (UPI) — In her tennis dress, Martina Navratilova, a Czechoslovakian, won the women's doubles title Sunday in the final two matches in a three-set match against the American duo of Billie Jean King and Rosie Casale.

Navratilova, whose only weakness now seems to be nerves and cheap American hamburgers, pitched camp at the net on the first serve of Saturday's opening set. She hit a hard first serve, moved in and rocketed a backhand cross-court volley for the opening point.

She won the game and played Goolagong even until her opponent committed a double fault and two net errors for a service break in the sixth game.

Navratilova took the seventh game with excellent deep serves and used the backhand cross-court volley to engineer another service break in the ninth game and give her the first set.

"I felt great when I won that set because I had never won even a set against her before," said Navratilova. "I said to myself, 'Now let's win two.'"

Navratilova followed the same route the rest of the match — break for the net at the earliest opportunity on each serve, then stalk the forecourt looking for a putaway shot.

Goolagong managed to win the second set as Navratilova's serve deserted her, causing her only loss of service out of 14 in the match. But the serve returned in the third set as Navratilova built a 4-1 lead and coasted.

Fifteen minutes after letting out a Czechoslovakian victory yelp, Navratilova was back on the court. This time, however, she was less successful — as she and Chris Evert dropped the doubles final, 6-3, 6-4, to Billie Jean King and Rosie Casale.

"I played great except for the doubles," said Navratilova. "I was really tired and I won't play the next tournament in London."

With almost $60,000 in winnings before spring, she can afford a rest.

Red Shirt Proves Lucky For Trevino in Florida

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) — If Lee Trevino breaks out his red shirt next week on the "Blue Monster" at Doral Country Club, he smells another trophy.

"If you see me in a brown shirt, that means I'm choking," explained the Merry Mercurio in the aftermath of collecting his 18th pro golf title and the $40,000 check that went with it in the $200,000 Florida Citrus Open.

Trevino had on that specially-made red shirt Sunday as he logged a 71 that put him at 12-under-par 276 and one stroke ahead of his former World Cup teammate, U. S. Open champ Hale Irwin.

"I only wear it on Sunday when I think I'm going to win," said the 35-year-old holder of several of the world's most prestigious titles.

"This gives me a tremendous amount of confidence," he said, "and I always do well the week after I win. And I'm going to a golf course I like."

The two-time British Open winner brought his earnings to more than $54,400 for 1975 with his first victory of the season.

Trevino, who had rounds of 69, 68 and 70 on his first three tours of the par 72, 6,929-yard Rior course, had two birdies and a bogey Sunday and said, "My round wasn't too exciting. Irwin, the 29-year-old resident of St. Louis who shared the lead with Trevino after 36 holes, finished at 68-67-74-68-277. On Sunday he posted one bogey and five birdies, including three on the back nine, and said, "My game was barely hanging on."

Young Ben Crenshaw, who claimed the $14,200 third-place money with a card that read 72-68-67-71-278, agreed with Irwin.

"The way Lee hits the ball, you have to make birdies to catch him. He plays air-tight golf. He's the straightest driver and he hits a lot of greens."

Former Masters champ Charles Coody, who now lives in nearby Maitland, was in sole possession of fourth place, three strokes behind Trevino, at 279.

Two strokes farther back was the trio of Bruce Devlin, Forrest Feeler and Russ Muesangale.

Trevino said, "I'm glad only one person was playing good golf."

"I kind of scrambled on the first time, but coming in I hit the ball relatively well. I hit it close on the last eight holes."

Realizing he had only a one-stroke lead going to his last pin, the El Paso resident said, "The big shot of the day was the last hole."

"The last thing I wanted was a long putt," he said. "And I hit it in there to 15 feet of the hole."

NHL Roundup

NEW YORK (UPI) — In dealing with a team that boasts such a proud and successful history as the Montreal Canadiens, it is hazardous at best when you try to make comparisons.

Yet, there are a growing number of observers who are willing to mention the current band of Canadians with the best of the club's storied past.

And the Canadiens, making the most of their national exposure in Sunday's televised game, brought over a few more believers with their methodical 5-3 victory over the New York Rangers.

The key to a great team is its ability to win away from home, and Montreal now has gone 22 consecutive games without losing on the road, a National Hockey League record.

Another key is the ability to take advantage of breaks, and the Canadiens did that Sunday when they bumped on New York penalties for two first-period power play goals.

The second goal, scored by Jacques Lemaire, secured his season for Montreal during a power play, establishing another NHL mark. It was the 100th goal of the season.

Bill another peak in Canadian history was reached when Pete Mahovich scored two goals and assisted against the Rangers, thus becoming only the second Montreal player ever to reach the 100-point plateau in a season.

Mahovich accomplished the feat less than 48 hours after his seventh straight victory and the first Canadian to scale the 100-point mark.

After jumping to a 2-0 lead on the power play goals by Mahovich and Lapointe, Montreal put the Rangers away by scoring with their first three shots of the second period.

Blaine Stoughton scored twice and assisted on a third goal to lead Toronto to its seventh straight victory and present the Caps with their 11th straight defeat and 57th loss in 68 games.

St. Louis North Stars 4, Bobby Orr broke his own single season record for goals by a defenseman, scoring his 38th after assisting on Boston's first two goals by Carol Vadnais and Alan Mabo.

Orr also assisted on an empty net goal by Gregg Sheppard. Orr's four points gave him three in three games over teammate Phil Esposito, 118-115, in the NHL scoring race.

Dodgers' Hough in Bid For No. 4 Starting Post

NEW YORK (UPI) — Charlie Hough likes the bullpen, but he likes the pitcher's mound at Dodger Stadium a lot better.

With Mike Marshall sitting next to him on the bench during Los Angeles games last season, Hough saw a lot more of the bullpen than he did of the mound — which is why the knuckleballing Hawaiian fits put in a bid for the No. 4 spot in the Dodger rotation this spring.

Hough took a step closer to earning that spot Sunday with a sharp three inning stint against the Atlanta Braves. He allowed just three singles as the Dodgers piced out a 3-2 win.

Los Angeles scored all its runs in the final two innings, capped by Steve Garvey's singling in of pinch runner Glenn Burke in the bottom of the ninth.

Hough was a 43 coming out of the Dodger bullpen last season but appeared in only 49 games. Marshall was 15-12 in a major league record 106 appearances.

"You bet," Hough responded when asked if a starter's role would be more appealing to him than that of a mop-up man. "With Mike Marshall in the bullpen, you don't get to many chances to relieve." Dave Kingman hit his second home run in as many games to lead the New York Mets

Indoor Soccer Set April 19

A new indoor soccer league has been formed with Hartford having one of the franchises.

The Hartford Blues will play their first exhibition game at the Hartford Civic Center April 19 against the New York Empire.

Paul Ingram, well known soccer promoter and former All-American at UConn, will be the club's general manager. Ingram, a Manchester resident, also brought Connecticut its first indoor franchise with the new defunct Connecticut Wildcats.

Left hander Rick Kreuger was allowed to go four innings against the Chicago White Sox at Saratoga and showed that requires serious consideration for being a member of the bullpen staff manager Darrell Johnson is going to form before the American League season opens.

Used Pipe Needed

Residents of Mansfield Training School are in need of 300 feet of 4-inch used pipe in any lengths to be used as supports in their greenhouse. Anyone wishing to donate any used pipe may call the Voluntary Action Program office, at 646-3064, or Ken Steere of the Manchester Community College faculty at 646-4900. The state will make arrangements to have the pipe picked up. The greenhouse gives the training school residents an opportunity to acquire a skill which can be put to practical use.

Recipe Prizes Won by Students

Two area residents are among 10 second prize winners in the H. P. Hood New England-wide recipe contest. They are Judy McLaughlin of Manchester and Toni Keyser of Andover. The winners of the contest sponsored for students in junior high and senior high school home economics classes will each receive $50. Top winner was Robert B. Harris of Worcester, Mass. who received $500.

Brokers Facing Challenge

NEW YORK (UPI) — The nation's stock brokerages face a challenge this spring with stakes so high just to survive will require the best of competitive game plans. May 1, will mark the first time in the 183-year history of the securities industry brokers will bargain with all customers over commission rates without a fixed minimum. Since April, 1971, rates have been competitive for certain transactions but the bulk, those from $2,000 to $300,000, have been at fixed fees.

Under the present complex fixed fee schedule, commissions on a sliding scale based on the size of the order and the price of the stock. As an example, an investor buying 100 shares of a $30 stock would pay a $49 commission. If he bought 200 shares of the same stock, the charge would be $88 plus an 8 per cent surcharge.

Wall Street views the challenge with mixed emotions. Some see obvious benefits; others enormous problems. Competition could mean the end of the stock exchange in its present form. The Securities & Exchange Commission, which mandated the change, thinks the answers will come only with experience and decreed the May 1 starting date despite opposition and appeals for postponement if not abandonment of the plan.

One brokerage spokesman said, "Nobody's doing much of anything right now about programs for May Day. Many are waiting to see what will happen when it comes; watching the big ones."

That means most are watching Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, the industry's largest, and a major brokerage for the individual investor.

The individual investor, an important factor in market liquidity, poses a big question. Lacking the clout of big money, some observers say he will be hit hardest under the new rate system. Others say he will benefit since he will pay only for those services he wants and actually uses.

Donald T. Regan, Merrill Lynch chairman, said his firm will offer a line of services to fit the needs of its customers, including package programs combining the most frequently requested services.

Merrill Lynch disclosed, in an SEC application, it plans tentatively to charge for 10 services in three broad areas once the new system begins — research publications, investment seminars, and computerized portfolio evaluation and pricing of portfolios.

A. Jones York, president of Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis, said his company's May Day service package is designed to "upgrade the level of the individual investor."

P.W.C. has inaugurated a computerized portfolio evaluation based on two sophisticated measurements of risk. Its plans also include a year-end tax analysis package and a news advisory service to alert investors to news that could affect their stocks. The portfolio risk service is in operation and free at least until May 1.

"We don't know what's going to happen after that," a Paine, Webber official said. "We're going to have to see what other brokerages do."

Goldman Sachs has introduced a service designed to monitor factors the firm's researchers believe could affect investment outlook. This also is free to clients at present.

MANCHESTER HONDA just sells motorcycles right? Wrong!
Now, we ask you...does this look like a motorcycle? Of course not...It's the new Honda Civic CVCC. You'll find lots of these economical little beauties at Manchester Honda...along with the motorcycles we've become so famous for. The CVCC gets nearly 40 miles to the gallon, has rack and pinion steering, bucket seats, tinted glass, synchromesh transmission, and so much more that we'd have to buy a bigger ad to tell you about it all. We'd rather have you stop in and see the Honda CVCC for yourself. You'll agree...for something with four wheels, it's not bad.

Plans Outlined for Cancer Crusade in South Windsor

The Herald
SOUTH WINDSOR
Judy Kuehnel
Correspondent
644-1364

In addition to the annual door-to-door canvass for the 1975 Cancer Crusade, the Woman's Club has prepared several fund raising social events, talks, movies and other activities throughout the next two months.

The club has contacted local businesses asking for donations and has asked stores to display coin cans and "back orders" for customers' donations.

Awareness raising sessions consisting of doctor's talks, movies, breast exam demonstrations and the Cancer Mobile Unit for the purpose of free pap tests and exams will all be included in the club's fight against cancer.

Each club and organization in town has been asked to either put on a fund raiser or volunteer their members to help with one of the events.

The official drive begins April 1. However, some of the fund raisers will be occurring this month.

The campaign will be carried out until mid-May. The goal is $5,000.

On March 12 at 1 p.m. a held goods auction will be held by the South Windsor Senior Citizens at their meeting in St.

Registration Set For Kindergarten
BOLTON
Donna Holland
Correspondent
646-0375

Registration for incoming kindergarten students will be held Tuesday through Friday from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. at Bolton Elementary School.

A child must be 5 years of age on or before Jan. 3, 1974 to enter kindergarten in September.

Information and necessary registration material will be mailed to known parents having children born during 1970.

Parents who do not receive the information by Tuesday are asked to go to the school to fill out the necessary registration forms.

All parents are reminded to bring their child's birth certificate to the school when they either bring in the registration forms or go to the school to fill out the forms.

Parents of incoming kindergarten students will be invited to a pre-school screening process so as to allow for early identification of student's educational needs in speech, vision, hearing, developmental growth and learning disabilities.

Building Commission seeks data on tennis work
BOLTON
Donna Holland
Correspondent
646-0375

The Public Building Commission has met with the town's former town counsel, Marshall Taylor, to discuss the contract for construction of tennis courts at the high school.

Taylor advised the PBC to write Robison saying that in order to give it an extension on the performance bond for the courts it is necessary to obtain certain information.

The PBC will mainly want to find out if Robison can complete work on the courts within the contract price. The PBC will ask for the exact details needed for the bituminous bread and butter, and snack cake, milk.

Wednesday: Turkey or chicken, whipped potato with gravy, cranberry sauce, corn, bread and butter, jello with whipped topping, milk.
Thursday: Pizza, salad, orange juice, Italian bread and butter, ice cream cup or sandwich, milk.
Friday: Seafood cake or fried clams on a bun, french fries, cole slaw, cake with orange sauce, milk.

Scout Week
Mayor Robert Smith has proclaimed the week of March 8 as Girl Scout Week in South Windsor.

The Girl Scouts are observing National Girl Scout Week throughout the country. Local troops will be holding special activities during the week.

Senior Citizens
The South Windsor Senior Citizens will meet at St. Margaret Mary's Church Hall, Wednesday.

Housing Vacancy
Atty. Frank E. Ahearn, chairman of the Housing Authority of South Windsor, has announced that there exists a vacancy for a married couple in the housing project for the elderly in South Windsor.

All members are asked to bring baked goods for a tea and auction, the proceeds of which will be donated to the American Cancer Society.

A foreign exchange student, Santiago Balbano of Paraguay, will speak and show slides.

Sandra Schwartz of Maskel Rd., South Windsor, has been named Special Mention Winner in the Weight Watchers International Recipe Contest from among thousands of original recipes submitted around the world.

Entries in the contest were judged on the basis of originality, ethnic authenticity, practicality, taste and eye appeal as well as suitability to the Weight Watchers program.
