The other day I heard someone say, "That Round Table bunch of kids are so from choir rehearsals to part-time jobs all nice. They give a great concert and what's more, they look so well groomed and behave so nicely, it really restores your faith in kids. You hear so much about the kids who break windows and rip apart the high school. Why doesn't someone say something about all those good kids? The fact that I happened to be a parent of one of those kids and a member of the educational team in Manchester made those words "music to my ears" especially since they came from a person who has o connection with the high school. My pride is understandable, but she felt proud of them, too. And all residents of Manchester who support the educational efforts of our city can shre in this feeling. Migraine

It is not always possible to determine what brings on an attack of Migraine, also known as "sick headache." However, it is known that a swelling of certain blood vessels which lie just beneath the skull is involved.

Michael Dworkin Registered Pharmacist

People who build up tensions seem to be more susceptible to migraine attacks. Such people could become reasonably immune if they would learn to eliminate the causes of their tensions from their living habits. Regular routine, regular meals; and regular hours of sleep are urged on migraine victims.

If an attack is sensed, oral medication should be taken immediately to the limit the doctor permits, but not exceeding it. A warm bath followed by bed rest in a dark room is helpful.

Bicentennial Plates

A collection of the General Federation of Women's Clubs official United Sates of America Bicentennial Plates has been accepted for permanent display at the historic Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge, Pa.

The collection of handmade glass plates was designed to commemorate the nation's 200th birthday. Three plates were accepted for permanent display and the fourth and final plate will be presented in 1976.

We all know that shoes and boots that hurt end up in the back of the closet and no one can afford that kind of waste

Dr. Edward Stamm, president of the Podiatry Society of the State of New York, commenting in Glamour Magazine passed on some suggestions to avoid the usual foot aches and complaints.

With the new higher heels, Dr. Stamm says that by ilting your toes down and heels up, high-heeled shoes shorten hamstrings (tendons) and muscles at the back of your legs. Stepping down to low heels or bare feet

You can minimize strain by easing out of (or into) high heels gradually. For example, if you wear flats to work and plan on high heels for evening, wear medium-heeled shoes a half hour or so in between, maybe while dressing for your date.

Hartford Facilities Unmatched

Long-time friend Bud Collins, popular columnist with the Boston Globe and top tennis television commentator in the country, has traveled from coast to coast and to Europe to cover net matches, claims the facilities at the Hartford Civic Center are unmatched.

Collins, who also got in a little tennis, while playing barefooted at the Manchester Racquet Club last week, also had high praise for the local club. "There's none better in New England. The surface here is just great," he added. "I never believed that we could get 10,000 people out to watch a tennis match in one night in New England. Yet, there were more than that each of the four nights at Hartford for the Aetna Cup," he added.

When the World Cup was born, as Collins points out it. "I begged even my good friends to come out so that we would have a few people watching them play." That was back in 1970 at Harvard's Dickinson Auditorium.

The total purse was $20,000. This year, the losing United States team walked home with $20,000. The winning Australians won $35,000. Since Aetna took over the sponsorship of World Cup play more than $45,000 was turned over to various charitable organizations. This year an additional $15,000, at least, will help swell the Cystic Fibrosis fund.

When orchids are being tossed around, the Aetna people rate a salute for a professional job. It was big league from start to finish with some great tennis played.

Search for Escapees BELFAST (UPI) - Police searched today for 10 Irish

Republican Army prisoners who escaped from rural Newry courthouse by cutting through the bars of a basement restroom window with acid. Officers quickly recaptured two of 12 men who slithered throught the tiny opening just before they were to appear in court, but the others made good their escape.

Icebreaker Freed

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) - The U.S. Coast Guard's biggest and strongest icebreaker, the Glacier, stuck for nearly a week in Antarctic ice. "rammed her way to the open sea" today, the Coast Guard announced. The 8,600-ton ship won its race against the swiftly approaching South Polar winter early this morning, weathering an Antarctic gale Monday with 35 knot winds and blowing snew which reduced visibility to zero. "The Glacier has radioed that she has broken through to the open waters of the Antarctic Sound," said a spokesman for Coast Guard headquarters here, the Glacier's home

The embrace with which the shah of Iran and the strongman of Iraq declared an end to their long dispute over border issue ind hipping rights on vital Persian Gulf oil routes may have been good theater but in world politics it probably doesn't mean much. The announcement enabled

Algerian President Houar Boumediene to pin the label of success on the Algiers meeting of oil-producing nations seeking to maintain a united front in the face of declining production and Western pressures. But for the shah and Saddam Hussein, vice chairman of

Iraq's leftist junta, agreement involved issues which both would find difficult to surrender and upon which agreements is the past had foundered. Last May 28, for example members of the United Nations Security Council were con gratulating themselves that through mediation they finally had defused the decades-old dispute between the two countries. By year's end, border skirmishes had resumed, the Iranians had shot down two Iragi planes, the Iragis had executed some spies accused of working for Iran, and Iraq was accusing Iran of interfering in

Consumer Groups Voice Opposition To Manchester-Area Road Projects Two consumer groups went on record finished I-84, at Spencer St., Manchester, to I-86, at the Manchester-East Hartford town line - near Laurel Lake. Representatives of the Connecticul Citizens Action Group (CCAG) and the Connecticut Committee of Correspondence, an Eastern Connecticut Environmental group, spoke at a public committee, held in the Hall of the House of Representatives. The lengthy hearing was on about 50 proposed bills - covering a variety of statewide projects. Specifically, the two groups opposed Senate Bill 745, introduced by State Sen. David Barry, D-4th District, and House Bill 7057, introduced by State Rep. Muriel Both bills request bond authorization for completing the connector. Although plans for it are ready, the state Department of Transportation has indicated it couldn't be completed until 1980, at the earliest. The bills press for earlier completion. Marc Caplan, director of CCAG, said his
