Senate Panel May Raise Tax Cut to $31 Billion

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Finance Committee appears headed for approval of tax cuts in excess of $31 billion including forgiveness of up to $2,000 in income taxes for those who buy homes between April 1 and Dec. 31 this year.

Senate Democrats voted unanimously Thursday to delay their March 21 Easter recess if necessary to send the bill to President Ford, and to speed 1974 tax rebates to all taxpayers in May and early June.

Pushing hard to meet this tight legislative schedule, the Finance Committee prepared to work this weekend if need be to complete its revisions of a House-passed $2.3 billion tax cut bill which contains 1974 rebates of $100 to $200 for almost all taxpayers plus 1975 tax cuts.

In an effort to spur the sagging housing industry, the committee tentatively voted a home or mobile home, during the last nine months of this year — a 5 per cent tax credit on the purchase price up to a maximum $2,000 credit which would be subtracted from the taxes owed by April 15, 1976.

The housing tax credit was not in the House bill, and it is uncertain whether it would be accepted by the House in a conference committee which will be called later to iron out differences in the House and Senate bills.

Other tentative changes made by the committee Thursday would weigh the 1975 tax cuts more heavily toward low and moderate income families with children and give a bigger break than the House bill to middle income persons who itemize deductions.

Low income working families with children would get a cash payment of up to $400 from the government even if they paid no tax. An estimated 7 million families would receive 10 per cent of their earned income up to a maximum of $4,000 income. The maximum $400 payment would gradually be phased out as income increased from $1,000 to $8,000. The House would have given a 5 per cent payment to some low income families and individuals, but the Senate decided to limit the payment to families with children.

The Bottle Law

There will be a public hearing Monday at 10 a. m. in the State Capitol on House Bill 5049 which will, if enacted, require mandatory deposit on bottles and cans used for beer and soft drinks in Connecticut and will ban the use of the flip-top can.

Environmental groups generally are in favor of the bill citing the success of similar legislation in Oregon.

The proponents claim energy savings, less solid waste to be disposed of, less litter along our highways and a saving in costs as major reasons for enacting the bill. They also claim it will mean about 1,000 jobs in Connecticut, presumably because of the handling, cleaning and other aspects involved in returnable bottles and the recycling of aluminum and steel cans.

There is opposition to the bill from other groups with the organized effort this year being spearheaded by the Connecticut Package Stores Association, Inc.

The association cites figures which purport that bottles and cans make up only about 1/10th of today's total litter and that after an initial decrease in roadside litter in Oregon, later figures show an increase indicating, they claim, that intensive publicity about littering rather than the law is responsible.

The major objection however is economic. The association alleges 500 jobs will be lost in Connecticut, consumers will pay more for bottled products like the $6 to $8 million they paid in Oregon, and there are sanitation problems which will be costly at grocery, package and drug stores and which will be passed on to the consumer.

We believe the non-returnable concept is wasteful and should be terminated but in an orderly manner. We do not think the state-by-state approach is the proper way since it makes it especially burdensome to consumers, retailers and bottlers in small states such as ours.

We would prefer a federal approach wherein the returnable bottle and recyclable can are phased in by stages to minimize the economic impact on all concerned.

The unfortunate thing in one sense is that bottlers and canners are no longer local. Connecticut does not have a brewery. Many of our soft drinks are bottled in nearby states and most of our bottlers depend on out-of-state marketers.

As we see it, a state law requiring a deposit on bottles and cans is premature and bad timing in 1975 in view of the current economic situation.

We would suggest instead a resolution for Congress to come up with a national program instituting in progressive stages what the state law now proposes to do overnight.

There are more urgent matters the legislature should be considering at this time.

ANDREW TULLY
No Universal Love For Media

WASHINGTON — Things are a little better since the Nixon years, when the media was considered a collective public enemy. President Ford seems to genuinely enjoy his contacts with reporters, and government officials generally are more accessible.

But of the media are not universally loved across the land. Sometimes it seems that everybody who can articulate a simple declarative sentence is denouncing the journalistic trade. Well, we are not in business to be loved, and that's a good thing because running a newspaper is not to be equated with seeking first prize in a popularity contest. Newspapers do too many unpleasant jobs to challenge the Salvation Army.

However, we newspapermen have a right to defend ourselves. Not to let fit our critics with verbal roundhouses, but to try to explain our role. Indeed that role is something of which we newspapermen should remind ourselves every day, lest we be tempted to wobble flabbily contentment by doing it the easy way.

For the most part, the newspaper's role 100 years ago was the relatively simple one of getting the facts and printing them. It was adequate to its day. But that was before the world, and the people, became complicated—or, to put it more precisely, before we realized the world and people were complicated.

Today, the role of the newspaper is to get the facts and then, without bias, to interpret those facts in its news columns. It is not enough today simply to report that a 20-year-old kid hid up and killed a night watchman. In behalf of an informed society, it is necessary to explore the kid's background in an attempt to explain why he killed. That doesn't mean a newspaper should plead the kid's case in its news columns, but it does mean that the kid's case should be entered on the record so that society can understand, if not condone, his act.

There has been criticism of the press, some of it justified, for its role in the Watergate scandals and in the current investigation of the Central Intelligence Agency.

A few reporters seem determined to serve as both judge and jury when they get on a story. The job done on Richard Nixon by a segment of the media during his campaign for governor of California was an outrage.

The press is still under periodic fire for the antics of some of its members after the assassination of President Kennedy. Well, it was not a pretty sight. But in judging that performance, the public should not overlook an important element of the press' defense. Reporters in Dallas not only were trying to get the facts, they were trying to get an answer to why Oswald killed Kennedy. It was this zeal to do their proper job that cast some reporters in a bad light.

It is no good saying these reporters should have been less zealous. They are well acquainted with the breed known as public officials; they have learned that unless they are aggressive, officialdom tends to conceal the "why" either through bumbling or cunning or both.

In Dallas, law enforcement was looking for the assassin and the press had to be alert against attempts to tinker with the truth. The result was painful. Dallas officials leaned over backward to placate the press, and the press had to be alert against attempts to tinker with the truth. The result was painful. Dallas officials leaned over backward to placate the press, and the press had to be alert against attempts to tinker with the truth. The result was painful.

The Taxman Cometh

With the first North Sea oil not expected to flow ashore for another year, hard-pressed Britain is already counting its royalties.

The government has announced its intention of not only imposing a revenue tax on petroleum production but of acquiring a 51 per cent interest in all discoveries — with the predictable result that many oil companies, currently in a race with sharply rising costs due to inflation, are seriously reconsidering their investment programs.

Politicians and economists of all ideological stripes are agreed that Britain's future hinges on North Sea oil, the production of which is already a year behind schedule.

"Our new offshore oil industry is at a make-or-break state of affairs, and indeed we are in a make-or-break state in our nation's history," says Patrick Jenkin, Conservative member of Parliament.

"There is no doubt at all that the prospect of substantial independence from imports of oil at the end of this decade is the one factor which has enabled our economy to survive."

One major company, however, has warned that some fields might never be developed if taxes are too high.

Britain might remember the man who killed the goose that laid the golden egg. That greedy fellow at least waited until the animal had begun producing.

Eros And History

NEW YORK CITY — There is one thing the history books say little or nothing about — the sex lives of American Presidents and other politicians, the way they get known and the uses to which the knowledge is put.

One of the first cleansing acts of the new U.S. attorney general, Edward H. Levi, was to appear before the House subcommittee on civil and constitutional rights, headed by Rep. Don Edwards (D-Calif.). His testimony was about the long-suspected FBI files that the late J. Edgar Hoover used to keep on congressmen, Cabinet officers and even Presidents.

Levi carefully refused to call these files " dossiers," using only that wonderful cosmetic term, " derogatory information." But it is hard to see what other term will apply to stuff picked up by bugs planted in apartments, hotel rooms and (by some recent accounts) in brothels and used or misused both by Hoover himself congressional investigators are trying to assess the impact of his policies.

But the history books, the problem of what to do with information about the private lives of public figures is still with us, in every society. History keeps it own dossier and the problem with which is less a political than an ethical one.

There is a big difference between what historians and historians learn about the erotic lives of political leaders and what the intelligence agencies set out to discover secretly. In the second there is a blackmail and police state potential; in the first there is the question of what obligation the writer has to a public figure, alive or dead.

Tires, supermarket carts, tin cans, baby bottles, beer cans, bottles, you guessed it, everything has been left on its muddily flaps.

We have yelled about it for too long. This could be a pleasant spot for much wildlife as we said years ago I will take years to make a good fish pond of it for kids and old folks. A long time too, for the flag and forgo-me-nots to return, but it certainly should be restored. I have watched its slow strangulation for 25 years and it seems now as if maybe some one cares.

Do it.

Familiar Message From Vietnam

Currently on a speaking tour of the United States is Ngo Cong Duc. Scarcely a household name in this country, Duc, a Catholic and non-Communist and former member of the South Vietnamese National Assembly, fled South Vietnam after falling in a bid to assist President Nguyen Van Thieu in the 1971 elections.

The message Duc brings Americans is that if we would withdraw our support of the "corrupt, dictatorial" Thieu regime, it would surely fall. And this would be a good thing. It would not result in a Communist takeover, says Duc, because the South Vietnamese do not want it and the North Vietnamese lack the military capability.

But if we would allow the Catholics and Buddhists and other non-Communists to organize themselves and establish a truly representative government and work out their differences with the Viet Cong.

It seems to us we've heard this song before. Back in 1963, to be exact. If only the corrupt, dictatorial President Ngo Dinh Diem were removed, we were told, the non-Communist elements in South Vietnam could establish a representative government and work out their differences with the Viet Cong.

Well, Diem was removed — from this world — with our connivance. The rest, as they say, is history.

To be sure, Americans are wearying of supporting Thieu and would not grieve at his departure. But it is not because we're

Coventry Police Criticize Chief, Seek Commission

Monica Shea
Correspondent
742-9495

The Coventry Police's union is charging that Chief of Police Robert Kjelquist has mismanaged operational funds. Police union representative Frank Gantanz of Local 531, Service Employees International Union, AFL-CIO, today announced the pattern of the Coventry Police Department would support townspeople seeking to organize a police commission to oversee the operation of the Police Department.

The main reason for the move by the patrolmen was given as mismanagement of operational funds by the administration. Gantanz said, "The patrolmen feel the increase of crime in the town is greatly due to the insufficient patrol coverage scheduled by the department, and should be changed."

A police spokesman said the patrolmen had a number of questions and they will appeal to the Town Council in an effort to reduce the crime rate, including using all available administrative man hours on patrol, which they feel is needed.

The police spokesman said, "This move would give the townspeople police coverage they are now paying for, without additional cost."

A spokesman for the department said that the administration has failed to carry through on the police contract. Patrolmen are objecting to the fact that two State Troopers were providing assistance in a hazardous situation on Rt. 31, when CLAP contacted the chief for two men, the company was informed that there was no money in the overtime account so that the company would have to get state troopers to do the job.

By contract, the off-duty policemen are paid $6 per hour for this type of work and Coventry policemen are to be given top priority on these jobs.

The Town Council had put a freeze on the overtime account because of a projected deficit of several thousands dollars.

Under State Statutes, CLAP would have to pay the funds into the town's general fund and the patrol officers would have to be paid by the police department.

The police union has filed six grievances with the town in the past week which deal with differences between management and union on contract matters.

Under State Statutes, CLAP would have to pay the funds into the town's general fund and the patrol officers would have to be paid by the police department.

The police union has filed six grievances with the town in the past week which deal with differences between management and union on contract matters.

Town Council Chairman Rose Fowler said, "When the chief was hired he was hired with the understanding he would patrol if necessary. In effect, the patrolmen are asking the same questions the council has been asking. Why hasn't the chief taken a patrol? This has been a budget recommendation for several years. We, the council, have always been told it was not practical because of the amount of paper work."

Mrs. Fowler said, "This will also be our recommendation this year in an attempt to hold overtime costs."

"No action will be taken by any administrative personnel until all information is brought before the council Monday night. I spoke to Allen Sandberg (town manager) Wednesday because I knew there was an incident on Monday evening when there were no chains on the police cruisers during the storm."

When contacted this morning, Chief Kjelquist said, "They (the patrol officers) don't have the expertise to make the judgment. A police commission is not the answer. I never received any recommendation from the council to go out on patrol. That is my determination to make. Dennis Moore (former town manager) hired me, and it was never stipulated how I was to work. It is my determination under the Town Charter that it is up to me how I perform my responsibilities with what funds are given to me. I currently work, primarily from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., but I do work some evenings also."

The chief said, "I see this action by the union as a means to justify their own wants and discussed were not cogent to the true workings of the police department."

"I think this is very commendable of the patrolmen that they are willing to do this. As long as they understand that this type of board would not only look at the questions of working conditions but would look at their work in the field."

The town currently has six patrol officers, one chief, and one lieutenant plus dispatchers and superintendents.

The department currently has three men on the first shift, two on the second shift and one man on the third shift. One of the grievances filed was about the man who had to work alone from 11 p.m. to 7 a.m.

Sandberg said this morning, "The union did not contact us at all prior to this release. I will meet with a union representative, policemen and the chief on Monday morning at 8:30.

Finance Board Okays Bicentennial Funds

A request from the Board of Selectmen to the Board of Finance for a $1,000 appropriation for the Bicentennial Committee in either the 1974-1975 or 1975-1976 budget was approved by the finance board on March 3, 1975.

Events that led to the finance board's approval began when Ivi Cannon, chairman of the committee, asked the selectmen for a $1,000 appropriation now and $1,000 in the 1975-1976 budget.

On March 3 the selectmen approved a $1,000 request for the Bicentennial Committee. Morris Silverstein, chairman of the Board of Finance, said that Mrs. Cannon contacted him by telephone after the selectmen's meeting to say the money was not needed at this time.

Silverstein passed the information on to the finance board members and subsequently the request was deferred to the 1975-1976 budget.

The finance board stipulated that general categories be established with each dollar amount spent assigned to a category.

The board further stipulated a detailed account of all town money spent by the committee be submitted to the board at the end of the fiscal year, whichever came first.

Council To Bring Budget Into South Windsor Homes

The old adage about moving the mountain to Muhammad may apply in South Windsor this year when the Town Council brings its fiscal budget into the homes of the taxpayers.

They're called "coffee-hours," and the council intends to devote four days in April to meeting with hundreds of residents in their homes, at which time the Board of Education and general government budget will be presented and outlined.

Mayor Robert Smith has made the proposal to split the council into nine individual representatives who will meet April 8-11 with residents who book appointments or "coffee-hours." At these coffee hours, residents will meet councilmen on the new budget and consequently provide the council with feedback.

"After four days of explaining and answering questions the council will have a better handle on what the people want from us," said Mayor Smith. "A couple days after the coffee-hours the council will meet and report on the feedback it receives."

The mayor has scheduled April 14 as the date for the council to report on comments received during the individual meetings.

The coffee-hour approach is one used by the council during the Plum Gulley Park campaign, which the voters defeated June 15.

Councilmen are invited to a home and meet with numerous residents who have been invited to question and counsel them on their gripes.

The Board of Education must submit the proposed fiscal budget to the council by March 15, while Town Manager Terry Sprinkel has until March 22 to submit his general government budget.

The council will adopt the board budget by May 19. Sprinkel's budget May 19. On May 28 the council will hold a special meeting to vote on the budget in its entirety. After that the tax rate for the 1975-76 fiscal year will be set.

The mayor again reiterated comments made by him earlier in the month when he pledged to do everything he and the council could to hold the tax line.

He said the prevention of a tax increase was one of the council's goals this year and that "at a time when everything else is going up, especially tax rates, in various communities, and at a time when the state is not going to be of help with additional revenues, we feel we will make every effort to hold the tax line by using existing funds."

Mayor Smith said revenue sharing funds will be combined with a "conservative approach to spending."

"If we can stay within the same tax structure and not tax the people more, we'll feel we've done a great service to the community," said Smith.

However, the mayor said if the tax rate does have to increase "because of something the council feels the town should be committed to," the mayor said he would not like the public to feel as though the council has broken its tax promise.

Vernon Police Investigate Stabbing

The special services unit of the Vernon Police Department, under the direction of Lt. Edwin Carlson, is continuing its investigation into an alleged stabbing at the Sykes School in Rockville.

Police said the alleged incident happened on the school grounds, not inside the school and involved two 12-year old boys and a girl. The age of the girl, who allegedly stabbed the boys, was not given but the Sykes School houses all of the Grade 5 students in town and most are 11 or 12-years-old.

Because the incident involved juveniles, details are sketchy and police and school authorities could release little information. The girl was to be referred to juvenile authorities and a hearing was to be held.

Dr. Raymond Ramsdell, superintendent of schools, said he was not free to discuss the results of the hearing or whether or not the girl had been suspended from school.

Police did say the wounds of the two boys were "superficial" and Rockville General Hospital reported no injuries to the victim.

Vernon Police arrested Allen Pilot, 19 and Patricia Pilot, 20, both of 28 Ward St., Rockville and charged them with carrying weapons in a motor vehicle.

Police said when the Pilot car was stopped on a routine check a knife was seen sticking from under the seat of the car. The pair was released on $250 non-surety bonds for appearance in Common Pleas Court 19, Rockville, April 1.

COVENTRY
Frank Neff, 60, of Root Rd., Coventry, was charged Thursday with fourth-degree larceny in connection with the investigation of a report that a car was being operated erratically on Rt. 30.

Cite was released on a $250 non-surety bond for appearance in Common Pleas Court 19, Rockville on April 8.

The Coventry TARS, Teenage Republicans, held its February meeting at the home of Paul Diehl.

Items discussed were projects that the group could become involved with their community and school.

Plans are in the making for forming a scholarship for a graduating senior who plans to major in political science; to assist a town government day that would involve the whole student body of the high school; and lending a helping hand for the town's Red Letter Day, on Republican Women's Club Arts and Crafts Show and the YGOP Gold Tournament.

The next meeting will be March 24 at the home of Paul Diehl, Shore Dr., Waterfront

The $18,656 appropriation for the Bolton Board of Finance will seek approval at a future town meeting includes $4,000 for a tractor for the Memorial Park, $1,500 for kitchen cabinets and a security door for the park building and $12,956 for the town to meet safety requirements set by the Occupational Safety and Health Act (OSHA) of 1974.

The amount for the cabinets and door was originally omitted from Thursday's Herald.

An article in Thursday's Herald identified Robert Morra as Bolton's first selectman. He is not. He is chairman of the Republican Town Committee.

No Major Changes Planned at School

ANDOVER
Donna Holland
Correspondent
646-6375

It was incorrectly reported in Wednesday's Herald that most of a proposed $18,000 increase in the Andover Board of Education budget for 1975-1976 was due to the addition of a first grade teacher and repairs to the school.

No major repairs to the school are being planned nor is the school planning to add a Grade 1 teacher. The increase is due to normal cost increases.

David Kravet, principal, said the teachers themselves assisted in preparing the budget this year and it is based on realistic projections by the teachers, not guesswork.

The proposed budget for 1975-1976 is 4.7 per cent more than this year's budget.

Another Error
It was incorrectly reported in Thursday's Herald that Andover Board of Education submitted a total budget request to the Board of Finance of $8,600 for costables.

The Board of Selectmen submitted a total budget request of $3,650. The constables had requested $8,600.

Both requests were submitted to the finance board at its request. The finance board will decide which budget request will be submitted to townspeople for approval.

Dear Abby

Strike Non-Stop Speakers Silent

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: We had a couple over last week, and when one started to talk the spouse interrupted to talk about something entirely different. Both continued talking to both my husband and me in this manner throughout the entire evening. At one point in the evening, the husband and I were talking, and his wife interrupted by shouting my name; then she addressed a question to me which was completely unrelated to the subject I was discussing with her husband. I cannot do justice to two conversations at one time, especially when each is trying to be heard over the other. This lack of consideration for each other strikes me as being very rude, but I may be wrong. By the end of the evening I was completely exhausted. What does one do when he finds himself in this kind of predicament?

MINNEAPOLIS STAR READER

DEAR READER: When someone interrupts a conversation, it's perfectly all right for you to interrupt the interrupter with: "Please excuse me, but I can listen to only one person at a time. Would you mind waiting until we have finished?" The interrupter will probably be struck speechless. And wouldn't that be lovely?

DEAR ABBY: I don't know how to say this, but I have a problem that's driving me crazy. I am 22 female, nicely built, so I've been told, and the only thing I don't have is a rear end. The front of me is really nice, but I just don't have any behind at all. What does one do when he finds himself in this kind of predicament?

NEEDS A REAR

DEAR NEEDS: I can't. But write to Frederick's of Hollywood and ask about their foam rubber fannies. They are the living end!

DEAR ABBY: I just discovered that the man I've been going with for 14 months has false teeth! Marty's teeth looked so lovely and natural. I never suspected they weren't real. He ate everything, and his kisses were the best.

Last week Marty's physician suspected Marty had polyps in his nasal cavity so he sent Marty to an ear and nose specialist. I went with him. The specialist told Marty to take his teeth out, and when I saw him there with his sunken cheeks and puckered lips, I shuddered. He looked so old.

Ten minutes later, with his teeth back in, Marty was his handsome, youthful self again. I still care for him, but I can't bring myself to kiss him.

He thinks I'm losing interest in him, and maybe I am. How can I get over this foolish hangup?

LET DOWN

DEAR LET: The thought of how Marty looked sans choppers is turning you off. Forget it. (Are you sure you don't have a few false things going for you, too? There aren't many who are 100 per cent natural.)

CONFIDENTIAL TO OLLIE DUNLAP: You asked if any readers (other than yourself) had ever lived to help a daughter celebrate her 50th wedding anniversary. Yes. Hundreds of them. So far, the record is held by a 104-year-old Indian woman who says she helped her 89-year-old daughter celebrate her 73rd wedding anniversary.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope. For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20¢) envelope.

Canada: It's A Foreign Country Yet Familiar Country

A free roaming fly-drive program that requires no hotel reservations but guarantees hotel rooms, and new luxury mini vacations in four of western Canada's grand hotels, highlight Air Canada's 1975 spring-summer leisure program, "Yes, Canada!"

Comprised of eight major tour packages, the leisure program blankets Canada from the Maritimes to the Northwest Territories. Now in its second year, "Yes, Canada!" is credited by Air Canada management for much of the success the airline achieved on its transborder routes in 1974 when traffic increased by 10.5 per cent. The key, airline executives feel, is the "Foreign Yet Familiar" aspect of Canada, which makes the country a highly satisfactory alternative to an expensive European vacation.

In 1975 the Canadian airline's spring-summer leisure program will benefit from several new transborder routes which began Dec. 1, 1974, including daily nonstop service from New York City to Winnipeg and to Quebec City, and from San Francisco to Calgary and Edmonton.

In addition to the fly-drive and mini vacation portions of "Yes, Canada!", Air Canada also offers: City Roundabout Tours - three or four night visits to any of nine Canadian cities with many options for dining, shows, and sightseeing, from $57 to $117.

Chateaux Vacations - three or four night stays from $50 to $155 in Canada's grand hotels. For 1975 the number of hotels has been increased to eight, and the program has been expanded to the west to include the renowned Empress Hotel in Victoria, B.C.

Three Escorted Motorcoach Tours of Nova Scotia, the Gaspe Peninsula, and the Maritimes, and a Royal Leisure Tour of the Canadian Rockies. The three separate tours of distinctive Canadian regions run from eight to 15 days with costs ranging from $448 to $776.

Air Hall Tours of Canadian Rockies, the provinces of Ontario and Quebec, and a tour of the Gaspe Peninsula - five to 12 days from $310 to $795. Additional 1975 "Yes, Canada!" brochures and information folders are available by writing to the nearest Air Canada office.

Maine Begins Campground Reservations

BAR HARBOR, Maine - Acadia National Park, located mainly on Mount Desert Island, will operate an individual camping reservation system for the 1975 summer season.

Keith Miller, National Park Service superintendent at Acadia, said some 300 camp sites in Blackwoods Campground will be on a reservation system from June 15 through September 15. The park will begin accepting applications for reservations on March 15.

Under the park's system, reservation forms must first be obtained in person or by writing either: Acadia National Park, Campground Reservations, RFD 1, Box 1, Bar Harbor, Maine 04889 or The North Atlantic Region, National Park Service, Campground Reservations, 150 Causeway St., Rm. 715, Boston, Mass. 02114.

Upon return of the reservation forms to the park, a confirmation of the camping site will be sent the requestor.

Sites will be available for a fee of $3 a night. Upon return of the completed reservation form, a $3 non-refundable deposit will also be required. Sites may be reserved for up to 14 days.

Blackwood Campground can accommodate both tents and recreational vehicles up to 35-feet in length.

Acadia, which handles some 80,000 overnight stays during the 1974 reserved camping season, also has another 218 sites at Seawall Campground that will remain available on a first-come, first-served basis.

Additionally, Miller said there are 11 other campgrounds, privately operated on Mount Desert Island.

For further information on the camping system, persons may also telephone the National Park Service's North Atlantic Region at (617) 223-2915 weekdays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

REMODELING - BRUNSWICK, St. Croix, Vt. (UPI) - The 30-room Anchor Inn, formerly the Old Quarter hotel, has reopened after a three-month remodeling. The new owner of the harborfront inn, Lon B. Sutherland Jr., said 21 more rooms are planned for early 1976.

Annual Bavarian Festival Opening June 27-July 13

Boon bass playing will be a feature of the last day's entertainment of the seventh annual 17-day Bavarian Summer Festival at Barnetville, Pa., June 27 through July 13. Last year a contest of boom bass players (one-man bands) was a happy new touch to the "Oktoberfest in July." Hal Seyler of Reading, Pa., is in charge of the unique boom bass program which includes playing by his three-year-old grandson (in photo) Stephen.

Plans are well under way for the festival which includes over 30 German bands including one from Germany, an Alpine horn player from Germany who will also demonstrate how the horns are made, over 40 working craftsmen, a water-ski show, woodmen's weekend, snow mobile races just to name a few of the attractions. Food preparation is in the tons upon tons of wurst, schmitzels and the like. Over 381,000 persons attended last year.

Barnetville is located on Route 54 between Mahanoy City and Tamaqua which is just south of Hazleton, east of Pottsville and northwest of Allentown.

A free descriptive full-color folder, a listing of area housing and campgrounds, along with a program of events are available from the Bavarian Festival Society, Box 90, Kempton, Pa. 19529.

Introducing the new AMC Pacer... The first wide small car.

The alternative to conventional small cars.

How wide is Pacer?
Wider than Nova. Wider even than Granada.
AMC's new Pacer is so wide, it gives you more front seat shoulder room than Duster or Maverick. Plus more leg room, front and rear, than the 2-door Torino or Fury.

And speaking of wide, only Pacer is backed by the wide, wide coverage of the exclusive AMC BUYER PROTECTION PLAN.
So—if you're looking for an alternative to conventional small cars—see your AMC Dealer today!
