

STAMPS AND COINS

By RUSS MacKENDRICK

Cornered collector to non-philatelic wife: "...and it teaches science, history, geography..."

"All right, teach me some geography - where are those places, Dominica and Grenada?"

"Well, umm...ah..."

"I thought so!"

Actually they are in the West Indies, as any stamp catalog would show - but who looks up such things? Suppose we go winging from Puerto Rico down to Venezuela and see how many familiar stamp names we fly over.

First of all, though, Dominica (pr. Dominieka) is not that country that shares an uneasy border with Haiti. The Dominican Republic (remember Trujillo!) is something else again. Dominica, source of these water wildlife stamps, is a tiny verdant spot in the Windward island group of the Lesser Antilles.

So let's start southward from Puerto Rico and cross over the Virgin Islands. Off to the left are Anguilla and Barbuda, and directly underneath will be St. Kitt's, Nevis, and Montserrat. A bit to east will be Antigua, and, as we continue south, we pick up Guadeloupe, DOMINICA, Martinique, St. Lucia, St. Vincent, the Grenadines, GRENADA, Trinidad, and finally set down at Venezuela. We've thus located a good collection of philatelic names usually left in a vague Never-Never land. Dominica is an associate state of Britain. It is 29 miles long and carries a population of about 70,000. Four hundreds of these people are said to be the last surviving members of the Carib tribe that once dominated a vast area, and from whence came the name of the sea - the Caribbean.

They are surprisingly oriental in appearance. "Who is that in the air? Twelve coins, $5, send for them now and get them in July. This is not the special 40 per cent silver Bicentennial set that costs $12 proof and $9 unproof. Actually, if you are not confused by this year's coin program perhaps you just don't understand the situation.

Coin World tells of TV-happy kid who kept swallowing coins in the fond hope that the metal would go to his arm and make him like the "Six Million Dollar Man." Actor Lee Majors, the Man, had to write a note to the boy to convince him that it wouldn't work.

There is a good shot of the seven members of the MANPEX '75 committee on page three of the March 17, Line's Stamp News. It will be held on April 28 and 27, at the high school - the stamp club's fifteenth show. Prospects and entry blanks are available from MANPEX, P.O. Box 64, South Windsor, Ct. 06074.

Cheney Tech To Test Next Week

Entrance examinations for eighth grade students interested in vocational/technical education will be next Tuesday and Wednesday at the Howell Cheney Regional Vocational Technical School, 791 W. Middle Tpke.

Testing will begin at 12:30 p.m. each day in the auditorium and in the student cafeteria. Gerald Blanchard of the guidance department will supervise the testing.

Students from Bolton, Coventry, East Hartford (parochial), East Windsor, Ellington, and Enfield (parochial), also will be tested Tuesday.

Students from Glastonbury, Manchester (parochial), Somers, South Windsor, and Vernon (parochial), also will be tested on Wednesday.

Unless a student has an application on file, he or she will not be permitted to take the examination.

A student may get information regarding his schedule from the guidance department of his present school. Each school has been informed of the Cheney Tech testing procedures and is responsible for relaying the information to the student and parent.

Should inclement weather cause a postponement of either, on both dates, April 3 and 4 will be the testing dates.

Mormons Set Open House

The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon) will sponsor an open house Saturday at 7:30 p.m. at the Manchester ward chapel on Woodside St.

Featured on the program will be a film illustrating missionary work in the world today as it is carried out by the church.

There will also be talks by some of the missionaries and special music by the choir.

Refreshments will be served. The public is invited.

RUBBER RECORD WASHINGTON (UPI) - Production of natural rubber last year was expected to reach about 2.65 million tons, logging the record 35 million ton output of 1973, according to the Malaysian Rubber Bureau. Consumption last year was expected to be about 2.47 million tons, up from the 2.4 million tons for 1973.

Israeli Cabinet Meets Again To Pursue Kissinger Proposal

JERUSALEM (UPI) - The Israeli cabinet met unexpectedly today for the third time in 24 hours to consider proposals to keep alive Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's negotiations for a new agreement between Israel and Egypt.

Kissinger twice postponed his departure for his fourth shuttle to Assan, Egypt, to see President Anwar Sadat and waited to hear the results of the new cabinet meeting.

The cabinet met after Kissinger spent most of the morning conferring with Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin and the Israeli negotiators on the results of a previous marathon cabinet session that ended at 2 a.m. in the morning.

Kissinger called the three-hour morning session with the Israeli ministers "good, friendly and constructive."

"I do feel that each side is making a very serious effort to try to take into account the considerations of the other and this is certainly true of the Israeli side," he said upon emerging from the meeting.

The cabinet decisions could be crucial to Kissinger's efforts to bring about an Israeli withdrawal from the strategic mountain passes and oil fields in the Sinai desert.

The mission was going more slowly than Kissinger expected and the two sides remained far apart on the main issue of what Egypt will give in return for an Israeli withdrawal.

Defense Minister Shimon Peres announced the new cabinet meeting after the morning session with Kissinger in a way that indicated some further Israeli proposals may be under consideration.

As you see, the cabinet empowered the team of ministers that is negotiating with the secretary of state to continue the negotiations and in order to do so we had to clarify some points," Peres said.

"This was done at the morning meeting (with Kissinger) which was usual was conducted in a very friendly and serious air. Once we have the clarifications, we are now returning to the cabinet to report."

Kissinger's original schedule called for his departure at 2 p.m. That was then set back to 3 p.m. and then finally to 5 p.m.

Kissinger had wanted to get the latest Israeli position to Sadat tonight in order to be able to fly back here on Friday before the beginning of the Jewish Sabbath at sundown. After that he had no definite schedule.

The key issue still appeared to be how far Egypt is willing to go in granting political concessions for Israeli pullbacks in the Sinai Desert.

Egypt wants Israel to abandon the Mitla and Gidi passes as well as the Abu Rudeis oil fields in the Sinai. Israel wants Egypt to end the state of war between the two countries.

Egypt has offered informal assurances of noninterference but has rejected a formal, unconditional end of the state of war without an overall solution to the Middle East conflict.

An Egyptian communique said Wednesday night "it is natural that the parties should not resort to force so long as the provisions of the disengagement agreement are valid and respected."

The increasing warfare in Indochina has taken up much of the secretary's attention with a constant flow of messages from Washington requiring decisions.

U.S. officials traveling with Kissinger appeared resigned to the deteriorating military situation in Indochina, the reluctance of Congress to provide emergency aid and the impact of it all on U.S. foreign policy.

Kissinger conferred with King Faisal in Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, Wednesday and rejected "threats, military or otherwise," in dealing with America's major Middle East oil supplier.

Fashion Show at Green School

The romance of Japan is shown in the ornate kimono being modeled by Maureen Carroll, a student at Green School. The kimono was given to Mrs. Yumiko Ishizuka when she was eight years old. She and her husband, Takemi, and son, Tomoyasu, recently visited Green School students who have been studying the world's cultures including a recent unit on Japan. They explained their country's customs of food, transportation and dress. (Herald photo by Pinto)

Governor Signs Hike In Taxes

HARTFORD (UPI) - Expressing "pain" as well as opposition, Gov. Ella T. Grasso has restored Connecticut's sales tax to 7 percent, the highest in the nation, effective April 1.

Mrs. Grasso signed the bill privately to indicate her opposition to having the tax go from 6 to 7 percent before her own sales tax proposal. Mrs. Grasso's measure, still to be considered by the legislature, would increase the tax July 1 and broaden its scope to cover retail of personal property.

She told an afternoon news conference that she signed the measure she felt "pain." Mrs. Grasso also renewed her campaign pledge to veto any proposed personal income tax measure and vowed to lobby against it if the legislature considers one.

Democratic leaders sought the measure to decrease a projected $90 million deficit by the $18 million the levy is expected to produce between April 1 and June 30.

The Democratic-controlled legislature speeded up the legislative process last week to get the measure on the books. Mrs. Grasso had until Wednesday midnight to approve or let it lapse into law.

The governor said she would sign the measure despite her opposition rather than let it lapse into law as had been the case with former Gov. Thomas J. Meskill, a Republican, when he opposed certain bills.

Mrs. Grasso campaigned on a pledge to hold the line on taxes but recommended $163 million in additional levies in her budget message last month. The deficit for the current year has grown to an estimated $90 million and in the coming fiscal year the figure is projected at nearly double the figure.

Study Shows Buyers Confident, Cautious

Consumers are more optimistic about the future of the economy than at anytime in the past 10 months, but they are still holding tightly to their pocketbooks, according to a survey.

The Conference Board, a private research organization, said consumer confidence, though still low, rose in January and February for the first time since last spring.

"It's not as if people are dancing in the streets," said Fabian Linden, consumer research director. "They are just a little less bleak in appraising the future than they were a few months ago."

But a separate survey by First National City Bank of New York showed that 43 percent of 1,414 persons who responded were worried about losing their jobs. Those most concerned (33 per cent) were 18 to 34 years old.

The Conference Board said its consumer confidence index, based on interviews with 10,000 households, climbed to 50.9 in January-February from 49.9 in November-December.

"For a 10-month period our survey measure was continuously downbeat," said Linden, "and now for the first time, we've had a turnaround and it is rather substantial."

The reason for it is the declining rate of the pace of inflation. Prices are not going up anywhere nearly as rapidly. But perhaps more important is that something seems to be in works in Washington to meet some of the problems of the moment."

But, said Linden, consumers still are holding on to their money and are cautious about spending plans. The board's buying plan index showed only a modest gain of 76.8 in the last two months of 1974. Most economists say that an economic recovery will not begin until consumers are convinced that inflation has eased and that they no longer have to fear getting thrown out of work.

"The fact that increasing numbers of consumers are finally beginning to see light at the end of the tunnel is reassuring," Linden said. "In the 1970 recession, a rise in consumer expectations foreshadowed an upturn in economic activity by six months."

In another report, Dun & Bradstreet said failures of commercial and industrial ventures reached the highest level since 1967 in the week that ending March 13. The business reporting firm said business failures climbed to 296 in the latest week from 266 in the preceding week and 265 in the year-ago period.

Liabilities of at least $100,000 were involved in 91 of the latest failures.

Troops Evacuate Hue Under Communist Eyes

SAIGON (UPI) - A band of 300,000 civilians and 25,000 government combat troops completed the abandonment of the city of Hue early today, aided by the headhunts of North Vietnamese tanks. At least eight provinces were under Communist domination and several more were threatened.

The stunning military setbacks, worst in three decades of warfare in Vietnam, brought a mass evacuation of more than a million refugees, about 700,000 rounds of artillery fire a day for six months, and today thousands of An Loc packed up and left.

Phuoc Long is 70 miles north of Saigon adjacent to Tay Ninh Province, which is also threatened from Communist troops moving in from neighboring Cambodia.

In Saigon, authorities announced a new 10 p.m. curfew, "because of the current situation and the security demand for Saigon." The old curfew was midnight.

The government previously had flown in a division of paratroopers from Da Nang to bolster the city's defenses.

The latest province to fall was Binh Long, 60 miles north of Saigon and bordering Phnom Penh, which fell in January. The Binh Long capital of An Loc withstood one of the heaviest sieges of this or any other war - 7,000 rounds of artillery fire a day for six months.

Residents of An Loc packed up and left.

Phuoc Long is 70 miles north of Saigon adjacent to Tay Ninh Province, which is also threatened from Communist troops moving in from neighboring Cambodia.

Communist forces have stepped up attacks in other provinces but Tay Ninh was believed to be the most heavily endangered.

High U.S. military sources said that through refusal of Congress to provide more aid President Nguyen Van Thieu might have to fall back eventually on the III and IV Corps - the Saigon military area and the Mekong Delta to the south, where there are strong Viet Cong enclaves.

The eight provinces dominated by the Communists were Quang Tri, bordering North Vietnam; Thua Thien, whose capital is Hue, just to the south; Phu Ben, the Central Highlands provinces of Pleiku, Kontum and Darlac; and Binh Long and Phuoc Long.

Debate on Oil, Social Security Sidetracks Income Tax Cut

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The $22.2 billion tax-cut bill that Congress passed Tuesday in debate on oil, social security and other issues, sidetracked the income tax cut.

The Senate Wednesday voted a $1 billion tax increase on the foreign income of U.S. oil companies and a $600 million tax increase on all U.S.-based multinational corporations. It then got bogged down.

The main bill, which would cut taxes overall, got sidetracked in a Wednesday night debate over whether to increase Social Security benefits.

The often confusing parliamentary situation could be clarified today by a vote on whether to increase Social Security benefits.

President Ford wants to cut the increase back to 5 percent. Long said that if the benefit increase gets through Congress as part of the tax bill, "then the President will be compelled to veto it."

Conservatives strongly opposed the measure because the $2.4 billion increase would come from general Treasury funds, not the Social Security Trust Fund which is funded by payroll taxes.

Two amendments affecting large multinational corporations proposed by Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., were approved Wednesday.

"The oil taxes paid to foreign governments by U.S. oil companies could be deducted from U.S. taxable income as a business expense, not as a direct credit against U.S. tax liability, as at present. The resulting huge increase in taxable income would then be taxed at a 24 percent rate, half the present rate. The interplay between the two changes would result in a $1 billion tax increase on major U.S. oil companies."

"Multinational corporations would be forced to pay taxes on foreign income in the year the income was made, when the funds are eventually returned to the United States. This would increase U.S. taxes on the multinationals $600 million."

Fuessenich Says Budget Cuts Hamper Investigation of Crime

HARTFORD (UPI) - State Police Commissioner Cleveland B. Fuessenich says his department cannot investigate crimes the way it wants to because it lacks sufficient funds.

But Motor Vehicle Commissioner Stanley J. Pac and Transportation Commissioner Samuel Kaneil say they can operate well within their current budgets proposed by Gov. Ella T. Grasso, who appointed them.

And Kaneil pledges to follow the mandates of the legislature, unlike his predecessor who built the so-called "people mover" at Bradley International Airport over lawmakers' objections.

Fuessenich, a Republican appointee who spoke Wednesday before the legislature's Appropriations Committee, said he is not recommending any cuts in state law enforcement equipment, especially cars, needed to do a proper law enforcement job.

"We are not investigating crimes the way they should be investigated," he said. "I would even question, should we try to arrest people for marijuana if all the cases are thrown out of court," he said. He did not comment on proposals to cut the state's law enforcement budget.

Fuessenich has asked for a $23.1 million budget for fiscal year 1976, an increase of $4.3 million from the department's present budget of $18.8 million. But Mrs. Grasso has recommended an allocation of only $19.6 million.

Kaneil said he is not recommending any cuts in the state's law enforcement budget for fiscal year 1976, an increase of $4.3 million from the department's present budget of $18.8 million. But Mrs. Grasso has recommended an allocation of only $19.6 million.

Nurses Seek Legal Sanction For Procedures They Perform

HARTFORD (UPI) - About 1,000 nurses have demonstrated at the State Capitol to support legislation to legalize many duties they routinely perform in violation of a 31-year-old law.

They would make nursing "an independent, primary, and distinct health discipline, functioning collaboratively, rather than under the direction of a physician," the Connecticut Nurses Association said Wednesday.

Jean Bowen, president of the association, said many duties performed by registered nurses do not have the protection of the law even though they are legally responsible for them.

"The practice of nursing under present licensing is illegal," she said. "The bill would legalize the functions nurses are capable of and are doing."

The measure, sponsored by Sen. Audrey P. Beck, D-Storrs, would update the 1944 Nurse Practice Act, which required nurses to perform their duties under the supervision of a physician.

But Catherine Battista, assistant executive director of the association, said registered nurses in fact have been performing many duties independently of physicians' direct supervision.

As an example, she said in the care of coronary patients, 60 per cent of the heart attacks are diagnosed by nurses, and many lives would be lost if it weren't for the prompt action of the nurse attending the patient.

By legal precedent and under common law a nurse is responsible for making sure that a patient receives the proper care or medication even if a physician makes a mistake, she said.

Under Mrs. Beck's bill, nursing would be defined as "the process of diagnosing human responses to actual or potential health problems."

Nursing also would cover supportive care, health counseling and referral, working with doctors to carry out prescribed health care programs, according to the bill.

The measure would differentiate between nursing practice and medical practice and define the independent role of nurses in health care, the association said.

The association said it fears that the present Board of Nursing Licensure may be abolished and its function absorbed by another agency such as the Commission on Hospitals and Health Care.

Inservice Training Session Planned for Grade Teachers

There will be an inservice training session April 7 for all elementary school teachers, announced Dr. Alfred B. Tychen, assistant superintendent of schools. A released-time half-day schedule will allow teachers to participate in a three-hour workshop from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. at the Wadsworth School. The workshop will be conducted by Bill Halloran, a fifth grade teacher from Westfield, Mass., who is acclaimed as a reading workshop leader.

The session is sponsored by the reading department, the language arts curriculum committee, and the elementary school libraries.

Court Rules Widowers Entitled to Special Benefits

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court ruled 8 to 0 Wednesday that widowers with small children are entitled to the same Social Security survivors' benefits as widows in the same circumstances. To deny such benefits to a man when his wife dies, said the opinion by Justice William J. Brennan Jr., operates "to deprive women of protection for their families which men receive as a result of their employment."

In other opinions, the court: —Struck down on a 7-2 vote, New Hampshire's tax on the income of nonresidents working in the state. The court said this violated the Constitution because New Hampshire does not tax the income of its own residents.

Nathan Marlow

Marlow's is a Manchester institution. Its reputation is a reflection of one man, its founder, Nathan "Papa" Marlow, who believed his customers should be able to find anything they wanted at Marlow's. And they almost always can.

Ah, To Be Young Again

Ah, to be young again, for to be young is to be infallible. Despite some opinions to the contrary, we can remember those salad days when we knew exactly what was right and what was wrong with the world. In retrospect, we remember, too, that we could be a bit self-righteous about our genius for making moral snap judgments.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

As Christians look forward to the anniversary of the Lord's Last Supper, and Jews to the Passover, now only a week away, it would be appropriate for all to reflect anew on the notion of fasting as an important work of Lent.

Kowalski, Pajama-Clad, and Gasper Discuss Constabulary

ANDOVER
Donna Holland
Correspondent

Determined to attend a meeting of the Andover Law Enforcement Committee, William (Bill) Kowalski, recuperating from a recent operation appeared at the meeting in pajamas and robe. "Not exactly regulation uniform," Chief Constable Kowalski admitted.

Kowalski was discharged from the hospital Sunday and when he learned of the committee meeting he insisted his wife drive him so he could represent the constables at the special meeting called to discuss electing constables vs. appointing them.

At a meeting earlier this month it was decided to ask Andover residents to approve having the constables appointed rather than elected. The minutes of that meeting indicate several committee members voiced dissatisfaction with the present police protection setup.

Briefly reviewing his position as constable, Kowalski said Tuesday's meeting, said he was first elected in 1946 and worked for some 15 years with no remuneration.

Andrew Gasper, chairman of the committee, questioned the logic of having a chief constable, noting the election law concerning constables states they are all equal.

Gasper also said at the March meeting of the committee discussed the first selectman acting as chief of police and that Catherine Hutchinson, town attorney and a member of the committee, said she was unable to get a vote for her as the first selectman the power of police chief.

Gasper explained that the law regarding constables is just an advisory one and it is the selectmen. He said if the townspeople approve the appointment method for constables then the constables would work under the selectmen and the selectmen could appoint a chief.

Kowalski said he recognized the fact that David Yeomans, first selectman is chief of police but said he could not recognize Yeomans telling him to do what, when, and where.

He said, "I want to be able to act as a constable, proud of my uniform, proud of my town and free to do what I think is right as long as it's within the law."

Gasper said the committee feels it would be better for the constables to be appointed. He said it would be the same as now except they would be working under a head (first selectman).

He said the committee fears all elected constables will appear at the town garage and will all want to drive the town's cruiser and then there would be a problem.

Kowalski said the constables know what services the people expect. He said people call when they want help.

He said, "The force has been built to where we feel we are doing a service for the town. We firmly believe we presented a lot of crime in Andover by patrolling."

Gasper said he couldn't understand Kowalski's feelings. He said if the constables were appointed it would help.

Kowalski said "I have been appointed it would probably wind up as 'I have a friend...'"

He said if the constables are appointed then people lose the right to put in office the people they want. He said if there was a constable not doing his job, to get rid of him all you have to do is follow the due process of the law.

Gasper said no one can find the law even town counsel couldn't find anything relating to it.

Kowalski said he welcomes constructive criticism; it shows progress. He said he heard he was getting criticism so he went to Yeomans and was told it was true.

He said he feels if he is getting criticism then he should be told. He asked what the criticism was and was stunned when he learned, he said.

Yeomans told him it was because he carries a gun.

Kowalski said that wasn't constructive criticism. He said the gun is part of the policeman's uniform.

Kowalski said, "We've been through schools, we're not stupid." He said the fact he just received his fourth diploma for a course in constable training.

Yeomans said it was reported at the last meeting by Richard Clark, committee member and state policeman, that the state police investigated 74 crimes in Andover.

He said he, at the request of constable Romie Mike, wrote the Colchester State Police Barracks for more information.

Yeomans spoke of the importance of educating the people as to the types of crime occurring.

He said he knows the major crime in Andover is burglary.

Kowalski said it was a good point and one he is very interested in. He said the only gap in the people should contact the constables, not try to solve a problem themselves because he didn't want anyone to get hurt.

Kowalski said if and when the constables need help from the state police barracks they would call them.

Board Rejects Monitoring Grievance

REGION 8
Nancy Foote
Members of the Regional District 8 Board of Education voted Monday night to deny the request of Kathleen Bedding to rescind the policy on monitoring of halls and smoking areas which went into effect in November.

The grievance presentation listed as action requested "that the administration directive be rescinded and a return to past practice be effected. Further, that any proposed change in working conditions of those covered by the group contract be brought to the Rham Education Association for negotiation consistent with the recognition of the group contract."

The teachers argued that they were needed in the classroom and that they should not be used in a para-professional capacity. They said that the teachers were being split between academic and disciplinary roles by the monitoring duty.

Superintendent David Cattanech told the board that he felt that there was no grievance. He stated that established past practice was no reason for not changing policy, and that the requirement to step out into the corridor and assist with hall management has been in the teachers' handbook for about six years.

The board voted in executive session to support the administration's stand that there was no grievance.

Dates Chosen
The board voted to hold the public hearing to discuss the proposed budget for 1975-76 on April 14 at 8 p.m. in the Rham High School Auditorium. The meeting to take action to pass

Work Will Begin Soon On New Tennis Courts

VERNON
The old tennis courts at Rockville High School were demolished Monday and work is to start on the new courts to be built in connection with the expansion program at the high school.
Robert Wehrli, a member of the Town Council, and chairman of the Permanent Building Committee, in a report to the council said the new courts should be completed by May 1, depending upon weather conditions.
Wehrli reported that construction at the high school is going along satisfactorily and the building committee is pleased that the work is completely on schedule at this point.

Bus Purchase Bid Waived

VERNON
On request of Donald Berger, director of recreation, the Vernon Town Council voted to waive bid procedures in connection with the purchase of a used school bus for use for transportation of senior citizens.
The old bus, Berger explained, had been inoperable for a couple of months during which time an extensive search was made to find a suitable replacement.
The new used bus is being purchased from the School Bus Lines of Madison at a cost of $2,500, Berger said. He said the installation of a new engine, the town has had the bus on loan for a few weeks.

Democrats To Hear Gill

Joseph Gill, newly appointed commissioner of environmental protection, will be the guest speaker at the meeting of the Tolland County Democratic Association Monday at 8 p.m. in the Willington Town Hall.
Gill will discuss the administration's environmental policies and offer his personal views on them. Those attending the meeting will have an opportunity to ask questions concerning the department.
Robert Noonan, chairman of the Installation-Awards Dinner, planned for May 16 at the Faculty Alumnae Club at the University of Connecticut, reports that Governor Ella Grasso has accepted the invitation to attend the dinner which will be the first one for the association.
Governor Grasso will be accompanied by several other party officials, Noonan said. Tickets are $10 a person. Reservations may be made by contacting Mrs. Ruth Ventura, 30 East St., Rockville (878-3325).
County Democrats are also reminded that the Vernon Democratic Town Committee is sponsoring an "Anti-Inflation Raffle. Tickets will be $1 each or $5 a book. First prize will be 50 pounds of steak; second, 100 gallons of fuel oil; third, 50 gallons of gasoline; and fourth, fifth and six, one turkey each.
Mrs. Helen Daly has reported that due to printing costs and feeble response to requests for recipes and town histories, the planned anniversary book will not be issued next year.

Association president, Al Ahsan has appointed Al Phillips, Terry Beagle, and Mrs. Ventura to the nominating committee and the proposed slate of officers will be presented at Monday's meeting.
The official, Dr. Carl F. Reuss, said the UFW's struggle to organize farm workers was "complicated by the entrance of the Teamsters union" into the farm labor scene.

Council Waives Salary Schedules

VERNON
On request of Mayor Frank McCoy, the Vernon Town Council agreed to waive the entire pay plan schedule for town employees and to leave it to the administration to grant whatever increases it feels are available.
The pay plan only applies to those town employees who are not union members. Union members include employees of the Police Department, other than the chief and the lieutenants and public works employees other than the director and supervisors.
The pay plan calls for merit raises, cost-of-living raises, and such the council, at its budget meetings, usually acts on the wages as it studies each budget.

Rec Commission Seeking Funds For Newhoca, Valley Falls Park

VERNON
The Community Development Act (CDA) funds to come to the town of Vernon will probably be used for the improvement of Camp Newhoca and Valley Falls Park if the town council heads the pleas of the Recreation Commission and the Conservation Commission. Commission members spoke at the final of two public hearings conducted to hear the sentiment of the townspeople concerning how federal funds, which will total $100,000 spread over a five-year period, should be used for the betterment of the town.
The first year the town will receive $20,000 so it was the general feeling at Monday's public hearing that no major project could be undertaken with the funds.
Mrs. Joyce Taylor, a member of the Recreation Commission, said that group has a set of plans already to go and urged that the funds be used for Newhoca and Valley Falls. Camp Newhoca, located on Bolton Lake in Vernon was purchased from Newton Children's Hospital two years ago but the town has not had the funds to make any improvements for its use.
Valley Falls is also town-owned. Each year some improvements have been made there by the town and by such groups as the Recreation Commission, Recreation Commission and the local women's clubs.
Marilyn Linderman, also a member of the Recreation Commission, said the commission has had many requests for the use of Valley Falls and Camp Newhoca for recreational activities. She said the commission has plans for a nature center and new parking facilities, and she said the commission cannot handle the expense the way things are.
Kenneth Bellinger, a member of a committee of local businessmen working for the revitalization of downtown Rockville, said he is all for recreation but he feels the council should consider using the money for the environment in the center of Rockville.
Two Bicentennial movies will be shown: "Resolve To Be Free" and "Brigade," which shows the British side of the revolution.
The commission will present plaques to owners of pre-revolutionary homes.
Coffee and cake will be served. There is no admission charge.

Meredith, N.H. Band Plans Weekend Visit

SOUTH WINDSOR
Judy Kuehnel
A South Windsor welcoming committee, complete with Dixieland Band, will meet the Inter-Lakes Regional High School Symphonic Band, Meredith, N.H. at Exit 94 on 10-86 tomorrow at 2 p.m.
The band, which will perform in joint concert with the South Windsor Band Saturday night, will then be escorted to the high school where it will be officially welcomed by Mayor Robert Smith.
The South Windsor High School Concert Band was a guest of the Town of Meredith the weekend of March 7-9.
Various activities are planned for the New Hampshire music students including a dance Friday at the high school and a trip to the planetarium in West Hartford.

Mayor Smith, and Cile Decker, chairman of the South Windsor Board of Education, are expected to be on hand Saturday night for the joint concert. The South Windsor band will be conducted by Louis Lazerini and the Inter-Lakes band will be conducted by Bruce Heald. Tickets will be available at the high school where it will be officially welcomed by Mayor Robert Smith.
The concert will begin at 8.
Dies in Fire
NEW HAVEN (UPI) — James Villemaire, 68, of New Haven, died Wednesday in a fire in his downtown apartment.
The fire was discovered at about 4 p.m. in his building on State Street near Ferry Street. Police said the fire, of unknown origin, broke out in Villemaire's third floor apartment, causing extensive damage to the floor.
Federation Fete
HARTFORD (UPI) — The Connecticut State Federation of Teachers scheduled a reception with legislative leaders for today to discuss the state's educational problems. Federation President Ronald J. O'Brien said the heads of more than 50 federalist locals around the state would be at the Sheraton Hotel for informal discussions with the lawmakers.
O'Brien, 38, former president of State Street near Ferry Street. He said he was struck by the origin, broke out in Villemaire's third floor apartment, causing extensive damage to the floor.

Wife Gives Advice To 'Other Woman'

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: A few years ago, you had a letter in your column in the form of advice for a girl who was in love with a married man. It started with: "Never expect to see him on Sundays or holidays."

I remembered it because I had once been in love with a married man and you really hit the nail on the head.

Had I known that my own daughter would be in need of such advice, I would have saved it.

I hope you can locate it, because your column is the first thing my beautiful (but dumb) 27-year-old daughter goes for in the Chicago Tribune.

HER MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I located it. And here it is: "Dear Abby: May I give you readers the benefit of my very valuable experience? I address this to any woman who is in love with a married man: Never expect to see him on Sundays or holidays."

Don't ever expect him to take you out in public, but be prepared to entertain him at your place. He may bring a bottle or the stokes occasionally, but in actual dollars and cents, you will spend more on him than he'll spend on you. Never depend on him in times of personal crisis.

Don't believe him when he tells you that his wife is a shrew, cold, homely, too fat (or too thin), and she hasn't slept with him in ten years.

Don't ever expect his wife to divorce him if she ever catches him. She knows that you are not his first and won't be his last. Also, she is not about to give up her social status, financial security and retirement income because of you. However her discovery will probably terminate his affair with you, so be prepared to get some new clothes, circulate, and find another man whose wife is a shrew, cold, homely, too fat (or too thin), and hasn't slept with him for ten years. Sign me... HIS WIFE"

DEAR ABBY: I read in your column that a man had accidentally discovered in his friend's library some books which this friend had borrowed from him about 15 years before. It reminded me of a saying I picked up in Argentina.

"Hay dos clases de estupidos, los que prestan libros y los que los devuelven..." which means: "There are two kinds of fools. Those who lend books and those who return them."

BOULDER, COLO.

DEAR BOULDER: You should have left that saying in Argentina. I don't agree that only a fool returns books he has borrowed. In English he would be called a "thief." And in Spanish, an "aprovechador."

DEAR ABBY: The letters concerning wedding expenses are the need for questioning your credit practices of the bride's parents paying for the wedding. This is a carry-over from the days when daughters were considered financial liabilities, and parents were eager to get them married off.

Times have changed! Today many young people of marriageable age are working, and some earn more than their parents.

Why can't the bride and groom pay for their own wedding? When my husband and I were married, 35 years ago, we pooled our money and paid for our wedding and reception, since my parents couldn't afford it. I've known parents who have gone into debt to give their children big, fancy weddings. And at the stage in their lives when they (the parents) should be setting aside money for their own retirement. PAID OUR WAY

DEAR PAID: Hark! We're making progress. Many of the younger generation prefer a more modest and meaningful wedding to those fancy, formal extravaganzas that would have Papa robbing Peter to June to pay for in July. And I say hooray for the kids!

FROM YOUR NEIGHBOR'S KITCHEN
By VIVIAN FEROUSON

The big night of the year had arrived for several young community college students. Behind the seeming poise and sophistication was eager anticipation and some minor anxieties. About 60 couples would partake of an elaborate gourmet dinner for which they had paid $6 per couple. All proceeds would go to the Manchester Scholarship Foundation.

Beautifully gowned ladies arrived with their husbands. As they tipped cocktails, platters of elegant hors d'oeuvres were passed on silver trays by the students. Bacon-wrapped chicken livers, cornucopias of stuffed salami, stuffed celery, melon and cappelcchia (an Italian cold meat edged with hot red pepper).

Most of the paying guests hadn't eaten all day. Having attended the gourmet dinner the first two years, they were better for there was a good deal of eating yet to come. The cocktails were kept to a minimum in anticipation of the French since this was classic cuisine.

Throughout the meal, Brad Saunders would comment upon the dishes briefly explaining their meaning and preparation as the menu was printed in French since this was classic cuisine.

At the table, the meal began with Consome Brunoise, a clear enriched meat stock garnished with small cubes of carrots, turneps, leeks, celery.

Next came the traditional fish course — Filet de Sole Bonne Femme Garniture de Crevette. This is sole that has been poached in fish stock served with a hollandaise-type sauce. The garniture was shrimp. Actually, crevette literally translated is prawn.

Potrine de Poulet Eugene — a chicken breast which had been seasoned, breaded, coated to golden brown and served on a thin slice of ham atop a small piece of toast.

If this weren't already enough, we next consumed Bouef Rouladen en Sauce Bourguoise, an excellent rolled and stuffed top round steak topped with a fine sauce.

Everyone was now ready for a brothier. It came in the form of sherbet, three small scoops of differently colored and flavored ices. At a gourmet dinner, and rarely done today, this is served to cleanse and refresh the palate prior to the main course.

Rack of lamb was the main attraction and beautifully done it was. The Cote d'Agneau was served with Navets James Gales and Petit Pois (young glazed turnips and tiny peas), Pommes de Terre Croquette (potato croquettes) and Courges avec Gelee de Menthe (piece of hollowed cooked zucchini which held the mint jelly). Gourges means gold.

The salad course was beautifully presented. The menu read "Salad d'Orange et de Pamplemousse". In this Pamplemousse is one of my favorite French words. It is simply a grapefruit. In this case, a half grapefruit was filled with a bed of lettuce covered with orange slices and a fine sharp salad dressing. The edge of the grapefruit were scalloped, the whole surrounded with a circle of orange scrapings and coconut.

Three young matre d's now appeared with large silver chafing dishes filled with peach halves which they flamed with liqueurs. A good cup of coffee, a sip of a cherry dessert wine and the guests went home full but happy.

Having attended the last two years, I have heard comments that the meal should be shortened and one course should be eliminated. Some thoughts should be considered. First, this is the only opportunity for the college students to serve a meal of this kind. It provides a learning environment as well as providing funds for the Manchester Scholarship Foundation. The students can experience an evening of finer service and a finer cuisine than can be accomplished in the classroom. Can you imagine the taxpayers of Connecticut paying for this kind of food at each end with kitchen card.

Dredge rolls with flour which has been seasoned with salt and pepper and brown on all sides in hot fat. Place browned roll in baking pan and set aside while you make sauce.

Sauce Bourguoise for Bouef Rouladen
4 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons sour 2 cups beef broth 1 teaspoon salt 1/2 teaspoon pepper 1/4 cup dry red wine 1/4 cup tomato puree 1 clove garlic, minced Melt butter in saucepan, blend in flour and cook, stirring constantly until flour is slightly brown. Gradually add beef broth and stir until mixture boils. Then cook about 3 minutes longer, stirring several times. Add salt, pepper, red

Eastland Says Report Leaves Meskill Clear

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee says he sees nothing in an FBI report to deter his confirmation of former Connecticut Gov. Thomas J. Meskill as a federal judge.
"There is nothing in the world against him that I can find in the report," said Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., referring to the FBI report on a state property leasing scandal in Connecticut during Meskill's term.
Eastland said, however, copies of the report would be available to committee members. He will brief the committee, he said, when Meskill's nomination comes up for a vote Friday.
Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., originally sought the FBI report last week to clear up conflicting testimony during hearings on Meskill's seven-month nomination.

Unsed Sets Pace for Bullets over Celtics

NEW YORK (UPI) — It has become quite evident. As Wes Unseld goes, so go the Washington Bullets. Unseld proved that again Wednesday night as he returned after an eight-game absence to spark the Bullets to a 97-80 rout of the Boston Celtics in the battle between the league's top two winners.

The 6-foot-8 center, out with a broken finger, came off the bench in the second period to ignite Washington's attack. The victory gives the Bullets a one-game lead in the loss column over Boston in the race for the best record in the National Basketball Association and an $80,000 payoff for finishing with the top league mark and the best record in the Eastern Conference.

"It's a great feeling to have Wes on the floor," said Elvin Hayes, who took advantage of Unseld's presence to score a game-high 31 points. "It gives you more freedom to do things. You can get on the fast break and it's easier to get your shot."

"We wanted to use Wes tonight and he did well," said Bullet Coach K.C. Jones. "He was able to use his hand and he did the job when we put him in. He did well on the offensive boards."

"The finger didn't give me any trouble," said Unseld. "Last week I couldn't grasp the ball till the finger was put back in a cast. But there was no pain tonight."

It's not going to put a note of despair on the rest of the season. It was just one game."

Thoughts ApLENTY
By Len Auster

Silenced Critics

Plenty of criticism was raised when the Providence College basketball team was selected for the ECAC New England Regional playoffs, with the winner gaining an NCAA berth.

Since then, however, the Friars have silenced the critics with their play in the National Invitational Tournament (NIT) at the mecca of basketball, Madison Square Garden. The Ocean Staters tripped one of the favorites, Clemson, in the opening round and destroyed Pittsburgh in the quarterfinals.

Worst Home Defeat Suffered by Whalers

"We're not going to panic now," noted Coach Ron Ryan after seeing his New England Whalers' Bobby Hull and the San Diego Mariners, 6-1, last night at the Hartford Civic Center before a crowd of 8,420. The loss was the Whalers' worst on Civic Center ice and their first in this current home stand.

New England, which has already clinched the WHA's Eastern Division crown for the third consecutive year and a playoff berth, also had its seven-game unbeaten skid at home stopped.

"We were flat right from the start. They (San Diego) got the jump on us. We had three great chances to score early in the second period but didn't. When they came up with their fourth it was all over."

NCAA Tournament Hall Predicts Upset

Ralph Miller, coach of Oregon State, believes strongly that defense will be the key to the final outcome of the game.

"In tournament play it is defense that wins championships and both clubs have it," said Miller.

Indiana, despite Miller's optimism and the fact that All-American Scott May will probably not be ready to play, still remains a solid favorite.

In the other game, Kentucky, which earlier this season got whipped soundly by Indiana, is favored to defeat Central Michigan.

Other regional matchups tonight include: East North Carolina (22-7) vs. Syracuse (20-7) and Kansas State (19-8) vs. Boston College (21-7) at Providence, R.I.

Midwest: Louisville (23-3) vs. Cincinnati (22-5) and Maryland (24-4) vs. Notre Dame (19-8) at Las Vegas, N.M.

Far West: UCLA (24-3) vs. Montana (21-6) and Nevada-Las Vegas (23-4) vs. Arizona State (23-4) at Portland.

Surprising Development

One surprise in regards to UConn's appearance in the NIT was the conspicuous absence of team captain Earl Wilson. The 6-5 forward out of New Haven was poked in the eye in the opening minutes of the ECAC and never returned to the hardwood. He lies on the bench in street clothes in the consolation against Providence yet couldn't pull himself to accompany his mates to the Garden for the NIT.

Whalers' Mike Byers (21) Gets Off Shot

That decision must have left his teammates and Coach Doc Rowe chagrined. Even if he couldn't have played, he should have been there. He was their leader. Or was he? Maybe that's what UConn lacked. Leadership.

ABA Roundup

Attendance at National Football League games last year dipped 4.5 per cent from the previous year. The reason is two-fold. The economy is on a downswing and fans are slowly but surely getting tired of outrageous player demands. And they are no longer satisfied just seeing the product. They want quality. Manchester High basketball coach Doug Pearson will serve once again as a resident coach at the Eastern Basketball Clinic camp this summer in Moody. Former Weaver High star and now coach of the Boston Rockets of the NBA Johnny Egan will also be on the instructional staff.

Esposito Sidelined In Bruins' Setback

NEW YORK (UPI) — Fifty-eight goals and 62 assists are a bit much to take out of any team's offense, much less that of the Boston Bruins.

But that's what Boston Coach Don Cherry was faced with filling when his center, Phil Esposito—hobbled off the ice Wednesday night after just one shift of the second period as the Bruins were falling to the Montreal Canadiens, 2-1.

Oregon, Gamecocks Favorites in NIT

NEW YORK (UPI) — Oregon and South Carolina are slight favorites to beat Oral Roberts and Princeton, respectively, tonight and advance into the semifinals of the National Invitation Basketball Tournament.

Oregon, which had a 19-8 season record and is recognized as a superbly disciplined defensive team, is a five-point favorite over Oral Roberts in the first game of the doubleheader. Oral Roberts has a 20-7 record.

South Carolina, also 19-8 but rated by many experts as the best all-around team in the tournament because of its superior front strength, is a two-point pick over Princeton.

Tonight's winners will advance to Saturday's semifinal round, joining Providence and St. John's. The final round of the tournament will be played on Sunday.

As usual, the coach of the favored team—in this case South Carolina—is warning his players about overconfidence and the funny bounces basketballs can take in tournament games.

The win also gave Montreal 100 points for the year—tops in the NHL.
Flames 8, Maple Leafs 7
Curt Bennett scored two goals within 15 seconds of each other late in the third period to keep Atlanta within seven points of the Islanders in the race for the third and final playoff spot in Division 1. Tim Eccleston also scored a pair for the Flames while Errol Thompson had two for Toronto.
Rangers 3, Canucks 0
Ed Giacomin registered his first shutout of the season and 50th of his career to clinch for New York the season series between the two clubs. Steve Vickers scored a pair of goals to give the Rangers their third win in five games this season over Vancouver.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Like Julius Erving is hot, the New York Nets can when like the best basketball team in the world.
Dr. J. was hot Wednesday night, connecting for 17-of-26 shots and scoring 42 points in a 119-110 victory over the Indiana Pacers.
Larry Kenned added 38 points to the Nets' total, helping to offset the 30 points scored by George McGinnis of the Pacers.
Stars 100, Colonels 92
Wall Jones scored 41 of his 17 points in the fourth period in leading Utah over Kentucky. The win kept the Stars ahead of San Diego in the race for the last Western Division playoff spot.

Tour Planned

DURHAM, N.H. (UPI) — Europeans will probably get a close look at American-style football this summer, compliments of the six Yankee Conference teams.
The conference is composed of the Universities of New Hampshire, Maine, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Massachusetts and Boston University.
A spokesman said plans call for each school to send a 55-member team. Each team would play three exhibition games against the other teams during a May 28-19 tour through Milan, Rome, Barcelona, Vienna, Berlin and Frankfurt.
He said final arrangements, including playing dates, should be set by the end of the month.

NFL Makes Rule Changes

HONOLULU (UPI)— Now it will go over to the defense at the line of scrimmage.

The owners, however, voted down a proposal that would have made a pass reception legal if the receiver had at least one foot in bounds, as in college play.

Under one of eight new rules changes announced Wednesday, the ball will be returned to the line of scrimmage.

The old rule discouraged passing for touchdowns. Teams took the field goal instead, because if they passed from inside the 20 and missed, they'd lose yards.

NFL Executive Director Jim Kennell told a news conference during the meeting here of owners.

Under the old rule, an incomplete pass in the end zone on fourth down from inside the 20-yard line was ruled a touchback and went

Like last year, when Hubert Green picked up his second of four '74 victories, Jack Nicklaus and Johnny Palmer are not competing. Unlike last year, Lee Trevino, winner two weeks ago under the road at Orlando, also skipped Jacksonville this time.

Much to the chagrin of tournament sponsors, only three of this year's tournament winners led off today, and none of the three were who you might call instantly recognizable. They were

WSox' Bradford Wants Full Shot

NEW YORK (UPI)— Chicago White Sox outfielder Buddy Bradford, still waiting to play a full season in the majors, is showing signs this spring that he might be capable of it given that long to play.

Bradford, who first started in the majors last year, batting .333 with five homers, after he injured his leg only a few months into the season. This spring, however, he's trying to make up for lost time.

Wednesday, Bradford slugged two home runs, two singles and a double in five trips to the plate as the Sox bombed the St. Louis Cardinals 14-7. Bradford, who has slugged six home runs in

Consistency Still Needed

RSox' Moret Improves

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. (UPI)— Left-handed pitcher Roger Moret improved on previous spring training performances Wednesday, but not enough to prevent Red Sox Manager Darrell Johnson from expressing a wish.

"I'd like to see him pitching effectively from the start of the game rather than needing couple of innings to settle down," Johnson said following a 5-4 Red Sox loss in 13 innings to the Philadelphia Phillies at Clearwater.

Today, Tony Conigliaro was scheduled to play left field in a "B" game against Houston in the afternoon and be the designated hitter against Detroit tonight.

Maureen Houle, chairman of the Democratic Town Committee, has issued the following statement in conjunction with Point 1 of the Democratic platform.

want to see their town move forward but they want this accomplished with prudence and sense of direction.
"Government by crisis is neither reliable nor efficient and our platform stresses the importance of both efficiency and reliability as two of the most essential ingredients for any town government."
"Our candidates welcome the opportunity to discuss any and all of the points in the platform with townspeople and hope for people's comments on 'Plan for the Future of Bolton.'"
"The Bolton Democratic Town Committee has adopted a nine-point platform with the predominant theme being 'Plan for the Future.'"
"During the next few weeks we want to share with you our ideas and thoughts in these nine areas and our strong desire for your participation in assisting us in our 'Plan for the Future.'"

AREA POLICE REPORT

VERNON

Elmer Nelson, 47, of 126 High St., Rockville was charged Wednesday night with operating under the influence of liquor or drugs or both, after he was stopped for driving the wrong way on a one-way street, police said.
He was released on a $250 non-surety bond for appearance in Common Pleas Court 19, Rockville, April 1.
Daren White, 16, of 165 Regan Rd., Rockville was charged Wednesday with first-degree criminal trespassing in connection with the investigation of a complaint made by the owner of a local apartment complex.
Police said White was allegedly trespassing on private property after he had been warned not to do so. He was released on his promise to appear in court in Rockville on April 1.
David Michaud, 16, of Virginia Lane, Tolland was charged Wednesday with fourth-degree larceny (shoplifting) in connection with the investigation of a complaint made by K-Mart on Rt. 30.
Police said some $42 worth of goods were involved. A juvenile was referred to juvenile authorities in connection with

Shakespeare Fans

NEW HAVEN (UPI) — The third annual meeting of the Shakespeare Association of America began today and will continue through Saturday. Yale University is hosting the gathering, which will take place at the Sheraton Park Plaza Hotel and at Yale. More than 300 Shakespeare enthusiasts were expected for the lectures and presentations of papers.

"Speed" and the officer forcefully try to restrain Felix from jumping out the window as Oscar anxiously watches. This scene is from "The Odd Couple" starring students at Bennett Junior High School. ### Mixed Company Offers "The Odd Couple"

The Mixed Company of Bennett Junior High School will present Neil Simon's comedy, "The Odd Couple" today and Friday at 8 p.m. in the Main Building auditorium.
The play is about a couple of fellows who have parted from their wives and decide to share an apartment. Combining a couple of roommates when one is sloppy and the other is a meticulous individual makes for some comical situations.
Stephen Latham, who plays Oscar Madison, has also appeared in "Up the Down Staircase," "Arsenic and Old Lace," and "Rumpelstiltskin," all produced at Bennett. Others in the cast are Jeff Come as Roy, Neil Berggren as Winnie, and Tina Strand and Tami Grakowsky as Gwendolyn and Cecily, the zany Pigeon sisters.
Student directors are Sandra Bellone and Lisa Stepanki. Bill Nighan is the stage manager.

National College Fair Comes to Civic Center

If there is sufficient interest from Manchester High School students, bus transportation may be arranged to and from the Hartford Civic Center March 31 to attend a college fair.
A National College Fair will be at the Hartford Civic Center March 31 from 3 to 9 p.m., and April 1 from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The fair, sponsored by the National Association of College Admissions Counselors, will feature admissions representatives from more than 200 four-year and two-year colleges throughout the nation. Many are from New England and the Middle Atlantic States.
Admission to the fair is free. A complimentary directory of colleges and their major fields of study will be distributed. There will also be a brief orientation session as participants enter the fair so that the best use of time and facilities can be made.
A general information center will be in operation where counselors in the Greater Hartford area will provide a person-to-person counseling service for students and parents seeking information about majors, resources, and colleges.
High school students interested in attending the fair by bus should contact their counselor.
A list of the colleges to be represented at the fair is available at the guidance office. Counselors will suggest college representatives students should visit if requested.
The fair is particularly recommended for juniors planning further education but is open to all students, parents, and adults.

Sewer Use Charges May Stay Same

VERNON

Sewer user charges for Vernon will probably remain the same for next year as they are for the current year for both Vernon and out-of-town users.
Mayor Frank McCoy Monday recommended to the Town Council that the sewer user charges not be raised. He said the charges do not meet the costs of operation of the sewage treatment plant but "to balance the cost of operation would put a burden on the users."

The town is in the process of making plans for a new and enlarged treatment facility. The State Department of Environmental Protection ordered the new plant to abate pollution of the Hockanum River.
The mayor said when the new plant is completed then the entire rate schedule for users will be re-evaluated.
He said there has been some criticism of the charge made to out-of-town restaurants (Ellington) for use of the Vernon system. He said he suggested to the restaurant owners that they discuss the matter with their town's Sewer Authority which in turn would discuss it with the Vernon Authority with an eye toward making adjustments.

The council set April 7 at 7:30 p.m. for a public hearing on the proposed ordinance establishing the user rates for Vernon residents and to act on a resolution to establish out-of-town rates.

Survey Seeks Answers To Coventry Farming

Ron Dickerman, holding a meeting with real estate agents in Coventry to hear their views on the subject. He wants to find out the problems and situations the agents run into in their everyday work concerning farming in Coventry. The letters are being mailed by the office of the town planner.

Students from the Institute of Public Service at the University of Connecticut will be conducting the interviews. The students are mostly from Indonesia and the Philippines and are involved with farming and agriculture in their native country.

They will be asking the farmers for their views on the future of farming in Coventry, some of the problems encountered by the farmer today, any specific needs or special help required by them, and effects on the farmer by tax laws.

The interviews are part of an overall survey to obtain input from town residents on the direction the town is to take in future planning, said Town Planner Frank Connolly. Connolly also said he will be formal changes.

SCENE FROM HERE

By SOL R. COHEN

"Take My Advice and...."

"It's only me" for whom the bell tolls," because after about three years without a front-door bell, I personally and with absolute no help, fixed it.

Why am I telling you this — you who have so much more to fill your thoughts than just the knowledge I've fixed our front-door bell?

I'm glad you asked that question. It's because it's spring, and with spring comes fix-up time.

How can I say, "It's only me for whom the bell tolls?" It's because I'm the only one who rings it. Everyone, including the mailman, the Girl Scouts selling cookies and the missionaries leaving religious tracts for me to read, think it's still out of commission. And unless they read it here, they'll go on thinking it.

The reason I keep ringing it is to convince myself it's still working and that I really fixed it. I can't help myself. I'm thrilled. You'd be, too, if you fixed a few things around the house as I do.

Some day I'll get around to fixing some of the other things that need doing. But all in good time.

I'll concede one little exception to my philosophy. Every man should be allowed to fix his own house as he sees fit. I always say.

Barry Favors Eliminating $2 Minimum Late Tax Fee

State Sen. David M. Barry, D-4th District, spoke Wednesday before the legislature's finance committee on a commitment he made to a Manchester taxpayer while he was town council in 1972 and 1973.

Barry asked for elimination of the $2 minimum interest charge on delinquent property taxes.

He told the committee how an elderly woman complained to him about having to pay the charge. In addition to her motor vehicle tax, because her Social Security check was late. Had the $2 minimum interest, law had not been in effect, explained Barry, the interest on her tax bill would have amounted to about 36 cents. Because the car was her only taxable possession, Barry promised her he would support repeal of the law. "The $1.65 she would have saved is a lot of money when you're on Social Security."

Foreign News Commentary: Last Chance for Sea Law

By PHIL NEWSON
UPI Foreign News Analyst

After 300 years marked mostly by failure, world nations are making another attempt to draft a law of the sea.

Many experts believe this may be their last chance at agreement before uncurable pollution of the oceans becomes an accomplished fact and might takes over from right in exploitation of uncharted seas.

Blame fell on various shoulders, depending on the speaker.

A Venezuelan delegate blamed the super-powers, meaning the United States and the Soviet Union, whom he accused of wishing to continue their "sacking of the seas."

A spokesman from Malta spread the blame more evenly, describing the delegations as acting like sharks, tearing a carcass to pieces and killing themselves at the same time.

Men and nations have been trying for more than 300 years to codify sea law.

For example, it was in the 18th century that two Italians suggested that territorial sovereignty over offshore waters be limited to the range of a cannon shot — three miles. The United States adopted it in 1793. Others also accepted it but never became international law.

At last year's Caracas conference delegates seemed to be approaching agreement on extending territorial jurisdiction to 12 miles and establishing a 200-mile economic resource zone including the 12-mile territorial sea.

Little progress had been made on deep seabed mining. But even in areas where agreement seemed close there were wide differences in interpretation of the fine print.

The United States, for example, supported a 200-mile economic zone but insisted it should be limited to resources such as fish or minerals but not extend to control over free movement of ships.

The United States and the Soviet Union joined in insisting that if a nation could not use all the fish in its economic zone it should be obliged to permit various straits, opposing them were developing nations fearful of their security.

In the conference the conference nations, poor nations, were developing nations fearful of their security.

According to experts, the timber wolf was gone from Missouri by 1900.

Rec Plans Class In Modern Dance

The Manchester Recreation Department will begin offering modern dance classes Monday at the Teen Center.

The course for ages 11 to 14 will be held ten consecutive Mondays from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. Classes for ages 15 to 18 will begin March 29 and will be held for ten weeks on Saturdays at 11:30 a.m.

Adult classes in modern dance will begin March 31 for men and women 15 years and older. The class will meet weekly from 7 to 8 p.m.

Miss Judith Staddon, a performer and teacher, will be the instructor.

The course fee for the ten sessions is $10. In-person registration is required at the recreation office on Garden Grove Dr. with a minimum $5 deposit.

Leotards and lights are recommended for children and adult participants.

For further information, call 646-6010.

Weiss Cuts $118,400 From School Budget

By SOL R. COHEN
Town Manager Robert Weiss is recommending a $13,202,508 school budget for Manchester in 1975-76. It represents a $118,400 cut from the $13,320,903 budget submitted by the Board of Education.

He's Late ... Or Early
Hey, Santa, it's tough sleddin' with no snow at 206 Center St. Are you waving a fond farewell to winter or welcoming spring, which officially arrived this morning at 11:27, they tell us. Whatever, it's a good thing you are anchored to that roof, or those blustery March winds might pitch you into the next season. (Herald photo by Pinto)
