

Profile of Betty Rhodes: Pixa Girl, Powerful Voice

By GAY PAULLEY
UPI Woman's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Betty Rhodes is a powerful voice box packaged in five feet and 99 pounds.

Now, she should go beyond that "on the brink of stardom" label some critics have given her, for she's singing to an elite audience at the Plaza Hotel's Persian Room.

She ruefully recalls, though, that for the Plaza debut she was against a couple of heavyweights — Muhammad Ali, who weighs 233 pounds or thereabouts, and Diana Ross, whose performance, but a super singing star.

All three were competing for audiences in one evening. Miss Rhodes opened at the Plaza, All defended his heavyweight title in Cleveland before a North American closed circuit television audience, and Miss Ross, who's reported making $250,000 a week at the Westchester Premiere Theater, in Tarrytown, N.Y.

Miss Rhodes originally from Tacoma, Wash., was philosophical about the whole thing. "We had a nearly full house at the Plaza," she said.

She also accepts with good humor the "brink of stardom" thing critics have her carrying around.

"I've read it from Los Angeles to Chicago to Puerto Rico to Australia," she said. "Anytime, they refer to me as an artist, not a performer."

The places she named are but a few that indicate how consistently busy the wee warbler (she's three times) has been in the "10 or 12 years" she's been singing.

She's done one-night stands at conventions and long runs in the new style clubs where informality is the rule. Her current engagement is something like whipped cream on the pie — "It is one of the last elegant rooms left," she said.

It's also a long way from her original plan to be a violinist. Her parents, now deceased, were enamored of music from Depression days when radio offered the major home entertainment.

She started violin, but dropped the lessons after the family moved to Los Angeles. She also has married — at the age of 15. The marriage broke up but it came daughter Jan, now 22, and living "the outdoor life" near Ithaca, N.Y.

"I've always wanted to be the best at whatever I was doing," she said of the violin. "I was never going to be a great violinist, although I can tell you one thing, if you've studied it, you never have a pitch problem."

Instead, the artist enrolled at the University of Southern California, studying voice and getting a degree in theater.

Shows with Jack Brel, the French entertainer, started her on the club circuit. Miss Rhodes has developed a style, with her alto-contralto voice, in many ways like the plaintive delivery of the late Edith Piaf.

But she can do anything else from "saxophone rock" to European to American nostalgia.

"I do things only that I'm comfortable with," she said. "I have to feel the carrying around."

The auburn-haired singer keeps energy flowing with "all I can eat of a balanced diet, tiger's milk and orange juice for breakfast, and being happy at what I'm doing, if I'm upset, I get ill."

Of her size, she said, "It was a handicap when I was growing up, because I had to be about to be heard. But now being small is an asset. I think it keeps me younger looking."

She broke out from smoke inhalation. The fire broke out about 4:44 a.m. and firefighters brought it under control about one hour later.

Break in Recession
WASHINGTON (UPI) — A break in the recession was seen Wednesday in government statistics which indicate the number of Americans being thrown out of work has hit a four-month low.

The number of unemployment benefits has declined in eight of the last nine weeks and is about half the peak reached in January. An economist explained the decline is an important first step to arresting the overall rise in joblessness. Another bright spot Wednesday were prices on the New York Stock Exchange, which made their biggest gain in two months.

Colson Comments
WASHINGTON (UPI) — In a 2-hour interview with UPI Charles Colson said he has no desire to return to any part of his old life. He consented to the interview because he felt he was burned in his only other interview since leaving prison in January. He said as a result of that interview he was quoted as saying former President Nixon said Secretary of State Henry Kissinger was unstable. He now refuses to speak publicly about either Nixon or Watergate. Colson said his commitment to Christ has deepened since his conversion and he wants to spend as much time as he can with "the fellowship" and work for prison reform.

ERA Vote Falls
COLUMBIA, S.C. (UPI) — The Equal Rights Amendment was killed in South Carolina Wednesday, ending all chances it has of being passed by the U.S. Constitution this year. The amendment has been ratified by 34 states, but needs ratification by 38 before 1979 for acceptance. Only three states — Missouri, Florida and North Carolina — are actively considering it this year.

Faisal Rites Conducted
RIVADH, Saudi Arabia (UPI) — Kings, princes, emirs and presidents from the Arab world gathered for the funeral ceremony of King Faisal. The brief, simple Islamic rites were held under a large tent, then Faisal's body was buried in an unmarked grave two miles from the capital. A Cairo newspaper reported meanwhile, the nephew who assassinated King Faisal was reported as "responsible for his crime and knew what he was doing," by doctors who examined him. The report said Prince Faisal Aziz probably soon would be beheaded for the deed.

Seven Die In Fire
BALTIMORE (UPI) — Seven people were killed and three others injured in a pre-dawn fire which swept through a two-story house in Baltimore today.

At least five of the dead were believed to be children, but officials said quick identification was difficult.

All three of the injured were reported in

Bus Needs Said Key To Future Road Plans

HARTFORD (UPI) — Caught between getting unemployed construction workers back on the job and opposition to massive highway projects, Connecticut is moving cautiously in building new roads.

Instead, officials, who have been burned in the past by public outrage at poorly planned highways that disregarded local sensibilities, are trying to proceed with an eye to scaled down projects and mass transportation.

The key, according to Sen. J. Martin Henessey, D-Wethersfield, co-chairman of the legislature's Transportation Committee, is building highways that will improve mass transit.

For most of Connecticut in the foreseeable future, Henessey said, mass transportation is going to be buses and buses need highways.

Henessey listed the projects likely for consideration as construction of commuter bus lanes along I-81 north of Hartford, a connecting link for Rt. 34 near New Haven and a connecting link between I-84 and I-86 on the East Hartford-Manchester line.

And in Norwich, he said, officials will be informed of a proposed Rt. 82 segment that will be built at some future date in order to allow them to proceed with redevelopment plans.

Ford Seeks Advice Over Tax Cut Veto

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford learned it can't give Manchester Community College permission to operate a Day Care Center at the old Nike Site — now a town-operated recreation center.

The Federal Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, an arm of the Department of the Interior, has ruled that, under the deed which transferred the site in 1974 to income taxes to most Americans. It also would begin in May withholding less money for 1975 taxes.

That is a powerful political incentive for Ford to sign the bill, despite his objections to many of its provisions.

The President told his experts Thursday: "This is a tough call." He asked them to draw up their recommendations.

White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen told newsmen Ford considered the bill a mixture of good and bad things, and Democratic floor officials elaborated some of these:

Ford had wanted only a $16 billion tax cut to spur the economy. Congress gave him that and a little more. Its version is a net increase in taxation of $2.8 billion since it contains, along with the cuts, $2 billion in tax increases for oil companies.

Ford opposes amendments in the bill which he fears will contribute to pushing the federal deficit over $100 billion. The bill to partially repeal the oil industry's 60-year-old tax concession, the oil depletion allowance. But a spokesman said Ford doesn't see this as a major problem.

Ford is getting conflicting advice as to whether to veto. Assistant House Speaker Carl Albert, D-California, who transmitted the bill to Ford under his signature, said: "Our problems do not permit delay or study. The bill needs to be signed into law promptly."

White House officials said they are taking another look at the link between I-81, Rocky Hill and I-84 in Farmington.

The revived route, however, would follow a new corridor which is further away from Hartford in an area less highly developed and densely populated and would follow existing highway improvement projects.

Much of the original route of I-81, which circled Hartford, has been been officially abandoned because of public opposition. A huge interchange in Farmington has lain idle since the project was cut back, but the new proposal would make use of the complicated four-level "stack."

Among the alternative routes being sought, according to the officials, is along the existing corridors for Routes 8 and 72, the Farmington "stack," and a section of proposed I-291.

He and two other persons attempting to reach the Terry Johnson home, where Johnson's wife, Dianne, was three days overdue with her pregnancy. The would-be rescuers were stranded when two snowplows attempting to lead the rescue party out. The rescue party found refuge at another farm home, where Case collapsed.

State's Default on Loan Costs Employers $15 Million

NEW YORK (UPI) — Connecticut employers will pay more than $15 million this year to the federal government as a penalty because the state failed to repay a federal loan to the State Unemployment Insurance Fund, an expert says.

Sidney J. Reed, an unemployment insurance expert, said Thursday Connecticut's failure to repay a two-year loan to the federal government by Jan. 31 resulted in all employers' assuming the state's obligations.

In assuming the obligation, the employers will pay an additional Thursday unemployment tax of three-tenths of one per cent, Reed said.

The "penalty" rate will continue until the state repays the loan, and employers will receive no credit for the advance payments when calculating their regular unemployment rate, he said.

Connecticut's unemployment fund, one of five such state funds, was bankrupt and borrowed $115 million from the federal government, the most of any state, Reed said.

Blizzard Hits Wide Area

A Good Friday blizzard — one of the worst snowstorms in more than two decades — pummeled a 1,000-mile swath of the North today, piling up 10-foot snowdrifts, stranding or delaying thousands of motorists and isolating entire communities.

At least two deaths were blamed on the blizzard, which began its assault Thursday and became the third major snowstorm this week in the upper Midwest.

"It's one hell of a mess," a police dispatcher at snowweight Gering, Neb., said. "Nobody's going anywhere."

National Guardsmen and rescue crews took to snowmobiles and four-wheel-drive vehicles in efforts to rescue hundreds of persons stranded in their cars in Nebraska's western panhandle.

One man died of a heart attack while two snowplows which were leading a rescue team to his snowbound farm home near Baynard, Neb., got stuck in the snow. A truck driver was killed in a two-truck collision on a snow-streaked highway near Baldwin, Wis.

Other states which have been snowed out and all business closed. Agriculture officials in Nebraska and Wyoming feared heavy livestock losses.

Nebraska Gov. J.J. Egan issued a disaster declaration as a foot of snow and 60-mile-an-hour winds buried portions of his state under 10-foot snowdrifts.

Policeman's Memory Results In Capture of Susan Saxe

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Susan Edith Saxe is a one-time college honors student who was on the FBI's "10 Most Wanted" list for a record five years. Her days as a fugitive ended because of policeman Joseph Reid's memory for faces.

Miss Saxe dropped out of sight after she, Katherine Power and three men allegedly held up a Boston bank and shot a policeman to death in 1970. Thursday night, Reid saw her walking along a city street and recognized her from a new FBI photograph and description in Farmington has lain idle since the project was cut back, but the new proposal would make use of the complicated four-level "stack."

No Bids Received For Globe Stand

Manchester purchasing agent Maurice Pass expressed surprise Thursday because nobody submitted a bid for operating the Globe Hollow concession stand next summer.

Because of the complexity of the town's needs, the bids will be analyzed before contracts are let.

A contract has been awarded the New England Sweeping & Catch Basin Service of Manchester for sweeping Manchester's streets.

The town has rejected bids received for initial and monthly sweeping of parking lots and may advertise for new bids.

Gandolfo Sweeper Co. of East Canaan had submitted the low bid for the parking lot work.

However, it wasn't low for the street sweeping. Because it didn't get that contract, it withdrew its parking lot bid, explaining it wouldn't be profitable to travel from East Canaan only for that job.

Mayor John Thompson said the participants will then continue on their route toward Main St. in Glastonbury, then to Hebron Ave. and on to Griswold St. From there they will go east to Prospect and continue on Forbes St. until they reach Silver Lane and then east to Hartford Rd., where Mayor Thompson will join them and walk north on Main St. back to the Municipal Building.

Earning Another Star If the Manchester public works department has any say in the matter, this is the "City of Village Charm" and it's going to be kept that way.

Walkathon Set by OTH Members Mayor John Thompson of Manchester will launch a "Walkathon" for the Organization of the Handicapped on Saturday, April 12 at 8 a.m.

It will begin in front of the Manchester Municipal Building, proceed on Center St. to Barnside Ave. and then left on Main St. in East Hartford, where the group will stop at "Dunkin' Donuts" for a break.

South Windsor To Decide Library Options

Judy Kuehnel
Correspondent
644-1364

South Windsor residents Monday night will be asked to determine whether to build a new library building or to renovate the existing building at 770 Sullivan Ave.

One of the options to the public is to lease, or buy the old Armata's Market, at 770 Sullivan Ave.

The Town Council will present the public with various options at 7:30 p.m. Monday night in a public hearing on library facility needs.

Among the most recent options is one provided by the Armata's firm, which recently moved to the former Poplar Market building in the Sullivan Avenue Shopping Plaza.

The firm has offered the town the purchase of the store for $300,000. Or, if the town wishes, it can lease the 10,200-square-foot building for 30 years at a cost of $3.25 per square foot per year - equating $34,170 a year and $683,400 at the end of the lease.

Also available is the leasing of Armata's for 10 years at a cost of $3.45 per square foot per year and $31,900 at the end of the leasing term.

Other options available to the town is a proposal by the Tri-Vest Associates, which is willing to erect a new 12,000-square-foot building adjacent to the Society for Savings at the corner of Buckland and Ellington Rds.

Under this proposal the town would be able to lease the building for between $84,000-

$98,000 a year, with an option to purchase. The purchase price has not yet been announced, but it is believed to total about $1 million.

Also being considered is construction of a modular building, which would cost about $480,000. A modular building is a steel structure. This one would measure 12,000 square feet and cost about $7 per square foot to construct.

However, the cost jumps to about $40 per square foot when the furnishings, interior floors and site work is included, making the building worth about $480,000, officials said.

The final option confronting the Town Council is to do nothing and leave the rented store-front operation now used by the library status quo.

This option is the one the Library Board of Directors would like to avoid. The officials have been trying for more adequate facility for years to avoid.

Last year the town turned down a referendum calling for a $800,000 library as part of the Plum Gulley Park proposal.

Two years earlier voters rejected a $1.2 million library. In both cases the buildings would have been bigger than the present facility, which is rated considerably inadequate in terms of space by state library standards.

However, South Windsor's library is an extremely popular facility with increasing enrollment and usage each year. Last year over 100,000 books were loaned out to residents.

Fund Drive For Cancer To Begin

SOUTH WINDSOR
Judy Kuehnel
Correspondent
644-1364

The South Windsor townwide effort to raise funds to fight cancer will begin April 1 in the "South Windsor Unites Against Cancer" program.

The annual door-to-door canvass will be conducted during April and coin cans and "backboards" will be on display in most area stores.

All residents are being asked to support the series of fund-raising events sponsored by various local organizations coming up now through mid-May.

These events have been selected to appeal to a variety of age groups.

The latest tally of funds received in South Windsor's Cancer Fund stands at $1,864 towards the $5,000 goal.

Volunteers are still needed for the street canvass and for several of the events. Clubs are being urged to sponsor an event as their contribution to the drive.

Co-chairmen Marilyn Pugliese, 644-8884 and Nancy Brandenberger, 644-2885 are in charge of information and arrangements.

Registration forms for South Windsor's 1975-76 kindergarten classes will be available at all elementary schools now through April 14.

Parents may obtain the forms at the school that their child will be attending. Children who will be five years old on or before Jan. 1, 1976, are eligible.

An orientation meeting for parents will take place April 30 at 7:30 p.m. in the cafeteria of South Windsor High School. The kindergarten profiling procedures will be discussed. A question and answer period will follow.

Parents who have recently moved to town and have children of kindergarten age are asked to call Mrs. Fortin at 644-2410, so that profiling appointments can be made.

Manchester Evening Herald OPINION

No Time For Pessimism

What the full ramifications of the death of King Faisal at the hands of a demented assassin will be remains to be seen.

Already there is much speculation as to its impact on Mideast peace, the oil cartel, United States influence in the Mideast, and relations among the Arab nations.

The common thread seems to be that King Faisal, an absolute monarch, and Saudi Arabia, as the world's largest single oil producer, make this death more significant than that of Egypt's Nasser a few years ago.

Yet, we recall the same prognostications of Middle East wars and unrest were made after Nasser died and for the most part these did not come about immediately.

With the exception of continued Arab terrorist activities and the brief but costly, Yom Kippur War, the cause of a potential Arab-Israeli agreement has advanced substantially since Sadat succeeded Nasser.

We would hope that Saudi Arabia will continue its moderate stance and perhaps when the immediate emotional impact of the assassination of King Faisal has subsided, there can be an advance at Geneva toward a peace accord. If not, we would hope there will not be any step backward or any major outbreak of hostilities.

Perhaps the major change since the death of Nasser is the rise to pre-eminence of the Arabian nations' wealth. This may enable them to wage war it is true, but it also means they stand to lose much more should their military ventures not succeed.

It may be that in many respects Arab, American, Jew, and all men of all nations are basically the same in that each of us tends to become more conservative as we acquire more wealth and power.

The late King Faisal's policies seem to have been formulated in this light. While there was no question he was anti-Israeli, there can be no question he was not about to jeopardize his nation's strong ties with pro-Israeli United States because the partnership of American technology and Saudi Arabian oil resources were just as fundamental.

The Mideast situation will move to the larger, but more troublesome, arena of Geneva.

Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's step-by-step diplomacy has had its first rebuff. We do not think it has been completely abandoned and fully expect it to be re-activated whenever any deadlock or stalemate at Geneva might require it.

We are neither optimistic nor pessimistic about the immediate prospects for peace in the Middle East.

We only have confidence from history, as was proven in the aftermath of Nasser's death, that the worst does not always happen and that in time reason prevails. If this were not true, civilization would have perished long ago.

Take Issue With Statements

Dear sir: In response to Mr. Peter Henry's letter printed March 25, 1975, we must take issue with the statements regarding the Personnel Committee of which we were former members.

Mr. Henry, as president of the Municipal Employes Group, was apparently not aware of the sequence of events which led to state mediation. In talking recently with Atty. Joel Janenda, who represents this group, he also was under the same misapprehension.

Ms. Bauer did so inform the employes and stated that they must go to mediation. The Personnel Committee was never consulted. When we were informed, we took great issue with this decision and stated to Charles McCarthy, assistant general manager, that this was an indication of the lack of experience on the part of the personnel supervisor which was of great concern to us.

The Personnel Committee requested that any classifications which would be presented in the yearly budget be given to the Board of Directors in a separate list prior to the setting of that budget. This type of reclassification falls into the upgrading of personnel for quality work. Any other reclassifications during the periods between budget settings should have been brought forward for special consideration.

We have, in a separate letter, requested Mr. Henry to bring this information forward to his union. Phyllis Jackson, former chairman, Vivian Ferguson, former member, Personnel Committee and members of Board of Directors, Town of Manchester

ANDREW TULLY

Cunning Devils

WASHINGTON - Cunning devils, those Supreme Court justices. Like lawyers trying a complicated lawsuit, they will avoid any issue that is avoidable.

The highest bench did it again the other day when its majority refused to decide whether the controversial rock musical "Hair," was obscene, or even whether a Chattanooga municipal theater board and a lower court applied correct standards in concluding that it was.

Instead, by a five to four vote, the justices merely ruled that the city's refusal to rent the theater to the "Hair" company was guilty of prior restraint. Prior restraint refers to censorship imposed before a newspaper has been published, a speech made or a play presented before an audience. The rule of thumb has been that penalties may be sought only after forms of expression have been exposed to the public view or ear.

The Court did not guarantee that "Hair" would not be held obscene in a criminal prosecution of its producers and actors. It simply held that the musical was entitled to safeguards "deeply etched in our law. But the justices did identify those safeguards or procedures, to wit: Officials seeking to censor a stage play must seek a court hearing at which they must prove the play is obscene. If the court issues a ban on performances while the play's obscenity is being reviewed, the ban must be only for a brief period. And the court must issue its final ruling "promptly." In short, a show must not be banned sight unseen. That's fair enough, as far as it goes. It is hard to argue with the majority opinion presented by Justice Harry A. Blackman that "A free society prefers to punish the few who abuse rights of speech after they break the law than to throttle them and all others beforehand." As a citizen who occasionally inflicts a speech on a captive audience, I do not wish my utterances to be banned before they are uttered - even if such action would be a favor to the audience.

So, on narrow grounds, the Court's ruling was the right one. The issue was not whether "Hair" was obscene but whether Chattanooga authorities denied the show due process by imposing prior restraint.

Moreover, although the majority dodged the obscenity question - as decided by the contemporary community standards of the city of Chattanooga - it was not as delicate as charged by Chief Justice Warren Burger and Associate Justice Byron White. In their dissent, Burger and White said the ruling seemed to compel the city to let the show go on, with all its nudity and simulated, assorted acts of sexual intercourse.

Not so, Blackman specifically rejected any idea of ordering any city to let the show be staged regardless of content. The majority had decided, he said, that "the presumption against prior restraints is heavier, that against limits on expression imposed by criminal penalties." Yet one would wish for a final ruling, some rainy day, that would offer those communities not named New York or Gomorrah a means of deciding that certain stage shows and movies are too raw for the tastes, moral and ethical, of their citizens. I've seen "Hair," and it's a dirty show, especially in its homosexual "lovingmaking" scenes. It's understandable that some cities and towns might not want such a show in their midst, for perfectly good - even if unshareable - reasons. Call it home rule, or anything you like, but I see no reason why a community should be forced to put out the welcome mat for dirty shows simply because they have been accepted in bigger, more broad-minded cities. Due process, yes, but it is undemocratic and maybe even unwise constitutional to impose New York's moral standards on Chattanooga.

In his predictable dissent, Justice William White, in their dissent, Burger and White said the ruling seemed to compel the city to let the show go on, with all its nudity and simulated, assorted acts of sexual intercourse.

Not so, Blackman specifically rejected any idea of ordering any city to let the show be staged regardless of content. The

MAX LERNER

Takeover In Portugal

NEW YORK CITY - A group of radical officers in Portugal have carried through an anticommunist power coup with great subtlety and political finesse. The historians will someday marvel at it as a classic case history of a power takeover by the military left. But there has been curiously little discussion of its larger meaning by American observers.

One can't help asking why. Is it a case of a single-minded, single-visioned obsession, by Congress and the press, with our own sins and the follies of our allies, which keeps us from asking what light the events in Portugal shed on Communist expansion and tactics?

When the first coup took place in Portugal on April 25, 1974, it was in the midst of America's agony over the Nixon tapes. I took time out to note in a column that the "principle of excess" operated not only in Watergate but in every military coup.

When the military overthrows a left-wing authoritarian regime, as in Brazil and especially Chile, the nation moves to the right. When it overthrows a right-wing authoritarian regime, as in Portugal, it moves to the left.

The reason is clear. When the lid has been held tight for some time and then gets lifted, the repressed angers and hatreds take over. That is the price which every repressive regime has to pay, in time, although the Communists in Russia and China and Cuba have made an art of delaying the payment. The established classes in Portugal, who failed to oppose the years of Salazar rule, are now having to pay the price of arrested and expropriations by another repressive regime which they hoped would be tolerant.

My own forecast of the course of the revolution, made early last May, was in part right, in part wrong. I saw the swift movement to the left, mostly because the Communist Party alone had maintained its disciplined cadres under Salazar, and because of the long vacuum of democratic elections.

What this will mean for NATO is not yet clear, but none of it is good. What it means for the revolutionary theory and practice is much clearer. The Communists used to think of the working class as the engine of revolution, then they shifted the peasants, then to the students and intellectuals. The focus is now on young military officers. The model is no longer Castro's Cuba or Allende's Chile. It is Peru, Algeria, Libya, with a high military revolutionary council in charge of transforming the initial revolution into the final one.

Appreciation

To the editor: We appreciated Mrs. Roberta Walnum's splendid work with us planning our Career Day and would like to share our appreciation with the general public. Mrs. Walnum is the career specialist in the Manchester school system.

Vincent Ramizi, principal of Buckley School

Dear Mrs. Walnum: We would like to thank you for helping us with Career Day. We know you had to take a lot of time off to be with us and plan, write letters, and organize booths. We all learned a lot and had fun doing it. We had a good response from parents, students, and teachers. It helped us become more aware of the many jobs there are. As a result of Career Day some teachers would like you to come to their classes and talk to them. Thanks again.

Rules Listed For Cruiser

ANDOVER
Donna Holland
Correspondent
646-0375

The following rules for the new town cruiser were compiled by Gary Kelly and approved by the active constables.

The use of the cruiser is restricted to active uniformed constables.

The cruiser is to be used only for patrolling, for transportation of persons allegedly involved in a crime or crimes, for cases of emergency such as accidents, fires, fires or incidents requiring its use.

Before operating the cruiser for routine patrol, an outlined safety check must be followed. The check includes checking the water level, oil level, tire inflation and wear, exterior for damaged equipment, recording mileage, and starting the engine making note of any unusual conditions or noises.

After patrol, all information relating to the cruiser must be entered on a work sheet, ending mileage must be entered and materials used must be replenished.

The constable's report for 1974 shows they made 8 arrests, issued 56 written warnings, 30 verbal warnings, recovered one stolen vehicle, made 27 house checks and responded to 54 complaints.

The constables presently patrol two nights a week for four hours each night as allowed in their budget.

COURT CASES

COMMON PLEAS COURT

Geographical Area 19
Cases disposed of in Common Pleas Court 19, Rockville, Tuesday, included:

Donald Burke, 17, 53 Oakmoor Dr., Vernon, obstructed windshield, fined $30; Louis Malton, 20, 2 Chestnut Hill, Stafford Springs; Steven Phillips, Somers; Maryalis Stevenson, Apple Dr., Tolland; Valerie Kleczkowski, Legion Dr., Vernon.

Discharged Thursday: Empson Aborn, Maple St., Ellington; Linda Boyd, Village St., Rockville; Frances Bridges, Kelly Rd., Vernon; Frederick Champion, Mt. Vernon Apts., Rockville; Dolores Chesney, N. View Dr., South Windsor; Anna Clarke, Bread & Milk St., Coventry; Nancy Johnson, Broad Brook; Mrs. Barbara Kula and daughter, Enfield; Jason Ladd, Muddy Brook Rd., Ellington; Arlene Lacia, Enfield; Marianne Martin, Benedict Dr., South Windsor; Flossie McCann, Lawrence St., Rockville; Matilda Mitchell, Partridge Lane, Tolland; Laura Pigeon, East Hartford; Emma Porter, W. Main St., Ellington; branch of peace, intoxication, disorderly conduct, nolle.

Crucial Period
During the 10 days that follow, the House and Senate would act to reconcile the levels with the amounts they adopted during the summer.

But if the amounts that have been adopted are too wide of the targets set in the spring, the budget committees may recommend skipping the exercise.

Ever since 1921 Congress has relied on the President to recommend overall economic policy and spending priorities through his annual budget.

Congress each year has acted on the President's recommendations on a piecemeal basis, through more than a dozen committees. It lacked a mechanism for viewing all the separate parts of the budget as a whole, and for making clear-cut choices between programs. The question whether to reduce defense spending in order to provide more funds for housing, for example, never really was considered.

The new law provides Congress with that mechanism. It will force members to adhere to self-imposed spending ceilings, and to make choices between priorities.

Pitfalls
Budget experts view the new process as difficult and complicated. It requires speedy action to meet a set of deadlines scattered throughout the legislative year, and speed is not something Congress is famous for.

Also, the budget committees are taking a calculated risk by injecting themselves into the budget-making process this year. If they move too boldly, they may run up against some of the most powerful committees in Congress - Senate Finance, Ways and Means and the appropriations panels in both chambers.

These are the committees that traditionally recommend voting the President's programs up or down. Their members over the years have accumulated vast stores of expertise within their areas, and they do not take kindly to encroachments on their prerogatives.

Trial Run
Originally, 1975 was to be only a trial run of the new procedures.

"If this had been a more normal year, without the economic difficulties we face, I think our efforts should have been very modest," Muskie said. But in light of the recession, "we felt the country and the Congress would expect us to do as much as we can to make an input in congressional policy-making this year. That's why we're trying."

Under the schedule Congress has agreed to, the House and the Senate will decide tentatively by May 15 just how much they want the government to take in and spend this fiscal year.

Road Projects Are Approved

Federal approval has been received for plans to reconstruct sections of W. Middle Tpk. and Adams St., State Sens. David M. Barry, D-Fourth District, and George W. Hanson, D-Third District, announced Thursday.

Construction of the two projects, estimated to cost $1,520,000, is expected to begin in the fall. The plans already had been approved by the Connecticut Department of Transportation from the Federal Highway Administration.

The projects are under the Federal Urban Systems Program, with the federal government funding 70 per cent of the cost and the state and town the other 30 per cent. Manchester's cost share has been estimated at $29,000. To be reconstructed is about 5,100 feet of W. Middle Tpk., from New State Rd. easterly to Bigelow Brook, and about 5,300 feet of Adams St., from Center

St. northerly to the Hocknum River. The town's cost share of the project is part of an appropriation for roads and sidewalks approved in a November 1972 townwide referendum.

Improvements along W. Middle Tpk. will include widening the roadway to 46 feet, curbs, a snow shelf, and sidewalks on both sides. The 42-inch Bigelow Brook culverts under W. Middle Tpk., near the Parkade, will be replaced.

Adams St. will be widened to 30 feet, curbs will be installed on both sides and sidewalks will be constructed on the east side. The Bigelow Brook culvert under Adams St. will be replaced.

The two projects include improvements to the storm drainage systems on both roads.

MHSers Swap With Bolton

Last Thursday, ten Bolton High School students got a look at anything you want and not get caught — the office can't keep track of all those people. She said Bolton was too small. Even though there are so many people, there is a bigger crowd at MHS and, of course, the open campus.

I suppose I should make a mention on the much-overdone subject of vandalism. There is virtually no vandalism problem at MHS.

I think that the part I enjoyed most about the whole day was everyone's friendliness. People at Bolton are very easy to get along with, and everyone went out of his way to make a day a pleasant one for us. An advantage (or disadvantage) at MHS is that Mr. Fleming, the principal, knows everyone by name. He is a really warm, sincere person, very easy to get along with. At Bolton there are no levels of Honors, 1, 2, etc. and Juniors and Seniors usually have combined classes.

Bolton High has one floor, and no cafeteria to speak of. There is no set lunch program; most kids bring their lunches and eat at different tables and clubs each day. There are three lunch waves, each 20 minutes long. After each wave there was no garbage left anywhere, a definite difference between our two schools.

Last Friday, I was one of 12 MHS students to visit Bolton High School for a day. While some of the Bolton High kids call MHS "the zoo", we thought of Bolton High as a "hick school" in a town of farmers. Bolton High reminded me of my old elementary school, but Burkley is staying.

I found the Consumer Ed. class really interesting. The teacher asked Linda what she thought of MHS and then gave Kerry Collins and John Koppell, two other MHS students and me a chance to give our views on their school. I said I found it small, which I liked, and he said that their size was their biggest advantage and disadvantage. It is a close-knit group of people, where everyone knows everyone else.

"Skipping classes is not a very big problem at Bolton," saying that there's no place to go," as one student put it. I was talking to a girl in Linda's art class,

Chessmen Treated Like Pawns

East Hartford handed the Manchester High Chess Team a loss March 19 at East Hartford. MHS' only winner was fourth ranked junior Wayne Kasbi. Losing games were: First ranked sophomore Tim Egan, second ranked junior Doug Baker, third ranked senior Dan White and fifth ranked junior Chuck Boleman.

'Aridian' Due To Be 'Best Ever'

MHS' cultural arts magazine, "Aridian," is being prepared for publication. The editors, assistant editors, and staff members have been hard at work to insure that this year's magazine will be one of the best ever.

Under the counsel of Miss Pamela Lacker, faculty advisor, the "Aridian" staff has done quite a lot of fund raising to help benefit the magazine.

Two such endeavors were the candy sales in early autumn, and the student-directed play, "A Woman of Character," in December. Both were quite successful; the combined profits of the two secured approximately $400 in funds for "Aridian." In selecting materials for this year's "Aridian," an effort has been made to engage a wide variety of topics effectively expressed in a creative art form. The topics range from women's liberation to Hawaiian Punch.

The art forms include poetry and short-story writing, photography, sketching, block printing, and painting. All work selected reflects the admirable talents of numerous MHS students.

There's something for practically everyone in this year's "Aridian." Be watching for it next month. — Barbara Senna

Rock Review

"Hair" — Lyrics — James Rado
Music — Galt MacDermot

No doubt all of you have heard of "Hair," if for no other reason than because the newswires made a trawling single from the title cut a few years back. Well, the album I'm reviewing is the soundtrack to "Hair." A quick listen will tell you that several cuts have been stolen and recorded by other artists since the album was out. Some of these cuts are "Hair," "Aquarius," "Easy to Be Hard," "Good Morning Starshine," and "Where Do I Go." In all of these cases the original, are better than their recent versions.

The main complaint about the album is that you can't figure out the plot of the opera from it. Regarding this, the music is all good. It is done in a wide variety of styles; rock, blues, Liverpool, and others.

The entire album is full of surprises and the humor of

Profile Policy Explained

The High School World would like to clarify its position on the "profiles," particularly in light of the controversy which arose from a profile which appeared in two weeks ago. Profiles are not, and never have been, meant to single out those students who have achieved the highest degree of success at MHS. Neither are the students featured in HSW profiles meant to be considered as models for others to follow, or paragons of academic virtue.

In publishing profiles, we seek to expose our readers to the thought and actions of a variety of individual seniors. What we ultimately hope for is a cross-section of seniors at MHS. We do profiles strictly on seniors for a number of reasons, including that they have more developed personalities, and simply that we have our hands full picking perhaps 25 interesting seniors out of a potential 700.

This is difficult to achieve, because HSW staffers tend to move in similar social circles, and the tendency is for us to do people we are familiar with in one way or another. However, the HSW staff is open, and we always welcome new writers with new ideas. We have no wish to limit ourselves, but we recognize our present limits.

We realize that there is a tremendous variety of individuals at MHS, and while we can't cover them all, we hope to give a fair sampling. Profiles are intended to give brief pictures of interesting individuals. Because all kinds of students can be found at the high school, and we are a newspaper for the entire school, we feel that it would be wrong to intentionally limit ourselves to a certain segment of the school.

In the course of a school year (roughly 30 MHS issues), we can give a more or less rounded

Thespians Capture Sugar & Snacking

Several afternoons last week, you may have run into a peculiar group dressed in childish clothes and armed with a bucket and toothbrushes. They may have been singing, laughing, and acting rather insane.

This motley crew was none other than members of the Thespian Society returning from two of ten elementary schools which they visited last week. They were presenting "Good Guys are Winners," a short, children's comedy about those villainous cavity-makers Sugar and Snacking, and four heroes, Betsy, Tommy, Judy and Mary, who capture and clean them.

Paul Palmer, Debby Duchesneau, Mike Seader, Kent Danley, Sue Marteney, Stuart Flavell, Wendy Horwitz, Mary Putra, Gerry Jones, Barb Sena, Tina Brissett, and Sharon Gery made up the double cast. The stage managers were Gerry Perrett, Sandy Goodwin and Joe Simmon. Cindy White acted as the emcee. Our lively audience which ranged from a short dress and neck socks to baggy pants, scarf, sweatshirt, and a hat.

Many of us had never faced an audience of children so we were a little nervous as we entered the first school. Having been told to report to the office before each presentation, we asked a boy in the hall if he knew where it was.

"Sure do," he said proudly. "I've been here a long time, two and a half years!"

Our guide showed us to the girls who desire to take Automotives I.

It was brought to the attention of the Student Assembly that females in our school are unable to elect Automotives I without having first taken Powder Puff Mechanics. Members of the Student Assembly agreed that the newly passed Equal Rights Amendment, a change was in order.

As it stands now, any person can, if he or she desires, elect Powder Puff Mechanics or Automotives I. It may not seem like a major change, but the principle is quite important.

Profile: Lucy Handley

Lucy Handley was born in Manchester and lived here most of her life. She has lived all the time when I was young, and I love her.

"I can't imagine going anywhere else but MHS," Lucy said. "It's my home, and the better could be made." With so many people, it tends to become impersonal.

"Lucy's courses this semester include Honors English, Western Civilization, Jewelry Lapidary, and French IV. Her reason for taking French is: "I really love the sound of the language and I love to read something. Besides, I think the knowledge of a second language can come in handy."

Lucy recently won third place in a "Hire the Handicapped Essay Contest." "I don't put much by awards, but they are nice."

One of the best things at MHS is the art department; you can really get into anything you want! Lucy's future plans will be studying fine art and design at one of two colleges. "It's such a hard choice to make with my job ahead of me, and I have a lot of time to learn. I want to just keep learning."

In school, Lucy belongs to Aridian. She and Robin Wagner

Music Department Busy

The Manchester High School Music Department has been buzzing like a beehive lately. Whirling with activity, the members of the Round Table Singers, led by Miss Martha White, have been working hard with their myriad fund-raising activities, while the music department, as a whole, has been dancing and singing up a storm for their upcoming musical, "My Fair Lady," which will be performed April 4, 5 and 6.

The Nifty Fifties Dance for Round Table's benefit, which took place last Friday night, was one of the most successful dances in MHS history. Over 1,000 people attended and the amount of dancing and rowdy

GARDENING

By FRANK ATWOOD

One of the early columns in this space for gardeners showed a picture of beautiful white orchid blooms grown by Mrs. Rachel Helfrick, three years ago. We stopped by recently to see how the orchids are doing now.

A table on the sun porch at the Helfrick home was covered with orchid plants in bloom. Others that had passed their blooming period had been moved to the lean-to greenhouse which is actually an addition to the sun porch, and in full view from inside the porch through a wide window and an open door.

There are more orchids than we found three years ago, and this apparently is what happens when a gardener starts raising these beautiful flowers. Mrs. Helfrick has divided some of her older orchids and she has acquired some new ones. She was given two large plants on her 90th birthday last October, an occasion marked by a birthday party for her in the garden behind the house.

The birthday was also noted by the Presbyterian Church, where for years she has had responsibility for providing flowers for Sunday services. The church people planted a pink dogwood in Mrs. Helfrick's honor.

"Green Thumb" has often seemed to me that the true definition of "green thumb" gardener is one who takes the time and trouble to at least look after every one of his plants every day. This is Mrs. Helfrick's routine. She will notice at once if a plant needs water, or is getting too much or too little sun.

Once a week she takes each of the orchids to a sink in the greenhouse and lets water run through the pot for several minutes to wash out the chemical salts that accumulate from fertilizer. Then she fertilizes the plants again.

The last thing in the evening, Mrs. Helfrick makes another room full to see that everything is in order. She knows that her son, Dr. Francis W. Helfrick, will also check the temperature of the porch and the greenhouse before he retires.

On shelves in the greenhouse are potted geraniums, grown from cuttings, which will be set later in window boxes at the front of the house. There are seedlings of petunia, peppers, asters and cabbage that will go in the garden. A fat of parsley, grown from seed, has furnished garnishing greens for the table for many weeks.

When warm summer weather comes the orchids, in their pots, will be set on a bench in partial shade at the back of the lot, but they will not be neglected. They will be fed from time to time, watered if it doesn't rain, and brought back under shelter if it rains too much.

Ants in the House

There have been reports of ants appearing in the house and questions about how to get rid of them.

Fred Nelson of the Hartford County Extension Service says, at this season, the ants are probably not coming from outdoors. They have been somewhere in the house all winter and are stirring around because we've had a little spring weather.

Look carefully at the labels on pesticides displayed for sale and find one that is recommended for ant control, he says. There are not as many of these as there used to be. Use

EGGY GIFTS

TREASON, N.J. (UPI) — As early as 772 B.C., a Chinese chieftain is said to have given colored eggs as gifts to friends and acquaintances at the great spring festival.

A similar custom supposedly took place in Persia, at the beginning of the religious year each spring. Travelers gave dyed and dyed eggs to friends and strangers alike, says the New Jersey Department of Agriculture.

W. Giampoli, co-chairman of the General Assembly's Committee on Agriculture, said the committee also voted to request $200 as an operating 1975-76 budget, the same amount budgeted in 1974-75.

It was also voted to ask that $3,000 be set aside in reserve funds for further land acquisition.

The endorsement encompasses the principle of preserving 25,000 acres of Class 1, 2, and 3 lands to enable the state and 3 lands to enable the state to produce one-third of its food supply.

It also backs the establishment of agriculture districts with recommendations from agriculture consultants, and a one percent conveyance tax on real estate transfers to finance the plan.

Mrs. Joan Bowers, commission secretary, will convey the endorsement to Sen. Harold Hansen and State Rep. Francis

Hopes Are High For Shoplifter

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1975 Chicago Tribune. N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: A little of the light has gone out of my life. My heart is heavy and I can't seem to turn my thoughts to anything else for very long. I've just discovered that my lovely, 14-year-old daughter is a shoplifter, and has been for some time. Abby, it's as though I have two daughters. One I know, and the other is a stranger to me.

DESPAIRING MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Don't despair. Your daughter won't talk to you about it because she is too ashamed. She knows how deeply she has disappointed you. Young shoplifters do not necessarily have "criminal tendencies." They sometimes steal for the "thrill" of getting away with something or to impress their peers with their "courage."

DEAR ABBY: My grandson had to marry his high school sweetheart. They had a beautiful, happy church wedding. We gave them a $25 check for a wedding present.

DEAR ABBY: Eight years ago, I fell in love with a married man. We worked for the same company. I was single at the time, but I didn't believe in wrecking marriages (especially where children were involved), so I didn't let the affair get out of hand.

DEAR ABBY: I married a wonderful man. I'll admit, I married him for security, but I soon learned to love him in my fashion. I was a faithful wife for six years. After our second child was born, I went back to my old job.

DEAR ABBY: I have never been happier. He feels the same way. The strange part of it is that I really love my husband, and he loves his wife, but we still love each other.

DEAR ABBY: I'm possible to be in love with two people at the same time?

DEAR ABBY: No. However, it's possible to "love" more than one person, but the state of being "in love" as most people know it, is strictly a one-to-one relationship.

DEAR ABBY: Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box No. 9700, L.A., Cal. 90009. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

TURN UP GREENS

Here's an early spring planting tip for an almost instant harvest of the finest variety of green lettuce.

First lay the groundwork by culling through the articles taking up storage space around the house or garage. Weed out those things which can be of good service to someone but which you no longer need. These could be such items as household goods, appliances, good old bikes, musical instruments, toys, or perhaps a sewing machine or typewriter.

Plant a few well-chosen words in the Classified Section. There are any number of people who dig a good bargain. They'll pay you in top-quality government-green lettuce.

Amtrak Sets Special Spring Travel Fares

Amtrak has announced a special spring season round-trip coach excursion fare of $99 from New York or Chicago to or from all Florida Amtrak cities.

The discount excursion will be good for travel on any train or any day of the week between April 7 and June 30, 1975. Additionally, a $70-a-week auto rental package will be available in major Florida cities as an option.

The Florida excursion is the latest in a series of experimental fare changes designed to stimulate off-peak travel. Earlier, Amtrak announced excursion fares between major west coast cities. Lower qualifying minimums nationwide for its family travel plan and reduced fares in the Milwaukee-Chicago corridor.

While reservations can be made immediately for the Florida excursion, tickets will not be sold until April 1, Amtrak said.

Since the spring excursion fare is fixed at $99, the greatest savings occur when travel is between Chicago or New York or the southernmost Florida end points Miami and St. Petersburg. The $99 round-trip fare represents a $49 saving for travel between Chicago and Miami and a $45 saving between New York and Miami. The same savings are available northbound.

However, the full saving is available to travelers making a longer journey via New York or Chicago. Passengers from Boston, for example, would pay the regular fare to New York and then be eligible for the $99 excursion fare for the rest of their journey. No stopovers are permitted on the spring excursion fare and a children's half-fare of $49.50 is the only discount allowed.

Amtrak officials suggested that families traveling to Florida complete the excursion savings with those available on Amtrak's family plan. Depending on family size and the cities involved, the family plan could result in greater savings, they said. The excursion fare may not be used for Amtrak's "Week of Wheels" program.

Natchitoches, La., founded in 1714 as Ft. St. Jean Baptiste, later became a major departure point for settlers traveling west. According to the Louisiana Tourist Commission, it was situated near the end of the Natchez Trace and served as the starting point of historic El Camino Real.

Solemn Rites
Pope Paul VI led the world's 600 million Roman Catholics into solemn Good Friday observances marking Christ's crucifixion. In Jerusalem, holy city of the world's three major faiths, two bombs apparently set by Arab guerrillas exploded, injuring 11 persons.

Police and hospital officials in Jerusalem, sacred to Christians, Jews and Moslems said all the injured were aboard a bus on which a bomb exploded. Three were hospitalized, the others were released after treatment for minor injuries.

The second bomb caused no injuries, police said. The explosions occurred at the start of processions by thousands of Christian pilgrims from many denominations who crowded the narrow, cobble-stoned streets of the walled city for the walk along the Via Dolorosa—a traditional path of Christ's march to his crucifixion.

The 77-year-old pontiff was scheduled to attend an evening liturgical service in St. Peter's Basilica and then carry a tall cross in a procession around Rome's Colosseum to re-enact the stages of Jesus' Crucifixion.

Ship Prototype
Perhaps the first vessel powered by twin-screw propellers similar to those that drive modern ships was the "Little Juliana," a steamboat invented by Col. John Stevens that chugged from New York to Hoboken in May, 1804.

"Come Christians join to sing... Alleluia, Amen!"

Lease Charges Bring Quick Denials
HARTFORD (UPI) — A Republican lawmaker's allegations of conflict of interest among state leasing probers has brought quick denials from members of the legislative investigative committee.

Sen. Stanley H. Page, R-Guilford, walked into a reform commission Thursday after making the allegations about two legislators, a lawyer and an appraiser who investigated Connecticut's property leasing scandal.

Page, who is regarded as a close adviser to Gov. Thomas A. Meskill, issued a press statement alleging several "conflicts of interests" among leasing subcommittee members. He was immediately refuted on two points.

"Obviously, Sen. Page has been led astray and by someone out to get the leasing subcommittee because they're getting hurt by the disclosures," said leasing subcommittee chairman Richard A. Dice, R-Cheshire.

Page, without naming Dice in his news release, said one member of the leasing subcommittee "has been and still is involved in a lawsuit charging him with fraud and using the state of Vermont."

Dice, when asked who the legislator might be, said it was he, but the lawsuit was thrown out of court last December with the plaintiff issuing a public apology. The suit was over some land Dice had bought, he said.

"Years ago I may have sent a letter out for him but he never represented him," Shure said.

Page's printed remarks were distributed by a GOP staff worker but he was unavailable when reporters sought details. Reached at his home later, Page said he had not meant to unjustly accuse anyone and was being misunderstood.

Another "conflict of interest" cited by Page — and refuted — involved the leasing subcommittee's former chief counsel, New Haven lawyer H. William Shure. Page said Shure's law firm represented Hamden real estate appraiser Norman Benedict, who had been a subcommittee consultant.

Shure, reached at his office, denied the charge and said Benedict is represented by Richard H. Burt, a lawyer with another firm.

Drawing the Line
The Mason-Dixon Line traditionally dividing the North from the South was in no way connected with the Civil War. The line was drawn much earlier to tend a colonial land dispute between the Calvert's of Maryland and the Penn's of Pennsylvania, says a book by Leonard D. White, Jr., published by the University of California Press.

Lance Cpl. Loris (Buddy) E. Durand Jr. was recently promoted to his present rank. He has been chosen as Company Honor Man of Company "B," Infantry Training School, Marine Corps Base, Camp Pendleton, Calif., where he is stationed.

VERNON
The Sewer Study Committee of the Vernon Town Council will meet Monday at 7:30 in the Administration Building. One of the matters to be discussed will be the sewer assessment formula objected to at a public hearing last Monday.

The matter of concern was the assessments proposed for the Rt. 30 area sewer installations, and specific comment was made about the manner of assessing those who own corner lots.

Spindle Side
Females in Anglo-Saxon times were called the "spindle side" of the family as they did all the spinning of flax into cloth. Women were not fit to marry until they had spun their dowry of linen. In 1665, the colony of Massachusetts passed a decree requiring every family to weave three pounds of cloth a week, and set a quota based on the number of women in a household. Unmarried women were appointed as "spinsters" to meet the quotas.

Lord, make me an instrument of thy peace: where there is hatred, let me sow love; where there is injury, pardon; where there is discord, union; where there is doubt, faith; where there is despair, hope; where there is darkness, light; where there is sadness, joy.

O Divine Master, grant that I may not so much seek to be consoled, as to console; to be understood, as to understand; to be loved, as to love; for it is in giving that we receive; it is in pardoning that we are pardoned; and it is in dying that we are born to eternal life.

Thoughts ApPlenty
By Len Auster

No Courts
What do you do when you have schedules and players but nowhere to play? You worry! That's what Jack Redmond, tennis pro at the Manchester Racquet Club and tennis coach for the East Catholic girls' and boys' team is doing.

"It's kind of difficult to run a program without any courts," Redmond noted. "We have some matches scheduled but nowhere to play them. Wickham Park, which we used last year, is inaccessible because they're not letting any groups reserve them."

"Right now we're in dire straits. I can't see how we'll ever get some practice time in outdoors. The Manchester Racquet Club is the only possibility for home matches but I'm unsure if it's financially feasible," Redmond said.

A year ago, the East girls went undefeated and Redmond predicts another good year with such netsters as Mary Catherine Marano, who for awhile played with the boys' team and lost just one match; Sue Anderson, Lori White and Kelly White. But without facilities, it will be most difficult for them to repeat.

"Tennis has to be the fastest growing sport in America. The rise in its popularity is tremendous. Even in Manchester courts seemingly are a short commodity as practitioners have to wait sometimes hours to get on the clay surfaces. Town courts are always taken, and that's one reason Redmond doesn't even dream in this direction. All he could do and did, is ask, "Any suggestions?"

Scoring Leader
Latest statistics released by the National Hockey League show Bobby Orr of the Boston Bruins the point leader with 128 goals through March 22. It's hard to believe but this is Orr's ninth season in the NHL. The Bruin defenseman, the winner of the James Norris Memorial Trophy (outstanding defenseman in the NHL) the last seven years turned 27 his last birthday.

Just check the scoring leaders and you'll see why the Buffalo Sabres have the best record in the NHL. The French Connection line of Rene Robert, Gil Perreault and Rick Martin are Nos. 7, 8 and 9. Each will surely wind up the season with 40 goals and possibly 100 points. Even in this time of expansion, that's a fast scoring pace.

Football Playoffs
The CIAC, which holds state championships in soccer, basketball, baseball and several other sports, has approved a State Championship Playoff in football. Four state champions will be crowned, using the four classes of competition (AA, A, B, C) as a guide. A point system and tie-breaking plan has been adopted which will determine the top two teams in each division — with the two clubs playing for the state title.

Playoff points will be accumulated during the season and at the end the total number of points will be divided by the total number of games played to determine the point value earned by each team. The two top schools in each state bracket will compete in the division championship games.

It sounds like a nice idea but just reading how the points are awarded makes it seem awkward. No matter how hard they try, the CIAC will still find some schools disgruntled and believing they belonged in the championship. It'll be interesting to see how the first year of the plan works out.

Can't Qualify
Even if the East Catholic girls' softball team wins every game it has, it won't qualify for the State Girls' Softball Tournament. You see, the East maidens currently have only four games slated. A team must play a minimum of 10 games to get into post-season play. Coach Donna Ridel has 48 girls now, a list which has to be trimmed to 15 for the season, but all their work will hit a roadblock unless more games are played.

Globetrotters Visit
The Harlem Globetrotters' performances tonight and Saturday night at the Hartford Civic Center are both sellouts. A special matinee performance Saturday at 2:30 has been scheduled. Tickets for the Saturday afternoon show will be available at the Civic Center Box Office and at G. Fox's. This is the Globetrotters' first appearance in the Hartford area in five years.

back for the playoffs." Right winger and former Boston Bruin Fred O'Donnell, whose second period goal put the Whalers ahead 2-2, said, "We've got some momentum going now and we are just going to have to maintain it."

Defensesman Ted Green provided an insurance goal in the third period and the Crusaders were unable to penetrate New England's positional play effectively.

Also scoring for the Whalers were Brad Selwood, Fred O'Donnell and Wayne Carleton. Cleveland goals were by Al McDonough, Skip Krake and Ron Ward.

Cleveland has been able to beat the Whalers only once this season, and that was in the second game of the season, a 3-2 win over the Whalers on Feb. 12. The Whalers were 12th in the season and the third game in which he has provided the winning margin.

The win put the Whalers one point ahead of Quebec in the race for the eighth playoff berth.

"Now that we're in second place, I just hope we can stay there," said Ryan. "I think we've shaken our slump, but we still miss injured Rick Ley and Gary Swain, but hopefully they'll

MCC Overpowered In Southern Swing

Coming home without a victory in its exhibition swing through the South is the Manchester Community College baseball team. The Cougars concluded their five-game stay with a 9-0 loss to Mitchell Community College yesterday.

MCC opens up the Northern part of its schedule April 5 in Middletown against Middlesex Community College.

Mitchell, one of the top two-year schools in the country, scored eight runs in the first inning before the Cougars could get any body out. There were six hits in the frame by the hosts and they were aided by three Cougar miscues.

Jeff Janitus faced the first nine batters but couldn't get anybody out and Coach Jim Olander brought in Paul Placido. Placido turned out to be the lone bright spot for MCC, burling five innings allowing six hits and just one run. At the plate, Placido collected three of the seven hits batted out by MCC.

Skip Wilson combined with Dave Marshall to toss the seven-incher. Larry Morrison pitched the last three innings for the Cougars and the knuckballer set down the side in order each frame.

Cavaliers' Jim Brewer Holds Ball Away From Chicago's Norm Van Lier (2)

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Cleveland Cavaliers had good reason to be afraid. Here they were, fighting for the first playoff berth in their five-year history and Thursday night they had to play on a court where they had never won a game.

But fear does strange things and it turned the Cavaliers into defensive demons. They beat Chicago at its own defense-oriented game, 86-83.

"We have had trouble putting the puck in the net all season long. We had our chances tonight, but (goalie Al) Smith seems to come up with the big saves against us," he said.

"I doubt if we could move up to 7th spot on the list, but we are subject for us is to stay healthy," said Vivian.

Cleveland automatically gets a playoff spot by virtue of the second place position behind the Whalers in the Eastern Division, even though their 67 point total will be less than a number of other teams.

Gordie Howe Reaches Legendary Milestone

HOUSTON (UPI) — Gordie Howe was near the Winnipeg net and stationed in good position to put on his best move of the night after assisting a goal by Jimmy Sherrit.

It was Sherrit's 20th, a personal record, and he wanted the puck for his new trophy room.

"I've never seen Gordie score two goals and two assists, one going to son Mark as the Aeros ended the Winnipeg Jets' seven-game win streak and momentarily halted Bobby Hull's race toward an unparalleled season featuring a goal per game.

Hull, the 36-year-old stragman, has 72 goals in 72 games with six left. "Not bad for a kid that can't shoot or skate," Howe said laughing. "No, I've known Bobby for well, I don't know how long he's been asked for me by my autograph when he was a kid—if you can imagine that! So I stopped and talked to him. We had a certain bond between us ever since."

Hull led the Jet teammates off the bench to congratulate Howe on the 2,000th goal. How said Hull has everything now to play as long as he has.

"He's got the secret now. It's enjoying it," Gordie said. "You've got to love what you're doing and Bobby was not a happy man the last few years."

"The 2,000th came on a good night," he said. "We clinched the title in our league. I don't think anybody can catch us as far as the overall best record. And Larry Lum is 100 points for the first time in his life. And young Sherrit gets 20 goals. You can't wish for much more."

Howe said he will retire after this playoff, a fact which truly gets coach Bill Dineen down.

Gordie, to me, still is the greatest hockey player, and if you ask any other player, he'll be the same way. He's the greatest that ever lived and I'll feel sorry to see him go. I don't think it would be fair to ask him to play another year.

Dick Snyder scored 11 points to help Cleveland outscore Chicago 17-12 in a 4:22 span of the third quarter and set up the triumph.

Cleveland had five players in double figures, led by Jim Chones with 16, while Chet Walker of the Bulls led all scorers with 18 points.

Picked up in the free agent draft in 1972 and then signed by scout Bob Zuk, Carter was brought up from Memphis last September by the Expos and played in nine ball games for them. He had 11 hits in 27 at bats for a heavy .407 figure, clipping the Mets' Jon Matlack and Tom Seaver for his first two safeties.

One thing Gary Carter wants to do, is play. "He's the pure all-time athlete," says Gene Mauch. "You know — let me go, turn me loose."

Gary Carter was so eager to do well in those first few ball games last fall, he was afraid maybe he was overdoing things a little. He went to Bristol, and Jerry Zimmerman, one of the Expos' other coaches, and asked them what they thought after seeing him.

"They told me 'You look all right in the field, but a little tight at bat,'" says the young, blue-eyed Californian. "They said 'Just be yourself.'"

Gary Carter got the best advice in the world from Dave Bristol and Jerry Zimmerman. "He listens to what they told him, and he's doing that, there's no possibility way he can miss.

UCLA Wears Favorite Role in NCAA, Kentucky Coach Hopes Team Prepared

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — UCLA, with Indiana resting on the sidelines, will wear the familiar favorite's mantle when the NCAA basketball championship semifinals unfold Saturday with the Bruins going against Louisville, and Kentucky, the team that knocked off the No. 1-rated Hoosiers, pitted against the heralded Syracuse.

Kentucky, 25-4, will face Syracuse, 23-7, at 12:10 p.m. PDT in the first semifinal game followed by a meeting of UCLA, 26-3, and Louisville, 27-2, at 2:10 p.m. Both games will be on national television (NBC).

In the final regular season matches, Indiana was ranked first, UCLA second, Louisville third, and Kentucky fourth. Syracuse's Orangemen were not even among the top 20.

Added Crum, "Yes, I'd rather be playing somebody else, too. But we don't have any choice in that. Just like three years ago. I can't let my feelings interfere with my team's approach to the game. We have to get ready for UCLA just like we get ready for anybody else."

Sad Day for Pirates as Blass Waived

NEW YORK (UPI) — Eight walks in one inning means a lot more in spring training than one slightly-tarnished World Series ring. Which is why Steve Blass, the key link of the Pittsburgh Pirates with their world championship team of 1971, was placed on waivers by the club Thursday for the purpose of giving him his unconditional release.

The popular righthander from North Canaan, Conn., was given his walking papers after pitching just 6 2/3 innings for the Pirates this spring, getting rocked by 13 earned runs and 17 walks. In his last outing — one inning against the Chicago White Sox Monday — he walked eight batters and forced in four runs.

Player Signed

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI) — The San Jose Earthquakes Thursday announced the signing of soccer player Terry Lees, a 5-foot-8, 154-pound defender from England.

Blass said, "If someone makes an overture I'd probably consider it. But I've always pitched for the Pirates and I don't have a lot of desire to pitch for someone else."

"I'm very proud of the 16 years I spent in this organization," he said. "This is an unhappy situation but I have no regrets except maybe that it didn't last longer."

Pittsburgh Manager Dan McMurtagh said the decision to cut Blass was heartbreaking because "of the close relationship I've had with Steve."

Life went on in the Pittsburgh camp Thursday without Blass, however, as the Pirates pummeled the Detroit Tigers, 5-2, behind Al Oliver's four RBI.

Ed Simmons belted three home runs and teammate Ron Frazier added a fourth but it wasn't enough to salvage a win for the St. Louis Cardinals, who fell, 14-9, to the New York Mets.

The game was played with the seven-run inning as the Red Sox scored an 8-6 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Red Sox Cut Roster by Two

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. (UPI) — Two young pitchers were optioned to the minors by the Boston Red Sox Thursday, but there are still nine too many men in spring training camp, presenting manager Darrell Johnson with a big problem.

Dispatched to the minor league complex were righthander Don Aase and left hander Jim Burton, leaving Johnson with 34 players including three who are invited but listed on the 40-man roster.

Two of those three — Tony Conigliaro and Deron Johnson — are competing for the role of designated hitter. Johnson took a major step in front of the pack eyeing the same position Thursday when he sparked the Red Sox to a 6-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Unfortunately for Johnson, he must open the season in Pawtucket and remain there until May 15 because the Red Sox gave him his outright release last fall. He could leave the Sox and be signed immediately to a major league contract by any of the remaining 23 clubs, but has indicated he prefers to play in Boston and will go to the International League for the required five weeks to get the opportunity.

Johnson's role in the win over the White Sox included three hits, one his third home run of the spring, and two runs batted in. He lifted his batting average to .313 and is making the kind of solid contact Manager Johnson expected to see from the 36-year-old veteran.

"I want Johnson to go now the way he did earlier in the exhibition schedule. But manager Johnson believes it is a matter of his being over anxious, rather than incapable of hitting the way he did for the Boston from 1964 through 1970, minus 1968 because of the heaving he suffered in August of 1967.

TOWN OF MANCHESTER, CONNECTICUT

March 25, 1975

TO: BOARD OF DIRECTORS
FROM: R. B. WEISS, GENERAL MANAGER
SUBJECT: Tentative Budget and Budget Message
Fiscal Year Beginning July 1, 1975

The General Fund budget that follows presents a program of operation reflecting a continuation of Town services at or below the present level. To maintain this level of service will require a budget totaling $21,997,731 or an increase of $1,117,012 compared with estimated expenditures for 1974-75, or $1,973,195 compared with the approved budget as of December 31, 1974.

The General Fund budget categorically breaks down as follows:

Table with 3 columns: Category, 1974-75, 1975-76, Increase (Decrease)

In addition to the above, the Fire District will require an increase of $ million to fund its budget which also reflects no added personnel. The Sewer budget will require an increase of 12% of the water bill to maintain the required service level.

Our Grand List showed a lower than normal increase and the freeing of various categories of property taxes with inadequate reimbursement by the State further compiles to increase our property tax rate.

We are estimating overall Revenue Sharing receipts at the same level as in the current year. This could change either up or down but we will not know what our allocation is until late April.

We have allocated $675,000 of these funds for general fund operation, down approximately $50,000 from last year, and $475,000 on capital projects - up from $411,000 last year.

CONSENTS ON FACTORS AFFECTING REVENUES
The overall Net Taxable Grand List for October 1, 1974 show an increase of $4,440,538 above the October 1, 1973 Grand List.

The overall Net Taxable Grand List for October 1, 1974 show an increase of $4,440,538 above the October 1, 1973 Grand List. In a similar manner, the Grand List increase for the Fire District Special Fund amounted to $4,599,286 which would produce an additional $25,487 in law revenues.

Public Law 94-334 - State of Connecticut reimbursement for exempted personal property, is expected to produce increased revenues of $275,000 for the General Fund and $15,000 for the Fire District Special Fund.

On the other hand, interest on investments is expected to be about $50,000 lower due to lower interest rates which are expected to continue into 1975-76.

Taking everything into consideration, revenues for 1975-76 from all sources other than taxes and Revenue Sharing are expected to be about $167,000 above comparable estimates in the 1974-75 budget.

For fiscal year 1974-75, we expect actual total revenues to be close to estimates. One revenue source, the State of Connecticut Grant for Special Education was received in an amount $120,000 above the estimate.

Capital Improvements - Current
The following capital improvements are recommended to be funded from Revenue Sharing funds. Your attention is directed to the six year capital improvement budget for further detailed information.

Refugees Mod Runway, Halting Da Nang Flights

SAIGON (UPI) — A huge swarm of panicky refugees mobbed the runway at Da Nang airport today, forcing the United States and South Vietnam to delay evacuation flights to sanctuaries in the south.

A World Airways jetliner, capable of holding about 200 refugees on each flight, flew four times Thursday from Da Nang, the government's last stronghold in northern South Vietnam.

Airport sources said South Vietnamese infantry troops tried without success to control the crowds, finally calling in army tanks when the situation got out of hand.

World Airways, a charter American airline flying the refugees out of Da Nang, called off its Boeing 727 flights until the government restores order. Air Vietnam canceled all flights from Da Nang, 370 miles north of Saigon, halting the air exodus out of the refugee-swollen city of 1 million.

Thousands of other persons swarmed over Da Nang's docks today in an attempt to get aboard evacuation ships, including a U.S. civilian vessel and a Philippine naval landing craft.

In Saigon, Gen. Frederick A. Weyand, the U.S. Army chief of staff, conferred with President Nguyen Van Thieu at the start of a fact-finding visit to President Ford.

Weyand, the last U.S. combat commander in South Vietnam, arrived in Saigon Thursday for up to four days of talks with U.S. and South Vietnamese officials.

U.S. officials said Ford asked the general, the highest-ranking American military man to visit South Vietnam in more than two years, to look into the rapidly deteriorating battlefield situation.

Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops have won a series of major victories during a three-week-old nationwide offensive, emerging with control of 11 of South Vietnam's 44 provinces.

Thieu, who angered many of his generals by ordering troop pullbacks across the country, was fighting his political life in the face of increasing calls for his resignation.

Former President Nguyen Cao Ky — the flamboyant air force general who put Thieu in power 10 years ago — called on the president to step down this autumn at the end of his current term.

Ky, speaking at a news conference Thursday, threw his support behind an opposition coalition demanding Thieu's resignation. "A new political movement that can be trusted by the people and the soldiers should be formed," he said.

On Thursday, Viet Cong troops overran Tam Quan, a district capital in central Binh Dinh Province. Sixty-six of the nation's 292 district capitals (county seats) are now under Communist control.

Government forces reported turning back a tanked North Vietnamese assault Thursday on Con Thuan, a district town 40 miles north of Saigon.

A spokesman for Northeast Utilities, owner of the Millstone complex, said contaminated water was found on the floor near a heating boiler in the nearby Millstone Number One plant.

The spokesman said none of the workers suffered any contamination but because of the possibility that some of the water may have been carried in the Millstone Two plant, under construction, the workers were let go while the system was checked.

The News

NEWS CAPSULES

Backs Blue Law Repeat
HARTFORD (UPI) — Gov. Ella T. Grasso says she will sign a legislative proposal repealing Connecticut's "blue laws" that prohibit certain sales on Sundays.

"Circumstances have changed a good deal" since Colonial times when the laws were created, Mr. Grasso said Thursday. Enforcement of the laws has been spotty and police usually heard about the violation from a competitor who wanted the offender to close shop, police say.

Connecticut's police chiefs have called for the law's repeal so they can better use their forces on Sunday, but the Greater New Haven Chamber of Commerce wants the ban on Sunday selling retained.

Return to Jobs
WATERFORD (UP) — About 50 construction workers returned to their jobs today after being checked for radiation and sent home early Thursday from the site of the Millstone Number Two nuclear power plant.

A spokesman for Northeast Utilities, owner of the Millstone complex, said contaminated water was found on the floor near a heating boiler in the nearby Millstone Number One plant.

The spokesman said none of the workers suffered any contamination but because of the possibility that some of the water may have been carried in the Millstone Two plant, under construction, the workers were let go while the system was checked.

Opposes Open Primary
HARTFORD (UPI) — Democratic State Chairman John M. Bailey has come out against a proposed bill to allow unaffiliated voters to take part in Democratic and Republican primaries.

The leader of Connecticut's Democratic party termed the proposal a "mockery of the primary laws." He said it would be a 1976 re-election strategy of Sen. Lowell P. Weicker, R-Conn.

School Water Unsafe
EAST HARTFORD (UPI) — For the second time in six months, the water at Slye School has been found unfit to drink.

The water Thursday at the public elementary school had a high metallic content, turning it bluish in tests conducted by the East Hartford Health Department, but no illnesses resulted from the water.

Until the cause of the problem can be traced and the problem eliminated, Slye School students and teachers will drink their water from five gallon bottles trucked to the school. "For some reason the students were a lot thirstier Thursday than they usually are," said Eugene Diggs, East Hartford school superintendent.

Back Fetus Bill
HARTFORD (UPI) — A legislative committee has given a favorable recommendation to a measure intended to prevent experiments on a living fetus.

The bill, voted on Thursday by the Public Health and Safety Committee, states, "a child exists as a living and growing human person from the moment of fertilization." Opponents of abortion have supported the bill. The committee has given its support to a bill to require parental consent for a minor's abortion and has rejected another bill to require counseling and a 24-hour waiting period before abortions.

Early Primary
MONTPELIER, Vt. (UPI) — New Hampshire's "first-in-the-nation" presidential primary may be threatened in Vermont where a move is under way to beat their neighbors to the ballot.

Vermont Gov. Thomas P. Salmon Thursday endorsed the proposal which has strong support from some state legislators, but New Hampshire lawmakers may decide to hold their primary a week earlier than the one proposed for Vermont.

Vermont does not hold statewide presidential primaries, but New Hampshire does — on the first Tuesday in March, the same date as the proposed Vermont primary.

How do you get rid of a couple of "bad guys" called "Sugar" and "Snacking"? Why, brush them away, of course. Young students at Green School watch as Gerry Jones, left, and Paul Palmer attempt to end two of the major threats to good dental health with super-size toothbrushes.

Ford To Give Decision On Tax Cut Bill Tonight

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Ford will tell the nation tonight if he will sign or veto the $24.8 billion tax cut bill that the Democratic-controlled Congress passed hoping to lift the economy out of a recession.

The President obtained air time at 7:30 p.m. EDT on all major radio and television networks to reveal his decision. The White House said his 10- to 15-minute speech from the Oval Office will include "a statement on economic policy."
