Marines Mutiny Aboard Ships Carrying Da Nang Refugees

SAIGON (UPI) — South Vietnamese marines mutinied aboard two ships carrying refugees from fallen Da Nang today, forced the U.S. crew of the Pioneer Contender to barricade themselves in a cabin and then went on an orgy of rape, murder and looting, terrified passengers reported.

The evacuation of Da Nang itself ended today when the Viet Cong began firing from the beaches at U.S. tugs and barges ferrying refugees to the Pioneer Contender and a sister ship, the Pioneer Commander. The Communists warned that no ships or planes could enter the area without their permission.

The marines fired at the helicopter of David Kennerly, President Ford's personal photographer, when he tried to take pictures of a South Vietnamese navy ship also commandeered by the rebellious troops.

With half of South Vietnam in Communist hands the U.S. Embassy flew 10 of its families out of Saigon to the greater safety of Bangkok but said there was no order to evacuate the embassy itself. A spokesman said "a few, a very few" Americans left the city and many more dependents were remaining in Saigon.

Military and political pressure on President Nguyen Van Thieu to resign grew and today South Vietnam's most powerful Buddhist leader, Bonze Thich Tri Quang, emerged from three years of obscurity to demand Thieu's resignation. The Buddhist leader who helped overthrow President Ngo Dinh Diem in November, 1963, led a demonstration from An Quang Pagoda under banners demanding that Thieu quit. The demonstration was broken up by police.

The evacuation ships were taking thousands of refugees from Da Nang to the former American base of Cam Ranh Bay, 20 miles south of Nha Trang. Nha Trang was swept by panic and residents of the refugee-swollen city began looking for ways out. U.S. officials pruned the consulate staff to essential personnel only.

With Da Nang in Communist hands, the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong turned their attention to the big coastal city of Qui Nhon, midway between Da Nang and Nha Trang, and its fall appeared imminent. Qui Nhon was described as a ghost city, its population long since fled.

There were increasing reports of disorder among South Vietnamese troops in the panicky evacuation of Da Nang and passengers aboard the Pioneer Contender said a third of the 8,000 persons aboard were marines who had fought their way onto the ship illegally—the ships had been sent to rescue civilians.

The Pioneer Contender left Da Nang late Sunday and arrived at Cam Ranh Bay, 185 miles northeast of Saigon, early today.

Civilians said the marines beat refugees, stole money, raped some girls and women and killed those who protested.

Kennerly, who has been Ford's personal photographer since the President took office, is on a fact-finding mission for Ford, along with Army Chief of Staff Gen. Frederick C. Weyand. He was fired on when he flew over the Pioneer Contender and the South Vietnamese navy vessel.

Weyand conferred in Saigon and briefly visited the Mekong Delta today and was not in Nha Trang to witness the shipboard incidents.

Refugees said they could not say how many persons aboard the ship were murdered by the marines, considered one of South Vietnam's best fighting forces.

At Cam Ranh, military police sealed off the port and tried to quell the marines, but the rebellious troops managed to break out of the cordon and began commandeering vehicles to make their way into Nha Trang. If drivers of the vehicles refused, the marines blew out the tires with gunfire.

Refugees Flee from Communists

Arriving at Tuy Hoa, South Vietnam, from Pleiku, this truck is piled to the top and then some with refugees who continue to flee advancing Communist forces in South Vietnam. The Communists occupied Da Nang early today and warned that all ships and planes must have their permission before evacuating refugees from the city, their greatest trophy in 20 years of war in Indochina. (UPI photo)

Mayor Sees Little Hope Of Paring Town Budget

By SOL R. COHEN

Manchester taxpayers are being offered little hope the Board of Directors will cut into the budgets and tax rates being proposed for 1975-76 by Town Manager Robert Weiss.

"Frankly," said Mayor Thompson today, "I've spent the weekend going over the manager's budget and I find it very tight. To cut back would only postpone needed improvements. What I can see, basically, is that reducing the proposed mill rate is at the risk of cutting services."

Weiss is proposing the General Fund tax rate be hiked by 5.5 mills and the Town of Manchester Fire District tax rate by 0.80 mills — to bring them to 54.8 mills and 6.5 mills respectively. His tentative General Fund budget is up $1,995,236 over this year and the Fire District budget is up $202,601.

In addition, Weiss is proposing a 25 per cent increase in sewer charges — to peg them at 125 per cent of the water bill (they now are at 100 per cent). He isn't proposing an increase in water use fees. He's recommending the tax rate remain at 12 mills for the Special Downtown Taxing District.

A public hearing on Weiss' proposals is scheduled for April 7 at 8 p.m. in the Waddell School Auditorium, Broad St. The Board of Directors has to May 7 to adopt budgets and tax rates.

Thompson said he'll hold office hours the next three Saturdays for those persons who can't attend the public hearing but wish to comment on the proposals. They will be from 9 to 11 a.m. in the Municipal Building, beginning with this Saturday.

"As an example of our option to cut back on services or go along with the recommended tax increase, I can cite refuse pickup as an example," said Thompson. "The manager is recommending once-a-week pickup — for a saving of about $32,000 a year. Yet, when we discussed the proposal a year ago, there appeared to be strong public opposition to once-a-week pickup. We'll probably hear public comment again on this matter."

Commenting on the school budget, which Weiss cut by $118,400, Thompson noted, "As far as I can see, what the manager has cut out are only new programs. The rest of the money is to provide for contractual agreements and inflationary trends. To cut further would be to cut existing programs or to draw a different estimate of inflation than drawn by the Board of Education."

Thompson said, "I believe our need for additional funds is a direct result of the state's failure to provide adequate reimbursement to the town's and cities for state-mandated programs. I said it often and I'll say it again, I'm against state-mandated programs that don't provide the funds for operating them."

He said also he'll contact the state's Congressional delegation and ask for support for a $2 billion proposal for additional revenue-sharing funds — pinpointed, specifically, for public works projects. He said the funds, if voted, might provide the $50,000 needed for a new Parker St. bridge, for example.

Easter Reunion Ends With 11 Persons Dead

HAMILTON, Ohio (UPI) — Twelve relatives gathered at Charity Ruppert's house for an Easter reunion Sunday. Eleven were shot to death.

The twelfth, James Ruppert, 40, Charity's son, was charged today with the methodical killings. There was blood on his shoes, police said.

"I was there and it was an unbelievable scene," said Prosecutor John Holcomb. "I don't want to describe it — it was horrible."

Ruppert, an unemployed draftsman, was charged with 11 counts of aggravated murder.

Those killed were his mother, Charity, 65, his brother, Leonard, 42, Leonard's wife, Alma, 38, and their eight children, Leonard Jr., 18; Carol, 14; Michael, 12; Thomas, 10; Dave, 8; Theresa, 7; Ann, 5; and John, 3.

"There is a possibility that the victims were picked off one by one as they came into the house," Holcomb said. "We just don't know at this time. It is a strange situation."

The victims, apparently dead for up to four hours, were found in the living room and the kitchen of the modest two-story home located in the Lindenwald section of this southwestern Ohio city.

All but one were shot in the head at close range, authorities said. None of the dead had been tied or had been restrained in any way, police said.

Cotter to Speak At Breakfast

U.S. Rep. William R. Cotter, D-First Congressional District, will be the featured speaker Tuesday when the Legislative Affairs Council of the Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce conducts its second "Insight Breakfast" of the year. It will be at 8:30 a.m. at The Colony, Talcottville.

Mark Kravitz, chairman of the council, urged all Chamber members to attend and to express their views regarding national legislation. Cotter will give a resume of proposals before Congress and will answer questions from the floor.

The Chamber's first "Insight Breakfast" was Jan. 28, when state legislators from the Manchester area gave their views on the legislation to come out of the 1975 General Assembly.

State Crime Law Proposals Topic At Meeting Tonight

State Sen. David Barry will tell of proposed crime laws at a meeting of an informal group calling itself Concerned Citizens of Manchester tonight at 8 in the hearing room of the Municipal Building.

The rise in vandalism and other crimes in Manchester sparked the meeting, one of several planned by the group, said Charles Boggini, its spokesman.

"People here are fed up with the muggings, vandalism, and breaks. They want to help," Boggini said.

Barry will talk on a bill now in the General Assembly which provides for a mandatory jail term for anyone caught using a deadly weapon in a crime. Another bill being considered may make juveniles liable to the same penalties as adults for the same crimes.

The group sponsoring the meeting includes former state lawmakers, town businessmen, and other concerned citizens. They have advertised this meeting in hopes other citizens will attend, Boggini said.

Ford Begins Push for Energy Bill

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) — President Ford accomplished the first goal of his administration Saturday by signing a $2.8 billion tax cut bill. He aimed today for completion of his second goal, congressional passage of an energy program by May Day.

Ford was invited to inspect the Navy's Elk Hills petroleum reserve today 110 miles north of Los Angeles. He wants to free most of the reserves for civilian use to help the nation become independent of foreign oil supplies.

He planned to fly from his Palm Springs holiday home to Bakersfield, Calif., at 12:30 p.m. EDT and then to the oil fields.

President William Howard Taft ordered the Elk Hills reserve for the Navy in 1912. A decade later Elk Hills figured in the Teapot Dome oil scandals, in which a member of President Warren G. Harding's Cabinet went to prison for accepting a $100,000 bribe. Elk Hills slipped from the spotlight until 1973, when the Arab oil embargo dramatized the need for America to marshal its petroleum reserves.

Assistant Secretary of the Navy Jack L. Bowers, accompanying Ford, said Sunday the President wants the preserve developed so it can build up a 1 billion barrel reserve for civilian use in case of emergency while still keeping 300 million barrels in store for the military. He said the government was already stepping up drilling and pumping.

Bowers said the 54,636 acre reserve also should be used to fill non-emergency civilian needs. The Navy owns 80 per cent of the reserve and Standard Oil of California the remaining 20 per cent.

Bowers said civilian development would be entrusted to other and smaller companies as well as Standard.

In other developments Sunday:

—White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen relayed Ford's statement on the deteriorating situation in South Vietnam: "The President considers the fall of Da Nang to be an immense human tragedy. It has cruelly trapped many hundreds of thousands of South Vietnamese refugees who tried until the last moment to escape the North Vietnamese army. It should be deeply disturbing to all civilized mankind."

—Ford played 18 holes of golf Sunday with La Jolla, Calif., banker-businessman Leon Parma, former West Point football coach Earl "Red" Blaik and Hollywood movie director Frank Capra.

—Ford and his wife invited former California Gov. and Mrs. Ronald Reagan to a private dinner tonight.

Prayers for Refugees Highlight Easter Rites

United Press International American air crews in Vietnam prayed for refugees of Communist-overrun areas, pilgrims gathered at the traditional site of Christ's burial and resurrection, and Pope Paul VI preached of "a hope for all mankind" Sunday as the Christian world observed Easter.

Christian pilgrims, fewer than in previous years, celebrated Easter services in the Church of the Holy Sepulchre in Jerusalem. About 2,000 pilgrims attended a pontifical High Mass sung by Msgr. Giacomo J. Beltritti, Roman Catholic patriarch of Jerusalem.

In Saigon, American air crews who flew the last evacuation flights out of Da Nang attended an Easter mass for refugees from the fallen city—and for those who didn't make it out. No refugees attended the service, held in the courtyard of a Jesuit school, but most of the eight World

Airways crews which flew the overcrowded jets were there.

President Ford attended Easter Services at St. Margaret's Episcopal Church in Palm Springs, Calif., and heard Episcopal Bishop Robert Wolterstorff preach of the need for the Christian spirit to take effect in "affluent Southern California, in arid and drought-ridden Africa and in starving Bangladesh and in Vietnam."

At the Vatican, Pope Paul, speaking in a strong voice to some 400,000 Holy Year pilgrims, told of the resurrection of Christ as "a comfort for the poor and suffering... a hope for the humble and for those who pray, for the whole church, for all mankind."

In New York, several thousand persons strolled along Fifth Avenue in the annual "Easter Parade," but wet, raw weather discouraged traditional bonnet wearers from sporting their Easter finery. Many of the paraders, instead, wore wild costumes, gaudy headresses and outlandish makeup.

A woman and four artist friends appeared as "the Easter apparitions," dressed in rags, toilet paper rolls, egg boxes and assorted veils.

In an eastern Tennessee mountain valley, Ike Taylor of Carter County was the runaway victor in the annual Peters Hollow Easter egg fight. When everyone's eight-dozen egg maximum supply was exhausted, Taylor still had some four dozen left. The broken eggs — tapped against each other to determine which is harder — were donated to an orphanage at nearby Elizabethton after the fight.

Early Bird Tax Return Filers May Get Rebates By Mid-May

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Americans who filed their income tax returns early will get the first rebate checks by mid-May, according to the Internal Revenue Service.

A spokesman said Sunday that the IRS anticipated some kind of tax cut measure and programmed its computers accordingly.

The first tax returns to run through the computers for rebates will be for those who filed early, and many have already received refunds. They can expect to receive $98 to $200 by mid-May.

Returns filed close to the April 15 deadline will probably receive a single check combining any refund plus the rebate. The check may not reach the mailbox until June.

Those getting the biggest benefits from the new tax law would be in the unlikely situation of earning $20,000 last year for a family of four, currently unemployed but hiring child care and planning to buy a new house.

Such a family would get a $200 rebate, credit on 1975 income taxes of up to $2,000 for purchase of the house, a special child care deduction and still have 65 weeks of unemployment benefits to draw upon.

Ford signed the $2.8 billion measure Saturday, declaring that it reached the upper limit of allowable tax cuts.

Rebates range from a low of $98 for a family of four earning $5,000 last year to a high of $200 for a family of four earning $17,500 to $20,000. Singles will get $200 if they earned $12,500.

Other major provisions: —A $7.8 billion 1975 tax reduction that will show up in lower withholding from paychecks. Part of the figure includes a new $30 per person tax credit.

—Payments up to $400 to working poor families with children.

—One-time $50 payments to all Social Security recipients.

—A 13-week extension of unemployment benefits in high unemployment states. That raises the entire period of unemployment eligibility to 65 weeks in those areas.

—A 10 per cent increase for two years in the investment tax credit for businesses. —Scaled down oil and gas depletion allowances and limits on foreign tax breaks for multinational corporations.

Why?

Why is it so hard to cut back government spending?
This question is being asked by many who are being forced to cut their own individual and business budgets because of rising costs, inflation, and if not declining revenue; at least revenue that is not increasing enough to cover the cost of living increases.

It is even more pertinent when so often the reasons listed for cutting back personal and business expenses are the same as those advanced by public officials as the reason they cannot trim their budgets and instead must have more money.

The proposed Connecticut budget is advanced to us as a model of fiscal restraint in these inflationary and recessionary times—it will only go up about 4 per cent.

The tentative budget for Manchester is based on about 10 per cent more money than last year.

Why is it so hard to cut back government spending?
To understand why, it is necessary to understand attitudes in and out of government.

First, we have the very human attitude of defending the importance of the work we do, even though it might be totally unnecessary, marginal, or too costly in relation to what is achieved. It is a measure of our job insecurity that we, in and out of government, rarely accuse another worker of not carrying his own weight lest the finger of accusation turn our way.

So the first requirement to trimming government cost is performance evaluation which can only be done by someone who isn't a career man.

Logically, the elected official would be the evaluator, since he presumably brings a more objective and outside view upon which comparative value judgments can be made.

But alas, elected officials are but pawns of precedent, and restricted by political allegiances.

Precedent is a two-edged sword. On the one hand, precedent protects in perpetuity a job once created for while rules on patronage may prevent wholesale personnel changeover, it is a sin to abolish jobs also. A good politician tries to maintain tenure long enough to fill government jobs with his followers through attrition, thus with patronage openings limited to replacements or the creation of new jobs, the politician can hardly be objective in cutting the cost of government. The reference to "deadwood" in government inevitably refers to a person rather than to a position.

The other edge of the precedent sword is you don't set any precedents that might hamper your successors, especially those of your party.
Political allegiance is wonderful but it covers mistakes, too. Thus elected officials have a built-in aversion to viewing critically the usefulness of any job in government which may have been created by some other member of the same party in the past.
For someone to be too highly critical of the other party's creation is 90 per cent futile since such criticism is largely ignored as being politically motivated.

So you can't cut government expenses through people in government or people elected to run government.

Now if government were a business, the taxpayer could do like the customer. If he felt the cost of a service was too high, he could choose not to buy it, but this he cannot do.

So we have to depend on government for certain services and we can and should demand our money's worth.

But will this work?
Of course not. Why?
Because most of the government we now have does not serve people out of concern for them. Government jobs for the most part are an end in themselves.

Now if government were a business, the taxpayer could do like the customer. If he felt the cost of a service was too high, he could choose not to buy it, but this he cannot do.

So we have to depend on government for certain services and we can and should demand our money's worth.

Why is it so hard to cut back government spending?
The ins won't, because to do so is to admit their own inefficiency. The outs can't because they can't become ins without some patronage to offer.
The taxpayer believes the increase in cost will hit the other guy which is the myth upon which bureaucracy flourishes. As long as we can tax the other guy is alright.
Who is the other guy? Why, fellow citizens don't you know? You are.

ANDREW TULLY Ervin Makes Sense

WASHINGTON — Sam Ervin, who starred on television during the Watergate hearings, is alive, well — and kicking — down in his native North Carolina, to which he returned after retiring from the U.S. Senate early this year.
Ervin took to the barricades again the other day with a rousing lecture against the proposed Equal Rights Amendment before a committee of the North Carolina General Assembly in Raleigh. Commenting on what he called "this evil measure," Ervin declared that "No one knows what this amendment will do."
Unfortunately there are at least two women who claim to know exactly what it will do — former Rep. Martha Griffiths, D-Mich., the amendment's sponsor, and Mrs. Phyllis Schlafly, founder of the Stop-ERA organization. Both are women of considerable self-assurance, and both are out on the hustings spreading their particular gospel in all-out efforts to pound some sense into state legislatures. They are rather special members of the prettier sex.
Mrs. Griffiths continually stresses legal inequities that would be eradicated by ERA. "If a husband dies, his wife has to pay for inheritance money she helped accumulate, because her earnings for housework carry no weight in the law," she tells everybody who will listen to her. If ERA is not ratified by the necessary 38 states, says Mrs. Griffiths, numerous cases of unequal protection of the law will be filed and go before the Supreme Court.
Don't trust the Supreme Court, Mrs. Griffiths warns. "I don't think the court is a good legislative body. We're paid to legislate. Let's legislate."
Mrs. Schlafly emphasizes women's "special role" as wife and mother in the traditional American family, with the husband cast as protector. Then she goes on to advise audiences what will happen if ERA is ratified:
Women not only would have to register for the draft but would be subject to combat in wartime. Policemen would be forced to do patrol duty on dangerous city streets. Women would lose the "right" to get credit in their husband's names. Single-sex colleges, fraternities and sororities would have to go coed. Boy scouts would have to admit girls and Girl Scouts boys, or they'd lose their tax-exempt status.
Either side could be right. The proposed amendment says simply: "Equality of rights under the law shall not be abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex." Indeed, such language suggests that both sides could be right, and there's the rub. The lawsuits arising out of that simple-sounding amendment could make every lawyer in the country a millionaire.
All of which is by way of getting back to Sam Ervin's other argument, to wit, that ERA is not ratified by the necessary 38 states, says Mrs. Griffiths, numerous cases of unequal protection of the law will be filed and go before the Supreme Court.
Mrs. Griffiths continually stresses legal inequities that would be eradicated by ERA. "If a husband dies, his wife has to pay for inheritance money she helped accumulate, because her earnings for housework carry no weight in the law," she tells everybody who will listen to her. ## Congressional Quarterly Report Plans for Oversight

By Bruce F. Freed
WASHINGTON — Over the years, Congress has created a vast array of agencies, programs and laws yet rarely has taken the time to go back and check on what has become of them.
For example, Congress took its last close look at the Internal Revenue Code, the nation's basic tax law, 23 years ago. Similarly, it has been almost 30 years since Congress took a thorough look at the Social Security Administration, a huge bureaucracy that distributes more than $80-billion a year in benefits to retired and disabled workers.
Until this year, the Central Intelligence Agency and the Federal Bureau of Investigation were almost immune to close congressional scrutiny.
And after creating the Highway Trust Fund in the mid 1960s to pay for the construction of the vast interstate highway network, Congress never took time to see how the fund has affected the nation's rail system.
Now Congress is showing signs that it intends to pay closer attention to head off problems such as those currently afflicting those agencies and programs. The Social Security system faces serious financial problems. The Internal Revenue Code is replete with loopholes. The FBI and CIA have been accused of abuses in domestic and foreign intelligence. And the bankrupt Northeast railroads, undermined in part by truck competition aided by superhighway subsidies, have required federal assistance to keep them running.
Members of Congress concede that some of those problems might have been averted by preventive reviews. And the remedial actions being taken often include plans for hearings and studies to determine what went wrong. Congress calls this process "oversight."
Stronger Tools
Congress periodically has demonstrated its concern for better oversight since it first committed itself to that responsibility in 1946. Its problem since then has been to put its intent into practice.
Frustrated in part by what it saw as the excesses of the Nixon presidency, Congress last year made its most recent efforts to regain power from the executive branch. It tried two approaches: It tightened its control over the federal budget and it moved to sharpen its review of the federal bureaucracy.
Members and Capitol Hill observers are watching to see whether the reforms will improve Congress' oversight record.
The optimists see several developments pushing the House to use new oversight tools.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

"But go, tell his disciples and Peter" (Mark 16:7)
The resurrection of Jesus Christ is the fundamental fact within the Christian Faith. While no one saw the Savior rise, no event of history is better attested. Those who know the risen Christ must be His witnesses.
In a time full of trouble, such as we experience today, the role of the Risen Christ means so much to our lives — the comfort and security He brings to us, the freedom His death brought for us, and the joy His resurrection elicits from us. We all need His message — even those who are the heaviest of heart.

In 1968, President Lyndon Johnson announced he would seek re-election and also ordered suspension of American bombing in North Vietnam.
In 1971, Army Lt. William Calley was sentenced to life imprisonment for his part in the slaying of 21 Vietnamese civilians.
A thought for the day: American humorist Charles Farrar Browne said, "Let us all be happy and live within our means, even if we have to borrow money to do it."

BERRY'S WORLD

There also is the problem of interest. An aide to Rep. John B. Anderson (R-Ill.) summed up the problem: "The subjects of congressional investigations are scandals, corruption in a Watergate, executive branch hanky panky or law twisting. These are the things that bring headlines and turn on the TV lights and the public. But oversight, unless it turns up a scandal or gross maladministration is dull and politically dangerous."
The Senate flags far behind the House on oversight. That is the assessment of several senators and Senate observers, including one who called the Senate's oversight record "pretty miserable."
Two figures highlight the Senate's problem. First, the average senator serves on 16 committees and subcommittees. Senate observers say that does not leave a senator enough time to think about, let alone carry out, oversight of federal agencies and programs.
Second, only one of the 16 standing Senate committees — the Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs Committee —

More Turned Out To Be Less

"Sighted SUB, sank same" sums up the current recession as far as the nation's auto workers are concerned.
"Special unemployment benefit (SUB) funds at Chrysler and General Motors are expected to run dry this spring," ran the story the other day, "leaving more than 130,000 laid-off auto workers in bleak financial straits."
Clarification: Leaving them in the same financial straits as hundreds of thousands of laid-off non-auto workers who did not enjoy a year of SUB. That is, dependent upon state unemployment benefits alone.
It was nice while it lasted, and everyone admits that SUB was never intended to cope with recession-depth cutbacks in auto production but rather to tide workers over temporary layoffs, such as at model-changing time.
And tide them over it did in grand style — at up 95 per cent of regular take-home pay, when state assistance was added.
It was hailed as a great victory for United Auto Workers bargainers when SUB was won from the industry a few years ago. Does any auto worker now maybe wish that the victory had been a little less complete — that perhaps SUB had been established at, say, 75 per cent of regular pay, or even as low as 50 per cent?
Half pay is better than no pay at all, and if SUB payments had been half the rate they were in 1974 there would now still be enough in the fund to last into 1976.
The auto workers didn't kill the goose that laid the golden egg. They just wore it out before its time.

Ben Brewster and Eddie Zimmiti, professional soccer players, worked out with those participating for over an hour.

About 78 children and 30 adults attended.

Robert Post said he didn't realize there was that much local interest in soccer.

He said he and Brewster will attempt to begin a program in Andover that will hopefully lead to playing area towns.

Actions taken by Mike Pease, superintendent of streets, and Allen Sandberg, town manager, concerning the operation of the town garage and a charge of pilfering by the town road crew is currently under investigation by the Town Council.

On March 22, the Town Council and the chief of police seized the records at the town garage.

Councilman Al Carilli said, "We thought it was in the best interest of all concerned to seize the records to insure that nobody could criticize that the records were doctored."

On March 22, the Town Council and the chief of police seized the records at the town garage.

Councilman Al Carilli said, "We thought it was in the best interest of all concerned to seize the records to insure that nobody could criticize that the records were doctored."

The main concern of the council is with the had record keeping at the garage. Earlier this year the public works study committee made the council aware of bad record keeping at the garage. The council then ordered certain policy changes at the garage for the keeping of records, such as keeping records on gasoline use. The council has learned since that the steps it ordered had not been taken.

The PTA plans to sponsor a children's movie in the school gymnasium Saturday, April 12, from 1 to 3 p.m.

The cost per child is 50 cents and all proceeds will be donated to the American Cancer Society.

The featured film is "The Seven Little Foys," starring Bob Hope.

The movie will be preceded by selected shorts with Laurel and Hardy featured. Refreshments will be available for purchase.

The Young Wives Club will be sponsoring a door-to-door canvass kits to all street captains during this week.

Policemen, Council Meet Tonight

COVENTRY

Monica Shea

The Town Council and members of the police force will meet tonight at 9 to discuss the charges of the police union that Chief of Police Robert Kjelquist has mismanaged funds.

The policemen had originally asked to have a meeting with just the council and the police officers present but the Town Council felt that it would be in the best interest of all concerned to have the chief and Allen Sandberg, town manager, present.

Chief Kjelquist said, "I'm asked to, I will attend the meeting. I don't know what is in their minds. I don't know what the charges are all about. Neither the police officers or the union have talked to me or elaborated on the charges of mismanagement."

Because of these charges of mismanagement of funds the ### think we can make heads or tails of them in the condition they are in. The steering committee and I, and any other council members who want to, will look into the books. As far as I am concerned, this is going to be cleared up before the council's public hearings on the budget. The council has a lot of work to do between now and then."

Councilman Al Carilli said the lack of adequate records at the garage would make it difficult to prove the pilfering charges.

He said, "There is no inventory of gasoline use, no time logs, and no official maintenance records and the situation is disgusting."

Just assume that the administrative details such as adequate records keeping is taken care of, and when you find it isn't you get. This is not the first time I've questioned why things aren't being done."

During the last week the council has had two executive sessions on what the council called "personnel matters." At the first session last Monday, Sandberg and Pease were both present. Minutes of this executive session have been filed but under the advice of the town attorney are not available for public inspection.

Electors
There will be a special session for the admission of electors tomorrow from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Room 5 in Coventry High School.

A regular session for the admission of electors will be held on Friday from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Registrar's Room of the Town Hall.

East Catholic Considers New Program of Teaching

By JUNE TOMPKINS

A proposal to change the form of education at East Catholic High School was explained last week to administrators and department coordinators of the school. The change, if adopted, could affect the present teaching staff and the school's economy.

About 35 members of the school's staff including faculty members heard the Rev. Henry C. Frascadore, assistant superintendent for secondary schools of the Archdiocese of Hartford, describe his new plan, Concentration on Learning and Teaching (COLT).

The decision to adopt the new program which he has introduced to the high schools in the archdiocese, will be left to each respective school community.

ECHS is one of several schools which has expressed an interest in the plan, said Sister Joan Farley, assistant principal of ECHS.

COLT involves a radical overhaul of the school day. Students, instead of taking five or six subjects in traditional 45-minute periods, involve themselves in two subjects for two-and-one-half hours each.

A sample semester would include large blocks of science and mathematics followed by a shorter class in religion. The next half of the school year might be devoted entirely to English and history with a minor in physical education.

Father Frascadore said COLT has a threefold purpose: (1) To provide in-depth learning situations; (2) to help control the cost of Catholic education; and (3) to align Catholic educational philosophy more closely with practice.

The Archdiocesan administrator said fragmentation frustrates a student's progress. Short periods, he said, do not permit broad academic presentation and proper concentration.

The long periods allow for a variety of approaches — lectures, laboratory situations, field trips, community experiences.

"Besides allowing teachers to cultivate close relationships with students, Father Frascadore said COLT permits more student involvement.

"COLT should improve discipline, too," said Father Frascadore, "because it ensures no student will be anonymous."

THE IRISH CHILDREN'S PROJECT

Dear Friends in Manchester:

None of us can feel right about the pain and turmoil that has befallen the people of Northern Ireland. To us it is a scandal that the conflict and bloodshed is taking place in the name of religion.

This summer, 30 teenagers, Protestants and Catholics, will come from Northern Ireland to live and learn in our community. They will be the guests of host families from St. Mary's Episcopal Church and St. James Catholic Church. During the summer, together with American youngsters, they will have a chance to learn and grow in respect for one another. We hope that the result will be increased understanding and goodwill.

We don't have a solution to the Northern Irish problem but we believe the time has come for people of goodwill to raise their voices and speak of a better way. This project is a gesture of concern but it is also an opportunity for all of us to learn how precious is the gift of love.

We ask your prayers for the success for this project and we hope you will feel moved to send a contribution for this work. Please mail your tax deductible contribution to:

Some Veterans Dismayed About War

HARTFORD (UPI) — The swift fall of large areas of South Vietnam to a massive offensive from the north brought expressions of dismay over the weekend from some Connecticut veterans of the Vietnam War.

"It makes me sick when I think about it," said David L. Litrice, president of the Connecticut Concerned Veterans Saturday was officially proclaimed as Vietnam Veterans Day.

"Some veterans I've talked to said if they had to do it all over again, the way that it's ending now, they wouldn't have gone into the service," said Jim Bacon, another Vietnam veteran.

An unidentified veteran said plain civilians suffer the most and don't really care if they are in a capitalist or Communist country.

"All they know is that some guy in a Patton tank keeps running over their garden," he said. "As soon as one side or the other wins, everything will be okay and those people can start living again."

The engagement of Miss Gail Ann Carwanski of Manchester to Christopher George Penmore Cooper, also of Manchester, has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Carwanski of 254 Henry St. Mr. Cooper is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Cooper of 187 Ferguson Rd.

The bride-elect is a 1974 graduate of Manchester High School and a 1974 graduate of the University of Connecticut where she majored in elementary education. She is presently employed as a teacher's aide at Horace Porter School in Columbia.

Her fiancé is also a 1974 graduate of Manchester High School and attended Keene (N.H.) State College. He is presently serving in the U. S. Navy stationed at the Sub Base in New London and is attending Connecticut College.

The couple plan an Aug. 22 wedding in St. Bridget Church.

The engagement of Miss Gail Bartlett of Manchester to John R. White, also of Manchester, has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald R. Bartlett of 17 North St. Mr. White is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard White of 74 Birch St.

The bride-elect is a 1974 graduate of Manchester High School. She is presently attending Manchester Community College and is employed by the Manchester Recreation Department.

Her fiancé is also a 1974 graduate of Manchester High School. He is employed by Deane Machine Products in Manchester.

The couple is planning a Sept. 27 wedding in the First Church of Christ Congregational.

The engagement of Miss Helen Wolverson, proprietor of Grazier's Corset and Uniform Shop at 631 Main St. took time out from her busy schedule to mill over her thoughts for finding a way to serve the elderly, residents of convalescent homes, and shut-ins.

"We had been accepting requests from customers to go to their homes and fit them for garments, but after a busy day at the store too many night calls were just impossible to handle."

After a few visits to area convalescent homes, Mrs. Wolverson felt something had to be done.

"I realized that many of the residents, due to their age or illness were unable to get out and make purchases for themselves. I would bring a few items on a visit but it was a very limited selection. Staff members would make specific purchases for the residents, but that was not fulfilling their needs to make their own selection."

Following discussions with the recreation directors at various convalescent homes, who felt that there was a definite need for such a service, the "rolling store" was born.

"With my coworkers, Ellen Dubisar of Bloomfield and Fern Hansen of West Hartford, we actually filled two cars with 250 dresses, 100 pantsuits, and undergarments and headed for a convalescent home," Helen said.

"The whole program was presented as a fashion show with some of the residents modeling the clothes. We would assist them with fittings when needed. It was more of a recreation program and was met with such a warm response that we decided to contact other convalescent homes."

"An answer to a prayer," is the way Shirley Lund, recreation director at the Meadows Convalescent Home in Manchester, describes the program.

"We (staff) used to go out to purchase items for the patients, but they weren't always right. People confined to wheelchairs or bed-ridden are very hard to measure for garments. Now we let them shop for themselves. Eileen and Fern are on hand to adjust or alter the garments."

"I'm presented like a fashion show, complete with special dressing rooms to allow the patients to try on the clothes in privacy."

"They enjoy seeing the new styles and fabrics and the women just seem to have a way with older people. They sit down and chat with them and make them feel like a real part of the program."

Mrs. Lund said that even some of those with failing eyesight join in.

"They feel the different textures of the material and Eileen and Fern describe the garments and tell them the color assortment. The whole program has great therapeutic value as well as being a fine community service," she said.

Next on the list of "necessary items" is a rolling van.

"Poor Eileen and Fern have been so busy carting clothes back and forth in their cars that we have finally decided we need a van."

A business venture? Yes, Helen said. But one that gives as well as receives and in a most heartwarming way.

"The women are greeted like old friends when they make return visits. They meet some new people and are saddened to hear that some are no longer here."

Friendly relationships have been established and we hope to continue to put on such programs and bring them in a little of the outside world," she said.

'Rolling Store' Brings Pleasure to Elderly

After a few visits to area convalescent homes, Mrs. Wolverson felt something had to be done.

"I realized that many of the residents, due to their age or illness were unable to get out and make purchases for themselves. I would bring a few items on a visit but it was a very limited selection. Staff members would make specific purchases for the residents, but that was not fulfilling their needs to make their own selection."

Following discussions with the recreation directors at various convalescent homes, who felt that there was a definite need for such a service, the "rolling store" was born.

"With my coworkers, Ellen Dubisar of Bloomfield and Fern Hansen of West Hartford, we actually filled two cars with 250 dresses, 100 pantsuits, and undergarments and headed for a convalescent home," Helen said.

"The whole program was presented as a fashion show with some of the residents modeling the clothes. We would assist them with fittings when needed. It was more of a recreation program and was met with such a warm response that we decided to contact other convalescent homes."

Forget About Mushy Valentine

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.L. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My husband sent a mushy valentine to a girl, and on the bottom of it he wrote: "I love you, Abby!" He must have put the wrong address on the envelope because it came back with "ADDRESS UNKNOWN" on it. Naturally I was curious when I saw this big, fancy looking envelope addressed to some name I had never heard of in my life. In my husband's handwriting, with his return address on the back, so I opened it, and when I saw what it was, I nearly fainted!

Should I confront him with it, or forget it?
BROOKLYN WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Forget it. If "Abby" thinks he forgot her on Valentine's Day, it might be the beginning of the end. Which would be better for all three of you, since he's married to you.

DEAR ABBY: I have recently started to give private piano lessons to young children, and I am planning my first recital.

Since most of my students' parents have never heard me play, would it be all right for me to play a number or two myself on the program? Or do you think it would be considered showing off on my part?

Maybe an experienced piano teacher has the answer.
PERPLEXED PIANIST

DEAR PERPLEXED: Maybe. And I would welcome their letters. My experience is limited to my own violin recitals. My instructor, Leo Kacinskas, a very talented violinist in his own right, did not perform at the recitals of his pupils. But in retrospect, perhaps he should have. He would have inspired his pupils, and entertained their parents.

DEAR ABBY: You printed a letter from a woman who wrote to tell you what a wonderful husband she had. Well, let me tell you about mine:

"For 26 years, I was married to a man who phoned me three times a day to tell me he loved me and ask how the children and I were. He told me I was beautiful every time I got dressed up, and he took me out to dinner at least twice a week."

He sent me and the children to Florida in the winter to escape the New York cold. He called me in Miami every day, and came down every other weekend to be with me.

He showed me with jewelry and furs, a new car every other year, and I had one of the loveliest homes on Long Island.

P.S. Then, out of the blue, he asked me for a divorce so he could marry the woman he had been seeing for 16 years! I hung on to him for four more years, then realizing it was hopeless, I let him go. He married her the minute he was free.

Now I know why he called me so much, and why he shipped me and the children off to Florida in the winter. At least his glibly conceived made him take good care of me and the children (financially).

Abby, please tell women that when a man is too good to his wife, he could be sending out warning signals.
FOOLED

DEAR FOOLED: How good must a man be to be "too good" to his wife?

It doesn't necessarily follow that a husband who is overly attentive and generous to his wife is sending out of guilt. You don't say what your husband did for a living, but if he had been seeing another woman for 16 years, and you didn't have a clue, he could qualify for an Academy Award.

DEAR ABBY: I have a message for Russell in Houston, who wants to grow up and become President of the United States:

Hurry! The way things are going, and in case you make it, I will keep a bed available for you. This is a home for mental patients, and everyone here has to off his rocker—including the staff.

Spring of '75 Not Good One For Former Pennant Heroes

NEW YORK (UPI) — The spring of 1975 has not been a good one for former pennant heroes.

First, Baltimore peddled first baseman Boog Powell, the man-mountain who had started in four World Series for the Orioles.

Then Pittsburgh cut Steve Blass, bidding farewell to the guy who won two games including the decisive seventh game in the 1971 World Series to give the Pirates their first world championship in more than a decade.

The New York Yankees followed by releasing Mel Stottlemyre, the last link with their glory years.

Now it's Mickey Lolich's turn to take his lumps.

Tiant, Lee, Wise, Cleveland Sox Pitching Rotation Set

BOSTON (UPI) — There's really nothing new about the pitching rotation with which the Red Sox will open the American League season a week from Tuesday.

Luis Tiant will start off against the Milwaukee Brewers with Bill Lee, Rick Wise and Reggie Cleveland to follow.

That's the way manager Darrell Johnson had it worked out a year ago and that's the way it is going to be this year.

The only difference Johnson is looking for is a healthier Wise and a slimmer Cleveland. Both leave nothing to be desired so easily.

Wise clinched his place in the rotation Sunday with six innings against the Los Angeles Dodgers at Fenway Beach before a crowd of 4,911, the largest ever for the stadium.

He yielded seven hits and two walks in the 7-2 loss and Johnson said he was "satisfied" with the performance.

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (UPI) — The late Jim Thorpe, legendary Indian athlete whose meteoric rise in track was eclipsed by a flap over professional status that stripped him of Olympic medals, was inducted into the National Track and Field Hall of Fame.

Thorpe, a Sac-Fox Indian who became the only competitor to win both the pentathlon and decathlon in Olympic history, and John B. Flanagan, another Olympic superstar of the early 1900s, were the only deceased athletes chosen for the hall.

Life Begins at Age 30 In Tony C Comeback

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. (UPI) — After 3 1/2 seasons removed from baseball, Tony Conigliaro happily is finding his "latest" life begins at 30.

"I just turned 30 and I decided I still could have a lot of baseball left in me," says Conigliaro who is working hard with the Boston Red Sox in spring training on yet another comeback from an eye injury resulting from a beating nearly eight years ago.

"I was almost scary at first, thinking about going to spring training again, but now that I'm here and making good progress, I'm ready to start the season. I feel comfortable and, yes, even confident."

The Conigliaro story has been the underlying source of curiosity at the Red Sox camp although none of the players or the manager, Darrell Johnson, care to talk too much about it.

Perhaps that's because Conigliaro made a similar comeback in 1969 from the Jack Hamilton fastball that nearly cost him his eyesight.

But after two productive seasons, Conigliaro was dealt to the California Angels where, in 1971, the eye problems recurred, forcing him out of baseball once again.

"It was in 1973 that I began to realize my vision was 'coming back,'" Conigliaro explains. "I took an eye test and found I could see something like 20-15 vision in both eyes. That's how much it had improved."

"So I called the Red Sox

Designated Runner Battle in A's Camp

MESA, Ariz. (UPI) — No other team besides the Oakland A's has a designated runner.

Don Hopkins, just obtained from Montreal, and Herb Washington, who held the unusual position last season, may be fighting for one spot on the squad.

Hopkins stole 56 bases in the minors last year and accumulated 221 in four seasons. He has yet to attempt a steal in two spring games.

Washington was browned out by Chicago Cub catcher Steve Swisher Sunday in a 5-0 Oakland win at Scottsdale and now is 12 for 19 in attempts this spring.

Important Victory Scored by Bullets

NEW YORK (UPI) — Elvin Hayes' 37-point performance Sunday afternoon gave the Washington Bullets an important National Basketball Association victory over the Chicago Bulls in a nationally televised game between division leaders.

Hayes' output in the 94-82 victory, which kept Washington ahead of idle Boston in the dust for the best record in the NBA, more than made up for four-point performance by Phil Chenier, his most offensive showing of the season.

"When one player is off, you have to put on as much pressure as possible," explained Hayes, who missed his season-high point total by two. "You've got to just play your game, run your patterns and hope things work out."

Hayes had 10 first-quarter points and led at halftime as Washington surged to a 46-35 lead. The 6-foot-9, seven-year veteran then scored 17 third-quarter points as the Bullets expanded their lead to 74-60.

"We got help from everybody," Hayes said. "Jimmy (Jones) came in and took up the slack. His back-to-back baskets in the third period really helped. And Kevin (Porter) continued to score from outside or get the ball inside."

Porter had 12 points and the league leader in assists helped out on 11 baskets to close to within two of the Bullets' all-time mark of 606 set by Archie Clark in 1971-72.

Race to the Wire

NEW YORK (UPI) — John Y. Brown, the Kentucky Colonels' vocal and dynamic owner, has had some wide-ranging and controversial remarks attributed to him over the years. Sunday, his team almost clocked in on one of them.

Kentucky's been making a late bid for the ABA East title, including two critical victories last week over the rival New York Nets. Brown said recently he would like to see his team go against the Nets and the other top teams every night rather than, say, watch his team beat Memphis by 50 points.

Two Hoop Giants Seek NCAA Title

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — UCLA and Kentucky, the two giants in college basketball history with 13 national championships between them, collide in the finals of the 37th annual NCAA tournament tonight, with the Bruins hoping to send John Wooden off into retirement with his 10th title in a dozen years.

At 64, the famed "Wizard of Westwood" has disclosed that he will step down after 27 years as the Bruins' coach, an announcement that has overshadowed the tournament itself.

Although each club has extraordinary height, the game is being billed as a match-up between UCLA's quickness and finesse and Kentucky's brute strength and depth.

The national championship game at the Sports Arena will begin at 6:10 p.m. PDT and will be shown on national television (NBC). Louisville and Syracuse, the two losers in the semifinals Saturday, will meet for third place at 3:35 p.m.

With nine and four titles respectively, UCLA and Kentucky lead a parade of 21 schools that have captured NCAA championships. In the first title game at Northwestern in 1959, Oregon's "Tall Firs" beat Ohio State, 48-33.

Who Will Succeed Wooden?

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Who will replace John Wooden as UCLA's basketball coach? That question is even overshadowing tonight's UCLA-Kentucky matchup for the NCAA basketball championship.

TOWN OF MANCHESTER, CONNECTICUT
March 25, 1975

TO: BOARD OF DIRECTORS
FROM: R. B. WEISS, GENERAL MANAGER
SUBJECT: Tentative Budget and Budget Message
Fiscal Year Beginning July 1, 1975

The General Fund budget that follows presents a program of operation reflecting a continuation of Town services at or below the present level. To maintain this level of service will require a budget totaling $21,997,731 or an increase of $1,117,012 compared with estimated expenditures for 1974-75, or $1,931,195 compared with the approved budget as of December 31, 1974. Percentage increase is 5.1% or 9.4% respectively. This compares with the national inflation rate of over 12%. A mill rate of 54.8 will support this budget requiring an increase of 5.5 mills. The increase in expenditures requests inflationary forces or contractual agreements over which we have very little control. With the exception of the addition of a Laboratory Technician in the Water Department required to enable us to meet Federal Testing Standards, the retention of the carpenter presently funded by the Emergency Employment Act who is working at the Nike Site, and one additional School Crossing Guard, no new personnel is recommended. In the Highway Department three positions have been eliminated and some have been shifted around to achieve greater operational effectiveness.

The General Fund budget categorically breaks down as follows:

Table with 3 columns: 1974-75, 1975-76, Increase (Decrease). Rows include General Government, Board of Education, etc.

In addition to the above, the Fire District will require an increase of .8 mills to fund its budget which also reflects no added personnel. The Sewer budget will require an increase of .125 of the water bill to maintain the required service level.

The tax increase required to maintain the present level of services does not satisfy me and I am sure the Board of Directors will want to examine possible service cut backs in order to reduce the mill rate. This will require difficult policy decisions which I feel, if made, should be as a result of close working relationships between this office and the Board of Directors. Each mill represents approximately $288,000 so you can see the difficult task facing me.

Our Grand List shows a lower than normal increase and the freezing of various categories of property taxes with a calculated adjustment by the State further contributes to increase our property tax rates.

As an estimated overall Revenue Sharing receipts at the same level as in the current year. This could change within an amount but we will not know what our allocation is until late April.

We have allocated $65,000 of these funds for general fund operation, and approximately $50,000 from last year, and $45,000 for special projects - up from $41,000 last year.

COMMENTS ON FACTORS AFFECTING REVENUES
The current Net Taxable Grand List for October 1, 1974 shows an increase of $4,440,538 above the October 1, 1973 Grand List. As the 1974-75 General Fund tax rate of 69.3 mills, this represents an increase of $215,918 to the Grand List. In a similar manner, the Grand List increase for the Fire District Special Fund amounted to $4,559,286 which would produce an additional $23,987 in tax revenues (The Fire District Special Fund Grand List increased more than the combined Grand List because of a decrease in the Grand List in the Eighth District.)

Under the 1974-75 State of Connecticut reimbursement for exempted personal property, is expected to produce a net revenue of $175,000 for the General Fund and $10,000 for the Fire District Special Fund. Overall, revenues from the State and Federal Sources categories, both non-educational and educational related, show changes over last year's budgeted amounts.

On the other hand, interest on investments is expected to be about $50,000 lower due to lower interest rates which are expected to continue into 1975-76.

Taking everything into consideration, revenues for 1975-76 from all sources other than taxes and Revenue Sharing are expected to be about $167,000 above comparable estimates in the 1974-75 budget.

For fiscal year 1974-75, we expect actual total revenues to be close to estimates. One revenue source, the State of Connecticut Grant for Special Education was received in an amount $120,000 above the estimate. This one amount has been allocated out several areas where revenues are expected to be below estimates as you will see in Tax Revenue Detail.

As we incurred unforeseen expenses which have made this year a difficult one. Among these were the $60,000 allocated to rebuild the Woodbridge Street Bridge, a similar amount for increased Street light costs and increased costs for utilities, fuels and chemicals.

CAPITAL IMPROVEMENTS - CURRENT
The following capital improvements are recommended to be funded from Revenue Sharing funds. Your attention is directed to the six year capital improvement budget for further detailed information.

Twenty men and women of MACC representing the board of directors, divisions and sub-committees gathered for an all day retreat at St. Bartholomew Convent March 13.

The work sessions, designed by Rev. Felix Davis and Gini Harris of Second Congregational, Rev. Paul Tringue of the Church of Assumption, and Judy Torstenson of Emanuel Lutheran, were based on the ideas and suggestions of the delegates which poured out during the annual meeting.

The ideas proposed by the delegates at the annual meeting fell into four major categories which are as follows:

Learning: parent effectiveness training, clergy conferences, lay leadership workshops, chaplain's study group on crisis response, lay ministry education, more Judeo-Christian dialogues, living room dialogues, visiting between church school classes.

Service projects: sponsor 100 housing units for the elderly, establish a local Hospice, ministry to single and lonely, World Hunger program, ministry to convalescent home needs, continue yearly calendar events, support multi-service clinic, encourage better delegate representation, set up ad hoc committee (inter-divisional) to evaluate and improve communication for MACC.

Worship: ecumenical folk service, summer outdoor service, and mid-week interdenominational service, ecumenical Sunday night at different churches, Lenten services at hospital, Thanksgiving service, Easter Sunrise Service, interchurch small prayer groups in homes.

Sharing and caring projects: clergy-counseling network, retreat experience for all delegates, post high school youth group, full-time chaplaincy at MMH (being developed), minister exchange, unemployed support system, more breakfast meetings (MACC and town), teen dialogue, shut-in visitation, agency referral list, summer daycamp, Connecticut Prison Association sponsorship, Emergency food shelf, teen-age dropout center.

During one of the morning sessions, the retreat group broke into three working bodies each developing just one of the many ideas suggested by the delegates. Some basic planning was done in these three areas: chaplain's study group on crisis response, parent effectiveness training workshop, and developing interfaith prayer groups in homes.

Additional ideas developed included mini-retreats for divisions, semi-annual retreats for the board, building group maintenance skills in division and board meetings, gratitude to the planning team who spent many hours of pre-retreat planning and to the sisters for their hospitality.

Holocaust Sunday
Many Christian churches in Connecticut will join with the Jewish community observing Sunday as Holocaust Sunday to perpetuate the memory of the 6 million Jews who perished at the hands of the Nazis during World War II.

To our Jewish brethren this day was "Yom Hasho'ah" Holocaust Day. Recognizing that the existential, central character of the Holocaust has been permanently embedded in Jewish thought and memory. Christians have also begun to measure the awesome impact of the Holocaust on the gentile world. Information on appropriate materials to be used in worship and study may be obtained by calling the conference office.

Emergency Pantry
Shelving in the Pantry is up, thanks to the weekend work of Eddie Goss and Nick Cataldo and stacking by Irene Goss, Kitty Cataldo and Helen Brooks.

Pantry hours are: Monday, 10 a.m.-noon; Tuesday and Friday 1 to 4 p.m.

Anyone needing assistance is asked to contact his clergyman, the Department of Social Services or State Welfare office (on state aid of any kind.) Your clergyman or welfare worker will complete a request form that the volunteer in the pantry will fill. The Pantry will also be opened on an emergency basis. Items it could use are peanut butter, jelly, instant milk and baby food.

World Hunger
A meeting for high school students throughout the state who are concerned with world hunger will be held Sunday at East Catholic High School from 1 to 4 o'clock. The conference is being held to educate some students in each high school to the magnitude of the problem and what students can do to help. The conference is being sponsored by the East Catholic Hunger Action Committee and the Connecticut Hunger Action Coalition.

Next meeting of the Manchester Council on World Hunger, Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at Center Congregational Church.

Commentary: Taking on the Corporations

By DAVID E. ANDERSON
UPI Religion Writer
The long struggle waged by many church people against the war in Vietnam has had at least some fallout—a growing skepticism about the role large corporations play in both American and international life.

This concern also dovetailed with other issues that were being raised in the churches such as the role American corporations were playing in aiding white-minority rule in South Africa and Rhodesia. The result was the formation of "conscience coalitions," voting church investment proxies at corporate stockholders' meeting for resolutions aimed at changing a firm's policy with regard to weapons manufacture and overseas investment.

The movement did not end with the end of direct American involvement in Vietnam. Several church groups have already announced that they will be voting proxies at this spring's round of shareholder meetings and the Friends and

According to Riesch, the Corporate Action Project is trying to serve "as a resource center for a whole network of activist groups."

"Corporate capitalism is at a dead end," he said, adding that people are looking for economic institutions that "fill a community need and that people can participate in and have some control over."

As a resource group, the CAP's first major project has been the publication of the "Corporate Action Guide," a 100 page booklet analyzing the rise and impact of corporate power and suggests ways local groups can investigate the role of corporations in their local communities.

The guide looks at the role of corporations in America, on a global scale and also goes inside corporations to explain how policies are created and implemented.

WEST MIDDLE TURNPIKE — PRICES EFFECTIVE IN MANCHESTER — MANCHESTER PARKADE

Failure to Detect Radiation Leak Blamed on Monitor

HARTFORD (UPI) — Northeast Utilities said Saturday radiation that leaked into a nuclear power plant heating system went undetected because a monitor designed to spot such a leak was not operating.

Northeast, owner of the Millstone nuclear power station where the leak was discovered Thursday, said there was no harm done but gave no explanation of why the detector wasn't working.

Co-Ed Dorm Extended At UConn

Northeast said the contamination leaked into a steam pipe from a radiation waste concentrator and should have been immediately detected and isolated.

The contamination was discovered when a tank holding steam condensed from the heating system overflowed onto the boiler room floor of the number one unit.

An employe walked through the water and the radiation was discovered on his shoes when he passed through a monitor while leaving the area.

A complete survey of other plant operating personnel was made and about 1,200 construction workers were sent home after being checked for radiation to allow a survey of the number two unit which they were building.

The water that overflowed from the heating system passed through a floor drain and mixed with a normal flow of 400,000 gallons per minute of condenser cooling water going to Long Island Sound.

Northeast said the unplanned release of radiation was 5 per cent of the daily average allowed by regulatory authorities. The firm said it also released, according to plan, that day other quantities of radioactivity in water totaling 30 per cent of the amount allowed by authorities. Northeast said that at no time was there "any danger to the health and safety of plant operating personnel, construction workers or the public." Northeast said the heating system was being flushed and cleaned.

STORRS (UPI) —

Coeeducational dormitory living will be extended at the University of Connecticut in the fall semester when two dorms will have male and female students living on the same floors.

Present co-ed dorm rules permit male and female students to live on alternate floors. Rules also permit men and women to visit around the clock.

Jane Lowell, assistant to the dean for resident student affairs, said the change was made at the request of students. The dormitories selected have separate toilet facilities on each floor.

Ms. Lowell said men and women living in the same dorms have "brother and sister relationships" rather than sexual ties. Ms. Lowell said that eventually 36 of the 86 undergraduate dorms will be coeducational.

Another change planned for September will be to permit sophomores to live where they choose, meaning that only freshmen will be required to live in dormitories, except under special circumstances.
