

Collins Praises Plea Bargaining In Court System

Assistant Prosecutor William B. Collins spoke to the Rotary Club of South Windsor Wednesday night and praised plea bargaining, explained the process, and warned the men not to drive fast in Manchester at night.

Collins, 46, of Glastonbury has a law practice in Manchester and is an assistant prosecutor in the Common Pleas Court 12 now holding all its criminal and motor vehicle cases in East Hartford.

His court takes cases from the five towns of South Windsor, Manchester, Marlborough, Glastonbury and East Hartford. Collins began his talk to the packed meeting Wednesday with a few facts about the court he has served since his appointment in 1968.

His court is "the people's court," he said. It handles 85 to 90 per cent of all criminal matters arising in the five towns. And it takes 100 per cent of all motor vehicle cases.

He told them they were all likely to have some contact with the court some day. "You may have a drink now and get arrested driving home," he said. "Maybe your child will get in trouble."

Collins said few cases are tried to conclusion. Most often when a person is convicted of a crime, he first pleads guilty to it.

The bargaining comes as the prosecutor and the accused's attorney argue as to what he will plead guilty.

Collins said he often uses the plea bargaining system today. "This is often the beginning of plea bargaining, a very simple system today."

Diaper Keeps His Kite Up

John Odum keeps his conventional style kite up with a watchful eye and the aid of a tall made of old diaper. He and his father, Earl, of 46 Bruce Rd., tried to fly the kite on Charter Oak Field but the shifting winds kept bringing it down. The diaper tall saved the day and the kite stayed up for nearly an hour. (Herald photo by Barlow)

TODAY'S THOUGHT

On the Resurrection day, Jesus Christ lifted up His wounded hands in blessing upon His disciples. He bled and died that He might bless.

On the following Sunday He held out His wounded hands to Thomas in proof that He was the Christ. With wounded hands He broke bread for His disciples and then they recognized the token "and their eyes were opened to the price Jesus paid for the remission and forgiveness of our sins."

Hunger Awareness Topic of Parley

The East Catholic Hunger Action Committee and the Connecticut Hunger Action Coalition will sponsor a statewide conference for concerned high school students and teachers Sunday at East Catholic High School.

The purpose of the conference is to educate students and teachers toward developing "Hunger Awareness" programs in their respective schools.

The program will begin at 1 p.m. with a slide presentation by Jay April, faculty member at East Catholic. Participants will then divide into workshops on various aspects of world hunger.

Workshops will be conducted by Alison Smith, a representative from O.F.A.M.-AMERICA, Mr. and Mrs. Noel Brown from the Heifer Project; Margaret Johnson

NEWS FOR SENIOR CITIZENS

Howdy! Here we go again, and the first bit of news is to remind you folks who are going to the big city to see the Easter Show Thursday that you must be at the Senior Center at 8 o'clock, or no later than 8:15 in the morning.

Now it's going to be a long day, especially before you have your big dinner, so by leaving at 8:30, the buses will be able to stop around noontime for you all to buy yourself a snack. You can bring your own goodies if you wish. However, just be ready to roll at 8:30 a.m.

Next, we must start pushing to fill the third bus for the first week in Wildwood, N.J. So far, we only have 20 going, and I'd hate to have to tell them they can't go. We must fill the bus in order to go, because the price is figured out, and prorated accordingly, and anything less than a full bus would make the price much too high.

We are opening it up to outsiders now, so pass the word around, and bear in mind that Wildwood is just far enough south to be nice, even the first week in June. Also, for $85 which include bus fare, motel, and all meals, plus entertainment, how can you go wrong?

Bowling

News here starts with our Senior Bowling League at the Parkade Lanes with the following results:

In Men's Class A Group, Andy Lamoureux won both honors with a 570 for high triple and a 238 for the high single. In the Class B Group, James Gleason won the high triple with a 425, and David Stone won the high single with a 183.

In the Women's Class A Group, Mary Picant won both the high triple with a 412 and the high single with a 167. In the Class B Group, Marion Gouin won both honors with a 340 for the high triple and 157 for the high single. Nice going folks, keep it up.

Next came Wednesday, and in the morning we had nine tables for pinocchle with the following lucky winners:

Lyla Steele, 59; Martha LaBate, 88; Bessie Coste, 64; Alice Anderson, 57; Paul Schuetz and Robina Carroll, 57; John Phelps, 66; John Dwyer, 54; Ciel Benson, 54 and Clara Hemingway, 57.

In the afternoon, it was bridge games with the following prize winners:

Jack Owen, 450; Eugene Toch, 380; Irene Poisy, 370 and Marjorie McLain, 290.

Bermuda Trip

Here is an important reminder for you. As we draw closer to our up and coming Bermuda trip, your final payments are due, in fact they must be paid by the end of this coming week. It's just around the corner, and I believe we can take a few more names if anyone is interested. Man, I can't hardly wait to climb aboard.

Thursday rolled in with lots of wind and rain, and it was reported to us that Emil Pitt and Walter Kohls are patients at the Manchester Memorial Hospital.

We spent the afternoon playing cards and going to the races.

In the evening we had our Nationality Night with a record attendance. The meal and entertainment will have to be written about in our next column.

Gloria Home

Here is the latest on Gloria. She arrived home Thursday, and will be back with us this Monday.

We wish to send our heartfelt condolences to the family of Rusch Didan who passed away last Wednesday.

Next Thursday for entertainment cameraman, Nils Carlson, will show slides, some of which will be a preview of our recent Variety Show.

Golf League

The Senior Golf League will have an organizational meeting

For Period Ending 7 AM EST Sunday. During Saturday night, rain will be expected in the western portions of California and eastern Texas, while snow and/or snow flurries will occur in northern Rockies, northern Plains and the upper New England area. Clear to partly cloudy elsewhere. Minimum readings include: (approx. max. temperatures in parentheses) Atlanta 34 (60), Boston 32 (50), Chicago 32 (53), Cleveland 33 (48), Dallas 59 (73), Denver 29 (54), Duluth 15 (31), Houston 64 (76), Jacksonville 65 (80), Kansas City 45 (69), Little Rock 44 (66), Los Angeles 41 (61), Miami 71 (79), Minneapolis 27 (45), New Orleans 56 (75), New York 32 (55), Phoenix 44 (75), San Francisco 46 (54), Seattle 36 (50), St. Louis 40 (64) and Washington 35 (64) degrees.

Construction Costs $941,805 for March

The estimated cost of Manchester construction last month was about $1.2 million, figures released by the building inspector's office indicate.

However, if one doesn't consider the $1,894,000 permit in 1974 for Squire Village on Spencer St., construction costs last month were far ahead those of March last year.

The figures released are $941,805 for March 1975 and $2,049,069 for March 1974. The total was $1,209,344 in March 1973.

Almost half of last month's total — $482,000 — was for 42 apartment units in three buildings on Henry St. by Raymond F. Damato.

Permits were issued also last month for 11 one-family dwellings, 7 tool sheds, 5 signs, 3 fences, 2 swimming pools, 3 alterations and additions, 4 demolitions, 30 certificates of occupancy, and 45 electrical, 23 heating and 18 plumbing projects.

Ramsdell To Be Honored

Dr. Raymond E. Ramsdell, superintendent of schools, will be presented with a Distinguished Service Award at the fifth annual awards dinner of the Greater Hartford Council on Economic Education, Monday, in Windsor.

Dr. Ramsdell is one of nine educators who are to be honored for outstanding interest and service to the cause of contributing information to increase the understanding of economics in this society.

Dr. Robert Linstone, assistant superintendent for curriculum and instruction in the Vernon school system, will be the 1974 recipient of this award.

Clarinettist Sets Senior Recital

Deborah Marceau, clarinetist, of Vernon will present her senior recital Monday at 8:15 p.m. in Von der Meulen Recital Hall at the University of Connecticut.

She will be assisted by pianist Barbara Beutcher and flutist Pamela Saich, both junior music majors from Vernon, and violist Laura Rausch, a sophomore music student from Danbury.

Miss Marceau and her colleagues will perform selections by Dumbell, LaComa, Bosza, Mozart and von Weber.

Miss Marceau is a student of UConn lecturer Louis Slowiny. In addition to playing with the UConn Concert Band, she has been a member of several "all star" bands.

After graduation, Miss Marceau plans to move to Germany to study piano tuning and instrument repair.

Manchester Evening Herald OPINION

Tax Plans Divert Us From Real Problem

What is the great attraction so many politicians have for a graduated tax according to miles per gallon on automobiles?

"I think it has those qualities politicians like.

These are patriotism, indirectness, and ability to pay.

Let us explain. What can be more patriotic than a tax to discourage purchase of gasoline-wasting cars in these times of energy crisis?

What is more indirect than a registration fee-tax, which like all the current fees and taxes involved in the purchase of a vehicle, become submerged into the magic monthly installment that we Americans use to drive the car of our choice and keep ourselves in debt from adolescence to the grave?

And, what we ask is more reasonable than a graduated tax on horsepower or miles per gallon on those who can afford the higher priced gas guzzlers can also afford the tax? But to really understand the fascination for the horse-power or miles-per-gallon tax approach toward energy conservation by politicians you have to understand the alternatives.

Gasoline rationing presumably could achieve the same goal by forcing the guy who is on the go into the car that will get him there within his gasoline quota. But it makes people mad.

Higher gasoline taxes are under study too and in a nonpolitical sense may be a more effective energy conservator than the car tax. We say this because higher gas prices would decrease consumption in gas guzzlers already on the road. We doubt there is enough political courage in any state or Washington to slap a penalty-type tax on existing late model gas guzzlers that patriotic recession fighting Americans bought in good faith. But unless there is some rebate for the poor working stiff, the gas tax is not politically popular either.

One law we would point out in the effort to conserve petroleum by any means is that success does not mean we will be able to be a nation riding on a 100 or more million sets of wheels forever.

If we are to achieve energy independence it won't be in a 60-mile-per-gallon car but more likely in a functional network of nonpetroleum powered 60-passenger buses.

We think until our leaders grasp this fundamental aspect of the energy crisis; horsepower taxes, miles-per-gallon taxes, gasoline taxes, and even rationing are mere political sideshows to divert us from the fact they cannot define the problem, let alone solve it.

This is the only explanation we can accept for the absence of an overall national energy policy in April 1975, a good 18 months since the Arab Oil Embargo in the fall of 1973 exposed our energy vulnerability.

'Shriver's Already Running'

WASHINGTON — This was in Duke Zeibert's sporty watering hole, and the speaker was the same old pal of Sen. Henry Jackson who last October tried to be $50 that Sargent Shriver would go after the Democratic Presidential nomination.

"I should be $50 richer now," he said gloomily. "Shriver's already running. You don't think he went to Russia just to sample the carrier, do you?" He sighed. "Well, Jackson could do without a member of the Kennedy clan in the race."

The reference to Russia was apt. Shriver has been to the Soviet Union on business trips, but this excursion was at the invitation of Russian leaders, and he even delivered what was described as a "major" foreign policy speech. The trip was the kind of thing Presidential candidates make to identify themselves in the public eye as having more than a nodding acquaintance with international affairs.

At any rate, there is a report going the rounds that Shriver, who married Eunice Kennedy, has received a "reluctant" okay from Sen. Teddy Kennedy and other members of the clan to seek the Democratic nomination. A Shriver candidacy next year, of course, would be a complication to Teddy's ambitions, but maybe the clan could figure out no way to keep him under wraps.

Coincidentally, an aide to Mayor Richard Daley of Chicago — who has privately fingered Shriver as his man — reported that Shriver had told Daley he would run. Daley, who would prefer Kennedy, was described as "happy."

If all the above is gill-gidded, the other Democratic candidates have their work cut out for them. All have what George Gallup calls a "recognition" problem. Gallup's latest poll shows Shriver is much better known around the country even than Scoop Jackson, who has been getting his name in the papers for more than 20 years.

Part of this high recognition is due to Shriver's identity as a Kennedy by tradition. But Sarge is not merely one of the clan's in-laws. He was director of the Peace Corps and boss of the antipoverty Office of Economic Opportunity when those two outfits were at the height of their mass popularity. State Department people grudgingly concede that he was a competent and sometimes brilliant ambassador to France. He has business experience as a former manager of Chicago's Merchandise Mart.

But most important, political seers agree Shriver could command the kind of support a Democratic Presidential candidate needs to win in 1976. He's got backers among blacks, and among the blue-collar voters. While not unattractive to the volatile Left, he has considerable credit with the Democratic bosses, most of whom consider him a party regular.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

It is human nature to want to be remembered — not to be forgotten. Birthdays, anniversaries of all kinds, all have fragrant memories for every individual and we always try to remember special events in the lives of our dear ones. This, however, is not the kind of remembrance that Jesus was speaking of as He addressed His disciples in the upper room when He said "Do this in remembrance of me." The remembrance of who Christ was and what He stood for is a remembrance that we should carry with us each every day. It is a living remembrance that has no time to be relegated to a special day in our lives. The Rev. Bruce W. Jacques St. Mary's Episcopal Church

Congressional Quarterly Report Congressmen Pushing Nursing Home Reforms

By Elizabeth Bonnar

WASHINGTON — Seeing the momentum created by new reports of nursing home abuses in New York, several key members of Congress are pushing legislation to improve the care received by the more than one million elderly Americans living in nursing homes.

The reform drive is spearheaded by Democrat Frank E. Most of Utah, chairman of the Senate Special Committee on Aging's Subcommittee on Long-Term Care. Based on five years of study, the subcommittee recently concluded that more than half of U.S. nursing homes had serious and life-threatening violations of state or federal standards. It cites abuses ranging from deliberate physical injury of patients to misuse of drugs.

Most rejects arguments that Congress should wait until final action on national health insurance legislation — not expected until 1978 — to make changes in nursing home operations. Arguing that "none of these proposals is very complicated or very controversial," he predicts approval of many reforms this year.

Charles H. Percy of Illinois, the top Republican on the subcommittee, also sees no reason to delay action. "The costs are so relatively small," he contends. "And the momentum is going now. This is the time to strike."

Proposals Legislation proposed by Most and an ally in the House, Democrat Edward L. Koch of New York, would attack nursing home problems in several ways. Many of the bills would provide better training for often unskilled nursing home personnel, strengthen enforcement of federal standards and crack down on profiteering by nursing home operators.

Another key part of the legislative package would expand federal funding of alternative types of care that could keep many elderly persons out of institutions. The alternatives include health care provided in the home, day care for the elderly and "campuses" for the elderly with central medical facilities.

The proposals address major shortcomings in the Medicare program for the aged. The program provides coverage for the poor, which now pay more than half of the nation's annual $7.5-billion nursing home bill. Neither program provides much coverage for alternative types of care and, ironically, the Medicare program for the aged provides no nursing home care for elderly patients not requiring round-the-clock medical attention.

Even though the federal government pays the largest portion of nursing home costs, enforcement of federal standards under both programs is lax to state inspectors by law. Critics contend that the federal standards are meaningless because state enforcement is so lax.

Legislative Prospects The timetable for legislative action will be up to the Senate Finance and House Ways and Means committees, which have jurisdiction over Medicare and Medicaid. Moss said he has no commitments from

Hard-Hearted Kremlin

Hardly a week seems to pass but that the iron grip which the Soviet government maintains over the lives of its citizens is not exposed in all its petty vindictiveness and viciousness.

Recently, for example, there was the touching story of actress Victoria Fyodorova, the "love child" of a World War II romance between an American admiral stationed in Moscow and a Russian actress.

The girl's simple request for a visa to visit the father she had never seen was at first refused, but abruptly granted.

The other day, nuclear physicist Andrei D. Sakharov, who because of his international renown is one of the few Soviet citizens who dares to speak his mind, reported that the authorities had refused to let his wife visit specialists in Italy for treatment of a wartime eye injury that threatens to leave her blind.

"We can only appeal to the world now," says Sakharov. "There is nothing else."

If world opinion has any influence in the Kremlin, and it has in the past, perhaps Mrs. Sakharov will be one of the few lucky ones. How many other such stories must there be that no one ever hears about, of ordinary Russians who merely ask for the same basic human rights people in any decent country take for granted?

Dear editor: I too am a concerned citizen "with some gray in my hair" anguished by the statistics reflecting marked increase in vandalism, violence, and burglaries by young people. But, I would caution my fellow generation and other adults against focusing too narrowly on these symptoms and, instead, would encourage us all to continue to identify and remediate their causes.

Admittedly these are difficult times and it is understandable that many of us want to retreat and re-emphasize rigid approaches to discipline and punishment which may be to temporarily effective but in the long run — as in the past — will prove ineffectual in solving the ills of our society.

Why should adults be surprised that young people are in trouble? Generations mirror each other. Whom do we respect? Who are our heroes? What are our values? What do we still believe in? Whence our despair and depression? Unless adults

THE ONLY way to get at King Faisal was through a member of his family who could move freely in the palace, Jordan, Iran, have doubtless been put on warning by the implied threat in the assassination. One of the incalculable elements in Middle East society is the dilemma of the moderate ruler who feels he must moderate his economy and society, but who is thereby opening his young people to the revolutionary ideas that may dissolve his society and undercut his rule.

As for the United States, its campuses — especially in the middle and late '60s — became the front-line carriers of these ideas. Ironically, it is not the first time in history that a civilization has bred and exported its own gravediggers.

There are divergent reports about how interested the prince was in the intense PLO-oriented politics of the Arab students on the American campuses. Even if we assumed that his interest was only marginal — and it could have been more — it is still a half century ago that he was reached for acts of terrorism. His heirs from San Francisco to Boulder to Berkeley and back to Riyadh was bound to mark him in Arab circles as someone worth watching and perhaps using.

The rest is a still unrevealed chapter of history, whose world impact cannot yet be measured. King Faisal's dominant personality is unlikely to be replaced. ## Celtics Win 'Beautiful' Game over Washington

NEW YORK (UPI) — K.C. Jones separated himself from the Washington Bullets' biggest loss of the season and called the game with the Boston Celtics "beautiful." "To put it succinctly, it was beautiful, a fantastic game," said Jones Friday night after the Celtics' 89-84 win that could lead to Boston topping Washington for the best record in the National Basketball Association.

"Both teams were working all the way; that's what you like to see. The game turned around in the last 15 seconds when Boston got the ball and was decided in the last four seconds when (Dave) Cowens made the shot" from the top of the key.

Cowens' unmoisted jumper, made possible when John Havlicek decided not to call a time out as Coach Tom Heinsohn had requested, gave Boston a season record of 59-22 with one game remaining tonight against the 76ers at Philadelphia.

The second-place finisher will play Buffalo in a best-of-seven playoff series while the first-place team will meet the victor of a three-game series between the fourth- and fifth-place teams in the Eastern Conference.

Elsewhere, Milwaukee downed New York 108-101. Buffalo kayoed Philadelphia 108-97, Chicago ripped New Orleans 108-87, Golden State whipped Phoenix 128-99, Seattle beat Los Angeles 111-102 and Portland defeated KC-Omah 116-110.

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scored 33 points and Bob Danridge added 29 to lead Milwaukee. The loss meant the Knicks must beat Buffalo in Madison Square Garden Sunday and Cleveland must lose to Kansas City-Omaha in Omaha for New York to make the playoffs.

Cougars Wind Up Beating Whalers

CHICAGO (UPI) — First-period goals by defenseman Jim Watson and player-coach Pat Stapleton, plus strong goaltending by Dave Dryden, enabled the Chicago Cougars to close their regular home season Friday night with a 3-1 WHA win over the New England Whalers.

The victory was only the 18th posted by Chicago on home ice this season; the main reason the Cougars dropped out of playoff contention 10 days ago.

New England, the Eastern Division leaders, made a strong effort to win the contest. They lead in a struggle with Quebec for most season points 91-90 to gain home-ice advantage in the playoffs.

Watson opened the scoring for Chicago at 16:12 when he put a 50-foot ice hugger through a crowd to beat New England goalie Bruce Lundan. Eighty-three seconds later, Stapleton passed to Francois Rochon, then broke for the net to accept a return feed and a goal on the short side of the net.

The Rangers now lead the Islanders, who play Philadelphia tonight, by two goals and the two New York teams square off in their regular-season finale Sunday.

"It's a shame that Atlanta didn't make the playoffs," said Francis. "Their 83 points are more than what three playoff teams in other divisions have."

"I'm not interested in points," fumed unhappy Atlanta Coach Fred Creighton. "All that counts

Braves 108, 76ers 97
Bob McAdoo scored 37 points to pace Buffalo. McAdoo, the league's MVP, hit 17 of 24 from the field and hauled in 12 rebounds as the Braves earned a chance at their first 50-win campaign in five NBA seasons. Buffalo has a 49-32 record with one game to play.

Bulls 111, Jazz 87
Norm Van Lier scored a game-high 32 points and Tom Boerwinkle, starting his third game of the season, equalled a season scoring high of 17 to help Chicago clinch its first NBA Midwest Division championship. Pete Maravich scored 31 points for New Orleans.

Warriors 128, Suns 99
Rick Barry scored 29 points for Golden State to assure the Warriors the best record in the Western Conference and a bye in the first round of the playoffs. Butch Beard had 20 points, Keith Wilkes 18 and Charlie Johnson 17 for Golden State. Mike Manton was high scorer for Phoenix with 22.

Sonics 111, Lakers 102
Rookies Tom Burleson and Leonard Gray scored 25 and 20 points, respectively, for Seattle to give the Sonics the home-court advantage against Detroit in the first round of the NBA playoffs. Earlier this week, the Sonics clinched the first playoff berth in their eight-year history. The loss was the Lakers' 51st in 81 games and assured them of finishing last in the Pacific Division. It also guaranteed them an opportunity (via a coin flip) to select first in the college draft next month.

Bleazers 116, Kings 110
Geoff Petrie and Keith Vanier combined for 59 points to lead Portland to its ninth straight win at home and its first victory of the season over the Kings.

Ranger Strategy Paid Off Double

NEW YORK (UPI) — Emile Francis' strategy paid off double for New York's National Hockey League playoff chances. When the New York Rangers' coach masterminded a come-from-behind 3-2 Friday night victory over the Atlanta Flames, it put both New York teams — the Rangers and the Islanders — into the playoffs.

"Anytime you go against a team with less talent than the wall, you know you have your work cut out," Ranger Coach Francis said. "We had a very hard, very physical game at Philadelphia the night before (the Rangers and Flyers tied 1-1 Thursday night) and didn't get into Atlanta until 3 a.m."

The Rangers played like a tired team the first two periods and Atlanta jumped into a 2-0 lead with first-period goals by Tom Lysiak and Roy Conacher. But the Rangers erupted in the final period.

"We figured that if we could get a quick goal, Atlanta might start pressing a bit," said Francis. "Remember, they needed a win worse than we did."

Jean Ratelle got that quick goal only 29 seconds into the first period and 1:40 later Rick Middleton tied the score. Going into Friday night's game, the Rangers and Islanders both had 86 points and Atlanta 83 with all three teams having two games to play. The Flames, 81-2 over their previous 11 games, needed at least a tie to stay in the running for a Stanley Cup berth.

They were denied that tie with only 4:25 left to play when Derek Sanderson drilled a shot past Phil Myre for the winning goal.

The Rangers now lead the Islanders, who play Philadelphia tonight, by two goals and the two New York teams square off in their regular-season finale Sunday.

"It's a shame that Atlanta didn't make the playoffs," said Francis. "Their 83 points are more than what three playoff teams in other divisions have."

Spot on RSox Roster For Tony Conigliaro

WINTER HAVEN Fla. (UPI) — Now that Tony Conigliaro is a major league baseball player once more, he's extending the confidence which made him one of the American League's most feared batsmen a short time ago.

"I think I can be a regular player and help this club," the former home run champion said Friday after being told his comeback bid after more than 10 years out of baseball had been successful.

"I can have a good year, hit a lot of home runs and drive in a lot of runs," Conigliaro, 30, said.

Red Sox Manager Darrell Johnson didn't say specifically Conigliaro would be the designated hitter in the opening day lineup at Fenway Park Tuesday when the Red Sox meet the Milwaukee Brewers, but Executive Vice President Dick O'Connell left little doubt.

"It's none of my business, but I have the impression that Darrell plans to have him as the DH on opening day," O'Connell said.

It isn't likely that either Johnson or O'Connell was as confident in midweek, when they presumably planned to send Conigliaro to the international League Farm club in Pawtucket, R.I. because he hadn't been hitting.

They had to change their minds when Conigliaro began to tear the cover off the ball like the Tony C. of old, who led the American League in home runs in 1965 with 32.

Tony got five hits in two exhibition games, raising his average from .184 to .246 to show Johnson and O'Connell he deserved to be in the majors again.

Deron Johnson, who originally was expected to be kept instead of Conigliaro, was given permission to make his own deal. Mario Guerrero was sold to Tulsa of the American Association. Terry Hughes was sent outright to Pawtucket and Rick Krueger and Lance Clemons were optioned to Pawtucket.

Conigliaro, 30, said.

Happy With Golf Game Weiskopf Ups Margin

GREENSBORO, N. C. (UPI) — Tom Weiskopf, happy with his game once again after a victory over a two-over par 73 Friday that was still good enough for second place at the 140, two under par.

Lee Trevino and Johnny Miller were still within charging distance of Weiskopf going into today's round. Trevino was tied for third place at one-under-par 141 with two young unknowns, Billy Zibro and Perry Leslie. Miller was three bogeys which offset a trio of earlier birdies and left him with an even-par 71 on the 6,700-yard Seaside Golf Club course.

But, coming off his opening round of seven-under-par 64, that was enough. It built his lead from three strokes to five and left him with a 36-hole total of 135, seven under par, as most other golfers had even worse problems with the wind.

One of them was Dave Hill, who won his 11th tournament in the Houston Open last year. He stumbled from a four-under-par 67 in the

Giants' Bryant Retires, Ball Clubs Pare Rosters

NEW YORK (UPI) — Fate first waved its black handkerchief at Ron Bryant two years ago when he won the National League's only 20-game winner yet failed to win the Cy Young Award.

Then last spring, while being flouted by the San Francisco Giants as the league's top southpaw, Bryant slipped at a swimming pool by the club's training base and injured his left shoulder.

He returned triumphantly to the Giants' rotation about a month into the season and finished the year with a 3-15 record...leaving his future status with the club in jeopardy.

Friday he took the matter out of the Giants' hands by retiring.

"I'm just not enjoying baseball anymore," the 27-year-old Bryant said in a hastily called press conference. "I think I'm still capable of pitching but other factors made me change my mind. It's a big relief to me to have made the decision now."

Bryant was just one of a parade of veterans to make unheralded departures from major league training camps Friday as Claude Osteen, Bobby Valentine, Chris Cannizzaro, Dave Roberts and Mario Guerrero also took leaves.

Osteen, 38, author of more victories than any other active National League pitcher except Bob Gibson, was given his outright release by the St. Louis Cardinals, while Valentine, a regular with California last season, was shipped on loan to Pittsburgh's Charleston Triple-A farm club by the Angels on 24-hour recall.

"The structure of our club is defense," said Angels' manager Dick Williams, "and we think Dave Chalk is ahead of Valentine defensively. Bob has a good bat, there's no doubt about that, but he didn't position this spring and he doesn't want to be a back-up pitcher."

Guerrero, a regular at shortstop for Boston until he was beaten out by Rick Burleson, was traded by the opening round to a two-over par 78 Friday that was still good enough for second place at the 140, two under par.

Red Sox to the Cardinals, who in turn assigned him to their Tulsa farm club. St. Louis also sold pitcher Ray Bare to Detroit.

The journeyman Cannizzaro and former No. 1 draft pick Roberts were two of eight players sent to Hawaii of the Pacific Coast League by San Diego, which earlier in the day purchased the contract of Hector Torres from Hawaii and signed veteran catcher Randy Hummel as a free agent. One free agent who did survive the cut was Tony Conigliaro of Boston, who the Red Sox announced would start the season as their designated hitter. Conigliaro is engaged in his second comeback after suffering an eye injury four years ago when he was struck by a pitch from Jack Hamilton.

The Houston Astros placed their leading hitter of last season outfielder Greg Gross on a 15-day disabled list with a chipped bone in his right hand and the New York Mets placed pitcher Bob Apodaca on the 21-day disabled list with an inflamed right elbow.

A number of clubs broke camp and began their northern and westward treks in preparation for the season opens next week, but there were still quite a few more exhibitions.

Many Sanguillen stalled a bases loaded single in the ninth inning to give Pittsburgh a 4-3 victory over the New York Yankees and Eric Crosby drilled a two-run single also in the ninth to give Cleveland a 4-3 win over Oakland.

Larry Hittle and Eric Soderholm belted home runs to lead the Angels to Pittsburgh's Charleston Triple-A farm club by the Angels on 24-hour recall.

Ron Lyle Sued For Divorce

SEVENTH-RANKED heavyweight Ron Lyle, who was named Thursday as the next opponent for world champion Muhammad Ali, was sued for divorce Tuesday. A restraining order which forbids Lyle from disposing of any of the couple's joint assets, destroying any property, especially that of Lyle's business, and from talking, communicating or otherwise molesting her.

A spokesman for Lyle said his attorneys would file a counter-suit, asking the court to issue a restraining order which would request the divorce and ask for a restraining order forbidding his wife from bothering him while he trains for the May 16 fight with Ali in Las Vegas, Nev.

Lyle has been charged with second-degree assault for shooting at his wife March 13. A preliminary hearing had been scheduled on March 28, but was postponed until after his fight.

Lyle was married in May, 1974 after having lived with his wife for four years. She said she and Ron began having troubles after he suffered the first loss of his professional boxing career, a decision to Jerry Quarry in Madison Square Garden on Feb. 8, 1974.

Many close to Lyle felt his wife had a devastating effect on him shortly before the Quarry fight when she called him and said she was taking his child and he could never see the boy, Monty, again.

OBITUARIES 'My Fair Lady' Tune-Full Success

Frank A. Enes
Frank A. Enes, 85, of Wethersfield, formerly of East Hartford, died Friday at St. Francis Hospital, Hartford. He was the brother of Mrs. Anna Shea of Manchester.
He is also survived by two sons, three grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.
The funeral is Monday at 10:15 a.m. from the Callahan Funeral Home, 1602 Main St., East Hartford, with a Mass at St. Mary's Church, East Hartford, at 11. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery, East Hartford.
Friends may call at the funeral home Sunday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.
The family suggests that any memorial contributions may be made to the St. Francis Hospital Association, Hartford.

C. Arthur Ebb
C. Arthur Ebb, 73, of Forestville, father of Mrs. Ernest John Kjellson of 36 Flagg Dr., died morning at Bristol Hospital.
Other survivors are his wife, one son, four brothers, and five grandchildren.
The funeral is Monday at 2 p.m. at the Gloria Dei Lutheran Church, Camp St., Forestville. Friends may call at the Funk Funeral Home, 33 Bellevue Ave., Bristol, Sunday from 3 to 5 and 7 to 9 p.m.
Memorial donations may be made to the Gloria Dei Lutheran Church.

By JUNE TOMPKINS
"I Could Have Sung All Night" the well-known Lerner & Lowe melodies that were presented Friday night by members of the music department at Manchester High School.
It was the department's annual musical presentation, this time "My Fair Lady."
Again, the students and their director, Martha White, joined in a marvelous combination of effort and enthusiasm to produce a colorful and tune-full production.
The songs which have become everyone's favorites—"I Could Have Danced All Night," "Get Me To The Church On Time," "I've Grown Accustomed To Her Face," and others, do literally go round and round in your head afterward.
The young people seemed to adapt to a British accent with ease, of course, the story is about British people in Britain. It concerns an English phoneticist, or professor of language structure, named Henry Higgins, who, on a bet with his colleague Colonel Hugh Pickering, agrees to take in a common flower girl from a London tenement section and make a lady of her in six months.
As Professor Henry Higgins, Jonathan Adams was indeed a dashing, handsome, and "veddy" precise Englishman. His youthful voice had trouble reaching some of the lower robust notes called for in his solos, but otherwise he sang them with clarity and appeal.
Shirley Giraitis was Eliza Doolittle, the young lady who was transformed in manner of speech, dress and bearing under Higgins' tutelage. A little restrained at times with her acting, her pure voice nonetheless captivated the audience.
Scott Price put some delightful comedy into his role of Colonel Pickering. Together with Shirley Giraitis and Jonathan Adams in the "Rain in Spain" number, the result was one of sheer entertainment. The combined song and dance number is one of the highlights in the show.
As Eliza's father, William Matthews performs an impressive, at times comely uncouth, Alfred P. Doolittle who stars in one of the show's best numbers—"Get Me To The Church On Time."
The full ensemble should be noted for their perfectly synchronized performance in the Ascot Gavotte. It is a slow motion "teddibly" dignified reaction to an exciting fashionable horse race.

It is notable that the ensemble, a stage full, is well trained in constant almost imperceptible action whenever in the background supporting a solo performance.
There are others who are commendable in supporting roles, too many to mention individually.
The costumes are gorgeous in the high society scenes. The sets are lavish and well executed.
In spite of all the humor and comedy in the show, its ending brings a catch to the throat. Adams' rendition of "I've Grown Accustomed To Her Face," is as dramatic as it is melodic.
The final curtain call with a toute reprise is a fitting climax.
The orchestra was comprised mostly of members of the Manchester Civic Orchestra and directed by Miss White.
The show is long, 3 1/2 hours to be exact, and the reprises seem to be drawn out. But the Lerner & Lowe inimitable music makes the show what it is—one of the most successful and popular musicals ever performed.
"My Fair Lady" will be repeated tonight at 8 and Sunday at 2 p.m. in Bailey Auditorium at the high school. Tickets are available at the door.

Journal-Inquirer Sues to Get 'Abby'

A suit which challenges the exclusive right to syndicated newspaper columns in a geographic area has been filed in Superior Court by the Journal-Inquirer of Rockville.
The suit seeks $125,000 in damages and arises out of the newspaper's attempt to purchase and publish the "Dear Abby" column.
The Inquirer-Journal alleges the Chicago Tribune-New York News Syndicate first agreed to supply the column but then reversed its decision. The suit alleges the Hartford Times acted in conspiracy with the syndicate to prevent the Journal-Inquirer from buying the column.

The newspaper stated it had been previously turned down but reapplied for the column after it began appearing in The Manchester Evening Herald.
Today The Herald was informed by the syndicate that its right to publish the column will be terminated on May 3.
A hearing for a court order against the syndicate requiring it to supply the Journal-Inquirer with the feature was set for April 18 by Superior Court Judge Leo Parskey.

Three Charged In Arson Case

ELLINGTON
State Police of the Stafford barracks completed a lengthy investigation of a case of suspected arson Friday with the arrests of three youths on Tolland County Superior Court bench warrants, police said.
The youths are: Frederick Limberger Jr., 20, of Saddle Mill Rd., Ellington, Norman LeBlanc, 17, of Enfield, and Ronald Hunt, 16, of Jobs Hill Rd., Ellington, police said.
They are each charged with second-degree arson and reckless burning (two counts). The charges stem from a fire report on Rt. 83 at the property of David Webster, police said.
Limberger was released on a $5,000 surety bond and the younger youths were released on non-surety bonds, police said. Court is April 17.

Police on a Common Pleas Court 19 rearrest warrant charging him with third-degree conspiracy to commit burglary and third-degree conspiracy to commit larceny, police said.
Kuszik resisted the arrest and was also charged with interfering with a police officer, police said. He was brought back to Vernon where he appeared in court Friday.
His case was continued to April 8. He was sent to the state correction center in Hartford in lieu of $1,500 surety bond.
Lee Johnson, 26, of 96D Tudor Lane, Manchester was arrested Friday and charged with second-degree larceny, police said. The arrest was in connection with the theft of over $500 in cash from a Vernon home March 30.
He was released on a $500 surety bond for court April 29.

Three teen-agers suffered minor injuries after a one-car accident Friday at 11:50 p.m. on Pinnacle Rd., state police said.
The car driven by Rodney A. Elliott II, 19, of 154 E. Main St., Rockville, was heading south on Pinnacle Rd. when he swerved to avoid an animal and the car struck a tree, police said.
There was minor damage done to the car. The two Elliotts were taken by Ellington Ambulance to Rockville General Hospital where he was treated for a head injury and she was treated for a fractured left hand, police said.
No arrests were made.

Donald Landry Jr., 20, of Glenstone Dr., Vernon was arrested Friday and charged with first-degree criminal mischief, police said.
The charge stems from damage reported recently in the Park West Apartments, police said. Landry was released on a $100 surety bond for court April 29.

COVENTRY
A one-car accident on Sam Green Rd. at 3:55 a.m. today knocked out power for many area residents for two and a half hours, police said.
The accident occurred when the car driven by Jeffrey K. St. Martin, 21, of Nathan Hale Dr. avoided a car in his lane and hit a utility pole breaking it off at its base, police said.
There were no injuries or arrests, police said.

MANCHESTER HOSPITAL NOTES
Clara Green, 563 Center St.; Paul Asadorian, 67 Hilltop Dr.; Sybella Larkin, 83 Birch St.; Gloria Benson, 396 Hackmatack St.; Anna Cavar, 136 Bissell St.; Grace DesNoyers, Storrs; Leona Fowler, 41 Vernon St.; June Danaher, Reidy Hill Rd., Hebron; Patricia Kiehlman, 55F Rachel Rd.
Also, Stanley Contois, East Hartford; Dayle Burtchell, Brennan Rd., Hebron; Robert Rumens, Storrs.

Notice MANCHESTER WATER DEPARTMENT
will begin flushing the water mains in the Rockledge section on Monday, April 7, 1975. Area is bounded on west by Parker Street, east by Greenwood Dr. and Dale Rd., East Center St. from Goodwin and south to Porter St. Also Butternut, Highwood and Porter St., east of Ferguson Road. This includes all of Green Manor area. Flushing will continue Monday thru Friday until completed.
Should you experience rusty water it may get into your hot water tank. If it does, after the water returns to normal, clear the settled material by drawing off the water from the faucet at the bottom of the tank. Should you have a load of wash stained or muddied by this disturbance, after the water returns to normal, wash the load with your regular soap and 4 ounces of cream of tartar. This should clean the wash satisfactorily.

Dzen, B & D Low For Road Project

The A. Dzen Construction Co. of Manchester and B & D Contractors Inc. of North Branford are the apparent low bidders for constructing a 1,400-foot extension of Progress Dr., in the Manchester Industrial Park owned by Green Manor.
Dzen bid $8,487 on one phase of the construction and $12,287.50 on a second. B & D bid $60,359 on the third of three phases.
Together, Dzen and B & D bid $81,133 for the entire project. The specs provide for granting separate contracts for the three separate phases. Ernest J. Reed Inc. of Bolton, at $90,821, was apparent low bidder if the contract were to be awarded as one project.
An unusual high of 18 bids were received for the work. Other Manchester bidders are James D. Aceto and Jarvis Construction Co. The work is to be done under Manchester's Industrial Guidelines, with the town to pay 50 per cent and Green Manor 50 per cent.

Ira Freidman, 18, of Richmond, Va. was arrested today at 4:20 a.m. when he surrendered himself at headquarters, police said.
He was charged on two court warrants with third-degree criminal mischief and third-degree larceny.
The mischief charge stems from the report in late December of a car running across the lawn at the home of Det. Sgt. Raymond Mazzone of the local force, police said. The damage estimate was $200.
The larceny charge stems from the July 15, 1974 theft of 50 quarts of oil from the Silver Lane Shell service station on Spencer St., police said.
Freidman was released on $100 surety bond for court May 12.
Luis E. Maldonado, 18, of Hartford was arrested Friday at 9:30 p.m. on Center St. and charged with reckless driving and operating under suspen-

POLICE REPORT

MANCHESTER
John B. McNamar, 26, of Hartford was arrested today at Hartford Hospital and charged with evading responsibility, operating a motor vehicle while license suspended, and failure to drive in the right lane, police said.
The charges stem from a one-car accident today after 3 a.m. at Woodland and Duval Sts., police said.
McNamar was driving a car west on Woodland St. when it crossed the center line and skidded into a utility pole on the southwest corner of Duval and Woodland Sts., police said.
The crash knocked out power to about 60 area customers for one hour and 20 minutes, a Hartford Electric Light Co. spokesman said.
McNamar left the scene on foot, police said. He found his way to Hartford Hospital to get treatment for a gash on his head and that is where Patrolman Roy Abbie found him with the aid of Hartford Police, police said.
The car was towed from the scene, police said.
McNamar was being held at Manchester police headquarters this morning in lieu of $250 cash bond for appearance in Common Pleas Court 12 in East Hartford Monday.

Mary Ann McKinney of East Hartford found a wallet with $102 in cash in it on the street by Hartford Rd. and West St. this week, police said.
Friday police returned the wallet to its owner, Richard Brennen of 92 Campfield Rd.

A 14-year-old South Windsor youth was found by police in a Hilliard St. apartment Friday. He was referred to Juvenile Court and released to his parents.
Thefts and breaks reported recently include:
• A Highland St. home was broken into Friday. Missing are coins, a wristwatch, and tapes all valued at $300. Bedrooms were ransacked.
• The Camp Kennedy building off Spring St. by Globe Hollow was broken into this week. Nothing appears missing.
• A stereo valued at $140 was reported stolen today about midnight from the van of David Berube of 50 Turnbull Rd. where he parked it on Summer St.
• The 1965 Pontiac Bonneville of Elizabeth Emery of 170 W. Center St. was stolen Friday morning from her home.
• Tape decks, speakers, and tapes were stolen Friday during the day from three cars parked in the commuter lot at Burr Corners on Tolland Tpke., police said. The cars were owned by Susan Krantz of 12 Dorset Lane, Melinda Silk of Broad Brook, and Pamela Schoenemann of 1108 Pleasant Valley Rd., South Windsor.

Three youths in an unidentified green Jeep were driving on Ludlow Rd. Friday at 10 p.m. when the Jeep rolled over, a resident told police.
With help from a passing motorist, the youths righted the Jeep and drove away. There appeared to have been no property damage or injuries, police said.
Someone drove up to the back gate of the Wickham Park roadway off Tolland Tpke. Friday night and found the gate locked.
Instead of driving back to the open gate of the park off W. Middle Tpke., the driver drove through the split rail fence by the gate, police said.
Many rails were found broken there by police at 3:10 a.m.

'Irene' Due At Bushnell

Filling the schedule at Bushnell Memorial Hall next week is "Irene, direct from Broadway, which plays Tuesday through Saturday with a Wednesday matinee. Jane Powell shares top billing with Jess Richards.

The musical portrays a rags to riches story of Irene O'Dare, a Ninth Avenue piano tuner who becomes a high fashion model and marries a Long Island tycoon Cinderella style. It is a true-to-the-original remake of the 1919 romantic musical that retains its sentimentality and bounce.

The score by Harry Tierney includes "You Made Me Love You," "Alice Blue Gown," and "I'm Always Chasing Rainbows." The wardrobe, designed by Donald Brooks, features a show stopping Alice Blue Gown.

One outstanding number in the show has Miss Powell and a group of young men prance behind and on a platform of pianos.

For information and reservations, call 246-6807.

Dinner Theaters

Music and comedy are being presented in area dinner theaters.

"Butterflies Are Free" has launched an engagement at the Four Seasons Dinner Theatre in Higganum to run through April 27. For information, call 345-8515.

Proceeds from the 21st annual "Harmony Night" will benefit the 115 blind and blind multi-handicapped students enrolled at Oak Hill School this year.

Audience participation in the form of a sing-a-long, and a grand finale by the featured groups and the Insurance City Chapter Chorus will close the concert.

Tickets will be available at the door.

Solo from 'Irene'

Jess Richards performs a solo number from "Irene," the musical opening Tuesday at Bushnell Memorial Hall, Hartford.

Canine Contingent Crucial to 'Irene'

Some of the most important members of the company of the hit musical "Irene," playing at the Bushnell next week, are the canine contingent who troup with their masters and mistresses from coast to coast.

In the star's dressing room you will meet Jane Powell's miniature poodles—12-year-old December First and 2-year-old Charles Dickens—who go wherever she goes.

Jane's routine with her dogs pretty well characterizes what goes on with the other performers. "I get all my window shopping done in new cities walking December and Dickie and it is nice when our hotel is near the theater so we can walk there, too."

Since they are California puppies, some of the weather the "Irene" company has encountered along the way has been unusually cold for them.

"One of the members of the company solved that rather nicely for me," Jane says. "Steve Short made them new winter coats of brown Carracul fur with brown velvet collars and a belt in the back." Mr. Short also solved another problem.

"They seem to get terribly dirty travelling," Jane explains, "and I find myself bathing them a lot in hotel bathtubs. Thanks to Steve, they each now have a terry cloth bathrobe to put on afterwards."

Spring Antiques Show Scheduled in Hartford

More than an acre of authentic antiques—the types of furniture and furnishings made here or imported for use in early American homes—will be on display at the State Armory, Hartford, in the Connecticut Spring Antiques Show opening Thursday.

The show runs Thursday through Saturday. The exhibit and sale, a benefit for the Haddam Historical Society Inc., will raise funds for the maintenance of the society's headquarters-museum: The Thankful Arnold House.

The house is at the corner of Hayden Hill and Walkley Hills Rds. in Haddam, the village Wallace Nutting once called "the epitome of early Connecticut."

Most of the 90 exhibits are in the spring show are designed as vignettes of room settings so visitors can see "antiques in use." Antique dealers from 10 states are participating. Hours of the show are 1 to 10:30 p.m. Thursday and Friday, and 1 to 8:30 p.m. Saturday.

"A show of authentic American antiques is especially appropriate in this Bicentennial period," said T.C. Dunham, president of the Haddam Historical Society.

"It's an enjoyable way, both from the visitor's and the sponsor's point of view, for an historical society to carry out its commitment to educate, and at the same time raise much-needed maintenance funds," he said.

Keeping a museum house presents just as many problems as does a privately owned home, Dunham said.

"Rooms have to be repainted, floors oiled, chimneys cleaned, and the roof kept from leaking," he said, "to say nothing of paying heat and other utility bills."

Art Shows Scheduled

Art exhibitions, shows, and festivals scheduled in Connecticut this month include:

Through April 6—The 74th Annual New Haven Paint and Clay Club Exhibition at John Slade Ely House, New Haven.

April 26-27—Granby Art League Exhibit, St. Theres Hall, Granby.

April 27 to May 10—Members Exhibition, sponsored by the Connecticut Women Artists Inc., Lyme Art Association Gallery, Old Lyme.

Rhonda Fleming, long away from grasspaint, will star in "Delaney," a 90-minute television movie pilot for NBC-TV.

Movies Playing At the Atheneum

"Twentieth Century" and "The Big Sky" will be screened at the Wadsworth Atheneum in Hartford tonight at 7:30 and 9:30, respectively.

"Twentieth Century" is a period piece, set on the famous transcontinental train which conveyed the stars from New York to Hollywood in luxury. Carole Lombard and John Barrymore cavort in this remembrance of things past, before the six-hour jet trip caused the demise of the Twentieth Century special.

Following "Twentieth Century" is "The Big Sky," a film translation of A.B. Guthrie's novel about an adventurous journey up the Missouri River in which Kirk Douglas encounters hostile Indians, dangerous rapids, and belligerent frontiersmen. The film was shot in location in the majestic surroundings of Grand Teton National Park.

Next week's screenings at the Atheneum will feature the films of William Wyler. They are "Wuthering Heights" (1939), starring Merle Oberon and Laurence Olivier; and "Ben Hur" (1955), with Charlton Heston, April 9 and 11 at 7:30 and 9:30 p.m., respectively.

Also, "The Little Foxes" with Bette Davis; and Mrs. Miniver with Greer Garson and Walter Pidgeon, on April 10 and 12 at 7:30 and 9:30 p.m. respectively. Tickets are available at the Atheneum box office or by calling 278-2670.

Scheduled this week at the University of Connecticut, Storrs (486-2104):

April 9—"Devil's Doorway" at 8 p.m. and "Doctor Broadway" at 9:25 p.m. Both films will be shown at the Institute of Material Science Auditorium.

April 11—"King of Hearts"

at 8 and 10 p.m., Von der Mehden Recital Hall.

April 10—"Antonia" at 7 p.m. in the Humanities Building, Room 143.

Elsewhere this week: Manchester Community College will screen "Harold and Maude" tonight at 8 as part of its weekly Saturday night film series.

April 9—"The Women" at 7:30 p.m. at St. Joseph College, West Hartford (232-4571, ext. 235).

April 11—Selected children's films at the Hartford Public Library at 3 p.m. (525-9121).

Sailboat Show

A unique sailboat show—for used boats only—is scheduled May 30 to June 1 at Newport, R.I.

The show, planned by Yankee Boat Peddlers, will feature boats for sale by dealers and individuals, a marine equipment flea market, and an antique boat show and sale.

Heralding Homes

Home Is Where The Horse Is...

A home for horses and a home for their family—this is what the Lawsons found when they first looked at the former Circle S Ranch in Andover.

"It looked like 'Green Acres' on television," said Mrs. Lawson. The buildings, especially the house, were the victims of neglect.

To achieve the present homey look, the Lawsons had to get down to the bare wood and brass tacks in some instances in order to make improvements and renovations.

One of their major projects was to "bring in" a porch and enclose it with a diamond paned bowed window. The wall which divided the dining room from the porch was torn down creating a larger room. The window exposure provides a view of the spacious front lawn almost equal to that from the original porch.

Appropriately, the dining room is paneled in light colored barnwood. Wood trim is painted gray. Gay color design was found in a red and gray print material which was used for drapes, valance, and chair covers. Giving a ranch flavor to the decor are mounted plaques of horse pictures.

The Lawson daughters, Kathy and Nancy, train horses and give riding lessons. The large windows in the paneled living room face the barnyard and horse corral so family members can watch the horses at all times.

Also, the comfortably furnished room serves as a waiting room for those whose children are taking riding lessons.

With gold tweed carpeting, plants and gold-toned upholstered furniture, the room looks some different from the combination recreation room and snack bar it used to be when part of the Circle S. Ranch.

Inside the doorway to the living room is a trestle table made by an uncle of the family where the Lawsons frequently enjoy ranch-style breakfasts of flapjacks and sausage.

The railroad style kitchen is carpeted in red tweed and features dark wood cabinets matching the dark paneling. White ruffled curtains and white marbelized counter tops accented with green plants brighten Mrs. Lawson's work center.

Two of the downstairs rooms have been converted into bedrooms. Kathy's room is a study in brown, beige and orange with an oriental flavor. An India bedspread, a beige and brown oriental rug and print drapes are accented by a whimsical owl fashioned from string and yarn, and a bouquet of bright orange bittersweet berries.

Although there is a regular stairway in the front hall, the one Nancy uses to her room over the kitchen is a narrow old-fashioned stairway right off the kitchen.

Nancy's twin bedroom features a small nook which she treasures as her own private hideaway. Under a sloping ceiling, her room is chic with blue shag carpeting and white walls, one with a white stone effect. Blue and green print fabric at the windows gives a perk look to the room.

Nancy's love of horses is very much in evidence in her room with a rack of harnesses and a wall display of ribbons from her horse show entries.

Devoid of individual room closets as many old homes are, this one features a room-sized closet which Nancy shares with an aunt who has an adjoining small apartment. The closet was originally a hallway, but has been fitted with clothes poles and enclosed so that it easily accommodates a wardrobe for two or more people.

The barn presently accommodates 13 horses, most of which are boarders. Three belong to Nancy who gives lessons. Kathy owns an Apaloosa which she has trained for shows.

The girls are proud of their tack room which features an old black iron wood stove for those chilly days when they work on their harnesses and saddles.

In a family where riding breeches and boots are the familiar casual mode of dress, the place that was the Circle S ranch continues to make a perfect home for horses and the people who love them.

Horse show ribbons and trophies decorate this nook in Nancy's room, where she can relax in a red velvet chair.

Below: Large windows in the living room overlook the horse corral, riding ring, and barn.

Thomas A. Damron of 68C Sycamore Lane and John Marinelli of Rocky Hill are the top prize winners in the first photography competition-exhibition at Manchester Community College, the judges have announced.

Damron took a first place prize of a $25 gift certificate for camera equipment at Nassiff's Camera Shop for his color entry in the contest's senior category. Marinelli, a senior at Rocky Hill High School, won a $10 first prize, from an anonymous donor, for a tintype-like print in the junior category. Other winners in the senior category: Second place, Nancy Pierson of 57 Arvine Pl.; third place, Mark W. Brendel of 54 McKinley St.; and honorable mentions, Mark Palmer of 86 Hawthorne St., Anne Hubbard Webb of Wethersfield, and Yolla Niclas of East Hartford. Other winners in the junior category: Second place, Anne Thompson of Rocky Hill; third place, Tom Rzasa of Rocky Hill; and honorable mention, Diane Carparelli of East Hartford. Judges for the competition-exhibition, which is one view in MCC's Stairwell Gallery until April 25, were Sylvian Ofiara, photography instructor and director of photographs services a MCC; Joseph Naylor, a professional photographer from Manchester; and Roland Chirico, assistant professor of English at MCC.

Public TV Making Plans For Its Annual Auction

By STEVE FISHER

Connecticut Public Television (CPTV) has announced plans for its fourth annual televised auction, to be conducted May 12 to 17 on all CPTV channels.

The auction, well on its way to becoming a regular spring event in Connecticut, is a traditional method for public television stations to raise operating revenue. Its success depends on a broad base of local support from volunteers, donors and viewers.

During the week of the auction, CPTV will preempt its entire evening schedule as a chance for viewers to pick some great bargains, for donors to receive on-the-air acknowledgements, and for CPTV to receive needed financial support.

This year, Daniel E. Gold, senior vice president and general manager of WFSB-TV (Channel 3), has been named major gifts chairman for the auction.

Accepting the volunteer post, through which CPTV solicits gifts valued at $500 or more, Gold said, "I am making this effort, in the reaffirmation of the belief that the broadened spectrum and stimulating competition which public television brings as a supplement to commercial broadcasting benefits us all."

Gold also said that greater resources will enable CPTV to exercise more freedom to experiment, encourage more opportunities for the development of new talent, and help advance the capabilities of all broadcasting.

Recently, CPTV viewers pledged more than $34,700 during Festival '75, the first fully coordinated national fundraising and awareness campaign in public television history.

During the 11 days from March 7 to 17, CPTV joined more than 100 public television stations across the country in a concentrated effort to raise funds through promotion, special programming, and on-the-air fundraising.

"The fundraising effort of each station is increasingly important in view of the long-range public television funding bill now in Congress," said CPTV's president and general manager, Paul K. Taff.

"If passed, it will provide financial support for public television on a matching basis, to a statutory limit, still to be set, of $1 of federal appropriations for each $2.50 in non-federal income raised by the local stations."

Now that the Festival '75 has concluded, CPTV's Auction '75 invites viewers to share in the excitement of a television game show without ever leaving their living rooms.

The auction promises to be six days-of mind-boggling bargains and frantic action. And when it's all over — when the merchandise has been picked up, the warehouse emptied, and the money collected — the funds raised will be used to bring a wide variety of programming and services to viewers throughout Connecticut.

Meet Jim "Catfish" Hunter

The Biggest Catch in Baseball

Catfish signs a ball for a young fan. Because he likes to go fishing, the Oakland A's owner, Charlie O. Finley, gave him the nickname "Catfish." All the folks back in Hertford, N.C. call him Jim.

Why is Catfish such a good catch?

"Catfish" is a big catch for many reasons. For each of the past four seasons, he has won over 20 games for his old team, the Oakland A's. He helped the champs win three World Series in a row. Last year he won the Cy Young Award as the best pitcher in the American League. To top it all off, he is the last man to pitch a perfect game in the even reaches first base. He also has the reputation of being a good sport and a gentleman.

"Catfish" Hunter is a 28-year-old Southerner from a small country town in eastern North Carolina. He is a super-duper sport who joined the pitching staff of the New York Yankees just a few months ago.

In December he signed the biggest baseball contract in history, worth about 3.7 million dollars over a five-year period.

What advice would you give kids who play baseball?

A. "When I was small, back in Hertford, I always had a baseball and bat in one hand and a weeding hoe in the other.

Play baseball anytime you get a chance. Play Little League baseball, cow pasture baseball or any kind.

Throw for accuracy. You have to get control over the ball. Get your arm loose before you throw a curve ball. It won't hurt your arm if you do.

When you put on your uniform, you should play to win. I had a sign on my dressing room locker that said: 'Wining is not everything, but wanting to is.'

What advice would you give kids about making money in baseball?

A. "I think making money in baseball is like making it in any other profession. Teachers teach for money, preachers preach for money, baseball players play for money."

What do you think of girls playing baseball?

A. "If they are good enough, let them play. My sister could play better than a lot of boys I knew. But you shouldn't let them play just because they are girls."

Tips for Catchers

- Get in a squat position to give a signal to the pitcher.
- Raise up a little and widen your stance to receive the pitch.
- Give a good, steady target.
- Be prepared to throw with runners on base.
- Block low pitches.
- Use an overhand throw to all bases.

This catcher should cup his throwing hand to prevent an injury on a foul, or he should put his hand behind his mitt.

Baseball Tips

The Mini Page interviewed a Little League coach with 16 years experience to get these tips.

Pitcher Tips

- Be able to control your pitches.
- Use a three-quarter overhand delivery.
- Throw pitches with the same type of motion.
- Take a proper windup and stride.
- Push off the inside edge of the pitching rubber.
- Follow through with each pitch.
- Get in a good position to field the ball after each pitch.

Batter Tips

- Pick a bat you can swing.
- Use a comfortable stance.
- Hold your arms away from your body.
- Hold your hands chest high.
- Bend your knees and hips a little.
- Take a low, short stride.
- Take a smooth, level swing.
- Keep your eyes on the ball.

Infielding Tips

- Put your hands on your knees in ready position.
- Drop the hands low on each pitch.
- Stay low in fielding ground balls.
- Learn to throw quickly & accurately from any position.
- Position yourself in front of the ball and keep your eyes on the ball.

Tagging a Runner

- Keep the glove wrapped around the ball.
- The glove hand and ball should be in front of the base.
- Tag the runner on the foot or lower part of the leg.
- Bring the glove up quickly after the tag to prevent the runner from knocking the ball out of the glove.

Tips from a Super Scout

Clyde Klutz is the reason Catfish Hunter signed with the Yankees, even though other teams offered him more money. As a scout for the New York team, Klutz travels around the country finding good players.

We asked him what advice he would give our readers.
 "Play as much as you can. You must have a strong desire to be successful. Get involved in church and community life."
 "If we are interested in you, we visit your preacher and talk with the people in the community. Don't let anyone talk you into taking drugs. You cannot use drugs and be a good athlete. A good athlete doesn't need that crutch."

Mini Jokes

What is green and rides all over town shouting "The British are coming"?

Pickle Revere

Waiter! Why isn't there any soup on the menu?

Because I wiped it off!

Question: Why should you never try to sweep out a room?

Answer: Because it's too big a job. Just sweep out the dirt but leave the room there.

Tips for Outfielders

- Before each pitch get in a ready position with your hands on your knees.
- You must be a good judge of fly balls.
- You must be able to cover a lot of ground.
- You must be able to make long, accurate throws.
- You should catch the ball with both hands.
- Get in front of the ball on one knee to block ground balls.
- Use an overhand throw.
- Hold your hands high when you catch a fly ball.

Tips for First Base Players

- You should be a tall player.
- Learn to handle all kinds of throws.
- You should stretch to meet the throws.
- Learn to field and catch the ball with one hand.
- Tag the inside edge of the base with the ball of your foot.

The California Condor

The California Condor is a giant bird of prey. At one time there were many of these birds living near the West Coast. Today, there are less than 50, and these live in a bird sanctuary in southern California.

This vulture does not eat living things. It feeds mainly on dead carcasses.

Condors do not mate until they are six years old. The female lays one egg every two years.

This bird can have a wingspread as wide as 10 feet. Its body can be over four feet long.

Ask Kleiner

By DICK KLEINER

DEAR DICK: Could you please tell us the name of the TV series that starred Don Murray and Otis Young? Also, who is Skye Aubrey's mother? — MRS. BILL SHEPARD, Pueblo, Colo.

Murray and Young costarred in The Outcasts, which deserved a better fate. Skye's mother is that fine actress Phyllis Thaxter.

DEAR DICK: We think Lee Majors, the Six Million Dollar Man, is the sharpest dressed actor on TV. Who designs his clothes? Or does he buy his own? Is the casual look his own or that of the character, Steve Austin? — P.P., Watsontown, Pa.

Majors is a pretty sharp dresser off the screen, too, and it's pretty much his taste. The show's wardrobe man, Burton Miller, works with him on selecting clothes, most of which come from Los Angeles' leading exclusive retailers.

DEAR DICK: I would like to know the exact dates when the television series One Step Beyond, which featured John Newland, first ran in its original form. — MICHAEL S. HAGEN, San Diego, Calif.

That was a fine show and it premiered over ABC — Jan. 20, 1959, and

War Is Theme of Graphic Arts Exhibit

"Aside from death, war is one of the most universal themes an artist can deal with," according to William H. Wilson, assistant professor of art at the University of Connecticut.

"This is particularly true in the field of graphic arts, which, by its nature, reaches a wider audience," he said. As a result of this belief, Wilson and 12 students in his print connoisseurship seminar organized a new exhibition of "War Prints, Posters and Photographs" which opens today (April 5) at UConn's William Benton Museum of Art.

The new exhibit, on view through May 25, runs concurrently with the museum's major spring exhibition, "Selections from the William Lane Foundation."

Under Wilson's direction, the 12 students organized, researched, and installed the original graphic materials related to the theme of war.

The exhibition includes woodcuts, engravings, etchings, and lithographs by such well-known artists as Durer, Goya, Manet, and Picasso, as well as other completely unknown artists.

In addition to the Benton Museum's own collection and that of the UConn Wilbur Cross Library, materials on display were borrowed from private collectors and the Davidson Art Center of Wesleyan University.

The museum is open Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., and from 1 to 5 p.m. on Sunday.

Kids Show Set Sunday

There's a special treat for children Sunday at the University of Connecticut.

The UConn department of dramatic arts will present "The Ragbagger's Grabbag" at 10:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. in the Mobius Theater in the UConn Fine Arts Center in Storrs.

Barbara Gallow of 1164 W. Middle Tpke. is a member of the company.

The show consists of a combination of short stories, poems and songs adapted by the 13-member troupe to form a play for children.

Children in the audience will be encouraged to participate in helping the "Ragbaggers" bring the stories to life through the use of song, action, dance, and mime.

Tickets will be on sale at the door one hour before the performance.
