

Sober Crowd Hears Pleas for Budget Restraint

He urged a halt in increased town spending.

Ken Morgester, a Manchester orchestra leader, was the only person to back all of Weiss' recommendations.

"I support the budget as a businessman who also faces increasing costs," he said. "The budget is within inflationary limits and is fair, equitable and reasonable. Nip-ticking it here and there to save a few dollars isn't the answer."

He drew boos and groans from MPOA members in the audience when he said to them, "If you were still in riding horses on dirt roads today."

William Oleksinski, a Center St. restaurateur, spoke for the first time at a budget hearing and urged the directors to forego a tax increase.

"The people of Manchester are in great trouble and if you can't feel it in this room, I just don't know," he said.

He tried to bring the town's budgeting to a halt, but the town is hurting, too. You're trying to show us an oasis of plenty in a sea of misery."

Edward Wilson, speaking against a tax increase, asked, "Where does it all end? I'm sick and tired of tax increases — federal, state and local. They hurt the middle-income group the most — 8 per cent of whom are unemployed — and they hurt the elderly — on fixed incomes."

Harris Haskett, speaking for herself and for the Board of Education's Citizens Advisory Committee, urged cutbacks in Weiss' proposals, to guarantee the tax rate is not increased.

She said her committee is recommending a November referendum on renovations and additions to Washington and Bentley Schools and the West Side Rec and that it fears the referendum would lose if taxes were raised.

Margaret Shatin and Gerald Okram, representing the Manchester Public Health Nursing Association, urged restoration of the $8,000 Weiss cut from its $85,000 request for 1975-76. The town contributed $70,000 in the current fiscal year.

Pointing out increased case loads and a 10 per cent increase in overall costs brought on by inflation, they disclosed the program may be curtailed. If the entire $85,000 requested isn't received.

Urging restoration of the $18,400 Weiss cut from the school budget, Joseph M. Edwards, a representative of the Manchester board of directors of the Manchester Civic Orchestra and Choral; Arthur Glaeser, representing the Manchester Education Association and a high school teacher; and Nicholas Moran, a teacher in the Hartford school system.

All warned of the harm the cut may do to improvements in school programming.

Mrs. Swanson said the PTA Council voted 6 to 2 for restoration of the cut. The two votes against restoration were by representatives of Bentley and Nathan Hale Schools, she said.

Frank Sheldon, representing the six-member Community Y board of trustees, asked the directors not to cut the $3,000 proposed for painting the building (used by the town rent-free since 1948 as a recreation center).

Frank Lupien, a watchdog over town spending and a regular at all board meetings, called Weiss' recommendations "unreasonable and unrealistic, in view of the economic crunch gripping the average taxpayer."

He insisted the manager and school board "are using inflation as an excuse for more and more spending," adding, "the time has come to say 'no' to a tax increase."

Mrs. Ralph Lewis, who appears before the board once a year (at the public hearing) warned the town could be in trouble if the anticipated state and federal grants aren't received.

"How much of the anticipated income are you actually sure of?" she asked.

Retired Police Chief Herman Schendel, who is head of the Pensioners Group, called the proposed budget irresponsible and said he's entirely opposed to any tax increase.

"If we ever needed to help the taxpayer, this is the year," he said, noting that 47 per cent of Manchester homes are owned by persons 60 or over and unable to absorb an increase.

Howard Vanderburgh insisted, "I think the word 'inflation' is a cover-up and an excuse for raising taxes. The word 'deflation' should come to your mind instead."

He said, "My biggest concern is I'll be retiring next year and may not be able to afford living in Manchester, or even in the suburbs."

Raymond Lanza had a similar concern.

"I find it more and more difficult each year to live in Manchester," he said. "At the rate we're going we may all have to move out of town. It seems like a vendetta exists for taking our tax money."

Incidentally Kelly said, "The idea is to save — not to spend. We're overspending and budget other than whatever the Grand List provides."

Pillard remarked, "If this is a bone-bear budget, as we've been told, there's certainly a lot of meat on it. We hear the same old cry, year after year: 'If we don't get the added funds we'll have to cut out services,' with the Board of Education always leading it."

Pillard recommended South and Buckland Schools be phased out of the school system.

"They are so low in enrollment they can be labeled private schools," he said, noting the school board can save money by closing them.

Mrs. Sadoski, who has taken a job as reporter with a new weekly newspaper planned for Manchester, said, "One of our troubles is we never back off from more spending. The cautious director is recommending several areas where the budget can be cut and reminding Weiss of the many towns and cities cutting back on employees and services, starve them out."

"It's wonderful Manchester is so wealthy it never even considered cutting back."

Utkis, who summed up the findings, recommended no increase in the school

OBITUARIES Town Again Seeks Concession Bids

Mrs. Thomas Close
Mrs. Mary T. Close, 69, of 75 Elizabeth Rd. died Monday night shortly after being admitted to Manchester Memorial Hospital. She was the wife of Thomas Close.

Mrs. Close was born Jan. 3, 1906 in New Britain and lived in Manchester Memorial Hospital. She was a communicant of St. Bartholomew's Church.

She is also survived by two sons, Thomas J. Close of South Windsor and Peter M. Close of Newton, Mass.; two daughters, Miss Mary S. Close of Manchester and Mrs. John J. (Patricia) Pisch of East Hartford; two brothers, Charles O'Sullivan of New Britain and Robert O'Sullivan of Farmington; five sisters, Mrs. Agnes Noe, Mrs. Fred Larese and Mrs. Leonard Baxter, all of New Britain; Mrs. Cecelia Spring of Kennington, and Mrs. Norman Jett of Waterbury; and eight grandchildren.

The funeral is Thursday at 8:45 a.m. from Holmes Funeral Home, 400 Main St., with a Mass at St. Bartholomew's Church at 9:30. Burial will be in East Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Wednesday from 7 to 9 p.m.

The family suggests that any memorial contributions may be made to the Special Gift Fund of St. Bartholomew's Church.

Theresa L. McGary
Theresa Lynn McGary, six-week-old daughter of Harold and Sharie McGary of 1077 Main St., was found dead in her crib by her mother at 1:30 p.m. Monday.

She was born Feb. 23 at Manchester Memorial Hospital.

The body was notified of the baby's death by her father, and the police was removed to Manchester Memorial Hospital.

Dr. Robert R. Keeney, assistant medical examiner, said the baby had died for several hours. Cause of death is undetermined pending an autopsy report, it will probably be termed a crib death, Dr. Keeney said.

The Holmes Funeral Home, 400 Main St., is in charge of arrangements, which are incomplete.

North Vietnamese Troops Probe Perimeter of Saigon Defenses

SAIGON (UPI) — Two North Vietnamese divisions probed the outer defenses of Saigon today and partially occupied two provincial capitals and two districts in what military sources called the beginning of the battle for Saigon.

The heaviest fighting was reported at the town of Xuan Loc, 38 miles almost due east of the capital, but there also was a Communist commando attack at Tan An provincial capital, 25 miles south of Saigon, where the Communists cut Highway 1 into the Mekong Delta for eight hours.

The thrusts into the provincial capitals marked the first major fighting in provinces around Saigon since the latest Communist push began March 10 and quickly overran two-thirds of South Vietnam.

Communist gunners early today shelled Bien Hoa base, 15 miles north of Saigon and military headquarters for the defense of the province around Saigon. Spokesmen said the 26 shells killed two soldiers and wounded 15 persons.

Brig. Gen. Nguyen Van Hieu, deputy commander of Military Region III which includes Saigon, was found shot to death his headquarters at Bien Hoa Tuesday. There were conflicting reports over whether his death was an accident or whether he had committed suicide in despondency over military reverses.

In addition to the two North Vietnamese divisions already in action, the Communists also held another two divisions — 20,000 men at full strength — in reserve, military sources said.

Elements of the 5th Viet Cong Division moved toward Saigon from the Plain of Reeds, sending a commando team into the so-called rice road to the Mekong Delta for eight hours, backing up miles of traffic.

Part of another division, the 7th, swept into Xuan Loc Provincial capital of the same name, partially occupied Xuan Loc and fought with government defenders in the center of the city of 30,000 military spokesmen said. They said the Communists moved in from Tay Ninh province last week, moved 2,000 rounds of shellfire onto the provincial capital and broke into the fighting continued all day in the streets, centered around the almost deserted

Fourth Winter Storm Hits Upper Midwest

By United Press International
"Most people are getting pretty sick of this," a Bismarck police captain remarked Tuesday as the fourth winter storm this spring swept in from North Dakota, closing most of Interstate 94.

The blizzard, which swept across the northern Plains, blocked major highways, closed schools, threatened livestock and drove down snow removal crews to cover.

In North Dakota, Interstate 94 and U.S. 83 were blocked both east and west of Bismarck. Highway crews were forced off Interstate 94 east of Bismarck and the major northern east-west route was closed across most of the state.

It was the second day of the storm—which some called the worst in recent years—in central and eastern Montana. The storm also blizzarded the Black Hills of South Dakota with up to 15 inches of snow and piled 8 inches of snow in the Nebraska Panhandle.

In South Dakota, winds gusted to 80 miles per hour and blew a semi-trailer truck off a highway west of Winner. The driver was not injured.

Schools were closed Tuesday across a broad belt of the Plains, and there were scattered instances of power failures in the sparsely populated area.

In a quirk of spring, a section of Montana west of the Great Divide escaped the blast. There was no snow on the ground at Fallsburg, in northwestern Montana, and the city had a relatively balmy 43-degree high Monday, while the mercury stood at 15 at Cut Bank, east of the divide.

There were 64 inches of snow on the ground Tuesday at West Yellowstone, most of it an accumulation of earlier storms. Great Falls, the state's second largest city, had 19 inches.

Ford Nears Decision On Vietnamese Aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford is nearing a decision on whether to try to salvage the rapidly deteriorating situation in South Vietnam by seeking more aid from Congress.

Ford summoned his top diplomatic and military advisers to a National Security Council meeting where he will consider all his options. Privately, his aides say they believe South Vietnam can remain in the non-Communist camp for long.

The President is considering a report by Army Chief of Staff, Gen. Frederick Weyand, who returned from a fact-finding trip to Saigon last Friday.

White House aides said there was a possibility Saigon will fall through political defeat for the government of President Nguyen Van Thieu rather than a military assault.

They said Ford was preparing contingency plans to evacuate 100,000 to 150,000 South Vietnamese who might be subject to Communist reprisals if they remained in conquered territory. Among them are the provincial chiefs, government officials and the Communist defectors who went over to the Saigon side.

The President will address a joint session of Congress at 8 p.m. EDT Thursday in what has been described as "a broad foreign policy review" covering U.S. involvement of all areas of the world, particularly Indochina and the Middle East.

Charges Secret Pacts Made

Swim Club Operations Given Green Light

By SOL R. COHEN
The semi-public Manchester Rec Swim Club, caught in the middle of a dispute over outside activities by Rec Director Mel Siebold, will be given the green light to operate as it has since 1973.

The club has been operating with fees ($7 a month) paid by its participants. It controls its income and expenditures, hires and pays coaches and pays all its operating expenses. The town provides free use of Manchester High and Bennett High swimming pools.

The directors had considered a proposal for placing all swim club fees in the General Fund and for paying all expenses from the disclosure last month that Siebold taught at two colleges for pay during daytime hours and earned about $3,000 annually coaching the swim club evenings. Explanations that Siebold made up the hours he lost during the day by working nights and that he coached in the evenings on his own time didn't impress

Contradictory Accounts Cloud Future of Thousands of Orphans

By MICHAEL HUDSON
United Press International
The future of thousands of children in war-torn Vietnam is in doubt today. There were conflicting accounts concerning whether they will be flown to the arms of adopting parents in the United States.

An official of one agency handling "Operating Babylift" voiced concern that there would be no further flights from Saigon. But a federal official declared he expected up to 4,000 more youngsters to arrive.

"The latest DC10 jet arrived at Travis Air Force Base in California Tuesday, carrying 286 more orphans who were transferred to the San Francisco Presidio for processing to their new families."

In Washington, Daniel Parker, who heads the Agency for International Development, said he expects up to 4,000 more children to arrive.

But Dan Flanagan, speaking for "Orphans Airlift," the San Francisco-based agency formed to assist the evacuation, said his group knows of no more flights leaving Saigon.

U.S. officials imposed a 24-hour curfew after the abortive bombing of the presidential palace. The curfew was lifted six hours later, but it curtailed the human traffic on the daily airlift of orphans and civilian refugees.

In Washington, officials for the Agency for International Development said about 1,800 orphans have been youngsters to the United States for adoption under an emergency provision of the Immigration and Naturalization Act. The deadline of most red tape involved in the adoption process.

AID and State Department officials said there was a "rough agreement" between accredited adoption agencies and the South Vietnamese that about 1,500-2,000 Vietnamese babies could be brought in, infectious and mild dehydration.

But the doctor in charge of caring for the children at the Presidio said an even more serious health problem may be the children's emotional condition.

Dr. Alex Stalcup said said many of the children ripped from their war-torn homes suffer from "Orphan's Syndrome" and need a great deal of affection from their new parents.

The infants "need to be fondled and held," he said.

Nike Site Day Care Center Rejected by Directors

By SOL R. COHEN
In compliance with a ruling by the federal Department of the Interior, the Manchester board of Directors Tuesday night rejected a request from Manchester Community College for permission to operate a Day Care Center at the old Nike Site.

The Nike Site, off Keeney St. and now a recreation center, was purchased from the federal government for $50,000 — with permitted uses spelled out in the purchase agreement.

The federal agency informed the town last month that only programs sponsored by the Recreation Department and programs that are recreation-oriented are permitted uses there.

Town Council William Bronelli said Tuesday night it is his interpretation that a day care center would be a permitted use there if it were sponsored and operated by the Recreation Department, but not if it were operated by an outside sponsor.

Pending answers to several questions, the board again tabled action on a proposed Manchester-South Windsor

Firemen Distribute Fire Safety Materials

Town firefighters have gone to all town schools in recent weeks giving out materials on fire safety to all children of the lower grades.

Included is a magazine called "Junior Fire Marshal News" with tips on how to prevent fires.

The firefighters noted 4,000 children die each year in fires.

NEWS FOR SENIOR CITIZENS

By WALLY FORTIN

Hello there. I guess the first news is to tell you that our recent Nationality Night was a huge success. We had over 100 there for a very delicious meal, and then we were treated to a very enjoyable skit by members of the Junior Women's League of Manchester.

Monday, we will register for the circus, starting about 8 a.m. on a first come basis as usual. So here's your chance to get to see the great circus at a good price, and it will be at 4 p.m. so you'll get back to the center before dark.

Card Winners
Let's see, the action around the center started with last Friday, when after a good turnout for bingo in the morning, and a nice lunch, the action was upstairs where we had 52 players for our setback games with the following winners:
Martha LaBate, 135; Thomas Murphy, 133; Helena Gavello, 130; Ernest Domely and Ann Lehmann, 128; John Gotschak, 125; Marge Hall, 123; Michael DeSimone, Harvey LaQuerre, Clara Hemingway, and Eva Lutz, 122; Gertrude Herrmann and Claire Conins, 120.

Circus
By the way, we had a number of requests to get tickets for the big circus at the Hartford Civic Center in May. Well, we have purchased 70 tickets for a 4 p.m. performance on Thursday, May 8. The tickets will allow us to sit in the top couple of rows just off the main aisle and are normally cost $8. We get the group price at $6 a ticket, and then because we will be able to use our old and new buses, we are charging an extra 25 cents to help defray the expenses. So for $5.25, you get a pretty good seat where you won't have to climb up or down, but just a couple of those steep steps.

BOOKS

By JOAN HANAUER
United Press International
Judy Garland, by Anne Edwards (Simon & Schuster, $9.95)
The book world is about to be deluged with biographies of the troubled, appealing singer, actress and entertainer extraordinary. This entry is a commendable and effective effort, not without shortcomings, that relates the terrible drama of Judy's life.
In her last years some of her fans developed the magical Garland cult. She was then a sad, faltering woman. (Woman?) One always wants to call her a girl! But the fervor of the Garland cult tried to propel Judy into something she wasn't, capping her career with just one more misunderstanding.
Judy's quintessential stage mother pushed her into show business at the age of two-and-a-half. From then on, she was manipulated by one person or another for the rest of her life.
Eventually, after resounding success in films, and particularly "The Wizard of Oz," she turned to self-destruction and her descent was pitiable for a performer of her talents and versatility.
Despite its mundane style, this book is electric with emotion in its account of Judy's final degradation. Her cult, as differentiated from just plain fans, consisted mainly of homosexuals, a strange twist to a singular career.
Judy always had a magic and it comes through in this biography. That magic and the mishap of her life by callous outsiders make engrossing reading.
The Sun Never Sets on IBM, by Nancy Fog (Morrow, $7.95)
While this book is not meant as an expose in the investigative reporting sense, it is revealing enough to earn a niche in that journalistic field. With almost unyielding admiration, Miss Fog examines the workings of the inner machinery of gigantic IBM World Trade Corp and we learn how a successful multinational corporation operates. Her findings present the picture of a cold, competitive company dominating the lives of thousands in its cage, clever pursuit of success.
The Massacre at Fall Creek, by Jessamyn West (Harcourt, Brace, Jovanovich, $9.95)
In 1884, on the frontier of what is now the Midwest, a group of white men were tried, convicted and hanged for the murder of American Indians. Skilled novelist West takes this true incident and molds it into a dramatic story of the clash of two cultures. A well-paced, engrossing piece of early Americana brought to life.
Lithographs of Stow Wengenroth, by Ronald and Joan Stackley (Barre, $20)
Forty years of the works of the famous artist-lithographer, including reproductions of his dry brush drawings and prints, are beautifully presented here. Few persons have succeeded in catching the cold loveliness of the New England coast or the joy of its varied scenery as well as Wengenroth. Expensive but worth the price tag.

Manchester Evening Herald OPINION Our Vietnam Wounds

Seeming irreversibility, in any substantial degree, of the deteriorating military situation in South Vietnam and Cambodia is reported to be causing the Ford administration to wonder if any further aid, if it were possible, would do any good.

Panic which has overtaken the South Vietnamese at the approach of the Northern Red armies, together with the abrupt decision of the Thieu government to abandon a large portion of the country, has cast grave doubt on the possibility of survival of South Vietnam and Cambodia as they have been constituted.

The whole future of the area once known as Indochina now seems to be towards the Asiatic sphere, with western influence, which began in 1877, being cast off.

Our involvement in Vietnam, beginning with a trickle in the Eisenhower era, and rising in the Kennedy years to be followed by the great escalation of Lyndon B. Johnson, has been one of the most traumatic happenings in the life of our nation.

We fought a "no-win" war when we probably could have won in a comparatively short time, even without atomic weaponry, if we had been willing to stage an all-out offensive, disregarding the sensibilities of both Russia and China, who have been openly supporting the Red forces in the region.

The alacrity with which North Vietnam reacted to the mining of the Haiphong Harbor, during the Paris Peace Talks, was a good example of what might have been done by carrying the fight to Hanoi and the north.

The American people were revulsed by the losses in men and money to the point where they became blinded to the great principles involved in helping maintain a free people.

Danger Ahead

Are you your brother's keeper? Well, you sure are, whether you like it or not, in the sense that money which you earn by working is being taken from you by taxation and is being redistributed or transferred by the government for the keep of others.

The number of people living from transferred funds has been growing by leaps and bounds since inception of the social programs of the 1930's and it has become a national worry of economists and government leaders.

President Ford again pointed to its danger in an interview in which he said that it is estimated that in another 25 years, or the year 2,000, fully 50 per cent of the American people will be living on money taken from workers, or those earning in other ways, and paid to those who are not producing.

Who gets the money? Unemployment insurance, Social Security, Medicare and general welfare payments, not to mention the ever swelling federal and state payrolls, are instances of how this money is transferred from producing workers to non-productive people.

The guaranteed annual income idea, which has been kicking around for some years without getting off the ground, got a foot in the door in the present tax rebate bill which provides

This attitude has been reflected in the Congress which refused to appropriate money for food and military supplies as we had promised tacitly, in Paris, by agreeing to furnish replacement armament on a one-for-one basis.

Anti-war protestors in the United States took stands which might have done credit to full fledged Communists, as undoubtedly some were.

We saw such people as Jane Fonda, Dr. Spock and many groups of clergymen preaching the gospel of Hanoi, with insensitivity towards the people of South Vietnam and their aspirations.

We were told that we should not support the efforts of the South Vietnamese because their government was corrupt. At the same time it was not to be long before we were giving the world our own example of corruption in the United States.

Even a man of the stature of Senate Leader Mike Mansfield was moved recently to make the remarkable statement, "I am sick and tired of seeing American guns and ammunition being used to kill Indochina people." As Sen. Mansfield has watched the terror of those fleeing before the Red armies we hope that he realizes that they are not running from American weaponry but from Chinese and Russian arms.

Undoubtedly the worst effect of the Vietnamese war within the United States has been a lessening of our national purpose and unity.

And it is hurting us throughout the world, in Israel, in Turkey, in Greece, in Portugal, and in the councils of those who are our national enemies.

We do not know what it will take, or how long a period must pass, before America gains its will and reunites from this deep cleavage.

That is our national wound from the Indochina years.

More Vandalism

On behalf of Manchester Community College we are asking your assistance. Manchester recreation facilities are being vandalized. In recent months some people have been running rampant with cars and motorcycles over athletic fields and golf courses at many local recreation areas including Mt. Nebo field, Manchester Country Club and Cougar field at Manchester Community College.

At MCC we have had nets stolen, scoreboards knocked over and keyboards destroyed. Our only athletic field has had to be repaired three times to date. This area is used extensively by the town and college to the benefit of more than 1,000 young people in our community. I would hope that any citizen who notices such suspicious activity in any town recreation area should report them immediately to the local police or to college officials.

No matter how worthy any single piece of transfer legislation may appear on its face, grouped with all of the other pet projects of our legislative bodies, it adds up to a financial burden which can bring our economy to the sorry state in which Great Britain finds itself.

Younger workers should be particularly sensitive to this type of program. They are the ones who will pay most deeply. They are the ones who will live to find our system cracking under a no longer bearable burden.

They should be very critical of their congressmen and legislators and look for those who are economy minded, not those whose every program is philanthropic, using someone else's money.

McCaughey for Chief

To the editor: When a man attains the second highest rank in the police department, has the respect of his associates and the people of the community, it is in their interest that he be promoted to the highest rank, that of chief.

As the immediate subordinate of the chief of police, the captain is the pivot around whom the department revolves. It is his job to maintain a high level of morale and performance within the department.

He also has maintained a good rapport with people in the community. To those who have brought their problems to him, he hasn't been indifferent, but always available and helpful. George P. McCaughey was rated in Manchester and is respected by those who know him.

He has had an illustrious military career, serving in the Pacific Theater for two and a half years and was cited for bravery in action in the American Division, earning the rank of first sergeant. He is an honest and faithful employee of the town and can be expected to perform in an exemplary way as chief of our police force.

We urge his appointment. Matthew G. Quinn Burt Pearl Fred Spaulding Philip Leister Edwin A. Johnson Manchester

Support Board Of Education

Dear sir: No one wants higher taxes. No one wants to spend more for the same services. Yet it is unrealistic to think that while everything else is costing more, the town can be run for the same cost as last year. The only way this could be accomplished is to reduce the services offered by the town.

This is especially true in education. The schools must continue to be heated and lighted and paper must still be supplied. All these things cost more. The only way a reduction could be met would be to cut into school programs.

And it is hurting us throughout the world, in Israel, in Turkey, in Greece, in Portugal, and in the councils of those who are our national enemies.

We do not know what it will take, or how long a period must pass, before America gains its will and reunites from this deep cleavage.

That is our national wound from the Indochina years.

Disturbed

WASHINGTON - As a red-blooded American, I am disturbed by hints of corruption in the American sports scene, but it is not yet a way of life. There is general indignation when it is exposed. In too many other parts of the world, on the other hand, the crooked contest is taken for granted.

For a case in point, memory larks back to a steamy afternoon at Bangkok's Royal Sports Club. The seventh race was a prime example of how far America's sports industry must go to approach the blatancy, the candid scurrilousness of the Mysterious East.

Perusing the soothsaying of a handicapper for the Bangkok World, I was persuaded that a horse named Blue Heaven was a live animal. "Very fast and in fine condition," deposed Mr. Wayfong. "Should like the distance." In a profession that shuns the unetiquetted, Mr. Wayfong's comment had the ring of a man who owned a race steward. Swiftly calculating the exchange rate, I repaired to the nearest betting window and put 100 baht ($5) on Blue Heaven's nose.

Blue Heaven, ridden by one Boon Choo, had an air of confidence, the look of a horse who knew the fit was on in his bad hair. Also, he was carrying only six stone, 10 pounds, whereas both favorites were riding seven stone. (As everyone knows, a stone is 14 pounds.) The race was at seven furlongs, and Blue Heaven came

McNamara Appointed

HARTFORD (UPI) - Roger D. McNamara, head of the Hartford Regional Center, has been named superintendent of the Mansfield Training School. McNamara, whose appointment was announced Tuesday by state Health Commissioner Dr. Douglas Lloyd, replaces Francis F. Kelly who resigned to become director of mental retardation service in Florida.

McNamara, 34, was the unanimous choice of a special committee formed to find a new director at Mansfield, which serves 2,000 clients, more than half of whom are retarded. McNamara graduated from Lymington College in Williamstown, Pa., where he received a bachelor of arts degree in 1963, and obtained his master's degree from Temple University in Philadelphia in 1965.

HI NEIGHBOR

By BURL LYONS

We appreciate letters to the Open Forum and publish nearly all we receive. As stated previously, there is a delay when letters come in hand written. They have to be typed before they can be processed. That isn't a problem. The toughest task is trying to decipher the writing of some people. If we can't read it, we can't very well type it. So do your best to make your letters legible, it will save us a lot of frustration.

Once again, we received a letter asking that the name of the writer be withheld. It was clearly legible and praised Manchester's adult education program and the variety of courses offered by Manchester Community College. It was a fine letter but we don't want to get into a position of publishing unsigned letters except in extremely rare situations. We'll appreciate your understanding.

An Open Forum letter awhile back suggested The Herald should set aside space for more news items about the good deeds that youth are performing. Also, youth should have an opportunity to express their personal views. We feel this is accomplished now with the Open Forum. We frequently receive letters from teen-agers and those not in their teens.

We feel we have been publishing stories about some of the good work being performed by youth. Naturally, we assume there are some we are overlooking. We welcome any and all contributions when it comes to items of general news interest. Don't ever assume that the press, or for that matter any other part of the news media, knows everything that is going on.

We are losing about 15 minutes each day in opening the mail. Hardly a day goes by we don't receive a survey questionnaire from either some state, federal agency or professional organization. Most of them end up in the round file. It seems nearly everyone is doing a survey of some sort or another.

The other delay in processing the mail is resulting from job applications and resumes, at least two per day. Most of them, unless it is a resume that mentions your filing deadline is next Tuesday.

If the figures look bad now, Congress went back into session Monday, and they could look even more dismal next year regardless of the tax rebate.

Still another chuckle from the American Legion magazines: Roll with the punches, take the jobs, the days are ready to allow. Remember these are the good old days you'll mourn for 20 years from now.

We probably shouldn't call it to the attention of our legislators, but we read the other day where higher tax rates on gasoline have been proposed in 16 states. Fortunately, Connecticut isn't one of them, yet. The states feel they need the higher rates to recoup the loss of tax revenue due to lower gasoline sales.

While on the subject of taxes, a round-table conversation the other day at the gate as he had read Mr. Wayfong. After an eighth of a mile, he was four lengths in front. At the far turn he suddenly came down with the gate, and I wondered where the cashiers' windows were located.

Into the stretch went Blue Heaven, avoiding the other horses like he were carrying Thoo. And then it happened. Boon Choo suddenly seemed lonesome. He half stood in the stirrups and looked back at the other horses. Blue Heaven shortened his stride.

Both Boon Choo and Blue Heaven seemed to be waiting for somebody. But the other horses seemed loath to catch up. They dawdled, their strides perfunctory. At this, Boon Choo apparently lost patience with the sluggish. He stood up straight in the saddle and Blue Heaven's pace was reduced to a lazy jog.

With seeming reluctance, a horse named Por Soo caught up with Blue Heaven and passed him. So did four other goats. Por Soo grabbed under the wire like he suddenly came down with the gate, to win and pay 38 to 10. Blue Heaven finished 11th in a field of 13.

I was glibbed on the Englishman at my side. "Did you see that?" I howled. "Blue Heaven got third!" John Bull eyed me coldly. "See what?" he asked. "I had two quid on Por Soo."

Harkins Recommends $4,424,800 Budget

The town manager, the $3,170,322 figure represents 72% of the proposed budget. This amount is $46,750 over the actual present budget and $83,983 over the originally adopted 1974-75 budget.

The General Town Government proposed budget of $1,254,478 is actually reduced by $90,391 from the present budget, even though the debt service has increased by $71,573. Department requests submitted to Harkins received a $104,926 reduction before being passed on to the selection.

In his budget message Harkins said, "The proposed operating budget has been drafted with sensitivity given to the overall economic climate. Inflation has impacted on the town's ability to provide service at levels higher than that recommended. The budget reflects a minimum level of service. No needed capital programs have been recommended, nor have operating budgets been expanded."

"During the past year we were able to lessen the impact of inflation in certain areas due to centralized purchasing practices, investment in capital equipment and retraining personnel. Also, Manpower

McCaughey for Chief

To the editor: When a man attains the second highest rank in the police department, has the respect of his associates and the people of the community, it is in their interest that he be promoted to the highest rank, that of chief.

Support Board Of Education

Dear sir: No one wants higher taxes. No one wants to spend more for the same services. Yet it is unrealistic to think that while everything else is costing more, the town can be run for the same cost as last year. The only way this could be accomplished is to reduce the services offered by the town.

Vernon Mayor Frank McCoy was surprised during Monday night's Town Council meeting when Mayor pro-tem Donald Edén presented him with a framed resolution citing him for his work with the Connecticut Conference of Mayors and Municipalities and his recent elevation to president of the conference. (Herald photo by Richmond)

Resolution Lauds McCoy

VERNON
Vernon Mayor Frank McCoy at the start of the Town Council meeting Monday night allowed Councilman Donald Edén to add an agenda item concerning a resolution he wanted to present. But at the time the mayor only two persons from the town were present for the resolution.

Edén, who signed the resolution as mayor pro-tem, said it had also been introduced and passed in the senate and the house of representatives. It cites Mayor McCoy for his service to the town and for his recent election as president of the Connecticut Conference of Mayors and Municipalities. McCoy has served Vernon in the capacity of mayor since 1969. The resolution compliments him for taking an active and responsible role in the town's affairs. "His ability, dedication and leadership caused him to be named treasurer, second vice president, first vice president, respectively," the resolution states. The entire council then formally approved the resolution.

Bolton 'Monster' Discovered

This past winter while ice fishing in Bolton Lake, members of the Brandy St. Chowder and Marching Society came upon a green monster they named the Loch Bolton Monster as it is similar to a Chinese dragon. The monster was brought to the home of one of the society members where it has been fed and cared for. It is reportedly growing fast and is in good condition. The society which consists of Brandy St. neighbors plans to exhibit the monster in the Memorial Day parade. Members of the society encourage other neighborhoods and groups to get involved and do something for the parade. It should be a fun thing which doesn't involve any money. Anyone planning an entry is asked to call Corenda Haugh, 647-1096.

Few Comment on Budget

BOLTON
Donna Holland, Correspondent
646-0375
This year, as last year, less than 1 per cent of Bolton's total population attended a hearing to discuss budget requests under the town's recreation department. The hearing was Monday at the Town Hall. Most of those in attendance are members of a town board, commission, committee or present office holder. Last year only two persons from the general public attended; there were several this year. The hearing was over in less than two hours. Several questions were asked by townspeople but there weren't any negative comments on the requests. All members of the Board of Finance were present. There was a question as to why money has been budgeted for expert consultation fees for the assessor. The Board of Finance was asked to make sure state services weren't available before hiring an expert. Calvin Hutchinson, assessor, explained the money might not be needed, but if it was it could be used for engineering expertise. Marilyn Breslow, Board of Education member, asked how and when the town and school could get together to stop the present duplication of equipment. Morris Silverstein, chairman of the Board of Finance, said as far as he was concerned "tomorrow." Mrs. Breslow said she felt the situation could be worked out to save money for the town. Richard Morra, first selectman, said the only thing he could think of sharing would be a combination lawnmower. He said a snow plow would be difficult to share because when it snows on the school grounds it also snows on the town roads. Mrs. Breslow said, "Nobody ever does anything except talk about it." Silverstein said the finance board members would make a mental note to look for the school and the town getting together. Morra said the boards have been trying to help a problem getting the help to go along with it. Lawrence Shaw, park commissioner, explained the increase in the park budget was due to the fact that it's time to have someone on the park grounds at least every other day for maintenance. He said in the past it was all done on a volunteer basis. He said the town is presently receiving grant money for 15 hours of labor at the park. Mrs. Joan Richardson said she would like to see the town budget for tennis instruction even though she doesn't know when the courts will be completed.

February, the resolution states, "His election to this position reflects great credit upon him and the Town of Vernon which he so ably represents. In accepting the framed resolution Mayor McCoy said, 'The honor bestowed upon me is an honor passed on to the town.' Councilman Thomas Dooley offered his congratulations and told the mayor that the town is honored by his service in the Connecticut Conference. The entire council then formally approved the resolution.

Budget Requests $3.9 Million

COVENTRY
Monica Shea, Correspondent
742-9495
The $3.9 million proposed budget for the coming fiscal year, which will be presented to taxpayers at two public hearings next week would require an 8 mill increase in the tax rate from the current 63.5 mills to 71.5. The proposed budget includes a 10 per cent increase in the education budget and a 5 1/2 per cent increase in the general government portion of the budget. Of the total $3,940,151 proposed budget, $2,646,766 is for education and $1,013,765 is for general government. $280,622 will be used for the reduction of bonds issued for school and bridge construction. The general government portion of the budget had been proposed by Allen Sandberg, town manager, at $73,000 higher, but the Town Council during several meetings last week made cuts in the following accounts: $19,018 from the police account; $5,300 from Town Hall maintenance; $12,046 from roads; $9,000 from cemetery maintenance; $8,000 from parks and beach maintenance; $3,000 from outside engineering; $2,891 from parks and recreation; $2,564 from the town manager's office account; $1,060 from assessors office; and $10,000 from the reserved fund. The only new portion requested under the general government portion of the budget would be a full-time clerk dispatcher at the town garage, this position is temporarily funded by the federal Comprehensive Emergency Training Act. It is proposed that 10 hours per week be added to the working hours of the deputy sanitarian to be used as a part-time engineer-sanitarian. The heaviest cut by the council on a percentage basis was made to the parks and recreation budget. The Parks and Recreation Commission has voted to go to the public hearing to defend its original request of $15,591 from which the Town Council cut $2,891. The Board of Education has already cut $96,000 from its budget as presented by Dr. Arnold Elman, superintendent of schools. An attempt was made by the council to make even further cuts from the board's budget but stopped short of this action when it became apparent that the council couldn't legally cut the Board of Education budget until after the public hearing next week. Council members asked the board to make additional cuts of its own before the public hearing because of possible voter reaction to such a large increase over last year's budget. The estimated 8-mill increase is based on the projection that the town will collect 96 per cent of assessed tax rates rather than the usual 95 or 97 per cent collection rate that the council has used in the past. As of March 1, 1975 only 94 per cent of taxes had been collected. The public hearing on the proposed general government portion of the budget will be April 15, and the public hearing on the Board of Education budget will be held April 17. Both meetings will take place at the high school and start at 7:30 p.m.

Masons To Honor Memory of Putnam

Major, Gen. Israel Putnam left his play in what is now Brooklyn, Conn. to answer the call to arms of his country, on April 20, 1775. Putnam, the hero and leader, was a Mason, and the Masons of the Ninth Masonic District of Eastern Connecticut will honor the memory of Israel Putnam Sunday, April 20, 1975. History reports that Putnam left his fields and went to Cambridge, Mass. where he was the leader of the Battle of Bunker Hill. He is credited with the now famous words: "Don't shoot until you see the whites of their eyes." After the several wars in which he fought, Putnam returned to his farm where he died and was buried. His remains were later removed to the cemetery in Brooklyn where it now lies under a monument erected to him. This Masonic Bicentennial celebration will bring together celebrated Masonic dignitaries from the state and the East. There will be a Masonic service in Moriah Lodge of Masons in Brooklyn at 9 a.m. At 10, the Federated Church of Brooklyn will have services as will General Putnam's Church on the Green. Representatives of the Putnam family will attend the events. Putnam himself was not a member of Moriah Lodge, but all of his descendants have been. At the Federated Church at 11:30 a.m. Grand Lodge of Connecticut officers of Masonry will have a special program. There will be a parade at 2 p.m. from the Fairgrounds in Brooklyn to the cemetery where a suitable outdoor service will be held. Some 5,000 are expected in the many units of the parade. All Masonic bodies will be represented, and among the musical units will be the Sphinx Temple Shrine Band and the Shrine Bug Pipe Band, said Aubrey G. Allen of Brooklyn, chairman for the Masonic Bicentennial Celebration. There are nine Masonic districts in Connecticut and each will have some significant celebration during the nation's Bicentennial year.

Lockmaking Subject For Final Program Of Historical Unit

"Lockmaking in Connecticut" is the subject for the final 1974-75 program of the Manchester Historical Society. The meeting will be held Sunday at 2 p.m. in the Whittemore Memorial Library auditorium and is open to the public. The slide illustrated talk will be given by Thomas F. Hennessy of Bristol, who has been associated with lockmaking firms for more than 25 years. He will also have an exhibit of protective devices. He started in the lock industry in 1948 as a process engineer with the P. and F. Corbin division of the American Hardware Corp. in Stamford, Conn. Two years later he became a methods engineer for the Yale and Towne Manufacturing Co. in Stamford. The following year he joined the Eagle Lock Co. in Terryville as an engineer. Since 1971 Hennessy has been an employee of American Hardware and its successor, the Emhart Corp. In the same year he became a professional locksmith in Bristol. Since 1961 he has held the title of keying systems engineer for Emhart's hardware division. In this capacity he authored a manual for setting up keying systems. The new method has been adopted by the country's entire lock industry. In 1971 Hennessy set up the more than 40,000-lock system of the World Trade Center in New York City. In the same year he became curator of the newly formed Lock Museum of America, Inc. in Terryville, which reportedly has the largest collection of original early American locks in the country. Hennessy's personal collection is on loan to the museum. He is the holder of two patents. The first was issued in 1963 as co-inventor of the construction master key cylinder, and the second in 1971 for the first cylindrical deadbolt lock.

DAR To Hear AFS Students

American Foreign Exchange students in Manchester will be guest speakers for the Orford Parish Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution meeting on Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Miss Jeanette Sumner and Miss Ella Sumner, 71 Bolton Center Rd., Bolton. Members are reminded to note the change of meeting place. AFS student Simone Lassa, a native of Brazil, will tell about her country. George Sweetnam will tell of his experiences last summer with an archeological group in Italy. The hostesses will be Mrs. Samuel Robb. Serving on the refreshment committee are Mrs. John White, Mrs. Samuel Linsay, Mrs. Shirley Moran, Mrs. Cyrus Tompkins, Mrs. John Holden and Mrs. Leslie Brooks.

Dusty Wavelengths

A good supply of dust can prevent a glowing sunset. When sunlight, comprised of light from various colored wavelengths, burns into the atmosphere's dust particles, the component parts are scattered and deflected. The shorter wave lengths, especially the blue, spread more than the longer waves like red and yellow.

Mrs. Rieg Heads New DAR Chapter

Mrs. John C. Rieg, ex-regent of Orford Parish Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR) was installed as first regent of the Captain Noah Grant Chapter, Connecticut Daughters of the American Revolution, in a ceremony of organization held Saturday at the Savings Bank of Tolland.

The following officers were installed: Mrs. Duane A. Matthews, first vice regent; Mrs. George J. Tonaki, second vice regent; Mrs. Newton L. Grover, chaplain.

The new chapter is the first Connecticut DAR chapter to be organized in 14 years. It is named after Noah Grant III, who served throughout the Revolutionary War. He later became grandmaster to former president and General Ulysses S. Grant. The name was selected by a majority vote of prospective members. It was approved by the national society.

The site of the old Grant barn in Tolland was made into a house by Jonas Wilson. The part used as a barn is still standing. The original Grant family moved to Tolland in 1718.

Travel Club For Nonsmokers

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have only one child, a son, now married and living in California. (We live in New York.)

My elderly mother is very ill, and her days are numbered. She has always relied heavily on me, and being a very dutiful daughter, I give her lots of time and attention. Because of this, my son has never been too fond of his grandmother. However, my son, husband and I are very close.

While talking to my son (long distance), I said, "Keep your woolsen suit pressed because you will need it when you come east for your grandmother's funeral." His reply: "I didn't plan on coming."

When I told my husband this, he said, "If he doesn't want to come, don't hassle him."

Abby, don't you think that out of respect for my feelings, my son should come to his grandmother's funeral? I offered to pay his plane fare both ways. If I had brothers and sisters, the situation would be different, but my husband and my son and his family are all I have.

I don't mean to be a demanding mother, but in a time of sorrow I feel it would be comforting to have those dear to me near. Would I be unreasonable to insist that he come?

MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: If your son, knowing how much you want him near you in your sorrow, chooses not to come, shame on him. But if you, knowing that he doesn't really want to come, insist that he does—then shame on you!

DEAR ABBY: Some time ago, I wrote asking if you knew of a travel club for nonsmokers. You replied that you did not, but suggested I contact the American Cancer Society. They did not know of any either.

Now there is one! The Nonsmokers' Travel Club, which I was instrumental in forming. We are an off-shoot of GASP (Group Against Smoking Pollution), and now have 71 members. We are in the Washington, D.C. area, but have members from all over the U.S.A.

We have two domestic bus trips, and three foreign trips planned for 1975. Our buses will have nonsmoking drivers and nonsmoking tour guides. Our foreign trips will travel in the nonsmoking section of scheduled airlines. Once at our destination, we will travel in our own bus with a nonsmoking driver and guide.

If you think this will be of interest to your readers, please mention it in your widely read column.

MILDRED A. POST, CHAIRPERSON

DEAR MILDRED: It's mentioned. Those interested in traveling without the annoyance of tobacco smoke may write to me (and please include a stamped, addressed envelope) for the address of the smoke-free travel club.

DEAR ABBY: Some additional information on how one can improve his credit rating: Under federal law, anyone is permitted to inspect his (or her) credit file and offer corrections and inaccuracies. Erroneous information can result in a poor credit rating.

Handicapped Prepare For Saturday Walkathon

Members of the Organization of the Handicapped (OTH) will conduct a benefit walkathon Saturday beginning at 8 a.m. from the Municipal Building. Out for a trial walk are from left, Mrs. Suzanne Flocken, executive vice president of the Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce; Joseph Bletch, chairman of the OTH, pushing Nancy Everhart; and Mayor John Thompson. Walkers plan to cover 20 miles, through Burnside Ave., East Hartford and back to Carter's Chevrolet on Main St. where they will be joined by Mrs. Flocken and the mayor for the return to the Municipal Building. Pledges are being sought and anyone wishing to make one may call 646-7786 or 646-5015. Proceeds will benefit the OTH. The public is invited to participate. (Herald photo by Pinto)

Sees Draiback
Draiback of the recently passed Speedy Trial Act, says Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, is that it will cost over $10 million to implement. Burger told the American Bar Association meeting in Chicago that more and better paid judges would be required. (NEA photo)

Hotel Fire
Chet awoke at midnight in his third-floor hotel room to find the building ablaze. He managed to reach safety down a fire escape, but in doing so he suffered severe burns on his legs.

But it also appeared that once the fire began, the night clerk had been slow in sounding the alarm. This was enough, ruled the court, to sustain Chet's claim.
Generally speaking a hotel or motel must take reasonable steps not only to prevent fires but also to warn its guests in the event one gets started.
On the other hand, the management does not guarantee absolute safety. In another case a pile of cartons in the basement, but there was no evidence of negligence in the way the cartons were stored, or of any delay in alerting the guests.
Under these circumstances, a court ruled afterwards, there was no legal basis for blaming the management.

Of course, the violation of a specific fire regulation may be enough to establish liability. But there must still be a causal connection between the violation and the claimant's injury.
A woman caught in a burning hotel stayed in her room until firemen came to carry her out. Later, seeking damages from the hotel, she pointed out that the management had failed to place fire extinguishers in the corridors as required by a local ordinance.
But the court denied the woman's claim. The court said that since she had remained inside the room, an extinguisher outside in the hallway would have done her no good at all.

Training Center Bidding Okayed by Building Unit

The Town Building Committee (TBC) has authorized Lawrence Associates, architects, for the Regional Occupational Training Center.

The TBC voted to make the bidding documents available after 1 p.m. April 16, and will have the bids due and read aloud at 7 p.m. on May 7.

In a companion action, the TBC approved the final drawings and specifications prepared by Lawrence Associates to be the bidding documents.

The TBC reviewed the bids received recently for the drilling of a well for the Regional Occupational Training Center.

The amount of the contract will be based on a base bid and modified by unit prices dependent on the depth of the well, said Richard Lawrence of Lawrence Associates.

The film, "Africa—The Dry Edge of Despair," will be presented April 17, from 1 to 3 p.m., at the West Side Rec. 110 Cedar St.

Storm-Trapped Pair To Hike Out Today PINKHAM NOTCH, N.H. (UPI) - A young University of Maine couple trapped four days by lethal winds and a spring blizzard atop 6,288 foot Mt. Washington planned to hike to the base today with the assistance of rescuers.

"They'll probably have to be carried off the mountain," Fish and game Dispatheer Wynn Blake said at Concord late Tuesday. "The men didn't have a litter with them. It was hard enough to get to there themselves without having to carry anything else."

David Corneau, 21, of Bingham, Maine, and Jane Giolitti, 19, of Bethleem, Pa., were located shortly after noon Tuesday in a shelter five miles north of the Mt. Washington summit by a some of the 50 rescuers searching the treacherous mountain.

"They are weak and hungry but they are alive," Blake said. Rescuers spent the night with the couple at the Edman's Col leanto that served as the couple's shelter since Saturday. Heavy snow trapped the hikers without snowshoes on the fifth day of a hike through the Presidential range.

Two Killed In Car Accident LEYDARD (UPI) - Gilbert Davis, 44, of Leydard, and Frank G. Kohler, 42, of Tallmadge, Ohio, were killed Tuesday night, when their northbound car ran off Rte. 12 and into a tree.

Kohler, the driver, and Davis were pronounced dead on arrival at Lawrence and Memorial Hospitals in New London. The accident occurred at about 8:30 p.m. near the intersection of Long Cove Road.

Sun Shone Tuesday for Conigliaro at Fenway

BOSTON (UPI) - The sun shone Tuesday for Tony Conigliaro, even though he only went one for four. After all, it was his first hit since 1971.

Conigliaro, at one time one of the American League's most feared sluggers, returned to baseball as the Boston Red Sox opened their season with a 5-2 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers.

He had been out of baseball for more than three years, but got a standing ovation from the fans, reminiscent of the days he was one of their favorites.

Not only were the fans pulling for him, but Mother Nature seemed to be also. Each time Conigliaro got into the batter's box, the sky lightened up and cast his shadow onto the field.

Conigliaro made no mention of the coincidence, but did say, "Without the fans' prayers and their backing, I wouldn't have made it."

He got his hit off Jim Slaton in the first inning, poking the fifth pitch to right field. He then executed a double steal with Carl Yastrzemski that resulted in Boston's first run of an opening day 5-2 win over the Milwaukee Brewers.

He grounded out in his next three appearances, but felt his performance was satisfactory. "One thing really impressed me: the ball looked like a baseball," said the 30-year-old designated hitter who first came up with Boston in 1964.

Conigliaro wasn't seeing well at all in July, 1971, when he left the California Angels because of deteriorating vision in his left eye. The sight had been impaired by a 1967 beaning while he was with Boston, but Conigliaro came back to hit 56 homers in 1969-70 for the Red Sox.

Conigliaro was traded to the Angels in late 1970, but quit baseball after being told his vision would never improve. He opened his own nightclub and golf course and took up new hobbies, including karate. Baseball was a forgotten dream until last August when Conigliaro noticed he "was seeing the golf ball better."

An eye test showed the vision in his left eye had improved markedly. The doctor called the improvement a "miracle." Conigliaro called Red Sox General Manager Dick O'Connell.

Milwaukee designated hitter Hank Aaron, acquired from the Atlanta Braves during the winter, said Conigliaro appeared to be "swinging the bat very well. He's not at all plate shy. He seems to be making excellent contact."

Things didn't go quite as well for Aaron, the holder of the major league home run record. The 41-year-old home run king was 0-3 with only a couple of foul balls.

He had little to say of his American League debut, looking like any working man who wanted to go home and forget. "What could be said of a game in which he walked, fouled out near the plate, grounded to shortstop and tapped back to the mound? What response should he make when his big hits were two liners wide of the left field foul pole in the sixth inning and his eighth inning check swing to Tiant came with two men on and the Brewers trailing by three runs."

Aaron was most animated when discussing a standing ovation of 34,019 Fenway Park fans upon his pregame introduction. "You always feel little goose bumps when you are received like that, it's a great feeling."

Milwaukee designated hitter Hank Aaron, acquired from the Atlanta Braves during the winter, said Conigliaro appeared to be "swinging the bat very well. He's not at all plate shy. He seems to be making excellent contact."

Things didn't go quite as well for Aaron, the holder of the major league home run record. The 41-year-old home run king was 0-3 with only a couple of foul balls.

He had little to say of his American League debut, looking like any working man who wanted to go home and forget. "What could be said of a game in which he walked, fouled out near the plate, grounded to shortstop and tapped back to the mound? What response should he make when his big hits were two liners wide of the left field foul pole in the sixth inning and his eighth inning check swing to Tiant came with two men on and the Brewers trailing by three runs."

Aaron was most animated when discussing a standing ovation of 34,019 Fenway Park fans upon his pregame introduction. "You always feel little goose bumps when you are received like that, it's a great feeling."

Conigliaro was traded to the Angels in late 1970, but quit baseball after being told his vision would never improve. He opened his own nightclub and golf course and took up new hobbies, including karate. Baseball was a forgotten dream until last August when Conigliaro noticed he "was seeing the golf ball better."

An eye test showed the vision in his left eye had improved markedly. The doctor called the improvement a "miracle." Conigliaro called Red Sox General Manager Dick O'Connell.

Vernon Ordinance Fixes Sewer Charges

An ordinance maintaining the same sewer user charges as currently in effect was approved by the Town Council following a public hearing Monday night. The ordinance applies to in-town users only. At the same time the council approved an amended resolution pertaining to out-of-town user charges. No public hearing was required on the resolution. Although a couple of Vernon residents asked questions, no one objected to the ordinance during the public hearing which lasted about 10 minutes.

Mayor Frank McCoy explained that he recommended the charges remain the same for this coming year, but added that the whole matter will be reassessed when the town starts construction of its expanded treatment plant. He said several alternate means of charging users will be considered and he is sure charges will go up. The user charges are a necessity until all Vernon residents have the service and it will be included in the regular tax rate. The annual charge for each dwelling unit is $9.50. Each apartment in a complex is considered as a separate dwelling unit and charged accordingly. For commercial users the charge is determined according to the average daily flow discharged into the sewage system. For those having an average daily flow of less than 50,000 gallons, the charge is $22.17 per thousand gallons. For those having an average daily flow in excess of 50,000 gallons, the charge is $11.08.50 plus $13.86 per thousand gallons in excess of the 50,000. The Vernon treatment plant services some Ellington and Tolland residents and commercial operations. The out-of-town residential users are charged $54 a year. Monday night the council voted to delete one provision in the existing ordinance and that was that restaurants should be charged double the commercial rate. With the amended ordinance, all out-of-town users other than residential, will be charged 32 cents per thousand gallons of actual use per quarter. The minimum charge for industrial users is $432 a year and the minimum charge for commercial users, $108 a year.

Back Taxes Unlisted

VERNON
A request of Vernon tax collector Sylvia Wilson to transfer 727 tax accounts, amounting to $37,832, to the suspense list was approved by the Town Council Monday night. The list includes delinquent accounts for the list years of 1967 through 1972. Mrs. Wilson said she wanted approval to remove the tax accounts from the open listings in preparation for the audit scheduled for May 20.

Town Attorney Abbot Schwebel told the council that just because the names are transferred to the suspense list it doesn't mean they are written off.

Husband-Wife Team Recruit for Marines

Marine Sgt. Wayne Bergman, a recruiter in Springfield, Mass. the past two years, has been transferred to Manchester. Assisting him will be his wife, S. Sgt. Linda Bergman. She is the woman representative for Connecticut, Rhode Island, and western Massachusetts. The sergeant, a native of DeKalb, Ill., attended Kishwaukee College. He enlisted in the Marine Corps in 1969. Upon completion of recruit training at San Diego, Calif., Sgt. Bergman attended four aviation schools. He has attended Cobra-helicopter school and is a helicopter mechanic. Sgt. Bergman has been stationed at various Marine Corps bases across the country and overseas. Upon returning from Okinawa in 1972, he graduated from recruiters school in San Diego and was assigned to the New England recruiting district where he interviews young men and women for application to numerous occupational fields. He and his wife live in East Hartford. There will be a family night April 16 at 7 p.m. at the Elks Club, 30 Bissell St. A recruit training film will be shown. Maj. M. E. Smith Jr., officer in charge of the recruiting station in Hartford, will be the guest speaker.

All interested parents and young people are invited to attend. Refreshments will be served.

TORO "A Cut Above Other Mowers!"

Grassmaster Line
Toro's new bagging Grassmaster mowers are the ultimate lawn machines, designed for the person who requires both the exact precision of Toro engineering and the maneuverability of rear bagging. But Grassmaster is much more than that—it's actually three mowers in one:
• It's a rear bagging mower—vacuums up clippings into a big heavy-duty bag for easy disposal, and rear door closed, Grassmaster's blade slices clippings into a fine mulch that filters onto the soil.
• It's a regular mower—with rear door closed and dispersal chute attached, Grassmaster discharges grass in the normal way (and helps protect you from flying debris with its "safety deflector bar").

Whirlwind Line
The Whirlwind will cut your lawn as cleanly, smoothly and evenly as a barber shaves your face. And just as reliably, too. The Whirlwind has been synonymous with superb design, superior performance and top value for more than 25 years. Millions of homeowners have found that Toro builds outstanding features and top quality into every mower they make, regardless of price. The Whirlwind proves this every time it cuts your lawn. Take a look at the product features that make the Toro Whirlwind a precision machine that's the talk of the lawn mower industry. Toro has gone a long, long way to solve your lawn-care problems—even if you're on a budget.

More Recreation Facilities Suggested

By DOUG BEVINS
Development of more playground facilities, parks, swimming pools, and bicycle paths are recommended in a report prepared by the town's Planning and Zoning Commission.

The report, prepared by the town planning department to meet requirements of state and federal funding agencies, is now part of Manchester's comprehensive plan of development.

It replaces a ten-year-old, out-of-date section of the original comprehensive plan and is wider in scope and more detailed than the original document, Town Planner J. Eric Potter said.

The 30-page report, which contains six maps, provides history and descriptions of all open space-recreation areas in town, broken down into several categories.

Among the categories are tot lots (play areas for preschoolers), neighborhood playgrounds, major sportsgrounds, parks, special facilities, bicycle facilities, the Hockanum River Linear Park, and school land near the town.

Among the recommendations:

- The report proposes new development or improvement of existing tot lots in about 20 locations. The aim is for four tot lots in each square mile of residential areas, and the town now has about 20 such facilities.
- Tot lots are described as open space play areas for children up to six years of age. Called for in each tot lot are swings, slides and sandboxes, and a level paved area for wheeled toys.
- Development of four new neighborhood playgrounds and improvement of about eight existing playgrounds, for children aged 6 to 12, is recommended. New facilities, to include ball fields and recreation equipment, are proposed on Bryan Dr. along the Hockanum River, on Kennedy Rd., and near Nathan Hale School.
- The report calls for at least one neighborhood playground per square mile. Comfort stations should be provided at each site, the report says.
- Concerning "sportsgrounds," the report says it is obvious that ideal conditions will never be achieved because urban areas are already developed and it's unlikely that suitable tracts for large scale recreation uses will ever be acquired by the town.

Existing "sportsgrounds" as defined by the report are the Charter Oak Park-Mt. Nebo complex and the grounds of Iling Junior High School. Minor sportsgrounds are located at Robertson Park, Washington School, Keeney St. School, and the Nike Site.

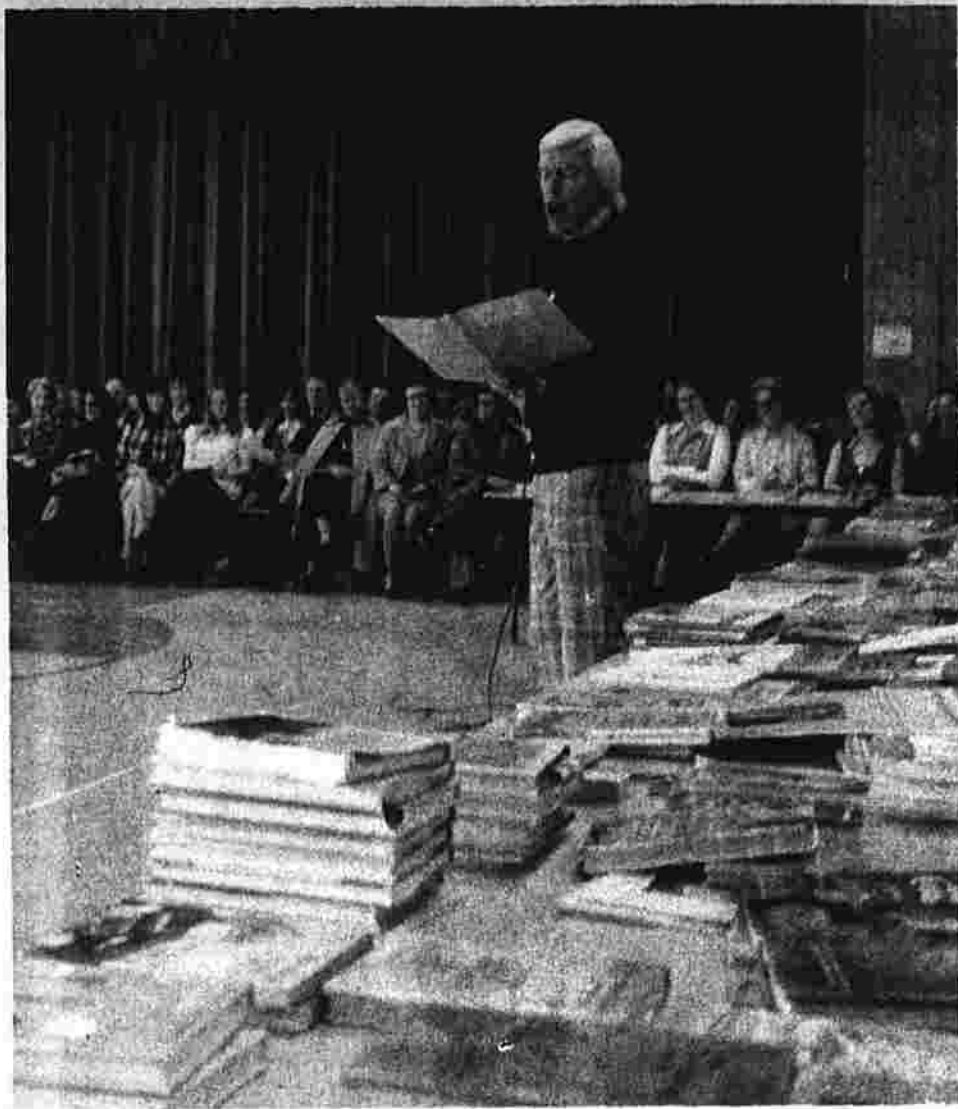

• In the parks category, the report calls attention to existing facilities at Center Springs Park, Center Park and Wickham Park, as well as several smaller sites throughout town. The report calls for preservation of the recently acquired Case Mountain and Manchester Water Co. land off Lydall St.

• Under "special facilities," the report proposes construction of new swimming pools at Nathan Hale School and Keeney St. School to augment existing swimming facilities at Globe Hollow, Sailer's, Robertson, Verplanck and Waddell.

The report also says local fishing opportunities are poor, and recommends opening of town reservoirs to provide for the need.

The report also suggests construction of a "well-equipped gymnasium" at the Nike Site, "if space could be found."

• Concerning bicycle paths, the report states that Manchester should proceed with a bikeway program as soon as possible. The bicycle may become an important method of travel as transportation priorities are re-ordered, the report says.

Make Reading 'Come Alive,' Instructor Tells Teachers

By JUNE TOMPKINS
Manchester's elementary teachers sat spellbound for three hours Monday afternoon at Waddell School as they were captivated by a man who showed them how to captivate their young students.

Bill Halloran, a fifth grade teacher from Westfield, Mass., with several hundred juvenile books as props, showed his rapt audience how to make reading "come alive," partly by going in among the students and using body movements, gestures, facial expressions to dramatize the reading.

He told them how reading aloud combined with an educated choice of material can "get through to that child who withdraws, who feels insecure, who cannot communicate."

Halloran has been on leave from the classroom this year in order to serve as a teacher consultant for Educational Consultant Associates. He has been appearing before teachers throughout the United States speaking on the subject, "Reading K-6: How to Create the Desire."

Making a startling appearance with his white hair shag cut and a flashing smile, this young man demonstrated the books that would appeal to the child who "hates to read and doesn't like books." They were the ones with "come-ons," like pop-up books, books with acetate overlays that created fascinating scenes and designs, books that "did things."

He showed a book about misty days and foggy mornings. "Read this to them on a foggy day and they'll never forget the story," he said.

He showed books written and illustrated by young students which he had preserved in plastic and ring binders. "Not always

COURT CASES

COMMON PLEAS COURT
Geographical Area 12
East Hartford Session
Cases disposed of by Judge Thomas Corrigan Monday and Tuesday:

Randall J. Roberts, 26, of Waterbury, second-degree robbery and first-degree unlawful restraint, right to probable cause hearing waived. The case was then bound over to the next criminal session of Hartford County Superior Court.

The charges stem from the Oct. 30 armed robbery of drugs from the Arthur Drug Store on Main St.

• Leonard W. Nelson, 19, of Hartford, third-degree burglary, plea of guilty, pre-sentence investigation ordered for May 5.

The charge of criminal attempt to commit larceny was nolle. The charges stem from a break into a Strong Rd. home in South Windsor in the fall.

• Carlos Gonzalez, age and address not available, issuing bad check, 30 days in jail. The sentence was suspended and Gonzalez was placed on probation for one year on condition he make restitution.

A charge of third-degree larceny was nolle.

• Robert Miller, 19, of East Hartford, failure to drive right, $25, and operating under suspension, $100. The charges of reckless driving and evading responsibility were nolle.

• Brian McCarten, age and address not available, failure to drive in the established lane reduced from reckless driving, $15, and failure to stop and show license reduced from evading responsibility, $10.

• Carol Leighton, 29, of 8 Ward St., Rockville and Joyce Wentzell, 28, of 20 Thompson St., Rockville, both charged with fourth-degree larceny and both fined $5.

Cases nolle (not prosecuted) included:

- Barbara J. Bodo, 39, of 107

"Up to this date, there has been no indication in any material sent to me of any act of criminal behavior or any possible area of violation," Gormley said.

The state's attorney said he wants details from investigators as to the areas of possible criminal conduct.

Gormley said he would deliver an outline of his plans for the investigation to Rep. Richard A. Dice, R-Cheshire, chairman of the new defunct leasing committee.

Gormley said he would investigate:

- The sale of the Phoenix building in Hartford to house Greater Community College.
- The structure falls to meet fire safety standards.

State's Attorney Launches State Lease Program Probe

NEW HAVEN (UPI) — Chief State's Attorney Joseph T. Gormley has launched an investigation into possible criminal abuses in Connecticut's state leasing program, according to a published report today.

Gormley told the New Haven Journal Courier that his decision to investigate was prompted by appeals from House Speaker James J. Kennedy, D-Hartford, and Senate Majority Leader Joseph I. Lieberman, D-New Haven.

Connecticut's leasing scandal, which involved the awarding of lucrative state rentals to political cronies, has been a prime factor in the delay of former Gov. Thomas J. Meskillo's nomination to the federal bench.

The U.S. Senate Judiciary Committee failed to find any evidence of criminal involvement of Meskillo, a Republican, and approved his nomination on an 8-4 vote. Meskillo was nominated by Sen. Lowell P. Weicker, R-Conn., the architect of corruption in the administration of former President Nixon.

According to the published report, Gormley is enlisting help from State Police Commissioner Cleveland B. Puetzenich in the investigation of several leases.

Although Lieberman and Kennedy also asked U.S. Attorney Peter Dorsey, who was appointed by Weicker, to investigate the leasing scandal, he has not responded, the report said.

EAST HARTFORD (UPI) — Shareholders of Connecticut's largest employer have approved a name change from United Aircraft Corp. to United Technologies Corp.

The change, effective May 1, is expected to cost more than $2 million, an approved at the firm's annual shareholders meeting in East Hartford.

The firm also announced a 17 per cent increase in net income to $2.1 million, an increase of 10 per cent over the first quarter of 1974, compared to $1.7 million for the same period last year.

First quarter earnings per share on the common stock rose to $1.08 this year, compared to $1.08 for the period in 1974.

UAC Chairman and President Harry J. Gray said first quarter sales this year were $698.6 million, compared to $621 million in the first quarter of 1974.

Commercial and industrial markets were responsible for 64 per cent of total sales the first quarter, compared to 63 per cent in government sales for the same period.

Gray said the firm had an all-time high backlog of orders totaling $5.6 billion, an increase of 13 per cent over the first quarter of 1974.

The firm earlier announced its desire to change its name to United Technologies Corp. to more accurately reflect the

The hearse provided the sealed facility necessary to transport the nine boxes of valuable mannequins for use in a cardio-pulmonary resuscitation (CPR) demonstration. Ostrinsky is chairman of the monthly CPR program in Manchester. (Herald photo by Pinto)

Next CPR Class is April 28

About 60 people attended the first of a series of cardio-pulmonary resuscitation (CPR) programs held at the VFW Home. "Three quarters of the persons there were women," said Kenneth Ostrinsky, chairman of the program. Many of the women in attendance had husbands who had suffered heart attacks or who had undergone heart surgery and felt the knowledge of CPR was necessary in case of emergencies. Other women had swimming pools in their yards and considered the use of CPR essential in the event of a drowning child. The program was developed by the American Heart Association and is sponsored locally by the Association of Independent Insurance Agents of Manchester and the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Using 12 adult mannequins and one baby mannequin, instructors from Emergency Accident-Illness Simulation Team Inc. (EAST) demonstrated actual application of the life-saving technique.

Paul Smith of Bloomfield, president of EAST, supervised the instructors. Smith is an instructor in emergency medical training at Manchester Community College. The four-hour course will be offered free on April 28 at the VFW Home 7 to 11 p.m. The goal of the program is for one member of every family to take the course. "The first four to six minutes after a person is stricken are critical," said Ostrinsky. "The person who knows the CPR technique can make the difference between life or death." It is suggested that women attending the course wear slacks. The 400 mannequins are specially manufactured in Norway to contain life-like lungs and a blood pressure system. The mannequins are supplied by the American Heart Association. Anyone interested in registering for the next course may call the Municipal Building, 649-5281, and ask for CPR.

Coloring Book Way To Learn Bike Safety

Bicycle Safety Coloring Books have been made available to the children of Manchester by manager Mark Plante of the Burger King. Mayor John Thompson said, "These books are designed primarily for the younger child and especially for the beginning rider. It is a fun way to learn bicycle safety." The books will be distributed to any organization, school or other group working with young children. The Burger King will award a special national driver's license to any child who completes the book and the quiz correctly. Instructions for receiving the license are contained in the coloring book. "We begin a new bicycle riding season," said the mayor. "I urge all parents to take the necessary time to instruct their children in bicycle safety, proper care and maintenance of a bicycle, and to be certain the bicycle is equipped with such safety items as reflector lights or strips and lights especially if the bicycle will be used after dusk. "I urge the motorists in our community to practice preventive driving and to be on the lookout for young children on bicycles."

No Change
MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Eugene Zak tried to pay his income tax in cash Tuesday, but the Internal Revenue Service couldn't make change. Zak, 73, owed $394 and carried $395 in cash to the local IRS office. "They wouldn't take it quite correctly. Instructions for receiving the license are contained in the coloring book. "We begin a new bicycle riding season," said the mayor. "I urge all parents to take the necessary time to instruct their children in bicycle safety, proper care and maintenance of a bicycle, and to be certain the bicycle is equipped with such safety items as reflector lights or strips and lights especially if the bicycle will be used after dusk. "I urge the motorists in our community to practice preventive driving and to be on the lookout for young children on bicycles."

TODAY'S THOUGHT

"I'm looking for a perfect church," one believer told another. "I hope you never find it," his friend retorted. "Why not?" the first person asked in astonishment. "Because you couldn't join it," explained the other. "Or if you did join it you'd spoil it." "I guess I see what you mean," the seeker for perfection conceded. "I'm not perfect myself, so I'd be out of place in a perfect church." From Dr. Raymond L. Cox
A church that's all it ought to be. A church whose members never stray Beyond the straight and narrow way; A church that has no empty pews.

Board Votes to Keep Paper Pickup

By SOL R. COHEN
By a 7 to 2 vote Tuesday night, the Manchester Board of Directors approved continued pickup of recyclable paper for the fiscal year beginning July 1 at a cost of $5,000. Under the four-year contract Manchester has with Sanitary Refuse, the town has the annual option of paying for curbside pickup of newspaper, at a cost of $5,000 above the contract for garbage and refuse. It picked up the option for 1974-75, the first year of the contract. Under the terms of the agreement, the town can cancel the newspaper pickup at any time — on 90-days notice. If canceled, the newspaper pickup cannot be resumed until the start of the next fiscal year. Newspaper is picked up on the curb on the second day of garbage pickup—Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The board didn't discuss or take any action on once-a-week versus twice-a-week garbage pickup. That decision will come during its budget workshop sessions. Voting against the curbside pickup of newspaper were Directors Phyllis Jackson and Carl Zinsner. Mrs. Jackson said the service is costing the town too much money (instead of providing an income, as had been predicted) and only five tons are being picked up a week (against a forecast of about 30 tons a week), and that she believes a voluntary program by town residents might bring better results at a saving. Zinsner also proposed a voluntary program—to save the town the $5,000. He suggested a project sponsored by the Conservation Commission. Director Pascal Prignano said the Conservation Commission can participate in the existing program by educating the public and stimulating the collection—on the basis it is ecologically sound. Mayor John Thompson, acknowledging "the adverse market for the newspaper at this time," predicted "it is just a temporary situation and will change as our economy improves." Warning that cancellation of the pickup "would simply be filling up our landfill area at a greater rate," he said, "I believe there is too much waste of our natural resources and a community effort to recycle newsprint should be encouraged."

San Jose, Calif. (UPI) — The New World Liberation Front has again claimed responsibility for bombing attacks on power company facilities but a security spokesman said today his men are "closing in on" the terrorists. Two bombs went off early Tuesday at a Pacific Gas and Electric substation, damaging two transformers. Service was not affected, but PG&E crews turned off power for a short time to make repairs. This affected 20,000 customers. The San Francisco Chronicle received a letter Tuesday afternoon from the Lucio Cabanas unit of the front. The message attacked PG&E's high rates and promised more violence against the firm. On March 27 five pipe bombs were detonated at the same substation, knocking out power to 25,000 homes. The New World Liberation Front claimed responsibility after the March explosion and demanded that PG&E provide free service for the unemployed and lower rates for the poor and those on fixed incomes. The NWLF had issued a 48-hour ultimatum. PG&E investigators said of the latest sabotage that they believed the NWLF was responsible.

POLICE REPORT

MANCHESTER
Earl Coleman, 19, of no certain address was served a Common Pleas Court 12 warrant Tuesday at the state correctional center in Hartford charging him with first-degree robbery, said Det. Capt. Joseph Sartor. The charge stems from the knife-point robbery April 1 at the Spry Toy Store on Broad St., he said. A female cashier at the store refused to cash a traveler's check Coleman offered her to pay for a $20 baseball glove, police said. He put a knife to her throat and said, "If you don't cash the check, I'm going to cut your throat," police said. She cashed the check giving him $20 and the glove, police said. Hartford Police arrested Coleman April 4 on many charges involving stolen checks, police said. He was jailed in lieu of $3,000 cash bond. Manchester is not the only state town now filing charges against Coleman on check charges, police said. Nearly two dozen towns are lodging charges, a Hartford police officer said. The Manchester charge is the most serious against him due to the use of the knife, a Manchester detective said. Police said they do not suspect Coleman of two other robberies last week with the use of guns. Scott L. Anderson, 16, of 36 Margaret Rd. was arrested Tuesday afternoon on Margaret Rd. and charged with operating a motor vehicle without a license and operating an unregistered motorcycle, police said. Court is April 29. Police suspect the thief came back for the TV. Five mounted tires were stolen Monday night from a vehicle in the Southern New England Telephone Co. fenced-in lot of New State Rd., police said. Much damage was done to the vehicle. The sanitary napkin machine in a girl's room of Iling Junior High School was ripped off the wall over the weekend. The machine was found in a dirt pile outside the school Monday morning minus about $5 in dimes and nickels, police said. Breaks and thefts reported include: A Glenwood St. home was broken into Tuesday afternoon. An upstairs bedroom was gone through. Missing is a portable radio. Mamie May Move
FT. GORDON, Ga. (UPI) — Tentative plans have been made to move former First Lady Mamie Eisenhower to Walter Reed Army Hospital near Washington next Monday to the care closer home while recovering from an intestinal ailment. George Foster, a base spokesman, said that Mamie Eisenhower, 78, had made steady improvement since entering the hospital and her doctors described her condition Tuesday as "exceptionally good." The physicians said her spirits are high and her diet intake is normal.

Guru to India
DENVER (UPI) — Guru Maharaj Ji has left for India in an attempt to wrest control of the Divine Light Mission from his relatives and consolidate the 17-year-old's position as "perfect master" of six million followers. "The guru's intentions are to assume control of the mission in India and put the management in the hands of trusted followers," spokesman Joe Ancill said Tuesday. "The new management will not include his mother or his eldest brother." Earlier this month in New Delhi, the guru's mother disowned her son because of his "despicable, nonspiritual way of life."

Wallace Claims Credit
RALEIGH, N.C. (UPI) — George Wallace says he believes efforts to abolish the North Carolina presidential primary are a result of his 1972 primary victory. The Alabama governor, who is lobbying against legislation that would kill the primary, said it was a popular race in North Carolina three years ago, but "all of a sudden it's not such a hot idea because I won." Wallace said Tuesday he has not decided if he will run for the presidency again in 1976, "but if I run I don't want them to stop me in a smoke-filled room."

Cites Needs
ARADAPLHA, Ark. (UPI) — Julian Bond was too young to run for national office when his name was offered as a vice presidential choice at the 1968 Democratic convention. Next Jan. 14 he will be 35, old enough to run for president, and he spelled out his qualifications for a running mate. "I would like a white woman from the Northwest," Bond told students at Henderson State University Tuesday. "She needs to be Catholic and married to a Jewish Oriental who speaks Spanish."

Korean Leftists Hanged
SEOUL (UPI) — The South Korean government hanged eight leftists today on charges of organizing student demonstrations to overthrow President Park Chung-hee. The Justice Ministry said the condemned men—alleged members of a left organization called the "People's Revolution party"—were hanged this morning at Seoul Prison. Six officials witnessed the executions.

Plan Challenged
BOSTON (UPI) — The State Board of Education has joined forces with both sides in the Boston school integration case in denouncing a plan submitted to the U.S. District Court by a panel of special masters. "The plan in its present form is not constitutionally valid," the board said Tuesday in a brief filed with District Judge W. Arthur Garrity. The state board's brief supported the stand of the NAACP, which helped a group of black parents file the suit that resulted in the desegregation order. The civil rights group charges the new desegregation proposal fails to adequately integrate the city's schools.

Plane Crashes
FOSTER, R.I. (UPI) — Federal Aviation Administration officials today investigated the crash of a light plane near the Foster-Scituate town lines in which a Massachusetts man was killed. Carl H. Abrahamson, 53, of 71 Cheney St., Orange, Mass., was killed Tuesday night when the single-engine Cessna 182 he was piloting exploded when it crashed into a densely wooded area. He had taken off a short time earlier from an airport in Westfield, Mass.

No Comment
SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The FBI declined comment today on a report that fugitive newspaper heiress Patricia Hearst is flying to Algiers to seek asylum. The report came Tuesday night from KPIX-TV newswoman Marilyn Baker, author of a book on the Hearst kidnaping. The reporter said Miss Hearst would land sometime today in Algiers along with Jack Scott and his wife, Micki.

GOP Poll Reports Opposition To Police-Firehouse Complex

SOUTH WINDSOR
Judy Kuehnel
644-1364
While the Capital Improvements Committee (CIC) favors a new firehouse as its No. 1 priority, a private poll taken by the Republican Town Committee shows a majority of the residents answering the questionnaire oppose a police and firehouse complex.
The CIC last week released its five-year priority report in which a firehouse and pumper truck were No. 1 out of five priorities announced.
Tuesday night the CIC held a public hearing on its priorities report, and during that meeting Republican Town Committee Chairman Mrs. Jean Gezelman announced some of the results of her committee's recent private poll.
A majority, 2-1, opposed the construction of a new firehouse and police department facility, although some added that they would support the building of a firehouse, excluding the police facility.
The question, "Do you favor the building of a new library, if built with available funds?" was favored 1.8 to 1, while 2.6 to 1 opposed the building of a library by bonding.
The construction of a community hall was opposed 1.1 to 1. A grand building program, to preserve its water resources and its plans efficient and proper operation of the town government.
Republicans said, "We recognize one of the basic responsibilities of our town is to provide for the maintenance and improvement of our schools." The last point of the platform says it will provide responsive and communicative leadership.
Enumerators will conduct the annual school census this month. Information will be checked regarding a child's name, address, date of birth, father's name, school and class.
The purpose of the school census is the state's required enumeration report of the children up to age 21. The school system is required to provide information regarding the number of children by age who are in public or private schools.
The activities of out of school youth between ages 16 and 20 are reported as full or part time employment, active military service, unemployed or homemaking.

14 Attend CIC Public Hearing

SOUTH WINDSOR
Judy Kuehnel
When the Capital Improvements Committee held its five-year priority report last night, only 14 residents turned out to hear the report.
Not present, according to Councilman Howard "Happy" Fitts, were those most vocal in their criticism of the reserve fund created by the council for capital and non-recurring expenditures.
"I consider it significant that the Bob Sills and the SWACers are not here," said Councilman Fitts. "Those who have spoken out over the past few months have not taken advantage of this meeting to voice their opinion to us (CIC). It is too bad that they have not availed themselves of the opportunity."
Both Sills and the South Windsor Association Citizens (SWAC) have spoken out at previous council meetings against the inclusion of the reserve fund in the Capital Reserve Fund.
At a recent meeting Sills suggested that the money presently in the fund be dispersed among each South Windsor taxpayer.

Council Considers Wall To Halt Brook Flooding

SOUTH WINDSOR
Judy Kuehnel
A step toward solving the controversial Avery Brook's flooding situation appears in the works, following the Town Council's public hearing on the matter Monday night.
The council may allocate some $80,000 toward erecting a section of wall along the brook approximately in length 600 feet from Manor Lane to Benedict Dr.
According to Emil Lucke, town engineer, the wall is important because of the potential for soil erosion and possible damage to nine homes.
Some residents questioned the selection of the one section of the Avery Brook area. Lucke said he felt that this area was most crucial at this time.
In other matters, the council appointed Fenton Futner, former state agriculture commissioner, to the Capital Improvement Committee to fill an unexpired term ending Dec. 1, 1975.
Claire Nizankiewicz, 3 Alpine Dr., was appointed to the Economic Development Commission to fill an unexpired term ending Nov. 30, 1977.
The council also announced that Ernest W. Small from the Sewer Commission.
Town Manager Terry B. Sprengle has announced that the town will be accepting applications for the filling of seven positions to be funded under the Comprehensive Manpower Youth Program.
The applications must be obtained at the town manager's office at the Town Hall and returned no later than noon on Friday, April 11.
Sprengle indicated that applicant's families must meet the eligibility requirements of economically disadvantaged.
A person is deemed economically disadvantaged if he or she is a member of a family which receives cash relief payments or whose annual income in relation to family size and location does not exceed certain criteria.
The program will begin as soon as the applicants are found eligible by the CEPA personnel committee. This is expected during the week of April 14. The program will terminate the last day of the school year.
Participants will be required to work 10 hours each week at a rate of $2.11 per hour.
Sprengle indicated that four positions will be assigned to recreation field maintenance, two positions to building derelict and abandoned structures and two to maintenance of town property.

Andover Republicans issued their platform in which they cite their beliefs in the following items and issues.
As for law and order the party believes in improving the organization and continuing the training of working constables. The party believes economy and efficiency in the town government should be established. It believes in establishing a policy of prudence in the operation of the town government; regular office hours which should include an evening should be maintained by the Board of Selectmen; in working with all boards and commissions and in encouraging citizen participation in all levels of town government.
Republicans believe in working to maintain the lowest possible tax rate and informing people of revenue sharing funds and their use.
They plan to maintain a continuous program for town roads and full time work forces and the maintenance programs.
The GOP plans to develop recreational facilities for the town and plan activities for such purposes.
It plans to maintain the town's rural atmosphere, preserve its water resources and its plans efficient and proper operation of the town government.
Republicans said, "We recognize one of the basic responsibilities of our town is to provide for the maintenance and improvement of our schools." The last point of the platform says it will provide responsive and communicative leadership.

Republicans Ask Weiss To Rework His Budget

The Republican minority on the Manchester Board of Directors (Manchester Board) want Town Manager Robert Weiss to re-assess his proposed budget and tax rates by Monday. That's the day the board will conduct its first budget workshop.
Both Sills and the South Windsor Association Citizens (SWAC) have spoken out at previous council meetings against the inclusion of the reserve fund in the Capital Reserve Fund.
At a recent meeting Sills suggested that the money presently in the fund be dispersed among each South Windsor taxpayer.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Q. My neighbor is severely disabled so it's very difficult for her to do any housework. She can't afford to hire someone because her only income is a SSI payment. Is there some place where she can get help?

A. Some states may provide social services to people getting Supplemental Security Income payments. These services can include help with household chores, meal preparation, laundry, and marketing. Tell your neighbor to contact your local welfare office for more information.

Q. I'm going to take my 65-year-old aunt and uncle to apply for Supplemental Security Income payments. What documents should they take with them?

A. They should take their birth certificate, checkbooks, savings accounts, stocks and bonds, life insurance policies, auto registration cards, latest real estate tax statements, last year's income tax returns and W/2 forms, evidence of all other income, and their Social Security cards.

Q. I read in the paper sometime ago that Supplemental Security Income payment will be increased in the future according to the cost of living. How will this work?

A. When there is a cost of living increase in Social Security benefits, Supplemental Security Income payments will be increased. Under the law, the first possible increase would be for June 1975.

Q. My neighbor is 71 and the only income she has is rent from a small apartment in her house. Could she qualify for Supplemental Security Income?

A. She may be eligible if she has limited resources and her income is small. She can get information about applying for this by calling the Social Security office.

Q. I know Medicare helps pay most hospital and doctor bills, but what are some of the things it doesn't cover?

A. Medicare does not pay for custodial care, drugs and medicines you buy yourself without a prescription. Routine eye and hearing examinations, certain homemaker services and meals delivered to your home, preventive medicine such as routine physical checkups, and certain other services.

Your Medicare Handbook contains a list of services and supplies Medicare does not cover.

Job Seekers Told to Get SS Numbers

Students and other people who plan to get a summer job should apply now for a Social Security number if they don't have one, according to Sal Anello, Social Security office manager in East Hartford.

"You should apply for your number several weeks before you need it for a job covered by Social Security," Anello said. "Applications must be checked against central files in Baltimore to make sure that a second number isn't issued to that same person. Screening generally takes several weeks."

More than nine out of ten jobs are covered by Social Security.

People applying for a Social Security number for the first time may be asked to prove their age, identity, and citizenship.

"Your Social Security number is yours alone and remains the same for life," Anello continued. "A worker builds retirement, disability, survivors, and Medicare protection by work and earnings credited to his Social Security number. So when you get a job covered by Social Security, be sure your employer copies your name and number correctly from your Social Security card to his records."

People can get information about applying for a Social Security number by calling, writing, or visiting any Social Security office.

"If you've lost your Social Security card, you can get a duplicate by contacting your Social Security office," Anello said. "You can get a duplicate faster if you've kept the stub that came with your Social Security card."

The local Social Security office is at 87 Main St., East Hartford, Connecticut. The phone number is 244-5717.

Caldor introduces

CARON

Latch Hook Rug Center

It's Easy to make stunning rugs,
mats, tapestries
...the CARON way

Everyone will love making decorative accessories for the home! There is only one stitch to learn, and you can learn it in about a minute. It's a great way to add your personal touch to home decor. When you latch hook a rug or wall hanging, all you need is canvas, yarn and a latch hook. That's it!

1. choose your colors

39^c per pkg

Select from 45 exciting color choices. No need to worry about matching colors. CARON YARNS are matched dye lots—the color is always the same—so you don't have to buy all your yarn at once.

Caron Rug Yarn is made of fine quality Acrilan® acrylic fiber by Monsanto.

2. choose your pattern

4⁹⁹ each

All the choices are right there! Each package shows 3 different color combinations. Use any of these or select your own. Instructions on the package tell you exactly how much yarn you need. Everything is big and easy to understand. Color printed canvas tells you where to begin.

Coronation Yarn
of Creslan®
acrylic fiber

Our best selling yarn... because it's finest quality 100% Creslan®, downy-soft, machine washable and dryable. A glorious palette of colors awaits your choosing.

4 oz. 4 ply skein

FREE Instruction Sheet for this 2-way cover-up!

HERE'S HOW...

FREE instruction sheet for this double duty dynamite cover-up in Coronation yarn of Creslan® acrylic fiber. Swirly skirts and capes are big fashion news... here both are combined in one outfit. Wrap it 'round your shoulders, it's a knee length cape. Tie it 'round your waist, it's a sand-skimming skirt. Get yarn and free instructions now at Caldor.
