

Gauthier Murder Suspect Being Held Without Bond

By DOUG BEVINS

A New Jersey man is being held without bond today, charged with the Wednesday afternoon murder of a Manchester man on a downtown Manchester sidewalk. Donald J. Pascale, 23, of Somerville, N.J., is charged with the murder of Leo E. Gauthier, 22, of 80 Summer St., who was shot and killed shortly after 3 p.m. in front of Shoor Jewelers, 917 Main St. Pascale, apprehended by State Police in Marlborough less than an hour after the shooting, was arraigned in Court of Common Pleas at East Hartford this morning. His case was continued to April 16 without bond, and he is being held at the Hartford Correctional Center. Gauthier was shot three times outside the jewelry store, where his mother worked. He was transported to Manchester Memorial Hospital via Manchester Ambulance, where he died five minutes after his 3:28 p.m. arrival. Acting Police Chief George McCaughey of Manchester said today he wouldn't comment on motive for the shooting. Investigation is continuing.

There were several witnesses to the shooting but police would not confirm any of the witnesses' remarks. A report that Pascale was talking to the victim's mother inside the jewelry store just before the shooting was termed "a possibility" by McCaughey.

According to Creighton Shoor, owner of the jewelry store, the assailant came into the store at about 3 p.m. and was talking to the victim's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Gauthier, a saleswoman.

Shoor said he didn't hear the conversation but it appeared that they knew each other.

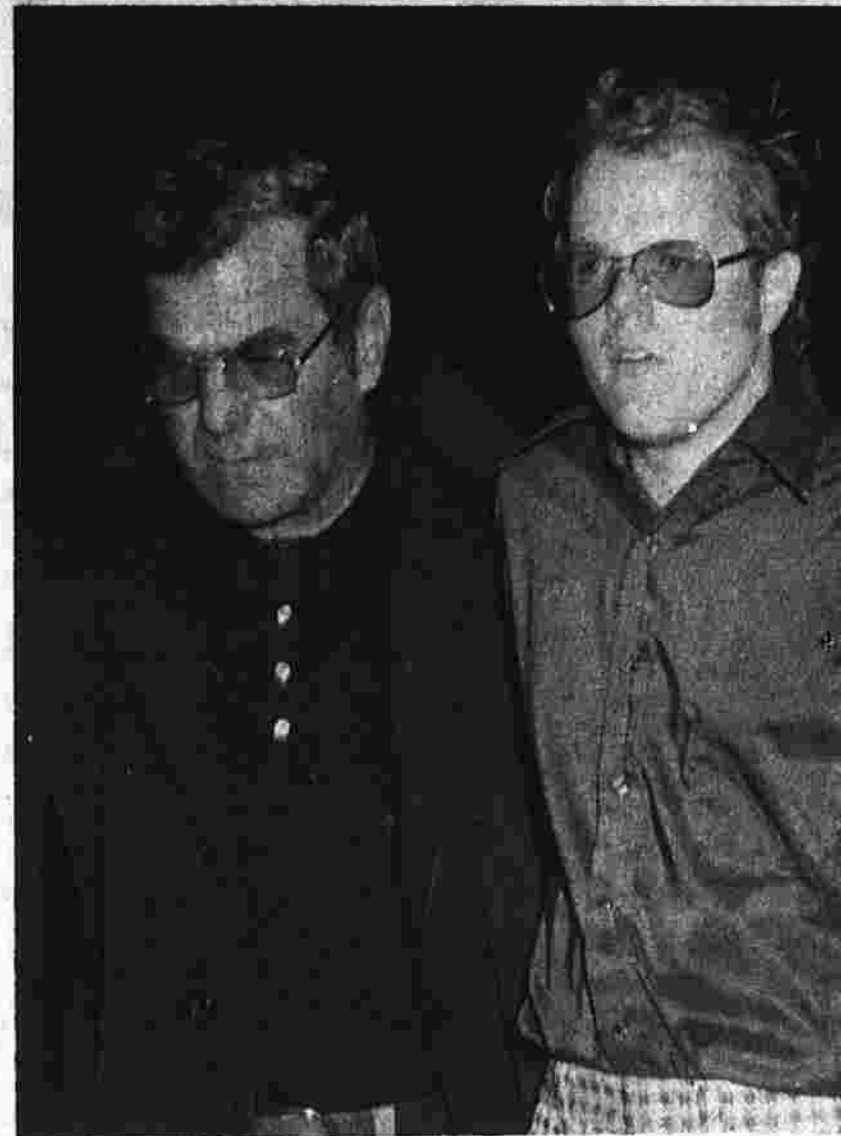

A few minutes later, Shoor said he was standing inside his store near the door when he saw the assailant fire a handgun three or four times. Shoor said he couldn't see the victim from inside the store.

Shoor immediately ran outside the store to aid the victim and yelled to bystanders to get the assailant. Several nearby youths chased the assailant unsuccessfully.

One witness to the shooting, a young man, said he was walking south on Main St., approaching the jewelry store, when he heard and saw the shooting. The witness said he gave chase, but the assailant jumped into a car parked further south on Main St. and sped away toward Glastonbury.

Another witness reported that the assailant used a car parked in front of the S&H Green Stamp redemption center at 974 Main St. Several witnesses obtained the getaway car's marker plate number: A New Jersey plate numbered STP-9. Descriptions of the car's make and color varied.

Ford To Give Congress Asian Policy Tonight

By HELEN THOMAS

UPI White House Reporter WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford will renew his request for additional military aid for South Vietnam when he addresses a joint session of Congress tonight, top White House aides indicated today.

The aides indicated the President at least will ask for the $300 million he previously requested for South Vietnam. They also said he would ask for an undisclosed amount of money to launch—in the event of a Communist takeover of Saigon—a humanitarian airlift for the South Vietnamese who have helped the U.S. government in the past.

The aides said Ford told them his nationally televised "State of the World" speech will be "the most important speech of my presidency." It is scheduled for 9 p.m. EDT.

Reporters and photographers today were admitted to the Oval Office where Ford was meeting with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger. Kissinger wore a grim expression but he brightened into a smile and told reporters "the President thought I was punchy at 1 a.m. this morning."

The President said that he had worked until 1:15 a.m. on the speech.

Kissinger could be overheard to say "I've got a few suggestions." Kissinger is reported to be pushing Ford to take a tough line, urging that adversaries be warned that the United States will stand by its commitments.

Other aides are said to be telling the President to take a more conciliatory stance and to appeal for bipartisanship during a time when the United States foreign policy objectives in Southeast Asia have been shaken.

Gen. Frederick C. Weyand, Army Chief of Staff, who returned from a fact-finding mission to South Vietnam last Friday, said he estimated that $700 million is needed to put the South Vietnamese Army back on its feet.

As late as Wednesday evening, White House Press Secretary Ron Neesen said Ford had "not made up his mind" whether to renew his appeal to Congress for military aid for South Vietnam and Cambodia. The President has already said he will seek humanitarian aid.

He still has before Congress a request for $300 million in military aid for South Vietnam and $220 million for Cambodia. He gave some indication at a news conference last week in San Diego that he might seek even more funds to help South Vietnam survive.

Sources said Army Chief of Staff Gen. Frederick Weyand, whom Ford sent on a fact-finding mission to Saigon, has estimated that re-equipping the South Vietnamese Army would require more than $700 million. It lost more than $1 billion worth of equipment, including tanks and planes; when it retreated in panic from the central highlands, giving up three-quarters of government-held territory.

Neesen said former President Richard Nixon assured South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu both publicly and privately in 1973 in effect that the United States would provide adequate economic and military aid and would "react vigorously" in case of massive Communist violations of the peace accords. Neesen said Congress has since ruled out any U.S. military intervention.

Ford invited congressional leaders of both parties to White House briefing Wednesday afternoon. None of the Democratic Senate leaders, including Mike Mansfield, attended.

House Democratic leader Thomas P. O'Neill said Ford told the group his speech tonight would be "blunt, frank, candid, hard," and would seek bipartisan cooperation. But Ford did not give the legislators details.

Months Ahead May Decide Mideast Fate

United Press International

Israeli Defense Minister Shimon Peres says he expects the summer months to determine whether the nations of the Middle East will fight a new war.

"The coming summer months will be decisive," Peres said Wednesday in Tel Aviv.

He said Egypt "is bound to retain both her options — the options of development without belligerency and that of belligerency itself."

Peres said Egypt's decision to reopen the Suez Canal in June creates an "open-minded situation" in the region and enables "the continued exploration" of ways to reach a peace settlement.

President Anwar Sadat has said he will reopen the canal to international shipping on June 5 — exactly eight years after it was closed in the 1967 Middle East War.

In Ismailia, Egypt, a Suez Canal Authority spokesman termed the canal "100 per cent safe for navigation" and said the last trapped vessels would leave the waterway next month.

In January, 1974, Secretary of State Henry Kissinger arranged an Israeli troop withdrawal from the banks of the Suez Canal. But Kissinger's search for a second disengagement agreement broke down last month.

The secretary of state failed to reconcile Israeli demands for a pledge of non-belligerency and Egyptian insistence on the return of mountain passes and oil fields in the Sinai Desert, captured by Israel.

The Israeli government said Wednesday Foreign Minister Yigal Allon will go to Washington next week at Kissinger's request.

Officials said it would be the first Middle East diplomatic effort since President Ford's decision to reassess U.S. policy toward the region.

Government sources in Tel Aviv said Allon would offer proposals that may serve as the basis for renewed Israeli-Egyptian negotiations.

United Brands Admits Payoffs To High Honduran Officials

NEW YORK (UPI) — For half a century, United Fruit Co. operated as overlord of the Caribbean, ruling economies of the banana republics with vast wealth and power.

The U.S. government now says its modern-day successor United Brands was up to its old tricks, paying off high officials of Honduras for tax breaks on exported bananas.

United Brands admitted Wednesday that in September its chairman Eli M. Black paid one or more officials of Honduras $1.25 million and promised another payment of $1.25 million this month.

Some U.S. officials said privately it was believed that Honduras President Oswaldo Lopez got some of the money channeled by Black through French subsidiaries. On Feb. 3, Black jumped to his death after using a brief case to smash through the window of his office on the 44th floor of the Pan Am building in Manhattan.

The Securities and Exchange Commission charged in U.S. District Court in Washington that United Brands deposited payoffs in Swiss bank accounts of Honduran officials and then sought to cover up the bribes, as well as payment of $750,000 in cash over the last five years to an official of an unnamed European government.

No reference was made to the payments in the company's annual reports to stockholders or the SEC, as required by law.

In 1970, Black formed United Brands through merger of United Fruit with American Seal Kap Inc., a maker of milk bottle caps. Though the new company expanded into other areas, bananas remained the main source of business, and United Brands held its position as the nation's largest importer of bananas.

From the turn of the century until the end of World War II, United Fruit virtually was a self-contained empire in Latin America.

It operated plantations on hundreds of thousands of acres and owned railroads, public utilities, hospitals, schools and, some historians say, the local politicians. It was the principal employer in many of the Latin American countries in which it operated, and it was often the only source of foreign exchange.

After World War II, United Fruit's plantation system was hit by changing political and economic conditions and its business and power quickly declined.

School Violence Termed a Crisis

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Senate report says school violence has become a national crisis requiring legislative action.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., said Wednesday the survey disclosed hundreds of thousands of assaults on students, including 100 murders in 1973; about 70,000 serious physical assaults on teachers each year; and extortion, drug and prostitution rings in suburban and urban schools.

The survey, prepared by the Senate juvenile delinquency subcommittee, covered 757 public elementary and public schools and showed dramatic increases in all forms of violence and vandalism.

The report said "there is clear and compelling evidence that violence and vandalism in the schools has reached a level of crisis that demands immediate comprehensive review and legislative action."

"The level of violence and vandalism... is rapidly increasing in both intensity and frequency," it added.

Bayh, the subcommittee chairman who made the report public, said he would sponsor legislation to provide funds for alternative educational programs and security measures.

The report said student misbehavior is no longer confined to fist fights or isolated incidents.

"Instead our schools are experiencing serious crimes of a felonious nature including brutal assaults on teachers and students, as well as rapes, extortions, burglaries, thefts, and an unprecedented wave of wanton destruction and vandalism," the report said.

It disclosed that between 1970 and 1973, homicides increased by 18.5 per cent; rapes and attempted rapes by 40.1 per cent; robberies by 36.7 per cent; assaults on students by 85.3 per cent; assaults on teachers by 77.4 per cent; burglaries of school buildings by 11.8 per cent; drug and alcohol offenses on school property by 37.5 per cent; and dropouts by 11.7 per cent.

It said an "even more ominous statistic" was that by the end of the 1973 school year the number of weapons confiscated by school authorities increased by 54.4 per cent.

"These weapons," the report said, "include knives, clubs, pistols, and even sawed-off shotguns...."

Rockefeller Says Nation Faces Critical Choice

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller says the United States should decide between the burdens of world leadership or abdicating global responsibility to the Soviet Union.

Rockefeller, appearing at the closing session of the 89th American Newspaper Publishers Association Wednesday, told 1,500 publishers, editors and executives the nation's foreign policy "must be clear and consistent and one on which other nations can count."

"Maybe this country has got to decide whether, as the nation which has the capacity to stand as the bastion of human freedom, human dignity and respect for equal opportunity throughout the rest of the world, whether we are to continue to accept the responsibility and have burdens, if you want to put it that way, that go with it," Rockefeller said.

"Or, whether we want to withdraw and say, 'Well, we're going to step aside now and we've carried this lead for a couple of decades and let's let the Soviets accept the responsibilities of world leadership.'"

At an airport news conference before his speech, Rockefeller said he knew of no secret agreements between the governments of the United States and South Vietnam as Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., had claimed and suggested Jackson's statement was irresponsible. Rockefeller called on him to release copies of the agreements.

But almost simultaneously in Washington, the White House confirmed former President Richard Nixon had made confidential promises to South Vietnam that the United States would respond "vigorously" if the Communists violated the Paris peace accords of 1973.

In a question-and-answer period following his ANPA speech, Rockefeller said he had been advised of the White House statement and added, "The revelations are an exchange of letters between then-President Nixon and President Thieu of South Vietnam. They confirm what was said at that time of U.S. support of South Vietnam in terms of the Paris agreement."

On the domestic scene, Rockefeller said the growth of federal spending may set off another round of inflation.

"The great immediate economic necessity which the country faces is to halt the recession and to get back to work."

"The great continuing need, which the country faces, is to avoid touching off another round of dangerous inflation," he said.

Computer Operations Labeled a Mess

HARTFORD (UPI) — Connecticut's chief financial officer said today the state's computer operations are a mess and he is going to investigate the way the system is set up.

Jay O. Tepper said the computer operations, which according to one estimate cost $15 million a year, lack overall coordination and some of the computers can't even talk to one another because they have different "languages."

An initial survey shows, Tepper said, that Connecticut may have far more computer firepower than it actually needs.

"It's a mess," Tepper said. A recent report by state auditors found that contracts for computer consulting services in the state Welfare Department were given without competitive bidding and contracts were often overlapping.

"There is a lot of money to be saved," Tepper said.

Although the state has data processing center, such branches of government as the University of Connecticut, the Tax Department, the Department of Motor Vehicles and the comptroller's office have separate operations.

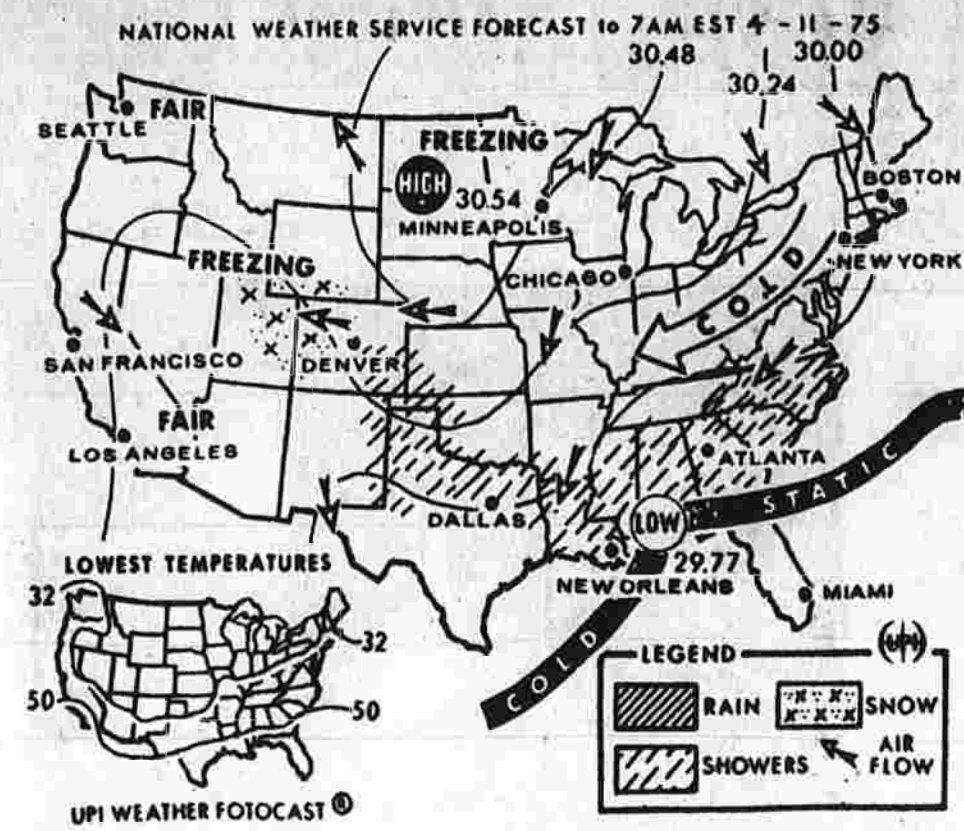

In some cases, he said, the capacity of the computers isn't being utilized properly despite the high cost.

"There's been a lack of coordination that seems incredible," he said. "I intend to look at every contract, every purchase, every lease."

Tepper, former Ohio fiscal expert named by Gov. Ella T. Grasso as finance commissioner, said he plans to set up his investigation next week. Tepper said he will use department personnel as much as possible but will select an outside expert to oversee the study.

McCoy Opposes Law Requiring Town Arbitration

A request to rescind substitute legislation which would mandate compulsory binding arbitration for all municipal employees other than teachers, has been made by Vernon Mayor Frank McCoy, president of the Connecticut Conference of Mayors and Municipalities. Mayor McCoy made the request in a letter to the co-chairmen of the Labor and Industrial Relations Committee which has already reported favorably on the proposed bill. "The citizens of Connecticut and towns will lose the right to determine their property tax rate and the level of municipal services to be provided in their communities if the bill becomes law," Mayor McCoy stated. McCoy explained that compulsory binding arbitration is a procedure under which an outsider tells him its position. The outsider then decrees what the terms of the agreement will be. He dictates how much city employees are going to be paid and what the provisions of their contract will be, McCoy explained. "Noting that in most communities that 60 or 70 per cent of operating costs are personnel items, the mayor said, 'compulsory binding arbitration would mean that an outsider, with no political accountability, could make a binding determination of how that money would be spent.'"

He particularly emphasized that there is no need for compulsory binding arbitration. He said, "Although it is true, as union officials have claimed in support of compulsory binding arbitration, that a large number of contracts are not settled before expiration of the previous one, mediation and fact-finding are generally not utilized until the previous contract has expired." He added, "Thus, the effective impasse resolution techniques currently available are not even used until the previous contract has expired." He further explained that mediation is when an outsider is brought in to talk over matters with both sides and, he said, it has proved to be a very effective use of the power of persuasion. Fact-finding is when an outsider is brought in to conduct a hearing and he decides which proposals are most fair and submits his report with recommendations. Weak points are brought out about both sides so that there is a basis for compromise, he said. "It is essential to note that over 98 per cent of all municipal collective bargaining contracts negotiated in Connecticut during the fiscal year 1974 were settled after mediation was used," McCoy said. He compared compulsory binding arbitration as a remedy for extended contract impasses to a doctor removing a patient's leg as a remedy for a stubbed toe. "He offers as a way to minimize the problem of contracts lapsing, before new ones are negotiated, to restructure the Municipal Employee Relations Act to require that mediation and fact-finding are brought into action before the existing contract expires. The Labor and Industrial Relations Committee voted 13-3 in favor of the proposed bill and 15 were absent."

Rham Honor Society Picks 25 New Members

Twenty-five juniors and seniors were surprised and honored recently when they were tapped for membership in the Rham Honor Society. Current members of the chapter visited classrooms in school to tap new members and escort them to the cafeteria where a reception was held in their honor. Chosen for the award were Dawn Barrasso, Linda Barlouch, Patricia Barton, David Devine, Virginia Donnelly, Lois Eilenberg, Jean Franceschena, Brenda Glazier, Linda Hagger, Cheryl Lack, Judy Lack, Karen MacDonald, Chris Merrill, Deborah Nericio, Cheryl Osborne, Laura Palmer, John Parker, Eric Peterson, Barbara Richards, Pam Roberts, Audrey Senkebill, Joan Sherrick, Valerie Siros, Jill Stockwell and Scott Yeomans. Membership in this honor society is achieved by accomplishments in scholarship, service, leadership and character. The new members will be officially inducted in a candlelight ceremony May 8 at 7 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Board Will Defend Budget

Vivian Keneson Faced with a $28.54 budget cut recommended by Town Manager John Harkins, Board of Education members Wednesday prepared for a strong presentation at the education public hearing to be held Monday at 7:30 p.m. at Tolland High School. The board had submitted what it felt was the minimum budget possible without cutting out existing programs and personnel. The $28,532,868 figure presented to the town manager contained an overall 6.8 per cent salary raise, teacher negotiations with the board are not completed yet, so that the salary increase is only an estimate. Other staff negotiations will not begin until teacher negotiations are completed. The 6.8 per cent salary raises amount to approximately $40,000 in the total budget. Harkins' recommended budget contains about $24,000 less in state grants than the board has estimated, inasmuch as the state budget has not been approved, however, the consensus of the board is that state aid may very well be decreased in some areas, including special education.

Governor Accused of Favoritism

HARTFORD (UPI) — Gov. Ella T. Grasso has been accused of favoring big cities in her federal revenue sharing plan at the expense of smaller municipalities. Rep. Gerald F. Stevens, R-Milford, House minority leader, said Wednesday Mrs. Grasso's plan will disproportionately benefit 18 large cities and cheat many of the other 151 state municipalities. Stevens said the 18 cities, mostly Democratic in voter registration, will receive more than $2 million which last year was divided on a per capita basis throughout the state.

Rid Litter Day Scheduled in Tri-Town Area

The "Rid Litter" day to be sponsored by the Rockville Area Chamber of Commerce will be conducted in Vernon, Tolland, and Ellington, April 26 with Michael Walsh, manager of MacDonald's in Vernon, as general chairman. Ann Humphry, chairman of the chamber's Beautification Committee, told the board of director's meeting Wednesday that her committee met 11 times to plan for the project. In Ellington, Atty. Joseph Caposela is chairman of the day. He is being assisted by Henry Lanz who has been instrumental in coordinating previous cleanup days in Ellington. Lanz said workers will be given bags to fill which will then be placed at the curbs for pickup by the Conservation Commission or town public works department. He is looking for a volunteer to lend the use of a pickup truck for this purpose. He said the number of volunteer workers from youth organizations have been lined up but additional volunteers are welcome. Anyone interested should call him at 873-913. AREA POLICE REPORT

VERNON
Richard Normandin, 32, of 29 Range Hill Dr., Vernon, was charged early this morning with operating under the influence of liquor or drugs or both, reckless driving, failure to obey a traffic control signal and failure to obey an officer's signal. Police said the incident took place at the intersection of Green Circle Rd. and Rt. 83 in Vernon. Normandin was released on a $250 non-surety bond for appearance in Common Pleas Court 19, Rockville, on May 6. Gary Fluckiger, 16, of 31 Village St. and Peter Frazier, 18, of 12 Florence, both of Ellington, were charged Wednesday night with two counts of second-degree larceny and two counts of fourth-degree larceny. Police said the charges were made in connection with the theft of a car owned by Rex Snodgrass of Willowbrook Apartments. The car was taken from the apartment parking lot. They were also charged in connection with the theft of a radio and stereo tapes from some other cars in the lot. The two were also charged with larceny of another car reportedly taken from Waterbury where the Vernon car was recovered by Waterbury police. The car taken from Waterbury was recovered on Pinnacle Rd. in Ellington by Vernon Police. Fluckiger was released on a non-surety bond and is to be presented in court in Rockville on May 6. Frazier was held overnight at the Vernon Police Station in lieu of posting a $2,500 bond. He was to be presented in court in Rockville, today.

Where Will South Windsor Library Go?

Judy Kuehnel Correspondent 644-1364
Where does South Windsor put its new library now that councilmen seem to be favoring the Ellsworth School as the next library site, rather than build a new facility as councilmen seem to be favoring. If a new facility is built, it will probably be on Sand Hill Rd. — where it was proposed and defeated in the Plum Gulley Park referendum last year. However, school officials have now stated that the Ellsworth School, which is not owned by the town, is to be strictly used as a school, according to the deed. Thus the Ellsworth School has been ruled out as a new library, as has the renting or purchase of the old Armata's Supermarket on Sullivan Ave. Meanwhile town officials are planning a hearing on a larger scale than the one held two weeks ago. Another hearing on possible sites and possibly alternatives available to the public, is expected soon. The library did not make the Capital Improvements Committee list of top priorities this year, as it did in years past. CIC officials said that because of the various routes the library has open to it — from status quo to modular building, to renting or renovating — the CIC felt library officials are really uncertain as to what they want. Or, more specifically, what the public wants. In addition to this reasoning is the fact that a library has been defeated in South Windsor in two back-to-back referendums. If a library is passed by the council, residents thus far have favored its cost being paid for through the Capital Reserve Fund. On May 5 the town will hold a hearing on a new fire house — something the CIC sees as the top priority item for South Windsor over the next five years. Suddenly South Windsor is faced with a many-faceted building program if voters accept various proposals before them. A library, a firehouse and a high school wing are being sought by various officials. Ironically these requests come at a poor economic time in a town where a library and high school addition have been defeated recently during better economic times.

Hi Neighbor!
If you go to bed early, wake up at sunrise and work hard all day, you'll end up a dull person socially who never has any fun, talks only to chickens, and is always tired. In trying to avoid that kind of a reputation I keep late hours both rising and retiring, studiously avoid talking to chickens and never work hard enough to injure my golf. These practices sometimes irritate my wife but I tell her nobody's perfect. The point to all this is that sometimes a lack of effort can be rewarding. Several stocks that I bid over the telephone (I didn't even go out to look) came in and were put out for peddling while I was on the golf course. If you come in this weekend, explain to my wife that working isn't everything — a person needs time for meditating, coffee drinking and relaxing. Here's what happened:
A) A load of Mattel toy airships and jungle patrol trucks that didn't sell at $20.00 each. Come see them at our Emporium for $8.99.
B) Gourmet "Gordon Biers" steel fry pans in many sizes from 7 1/2 to 22.00. Worth at least twice as much.
C) Fancy "Royal Family" Cannon towels and face cloths at about 40% off fancy store prices.
D) Health and beauty aid stock of shampoos, tooth brushes, deodorants, razors, shave cream and suntan lotion way off price.
E) A whole load of famous Anrol garden products at about half price — plant foods, rose dust, crabgrass killer, tree wound sprays, etc.
F) Bobby Orr and Phil Esposito records for $1.00 each. And fancy magnesium and nylon backpacks (reg. $29.95) at $19.99. Also Mexican glazed pottery in several sizes.
So come visit and enjoy a cup of our delicious complimentary coffee while you look. Everything is peddled with a real "no-hard-time" money back guarantee within 30 days if you are displeased with your purchase in any way. We'll really enjoy seeing you and my wife says "Don't forget your wallet!"

OPINION

Gun Control For Better Or Worse

The opponents of stiffer handgun control legislation have a point, maybe a number of points. One of them, unfortunately, is summed up in the rather simplistic slogan. When guns are outlawed, only outlaws will have guns.

This is quite true, but the same thing could be said about anything else society attempts to regulate. When harmful drugs are outlawed, only outlaws will have drugs. No law has ever deterred anyone who wanted to break it.

Another, much more compelling argument is that there are already plenty of laws on the books to deal with criminals with guns. The trouble is that the laws are not enforced. Mandatory long prison sentences strictly meted out to people who use guns in the commission of a felony would do wonders to cut the crime rate.

Even so, all the arguments are overwhelmed by abundant statistics showing that far more people are killed by guns purchased for "protection" than by guns in the hands of criminals.

This well-documented fact was underscored recently in testimony before a House Judiciary subcommittee by A. Reginald Eaves, safety commissioner of Atlanta, which has the highest handgun homicide rate in the country.

The victims of gun killings more often than not are husbands, wives, relatives or friends, said Eaves, and the motives for most killings range from "anger and drunken arguments to jealousy and revenge."

The city with the second highest handgun homicide rate is Cleveland. In that city and its county, Cuyahoga County, only 34, or 13.2 per cent, of the 257 handgun homicides recorded last year occurred during a felony. Slightly more than half occurred during or following a quarrel.

Whether handgun control opponents like it or not, some kind of national legislation aimed at changing such statistics is eventually going to be adopted. And whether the legislation is wise or foolish, effective or ineffective, will depend in no small measure on whether or not the "gun lobby" abandons its obstinate, uncompromising opposition and cooperates in the framing of the legislation.

To be sure, more must be done to enforce the laws we already have pertaining to criminals. But that is not the real problem.

The problem is ordinary people killing ordinary people — with guns.

Epilogue

MAX LERNER

The Most Dangerous Profession

NEW YORK CITY — The most dangerous profession is also the world's oldest — that of the teacher. The serpent was the first teacher. He taught Eve a lesson, shattering her innocence as all good teachers do, and God reinforced the lesson by driving Eve and Adam out of the Garden of Eden.

I call it a dangerous profession because the relation between teacher and student is one of hope and vulnerability on both sides. The teacher can, I fear, do more damage to the student's mind and personality than the other way around, but each can also have a galvanizing impact on the other.

Education is always news for Americans, because their basic faith lies in it. It was reminded of that fact by the report from St. Paul, Minn., about the Minnesota plan to send practicing lawyers back to school for at least 15 hours of catch-up courses every year. The danger in every vocation is that of obsolescent knowledge. The skills you once learned may no longer fit the demands of the new society and world. This is true not only of lawyers, doctors, nurses, technicians of every kind. It is true of politicians, administrators, economists, of teachers themselves, of parents, of husbands and wives.

Hence the need for "continuing education," as it is called in the profession. My only quarrel with it is that it is often interpreted too narrowly. A lawyer who is bewildered by the latest twists in tax laws can catch up by attending a seminar or workshop. The doctor who hasn't kept up with changes in internal medicine or pediatrics can do the same. But if their original education had been broader and deeper there would have been more hope for their clients and patients. I am myself, I suspect, a teachaholic as well as a workaholic. Both have become additions for me, and there seems no hope of cure. I can understand those who teach for a living but basically like research better. Thorstein Veblen, perhaps the greatest American economist ever, was a wretched teacher. Each year he started with a large class, and each year it dwindled to a handful of the hardy. Some of the answers to a student's question was, "Sorry, I'm not bothered that way." His thinking was done in his study, not his class.

Of course, I had a windfall of $10 million tomorrow, instead of that $100 tax rebate, I would still teach. I find each day with all my love affairs — to be a peak experience.

Spending the first semester at Pomona College in California, I found the undergraduates in American politics alert and searching, belying the canard you hear these days about apathy among students. The difference since the '60s is that the current generation practices civility in the classroom rather than turmoil, has again become career-oriented and is looking for depth from teacher as well as "relevance." At the University of Florida in Gainesville, where I taught for a time last year and will be teaching this quarter, I found the same student mood and eagerness.

What has really happened in American education has been a shift in its age groups. College and graduate school are no longer for the young only but for the middle-aged as well. At the graduate school of human behavior at San Diego, many of my students in the past two years were back in the seminar room in order to start a second or even a third career.

On this day in history, that is, at the New School in New York City, which was the great original seedbed of communism in the United States, the students are mature men and women who give as well as take, and whose life experience often teaches the teacher something he has mis-taken for wisdom.

Unfortunately state legislatures and governors are in a budget-slashing mood, partly because of the growing claims on the dwindling tax dollars, partly because in many cases they were optimistic and opened too many new campuses in the '60s. They are now bent on reaping the corn harvest now. But whatever happens to budgets and with it the trailing away of thousands of instructors, America has caught the vision of what it wants out of education — immediate and continuing. The vision won't vanish.

The Answer?

To the editor:

After watching a recent television program in which a public opinion poll was taken concerning President Ford, I think perhaps the answer to the whole problem of electing a President from now on would be simply to run an ad in their respective newspapers saying: JOB OPENING — President of the United States. Qualifications: Miracle worker. Only people with previous experience need apply.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

The phrase — "Lack of Communication" seems to be responsible today for many of the problems, irritations and difficulties that plague mankind.

Followers of Christ are instructed to "Pray without ceasing," that is, let us constantly be mindful that we need daily to set apart that quiet time when we speak with our Lord in prayer. Expressed another way, each of us has the opportunity and privilege of keeping open our personal line of communication with our Lord on a continuing basis.

In this manner shall we find that inner Peace our Lord has promised.

AFL-CIO Has Public Employees Department

WASHINGTON — Today, you are George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO. Unions under Meany's control contributed almost half a million dollars to 33 members of the House Education and Labor Committee last year. How would you expect those House members to vote on legislation requiring the compulsory unionization of all government workers — federal, state and local?

Correct the first time. The AFL-CIO has a new Public Employees Department (PED) with a budget of $40,000 a month. Its job is to force the present Congress to enact legislation guaranteeing government workers all the bargaining rights of workers in private industry — including, of course, the right to strike. Meanwhile, Meany keeps reminding Big Labor's pets that in all the AFL-CIO contributed nearly $5 million to their 1974 campaigns, plus a lot of bodies with helping hands and assorted services.

But for the present, the House Education and Labor Committee is a fascinating study. According to a report by the National Right to Work Committee, those 33 lucky members, above mentioned, received contributions totaling $429,632. Fourteen members getting the biggest contributions received $25,967 of this total. One congressman, freshman Michael Blouin, D-Iowa, snagged $36,900. That sounds nice for Big Labor, because the House committee will deal with proposals, backed by Meany & Co., which — as the Right to Work outfit puts it — "would put the federal government in the business of organizing public sector unions, regulating labor relations policies of the states and their political subdivisions, and promoting compulsory unionism at all levels of government."

Mind you, money is only a small part of what Big Labor gives its candidates. Cash — over $100 million — has already been provided by "volunteer" union members, may amount to as much as eight times the actual cash contributions. Candidates love these "volunteers," because cash can't do

TOM TIEDE

He's a Good Man But Not a Big One

WASHINGTON — References to Gerald Ford are by rote preceded with the cupcake that is the fellow, "Decent man," is the generally, "Boy Scout," says Kansas Sen. Bob Dole. And it is with his good side in mind that growing numbers of men in the "real" world of the President, are hoping he will be good enough to rethink and renounce his unfortunate decision to run for the office in 1974.

His decision, now apparently etched in stone in the man's mind, is understandable enough. Though he has been with us since he was a young boy, his fate has been decided by accidentally named to the vice presidency that he would not run for the higher office, his subsequent and again accidental elevation to the post has been a potent political aphorism. "There he is, head of the universe," says a Republican congressman, "how could anyone easily give it up?"

Thus, the good side of Ford has become identified as a public ombudsman. He is in office by chance, a freak of the system, he has no need to have to prove his state-mansmanship, his leadership or omniscient wisdom. His only responsibility is to work for the public well, not politically as he has done, but in his heart.

As it is, of course, Ford is anything but nonpolitical. Dazzled by his importance, he has forgotten he is the embarrassment to not the result of the democratic process. With one eye on his popularity he follows the governing course of least resistance, because, curse the pump, he would rather be president than be right. Unfortunately, observers say he is passing up an opportunity no president has ever failed, that of forgetting the office and remembering the people. He is therefore throwing away a genuine place in history for a messy footnote. He is as they say, a good man. But the evidence mounts that he's not a big one.

The Check's No Joker

Witness Slain

PRICE, Utah (UPI) — Three men yanked Michael Thomas Hogan out of his bed early Wednesday, pumped three bullets into him, and dumped his body in a remote canyon.

Carlton County Sheriff Albert Passie said the killing was apparently an execution in revenge for testimony Hogan gave a year ago against members of a motorcycle gang.

Utah Highway Patrol troopers took three men into custody shortly after the killing. Passie said they would be charged with first-degree murder later today.

Passie said Gypsy Allen Codranna, 25, of Waterbury, Conn.; Irvin P. Dunsdon, 32, of Bingham Canyon, Utah; and Craig Marvel, 27, whose Massachusetts hometown was not immediately available, were in custody at Price.

Passie said three men went to Hogan's apartment about 1 a.m. and yanked him out of bed. He said they took the 29-year-old Hogan outside the building and shot him three times. Then, Passie said, the killers "threw his body in the back of a truck, took him up the canyon and finished him off."

Hogan's roommate, who had been told by the killers to "Mind his own business," reported the shooting. The Utah Highway Patrol stopped the three men driving out of Price Canyon about an hour later and arrested them. A .25-caliber rifle was recovered. Passie said, and Hogan's body was found in Crandall Canyon, a spur of Price Canyon.

Passie said Hogan had been shot seven times.

He said Hogan was originally from Salt Lake City, where about a year ago he testified against some motorcycle gang members, acquaintances of the suspects. He said he did not know the nature of the criminal case.

He said the killing "appears to be in reprisal for that" testimony.

Lower Oil Prices Predicted

PARIS (UPI) — Treasury Secretary William E. Simon said Wednesday he expects oil prices to go down and the American dollar to go up.

Oil prices should "go down as the leading oil consuming countries develop their huge untapped energy resources and continue applying energy-saving measures," Simon told reporters in Paris where he signed a $25 billion "safety net" arrangement to bail out industrialized nations if they run short of cash in paying high oil prices.

Huge American resources included the Alaskan oilfields soon to go into production, coal deposits and shale sands, he said.

Simon said he was "not fully satisfied" with the results of energy saving in the United States and further efforts would be made to reduce wastage.

He said the dollar will gather fresh strength as the U.S. recession begins to bottom out and inflation eases.

"The dollar is improving on money markets," Simon told reporters at the 24-nation Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development.

Simon signed for the United States a $25 billion "safety net" fund to protect the 24-member countries of OECD if they run short of cash because of high oil prices.

The 4-H Club of South Windsor is collecting items for the Hartford County 4-H Auction and Tag Sale Saturday May 3 at 10 a.m. at Southern Auto Sales, Rt. 5, East Windsor.

Proceeds from this auction and tag sale will be used to support many Hartford County 4-H events such as the Interstate Exchange Program, 4-H Leaders Banquet and 4-H County Awards Night.

Mr. and Mrs. Talcott Clapp, 1320 John Fitch Blvd., 289-0908 and Mrs. Jane Drachenberg, 241 Hilton Dr., 528-8558 ask for anyone having usable items they wish to donate to the auction to call them.

The 4-H will pick up any donated items you may have. Desired items include furniture, household items, toys, sports equipment, garden supplies, plants, clothes and any other useful items.

Extra features of the day will be a baked foods table, white elephant table and a used clothing sale.

A large quantity of shrubs and other nursery stock will be sold.

Chairman of the auction and tag sale is Bert Wahlberg of Canton. The auction is sponsored by the Hartford County 4-H Advisory Committee.

Thrift Shop
The South Windsor Community Thrift Shop in the Sullivan Avenue Shopping Plaza will hold a half-price sale of all clothing now in the shop.

Among the many items selling at the sale are clothing, winter coats, ski jackets, slacks, sweaters, skirts, men's suits, dresses, boots and shoes.

The shop will soon display its spring and summer items. The sale will run through April.

Plans Explained For Bicentennial

TOLLAND

Vivian Kennesson
Katherine Kusmin, chairman of the Bicentennial Committee, reported to the Board of Selectmen on the committee's planned activities from September 1975 to July 1976.

Under the auspices of history, festival, and horizon, the committee plans to kick off the celebration with a mixer on the Green and a colonial ball.

A relief map of Tolland as it was in 1776 is being prepared with the help of Helen Needham, and commemorative items to be sold include a 15-month calendar; limited edition cups made from terra cotta; glass bottles with the town seal and heritage emblem; and tiles with a seal reproduced by David Garrity.

The committee hopes to carry out a long-time desire of Donald F. Morganason, that of extending the Green sidewalk to the post office. Mr. Morganason was chairman of the Bicentennial Committee until his death last month.

Other activities planned are the donation of books and films to the library; planting of a charter oak; an old homes kitchen tour; period fashion show; family picnic and band concert.

Mrs. Kusmin estimates partial costs of events and souvenir at approximately $7,000. The proposed budget allocates $5,000 for the committee, and some of the items and activities should be self-supporting. The committee is still seeking assistance in various forms. Those interested may call Mrs. Kusmin at Old Post Rd.

Heart Program

The Tolland Knights of Columbus and the Connecticut Heart Association will jointly sponsor two programs on Cardio Pulmonary Resuscitation, April 30 and May 1 in St. Matthew Church hall in Tolland.

Each program will be a complete course and each will run from 7 to 11 p.m. Anyone interested is invited to participate. Those wishing to attend should call Dr. Pierre Archambault, 975-8265.

Pancake Breakfast

A pancake breakfast sponsored by the St. Matthew's Parish C.Y.O., under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus, will be held at the church hall April 20 from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Seeds Stress Democrats' Aim

BOLTON

Donna Holland
Correspondent
646-0375
All Bolton residents will receive a packet of seeds along with the Democrats' message to plan (or plant) for the future.

Manuel Houle, chairman of the Democratic Town Committee, said the party has an outstanding team of qualified, aggressive men and women who are eager to serve the needs of all the people.

She said plans for their future must be laid on the basis of need and resources available, this being accomplished through an efficient town government.

Mrs. Houle said a tight rein should be held on spending unnecessarily during these days of unprecedented inflation.

She said the Democratic Town Committee pledges to work for the good of the town and all its residents.

It asks all residents to help it "plan for the future."

Books Donated
The Bolton Junior Woman's Club has donated a book to the Bentley Memorial Library. The book is entitled The Sun Is My Enemy and was written by Henrietta Alsdjerd.

It is a narrative written by a patient who had lupus erythematosus.

PTO Plans Fair
The first meeting of the Parent Teacher Organization (PTO) fair committee was held recently.

Co-chairmen of the fair are Ed Zakowski and Tom Sheridan. They are seeking both suggestions and help.

Anyone who would like to do his part to make this year's fair a success is asked to call Zakowski, 643-8937, or Sheridan, 646-6615.

They are also attempting to locate the booths used for the fair. Anyone having information concerning the whereabouts of the booths is also asked to call.

Students To Sing

HEBRON

Anne Dallaire
The fourth grade students from Gilead Hill Elementary School will sing their original Bicentennial song, Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at the Red Couch Grill in Windsor Locks.

The students will be giving their presentation to the Connecticut State Federation of Women's Clubs Annual Convention. The invitation to sing was made by the Hebron Junior Women's Club.

The students will be in colonial costumes.

School Board
The Hebron Board of Education will meet today at 8 p.m. in the library at the Gilead Hill School.

The agenda will include administrative reports and recommendations, committee reports, financial summary, approval of the contract with Clark Transportation Company and appointments of Hebron representative to the study committee to consider withdrawal of Grades 7 and 8 from Rham High School.

The meeting is open to the public.

ABA Reaffirms Its Opposition To Meskill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The American Bar Association has urged the Senate to reject the nomination of former Connecticut Gov. Thomas J. Meskill for a post on the 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

The ABA opposed Meskill before the Senate Judiciary Committee, which reported the nomination to the floor of the Senate by an 8-6 vote.

The ABA Board of Governors Monday adopted a resolution urging a vote against Meskill on the grounds "he is manifestly unqualified for this highly important judicial post and because the record before the Senate Judiciary Committee ... leaves great doubt as to facts essential to find the requisite moral integrity in this appointee."

The proposed revisions include Section 1, Zones and Zone Boundaries, Section 2, Definitions, and Section 3, General Regulations.

Tighter Obscenity Laws Draws Stiff Resistance

HARTFORD (UPI) — Legislation tightening Connecticut's obscenity laws has encountered stiff resistance from lawyers, librarians and theater owners who feel the state should leave well enough alone.

The Connecticut Civil Liberties Union said at a legislative public hearing Wednesday smut books, magazines and movies are no more offensive than what goes on in government.

"Some of the movies and some of the books available in Connecticut may be offensive or 'garbage,' but so is much of what is heard in the General Assembly and in the Congress," said CCLU Executive Director William Olds.

Olds told the Judiciary Committee it should instead concentrate on tightening the definition of obscenity.

"The state would have to show that the material sought to be suppressed created a clear and present danger that the normal adult would be induced to engage in illegal behavior," Olds said.

Council Votes Septic System Study Funds

COVENTRY
Monica Shea
Correspondent
742-9495

The Town Council has authorized the expenditure of $1,100 by the Lake Rehabilitation Study Committee to have two cost analyses done by Griswold and Foss, town engineers, on ways of dealing with the failing septic systems in two lake area associations, Waterfront Manor and Lakeview Terrace.

One of the studies to be conducted by the engineers would deal with a neighborhood sewer system that would consist of a community septic tank followed by a series of sand filters, chlorinators, and final discharge into the Mill Brook.

In effect this system would provide for a tertiary system. The study would be conducted on an underdrain, storm drain collection system. The intent of this system would be to lower the ground water table by approximately three feet, thereby enabling a conventional septic/leaching field system to work.

The drain system would be placed in the roadbed and constructed in such a manner that it would provide excellent drainage for the roadbed. It would also mean that the whole road would have to be replaced.

Councilman Richard Breslin, chairman of the Lake Rehabilitation Committee, told the council that his committee department had denied the request of the Paddle, Prop and Sail Club to build a slalom course on Coventry Lake.

The department said the lake is a public body of water and the use of the course would be used exclusively by a private club and would further interfere with the boating in that portion of the lake where the course was set up.

Councilman Hank Grabowski told the council that he had heard unofficially from DEP that the course would be open to the public, the whole state of Connecticut.

The council turned down the request of the Explorers Club that the town take over the ownership and maintenance and operational costs of the bus that the club had just purchased.

where the cemetery will be located.

The property would have to be auctioned off in accordance with town procedures for selling town owned properties.

Monthly Supper
The supper of the month will be held at the First Congregational Church Saturday from 5 to 6:30 in the church vestry on Main St.

The menu will be fruit cocktail, baked chicken, mashed potatoes, peas, cranberry sauce, dessert, coffee or milk.

Donations will be $2.50 for adults, $1.00 for children. The public is invited to attend.

Correction
The meeting of the Young Republican Club will take place on Friday at the home of Henry Grabowski, not last night as was stated in last night's paper.

Land To Be Sold For Taxes

COVENTRY
Monica Shea
Correspondent
742-9495

Andy Bray, tax collector, will hold a tax sale Saturday at 9 a.m. in the Board Room of the Town Hall on Rt. 31.

None of the 72 lots to be auctioned are guaranteed buildable under state and local regulations and the properties are subject to taxes on the Grand List as of 10-1-1974, which are due and payable July 1, 1975 and Jan. 1, 1976.

The minimum bid on each property will be specified prior to its being auctioned and no bid less than the minimum will be accepted.

Properties will be sold to the highest bidder.

Within one week of the sale a deed will be filed with the town clerk, to be held for one year before recording.

The owner of record at the time of the sale has the one year to redeem the property.

The largest majority of the lots to be auctioned are in Actors Colony, Waterfront Manor, Waterfront Heights, and Waterfront Park.

A complete list can be obtained from the tax collector's office in the Town Hall.

Discuss Education
Last week parents of Coventry High School students met with the High School Philosophy of Education Committee to discuss and update the school's philosophy of education.

Also present at the meeting were teachers, but only parents were allowed to take part in the discussion.

Another meeting will be held April 15 for further discussion and agreement on the proposals to be presented by the parents to the committee.

The committee, made up of high school teachers, has called these meetings in order to give members of the community an opportunity to become involved in the annual revision in the High School Philosophy of Education.

High school students have had a chance for input into the philosophy through the filling out of a questionnaire given to each student at the school.

As a result of these meetings, the new revised philosophy will thoughts, Mrs. Helen Kingsbury will show and narrate color slides of flower gardens she has seen.

All seniors are invited to attend the meeting.

The club has now reached a membership of over 100.

Grinder Sale
A grinder sale to help finance the recent Coventry High School Band and Chorus Exchange Concert to Maryland will be held the next two weeks.

Salami grinders, 7 and 1/2 inches long, will be sold for a donation of $1.

Orders for the grinders will be taken until Wednesday, April 16. The grinders will be made and delivered to your home on Saturday, April 19 in time for lunch.

Orders can be placed with any band or chorus member or by calling Doug Whipple at 742-6621.

Manure is a word from the Old French, literally meaning "handwork," and was applied to tillage by manual labor and, later, to the dressing applied to the land.

Inquirer's Lum Jefferson Skies High for Rebound Cougar (Actually Herald's) Bob Healy (12) Views from Below

Herald Five Rallies To Capture Benefit

Uphill was the climb but the summit was finally reached. Trailing after the first two periods, and falling behind with less than 40 seconds remaining, The Manchester Herald rallied at the end to pull out a 77-74 verdict over the Journal Inquirer last night at East Catholic in the first Basketball Shoot-Out for the Benefit of the Cancer Society.

A crowd of 40 attended the first Shoot-Out, which hopefully will become an annual event. Sponsored by the Cancer Society of Manchester, this year's doubtheaded almost doubled the attendance of last year, when the Republican and Democratic Town Committees staged the first fund raising boom contest.

Down 22-18 after the first turn and 39-36 at the intermission, The Herald went in the third quarter to lead going into the final eight-minute segment, 60-59. It remained a one or two-point contest throughout the closing moments with the JI pulling ahead 74-73 with just over a minute remaining.

Nicklaus Against the World In 39th Masters at Augusta

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI)—It was Jack Nicklaus against the world today when the Masters golf tournament began its 39th run through the azaleas and dogwoods.

That world includes Lee Elder, the first black ever to play in this prestigious tournament.

Nicklaus, seeking his fifth Masters crown and 15th "major" championship, was everybody's favorite but his own—and he was just being modest.

"Sure, I should be close, but it's not up to me to say I'm the man to beat," said the 35-year-old king of the golf links.

"People had better not overlook Gary Player. He's the defending champion and he's a very real threat anytime he tees it up."

"And how about Tom Weiskopf? He's been close here a lot of times before (second in three of the past six years) and came in here after winning at Greensboro with some fine golf."

Nicklaus also cautioned that although Lee Trevino has never played well in the Masters, "Lee's quite capable of playing this course if he wants to. He's won other major championships and it's just a matter of time before he gets going here."

Oddly enough, Nicklaus did not include Johnny Miller in that group even though Miller has won more tournaments (11) and more money ($450,000) than any other golfer the past 15 months.

"I think Gary and Lee are better golfers than Johnny," said Nicklaus. "As far as I am concerned, winning the major tournaments is the real test. Gary's won eight, Lee five and Johnny only one."

Elder has had the lion's share of attention here this week because of his unique situation and he'll continue to get a lot of attention as long as he plays well enough to stay in the tournament.

But Elder has not played well since earning a Masters invitation last April by winning the Monsanto Open in Pensacola, Fla., and many doubt that he'll make the 96-hole cut, let alone be in contention for the championship.

But the 40-year-old Elder wanted it understood that he isn't out to prove anything beyond his ability to play golf.

Player predicted that the winning score would be about 11-under-par 277, a score equalled or bettered only five times in the 38 previous Masters, but Nicklaus said "I don't think you are going to see as low scores as you might expect."

Nicklaus' thinking was based on the fact that "if it doesn't rain, the greens will get hard and fast."

But there was some rain Wednesday and the weatherman said there was a 60 per cent chance of rain today. Today's starting field totals 76, including 53 U.S. professionals, seven U.S. amateurs and 16 foreign professionals. No amateur has ever won the Masters and the only foreigner to win is Player who won in 1961 and gain last year.

Freddy McLeod, the 1908 U.S. Open champion who is now 92 years old, was scheduled to be the first golfer to tee off today with an official play beginning 10 minutes later, at 9:30 a.m. EDT.

Hawks Appear to Have Won Top Pick

NEW YORK (UPI)—The coin may have landed on its edge Wednesday when National Basketball Association Commissioner Walter Kennedy flipped a half-dollar to decide whether the Atlanta Hawks or the Los Angeles Lakers would have the first pick in the 1975 college basketball draft.

The Atlanta Hawks appeared to have won the toss.

John W. Wilcox, Jr., president of the Atlanta club, decided to go along with tradition and chose "tails" which came up for the seventh straight year between the teams with the worst record in each conference.

But then the Milwaukee Bucks bounded into the picture.

The Bucks brought charges against the Hawks for violating the constitution and bylaws of the NBA. The situation involves the Bucks, the Atlanta Hawks, and Julius Erving, star forward of the rival ABA New York Nets.

The Bucks drafted Erving, who was then with the Virginia Squires of the ABA, in 1972. But then it was found out that the Hawks had signed Erving to a contract. After a long struggle in the courts, the Hawks and Squires jointly sold Erving to the Nets. The Bucks were left holding the bag.

But now it appears that the bag may be filled with gold.

The Board of Governors ruled that the Hawks were in fact guilty. The second part of that hearing requires the board to determine some compensation, either draft choices or cash, for the Bucks.

"The matter is now on the agenda for the Board of Governors and we expect it will be taken up within two or three weeks," Bucks President William Alverston said Wednesday.

"We are hopeful and confident that the board will see fit to give us something from the Hawks," Alverston said.

That could mean that the Hawks have won a coin toss for the Bucks.

A first-round draft choice would not be an unusual award in such a situation and the Hawks have two first-round draft choices.

Among the top college players thought to be in line as the first choice in this year's draft, which will be held within a week after the conclusion of the playoffs according to Kennedy, are 7-foot Marvin Webster of Morgan State, Dave Meyers of NCAA champion UCLA and David Thompson of North Carolina State.

Ali To Display Boxing Talents

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—Heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali, claiming not enough people have the opportunity of seeing him, will box a three-round exhibition with Rodney Bobick Tuesday night as part of the fight card at Miami Beach Auditorium.

Mike Dundee, a spokesman for the auditorium and nephew of Angelo Dundee, Ali's trainer, said Wednesday Ali agreed to box Bobick in the exhibition because "he feels many people don't get a chance to see him in his title fights."

On the same topic of not enough people seeing his fights, Ali, while denying a published report he is "ripping off" the public, revealed he is taking a $2 million loss in defending his title against Ron Lyle "is a big ripoff."

It has been quoted Tuesday as saying boxing against the likes of Chuck Wepner and Ron Lyle "is a big ripoff."

Ali feels like stealing some times, "All was supposed to have said, 'I just made a million and a half dollars beating a nobody like Chuck Wepner. I'll make four million dollars beating another nobody like Ron Lyle.'"

"I didn't say none of that," Ali told UPI. "That's the most stupid thing a man of my intelligence could say. I'm a religious man. You can't be a thief and a religious man, too."

Dundee said the exhibition against Bobick will be in television.

Two to CFL

MONTREAL (UPI)—The Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian Football League Wednesday announced the signing of American Larry Horton and Canadian John Archibald.

Horton, 25, of Gary, Ind., was the sixth round draft choice in 1972 of the NFL Chicago Bears, where he played 10 games. He was released by the Washington Redskins in 1974 and played two games with the AIs last season.

Heavyweights Featured Brower, Walker Top Police Card

Don Martin paced the Eagles' 11-hit attack with three including a double. Tom Gerbo homered and singled and John Murphy also had two safeties for East. Bill Stanley pitched the first four innings to register the victory.

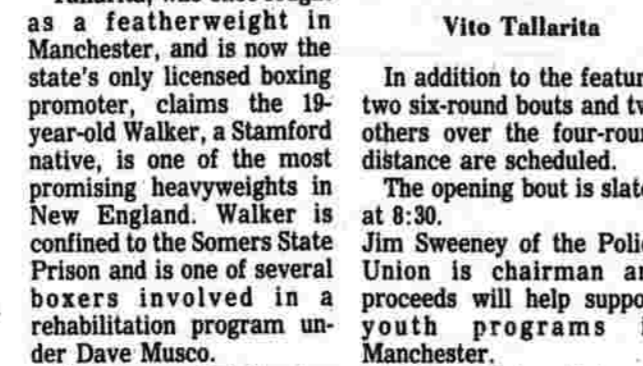

Principals in the main event on the first professional boxing card in Manchester in two decades were announced today by Matchmaker Vito Tallarita.

Heavyweights Arnie Brower of Manchester and Bobby Walker of Enfield are paired in the eight-round headline on the Manchester Police Union show Saturday night, May 10 at the Clarke Arena.

Brower, a transplanted Silk Town resident and a real estate agent, hasn't climbed inside the square ring in more than a year. His last appearance was a wing-ding, at the West Hartford Music Center when he scored a knockout after taking an early battering.

Tallarita, who once fought as a featherweight in Manchester, and is now the state's only licensed boxing promoter, claims the 18-year-old Walker, a Stamford native, is one of the most promising heavyweights in New England. Walker is confined to the Somerset State Prison and is one of several boxers involved in a rehabilitation program under Dave Musco.

The 180-pound Walker has won five of eight bouts.

East Jayvees Winners Too

Just like the varsity, the East Catholic Jayvees baseball team opened its 1975 campaign on a successful note Tuesday afternoon with an 11-4 verdict over St. Thomas Aquinas at Mt. Nebo.

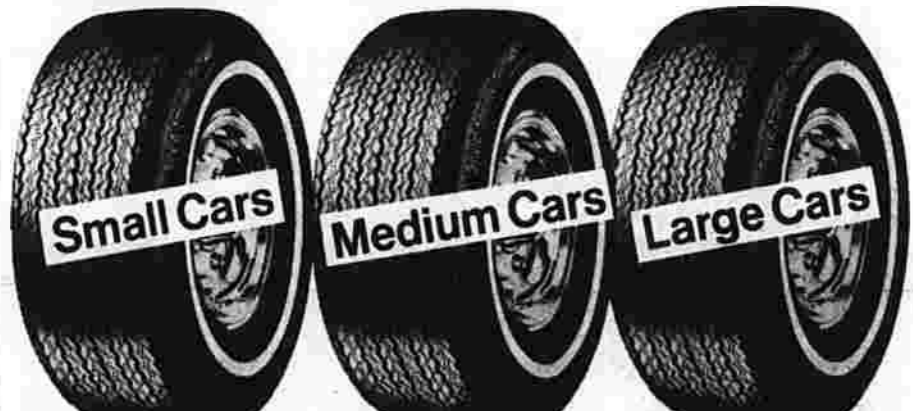

Don Martin paced the Eagles' 11-hit attack with three including a double. Tom Gerbo homered and singled and John Murphy also had two safeties for East. Bill Stanley pitched the first four innings to register the victory.

Rebel Gains Reported
 PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Reporters on the front lines said Communist-led rebel forces today drove government defenders out of a military post within two miles of Phnom Penh's Pochentong Airport. The American airlift of food was halted temporarily. However, the flights carrying ammunition and fuel were not disrupted. About 12 hours later the government forces reoccupied the post. Five Cambodian cargo handlers were wounded when a rocket ripped into the airport's loading area. The rebels also overran a government outpost on the east bank of the Mekong River opposite Phnom Penh.

Labor Party Balking
 LONDON (UPI) — A majority of Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Labor party voted to pull out of the Common Market in defiance of his bid to keep Britain in the economic community. However, Wilson won overwhelming support from the House of Commons, with the help of Conservative and Liberal opposition parties. The British electorate was scheduled to vote in a national referendum in June on whether Britain should remain in the nine-nation market.

New Old Religion
 MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — N. J. Templin heads the Baldr League, one of many Odinit groups, whose religion is based on a belief in the Nordic gods. The concept of Aryan supremacy and a philosophy is mixed into it and Templin concedes it is close to some of what Nazi Germany stood for. However, he says anyone calling him a Nazi better have plenty of money, because he would sue them. Odinism, Templin says, is the religious and cultural heritage handed down from the Norsemen.

Post Tornado Watch
 ATLANTA (UPI) — A tornado watch was in effect early today in parts of Alabama, Georgia and Florida, while heavy snow warnings continued in the central mountains of Arizona.
 A tornado Wednesday night skipped down the main street of Malone, Fla., damaging several houses. However, no injuries were reported among the town's population of 667 residents.
 A tornado watch continued early today for a 90-mile-wide band from extreme southeast Alabama through extreme southeast Georgia and a portion of extreme northern Florida.
 Numerous thunderstorms continued over much of the Gulf Coast region.

Predicts Response
 HARTFORD (UPI) — Gov. Ella T. Grasso predicts the state judiciary will respond favorably to increased public demands for openness in its administrative process.
 "We are living in a time when more and more doors are being opened," Mrs. Grasso said Wednesday. "Every agency of government must be ready to provide a full measure of information, and I would expect it would reach the judiciary as well."
 Attorney Ryszard Motek of Hartford told a legislative committee Tuesday the judiciary has conducted its administrative business without regard for statutes protecting the public's right to know.

Boy Shot
 MIAMI (UPI) — A 14-year-old boy was shot and fatally wounded Wednesday while running away with four companions from a private apartment house pool where they had been sneaking a swim.
 The boys told police that a woman shouted at them to leave the pool. One shot rang out as the youngsters ran away, neighbors said.
 Johnny Perez was hit in the back of the head by a bullet about 145 feet from the building, police said. He managed to run across a street where he collapsed on a lawn. He died about four hours later.
 Maria Otero, owner of the apartment building, was charged with first degree murder after surrendering to police about three hours after the shooting.

Bill Introduced
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Walter Mondale, D-Minn., introduced a bill Wednesday to commission a portrait of or statue of the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. to be placed in the U.S. Capitol.
 Mondale said the Civil Rights Acts of 1964 and 1968 and the 1968 Voting Rights Act are "living monuments" to King but are not enough.
 "Not a single black American has been honored by having a portrait or statue placed in the Capitol," said Mondale. "This is supposed to be a building that symbolizes a government of all the people."

Birthday Celebration
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — Pearl Bailey stayed on stage after her two-hour show at the Kennedy Center to celebrate First Lady Betty Ford's 57th birthday.
 Miss Bailey told the Tuesday night audience Mrs. Ford and her daughter Susan were in the theater, then brought out a football and sang: "Men of Michigan, on to victory.... Mrs. Ford stood and clapped, as the audience roared on hearing the song from her husband's alma mater.
 Miss Bailey then led the crowd in singing "Happy Birthday."
 The First Lady stood again to clap and blew a kiss to Miss Bailey.

Mack to Step Down
 ANNAPOLIS, Md. (UPI) — Vice Adm. William Mack will step down this summer from his post as superintendent of the United States Naval Academy.
 Mack, 59, has served as superintendent since June, 1972. He will retire effective Aug. 1, the academy announced Wednesday.
 Mack did not give a reason for his retirement nor did he disclose his plans. No successor has been named.

Asks Dismissal
 MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Soul singer Isaac Hayes has asked for the dismissal of a chancery court petition in which his former wife complains he is behind $5,000 in alimony and child support payments.
 In a motion filed Wednesday, Hayes contends his former wife, Emily Ruth Hayes, "is openly and notoriously living with another man" and "has given birth to a child out of wedlock."
 The couple were divorced in 1972. Hayes agreed to a total of $40,000 in annual alimony and child care payments. The court has scheduled a hearing on Mrs. Hayes' petition and the recording star's answer April 18.

Manchester Evening Herald April 10, 1975 ADVERTISING DESIGN CONTEST

Over 125 entries were received for The Herald's first annual "Ad Craft" contest. Entries were judged by the Herald's advertising staff and divided into 11 age categories: (1) 4th, 5th, and 6th grades; (2) 7th, 8th, and 9th grades; (3) 10th, 11th, and 12th grades. A first prize and two honorable mentions were awarded in each category, and an over-all grand prize winner was selected. Judging was very difficult. The Herald regrets being unable to publish all the entries. Our congratulations to all the winners and our thank you to all the entrants.

Town Receives Good Bids On Training Center Loan

Hartford National Bank and Trust Co. is the apparent low bidder on notes being sold by the Town of Manchester to finance the $1.4 million Regional Occupational Training Center for the handicapped.

Bids opened by town officials Wednesday showed Hartford National had bid an annual interest rate of 4.11 per cent to loan Manchester the $1.4 million for six months.

A total of five banks bid on the notes, with bids ranging as high as a 5.14 per cent rate, quoted by the Bank of New York.

Town Treasurer Roger Negro, expressing pleasure with the low bid from Hartford National, said it's likely that the cost of short-term borrowing by the town will be much lower than the $60,000 interest costs estimated last fall.

Town Controller Thomas Moore said the six-month cost of borrowing the $1.4 million will be $23,770. The difference between Hartford National's low bid and the high bid means a savings of about $7,210 for six months, Moore said.

The $1.4 million Regional Occupational Training Center, to be built at the northeast corner of Wetherell St. and Hillstown Rd., will serve mentally retarded and multiply handicapped adolescents from Manchester and 40 other towns.

The training center, approved by townspeople in referendum last November, will be built by the town and paid for by the state after it's finished.

Norman Fendell, Manchester's supervisor of programs for the mentally retarded and physically handicapped, who spearheaded the drive for the center, expects operation to begin in September 1976.

Correct Guess

Denise Poudler of 15 Candlewood Dr. gazes into the "crystal ball" of M&M candies and voila, she guessed the correct number within one of the actual count. Peter West of Vernon, salesman for the candy firm said there were less than 5,000 candies in the giant jar. For her perceptiveness, Denise was awarded a 10-speed bicycle. The contest took place at the K-Mart on Spencer St. For coming within two of guessing the correct number, Karen Pruitt of Forge Rd., Coventry won a calculator and Harvey Stone of Hartford, a Polaroid camera. GOP, Cancer Fund Big Winners

By SOL R. COHEN

The Cancer Fund was the big winner Wednesday night when a team of Manchester Republicans handily beat a team of their Democratic counterparts by the awesome score of 28 to 19.

Thanks to the cooperation of all those who donated their services and facilities - East Catholic High School, the players, coaches, referees, scorekeepers, announcers, cheerleaders, ticket sellers, and all others - a net profit of $407 was realized for the Cancer Fund. Last year's net netted about $300.

Carl Zinsner, chairman of the Manchester Cancer Drive and (you should excuse the expression) a member of the GOP team, thanked everyone involved and predicted the "game" will become an annual event.

High scorer for the Republicans was Ego (don't call me Mickey) Spillane, with 12 points High for the Democrats team was Joel (don't call me J.J.) Janenda, with 8 points.

"Ray (this isn't a fish story) Karpe scored 5 points for the Republicans, Wally (he's certainly not green at the game) Irish scored 4, Frank (don't taze me) Rizzi 3, and Frank (not doctor) Livingston did (maybe we'll win with Lincoln Center) (do) Zinsner 2.

"For the Democrats, Fran (designated foul shooter) Mahoney scored 8, Scoring 2 each were Dick (it's not true the ball hit my stomach and bounced into the basket) Parpente, Pat (give I wish I had a uniform like the other guys) Prignano, Bob (not any) Price, and John (why did I ever quit the Board of Directors) Tani.

There were others who got into the "game" and played well, but didn't score (at least, not by the ECSS gym).

For the Republicans, there were Dave Odagard, Roy Thompson, Jim Gallagher, Bob Gorman and Nile Agostinelli, and for the Democrats, Tom Conran, Jay Slager, Jim Cunningham, John Hutchinson and Ted Cummings.

The Democrats got off to a furious start and led 8 to 7 at the end of the first quarter. In the second quarter, the Republicans scored 6 unanswered points. Just before the buzzer, the court, the Democrats scored their lone 2 points of the quarter. The score was 13 to 10, Republicans.

At this point, someone high up in the stands shouted, "If you can keep the score down so easily, why can't you do the same for the tax rate?"

In the second game of the evening, an account of which appears on today's sport page, The Manchester Herald team led the Journal-Inquirer team by a 77 to 74 score.

No account of the Republican-Democratic game would be complete without mention of the exuberant and efficient cheerleaders.

The Republican Rah, Rah Girls were Louise Cronin, Ginny Gallagher, Mary Ann Shaw and Ellen Zinsner.

The Democratic Cheer Leaders were Louise Prignano, Joanne Costello, Sue Price, Barbara McConville, Ann Prignano, Sandy Gardner, Nancy Herzog, Nancy Piccolo and Teresa Mazza.

First one team missed a shot, then the other. Then one team missed three successive tries at the basket, only to have the other team do better - a missing four, or five and, at one point, eight.

Tulis Sessions Appears at MCC

Actress Tulis Sessions will be at the MCC auditorium Friday, at 8 p.m., as part of Manchester's International Women's Year (IWY) celebration.

Ms. Sessions will appear as Mariah Foster and her four acquaintances in the actress' own one woman show entitled "Women I Have Known." In the show, as Mariah, Ms. Sessions introduces her friends, Lucy Stone, Anne Hutchinson, Margaret Sanger, and Sojourner Truth, all accomplished women who have been lost to history.

Her performance at MCC is sponsored by the Manchester Women's Center in conjunction with a fair to be held the following day at the

Doctors Admitted To County Group

There were 44 new full members admitted Wednesday to the Hartford County Medical Association, three of whom were from Manchester.

The local doctors admitted were Dr. Donald S. Grossman, Dr. Sooni Song, and Dr. Alice J. Turck, town health director.

Manchester YWCA as part of the IWY organizations. Lucy Stone was a 19th century abolitionist and feminist; Anne Hutchinson, a religious liberal in colonial New England; Margaret Sanger was the founder of the birth control movement in the 1920's; and Sojourner Truth was a black evangelist who supported equal rights for blacks and women. Ms. Sessions uses only three props in her act: A chair, a cane and a shawl.

John Bailey, Democrat Party Leader Dies

HARTFORD (UPI) — John Moran Bailey, former Democratic National Party Chairman whose hand-picked political candidates including John F. Kennedy, broke through religious and sex barriers, has died of throat cancer. He was 76.

He is survived by his wife, Barbara, and four children, Louise, Barbara Ann, Judith and John. His son-in-law, James J. Kennedy, is Connecticut's Democratic House Speaker, who announced the death to a stunned state legislature.

Democratic leaders who fought and lost many a political battle without shedding a tear cried when word of Bailey's death spread. "He was an original. He was a genius," said Ribicoff.

Characteristic Bailey Poses

Donald J. Pascale of New Jersey, the man accused of murdering Leo E. Gauthier of Manchester Wednesday, definitely knew Gauthier and some members of his family, although it is uncertain how well and for how long they had been acquainted.

Young Head Start Pupils Observe Manchester Hospital Procedures

Young students of Head Start recently were given a first hand experience of some behind-the-scenes procedures at Manchester Memorial Hospital in observation of the Week of the Young Child. They were given sterile caps and masks to wear, rubber gloves to put on, and they listened to each other's heart beats through a stethoscope. They were shown X-rays which were simply explained to them.

Ford Requests Draw Criticism

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford has asked Congress for nearly $1 billion in aid for South Vietnam and permission to use U.S. military forces if necessary to evacuate Americans and tens of thousands of South Vietnamese refugees.

Democratic congressional leaders were stunned by the size of Ford's aid request, which included $722 million in military assistance and $250 million in economic and humanitarian aid for Saigon.

Police continued to gather evidence to support their case, which may go directly to Hartford County Superior Court next week. Authorities still wouldn't comment on any motive for the Wednesday afternoon slaying.

WATKINS is very particular about the recliners we sell. Fine tailoring and style in our 'RECLINER SHOP' has become an obvious tradition but sometimes it's what you can't see that counts!

'This Is How We Give a Shot'

Deeply absorbed in giving an injection to a grapefruit is "nurse" Nicole Rankin while Andre Marmen, development director at Manchester Memorial Hospital, guides her hand as she plunges the needle into the thick skin of the fruit.

Town Manager Robert Weiss reads to Sgt. Patricia Graves the notice from Director Clarence M. Kelley of her acceptance to the FBI Academy. She is the first New England policewoman to be accepted to the school.
